CONTESTANTS FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONERSHIP HAS NARROWED DOWN.

EXPERIMENT STATIONS

Both Houses Adopt Free Conference Report Appropriating Fifty Thousand Dollars.

Texas News Service Special.

Austin, Tex., April 10.—The house this morning adopted the free conference committee report for the experiment station bill with the senate amendment providing that the governor, lieutenant governor and agricultural commissioner constitute the board.

The senate later concurred in the report.

The bill providing for a $50,000 appropriation for stations in the Panhandle, West Texas and as many more as possible with the amount appropriated.

The senate concurred in the free conference committee report on the State health board bill, giving the board power to place a code of regulations in immediate effect and with a provision empowering the board to make rules for sewerage and the disposition of garbage, together with authority over the pure food commission.

Tax Commissioner Dashiell, brother-in-law of Governor Campbell, was eliminated from the applicants of the railroad commissionership today by withdrawing from the contest, which has now narrowed down to James N. Robertson of Austin, Senator Charles L. Brachfield of Wills Point, and Thos. B. Love of Dallas. The three are understood to be in a receptive mood.

The senate has finally passed the house bill appropriating two thousand dollars to aid the Federal tobacco experiments in Nacogdoches county. The senate also concurred in the house amendments to the fire insurance rating bill.

Texas News Service Special.

Austin, Tex., April 10.—At the noon adjournment it appears doubtful whether either the senate or the house will recede from their position on the bank guaranty. The free conference has been unable to reach an agreement yet.

The liquor bill was reported to the senate this morning, but no action has been taken.

With the beginning of the new legislative day at 2 o'clock this afternoon the house will pass finally a dozen senate bills, including the anti-trust and stenographers' bills. The passing of these to the third reading consumed the morning.

The plans for the adjournment of the session have not been announced. If the legislature closes today, it will be reconvened tomorrow. If it adjourns tomorrow, the second special session will be called Monday.

SMALL BLAZE THIS MORNING

A blaze, originating, it is thought, from an oil stove in the kitchen, caused a damage of about $150 at the home of A. Darnell at the corner of Austin avenue and Sixteenth street this morning and for a few minutes threatened the destruction of the entire house. Members of the family, however, extinguished the blaze before it got beyond control.

The blowing of the fire whistle at the time a high wind was blowing was the occasion of much excitement down town, until it was learned that the blaze had been extinguished.

As yet, no telephone has been placed in the fire station, calls for the department going through other offices in the city hall. Mayor Noble this morning took steps to have a telephone installed in the fire station at once.

KANSAS NATIONAL BANKERS INSURE

SUNFLOWER STATE FINANCIERS PLAN INDEPENDENT DEPOSIT GUARANTY COMPANY.

ABIDE ATTORNEY'S RULE

Scheme Declared to Be Safely Within Terms of Attorney General's Legal Opinion.

Topeka, Kan., April 9.—The National bankers of Kansas, through the special committee of twenty-five, which met in Kansas City, Kan., last night, took the first steps in launching an insurance company which shall insure bank deposits. The company will be organized under the regular insurance laws of the State and will be called the Depositors' Guaranty Company. In this manner the national bankers have their depositors insured against loss and still be within the law as laid down by Attorney General Wickersham early this week, which forbid national banks from taking part in the Kansas guaranty law, or from in any manner guaranteeing deposits. By this plan the banks do not guarantee their deposits at all. The insurance company does this in much the same manner that the banks themselves are guaranteed from loss by burglars or bandits.

Committee Named.

After agreeing upon the plan of insurance, a committee consisting of Scott Hopkins of Topeka, J. T. Pringle of Osage City, J. C. Morrow of Washington, Charles Lobdell of Larned and Charles Sawyer of Norton was appointed to perfect plans for the organization of the company.

The company, as soon as it completes the preliminary work, is to call a meeting of the general committee, at which the company is to be organized, headquarters decided upon and arrangements for the opening of business agreed upon. It is conceded that the company's head offices will be located at Topeka.

GOD'S WORKSHOP.

April, and on the shining hills
The ancient miracle of birth;
To God is forging daffodils
Upon the anvils of the earth.

The winds like bellows blow the flames
Till high on all the earth they leap,
And spring's eternal wonder shames
The human heart that dares to sleep.

New Century Club.

The New Century Club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Richolt. The business was dispensed with and the afternoon devoted to an interesting program on Domestic Science. The demonstrators were Mesdames Tom Reese, Smyre and J. T. Montgomery.

A few letters from the Woman's Federation of Clubs were read. Also the annual election of officers was held and those for the ensuing year are: Mrs. R. H. Farris, president; Miss Dora Coons, vice president; Mrs. McGregor, secretary; Mrs. Walker, treasurer.

The refreshments were whipped cream, gelatine and cake.

The ''500'' Club.

The ''500'' Club was most delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Zundelowitz. Five tables of players enjoyed the game, at the close of which a two-course luncheon was served, consisting of salad, pickles, stuffed eggs, coffee and wafers; second course, ice cream and macaroons.

Mrs. Pickle won the favor. The departing moment came all too soon. Everyone left with pleasant remembrances of the afternoon and hope another such is in store for them soon.

Circle A A Entertains.

Much pleasure was derived when the Circle A A entertained the Circle A Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. E. Bullock. The house was beautifully decorated and darkened, with electric lights turned on to bring out and soften the color of the decorations. An interesting game was enjoyed, while the string orchestra provided beautiful music. Dainty refreshment of ice cream and cake were served.

The Unity Club.

The Unity Club enjoyed the hospitality of rMs. J. A. Kemp Friday afternoon when a most interesting meeting was held. The program was a continuation of the study of 'Romeo and Juliet.'' The roll call was on current events and was followed by musical numbers by Miss Kemp and Miss Crane.

Act IV was the lesson for the afternoon and the leader was Mrs. J. T. Montgomery.

''Juliet, mentally, morally and physically,'' was a topic discussed in a very instructive manner by Mrs. E. B. Gorsline.

''Juliet's Soliloquies'' was the subject of a very entertaining paper by Mrs. P. P. Langford.

Light refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

The club meets next week with Mrs. P. P. Langford.

Circle A A Entertains Circle A.

To the members of Circle A A fell the honor Thursday afternoon to entertain Circle A, the latter reporting $382 raised during the month of March and the former $250 and one pulpit Bible valued at $25. Both circles earning during the month of February and March $1,052.50.

That the earnest and tireless efforts of their sister circle were appreciated and honored was demonstrated by the way Circle A A put her best foot forward and tried to make each and every Circle A member feel that ''she hath done what she could.''

Mrs. Annie Bulloch kindly tendered the use of her home for the occasion and loving and skillful fingers converted it into a thing of beauty.

The arches connecting the hall, dining room and parlors were draped in purple and gold, the colors of Circle A A. The home was darkened and the light filtered through shades of the same colors converted the interior of the house into a veritable fairyland.

The dining room was symbolic of Easter tide, and was particularly pretty, with the streamers of purple and gold coming from the chandeliers to each of the far corners of the table, where a tiny white duck held them in place, a bunny rabbit swinging from the center of the streamer saw himself reflected in the duck pond, below which framed the center piece.

Misses Orth and Clayton served punch from a purple and gold bower, while a hidden orchestra made sweetest music, which ''hath charms as we all know to do a great many things, but does not always sharpen wit.''

Wife Who Beat Husband Insists She'll Be 'Boss.'

Baltimore, Md., April 7.—"I'm the boss at our house, your Honor, and if this man don't do what I say I'll make him."

Such was the declaration of Mrs. Ida Dickerson, to Justice Loden at the Western Police Station when she was arraigned on a charge of assaulting and beating her husband, Harry L. Dickinson.

"She beat me on Friday night," wailed Dickinson, "and she took my week's wages—$9.60—from me. Then she made me sit in the corner, while she slapped and scratched my face."

"I certainly did beat him and he deserved it," interrupted Mrs. Dickinson.

"I can't live with her any longer," declared Dickinson. "I am willing to give her $4 a week, but can't live with her."

"Yes, you will live with me," Mrs. Dickinson exclaimed. "You will live with me. You married me for better or for worse, and I got the worst of it, but you will live with me," and Mrs. Dickinson emphatically pointed her finger in her other half's face, and the other half moved a little further away.

"No $4 a week for mine," Mrs. Dickinson continued, "for I am coming down to your place of work every night and bring you home, and you know you had better come with me. I am not going to create any more disturbance in the courtroom, but I'll cee you outside. And don't forget I'm boss."

"I don't doubt that," admitted Justice Loden. "I am going to dismiss the charge against you, for I want you both to go home and see if you can't get along together."

But Dickinson wouldn't go home with his wife. She left the court and true to her promiso, she waited outside for him. The police let him out the back door.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity —Tonight fair and warmer. Sunday, increasing cloudiness.

COME AND GET 'EM.

Every resident of Wichita Falls, every business man in this city, ought to mail out from five to ten copies of the Times Illustrated Edition. Of course, there are not nearly enough left for each resident to send out five copies, but there are a sufficient quantity unsold to do a world of good if they are mailed away to people in other sections of the country. The postage on this edition is two cents per copy. The Times will mail them for 12 cents per copy, if you furnish the proper addresses. In order to make it more convenient for those who want to send a few copies away, several hundred of the Illustrated Edition have been wrapped in large wrappers and all you will need to do is write the address and put on a 2-cent stamp. Come and get 'em.

The San Antonio Express gives the following information, together with a little mighty good and very timely advice: "It has been discovered that the fly is as much a conveyor and purveyor of disease as the mosquito. He not only tickles our nose and returns to the attack the instant he is brushed away, not only gets into our soup or over our food and gets mixed up with the dough of which our bread is made, but he scatters typhoid fever and maybe other diseases. He distributes the filth and poison which he gets on his feet because he is not particular where he lights and because he is not cleanly in his habits, and he is a discredit to every household that unwillingly harbors him. Now people are beginning to ask, 'Why is the housefly? in the economy of nature, what useful place does he fill? Why tolerate him at all? Such questions naturally suggest efforts for his destruction. Of course he cannot be dealt with singly and allowed to reach maturity before being called to account. He must be dealt with as the mosquito has been dealt with. His breeding place must be found and looked after and not only the brood destroyed, but the possibility of breeding prevented. The stable is the main place, almost the only place. It is easy to look after, and the end of the fly nuisance will be near just as soon as there is determination that it shall be. All that is necessary is cooperation and persistent effort for an entire community to be free of flies.'"—Abilene Reporter.

The platform demand for a guaranty deposit law has been virtually killed, and there is now absolutely no hope that a law of any kind guaranteeing deposits in banks against loss will be enacted by the present legislature. The responsibility for failure to carry out this demand of the people rests upon the Texas senate, and there is an abundance of evidence that its defeat was brought about by a trade made between the members of the senate, who were opposed to submitting the question of State-wide prohibition to a vote of the entire people of the State and the members of that body who were opposed to a bank guaranty deposit law. The Texas Secretaries' Association also lobbied against this bill, and the people will not lose sight of this fact in future elections.

Three thousand men and five hundred teams were busy one day last week cleaning up Wichita Falls. The town must have been dirty sure enough But whatever those people do, even to drinking liquor and fighting, they do with all their might.—Bonham News.

Goodnight to Leave Texas.

Captain Charley Goodnight of the Panhandle has thrown his 6,600 acre ranch near Clarendon on the market at $100,000, and will hunt up a new location in either Sonora or Lower California, raising Buffalo and Persian sheep along with cattle.

C. C. Young of Wichita Falls has a bunch of fourteen Persian sheep which he will put in the Goodnight pasture.—Quanah-Tribune Chief Interview Geo. N. Hall of New York Commercial.

Geo. N. Hall, representing the New York Commercial, is leaving here today, after having spent several days at Wichita Falls as the guest of the Chamber of Commerce. The Commercial has been in existence for one hundred and thirteen years and enjoys a very enviable reputation throughout the United States as a conservative and reliable newspaper.

It has always been an exponent of the highest class business interests of the whole country, and its reliable and comprehensive market reports make it very popular in business and financial circles, not only in this country, but in other countries interested in American markets.

Anticipating that the completion of the Panama canal will greatly increase the commercial advantages of Texas and make it one of the most important sections of the United States, the publishers of the Commercial propose to devote a special section in a regular issue of that paper exclusively to the commercial, financial and industrial conditions and opportunities of this State, and Mr. Hall is visiting all important sections for the purpose of preparing data for the Texas Edition, which will be published when the work is completed.

In the meantime, by frequent editorial references to Texas, the Commercial is doing great service to the State by creating an interest in the opportunities and attractions it offers investors and homeseekers.

Mr. Hall expresses himself as very much pleased with Wichita Falls, and says it is one of the most delightful surprises he has met with in the South. To quote him:

"It is amazing what has been accomplished here in two years—and more amazing that it has been accomplished by local enterprise and local capital. Your opera house and many other buildings, your splendid sidewalks and your sewerage system would do credit to a city of ten times the population of Wichita Falls. And beautiful Lake Wichita is the most amazing of all! And permit me to compliment the Wichita Daily Times upon its splendid special illustrated edition, or trade review, of the 9th. If your representative business men and your valuable paper continue to back up the efforts of your efficient Chamber of Commerce Wichita Falls will be a city of 25,000 inside of five years."

Wichita Falls Engagement.

Professor Paul Harris has just returned from Wichita Falls, where he closed a contract with the Commercial club for an engagement of the Fourth Regiment Band in that city some time about the 21st of this month. Wichita Falls is one of the few "going" towns in Texas, and the men who are making the old town hum, have faith in an old saying that "music hath charms." Not satisfied with the almost unparalleled boosting which has made their city the criterion for all the cities of the second class in the entire southwest, they have decided to put on a special "boosting day"—a day to be remembered and talked about by their children and grandchildren as the day on which Wichita Falls became truly famous in the annals of enterprise and progress.

The date of this crowning stroke of boosting has not been definitely stated, but it will be on the 21st, 22nd or 23rd of this month, and the people of Wichita Falls may rely upon the Fourth Regiment Band to do its part toward making the occasion a success.—Weatherford Herald.

Play Ball, All the Time.

Nearly every Texas village and town is grooming a baseball club. Later on, grouch and optimist will hustle to the commons and contribute many words of bleacherite encouragement and some coin for the welfare of "our boys." Indeed, many will make considerable sacrifice to strengthen the team and increase the number of scalps that fringe the score board. All of which is wholesome recreation and tolerably fair advertising for the town. But suggest a commercial club—an organization that would advertise the town every day in the year and add materially to the civic comforts and commercial importance—and enthusiasm could not be raised high enough to make a whisper dent on a sensitized phonograph record. The idea is: Play ball all the time. Get in the game for business as well as base hits, and stay there. It's the way to grow into a league circuit city in baseball as well as business, bank clearings as well as base hits.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Japanese Delicacies.

Under the head of "Japanese Delicacies" the Berlin Prometheus gives a list of some of the queer things which are served to citizens of the Flowery Kingdom who "have a refined taste." In the provinces which are so distant from the sea that fresh fish cannot be obtained readily, and where meat is not abundant, snakes and lizards are considered good food and are prepared in many ways. Grasshoppers rank among the real delicacies. They are always kept in captivity without food for a day, then bathed and decapitated and made legless. Heads and legs must be torn off, never cut. They are served in various ways, but dry, with a salad dressing, is the most popular. An insect of the bee family which lives in the earth is also much sought. This is served with sugar or honey when eaten raw, but it is also made into a porridge. The chrysanthemum exists not only in the poetry and art of the Japanese, but has an important place on the table, where it is met as salad, candy and stew.

The Right Hand Seats.

The Philadelphia Record quoted an observant street car conductor to the effect that the right hand seats are always filled first. He could not account for this except on the theory that, as most persons are right handed and accustomed to turning to the right, it might be simply force of habit. "There is another probable reason which he did not think of," says the Record. "It is generally believed that the right side of a car is safer. An old traveler once said to the writer: 'In traveling always sit in the middle of a car and on the right hand side. The middle is safer than the ends in a collision, and the right side is not likely to be "side swiped" by projecting objects on trains, cars or any vehicles passing on the adjacent track.'"

Observations on Baldheads.

"If you care to observe the baldheaded row," remarked the theater goer, "you will find that there is great variety in baldheads. There are elliptical bald spots, circular bald spots, elongated egg shaped bald spots, bald spots that are almost square and bald spots whose shape can hardly be described for the reason that they include the entire circumference of the head, with the exception perhaps of a slight row of finishing fringe between the head and the neck. If it wasn't for the baldheads the theater would be a bore before the rising of the curtain."—New York Press.

A Remarkable Race.

The Lapps are very fond of stimulating drinks. They think nothing of drinking fifteen or twenty cups of coffee a day, while their consumption of punch is on a vast scale. It is no uncommon thing to see numbers of helplessly drunk natives in the streets of Tromso, especially when the sale of reindeer flesh has been profitable. Yet robbery and, indeed, crime in general are practically unknown among them. The innate honesty of the people is quite extraordinary.—Wide World Magazine.

Bit By a Badger.

C. R. Hurt and wife were here Tuesday from Holister. Mr. Hurt related his experience with a badger, displaying his lacerated leg as Exhibit A, to show that this animal is a stayer when he once takes hold. While out hunting a few days ago, Mr. Hurt saw what he supposed was a possum, but upon closer inspection he discovered his mistake, for it was a badger, which lost no time in nabbing Mr. Hurt by one of his legs. Had it not been for his trusty and true friends, his dogs, who engaged Mr. Badger from the rear, causing him to let loose his hold, Mr. Hurt would certainly have been more injured than his name signifies.—Frederick Enterprise.

The Difference In Coffee Cost

A pound of the best coffee will make from 40 to 50 cups of a most satisfying drink. The cost—less than 1c per cup.

A pound of medium or ordinary coffee will make from 35 to 45 cups, with the cost only a very small fraction of a cent less than the best coffee.

What then is the object to be gained by getting anything but the best coffee such as our Spurrs Revere Coffee.

You save so little in price and you lose heavily in quality and flavor when you get the cheap kind. The best only is good enough and the best is Revere at 40c per pound.

As a second choice to the above we recommend Spurrs Concord Coffee the very best product to be had at 25c per pound.

TAFT DECIDES FOR WHITE COACHMAN IN THE FUTURE.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—Sorrow and joy reign in the servants' quarters of the White House, for the edict has gone forth that in the future the coachmen and footmen at the White House will be white and smooth shaven.

Probably there is no heart in America which beats as heavy today as that of Charlie, the footman who served all through the Roosevelt administration and up to this time in Taft's. Charlie Reeder has always been proud of his position and most arrogant to all with whom he has come in contact. The white butlers of fashionable people here and the attendants at the theaters had been made targets of his overbearing manner.

Many were the attempts during the Roosevelt administration to displace him, but Roosevelt insisted on retaining him. It is said that when with the president's family he was most humble and an ideal servant and a safe coachman.

During the first part of the Taft administration Charlie was banished to the basement, where he grieved much for the pomp and glory he had lost. Finally, some weeks ago, he was again restored to his old place on the box, and the whole capital radiated with his smiles of victory and importance.

Now, what is to become of Charlie is not known, except that a person with so wonderful an appearance in the matter of waistcoats and socks will not be entirely banished from the presidential mansion. Be it known, however, that never again will Charlie act as footman for the chief executive of the nation.

Unhappy People.

Chicago, Ill., April 8.—"We modern Americans are the most unhappy people that have ever lived on the face of the earth. Why?

"1. Because we are the most prosperous people.

"2. Because we are the freest people.

"3. Because we are the most highly educated."

So says Professor Albion W. Small of the University of Chicago in a communication to the Chicago Woman's Club.

"Freedom and education," continues the professor, "make unhappiness. They bring us serious responsibilities. They make the individual see and feel the actual inequality of men. They flood society with problems that tax the mind and tear the heart.

"But let us not despair. The talent for misery is the fountain of progress. It is only when men can picture to themselves what they lack and what they want and can work up enough genuine dissatisfaction to get themselves into action that they accomplish things worth while."

The Ladies are Thankful.

Clean-Up Day dinner was certainly a success in more ways than one. Everyone had all they could eat. Even the small boy was filled. Then we had so much left we sold a few cakes, pies, etc., to defray the little expense we had. Then we filled two big boxes with meat, bread, cake and pies, and sent to the prisoners, and several more were filled and sent to the poor in different parts of town. So we feel fully repaid for our work. Anyone failing to get their dishes, pans, etc., will find them at Barnett's furniture store, at the Jordan corner.

THE LADIES.

Japan recently completed and placed in commission the fastest passenger steamship in the Pacific. Oil fuel and turbine engines give it a twenty-three knot speed.

The New Laces

Not only has dress goods and suitings been affected by marked changes in style and design this year, but laces are also in the schedule of important and radical changes.

The new designs are more simple but are exceedingly rich in the general effect.

In Valencennes we have the new Persian Bands and All Overs. The tucked and plain nets in ecru and white also the heavy linen bands with edges to match.

It will be hard to accurately describe the beauty of these matchless laces so we're not even going to try but urge you to be sure and call at our store soon to see them with your own eyes.

You will find in our lace department the most complete assortment of all kinds of laces ever brought to Wichita Falls.

TEAS

THAT CAN BE DEPENDED UPON

There is more fake in tea than in any other commodity handled in a grocery store. Because each variety of the leaf has so many shades of quality that only an expert can discriminate between them. For this reason, the grocer usually selects one line that he has found satisfactory and sticks to it. We sell Chase & Sanborn's teas, the finest grown. These teas are everywhere recognized as the best. They are uniform in quality and economical in price. You cannot help being pleased with them. We have black, green, and mixed teas in bulk at 50 cents and 75 cents per pound, in ½-lb canisters at 40c and in ¼-lb canisters at 20c. Give us a trial. The tea will do the rest.

NEW YORK'S DOINGS

Smuggling as a Fine Art and a Custom House Torment.

Some discoveries by New York's custom house inspectors within the past few days suggest that the times demand the evolution of a new type of man—one with eyes all over his face and with a corkscrew and X-ray apparatus attached to each eye. For smuggling, although long recognized as one of the fine arts, has been putting on some new frills. A veteran member of the custom house staff can often be spotted at sight, for his face combines the expression of a soulful minister, mourning over the depravity of humanity, with that of an experienced hound who has just been "done" by an old fox with a new trick. He can scarcely be blamed for the conviction that every woman and almost every man who disembarks here from an Atlantic steamship is a smuggler at heart and probably by practice also. The commoner kind, the mere amateurs and bunglers, are easily detected, but the expert profesionals can devise new wrinkles as rapidly as a milliner gets up Easter bonnets, and the roundabout ways through which they get their stuff in without paying duty would seem beyond anyone but a clairvoyant to discover. Small articles of great value and high tariff duties, such as unset diamonds and filmy laces, worth many times their weight in gold, probably do sometimes sneak in undiscovered. There are stories of a man who came ashore with thousands of dollars worth of precious stones in his mouth, under his tongue, and who could have remained undetected had he not boasted of his exploit to another man's wife, who chanced to be a customs spy. Also of an invalid lady, a frail creature who was carried ashore and placed in a cab which was afterward run into with such serious results that the lady had to be taken to a hospital, where the nurses found her arms closely wrapped with scores of yards of lace worth hundreds of dollars per yard. Gold watches to retail at two or three hundred dollars each have arirved in the hollowed out heels of a man's partly worn shoes, a watch in each heel, and the bottom layer of leather looking as if it had never been disturbed. But larger articles require larger ventures. Some trunks recently brought over on a steamer that carried only steerage passengers, with baggage scarcely worth the trouble of inspection, were found to contain enough elegant gowns to dress a ballroom full of millionaires' wives. To handle such stuff successfully requires the service of an able confederate ashore, but the right sort of man—or wrong sort, from the custom house point of view, could see money in driving a baggage express wagon, selecting such trunks by specified marks and getting them to the sharpers awaiting them. Even then the job may not be finished, for the customs officials have a keen scent for dealers who sell more of such goods than they import through regular channels; seizures in shops and private residences are not infrequent, yet there must be big profits in the business as a whole, or there would not be so many people giving it their full time.

The Greatest Cantilever Bridge in the World.

The greatest cantilever bridge in the world—of course it is in New York—has just been completed, so far as the requirements of pedestrians are concerned, and its length, which is about one and a half miles, is in keeping with the length of time in which the project has been under way, although the contractors have been at work only eight years. Figures about such huge affairs are likely to have a dazing effect upon the average American whose range of figures is restricted to the extremes of the family income and outgo, but it may be worth knowing that this new bridge must forever hold up fifty thousand tons of steel of its own, in addition to the weight of hundreds of trolley cars and loaded trucks at a time for at least sixteen hours of every twenty-four, and that it has cost twenty million dollars and more than fifty human lives, to say nothing of the hundreds of buildings destroyed to make room for its approaches and anchorages. Some other figures are not at all to the liking of stockholders in ferry companies; about half of the men and women who work in New York reside across the river in Brooklyn and used to crowd the ferry boats every morning and evening, but each new bridge has made a sudden and big reduction in the income of ferries near by, some being hurt so badly as to go out of business. A walk or ride over any of the bridges is as fine a bit of fresh air exercise as any healthy man or woman could ask, and the view, well, there's nothing like it from bridges anywhere else in the world, for the footway is never less than a hundred and fifty feet above the water level.

New York's Great Fort and Its Only Persistent Enemy.

As everybody in the United States, tramps and paupers excepted, helped to pay for the army's new and powerful fortifications at Sandy Hook, New York Harbor, it may interest them to know that the ocean has been persistently sneaking up on the works, as if with malignant intent to wash them away. Such things have occurred elsewhere. An acquaintance of mine built a fort on a point near the Mississippi River, back in civil war days, and he had reason to be very proud of it, but one night between dark and daylight the entire work disappeared and has not been seen since, although a diver might have found some trace of it at the bottom of about fifty feet of yellow water. There may have been some excuse for the Mississippi, for it was a Southern stream and the builder of the fort was a Yankee, but why the Atlantic should have a grudge against New York and one of its principal defenses is not so clear, unless some foreign power with a longing to take the conceit out of the United States has planned to come up to New York with a war fleet loaded with empty money bags to be filled at our banks and has concluded a secret treaty with the ocean to give them a hand at the job. Sandy Hook, as its name indicates, is a mere mass of sand, as are all other shores of New York's gateway, the only rock being an occasional boulder dropped here in the glacial age. So long as the sands were let alone by man the ocean treated them gently, but with improvements came trouble. Coney Island, opposite Sandy Hook, was noted for broad, firm beaches until great hotels were erected; then the ocean began to wash the beaches away and did it so fast that the big hotels were compelled to erect big bulkheads and jetties to save themselves from destruction, and one immense hostelry has twice been dragged farther inland by parallel teams of locomotives, the hotel being underlaid with heavy railway tracks for the purpose. The principal fort at Sandy Hook can not be moved in such fashion, so it is also to be protected by jetties—eighteen of them, and each three-quarters of a mile long, to discourage the ocean's attempts to wash the fort away. The fort itself, despite its cost and importance, is as unobtrusive to the eye as John D. Rockefeller or Andrew Carnegie or any other self-effacing multimillionaire. You might pass within pistol shot of it without noticing it unless some one called your attention to its squat, umbrela like top, but it is said that it is regarded with abject respect and curiosity by the world's navies, and as it has never been opened to visitors you can hear stories about it that recall some passages of Byron's "The Prisoner of Chillon." But, as already indicated, all of us are joint owners of it and as necessary to it as the men behind the guns.

Upbuilding the Town.

If a member of your family died, would you print the resolutions on a billboard?

If your wife entertained, would you send an account of it to the theatre program man?

If you were going to enlarge your business, would you advertise it in a hotel register?

If you were going to have a wedding in your family, would you get out a handbill?

You would send such items to a newspaper, wouldn't you?

Then why don't you put your advertisements in a newspaper?

Every man who uses a billboard is adding to nature faking.

Every dollar spent in a theatre program, in a register, in a directory, or in a handbill is a legitimate dollar taken away from the newspapers of your town.

The newspapers build your town. Why not help build up the newspaper? There is no better advertisement in the world for a town than a good newspaper. A newspaper is the barometer of the town's industry. Show us a good newspaper full of advertising, and we will show you a good town full of live merchants.

Billboards are an eyesore; handbills are a nuisance; theatre programs are worthless; hotel registers, from an advertising sandpoint are ridiculous.

Newspapers are town builders, town advertisers, fortune makers, news disseminators, sermon deliverers, prosperity forecasters. They are a necessity, not a luxury. They must be maintained. Without them we retrograde to the medieval days.

Don't patronize them for a charitable standpoint. Patronize them because they deliver the goods—that is, they are the right kind.

Cut out the foolishness and work for the upbuilding of your town and State by upbuilding your newspapers.

Times Illustrated Special Edition Being Mailed to All Sections of the United States.

The Times was compelled to keep open house last night until 9:30 o'clock because people rushed to the office for extra copies of the forty-page special edition for mailing away to friends. This morning, almost as soon as the office was opened, and several hundred copies of the edition, wrapped for mailing, were taken in lots of three to five. One carrier sold, and has delivered today 954 copies of this edition in two, five and ten copy lots.

It is the concensus of opinion among business men of this city that the Times' Illustrated Special edition will give this city and the Wichita Falls country more and better advertising than any like issue of any newspaper ever has given any Texas locality. Business men and wage earners, as well as hundreds of our residents not in active business, are mailing copies to friends and acquaintances living outside of Texas.

One wide-awake real estate firm—Neale & Stehlik—have for a month been advertising in newspapers published in other sections that farmers and investors wanting information concerning this section and city can have it free of cost by writing for a copy of the Times Illustrated Special edition, and this enterprising firm bought 500 copies of that paper, besides taking a full page of advertising.

Every subscriber to the daily and weekly edition of the Times received a copy of the Illustrated Special edition. Several hundred extra copies had been mailed by noon today, and probably before the last of next week there will be but very few copies unsold.

Come now and get what you want. We have them wrapped ready for mailing, so all you need do will be to address the paper and stick on a 2-cent stamp. The price is10 cents per copy, or 12 cents per copy, postage paid.

about style, about the cut and model, about fit, about quality; you may even think you can't get what's good enough ready made. All right that means you haven't seen our new suits from Hart, Schaffner & Marx and that means, if you are as sensible as we think you are, that you're going to see them before you spend any clothes money. We tell you this: For style, for tailoring, for models, for all-wool, honest quality of fabrics, no tailor or clothier can match them; and we know it. It's money in your pocket to let us prove it; and you'll get better clothes than usual. SUITS $20 to $40; others $10 to $20.

Lots of other things, too. Shirts, Easter neckwear of all kinds, gloves, fancy waistcoats, walking sticks, derbys, soft hats. We'll outfit you right.
