This will be the first tournament ever held in O'Donnell, so let us all get in behind it, and make it a success. Do not forget that we have to find places for about 20 boys to stay Friday night. Please notify school officials immediately if you can keep some.

THE OLD TIMER WRITES

Probably most folks know of the principal difference in characteristics of poisonous and non-poisonous Texas snakes. There is a vast difference. Bull snakes, chicken snakes, prairie racers, et al. simply stick their tails into loose soil where their eggs are laid. Mama snake retires at once, probably soon forgetting all about the place in which the eggs were deposited. Within some two weeks time the snakelets come forth and out into the world on their own and within a very few days begin swallowing insects. It isn't likely that of such species, they grow up with any knowledge of either their mama or papa.

But it is quite different with rattlesnakes, cottonmouth moccasins and copperheads as well as the coral snake. The young of these snakes are born as animals and for perhaps two or three weeks are carefully protected by their mothers, their most interesting phase of life lying in the fact that in case of imminent danger, the mother opens her mouth with a sort of hissing (or sucking) noise. Everyone of the snakelets rush in and into her interior. Thus they are not only supposed to become safe from man, but avoid being swallowed by enemy snakes.

As soon as quiet is restored, the mother opens the "door" and the youngsters again appear, emerging without the slightest danger of running into mama's fangs which remain harmlessly folded in her upper jaws which never protrude unless the "mouth" is widely opened the upper portion of her head working on hinges, a convenience not enjoyed by her non-poisonous cousins.

Conservation Pre-Views For 1948 Given

Probably not as much over-all conservation, but a greater concentration on most needed practices is what Clarence Church, Chairman of the Lynn County Agricultural Conservation Committee, predicts under the 1948 Agricultural Conservation Program. Disclaiming any gifts of prophecy, the county chairman said he bases his prediction on what he knows about farming and farmers add about the 1948 program.

In the first place, he explains, with the reduced assistance which can be offered, many farmers will not be in a position to carry out as much and as many conservation practices. The $500 limit on the amount of assistance to any one person may have some effect in reducing the amount of conservation, but he points out that in the past comparatively few farmers received more than this amount in assistance.

The main reason we can expect even better conservation work, the chairman states, is that practices have been improving each year. The program has been developing to ward more adaptability to local

The over-all simplicity and massiveness of the new, 1948 Chevrolet is well shown in this three-quarter view of the Fleetmaster Sport Sedan. Cold Wave Hits Area

'Year of Decision' Arrives for U.S.

America Alone in Struggle To Save Western Ideologies

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Cartoonists and others have titled 1948 "the year of decision." It is a pretty good title. The only trouble is that America's most important decision has already been made, and nobody seems to realize it. We know that the British empire has broken up, but, aside from the fact that there is some grumbling about loaning money to the British, it doesn't seem to concern us very much.

In the current issue of the United Nations World magazine, the British historian and author, D. W. Brogan, has an article entitled "The British Shed No Tears for Their Lost Empire." In it, he says:

Baukhage

... in the nineteenth century, the progress of English prosperity was in close association with the spread of a general political and economic religion of all sensible men. The Bank of England, free trade, parliamentary government all increased their range of influence together. And the English looked on what was largely their work—and their profit—and found it good. They were satisfied with what they had accomplished.

"It is natural enough, today, when this world situation has changed to take pretty calmly the decline in the favored historical position of England. If the spread of English ideas, practices and profits has ceased, why worry—unless you are English."

"Unless you are English." And yet the people who ought to be doing the worrying are the Americans.

We are taking over where Britain left off, and the job is a bigger one than England faced. But, the average person in this country will say in horror: "You talk like a Communist! America's whole tradition is non-intervention. Of course we had a wild period in South America, and in our salad days as a nation, we somehow acquired what we called Texas although the Mexicans, at the time, thought it was a part of Mexico, and then, there's Hawaii. But those days are over. See how promptly and politely we returned the Philippines to themselves, and took our marines out of the banana plantations where they didn't belong, and the other day even abandoned our bases in Panama. Don't tell me we're going to establish a second British empire!"

We aren't. The spirit of live and let live is just as strong as it ever was in this country. Unfortunately, however, what Brogan calls "the spread of a general political and economic religion of all sensible men" suddenly encountered a force that threatened to destroy it when the Germans marched into Poland and the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor. It took all America could afford, and more than Britain could afford, to stop that force. And today, another and stronger force is gaining power, and there is nobody to stop it but the United States.

When a British official in London said "every means short of war would be used" by the British and American governments to keep Greece within their own strategic and ideological orbit," it didn't make much of a ripple outside of Washington. But it was a statement of tremendous import, for it means that the Truman doctrine was not just a phrase, that its implementation is now certain. It means that the people responsible for the destiny of the United States know that the year of decision is here, the decision having been made not in Washington, but in the Kremlin, just as the decision to fight Japan was made, not in Washington, but in the office of one squat little man now awaiting a death sentence in Tokyo, one Hideki Tojo, former premier of Japan.

Partisans Succeeded In Soviet Sphere

Today it is fashionable to make funny cartoons about the "third party" announced in December by Henry Wallace. Yet that third party fits neatly into a plan to wreck our way of life, the plan, another part of which was the careful coaching by the Kremlin of the "partisan" fighters in World War II. The partisans were formed, first to help beat down one of the Soviet's enemies, but they also were groomed to destroy representative government in their respective countries.

The partisans were most successful in the countries nearest Russia, in territory where the Red army, in the guise of allies fighting a common enemy, gained a foothold which they kept when peace came, and which was used to put their trained stooges into power.

In Italy and France, they were unable to capture completely the partisan or resistance movements. But they did get a grip on both countries which neither France nor Italy dared throw off until the United States made a tact condition of aid. The expulsion of the Communist parties from both governments.

Temporarily, at least that much of the carefully-planned Soviet program failed. But new steps are being planned. A part of the pattern of communization is Communist alliance with the left-wing non-Communists. The Reds cooperate with the non-Reds, help them bring about their objectives, then slowly dominate and absorb them. One method used by Reds to get rid of non-Communist left-wing resistance is to help a reactionary government suppress the non-Communist left-wingers, and pushes those surviving deeper into Communist toils.

That is where the Wallace third party fits into the Kremlin design. The Reds hope it will split and weaken the liberals in this country, increase the friction between them and the conservatives as much as possible, aid the conservatives to get into power. Then when the reaction sets in, the conservatives will be thrown out, and the well-organized Communists can take over easily.

Greece is a testing point in the Russian-American struggle. The only way in which the Communist internal aggression there could be checked was for Britain and the United States to step in and actually direct the Greek government. That was done. Much as any country dislikes having a stronger one run its affairs, the United States, as a choice of evils, is the less unwelcome to the Greeks, especially when we come bearing gifts without which the government knows it cannot resist the Communist organization.

When one talks with the "exiles," the refugees from the Red terror, one is appalled by their attitude. Recently I spoke at length with a former foreign minister of one of the countries now firmly in the jaws of the Soviets. He assured me that today, if there were a free election in his country, not 1 per cent of the people would vote to support a Red regime. He said these "satellites" are not satellites at all, they are as much a part of the Soviet Union as the Ukraine or Outer Mongolia. The secret police paralyzes all independent action.

There is a desperation about the attitude of these men who fought the losing battle against the Kremlin. They say there is absolutely no hope for Europe unless the Russians are driven back to their old borders, and the Balkan states, Poland and Finland are freed of Russian domination. They say there is only one thing that will have effect: A threat by the United States to use force.

When the quotation of the London official which I mentioned, stating that the United States and Britain were committed to "measures short of war" came over the wires, I was reminded of the conversation with the former foreign minister.

He had said to me: "If the United States threatens to use force now, the Russians will pull out of Eastern Europe. They cannot afford war now. They fear the United States. But in a few years, mere threats will not suffice. The Russians then will be ready to fight."

And this force moving against the "political and economic religion of all sensible men" is moving not only in Europe. All along Russia's periphery, the red tide is rising against its frontiers, in the Middle East, in India whose gates Russia has threatened for centuries, in China, Korea, in the islands adjacent to Japan.

Armed with microscopes instead of 16-inch guns, naval medical scientists are preparing for a new sort of African safari on which they will study some of the diseases native to the dark continent.

The navy medical group will accompany the African expedition being sponsored by University of California, hence will have the duty of providing medical service to the university paleontologists and anthropologists who will cover most of Africa this year seeking traces of primitive man and apes.

For their own purposes the navy doctors will study such native diseases as African sleeping sickness,

THEY WON'T LAND... In Philadelphia at a rally of the marine corps reserve, Gen. Clifton B. Cates (right), new commandant of the marine corps, took occasion to announce that no leathernecks are scheduled to land in Palestine. He also dismissed the sending of about 1,000 marines to the Mediterranean as "routine." With General Cates are Fleet Adm. William Halsey and James H. Duff, governor of Pennsylvania.

NEWS REVIEW

Slump Possible: Truman; Cite Air Power Need

In this season of presidential reports to the nation the alarm bells were jangling for everything from the state of the entire world to the frayed condition of John Doe's back pocket.

And through his "Semi-Annual Economic Report of the President," Mr. Truman sounded the gong ominously on a new note: The impending peril of economic disaster in the U. S.

The nation's economy, he said, is operating on borrowed time and inflation-ridden Americans are operating on borrowed money in a situation flirting with depression.

Millions of persons in the low-income groups, his report pointed out, now are keeping the inflation carousel whirling by liquidating their savings, reducing their current savings and by extensive use of consumer credit.

"Such use of savings for current living expenses is an ominous sign for the economy as a whole."

Without stopping to consider any possible political aspects of the President's economic report, Americans could take it as a sober, realistic picture of what lies beneath the relative luxury in which many of them are existing now.

Exhaustive and complete, the economic survey presented figures notable in that they:

1. Showed for the first time that a "real purchasing power" of the American masses—basic factor supporting U. S. economy—has declined 8 per cent since the first quarter of 1946, and that

2. Millions of Americans are living on their savings accounts and borrowing money. Almost one-quarter of all families and more than one-half of families earning less than $2,000 yearly "held no liquid assets in 1947."

Then Mr. Truman tied in these facts with his administration's proposed policy to beat the inflation rap. If inflation, he said, is "permitted to run its own course, it will break with destructive force."

And in order not to let it run its own course the President again urged adoption of his anti-inflation program—limited price and ration controls.

That way, he indicated, lies a new, greater economic era for the U. S. embodying maximum employment and solid and lasting prosperity.

AIR STRENGTH: 'A-Day' 1953

How important is it that the U. S. have a potent, efficient air force? Virtually a matter of life or death, thinks the President's air policy commission which recently reported on the status of the nation's air strength.

Immediate and substantial enlargement of the air force for "survival in the air age" was urged by the commission; and January 1, 1953, was set as "A-day," or the ultimate date when the U. S. might consider itself relatively secure against atomic attack.

After "A-day," the commission intimated, it will be anybody's ball game as far as airborne atom bombs are concerned. "The air force is hopelessly wanting in respect of the future... when a serious danger of atomic attack will exist."

On that premise the group recommended that the government start now to spend on the air force in 1948 1.3 billion dollars more than the 2.85 billion currently scheduled for this calendar year, and that in 1949 the total be raised still another 1.3 billion dollars.

For actual air strength the commission said that by 1942 the U. S. should command a total of 12,000 first-line planes, plus more than 8,000 held in reserve.

Although it was extremely unlikely that the air policy commission's recommendations would be adopted in toto by this or any other peacetime congress, the report put realistic emphasis where emphasis belonged. Everyone has been aware that air power is mandatory if the U. S. is to have any degree of national security in an era of feverish atomic-bomb production, and the commission has succeeded in putting that awareness on as factual a basis as is possible now.

OPEN CITY:

Jerusalem

Since apparently nothing can stop the quasi-civil war between Arabs and Jews in Palestine, that country's harrassed government has done the next best thing and requested both factions to spare the holy places of Jerusalem from any depredations they might carry out.

The Palestine government asked the Christian, Moslem and Jewish religious communities to declare Jerusalem's ancient walled area an "open city."

That plea couldn't stop the bloodshed but it could preserve the religious relics sacred to all three of the world's major religions.

Meanwhile, transportation was being made available to evacuate any of the 1,500 Jews still living under Arab siege inside the walls. They are the remnants of 4,000 normal residents of the area.

Which Way Judea?

Moshe Shertok, head of the Palestine Agency's political department, now in the role of liaison official to U. N., ponders one of the many enigmas partition of the Holy Land has thrust upon him. He said the Jewish agency soon would ask U. N. for an international police force, arms and funds to enforce the partition agreement.

FROM FARM TO FOREST... Churches are playing an important role in the concerted effort to improve rural living. Typical are these scenes, taken at the Alpine, Tenn., mission of the Presbyterian church, which operates a forest of 1,500 acres and a farm of 100 acres. The dairy herd (left) in front of the modern barn show the strides made in better agriculture while the sawmill (right) helps make the forest a paying proposition.

SMALL TOWNS, U. S. A.

Revitalized Country Church Plays Social, Economic Role

By EARLE HITCH
WNU Features.

Long on the road to decline, the country church is being revived as an integral force for re-energizing small rural communities. Acting on the principle that where the community thrives, the church also thrives, all denominations are backing a widespread campaign to revitalize the country church.

Without in any sense departing from the Christian aims of saving souls and preaching redemption, the churches simply are adding an awareness of social and economic responsibility to their mission of salvation. The concerns of the entire community—home, family, farming, health—become the concerns of the community church.

Particularly valuable and instructive as models or demonstrations for study are the community plans being carried out by missions of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches in the mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee. The Presbyterian projects are at Morris Fork and Wootton, Ky., and at Alpine and Big Lick, Tenn. The Methodists have community missions at Frakes, Ky., and Sevierville, Tenn. A larger community project at Blue Springs, Tenn., represents the combined parishes of the Methodists, Disciples of Christ and Presbyterians.

Diverse Projects. All have much in common, but in some things each is unique. Blue Springs is the oldest mission, and its area is the largest—some 400 miles square. It has seven churches and four preaching points at neighborhood centers, a cooperative store, an energetic training program in public health and a continuing series of adult education classes in current problems, such as farm machinery repair, soil conservation and home decorations.

All this represents the life work of a great country preacher. He was Paul A. Doran, who went to Blue Springs in 1917 as a divinity school graduate, and died there three years ago after 28 years spent entirely in that community's service.

One of his many lasting services was his homestead plan. He made home buying his personal concern. Through small loans from a nominal sum held in trust by him, the minister made it possible for 20 families in his community to become owners of their own farms.

The pastor at Big Lick is both ardent and articulate in behalf of better rural living. He has known

Wootton also has a circulating library, the beginnings of a demonstration farm, and a training course in handicrafts and cottage industries, for both men and women.

Similar work, especially in health, soil saving and better farming, is going on at Alpine, Morris Fork, Frakes and Sevierville. The programs vary according to local needs and the resources that can be put to use.

Productive Enterprises. For example, the parish at Alpine is the owner of a forest of 1,500 acres and a farm of 100 acres. A trained forester and an expert farmer make those enterprises produce earnings, and furnish examples for other farm and woodlot owners. The Alpine program is in charge of the head of the mission, the Rev. Bernard M. Taylor, and Mr. Taylor has made the mission responsible for developing the community's full resources through the activities of the citizens themselves, and their labors are being reflected more and more in better health and living.

The same can be said of the communities at Frakes, Morris Fork and Sevierville, all of which have vastly improved their ways of living because practical economic plans for conserving the land and finding more useful employment for surplus labor have been made principal aims in the community plan. The pastors, of course, have not neglected their religious duties. They simply have added economic concerns to their other responsibilities.

The next article will tell of the important community development plan now being carried on in five counties centering around Tupelo, Miss. The Tupelo plan is one of the most ambitious that has been undertaken anywhere in the unfolding rural life movement.

country life from childhood and he knows how to farm. He can run a tractor, plow a contour furrow and help in the saw mill. He has organized a Big Lick homestead project to aid young men get established on the land, and 27 families have been assisted in buying farms since 1940. This pastor is Eugene Smathers, who has written and preached ably about rural economic problems, and COMMUNITY ENTERPRISE... One of the leading churches in promoting community development is Calvary Presbyterian church (above) at Big Lick, Tenn. The church was built by people of the community, which consists of only about 50 families. Landscaping was done by the pastor and farmers.

Miss Heintz, whose vision failed when she was stricken with spinal meningitis at the age of 5, has made a modest start at setting herself up in business.

who has supplied the leadership which has made Big Lick a better place to live and work.

Promote Health. One of Big Lick's finest public services is its community health clinic. There is a building specially constructed for it, in a grove adjoining the church yard. A graduate nurse is stationed there to aid in guarding the health of the people and to assist in emergencies.

Big Lick also has a soil conservation program, and is carrying on adult education and demonstrations in fertilizing, crop rotation, better livestock breeding, introduction of new fruits and plants, and good forestry management. Homemaking and home decoration, health and child care are studied by the women. There is also a study of the cooperative movement, and committees are developing plans for future cooperative undertakings, possibly in marketing of home crops, processing and a credit union. Big Lick has its own machinery pool, including a tractor, a hammer mill and a saw mill.

Build Own Church. Wootton community, under the ministry of Benton Deaton, has a fine community church and playground, built by the people themselves. In the recreation center the children of the neighborhood have a place to enjoy their games and the whole community has its picnics and outdoor religious gatherings.

Wootton owns a cooperative truck, which provides transportation for the farmers who want to send things to market, and have things bought for them in town. Very few of the people have cars, and their usual means of travel is by mule back.

Wootton also has a circulating library, the beginnings of a demonstration farm, and a training course in handicrafts and cottage industries, for both men and women.

Similar work, especially in health, soil saving and better farming, is going on at Alpine, Morris Fork, Frakes and Sevierville. The programs vary according to local needs and the resources that can be put to use.

Productive Enterprises. For example, the parish at Alpine is the owner of a forest of 1,500 acres and a farm of 100 acres. A trained forester and an expert farmer make those enterprises produce earnings, and furnish examples for other farm and woodlot owners. The Alpine program is in charge of the head of the mission, the Rev. Bernard M. Taylor, and Mr. Taylor has made the mission responsible for developing the community's full resources through the activities of the citizens themselves, and their labors are being reflected more and more in better health and living.

The same can be said of the communities at Frakes, Morris Fork and Sevierville, all of which have vastly improved their ways of living because practical economic plans for conserving the land and finding more useful employment for surplus labor have been made principal aims in the community plan. The pastors, of course, have not neglected their religious duties. They simply have added economic concerns to their other responsibilities.

The next article will tell of the important community development plan now being carried on in five counties centering around Tupelo, Miss. The Tupelo plan is one of the most ambitious that has been undertaken anywhere in the unfolding rural life movement.

Blind Girl Becomes Expert Knitter

With the help of her sister Katherine, she began looking for markets for her work at Christmas time. The search was unexpectedly successful, and she sold 200 of her knitted pieces to Le Sueur residents. Her specialty is colorful potholders.

Miss Heintz acquired her knitting skill at the Minnesota Braille and Sight-Saving school in Faribault, attending her first classes when she was only seven years old.

Filled the Bill!

At the "We Have a Card for Every Occasion" counter of a large department store, the clerk asked a woman shopper if he could help her.

"I'm afraid you haven't anything that will do," she said. "I've looked all these cards over."

"Madam," said the clerk, "we have greeting cards for everything. What kind do you want?"

The woman hesitated, then leaned forward and said in a low voice, "My brother has just been sent to jail, and I want to send him a card expressing my regret."

The clerk thought a moment, then reached among the cards "For the Sick" and handed her one. It read: "Sorry to hear you're a shut-in. Hope you get out soon!"

THE FICTION CORNER

WILL OF THE WIND

By WILLIAM BRANDON

MRS. HACKETT found her in the bedroom crying. She stood in the doorway and said grimly: "I came in to borrow some sugar, Sylvie. The door was open so I just walked in. Now what on earth's wrong with you?"

Sylvia sat up and dried her eyes. Her starched gingham skirt was wrinkled and her black hair was tangled and disordered. A curling strand of it hung down beside her nose like an ink stain. A pin had come out of her imitation lace collar and it had fallen down to catch in the red buckle at her waist. She said shakily, "Hello, Mrs. Hackett. Nothing."

Mrs. Hackett drew down the corners of her mouth. "Nothing, my foot. It's because of Chip wanting to pull up stakes and go to Canton. Isn't it? Of course it is."

Sylvia slapped the lock of hair out of her eyes. "I won't be a boomer's wife!" she flared. "I won't!"

"Mm," Mrs. Hackett said sourly. "A boy's will is the wind's will. That's a poem. It's the truest thing in the world. Don't do no good to fight against it. Remember that and you'll have it easier."

"I won't be a boomer's—b-boomer's wife! I won't drag around to one mill after another all my life, and never have anything, no home, and no—no nothing! I won't!"

"Well, it's his job, if he wants to throw it away."

"It isn't! It's just as much mine as it is his! I don't believe in that old idea that a woman's just a—slave, to follow a man around at whatever he happens to want to do!"

"Oh, you don't," Mrs. Hackett said. "And just what can you do about it?"

Sylvia bowed her head and scrubbed unhappily at her cheeks with her handkerchief. "I don't know," she sobbed.

"Of course you don't. You're nothing but a child," Mrs. Hackett sniffed. "You'd be twenty years finding out what to do and by that time it's too late to do you any good. Unless there's somebody around to tell you to begin with. Somebody who knows."

Sylvia was not impressed. "What could you tell me, Mrs. Hackett? What could anyone do? I've argued with him until I'm almost crazy but he—he doesn't even listen any more. He's got his mind set on moving on, to something different that won't be any different at all, and then he'll want to go again, and—"

"A boy's will is the wind's will," said Mrs. Hackett. "That's what the poem says. It's just as true of a man or an old man, for that matter. The older they get the truer it gets, I reckon. Only they kind of give up trying to do anything about it after so long a time."

She pushed up her lower lip and looked down her nose at Sylvia. "Like Mr. Hackett?"

Sylvia looked up, startled. "You mean Mr. Hackett used to—want to—"

"He was the hardest man to hold down in this town. He got tired of everything, that was his trouble. It's a sort of laziness, that's all it is. But he stuck here. He stuck, all right."

"Why?" Sylvia wailed. "What did you do?"

"Well," Mrs. Hackett said, "you can take it for what it's worth, Sylvia. It worked with Mr. Hackett, I know that."

"But what was it?"

"Whenever he worked himself up to a pitch about cutting loose and chasing away some place after something he thought was better, I simply gave him his way."

Sylvia looked disappointed and puzzled. "Oh."

"But," Mrs. Hackett said profoundly, "he didn't know it. I took him on a trip. Just a week or so. And I kept him on the jump every minute of it. I always liked little trips around, anyway. Well, by the time that man would get home again he'd be so tired of jumping around that he wouldn't have left for a pension. That," Mrs. Hackett said, "is something you find out about men, Sylvia. They like to start but they like getting back a whole lot more."

Sylvia said doubtfully. "It doesn't sound like Chip would—"

"Maybe he wouldn't. I'm the last person in the world to try to give folks advice, Sylvia. Nobody wants it and I guess everyone has to sew his own seam anyway. But Mr. Hackett says they're shutting down for a week for the millwright's gang, and if Chip was to spend that week in a car bouncing along from one place to another, without even a chance to catch his breath—"

Well, "a boy's will is the wind's will," and the wind can change in a minute."

"But what if he wouldn't want to go?"

"Mm. You tell him you want a little vacation before you move to Canton. If he thinks you've given in about that he'll take you. You try it and see."

They went up into Michigan, west to Wisconsin, down through Minnesota and Iowa and St. Louis to Memphis, east to Knoxville and up through Louisville to come home.

They were gone six days. Each day Sylvia had them up and driving at daylight and she kept on the job, circulating the sights at the next stop until late at night. She called upon Chip to stop often at roadside stands where she purchased carved ornaments and bumpy pottery.

She plied him with hot dogs, soft drinks and bad coffee. She was surprised and delighted at the glazed look that appeared in his eyes on the third day.

Mrs. Hackett came over the day after they returned. She said, "Well!" and paused expectantly, holding the cup of sugar in both hands.

"He went back to work today," Sylvia said. There was a listless note in her voice. "He hasn't said anything about going to Canton for days."

"Mm! And what did he say when he got home?" She pursed her lips. "That he never thought it would look so good to him?"

Sylvia nodded. She sat down on a kitchen chair and swung one foot and watched it pensively. "Just exactly," she said.

"You won't even be able to get him to stir out of the house to a pic-

Lice Inflict Heavy Damage on Cattle

DDT Treatment Cuts High Winter Losses

Lice are injurious to all types of cattle. Animals produce less meat and milk if lice are unchecked. Young animals and poorly-nourished old animals suffer most from lice.

The winter season is the time lice are bad on cattle. The louse population builds up then. Dr. Harold Gunderson, extension entomologist at Iowa State college, says one louse unchecked in fall means 1,000 the following March.

For lice control on cattle, DDT is being used successfully. Early in fall, before cold weather arrives, it is mixed with water and sprayed on the animals. After cold weather comes, a DDT dust is recommended. Farmers are being advised to use a dust containing 10 per cent DDT. Some of the powdered louse killers on the market contain less than 10 per cent DDT, but have other effective insecticides combined with the DDT.

The rotenone dusts recommended for cattle grub control can be used for lice control. Usually they are diluted for lice, to cover greater area and reduce the cost. For instance, one pound of a cattle grub dust containing 1 1/2 per cent rotenone can be mixed with two pounds of flour to make an effective louse killer.

World's Largest Potato Yard Found in Chicago

The world's largest potato yard is located—not in Idaho, nor in Maine—but in the largest city near the geographical center of the nation—Chicago.

In the Wood street yards of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, an average of 20,000 carloads of potatoes are handled annually. Many thousands of tons of other vegetables also pass through this yard.

The yard is the central marketing point for potatoes, which come in from virtually every state in the union. Dealers and brokers assemble in the yard each day before dawn to buy, sell or consign an average of 36,000 bushels daily. The Wood street yard is a far cry from the wooden platform which served as a terminal years ago.

Milk Testing Traced To Michigan Farmers

By Louis Sellers

Forty years ago a few progressive dairy farmers in Michigan organized the first cow-testing association in the United States. They wanted to improve the profitability of their herds. They hired a tester to weigh and test the milk of each cow and to keep a record of her feed cost and income. They wanted that information so they could cull the low producers from their herds and feed the rest more economically.

Part of the increase in production can be credited to progressive Michigan dairy farmers.

In the first four years of their pioneer effort, these Michigan farmers doubled the average profit per cow. Since then thousands of other dairy farmers have followed their example with equally striking results.

New Chemical Utilized For Grasshopper Poison

Research men at various state colleges after trying benzene hexachloride, a chemical discovered in Europe and brought to this country for experimental use as a grasshopper poison, believe it is the best thing yet discovered for hog mangle, as well as grasshopper control. The compound is a wettable powder that can be used as either a spray or dip for hogs and is sold under various trade names.

Interference

"Charlie claims that he is a self-made man."

"Really? What interrupted him?"

A man was giving some advice to his son. At the end of a rather stern lecture, he said: "Now, my boy, you understand perfectly what I mean?"

"Yes," replied the boy, "what it boils down to is this: If I do well, it's because of heredity, and if I fail, it's my own fault."

European Sketch

A Midwestern acquaintance of mine recently gave to a group of businessmen what he called a report of "a roller skate trip over a very large subject." Sterling Morton, Chicago banker and industrialist, was reporting on a seven-weeks' trip to Europe. His remarks seemed to me worthy of a larger audience.
This recent trip, according to Mr.
Morton, was no V.I.P. excursion.
(The Very Important People sometimes arrive at conclusions that have been planned by their hosts in advance.) Actually, Mr. Morton rented a small French car and drove it 2,500 miles, talking to everybody along the way. Because he speaks
French fluently, our Midwesterner was taken for a Frenchman when outside France, for an Englishman when in France—but hardly for an American at any time.

Peacetime Damage

In France, Mr. Morton reported the cost of living up ten times over 1937, with wages having increased six times. "How an elevator operator, for instance, can live on 8,000 francs a month is a mystery. Or how a laborer can be content on the official ration of two fifths of a pound of bread a day. Things are very much out of balance." However, Mr. Morton sees France on the road to recovery, in a physical way.

BUT: "France is cursed with government employees. There always were droves of them—now there are hordes! One former Maqui suggested the way to improve conditions was to machine gun half the 'fonctionnaires'! Even Senator Byrd doesn't go that far! . . . French production figures are highly encouraging. If governmental expenses could be cut down, the printing of money stopped, confidence and prosperity would soon return."

Help Them Produce

Of the British: "One can have nothing but admiration for . . . what they went through so steadfastly.
That they should be afflicted, in peace, with a government which has done, psychologically, financially and commercially, probably as much damage, is a cruel tragedy.
Only the miracles of socialistic planning, applied to a fertile island underlaid with coal and surrounded by seas teeming with fish, could bring about a situation in which the people are cold and hungry."

On loans and gifts: "I think it would be pouring money down a rat hole to make any more loans to governments, yet I feel that we should, for our own sakes, help those who are willing to help themselves.
My idea would be to make loans direct to private producers on very easy terms and for productive purposes only. . . . We can't stop Communism by giving corrupt or inefficient or minority governments the means of remaining in office.
"We can stop it by building up the productive capacity of the threatened nations. . . . I doubt that Europe's economy will be healthy until Germany again is producing and consuming. . . . Britain, France, Italy, yes, Germany, too—help them to produce again. That is the way to bring stability and peace."

Objective WHEAT

When the objectives were Nor-

AROUND THE HOUSE

That murky appearance that comes overnight on mirrors during warm weather can be wiped off with a cloth dampened with ammonia. Then rub dry with a clean cloth.

Use unbleached muslin of heavy quality for pressing cloths. Edges may be left unfinished if desired. To be sure the cloth is lint free, boil the muslin cloth and rinse thoroughly.

Mix whitening and a little lemon juice into a clear paste. Use this as a cleaner for ivory or bone cutlery and you'll be amazed with the results. Leave the mixture on a few moments, then rinse, and polish.

When wash cloths become old and faded, fold them over and cover with a casing of cretonne. Now you have a serviceable pot-holder.

If there's no room in the hem of your skirt for lengthening, try adding a width of ribbon around the waistline. Use a contrasting ribbon. Some of the newer dresses have contrasting waist interest, so you'll be right in style.

To sew a smooth bias seam, baste a piece of paper between the two edges.

"Straightening it out" so far has meant turning the city dump into a public park, providing equipment for city tennis courts, instituting a sanitation and clean-up program, and installing several public drinking fountains.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Give Meals Company Manners (See recipes below.)

Company for Dinner

"I just don't feel like I can entertain now that food prices are so high," said a friend of mine to me recently. Actually you can do so, I explained to her, if you serve less expensive food but dress it up, company style.

There's the pot roast, for instance, which, done to succulence and tenderness, and garnished with stuffed prunes or spiced crab apples, leaves nothing to be desired.

Or what about a meat loaf? Now there's a good old-fashioned meat dish that can be dressed up beautifully with a fluting of mashed potatoes and served with parsleyed carrots and glazed onions.

Short ribs of beef? Yes, indeed, there are few meat dishes that can come up to it in tastiness.

Desserts can be made that are very inexpensive, but, put in a mold, they have "company manners." Here are menus to fit the smallest of purses, but they all have style and class.

You'll enjoy this Yorkshire Steak as much as roast of ribs if you'll make it this way:

Yorkshire Steak. (Serves 6)
1½ pounds chuck steak, cut 1 inch thick
1 recipe Yorkshire Pudding

Season steak with salt and pepper; place in a greased baking dish or roasting pan in which meat fits the bottom. Brown in a hot oven for 5 minutes. Make recipe for the pudding; pour over the crowned steak. Reduce heat and bake until the meat is tender.

Yorkshire Pudding.
1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup milk
½ cup hot beef drippings

Sift together the dry ingredients. Add beaten egg yolks. Add milk and mix well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a shallow dish containing the beef drippings. Bake in a fairly hot oven for 30 minutes. Cut in squares and serve around the meat.

Cocoa Sponge. (Serves 4-6)
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
Salted almonds

Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine sugar and cocoa. Scald milk; gradually add to sugar mixture, mixing constantly. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add vanilla extract.

LYNN SAYS: Wise Planning Saves Work

Keep a list in an easily accessible place, preferably where you do your best thinking, such as over the sink while washing dishes, and write on it as things occur.

A wise homemaker is never without staples; she replenishes these periodically and never "runs out of things."

Plan your menus when you are hungry. This adds more zest to your meals.

tract. Chill until syrupy. Beat with rotary beater until fluffy. Beat egg whites stiff; add salt. Fold egg whites into cocoa sponge, and beat until mixture holds its shape. Pour into a mold which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with almonds.

Almond Sauce.
3 egg yolks
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups scalded milk
½ teaspoon almond extract
½ cup chopped blanched almonds

Beat egg yolks, sugar and salt; add milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture coats the spoon. Cool. Add almond extract and nuts.

Menu II.
Pork Roast with Spicy Sauce
Sweet Potatoes Cinnamon Apples
Cabbage-Pineapple Slaw
Brussels Sprouts
Whole Wheat Biscuits
Frozen Orange Cream

Pork Roast with Spicy Sauce. (Serves 6)
Fresh picnic shoulder
Salt and pepper
2 small onions, minced
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon paprika
½ cup vinegar
½ cup water
2 tablespoons catsup

Have picnic shoulder boned and rolled. Season with salt and pepper. Place fat side up on roaster pan, and bake in a moderate oven allowing 40 to 45 minutes to the pound for baking. Combine other ingredients and cook together for 5 minutes. Serve with roast.

Menu III.
Tomato Juice
Savory Meat Loaf
Green Peppers Stuffed with Corn
Browned Potatoes Orange Rolls
Grapefruit Salad
Apple Betty with Hard Sauce or Chocolate Souffle

All the items in the above menu are extremely inexpensive, and even if you are busy they are easy to prepare.

Savory Meat Loaf. (Serves 8)
2 pounds ground beef
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup minced onion
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1½ cups condensed vegetable soup
2 cups bread crumbs
½ cup fat

Mix ingredients thoroughly in the order given, with the exception of the fat. Shape into loaf and place in a pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 1½ hours. Baste meat every 15 minutes with a mixture of the fat and 1 cup boiling water.

If mashed potato topping for meat loaf is desired, swirl on top of loaf when it has finished baking, then run under broiler flame to brown the potatoes.

Season to please your family. It is not economical to prepare foods which do not go over with the family.

When you have to make substitutions, choose foods that are the same kind such as cabbage or spinach in place of lettuce; another fruit for a fresh fruit.

Shop in person and early in the day for best quality. Learn to read labels so that you'll know what to expect, how many the product or container serves, and its cooking characteristics.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
By LOUIE D. NEWTON, D. D.

SCRIPTURE: Isaiah 53:4-6; Matthew 1:21; 5:17; 20:28-29; Luke 19:1-10; Hebrews 4:15, 16.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Isaiah 53:1-12.

His Work of Salvation

Lesson for February 1, 1948

PROFESSOR WILLIAM JAMES was once asked to give a definition of Christianity. He replied, "I doubt if there is a satisfactory definition of Christianity, but I can give you an example of it — Dr. Phillips Brooks."

Our lesson for Sunday tells us many things about Jesus, his work of salvation chiefly. But before we can understand what he does, we must look again at who he was and is. We begin with Isaiah 53:1-12. Who can read those majestic words without tears? And then we come to Matthew 1:21. "And thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins." Then go on to read Matthew 5:17-28, Luke 19:1-10, and Hebrews 4:15, 16.

The key verse, it seems to me, in Sunday's lesson is Luke 19:10. "The Son of man came to seek and to save that which was lost." Hold to this key, and every door will open in this lesson.

JESUS HELPS ZACCHAEUS
IN THE first ten verses of the 19th chapter of Luke we have the fascinating story of Jesus calling Zacchaeus down from the tree, forgiving his sins, and entering into his house. The disciples complained that Jesus had gone to lunch with a man that was a sinner. It was then that the Master declared, "The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Zacchaeus is but an illustration of what Jesus seeks to do for every man. He has not come to save a few, but "whosoever will." He will not force himself upon any man, but he waits in hope of saving every man.

The "worst" boy in your community may be saved — will be saved — if only he will do as Zacchaeus did, come to Jesus, just as he is, confessing his sin and believing on the Lord Jesus Christ.

HOW JESUS CHANGES PEOPLE
JESUS saved Zacchaeus by forgiving his sins and putting a new attitude in his heart. He had harmed many people, or at least they thought he had. They would not forgive him.

He may not have asked them to forgive him, but when he met Jesus and was changed by the redeeming grace of the Saviour, he proposed to restore fourfold wherever he may have wronged anyone. More than that, Zacchaeus offered to give the half of his goods to the poor. He gave convincing evidence that he was a changed man. So will every man who believes in Jesus.

But we must remember this, Zacchaeus bared his soul to the Saviour in repentance of his sins and believed on him as the Son of God before he manifested a changed attitude.

THE PURPOSE OF JESUS
RECALL again the words of the angel to Joseph, "Thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins." It was to save sinners like Zacchaeus that Jesus came down from heaven and died on the cross. That was and is his purpose.

"He went about doing good, for God was with him," Acts 10:38.

We shall never understand the work of Jesus until we come to see him at work in every age and amongst all mankind to do the will of the Father in saving any and all who will come into him in faith believing.

"SO SEND I YOU"
JESUS calls upon you and upon me and upon every follower of his to accept as the central purpose of our lives this mission of winning lost souls unto him. "As the Father hath sent me, so send I you."

I sat in a boat with two prominent business men, fishing in a private lake one afternoon last November. Mr. Asa G. Candler of Atlanta and I were guests of Mr. Carr P. Collins of Dallas. We were talking about the plight of the world. Mr. Collins said: "What is money worth if we think of it apart from the purpose of God? Until we come back to the words of Jesus, 'So send I you,' we cannot hope to improve the sorrowful plight of our frightened day and generation. All men are lost until they come to know him as Saviour."

Let this testimony of one of God's gentlemen be heard and heeded by laymen and preachers alike, and fear will give way to faith, and the kingdoms of this earth will become the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Enterprising Lad Uses Horse Car in Business

The 1859 horse car at Baltimore's sesquicentennial exposition is back in business. Hearing the bell clanging and children clambering aboard, officials investigated. They found a nine-year-old boy acting as conductor and charging a penny a fare.

He had 12 paid passengers before officials put him out of business.

don't use Harsh Laxatives

Keep regular this healthful way—

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination. No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you! Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health — and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C, supply valuable amounts of B₁ and P. They alkalize; aid digestion. Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang — clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative — simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days. USE CALIFORNIA SUNKIST LEMONS.

3 Unions Block Labor Peace—Refuse Wage Boost Already Accepted by 19 Other Railroad Unions!

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and the Switchmen's Union of North America, representing 125,000 railroad employees, have refused to accept the offer of the Railroads of a wage increase of 15 1/2 cents an hour.

This is the same increase awarded 1,000,000 non-operating employees by an arbitration board in September, 1947.

This is the same increase accepted by 175,000 conductors, trainmen and switchmen by agreement on November 14, 1947. Agreements have been made with 1,175,000 employees, represented by nineteen unions. But these three unions, representing only 125,000 men, are trying to get more. They are demanding also many new working rules not embraced in the settlement with the conductors and trainmen.

Incidentally, the Switchmen's Union of North America represents only about 7% of all railroad switchmen, the other 93% being represented by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and covered by the settlement with that union.

Strike Threat

The leaders of these three unions spread a strike ballot while negotiations were still in progress. This is not a secret vote but is taken by union leaders and votes are signed by the employees in the presence of union representatives.

When direct negotiations failed, the leaders of these three unions refused to join the railroads in asking the National Mediation Board to attempt to settle the dispute, but the Board took jurisdiction at the request of the carriers and has been earnestly attempting since November 24, 1947, to bring about a settlement. The Board on January 15, 1948, announced its inability to reach a mediation settlement. The leaders of the unions rejected the request of the Mediation Board to arbitrate. The railroads accepted.

What Now?

The Unions having refused to arbitrate, the Railway Labor Act provides for the appointment of a fact-finding board by the President.

The railroads feel it is due shippers, passengers, employees, stockholders, and the general public to know that throughout these negotiations and in mediation, they have not only exerted every effort to reach a fair and reasonable settlement, but they have also met every requirement of the Railway Labor Act respecting the negotiation, mediation, and arbitration of labor disputes.

It seems unthinkable that these three unions, representing less than 10 per cent of railroad employees, and those among the highest paid, can successfully maintain the threat of a paralyzing strike against the interest of the entire country—and against 90 per cent of their fellow employees.

The threat of a strike cannot justify granting more favorable conditions to 125,000 employees than have already been put in effect for 1,175,000, nor will it alter the opposition of the railroads to unwarranted wage increases or to changes in working rules which are not justified.

A glance at the box shows what employees represented by the Engineers and Firemen make. They are among the highest paid in the ranks of labor in the United States, if not the highest.

needs, and as farmers understand conservation better they are doing a better job.

More and more farmers are seeing their responsibility as custodians of the nation's soil and water. They are expected to do in return for the assistance they receive help carry out these needed conservation practices.

Improved machinery and better equipment are making it possible for farmers to do a better job of land leveling, terracing, construction of dams, diversion ditches and similar practices. Better machinery is available for the spreading of phosphate and improved strains of grasses and legumes will make for greener and more productive pastures.

What we expect to be done is what ought to be done still will be a long way apart, Mr. Church said. We have made progress but it has hardly been enough to keep up with the ever increasing demand for more food. We still are looking ground faster than we can afford if we continue to meet the needs of the nation.
