Soviet Push In Baltics To Aid Invasion Seen

Premier Demands Finish Fight In 'Nazis' Own Lair'

BY HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 1 — Premier Marshal Josef Stalin, in a May day order of the day, called today for joint blows from the east and west to crush Germany "in its own lair" as Soviet planes softened the enemy's central front for what may be the next Red army offensive.

"To rid our country and the countries allied with us from the danger of enslavement," he said, "the wounded German beast must be pursued close on its heels and finished off in its own lair.

"This task . . . can be accomplished only on the basis of joint efforts of the Soviet Union, Great Britain and the United States of North America—by joint blows from the east dealt by our troops and from the west dealt by the troops of our allies."

Major Aerial Attack

Underlying Stalin's words, the third major Russian air attack on a German base on the central front within 72 hours indicated that the Red army shortly may break the stalemate on the approaches to the Baltic states, perhaps coincidentally with the Allies' opening of a western front.

Long range Russian bombers smashed at Idritsa, gateway to central Latvia, Saturday night, concentrating on railway targets and nearby airfields. Several military trains and a number of aircraft were destroyed. Large fires were observed .

Earlier, Soviet planes hit the big German airfield at Orsha in White Russia and another field in the same area, where 21 planes were destroyed.

Weather Is Improving

Front dispatches reported the weather steadily was improving on the central front, drying out passes traversing the great marshlands barring the approaches to Latvia, Lithuania, and East Prussia.

In old Poland, the Soviet midnight communique announced, the Russians seized two villages southeast of Stanislawow in a flanking attack. Some 150 Hungarian officers and men were captured. Three hundred Germans were

Knox Funeral Is Held Today

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 1—Frank Knox, secretary of the Navy, will be laid to rest on the rolling slopes of Arlington National cemetery today while U. S. Navy men around the world hold memorial services for "the boss."

Only exceptions will be on the ships that at 1400 — Navy term for 2 p. m., Eastern War time — are in actual battle with the enemy or carrying out emergency missions.

In the British and Canadian fleets, as well, all flags fly at half-mast on orders from the Admiralty in mourning for the man who sparked the program that gave the United States the mightiest Navy in world history.

Traditional Rites

Replete with pageantry and traditional rites, the service for Knox, who died Friday from recurrent heart attacks, begins in a little church where he had worshipped since becoming secretary of the Navy in July, 1940.

There, an old friend and neighbor will conduct the religious rites. He is Dr. Fred S. Buschmeyer, pastor of the Mount Pleasant Congregational church.

A guard of honor will be waiting at the church when the funeral party arrives — cabinet officers, admirals, generals, enlisted men and women all have been alloted seats in the little church.

Body bearers — the military term for active pall bearers — will represent the three branches of the naval service, four each

Federal Agency Heads Back Up Ward's Seizure

Affidavits Claim Firm Essential To War Effort

(By The United Press)

CHICAGO, May 1—The government presented affidavits from the heads of several federal war agencies today as Attorney General Francis Biddle sought to prove a U. S. district judge that Montgomery Ward and company is essentia to the war effort and that President Roosevelt acted correctly in ordering seizure of Ward's Chicago properties.

The affidavits were handed to Federal Judge William H. Holly as he resumed hearing of arguments on Montgomery Ward's petition to dissolve a temporary injunction restraining company officials from interfering with government operation of the seized plant.

One of the affidavits was from Marvin Jones, War Food administrator, and another from William H. Davis, chairman of the War Labor board.

Deals In Farm Supplies

Jones affidavit claimed that the company deals in farm supplies and that interruption of its flow of farm equipment to buyers would affect the war effort seriously.

Davis, head of the agency whose orders touched off the controversy between the mail order firm and the government, said in his affidavit that the danger of a labor dispute or strike at Montgomery Ward's was that it might spread to other plants engaged wholly in war production.

Biddle also filed an affidavit from Clifton E. Mack, head of the U. S. procurement division, claiming that Montgomery Ward handled materials such as shoes and clothing which are essential to the war effort.

Company Sought Priorities

The attorney general gave the court another affidavit showing that the company had sought priorities as an industry essential to the prosecution of the war, and he claimed that repairs made at the Chicago plant constituted direct war production.

As the hearing was resumed before a packed courtroom, counsel for the company filed an amended answer to the government's complaint claiming:

1. That the Hummer Manufacturing company, of Springfield, Ill., a subsidiary, was the only Ward plant engaged in war production.

2. That the Chicago plants did

Bay City Millionaire, Philanthropist Dies

HOUSTON, May 1 (U.P.)—Victor L. Letulle, Bay City multi-millionaire and philanthropist, died in Memorial hospital here early today.

Letulle, 79, had been ill for two weeks. Born in Colorado county, Letulle aspired in his early life to be a cotton farmer, but boll weevils destroyed his first crop. He moved to Bay City and became a merchant. In later years, he was able to purchase the R. S. Sterling irrigation canal system and become a major cotton and rice farmer while introducing the benefits of irrigation to Matagorda county.

In July, 1943, he donated $200,000 to the crippled children's section of Memorial hospital. Three years ago he donated an 8,000 acre farm to the Buckner Orphan home in Waco. In 1939, he purchased the Bay City gas system and presented it to the town.

Services will be conducted at 4 p. m. tomorrow in the Bay City Baptist church, a building which Letulle constructed as a memorial to his wife.

First U. S. Tank Unit Enters Burma Battle

Announcement Of Action Is On Second Anniversary Of Allied Burma Retreat

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ
Associated Press War Editor

Two years ago today, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell and his beaten Allied troops started their retreat from Burma. Today, Allied headquarters chose the anniversary to announce the first all-American tank unit to see action on the Asiatic continent has entered the battle against Japan's supply system in northern Burma.

The announcement testified to the growing strength of Stillwell's forces and the expanding success of his campaign to smash the effectiveness of the Mandalay-Myitkyina railroad and to carve a new land route from Ledo, India, to the old Burma road and thus re-open the overland supply line to China.

Near Railroad Terminus

Stilwell's jungle fighters are within 45 road miles of the railroad terminus, Myitkyina, and within 44 miles of the important junction of Mogaung, 40 miles west of Myitkyina toward Mandalay.

Headquarters reported progress in the clean-up of Japanese around Kohima, farthest point of the Japanese invasion of India, and a spokesman said the enemy, confronted with serious "loss of face" if the Indian invasion collapses, is massing for an all-out drive for the important Allied base at Imphal, 60 miles south of Kohima.

The combined Allied operations on the India-Burma front, aimed at speeding the flow of men and material for China's defense and ultimately for an attack on Japan, can't reach fruition too soon for the Chinese.

Ground fighting, meager as it was, subsided in the Southwest Pacific with the capture of the big Dutch New Guinea base of Hollandia and the battle baton was passed to airmen who smacked

Allies Hit Big Port Of Genoa

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 1 (AP) — Allied bombers blasted the big port of Genoa for the third straight night last night after a fleet of more than 500 heavy bombers rained explosives on the Milan railyards and other targets in northern Italy, headquarters announced today.

Topping off 72 hours of blows on shipping and communications in Italy, the night bombers also hammered the much-bombed west coast port of Livorno (Leghorn) and struck Monfalcone, near the Adriatic port of Trieste.

Plane Factories Hit

Heavy bombers hit a plane factory at Milan and others at Bresso and Barese, struck rail targets at Castelmaggiore and Allessandria and dug up an airfield at Reggio Emilia during more than 1,750 sorties from which five planes of the Allied Mediterranean Air Force failed to return. Twelve enemy planes were destroyed.

Medium and light bombers attacked rail communications in central Italy, scoring hits on many bridges, mostly on the Rome-Florence line. A six-car train was reported hit.

Ground action was limited to patrol activity and artillery duels, with the Germans firing propaganda leaflets in one area

River Highest In 100 Years

Destruction In Floods Spreads

(By The Associated Press)

Swollen to its highest levels in 100 years, the raging Mississippi river swept safely past St. Louis but continued spreading destruction today as one of its tributaries, the Illinois, continued tearing at earthen levees.

Forecasts of showers throughout the watersheds of the two streams led authorities to call for additional help to battle the rivers, bringing to over 11,000 the number fighting to hold the levees in Illinois and Missouri. The U. S. Army district engineer's office at St. Louis reported that Dupo, where a large portion of the freight yards was under water, and Preston, on the Mississippi, and Clear creek and McGree creek levees were in critical danger today.

The total acreage inundated by the Mississippi and the two tributaries, the Illinois and Missouri, in the latest tabulation by the Red Cross was 1,212,000. Levees were being broken at so many places it is difficult to keep figures up to date.

FLOOD WARNINGS GIVEN IN SOME TEXAS AREAS

(By The United Press)

More thundershowers were looked for today by the weather bureau further to augment the rains that soaked North and East Texas over the weekend.

The general rainfall covered areas in North and East Texas and continued as far west as Abilene. Rainfall was reported as far down as the Gulf coast, but the weather bureau said the reported amounts of precipitation there were less than for North Texas.

Flood Warnings Given

Flood warnings have been issued to farmers to get cattle out of river bottoms and on to higher ground in the Trinity river lowlands.

The Trinity and its tributaries were reported to be nearly bankful and weather bureau officials stated that it was certain to overflow. They added that the prospect for a serious flood was not predicted.

A torrential rainfall at Grapeland Saturday night caused the

Tax Rates For Big Families Suggested

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP) — Bargain tax rates for big families picked up some fatherly support in the Senate today, along with suggestions that even more should be done to encourage an increase in population.

The new simplification measure, which has been promised swift congressional action, would cut the tax bills for large families by allowing a flat $500 exemption on every member of the family. The current deduction for each child is $350. By the same token, the new measure would increase tax liabilities for childless couples.

"I say that in view of the high cost of living, the high cost of bringing up children, the deduction should be even more," said Senator Maybank, (D-SC). "It never was enough."

Moody Wants Repeal Of State Election Law

Use Of Convention System Suggested; Arguments Ready

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 1—Repeal of the primary election law and a return to the convention system of nominating candidates, discarded in 1906, was proposed today by Former Governor Dan Moody as the only certain way to circumvent a U. S. Supreme cour decision opening Democratic primary elections to negro participation.

Moody made the proposal, in a formal statement, coincidentally with an announcement that he and Wright Morrow of Houston, attorneys for the Democratic state executive committee, had prepared arguments in support of a hehearing in the court's decision.

Reversal "Only Hope"

Moody said a reversal of the decision is "only a hope, and likely a forlorn hope."

"If there is any desire upon the part of the people to avoid the consequences of the decision in this case, they will do better to look to a session of the legislature. Therein lies certainty," he said.

Moody added the Supreme court seldom grants a rehearing and "the prospects of a rehearing being granted in this case and the majority holding of the court reversed are most remote"

Return To Convention Plan

"The answer is for the legislature to meet and repeal the primary election law, and return to the convention system of nominating candidates."

Attorneys Wright Morrow of Houston and Dan Moody of Austin wrote the arguments which basically were keyed on a contention

U.S. Ship Sinks; 498 Are Lost

WASHINGTON, May 1. (AP) — The sinking of an American ship with loss of 498 military personnel in the Mediterranean was announced today by the War department.

The date of the sinking was not given, except that it was "recent." Nor was it disclosed whether the enemy action was by submarine or aircraft.

"The vessel sank swiftly and 498 military personnel are missing," said the brief announcement. "The next of kin of the personnel have been notified."

Siamese Girl Twins Born To Woman In Pennsylvania

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., May 1. (U.P.) — Siamese twins — girls — daughters of Mrs. Mary Siterly, 24, Audubon, Pa., were living today, 24 hours after their birth Sunday at the Phoenixville hospital.

Hospital officials said that the condition of the one baby was good and the second was "fair." Their mother was described in good condition after a "comfortable night."

The infants were described by hospital chief of staff, Dr. J. Elmer Gotwals, as possessing a single alimentary tract and a single pair of buttocks, with their inner legs joined together. From the waist up they are separately and perfectly formed. They weighed 12 pounds at birth.

Dr. Gotwals said the babies would never walk, nor could they be separated. The smaller of the two girls showed indications of poor circulation, he added.

Mrs. Siterly has one other child, a two-year-old daughter. Her husband Harold, a war plant worker, was killed in a motorcycle accident two months ago.

The Siamese birth is believed to be the first ever recorded in Pennsylvania.

Men Surprise Gen. Clark On Birthday

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY In Italy, May 1. (AP)—Two hundred officers and men, including eight generals, quietly surrounded Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's billet at dawn today and congratulated him on his 48th birthday while a band played "Happy Birthday."

Clark, comander of the Fifth Army, appeared in slippers and trench-coat with a surprised look on his face to accept the greetings.

Czech Territorial Agreement Drafted

MOSCOW, May 1. (AP) — An agreement drafted by the Soviet union and the Czecho-Slovak government-in-exile places in Czech hands the administration of Czech territory liberated by the Red Army.

Civil control will be turned over to the Czechs as quickly as militarily practicable, even to the handling of any crimes which might be committed against Russian troops, Andrei J. Vishinsky, Soviet vice commissar for foreign affairs, declared in announcing the agreement.

He said that the supreme Red Army commander would be in charge during active military operations.

Tugwell Resignation Sought; Puerto Rican Revolt Is Feared

WASHINGTON, May 1. (AP) — Puerto Ricans are "almost on the verge of revolution," Bolivar Pagan, the island's resident commissioner in Congress, declared today in demanding the resignation of Gov. Rexford Guy Tugwell.

"If the American flag had not been waving over Puerto Rico the people would already have gone into open revolt by arms," Pagan said in a statement and interview.

"What the people want right now is the reestablishment and enforcement of the present organic act and the immediate removal of Governor Tugwell, to reestablish in Puerto Rico a government of law and honesty and a real government by the majority of the people."

Compared To Hitler

Pagan declared "Tugwell's dictatorial attitude can be matched only by Hitler's and Mussolini's tactics."

The governor, he said, travels with an armed guard, and lives a life of luxury in a 300-year-old Spanish castle "more comfortable than the White House, with 30 servants, eight automobiles, and

Invasion Fever In Europe Mounting

Enslaved People Given Official Allied Assurance That Liberation Day Is Near

(By The United Press)

LONDON, May 1. — Invasion fever mounted today amid official Allied assurances that the day of liberation for occupied Europe is "not far distant."

Europe's vast underground army, estimated in the millions, was told by the new American broadcasting station in Europe in its opening broadcast last night that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander, will give the signal to rise up against the Germans when the zero hour arrives.

"Until then, be cautious, be discreet," Robert E. Sherwood, overseas director for OWI, said in inaugurating the new station in Britain. "Do not be tricked into premature action by Nazi lies or deception."

Nazis Tighten Clamp

Underlining Sherwood's words of caution, the London Daily Express reported from Geneva that the Germans already have put into effect "plan No. 1" in France to counter the impending invasion. Suspected members of the underground were being rounded up and travel has been restricted, the dispatch said.

Anotner Daily Express dispatch said Swedish sources believed the invasion would come this week, probably within the next 48 hours, or not until May 17 because channel tides would be at low ebb during the interim.

The Swedes expect Denmark to play "one of the leading roles in the invasion," the dispatch said, with diversionary operations against Norway. Radio Ankara speculated the Anglo-American armies would land in northern France and Belgium.

Massive Operation Completed

In Britain itself, the troops carrier command of the 9th U. S. Air force was revealed to have completed what was described officially as one of the most massive air-borne operations of the war in preparation for the opening of a western front.

Simulating an attack on an enemy strong point, transport planes showered paratroops and guns from the sky and gliders swooped to earth with reinforcements, artillery, jeeps and heavy demolition equipment.

From a United Kingdom port area came word that a vast American merchant fleet was being readied to follow a great battle fleet into enemy waters with troops and military supplies.

To Land Raid Equipment

Among the first shipment to be landed, once one or more ports have been cleared, will be hundreds of miles of railroad tracks and ties, along with locomotives and cars. The invasion command has anticipated total German destruction of railway lines and made preparations to build its own.

A new campaign to suppress careless talk was understood to have been ordered within Britain by the government as a further step toward protecting invasion secrets. A memorandum was said to have been circulated among all government employes warning of stiff penalties for revealing restricted information.

HEAVIER ATTACKS DUE

LONDON, May 1 (U.P.) — Allied plans call for air attacks from now on which will overshadow the April record by a wide margin and which, with good weather and good luck, might reduce the German air force to a skeleton before the great land campaign gets under way.

Three months ago that sort of statement would have been classed as rank wishful thinking. Today on the basis of full information, much of it still unknown publicly, experienced observers think it is entirely within the limits of possibility.

Methodists See Sharp Debate On Clergy Rights For Women

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 1 (U.P.) —The world conference of the Methodist church today resumed consideration of church problems with the question of equal clergy rights for women expected to come up for discussion.

The proposal to admit women to full clergy status was expected to provoke sharp debate when and if it reaches the conference flood. None of the approximately 100 women delegates has spoken officially on the subject thus far.

Yesterday's sessions were given over to religious and devotional meetings.

At a program designated as "international night" Bishop Wen Yuan Chen of Chungking, China, told the conference that 70,000,000 Chinese have been driven from their homes.

Dramatic Migration

"The movement of the cultural institutions, the trek of the students and teachers from occupied territories to Free China, and the mass transportation and transplantation of machinery from war areas to the interior are the most dramatic and heroic movement in the great migration of China," he said. Railway Lines In France And Belgium Hit

Pre-Invasion Air Offensive Goes Into 17th Day

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 1.—Fifteen hundred or more Allied planes struck at Nazi installations and rail lines in France and Belgium today in the 17th day of the pre-invasion air offensive, spearheaded by a heavy bomber assault upon secret targets in northern France.

Up to 500 heavy bombers and as many escorting fighters delivered the main blow without losing a single plane, and the U. S. Marauders followed up with raids on railyards in both France and Belgium feeding the German Atlantic wall defenses.

"SECRET WEAPON" DISRUPTED

LONDON, May 1 (AP) — The German's much-touted "secret weapon" on the French coast, evidently has been disrupted by intensive Allied bombing—or else is so hot that the Germans are holding it for the actual moment of invasion. It seems more likely that bombs have kept them from using it.

Separate fleets of RAF mediums bombed railway objectives in France, and Mustang and Thunderbolts hit the yards at Namur and Haine St. Pierre in Belgium.

Heavy Night Raid

The daylight attacks followed an RAF heavy bomber night raid exploding an ammunition dump at Maintenon, 37 miles southwest of Paris, and hammering two more rail points in France.

(At 5 p. m. today the German radio said that "single planes are over western Germany.")

The U. S. heavy bombers roared out early over the channel.

Weather None Too Good

American pilots found the weather none too good and some formations brought their bombs home rother than drop them uncertainly and endanger French civilians. Other groups found holes in the overcast and reported satisfactory ombing.

"We didn't encounter a single German fighter," reported one Fortress gunner. "What little flak we saw was off in the distance."

Bostons and Mitchells of the RAF second tactical air force led off today's offensive, combing rail targets in France nuder escort of RAF, New Zealand and Allied Spitfires.

3,000 Planes Out Sunday

The British night blow was followed close on the heels of the blasting which 3,000 Allied planes delivered yesterday against German anti-invasion targets in France.

President Assailed As Administrator

NORFOLK, Neb., May 1 (AP) — Senator Owen Brewster (R-Me.) said today "one of the best informed Democrats in Washington has wisely said, 'the President is one of the greatest politicians and one of the worst administrators the world has ever seen'."

In an address prepared for delivery at the Nebraska Republican convention Brewster charged that "the same intermeddling by White House favorites behind the scenes that has bedeviled our domestic difficulties has been even more disastrous in foreign affairs.

"Chaos in domestic affairs at home has been succeeded by chaos in our diplomatic affairs abroad. The diplomatic conduct of our foreign policy has been tragically mishandled. Hull's victory at Moscow was immediately robbed of its fruits by Hull's absence at Teheran. Stalin and Churchill retreated in disgust and in despair from foreign policies counseled by a Harry Hopkins instead of a Hull."

Military conduct of the war, he added, "has been all that could be desired or at least expected."

The Maine senator asserted that "strange theories are abroad that insinuate some lack of patriotism and world vision in anyone who suggests taking thought of America and its future.

"Churchill and Stalin are stalwart champions of their native lands. What we need is someone similarly placed who will be willing to say 'I am an American and I put America first'."

killed in futile attempts to dent the Soviet line in an adjoining sector.

Enemy attacks also were repulsed north of Iasi on the Romanian front, where 33 German planes were shot down in aerial combats.

Ships of the Black sea fleet sank two of three transports in an attack on an enemy convoy west of besieged Sevastopol Crimean naval base, the communique said.

Must Free Enslaved People

Stalin, in his order of the day, said the Red army, in cooperation with the Allies, "must deliver from German bondage our brothers, Poles, Czechoslovaks and other Allied peoples of western Europe which are under the heel of Hitlerite Europe."

He called on the people of Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland "to take the cause of their liberation from the German yoke into their own hands," overthrow their governments and make peace with the Allies.

"Under the blows of the Red army," he said, "the bloc of Fascist states is cracking and falling into pieces. Fear and confusion now reign among Hitler's Romanian, Hungarian, Finnish and Bulgarian 'Allies.'

"Germany Has Lost War"

"These Hitler underlings cannot fail to see that Germany has lost the war. Romania, Hungary, Finland and Bulgaria have only one possibility for escaping disaster—to break with the Germans and withdraw from the war."

Stalin said the United States and Great Britain had made a "considerable contribution" to the Red army's success in liberating more than three quarters of its territory overrun by Germany.

The two western allies, he said, "hold a front in Italy against the Germans and divert a considerable part of German troops from us, supply us with very valuable strategic raw materials and armaments, subject to systematic bombardments military objectives in Germany and thus undermine the latter's military might."

Stalin ordered a May day salute of 20-gun salvoes in Moscow and others of the principal cities in Russia.

News Briefs

The War department made public today the names of 663 United States soldiers missing in action, including Sgt. Roscoe W. Dooley, jr., son of Mrs. Effie G. Dooley of Route 2, Anton, and 2nd Lt. William J. Terry, son of Elliott E. Terry of Plainview.

An eight pound, eight and one-half ounce son was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Elmo Burkett of Tahoka Saturday afternoon at 4:55 o'clock in Lubbock General hospital. The father is a farmer.

Mrs. Minnie L. Landers, 80, who had lived in Lubbock county 17 years died of pneumonia and a heart attack at the home of a son, Warren L. Landers, five miles southwest of Lubbock, at 12:05 a. m. Friday, and not as result of a fall as stated in an article in Saturday morning's Avalanche, a member of the family said today. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. K. Clements of Monroe, at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon and burial was in the Wolfforth cemetery.

Noel Edwards of 2128 Nine-teenth street informed police Sunday night he had been struck by an automobile driven by a woman who did not stop to inquire about his injuries, which were slight. He gave the license number of the car and suggested the driver was drunk.

The Z. Nordyke residence at 3207 Twenty-first street was entered over the week-end, but police said they could find no evidence of property having been removed from the premises.

Police were holding two negro women, they said this morning, after a fight early Sunday and knife injuries to one of them. The fight was in 1800-block Avenue A. They will be charged.

Mrs. J. H. Pruitt of 717 Seven-teenth street complained to police that a dog owned by a man on Avenue G had bitten her child. She said the owner "refused to keep his dog up." Police asked the dog catcher to function, and promised further investigation.

J. T. Inmon, justice of peace, this morning set a peace bond of $500 for Pete Reese, 33, Lubbock man accused of having threatened to commit an assault and take the life of Robert Bishop, 39. Officials said both principals had paid simple assault fines in corporation court Saturday after a fight.

Hair Style Changes Predicted At Meet Of Beauticians Here

High tangled pompadours and swooping hair-dos are on their way out and are being replaced by the short comb-anyway hairdress, according to Vernon Isbel of Ft. Worth, guest artist at the 14th annual West Texas and Eastern New Mexico school and Trade show at the Hilton hotel.

"You can't cut hair any old way and expect to get a smooth hairdress," Isbel said. "You have to cut hair according to a pattern, like an architect builds according to a plan." The practical hairdress of today is one that is cut from four to six inches and can be combed for all occasions from a morning at home to an evening in town.

And as for the flat-top hair, Isbel advises only the very young to wear it because it adds years to a woman's face.

A "hair glamour" show and dance tonight will climax the two-day show which opened Sunday. Russell Morrison, sponsor of the show, said the attendance this year was especially good in view of the shortage of operators at home and limited wartime traveling.

For the first time since the beginning of the war there is a shortage of beauty supplies, such as milk and fluff shampoos, pins and permanent wave oils and fluid.

Clyde Cale, of Dallas, master of ceremonies, says today's program will include demonstrations in hairstyling, and a question and answer session.

Texas Navy Hero's Family Leaves For Ship Launching

LISSIE, Tex., May 1 (AP)—The fast train from California ground to a flag stop here this morning and the family of seaman-hero Johnnie David Hutchins climbed aboard for a trip to Orange, Tex., where tomorrow his mother will christen a destroyer escort named in his memory.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie M. Hutchins, the parents, and their six children found a crowd of folks from Lissie, Eagle Lake, Columbus and East Bernard, waiting when they reached the station an hour before train time.

There was a ceremony in which A. A. Wied, principal, and students of the Lissie school took part, and C. W. Causey, representing ex-service men of Lissie presented the Hutchins family with a list of donors of $350 to be used for improvements on the homestead which Johnnie's death benefit enabled his family to buy.

The improvements, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins were told, were to be another memorial for Johnnie, who saved his ship from a Japanese torpedo as he slumped, dying, over the helm.

For his heroism near far off New Guinea Johnnie was awarded posthumously the Congressional Medal of Honor. At Orange, tomorrow his mother will christen the USS Johnnie Hutchins as it slides down the ways at Consolidated Steel Corp. yards.

Speculation Rises Over MacArthur

BY LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 1 — There was speculation here today whether Gen. Douglas MacArthur's unqualified disavowal of presidential aspirations would put him in line for a return to the United States for military conferences.

He is the only officer of comparable rank or command responsibilities who has not been brought back to this country for one reason or another since Pearl Harbor. The fact that MacArthur has not appeared has been the subject of frequent unofficial comment.

There has been no hint whether failure to include him in mainland discussions has been on his own motion or for lack of an invitation the War department. Some of MacArthur's top subordinates have been back.

To Avoid Political Show

Unfriendly critics of the Roosevelt administration have suggested that MacArthur had not been summoned home because there was no desire to give him an opportunity to become the center of political demonstrations here. Others have suggested that there was military opposition to his return on the ground that he might say something which would encourage pressure groups to demand greater allocations of men and munitions to the Southwest Pacific at the expense of the European theater. Still others believed MacArthur could have returned any time at his convenience but simply wanted to remain with his own command.

In any event, his return now could have slight political significance, if any. MacArthur's statement that he would not accept the presidential nomination if tendered definitely removed him from the contest. There remains now the paradoxical situation in which the only candidates with respect to whom there has been no conclusive and public statement of political intentions are the two men most generally regarded as the probable presidential contestants this year — President Roosevelt and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Dewey Not Seeking Post

Dewey's position is that he will not seek the Republican presidential nomination and that he prefers to serve out his four year term as governor. He was elected in 1942. Mr. Roosevelt has smilingly parried news conference questions whether he is a fourth term candidate or would accept if nominated.

Uncertainty regarding either Mr. Roosevelt or Dewey, however, is strictly technical. The Democratic national committee, the big city Democratic organizations in New Jersey, New York and Chicago and most of the party leaders are preparing to nominate Mr. Roosevelt. He has not said anything to dissuade them. Neither has Dewey raised any bar to the extraordinarily successful preconvention campaign being conducted by his admirers.

MacArthur's contrastingly unequivocal withdrawal astonished political Washington since he had such excellent precedent for avoiding a definite statement. The impression here is that MacArthur was a receptive — and more likely hopeful — aspirant for the Republican nomination until he learned of the unfavorable reaction to publication here of letters he had written to Rep. A. L. Miller, (R., Neb.) Miller assailed the Roosevelt administration in a letter to the general and got in return a letter saying that MacArthur agreed with the "complete wisdom and statesmanship of your comments." The general also intimated his dissatisfaction with allocations of men and munitions to his theater.

May Have Been Admonished

It is possible that the War department admonished MacArthur upon publication of that correspondence and hinted that he had better get out of politics — and quickly. Something evidently changed the general's point of view. On April 16, three days after publication of the Miller correspondence, MacArthur issued a communique denying he was a presidential candidate but adding a paragraph which was accepted immediately by his supporters as meaning the he was receptive and would run if nominated.

Possibly even more illuminating was a report received in the Washington bureau of the United Press on Jan. 27 from a visitor to MacArthur's headquarters. This summary of political sentiment was by an experienced observer and it was remarked that the dispatch passed through MacArthur's own censorship. Its most striking sentence was a suggestion that MacArthur believed an experienced soldier in the White House would bring an earlier victory in the war.

enemy targets far to the northeast.

Jap Airstrips Raided

Fifth air force planes hammered two Japanese airstrips in the Scmouten island 250 miles northwest of Hollandia, wrecked installations with a 77-ton shower and destreyed possibly 20 enemy planes.

Other planes pounded Wewak, New Guinea, with an 85-ton blow, hit Rabaul, New Britain, with 30 tons and the Hansa bay coast of New Guinea with 26 tons.

American warships boldly steamed 120 miles northwest of Hollandia to pump 75 tons of explosives into Japanese installations at Wake island, after planes had raked the area with a 51-ton assault.

CHINESE ADMIT LOSS OF HISTORIC PASS

(By The Associated Press)

CHUNGKING, May 1 — Chinese field reports admitted today the fall of historic Hulao pass, ancient battleground guarding the way to Loyang in Honan province. This is a distinct blow to the Chinese.

An eight day battle preceded loss of the pass, a small piece of flatland backed by steep mountains on three sides. It fronts the Yellow river north of the Lunghai railway, from which the Chinese had removed the tracks.

The invaders were reported to have begun an immediate fortification of the pass, rushing preparations for a possible drive on Loyang.

Japs Raid Loyang

Loyang experienced a heavy Japanese air attack.

The pass is west of Chenghsien, which previously fell to the Japanese. Heavy fighting is continuing around Mihsien, southwest of Chenghsien, with the Chinese asserting they have walled off the invaders on three sides and inflicted heavy casualties.

The Japanese continued an advance down the trackless Peiping-Hankow railway and were threatening the important town of Hsuchang, 50 miles south of Chenghsien.

The Chinese also said Japanese troops had launched a new drive from northern Anhwei province in support of efforts to clear the Peiping-Hankow railroad.

The announcement was coupled with a disclosure by U. S. Army headquarters that American planes have been thrown in to back up Chinese troops battling the invaders' offensive to the northwest in the Chenghsien area.

MARKET OFF TO SLOW START

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP) — The stock market today got off to a crawling start on the new month and, while scattered favorites displayed quiet strength, numerous leaders did virtually nothing.

Gains of fractions to around 2 points were fairly well distributed at one time or another. Prices hardened here and there near the close. Turnover of approximately 400,000 shares was one of the smallest for a 5-hour stretch since last September.

Among stocks, Pacific Mills got up to a 1944 peak. Standard Oil (NJ) was in front as directors voted a 75-cent extra, a boost of 25 cents from such previous payments. Ahead were Schenley, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Telephone, Eastman Kodak and International Harvester. Behind most of the day were Republic Steel, Union Carbide, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft and Woolworth.

Tires And Gasoline Are Stolen Here

Evidence mounted this morning against one or more thieves who went in for a week-end splurge of siphoning gasoline from parked automobiles and taking at least two tires.

License number of an automobile was supplied to officials after J. M. Cunningham of 711 Avenue M had reported the machine, driven by a soldier with a "hub cap in his hand," had left a scene where three cars had been drained and a spare tire taken from one of them.

Gasoline was drained from the car of L. C. Edwards of St. Francis hotel, and a tire and wheel taken; gasoline from a car parked nearby, and glass broken in an attempt to ransack another car parked near the other two.

The carnation, one of the oldest flowers still under cultivation, was first described in 300 B. C. by the Greek philosopher Theocrastus.

An Air ministry communique said that one British plane was missing. British planes also struck unannounced objectives in western Germany and laid mines in enemy waters.

100 Forays In 1944

Counting today, British-based planes of the U. S. Army Air forces have been over the continent 100 of the 122 days of 1944 and the RAF has pounded enemy targets on 91 nights.

These operations wound up a month which saw at least 100,000 tons of explosives and probably more dropped in Germany and occupied territory by aerial fleets operating from both Italian and British bases.

Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle said that American fighters and bomber gunners during heavy bomber missions by the U. S. Eighth Air force in April knocked out more than 1,300 German fighters — a total "substantially more than the entire German aircraft production for the month."

359 U. S. Bombers Lost

In a broadcast last night the Eighth Air force commander placed the April losses of his command at 359 bombers and 144 fighters. The enemy fighter kill included more than 800 German planes blasted out of the sky in aerial combat and more than 500 destroyed on the ground.

(Doolittle's fighters apparently combined the total bag of his own (strategic) air force and the U. S. Ninth tactical) Air force, which furnishes part of the fighter escort for nearly every one of the Eighth's raids, an unofficial check of communiques reported for April indicated. These war bulletins do not separate figures for the two air forces).

The RAF during April sent heavy bombers out from Britain on 13 nights an they flew a total of around 9,350 sorties at a cost of 215 four-engined bombers. The British bombers dumped more than 34,700 tons of explosives.

Florida Primary To Test Negro Voting

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 1 (AP) — Tomorrow's state primary election will be the first southern Democratic primary—along with Alabama's, likewise scheduled Tuesday — since the Supreme court's decision holding Texas negroes may vote in a Democratic primary there, party rules or no. Florida's Democratic party rules against negroes voting in the primary has not been changed. Negroes say they will attempt to vote in two or three districts Tuesday. If prevented, an appeal to the courts is expected to follow.

not come under the scope of the President's executive order for the seizure and that therefore the government operation was invalid and unauthorized by law.

Seizure Claimed Legal

In his argument, Biddle said the government was asking only that the court see that the United States' possession of the plants was respected. He said there was no need for a court order to authorize the government to take over the properties because that was done on the basis of existing executive orders and statutes.

Biddle added that there was great danger in a labor dispute at the Ward plants because "an actual strike can spread across the country and cause a serious emergency."

"The President as commander-in-chief of the armed forces has the power to prevent such a disturbance," he said.

"Other presidents have faced such a dilemma and have acted and Congress has backed such action.

Size Said Factor

He said that the size of Montgomery Ward should be considered in viewing the action and explained that the company did $600,000,000 worth of business last year, which he claimed, was essential to the war and civilian life and "modern war involves the entire population."

Biddle said Montgomery Ward has 30,000,000 customers and operates retail stores in 47 states.

The Hummer Manufacturing company, he said, makes airplane propellors and gun mounts for the prosecution of the war.

About 300 spectators crowded into the courtroom for today's hearing, and a large number milled about in the hallways outside, seeking admission.

Hearing Adjourned

After hearing Biddle's arguments, Judge Holly adjourned the hearing until later today so that he could attend to other scheduled business.

The government's seizure of the plant last week grew out of a dispute between the company and the United Retail, Wholesale, and Department Store Employes union (CIO). The presidential seizure order was issued after the company refused to comply with a War Labor board directive to extend an expired contract with the union.

Biddle claimed the law provides for seizure of any plant where an interruption threatens to impede the war effort.

Troops summoned to enforce the President's order to take over the plant last Wednesday were withdrawn Saturday. Wayne C. Taylor, undersecretary of commerce who was named government operator of the firm, said the soldiers were no longer needed since the temporary injunction restrained company officials from interference.

Principal interference came from Sewell Avery, chairman of Ward's board of driectors, who refused to turn over the company books or call a staff meeting. His defiance and refusal to leave the premises when ordered resulted in his eviction by two soldiers who carried him from the building.

Roads, Bridges Damaged

Small creeks were out in the Houston-Anderson county area, with much farm land under water. Rural roads and bridges also were damaged.

Cloudbursts and electrical storms that occurred Saturday were reported to be more serious than those that occurred Sunday. Three Dallas radio stations were put off the air for a short time by Saturday's storms.

Heaviest rainfall during the last 24 hours was reported at Waco with 3.41 inches. Dallas reported 1.06 inches; San Antonio, .54; Austin, .29 inches and Beaumont, a trace.

Lower Colorado river authority had reports of 15 rainfalls of more than two inches each on the river's watershed. The Colorado river at San Saba was at the 13-foot stage and the San Saba river at 18.6 inches.

The rainfall reports included: 3.84 inches at Menard, 3.3 at Lampasas, 2.86 at Goldthwaite and 2.30 at San Saba.

Sabine River Rising

The Sabine river was rising, and within the next 48 hours its tributaries were expected to overflow, putting thousands of acres of lowlands along its course from Mineola to Logansport under water. The Lake Charles weather bureau said the Sabine would reach flood stage at Gladewater by May 3, at Tatum by May 4 and would crest at 18 feet at Bonwier by May 5.

The Houston weather bureau said that Liberty, in Liberty county, was due for flooding by early Wednesday, when the Trinity was expected to overflow its banks. Below Long Lake, upstream, however, the Trinity appeared unlikely to leave its banks.

The Brazos will come to a stand above flood stage at Waco, cresting at 27.5 feet, the forecast said. In its lower course, the Brazos was expected to rise sharply at Valley Junction, but indications were that it would not reach flood levels. The Neches as rising sharply in its upper and middle course.

Negro Woman Faces Charge In Shooting

A charge of assualt with intent to murder was filed this morning against Elizabeth Davis, 37, an El Paso negro woman who was living at 1809 Avenue B, here.

In a hospital for treatment of a gunshot wound was Sara Alice Hastings, 20, one of the state's principal witnesses in the forthcoming murder trial of Robert "Mus'hav'it" Johnson, a negro accused of having slain Cliff Spears, a negro bootlegger, last December.

The shooting and the Johnson trial have no connection, said Aubrey Fawver, assistant chief of police, who said he had been informed the Hastings woman went into the Davis residence early today and struck the Davis woman's daughter with a glass, then the shooting followed.

The Hastings woman, struck above the left shoulder blade by a .32 caliber slug that plowed out through her windpipe, will recover, police said hospital officials indicated.

J. T. Inmon, justice of peace accepted the charge sworn to by Fawver before District Attorney Burton S. Burks. He said the accused had not asked for arraignment.

Congratulations To:

Capt. and Mrs. Horace S. Humphries, 2009 Broadway, on the birth of a girl, Jan, born Sunday at 6:34 a.m. and weighing 5 pounds and 11½ ounces at West Texas hospital. The father is stationed at Camp Barkeley, Abilene.

Farm Labor Shortage Relief Is Discussed

Possible relief of the shortage of farm labor in Lubbock county was discussed at the luncheon of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce today noon in the Hilton hotel.

Jason O. Gordon, Lubbock county farm agent, told members of the need for help in this situation. He pointed out that 80 per cent of the farm labor must come from within the county; the other 20 per cent from migratory and prisoner of war sources. After checking, he said, it was found that prisoner of war labor would not be practical in this county.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has agreed to appoint a committee to work out a plan whereby business men of Lubbock might be called upon to devote two hours, one afternoon a week, to help farmers who are faced with this situation.

It was announced by Sloan Fortenberry that the organization had been given an office at the city hall by the Senior Chamber of Commerce and the secretary, Morgan Duval., was instructed to move in as soon as possible.

Ray Blackwell, president, presided at the luncheon.

Lawrence Trial Is Set For Wednesday

Judge J. E. Vickers of 99th district court this morning announced the C. B. Lawrence rape case would be called Wednesday morning for trial and that other felony indictments would be called at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon when a petit jury panel reports to him.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks had asked for, and been granted, a special venire of 150 men for the Lawrence case.

Lawrence is accused of having raped Mrs. Evelyn Stovall.

Cases to be called this afternoon and their charges:

George Fulcher, a negro, two cases of receiving and concealing of stolen property; Ira Taylor, Thomas Watson, Rogers Hewing and Willie Lee Hervey, all negroes, for theft of grain over $50; and Mannie Foster, a negro, murder of Cleveland Smith.

that the party itself, not the state, fixes the qualification of party membership and the state had nothing to do with the Democratic convention of 1932 which declared by resolution that the party open to membership of "all white citizens" qualified under the constitution and laws.

Attorney General Grover Sellers previously had filed a rehearing motion which is before the court.

The Supreme court had taken the view in an eight-to-one decision that state statutes so govern party primaries that the primaries become an action of the state and to bar negroes from participation violates the constitution.

Truck tires are scarce today . . . so it's just plain common sense to look after them better now than ever before. It's a job for teamwork all the way down the line. Big Crowds Witness 8 Doubleheaders

Giants, Bums Split Bizarre Twin Bill

(By The Associated Press)

Any lingering doubts that the public didn't want baseball in this third wartime season were dissipated yesterday by an outpouring of more than 208,943 fans for eight major league doubleheaders at New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Detroit, Washington, Boston and Chicago. These figures do not include thousands of service men who were admitted free.

The national pastime was given an added endorsement by George M. McMurphey, chief of the war production board's recreation division, who announced in Washington that WPB may release materials for erection of lights in big league parks not now equipped for night games. He mentioned the Boston Red Sox, Boston Braves, Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs as being interested in installing lights.

Bizarre Twin Bill

The largest Sunday turnout was at the Polo Grounds in New York where 58,068—including 52,037 paid—saw the Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers split a bizarre twin bill. Thousands were turned away.

The Giants ran away with the opener, 26-8, as Phil Weintraub batted in eleven runs and Ernie Lombardi, seven. The Dodgers rallied to win the nightcap, 5-4. Joe Medwick, of the Giants, was hit in the groin by a thrown pop bottle between games, but was not seriously hurt although he was kept out of the second game. Leo Durocher, Brooklyn manager, was banished in the sixth inning of the opener.

The St. Louis Cardinals kept on top of the National loop by sweeping a doubleheader from the tailend Cubs, 5 to 0 and 7 to 5. Southpaw Max Lanier won his third straight game in the opener. Stan Musial's three-run homer won the nightcap. The double setback ran the Cubs' losing streak to nine.

Ernie Bonham and Hank Borowy hurled the New York Yankees to a double victory over Washington, 2 to 1 and 3 to 2, before 31,057 behind the timely hitting of Don Savage and Bud Metheny. The St. Louis Browns stayed in first place by splitting with the Chicago White Sox. The Sox took the opener, 6 to 5, while Don Gutteridge's double won for the Browns in the afterpiece, 5 to 4.

Cleveland and Detroit split their bargain encounter. The Indians took the opener, 2 to 1, and the Tigers the nightcap, 4 to 2, on Chick Hostetler's two-run single.

The Phillies went 14 innings to beat the Boston Braves 2 to 1, in the first game of a twin bill at Philadelphia, but had to be content with a nine-inning 2-2 tie in the second game when Butch Hieman socked a ninth-inning homer.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati also split a twin bill as did the Philadelphia Athletes and Boston Red Sox. Pittsburgh won the first game, 7-1, while the Reds took the nightcap, 4 to 1, behind Bucky Walters' three-hitter. Bob Johnson's homer gave the Red Sox a 3 to 2 triumph over the A's in the first game the Mackmen snapped back to take the afterpiece, 3 to 1.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 1—Overseas sports roundup: Italy.

A recent letter to International League President Frank Shaughnessy from a high-ranking Air force officer in Italy (and incidentally one of Shag's numerous relatives) offered this suggestion: "I don't see why some of you smart baseball men haven't got together two good picked baseball teams and brought them overseas to entertain the boys. I have heard hundreds of boys say they would walk twenty miles just to see a real pro game."

CHINA

A not so-recent softball game in China was so hotly contested that the "CBI Roundup," far eastern Army paper, printed accounts given both by the winners and losers . . . Both sides agreed that the battery, Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault pitching and Brig. Gen. Edgar Glenn catching, had a lot to do with the officers' victory but the defeated "Liberators of China" added credit to "the indispensible part played by the two blind men who were calling 'em."

ALEUTIANS

The Alaskan edition of "Yank" tells how S/Sgt. Francis J. Beckman of Portland, Ore., and T/Sgt. Louis Boawn of Seattle laid out a complete ski run, including a 600-foot tow and a 35-meter jump, at an Aleutian base . . . Sgt. Art Carey of Lake George, N. Y., teaches skiing to any dogface willing to learn . . . Power for the ski tow is supplied, of course, by a jeep motor.

PANAMA CANAL ZONE

Excerpts from a letter from Lt. Barney Plesser, former Penn State track star, to Tub-Thumper Jim Coogan: "Yesterday I flew up to Costa Rica with our championship baseball team, which now is in the Canal department's 'World Series.' The team is called Carney's Fliers and has as its captain none other than the mighty Pfc. Terry Moore. Every time Terry gets up to bat the GI's kid the merry dickens out of him. In fact, he laughs so much when he is at bat as a result of these jibes he can hardly stand up. He struck out once yesterday and I thought the crowd would go crazy; the opposing pitcher just blushed with pride."

No. 1 Sandlot Hitter To Get $1,000 Bond

WICHITA, Kan., May 1 (U.P.)—The No. 1 hitter of sandlot baseball will receive a $1,000 war bond from the National baseball congress, Ray Dumont, president of the organization, announced today.

He said that the player with the best average on any team affiliated with the congress would receive the bond. The player must compete in at least 12 games during the 1944 season, the box scores of which either were prepared or approved by the national association of scorers.

Previously, the No. 1 batter was determined annually by the hitting marks turned in at the national tournament here. Dumont said the revised plan would permit hundreds of additional players to compete for the title and the bond.

Kentucky Races Set Saturday

Few Familiar Entries Listed

LOUISVILLE, May 1. (AP)—The familiar atmosphere which Col. Matt Winn annually entwines around the Kentucky Derby will save the inveterate race fan from thinking he is seeing another race when some 15 three-year old horses break from the barrier in the 70th running of the $75,000 turf classic at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Looking over the owners of the probable starters one finds only the familiar name of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable and Warren Wright's Calumet farm, providing of course, the latter decides today to ship Pensive from Maryland for the big event.

Mostly Newcomers

All of the other owners combined haven't been in racing as long as the first lady of the turf and not one of them ever made a starter in the Downs' mile and one-quarter run for the roses. Even Mrs. Whitney's familiar pink and black silk colors wouldn't be presen were it not for the war, unless Trainer John Gavee names Broad Grin to run with his very highly regarded stablemate, Stir Up.

Stir Up will probably be close to even money favorite at post time.

Among the newcomers there is M. B. Goff, Pittsburgh paint and wallpaper man. He'll be represented by Skytracer, the son of the English stake winner Flares. Skytracer offered Stir Up an argument in the Flamingo stakes at Hialeah park and then won the Blue Glass stakes at the Downs last week.

Other Entries Listed

Then there are O. W. Breault, Chicago baker who'll send Challenge Me, the Arkansas derby winner, to the post; A. G. Ernst of a Cleveland accountant firm who'll be represented by Alorter; A. A. Baroni, the Nevada owner and trainer who'll throw the saddle over Autocrat; Dave Ferguson of Detroit who'll depend on Bell Buzzer; Mrs. A. . . Abel, wife of the former jockey, whose Gramps Image unexpectedly won the Chesapeake stakes at Pimlico; Robert J. Dienst, Beulah Park owner from Columbus who'll bank on Brief Sigh; the Louisville night club proprietor, Joe Goldband, who'll have Shut Up in the race and Mrs. Ruth W. Collins of Honolulu. Mrs. Collins, whose husband is a lieutenant (j. g.) in the Navy, will furnish the international touch with her Hawaiian bred colt Kope Kona.

Bartolo, Terranova Title Bout Is Set

NEW YORK, May 1. (U.P.)—Both featherweight "champions" and other prominent 126-pounders see action on this week's nation boxing schedule.

Sal Bartolo, the N.B.A. feather king, defends his title against Ex-Champ Phil Terranova at Boston Friday night in their postponed 15-rounder. Willie Pepe, whom New York recognizes as feather champ, engages Jackie Leamus at Philadelphia tonight in a non-title 10-rounder.

CATCHY NAMES—Frank Mancusco, top, and Myron Hayworth give St. Louis Browns their best catching in years. Mancusco is brother of Giants' Gus, Hayworth of Dodgers' Ray.

Sergeant From Detroit Turns Golf Instructor In Iceland

BY IVAR GUDMUNDSSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, May 1—An American soldier is teaching Icelanders how to play golf and his pupils increase in numbers week by week. He is Sgt. Robert Waara of Detroit, Mich., and was a well known golf instructor in his home town before he enlisted in the army.

When Waara came to Iceland with his unit more than two years ago he found he was stationed near one of Iceland's very few golf courses and in his off duty hours he made frequent visits to the golf course to watch the Icelanders play. It was, however, not long until Sgt. Waara became acquainted with the enthusiastic Icelandic golf players and they soon found they could learn a lot from the friendly but quiet-spoken American soldier.

Used Every Spare Minute

During the whole of the summer months Waara spent every spare minute at the golf course. When his chums went to town for little outings Waara headed for the golf course. His instructions were received with gratitude and keen interest. Last autumn he helped arrange matches and was one of the most popular players among the club members.

Icelanders are very keen sportsmen. Their national sport is a unique form of wrestling called "glima." Inherited from the Vikings, it is practically the same today as it was a thousand years ago.

Modern international sport is also popular in Iceland, the English style of soccer being the most popular. Swimming is taught in elementary schools, and almost every school in the country has its own swimming pool with hot water supplied from natural hot springs.

Golf was first played in Iceland about 10 years ago, the first and only teachers being two American brothers, Walter and Rube Anderson, now of New York City.

A 1941 census in the Dominion of Canada showed that 27 per cent of all homes were in need of repair.

YOU can always count on plenty of hoopla and hullabaloo in Texas on political years and this year promises to be no exception to the rule.

Even though the war has put a damper — and logically so — on politics thus far, and several high offices bid fair to offer little in the way of slam-bang campaigning due to a candidate shortage, the story is out that Texas voters will see some newfangled hi-jinks before the polls are closed on the August primary.

These newfangled hi-jinks are expected to be offered by one of the state's more proficient political acrobats, the Hon. Wilbert Lee O'Daniel. Although Wilbert Lee isn't himself a candidate this year, he is reported planning to take an active dish in state-wide campaigning. In fact, he is expected to tell the voters of numerous — if not all — Texas congressional districts whom to vote against on election day.

Wilbert Lee left Washington Friday with one of his typically oily — and corny —statements that he was "returning to Texas to continue my talks with the people."

Just what talks and what people Wilbert Lee had in mind, he did not say. But we strongly suspect that he planned a continuation of the same secretive talks he had with the same people while he was in Texas several weeks ago.

Wilbert Lee pictures himself as a sort of political Moses whose bounden duty is to lead Texans if not from the political wilderness to an O'Daniel handpicked congressional delegation. The story of his plans has come to us from two widely and unimpeachable sources. One of our informants is a widely-known West Texan who bears personal testimony to the truth of the report. The other is possessor of a name well known to every Texan of 10 years old, or over, who got his information right "from the feed-box."

It so happens that neither of our informants knows the other. The one brings us word in connection with an event in Corpus Christi; the other in connection with a similar event in Houston. The stories are identical.

HERE is the broad picture: Several weeks ago, Wilbert Lee came to the Southwest for a brief visit. The occasion which brought him into the area was a special congressional election in Eastern Oklahoma and Wilbert Lee, although allegedly a Democrat, made a stump speech in Muskogee for the Republican candidate who, incidentally, was trounced at the polls. Then Wilbert Lee came over into Texas and did a little quiet traveling around.

In several Texas cities—among them Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and one unnamed place in the Rio Grande Valley—Wilbert Lee had hush-hush meetings with small groups of wealthy men. These meetings, held under cover, were highly secretive, but the same general pattern was followed in each one.

The main idea was the raising of a $200,000 fund to be used to buy Texas radio time during the campaign months; and to pay for re-opening publication of the old O'Daniel campaign propaganda sheet called "The W. Lee O'Daniel News." Whether all of the money was raised, or has been, reports do not say. But from Corpus comes word that $18,000 was pledged there as compared with $11,000 in San Antonio. In Houston, however, the "jack-pot" was hit and the largest array of pledges was gathered up.

According to our widely separated reports, Wilbert Lee made practically identical speeches in Corpus Christi and Houston. Therefore, it is not beyond the realm of imagination to suggest that he made similar talks everywhere.

He told his sympathetic listeners that in all probabilities Roosevelt cannot be beaten if he runs, but that a Republican Congress can be elected and that Texas can help the game along by defeating its present representatives.

He denied that Texas is helped any by most of its Congressional delegation's having high places in the organizations of House and Senate. And while he was too cagey to mention his distinguished colleague, Sen. Tom Connally, by name, some of his uncomplimentary remarks were taken by his listeners to be aimed directly at the celebrated chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations committee.

IF there were no supporting background to the story of Wilbert Lee's selling jaunt of recent date, it would not be so easily acceptable. But a recollection of O'Daniel pronunciamentoes dictates that the story cannot quickly be dismissed as gossip.

Wilbert Lee has publicly claimed that no man should serve in the Congress for more than six years. He has taken "pot-shots" at his Texas colleagues upon occasions too numerous to mention. He rarely has any friendly, social relations with the balance of the Texas delegation in Washington, members of which avoid him as much as possible for reasons readily apparent to anyone who has noted his gyrations in Texas politics over the past half-dozen or more years.

Although technically a Democrat, O'Daniel has no standing with any wing of the party and since going to the Senate after his full-term election of two years ago he has spent much time chasing over the country making speeches to reactionary groups.

Personally, The Plainsman believes the story — believes in the integrity of the two men who have told it to him.

Our readers can take it for what they think it is worth. If Wilbert Lee's familiar yodel is back on the Texas airwaves this summer, and if his political sheet again scatters vitriol throughout the state, there will be no doubt of its truth.

EVERYONE knows that the Congress is investigating war contracts and various and sundry other angles of the war effort as being carried on by unofficial organizations, such as business and industrial firms. But few people know that Congress likewise is investigating government departments and bureaus, to see how well, or how poorly, they're doing their part in the victory drive.

At the present time there are 63 special committees and subcommittees of the Congress checking up on federal agencies connected with the war effort. And since this number is in addition to the 80 standing investigatory committees of the House and Senate this means there are more than 140 probing groups active at this time.

The casual observer probably thinks this is an awful lot of investigating committees, yet despite their number and their energy, Comptroller-General Lindsey Warren fears that many war profiteers are still on the loose and that the return of peace will unleash a multiplicity of scandals growing out of war contracts. Widespread inefficiency in many government bureaus indicate that these, too, harbor scandals which will come to light after victory.

Helping to win a global war is a big job and in its dark corners are lurking many chiselers who can be brought to light — and to book — only by careful investigation.

MILLETT

THE letters I receive from married service men are so concerned with the problem of whether or not they will come home to find their wives unchanged that I've often wondered if their wives were writing them the wrong kind of letters.

Apparently many of them are. In an interview with a New York World-Telegram reporter, Frederic March, the actor, who has just returned to this country from a 33,000-mile tour entertaining soldiers, laid down a letter writing law to wives because he thought they needed to be told.

He said that everywhere he went, soldiers showed him letters from their wives, and he soon noticed that the letters that satisfied the men themselves were the letters that said over and over again, "I love you."

Probably the thing that happens to the letters of a great many wives is that as time goes on and they become better adjusted to living alone, their letters become more and more impersonal.

LETTERS A PATTERN

THEY find out after a time that they can get along fairly well by themselves, and that knowledge coupled with the fact that they try to make their letters cheerful, must often make them sound pretty cold.

It seems to me that the safest way for a woman to avoid having that happen to her letters is for her to keep a carbon copy of the letters she writes her husband the first month he is away from her.

Then she can use them as a pattern for all her future letters. There is no constraint in those first letters. Time, and the adjustment that comes with time, hadn't touched her reactions then.

She missed her husband, and she wanted him to know it. She didn't try to hide her feelings. So they are good letters—the kind of letters a man wants to get from the most important woman in his life.

Used as a pattern for all future letters—they could be indispensable in bridging the gap caused by months or years of separation.

MAKE AN EXAMPLE OF SWEDEN!

Secretary of State Hull spoke with characteristic moderation when he remarked the other day that Sweden's refusal of an Allied request to stop sending ball-bearings to Germany was "not satisfactory." Indeed it was most unsatisfactory.

Nor will the sanctimonious Swedish pretense that they are honor bound to live up to their ball-bearing contract with the Nazis lessen the resentment among people of the Allies. The pay-off for Swedish-made ball-bearings is in the lives of American and British soldiers. People of the Allied nations could not have respect, or tolerance, for such a contract, regardless of whom the parties to it might be.

However, for the moment there appears nothing that the Allies can do about it. But they can do plenty later, if they choose to do so. Through economic boycotts and similar devices of peace, they can make the Swedes realize, however belatedly, that they were guilty of the poorest sort of business judgment when they placed the profits they might make out of ball-bearings ahead of the lives of American and British boys.

True, this course won't help those who must die because the Nazis have ball-bearings made in Sweden. But it might set an example which other grasping nations will remember in the time to come.

Hey, Taxpayer! Take A Gander At This

$38,000,000 Auditing Bill!

BY PETER EDSON
Journal Washington Correspondent

IF you are still interested in economical and efficient operation of your federal government —and you should be if you had to shell out pay-as-you-go income taxes April 15 — you may care to dig still a little deeper into this business of how the big - spending executive departments of the federal government are supposed to be inspected and policed.

EDSON

Such digging leads inevitably to the conclusion that no matter how such inspections are made, they aren't adequate. Otherwise, there would be no need for many of these congressional post-mortem investigations of executive agencies and there would be less yelling on government spending. The government will spend approximately $38,000,000 this coming fiscal year just to audit its books. This sum is the appropriation of the General Accounting Office, which will have a force of 12,000 employes to reconcile some 250 million checks with a similar number of vouchers and authorizations. In a way, this is a good bit like locking the barn after the horse is—well, not necessarily "stolen," but certainly after it is dead.

In contrast to this $38,000,000 undertaker's bill, how much is spent on doctor bills to keep the horse from dying and police work to keep the horse from being stolen? Next year it will be about $2,500,000. That is roughly the appropriation for the Bureau of the Budget, whose less than 800 employes—as compared with the 12,000 General Accounting Office employes—are given the job of not only preparing but also paring federal agency expenditures.

All most people know about the Bureau of the Budget is that once a year it prepares what is probably the biggest and dullest book in the world. It is the annual estimate of expenditures which the President sends up to Congress each January with his budget message, and which no one ever looks at again if he can avoid it.

PENNY PINCHERS

BUT that is only a smidgin' of the Bureau of the Budget assignment. Its day-in-and-day-out job—the thankless tasks which brings down on the heads of all Bureau of the Budget examiners the curses of the bureaucrats who call them paper-clip counters, penny pinchers, unprogressive reactionaries and worse—is the business of cutting back and holding down on government agency requests for appropriations before they go to Congress, and then in checking the programs of the agencies after they get their money.

By July 1, which is the beginning of the government's fiscal year, every government agency must present to the Bureau of the Budget its proposal on how it proposes to spend its appropriations. A similar proposal must be made every three months, and every month there must be a report on money actually spent.

In addition, under the Overtime Pay act, every three months there must be a check on the number of employes in every department, job by job, in an effort to keep bureaus from becoming overstaffed and performing a lot of useless functions. But only half of the 3,000,000 federal jobs today are so inspected.

DOUBLECHECK

ALL this inspection work for the whole sprawling federal machinery is supposed to be done by a staff of 125 "examiners" as they are called, plus a special staff of 20 engineers in a war projects unit, set up to check on the government's huge construction program. Every agency is supposed to have its own audit and control but these examiners are the key men in the government's present system of inspection. They are not auditors. They go beyond that in that they may determine whether an agency should do what it wants to do.

In addition to these examiners, there is a staff of about 70 men in the Bureau of the Budget's section of administrative management, which is supposed to check into and improve procedures, take out the red tape and put efficiency into government operations.

To the taxpayer, there may be some consolation just in knowing that this goes on. But that there isn't enough of it, administrative officials in the Bureau of the Budget will freely admit. And there, perhaps, you have one reason for a lot of the congressional special investigations, which in themselves cost almost as much money as the Bureau of the Budget.

Red Cross Workers Lighten Loneliness Of Wounded Men

Hospital Ships Are Unmolested By Germans

BY ERNIE PYLE
Journal War Correspondent

NAPLES, May 1—(By Wireless)—A Red Cross worker rides each hospital ship, not only to do anything for the wounded she can, but also to help keep the ship's staff and crew happy.

On our ship the Red Cross girl was Percy Gill, of Palo Alto, Cal. She used to teach physical education at Castilleja School for Girls.

ERNIE PYLE

After supper she passed out a bottle of Coca-Cola to every man on the ship. It was the first time most of the boys had had one since leaving America. The merchant-marine seamen in the crew always help her pass the cokes around.

Miss Gill has a tiny office filled with books, toilet supplies, musical instruments and magazines. As soon as the wounded men are brought aboard she gives every one a pack of cigarets and a toothbrush, for most of them have lost their gear.

Prisoners Cared For, Too

As they are swung aboard, you see some completely empty - handed and others carrying their pitiful little possessions in their tin hats, balanced on their stomachs. Some have on hospital pajamas, some just O.D. shirts, some only their dirty gray underwear.

Miss Gill does not intrude herself on the men, for she knows that the most badly wounded want to be left alone. Now and then she'll give a boy a book and discover that he's still looking at the same page three hours later. Another boy used his as a fan all afternoon.

Miss Gill has books in French, and in German, too. Every shipload has a few wounded prisoners. We had two on my trip. One was a startled-looking German kid whose card showed him to be only 17. The prisoners are treated just the same as anybody else.

MISS GILL'S musical warehouse includes an accordion, four guitars, a violin, two banjos, two saxophones, a clarinet, a trombone, and two dozen harmonicas. She doesn't have many requests for either the musical instruments or the books on these short trips between the beachhead and Naples, for there's hardly time. But on the long trip back to America they are a godsend, for the men are feeling better by then and time goes slowly. On one 16-day trip across the ocean the wounded men read 3,000 books—an average of six to a man.

It is a relief and a comfort for men to be on a hospital ship after their months of mud and cold and misery and danger and finally the agony of their wounding. It is a relief because the hospital ship is so little like war, and because those who operate it are in a world apart from the world these men have known.

Enemy Respects Ship

There's no blackout at all. Nobody is ever dirty or cold. Cabin windows have no shutters. You can smoke on deck. Big spotlights slung on brackets point their dazzling beams at the big red cross painted on the ship's sides.

The ship takes its course far outside the channels of regular war shipping, and instead of keeping radio secrecy we broadcast our position every 15 minutes. The hospital ship wants the enemy to know where it is so no mistake can be made.

Our ship has had several "incidents." It has been stopped by surfaced submarines and been circled by enemy planes. But the enemy has always respected it. The greatest danger is going to such places as Anzio, or standing in ports during air raids.

USUALLY the ward lights are left on until 10:30 p. m. But on our trip they were turned off at 9:30, for we were to dock very early next morning and the men had to be wakened by 5 a. m. to give the nurses time to get the wounded all washed and fed.

By 10 o'clock the inside of the ship was dim and quiet. Nurses went about softly in the faint glow of the blue nightlight. The doctors, all through, were playing chess and solitaire in their small salon on the top deck. A few soldiers strolled on deck or hung over the rail. It was warm and gentle outside. The washing of the water seemed like a purring against the ship's sides.

"A Wonderful Feeling"

It was wonderful to be going away from war instead of toward it. For the badly wounded there was a sense of completion of a task, for the others a sense of respite. And the sheets and the soft beds and the security of walls lent a confidence in things present and to come.

There was intense suffering aboard that ship But by 10:30 you could somehow feel the quiet, masked composure that comes to men of turmoil when they settle down for the night in the clasp of a strange new safety.

And early next morning we were here.

Alfalfa, Onion & Orange Land

8600 Acres—All Can Be Irrigated From Wells

Well located in the famed Winter Garden district of Texas, 105 miles southwest of San Antonio. Railroad switch on the land. Eight (8) miles of all-weather roads through the land. Six (6) miles Nueces River frontage. 6,000 acres river bottom land that will grow alfalfa and onions very successfully, and make very large yields. 1,800 acres more land well adapted to Rhodes grass. Oat pasture in the winter time, and all kinds of fall, winter and spring vegetables. 200 acres real good pasture land. Cost over $100,000.00 to improve it, and can be colonized within three years, according to my judgment, in tracts of 40 to 160 acres to net the owner or owners over a million dollars.

I want to sell half of this land, as I am not able to hold it all, or, would sell two-thirds of it, as I am forced to sell some of my land, as I own too much. There is one man who is farming 150 acres of this land this year, in onions. I believe he will make over $50,000.00 net on same. Mr. J. W. Little is farming the same kind of land 10 miles away, in alfalfa, and claimed to have made over $200.00 per acre, net, last year. There is lots of turkey and deer on this land, and fish in the river, and lots of other wild game. The land that is now in cultivation is worth more than the price asked for all of it. All that is in cultivation has plenty of water from wells, and plenty of water to irrigate with. The whole tract can be irrigated from the wells.

For quick sale, priced $30.00 per acre. My representative, Mr. W. H. Wilson, Carrizo Springs, will show you the land. I will be in Carrizo Springs during the next ten (10) days, so come to see this land immediately if you want to make a fortune. Can be had on liberal terms.

Write or wire for proof, and will send you a 64-page booklet, with plenty of proof to convince any sane man.

There Is A Stanton Feed For Every Need.

Dairy Cattle
Beef Cattle

Horses
Stanton's Feeds are making their way by the way they're made.

Minerals, which every animal needs to grow and produce, are not as plentiful in the grains and roughages you feed today because wind and rain and former crops have taken them from our soil. Mineral deficient soils result in mineral deficient crops. These deficiencies must be made up if the livestock which feed on these crops are to be made healthy, vigorous and productive. Stanton's ManAmar Feeds supply the vital minerals, along with equally essential vitamins and animal proteins. They are made with ManAmar and B-G Plus which, in turn, draw all these elements from their richest storehouse, the sea. Ask your Stanton dealer today how to put Sea Power into your poultry and livestock rations.

MANAMAR
ManAmar supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials — fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "Complex." Made from ocean life, it supplies "sea power".

Luftwaffe's Return To Air Significant

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

One of the most significant developments of a weekend of terrific Allied bombing of Hitlerdom was the reappearance of German fighter planes in force to defend Berlin against another devastating attack by our American air fleet.

For a long time the luftwaffe's fighter defense has been comparatively weak, giving rise to the belief among observers that the Nazis ware conserving their waining strength against the day of invasion. We now seem to have confirmation of this.

Luftwaffe Not Knocked Out

One of our main objectives in the round-the-clock bombing of the continent has been to render Hitler's air force impotent, and certainly it has suffered terrible wounds. Still, it's clear that the luftwaffe isn't yet knocked out.

Just what Hitler has been able to save up for D-day is speculation. The point is, however, that he may have sufficient reserve so that we shall see some of the greatest air battles yet fought when the showdown comes.

The fact that the fuehrer is beginning to draw on his precious reserve is recognition that the invasion is imminent. He can't afford to depend entirely o nanti-aircraft guns to defend his vital communications which now are being ripped to shreds.

Tough Problem For Hitler

One of Hitler's tough problems is to guess when the full fury of the storm will break, so as to make the most of his defenses in all categories. Probably the only thing he is sure of is that it can come at any time and that he has got to stand alert from now on.

In the month which has just closed the Anglo-American forces have unleashed 100,000 tons of bombs on Hitlerian territory.

Despite this frightful weight of bombing, it surely hasn't reached its full intensity. I believe we yet are to see a display of Allied aerial striking power which will stagger the world. What's going on now is fairly mild compared with what is still to some, especially on D-day itself.

Beck Is To Oppose Cong. Wright Patman

TEXARKANA, May 1 (AP) — State Senator E. Harold Beck announced today that he would be a candidate for Congress from the First Texas district, opposing Rep. Wright Patman.

After serving two terms in the Texas House of Representatives, Beck was elected to fill an unexpired term in the Senate. He subsequently was twice elected senator.

Coincident with Beck's announcement, Newton W. McCann, who has served two terms in the Texas legislature from the Third Flotorial district (Bowie, Cass and Marion counties), announced that he would be a candidate for state senator from the Third district, the seat being vacated by Senator Beck.

SEEKING STEWARDESSES

Many Homeless After Flood

ST. LOUIS, May 1. (AP)—More than 10,000 soldiers, aided by hundreds of civilian defense and volunteer workers and prisoners of war, worked in the rain today, strengthening and repairing Mississippi river levees as the flood crest swept past St. Louis, leaving more than 6,000 families homeless and almost 2,000,000 acres of devastated farmland in its wake.

The 39.3 foot crest recorded at St. Louis was the highest official reading ever taken at that hydrologic survey post, breaking the record established a year ago by several inches. The unofficial crest record at St. Louis of 41.4 feet was set in 1844.

Light Rain Falls

A light rain fell in the inundated areas as workers, travelling in trucks and boats between levees weakened by a week of pounding, piled sandbags in breaches in the seawalls to keep the water from coming through, and on top of the levees to hold the rising river.

Numerous breakthroughs were reported and Civil Air patrol crews flew over the raging river to guide workers and direct evacuation activities where necessary. In addition to the more than 6,000 families left homeless, the Red Cross said hundreds of others had been taken to higher ground as a precautionary measure.

The Mississippi continued its rise between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., but began to fall slowly above St. Louis. The Illinois river, which also approached 1943 record levels, crested at Beardstown, Ill., but dropped sharply above Havana, Ill. Several points reported that the river level had fallen below flood stage.

The most critical conditions centered around Cape Girardeau, Mo., and several levees on the Illinois side threatened to give way. A Coast Guard cutter patrolled the river and transported emergency crews for work on the levees on the Illinois bank.

Army engineers, directing the over-all operations, said the high levels would be maintained for several days and predicted that it would be at least a week before the inundated bottomlands began to drain.
