Heavy Voting Turnout Seen In State Today; Area Interest Is High

Record Total Forecast Here

LUBBOCK county voters, approximately 20,000 strong, are to march to the polls today to mark ballots in a Democratic primary, voting for state candidates ranging from public weigher to U. S. Senator. Polls open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

An all-time record in the number of ballots cast is expected to be set during the day, despite the lethargy of the summer's campaign, sparked only by the appearance of a half-dozen candidates for the higher offices. No political rallies were conducted by local and district candidates.

Early Vote Is Asked

The county's voting strength is approximately 22,000 and should the weather be fair, election officials were prepared to handle upwards of 20,000 voters should they make their appearance at the polls.

County Democratic Chairman L. C. Ellis, who with members of the county executive committee, issued an appeal for early voting, said 25,000 ballots had been printed and distributed for the primary. Election supplies were handed out to precinct chairmen on the second floor of the courthouse Friday afternoon.

Ellis said early voting by as many citizens as possible this morning would facilitate count of the heavy vote expected for the county.

Besides the day's balloting, Democrats will gather at the various voting precincts this afternoon at 2:30 for precinct conventions in which delegates to next Saturday's county convention will be named.

All of the county's 26 voting boxes were represented in Friday afternoon's committee meeting, which was featured by the passage of a resolution endorsing the administration of Ellis as county chairman.

Presented by Douglas Pounds of Acuff, who declared the resolution "a token of our appreciation of Mr. Ellis' unstinted efforts in behalf of the party and his fairness in the conduct of his office." Sec-

Johnson Holds Lead In Survey

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll

AUSTIN, July 23.—Results of a statewide survey conducted Thursday and Friday indicate no significant trends changing The Texas Poll's mid-week pre-election figures on the race for U. S. senator. A close contest that will throw Lyndon Johnson and Coke Stevenson into a runoff appears inevitable.

Returns from this last-minute poll, telegraphed by interviewers from every section of the state, does show, however, that many people formerly undecided on a candidate for governor are now making up their minds to vote against the re-election of Beauford Jester. Jester's relative strength has declined from earlier in the week, But his support still appears great enough to assure him a majority in the first primary.

The percentages below are the poll's best estimate to date of the way Texas will vote for U. S. senator Saturday. They are computed on the basis of a turnout of 71 per cent of the 1,000 qualified voters who were interviewed in the cross-section survey July 19-21.

Lyndon Johnson	41.4%
Coke Stevenson	40.1
George Peddy	15.6

Two Fliers Are Killed In Plane Crash Near Clovis

CLOVIS, N. M., July 23 (AP)—A flier from Amarillo, Texas, and his companion from Clovis were killed yesterday when their small bi-plane crashed while they were doing aerial acrobatics.

The dead were Robert William Dale, 22, of Amarillo, and George Harold Redmon, 21, of Clovis.

The crash was witnessed by Redmon's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Redmon of Clovis. They said they drove out a country road north of here to watch the fliers perform acrobatics.

Dale is survived by his widow and a year-old son of Amarillo.

Million Votes May Be Cast

(By The Associated Press)

POLITICAL candidates put forth their last appeals for votes Friday and Friday night and this morning headed for home to cast their ballots at their home boxes, then await the results of an election in which more than 1,000,000 votes are expected to be cast.

U. S. senatorial candidate Coke Stevenson planned to vote at Telegraph, near his ranch home, and then go to Austin to await returns. Opponent Lyndon Johnson is to vote at Johnson City and then also return to Austin. Candidate George Peddy was scheduled to vote and await returns at Houston.

Record Voting Seen

Two gubernatorial candidates planned to be at home; another, away from home. Incumbent Gov. Beauford H. Jester was headed for his home at Corsicana. Caso March closed at Fort Worth, where he was born and reared. Roger Q. Evans of Denison planned to be in Austin.

Estimates of today's turnout of voters ranged 1,000,000 to 1,500,000. Many points over the state predicted record vote totals for their areas.

These included big city counties, Harris county (Houston), Dallas county, Bexar county (San Antonio) and Tarrant county (Fort Worth). Record votes also were forecast in Galveston, El Paso, San Angelo, Abilene, Lubbock, Hunt county, Harlingen and Beaumont.

The total vote in the first Democratic primary in 1944 topped 850,000. In the first primary of 1946, 1,163,000 Texans voted in the governor's race.

Candidates Make Claims

Yesterday, Stevenson was confident of victory "in talking with over 200,000 personally . . . I am even stronger convinced that I will receive 55 per cent of the votes," he said in Austin.

Later in a speech scheduled for radio delivery he expressed "sincere and humble gratitude to the people of Texas, who are making this victory possible." He had an

Rains Brighten Farm Prospects

The South Plains area "million dollar rain" that fell Thursday night and early Friday morning halted Friday except for widely scattered flying thunderstorms that dumped water upon small areas.

The Weather station north of Lubbock however continued to wave, but with not too much vigor, the rain flag with a forecast of more scattered thundershowers Saturday afternoon and evening. The weatherman also promised that warmer weather is "probable."

Farmers Wear Grins

While the cotton farmers and feed growers in the area are wearing broad grins, the candidates and voters will be keeping a weather eye on the skies today, election day.

With sunny skies and only a "mild" threat of showers several political observers have anticipated a record or near record casting of ballots in the first Democratic primary today. A sudden upsurge of thunderstorms of the variety that swept across the plains Thursday, however, might cut into this vote.

Certainly, except possibly in the area southeast and south of Lubbock where little or no rain was recorded Thursday night and Friday, the election judges will face happy voters.

The "million dollar" label was

Third Party Opens Meet

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, July 23—Founders of a new third party excitedly opened a national convention tonight, proclaiming that America's choice is "Wallace or war."

Already the delegates have picked their ticket informally—Henry A. Wallace for president, Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho, for his running mate. Tomorrow they make it official.

Tonight they laid the groundwork and gave their party a name. It is the "Progressive party," a unanimous choice.

And they put on a typical convention demonstration for keynote speaker Charles P. Howard, a tall, powerfully-built negro who jabbed with a handkerchief at sweat pouring from chin to manuscript.

Roll Out Campaign Songs

Howard told his whoop-it-up audience that for the future the new party sees a choice between Wallace and a war that will end civilization.

The delegates also:

Rolled out campaign songs with camp meeting fervor and banjo and accordion accompaniment.

Hooted and hissed at the GOP, the Democrats, high prices, foreign policy, Congress, "jim crowism."

Wallace and Taylor didn't show up for the convention sendoff. Even when things are cinched, it isn't considered good taste for prospective candidates to appear in advance of their nominations.

Major Parties Hit

But hundreds of delegates and thousands of onlookers piled into this big barn of a hall and sweated it out through hours of music, speech-making, and routine business.

The convention got going at 6:02 p. m. (CST) and quit at 9:55 p. m. until tomorrow morning.

In the interval, Howard and others stepped briskly to the speaker's platform to pound away at the old-line political parties and crook a finger at the "plain people" of America to join the fight against them.

"Now at last," Howard said, "the people of America come to convention.

"We meet in a historical hall, still haunted by the ghosts of a Republican circus and a Democratic funeral.

"Listen closely, and you can still hear the echoes of the back-room

Klan Pledges Fight On Civil Rights Plan

ATLANTA, Ga., July 23 (INS)—The Ku Klux Klan promised tonight that "if they use bayonets to enforce civil rights, blood will flow again in the streets."

Grand Dragon Samuel Green made the threat beneath the glare of a giant fiery cross near Stone mountain to the accompaniment of whoops and cheers from an estimated 3,000 robed and hooded klansmen.

Hundreds Take Oath

Almost a thousand men from all parts of Georgia took the oath of allegiance and pledged their belief in white supremacy in the klan's first public initiation in two years.

The huge, colorful but painfully slow ritual came as the klan claimed that its membership has gained one third since the civil rights program was recommended by President Truman.

The mild-mannered Green, his voice made thunderous by an amplifier system which began working only near the end of the ceremony, stated:

"Our foremost belief is in white supremacy. The south shall fight; we shall never give up the states' rights given us in the constitution."

Green denied that the klan is "in politics." But he added:

"We shall go to the polls and vote for governor of this state, the man whose platform shows clearly that he will lead us back to the principles of white supremacy."

New Fleet Of Larger Planes Planned

America To Double Tonnage To Berlin

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 23—The United States soon will double the capacity of the airplane fleet carrying supplies to beleaguered Berlin, General Lucius D. Clay announced today.

He expects this to increase the chances for a peaceful settlement of the crisis by convincing the Russians that the Western Powers cannot be blockaded out of the city.

The American military governor in Germany revealed the dramatic "air lift" expansion program at a news conference at the pentagon building. Later the Air Force announced it will start putting the program into effect next week.

New Notes Planned

Early tonight Secretary of State Marshall dispatched one of his top Russian experts, Charles E. Bohlen, to London where he will confer with Ambassador Lewis Douglas and possibly British and French officials on the next joint moves by the Western Powers in the Berlin crisis.

The first of these scheduled moves is the drafting of a new note to Moscow demanding the end of the Berlin blockade. There have been some differences between Washington and London over the extent to which this note should hold out hope to the Russians that if they will lift the blockade the Western Powers will be prepared to discuss major German issues.

Clay's disclosure topped off two days of high speed conferences during which he assured President Truman, Congress leaders and finally the American people that he does not expect the Berlin crisis to result in war.

Clay Returns To Berlin

"I don't want to minimize the seriousness of the situation," Clay said at the news conference, "but I don't think anybody in this world wants war and where no one wants war there is a prospect for a peaceful settlement. The air lift gives us time to negotiate."

Then he left the sprawling headquarters of the nation's armed forces and sped to Washington National airport where he boarded a plane for Berlin. Tonight he

Pressure On Air Lane Increased

BERLIN, July 23 (INS)—RAF officials tonight accused Russian airmen of practice bombing and firing in the crowded British aerial corridor feeding western Berlin.

The British termed this the second straight day of Soviet violation of air safety regulations in an attempt to drive the Allies out of the corridor.

The Russians announced, meanwhile, they will issue a new currency for eastern Germany and Berlin, replacing the improvised stamped old reichsmarks produced when the western powers circulated their new deutsche marks.

Police Support Allies

The Soviets increased their ground blockade restrictions after the new western currency appeared.

Western officials pointed out tonight that they have allowed free circulation of the Soviet-issued currency in their sectors although the Russians banned the deutsche marks in their sector.

German police in the western sector showed their support of the Anglo-American-French policy to-

Vet Claims He 'Bombed' UN To Dramatize Yearning For Peace

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 23—The man who "bombed" the United Nations gave himself up today in New Haven, Conn., and said he did it to dramatize the world's yearning for peace.

He is Stephen J. Supina, 36, heavily-decorated World War Two flyer and veteran of 60 missions over Europe as a sergeant-gunner in the U. S. Eighth air force.

Supina, for whom an intense search had been carried on since his home-made "bomb of peace" burst over a startled United Nations yesterday afternoon, surrendered himself in the news room of the New Haven Register.

He told the newspaper's assistant city editor, Gerald Harrington, that he hoped he would be returned to Lake Success to "finish my fight for world peace, and to make them here and abroad look to the United Nations for lasting peace."

The newspaper turned Supina over to New Haven authorities. He was quickly arraigned on a fugitive warrant. He waived extradition and will be turned over

Killers Reach End Of Trail

VAN WERT, O., July 23—Leaving seven murder victims in their wake during a 14-day killing spree, two 22-year-old reformatory parolees reached the end of the trail today.

One, fighting it out to the last, was shot between the eyes and killed by a police officer at a road block near here. The other, whimpering, gave up without a struggle. Their death toll—five men and two women.

Killed in the final gunfight was John Coulter West, former Parkersburg, W. Va., youth, slain by Sgt. L. D. Conn, 42, Van Wert policeman. Conn, seriously wounded by a slug in his chest, killed West as the officer lay in the middle of the highway.

Truck Driver Killed

Captured was Robert M. Daniels of Columbus, who gave up to Sheriff Roy Shaffer of Van Wert county without lifting a finger, ignoring a rifle and two pistols which lay on an automobile seat beside him.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz of Richland county said first degree murder charges would be filed at

Truman To Request Changes In DP Law

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP) — The White House announced tonight that President Truman had completed work on proposed legislation designed to admit 402,000 displaced persons into the United States during the next four years.

The President will submit the bill to Congress next week in the form of an amendment to the recently enacted displaced persons law which he had described as discriminating against Jews and some Catholic displaced persons.

The new bill would raise the number of displaced persons who could be admitted to this country from 202,000 in two years to approximately 402,000.

The three other amendments prosposed in the administration measure, the White House said, would call for:

1. Elimination of all features of the law "whose effect is to discriminate by reason of race or religion."

2. Clarifying provisions which now make the law "difficult of administration."

3. Eliminate the so-called "mortgaging of the future quotas" provision of the current law.

OIL TANK BURNS

BIG SPRING, July 23 (AP)—Lightning set fire to crude oil in an 80,000-barrel tank at the Cosden Petroleum refinery here today. R. L. Tollett, Cosden president, said oil was being drawn from the bottom of the tank at the rate of 2,500 barrels an hour, but that the fire would probably burn until tomorrow morning.

THIS IS TODAY'S ISSUE:

Do You Want Higher Or Lower Prices?

THOSE who cast ballots in the 30th State Senatorial district contest today will vote for, or against higher living costs.

Voters will approve, or disapprove, attempts to pass, in the next Legislature, a so-called "Fair Trades act." This act has just one purpose: To set, by law, "minimum" prices merchants may charge for various items of general use by the people of this state.

No one outside the small coterie of backers of the proposed "UN-fair Trades act" knows how many, or which items may be included in any bill placed before the Legislature. Other states which have an "UN-fair Trades act" set prices only on drug sundries, such as toothpastes, astringents, shaving creams, etc. Others include various medicines. Some include items of hardware and automobile accessories. Some even include groceries.

If those seeking to raise prices by law get enough of their henchmen in the Legislature to put their scheme across, many prices will be raised.

But what prices? And on what merchandise?

If the Legislature can raise, by law, the "minimum" price on one article—or one type of merchandise — it similarly can raise "minimum" prices on all items.

And what is a "minimum" price? It is, of course, the highest price the consumer can pay.

The voter's choice today is clear-cut. If he wants insurance that his living costs will not be raised by passage of a law in the next Legislature, he will vote for one of the three candidates who have publicily condemned the scheme and who are being opposed by the price-raising "UN-fair Trades act" brigade.

The candidates who are pledged to oppose price-raising by law are Sterling Parrish, Dudley Brummett and Kilmer Corbin.

A vote for any of them is a vote against higher prices.

Cost Of Living Index Hits Highest Point In History

By J. W. DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 23 — The government's cost of living index has reached the highest point in history.

In cold figures, the Bureau of Labor statistics summed up the hottest issue for Americans today: The cost of goods and services bought by families of moderate income in large cities on June 15 hit 171.7 per cent of the 1935-39 average. This compared with 129.3 per cent at the end of World War II.

Worse apparently was yet to come, for the wholesale price average last Saturday set new records. It stood at 168.9 per cent of the 1926 average compared with the previous record of 167 per cent in 1920. These wholesale price increases have yet to show up in the retail price index.

Ghost Of OPA Stirred

The ghost of OPA was stirred by the price advances, and President Truman announced appointment of Paul A. Porter, the last of the price administrators, as a special assistant to help prepare anti-inflation legislation.

Mr. Truman is to give Congress his ideas of how to handle the situation next Tuesday. What his plans are in detail, and whether Congress will regard them as workable, remain to be seen.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) said today that Mr. Truman himself has been lax in fighting inflation.

Republican policy makers will meet Monday morning to go over plans for the session which Mr. Truman called over their protests that he was inspired by politics.

Price Controls Disliked

One prominent Republican leader said privately that he expects the session to last no longer than a month and to produce little if any in the way of new legislation.

REPORTERS CALLED 'STOOGES'

Wallace Dodges 'Guru' Question In Hot Session With Newsmen

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, July 23—Henry Wallace and newspaper correspondents spent an angry and fruitless hour today on the subject of an eastern mystic named "guru."

The clash took up much of the time of a news conference the new party presidential candidate held on the opening day of his national convention.

Correspondents, angered because he called some of them "stooges" for bringing up "guru," refused to be put aside and asked the question again and again.

Wallace began the conference by reading a long letter that reflected seriously on the objectivity and integrity of American news reporting. He urged objectivity and freedom of information.

Then he put two conditions on his conference.

He said he would limit each correspondent to one question. And he asked each person to identify himself and his news organization.

The dynamite question was about the authorship of the so-

Theft Of Radio Is Investigated

Police Friday were investigating the theft of a $37 radio from Plains Investment company, at 1105 Ave. L.

The sheriff's department said that Jack Baughtman, 27, was taken in custody of Wichita Falls authorities from county jail, to face a Wichita county district court charge of wife and child desertion.

Baughtman, described as a taxi-cab driver, was arrested Thursday night by F. H. Bolen and John Barnett, deputies sheriff.

Fine Is Assessed

Nettie Boles, 38, was fined $200 and county court costs upon a plea of guilty of liquor law violation, after, the sheriff's department said, 240 pints of liquor and four cases of beer had been seized by Deps. Sheriff Raymond Land and Frank Mitchell.

A bond in a drunk driving charge will be posted by M. M. Franklin, 27, Lubbock man charged in the same court, officials said.

Ernest Ward, Slaton chief of police, informed the sheriff's department of a burglary Thursday night of A. D. Adams service station there. Adams said that three or four cartons of cigarettes and $1.50 in money had been taken after entrance was affected through a window.

R. J. Evans of Lubbock route 7 reported that a half-horsepower electric motor owned by Earl Brown, also of route 7, had been stolen from an underground well house. Brown's home is just west of Ave. A.

Connally To Support Truman And Barkley

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Texas), an opponent of President Truman's civil rights program, announced today he will support the Democratic ticket of Mr. Truman and Senator Barkley (D-Ky).

"I have consistently supported the nominees of the Democratic party in the past and I shall not deviate from that record now," Connally said in a statement.

He also told reporters that in his opinion "Texas Democrats will support the national ticket in November" despite their opposition to Mr. Truman at the Philadelphia convention.

Texas was one of the southern states which voted for Senator Russell (D-Ga) for the top place on the ticket in protest against the President's civil rights recommendations.

Connally was the second southern Democratic senator in two days to announce his support of the Truman-Barkley ticket. Senator A. Willis Robertson (D-Va) made a similar statement yesterday.

HOUSTON, July 23. (AP)—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, selected to head an opposition ticket to President Truman by southern Democrats, will open his campaign here within two weeks, Palmer Bradley, Houston attorney, said today.

Bradley, chairman of the Harris county Democratic convention last May, attended the July 17 convention in Birmingham where Thurmond was nominated for president and Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi was nominated for vice-president.

An exact date has not been set but Bradley said it probably would be within the next two weeks.

He said the speech will be the opening gun in an effort to carry Texas and to untie the south behind the Thurmond-Wright ticket.

Two Small Children Burn To Death In Rains County

GREENVILLE, July 23 (AP)—Two small children were burned to death at a farm home near Point, Rains county, today.

A third child suffered severe burns on the legs, face, and arms. He was rescued from the blazing house by a farmer who was passing.

The dead were Rodney Edward Bailey, eight months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Bailey, and Jerry Ann White, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry White.

The children, with two-year-old Jimmy Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson, were alone while their parents were at work. The Johnson child was saved before flames prevented further rescue attempts. He was treated for serious burns.

Research Stressed As Saving Factor Of Cotton Industry

DALLAS, July 23 (AP)—Technical discussions at the ninth annual Cotton Research congress today dwelled on research as the magic word of the cotton industry.

Speakers said that these facts are apparent:

1. The American cotton farmer must reduce production costs if he is to meet successfully the competition from synthetic fibers at home and wrest a superior position in world trade from other cotton-growing nations of the world.

2. Costs can be reduced by finding improved varieties, increasing the soil's fertility, controlling weeds and insects, and completely mechanizing cotton farming.

Insect Control Improved

3. The cotton processor can enhance his competitive position with synthetic fibers by developing new uses for cotton, increasing the qualities of th fabric, finding new uses for the cotton seed and lint, and by making every operation cheaper.

Great promise of saving lies in the field of insect control, Dr. H. G. Johnston of the entomology department at Texas A. & M. college told the congress.

Prior to 1929 the boll weevil alone caused an annual loss of $256,000,000, Johnston said. This has been lowered to $168,000,000. He said that new chemicals and new ways of applying them are now "in the mill" and should reduce the loss still further.

M. K. Thornton, chemist with the Texas Extension service, predicted that cottonseed will become more important than ever with new uses for the hull being found.

Griffith, Pioneer Movie Maker, Dies

HOLLYWOOD, July 23 (INS) — David Wark Griffith, one of the few remaining pioneers of the "golden days" of motion pictures, died today in Temple hospital at the age of 68.

The producer whose movie "Birth of a Nation," won him eternal film fame, passed away as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage. He had been in a coma since yesterday morning and despite physicians' efforts he grew steadily worse through the night.

The end came at 8:24 a.m.

With him were a niece and nephew, Ruth and Willard Griffith, of Santa Ana.

He retired from active participation in the movie industry over eight years ago but the sight of him often strolling along his beloved Hollywood boulevard remained as one of the landmarks and the reminders of an era.

None but his closest friends know exactly how much the noted producer was worth but his "Birth of a Nation" was declared to have grossed more than any other picture ever made—and this in a time before the fabulous sums now connected with the business of making movies.

Hubbers Blast Lamesa Loboes, 21 To 14

Sullivan Uses Four Pitchers

LAMESA, July 23 (Special)—The football season rolled around early this summer, the Lubbock Hubbers getting a one-touchdown advantage over the Lamesa Loboes here tonight, 21-14, as both teams made all extra points.

The Hubbers scored a field goal in the opening stanza, when Gene Hixson and Charley Scarborough hit homers and another run made it 3-0. Lamesa came back with a touchdown and a safety, putting together five hits and five walks with no errors for an 8-3 lead. From that point on it was strictly anybody's ball game.

Manager Jackie Sullivan used four hurlers in the contest, three of them in that hectic first inning. Red Ramsey failed to last more than the first third of the inning, Fred Pollack remained on hand the same length of time and Cotton Russell came on to go four and two-thirds innings. But it was dependable Royce Mills who came into the game in relief to receive credit for the victory.

Stan Grzywacz, trying to stop the Hubbers with only one day's rest, fell short of the mark and Paul Cooke, his successor, did no better, taking the loss.

The Hubbers were homer conscious tonight, getting seven roundtrippers, three of them by Hixson. Scarborough had two, Sullivan had one and Floyd Walker hit the jackpot with his circuit clout, clearing the bases in the fourth to put the Hubbers back in the game.

Strangely enough, five of the Hubbers homers came with no one on base, while Hixson hit his second in the fifth with one man on, following Walker's grand slam blow in the fourth.

Virgil Richardson singled and Walker doubled in the eighth to hand the Hubbers the winning run, but it was the ninth that put the game out of reach.

Jackie Wilcox was safe on an error by Walt Buckel. Hixson singled and Sullivan's single scored Wilcox. Richardson walked to load the bases and Walker's single, which saw him hit for the cycle, scored Hixson and Sullivan. Lounsbury let the ball through him to score Richardson.

Chick Fowler fanned for the third time, but Frank McAlexander kept the rally going with a single and, went to third on an error. Scarborough singled McAlexander in, with Scarborough moving to third on the relay. Mills lashed a single plating Scarborough with the final run.

Texas Cup Play Will Open Today

FORT WORTH, July 23 (AP)—Nine double matches, sending the top professionals of the sector against the leading amateurs, will open the two day 16th annual Texas Cup matches over the River Crest country club here Saturday.

The doubles, as well as Sunday's 15 singles scraps, will be over a 36-hole route.

Felix McKnight of Dallas, nonplaying captain of the amateurs, selected his doubles teams with great care Friday in an effort to get the pupils off to a fast start. He named Earl Stewart, Jr., former state and intercollegiate champion, and Dick McCreary, current state titlist, as the No. 1 team to meet Capt. Byron Nelson and Lloyd Wadkins of Midland, the top pro team.

In a surprise move McKnight listed the veteran Dallas stars, David (Spec) Goldman and Jack Munger, as his No. 2 duo. They meet Jack Harden of El Paso and Charles Klein of Amarillo.

The pros have long dominated the event. In the 15 previous meetings, the teachers have won ten times and tied once. The pupils have only four triumphs and the last was scored in 1941. The amateur lineup this year, however, is the strongest in many seasons and with anything like an even break in the doubles, the for-fun players have high hopes of turning the long tide.

Shannon II, On Trust Named To Run In Sunset Handicap

INGLEWOOD, Cal., July 23 (INS)—Shannon II and On Trust, the one-two horses in last Saturday's $100,000 gold cup, topped a field of ten named today for tomorrow's $50,000 Sunset handicap.

The mile and five-eighths event will ring down the curtain on Hollywood park's 50-day meeting.

Shannon II, the Australian champ, and On Trust, the top California-bred, with earnings of more than $400,000, will, as before, run as an entry. Both are trained by Willie Molter.

While they undoubtedly will go to the post the favorites, strong support also will go to Olhaverry, the aging Chilean gray ghost which finishes strong and likes the longer distances.

LEGROS JOINS FORT WORTH

FORT WORTH, July 23. (AP)—John Terrell Legros, young third baseman hitting .356 for Greenwood of the Cotton States League, has been acquired by the Fort Worth Cats as part of a shuffle involving several players in the Brooklyn chain, Thursday, Carl Erskine, the Panthers' star hurler who has won 15 games, was ordered to Brooklyn. Willard Ramsdell, who won 21 games for the Cats last year, was returned by the Dodgers.

Punishment Discussed For Major Loop All-Star Truants

ST. LOUIS, July 23 (INS)—The Sporting News said today players on the 16 major league baseball clubs are discussing a resolution recommending punishment for any player who skips the All-Star game in the future.

A copyrighted article by J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the Sporting News declared:

"Suggested penalties are being voted upon and it is expected that the punishment which represents the wishes of a majority of teams will be imposed upon All-Star game truants in the future.

"Indications are that any players who miss the game, unless injured, will be suspended either for one week or two weeks, and will be fined one week's or two week's pay."

Hale, Brewster In Mound Duel

Bennett Shuts Out Dairymen, 1 To 0

The A.S.A. softball tournament at Jumbo Webster Field moved into the quarter-final round last night on twin triumphs, Bennett Motor company of Seminole beating Cloverlake in the opening game 1-0 and Culligan's Soft Water nine of Plainview eliminating Hardy's Bottling Works of Tahoka in the second tilt, 7-5.

The opening game was the best of the evening, with Cecil "Smoky" Hale of Cloverlake enmeshed in a tight mound duel with B. B. Brewster of Seminole. Willie Holder, replacing E. J. McKnight in the third for Culligans, held Tahoka in check while his mates came on to beat Preston Parham and Shorty Randall in a looser duel in the nightcap.

Both games, played on a soggy field, lacked the usual brilliant play to which Lubbock fans are accustomed, but turned up other work that was good.

Brewster Hurls Fine Game

Brewster hurled himself a fine game, blanking the strong Cloverlake nine on four hits. He allowed only two men to reach third, one on a sacrifice hit and the other on a passed ball. He had only seven strikeouts, but he gave the batters nothing good to hit.

The Seminole team won the game in the last of the seventh. Grantham opened the inning with a single to right and went to second when Hale fumbled Brewster's easy tap back to the mound. Both men advanced on a wild pitch, but Joe Woodard fanned to make the situation look better. Gene Brown stepped on the scene and after looking at a couple of pitches, lined a long fly to left. Grantham tagged up and scored easily after the catch with the winning run.

Simpson Liner Ends It

Cloverlake couldn't score in its half of the inning, the first two batters going down on strikes and a line drive out. Charley Morris walked to put the tying run on base, but Simpson lined to the leftfielder to end the game.

Tahoka went into a long 5-0 lead in the nightcap at the end of three innings, during which time Culligans didn't have the semblance of a hit. Two hits, one a two-run triple by Jim Barnett, handed the losers two runs in the second and three more counters came across in the fourth on two hits and an error.

Then the Plainview nine rallied. They jammed over four runs on two hits in the fifth, Jack Atkins getting the first two markers home on a single to right. Bob Bogle fanned, but Bill Howton slammed a homer over the rightfield wall to lower the score to 5-4.

Three more runs in the fifth, on three singles and a hit batsman, sent the winning tallies across the plate, as Holder tightened to whitewash the losers.

Tonight, Culligan will play Bennett Motor in the first game, with the winner meeting Golden Light Coffee in the nightcap. The winner of this match plays Baldridge Bakery Monday night in the semi-final, with that winner meeting Thomas-Sunbeamers for the championship.

The line scores:

BENNETT MOTOR .....000 000 1— 1 8 1

White Sox Trample Dodgers, 23 To 3

Jack Branch hurled the White Sox team to a smashing 23 to 3 win over the Dodgers in a Boys Club Pee Wee League game Friday, while in a second affair, the Junior League's Exchange Club trampled a faltering ABC nine, 11 to 1.

Branch held the Dodgers hitless, while Ronald Hall paced his smooth playing teammates with two triples and two doubles in four times up.

In the Junior League tilt, Bobby Craig smashed out three singles in five times up. Charles Brewer was the winning pitcher for the Exchange nine, while for the ABC's, Tommy Elliott got a single to drive in the only run for the losers.

The Exchange Club exploded in the first inning and scored all of their eleven runs in the first two frames. Brewer was relieved in the fourth by Buddy Ferris, who held the ABC's hitless for the remainder of the game.

No Pee Wee League or Junior League games are scheduled until Monday afternoon.

Olympic Committee Rules Out Israelis

LONDON, July 23 (AP)—The International Olympic ruling body closed the door of the games today on the new state of Israel, thereby halting the threat of a walkout by the Arab nations.

This was done by rejecting the appeal of Israeli sports organizations to take over the invitation previously sent to the now obsolete Palestine Olympic Committee.

61 Nations Entered

The action cut the number of participating nations to 61—still a record. Of the 5,000 athletes due to parade in the opening ceremonies next Thursday before the king and queen of England and a crowd of 83,000 at Wembley, about half are on hand and training hard.

Israel had planned finally to send only two women athletes to London because its 50 male athletes are in Israel's army.

The International Olympic Committee ruled against Israel because the new state is not yet a member of the organization. Egyptians said if Israel had been recognized, the Arab nations would refuse to compete.

Only a few thousand tickets remain for three days of the track and field events—July 31, Aug. 2 and Aug. 7—and about 20,000 each for the other five.

Yanks Start Practice

The big American Olympic team spread itself over the countryside and practiced with vim and vigor.

The track men toiled at Uxbridge, the Royal Air Force camp where they live. Vern McGrew, the 18-year-old Rice Institute high jumper, soared 6 feet, 7 inches with no effort. Martin Biles, the erudite javelin thrower from the University of California faculty, tossed the spear 210 feet.

Lubbock-Clarendon Clash Scheduled At Plainview Monday

Second game of the bi-district playoff series between the Lubbock American Legion "A" nine, champion of District 2, and Clarendon's District 1 winners will be played at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at Plainview, officials announced Friday night.

The important tilt was originally scheduled this afternoon at Rosenthal field, but Hubber officials said the field would not be in shape for play as a result of the fight program held at the diamond Thursday night. The old Chapman field practice diamond has been destroyed to make way for the new field house and gymnasium now under construction, with the new site not yet ready for use.

The Lubbock team defeated Clarendon, 8-2, in the first game of the playoff Thursday night at Memphis and can clinch the bi-district crown by winning the clash Monday.

The winner will represent the two districts in the area tournament which is scheduled here early in August.

LONGVIEW AL TEAM WINS

CORSICANA, Tex., July 23 (AP)—Longview's Junior American Legion baseball team defeated Corsicana today 10-5 to win a bi-district series. Longview will meet the winner of the Waco-Brownwood series in the state race.

Jaycee Fights Add $2,000 To Welfare Fund

The Thursday night fight card at Rosenthal Field, sponsored by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, was a financial success in every respect.

A crowd of 2,723 persons, not including working press and others, paid in $9,537.60 to see the scheduled 42 rounds of professional fighting. Persons who had bought approximately $200 worth of tickets, probably unable to come to the fights because of the rain, failed to appear.

Admissions Breakdown

The complete break down on the admissions is as follows: bleachers, 151; grandstand, 910; reserved seats, 261; box seats and two sections of ringside, 971; and ringside, 430. This was the actual paid attendance at the gate.

From the gross receipts, Jaycee officials paid $1,859.60 in federal tax and an additional three per cent state tax amounting to $238.44. The net profit from the tickets alone amounted to $7,871.96. In addition, the concessions, which were split with the Hubber management, brought in approximately $230, while broadcast rights added another figure of about $200.

Welfare Fund Upped

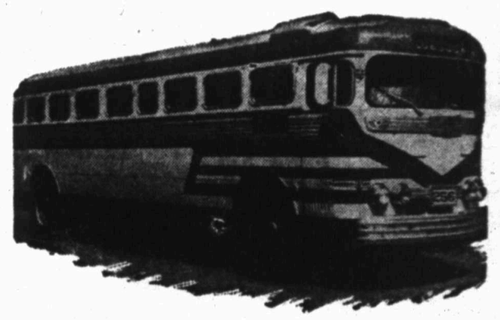

Expenses, including transportation for Jack Dempsey, fighters and others, along with fighters' pay, seats, the ring, park rental and incidentals, amounted to approximately $6,500. In all, the Jaycees estimated that they had cleared about $2,000 for their welfare fund for children.

THE CLAY REPORT:

U. S. Should Listen

IT should be the earnest hope of the American people that Washington will listen to and follow whatever advise Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. Commander in Germany, has given, or may give, while in the National capitol to report on the Berlin situation.

It is most significant that those who are best qualified for an opinion in the matter are almost unanimous in their belief that the present crisis never would have arisen if General Clay's advice had been followed. He advocated a policy which included far less of appeasement than that which has been followed and which now stands proven as a total failure. It would have called the Russian bluff at a time when, as now generally agreed, the Soviet unquestionably would have backed down if the Allies had shown the courage to refuse to submit to bullying and rank injustice.

Unfortunately, the wisdom of courses advised by General Clay have not become apparent to official Washington until too late. Now a situation has developed which threatens war.

But it is encouraging that Washington did recall the General presumably to hear his report and advice. That certainly should have been done, because no man is closer to the problem, or in better position to know exactly the situation as it exists.

It inspires some hope that the National Capitol may be disposed, at last, to pay some attention to the man whose advice, if followed earlier, almost certainly would have averted the present crisis.

Money Tightens Up

SEVERAL segments of recent development in the national economic pi ure justify added uneasiness as to what the future may hold.

Three items of a significance difficult to evaluate immediately have been reported within the past week. They were:

(1) Several further reductions in operating costs, involving lay-offs and salary reductions, were announced by some of the Hollywood film studios; (2) three Fort Worth night clubs announced somewhat drastic price slashes—following a pattern which seems to be general for such spots over the nation, and (3) operators of mountain and coast Summer resorts report that patronage has fallen "substantially" below last year's level.

These reports may or may not portend anything serious. They might mean that people generally are indulging in the commendable practice of reasonable frugality after years of prodigality. But impossible to ignore is the fact, proved by experience, that places like those mentioned invariably are the first to feel the effects when a business recession approaches.

However, there is encouragement in the further fact that a recession usually has not followed when such places have suffered declines in business. They have not been an infallible barometer. The hope is justified that they do not portend general business reverses now. But they represent a condition which thinking people in all classes must consider as they contemplate the uncertainties of the future.

(THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling owes Harry Bindle $10,000 he cannot pay. His wealthy wife, Miriam, has refused him the money. He comes home late after dodging Bindle all day. Miriam is out. Bindle phones that he will be over at 11 to collect. Marcus decides to spend the night at his club, leaves a note for Miriam. Then realizing Bindle might run into Miriam, changes his plans. He puts a large dose of his wife's sleeping potion in a highball glass. He will wait for Bindle and give it to him in a drink. The dope will make Bindle drowsy, enable Marcus to get rid of him quickly. Marcus hears the sound of a motor.)

II

THE motor died. A car door was slammed. Sterling gulped the remnant of his drink. Bindle was arriving ahead of time. Sterling waited impatiently for the doorbell. Instead, he heard the closing of the front door. Light, quick steps in the hall. Then Miriam stood in the door, looking in at him.

"Nice to find you home, Marcus," Miriam said.

There was warmth in her smile, and her voice was low, sincere. The satisfied sparkle in her large gray eyes was genuine.

She made a portrait of mature beauty between the drapes at the doorway, tall, almost slender, aristocratic.

Because her fur neckpiece was thrown back on her shoulders, there was a dazzling play of color and brilliance from the strand of huge diamonds at her throat.

Sterling got up tardily, late in erasing a frown of annoyance.

"I didn't expect you this early," he said lamely.

"I'm glad it's early. I'll stop in and visit, unless that frown. . . ."

"Sorry I frowned, Miriam. Your necklace always does that to me, you know, when you come in alone at night wearing it."

"But darling, didn't Father give it to me to wear?"

"But when you're out at night alone, Miriam! But it bores you, doesn't it, to have me tell you what men will do for a fortune like that."

"Marcus, please! It would have been nicer if you had noticed my gown. . . ." She half turned and dropped her bag on a small table near the door, then went to a chair facing the one in which Sterling had been sitting.

Sterling worried his wrist watch . . . 14 minutes of 11!

"You caught me just in time," he said. "My bag's in the hall."

"Going on a trip, Marcus?"

"Not really a trip You'll find a note I left for you on your vanity mirror. Just going to Edgecraft to be on hand for some early morning golf. It may lead to business."

"Early morning golf or late at night cards, Marcus, which?"

"Possibly some of both, Miriam. Must you always be critical?"

"Was my question critical?"

STERLING shrugged. "What would you say? Lately you've developed a terrific desire to pin me down."

"You're referring particularly to this morning, aren't you, darling? That's why you've been fidgeting since I came in here why you're upset. Still worried about needing that money you asked me for."

"I made it plain that I really needed it, didn't I? You've written checks for me before. You haven't forgotten that you married a poor man, have you, Miriam.

"But never before has it been $10,000, Marcus. And never before did it have to be in cash. What am I to think? What sort of things do you have to pay in huge sums of cash? I've read about some of them: blackmail, bribes, racketeering. I don't want to think of you in such terms, Marcus, mixed up in something common. Why wouldn't I ask you for an explanation?"

"I told you there was no woman involved. I told you there was nothing disgraceful about it. Is it too much when I ask you to help me save my pride in your eyes?"

"Have you done a great deal toward preserving that pride?" When her question went unanswered, she said quietly, smiling, "Won't you mix me a drink, Marcus, please?"

"Certinly. I'm sorry I didn't suggest it." Sterling got up and went to the bar.

Miriam spoke to his back. "I just reminded me, Marcus, that I knew I was marrying a poor man. But I was marrying a man rich in heritage. You had the name and the blood of your father. He was proud of you. He expected great things of you, even if you were handicapped by the misfortune that swept away his resources while you were in college He knew that the bank he had helped build would have a place for you, where you could carry on his name and get it back to the top again. He died with that confidence in you too, Marcus, and I shared it. I've never wanted to give up being proud of you."

AT the mixing bar, Sterling had to grip his fists to stop the trembling of his fingers. His watch showed that only 10 minutes was

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

DID you see that litle newspaper item about Mrs. Laura V. Jackson, mother of four children, who asked the Baltimore police to find her husband?

When she came home she found him gone, and this is the note he left:

"I am tired of you and the children. I am going away and stay away.

Your loving husband,
Arthur Jackson."

Seems silly, doesn't it?

Fellow leaves his wife and kids, says he is tired of them, but signs his note "your loving husband."

BRANDEIS

Of course, it's silly — but no sillier than a lot of other things we see or do

I don't know how long the Jacksons have been married, but it must be some little time, since they have four children.

That signature, "your loving husband," probably did not mean any more than a lot of those good morning and good night kisses that married people give each other.

In one of my favorite comic strips, Dagwood comes madly rushing back into the house

"I forgot to kiss you good-bye," he hollers, "and now I missed my bus."

"But you did kiss me good-bye, dear," says Blondie sweetly—and you did kiss me good-bye but you don't even know it, say a million American wives to themselves after their husbands rush off to work.

Incidentally, in my mail this morning are several letters trying to sell me different things.

One of them starts "Dear Mr. Bandels."

That's what is called a personalized letter, to make me believe that the sender really is interested in me. So he spells my name "Brandels" when it is "Brandeis."

Another calls me "Dear Mr. Brandise"—phonetic spelling, I suppose.

I think our way of addressing perfect strangers as "Dear" is just about as silly as ending a letter "your loving husband" when you are about ready to decamp.

However, it's the custom, just like giving your wife that good-bye peck when your mind is on something different.

So I suppose we'll "continue" calling a man "Dear Mr. Soandso" on top of a letter, the text of which notifies him that unless he pays his bill by return mail we are going to sue him for every penny he is worth, and, preferably, put him in jail.

For such a letter, the proper ending, of course, is "Cordially yours" or "Very sincerely yours."

ONE recent morning a couple of people dropped in to find out how I felt.

"We can only stay a moment," they said, and you have no idea how grateful I was for that.

They stayed two hours, had several cold drinks, talked my head off and made my wife miss a hairdressing appointment.

When they left, both my wife and I exclaimed:

"It was so nice of you to call. Do come again and stay longer, won't you?"

"I am tired of you . . .

Your loving husband."

ON SPECIAL SESSION

HST's Action Scored

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The increasingly dangerous crises in Berlin, the Middle East and the Far East are now advanced by White House advisers as an important reason for President Truman's demand that Congress assemble in a special session next Monday.

Although they do not attempt to laugh off the general accusation that his primary motive was political, and designed chiefly to embarrass the Dewey-Warren ticket, they insist the Chief Executive may require additional power to deal promptly and effectively with an overnight explosion abroad. Indeed, there are reports that in one of his first messages to Capitol Hill, he may request the legislators to remain in continuous session until the current conflict with Moscow has been resolved peacefully or belligerently.

TUCKER

Despite reports, Mr. Truman did not want to bring back Congress, figuring that it might hurt rather than help him. His so-called political managers, however, argued he had nothing to lose, in view of his present low state.

PRETEXT: President Truman, for instance, has no legal authority for his recent dispatch of 60 B-29's to Britain if they are to be stationed there for any length of time. He has no more right to make such a move on his own than Franklin D. Roosevelt had when he shipped artillery, rifles and ammunition to England after Dunkirk without the knowledge or consent of Congress.

The air armada has been sent abroad on the pretext that it is making a trial test, and with no reference to the "Battle of Berlin." Despite this bit of official casuistry and deception, British and French officialdom are under no illusions as to the reasons for this air reinforcement.

They regard it as an attempt to back up General Lucius D. Clay at the German capital if the Russians seek to block the air corridors through which we fly food and fuel to our sector of Berlin.

As our naval vessels pay calls on foreign ports, so these B-29's may remain in England, France or Germany under executive order for a short time. But Army lawyers believe that a permanent stay must be based on Congressional authorization.

REASON: Some of Mr. Truman's political advisers maintain he should have highlighted the foreign difficulties as his main reason for the special session. Then, when he had kidnaped the legislators from their homes, he could have sprung on them his demands that they make good on their platform pledges on high prices, health, education etc.

For the fact is that the reaction to the Truman challenge has been generally unfavorable. White House Secretary Charles G. Ross's announcement that letters on this question have been favorable by a twenty-to-one ration does not mean a thing.

As a rule, only those holding the affirmative ever communicate their views to the White House, and they usually consist of extremists ready to "take their pen in hand" if a pen happens to be handy.

But the presidential thrust has been characterized as "political, slick, a campaign maneuver, dangerous etc." even by friendly columnists and editorial writers. The reaction in high places abroad has been most unfavorable, in view of the possibility that this sort of strategy may mean the collapse of the nonpartisan cooperation on foreign questions.

RESCUE: London and Paris did not fail to note that one of the first Republicans to condemn the special session call as "the last gasp of a dying group of politicians," or words to that effect, was Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, president pro tem of the Senate, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee and the one man on Capitol Hill who persuaded even GOP "isolationists" to back the Truman-Marshall program.

It is for these reasons that there is now a belated effort to rush to Mr. Truman's rescue with the explanation that he forgot to mention the foreign crises when he issued his call for a special session.

In this connection, it should be noted that Secretary of State Marshall has refused flatly to participate in the coming campaign. He does not believe that foreign policy should become a partisan issue. He is understood to be deeply disturbed at the tone of the Democratic platform and the threats of certain Democratic Senators to brand the GOP as suffering from an "isolationist hangover."

BIOGRAPHY: The sad, inside story of the deluxe biography of Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., which was designed to win him the Republican presidential nomination, can now be told.

The book was written by two ex-newspapermen at Washington whose services are for sale to politicians in or out of office. Besides helping to write this book, one of the authors framed the Mississippi Democrats' defiance of a pro-Civil Right nominee and platform.

Three thousand copies of the biography were printed on good paper and with fine bindings, so that the product would not look like a mere quickie job. They were stored in in a Philadelphia warehouse for distribution among the 3,000-odd delegates at the opportune moment.

RIDE: The "opportune moment" would have come near the end of a prolonged Dewey-Taft-Stassen deadlock. Then Speaker Martin would have been the brightest of dark horses—a real palomino—and with an excellent chance for the nomination.

Indeed, his selection would have generated more enthusiasm among the Capitol Hill bloc than did Mr. Dewey's, just as Senator Barkley's stirred more cheers among Congressmen than Truman's did.

But Mr. Martin's chance for a Paul Revere ride through the political night never came. So, he himself gave the order that his biography never see the light of a human eye.

You needn't be afraid of a person who does a lot of blustery, loud talking. When you can hear the thunder, the lightning hasn't struck you.

An old-timer is one who can remember 'way back when school teachers and parents thought the board of education was a paddle.

A radio network says it has barred opinions from its broadcasts. But it hasn't. Last night we heard an announcer on this network strongly imply that a certain soap was far superior to any soap in this neck of the universe.

Dewey exasperates us. He never does anything to justify our intuitive dislike of him.

Considering life as a whole, a man 70 or older has probably derived more genuine, unalloyed satisfaction out of drinking coffee than out of anything else.

It is hoped a physicist's statement is true that man will soon be in control of the weather Most of us have long wanted to have somebody to blame the weather on.

CRITICS OF MOVE SCORED

Session Just Democracy At Work

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Every so often some of our people, some of our most high-minded and intelligent folks, seem to lose faith in our political ways and institutions and our hurly-burly Democratic way of life.

And thereby their sense of humor.

Just now, for example, some people are uttering solemn incantations about how terrible it is that President Truman called Congress back into special session when all those fellows will do up there at the capitol is to play politics, make political speeches, and, alas, possibly say something that might disturb our international relations.

STOKES

It is hardly complimentary to out national legislative body. It is also contradictory to the sturdiness of our Democratic way.

Process Not Unusual

Likewise, it is somewhat contradictory to single out Congress for special, hands-off treatment in a political year such as this when there's sound and fury everywhere else. In a political year—even in wartime—we habitually go through a process—not always refined and gentlemanly, it is true—which consists of each party analyzing and dissecting and slam-banging the personalities and attitudes of the other. If Congress is in session the process goes on there as elsewhere, but there's no cause to be righteous about it.

Already we have had two national party conventions in which speaker after speaker ranted and complained about people and policies in the other, with gloves off, and in full sight and sound of newspapers, radio and television and scads of correspondents of foreign newspapers.

It's hardly likely that anybody in the special session of Congress will find harsher or meaner things to say, for example, about the President of the United States, his domestic and foreign policy, than was said in those conventions, including that of his own party. Nor is anybody in Congress likely to say anything more critical about Russia and Joe Stalin and his crew than was said at Philadelphia, and the delicate situation at Berlin was building up during those conventions and re-counted on the same front pages with convention proceedings and sayings.

After those conventions, we had more spleen spilled down at Birmingham by the confederate "walk-out" reunion to reveal once again, in inflammatory speeches, a negation of our vaunted Democratic way of life in one sector that we are not too anxious to have the rest of the world know about. Yet there it is. That's us.

A lot of other unpleasant remarks about key men and figures in both the major parties and about their policies and motives are coming out of Philadelphia as the Wallace third party holds its national convention. Its "appeasement" of Russia isn't liked by some folks, just as the bitter diatribes against Russia at the other two conventions weren't pleasing to others—but somehow it all exemplifies the turmoil of our Democracy, which is nothing new, and perhaps cancels itself out. Joe Stalin and Europe in general are perhaps shrewder about what it all means, or doesn't mean, than we think. It's all gone on for a long, long time.

All this goes on—yet Congress shouldn't meet now.

Tut, tut and fie, fie!

Special Interests Scored

Congress is very much a part of our government. What it does or does not do is of interest to all of us. President Truman has made an issue of certain of its derelictions and omissions under Republican management, and a very healthy thing it is that this should be all talked out so we can see where we stand and refresh ourselves on Congress before we have to vote on a new Congress.

The truth is that much of the deploring and wringing of hands about Congress coming back is inspired by interests which are fearful that Congress might possibly do something about some things such as housing and health and education and civil rights, and so they bemoan piously and ponderously like pharisees.

You did not find these people disturbed by the spectacles at Philadelphia and Birmingham, nor bothered about what was said and done at those places about the man who is President of the United States. No, that was in an entirely different category — pleasing, in fact. Because it presaged the disintegration, temporarily at least, of a once great political party that stood for things and accomplished things contrary to their own selfish interests.

But Philadelphia and Birmingham were in the traditional Democratic way. And so is Congress.

Bitter Reprieve

left before Harry Bindle would be at the front door. Miriam seemed in a mood to talk on and on. He had to get her out . . . up to her own room. What she was saying was being lost on him. Only one thing counted. She had no intention of helping him.

He grasped the glass he had intended for Bindle. The double dose would work fast. He convinced himself that it couldn't possibly be fatal . . . not a dozen invisible drops in a stiff highball. He'd merely have to carry her up to her room, then take care of things after he handled Bindle.

He took a grip on himself and managed to carry the drink to Miriam, holding one for himself in his other hand. As she took the glass from him, Miriam said, "Darling, you're actually trembling. I didn't intend . . ."

"It's nothing," Sterling interrupted, retreating to his own chair. He thought of cigarets. He had his case out, and lighter . . . got up. "Cigaret, Miriam?" he asked.

Miriam was out of her chair, her untouched drink on the table beside it. Her eyes were lighted by a smile he couldn't understand. "I'll get one of my own, Marcus." She moved quickly to the table near the door and picked up her bag. Her back to Sterling, again seated, Miriam said, while searching in her bag, "What I've looked for most in you, Marcus, is to quit running away from things. I've been hoping to see you grow up and have the courage to face things."

Something in Marcus Sterling snapped. "I've been facing you for almost three years," he said. He had hurled it at her bitterly. He instantly regretted his words.

Miriam stood rigid, her back still to her husband, her bag open in front of her. The tense silence of the momentary tableau was broken when she snapped her bag shut. She did not turn at once. She had been unmercifully wounded and she knew the pain was showing in her face. She waited until she could be sure it had been erased. She turned like one in a hypnotic spell. Sterling could not have told her more plainly what she long had been fearing to believe: that he did not love her; that for him it was only a marriage of form, after its first brief romantic spurt.

SHE walked back to her chair slowly, her bag clutched under one arm. She had not taken out her cigarets. Her face was a frozen pallor and in her eyes, turned fully upon her husband, was a tragic mixture of torture and compassion. She bent down and picked up the drink Sterling had given her. He sat petrified, watching.

"I'm very tired, Marcus," she said gently. "I've had a hard day. I'll take my drink up with me. Thanks. I'll drink it when I'm ready for bed." When she had turned away from him, she added, "Good night."

Sterling watched her go, powerless to get out of his chair. He mumbled, "Good night." He heard the door of her bedroom close before he got to his feet. His clothes clung to his big body uncomfortably. His cheeks burned. He paced nervously. He looked at his watch. Five more minutes. For Bindle, he no longer had any semblance of a plan. He found his mind working on what Miriam had said: growing up and facing things. Well, he'd have to face Bindle. He went to the radio and turned it on. There would be an announcement of 11 o'clock and then the news. That might be a good idea, to have the news going on the radio, to prevent voices—his voice and Bindle's voice—from being distinguishable upstairs. He had already forgotten about the double dose of sleeping drops in Miriam's drink.

Miriam's voice came down to him. He went out into the hall. Miriam was standing at the head of the stairway.

"I forgot about the cars, Marcus," Miriam called down. "Your car had the driveway blocked, and now my car has you blocked from getting out. I'll throw you my keys. Here they are."

A ring of keys fell at his feet. "Be careful about my keys," Miriam called. "Leave them beside the telephone. Thanks."

Sterling watched her move away . . . watched until she closed her door. He picked up the keys and palmed them with the ring around one finger. He was back at the radio just in time to hear the 11 o'clock "bing." He hurried back into the hall, moved quickly to the front door. Se saw a thick, shadowy figure coming toward the porch, waited for the first heavy footstep. He had the door open before Harry Bindle's thick finger found the doorbell button.

MARKET CONTINUES RALLY
NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—A sleepy stock market extended its rally for the fourth day running today.
Turnover amounted to only 820,000 shares, which labeled the session as one of the slowest in several months.
Demand for railroad issues helped stiffen the price structure and for a time oil stocks did fairly well. Few issues strayed more than fractionally from the previous close.
Numerous traders took hands off attitude for several reasons: the Berlin situation looked a little better but a compromise is still to be reached; and the President on Tuesday will deliver a message to congress.
Another deterrent to activity was the approaching long weekend.
Business news continued good, notably in the field of railway earnings for June.
Sales of 820,000 shares compared with 850,000 Thursday. This was the smallest since 760,000 shares changed hands in late March but today's total has been matched twice since then.
The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced to 69.7. Of the oil issues which appeared on the tape, 462 advanced and 292 declined.
Among the larger gainers were Texas Gulf sulphur 68½, Denver & Rio Grande Western common 37¾ and preferred 55¼, Lion Oil 49, Pure Oil 36⅛, Southern Pacific 57⅛, Republic Aviation 11⅞, Oliver Corp., 34⅜, General Motors 63¼ and American Smelting 60¾.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, July 23. (AP)—Trading in July contracts ended on the board of trade today with some wide last minute price swings.
Featuring last minute dealing was a spectacular run-up in July wheat, which jumped nearly as much as 10 cents on a few sales. Buying came from previous short-sellers who did not want delivery of the actual grain.
Action on the July deliveries, particularly in wheat, was purely technical speculation and not representative of the entire market. However, deferred wheat contracts maintained a steady tone through to the close.
The steady tone of wheat was based on a belief that large quantities of the grain were going into the government loan. This may make grain somewhat scarce later in the season, some traders reasoned. In addition, the government raised the buying price for cash wheat.
Price fluctuations in July corn were hard to follow. This contract opened higher, sank to around the previous close, spurted as much as 2 cents in a short-covering movement and then sank below the previous close again.
In July oats the trend was downward most of the session.
July wheat ended 4½-9½ higher at $2.31¼-$2.36½, July corn was ½ lower to 3¼ higher at $2.08-$2.12 and July oats were 3½-4¼ lower at 73¾-72¾.
Deferred wheat contracts were ⅛ lower to 1⅜ higher, deferred corn ¼ lower to ⅝ higher, deferred oats ¾-¾ higher.

Wheat Acreage Reduction Urged

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—The Agriculture department recommended today that farmers plant 71,500,000 acres in wheat for 1949—about 8 per cent less than this year's acreage.

With an average yield of 15 bushels an acre, the 1938-47 average, this would mean 1949 production of nearly 1,100,000,000 bushels. The July 1 estimate of 1948 wheat production was 1,241,751,000 bushels.

The department estimated that a harvest of 1,100,000,000 bushels next year would be sufficient for domestic export and carry-over needs.

Beef Cattle Cut Urged

Setting another farm goal, the department recommended a beef cattle breeding herd of 15,500,000 cows next January 1. This would represent a decrease of about 500,000 head below the total last January 1.

The department said the wheat goal is intended to bring about adjustments in areas of relatively low productivity without seriously affecting total production. Wheat acreage has increased sharply in recent years in response to war and relief needs.

The department urged farmers to provide for sufficient summer fallow and, in marginal areas, to plant grass seed on land which is not suitable for sustained production of crops.

Other considerations in arriving at the wheat goal were this year's increased carry-over, prospects that the 1948 crop will be the second largest in history, and the possibility of smaller demand because of improved crops in many importing countries.

Large Carry-Over Feared

The department cautioned that the wheat carry-over next year may be even larger. It said failure of Congress to ratify the international wheat agreement, which would have guaranteed a substantial export market for U. S. wheat for five years, "has cast doubt on our ability to maintain high-level production and exports."

In setting the beef cattle breeding goal at 15,500,000 on farms next January 1, the department suggested better management, improved feeding practices and thorough culling "to put the cattle industry in better position to supply the meat requirements of the increased population."

Johnson Holds Lead

Jester about seven out of every ten votes. The July 22-23 poll reveals he may now expect closer to six out of every ten. Complete analysis of the latest survey is to be made when all the questionnaires have been received in Austin.

Some Voters Dropped

All scientifically conducted pre-election polls must do two things if they expect to compare reasonably well with election results:

First—people who admit they are not going to vote or are not likely to vote must be left out of the tabulations. These improbable voters cannot be included because their opinions may differ from those who will vote. In The Texas Poll early this week the interviewers asked a series of questions through which we eliminated 29 per cent of the interviews with improbable voters. Thus the results here reported are based on the 71 per cent who said they would vote.

Second—Voters who are undecided at the time of the poll must also be left out. These people must either make up their minds by election day or will not vote in the race for which they are undecided. All the poll manager can hope for is that the undecided who finally do vote will cast ballots for various candidates in about the same proportions as all other voters.

The elimination of improbable voters is possible only in polls taken close to election day, because many people are not able to say with certainty until shortly before the election whether they intend to vote. Therefore, during the campaign The Texas Poll publishes results based on the entire electorate, and in its final survey before election, it publishes the standings considering both the entire electorate and probable voters only.

The following figures show the distribution of votes in the Senate race in three polls, including a complete cross section of the electors, whether they intend to vote or not:

Survey ending	June 12	July 3	July 21
Stevenson	46.6%	46.5%	44.0%
Johnson	36.8	38.5	38.5
Peddy	12.0	10.9	14.2
All Others	4.6	4.4	3.5

All sampling surveys are subject to a statistical margin of error. Our survey experience has shown that one should allow plus or minus four percentage points in interpreting the results. Actually, The Texas Poll has averaged 3.2 points error in picking ten election winners. Its worst error was in 1946, whin it missed 6.9 on Jester. And the same year it made its best record, a deviation of less than one half of one percentage point in predicting Allan Shivers as lieutenant governor in the runoff.

Brunnier Is Named Mayor Of Lockney In Special Election

LOCKNEY, July 23 (Special)—G. M. Brunnier, lumber and building supply dealer of this city, was elected mayor of Lockney at a special election held Tuesday. He fills the vacancy created by the death of Mayor R. L. Maggard.

Brunnier will serve as mayor until next April, when the term officially expires. He has resided here about 14 months, and is a former resident of Groom.

Dewey, Eisenhower Call For 'Firmness' In Berlin Crisis

PAWLING, N. Y., July 23. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today called for "absolute firmness" against Russia in the Berlin crisis.

Dewey, the Republican presidential candidate, told reporters after a conference with Eisenhower at the governor's farm here:

"We agreed our country must stand with absolute firmness in Berlin and at the same time neglect no avenues toward the finding of a peaceable solution."

Unification Discussed

Eisenhower came to Pawling at Dewey's request. For three hours they discussed the European situation in general, the Berlin blockade in detail and means of improving unification of the United States armed services.

Both emphasized the meeting was non-political.

Eisenhower said:

"We found ourselves in agreement that the United States must be firm. We found ourselves in agreement that in a place as critical as this (Berlin), the United States must be firm.

"If it knows its moral position is correct and that position is in conformity with solemn agreements, it cannot properly in this day and time back up from it."

Asked if he thought a peaceful solution of the Berlin crisis could be found, Eisenhower said:

"I do. Certainly I believe there is still no one in the world mad enough to seek a solution by force of arms."

News Conference

called "guru" letters. "Guru" is an East Indian word meaning "teacher." It usually denotes a religious teacher.

For some months, Westbrook Pegler, a columnist, has been writing about a set of letters. He has asked whether Wallace wrote some mystic notes to a man he addressed as "Guru." Pegler also has attempted to determine whether this man influenced Wallace's thinking and his policies.

The columnist was present at the conference today.

Someone brought up the question of the "guru letters" and Wallace replied, "I never discuss Westbrook Pegler."

There was an instant's hush, and then Pegler rose. He asked Wallace the direct question if he did or did not write the letters.

Wallace, flushing, said, "I will never engage in any discussion with Westbrook Pegler."

When another correspondent posed the same query, Wallace shot back: "Nor will I engage in discussion with a stooge of Westbrook Pegler." Since Wallace had stipulated that each correspondent could ask but one question Pegler was unable to pursue it himself.

Answer Is Refused

Mary Spargo of the Washington Post stood up. Fighting for control of her voice, she said: "I am not a stooge for anybody, Mr. Wallace. I don't even agree with his column. But you have been talking here about objectivity in reporting and you cited that point in your letter to Josef Stalin. Therefore, I demand that you answer this question."

Wallace said he wouldn't answer. Some people in the back of the room began to stamp and shout.

Then, in turn, Warren Francis of the Los Angeles Times and Henry Mencken of the Baltimore Sun took the floor. Wallace called Francis "another stooge." He agreed with Mencken that Mencken was not "stooging." Mencken said, "If you won't answer the question as to whether you wrote those letters, tell us, at least, the reason why you won't answer it."

Wallace Man Shouts

Wallace said because it wasn't important.

The noise was increasing. A man wearing a Wallace button and standing near the front row shouted: "If you stooges don't like this, why don't you get the hell out of here?"

Another columnist, Doris Fleeson, managed somehow to make herself heard through the pandemonium. She said, "Some people defended you and your actions in 1940 and 1944. You owe it to them to clear up this matter."

Wallace said he would, but at his own discretion.

The information could not be brought out. To that degree, the effort was a failure.

Cost Of Living Up

However, Senator Knowland (R-Calif) said he expects Congress will "do a constructive and conscientious job" and "will give ample and careful consideration to anything that the President suggests."

Knowland predicted Mr. Truman will ask for revival of government price control and Congress will turn him down.

"I don't believe that "price control is a solution," he told a reporter. "We can't produce enough to bring down prices and supply the world under such a system. It would lead to shortages and black markets."

Four Injured As B-25 Bomber Crashes, Bursts Into Flames

NEWARK, N. J., July 23 (INS)—Four men including Maj. Gen. Robert M. Webster, commanding general of the First air force, were injured today when their B-25 crashed near the end of a runway at Newark airport and burst into flames.

The Air force public relaitons office said the four men were taken to St. James hospital in Newark where their injuries were described as "not serious."

Quick Tabulations Sought

Caution was urged of voters regarding bringing of sample ballots or seeking voting information from anyone around the polls and election officials issued an appeal for voters to present their poll tax receipts in order to save voting time.

Election judges were requested by Ellis to make returns of the election as quickly as possible to him. Ellis said he would, as usual, "accept the returns in first floor offices of The Avalanche-Journal."

The Avalanche-Journal also will play host over radio station KFYO, 1340 on your dial, at an election news party. Commencing at 7:30 p. m., news from local, state, district and congressional races will be announced.

The Avalanche-Journal will present the state and district and congressional news through co-operation with other newspapers of the area, the Texas Election bureau and through efforts of its own staff.

Ellis said election judges would be urged to employ "plenty of help so as to hasten the count of ballots."

New Air Fleet

was winging across the Atlantic, hurrying back to his post to put the new American plans into operation.

Briefly, as he reported them, these are:

Bigger Planes Planned

1. To throw a big new fleet of four-engined C-54 cargo planes into the British-American ferry service between the western zones of Germany and the western sectors of Berlin. The present daily average delivery is 2,500 tons. When the C-54's, carrying 10 tons each, replace all the two-engined C-47's, carrying 2½ tons each, the daily average delivery will be about 4,500 tons.

2. To build a new airport in Berlin which will again indefinitely enlarge the capacity of the air lift by enabling more planes to operate. The port, however, will take a considerable time to complete.

The greatest direct importance of the increase in plane delivery capacity, Clay brought out, is that it will enable the United States and Britain not only to get into Berlin adequate food supplies to prevent starvation but also enough coal to minimize suffering. Clay said "there will be some suffering" but it will not be disastrous.

Meantime, the Berlin situation also was the subject of a conference between Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, at Dewey's Pawling, N. Y., farm.

Dewey later told reporters:

"We agree our country must stand with absolute firmness in Berlin and at the same time neglect no avenues toward the finding of a peaceable solution."

Eisenhower said: "We found ourselves in agreement that the United States must be firm."

Navy Announces Suspension Of Enlistments For July

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—The Navy announced today it has suspended recruiting for the balance of July.

It said qualified applicants will be put on waiting lists for the balance of the month and taken in under August quotas.

"Due to the heavy increase in the number of men applying for enlistment for the Navy, it has been found necessary to defer ordering recruits from recruiting centers to recruiting stations," an announcement said.

"This action is necessary in order not to overtax the training facilities of the two naval training centers at San Diego and Great Lakes. For the remainder of July, qualified applicants will be placed on waiting lists and will be processed under the quotas for August."

Youth Is Found Guilty By Jury

A jury that reported at 4:25 p. m. Friday to 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue recommended punishment of five years in the penitentiary for Billy Joe Short, 19, whom it found guilty of burglary March 21 of Lubbock Packing company.

The verdict was signed by I. W. White as foreman.

Defense Counsel Ben Kucera made no immediate announcement as to whether Short will ask a new trial, will appeal or accept the sentence.

Sentence Suspended

A jury's inability to arrive at a unanimous verdict had resulted in a mistrial of the same indictment May 18.

Bud Shankle, 25, was allowed suspension of a five-year sentence imposed after he had pleaded guilty Friday afternoon of an indictment charge of swindling. He, through his attorney, C. L. Harris, made affidavit that he had never previously been convicted of a felony offense. He waived a jury and entered his plea before the court.

Earlier in the day, Fonzie Johnson, jr., 21, a negro, pleaded guilty of an aggravated assault charge and was fined $100 and court costs. By agreement, the charge was reduced from assault with intent to murder Eugene Hankins, another negro, on May 16.

Jury Panel Dismissed

Other members of the Short jury were Charles H. Whalen, W. R. Adams, Harold Wilson, W. M. Underwood, W. E. Pohl, Buel Hall, Smith Shaw, C. C. Files, W. A. Patterson, Exie Blackmon, and W. L. Harris.

The jury, as had been the jury panel earlier in the day, was dismissed by Judge Pardue, inasmuch as today is Democratic primary election day.

The sheriff's department said it had arrested Danny Floyd, 30, after his bondsmen on a charge of theft by bailee had requested permission to withdraw as sureties.

Floyd's trial had been slated for this week.

Next criminal week in the 99th district will be the week of Sept. 20, district attorney Lloyd Croslin and E. G. Pharr, his assistant, said.

Rains Aid Farmers

tied to the rain by D. W. Sherrill, Lubbock county agent, Friday morning after a survey of the rain had been made.

Rain Clouds Return

After apparently "fizzling out" late Thursday night, the clouds again swept across the Plains early Friday morning and added varying amounts of percipitation to an already good total in some areas and moved into dry territory heretofore untouched by the recent thundershowers.

Lubbock had recorded .73 up until 10 p. m. Thursday, the weather station reported, but at 6 a. m. Friday the total had run up to .91 and another .04 was added after the early morning check for a grand total of .95 inch. The downtown area which received little of the Thursday night rain apparently received a generous portion of the Friday morning rain as water was standing in yards, streets, and in low areas over the city up until noon Friday.

The Becton area laid claim to the "most" rain with about four inches falling Thursday afternoon. Lorenzo, Ralls, Idalou, Crosbyton, Shallowater, Ropes, Meadow, and O'Donnell reported good rains varying from an inch up to nearly three inches.

O'Donnell, Levelland, Brownfield, Amherst, Morton, Whiteface, Seagraves, Tahoka and Wilson received the bulk of their rainfall, ranging from an inch to .25, early Friday morning.

The rains, farmers indicated, came in the "nick of time." According to their view much of the area, except in the heavily irrigated sections, was beginning to need rainfall, not acutely, but to the extent that good percipitation would keep crops growing at a steady pace without a period of "standing still" due to a lack of sufficient soil moisture.

Mummified Cat And Rat Are Found In Wall Of Old House

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 23 (INS)—Workmen tearing down an old Charlotte rooming house got quite a start today.

They saw a mummified cat in between the walls standing on all fours ready to jump on a mummified rat.

The animals are believed to have been there some 70 years.

Slaying Suspect

Mansfield tomorrow against Daniels for killing John E. Niebel, Mansfield reformatory farm superintendent, his wife and daughter, last Wednesday.

Apparently an understanding had been reached that other counties would waive their claim to the prisoners and that he would be turned over to Richland county, site of the reformatory.

Prisoner Transferred

Daniels was transferred to the Mercer county jail at Celina, about 25 miles south of here, tonight.

Assistant Prosecutor Sumner Walter said the 22-year-old youth was moved as a "precautionary measure."

Walters said he did not expect mob violence against Daniels and added the crowds that milled around the Van Wert jail had been orderly.

The two desperadoes were captured only a few hours after the seventh of their slayings, and their second of last night and early today. At Tiffin, 85 miles east, they had killed Orville Taylor, 28, of Niles, Mich., to obtain his driveaway truck, loaded with four Studebaker cars, in an attempt to sneak through an ever-tightening noose of law-enforcement officers looped over northern Ohio.

Shooting Begins

Only a couple of hours earlier they had slain a 25-year-old Tiffin farmer, James Smith, as he sat beside his young wife in their car. The husband, en route home with his wife after an evening at an ice cream parlor, was killed when he objected to the men taking his driver's license.

The two-week manhunt ended as the driveaway, with West at the wheel and Daniels in one of the four cars on the trailer, pulled up to the road block. Sheriff Shaffer, Conn "covering" him with a submachine gun, asked West if he had any passengers.

West said he didn't have, but the sheriff told him to wait anyway. As Shaffer discovered Daniels crouched in the car, West came out of the cab shooting. He wounded Sgt. Conn and county game protector Frank A. Friemoth, 55, before Conn's bullet felled him.

Ignores Crowd

Daniels, although he had three weapons beside him, put up his hands aid crawled out. He said to the sheriff:

"Don't shoot! You've got me. Tell me what to do."

West died en route to Van Wert county hospital. Daniels was put in the county jail.

Regaining some of his bravado after being placed in a cell, Daniels ignored a crowd of several hundred which milled around the jail with yells of:

"Hang the rat! Kill him now! Let us have him."

Later, when being photographed, one of the newsmen asked him to smile, but he snarled:

"Go to hell! I'm not smiling for any of you ——"

Sheriff Shaffer said Daniels admitted participating in five of the killings for which the pair had been sought in Ohio's most far-flung man hunt. He declined to sign a confession, the sheriff said, but admitted he was in on the triple killing of the Niebels; the Early C. Ambrose slaying in Columbus, July 10, and last night's slaying of Taylor. The sheriff said he did not question him about the Smith killing, and the July 10 slaying of Frank Krech of Flat Rock, Mich., because he (the sheriff) did not know about that.

The sheriff quoted Daniels as saying West was the triggerman in all the shootings. But in a later interview with Lutz, Daniels admitted killing the Niebels.

About the Niebel shooting, Daniels said:

"Johnny and I planned this for three or four months. We wanted to beat hell out of him (Niebel) and if they'd given me a little more time, we'd have wiped 'em all out—those at the reformatory."

"We really went to the reformatory the other day to get Red Phillips (a guard), but we couldn't find him."

Daniels said that after kidnapping the Niebels, he and West made them undress in the car. After reaching the cornfield, Daniels said:

"I told 'em (the Niebels) to line up. Then I shot him, then the girl and then the woman."

Daniels told Lutz that West shot Ambrose, Smith and Taylor. The gunman said he knew nothing about the Krech slaying, and authorities said they were inclined to believe him. West remains the leading suspect in the Michigan murder, however, police said.

Plainview Man Is Sentenced As Result Of Unauthorized Flight

SAN ANGELO, July 23 (AP)—S/Sgt. Loyd C. Terrell, of Plainview, was sentenced by a military court to five years imprisonment and dishonorable discharge as a result of his unauthorized flight in a Goodfellow field training plane, the base public relations office said tonight.

The flight was last week. The announcement said Terrell was found guilty of a charge of "misappropriation of government property," and was sentenced today.

Sentence is subject to review by both higher headquarters and the air judge advocate in Washington.

Terrell was arrested July 14. A plane from the field had disappeared and was landed several hours later at the farm of Terrell's parents near Plainview. He was driving to the base here when he was arrested near Lubbock.

Heavy Vote Seen In State Today

early morning radio address scheduled for today.

Johnson was also confident of victory. Thirty private planes roared a welcome to the helicoptering candidate's arrival in Dallas for a big stage revue and rally yesterday.

The 10th district congressman predicted election by an "overwhelming majority" but said regardless of a run-off or not, he would return to Washington Monday for the opening of the special session of Congress.

In an early morning radio address, Johnson's candidacy was endorsed by two former governors, James V. Allred and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Candidate Peddy made a final swing through Harris county towns before two radio addresses last night.

Jester Schedules Appeal

He told newspaper representatives that his headquarters supplied him with enthusiastic reports from throughout the state on his return to Houston.

Peddy was described as "a confident candidate" as he moved out of his wind-up tour.

Gov. Jester scheduled a last-minute radio broadcast at 6:30 a. m. today before the polls open at 7 a.m. Evans and March both closed at Fort Worth last night.

At Austin today Stevenson was prompted by the "disturbed situation in Berlin" to issue a statement that he is not an isolationist.

Voting weather for the first Democratic primaries may be marred somewhat in some sections by rain, the Weather bureau said Friday night.

Widely scattered afternoon thundershowers were forecast for the north and central portions of East Texas. Widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers were forecast for West Texas.

Senate Race Hottest

Friday's last-minute talks by the various candidates brought to a close a campaign enlivened principally by the political dogfight between Johnson, Stevenson and Peddy for the U. S. Senate seat being vacated by W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel.

Eleven candidates actually are in the race, but only the "big three" are conceded any chance of making any showing.

Voters also will ballot today on a nominee for governor among eight candidates including Gov. Jester; vote in congressional races in 14 of the state's 21 districts, and pass upon candidates for 11 other state offices.

Nomination will mean election. There are no Republican candidates. Leading candidates who do not receive majorities today will go into a runoff campaign with the next high men, for the second primary Aug. 25.

National politics also have made their effect felt in the state race. The southern split has figured in Rep. Sam Rayburn's 19th campaign for Congress in the Fourth district. Although the former speaker has publicly announced his opposition to the Civil Rights program, his two opponents have accused him of being lukewarm. They are state Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville and Judge David H. Brown of Sherman.

FIGHTS SEEN OVER STATE IN PRECINCT MEETINGS

(By The Associated Press)

Neighborhood precinct conventions throughout Texas tomorrow night will debate which of two Democratic parties should Texas Democratic electors support.

Decisions made in the precinct conventions will form the groundwork for county conventions a week later and for the Sept. 14 state convention for which a fight is brewing.

The Texas Democratic convention resolved at Brownwood to support the "nominees of the Democratic party." At that time, there was only one Democratic party. Now there are two—the Truman-Barkley Democrats and the Thurman-Wright Democra'ts. Both claim to be "the" Democratic party.

tomorrow morning to Nassau county authorities. The UN headquarters is in Nassau county.

So Supina's wish to be returned to the United Nations will, in effect, be granted.

The World War Two flyer emphasized that he had no desire, in his dramatic flight over the UN to harm anyone or do any damage. His home-made explosive was so rigged that it exploded harmlessly in the air.

Supina's urgent peace beliefs were emphasized by an announcement at Lake Success today that a note had been picked up in the vicinity of the UN headquarters. the gist of which was "we must have peace; we don't believe in war."

Authorities said the message was written on the back of Supina's discharge papers.

Guards at UN said apparently the message was attached to the "bomb" dropped from Supina's plane when it buzzed low over Lake Success late yesterday.

deal and the machine-made sell-out.

"We meet in a hall still littered with the phoney promises of bargain-basement politicians and corporation counsels.

"Well, the carbon-copy conventions are over. The money changers are gone from this temple. Now at last we have come to say what the people need, what the people demand, and what the people shall have."

The 54-year-old Des Moines lawyer and publisher, a negro with 30 years of allegiance to the GOP, cried out to Americans everywhere to accept the challenge of new political frontiers.

"Frontier Awaits Us"

"The new trails await us," said his prepared-in-advance text. "The frontier awaits us. The rebirth of this nation awaits our coming. And we are on the march.

With equal impartiality and force, Howard waded into what he called: "The party of the mechanical smile or the Missouri compromise," a Congress whose "order of the day was kill, kill, kill" for civil rights laws, and a president —Mr. Truman—who has "been long on say-so and short on do-so."

Wallace himself listened in and looked on with a television set in his headquarters at the Bellevue Stratford hotel.

"Plain People" Welcomed

A few hours before, he had bustled into town to say he is no Communist but that he won't snub Communist support based on "an interest in peace." He predicted a "surprising" vote for his party but cautiously held back any forecast that he will move into the White House next January.

Tonight's convention program was mostly one of song and oratory and routine business.

The opening speaker was Elmer A. Benson, former governor of Minnesota, in his role of chairman of the National Wallace for President club.

He held out the hand of welcome to the "plain people" and also told the delegates in his prepared speech:

Alternatives Given

"You can have peace or war, but it will have to be one or the other.

"These are the alternatives which this new party will place before the American people.

"Without this party there are no alternatives. There are only military budgets, young men in uniform, and war."

And in other prepared addresses:

Josiah Gitt, York, Pa., newspaper publisher, welcomed the delegates as chairman of the convention arrangements committee and of the Pennsylvania Progressive party.

The new party, he said, will not be swerved "by fear or timidity because of hysteria whipped up by reaction." He said "loud whispers" and "smokescreens" have been used against the party.

Negro Is Speaker

C. B. Baldwin, Wallace campaign manager, said the new party is "no temporary election coalition." Rather, he said:

"This is the birth of a new party—soon to be the first party."

And then in the keynote address, a man of different race from most of those gathered in this auditorium, offered this thought to his listeners:

"The plain fact that I stand here before you tonight defines our party.

"For the first time in my life, I am experiencing human dignity."

At stake, Howard said, is the survival of civilization. Yet, he went on:

"Wallace Or War" Is Cry

"I say—that we of the new party—that there is no difference between the United States and the Soviet Union too big to be settled at the conference table. And we say that the last best hope of earth is the belief that human beings can join together to prevent their destruction."

But Howard complained that:

"The White House has said that it is tired of talking over differences, and I say that we are tired of dying over them. The diplomats of the carbon-copy parties have proved that they are not interested in seeking peace.

"And that is why we of the new party say that the choice is Wallace or war."

Red Questions American

The two soldiers wandered by mistake yesterday into the Soviet sector of Berlin and Goff, assistant chief of the domestic labor section in the Berlin military post engineer's office, was arrested Wednesday at Marienborn near the western occupation frontier.

None was mistreated, and the soldiers denied yesterday's report that a scuffle preceded their arrest.

Goff said he was quizzed by a Russian civilian whom he understood belonged to MVD, the Soviet secret police, and two other Russians in civilian clothing.

Goff said he was asked about American troop strength in Berlin, the status of food stocks and other matters. He said he parried these by asking the Russians about matters in their sector.
