EXCAVATION FOR NEW WATER TANK

A power shovel and dump trucks are shown above working on an excavation for the city's new million-gallon water storage tank at Thirty-second Street and Avenue L. The storage tank is part of a quarter-million-dollar expansion program to the city water system now under way. A new filtration plant will be constructed at the water plant, and new water mains to heavily populated areas are being constructed to boost pressure in the areas. (Lee Watson photograph)

Noisy Session Of Joe's Panel In New England

Most Hide Behind Fifth Amendment

BOSTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy's second Red-hunting visit to New England wound up today in an uproarious session marked by the ejection of three persons from the hearing room.

One was a witness reluctant to answer questions about communism, another his lawyer, and the third a spectator who had been ejected from the previous hearing as well.

In addition, another witness and his lawyer avoided forcible expulsion only because they broke off an argument with McCarthy who had called U.S. marshals to expel them.

Four of the day's five witnesses invoked the Fifth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution when they were asked about Communist party connections. The fifth said he was a Communist for a year or two after 1937.

The most spectacular ejection was that of Nathaniel G. Mills, a Lynn employe of the General Electric Co. under suspension for refusing to answer McCarthy at a previous hearing. Mills suddenly stood up in the rear of the courtroom, and shouted:

"McCarthy, I accuse you of conspiring with the company and getting the jobs of General Electric people." The senator was sitting as a one-man subcommittee.

Deputy marshals wasted no time.

To encouraging shouts of "throw him out" from most of the spectators, the marshals yanked Mills out into the aisle, into the corridor and into an elevator.

Mills resisted stoutly but not a punch was thrown. A few spectators applauded as Mills was hustled out.

In the corridor, Mills yelped at the marshals: "Let me put on my coat."

"Put it on in the elevator," the marshals said as they pushed him into the car.

Mills is under suspension for invoking the Fifth Amendment on the ground of possible self-incrimination when questioned about communism before McCarthy here last November.

The only witness who satisfied the senator was Simon Pallet of Lynn, a short, dark, soft-spoken man who admitted he had been a Communist in 1937 "and for a year or two after that."

He said he has been a GE employe for about 13 years.

McCarthy complimented him, saying:

"You are a pleasant contrast. We realize it is difficult for you to appear publicly and tell of your experiences. It is a very pleasant experience for this committee to find a man who freely admits he

HUSBAND REPUDIATES STATEMENT

Officers Call Off Search In Attack Of Snyder Housewife

The sheriff's department yesterday called off the search for two Mexicans in what was believed to be a rape case. The husband of the woman who said she was attacked volunteered a sworn statement, Homer Whisnand, sheriff, said.

The husband, after making the statement to County Attorney Wayland Holt and Whisnand, was charged on the basis of the statement with aggravated assault against his wife. The charge was styled "aggravated" assault rather than simple assault because it involves the assault of a man on a woman.

Charged was Kenneth Gerald Blalock, 29, of 509½ Sixteenth Street, a service station attendant. Blalock made the statement voluntarily early Friday night, Whisnand said. Blalock told officers that he wanted to make a statement, Whisnand said, adding that Blalock made the decision of his own free will and was not in any way persuaded. Holt was called in when Blalock indicated he wanted to make his statement.

Yesterday morning Blalock repudiated the sworn statement. Whisnand said, however, that Blalock's statement so far has checked out and coincides with facts already known in the case.

Blalock was released shortly after noon yesterday on $250 bond. Sureties on the appearance bond were Hollis Fields and Marion Cochran.

Blalock's wife, who was taken to Battenfield Hospital Thursday night for treatment of scratches and bruises, claimed then that she was attacked by two men who spoke Spanish after breaking into her house while her husband was at work and attacking her, knocking her unconscious.

Officers of the sheriff's department and police began a search for the two men the woman vaguely described, and the hunt continued until Blalock made the statement.

Holt late yesterday said that Blalock disclaimed a part of his signed statement in which Blalock said he hit his wife.

Blalock went to the hospital yesterday after his release on bond to discuss the incident with his wife.

Whisnand said the search for the Spanish speaking men would not be resumed. The department is following up every lead, however, he said.

Angry Man Kills Wife And His Daughter

CORRIGAN, Jan. 16 (AP)—A 43-year-old former Corrigan merchant said today he shot his wife and 17-year-old daughter to death last night because "they fussed at me for drinking."

Harry Day, who sold his appliance store here two weeks ago, was charged with murder in the deaths of Mrs. Fay Day, 47, and their daughter, Nelda.

Two sons, Ernest Harry, 11, and Robert, 8, were not at home at the time of the shooting.

Justice of the Peace Levi Turner, before whom the charges were filed, said Day called him by telephone early last night and said: "I've got some dead folks over here."

Other telephone calls were received by Sheriff Watson Walker and mortician John Barber.

All three arrived at the Day home within a few minutes. They said the daughter's body was found on the back porch, a bullet wound in the left breast. They said they found Mrs. Day's body on the back steps, a bullet wound in the back.

Walker said Day telephoned him and said: "I have killed my wife and daughter. What do you want me to do with them?"

Barber said he was at first skeptical when Day told him the same thing but rushed to the Day home with an ambulance after hearing a scream.

Walker quoted Day as saying: "They fussed at me for drinking. I lost my temper and killed them."

Day is being held without bond.

Coke Stevenson Weds Widow In Junction Rites

JUNCTION, Jan. 16 (AP)—Former Governor Coke Stevenson and Mrs. Margarite King Heap, district and county clerk at Junction, were married here today.

The Right Rev. Everett H. Jones, San Antonio, bishop of West Texas, performed the single ring ceremoney in the Trinity Episcopal Church here at 5 p.m.

The couple had no attendants.

Those attending the ceremony included Mrs. Jones; Bennie Heap, small son of Mrs. Stevenson; and Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Holekamp of Junction. Mrs. Holekamp is a cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Stevenson said she and her husband had no wedding tour plans to announce. She said they would live on Stevenson's ranch at Telegraph, near Junction.

Mrs. Stevenson already had announced for re-election as district and county clerk. She said she had nothing to say about that now.

Mrs. Stevenson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. King of Junction. Her first husband, Marshall Heap, was a pilot killed in World War II.

Stevenson's wife died while he was governor of Texas from 1941 to 1947. His son, Coke Jr., lives in Austin.

Mrs. Stevenson wore a blue wool suit with navy accessories. She had a corsage of sweetheart roses and heather.

Stevenson is 65. He first went to Austin as a state representative in 1928 and later served as speaker of the house. He was lieutenant governor when the then Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel won a special election in 1941 to fill a place in the U. S. Senate.

Stevenson took office as governor succeeding O'Daniel on Aug. 4, 1941. He was elected to a full term in 1942 and again in 1944.

After his term of governor was over, he went back to his ranch at Telegraph, where he said he was "batching." He has no telephone at the ranch. In 1948 he made a hard race for the U. S. Senate against Lyndon Johnson and lost by 87 votes.

Biggest Army Camp

FREDERICTON, N.B., Jan. 16 (AP)—Most of the 2,000 former residents of a 436-square-mile area near here were gone today, making it available for Canada's largest army camp. The government paid 10 million dollars for the property.

UN Commander Clashes With Indian General Over POWs

PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Jan. 16 (AP)—Gen. John E. Hull last night told India that his U.N. Far East Command definitely will free 22,500 Chinese and North Korean prisoners as civilians in anti-Red territory Jan. 23. He disputed India's charges this would violate the armistice.

Instead, Gen. Hull said the supervisory commission which India heads will be deliberately avoiding "an important element" of the armistice by prematurely turning back these men as war prisoners Wednesday. Hull insisted the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission has the "solemn obligation" to hold on to them until Saturday and then let them go as civilians.

Hull's letter clashed with views expressed to him by Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, India's chairman of the NNRC. His firmly expressed determination to free the prisoners also stood out against a Peiping broadcast that such an action "will wreck the Korean truce."

Thursday Thimayya sent letters to the U.N. and Red commands which said:

1. He had decided on his own to turn back unrepatriated prisoners Wednesday because the NRRC was unable to carry out provisions for processing the men.

2. It was obvious "beyond doubt that the U.N. Command is unable to agree to the establishment of conditions or procedure which is "basic" for any such processing.

3. Any move by either side to set these men free "will not be in conformity with the (armistice) terms of reference.

Gen. Hull's reply last night took issue with all three points. He said it was the NNRC's responsibility to keep the men until Saturday, and then free them as civilians.

He said the U.N. Command tried in every way to comply with the armistice terms and that "Communist intransigence" was to blame for the NNRC failure to accomplish its mission.

Then he told Thimayya the U.N. Command "cannot accept custody of these prisoners of war in accordance with the terms of your proposal."

Gen. Hull said that, although the NNRC actually should keep custody, the U.N. Command "out of regard for humanitarian consideration" would accept the prisoners in order to make certain they got "the benefits the (armistice) agreement was designed to assure them."

By Saturday night, the Reds had not replied officially to Thimayya's letter but they are known to oppose any action enabling the U.N. Command to release the 22,500 soon as civilians.

There was speculation the Reds might refuse to take back 327 South Koreans, 21 Americans and a Briton from a pro-Red camp but an Indian spokesman said firmly "we will release the prisoners anyway."

The Reds want unrepatriated prisoners held indefinitely until a peace conference can be convened and deal with them.

Crucial Times Seen By White

WACO, Jan. 16 (AP)—Agriculture Commissioner John C. White today called the next 60 days a crucial time for the nation's farmers.

In a speech to the 34th convention of the Texas Certified Seed Growers Assn., White said he expects a farm price support legislation to be passed within two months that will set the pattern for 10 years.

The commissioner said a farmer who doesn't tell his elected representative what he thinks about the future program now, "won't have any right to complain if the program doesn't suit him."

White added that he opposes flexible farm supports on grounds they can mean nothing but lowered farm income.

The present price support program should be continued for at least another two years, White said, or at least until the world situation eases.

"It is a sorry state of affairs," White said, "when 6 or 7 million bales of cotton and millions of bushels of wheat are stored in warehouses while more than a billion people in the world are starving and do not have enough clothing."

White said he believes acreage controls the lesser of two evils.

"The farmer either has acreage controls, or he gives away his crops," he said.

Organization Called Front Of Communists

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The International Workers Order, Inc., an insurance and fraternal organization claiming 100,000 members, was ordered today to register with the Justice Department as a Communist front.

The order was issued by the Subversive Activities Control Board at the request of the Justice Department, which moved for a default judgment on the ground the IWO several times had failed to appear in its own defense.

The organization, which has about 1,700 local lodges throughout the country, contended it could not defend itself because a New York state court had denied it authority to retain counsel.

It was the SACB's first order directing an organization to register as a Communist front under the Internal Security Act of 1950. The Communist party itself has been ordered to register but has appealed to the courts to reverse the board and to declare the act unconstitutional.

Registration proceedings have been revoked by Justice Henry Clay Greenburg of the New York State Supreme Court on the ground it was Communist dominated. The New York superintendent of insurance, Alfred J. Bohlinger, was placed in charge of its affairs pending transfer of its insurance accounts to a commercial firm.

In today's order, the SACB denied a petition by five IWO officers, who were ousted by Bohlinger on Dec. 15, for permission to intervene.

Jet Training Plane Crashes Near Austin

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—A T33 Air Force jet trainer plane from Tindall Field, Fla., crashed shortly after takeoff from Bergstrom Air Force Base near here today.

The student pilot, a member of the 3625th Fighter Training Group, was killed. The Bergstrom public information office withheld identification pending notification of next of kin.

Cause of the crash was not indicated.

The plane plunged into the ground about five miles north of Bergstrom and about one-half mile east of Austin.

Big 4 Still Trying To Get Meeting Set

BERLIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—Representatives of Britain, France and the United States renewed talks with the Russians today for another try at breaking the log jam over where the Big Four foreign ministers should meet in divided Berlin.

With the Jan. 25 opening session only nine days off, the three Western commandants were urgently ordered by their governments to resume discussions on what buildings would be used.

It appeared certain that two sites would be chosen—one in the Allied sector, the other in the Russian zone. Reports from the three Allied capitals said the West was ready to concede to Soviet demands for half of the ministers' meetings in Berlin's Red East sector.

The re-opened talks began at 5 p.m. at British headquarters. Sergei A. Dengin, usually glum chief of the Soviet High Commission in Berlin, was smiling broadly as he arrived.

The three Western Powers broke off the talks Thursday after four fruitless meetings. They had demanded that at least three-fourths of the foreign ministers' meetings be held in the old four-power Allied Control Authority Building in the U. S. sector.

France Installs New President

PARIS, Jan. 16 (AP)—France installed Rene Coty today as President of the republic for a seven-year term with a giant show that was an artistic success but failed to arouse much public enthusiasm.

Almost all the capital's dignitaries turned out for the brief ceremony at the Elysee Palace, the French White House, and for a reception at the Paris City Hall.

But lots of Parisians showed no great interest.

During the day Coty made five separate trips through the city in an open car. From a thin line of spectators gathered along the routes came a few cries of "Viva Coty" and "Viva le President." There was no massed cheering.

A 71-year-old Independent Republican lawyer and statesman elected by Parliament Dec. 23, Coty succeeds Socialist Vincent Auriol, 69, as the figurehead chief of state.

Suggests Nude Assembly For World Leaders

ALLAHABAD, India, Jan. 16 (AP)—The holiest of India's holy men suggested today that the world's Big Four leaders assemble nude on Himalayan heights and there seek peace for the people of the troubled earth.

They believe India's Premier Nehru—also nude—should preside at this proposed meeting of President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill, Premier Malenkov and Mao Tze-tung.

And if the lofty Himalayas are impractical they suggested an alternative—the burning ghats of Benares City where Hindu bodies are cremated.

The proposal came from the holy men known as Naga Sadhus who are regarded as having attained human perfection by discarding all earthly desires and possessions, including clothes. They are here to lead some 5-10 million pilgrims in the month-long Mela period of bathing at the confluence of the sacred Ganges and Jumna rivers. The mythological Saraswati River also flows here.

They will remain until mid-February when they will disperse to regions of the Himalayas to continue their meditation and penance.

"Let the wailing of orphans, the beating of the heads of widows, the mourning of those near and dear bring home to them that if they do not meet the challenge of the modern age successfully, the same fate awaits their wives, sisters, mothers and daughters lest they forget none is exempt from modern total war," one of the leaders, Sadhu Sivananda, said in an interview.

This is not the first nude conference to be suggested by the Naga Sadhus. Three years ago a leader suggested that Truman and Stalin should meet naked in the Himalayas—also to talk peace.

High Party Critic Gets Into Much Trouble In Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Communist party's Central Committee sat for more than five hours today hearing the explanation of Vice President Milovan Djilas on why he had criticized party policies and the wives of high-ranking government leaders.

The meeting adjourned at 6:30 p.m., apparently without reaching a decision and presumably to resume the debate tomorrow.

Djilas, a long-time close associate of President-Marshal Tito, was reported prepared to confess that he had erred in articles he wrote for Borba, the official party newspaper, and the magazine Nova Misao (New Thought).

His future apparently depended upon whether Tito himself would take the side of his close friend to prevent his being stripped of high rank.

So important was the session that Tito cut short his stay in Slovenia to preside over today's meeting.

Grim-faced, he reached the committee headquarters by car with Edvard Kardelj and Alexander Rankovic, two of Yugoslavia's four vice presidents. A small crowd outside the headquarters cheered their arrival.

Later, Djilas, pale and unsmiling, arrived on foot. He was accompanied by Vlado Gedijer, biographer of Tito's Partisans and secretary of Yugoslavia's Parliamentary Foreign Policy Committee. Their arrival was met by the crowd with silence.

The case was the chief topic of discussion throughout Belgrade. Opponents of the government seized upon it for speculation that a split might develop in in the tightly knit Tito regime.

The controversy broke into the open a week ago when the Executive Committee of the party announced that Djilas' articles were at complete variance with the views of other members of the committee and that he had agreed to suspend further publication of the series until the Central Committee had reviewed the matter.

In one article Djilas had accused the wives of certain high ranking Communists of giving the cold shoulder to the bride of another high official because she did not figure in World War II Partisan warfare. Though he did not mention names, it was apparent that Djilas was referring to the beautiful brunette actress, Milena Vrajakova, who at 21 became the wife last summer of Gen. Peko Dapcevic, chief of staff of the Yugoslav army. She was too young to have been a heroine in the war.

Djilas also mentioned the premarital habits of some of the wives of the "inner circle" who were giving Milena the cold eye, and did so in such terms that they could hardly be reported in a family newspaper.

In affairs of policy, he also called for greater freedom of action by persons outside the Communist party and for a re-evaluation of the ideas of Marx and Lenin to bring them up to date.

Gun Fight In Colorado City; Ex-Chief With Wanted Man

A 27-year-old Colorado City man wanted in Big Spring, Odessa, and possibly other places on various criminal charges was nabbed early yesterday morning after a chase of more than five hours there.

Colorado City officers and several from nearby towns, including Snyder, were in the chase, which ended at about 9 o'clock yesterday morning when the man, David Leach, was arrested in the Negro section in the southwest part of Colorado City.

Leach earlier yesterday had been involved in a shooting scrape after he wrecked the car he was driving. Found with him in the car were Dick Hickman, who was Colorado City police chief 33 years until he was fired almost three years ago by Jack Tallent, city manager, and Tom Keeling, unsuccessful candidate for constable there in 1952.

Leach, who had been missing for two months, began the flight from Colorado City officers at almost 3 o'clock when two policemen, Sgt. John Yeager and patrolman Melvin Browne, saw a car back out of the drive beside a house they had been watching. They were watching the house because Leach was believed to be hiding there.

The car had not turned its lights on until it began traveling down the street, and as the police car followed, it began to pickup speed. The chase developed into a fast one, at speeds up to an estimated 85 miles per hour. The car turned off U.S. Highway 80 after driving several blocks and drove on a bypass route leading to State Highway 101, the route to Sterling City.

The car, when it reached State Highway 101, failed to turn at the sharp curve and overturned, landings upside down. Yeager said he helped to open the door and removed Hickman. Keeling then crawled out of the car, a 1953 Chevrolet owned by Hickman. Leach crawled out next and had a pistol. Yeager had pulled his gun.

"Yeager, I mean drop it and drop it now," Yeager quoted Leach as saying. The policeman said he dashed around the front of the car and began firing at Leach as Leach ran and crawled through a wire fence near the car. Leach fired back at Yeager, and Browne also began to fire. Leach suffered a wound in the gun fight but got away.

That was about the time officers from other towns were called into the chase. Going there from Snyder were sheriff Homer Whisnand, deputy J. D. Frith, highway patrolmen Bill Zimmermen and E. W. Green, and city policemen Leonard White, Bob Whitt, and Roy Welhelm.

Zimmerman said that the group of officers in the chase spread out through the town and the country near town in search of Leach. The Snyder officers went there around 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Bloodhounds owned by deputy sheriff Tom Bowen of Pyote were called into the chase.

Leach was finally caught, according to Sam Hulme, police chief at Colorado City, when he received an anonymous telephone call saying Leach could be found at the home of Molly Washington, Negro woman, in the Negro section of town. Hulme, Yeager, and John Wood of Midland, Texas ranger, went to the woman's home and arrested Leach, who at that time had a .38-caliber automatic pistol but no ammunition. The woman was at the house, Hulme said.

Leach is wanted in Odessa for investigation of armed robbery and on a forgery charge, Hulme said. He added that he is wanted in Odessa for swindling. Leach is a native of Colorado City.

District Attorney Eldon Mahon at Colorado City said late yesterday afternoon that he was in the process of questioning Keeling. Hulme said that Hickman, who suffered a fractured collar bone in the wreck, had gone to Abilene for treatment by a bone specialist. Neither was under arrest at that time, Mahon said. He said he had not talked very much with Leach, who he said was not injured badly but was not in condition to talk. Leach was hit by a bullet from one of the officers' pistols. The wound was in the left hip.

The district attorney said there was not any explanation so far yesterday afternoon why Hickman and Keeling were with Leach. Relatives of Hickman refused permission for a reporter to talk to Hickman. The ex-chief's brother, Avlie Hickman of Colorado City, and another kinsman, Elliott Dixon of Colorado City, both said early yesterday that the former chief had no statement to make.

Bomber Crashes Into Houses In Nashville Killing At Least Four

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 16 (AP)—An Air Force B26 bomber crashed into two houses near the Nashville airport today as the pilot apparently was trying to make an emergency landing beneath a low overcast.

City airport policeman John Irvin said at least four persons were dead, but he could not learn immediately whether the victims were all occupants of the plane.

The control tower at the field said the airplane was en route to Sewart Air Force Base about 15 miles to the southeast, but other sources said it had come from Sewart.

The control tower said the plane crashed about three miles from the airport. Lt. W. A. McDaniel of the Nashville city police department quoted one witness as saying the craft "exploded in the air."

Another witness said, "It just looked like it flew into the ground. I don't believe it caught fire until it hit. Then I saw a big flash."

Norther Doesn't Hit, Mild Weather Is Due To Continue

By The Associated Press

A blizzard heading smack for Texas suddenly veered Saturday and only its tail end whooshed down through the state's east half.

Temperatures dropped moderately and skies cloudied up east of a line from around Wichita Falls to the South Texas coast.

West of it, skies were clear and temperatures downright balmy. The Panhandle—which had been warned earlier to expect snow flurries—basked in 60-degree weather.

The Midwestern storm was aimed straight for Texas Friday night, and the U. S. Weather Bureau had predicted a cold wave for all sections.

But a forecaster at Dallas reported the brunt of the storm unexpectedly curved east before it reached Texas. He said it was sucked away by a center of low pressure air over Louisiana.

Result: Forecasts were quickly revised, and many a Texan hung his overcoat back in the closet.

The mild edge of the norther slid down the extreme eastern edge of the Panhandle, enveloped North Central and East Texas, then curved on down through Waco, Austin and out to the Gulf.

Thermometers fell slightly behind it. The weather bureau said the chilliest afternoon temperature was 37 at Fort Worth. Dallas had 38, Wichita Falls 40.

Fog developed at Waco, College Station, Mineral Wells, Fort Worth, Dallas and Tyler. The only rain reported was a sprinkle at Waco.

Points unaffected by the cold front included Dalhart, with an afternoon reading of 61, Amarillo 52, Lubbock 68, Brownsville 77 and Laredo 78.

The forecast called for overnight readings of 25-35 in North Central Texas, 28-38 in the interior of East Texas, 35-45 in the north portion of South Central Texas and 18-28 in the Panhandle and South Plains.

The Weather Bureau said the Panhandle forecast was based more on January normals than any effect by the norther. Partly cloudy weather was forecast Sunday for all sections.

Late Saturday the cold front was receding eastward, following the center of the storm that raised Texas and moved toward the Mississippi Valley.

Ancient Rock Wheel Draws Many Tourists

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 16 (AP)—High in Wyoming's rugged Big Horn Mountains lies a weathered, mysterious shrine that may someday be dedicated as a national monument.

The shrine is built of white rocks fashioned into a giant wheel. One hundred miles away a huge arrow, also built of white rocks, points directly toward it.

No one knows how the wheel got there, or who built it.

One ancient Crow Indian says: "It was always there." Another explains: "It was made by people who had no iron."

The wheel, atop 9,960-foot Medicine Mountain, is believed by some to be a direct link between the prehistoric Chinese and the Mayans of Central America. The rocks that form it are stuck in the sod, forming an almost perfect circle some 76 feet in diameter.

At the hub of the wheel stands a large stone altar. Out from this radiate 28 stone spokes, six of which run beyond the edge of the wheel to smaller altars.

The 28 spokes lead Breck Moran, water division director for the Wyoming Natural Resource Board, to speculate the simple, isolated monument may bridge one of the gaps between history as we know it and the unwritten past.

The identical number of spokes, he say, have been found in ancient Chinese prayer wheels and in Mayan calendar wheels found in South America.

These calendars are based on the lunar Zodiac and not on the sun, as are the origins of our present 12-month calendars.

Moran believes it may be possible that a cult [illegible] developed group moved down from the Alaskan peninsula and, for a time, built their shrines in the vastness of the Big Horn Mountains.

Moran thinks there may be ancient burial grounds in the area.

[illegible] has asked members of Congress to designate the area as a national monument so researchers may investigate the riddle of the wheel.

was a dupe. He aids the committee greatly."

Pallet was before the committee only briefly and was excused after he testified he knew of one person who was a Communist with him who later went to work for GE.

McCarthy told him "we won't make you give us any names publicly because the persons are not here to testify."

Theodore G. Pappas, 29, who said he was a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard law school, was expelled from the hearing room with his attorney, Oliver S. Allen, just as Pappas had finished his testimony.

Pappas said he wanted to read a statement. McCarthy called the marshals to "remove him."

Allen arose and asked: "Do I understand we can't put a statement into the record?"

"Remove him," Sen. McCarthy ordered. Pappas and Allen were hustled from the hearing room.

Pappas declined to answer any questions about Communist party connections. He is a General Electric employe, a tester of aircraft generators.

Sen. McCarthy drew from him testimony that during wartime service in the Air Force as a radar mechanic he was once assigned to Ft. Monmouth, N. J., an Army Signal Corps installation that was a recent target of McCarthy's investigations.

McCarthy brought out Pappas' Harvard education after the witness had declined to answer questions about communism "on the basis of the First and Fifth Amendments of the Constitution of the United States."

Harvard also has been a McCarthy target. Only yesterday McCarthy said he would cite for contempt Harvard physics Prof. Wendell H. Furry and Leon J. Kamin, a research assistant at the university, for declining to name other Communists.

Both had testified they formerly were Communist party members.

Secret System For Winning At Gambling Held By English Woman

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Jan. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Edith Earle, an elderly British woman with a secret system for winning at the gambling tables, said today she is going to give her winnings to La Belle Otero, a turn-of-the-century Spanish dancer who was the rage of the continent.

La Belle Otero, 84-year-old Caroline Otero, is nearly destitute and now lives in a small room in Nice.

Mrs. Earle, 79, is a regular winter visitor to Monte Carlo, where, she says, she wins around 30,000 francs ($115) a day, thanks to a secret system taught her by her late husband, a mathematician.

"Last year I won 3½ million francs in three months," she said. "A majarajah offered me five million francs for my secret, but I refused."

Lubbock Television Stations Say They Will Go 'Live' Before July

LUBBOCK — KCBD-TV, Channel 11; and KDUB-TV, Channel 13, both announced they would "go on the cable" between now and July 1, bringing live television service to the South Plains area served by the two stations.

The management of KCBD-TV, Channel 11, received notice that inter-connection of the cable service had been ordered by the National Broadcasting Company in New York.

The management of KDUB-TV, Channel 13, has been notified by the Columbia Broadcasting System in New York that interconnection of the cable service had been ordered. After extensive negotiations with CBS, the station was advised that interconnection for all networks would begin simultaneously.

Liquor Found In Secret Hole In Apartment

A raid by officers of the sheriff's department late Saturday afternoon resulted in confiscation of six pints of whisky from the residence of J. W. Hanson, about 38, who was confined in jail on oral accusation of possessing liquor illegally.

Hanson's residence, rooms 7 and 8 of Riley's Apartments, 2401 Avenue S, was raided by Howard Gibbons and J. D. Frith, depupty sheriffs. Gibbons said he raided the place after introducing himself to Hanson and obtaining Hanson's permission to make the search. He said he offered Hanson a search warrant but that Hanson told him and Frith to go ahead with the search.

Gibbons said the liquor was located in a secret compartment accessible only by removing two planks from the flooring of room 8 on the second floor. He said a metal rod about five feet long was also in the compartment for use in retrieving the liquor from the long horizontal shaft under the floor.

The officers searched the rooms about an hour before finding the liquor, Gibbons said. A previous raid for the same purpose was made in November, when officers found nothing. That raid was made only a few days after a man at the request of the sheriff's department purchased whisky there from the lessee of the premises, James Edward Riley, 51, who was convicted a few days later of that offense. Riley has been convicted twice by jury in this county and has pleaded guilty here nine times to charges of bootlegging. His last conviction is on appeal, and Riley is free on appeal bond.

Hanson has not previously been charged with bootlegging here.

R. T. Roberts' Father Dies In NewYorkHome

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y., Jan. 16 (AP) — Leo B. Roberts, 66-year-old explorer and engineer, died today of pneumonia at his home here.

In the late 1920s he served as topographer for the third Asiatic expedition sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History.

He served later as leader of two expeditions sent to Ethiopia by a New York engineering firm to make surveys for a vast dam at Lake Tsana whose waters feed the blue Nile.

Col. Roberts served in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in both world wars.

In World War II he was chief of ports in the European theater of operations and was the U. S. Army representative on the joint U. S. and British port assessment committee which recommended ports of entry for the Normandy invasion.

After World War II Roberts went to Chile for the Curtiss-Wright Export Corp., and made the first aerial survey of Southern Chile.

Until recently he had worked for the U. S. Navy as a civilian employe, surveying rivers and harbors for the storage of the Navy's "mothball" fleet.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Gertrude Mullet Roberts, and two sons, David W. Roberts, of Houston, Tex., and Richard T. Roberts of 3749 Highland Drive, Snyder.

R. T. Roberts and his wife left Saturday for New York where they will attend his father's funeral. Roberts is the Culligan Soft Water dealer here.

Water Witch Has Always Been Lucky

SHELBURNE, Mass., Jan. 23 (AP)—They used to shake their heads around here and say: "That Roy Goldthwaite. He can do just about everything with a forked stick except make it talk."

Such exceptions no longer are valid, however. Roy, who lays claim to being a first-rate "water witch," has discovered he can converse with a broken branch.

True, it's a pretty much of a one-sided conversation, and the stick does nothing much except act as "head" at the right time under Goldthwaite's questioning.

Nevertheless the Shelburne farmer's ability to locate underground water supplies is regarded as almost infallible.

"I hit about 9 out of 10 on the button," says the 58-year-old dowser.

It's a comparatively simple process. Goldthwaite, like other dowsers, uses a forked stick. "he walks about ("It doesn't take very long") until his stick, sometimes called a striking-rod, begins pointing to the ground. Unless there are complications, water is nearby.

Husky, smiling Roy Goldthwaite began dowsing in his late teens, following his father and grandfather in an accepted art still only vaguely explained. His teen-age sons apparently have the knack too, although Roy Jr. doesn't "take to it much."

In the last 20 years Goldthwaite has spent more and more time at this spare-time interest, working generally for his Franklin County neighbors. One recent Sunday he made six calls in an afternoon. Found six water veins too, he says.

When one of the worst drouths in decades hit New England last summer, he had more than 100 calls for his service, ranging all the way into Vermont.

Not lacking showmanship, he was entertaining a farm group in Northhampton recently when Merton Ratchelder asked him to locate water at his home. Goldthwaite did without leaving the hall—by working his stick near Batchelder as the amazed group watched.

"There's a stream running six feet under your cellar," Roy guessed. He was right.

At Batchelder's request, Goldthwaite visited his home a few days later. In the kitchen, his fork "told" him there was water 25 feet below. Batchelder, scratching his head, admitted he had measured the day before, hoping to trip the dowser. There was a well exactly 25 feet beneath the kitchen floor, he said.

Roy isn't certain now this dowsing business operates, "static electricity, near as I can figure," he says.

What kind of forked stick is best? Makes no difference to him. Although he has a liking for applewood, they all work well. He just cuts one off a tree—any old tree.

House Fund Increased By Several Donation

The G House Fund, which is being raised to provide a house for a widow and her [illegible] school children now living in a shack with no floor, has reached $654.39, Mrs. Homer Ray, said.

Latest contributions included $69.35 by the Union Baptist Church, $18 by the Junior High Parent-Teachers Association, and $30 by the East Elementary PTA, and $30 by individuals.

The house will be moved to a lot owned by the needy family when it is purchased.

Donations can be made to H. W. Cargile at the West Texas State Bank or to Mrs. Ray at 3107 Thirty-ninth Street.

Coke is obtained from coal by processes similar to those which produce charcoal from wood.

Injuries In Wreck At East 'Y' Yesterday

Three persons received minor injuries in a two-car collision at the intersection of the Sweetwater and Colorado City highways near here about 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom DeShazo, 2503 Avenue V, were hospitalized in Battenfield Hospital, but attendants there said their injuries were not serious.

DeShazo, 61, was driver of a 1949 Plymouth Sedan which was traveling south from Snyder toward Sweetwater when the collision occurred. Mrs. DeShazo, 58, was accompanying her husband to a funeral to have been held in Sweetwater yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Ether Barber, 64, a passenger in a 1952 Chevrolet driven by her husband, Ether Barber, 71, was taken to Battenfield Hospital, but released after a check, attendants said.

The Barbers live at route 2, Colorado City.

Bill Zimmerman, highway patrolman who investigated, said that the Barber car was entering the intersection from the Colorado City highway when the accident occurred, and the DeShazo car was traveling south on the Sweetwater highway.

Zimmerman estimated about $1,000 damages were caused to the two cars.

The injured were taken to Battenfield Hospital by Bolger ambulance.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rogers, Snyder, are the parents of a daughter born at 9:23 p.m. Friday in Battenfield Hospital. The baby weighed five pounds, 12 ounces at birth.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Sanford of Snyder are the parents of a nine-pound, 10-ounce son born at 5:24 p.m. Friday in Battenfield Hospital.

Shriners Raise $700 In Saturday Drive On Corners Of Square

Close to $700 was raised by the Snyder Shriners yesterday in a street solicitation campaign for the March of Dimes here.

Frank Bernson, a member of the group, said Shriners collected donations from motorists and pedestrians at the four corners of the courthouse square for about six hours yesterday.

Several organizations are working in the polio drive here. Donations to the fund are still being accepted at both the West Texas State Bank and Snyder National Bank.

Russians Claimng New Scientific Discoveries

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Moscow radio said today Soviet scientists have found the core of the earth is rock," thereby exploding a common theory it's iron.'

An English-language broadcast pointed out that "it is only under the weight of the upper strata of the earth that the rock-like matter of the core assumes new qualities and acquires the density of iron."

Boris Levin, a top-flight researcher in geophysics at the Soviet Academy of Sciences, said in the broadcast that the structure of meteorites is the same as that of the earth.

Atom Sub Is Ready To Be Christened

GROTON, Conn., Jan. 16 (AP)—When Mamie Eisenhower smashes a bottle of champagne across the sleek nose of the USS Nautilus here Thursday, she will be christening a vessel the Navy expects to be the deadliest and most versatile craft in history—the first atomic-powered submarine.

Designed to demonstrate high underwater speed, ultra-long cruising range and elusive skill, the Nautilus and other A-subs to follow her will be able to fight with either standard explosives or turn to nuclear missiles, torpedoes or mines if a mission requires them.

She will have a choice of power to drive her propellers—atomic, Diesel engine, electric motor.

The Navy is confident the submarine will work, even though no craft or vehicle before it—afloat, on land or in the air—has been propelled by the power of the atom. For months the Atomic Energy Commission and the Navy have been test-operating an exact reproduction of the Nautilus' nuclear power plant. Out on the Idaho desert steam from the atomic firebox has been spinning a turbine and driving a propeller like one of the two on the Nautilus.

But it will be sometime next summer, when the Nautilus puts out for sea trials, before the designers, nuclear physicists, shipbuilders, slide rule experts and others can be sure how efficiently the first of the atom-powered undersea boats will operate. First she must undergo final fitting out.

Until then, the engineers cannot tell whether she will live up to expectations of an underwater speed of about 30 knots. Nor can they be sure about the flexibility of power, general maneuverability of the boat, exact burn-out rate of atomic fuel under actual operating conditions and the noise generated by the submarine when under way— an important factor in working against an enemy's antisubmarine efforts.

Built into her are torpedo tubes to fire the new, fast and silent electrically driven torpedoes with target-seeking guidance system. These tubes can handle torpedoes with atomic warheads when such weapons are developed.

The same procedure used in planting conventional mines can be used to release atomic mines through the torpedo tubes.

The Navy plans to equip the atomic submarines with gear for carrying and launching the guided missile named Regulus. These missiles already have been fired from submarine decks and could easily be adapted for a nuclear explosive warhead.

Exponents of the atomic submarine claim it is virtually an all-purpose craft. It will have world-girdling range, they say, and ability to remain submerged for weeks or months, limited only by the endurance of the crew; underwater speed matching most big surface ships; hull strength to dive well below the levels attained by any present boats, where detection is difficult or impossible; and it will be able to use its main, atomic engine for full power submerged without resort to the limited speed of electric propulsion.

Omission In Story On Bids

In Friday's issue of the Daily News, the amount of the low bid on road work at the Fluvanna caprock was unintentionally omitted in a story on the commissioners court acceptance of bids.

The contract price on this strip of 5.194 feet, from a point about five miles north of Fluvanna northward to the Garza County line, was $30,247. This was the lowest of several bids ranging as high as $63,000 on this strip.

Another bid accepted was on preliminary work necessary in view of paving 10.1 miles of the Polar Road. This bid was $29,338.05 and was lowest of several ranging to a high of $39,485.41. The caprock project will require blasting and cutting on rock hillside and also includes complete pavement.

More Persons To Jail Rather Than Pay Fines

Fines and court costs collected in county and justice courts last month totaled $2,252.75, a decrease of $128.25 from the November total; and fines and costs for both courts for the entire year totaled $35,531.80, which was a decrease of $9,636.45 from the total collected in 1952.

Accounting for part of the decrease was the fact that more persons "laid out their fines" in the county jail last year than in 1952. In county court, actual assessments last year totaled $23,658.80, but credit for jail time served in lieu of payment amounted to $954 at $3 at day. Jail credit during all of 1952 amounted only to $601 for county court.

Fines and costs actually paid in county court last year totaled $22,704.80. The total paid in justice court was $12,827. These totals for 1952 were $21,740 paid in county court and $17,998.25 paid in justice court for a total in both courts of $45,168.25.

Collections last month were $1,415 in county court fines and costs and $837.75 in justice court fines and costs, neither figure including civil costs or fees for civil court action.

Total of county court fines and costs by months last year were: January $2,998, February $3,614, March $2,326.30, April $1,668.50, May $2,644.50, June $995.50, July $2,124, August $1,265.50, September $1,737, October $722.50, November $1,194, and December $1,415.

In justice court, these totals were: January $1,403, February $1,552.50, March $1,200, April $1,139.75, May $826, June $1,107, July $812, August $1,241, September $906, October $615, November $1,187, and December $837.75.

Box Supper For March Of Dimes Is Planned

A box supper to benefit the March of Dimes fund will be held at 7 o'clock Friday night in the Ennis Creek school. The public is invited to attend.

Following the supper, 42 and canasta tables will be arranged. The Ennis Creek school is about 10 miles north and three miles east of Snyder, and most easily accessible from the Clairemont road.

Survey To Be Made By Local Church Group

Ralph Wesson, music and education director of the First Baptist Church, has been named to direct a city-wide religious survey to be made next Sunday afternoon.

Plans for the survey were made at a recent meeting of the Snyder Ministers' Fellowship, at which time Wesson was appointed director. The survey is planned to ascertain the religious affiliations of Snyder residents and to find the names and addresses of families who are not at present working with a church here, Wesson said.

About 260 persons are expected to participate in the survey. Churches which have definitely indicated that they will participate are the First Methodist, First Baptist, First Presbyterian, First Christian, Trinity Methodist, Avenue D Baptist, Green Hill Baptist, North Side Baptist, Calvary Baptist, Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ, Church of the Nazarene, Apostolic Faith, and Twenty-fifth Street Church of Christ.

Workers will meet at the First Baptist Church at 1:30 next Sunday afternoon to receive final instructions and assignments.

Mrs. Emma Childress, Ex-Snyder Resident, Dies In Harlingen

A former Snyderite, Mrs. Emma Childress, 82, of Harlingen, died in a hospital there last Monday. She had been a resident of Harlingen for 34 years, moving there from Snyder.

Funeral services were held there Tuesday.

Survivors included a son, William Childress of Snyder and a grandson, H. R. Lewis of Hermleigh. Lewis' mother is Mrs. Nannie Lewis of Lyford, a surviving daughter.

Mrs. Childress' husband was a farmer when he lived here.

Circle Meetings Wrong

On Friday's church page the Daily News erroneously stated that the three circle meetings of the First Presbyterian Church would be held on Monday.

The circles will meet at the places designated in Friday's story but on Tuesday.

Morning Flight To Dallas Is Due In Feb.

A morning eastbound flight will be included for Snyder in a schedule change of Pioneer Air Lines Feb. 1, according to a letter written to the chamber of commerce here by Harding Lawrence, vice-president of the airline.

Lawrence said that flight No. 42, which now lands in Sweetwater will be changed to land in Snyder, while Snyder will in turn give up its flight No. 48, the 6:27 o'clock evening eastbound, to Sweetwater.

Snyder does not now have a morning eastbound flight. In addition to flight No. 48, it has No. 46 eastbound, the 1:15 o'clock afternoon flight. The city's new flight No. 42, now leaves Midland at 7 o'clock in the morning. If it remains on the same time, it will land at Snyder at about 8 o'clock each morning.

Snyder's two other flights are westbound. They are No. 41, which leaves here at 9:19 o'clock in the morning, and No. 43, which departs at 4:22 in the afternoon.

Damage From Smoke At Beacon Lodge

Smoke damage estimated at $500 was caused by a fire at the Beacon Lodge about 8:30 o'clock Friday night, Ivan Gatlin, fire marshal, said.

Gatlin said that the fire started in the heating system at the lodge. Two city fire trucks, and a number of volunteer firemen went to the blaze put the fire out before it caused extensive damages.

Snyder Takes 59-51 Loss In Plainview Game Friday Night

Snyder was still in the top brackets of District 1-AAA play, even after taking a 59-51 loss Friday night to the Plainview Bulldogs.

The Tigers, playing against the team which has been picked as the probable district champion this season, kept the game close most of the time, narrowing Plainview's 14-point lead gained in a third quarter spurt to seven points with minutes to go in the game.

The game see-sawed in the first period, tied up three times, but Plainview finally edged ahead 14-13 by the end of that quarter. The Bulldogs made it a little more, 35-25, by halftime, and were leadings 46-35 at the end of the third.

With less than three minutes to go in the game, the Tigers had caught up to seven points' difference, but Plainview was able to score just as much as were the Tigers after that time.

Jimmy Bennett, scoring leader for the season here, paced the Tigers with 12 points, followed by 10 each scored by Reagan White and Ray Courtney. Jack Spikes had the best shooting average of the night with 60 per cent, followed by Courtney's 50 per cent and White's 44.4.

The team averaged hitting 34 per cent of its field goal tires in the game. Its best average in one quarter was 66.6 per cent in the fourth. Its worst was 23 per cent in the third. The squad hit 57.5 per cent of its free throws.

Plainview hit 30 per cent of its field goal attempts and 57.6 per cent of its free throws. Its best field goal shooting average was in the second period, when it hit 50 per cent. Lester North led that team's scoring with 13 points.

The best shot of the night was that made by Alan Snead, who bucketed a field goal from midcourt just as the horn sounded for halftime.

The win brought Plainview's district record to 3-0 and its season record to 13-7. Snyder's district record is now 2-2 and its season record 8-11.

The Tigers' next game will come next Thursday night, when they will host Breckenridge. Big Spring will go to Vernon and Plainview to Sweetwater Tuesday night.

The B team Friday night took its first district win, edging the Plainview B 45-41. That gave the Snyder B a 5-6 season record and the Plainview team 7-5.

The Plainview B led most of the first half. It was ahead 13-8 at the end of the first period and 23-19 at halftime.

The Snyder squad closed it up in the third period. From then on the lead changed every few seconds. Snyder was ahead 29-28 at the end of the third. With the game tied up 41-41 with sightly over a minute to go, Hubert O'Neal and Billy Sellers put in four points to give the home team the win.

Sellers led Snyder scoring with 16 points, while Jerry Taylor had 14. Jerry Hodger topped Plainview scorers with 10 points.

In other district games Friday night, Robert Weaver led the Lamesa team with 19 points to its 55-43 win over Big Spring. Lamesa led most of the game. Sweetwater, paced by R. L. Montgomery, took Vernon 58-38.

Teams Already Signing Up To Run In Canyon Relays Here

Twenty teams have already submitted entires for the Canyon Reef Relays, which will be held here March 13, according to Speedy Moffett, head athletic coach at the high school.

Moffett said the entires are coming in at the rate of five or six a day. Several days ago the coach sent out invitations to about 50 teams, including all the 28 that participated in the meet last year, when the event was held here for the first time.

Abilene, the defending champion, is the only team that came here last year that is known not planning entry this time. The Abilene cinder squad will go to the Border Relays at Laredo.

Included in teams entered so far are Amarillo and Odessa, which did not come last year, Lubbock, Big Spring, Plainview, Vernon, Stamford, Andrews, and Olton.

Moffett said that possibly another event will be added to the 14 held last year, the 880-yard run. Those held last year were 120-yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash, discus throw, 880-yard relay, 440-yard dash, mile run, high jump, pole vault, shot put, sprint medley, 180 - yard low hurdles, sprint relay, mile relay, and broad jump.

Preliminary workouts for high school cindermen are scheduled to begin tomorrow, according to Coach Horrace Bostick.

Bostick and Jack Dillon are track coaches. Bostick will head the workouts alone until the end of the basketball season. Dillon is coach of the B cage team.

The coach said that only a few track team members, those not now playing basketball, will work out now. Included in those who will begin the early workouts are three distance runners, Keith Pitner, Naxie Davis, and Tommy Ivison. Workouts now will be only for leg and general conditioning, Bostick said.

Pitner last year ran fifth in the 880-yard run in the state finals. In that meet he had the fastest time in any meet, running 2:01.7. The halfmiler had run second in the regional meet, district meet, and Southwestern Recreational meet at Fort Worth. He was third in the Abilene relays.

Last year, the mile relay team finished first in the district meet with a time of 3:33. It was second at Odessa and fourth at Abilene. The sprint medley team took first at Big Spring with 3:43.1. It also took second at Odessa, Abilene, and the Canyon Reef Relays here.

The 880-yard relay team last year ran second at Big Spring, while Reagan White 440-yard runner, was second in the district meet and fourth at the Snyder and Big Spring meets.

Davis and Ivison will both run in the mile relay and sprint medley this year. Pitner will also run in the sprint medley. They all ran on various relays last year.

Bostick said that three meets have already been scheduled for the track squad. It will participate in the Fort Worth, Odessa, and Snyder meets. He said probably three or four more meets will be on the schedule.

Pro All-Stars Collide Sunday

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16 (AP)—Old rivalries bloom again tomorrow when all-star teams of the Western and Eastern conferences of the National Football League collide in the fourth annual post season Pro Bowl football game in Memorial Coliseum.

Upward to 35,000 fans are expected to witness the game in person, and millions more can see it on a national television system. Kickoff time is 3 p.m. (CST).

Thirty-one players are on each squad—a select array from the 12 clubs in the NFL. And on each squad is a strong nucleus of the top two teams which battled for the league championship last Dec. 27.

The champion Detroit Lions have seven players on the Western team, including quarterback Bobby Layne, backs Doak Walker, Jack Christiansen, Yale Lary and linemen Les Bingaman, Lou Creekmur and Dick Stanfel.

The Cleveland Browns, beaten 17-16 by the Lions for the title, have eight players on the Eastern squad. They are quarterback Otto Graham, backs Ray Renfro, Harry Jagade, Warren Lahr and linemen Len Ford, Dante Lavelli, Lou Groza and Abe Gibron.

All have figured prominently in the strategy mapped out by the title game coaches, Buddy Parker of the Lions and Cleveland's Paul Brown.

Passing doubtless will dominate the offense but each team is capable of fielding a strong set of runnir.., backs.

Brown coached the Easterners to the first Pro Bowl victory in 1951, 28-27. The Westerners won the next two games, 30-13 and 27-7.

Players on the winning squad received $700 apiece. The losers get $500.

Fondren Outstanding Schoolboy Of Year

DALLAS, Jan. 16 (AP)—By a lopsided vote, Walter Fondren of Lamar (Houston) was named Texas' outstanding high school football player in 1953.

The 160-pound tailback of Class AAAA championship club received 48 of 75 ballots cast by members of the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Fondren will be honored Jan. 22 at a banquet sponsored by the alumni association of the University of Houston.

Kenneth Hall, Sugar Land back who set a new state scoring record, and Johnny Elam, Luling, received 5 votes each.

Monaco, tiny European state is, about one-half mile in area.

Hotrodders And Jewelers Stay In Keg Lead

The Goss Hotrodders and Williams Jewelry remained on top in the men's bowling league last week. The two had been tied the week before.

The Williams team downed the Sun Pencilpushers 2,662 to 2,559, while the Goss team defeated B& B Televisors 2,648 to 2,553. In a makeup games, the Televisors Tolled over Sun Pipeline No. 2 2,819 to 2,493. The Televisors are next in line to the two first place teams.

In other games last week, Snyder Wholesale beat the Independents 2,789 to 2,689, the Sun Valvetwisters won over Sun Pipeline No. 2 2,544 to 2,475, Pasotex forfeited to the Sun Pickhandles, Lee Service forfeited to Sun Pipeline No. 1, and the Valvetwisters lost to the Pickhandles 2,619 to 2,594.

Wayne Merritt of Snyder Wholesale had high series of the week with 621, while Louis Roter of the Hotrodders followed with 587 and Raymond Gray of the Televisors was next with 563.

This week's schedule includes Sun Pipeline No. 1 vs. Pipeline No. 2 and Lee Service vs. Pasotex Tuesday night, Pickhandles vs. Snyder Wholesale and Televisors vs. Williams Jewelry Wednesday night. Pencilpushers vs. Hotrodders and Independents vs. Valvetwisters Thursday night.

Laredo Gets Tourney Cheap

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 16 (AP)—Laredo, Tex., became a last minute addition to the winter golf tour today, with the Case Blanca Country Club course to be the scene of a $3,000 Laredo open, Feb. 12-14.

Laredo volunteered to fill the blank space on the winter golf tou. on short notice after the Tucson Open was dropped by its sponsors.

M. P. (Monk) Wilson, of San Antonio, the president of the Winter Golf Sponsors Assn., completed arrangements for the 54-hole medal play tourney.

Harvey Raynor, tourney supervisor of the Professional Golf Assn., told Wilson by phone that while the P. G. A. could not sanction a tournament with a price list under $10,000, that the Laredo Open would have "the blessing of the P. G. A."

The P. G. A. spokesman said his organization could not guarantee a player list, but that he felt sure that most of the touring players would play in Laredo rather than stay idle in the week between the Phoenix Open (Feb. 4-7) and the Texas Open in San Antonio (Feb. 18-21).

Modern Beauty Salon Leading Fem Bowlers

Little change occurred in the women's bowling league last week as Modern Beauty Salon continued to hold the lead.

The Modern team barely edged Friendly Flower Shop, second place team, 2,476 to 2,442. Still in third place is D&H Super Market, which downed Hughes' Gulf 2,498 to 2,375. Harris Pharmacy defeated Gordon's 2,354 to 2,281.

Jean Green had high line of 192 and high series of 418.

Tomorrow night, Friendly will meet Gordon's, D&H will play Modern, and Harris is matched with Hughes.

Johnson Athlete Of Year In Texas Colleges

DALLAS, Jan. 16 (AP)—David (Kosse) Johnson, high scoring All-America fullback for Rice Institute was Texas' athlete of the year in 1953.

The 178-pound Baytown youth was named this by the Texas Sportswriters Association. He polled 33 of 74 ballots to far outdistance a dozen other candidates.

Johnson, who gained 944 yards in 10 games for an average of 5 yards per carry, will receive a plaque here Feb. 16.

The hard-driving Rice senior carried the ball 188 times, lost only 17 yards, scored 10 touchdowns and kicked two extra points. He also led in kickoff returns with a 28 yard average and was a stand-out defensive player.

Darrow Hooper, Texas A&M weight star, was second to Johnson in balloting with 9 votes.

West Texas Relays Draw Many Schools

ODESSA, Jan. 16 (AP)—Seven universities, eight colleges and a score of high schools will give the West Texas Relays the strongest competitors lineup in its history this year.

The relays are scheduled here March 26 and 27.

The university division has Texas, Houston, Rice, TCU, Baylor, SMU and Texas Tech.

Colleges slated to send entries are North Texas State, East Texas State, Texas Western, Sul Ross, Howard Payne, Hardin-Simmons, McMurry and Abilene Christian College.

Lucas Will Be Up For Election Again

FORT WORTH, Jan. 16 (AP) — Congressman Wingate Lucas announced today he will be a candidate for re-election.

He said many of his friends have expressed fear he would decline re-election because of the disadvantages of the job.

"But, I think in times like these, everybody should be willing to make sacrifices," Lucas said. "And, in addition, I like the job."

Lucas, World War II veteran, began serving in Congress in 1947, succeeding Fritz Lanham. He and his wife and five children live in Arlington, Va. They spend their summers at their Grapevine home.

Ford Doesn't Know Where To Go To School

BRECKENRIDGE, Jan. 16 (AP)—Kenneth Ford, a West Texas boy who learned to throw a football the same way Sammy Baugh did, has a problem: where to go to college.

With a three year high school record of 198 completed passes out of 362 attempts for 3,709 yards and 50 touchdowns, he can name his choice.

The quarterback of Breckenridge's state Class AAA championship teams in 1951 and 1952 wound up his high school playing career last season.

A football fan here worked out his statistical record.

He started playing football in grade school. To make up for size, he became a passer, practicing by tossing a football through an automobile tire—swinging from a tree limb or rolling down a hill. That was the way Sammy Baugh, another West Texas boy, learned at Sweetwater. Baugh became the greatest passer in professional football history.

Breckenridge lost out in a bid for a third straight district 1-AAA title this year. Big Spring beat it, 6-0.

A good baseball player, too, Ford can't make up his mind where he wants to go to college. He wants to go to a Southwest Conference school in Texas. One that uses a split T formation.

That leaves just about every one of them with a chance to enroll him.

District 6-B Holds Meeting

Representatives of seven schools met last week in Loraine to organize Interscholastic League district 6-B.

The district, which elected Orville Paty, Hermleigh school superintendent, as chairman, is composed of Hermleigh, Loraine, Bronte, Robert Lee, Trent, Ira, and Hobbs.

The district was the same as the new district until last year, when the number of teams caused it to be split into two districts. Coahoma, which was a member last year, has been moved up to Class A, so the district re-formed.

Plans for the next football season were mapped, with no changes in policies set up by the old district. Admission prices for district games will be 75 cents and 35 cents, and home teams will guarantee $75 to visiting district teams. A district fee was assessed to buy a trophy for the football district winner. Tie games will count one-half game won and one-half lost.

New Platoon System

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Jan. 16 (AP)—The U.S. Army has announced the first two platoons of American soldiers trained under a new system as a unit for overseas service will arrive next month.

Hitherto the soldiers have been sent overseas individually or in four-man "buddy teams."

Fish travel back and forth between the Red Sea and the Mediterranean Sea through the Suez Canal, says the National Geographic Society.

Dog Trials Are Set

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 16 (AP)—The seventh annual field trial for bird dogs of the San Antio Bird Dog and Quail Club will be held Jan. 22 on the 10,000-acre Pandora quail reserve.

Vatican City, one-sixth square mile in area is rated as Europe's smallest independent state.

LOST 50 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE
For many of this country's 25,000,000 overweight adults, reducing diets have become a dominating influence. But the frightening fact is that many of the most popular diets are extremely dangerous.
Why not try the Barcentrate way and reduce safely, easily and without starvation diet?
Just get from your druggist a four-ounce bottle of Barcentrate—now just $1.69. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label. Then take according to directions. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to reduce, return the empty bottle for your money back.
Mrs. G. T. Hicks, 610 Whiting Avenue, San Antonio, Texas, wrote that she "Thinks Barcentrate is wonderful and lost 50 pounds taking it."

Oil Men Are Out To Kill All U.S. Trade With Other Nations

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—Texas independent oil men, who have long shaken their heads and fists at oil imports, are getting ready what they hope will be the knockout blow in their battle.

Their goal is to make sure the U. S. reciprocal trades agreement dies on schedule. It expires June 12 unless extended by Congress.

A study being completed by the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association will attempt to show such a funeral is the hope of preventing economic disaster both at home and abroad.

TO GO TO CONGRESS

Results of the study will be taken to Congress and the public.

TIPRO contends the present trade policy induces the U. S. economy to absorb foreign goods, including oil, to a degree that supplants domestic production.

Such a "solution" to export surpluses, says TIPRO President M. D. Bryant, San Angelo, might very well set off these reactions:

1. Launch a home recession into a world-wide depression, thereby costing exporters far greater home market losses without corresponding market gains abroad.

NATIONALISM DANGER

2. Retard the growth or even undermine completely the relatively few home industries which imports could displace, some of which—like petroleum and chemicals—are essential to national defense.

3. Create disharmony among the allies by usurping disproportionate shares of their markets far greater than any improved relations which might result from granting them indiscriminate access to our home markets.

4. Intensify the already dangerous degree of nationalism among so-called underdeveloped nations by denying them full opportunity to develop or sustain their own industries for meeting their own requirements.

IPAA ALSO CONCERNED

TIPRO contends the most reasonable and safe middle-course answer is to let the reciprocal trade act expire. That would leave in effect current agreements and rates but empower the tariff commission to make changes as required to protect vital home industries.

Such a policy, the independents hold, would protect vital home industries without retarding world trade necessary to the strength of free-world allies.

Officers of the Independent Petroleum Association of America also indicated growing concern over the oil import problem at their meeting in Midland this week.

IMPORTS REMAIN HIGH

While TIPRO is pessimistic of reaching any non-legislative solution, IPAA officers decided to give it one more try and pledged themselves to renewed non-legislative efforts.

They recessed their meeting instead of adjourning it, however, to permit quick reconvening to recommend legislative action if all other means fail.

Imports of crude and crude products have continued to run in excess of one million barrels daily despite some cutbacks from time to time by a few importers. Average for the four weeks ending Jan. 2 was 1,063,500 barrels daily.

Wildcats In Seven Counties Are Slated

Locations have been staked for wildcats in seven West Texas Counties. Drilling will begin at once on the prospectors.

Barron Kidd and Cherry Brothers of Dallas will drill two 1,500 foot ventures in Southwest Kimble County.

No. 1 Stella McKee is 8,800 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of R. S. Beard survey No. 375 and 660 feet south of the South Llano River. It is four miles southwest of Junction.

The second test is Kidd and Cherry Brothers No. 1 J. W. Johnson, seven miles southwest of Junction. Drillsite is 400 feet from north and 1,280 feet from west lines of M. A. Kadle survey No. 93, A-983.

In North-Central Runnels County, Howsley & Jacobs of Albany staked location for a 2,990-foot Gunsight sand wildcat as No. 1-83 Willie Jonas. It is 330 feet from south and 2,390 feet from west lines of A. J. Hensley survey No. 83 and three miles northwest of Winters. That puts it three-quarters of a mile south of the North Winters field but separated from it by a 3,418-foot failure.

Delfern Oil Co. of Lubbock No. 1 E. B. Willoughby is a new prospector in South - Central Schleicher County. It is to be drilled to 1,600 feet with cable tools.

Location is 330 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 137-A-HE&WT, 10 miles west of Eldorado.

Lowry Oil Co. of Albuquerque, N.M., No. 1 Lea Allison is to be drilled as a 5,200-foot wildcat in East-Central Sutton County. It is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 16, block A-9, Georgetown Railroad Company survey and 12 miles east of Sonora.

No. 1 Allison is three-quarters of a mile northwest of El Paso Natural Gas Co. No. 1 Allison, wildcat location and three and three-quarters miles southwest of the Allison field.

Texas Crude Oil Co. of Midland has spotted its No. 1-1008 J. W. Johnson as a 6,600-foot rotary wildcat in South-Central Tom Green County. The project is scheduled to test the Ellenburger.

Drillsite is 10,500 feet from the most southerly south line and 800 feet from the east line of section 1008, HE&WT survey, two miles east and slightly south of Christoval.

Murray Petroleum Co. and Cosden Petroleum Corp. will drill a 3,100-foot Ellenburger operation Central-East Coke County as No. 1 Rawlings.

Location is 2,229 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of Stanton Fields survey. It is one and three-quarters miles northeast of the Wendkirk Swastika and Cisco field and two miles west of the Bronte pool.

J. P. Kepley of San Angelo No. 1 Nallcomb is a new 1,000-foot cable tool prospector in Central Crockett County. It is 12 miles southwest of Ozona and 330 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of TC survey No. 14. Projected depth of 1,000 feet should take the tester to the San Andres.

IPPA Hopes Imports Drop Without Laws

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The executive committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA) still hopes foreign oil imports will be reduced by voluntary action without legislation.

After a two-day meeting this week in Midland, Tex., the committee issued a statement saying it was "encouraged" by prospects for "settling the issue without legislation."

But the committee said it was ready to reconvene on short notice to discuss legislative action "in event of failure of all other approaches to the problem."

Rep. Saylor (R-Pa) has said he will seek early house committee action on his bill to limit oil imports to 10 per cent of the domestic demand for the similar quarter of the previous year and residual oil imports to five per cent, on the same basis.

The National Coal Assn. and the United Mine Workers have announced support for such legislation, declaring it would help the domestic coal industry.

Some curtailment of oil imports has been announced in recent months by some importing companies. But independent oil operators apparently will be satisfied with nothing less than the curbs proposed in Saylor's bill.

Gasoline stocks are heavy for this time of the year and there have been cuts in domestic production.

In support of its case for reduction of imports, the IPAA has submitted a voluminous report on "U. S. Foreign Trade in Petroleum" to the commission on foreign economic policy, a labor-management group readed by Clarence B. Randall.

The statement of the IPAA executive committee praised President Eisenhower's pledge, in his state of the union message, to recommend a sound program for safeguarding the domestic production of critical and strategic metals and minerals.

As to petroleum, the committee said this was a recognition of the need for "maintaining an adequate domestic supply as sought under the program of this association."

Crockett Prospector Has Huge Gas Flow

La Gorce Oil Co. of Fort Worth and Garlitz & Howell of Fort Worth and Midland No. 1 Holt, San Andres gas discovery one and one-quarter miles southeast of the shallow Vaughn field, flowed an estimated 4,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily through open two-inch tubing on production test.

The flow was through perforations at 1,405-420 feet. Testing continued.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 62, certificate 4-156, block OP, GC&SF survey, 12 miles north and slightly west of Ozona.

New Upton Discovery Uncovers More Pay

Operator was coring ahead after uncovering more Ellenburger pay a. Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-AE TXL, discovery in Central-West Upton County.

Latest test was from 12,424-451 feet. Tool was open three hours, with gas to the surface in 35 minutes, gauging 73,000 cubic feet per day.

Recovery was 120 feet of oil and gas-cut mud, 10 per cent oil; 203 feet of 52-gravity oil and 85 feet of oil and gas-cut mud, 10 per cent oil.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 31-42-t5s-T&P.

Bomb Protection Sought

GENEVA, Switzerland, Jan. 16 (AP)—The International Red Cross has called a conference of legal, military and civil defense experts to meet this spring to revise international rules protecting noncombatants from aerial bombardment.

Two Counties Get Wildcats

Wildcats have been staked for immediate drilling in Howard and Dawson Counties.

The deeper of the projects will be drilled by Claude E. Heard, Estill S. Heyser, Jr., and Edgar Davis Drilling Co. in Howard County as the No. 1 Minnie Smith. Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 44-31-t3n-T&P. It is on an 80-acre lease about 18 miles northeast of Big Spring. Projected depth is 8,000 feet.

Seaboard Oil Co. of Delaware will drill the Dawson County test four miles southeast of Arvanna in the central part of the county.

It will be the No. 1 L. T. Middleton, 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 1-35-t6n-T&P. Projected depth is 4,500 feet.

Good Potential Report On Mitchell Project

A potential of 729.46 barrels of oil has been reported by Liedtke & Liedtke of Midland for the No. 1 Ross D. Dixon, Jr., in Southeast Mitchell County.

Gravity of the oil was 41 degrees. Gas-oil ratio on the completion test was 1,104-1. Production is from perforations at 6,209-269 feet which had been fractured with 12,000 gallons. No water was present.

The No. 1 Dixon is 660 feet from north and east lines of the north half of the north half of section 2-1A-H&TC. A preliminary report on the potential test was released late last week, but details of the completion were not available at that time.

Garza Wildcat Swabs New Oil From Hole

LaGorce Oil Co. No. 1 C. B. Johnson, Garza wildcat eight miles northwest of Post, is swabbing new oil from open hole between 3,590-614 feet.

That section was acidized with 3,000 gallons, and operator then swabbed 27 barrels of oil and 17 barrels of salt water in 16 hours. Casing was set at 3,590 feet and the hole cored from 3,599-614 feet. Recovery on the core was 15 feet of dolomite with pinpoint porosity, oil stained and saturated.

The No. 1 Johnson is in section 1246, AB&H survey.

Ward Discovery Well Gets First Offset

Texas Gulf Producing Co. spotted location for an east offset to the discovery well of the South Wickett — Yates field of Central Ward County, three miles southwest of Wickett.

It is No. 1-N University, 330 feet from south and west lines of section 9-16-University Lands survey. Combination tools will be used to 3,200 feet.

Drilling Goes Up Again In Permian Basin

Spraberry activity in the Permian Basin area of West Texas and New Mexico took a slight upward trend in the first days of 1954, with 32 rigs running on Jan. 10.

This was an increase of two from the previous count on Dec. 25. Drilling over the Basin area dropped slightly, with 458 rigs in operation as compared to 485 on Dec. 25.

Scurry County stood fifteenth among counties in the bi-state area with 10 rotaries running. That was a drop of seven from the previous count, now being made on the tenth and fifteenth of each month by the Reed Roller Bit Co. Only rigs in operation on the day of the survey will be counted in the total.

A partial list of counties covered by the survey, with the number of units operating on Jan. 10, follows:

Andrews	73
Borden	5
Coke	22
Dawson	7
Garza	6
Howard	17
Kent	14
Mitchell	2

Sharon Ridge 1700 Well Is Completed

K. W. D. of San Angelo has reported completion of the No. 2-SB Mildred Coleman and others in the Sharon Ridge 1700 field of Scurry County.

The well pumped 16 hours for an initial potential of 52 barrels of oil and 52 barrels of water per day. Production is from open hole at 1,715 feet, where casing is set, and total depth of 1,748 feet. The project was acidized with 4,000 gallons.

Location for the project is in section 97-97-H&TC.

Shallow McCulloch Try Finaled As Discovery

J. A. Cox of San Angelo No. 1 T. L. West has been completed as a small pumping discovery from an unidentified formation one and one-half miles east of Lohn in McCulloch County.

The well potentialed for 26 barrels of 38-gravity oil per day, plus 27 per cent water from open hole section at 962-969 feet.

Location is 350 feet from north and 500 feet from east lines of P. L. West lease in H&TC survey No. 155.

Eddy County Wildcat Has Flow On Tests

A large volume of gas, distillate and drilling mud with a trace of salt water flowed on a drillstem test in the upper Pennsylvanian at Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. No. 1-AD State, wildcat four miles southeast of its recent Pennsylvanian gas-distillate discovery in the Shallow Red Lake field of Central-North Eddy County, New Mexico.

Tool was still open on a test from 9,515-560 feet. A 2,000-foot water blanket started flowing in 25 minutes, mud followed in 55 minutes and distillate-cut mud in one hour. Flow of distillate and mud was estimated at 50 to 60 barrels per hour.

This project is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 10-19s-28e.

Application Filed To Drill Scurry Well

Humble Oil & Refining Co. has filed application to begin drilling on the No. 9-B J. E. Sorrells in the Diamond M-Canyon field of Southwest Scurry County.

Location is 2,310 feet from north and east lines of section 76-25-H&TC, about 19 miles southwest of Snyder. Projected depth is 6,900 feet.

In North Howard County, Pan American Production Co. has set location for its No. 2 M. M. Jones in the Oceanic-Pennsylvanian field. It is 330 feet from north and 2,398 feet from east lines of section 36-33-t3n-T&P, one and one-half miles south of Vealmoor. Projected depth is 8,500 feet.

Third Well Completed In Dawson Spraberry

Seaboard Oil of Delaware has completed the third producer in the Spraberry-West Pennsylvanian field of Dawson County.

The new oiler is the No. 3 M. J. Peterson. It flowed 24 hours for a potential of 423.01 barrels of 40.4-gravity oil with no water. The flow was natural through a 16-64th-inch choke from open hole at 8,105-145 feet. Gas-oil ratio on the test was 359-1, with tubing pressure 400 pounds.

The No. 3 Peterson is 2,412.7 feet from east and 2,012.4 feet from north lines of the lease in section 40-34-t5n-T&P.

DRILLING REPORT

Tom Slick, Blanco Oil and Newman Brothers Drilling No. 1 Edwin George Heirs, Kent County wildcat, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 6,750 feet in the Strawn. It is reported to have made water in that zone. Location was 654.6 feet from south and 1,996 feet from east lines of section 197-G-W&NW, 12 miles west-northwest of Clairemont.

Russell Maguire No. 1 H. D. Beal, Southeast Borden exploration, is preparing to acidize and continue testing after perforating and swabbing dry. Perforations are at 7,558-597 feet, with plugged-back total depth 7,812 feet.

Knickerbocker No. 1 R. H. Jordan, Northwest Scurry stepout to the Winfield multipay field, is drilling in lime and shale below 5,535 feet.

In Southwest Borden County, Blanco and Newman No. 2 W. L. Miller is drilling in lime and shale below 7,780 feet.

General Crude No. 5-1 Girard Trust, Kent County wildcat, is drilling in lime below 6,677 feet. General Crude No. 1-82 Percey Jones, three and one-half miles west of Clairemont, is drilling in lime and shale below 2,415 feet. General Crude No. 1-99 Young has acidized with 500 gallons of mud acid and is testing at total depth of 7,405 feet. Russell Maguire No. 1 Emery Ranch is drilling in lime below 6,518 feet.

Carlton Beal and associates No. 1 Adkins, Central Dawson wildcat, is drilling in black shale below 9,515 feet. Caraway No. 1 Lowe is drilling in lime below 10,239 feet.

Young Man Charged On Bad Check Count Here

T. E. Lindsey, 25, of 2205 Twenty-first Street, pleaded not guilty in county court yesterday morning to a charge of swindle by worthless check.

Edgar Taylor, county judge, set bond at $100, but Lindsey had not made bond yesterday afternoon.

The complaint against Lindsey was filed on a check given Jan. 9, 1954, to Parker's Food Store on the Clairemont Road, for the amount of $6.

Lindsey said that the check was given to purchase food for his wife and children while he was unemployed. He said that he had secured employment at a well servicing firm Friday.

Shipline Comes Back

BREMEN, Germany, Jan. 16 (AP)—The North German Lloyd steamship line, its operations suspended since shortly before World War II, will resume transatlantic service Feb. 1.

Former Printer Here Dies In Detroit, Mich.

Funeral services were held in Detroit, Mich., Friday for R. E. Morris, Sr., former resident here, who died there Monday.

Mr. Morris was the uncle of four residents here, Mrs. Ivan Gatlin, John L. Webb, R. W. Webb, and Walter Wasson. He lived here for a few years in the early days of Snyder, employed as a printer for the Coming West, newspaper of that time. He had lived in Detroit for a number of years, where he retired from the printing trade several years ago.

Mr. Morris and his wife, the former Frances Patterson, a pioneer school teacher here, lived here and in San Antonio for a short time in recent years. He had been in ill health for more than a year. He was a native of Central Texas.

Survivors include his wife, one son Robert Morris of Detroit; two daughters, Mrs. Harold Hill of Detroit and Mrs. Arnold Nelson of Washington, D. C., and nine grandchildren.

101-Year-Old Negro Minister Has Full Work Schedule Daily

NASHVILE, Tenn., Jan. 16 (AP)—Instead of sitting back in a rocking chair when he reached 100, the Rev. J. W. D. ("The initials don't stand for nothing") Mayes went into the grocery business.

The English-born Negro minister now 101, is busier than the proverbial one-armed paper hanger managing his store and:

1. Preparing sermons and traveling from his home twice each month to deliver them.

2. Keeping his grocery store open from 4 a.m. until 9 p.m. each weekday without even a part-time clerk to assist him.

3. Hand-setting type and printing "The Lighthouse," which he publishes twice a month, along with church bulletins and other material.

4. Writing articles for various religious publications.

5. Serving as United States supreme grand worthy instructor of the Colored Home Protection Organization, a charitable association for needy Negroes that is something like a secret lodge and offers sick benefits and death claims to its members.

6. Doing his own cooking, washing and ironing, and tending a flower garden outside his store.

Mayes, whose store is located near RoEllen, Tenn., says he was born in Staffordshire, England, the son of a British mother and a full-blooded African father. When he was only a child he was "adopted" by a wealthy white Englishman, Jasper Mayes, from whom he took his name. His mother had died in childbirth.

Mayes says the Englishman who reared him brought him to the United States when he was a small boy. Mayes taught school for several years, but later "heard the call of the master," returned to school and was educated for the ministry.

"The Presbyterian Church was my first love in the United States," he says. Despite his Presbyterian preference, he once preached as a Methodist minister for several years.

"I was pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Paducah, Ky.," he explains, "and there was a lot of prejudice in the church. It got so bad I finally told them I was leaving the Presbyterian Church and wouldn't be back 'until all you folks die.' When the last one died about 20 years ago I went back to the Presbyterians."

Mayes is pastor of the Mt. Tabor Colored Cumberland Presbyterian Church near Huntington. The church is about 75 miles from RoEllen. A neighbor drives him there twice each month.

When he slipped on an icy street two years ago he suffered hip and skull injuries that laid him up for five months. He refused to go to a hospital, and insisted that he be carried into his church on a cot to continue his preaching during his convalescence.

The aged minister formed the Colored Home Protection Organization "about 51 years ago."

"I'm the president of it and just about the whole cheese," he says, "but I'm preparing John H. Robinson of Sturgis, Ky., to take my place. We are organized in six states and have a little bit of secrecy connected with our ritual.

"We try to help folks that can't help themselves, and then we make up money when one of our members died to bury him. It don't take but about $250 to put us away."

Mayes has been married twice. His second wife died 34 years ago.

He had eight children by his first wife, two by his second. Five of them are still living.

"My children want me to come live with them," he says, "but you can't tell what their wives and husbands will say. And I guess I'm more contented living with myself."

Kiwanis Club To Install New Officers Here

New officers and directors of the Kiwanis Club will be installed Tuesday night at the annual ladies' night banquet of the club. The banquet will be held at 7:30 o'clock at Ballard's banquet room.

H. A. Johnson, Jr., head of the West Texas area office of Sun Pipeline Co., is the new president, succeeding Frank Wilson. First vice-president is Ben Costin, who succeeds Johnson, while Ford Kenner follows Bill King as second vice - president and Mitchell F. Jackson replaces L. C. Johnson as secretary-treasurer.

New directors are Jerry Hughes, Don Hire, Bob Crowell, and Bill King, and carry-over directors are Bill Brown, H. D. Moreland, and Wilson. Outgoing directors are Costin, Frank Stephenson, Ford Caperton, George Frazier, and H. W. Cargile.

Edward C. Keefe of Chickasha, Okla., governor of the Texas-Oklahome Kiwanis district, will give the main address at the dinner. Keefe has held six Kiwanis offices in the past few years.

Installing officers will be Carlos Clover of Odessa, lieutenant governor of Division No. 22 of Kiwanis. A past lieutenant governor, T. B. White of Lamesa, will present 12 awards to members for one to eight years' perfect attendance. Cecil, Yarbrough, superintendent of schools here will be master of ceremonies.

Guests will attend from other Kiwanis clubs and from other civic clubs here. Music will be by a male quartet from the high school.

Water Storage Over State Has Improved

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—The State Board of Water Engineers monthly review of Texas water conditions said storage in nine major reservoirs throughout the state reflects a general improvement in the available water supply.

"The gain during 1953 effected by several periods of rainfall in critical drouth areas producing runoff impounded by established and newly constructed reservoirs is heartening," said the report.

"San Angelo, Big Spring, Sweetwater, and many other municipalities can look to the new year with less fear of water supply shortages."

Lake Kemp on the Wichita River, Bridgeport Reservoir on the West Fork of the Trinity, Lake Dallas Possum Kingdom on the Brazos, Buchanan Lake on the Colorado, Medina Lake on the Medina, and Red Bluff Reservoir on the Pecos showed substantial gains for 1953.

Only reservoirs at a lower level at the end of the year were Eagle Mountain on the West Fork of the Trinity, and Lake Travis on the Colorado.

Information On Yanks Still In Russia Sought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said today he may send investigators to Tokyo to question Japanese who say they recently saw some U.S. citizens being held in Russian prison camps.

Potter said an investigation will be made of these and other reports of Americans held against their will behind the Iron Curtain, in Russia, Red China and perhaps elsewhere. He said he will direct the study as a one-man task force of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

It's objective, he said, will be to identify as many of the Americans as possible if the reports are substantiated, and provide information to help the government in pressing for their release.

Potter said he has discussed with representatives of the Japanese embassy his idea of sending emissaries to Japan to question a group of Japanese captured during World War II and only recently liberated from prison camps in Russia. He said they are reported to have seen Americans in such camps.

Potter said the embassy representatives have assured him "there would be no complaints as far as the Japanese government is concerned" against any U.S. interviews with the prisoners.

Coastal Water Fowl Population Increases

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—A Big increase in Texas' coastal waterfowl population was reported today by W. C. Glazener, the Texas Game and Fish Commission's wildlife restoration director.

The census report placed the total of all waterfowl species at 3,218,800 in December compared with 1,888,000 a year earlier. Ducks accounted for 2,988,700 of the total.

Greatest increase was in the number of redheads and pintails, great majority of which were observed at the mouth of the Arroyo Colorado and at Three Islands and Green Island in the lower Laguna Madre.

Wildlife biologist J. R. Singleton said reports of mediocre hunting success were understandable despite the large waterfowl population. He said this was so because of the scattered water and feed in coastal marshes, which results in spreading the flocks over a large area.

Stock Market Made Advance During Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—The stock market this week climbed vigorously up into price levels that haven't been probed in the past eight months.

The extent of the rise hasn't been matched for well over a year. Bullish enthusiasm expanded with the advance. Brokers began to talk about the possibility of a determined try for a new 1953-54 high before very long.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $2.30 on the week. Such an advance hasn't been seen since the third week in November of 1952 when the stock market was in the midst of its enthusiastic rally following the election of President Eisenhower.

As measured by the Associated Press average, the market continued on up in 1952 to a new high mark early in 1953. From there it descended to a 1953 low in mid-September.

From that point a recovery rose to an early December peak. Several tries to get above the peak ended in failure—until this week.

The market last Monday was quietly lower as the President delivered his messages to Congress on farm and labor legislation.

The next day the market started a quiet advance for no particular reason, just like so many routine trading days.

On Wednesday the railroads led a rally in the second hour that sharpened trader appetites. Interest definitely was aroused all around.

Fortunately for the bulls on Thursday, the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington voted to ease tax demands on dividends. That topped the list of good news items credited with the market's third straight advance.

The big test came Friday, and the market met it with a rousing rally that went through the roof. There was a grand rush to get in on the rise. Before the close, however, profit-taking cut back the best gains.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were: Niagara Mohawk Power up 1 at 28⅜ on 217,900 shares; Pepsi-Cola up ⅞ at 14⅝; General Motors up 2⅝ at 62⅝; 20th Century-Fox up 1¾ at 22, and American Telephone up 1¼ at 158⅛.

18-Year-Olds Been Voting For 10 Years

ATLANTA, Jan. 16 (AP)—In the only state which has opened the polls to them, Georgia voters between 18 and 21 years apparently behave much like their elders, participating more actively in hot elections and voting along lines of family and local interest.

Georgia lowered its voting age to 18 in 1943 and most political leaders today agree that the 10-year experiment has been a success.

However, there is some difference of opinion as to the effect of expanding the voting age group by three years.

President Eisenhower recently recommended that the voting age be lowered to 18 years nationally.

On the basis of Georgia's experience, this likely would bring out a wave of new voters at first and then [illegible] register and vote in just about the same ratio as those from 21 years up.

No accurate figures are available as Georgia's registration lists are not too accurate at best and there is no segregation of registered voters by ages.

Also, there are no figures on actual voting by the younger people.

In 1943, the year a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18 was approved, Georgia had 428,157 registered voters.

The total jumped to 562,684 in 1944. Although 1944 was a regular election year, veteran politicans attribute much of that increase to registration by young voters.

In 1945, the registration total was down to 502,404. Then in 1946, it jumped to 1,077,949, but in the meantime the state had adopted a new constitution which abolished the poll tax.

Fortune To See Movie

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 16 (AP)—A Danish shipowner who made a fortune out of the film "Gone With The Wind" will name two ships Scarlett O'Hara for the heroine of the story. Danish theater owners found the picture too expensive for showing, so shipowner, Jorgen Jensen ferried thousands of movie fans to Sweden to see it.

The U.S. monthly milk production is around eight million pounds.

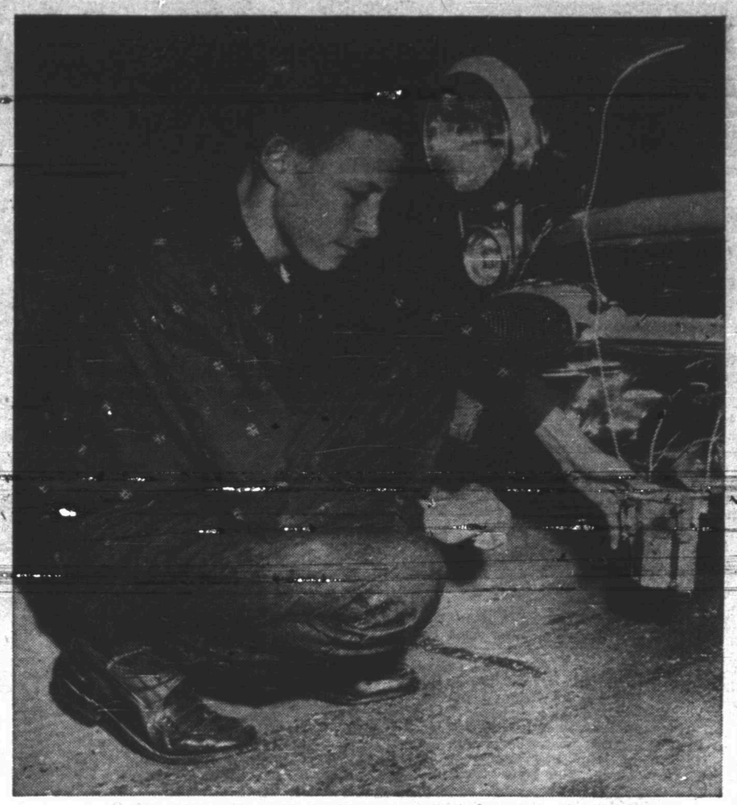
Dr. C. L. Yarbrough, left, superintendent of schools, and Hal Battle, driving teacher, confer on some new student driving statistics received from a national survey on the subject. Yarbrough is a member of the 13-man National Safety Council Commission, and has just completed his second term as chairman of the safety council of the Texas Parent-Teachers Association.



Weldon Smith is shown above placing an automatic detenator on the front bumper of the school's driver-education car. The device fires a .22 caliber blank shell when the driver's foot is taken off the accelerator, then another when the brake is applied. Powder burns on the pavement permit accurate measurement of the student's reaction time. At 30 miles per hour it usually takes 66 feet to stop the car, Battle said.

Safety in entering a parked car is as important as driving it safely, Battle said. "Always enter a car parked from the side nearest the crub so that on-coming cars will not have a chance to hit you," he said. Demonstrating above are from left: Marie Cochran, Lanell Sutton, Shirley Roland, Mira Caswell, and Donna Bills. (Lee Watson photographs)

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 4, No. 223 | SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JANUARY 17, 1954 | SECTION TWO

School Drive Course Is Attracting Many Students

A comprehensive driver-education program is being coupled with a safety campaign at Snyder High School to teach future safety on the highways, Dr. C. L. Yarbrough, superintendent, said.

At present there are 120 students enrolled in the three driver education classes being instructed by Hal Battle.

"Actually there are too many students in the classes for each one to get the practical driving experience needed, but we are doing the best we can," Battle said.

By practical driving experience he meant supervised training behind the wheel of the schools 1953 Oldsmobile sedan that is equipped with dual controls so the instructor may set beside the driving student and give instruction or control the car in emergencies.

The car is also equipped with a reaction-timing device that permits the instructor to get an accurate picture of the lapse of time between the arise of a necessity to stop the car, and the actual time that the car halts.

The device fits onto the front bumper of the car and contains two .22 calibre blank cartridges that fire toward the pavement and cause powder burns on the pavement so that accurate measurement of distances can be made.

The first shell fires when the instructor tells the student to stop the car. The second shell fires when the student's foot hits the brake peddle.

"At 30 miles per hour it usually takes at least 66 feet to stop the car," Battle said.

During the driving class, three students ride in the rear seat of the sedan to profit from the instructions to the driver.

A driver evaluation machine in use at Snyder High School tests the student's field of vision, color vision, distance judgement, visual acuity, and reaction time.

Mechanical operation of a car, and the proper reaction to the multitude of different driving situations are taught in the classroom.

Last week a student safety council was organized at the school with one member from each of the 22 home rooms being elected to the council. Louise Crook was appointed chairman of the commission earlier, and helped with the organization of the commission.

"We believe the safety commission will help make the students even more safety conscious," Battle said.

Another plan to help make students safety conscious at Snyder High School is the public display

The machine above is a driver evaluation machine which can evaluate the field of vision, color vision, distance judgement, visual acuity, and reaction time of a driver. Marsha Youngblood is shown taking the machine tests while her classmates look on. They are from left: Billy Don Boyd, Jackie Grimmett, Rosanell Rosson, Gay Birdsall, and Kay Birdsall. The machine is one of several driver-education aids used in the fully accredited course.

The bulletin board above faces the main entrance to the high school building to warn students of their own driving habits. Doris Sterling, left, and Shirley McCowen, are shown placing "ones" in the spaces to indicate that there had been only one day passed when the picture was made since a high school student had been involved in an automobile accident, and since a high school student had received a traffic violation ticket.

Varden Petite

The goodness of fashion is combined with simplicity of demeanor in this Varden Petite frock especially for the woman five-five or under. Very easy to make, its button front gives it a wide size range because larger sizes can leave the first three buttons open very prettily. Shown originally in a crisp silk, which gives nice emphasis to the back fullness, the dress is equally attractive in cotton, linen or sheer wool. Size 12 requires four yards of 39-inch material for the dress. To order, send $1 to Spadea Syndicate, Inc., Box 535, Dept. S-13, G.P.O. New York 1, N.Y. Pattern booklet No. 10 is available for an additional charge of 25 cents. Choose your pattern size from this guide:

SANDSCRIPTS

By FRANCES BROOKS

"Mom, I think lunch is gonna come up," confided my seven-year-old, who had been busy exchanging verbal and physical swats with his brother, eight, ever since we three departed Snyder aboard a crowded bus.

We occupied the seat directly over the left, rear wheel, a feature of the bus no doubt designed by an engineer who either had had one too many, or who bore an unceasing grudge against humanity.

And so were realized my worst fears of this happy-birthday jaunt to Dallas.

(To any reader, who, like me, is in his still-spry thirties and heretofore had considered himself reasonably vibrant and youthful, run like a thief when anybody suggests you take a 350-mile bus excursion accompanied by two kids, because any impression of youth you may have had will be shattered by the first squirt gun this wild project will assault one as the city limits sign is passed.)

I had thought we were sensibly dressed for the ride, the boys in their blue jeans and I in an old brown-checked suit, slightly shiny in the seat, that I had been too Scotch to discard. You might not nudge Oveta Culp Hobby off her station among the peerlessly dressed, but here would be the perfect costume for your future bus swing:

1. One pair of track shoes, with cleats. They could save you on 45-degree angle turns like the one in Ranger when Bruce's black, licorice jaw - breaker snapped right out of his mouth and hurtled into the sailor's duffel bag four seats up.

2. One shepherd's stick. The type illustrated in "Children' Bible Stories' — about 12 feet long and used by the herder to snare stray lambs. The strong crook could fit equally well about the chubby ankle of an offspring and, grappling womanfully, you could drag him back into his seat.

3. A desert canteen, which you might buckle about your middle. If your disposition - endurance is as low as mine, following the twenty - eighth request, "I wanna drink," you might head for serious trouble and even be asked to leave the conveyance at Muleshoe, be cautious. For you just might pull the cork out of the thing and start slinging cold water in their little faces, yelling in stentorian tones, "Then, DRINK, Durn ye's!"

This list of bus-conquering equipment could go on indefinitely and could include steel braces for your legs, to aid in disembarking if your own pins are kicked numb by then, or an armoured shield (family tree insignia optional) to prevent calvicle damage from swaying, falling 300-pound passengers.

As we left behind the twinkling lights of Fort Worth, Burke kicked over the traces. Utterly bored by minor misdemeanors like lying belly-flat in the middle of the aisle, he struck up "Jesus Loves Me." A Vacation Bible School teacher introduced him to it last summer, and I always thought he sang it sweet, but, then, I am his mother.

Burke is completely tone deaf, but completely. But like most tone deaf folks, he doesn't know this little secret. His lungs, however, are in excellent hog-calling condition. "Jesus Loves Me" burst forth upon the nodding riders in tones generally reserved for "Show Me The Way To Go Home" or "Fifteen men on the dead man's chest, yo ho ho and a bottle of rum." I expected that busload to panic and rush the door. I suppose what prevented it was that by then they were more exhausted than nervous.

When you take your bus ride, you will, in time, reach your proper destination, as we did, but anything else will be anti-climactic. The steady, pure, jolting rhythm of that eastward-bound bus movement (over the wheel) will stay with me when time has mercifully dimmed less jarring memories.

As for Dallas, I had my thought-to-be-essential look into awesome Nieman - Marcus, where all I glimpsed from my stand just outside the elevator doors was a table of frothy lingerie, bearing a legend which looked to be something like "Ninety - eight - dollar slips and nighties reduced to $7.95-$17.95." [illegible] and cinnamon-colored lovelies skilfully were being clawed [illegible] the claws may [illegible] jewelled claws, but they clawed), and I backed out and made for the heady thrill I get in big dime stores.

We bought Burke a ring with a boot on it and then shot two hours searching for one with the same kind of ring on it, of course, fo his brother. Despairing of this, I sought out an Oriental inn and ordered Chinese chow mein, shrimp-flavored, and sweet and sour pickled beef with a tiny side dish of Egg Foo Yung in its zesty sauce. The boys provokingly demanded hamburgers, and the Oriental waiter haughtily departed to see if the kitchen could accommodate them.

We caught "Knights of the Round Table," spectacularly colored cinemascope about the beloved gallants, that stride across every boy's story book pages. No advertising blurb I've seen exaggerates its beauty. Shown on the impressively large screen, it's worth riding miles on, -well, yes, on a bus to view it.

Well, see, I picked up the idea for this pilgrimage in from the hinterlands from one of these women columnists . . . "Commemorate your children's birthdays," she wrote, "not just with parties and confetti, but with experiences that will broaden their spirits, expand their personalities, and brighten their small outlooks." One of these daily psychological columns.

When you count in the ride home on a train, it figures that those kids got broadened, expanded, and brightened, all right, but don't think that columnist isn't going to receive a testy letter from Mom, who got flattened!

Proves one permise — Women columnists are tricky critters.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for Jan. 17, 1929.)

One of the greatest announcements ever to be made for Snyder and Scurry County is the addition of a new and modern airport that is to be developed into an A1A landing field and that will represent an outlay of more than $50,000 when fully completed. This has been made possible as the result of the generosity of a Snyder booster, D. P. Yoder, who has just contracted the purchase of 200 acres of land just north of the corporation line across from the Santa Fe depot and located between State Highway No. 7 and the Clairemont road. Active work is to start on the field within the next two weeks.

[illegible] to be started soon on a modern filling station and restaurant at the [illegible] end of the [illegible] which will include camp grounds with all modern conveniences such as gas for heating and cooking, electric lights, water and sewerage. Rooms will be provided at the camp running from 50 cents to $2.50 a night, and ten are to be built at once.

The Emergency Hospital, under the expert guidance of Dr. I. A. Griffin, has had remarkable success here since it was established when Dr. Griffin came here from Bell County, forming a partnership with Dr. W. R. Johnson. Improvements that have been completed and are now underway will place the local offices on a par with any other city of like size, and even larger, in West Texas.

Just last week a new $750 sterilizer was placed in position in the operating room; a new and complete laboratory is being started; new bed equipment, with a modern dining room and diet kitchen being installed; . . . a hospital fully capable of handling from eight to 10 patients at any time.

Mrs. T. L. Lollar has completed the purchase of a Syncophone which will provide a proper musical setting for each picture to be shown at the Palace Theatre. This is one of the new developments for movie theatres and gives some idea of the fine service that is always given the theatre-going public in Snyder.

City Secretary A. C. Preuitt is publishing a statement in this issue of the receipts and disbursements for 1928 that shows Snyder is growing into a most worthy and healthy financial condition. The city has $25,457.02 in cash on deposit, with a total net indebtedness of $64,944.63.

Cement bases are being placed this week around the public square, as well as a block in each direction, for the new white way system. This improvement will further add to the appearance of the main part of the city.

Austin Erwin entertained a number of his friends last Saturday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Erwin.

Various games were played during the evening. Refreshments were served to Misses Brentz Anderson, Janet Smith, Janice Erwin, Margaret Deakins, Jeanette Lollar, Ida Sue Wallace and John Billy Beggs, Banie Smith, Creston Fish, Adrian Banks, Borden Gray and Lee Francis York.

HOLIDAYITUS TO TAXITUS

Now that everyone has shaken "holidayitus" out of their systems it's time for that other seasonal disease . . "taxitus!" . . . The only precautionary against which are to quit workin'! (Either way you starve to death). Seems as though a person doesn't have to take a civil service exam to get a job with the government nowadays.

We were feelin' real elated and actually lookin' forward to gettin' our paycheck the first week in January. We'd heard that income taxes had been reduced 10 per cent . . . but when we looked at our check we found that it was even less than before (if such is possible). We raised all sorts of dust with the bookkeeper about trying to short-change us [illegible] Gates has been reduced!"

MATCHING TIES

Just because most of you received enough ties for Christmas to open up a men's haberdashery of your own, don't disregard color combinations in order to wear them all as soon as possible. An otherwise neat, well-groomed appearance can be completely ruined by an outlandish or miss-matched tie.

TIE-CARE IMPORTANT

The advent of the new slim, narrower tie has left many of us with a crop of out-dated ties . . . and it's going to take several Christmases. Birthdays and Anniversaries to get it built back to normal. That's why it's more important than ever to take care of your ties. Here's a few simple rules to follow:

(1) A tie should never be yanked off. The proper way to take it off is to reverse the tying process.

(2) Don't leave your tie tied . . . fibers get twisted and make it difficult to make a good knot.

(3) Ties should be placed under the collar BEFORE a shirt is put on . . . less friction and wear on both collar and tie!

(4) Spots should be removed at once with cleaning fluid before they have a chance to work in the ties . . . and they should be sent to the cleaners before they become too soiled.

(5) Ties should be given rests of 5 days between uses. (If you don't own 5 ties . . . may we suggest that you drop by Rogers Men's Wear at your earliest convenience!)

CLEARANCE IN PROGRESS

It's still a little early for forecasting Spring styles in menswear . . . especially when the folks up at Rogers Men's Wear are all wrapped up in their Annual Winter Clearance. It's that time of year, so if you're in the mood to take advantage of tremendous savings on menswear . . . you'd better be making plans to go by their store real soon. (The sooner the better . . . 'cause you know how the best things have a habit of disappearing first!) See Rogers' Clearance Ad, Section 1, Page 5.

Don't Worry If Your Baby Has Temporary Appetite Lag

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE
AP Newsfeatures

When a baby is around his first birthday something dramatic takes place in his food consumption. Unless a mother knows about this ahead of time she is likely to be worried.

A young baby pitches into a meal as though he were starved. His whole body quivers in an agony of hunger until he can grab the nipple. Then he sucks as if his life depended on each swallow.

As he gets a little older and solid foods are added to his diet he just can't wait a second to get the first bite.

Mrs. Poole had trouble with 8-month-old Margie. It took Mrs. Poole a few minutes to put Margie's food in her dish and during those minutes when the baby could see the food she jumped up and down so hard her mother was afraid she'd bounce out of the high chair. Mrs. Poole discovered that a handful of dry cereal scattered on the tray of the high chair would be jammed into Margie's mouth, occupying the baby long enough for mother to get the plate ready.

APPETITES LAG

However, towards the end of the first year the attitude of most babies changes, and changes quite suddenly, from avid interest to indifference. A baby accustomed at breakfast time to gulping down a dish of fruit, a generous bowl of cereal and an egg yolk, then lying back and topping it off with eight ounces of milk, may change his habits almost overnight. He will lazily finish his fruit, leave half his cereal, refuse his egg yolk and dawdle through four or five ounces of milk. The change comes so quickly that many mothers feel sure there is something wrong with the baby.

But there isn't anything wrong. The baby has stopped gaining as fast as he did in early infancy and he doesn't need so much food. A baby gains somewhere around 15 pounds his first year, but only about five pounds his second year. It just doesn't take as much food to add five pounds as it does to add 15 pounds. Something inside the baby tells him when he has had enough.

NOBODY TOLD MOTHER

Nobody has told this to mother though. She cannot understand why her baby has lost his appetite. Maybe she coaxes and wheedles and does get in a few extra bites. Later in the morning when the baby is thirsty and wants a drink of water, this worried mother will give him milk instead of water and maybe she will even beat up an egg yolk in the milk to "Try and get a little nourishment into him." There is no better way to give an individual a dislike of food than to be made to eat when he is not hungry. And here we have all the makings of a "food problem" on our hands.

Mothers need to know that all babies eat less beginning about the time of the first birthday than they did as small infants. If a baby continued to eat the huge amounts he puts away as a small infant he'd reach 500 pounds before long!

of the driving record of students. A bulletin board at the main entrance to the building shows how many days has lapsed since a student has been involved in a traffic accident or has received a traffic violation ticket.

"We have also checked the driving habits of all students to see how many drive a family or personal car with driver's license, and how many operate a vehicle without a driver's license," Battle said.

He said the accident record of driving students at Snyder High School is very good — reflecting value of the program.

National surveys have shown that driving classes have reduced the number of accidents involving formally trained drivers.

The driver education classes are accredited elective courses on which the students get high school credit, Battle said.

Mrs. Jeannine Bearden is shown with the prescription book she uses to make out orders for the laboratory. She handles only prescriptions taken from old records for duplications, handling no new prescriptions.

SOCIETY SCRIBBLINGS

Once Scorned Glasses Are Now Universally Accepted

Small-fry may sometimes have to be dragged into the doctor's office, but Mrs. JEANNINE BEARDEN, receptionist for Dr. John Blum, says they do not mind having their eyes examined. Moreover they do not object to glasses, understanding that glasses worn when needed bring about an improvement of vision.

In fact, even the feminine point of view has undergone a change in regard to the use of eye glasses. Mrs. Bearden stated that women as well as men consider glasses a health aid, realizing their need, and have no objection to wearing the once scorned spectacles.

She herself wears an attractive pair. Mrs. Bearden remarked that at first she wore them only for close work, but since a large part of her office time is taken up with this type work, she finally decided to wear them all the time.

Besides being receptionist, she does secretarial work, which in her case includes typing, filing and bookkeeping.

Since the purchase of an omnitrainer instrument four months ago Mrs. Bearden has been assisting in visual training, the first step in an eye examination. Mrs. Bearden explained that visual skill, tested by the omnitrainer, is a pattern of seeing and of using both eyes together. It is learned skill, she said, which has to be in harmony with focus and the ability of the eye to co-ordinate with the hand.

Several other machines are used in optical examinations, but Mrs. Bearden is not so familiar with their uses since she does not assist with any of them.

She accepted her position less than a week after her graduation from Snyder High School about four and one-half years ago.

Most of this time she has been a homemaker as well, for she celebrates a fourth wedding anniversary in April. Wednesday afternoons off and some chores at night take care of housework, she said.

Like so many others, Mrs. Bearden names reading as a favorite pastime, and for evenings away from home, she and her husband usually decide on a movie.

A quickie for tired menus is Quick Fudge Dessert with its rich, smooth chocolate layer in the middle. In about 40 minutes after starting time, this hot cake-type dessert will be ready to serve to the family. If you wish, a creamy custard sauce may be served over the dessert. But it's good just fresh and warm from the oven.

QUICK FUDGE DESSERT

1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening
Fudge filling

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine egg, milk and shortening. Add to flour mixture, stirring until mixture is smooth. Spread two-thirds of the batter in the bottom of greased eight-inch square baking pan. Pour fudge filling over batter. Drop remaining batter by spoonfuls over the filling. Bake in moderate oven (400 degrees) 25 minutes. Serve warm with custard sauce, if desired.

FUDGE FILLING

1 egg, beaten
½ cup sugar
1-ounce square unsweetened chocolate, melted
⅛ cup chopped nuts
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

Combine egg, sugar and melted chocolate, mixing well. Add nuts and butter or margarine. Beat well.

* * *

Cooked green cabbage tastes best if it retains some of its original crispness and color. Butter or margarine, melted and mixed with a dash of Worcestershire sauce, makes a sauce that complements this vegetables' flavor.

* * *

Sugar, added to yeast bread, gives color to the crust.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Blackie Lammert, 2904 Avenue F, deputy district clerk here, underwent minor surgery at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene Friday morning.

Mrs. W. W. Headstream, 2900 Avenue W, has returned from Lubbock where she has hospitalized in Lubbock Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Miss Ruby Butts, home demonstration agent, is in Llano visiting relatives.

Lt. Don Fish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Collie Fish, 1104 Twenty-sixth Street, is spending several days visiting his parents. Fish, who has been stationed at San Francisco, will leave next month for the Far East Command.

Miss Bourland, R. L. Wall Are Wed In Carlsbad

HERMLEIGH — Miss Myrna Ann Bourland became the bride of Richard Lee (Dicky) Wall Jan. 9 in Carlsbad, N.M.

Wedding vows were read by the Rev. Joe Emanuel, pastor of the First Methodist Church of that city, in the Methodist parsonage.

Mrs. Wall is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bourland of Pyron. The bridgeroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Wall of Hermleigh.

The bride attended Pyron and Hermleigh schools and was employed as a secretary in the Scurry County courthouse at the time of her marriage.

Mr. Wall is a 1953 graduate of Hermleigh High School and at present is attending Texas Tech, where he plays right half-back on the freshman football team.

The couple is at home in Lubbock.

Stork Shower Is Given Thursday

A stork shower honoring Mrs. Al Morelli was given Thursday night by Mrs. George Wild in her home at 1312 Avenue T.

A pink and blue motif was used for decorations, the centerpiece being a blue vase filled with pink carnations. Favors carried out the color scheme, with diaper-shaped pink and blue napkins holding mints.

Mrs. Morelli was presented a pink carnation corsage.

Refreshments were served Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Robert von Roeder, Mrs. Leon Gooch, Mrs. Ronald Payne and Mrs. Juanita DuBose.

Jerry D. Permenters Are At Home In Big Spring After Wedding

The marriage ceremony was read by the Rev. Jack Dean, pastor of the Northside Baptist Church, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Permenter, 1904 Seventeenth Street.

Mrs. Permenter is the former Winnie D. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Samples of Snyder.

FOR BUDDING ARTISTS . . . A gay little smock that is easy to stitch at home.

Every Young Painter Wants A Gay Smock

By The Associated Press

When your little Rembrant gets busy with the water colors or finger paint, it's time to get her under cover.

The best cover, and one that will make her feel like a professional, is a gay little smock that you can stitch up at home. It will save clothes and simplify laundry problems. Local sewing center experts offer a few pointers on stitching and decoration to keep the youngest artist inspired.

The smock pictured can be made from any standard pattern, with pattern size determined by the child's chest measurement. Bright contrast is in the tiny collar and gathered cuffs, threaded with elastic to push up easily. One button at the back of the neck makes it simple to put on. For extra security, it is suggested that the buttonhole be stitched twice, using the buttonhole attachment on the sewing machine.

Draw a pattern for the palette and brush on a piece of brown paper, and trace on a square of white cloth (an old pillow case is good for this). Slip in a bit of color instruction by cutting different-sized circles of the three primary colors. Use the zigzag attachment to stitch these to the palette, trimming off raw edges after stitching. Pin the palette and brush to the smock, placing it carefully, and zigzag stitch around the outline, again trimming away excess fabric.

The smock will wash easily, and will preserve good school clothes from stray splashes and smears. Make one, too, for a daughter who is learning to cook, and applique a pot and spoon.

Colorado City Man To Farm Credit Board

Charles C. Thompson of Colorado City has been elected to a three-year term on the Houston Farm Credit board by the national farm loan associations of the state.

He has served as a member of the board for 10 years, and as its chairman for the past two years. He owns and operates farms and ranches in Mitchell County totaling more than 6,000 acres, 2,800 acres of which are in cultivation.

A Tribute....
To The March Of Dimes

Despite the fact that millions of dollars have been raised to combat the spread of polio, the dreaded disease still ranks as one of America's top cripplers of chidren and adults. Consider the marvelous restorative work being done as a result of the inspired March of Dimes. And when YOU are asked to contribute to this most worthy cause, dig down deep in your pocket . . . and your heart . . . and give generously. Polio has not been conquered. It COULD strike a member of your family . . . today!

Golden Circle Stars Are Quick To Fade Out Again

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Whatever happened to the Golden Circle?

A couple of years ago, Paramount put forth a big hoopla about a dozen or so young hopefuls who were supposedly destined for stardom. The campaign was designed to duplicate a previous Golden Circle, which fostered such names as Susan Hayward, William Holden, Ellen Drew and Patricia Morrison.

Today only one of the most recent Golden Circle remains at Paramount — Joan Taylor. Another, Mary Murphy, had a lead in a Marlon Brando picture. But only Barbara Rush appears to be working regularly in movies. One of the circle alumni was reported working in a gas station.

Barbara Rush's fortunes are prospering at Universal-International. She has been doing leads, her latest being opposite Rock Hudson in "Taza, Son of Cochise." I had lunch with her and she told me why the circle proved to be something less than golden:

"It was doomed from the start. As a matter of fact, I don't think it was such a good idea. They spent a lot of money promoting the circle as an institution, even took all of us to New York and around the country.

"But it was sold as an institution. Everybody had heard of the Golden Circle, but nobody could tell you who was in it.

"Besides, it isn't practical for a studio like Paramount. The studio builds very few players from scratch, as they were trying to do with us. Whatever new people they push usually have already built their reputations in other fields. Like Rosemary Clooney from records, Audrey Hepburn from the stage or Joanne Gilbert from night clubs.

"The really unknown player never has a chance. We saw that when we were trying to get good roles. Every time a good one would come along, the bosses would try to borrow Elizabeth Taylor.

"Paramount isn't geared for developing new people. It makes so few pictures on its own: mostly they are made by outside producers like Hal Wallis, Perlberg-Seaton or Pine-Thomas. They want the protection of a star name, and that's understandable. The only studios that can build new stars are places like MGM or U-I, where bosses like Dore Schary or Edward Muhl can tell producers that they have to use contract players."

'29th' Birthday Club Meets On Thursday

The "29th" Brithday Club met Thursday morning to celebrate the "28th" birthday of Mrs. Garland Armstrong.

Club members present voted to give an offering to the March of Dimes drive.

Refreshments of fruit cake and coffee were served 11 members and one guest, Mrs. Floyd Boston, by the hostess, Mrs. Sam Worrell, 809 Twenty-seventh Street.

The next meeting will be Feb. 27 in the Manhattan Coffee Shop. Mrs. Nina Ware and Mrs. Alta Couch will be hostesses.

MARCH OF SCIENCE

Lie Down On The Job And You Will Live Much Longer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP) — For longer life, lie down on the job—for a little while, that is. A brief nap or 10-minute rest after lunch is good for you.

That's the advice consulting psychologist Peter E. Siegle of Chicago offers business executives in a report prepared for a manufacturer of sleep equipment (The Englander Company). But it could go for anyone who works under tension and high pressure.

A little rest and relaxation on an office couch might help avoid dents when driving home tense and worried during rush-hour traffic, he says.

Siegle cites statistics that the life expectancy of the average American man is nearly 66 years. But bosses in busy occupations may die at any time from 57 to 61. And many in really high pressure fields never live to be 50.

Most workers get regular rest breaks, he says, and so do soldiers on long marches. The businessman who works like a horse should give himself the same break.

CHICAGO (AP)—Suffer a sprain or strain, and you get advice to treat it with hot packs, or cold packs.

Which is better? A medical consultant writing in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. votes for cold treatment as usually best, to start with. The injury likely ruptured small blood vessels, and cold packs help stop bleeding and reduce swelling. A day or two later hot packs help step up blood flow to the injured area to relieve pain and promote healing.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dr. Lee J. Alexander of Dallas tells of a way to overcome sensitization to penicillin—meaning you get an allergic type reaction to the drug. The trick, he explains, is desensitize by giving very tiny doses of penicillin, gradually increasing the strength of injections until the patient again can take a full dose of it safely. Writing in the Archives of Dermatology and Syphilogy of the American Medical Assn. he tells of de-sensitizing eight men and women so they could take penicillin again if they needed it to fight off serious disease.

GENEVA, N. Y. (AP)—Eyeglasses left at the scene of a crime can give pretty good clues to the criminal.

No two people have exactly the same eye characteristics, explains C. H. Daykin of Shuron Optical Co. And the pupils of both eyes are rarely the same distance from the center of the nose.

Eyeglass lenses tell how far the wearer's pupils are from the center of his nose—indicating position of the eyes in the face. The lenses tell whether he is far-sighted, near-sighted, or has other visual faults.

Distances between nose pads indicate large or small features, or show that the wearer had a broken nose. Angle and length of temples sketch the size and shape of the head, and position of ears. Foreign material on the glasses could give clues to a person's occupation. And the glasses often can be traced back to a dealer, and even the purchaser.

Young Democrats To Attempt Organization Here Wednesday Night

A meeting has been called for 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the district courtroom for all persons interested in organizing a Young Democrat club in Scurry County.

Harold Bennett, county Democratic chairman, said plans are for the club, after its organization, to be affiliated with the Young Democrats of Texas.

Any person from 18 to 40 years old is eligible to join the club. It must have at least 10 members before it can be organized.

At 81, Hermleigh Old-Timer Hasn't Found Time To Retire

By MRS. W. C. FARGASON

HERMLEIGH — Six years ago when A. A. McMillan lost the use of his right hand he wasn't to be outdone. He took the situation in stride by learning to write with his left hand, and at the age of 75 mastered a legible script.

Mr. Mac, as he is called by friends, has always been like that —never outdone by an inconvenient or unpleasant situation. His children say he never let a situation get out of hand even when all of the [illegible] home. Those days required the patience and stamina of Job.

There was the time, for example, when the family had a four-month seige of typhoid fever. Six of the children were ill at the same time, four of them in critical condition. Mr. McMillan and his wife didn't even take their shoes off at night for more than three weeks whil the children were so sick.

With 17 in the family to feed, eight children in school at one time, even a drouth on there farm was hardly an extraordinary problem.

Mr. Mac taught the children to sing by the old "do, re, mi" system while they were growing up, and Bible lessons in the home were another essential part of their training. Mr. Mac still enjoys good music, and sacred songs are his favorites. Some of the younger members of the family remember when Mr. McMillan led singing in church and Mrs. McMillan was organist. The younger children were seated between their older brothers and sisters on a bench seat in the church. "We knew better than to wiggle around," one recalled, "because the older ones were commissioned to pinch us if we did!"

Mr. McMillan was born in Clark, Ark., on Oct. 4, 1872, and came to Texas with his family in 1878. He remembers little about the trip except the ferry ride across the Red River. He dropped his pocket knife out of the wagon into the river, and it was a great loss for a small boy.

Mr. McMillan was married to Miss Mary Alice Powers in Eastland County in 1897. The couple moved to Fisher County in 1918 and resided there five years before moving to Scurry County. Mrs. McMillan died Nov. 10 last year. Fourteen of their 15 children are [illegible]

Now 81 years old, Mr. Mac seems to have no thought of retiring. He makes a regular hand on his farm northeast of Hermleigh where the family has lived since 1923. He enjoys driving a tractor, and finds the two-row method a great improvement over the twice to a row he used with the old Georgia stock.

Mr. McMillan is still active in the Masonic Lodge, of which he has been a member 52 years.

A statement made by Mrs. McMillan not long before her death may be the secret of Mr. Mac's courage to take life just as it comes. She said, "We tried to bring our family up according to the teaching of the Bible."

Moon Eclipse Is Coming Up Monday Night

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

One of Mother Nature's big free shows—a total eclipse of the moon—is coming up Monday night. It will be observable, wherever weather permits, throughout the United States and Canada.

As with all eclipses of the moon, it will be a good display from a layman's standpoint, fun for the kiddies, but a ho-hum event for the astronomers. Professional stargazers say the chances of getting any new scientific dope on the moon at eclipse time are virtually nil.

Lunar eclipses take place when the [illegible] passes through the shadow of the earth, it being between the moon and the sun. Two or three eclipses of the moon occur every year and one of these, at least, is almost always total.

That's the case with this one, except that the West gets shortchanged a bit on the start. There the eclipse will be under way when the moon rises.

Elsewhere, if you want to give the show your complete attention—from the time the moon first enters the earth's shadow until it leaves it completely—you'll have 5 hours 44½ minutes of time on your hands. It begins at 6:40 p.m., EST, and ends at 12:24 a.m. Tuesday.

But if you want to see the period of totality, you need devote only half an hour, between 9:17 and 9:47 p.m., EST. This is briefer than in some lunar eclipses, because this time the moon will pass through a low sector of the earth's deepest shadow—not through the midline.

Unlike most lizards, the chameleon can focus its eyes on one spot and so achieve binocular vision.
