Wichita Woman Killed As Car Turns Over Near Henrietta

SECOND CRASH VICTIM GOES TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Dorothy Mayo Dies Under Wreckage Of Machine

AUTO HITS DITCH

Trio Escape Injury As Blowout Hurtles Automobile

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, March 9.—Mrs. Dorothy Mayo of Wichita Falls was instantly killed and D. E. Herring, also of Wichita Falls, was injured when the automobile in which they were riding with another woman and two youths overturned about 6 o'clock on the Fort Worth highway seven miles east of here near the Hargood ranch.

The automobile, a small coupe, which was moving westward toward Henrietta was driven by Mrs. Helen Cobb of Wichita Falls and hurtled into a deep ditch along the road when a tire blew out as the the machine was steered to the side of the road to allow another machine to pass, witnesses said. Mrs. Mayo was pinned beneath the wreckage with a broken neck. The other occupants were thrown clear of the overturned automobile but Herring sustained painful, although not serious, injuries to his chest and arm. He was brought to Wichita Falls Clinic hospital in Wichita Falls. Mrs. Cobb and the two youths were uninjured except for bruises and minor cuts.

Husband in Kilgore

Mrs. Mayo's husband, John Mayo, had left Wichita Falls about a week ago to Kilgore, Texas, where he is employed in the Berkman Barber shop in the South Kilgore field. He had been a resident of Wichita Falls at various times since 1920 and was employed by the Spell barber shop here at the time he left for Kilgore. Late Monday night word of the death of his wife was received by him.

Mrs. Mayo's brother, Dr. D. E. Johnson of Montague left his home to come here immediately following the accident.

Brothers Survive

The body is being held at a Mortuary here pending the arrival of the husband and the completion of funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Mayo resided at 1010 Sixth street in Wichita Falls, Mrs. Cobb at 511 Travis street and Mrs. Herring at 1512 Filmore.

Surviving Mrs. Mayo, in addition to the husband, are six brothers, Homer, Arthur and P. S. Johnson of Wichita Falls, Dewey, Eugene and Dr. D. E. Johnson of Montague, and Mrs. Emma Cockrell of Wichita Falls.

Former Wichita Girl Is Critically Burned

Alice Mahala Hanley, 9-year-old daughter of C. W. Hanley, formerly of Wichita Falls and well known here, is near death in a Fort Worth hospital from burns received in an accident last Saturday, friends of the family in this city learned Monday.

T. R. Frank, 1660 Collins, said the girl's dress caught fire in a stove while she and another girl were playing at the Hanley home.

Scouts Attend Rites Of Dallas Benefactor

DALLAS, March 9. (UP)—Attended by 1,000 boy scouts, John Shelby Wisdom, 85, was buried today amid the cabins and athetic fields of Camp Wisdom, which he deeded his young friends, the scouts, several years ago. A squad of eagle scouts stood guard at his bedside through his last hours before pneumonia claimed the life of the veteran cowboy. Troop leaders bore the casket to the grave.

Improvement Noted In Ban Johnson's Condition

ST. LOUIS, March 9. (AP)—Considerable improvement was noted today in the condition of Ban Johnson, retired president of the American league, but his condition continued serious attaches at St. Johns hospital here said. The former baseball czar took more nourishment today than he had at any time for several weeks.

Progressive Conclave Looms As Forerunner Of United Offensive

WASHINGTON, March 9. (UP)—The conference of progressives held here Wednesday and Thursday will be only the start of intensive work by selected groups of experts to draft a far reaching legislative program which will be pressed in the next congress when the progressives will hold the balance of power in both houses, it was learned tonight.

At the same time it developed that Senator William E. Borah, Republican, Idaho, a star campaigner for Herbert Hoover in 1928, has come forward as one of the leading figures in the Progressive councils. He was assigned today to be chairman of the discussion of farm relief—the subject upon which he first broke with President Hoover when he fought for the export debenture plan as against the administration farm stabilization program.

More Room Needed

Owing to pressure of many economical sociological experts desiring to attend, the program for the Progressive conference has been changed. To obtain a larger meeting room a change of hotels was decided upon today and the insurgents will meet in the ballroom of the Carlton hotel, Washington's most exclusive establishment, a hostelry patronized by diplomats.

Senator George W. Norris, Republican, Nebraska, leader of the conference announced there would be five consecutive conferences each to be conducted by the following chairmen:

1. Utilities—Norris.
2. Return to representative government—Senator Bronson Cutting, Republican, New Mexico.

Borah Scheduled

3. Tariff—Senator Edward P. Costigan, Democrat, Colorado, former member of the U. S. tariff commission.
4. Farm relief—Borah.
5. Unemployment and industrial stabilization—Chairman to be selected.

Special groups will carry on studies throughout the summer on the basis of discussion developed at these conferences.

Offensive Predicted

Entry of Senator Borah into the Progressive councils led to the belief in some quarters that next winter he would be one of the leaders in a carefully planned offensive against the administration's economic policies.

Third party considerations have been excluded from the conference though it is likely that if any such movement develops later it would draw its leadership from those in sympathy with the present movement.

This conference, will, according to its sponsor, Norris, deal only with the legislative program for next winter. Its objective is to bring the Progressives into unity behind certain measures.

G.O.P. LEADERS SEE REVOLT

Prohi Question Nags At Party Leaders

WASHINGTON, March 9. (US)—Republican leaders today gave a guarded assent "with reservations" to the statement of Senator Watson, majority leader, that economic issues rather than prohibition will dominate the 1932 campaign.

While showing no desire to inject the dry issue into the presidential race, Senator Charles L. McNary, assistant Republican leader, and Senator George H. Moses, chairman of the Republican senatorial committee, believe it may cut considerable figure in the voting.

Unity Doubted

McNary and Moses are known as two of the shrewdest political observers in the country. With the Progressive forces of the nation gathering here for a general conference, Moses frankly expressed his opinion that the nation is seething with political revolt but that it will be impossible to unite all the discontented elements into one party.

An unusual feature of the political outlook, according to Moses' view, is the fact that the silver issue, which created so much furore in the days of Bryan, may be revived.

Revolt Rife

In a remarkable analyses of existing political conditions, Moses said:

"I think both old parties are rotten with revolt; but the trouble will be to draft a platform broad enough to hold all the revolutionists.

"In the East the revolt turns upon prohibition—in both directions. In the West, the revolt is agrarian in its nature.

"In the South it is of a fiscal

Rangers Nab Narcotic Store at Border Town

AUSTIN, March 9. (AP)—Acting on a telephonic tip from United States customs officers at Laredo, Ranger Capt. Frank Hamer and Ranger B. M. Gault, yesterday arrested three men near Austin and seized a bottle of narcotics.

The three men, Frank Lewis, 38-year-old Cherokee Indian, James Helsey, 28, of Independence, Kan., and Jose Razo, 30, Mexican, were returned to jail today at noon upon failure to make the $2,500 bond set for each at examining trial before King C. Haynie, United States commissioner. Each of the trio faced complaints charging possession, transportation and importation of narcotics.

Search for Missing 'Girl Bazaar' Suspect Widens

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 9. (INS)—Operatives of three different agencies today began a search for Olive Clark Day, former actress charged with conducting a Hollywood "girl bazaar," who is reported to have been kidnaped.

Miss Day, together with William H. Jobelmann, are accused of operating a love syndicate in the motion picture colony at which young high school girls were auctioned off to wealthy men for week-end hotel parties.

The former actress dropped from sight immediately after her release on $5,000 bail early Saturday morning.

Munday Man Speaks At Farmers' Meeting

AUSTIN, March 9. (AP)—The Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of Texas met here today and the meeting will be continued tomorrow.

Truck rates and regulation and cotton acreage reduction were discussed but action was deferred until tomorrow. During the day, J. D. Henderson, of Munday, president of the organization, addressed membership of the house. The entire delegation held a conference with the governor this afternoon.

Rites Said for Victims Of Automobile Crash

LUBBOCK, March 9. (UP)—Funeral arrangements for Frederick R. Koeninger, 22-year-old senior of Texas Technological college, who took his own life Sunday, were incomplete tonight pending the arrival of his brother from Colombia Falls, Mont. Koeninger swallowed poison after returning from a dance. A verdict of suicide was returned. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Koeninger and three sisters, all of Plainview, also survive.

BRITAIN SUPPORTS LEAGUE

LONDON, March 9. (AP)—By 131 votes against 139, the house of commons tonight approved a resolution that the British government should accede to the general act of the League of Nations for pacific settlement of international disputes.

MURRAY ASKS FUNDS FOR TAX RELIEF VOTE

Alfalfa Bill Would Take Program Direct To People

LEW WENTZ SCORES

Governor Hits Snag In Fight to Remove Commissioner

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 9. (UP)—Gov. W. H. Murray sent a heated message to the Oklahoma legislature late today asking for an appropriation to carry his tax relief program to the people.

The governor said he wanted the money for the purpose of holding a special election for submission of constitutional measures.

"I have begun sincerely to doubt the feasibility of holding a special session of the legislature in view of the tactics of a group of senators," Murray said.

"If the legislature refuses to pass my appropriation bill for this election, I will donate my salary, call on the public for donations and ask the newspapers to print the bills free of charge," Murray said.

Trusts People

"I am not a candidate for any house office. Indeed, I am willing to give up this one. If I didn't know the people were behind me I would do so, but I must proceed with the program irrespective of a group of senators."

Murray also asked the senate to pass a bill exempting farmers from paying the one-cent increase gasoline tax now before the legislature, and a bill calling for an audit of the agriculture, school land and fish and game commissions.

Earlier in the day, Lew Wentz, oil millionaire highway commissioner, won a victory in the senate in

Bandit Pair Loot Oklahoma Bank

EARLSBORO, Okla., March 9. (UP)—Two men robbed the bank of Earlsboro this afternoon of between $3,00 and $4,000 and escaped after locking employes in a vault.

Five customers and two employes were in the bank when the bandits entered, threatening them with revolvers.

While one bandit guarded Homer Knappenberger, former mayor, closely, his companion held the others at bay.

Assistant Cashier C. A. Littleton was forced to open the vault and remove all available cash. After taking the cash the bandits pushed their victims in the vault, ran from the door and escaped in a green auto.

Those locked in the vault were released by Littleton who used the emergency latch to release the door.

Search for the bandits tonight centered along the Seminole-Shawnee highway.

Rites for Texas Tech Student Are Delayed

MINDEN, La., March 9. (UP)—Three youths were buried here today and two others are in a hospital seriously injured, all the victims of an automobile crash as they were en route to a dance Saturday night. The dead: Alvin Hortman, 22; Hugh Foley, 21, and Homer Brummit, 22. Malcolm Smith and Hughes Gilbert, their companions, were in a critical condition.

Mysterious Gas Fumes Overcome 25 Workers

NEW YORK, March 9. (US)—Amid scenes of near hysteria, 25 women and men collapsed from gas poisoning today at their machines in the Howard Clothing company, Brooklyn. Fifty-five others were made ill and ran to the street, carrying their unconscious co-workers with them.

The gas came from a source that could not be determined.

? ? QUESTIONABLE ? ? BUT TRUE

CLEANLINESS BEFORE CIVIL WAR

IT IS almost unbelievable that at one time people of this country were forbidden the use of their own bathtubs. Shortly after the introduction of the bathtub in 1840, physicians declared its use was dangerous to the public health, while governing bodies prohibited bathing in private homes and hotels. The state of Virginia passed a law taxing tub owners thirty dollars a year, while in Boston a law was in effect from 1845 to 1862 against any one taking a bath without the advice of a physician. Even in Philadelphia a bill was proposed to prevent citizens bathing between November 1st and March 1st; however, the ordinance failed to pass by a margin of two votes. HUMBLE MEETS OIL PRICE CUT

New Schedule Combines Old Divisions

HOUSTON, March 9. (AP)—Price reductions from 12 to 40 cents a barrel for North and West Texas crude oil were announced this afternoon by the Humble Oil and Refining company effective at 7 a. m. Tuesday. Prices for gulf coast crude were not disturbed, neither was the price paid for Mirando crude changed.

In addition to reducing the prices paid for crude, the Humble combined several districts which formerly carried different price levels, and posted the same price for the fields merged.

The cuts in the North and West Texas fields meet the recent reductions of the Stanolind Oil Purchasing company for midcontinent crude.

Merger Listed

The new schedule calls for the merging of the Mexia, Powell, Boggy Creek, Lytton Springs, Richland, Wortham, Currie, Moran and Nocona fields in the North Texas division with a reduction of from 22 cents to 40 cents a barrel for these fields. The price in Wichita, Wil-

STATES FORM ALLIANCE FOR OIL BATTLE

Committee Established As Permanent Link In United Plan

SEVEN JOIN PLAN

Governors to Act on 20 Recommendations Of Conclave

By STANLEY WHITAKER

TEXARKANA, Texas, March 9. (UP)—Governors' representatives of seven oil producing states tonight adopted 20 recommendations, including one for a general committee to act as a liason body between state commissions, to "save the industry from virtual ruin."

The proposals, intended to conserve oil resources, affect proration and stop heavy importation, were adopted by unanimous vote. They were made public in a report at the close of the oil conference tonight.

"The purpose of both proration and discontinuance of importation is to insure fair prices for petroleum and its products and save oil companies from virtual ruin," the report read.

Proration Falls

"Price is essential to conservation and the present proration scheme has failed because this factor was not considered. A fair price is necessary to prevent the abandonment of some 300,000 wells in the United States which would result in a waste of oil which could never be recovered," the report said.

The group announced it had asked that all the oil producing states pattern their conservation laws after those of Oklahoma and Texas and that major producing states create an appointive commission, beyond vote-getting considerations, for the control of oil within the states. The general committee, it is recommended, will continue and act as a liason body between state commissions.

State Organization

The general committee would be composed of the members that made the present recommendations. It would be charged with allocating the amount of production between the states. The state commissions would have charge of the amount of production between producers in

Ditch Condemned, New Filter Plant Urged By Engineer

"Pure Water Supply Impossible" Under Present Conditions, Says Official Report to State Health Department; Survey Covers Entire Wichita System

Wichita Falls' water supply was listed with the state health department Monday as "unfavorably certified or prohibited" in a report filed by F. A. Schramm, assistant state sanitary engineer, after an exhaustive survey and analysis of the entire city system and supply.

A copy of the report was filed with the city council and a third report was prepared for the United States treasury department.

'Adequate Treating Plant' Urged

Reporting on investigations of the water system from the watershed to the pumping of water into city mains, the report found little to praise in the Wichita Falls supply. It recommended "a modern adequate treating plant" which should include in addition to adequate works, the ability to provide "efficient operation, competent mechanical control, laboratory control and control of the lake water shed." It declared the investigation does "not cast any reflection on the operation or management of the city water plant" as the plant had been found "as successfully handled as it can be under present conditions."

The report condemned the open ditch bringing water to the city reservoir, pointing to a bacteria count of 200 where the water enters the ditch and 2,500 at the reservoir. Sources of contamination listed included trash piles, chicken houses, dog houses, dogs swimming in and drinking the water and reported a dead duck decaying in the water at one point.

It found that the filtered water in the clear well of the city is being contaminated by untreated water because of the bad condition of the concrete walls. It declared that the "constant production of a pure colorless water" is impossible under present conditions. The chlorination system was declared to be under such poor control that sufficient chlorination to destroy bacteria would produce a bad taste, under chlorination would not destroy the bacteria and that one or the other of the two conditions prevailed at all times.

"A careful check of the city records will show that on most days the bacteria count is only being lowered instead of the water being free of bacteria," the report said.

Although it was somewhat technical in its language, the report in the whole can be easily interpreted by the layman. Addressed to Dr. J. C. Anderson, state health officer, it follows in full:

The impounded water shed of areas creating two lakes form the supply for the city. Lake Kemp is of 154 billion gallons capacity, approximately, covering about 22,800 acres and having approximately 2,000 square miles of water shed and is used primarily as a supply for an irrigation area, but has been used in dry seasons to increase the city water supply. The Lake Kemp water hardness is at present at 26 grains to gallon and contains relatively large amount of magnesium chloride. Magnesium chloride in water when heated forms a hydrochloric acid gas which is very corrosive.

Most of the irrigated area from Lake Kemp is on the water shed of Lake Wichita. Lake Wichita forms the primary city supply. No control is exercised on the amount of water used for irrigation, and as a consequence Lake Kemp water is carried to Lake Wichita. The water "taken up" by the soil has its mineral deposited on the soil and this mineral is washed into the lake by the first waters of a rainfall.

Watershed Called 'Unattractive'

Lake Wichita is of approximately 4.6 billions gallons capacity, covering about 2,300 acres of land and has in the neighborhood of 150 square miles of water shed. Creeks feeding Lake Wichita receive mineral addition from about 1,200 pumping oil wells. Holliday creek in both the north and south branches have, at times, a total hardness to the extent of 900 ppm. Data shown underground water has very little motion. Adding to the unattractiveness of the water shed, with the idea in mind of minimum contamination of primary supply, were seen large chicken ranches, grazing lands and evidence of no restriction being placed on the disposal of human wastes. Boating and fishing is also allowed on the lake. Of this water shed the city owns only to spillway level.

The distance from the large chicken ranch located on the same side of the lake as the outfall pipe to the aqueduct carrying the water from the lake to the city plant is about one mile. The town of Holliday is located on the water shed at the far end of the lake, a distance of about 4.5 miles from the lake shore. This town's population is approximately 780, and has no sanitary sewer system or other approved type of human waste disposal.

Almost 800 acres of land are at present irrigated from the Lake Wichita supply, and an estimate based on irrigation statistics of the United States agricultural bureau shows around two billion gallons yearly required for this purpose. The annual pumpage to the city distribution system amounts to one billion two hundred million gallons. The evaporation from the lake is approximately 60 inches annually. At present, amount of spillway overflow is at a rate of 757 second feet, and records show the fall season overflow rate to be near this figure. Calculations based on rainfall data show this like water shed more than ample to care for city distribution amounts at all times.

The water for city use is carried through the dam in two 36-inch cast iron pipes. These lines do not extend out into the lake from the dam. Rock on water side of dam near pipe line are covered with algae growth. The water from the cast iron pipe flows into an open earthen aqueduct and is carried to the plant reservoir. The length of this aqueduct is about five miles. It is crossed by eight concrete bridges and by four with wood frames and plank flooring. Some of the spacing between planks is as great as one inch. The wood bridges are located nearest the plant. The aqueduct is not fenced.

'Along the Ditch' to the City Plant

A survey made between two bridges brought to attention the following unsanitary conditions: Four trash piles and cans, etc., kitchen wastes on banks of creek, dog houses, three chicken coops, one cow lot, ducks swimming on the water, others on the bank and one dead duck in the state of decay in the water, dogs drinking and running through the water.

This survey only included the lands shedding into the aqueduct.

Water samples taken from the head of the lake show a bacteria Agar plate count of 1,400; at the center of the lake 300; at the outfall cast iron pipe to plant 200. This shows the action of the sun and air is purifying the water in the lake as it comes down from the far end of the lake to the city aqueduct supply plant. This is as it should be but the bacteria count in the lake is far too high at all points, due to the unrestricted water shed. Entire lake count should at this time be much lower than this above count due to high dilution from late rainfalls.

Using the bacteria count at the cast iron pipe in the dam as a point

Cold Adds To Quake Ravage As Winter's Wrath Smites Nations

(By the Associated Press)

Suffering teamed with terror and death in the Balkans yesterday as Europe's bitter cold spread over the desolation wrought by earthquakes.

Meanwhile, London experienced its worst snow storm of 20 years; Quebec its worst of 50 years; Rochester, N. Y., its worst of 15 years.

New England and the Middle West struggled up out of snow drifts. Worried folk in seacoast towns scanned ship reports and were expecting fresh intensity in gales north of New York.

Quakes shook the Balkans for the third succesive day and geologists expected more. Between 100 and 200 persons were listed as dead and thousands were without shelter against the cold.

An earth shock at Hakodaten, Japan, crumbled buildings.

Rivers of France continued to rise. Low sections of Paris were evacuated as the Seine mounted to a foot over the alarm level.

A hurricane at Port Louis, Mauritius, left 11 dead, said reports delayed almost a week.

Twenty-three accidental deaths in the area about New York were attributed to the storm that swept from the west Sunday. The central states counted 16 dead after their two-day blizzard.

AID RUSHED TO VICTIMS

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, March 9. (AP)—With the dead unofficially reported at about 150, though some rumors placed the number much higher, the seriousness of earthquakes during the week-end in the region of the Jugoslav, Bulgarian and Greek frontiers, began to be fully realized today.

Communication with all the affected areas had not been re-established but it was known many villages had been devastated, hundreds of peasants made homeless and bridges and railways ruined. The suffering from cold and hunger was widespread.

Relief work was handicapped by the breakdown of communications and it was only with the greatest difficulty that food, medicine and warm clothing were taken into regions where it was most needed.

The famous frontier town of Strumnitza which figured prominently in the Balkan wars sustained heavy damage, buildings toppling and cafe ceilings crashing in on patrons. The town of Skolpje was still cut off but refugees from that region reported heavy damage.

At Demibkapu and Gevghell in the Vardar valley motion picture theaters collapsed and a railroad bridge across the Vardar river fell. The town of Valandovi was in ruins and at Pirava every building was down.

DARROW TELLS SUCCESS STORY

Hard Work as Farmer Made Him Turn Lawyer

Clarence Darrow, who is one of four national figures to speak at a religious forum in the Memorial auditorium March 18, says hard work is responsible for his success since it was the arduous effort connected with other professions which drove him into the practice of law.

Success Secret

When asked if he, like so many other great men, believed hard work was the secret of his success, Darrow replied:

"Yes, that goes for me too. Hard work, in fact, was responsible for my choosing to become a lawyer. The first hard work I ever did was pitching hay. I threw up the job and the farmer put me to knocking fat potato bugs off the plants into a can of coal oil. By noon I was disgusted. I chucked the pan and the job and swore I'd never do another day of hard work in my life—and I never have."

Darrow will speak here for 30 minutes on "Why I Am an Agnostic." The other speakers of the evening are Quin O'Brien, Chicago lawyer; Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist university, and Rabbi Harry A. Merfeld of Fort Worth, who will discuss their reasons for adhering to the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths respectively.

Upon the mechanistic theory Darrow based his defense of Loeb and Leopold in the great Chicago hearing. He addressed a single judge—and a listening world—upon the mechanistic philosophy and the cruelty and blindness of our criminal law.

The trial of John Scopes at Dayton, Tenn., with an evolution background, was saved from becoming simply a fundamentalist revival by his salty sarcasm and his utter fearlessness to speak his mind.

Contrary to general opinion, Darrow is not naturally argumentative. He is tolerant and good-humored, say those who know him best. Free of bustle and hurry he walks through the streets, his hands jammed deep into his pockets—the last calm Chicagoan.

It is related that no trial in which Darrow participates is ever very solemn. The same is true with his occasional public debates. There is nothing of the sleek platform orator about him. In fact, it was Heywood Broun of New York who recently remarked that "Darrow hasn't an oratorical bone in his body." He shuffles about, as awkward and embarrassed as a school boy speaking a piece; he hunches his enormous shoulders; he writhes and twists. His words are weighed and very slow, like some old philosopher explaining very simple and sad truths of life to immature students.

Good People Worry Him

Through his argument on the mechanistic theory runs a vein of gentle scoffing. He will say, for instance: "Of course I know that Confucius was as great a philosopher as Billy Sunday, and that as a thinker Buddha was the equal of Bryan. But still, all orthodox people know that Confucius and Buddha were spurious and the Billy brothers genuine."

Some 15 years ago, in addressing the inmates of the Illinois state prison, Darrow siad: "It is not the bad people I fear so much as the good people; when a person is sure that he is good, he is nearly hopeless—he gets cruel—believes in punishment." In fact, the so-called good people are Darrow's chief concern—the good people who sit in judgment on their fellows, who seek to force others into their mold of goodness—or worship, of thinking. Because of this Darrow has become the most feared enemy of the cocksure and the omniscient. He is the ablest libertarian of the day.

Varied Garden Seed Available in Hardeman

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, March 9.—Five hundred Hardeman county families will be able to plant gardens containing 19 different varieties of vegetables by the distribution of this number of packets of seed by the Hardeman county chapter of Red Cross. Three hundred packets have already arrived, and 200 more have been ordered. The distribution is being made from the storage room on Main street in Quanah.

It is expected all seeds will be planted by each family to insure bountiful gardens for consumption and canning this year. No seeds are being allotted to farmers who have secured or will secure federal farm loan, Red Cross officials stated.

Piles All Gone

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemmorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 940 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. Allison's Drug Store says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.—Adv.

Production of Oxygen and Evolution Of Welding Explained to Boosters

Members of the I. O. Boosters club heard a talk by Sam Hord on the oxygen industry at their weekly meeting Monday noon at the Y. W. C. A. inaugurating a series of classification talks designed to familiarize men in the organization with the business represented.

Evolution of the process of welding metals with the use of oxygen torches was outlined by the speaker. When first introduced in this state, as in other new territory, Mr. Hord said, the process was regarded with great skepticism until demonstrations had been made.

Discussing the present methods of obtaining oxygen from the air, Mr. Hord said:

"Oxygen formerly was obtained through the process of electrolysis applied to clear water. That method proves very expensive, however, unless there is a ready market for the principal by-product, hydrogen. In the process of reducing our oxygen from the air, we use a series of purifiers to remove all lint, dust, feathers, or other such substances as might be drawn in. Then the air passes through eliminators which take out 10 other gases. There then remains 2 per cent of the air originally taken in. It consists of oxygen and nitrogen, and since the only method thus far learned for separating these elements is liquefying, we must use that means. At about 90 degrees below zero, they are subjected to sudden expansion, and liquefy. The oxygen, being heavier, sinks, and is drawn off. Nitrogen now remains a waste product. It is probable that current experimentation will discover nitrogen as a valuable aid to the stimulation of plant growth."

After being liquefied, Mr. Hord said, the oxygen is forced into heavy metal tanks, or "cylinders," under pressure of from 1,800 to 2,000 pounds.

GLASSCOE JURY LACKS ONE MAN

Special Venire Exhausted In Robbery Trial

TEXARKANA, Texas, March 9 (AP)—Eleven jurors to try Jess Galascoe, 27, for robbery with firearms in connection with the kidnaping of R. W. Hanks, Redwater banker, Dec. 6 had been selected today when the special was exhausted.

Additional veniremen were called and it was expected that the jury would be completed today. Prospective jurors were questioned closely on capital punishment and the state was expected to ask the death penalty.

Glasscoe declared the charge a frameup. He was connected with the case when Zora Belle Foster identified a jacket given Hanks by his abductors as the property of Glasscoe.

Hanks was kidnaped from his home, marched several miles, and shot three times by his captor, who then abandoned him. Hunters found him and brought help. The kidnaper took a flashlight from the banker, and this action forms the basis of the robbery with firearms charge.

Mangum Man Sues Katy for $26,300

Suit for $26,300 damages was brought in district court here Monday by C. L. Muse of Mangum, Okla., against the M-K-T Railroad company of Texas, the petition alleging injuries to the plaintiff while he was a passenger on a train operated by the defendant.

According to the pleading, Mr. Muse traveled to Dallas on Nov. 25, 1930, on the M-K-T passenger train and arose from his seat when the train stopped at the depot in Dallas for passengers to disembark. A sudden jerk of the train as the plaintiff was reaching for his luggage, above his seat, threw him heavily and resulted in serious injuries, the petition sets out.

The plaintiff asks $25,000 as compensation for permanently decreased earning power and $1,300 for medical attention and other expenses, past and future, occasioned by the alleged injuries.

Several members of the Junior college Blue Curtain club are planning to go with the members of the cast for the local one-act play entrant, "The Storm," when they enter the annual state one-act play tournament at Hillsboro Friday, March 13, according to Miss Juanita Kinsey, director and faculty sponsor of the club. The local club recently won district honors from Gainesville, and is expected to go far in the state tournament, according to Miss Kinsey.

This is the first of the 1931 intercollegiate events, and is one of the most popular of the contests of the interscholastic meet.

Class Parties

Complete plans for the junior college freshman and sophomore parties, which are to be held during the coming week-end, will be announced at the regular high school and junior college assembly Tuesday morning at the 30-minute period, according to information given Monday by Bill Hord, freshman president and Randle Hanks, sophomore president.

Edwards Addresses Assembly

"Free Trade" was the subject of discussion at the regular junior college assembly Monday morning, when A. F. Edwards, head of the high school and college history department, addressed the group. "International Free Trade" is the 1931 state junior college debate subject, and, according to Mr. Edwards, one which will be of interest to the entire country.

HALL VETERANS ASK $450,000

900 Loan Applications Expected in County

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, March 9.—As a result of the loan bill passed by congress increasing the amount of the loan value from 22½ per cent to 50 per cent on the certificates, applications for loans on adjusted service certificates by legionnaires of Hall county are being made.

About 300 legionnaires in Memphis are expected to make applications for loans during this week and next. About 900 applications are expected in the entire county. This number represents about 90 per cent of the number eligible to make application. Approximately 50 applications were filled out the first day.

According to reports, the average loan is approximately $500. With the number of applications that are expected to be made in the county, about $450,000 will be received by local legionnaires, it is believed.

According to word received from the bureau, additional work is expected to be done in the near future so that the number of appdications filed daily may be increased by a large number.

Bus Line Announces Reduction in Rates

Moss Patterson, president and general manager of the Oklahoma Transportation company, with Robert Hill, assistant general manager, visited Wichita Falls Saturday and announced new low fares to all points on the Oklahoma Transportation company's lines which go into effect immediately.

Mr. Patterson explained that last year the certificated carriers in the state of Oklahoma paid into the state treasury $418,627 in gasoline and road taxes and an additional $120,000 in tag taxes. The certificated carriers are serving 116 towns in the state of Oklahoma at the present time that do not have any other means of transportation. They are handling mail, express and more than 350,000 passengers each month. Last year 44,632 children were hauled to schools by buses in this state at special low rates.

BANKS HELP GREER VETS

Loans to Bring $200,000 To County

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., March 9.—The three banks of Mangum are aiding Greer county war veterans by making loans on adjusted compensation certificates under the provisions of the recent loan value increase voted by congress. Application blanks are being issued by Lee Caffey, past commander, and Jack Sasseen, secretary.

Loans from the banks will be limited to the most needy cases and to regular customers of the banks. Due to the low rate of interest the banks are not making a profit on the loans, but are merely taking this method of assisting those veterans who need their money immediately without being compelled to wait on their applications at the Oklahoma City veterans bureau.

Scores of Greer county veterans already have made applications for loans approximating $200,000.

Boys Sought in Raid On Lumber Firm's Office

Burglary of the Citizens Lumber company, 1419 Eighteenth street, Sunday night is believed to have been committed by boys, according to information given Monday by Frank Burns, chief of police. Articles of appeal to boys were taken from the office, and entrance to the place was gained by crawling under a fence through which a man could not have progressed. Chief Burns said. Two fountain pen desk sets, a quantity of advertising pencils and boxes of rubber bands were taken.

What the NEW HUMIDOR PACK

means to Camel Smokers*

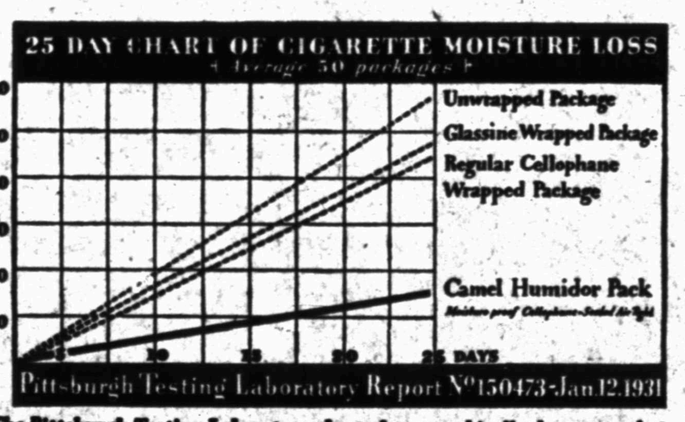

COMPARE a package of Camels with any other cigarette and note the difference in the technique of packing.

Note that Camels are completely enclosed in an outer transparent cover of moisture-proof cellophane and sealed air-tight at every point.

We call this outer shell the Humidor Pack. It differs from the ordinary cellophane pack and while it is egg-shell thin, it means a lot in terms of cigarette enjoyment.

It means, for instance, that evaporation is checkmated and that Salt Lake City can now have as good Camels as Winston-Salem.

The Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory chart above graphically shows you that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition

While Camels are made of a blend of the choicest Turkish and mellowest domestic tobaccos, it is highly important, if you are to get full benefit of this quality, that these cigarettes come to you with their natural moisture content still intact.

The Humidor Pack insures that. It prevents the fine tobaccos of Camels from drying out and losing any of their delightful flavor.

Aside from cheap tobacco, two factors in a cigarette can mar the smoker's pleasure:

Fine particles of peppery dust if left in the tobacco by inefficient cleaning methods sting and irritate delicate throat membrane.

Dry tobacco, robbed of its natural moisture by scorching or by evaporation gives off a hot smoke that burns the throat with every inhalation.

We take every precaution against these factors here at Winston-Salem.

A special vacuum cleaning apparatus removes dust and now the new Humidor Pack prevents dryness.

Check the difference yourself

It is a very simple matter to check the difference between Humidor Packed Camels and other ordinary dry cigarettes.

First of all you can feel the difference as you roll the cigarettes between your fingers. Camels are full-bodied and pliable. A dry cigarette crumbles under pressure and sheds tobacco.

If you will hold a cigarette to each ear and roll them with your fingers you can actually hear the difference.

The real test of course is to smoke them. And here's where the new Humidor Pack proves a real blessing to the smoker.

As you inhale the cool, fragrant smoke from a Camel you get all the mildness and magic of the fine tobaccos of which it is blended.

But when you draw in the hot smoke from a dried cigarette see how flat and brackish it is by comparison and how harsh it is to your throat.

If you are a regular Camel smoker you have already noticed what proper condition of the cigarette means.

But if you haven't tried Camels in the new Humidor Pack you have a new adventure with Lady Nicotine in store.

Switch your affections for just one day, then go back to your old love tomorrow if you can.

RED CROSS TO HOLD MEETINGS

District Conferences Called In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 9. (UP)—Two district meetings will be held in Oklahoma Tuesday and Wednesday by Red Cross officials, William M. Baxter Jr., manager of the Midwest area of the Red Cross, announced today.

Baxter, Henry M. Baker, Oklahoma district manager, John Kiester, his assistant, and John Thorton, supervising auditor, will meet with district supervisors of Eastern Oklahoma at McAlester tomorrow. A similar meeting will be held Wednesday at Chickasha with Western Oklahoma representatives.

"The Red Cross is not withdrawing from Oklahoma," Baxter said today. "We are staying here to give aid as long as need for our efforts in addition to local and state relief agencies exists," he said.

Future plans for the relief work in Oklahoma will be drafted at the two meetings.

"Although our reports show a 12 per cent increase in cases cared for by the Red Cross as of today compared with Feb. 28, there are optimistic trend. I expect a sharp reduction in relief cases by the last of March when the general relief program of the state gets under way and normal avenues of credit and business improve," Baxter said.

As of today, the Red Cross listed 54,299 families being cared for by that organization in Oklahoma. Of this number 44,332 families live on farms and 3,179 families are Indians.

The Red Cross is represented by 21 national headquarters workers in Oklahoma and 3,285 full time volunteer workers, Baxter said.

More than 100 delegates are expected to attend the McAlester and Chickasha meetings.

Hardeman Revives Worthless Lands

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, March 9.—Soil building on shinnery land in Hardeman county, especially in the southeastern part where some of the farms have become worn out, or the sand so loose that crops are easily blown out by a strong wind, is being closely watched by farmers throughout this section.

Some of these farms were so worthless they had been sold for taxes, and others had laid out for several years.

One of the most worthless tracts was selected by a group of farmers in conjunction with the Chillicothe experiment station and thousands of bushels of the dirt and hulls from around gins has been hauled and dumped onto the land. Piles of about five bushels of this fertilizer are pyramided 10 feet apart all over the land. It is then raked over the field and ploughed under. The old field that has been intensely cultivated for many years is being brought back to life in mineral foods, and the new dirt and trash serve as a binder for the soil and prevent it from blowing to any considerable degree.

Farmers say that the deep ploughing method which is being practiced in the county to bring new soil to the surface would be useless on this type land, as the sand overlays a thick red clay which is not productive.

Hundreds of acres of land are planned to be "redeemed" through this process in this county; which serves the double purpose of using up what has heretofore been considered waste around gins, and makes productive land which has been worthless for years.

Frederick Church Gives Cabin Minstrel Friday

Big Business Girl . . By One of Them

Synopsis of Preceding Installment

It was a lonely Johnny Goodman who wandered across the campus from the Tri Kappa house that evening in May. No girl. When he went to call for Claire MacIntyre, she wasn't there. Nobody knew where she was. Johnny wondered if the breach between Mac and himself were really widening. Why else would she stand him up on so important a date? Johnny had planned for a long time to be Mac's right hand man at her sorority dance. He went first here then there expecting to find Mac in one of the other boy's car. All through the evening he looks on at the gay young people and wants to be one of them. But Mac's absence distracts him. At a late hour he stands gazing up at her window hoping to catch a glimpse of her.

INSTALLMENT NO. II

"I think this campus is picnic crazy," said Sarah Ellen Sunday afternoon, coming down the front steps of the house. "I've been on six in the past week and I can't look another hot dog in the muzzle. I'm glad it's steak today."

Her little red socks above her sandals flashed as she walked toward the hay rick. The boys and girls of state university had reverted to a custom of their mothers and fathers and went to picnics behind horses. It was just novel enough to be more fun than going in cars.

Mac looked at Sarah Ellen's socks and said to Peg Pettigrew. "Frankly, I don't like half hose. It looks too much like the high school crowd." But she caught sight of Johnny then. Mac had phoned that she would see Johnny at the picnic. And then he saw Mac, and she could tell by his eyes that he was hurt about last night. That made her sorry for a minute. And then she remembered that she had great news for him.

"Hello, Mac," he said gravely. "How are you?"

"Hello, dear," she whispered. "I got up pretty early this morning and I'm rather sleepy, but otherwise I'm on top of the world."

"Where were you?" Johnny asked.

"Why, Johnny, didn't Margy explain? I had to go to Springfield at the last minute. I had a very important call to come down there."

"Oh, you did?" Johnny still looked hurt.

"But, darling, I'll tell you all about it later. Can't now with all this going on."

The girls were being lifted into the wagon and Margy Smallwood came out of the house carrying her portable victrola.

"How much did you drink last night?" Mac asked abruptly.

"Plenty," Johnny answered. "I had to do something—a whole evening on my hands."

"Well, you might have studied. Are you going to pass this year or aren't you?" Quite unexpectedly tears came to Mac's eyes. Here she was, fighting with Johnny again. And there wasn't anyone she loved so. But he was not to be depended upon. She was very quiet all the way out to the Point.

They broiled pieces of steak on long sticks and put the meat between buttered rolls. They drank coffee in tin cups. The food put Mac and Johnny into a genial, warm mood and their glances over the rims of their cups were intimate and full of invitations.

There was the whole afternoon before them and they scattered. Johnny and Mac were anxious to be alone, now. They took a blanket and wandered off.

"Oh, Mac!" Johnny was shy and eager at the same. He smiled shyly and held her closer to him.

Johnny put his lips against her soft mouth and kept them there while he looked into her eyes.

"I love you, Johnny, I love you. I love you." Mac spoke in a very low voice. There were tears in it. She was clinging to his free hand.

"Honey, what are we going to do?" Johnny had forgotten that he meant to ask Mac about Springfield.

"Oh, dearest, I don't know. I really don't. I don't want to talk about it even."

But all the time, Mac's mind kept saying, "Good-by, dear, good-by."

Johnny did not, fortunately, know that Mac was bidding him good-by. He thought he understood her at times like this.

Johnny stirred and drew a package of cigarets out of his pocket. Mac lighted one. Now, she knew, she would have to explain last night. It could not be evaded any longer.

"I don't want to know what you were doing in Springfield, Mac. But I can't help wondering why you would ditch me on the most important evening of the season."

"Why, honey, Mr. Thorne—you know, the man who runs the dry cleaning business in Springfield—called me up yesterday afternoon and asked me to come right down. He had some business to talk over with me, so I tore right over."

"Yes, go on," Johnny said very bitterly.

"I had dinner with him at the Lincoln hotel and we talked until about 9 o'clock. He wanted me to travel for him, organizing student dry cleaning agencies like my own in the various schools through the Middle West. My headquarters would be in Springfield."

Johnny cheered up at this and said, "Then you'd be near school next winter, wouldn't you, and I could spend week-ends with you?"

"Yes, I thought of that dear, but I'm not going to accept the job."

"Oh," said Johnny uncomprehendingly. "I still don't see why you couldn't have gone to Springfield on Monday instead of yesterday. The one big party of the season of your sorority, Mac. It wasn't right of you not to be there."

"Business men don't accept parties as excuses for not being able to meet appointments. And even if Mr. Thorne could have seen me tomorrow, he asked to see me last night and I wanted to know as soon as possible what he had in mind for me. I can't afford to let these opportunities go by. I'm not going to Springfield just to be near you. It sounds very hard of me, I know, but I think I want to get away from you, Johnny. I've got to make a lot of money and I've got to do it fast. I'm not going to join the throng of underpaid business women. I intend to be successful. But it means hard work, and there isn't going to be any time for dancing!"

"Well, if you're not going to work in Springfield, what are you going to do while I'm with the gang in Paris? I hope you'll have time to write to me." Johnny was mocking.

"I won't even promise to do that," Mac answered. "I'm going to Chicago."

"Chicago! Oh, Mac, don't do that." Johnny's voice was shrill. "You'll die of the heat, working all summer there. Please wait until fall. You won't be able to get a job anyway, in June. Besides, I don't like to think about your being around men in business offices anyway."

"That's just baby talk." Mac was sitting up very straight. "Men in business don't pay any attention to the girls in their offices—except very cheap men who have affairs with telephone operators, and I'm beginning to think that's mostly fiction. I've worked, remember, and I know that all men want is lots of industry, a cheerful disposition and an intelligent reaction to their problems."

Mac had phoned that she would see Johnny at the picnic

Mac had said something about a debt she had to pay. They had talked over their finances long ago, and he knew that she was paying her house bills with the money from her dry cleaning business. The rest he supposed was taken care of by Uncle Jerry and the money her father had left her. She wore beautiful clothes.

"You see, father, only left me two thousand dollars," said Mac. "That was to clothe and feed me and put me through school. I lived with one of my aunts until I finished high school and didn't spend any of it. I asked my faculty adviser how I was to go to college four years on two thousand dollars, and do it right. I thought I could get an office job. But Professor Forbes advised me to use that amount and draw on the student foundation when I needed more.

"I figured it out with him, then, that it would benefit me more in the end if I pledged for a sorority and lived beyond my income. So I piled up a debt of fifteen hundred dollars which I am determined to pay off immediately. It takes some people five years to save that much. I'm not going to do it by saving. I'm going to do it by acquiring. You can't save if you haven't anything to save from."

"Why don't you let your Uncle Jerry pay that debt?" he asked. "I imagine he could do it without wincing."

Mac answered him in a low voice: "I hope I never have to ask for a penny from any man. It will make me feel freer, and considerably safer, to make my own money."

She turned to Johnny, then, swiftly, and clung to him. "This hasn't anything to do with you, dearest. You mustn't worry about me. And gold isn't everything. I don't really think it is." Mac was crying now. The afternoon had been ruined with all this discussion of a frightening separation and the future.

"This is an awful way, Mac, for us to end out year," Johnny thought she was wrought up over her debt.

Being held so closely to Johnny's firm body quieted Mac after awhile.

It was getting dark fast. Some one had started the fire again down on the beach.

"Guess we'll have to amble on, honey," Johnny remarked. "Allez up!" He got up in one athletic jump and pulled her smartly to her feet.

They drew into the footlights of the shore fire. From the canoes on the lake the long wails of "Fire! Fire!" were answered along the land with thin echoes of "Fire! Fire!" The clan was gathering.

The wagon began to grind over the stones, twisting and writhing, jerking over the lane to the main road. The horses strained and their shoes struck sparks on the stones. Once on the dirt road, they clumped to the rhythm of oats, oats, oats.

"Did you all hear," said Sarah Ellen, too lazy to address anyone in particular, "that Vance McKinnen and that Phi Pi had been married for the past four months, and that it came out when one of the faculty saw them leaving a house in Springfield one morning with bags? The dean called them in and demanded an explanation."

"Really?" Half a dozen girls sat up with interest. "Were they married?"

"What's going to happen? They going to kick Vance out before graduation?" Johnny stopped in the middle of Old Man River. He had been making bold melodies out of it, too.

"I guess they're going to graduate him all right, but the dean is going to give a talk on the subject to the boys," Harry answered. "I think it ought to be encouraged, myself, except that it's expensive."

"Well, how can you keep your mind on your work if you're married, and what does it get you, anyway, here at college?" Dick asked. "It doesn't cast a very good reflection on the university, either, when publicity gets out about student marirages and companionate marriages and revenue officers in the fraternity houses and freak radicals studying in the New School. What kind of a place is the public going to think this is anyway?"

Everybody was quiet, then, until they drew up in front of the Tri Kappa house.

Mac moved in a dream of Johnny's young face and the coolness of his cheek against hers in the hushed darkness.

Three More Institutions Ask Refund

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 9.—Suits aggregating more than $18,000 have been filed in district court the past few days by the six banking institutions of the county against Miss Bessie Edwards, county treasurer, in which the banks ask for the refund of 1930 taxes, which they allege was assessed against them illegally and which was paid under protest.

After the filing of suits by the Farmers State bank, Tipton, for $1,206.10, the Bank of Manitou for $1,078.78 and First State bank of Davidson for $1,034.91 three more suits were filed. The First National of Frederick asks for the return of $3,193.20 together with $2,043.63 for the National Bank of Commerce, which was consolidated with the First National.

The Security State bank of Frederick seeks to recover $2,362.56 and the First National bank of Tipton asks for the recovery of $1,154.34.

The First National alleges it was assessed $53.22 per $1,000 valuation on its $60,000 valuation which it claims is contrary to a U. S. statute which provides that no national bank shall be assessed at a higher rate than is assessed against individual capital located at the same place as the bank. An individual in competition with a bank is assessed but $4 per $1,000 and the plaintiff asks for the return of the difference between these two rates on its capital stock, undivided profits and surplus.

The same line of argument is used in the other pleadings.

Gen. Jadwin Funeral To Be Held Thursday

WASHINGTON, March 9. (AP)—The war department announced today that funeral services for the late Lieut. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, retired, would be held in Washington Thursday.

Eight ranking officers, including five major generals and a brigadier general were named as honorary pall bearers. The body will be sent here from Panama where the general died.

Funeral services will be held at the New York Presbyterian church with interment at Arlington national cemetery.

The escort to the cemetery will consist of the third cavalry band, a squadron of the third cavalry and a battalion of the 16th field artillery.

Dairy and Hog Shipments Grow In Clarendon

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Texas, March 9.—A report of the production of cream shipped from this point during the first two months of 1931 shows an increase over previous years shipments including 1929 and 1930. For the first two months of 1929, 424 cans were shipped from this point, in 1930, 414 were shipped and for this yeer 499 cans were handled in this manner from this point, each shipment consisting of 10-gallon cans. This shows wholesome condition of the dairy industry here and indicates that farmers are holding their cows despite low prices existing for the past year.

This report added to the report of hog shipments from Donley county during the past year indicates steady farming conditions here. Hog shipments from Donley county for 1931 show a total value of $200,000 with Hedley leading in the number of carload shipments with 38 and Clarendon second with 19. Hogs are shipped from here to California principally to the Los Angeles market. The average receipts per car, according to the leading shipper here, W. B. Mayfield, were $1,400, or an average of 8½ cents per pound for a total of 69 carloads shipped by this man.

$750,000 FOR RAILS

PUEBLO, Colo., March 9. (AP)—The Western Pacific railroad placed a $750,000 rail order with the Colorado Fuel and Iron company today. The railroad plans a track replacement between Cluro and Tonka and Alzon and Elberz in Nevada.

To "Point-Up" Appetite Just Stimulate Bowels

Whenever the end of the day finds you out-of-sorts; food doesn't tempt you and won't digest; breath is bad; tongue coated, just chew a candy tablet before bedtime. Tomorrow you'll be a new person!

A candy Cascaret clears up a bilious, gassy, headachy condition every time. Puts appetite on edge. Helps digestion. Activates bowels.

Cascarets are made from cascara, which authorities say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So, take these delightful tablets as often as you please; or give them freely to children. All drug stores sell Cascarets for a dime, and no dollar prescription could do better work. —Adv.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Shakespeare said, "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet." But in his far day business practice had not advanced to the point where manufacturers name their product to identify it to the public and by doing so pledge their faith and their reputations to its purity. The name of St.Joseph's Pure Aspirin is not only known to hundreds of thousands of users but it carries with it its manufacturer's absolute guarantee that it is as pure as money can buy.

More than nine million boxes of St.Joseph's Pure Aspirin sold in a single year makes it the largest selling aspirin in the world for 10c. So when you, too, want aspirin, be safe, sensible, and economical. Put down your dime and ask by name for a box of "St.Joseph's Pure Aspirin." The name "St.Joseph's" on a box of St.Joseph's Pure Aspirin is your guarantee of absolute purity and sensible economy.

First Baptist W. M. S. Has Interesting Study Circles

Mission study lessons were interesting features of the circle meetings of the First Baptist Woman's Missionary society Monday and plans were made to prepare clothing for orphans. Mrs. W. P. Griffis was hostess to members of circle two and a business meeting opened the afternoon. Mrs. I. A. Farris led in prayer and the lesson in the new study book was given in the following themes: "Along the Highway of Service," Mrs. W. H. Davis.

Mrs. B. F. King gave the closing prayer dismissing Mesdames I. A. Farris, J. T. Wood, W. H. Davis, J. H. Allen, A. B. McIver, B. F. King, L. C. Cole and the hostess.

Circle Three

Members of circle three met at the home of Mrs. R. W. Morgan when Mrs. J. A. Haley gave the opening prayer. The devotional was given by Mrs. M. Dodson who also had charge of the mission lesson. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. J. H. Stanfill.

Those present were Mesdames J. B. Cissell, W. W. Brown, W. B. Davis, J. D. McMahan, J. W. Parker, Ray Noland, George B. Dunn, J. A. Haley, H. E. Bradley, R. W. Morgan, M. Dodson, J. H. Stanfill, A. T. Adams, Willie Scott and Charles Parker.

Circle Four

Mrs. O. B. Deason was hostess to members of circle four when the business meeting was opened by reading the minutes. Mrs. J. T. Young gave an interesting devotional from the book of Luke and led in prayer after which Mesdames Ralph Hines and Daisy Dean gave splendid talks on "Work of Winning Souls."

Each member was given the opportunity to express her view of this work in a heart to heart talk and copies of the new mission study book, "Along the Highway of Service," were distributed before the closing prayer was given by Mrs. Ralph Hines.

Members present were Mesdames C. R. Neal, W. E. Floyd, W. E. Smith, W. A. Freear, John Grounds, Fanny Tatun, E. P. Murrell, S. A. Rosser, Wyatt Parrish, O. V. Deason, Daisy Dean, T. W. Gouldy, M. W. Sneddy, J. T. Gant, L. B. Holland, Ted Williams and J. W. May.

Circle Five

Members of circle five met with Mrs. Fred Stengle when Mrs. S. L. Mytinger called the meeting to order. Mrs. S. A. Covington gave the opening prayer followed by the Bible lesson by Mrs. H. N. Pounds.

Remnants were distributed to make garments for orphans and Mrs. C. W. Rountree dismissed with prayer.

Those present were Mesdames Fred Stengle, H. W. Pounds, Alva Conner, Baber, J. N. Van Houten, Hess, Parker Simison, S. L. Mytinger, Leslie Humphries, S. A. Covington, Frank Cripliver, M. L. Tittle, C. W. Rountree and the hostess.

Circle Seven

Mrs. J. L. Fooshee was hostess to members of circle seven and opened the meeting with prayer.

Following a short business session, an interesting Bible lesson was given by Mrs. A. C. Parks, and a general discussion followed. Plans were made to prepare a box for the orphans' home.

Tea was served to Mesdames J. M. Kelly, R. Lee Joiner, A. C. Parks, J. H. French, O. B. Albritton, John Gibbs and the hostess.

Circle Eight

Mrs. A. O. Hall was hostess to members of circle eight when Mrs. D. O. Johnson gave the devotional and opening prayer and the interesting Bible lesson was given by Mrs. D. E. Jordan. Mrs. J. F. Detlefs, president of the W. M. S., gave the closing prayer.

Those present were Mesdames A. O. Hall, G. W. Burns, C. W. Andree, J. F. Detlefs, D. O. Johnson, Dell Brasher, T. P. Duncan, D. E. Jordan, O. M. Smith, H. Willis, E. L. Ramey, W. B. Baldwin, M. C. Vanston and the hostess.

Circle Nine

Members of circle nine met at the home of Mrs. Eugene Clark. The opening prayer was given by Mrs. M. W. McGinnis after which Mrs. George Howery gave a report of the services held at the jail recently. The mission study was given by Mrs. Eugene Clark.

Those present were Mesdames H. E. Man, George Howery, M. W. McGinnis, W. T. Crouch, R. E. Basham and Eugene Clark.

Circle 10

Members of circle 10 met at the home of Mrs. Al Bedinghaus with Mrs. E. S. Carter in charge of the Bible lesson. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. W. B. Reeves.

Those present were Mesdames Paul Flake, E. S. Carter, H. Thompson, W. B. Reeves, Al Bedinghaus and F. L. Flatt.

Circle 11

Mrs. C. E. Pimlott was hostess to members of circle 11 at her home on Hayes street with Miss Nell Foley opening the meeting with prayer and Mrs. Charles Daniels conducted the study lesson on "What Baptists Believe."

Mrs. C. J. Barnard gave a discussion on the Mission study book and in a short business meeting, plans were made to prepare a box for orphans and an all-day sewing was announced to be held at the home of Mrs. Ivan Murchison Monday, March 16.

Tea was served to Mesdames Ivan Murchison, H. P. Ledford, W. D. Beach, C. H. Foley, Burton Stayton, C. J. Barnard, Howard Weaver, L. A. Hedrick, Ray Arnhold, Floyd Randel, Charles R. Daniel, Miss Nell Foley and the hostess.

Circle 12

A wonderful Bible lesson on "Prayer and Courage," given by Mrs. J. C. Mytinger, featured the meeting of members of circle 12 at the home of Mrs. Will Daniels on Hiawatha boulevard. Her talk was highly inspirational to the group.

Mrs. F. M. Tunis opened the meeting with prayer and Mrs. M. C. Hayes presided in the business meeting, when plans were made for a fruit shower to be given the day nursery.

Following Mrs. Mytinger's talk, the 23rd Psalm was said in unison as a benediction.

A delightful refreshment plate was served to Mesdames G. P. Raborn, J. C. Mytinger, F. M. Tunis, R. K. Hall, M. C. Hayes, C. W. Stovall, O. G. Stephens and the hostess.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

The other day at a luncheon we heard one woman, with a casual glance over the crowd present, murmur "just folks—that's all."

The homey, old expression is one which we had not heard for a long time; women absorbed in publicity and in work outside home and neighborhoods often lose sight of the fact that women are after all "just folks."

There sat next to us a woman who is noted for the work she does in connection with a well known association. She is called on for talks at one festive occasion after another. But she is first of all, a wife, mother and home maker and the occupation of successful wife, she states, is the grandest profession that woman may study.

The speeches she makes are always good and always to the point, but it is in talking with her, that one finds out the sort of person she really is.

It is not ghosts that inspire most of the talkfests of women these days; but we wonder why the fear of ghosts does not often haunt them. So many folks do lots of unintentional harm by talking.

Watch and you may see at a bridge table (we play bridge) one woman make a remark and another reach out and scratch gently across the table. Just a gentle way of mockingly saying "cat"—and we laugh.

There are groups of women who really converse—doubtful of that fact as modern cynics may be. But there are many more groups who win a doubtful reputation for cleverness by the sparkling repartee with which they skim the surface of things; and there are groups who talk from their hearts when a sympathetic or curious hearer draws from them stories of little tragedies in their homes.

There have always been gossips, but in 1931 it looks as if there were broader interests than little scandals to take the thoughts of womankind. But they are still "just folks." The tragic little tale that means life or death to a reputation will remain always a treasured morsel on many a tongue.

There was a time when men gathered at a "round table" and spoke together of high and great things. It has come to a period when the best talker is selected and becomes a speechmaker for his group, whether or not he feels the theme on which he talks.

But does that speaker talk of the poignant things that make history for individual humans? No; we have lost sight of "folks" in thinking of mankind in general. Certain questions must be discussed.

Each family will settle for itself those problems that are distressing America. It depends on our coming men and women whether or not the 18th amendment stands; whether new birth control laws are passed; whether churches unite in one missionary propaganda.

And an audience listening, will only be moved by the speaker whose honesty and integrity they can feel. A gift of great words is not so great a gift as an earnest conviction told in simple phrases.

Ben Franklin Study Club Will Meet

Mrs. John Martin, chairman, will preside when the newly organized Study club meets at Ben Franklin at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Officers will be elected and a course of study arranged on children of the pre-school age.

Mothers of the school are invited to be present.

AIR DOESN'T WEIGH MUCH

WHEN you buy soap, the only way you can tell how much you're getting for your money is by the weight of the package. Size means nothing. A large carton full of soap flakes or bubbles can contain actually less soap than a carton of White King Granulated Soap half its size!

That's because White King Granulated Soap is condensed. It packs closely in the carton, like sugar. And it's absolutely pure and safe . . . for blankets, dishes or lingerie. It's made from fine vegetable and pur oils.

White King Granulated Soap is not only the safest but the most economical soap you can buy. A little of it goes a long way. A teaspoonful to the basin of water, or a cupful to the tub—no more! Your grocer has it.

Talk on Women Of Many Lands Given to W. M. S.

Mrs. J. A. West was hostess to members of the Floral Heights Presbyterian W. M. S. Monday at her home on Wilson street with Mrs. Nat Grafton and Miss Lena Andrews assisting her. Mrs. West led the devotional after a preliminary business meeting and gave the study topic for the day "Foreigners in America."

Mrs. Frieda van Emden, an unusually interesting speaker, talked on "Women of Different Countries," complimenting the efficiency of the American women and telling characteristics of Italian, Spanish, German, Norwegian, French, Austrian and English women and the women of Holland, of which country Mrs. Van Emden is native. The talk was particularly interesting because of the personal standpoint from which it was given as Mrs. Van Emden is a traveler and linguist of note.

The Lord's prayer in unison closed the meeting, after which the hostesses served a delightful refreshment plate to Mesdames R. C. Rayfield, Nat F. Grafton, W. G. Nycum, L. L. Davis, M. L. Patterson, J. A. Hightower, Herbert McConnell, W. L. Whittington, Curtis Young, Frank Ray, A. E. Lowe, O. N. Mallatt, Hal Ewing, Frieda van Emden, J. R. Eason, Miss Lena Andrews and Mrs. West.

Haskell Names Chairman For Training Camps

RULE, Texas, March 9.—Judge J. A. Jones, county judge of Haskell county, has been appointed county chairman of the Citizens Military Training camps for Haskell county, and states that he will be glad to furnish information concerning the annual training offered young men of this section to all who are interested. A large number of Haskell county youths have enrolled each year for the one month's training offered by the government. Ten or 12 Rule boys took this training course last year and a larger number are expected to enlist this spring when school is out.

Don't Pay

If This Fails To Knock Your Cold In Few Hours

Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

Hill's Cascara Quinine is GUARANTEED to knock a cold in a jiffy. To relieve the pain, to break up tightness. If it fails, you pay nothing.

This guarantee is made to prove to those who have tried fifty ways to lose a cold, that the surest way is to go back to first principles and use something that you KNOW does the work.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. You'll feel like a new person almost before you know it. Pain eased, congestion broken; your mind cleared and yourself ready to go back on the job with a wallop.

That's because Hill's is a scientific formula made to DO ONE THING WELL: to knock colds in a hurry—not to cure a score of different troubles.

Costs only a few cents at any drug store. Get package now. Your money back if it fails. Try it—you'll be glad that you did.

Foreign Speaking Missions Studied By Presbyterians

Foreign speaking people known in the mission work of the Presbyterian church furnished interesting topics for the programs of the circles of the First Presbyterian W. M. S. when they met Monday. Mrs. G. D. Anderson was hostess to members of circle one with Mrs. I. H. Roberts, leader, presiding in the business session.

Mrs. W. H. Apple gave a beautiful devotional and an interesting paper on Japan was read by Mrs. H. O. Newton. Mrs. O. W. Hines talked on the Spanish speaking people.

Two beautiful vocal numbers were given, one by Mrs. I. J. White and one by Mrs. C. N. Cameron.

At the close of the program, a delicious refreshment plate was served to Mesdames I. H. Roberts, D. J. White, I. J. White, G. D. Anderson, W. H. Apple, C. W. Beavers, F. E. Brandeberry, W. D. Bolding, J. W. Culbertson, R. O. Hargrave, Miss Jodie Haynes, Mesdames Ed Howard, O. W. Hines, J. C. Hunt, L. N. Jernigan, H. O. Newton, H. B. Patterson, J. N. Prothro, R. R. Robertson, W. M. Wages, Luther Wright, J. A. Richolt and the hostess.

Circle Two

Mrs. C. E. McCutchen was hostess to circle two with Mesdames O. W. Wilson and Walter Campbell assisting her. Mrs. Walter Priddy, vice chairman presided during the business meeting and gave an inspiring opening devotional.

A talk on "Foreign Speaking People" was an enjoyable feature of the meeting after which the hostesses served a delightful refreshment plate to Mesdames Walter Priddy, O. W. Wilson, Ella Campbell, John Davenport, O. T. Gorsline, Emma Goff, A. K. Jarrell, J. A. Kemp, M. B. Oates, Ralph Peterson, J. D. Robertson, F. E. Rose, H. J. Strief, R. L. Shultz, Mark Walker, J. T. Watson, J. P. Witherspoon, R. T. Weidmer, J. W. Crews, Mills Tittle, Walter Campbell, Miss Hazel Campbell and Mrs. McCutchen.

Circle Four

Mrs. J. T. Bonner was hostess to members of circle four when Mrs. Carrie Fidler gave the devotional and Mrs. J. T. Montgomery conducted the lesson on Japan. Papers were given by Mesdames Orville Bullington and J. W. Caldwell. A short business session was held.

Those present were Mesdames J. T. Montgomery, E. W. Nicholson, Carrie Wilcox, J. Will Grey, B. L. Fain, W. W. Fraser, L. E. Stone, C. O. Nickell, O. E. Maer, Newton Maer, J. F. Vincent, A. E. Interesting Speker Honor Guest Of Episcopal Group

Miss Edna Beardsley of New York, one of the secretaries of the National Board of Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church was honor guest and speaker when members of the Auxiliary met Monday afternoon at the Parish house of the Church of the Good Shepherd. Miss Rachel Sumners, fellowship representative of the Dallas diocese and Miss Dorothy Fisher, representative from the Houston diocese were also present and addressed the sponsors of the Episcopal Fellowship at the parish house Monday evening.

Mrs. W. E. Maxson, president of the auxiliary, presided and Mrs. Lewis Riesen gave the inspiring devotional opening the meeting and Miss Tillie Mae Schaeffer sang a beautiful solo.

Miss Beardsley's talk stressed the work of the auxiliaries in America and told definitely what could be accomplished in local work. The large number present heard her with intense interest.

Receptions Follows

A beautiful tea table covered with a handsome lace cloth held a bowl of pink snapdragons and with the green candles in silver holders and green mints in silver bowls, made a handsome setting for tea served by Mesdames H. Duff Jones, A. T. Carrell, Carter McGregor and Murrell Blair.

Quanah Aid Head Studies New Loan

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, March 9.—J. S. Huffines, in charge of drouth relief loans in Hardeman county is attending a school of instruction at Paducah regarding the handling of the new loan fund which is to be available for food for farmers in the drouth stricken area. It is reported this money is to be made available to needy farmers without collateral, but full details have not been received at the local office here. This is the fund that is being distributed through the Fort Worth office of drouth relief.

The Quanah office has handled and filed nearly 300 applications for federal aid. About 45 checks have thus far been received and mailed to farmers. Thirty-five of these checks were received in one day this week. The loans range from $80 to $300 and cover cotton and grain crops of all kinds, and many include garden and truck products.

Harold Lloyd Corp. Wins Court Victory

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9. (AP)—The Harold Lloyd corporation won a victory in the piracy suit against invovling the motion picture "The Freshman," in the United State circuit court of appeals here today.

The court granted the corporation and the Pathe exchange the right to file a petition in Los Angeles for a rehearing on the grounds of newly discovered errors.

Mrs. Sadie S. Witwer, widow of the humorist, H. C. Witwer, won the case in Los Angeles district court on her charge the plot of "The Freshman" was plagiarized from Witwer's story "The Emancipation of Rodney." She obtained an injunction against further distribution of the film, an order for an accounting of profits which reputedly ran well over a million dollars and an order for destruction of the picture.

Wise Mr. Mulrooney He Lets the Reds Yelp Speed From the Cosmos Prescription Racket

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Police Commissioner Mulrooney's permit to the New York Communists to "talk all night" if they liked proved more effective in disarming a menacing crowd of agitators that milled around Union square on Wednesday than the cordon of police who were there to exert an intimidating influence. After a talk-fest of hours, both orators and listeners were appeased and disbanded without any mishap. In Boston, however, where the Communists were not permitted to congregate or talk freely, there were a dozen fights.

Clubbing disgruntled masses of humanity into silence has never worked out. Wise Mr. Mulrooney may know this. Give a mob that has a grievance the chance to air it thoroughly and the mob will cease to be a mob. To muzzle it, or attempt to do so, would be a mistake. Freedom of speech is a safety valve. Tyrants who ruled long knew this. The "talk all night" of Commissioner Mulrooney is an inspiration. Napoleon's whiff of grapeshot at the mob is no longer the remedy.

A nebula, or star cluster, has just been discovered which is speeding away into the depths of space at the rate of 11,000 miles a second. This nebula is not coming toward us, but rather rushing away from us, so there is no cause for alarm. As a matter of fact, there would be no cause for alarm if the nebula were coming straight for us, even at its alarming rate, for, according to astronomers at the Carnegie institution of Washington, the nebula is 120 million light-years away. Safe enough.

The driving urge for speed which seems to animate everyone of us may be a contagion caught from those marathon stars, comets and nebulae, that have set the pace. For not only is the cosmos in a blindingly furious hurry to get somewhere, with every particle of matter in continuous explosion, but that strange and humble phenomenon, little man, pocketed away on a grain of sand in a humble corner of space, is in a similar state of haste and riot, and just as blind as to his destiny or purpose.

Now it's the physicians. Gorged with revelations of the crookedness of lawyers, judges, politicians and racketeers, the reader turns to a scandal in a new direction with something of a sigh of relief. It appears that 47 New York practicing physicians, working hand in hand with 13 druggists, made a business of purveying prescription whisky by the carload, and pocketing the gains, minus legitimate rake-offs, of course, which went to the proper authorities.

Behind the 47 physicians and 13 druggists looms the shadow of hundreds of other physicians and druggists who patronized the syndicate, but whose names do not appear "among the directorate." The syndicate thrived for six years unmolested. Wednesday 100 federal agents decided it was time that a raid was made, and accordingly they made one, netting 1,432 prescriptions at one of the branch offices.

The lamentable fact about all this is that there is hardly anyone left to point an accusing finger. There is no one guiltless enough to throw the first stone. How can the citizens wax indignant at these physicians and druggists when his capacity for indignation has already reached the exhaustion point? The old brooms of justice not only do not sweep clean, they do not sweep at all. It looks as if the whole administration will have to be junked and entirely new foundations of civic virtue reared. The big, handsome boy in New York City Hall Park with the club stands no longer triumphant and erect over the temptations he has conquered. He lies sprawled in the mud, and all the racketeers are laughing at him.

Life's Grim Realities

THERE is something strangely pathetic in the story of Nicholas Solombino, 19, of White Plains, N. Y., who wanted to go to the movies and stole $4.95 from the bank of his 3-year-old niece so he could.

Nicholas Solombino is going to stay in jail for one year now. He broke a law and there are punishments for offenders. But he must have been very surprised when he went home from the last glamorous show and discovered that perfect fadeouts are found only on the silver screen.

The bank probably stood on a shelf in the kitchen where Nicholas could see it every time he entered the room to wash his hands or get a drink. At first it didn't mean much to him. It was just the box where his niece gleefully slipped pennies and nickels and dimes through a crack.

Down the street the moving picture palaces flaunted the charms of a glorious make-believe world. Men with the grace of a Don Juan and the physique of a magazine clothes illustration climbed the business ladder and hung their shingles—law, medicine, or business—at the top.

Nicholas Solombino was probably given to dreams. He liked to forget about life as it was lived around him and pretend that he was somebody else. And the cinema knew how to advertise.

But he didn't have enough money to buy a seat in the house. He was barred from the Promised Land.

And then he noticed the bank. He rattled it carefully one day when nobody was around. It was heavier than he had thought. Maybe he put it back and thought for a while. After all, it wasn't his money. Still...it would be a long time until his 3-year-old niece grew up.

One day he opened the bank and counted the money. There was $4.95.

So Nicholas Solombino went to the movies. He kept going until the money was gone. Then he went to jail.

Very often there is a pathetic void in the lonely life of a man or woman or child which a book or a play will satisfy. For a little while they are able to slip away from the unpleasantness that surrounds them and be the person of whom they are reading or the one whom they are watching in a gay and gallant part.

Nicholas Solombino did wrong, of course. He took another's money. But the punishment may be lessened by the memories which he will have of $4.95 worth of romance and adventure.

Cruelties of Youth

THE helpless tragedies of youth are things we can all understand, since all of us have lived through them, in one form or another. What we often overlook is the cruelty which youth frequently exercises on its own members.

The suicide of little Benita Bischoff in New Jersey the other day emphasizes the existence of this cruelty.

Benita, who was 16, was the daughter of the Vivian Gordon who was murdered after she had prepared to give evidence in the New York "vice ring" investigation.

Circumstances of the murder, and the facts regarding the woman's life which were brought out subsequent to it, were rather unsavory. The name Vivian Gordon was blazoned over newspaper front pages. Little Benita Bischoff was mentioned frequently. Naturally, the child found herself in an unenviable position.

Probably she would have been able to live through it if it had not been for the attitude of her schoolmates. They took pains not to let her forget that her mother had not been all she might have been. They taunted her, made cutting remarks where she could overhear them, did malicious little things to remind her of her tragedy. So, unable to endure it, she killed herself.

Youth, as it happens, can be as cruel as grown-ups. It has its own sorrows and disappointments—and how black they can seem, in the early teens!—but it has not had time yet to digest them and through them to learn how to be considerate and tolerant. It inflicts torture thoughtlessly and effectively. It is hard for an adult even to imagine what little Benita Bischoff must have suffered.

Much of this is due to youth's immaturity. But that is not all of it. Youth reflects the adult world in which it lives. It takes its cue from the grown-ups with whom it is in daily contact. And probably it was this fact that caused most of Benita's torture.

The adult world does not go out of its way to jibe at an unfortunate girl. It does not need to. It callously makes her the central figure of a nine-day scandal. It puts her up on a stage where no one can miss seeing her and turns on the spotlight. It finds in the whole shoddy "vice ring" situation not so much a spur to righteous indignation as a pleasing new sensation.

So the grown-up world need not be surprised if youth turned on Vivian Gordon's daughter and put her in the pillory. It was the adults who set the stage and provided the incentive.

SEND IN YOUR "BELIEVE IT OR NOT" AND GET RIP'S BOOK

Everyone must have encountered in his own experience some unique person, event or fact which would be an excellent subject for Robert L. Ripley's "Believe It or Not" cartoon. Readers are invited to send such suggestions to Mr. Ripley through this newspaper. Every suggestion must be accompanied by references or proofs that will authenticate it. For every suggestion he accepts Mr. Ripley will give an autographed copy of his book, "Believe It or Not,". All that is necessary to get the book is to watch for the Ripley cartoon in which your winning suggestion appears, clip the cartoon from this paper and send it to Mr. Ripley in care The Record News.

THE LOVELY LIAR : BY ROB EDEN

Deserted by Ted Allison on the eve of their elopement, Poppy Prior flees to New York. Her mother, who thinks she is married, inserts an announcement in the paper. Poppy is arrested for the theft of a bracelet, belonging to Celia Nixson, which she found on the train and considered of no value. Fearful that her mother may hear of her arrest, Poppy lies about her home town under the cross questioning. Sympathetic Kevin Wallace, friend of Celia, believes Poppy innocent, though she refuses to disclose anything to him, and tells her to call on him if she needs help. Committed to a detention home, Poppy gets away and goes to Wallace for help. He sends her to Jane Rochester, an art student and friend of his, who is kind to Poppy and advises her in all her troubles. Kevin Wallace is good to Poppy, too, and before long she is head over heels in love with him. She realizes that it was not love she had felt for Ted Allison. She had wanted to marry him only because it meant getting away from Ashland, and her mother who wanted to direct her life. Kevin is said to be engaged to Celia Nixson and Poppy can't bear to stay in New York without seeing him. She takes a position as companion nurse for a Mrs. Evans who is traveling to California in a "house on wheels." A short distance out of New York Mrs. Evans decides to stop at Ashland to visit an old chum. Poppy is panicky at the thought of facing her former neighbors who believe her to be happily married to Ted Allison.

The past gone. Only the future ahead. A glorious future with Kevin.

CHAPTER XLVIII

The miles sped on. So fast that Poppy was weak one minute, tense the next. That Mrs. Evans, of all the people in the world, should know someone in Ashland, should want to stop there.

The set, smiling mask of Mrs. Evans' face. Mildred's constant insistence.

Poppy tried to play with the child, tried to amuse her, but her thoughts were on Ashland which was so close. But 50 miles now. Hadn't the white sign on the road told her so? As if she had to be told, when she knew, knew these roads like a book. Knew every milestone of them. That sheltered bower there. She and Ted had stopped once under the trees. . . . Beyond was a grove where as a child she had gone to picnics. A brook ran through the grove, cold water, splashing over smooth round stones. On the other side of the road was Doctor Lanniger's farm, where she had been Elsie's guest sometimes in the summer. His name on the gate, a glimpse of the caretaker walking up to the white house. Austin. He had been with Doctor Lanniger for as many years as Poppy could remember.

These places she knew so well.

Little twinges of pain traveled through her veins, biting into her nerves.

If only Mrs. Evans' car weren't so conspicuous. But it was. And she needed no great stretch of imagination to know what would happen when they reached Ashland. The same thing had happened before in the towns where the car stopped. People gathering from nowhere, from everywhere, gazing at the car, peering in it curiously, as if they had never seen a house on wheels before. Mrs. Evans didn't mind their interest. Poppy thought she rather enjoyed it. Miles, when he had the chance, always described the interior of the car thoroughly. He was proud of it.

In Ashland it would be the same. People would come up. They could not help it. Soon there would be a crowd around. She would be recognized.

Marysville. Smaller than Ashland and only 25 miles away. At the rate Miles was traveling they would be in Ashland in less than an hour.

Miles pulled up to a gas station, and ordered the attendant to fill up the car.

"We'll be there in a little while now," Mrs. Evans said, looking out the window.

A Familiar Voice

Poppy's cold lips formed "Yes," but no sound came. Mildred scrambled out of the car, alone, for the girl had no strength to follow her. Such a little respite left. Not an hour. What would the next hour hold? Enough, she thought wryly. Too much.

"Run out and get Mildred," Mrs. Evans demanded, and Poppy struggled to her feet. Even in Marysville she might see someone she knew.

Mildred was standing near Miles watching the operations of the gas man with whom the chauffeur was discussing in low tones the house on wheels.

Poppy gave one look at the attendant and turned away, her heart in her mouth. A boy she knew, although she couldn't recall his name. Someone who had been in school when she had. The boy wasn't watching her, however, and he didn't notice her. He was interested in the great car, the like of which he had never seen. She heard the murmur of his voice asking Miles questions, how much gas the car used, how much mileage it made, what the cost had been. Who was the owner. . . .

The wind was chilly but she didn't feel it. She was warm, burning up, and her hands as she rubbed them together nervously were moist, clammy. This was only the beginning. In Ashland it would be worse. Worse than she could dream. Should she tell Mrs. Evans she couldn't go on? That she was ill?

A car pulled up back of Mrs. Evans' but she hardly saw it. Heard it dimly, only.

"Poppy!" She must be dreaming. She was dreaming, because that was Kevin's voice calling her name. Resolutely she didn't turn around, and the same voice spoke again, "Poppy!" A hand caught hers, and she was looking into his eyes.

"Poppy!"

"Kevin!" It was he. She wasn't dreaming. He was standing beside her holding her hand. How strange that he should be here, too, when she was. The pain would be worse now, after she had seen him. She tried to still the heart that was pumping so furiously, tried to look at him calmly, but could not.

"Get your things, Poppy, you're coming with me," he said quite firmly.

"I'm coming with you?"

"Yes, you're coming with me."

"I can't—"

But Kevin had let go her hand and was going away, into the car. How long she stood there waiting she never knew. She couldn't move. She seemed made of stone. Her limbs were heavy and her mind was full of Kevin and full of Ashland. Two minds, two brains she had, each thinking of a different thing. Kevin, Ashland.

The voices of Miles, and the boy she knew went on. Now and then Miles' laugh pierced her consciousness. Other voices, too, inside the car, but she wasn't aware of them.

When Kevin came out, her suitcase in one hand, her hat in the other, she looked at him vaguely.

"I've your things, Poppy, and Mrs. Evans understands. I've explained to her that you're going with me."

"But, I can't—"

"She understands, Poppy, don't you see? I've said goodbye for you to her so we can get started immediately."

"Then I don't have to go through Ashland?"

"No."

Away From Ashland

Somehow she put the hat over her dark curls, and got beside him in his car. It was very clear now. Kevin had known somehow that the car was passing through Ashland, and he had come to get her in time. She smiled weakly, and sat back. The comfort of it, the relief. Not to go through Ashland.

The car was spinning back over the road. Where, Poppy didn't know, didn't care. She was with Kevin, realizing the pain the meeting would bring, but not minding.

"We'll stop here." Kevin pulled into a little side road, and killed his motor. "Now, Poppy, I've torn all over these roads looking for you. Asking at every gas station, wiring madly ahead to get some trace of Mrs. Evans' car. Lucky for me, it was easy to spot. How dare you leave me without saying goodbye?" His hand touched her shoulder and gave it a gentle shake.

"How dare you?"

How could she tell him he wouldn't have cared?

"Listen, dear, I've been the blindest fool in the world. I didn't dream

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Thousands of government experts are working constantly for the benefit of all citizens of the United States. They will work directly for you if you will call for the fruits of their labors through our Washington bureau. State your inquiry briefly, write clearly, and, enclosing two-cent stamp for a personal letter in reply, address the Record News Information bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Do the natives in the Amazon valley use tom toms? If so, how are they made?—M. D. C.

A.—The native tribes of the Amazon valley use the hollow log with ends covered with skin and a plank of hard wood that is hit with a club or mallet. Drums of various sorts are common, and are known under the general heading of tom toms. They are used for ceremonies, dances, signals and such purposes.

Q.—How many co-educational colleges are there in the United States, and how many for women and for men?—F. M. S.

A.—The latest survey, that of 1927, showed 400 co-educational institutions; 123 for women, and 119 for men.

Q.—What kind of an acid is used to polish glass?—S. J.

A.—The bureau of standards says the effective constituent of the acid dip used in polishing glass is hydrofluoric acid. The strength of the acid required depends on the nature of the surface and the composition of the glass.

Q.—When was irrigation first used in Arizona?—McF. R.

A.—It was used many centuries before the coming of the white man. Early Spanish travelers found Indians using water carried by ditches for their crops.

Q.—About what river is Longfellow's poem, "The Bridge," written? —V. N.

A.—The original name of the poem was "The Bridge Over the Charles." The reference concerns the small stream along which Boston lies.

Q.—If a boy runs away and joins the navy, can his parents pay something and have him released?—M. I. V.

A.—The department of the navy says that it is not possible for a man to buy out of the navy. If circumstances are such at home that members of his family become dependent upon him for care or support, he may be discharged from the service of the United States. However, this will have to be taken up with the bureau of navigation, navy department, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Do many Canadians who come to the United States to live, change their minds and return to Canada?—G. P.

A.—Canadians who came to the United States to reside and who returned to Canada in 1930 declaring their intention of remaining permanently in that country numbered 31,608 compared with 30,479 in 1929.

Q.—What is the Orphan Brigade? —J. M. R.

A.—The Orphan Brigade was the popular name of a Confederate brigade of Kentucky infantry, which was organized October 28, 1861. It camped at Boone, near Clarksville, Tenn., just far enough over the border to avoid conflict with Governor Magoffin's proclamation declaring Kentucky a neutral state, and forbidding either federal or Confederate troops to occupy any post within it. The frequent change of commanders due to army loss, and the long service of the brigade outside of its home state, occasioned the use of the name.

Q.—How old is the oldest grave in Trinity churchyard, New York City?—E. H. S.

A.—The oldest grave-stone is marked as follows: "Here lyest the bodey of Richard Churcher, the son of William Churcher, who died the fifth day of August, 1681, aged 5 years."

Q.—What state produced the most petroleum last year?—J. C.

Texas led in the production of petroleum during the year, 1930, with a total production of 289,965,000 barrels.

Q.—When was the last case of yellow fever in the United States?—F. McN.

A.—The public health service says that there has not been a case of yellow fever since 1905.

Q.—What is dew point in temperature?—M. N. K.

A.—Dew point is that temperature (varying) at which the air deposits its vapor.

Q.—Has a live whale ever been on exhibition in the Battery Park aquarium in New Yory City?

A.—In 1897 two white whales were sent to the aquarium. One was 10 feet long, the other nine feet in length. The larger one lived but five days, but the smaller was on exhibition for some time.

The Record News Offers A New Booklet Modernizing Old Houses

This is the time of year to begin planning the improvements you want to make in your home, and this is the booklet you need in making such plans. It tells in detail what can be done to rehabilitate an antiquated dwelling, from giving it a modern exterior to the last step that must be taken to achieve attractiveness, comfort, and convenience through interior rearrangements. Also it tells how to finance such undertakings when they are sound business propositions. It is profusely and instructively illustrated.

Modernizing Old Houses can be secured only through the Washington Information bureau of The Record News. Fill out and mail this coupon today, enclosing 10 cents to cover cost, handling and postage.

'PURE, COLORLESS' WATER IMPOSSIBLE WITH PRESENT PLANT

STATE EXPERT FILES REPORT

Engineer Tells All About Supply Here.

of beginning, samples were then taken from the aqueduct at a point midway between the plant and start of aqueduct. These samples showing a count of 500. Samples taken at the point the aqueduct enters the plant reservoir show the bacteria count of 2,500. This condition shows a highly contaminated water entering the plant reservoir. All samples form gas in lactos broth within 24 hours and were confirmed by typical colonies on EMB plates. The water entering city reservoir shows to be more highly contaminated than any sample taken directly from the lake. The average time required for water starting at the lake dam to reach the plant under present conditions demand was seven and one-half hours. The bottom of the aqueduct and also the sides are heavy with algae and protozoa growth. Microscopic examination of the vegetable or algae growth in both the lake and reservoir shows the troublesome Asterionella, Anabaners, Synedra and the animal or protozoa urogiena, synura, dinobyron. The presence of so much algae is, without a doubt, due to the extremely warm winter and the shallow aqueduct. Concentration of the lake samples by means of a sedgwich Rafter filter was necessary because of the relatively low algae content. Concentration was not necessary for the reservoir samples. These growths, due to their death and decay or liberation of oils during their life, give bad tastes and odors to the water block filters and impart their own color to the water, etc. The present plant is not constructed so as to remove this imparted color from the water.

The aqueduct water enters an unfenced earthen reservoir of about 13 million gallons capacity. At present no areation is taking place. During summer months electric plant takes suction from this reservoir and areates the water to cool it and returns the water to reservoir. At present the cooling water from the plant is returned directly to a canal and flows by gravity back to the reservoir without aeration. The difference in temperature of this circulated water to uncirculated water is about 10 degrees F. This means at this time C O 2 content of the water is not being reduced in the reservoir. The point of water entering to the reservoir is but 250 feet to the source of supply entering No. 1 settling basin. The water flows from this reservoir through a concrete channel to No. 1 settling basin and an alum application and "agitation" occurs. The method of alum application is of the wet feed type and offers for from accurate control. The agitation is at present not enough to assure proper mixing.

System Ineffective

The natural alkalinity of the water now is very low, due to large amount of rainfall. There is no means of creating a "built-up" alkalinity at the plant. Aluminum sulphate or alum is added to the water to form the socalled insolluble "floc" or aluminum hydroxide, through reaction of the alum and the natural or "built-up" alkalinity, as the case may be. "Built-up" alkalinity is by means of the lime or soda ash addition to the water. The before stated lack of both a natural or a "built-up" alkalinity causes the alum to become solluble in the water and therefore of very poor floc results. If properly formed the floc, would be a feathery jelly-like precipitate which has a power to entangle bacteria and suspended solids in the water to relatively large flakes that settle rapidly.

The present very poor floc enters No. 1 settling basin of about one million gallons capacity and even at the present low rate of pumpage the rate being at present three million gallons a day, there is very little change in the apeparance of the water as it enters No. 2 settling basin. No. 2 settling basin is of about 300,000 gallon capacity and its waters go to the filters unchanged in appearance. Under conditions of large city demand these settling basins would not be large enough, even with a perfect condition of floc from the alum.

The rapid sand filters are arranged in two decks; four of them gravity type of 750 thousand gallons each, and three located on the upper deck of 800 thousand gallons capacity each. The water is pumped from this settling basin to the upper deck filter. The lines from the settling basin which contain treated water pass under the canal of untreated water on their way to the filters. The portion of aluminum hydroide of feathery floc not precipitated in the settling basin is supposed to form on the filter beds coating the sand, and in this way decreasing the size of the openings or spaces between the sand particles and thus removing much of the finer solids and bacteria. With proper equipment, filters have proven themselves able to remove as high as 96 to 98 per cent of the bacteria in the water.

Why Water Is Colored

Without the aid of alum, these finer solids and bacteria pass through the filters to the city mains. In summer months the present plant filters are over-capacitated and therefore it is necessary to by-pass some of the water around the filters. There is, at present, no water being by-passed.

The present lack of aeration allows the C O 2 content of the water to enter the city mains unchanged. In fact, the addition of the alum theoretically reduces the alkalinity 7.7 P. P. M and it increases the C O 2 content about 6.6 P. P. M. The present low alkalinity and high carbon dioxide content is causing a calcium carbonate deposit on the inside of the pipe which formed there during periods of high natural alkalinity, to come back into solution and exposing the rust which is also dissolved by the C O 2 causing the present "colored" water. This was demonstrated by a Ph of 6.8 at the plant; Ph of 7 or neutral at the city hall tap and on a calcite addition to water from the filters, its reaction with the C. O. 2 brought about a hydrogenion decrease, yielding a Ph of 7.3. This indicates that the water drawn from the city hall tap was still a corrosive water after being partly satisfied by the calcium carbonate in the mains leading to the city hall.

The setting basins are located at a distance of about 20 feet from the circulating water canal and approximately 30 feet from the earthen reservoir. Drillings into the earth around these settling basins show quicksand at a depth of but eight to 12 feet. Holes were spaced at a distance of four feet, the direction being on a line from canal and reservoir to the settling basins. A flourescein colorite solution added to the water in the hole nearest the canal penetrated the four feet of earth to the second hole in two hours and to No. 3 hole also four feet distance from the No. 2 hole, in one and one-half hours and appeared in the basin in three hours, a total of 6½ hours. These tests were made with such small amounts of colorite solution that it could not bring about a color addition to the city supply proper. The basins are badly cracked and these cracks are undoubtedly caused by the bad foundation soil.

Difference between the elevation of the canal water and the settling basin is 10 inches. The shed of the top soil of the land around the basin drains directly into the basin.

Clear Wells Contaminated

The filter effluent, or the waters coming from the filter, is stored in two clear wells of about ¾ million gallon capacity each. A similar situation exists at the clear well in relation to the canal water and reservoir as it did in the case of the settling basins. A minimum distance of about 12 feet exists between canal to clear well. The difference in elevation of canal water to clear well water is approximately 14 inches. Here holes were also placed in the bank in the direction of canal to clear well and color solution added. The time elapsing before the color appeared in the consecutive holes was approximately same as in the case of the settling basins. But in this case bacteria analysis were also run and these bacterial counts indicated that the water from the canal seeping underground to the clear well is very little lowered in its bacterial standing. This forms somewhat restricted "short circuit" between raw or untreated water to the treated water. The concrete forming the basin of the clear wells is also in very bad condition. Test made on water from the filters and from the clear well show an increase in bacteria count of 100 in the clear well. The records at the city hall show that recontamination of the treated water from this untreated water has been going on for a long time. This means that the clear water count is much greater than the bacteria count of the filter effluent before it enters the clear well. Lines from the filters to the clear well pass under the raw water canal. The canal carrying the circulated water from the light plank back to the reservoir has a number of unused oil and steam lines that should be removed.

The valves controlling the flow of water into the reservoir are located at the lake causing much time to be lost in attempting to control the height of the water in the reservoir under varying conditions of demand. This is made even more difficult inasmuch as the level of the reservoir, when full, is but one foot above the level of the gravity filters, and the adding to the contamination of the treated water by the under ground short circuits from the canal and reservoir to the clear wells and settling basins places a too great responsibility on the chlorinator. The great amount of algae in the water due to the pipe line in the dam stopping at the bank of the dam and not extending into the lake, the algae growth in the aqueduct, which are torn loose by dogs, ducks, etc., and the added contamination from the open aqueduct created a greatly fluctuating demand for chlorine.

These conditions mentioned above make the constant production of a pure, colorless water impossible. An over amount of chlorine, or even to kill all the bacteria in the water (chlorine is added to kill the bacteria water and is very successfully used in other cities having adequate plants to assist chlorinator) would cause bad ordors and tastes, due to the algae or organic matter in the water. Under chlorination would mean that the bacteria were not being killed, and with the sudden variation of amounts of each, as we at present, would mean that one result or the other must exist at all times.

A carefiul check of the city records will show that on most days the bacteria count is only being lowered instead of the water being free of bacteria. This does not cast any reflection on the operation or management of the city water plant, as I have been over the entire plant under conditions of operation and find the plant as successfully handled as it can be under the present conditions and with the present equipment. There is no chemical or bacteria laboratory at the plant and there is at present no chemical laboratory in the city.

At present no cross connections exist with the city supply. In the summer months shortage of filtered water makes it necessary to wash filter with settled water instead of filtered water. The drain line carrying wash water from the filters is of tile and is laid in the quicksand under the settling basins. These lines have undoubtedly settled, due to poor foundation, causing openings between the tiles, and would, if they should be partially checked and blocked with solids from the filters, be under pressure and back highly objectionable water in the settling basins.

The suction lines from the pumps lifting water to the city distribution system are laid in the quicksand and passed under a portion of the untreated water of the canal to the clear well. The pumps are centrifugal electric drive direct connected type, two of 10,000,000 gallon capacity and one of 5,000,000 gallon capacity. An elevated tower of 500,000 gallons capacity acts as a cushion to the pumped water. Pumping equipment appears to be in excellent repair. During the summer months, preamoniation is resorted to to prevent the growth of algae in settling basins, and has been successful. There is no standby chlorinator. All the above bacteria examinations of water were made by me or under my direction.

Recommendations:

The main need for this supply is the provision of a modern adequate treating plant. By adequate plant is meant adequate works, efficient operation, competent mechanical control, laboratory control and control of the lake water shed.

I am enclosing a complete U. S. treasury blank to be forwarded to the U. S. treasury department, Washington, showing that the water from this system should be unfavorably certified (prohibited).

Roy B. Jones Heads Committee Of A. P. I. to Save Marketing Code

Wichitan to Appear Before Federal Commission to Protest Order Invalidating Agreement

Roy B. Jones, president of the Panhandle Oil and Refining company, has been named as chairman of a committee to carry to Washington the American Petroleum institute's plea that the Federal Trade commission set aside its order invalidating the marketing code governing petroleum retailers. Mr. Jones was appointed to the post by E. B. Reeser, president of the Barnsdall Oil company and president of the American Petroleum institute, according to information received here.

The Federal Trade commission will be asked to retain the code, which has been accepted by 16,000 retailers. Amendments, it was said, will be made to the code if necessary agreeable to both the commission and the oil dealers.

Code Adopted in '29

The commission's order rescinding the code was passed Jan. 30, and is now under suspension until April 8. The general committee of the marketing division of the institute recommended to the board that all petroleum marketers who heretofore accepted the national code of practices for marketing refined petroleum products should adhere to their obligation to observe the rules of the code pending the final action of the commission and the institute.

The marketing code has been in effect since Aug. 31, 1929, and was evolved through various meetings of oil men, culminating in the American Petroleum institute initiating a movement for a national code in June, 1928. A subsequent trade practice conference was called by the Federal Trade commission in February, 1929. The conference approved the code and in August, 1929, was made law after certain rules to which the department of justice objected were stricken out.

The law imposes upon the Federal Trade commission the duty of preventing unfair methods of competition and the duty of punishing offenders of unfair methods. The American Petroleum institute is of the opinion that the code is lawful in all substantial respects and that its observance by the industry involves no violation of the anti-trust laws, but instead believes that the code is a decided step forward in preventing unfair methods of competition.

The administration of the code is conducted under the supervision of the institute's general committee of the division of marketing, and it is claimed that the machinery of its operation is now functioning efficiently.

Reasons Cited

The Institute offers for reasons why the code should be reapproved that the tendency of the code is to reduce the cost of distribution and the cost of petroleum products to the ultimate consumer; that it is one of the purposes of the code to discourage unnecessary and uneconomic duplication of gasoline pumps, in that the number of pumps now in use is far in excess of the reasonable requirements of the consumer; that economies of development and production, transportation and distribution, and incurs less duplication of marketing facilities; that large savings in refining can be effected; that the code tends to prevent unfair competition by substituting an open and honest competition, prevents unfair price discrimination between consumers in the same class; that the code requires a lawful respect of contractual obligations, prevents fraud and deception by prohibiting misbranding and unfair substitution of products; and requires each marketing company to post publicly the price at which it offers its products. The code does not sanction price agreements but leaves each company at liberty to fix its own prices according to its own discretion, it is said.

Committeemen to assist Mr. Jones in the petition to the trade commission to reconsider its action are Henry M. Dawes, president of the Pure Oil company; L. L. Stephens, general counsel of the Standard Oil company of Indiana; E. S. Hall, counsel of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, and W. R. Boyd Jr., executive vice president of the Petroleum institute.

GOP Can't Forget Prohibition Issue

character—and maybe the new proposal to 'do something for silver' will be a factor in that section.

"At any rate, the problem is much like that of a jig-saw picture puzzle and I have not time enough just now to try to put the pieces together."

Senator McNary agreed with Watson that a revival of business will aid Republicans, saying:

"Hoover's strength lies in the upward swing of business which we all expect will come between now and election time."

McNary added, however, that issues are never confined to the declarations contained in party platforms and if the dry question is uppermost in the minds of the voters, no power can prevent them from casting their ballots according to that issue.

In expressing his views, Watson said:

"While temperance may be a prominent issue in the 1932 election the economic issue will be determining influence. I am of the opinion that conditions are going to improve by November, 1932, and that fact will have a detrmining influence.

"The Democrats went far at their meeting the other day to thrust the temperance question to the front, and undoubtedly it will cut quite a figure in the campaign and election next year. But, as I now see it, I do not believe it will be the sole issue. Other questions will enter very largely into the contest."

MURRAY ASKS VOTE FINANCE

Bill to Take Tax Plan To Public

his controversy with Murray, who seeks to legislate him out of office.

Adverse Vote

Wentz, a Republican, is a bitter political foe of the governor and Murray has sworn to remove him.

An effort was made this afternoon to withdraw a bill making the terms of highway commissioners co-terminus with that of the governor and giving the governor power to remove the commissioners at any time. The motion to withdraw the bill was voted down 21 to 17 with six senators absent.

Administration leaders tomorrow will hold an open meeting of the committee on roads and highways where the bill now is held. The bill will be discussed at the time.

Murray Victory

The house passed the McDougal corporation income tax bill, providing a graduated scale of taxation from 1 to 10 per cent on the net incomes of corporations. The vote was 74 to 12.

Passage of the bill was an administration victory. The bill goes to the senate where it faces vigorous opposition. It was one of the most important measures of the present session.

All contractors doing public work in Oklahoma must employ 80 per cent of their workers who are Oklahoma citizens under provisions of a house bill passed by the senate. The bill did not carry an emergency clause and will not become effective for 90 days after being signed by the governor.

Vote School Funds

The senate approved a house appropriation of $250,000 for weak school aid. Senator Al Nichols, Wewoka, introduced an administration bill that would brand as contraband all products of oil companies engaged in importing crude and refined petroleum products.

Sidney L. Chapman, Grady county, introduced a bill in the house designed to reduce the state ad valorem tax levy from 3½ mills to ½ mill. Chapman said the measure would remove from the state board of equalization authority to vote the three mill levy as now provided in the statues. He claimed passage of the bill would mean an annual saving to Oklahomans of $5,554,805 in taxes.

Household Moving Law Hits Snag In Council Session

Members of the city council Monday night called for a public hearing next Monday night in the council chamber at the Memorial auditorium on the proposed ordinance requiring that all movements of furniture or other household goods within the city be registered with the chief of police by the carrier.

J. P. Tarry and J. L. Elkins appeared before the council Monday night to oppose passage of the proposed ordinance. Difficulty of fair enforcement and impracticality were charged in Mr. Tarry's talk. He declared that in the cities which have in the past adopted such ordinances, it has become a "dead letter" after short unsuccessful trials. Both proponents and opponents of the measure are expected to voice their attitudes next Monday night.

An application for permission to open a small restaurant at 412 Travis street was received from J. E. Stephens. It will be advertised during this week in preparation for a public hearing next Monday night before the council.

Charles I. Francis, Luke McCrory and James M. Williams were named as a board of appeals to hear the plea of J. H. Allison of the Allison Drug company for permission to erect a gasoline filling station at the corner of Tenth and Taylor streets. The permit was refused recently by the city council. The hearing will be held within the next few days, it was said.

Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, Raymond Myers and Leon Deaton were named as a commission to hear the claim of Mrs. Nick Pappas for damages from the city. The plaintiff alleges personal injuries as a result of turning an ankle on a portion of a sidewalk in the downtown district, it was as stated.

Grover Bullington was named to act as presiding judge at the P. P. Langford garage in the water bond election next Saturday, and H. S. Gray was appointed to fill a similar post at the Alamo school. They were chosen to replace J. H. S. Bonner and E. S. Whitelaw, respectively, who declared themselves unable to serve.

R. L. Ward appeared before the council to ask permission to erect a wood-and-paper shed, 55 by 75 feet, at 1000 Ohio avenue for the accommodation of produce. The application was referred to the city engineer after members of the council had declared such a structure was forbidden by city ordinances designed to minimize fire hazards.

Kiwanis Hears Talk On Farm Experiments

"The 75 failures in experimentation which precede the one perfection shown in a demonstration are just as important as the successes," said C. H. McDowell, director of the Wichita county agricultural experiment station at Iowa Park, before members of the Kiwanis club at the Kemp hotel Monday noon.

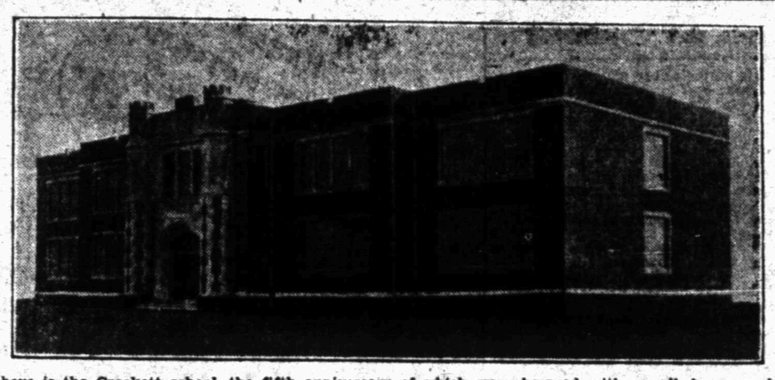

The speaker emphasized the fact that an experiment station is just that, rather than a demonstration farm, "as the public generally seems to believe."

"This is an age of experimentation," he said, "one in which progress is being maintained only at the cost of unceasing experiments. Agriculture, the largest industry, must continue to experiment to get ahead."

The speaker was introduced by J. N. Sherrill, chairman of the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce.

Members of the club were entertained by McGregor Brown, baritone, who sang three solos, accompanied by Lee Erwin. The musicians were introduced by Grover C. Bullington. Jacob B. Price was in charge of the program.

COUNTY FEES IN DISPUTE

'Friendly Suit' May Determine Owner of $3,400

County Auditor Paul Barnett was authorized Monday by the commissioners court to call upon Guy C. Raley, former county tax collector, for $5,919.65 in fees claimed to be due the county, less any payments made thereon since the Allred-Lambert-Nichols audit of county records was made during the past few months.

Delinquent fees asked for by the county commissioners represent the county's share of receipts of the tax collector's office during the years of 1927 to 1930 inclusive, it was pointed out.

Amount in Escrow

According to the audit of the tax collector's records for 1930 made by Mr. Barnett, and submitted to the commissioners Monday, there is a total of $4,240.44 of excess fees due the county for the past year. This amount, it was said, is included in the $5,919.65 asked by the commissioners court. Br. Barnett indicated Monday evening that about $2,200 had been applied on the account since the special audit was made, and that the county auditor's records now show a balance of about $3,700 due the county.

Audits submitted by Mr. Barnett showed a net excess in fees from the county clerk's office for 1930 amounting to $1,367.09; from the tax assessor's office, $2,717.40; and from the district clerk's office, $2,358.07.

According to information given The Record News Monday night by Mr. Raley, the amount of money involved is $3,400, which he stated is being held in escrow in a local bank pending determination of its ownership. The sum represents a $1 fee allowed the county tax collector annually on April 1, he said, for the handling of each delinquent tax account. In 1926, it was stated, the county commissioners were advised by the late E. P. Walsh, then county auditor, that the fee was not to be allowed for the collection of 1922 taxes. County officials were ordered by the commissioners to turn back to the county any fees already withheld for the handling of such 1922 accounts, according to Mr. Raley. In compliance with that order, he said, he issued a check for $3,400 marked "protested" and placed it in escrow pending final settlement of the matter. Other county officials either refused or failed to turn back such fees, Mr. Raley stated, and his conclusion has been that "if they were entitled to their fee, then I am entitled to mine on the same transactions."

The court's request for the fees for the past four years, Mr. Raley indicated, lays the ground for a friendly suit to determine ownership of the $3,400 now held in escrow.

Reports Filed

The commissioners received a certificate from the trust department of the First National bank, showing deposit of $20,000 in government bonds to cover the bank's responsibility as depository for county trust funds during the ensuing two years.

The monthly report filed by Tom McHam, county treasurer, showed a balance of $11,237.04 in the general fund at the end of February. The report was referred to the county auditor. Mr. McHam also filed his February report as treasurer of the Wichita County Drainage district No. 1, showing $800.73 in the interest and sinking fund, with $385.05 in the maintenance fund.

The detailed report of receipts in the county attorney's office during 1930, furnished by Wayne Somerville, was ordered filed in the county clerk's office.

Humble Posts New Oil Price Cuts

barger, Archer and northern Young counties was cut 12 cents a barrel, making the new quotation 43 cents a barrel for below 29 degree gravity. A two-cent differential was carried out scaling upward to 40 degrees and above, which was quoted at 67 cents. For the Mexia, Powell, Boggy Creek, Lytton Springs, Richland, Wortham, Currie, Moran and Nocona fields the latter quotation was a cut of 40 cents a barrel, while for the Wichita, Wilbarger, Archer and northern Young counties it was a reduction of 12 cents a barrel.

Gravity Raised

Under the new schedule for Gray, Carson and Hutchinson counties crudes, the gravity was raised. Heretofore prices being quoted for 29 degrees and below, while under the new schedule 35 degrees and below was the lowest quoted.

Gray county crude was quoted at a price reduction of 17 cents a barrel, starting at below 35 degrees, which is fixed at 43 cents a barrel. A two-cent differential was carried out ranging upward to 40 degrees and above, which was quoted at 55 cents a barrel, or a reduction of 17 cents.

Carson Cut

Carson and Hutchinson counties were cut 17 cents a barrel, with the price for below 35 degrees being quoted at 38 cents a barrel, and a two-cent differential ranging upward to 40 and above, which was quoted at 50 cents a barrel.

Winkler and Pecos counties, which formerly were purchased on a gravity basis, ranging from 55 to 79 cents a barrel, were placed on a flat basis of 40 cents a barrel. Upton, Crane, Crockett, Ector, Howard and Glasscock counties which likewise were on a gravity basis with prices ranging from 50 cents to 74 cents a barrel, also were placed on a flat basis of 35 cents a barrel.

Salt flat and Dart creek crudes were reduced 30 cents a barrel, the new price being 60 cents a barrel. Pettus crude was reduced 15 cents a barrel, with the new price being fixed at 95 cents a barrel. The price paid for Mirando crude remains the same—69 cents a barrel.

150 Attend Open House Celebrating Fifth Anniversary of School

Approximately 150 persons attended the open house held at Crockett school Monday afternoon in celebration of the fifth anniversary of the school.

The rooms were attractively decorated with spring blossoms and potted plants. Mrs. W. W. Fraser, president of the P.-T. A., and Mrs. H. J. Streif, former president of the organization, each presented the school with a lovely potted plant. Other gifts to the school included a beautiful Texas flag also given by Mrs. Fraser and several sprigs of ivy, taken from the Alamo by Mrs. Guy Rogers who has just returned from San Antonio. The ivy will be planted around the building by the pupils.

Flag Program

The feature of the program was the raising of the newly presented flag which was raised just under the American flag on the pole in front of the building.

Pupils of the school were hosts and hostesses and presided over the guest book at intervals during the day. Class work and special exhibits of art were observed by the guests. Many remained for luncheon in the cafeteria.

Crockett school was first opened March 8, 1926, when more than 400 school children came from the Sam Houston and Alamo schools to organize the Crockett school body. Miss Ida Moore, present principal, was the first principal and many of the charter members of the faculty are still to be found in that capacity.

The charter members of the faculty were Miss Moore, Miss Florence Datson, Miss Clara Crain, Mrs. Wren, Miss Ellen Parker, Miss Elsie Nash, Miss Martha Peters, Miss Delta Kemp, Miss Marguerite Peery, Miss Juel Ray, Miss Anna Jo Pendleton, Mrs. E. J. deMontel, Mrs. Joan Dakin and Mrs. R. F. Belt. Mrs. O. O. Ross managed the school lunch room, with Mrs. W. E. Fuller as assistant.

The parent-teacher association was organized March 16, with 75 mothers present. Officers were elected as follows: Mrs. H. J. Strief, president; Mrs. J. H. Allison, first vice president; Mrs. E. L. Patton, second vice president; Mrs. N. B. Chenault, third vice president; Mrs. Durwood McDonald, sponsor chairman; Mrs. Philip Miller, treasurer; Miss Florence Datson, reporter. Dr. J. W. Cantwell was the principal speaker at the organization meeting.

WEST TEXAS

Electric Company Display at Stock Show Draws Attention

The Texas Electric Service company has one of the most unique and interesting exhibits at the Fort Worth Fat Stock show, A. E. Kelly, manager of the company here, declared Monday. The display consists of a panorama of West Texas in miniature showing model cities and towns, farms, industries and oil wells scattered over the landscape.

In another section of the electric company display will be a demonstration of the Theremin, a recently invented electrical musical instrument which is played merely by waving the hands in the air above metal rods. Four performances of this apparatus will be held each day, at 2:30, 4:30, 7 and 8 o'clock.

MANY BUYERS VISIT CITY

Spring Bargain Festival Attracts Trade

The spring buying festival offered by merchants here opened Monday. At the close of the day it was announced that business had been exceptionally good at all shops and stores, and that many out-of-town purchasers were in the city to buy and to view the displays of new spring merchandise.

Nearly every retail merchant of the city joined in with plans of the retail trade bureau formed here recently and exhibited special displays of merchandise and are offering exceptional values during the two-weeks duration of the festival. Souvenirs are to be given shoppers during the festival.

The spring opening is to be climaxed on Saturday, March 21, with special entertainment and is intended to be made the big day of the celebration. Thousands of buyers from the neighboring territory and from Wichita Falls are expected to be present for the final day. Free entertainment at the Majestic theater will be provided during the morning and members of an entertainment committee are still engaged in planning a mammoth street celebration to bring the festival to a close.

During the duration of the festival out-of-town shopers are to be provided free rooms at the Kemp and Holt hotels during the hours from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

The celebration was planned by members of the retail trade bureau recently organized for the purpose of encouraging and stimulating retail trade here. The bureau is maintained in the chamber of commerce offices. Plans are to conduct a retail trade survey of this territory for the purpose of determining the extent of trade obtained throughout this section by merchants here and to determine the wants and needs of purchasers in order that they may be rendered a better service. Jack C. Barnard is president of the newly formed organization.

Absentee Voting On Bonds to End Today

A total of 33 absentee voters in the proposed million dollar water bond election has been cast at 5 o'clock Tuesday, it was announced by city officials. The absentee balloting will close at 5 o'clock Tuesday. The number of ballots cast so far in the election is unusually heavy, it was said.

STATES JOIN ARMY FOR OIL

Permanent Organization Launched

any field and a fair and reasonable allocation within the states.

It was recommended that the federal government give sanction to the efforts to limit drilling and production and prevent the scrambles in new fields which cause drilling wastes and the loss of gas pressure and energy.

The federal government was also asked "to not apply the anti-trust laws to the natural resources of oil and gas and that if the present conditions continue it will result in a monopoly by eliminating competition."

Independent Doomed

This was explained as meaning that the oil companies were all afraid to enter into combines and that it was forcing the small independent producers out.

The committee found that it was impossible for the small producer, with the present curtailment of prices, to exist.

The committee was unanimous in adopting the resolution and in all 20 points recommending changes in the various phases of operation in the oil industry.

The members of the committee were: Cicero I. Murray, Oklahoma, chairman; R. R. Penn, Texas; T. H. Barton, Arkansas; William H. Cooley, California; Mark Mitchell, Kansas; W. Scott Heywood, Louisiana; and Carl M. Cox, Wyoming.

Committee Retained

The committee recommended that it continue to function and that meetings could be decided upon later. The findings, contained in the 20 points, are to be presented to the governors of the various states for possible legislation.

If the agreement of the committee fails to limit imports it was recommended that the state legislatures pass laws which will force the oil companies to cease importing petroleum.

No time or place for the next meeting was decided upon. Cicero I. Murray went to Shreveport, La., tonight to make a speech on radio station KWKH on results of the meeting here.

East Texas Measures

The committee will confer with holders of crude oil in storage on matters of withdrawals, so that they will be accomplished in "rational" manners and without interference with the market.

The section devoted to proration recommended that the present system be continued without abatement or lessening of restrictions.

The committee recommended regarding the new East Texas field as follows:

"That proration be immediately extended by the conservation authorities of Texas to the new East Texas fields, which are now threatening to destroy the entire crude market, providing for those fields fair and reasonable markets and prices consistent with the production of the rest of the country, and that in all new areas of flush production, in whatever state, proration measures be fairly applied from the beginning of development of said fields.

GARBER MAKES DOW PREDICTIONS

WASHINGTON, March 9. (AP)—A "wholly inadequate" limitation on oil imports was predicted today by Representative Garber, Republican, Oklahoma, as the result of negotiations between Secretary Lamont and major oil companies for a voluntary restriction agreement.

"Congress has never delegated to President Hoover, Secretary Lamont or the oil companies exemption from the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust acts," said the Oklahoman who led the fight for an oil embargo in the last congress.

"If this agreement, which will be reached, operates to fix prices it will be a violation of the anti-trust laws, especially since the companies involved already control 85 per cent of transporting refining and marketing facilities."

Companies Listed

Garber said the companies involved were the Standard Oil companies of New Jersey and Indiana, the Gulf and the Dutch Shell.

"All but one have signified agreement to a voluntary limitation," he said. "The agreement will be what the big companies are willing to agree to, namely, the minimum degree of curtailment. It will be far in excess of imports permitted under an adequate tariff or embargo.

"If the administration had exhibited the interest now shown when congress was in session there could have been proper legislation. The aggressive action now to negotiate their own agreement is an effort by the big companies to block inevitable legislation next session."

Death Claims Jerry Penix

Aged Texas Pioneer Dies At Home Here

Jerry Penix, 78, died at his home 1502 Monroe street, at 10:30 o'clock Monday night. He had been a resident of Wichita Falls since 1926, removing here from Palo Pinto county, where he had lived for about 48 years and was known as one of the most successful farmers of the county.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the First Christian church, with Dr. H. T. Woods, officiating. The Hines mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Penix was a native of North Carolina. He removed with his parents to St. Claire county, Missouri, when he was a child. Four years after his marriage and while a young man he moved to Palo Pinto county, Texas, in 1878.

Surviving are the widow, five sons, W. H. Penix of Wichita Falls, S. A. Penix of Graham, S. D. Penix of Chillicothe, H. T. Penix of Fort Worth and B. C. Penix of Denver, Colo.; four daughters, Mrs. A. C. Newberry, Mrs. W. C. Nicholson and Mrs. C. B. Edmonson, all of Mineral Wells, and Mrs. Orilla Autrey of Wichita Falls; a brother, Edward Penix of Palo Pinto county, Texas; and 26 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

State Deaths

HENRY B. GARTELL

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, March 9.—Funeral services for Henry B. Gartell, 68, who died at his home in Iowa Park Saturday morning, March 7, were held at the family residence in Iowa Park Sunday afternoon, March 8, at 2:30 o'clock, with the Rev. Clarence B. Williams pastor of the Church of Christ officiating. Burial was at Highland cemetery near Iowa Park, with J. A. Tanner, undertaker, in charge.

Mr. Gartel moved to Iowa Park from Oklahoma seven years ago and had lived here since. For the past few years he has been in declining health and his death was not unexpected. Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Bob Lee, Mrs. Stacey Teafetiller, and Mrs. Henry Newman, all of whom live in Iowa Park.

MRS. W. R. EMMONS

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, March 9.—Mrs. W. R. Emmons, 65, a resident of the Kemp City community for seven years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. M. Spruell, Monday morning.

The body will be forwarded to Hubbard City, Texas, Tuesday noon and services will be held at the Methodist church in Hubbard City Wednesday.

Surviving are three sons and five daughters, W. R. Emmons of Iowa Park, Lee and Ernest Emmons of Hubbard City, Mrs. G. S. Dudley, Hubbard City, Mrs. William Wafer of Sweetwater, Mrs. Ed Hall and Mrs. V. J. Ludington of Fort Worth.

Causes of Mucous Colitis

If you have been finding long shreds or strings of mucus in your stools, you may have mucous colitis, which is something like a cold except that the mucus flows from the colon instead of from the nose.

Of course, the mucous membranes of the intestines throw off mucus the same as any other mucous membranes, but when the intestines are irritated more than usual by toxic material they try to protect themselves against the irritation by pouring out excess quantities of mucus, and this is what is seen in the stools.

In some cases the mucus is in long shreds and the movement may consist of nothing else; in others this is blood stained, and in most cases the mucus is mixed in with the bowel movement. The mucus may be in the shape of a round tube but it is more likely to be in strings of slimy material which, like gelatin, are hard to hold between the fingers.

The patient sees the strips of mucus and is worried about them, but of course he does not see the real trouble, which is an inflamed condition of the intestines. In fact, the word colitis means inflammation of the colon. The colon may become so irritated that it is tender, congested, slightly swollen, and the movements are watery.

Some of the common causes of colitis are any condition causing a long continued irritation, such as kinks in the bowel, constipation, toxic material due to wrong food, large numbers of harmful intestinal bacteria, intestinal parasites, interference with the normal nerve tone of the intestine, or lack of exercise which produces a general weakness with poor circulation and a general lack of muscular tone throughout the whole alimentary canal.

Some of the common symptoms of colitis are mucus in the stools, colicky pains through the abdomen which come and go according to the amount of fecal matter which presses on the tender, inflamed spots in the colon; frequent, watery bowel movements, as many as eight or 10 a day in some patients; a stabbing pain when the bowels move; either constipation or diarrhea; and in some cases, fever. As with other digestive disturbances, there is nausea, perhaps vomiting and undernourishment.

Colitis is easily mistaken for appendicitis or for inflammation of the ovaries. In many cases the irritation of the colon by poisons and its distension by gas cause distress which is thought due to some other disease.

Colitis is not a disease which causes death. However, it is a very annoying trouble and unless overcome it may become ulcerative colitis in which the sore places break down and become ulcers and throw off pus.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Vegetarianism

Question—W. S. writes: "I have been a vegetarian for a number of years. What could I substitute for the meats given in your menus in order to follow them out as given in our paper every week?"

Answer—If you are a strict vegetarian, about the only thing you could substitute for the meat would be nuts. If you are a lacto-vegetarian you could also substitute cheese. Most vegetarians need to use a large amount of wholewheat products in order to get enough protein. But the wholewheat grain or bread cannot always be substituted for meat, and the combinations at the meals need to be changed somewhat. For instance, no dessert should be used with a meal if wholewheat bread is used, and no other starch used at the same meal, as the wholewheat is a combination of starch and protein and already more difficult to digest than meat. If you will write to me again, enclosing a large stamped envelope, I will work out a menu for you according to your needs.

Muscles Twitch

Question—N. C. J. writes: "Please tell me through your column why the facial muscles about and below my left eye twitch disagreeably every now and then. I am a man of 54."

Answer—Your trouble is due to a depleted nervous system and appears only in the muscles below your left eye simply because there is some interference with the nerve going to that section. Besides adopting a general hygienic regime for nervousness, you might receive help for your trouble by having a few osteopathic or chiropractic treatments to the muscles and nerves of your neck.

Ward School Students Follow Health Charts

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 9.—The pupils in the Thompson Ward school are making health charts under the supervision of their teachers. The charts contain all the fundamentals of health and the pupils will be allowed to take them to their homes Wednesday. The parent-teacher association of that school is asking the parents to cooperate in helping the children follow the health chart by constantly reminding them of the fundamentals.

Progress on the scrap book of the Thompson Ward association has been steady and the book will be completed in time to enter the contest sponsored by the 13th District Parent-Teacher association. Mrs. W. M. Austin is chairman and Miss Eura Wilkinson is assistant in arranging the book.

CARL WILLIAMS ARRIVES TO PILOT 1931 SPUDDER ENTRY

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Too Much Bettencourt

Obviously, the reason Frank Allred, Spudder infield rookie who arrived here Monday, failed at the second base job when he tried out last spring was that Lin Storti was just too much for him. It was no disgrace to bow to Storti. Better men than Allred have found themselves wanting when Lin Storti was on the job.

But another reason Allred slumped, he said Monday, was the way Larry Bettencourt hurled a baseball.

This, of course, is an old complaint. Infielders have always dreaded one of Larry's throws. He put so much pepper on it the dratted ball burned them up.

And he burned Allred up plenty fast, the rookie said. Bettencourt was used in the infield and behind the bat for a while early in the 1930 training camp before he was transferred for good, and to the delight of the infielders, to the right garden. Even from that distant outpost he would sometimes make Levey, Storti or Burns wince.

Proud of Them

One of the first things that came to Skipper Carl Williams attention when he landed here Monday were newspaper stories telling what a few Spuds and former Spuds are doing with the St. Louis Browns.

The first was from the Monday morning issue of this sheet, detailing that Marvin Ferrell and Forrest Pressnell toiled effectively on the mound Sunday when the Browns gave the bearded House of David nine a lickin' down in Florida. Carl expects much from Pressnell this year. And it's beginning to look as if Ferrell will come through.

But you should have seen Carl's look when he read the afternoon paper, which added more details to the story, the details, to-wit, concerning Levey, Storti and Burns. All played in the House of David game and did, well, the reports said, Levey's fielding being classed as "brilliant."

Levey, in being placed in the brilliant class ahead of his infield mates Storti and Burns, is giving the dope a gentle, but forceful lurch.

When those three boys went up, the Texas league critics gave them a pat on the back, of course, but secretly they expected to see Levey back in class A, or some other minor league, this season while Storti and Burns made the grade.

At present it looks like all three might make the grade.

Bettencourt has also come in for a few kind words from Manager Killefer, and if he confounds the dope it will indeed be an upset, because Bettencourt's style of hitting was regarded as a sure bar to his entrance into big league company. It may be that through some strenuous tutoring, Bettencourt is being taught to eliminate that double-shift style of his. If he gets to where he can take a clean crack at the ball without waving his bat around like an orchestra conductor waves his baton, he'll do some hitting. Larry must forget this home run business. A homer now and then is a joy fosever, of course, but Manager Killefer has announced he's going to win his ball games on base hits, and if Larry wants a job he's got to get in shape to obey orders.

Come Again, Boys

There were several railbirds down at the baseball lot Monday, expecting Skipper Carl to put his boys through a workout the first day. They were obviously disappointed when they learned there would be none. Such early interest is a good sign. Come down this afternoon, boys, and you'll see the gang at work. Come down all during the training season. Also, come down and give the boys a cheer when the real thing starts.

All-Star Players

Ross Edgemon, manager of the First Methodist basket ball team, has picked a first and second all-tournament team from the players who participated in the Floral Heights Presbyterian invitation meet here last week. His team selections follow:

Forwards—B. Moore, Goree; Hills, First Christian.

Center—Walton, Olney Pals.

Guards—Clary, First Methodist; Brown, First Presbyterian.

His second team follows:

Forwards—Rawls, First Methodist; J. Butts, Holliday.

Center—Wright, Olney Cubs.

Guards—Crouch, Goree Independents; Wooldridge, First Methodists.

Ring Down the Curtain

The play-off for the city church championship, and the play-off for the city junior high school championship will be completed this week, and the curtain will fall on the basket ball season. It has been the most successful basket ball season in years, as we are fond of repeating.

And, as we also like to repeat, the Nocona Indians put much of the punch in the race, and the laurels they won at the state tournament had much to do with the season's success. For whether the interscholastic league has designated the title or not, the Indians are regional champions in basket ball, rulers of the Panhandle and the great Northwest.

And so we have two regional champions in our midst: Olney, regional football champions, Nocona, regional basket ball champions.

It is not many localities that can boast two such titles.

Oh Yes, I Forgot

Whadda ya know about this, mates: Skipper Carl Williams is a golfer. More than that, he makes his own golf courses. When he cleaned out the baggage from his car, out came a set of clubs.

To the gasping questioner he said: "Sure I'm a golfer and yes, we have a golf course out in those wild West Texas hills of Santa Anna. I laid out the thing myself, and the club gave me a life membership for doing it."

Now if he'd gone on to say what a "good" golfer he is, I'd have kept quiet; but since he just said "I'm a golfer," the Rambler challenged him to a match then and there.

Not one of these four-ball matches, you know, whatever they are. We'll probably need a couple dozen a piece.

VANGUARD OF ROOKIES HERE

Skipper Plans First Drill This Afternoon

By FRED THOMPSON

W. Carl Williams arrived here Monday afternoon to begin his fourth term as manager of the Wichita Falls Spudders.

His skin bronzed a richer color and his hands gnarled from another season on his Santa Anna farm, his gait the usual farmer-boy lope, his attire clean but unassuming and his manner, including that winning drawl, as friendly and warm as ever—it was the same old Carl that lurched into Guy Airey's office Monday afternoon and announced he was "ready to go."

His arrival was warmly greeted. Secretary Airey lost all restraint and throwing one arm around the the gaunt skipper, embraced him. The Spudder office force and all visitors sprang to their feet with extended hands. They basked in the smile of the veteran skipper, and the atmosphere was one of confidence, such as Carl Williams knows how to create—confidence that it was the beginning of another banner year for the Wichita Falls Baseball club.

Recovers From Illness

The skipper has been ill. Last week the influenza drove him to bed. But aside from a slight weakness which he confessed might force him to takes things easy a few days, the effect were not noticeable. "If I felt any better I'd be looking for a fuss," said Williams.

The welcoming over the baseball gathering, including League Prexy Gardner, settled down to earnest talk of their craft.

Since it had been understood these many months that have elapsed since the closing of the 1930 season that Williams frowned on night baseball, one of the first questions directed at him concerned the arcs, which likely will be widespread over the league this year.

But to the surprise of many, Skipper Williams directed his first grouch of the season towards the split season, and not night baseball.

"It doesn't make any difference to us," said Carl. "Let them play in daylight or dark. We'll give them everything we've got. Let 'em even turn the lights out if they want to."

But toward the split season he was less affectionate, and with an earnest look in his twinkling brown eyes, he directed the question to Mr. Gardner:

"Say, are we going to have a split season this year?"

Which, of course, Mr. Gardner couldn't answer. Williams then expressed the hope that the clubs would let the full season stand, a hope, needless to say, that is shared by every Spudder fan, since the halving process has done the Spudders more harm the last three years than a score of clubs of the caliber of the Dallas Steers, the Houston Bisons and the Fort Worth Cats.

Accompanied by Pitcher

Skipper Williams, who drove from Santa Anna in his car, was accompanied by Emmitt Hodge, a young right-hand pitcher of Santa Anna whom Williams will give a trial in the training camp. Hodge has pitched with various small town teams in West Texas, and is a youngster of much promise, Williams said.

The pilot soon after his arrival was escorted to the foot of Seventh street, and at the clubhouse found eight rookies awaiting him, all that reported the first day. More will be on hand Tuesday, when the first workout of the season will be held. It is cheduled for the afternoon. Uniforms will be handed out Tuesday morning. Nothing was accomplished at the camp Monday, except that the players became acquainted with each other, and their bosses.

Among the arrivals was Scott Pullen, the Georgia flash, candidate for an infield position. Pullen, star shortstop for the Georgia Tech baseball team for two years, was signed by the local club mainly on the recommendation of the Georgia Tech coach, who saw in the youngster a brilliant prospect. He was the best all-around player on the Tech squad, it was reported. His fielding of the shortstop position with the Georgia nine attracted much attention.

Wants to Play Third

Arriving here, however, he said he preferred the third base job. "I'd rather play there than anywhere," he said, "but I'll do whatever they tell me to, and try to do it well."

The youngster is rather short, averaging about five feet eight inches, but is well built and appears husky and in good condition. He has dark eyes, a swarthy complexion, and talks of the game like a veteran, though he has never played professional baseball.

Another arrival was W. D. Ratliff, of Littlefield, Texas, a catcher with two years' experience in the West Texas league behind him. An item of interest concerning Ratliff is that he was the roommate of Lin Storti, who needs no introduction, when they both played with the Lubbock club of the West Texas league in 1928. Ratliff at that time played right field, while Storti was a third baseman. Toward the end of the 1928 season Storti was acquired by Abilene, the Spudder farm then managed by Carl Williams, and the latter made Storti a second baseman. Which he is today with the St. Louis Browns.

Ratliff played the catching position with Midland during the 1929 season, and when the West Texas loop disbanded last season played semi-pro baseball. Ratliff is a solid built biond, and comes here well recommended.

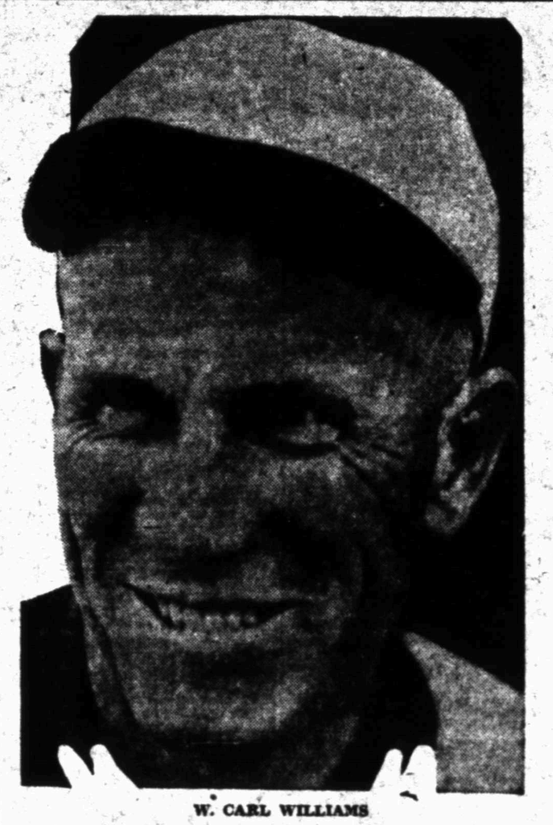

Allred Returns

Still another arrival was Frank Allred, whom railbirds of the 1930 season will remember as a candidate for the second base job, with such opposition staring him in the face as Lin Storti and Franklin Allday. Allred, who at that time denied kinship with the Wichita Falls Allreds of legal fame, and who repeated it Monday, could not make the grade against such talent and was released, but was promptly signed for this year." He has stayed in condition, he said, by playing semi-pro baseball at Knox City, and later in Kansas, among other places and is anxious to once more make the trial. "He has been working out on his own hook three weeks, he said.

Other rookies who were at the lot Monday included A. F. Lumpkin, a right-handed pitcher as yet unsigned, of Sudan, Texas; Dick Davis, left-handed hurler of Pond Creek, Okla.; Howard Babb, right-handed pitcher who arrived Sunday; and J. B. King, outfielder of Weinert, Texas.

One Iron-Armed Pitcher All We Need, Says Sens' Pilot

He's Back for Another Title Chase

W. CARL WILLIAMS

Skipper Carl Williams returned to the Spudder fold yesterday, deserting his Santa Anna farm for another try at the Texas league bunting which his Spudders won in 1927, and which they have almost won ever since. Workouts will start at the lot today, the skipper said.

Training Camp Chatter

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 9. (AP)—Jim Levey, the Browns' fleet footed shortstop, received a bad bruise on the right arm just above the elbow today when he was hit by a batted ball. It is not thought the injury will prove serious.

The accident came during a charity benefit game between the Killefermen and George Lamaze's Patio team which the Browns won "several runs to a few," when the game was cancelled after five innings because of overcast skies and a small crowd.

Too Cold to Work

TAMPA, Fla., March 9. (AP)—News from the Cincinnati Reds' training camp here reverted again today from baseball to weather. It was so cold Manager Dan Howley ordered his players off the field after a very short routine practice.

Cats Start Work

FORT WORTH, March 9. (AP)—Although only pitchers and catchers were supposed to report for the first baseball practice of the Fort Worth Cats today, everything from mascots and bat boys to major league scouts showed up. There was a liberal sprinkling of infielders and outfielders. Ray Cahill of the St. Louis Browns, was the scout.

Twenty-three of the 28 expected were present and in addition there were eight unheralded rookies and four volunteers. Skipper Art Phelan gave out uniforms as long as they lasted and then had to turn down a half dozen or so hopefuls.

Adolph Krauss, Henry Hardaway and Joe Rasberry were the only three expected players missing. Krauss, brilliant young catcher obtained from Shreveport, has signed a contract and is believed to be en route from his home in Enid, Okla. Hardaway, holdover non-class pitcher, is "lost somewhere between Houston and Oklahoma City." Rasberry, rookie from Crowell, has been delayed in reporting by illness.

Peel Is Holdout

HOUSTON, March 9. (AP)—Homer Peel, Houston outfielder who last season in 56 games with the Buffs hit .364 has been invited by President Fred Ankenman of the Houston Buffs to pay a parley. Peel is at his home in Cameron, because he figures salary offers have not been attractive enough. Ankenman believed they will be able to reach an agreement if the outfielder will come here for the conference.

Buff pennant prospects took a slight tumble today, meanwhile, when an X-ray determined Pete Fowler, southpaw pitcher, Saturday had suffered a fracture to his throwing hand. He stopped a fast ball with his left hand.

Seven aspiring rookies were released today. They were Denson, outfielder from Houston; Moseley, infielder from McKinney; Bonds, infielder from Barbers Hill; Bradford, outfielder from Mount Ida, Ark.; O'Connor, shortstop from San Francisco; Westphal, first baseman from New Ulm, and Hoekersmith, pitcher, from Sugar Land.

Braves Beat Robins

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 9. (AP)—With Ed Brandt and Bruce Cunningham working in mid-season form, the Boston Braves pounded out a 10-3 decision over the Brooklyn Robins in the first of their spring series today.

The two veteran Boston hurlers let the Robins down with seven hits while their teammates were slamming the offerings of old Jack Quinn, Ray Phelps and Fred Heimach all over the park.

Scores—		R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	.000 001 001—	2	7	2
Boston	.010 401 31x—10	14	1

Quinn, Phelps, Heimach and Richards, Lombardi; Brandt, Cunningham and Luebbe, Treadwell.

Steers Beat Yanks

CORSICANA, Texas, March 9. (AP)—The regulars defeated the yannigans, 7-5, today in an Intra-club game at the Dallas Steers' camp here. Intensive training will begin tomorrow, along with another practice game. Dozier, rookie pitcher, went out with an injured ankle today.

Some Winner

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 9. (AP)—Jack Onslow, veteran catcher whose duty with the Phillies this year is to teach young pitchers how to pitch, may bring the Shottonmen a bit of luck. For 20 years Onslow has made a specialty of belonging to winning ball clubs, both majors and minors—13 pennants, two seconds and on third place finish is the Onslow record.

Depends on Infielders

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 9. (AP)—The 1931 fortunes of the Boston Red Sox depend on two infield positions, Manager "Shano" Collins believes. He is fairly certain the rest of the team can hold its own, in hitting, fielding and pitching. If, he said today, he has luck filling the third and shortstop berths, the Sox will finish sixth in the American league race this season.

Waner Recovers

PASO ROBLES, Calif., March 9. (AP)—There was joy in the Pittsburgh Pirates' training camp today. The reason was contained in a telegram from Paul Waner, who advised he was about to start for California from his Oklahoma home. Waner, star outfielder, who has been undergoing treatment for an infected leg, also said he was in good physical condition. He is expected here Friday.

Donie Pushes 'Em

SAN ANTONIO, March 9. (AP)—There have been few moments of idleness for Chicago White Sox candidates and Manager Donie Bush plans to see that there are none.

Bush's schedule calls for every player to go to bat seven or eight times each session and hit four good ones. After each time at bat he must circle the bases at full speed, and when finishes doing that he can keep himself active by chasing fungoes.

"That's what gets them into shape soon, and keeps them that way," Bush said.

Pairings Made In A. A. U. Meet

Special to The Record News.

PLAINVIEW, Texas, March 9.—Bracketing of the entries in the A. A. U. basket ball tournament which will be held in Plainview March 12, 13, 14, were made Monday, according to Grady Shipp, secretary of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, who has been receiving entries. The time limit for receiving entries was extended to Monday morning.

Pairings were made today for opening games, as follows: Shallow Water vs. Quanah, Celeste vs. Childress, Ropesville vs. Rankin, Pampa vs. Five in One, Southland vs. Sherman, Tulia vs. Center Point, Dimmitt vs. Shamrock, Vickery vs. Dalhart, Plant vs. Slayton, Eliasville vs. Bovina, Lazbuddy vs. Irs. Quitaque vs. Hale Center, Mesquite vs. Foster, Plainview vs. Mingus, Roby vs. Perryton, Athens vs. O'Brien.

Interscholastic league rules govern the matriculation, age and qualifications of the students, and the games will be played under A. A. U. rules. Keen competition is expected as a number of powerful teams have already entered. Athens, state champions, was the winner of the championship award last year, with Dimmitt a close runner-up. Both teams will compete again this year.

T. H. Schulze of Dallas is working out the details of the tourney for the Dallas office of the Southern Association Amateur Athletic Union of the Texas division. Schulze arrived in Plainview Monday. Officials who have been selected are Dan Lynch, Dallas; Swede McMurry, Lubbock, and T. H. Schulze, Dallas.

Among the teams entered are Perryton, Plainview, Dimmitt, Bovina, Eliasville, Mesquite, Quitaque, Dalhart, Tulia, Lazbuddy, Southland, Quanah, Five-In-One, Mingus and the following entries are expected: O'Brien, Center Point, Rankin, Flynt, Sherman, Celeste, Vickery, Athens, Scurry, Rosser, Dallas, Fort Worth, Childress, Hale Center, Shamrock, Slaton, Chalk, Olden, Foster, Roby, Ira, Shallowater, Cisco, Breckenridge, Henderson, Tyler, Mount Pleasant, Plano and several other schools.

Five hundred dollars worth of trophies are being offered by the Plainview Chamber of Commerce to the winners in both the championship and consolation divisions. Loving cups will be awarded the first, second, third and fourth places in the championship and first and second in the consolation divisions.

Gold basket balls will be given the winning team, and to members of the personality, sportsmanship, first all-state teams, and to the prettiest blonde and brunette and the two most valuable players. Sterling silver balls will be awarded the runners-up, third, fourth, teams and to the winners of the consolation, runner-up and the second all-state team.

PERRYTON HIGH TRAINS FOR TOURNEY

Special to The Record News.

PERRYTON, Texas, March 9.—The Perryton High school Rangerettes have been working early and late during the past week, getting ready for the state A. A. U. tournament at Plainview March 12-13-14, and Coach E. E. Marshall and the Rangerettes plan to give some keen competition for opposing teams.

The Rangerettes have made a wonderful record. They have played 34 games winning 22. The two games were lost to Dimmitt, runner-up in the state meet last year. Marshall has changed his lineup a bit, and fans who have seen the revamped team work say that it will be much stronger than in past games. Pauline Devors will play guard along with Nora Eads in the place of Irene Burger. Devors has been used at center in a number of games, but is able to work better teamwork with Eads, and should be able to make it tough for forwards of other teams.

REST OF HIS CLUB IS SET

Walter's Optimism Spreads Throughout Camp

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.

BILOXI, Miss., March 9. (AP)—Let just one of his veteran pitchers have a spacious season, says big Walter Johnson, and he is set to give Washington another American league flag after a lapse of five years.

That's all the popular, soft spoken pilot of the Senators believes he needs to put his present combination under the wire. He has five or six pitchers he is confident will win at least 15 games each. If one of them gets especially "right" and turns in, say, 22 victories and carries the load when things go wrong, the erstwhile big train is ready to concede himself the flag.

"If we had had such a man last year we would have won hands down, instead of finishing second," Johnson declared.

"I have an idea one of the boys will come through big this time. Maybe it'll be Marberry; maybe Crowder or Hadley. The rest of my club is 'set, absolutely."

Optimism Is Contagious

Johnson's optimism is reflected in the entire Senator camp—only more so. Even if the weather has conspired, not a single day has been lost since the men reported. There is no holdout and Johnson thinks that is an excellent sign.

What few rookies there are around the premises are up against a pretty hopeless proposition. There is a proved veteran for every job.

Heinie Manush and Sam Rice, a brace of .350 clubbers, and Sam West who hit a more modest .338 but makes up for it with his great fielding and throwing, are fixtures in the outer patrol. For relief work—and Rice is getting along—there is Harry Rice, obtained from New York on waivers and Dave Harris, with plenty of big league experience behind him. It is a veteran crew.

The infield is braced solidly, even if the reliable Joe Judge falls to hold down first at top speed all the way. If he slips, there is Joe Kuhel, great youngster from Kansas City to step into the breach. Charles Myer at second, Joe Cronin at short and Ossie Bluege at third round out a crack quartet, all dangerous hitters.

Catchers are Steady

The Senators' catching with Roy Spencer, and Bill Hargrave on the job, will be steady but scarcely spectacular. Neither is much of a hitter.

Young right-handers and a southpaw, none of whom scored less than 15 wins last year, from the backbone of a sterling mound staff. They are Lloyd Brown, the lefty; Alvin Crowder, Irving Hadley, Sam Jones and Fred Marberry.

Oklahomans Lose In A. A. U. Tourney

KANSAS CITY, March 9. (AP)—The Oklahoma City Boosters, chief hope of the Southwest in the 1931 A. A. U. national basket ball tournament, were eliminated from competition in first-round play here today by the Big Four Athletic association of Cincinnati.

As the Century Petroleums, the Oklahoma City cagers recently succeeded the Wichita, Kan., Henrys as champions of the Missouri Valley A. A. U. basket ball league. The Henrys last year won both the Missouri Valley and national crowns.

Today the Boosters stepped out of the championship picture as they bowed, 24 to 30, before the Cincinnati team. The furiously contested battle was outstanding in a 13-game program listing first and second round encounters.

Museum officials are making every effort to keep possession of the plane. It is the prize entry in the hall and is set well up out of reach of eager hands.

First Vets to Arrive at Spudder Camp

Dick Fiorrid, left, and Lester White, above, rolled into Wichita Falls Monday night, the first members of the 1930 squad to report for duty. Both the right-handers are counted on as starters this year. White drove through from Long Beach, Calif., and Fiorrid drove from Atlanta, Ga. They were accompanied by their families.

Zundy Cagers Rally to Win Third Game of Junior High School Series

After playing the part of the underdog in the first three quarters, the Zundelowitz Junior High cagers suddenly came to life and eked out a 25 to 21 victory over the fighting Reagan Junior High Redbirds in the third game of the junior high school championship series on the Zundy court Monday night. Zundy won the first game of the series, 22 to 18 Thursday night, and Reagan evened the count by winning, 19 to 13, Friday evening.

Again the strong finish brought the game out of the fire and turned the ferocious Redbirds back in defeat. Jack Randolph, and Francys Cyr checked in with sensational goals to put the red and gray team out in front. A fighting team took the field at the start of the game and met their opponents in the same mood. It was a glorious battle from whistle to whistle.

The first half was packed with thrills but at that wouldn't compare with the hair-raising battle of the final two quarters. The interlude found the scoreboard reading 11 points for both teams. Coach A. D. Beck's charges forged ahead in the third stanza, leading at the expiration of time, 19 to 15. With the minutes rapidly clicking away the Zundy team awakened and rose to supreme heights with a whirlwind attack that netted victory.

The score:

U. S. NETTERS FAIL TO ENTER

Unless Notices Are in The Mails, French Are 'In'

NEW YORK, March 9. (AP)—Unless the postman changes the situation with the first mail in the morning, Jean Borotra and his French mates will face little opposition from the home boys in the American indoor tennis championships opening here Monday.

The entry lists closed tonight with no word from Johnny Doeg, national outdoor titleholder and No. 1 ranking star for 1930; Johnny Van Ryn, or George Lott Jr., both Davis cup reliables. If their entries are in the mail delivered tomorrow, postmarked before the lists closed tonight, it will be all right with the United States Lawn Tennis association, however.

The American contingent, without considering the possibilities of the late mail, will consist of Cliff Sutter, New Orleans collegian; Frank X. Shields of New York; Berkeley Bell, and Gregory Mangin.

Francis T. Hunter, who won the singles crown in 1930 has turned professional, leaving the title open.

FARRELL AND SARAZEN WIN

Pair Outlasts Thompson And John Kinder

MIAMI, Fla., March 9. (AP)—Gene Sarazan and Johnny Farrell, fighting back a dark horse threat, outlasted John Kinder and Jack Thompson over the 36-hole quarter final round of the $5,000 international four-ball golf matches today to win, 1 up.

While Gene and Johnny were advancing, Denny Shute and Tony Manero teamed to upset Clarence Gamber and Cyril Walker, defending champions, 2 and 1.

Walter Hagen and Horton Smith, another favored pair, turned back Wild Bill Mehlhorn and Frank Walsh in comparatively easy fashion, 3 and 2.

In the fourth quarter final, bespectacled Willie MacFarlane and Wiffy Cox kept their strokes in order on fairway and greens to eliminate Charley Guest and George Christ, 4 and 3.

The semi-finals tomorrow will send Sarazen and Farrell against Shute and Manero in one bracket and Hagen and Smith against MacFarlane and Cox in the other.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 9. (AP)—An early advance in cotton today was promoted by a bullish view of the cotton cloth statistics for February, but prices later weakened under realizing or liquidation coupled with some southern and local selling. May contracts after selling up to 11.22 or 7 points net higher reacted to 11.05 and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 6@10 points.

The opening was 1 point lower to 3 points higher, most active months being higher on trade buying and covering. This appeared to be influenced by the standard cloth statistics showing sales for February exceeding 54 per cent of production with a decrease of 10.2 per cent in stocks on hand and an increase of 24.7 per cent in unfilled orders. There was selling on the relatively easy showing of Liverpool, however, and after the early demand had been supplied, prices turned easier under realizing or liquidation, while there appeared to be a little more selling by the South. Offerings were not large or aggressive, but there was less support in evidence, and prices reached the lowest levels of the day in the late trading. March, after the early advance to 10.99, reacted to 10.83 while October sold off from 11-73@11.58, closing at the lowest.

Liverpool cables said Bombay buying in the market there had been supplied by realizing but reported a fair demand for cotton cloths from the British home trade and said business with China was improving. Port receipts today 16,553. U. S. port stocks 3,955,708. Exports 24,335 making 5,208,938 so far this season.

Futures closed barely steady 6 to 10 points lower. Spot quiet; middling 10.95.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 9. (AP)—Trading was only moderately active in cotton here today and the price trend again was downward most of the session. With cables somewhat lower than due, prices here opened irregular 4 points down to 2 up.

The market rallied moderately in the early trading due to bullish textile statistics for February, the figures showing 54 per cent in excess of production and an increase of 24.7 per cent in unfilled orders at the close of the month.

Prices soon turned easier, however, on a renewal of liquidation and selling by recent buyers. It also was reported that brokers for the cooperatives were selling in New York. Prices eased off 14 to 15 points from the early highs.

The market ruled steady in the late trading and prices continued within the earlier range. The close was steady at or near the low points, the general market showing net losses for the day of 5 to 8 points.

Liverpool at the start was 1 to 2 penny points worse than due and private cables reported Bombay bought and shorts covered against which there was realizing by longs. Manchester cabled there was a fair cloth demand from India and business with China was improving. First trades here were unchanged to 4 points down on near months and unchanged to 2 points up on more distant positions. An early rally on the textile statistics carried May to 11.21 and October to 11.74, up 6 to 8 points above the opening.

The market later turned easier on liquidation and before the offerings were absorbed May traded down to 11.07, July to 11.31 and October to 11.60, or 14 to 15 points down from the highs and 7 to 8 points under Saturday's close.

The market ruled steady in the late trading with prices remaining within the earlier range. The close was at or near the lows with May at 11.07, down 8 points net and October at 11.61, down 5 points net.

Port receipts 16,253; for week 31,812; for season 8,172,315; last season 7,885,148. Exports 24,525; for week 48,856; for season 5,056,688; last season 5,446,156; port stocks 4,067,778; last year 2,122,521. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 91,017; last year 107,221. Spot sales at southern markets 8,396; last year 7,998.

Futures closed steady at net decline of 5 to 8 points.

Bull Sponsorship Lifts Prices Against Attack on Weak Spots

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 9. (US)—On the stock exchange today prices closed generally higher, but not until several notably weak spots had been uncovered and the entire list for a time appeared headed toward lower levels.

Aggressive bullish sponsorship in a number of so-called specialties offset the persistent pressure against the weaker stocks among the industrials. Utilities joined in the recovery, but the railroad shares were backward.

With little news of importance developing over the week-end, the market was dependent chiefly upon its own technical position for determining the course during the day.

The short account in many speculative issues afforded opportunity for bullish operations, which accounted for the strength in most of the day's most active issues. Volume ranged around 3,000,000 shares.

Utilities as a group provided leadership on the upside, although various motor and accessory stocks imparted confidence to the list by advancing persistently. The utility stocks, on the average, incidentally, closed only a point below their 1931 high.

Electric Auto-Lite was the outstanding performer among the specialties, rising over five points to a new high for the current year.

Buying of this stock was not retarded by issuance of the company's 1930 report, showing $5.32 a share. Although this was below the $6 dividend requirement, it was emphasized by the stock's friends that last year was exceedingly poor for all motor and accessory concerns.

Auto-Lite, with its close and valuable connections with various leading automobile concerns, including Ford, stands to benefit very substantially from continuance of the present rate of activity in the industry. Its earnings in 1929, exclusive of $4,000,000 extraordinary profit, exceeded $11 a share.

Chrysler was again the leading automobile issue, rising to a new high on persistent buying which was attributed to sources close to the corporation's management. As previously pointed out, the Chrysler interests are exceedingly confident of enjoying a marked expansion in profits this year. The group sponsoring this issue have large-scale holdings, a goodly part of which was acquired at higher than current prices.

General Motors and other members of the group were stimulated by Chrysler's strength, and it was reported that a new pool had been organized in Nash. It was again estimated that motors' dividend will fall short of the 75-cent dividend for the first quarter.

Trico Products, in which a very strong group is currently active, joined with Electric Auto-Lite in achieving a new high on the present advance. Trico is one of the favored auto accessory stocks, since the company enjoys a practical monopoly on its products, and there have been reports that several new products may shortly be introduced by the company.

Warner Bros. and Standard Oil of New Jersey constituted the weak section of the industrial list. The surprising element of Jersey's weakness was its failure to influence the remainder of the list. Warner's decline, which carried it back to the lowest price of this year, was best explained in the continued serious weakness of the Warner bonds, which sold below 50.

Among the utility stocks, United attained the prices of 30 which was the immediate objective of its sponsors. American Power and Light was somewhat of a laggard. Auburn had one of its periodic sharp spurts against the shorts.

Heaviness in the railroad stocks was attributed to nervousness over the dividend meeting of New York Central's directors tomorrow. Although the stock evidences considerable doubt over maintenance of the $8 payment, it is reasoned that with heavy new financing underway for the Railroad, its directors may decide to make another distribution at the prevailing rate. Of course, unless business picks up generally in the near future, a lower dividend is more than a possibility.

The short account played an important role in the strength of many issues. This was particularly true of American & Foreign Power. There has been large-scale selling of this issue by a powerful bear group, against which is opposed possibly an equally powerful bull clique.

The stock, however, at current prices lacks the backlog of strong earning power; in fact, the company will be fortunate to show even a small balance for the first quarter of its present fiscal year. Thus, the stock's immediate fluctuations will depend entirely on speculative manouvering.

Foster-Wheeler was a strong feature, rising three points on renewed buying for the account of interests who count heavily on substantial foreign business which already is showing some increase. Vanadium held within a comparatively narrow range for a stock of its volatile nature, and this action suggested a somewhat better class of buying than has been noticeable for some weeks.

One of the biggest bears has stubbornly fought the advance of this stock but of late he has witnessed a material shrinkage in his profits which at one time were enormous.

Neither Steel common nor American Can were among the most active group. Case Threshing jumped over six points, reflecting chiefly the running-in of a short interest. Columbia Graphophone's sponsors were anxious to consolidate the advance, and the issue sold off fractionally.

It is up almost 100 per cent from the low of the year, but at times has proved almost equally a speculative favorite with Radio common.

Among commodities, the most cheering development of the day was an advance almost of a full cent in the price of silver. The metal has been showing of late signs of stabilizing, cotton prices were lower; wheat was also lower.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, March 9. (AP)—Heavy receipts of grain marked the opening of the week on the cash grain market today, estimating calling for wheat 83 cars; corn 10; oats 4; sorghums 6, and cane seed 1. Demand continued fair.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat—No. 1 hard of any protein 77½@80c.

Corn—No. 2 mixed 70@71c; No. 2 white 73½@74½c; No. 2 yellow 72@73c.

Oats—No. 2 red 42@42½c; (No. 3 white delivered group one points 41½@42c.)

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $1.22@1.24; No. kaffir $1.19@1.20.

Cane Seed—Bulk country run red top, per 100 pounds, according to type, germination, origin and clean-out $2.35@2.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 9. (AP)—Piling up of United States visible supplies of wheat and corn pulled grain prices downward late today, more than offsetting early upturns. The late setbacks were in the face of considerable buying based on correct surmises that the government report on farm reserve stocks of corn would prove smaller than the average of recent unofficial estimates. The official figures on farm reserves of wheat, however, were unexpectedly large, indicating much less feed use of wheat than supposed.

Wheat closed nervous at the same as Saturday's finish, ¼ cent lower, corn ⅛@⅝c down, oats ⅛@⅛c off, and provisions showing 12 cents decline to 5 cents advance.

Knowledge of the actual contests of the official report on farm reserve stocks of grain was not available until after trading hours. The government estimate on corn reserves was bullish, showing a total of 80,000,000 bushels under the average of latest private forecasts. In contrast, wheat reserves were bearish, 21,000,000 bushels in excess of the average of unofficial estimates. Aside from efforts to anticipate wheat the government report would show, the main factor influencing corn prices was curtailment of receipts, partly a result of widespread storms. There also were indications that the peak of the season's movement of corn had been passed.

Corn primary arrivals were only 890,000 bushels compared with 1,377,000 a week back and 1,542,000 on the corresponding day of 1930. Chicago had but 101 cars, against 364 a week ago and 392 at this time last year. Wheat primary arrivals, though persisted on a big scale, 2,455,000 bushels against 2,324,000 a week ago and 894,000 at this time last year.

Provisions reflected upturns in hog values but later reacted on account of profit taking.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, July 63⅛c, 64⅜@⅝c; Sept. 63⅛c, 64⅝c. Corn, May 64@64⅛c, 64⅛@⅝c; July 66⅛c, 67⅛@⅝c; Sept. 66⅛c, 67⅛c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, March 9. (US)—Chicago wheat futures seem to be in a dedlocked position in the light trade. With the heavy domestic situation traders see little possibility of any constructive enthusiasm on the part of speculators. On the other hand the persistently firm foreign tone is attracting a great deal of attention and restraining most of the selling desire.

The government report on wheat farm reserves was considered slightly bearish, showing a total around 17,000,000 bushels in excess of the private figures, which were construed as unfavorable.

On the other hand the figures on oats and corn were seen as bullish. Corn was approximately 30,000,000 bushels less than the average of the private experts, while oats were about 22,000,000 bushels less.

It is apparent from the government figures that while there has been less feeding of wheat than expected, the return in December of corn prices to a discount under wheat brought heavier feeding of corn than was generally estimated in local grain circles.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, March 9. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Livestock trade today was featured by an advance of 25@40c in hog prices. The chief strengthening influence was a curtailed supply. St. Louis had a top of $8.25 on 150-230 pound weights. Offerings were around 76,800.

Moderate activity developed on fat lambs at 15@25c higher rates and some strength was reported on matured killing classes of sheep. Bulk lambs 96 pounds and down, in Chicago sold from $8.75@9.10 with a top at $9.25. Shippers at Omaha purchased fat lambs up to $8.70.

Receipts of cattle were estimated at 43,200. Killing classes found a fairly active outlet at prices unevenly steady to 25c higher. Chicago had a top of 11.25 on choice long yearlings and heavy steers. Bulk fed steers are selling from $7.00@9.50 while majority of the fed yearling heifers ranged downward from $8.25. Light yearling stockers and stock steer calves at Kansas City and Omaha sold up to $9.00.

Huge Liner Will Carry 6,600 Pounds

BERLIN, March 9. (INS)—A new monster of the air, especially designed for transportation of commercial goods, has been developed by the Junkers Airplane Works at Dessau, Germany, famous pioneers for all-metal plane construction.

The new plane, which may virtually be called a "flying freighter," can carry a paying freight cargo of 6,600 pounds. It is capable of transporting a load of two and a quarter tons within less than six hours from Berlin to London.

The "JU 52," as the new type is called, is of such enormous proportions that even two or three small automobiles can be carried in the cargo space. The wingspread of the plane is 93 feet 5 inches, as against only 55 feet, 3 inches of the former Junkers transport plane of the "Bremen" type, in which Captain Koel and Major Fitzmaurice crossed the Atlantic for the first time from east to west.

The "JU 52" is 59 feet long, and weighs approximately seven tons. A 700 h. p. motor is used to propel the plane, but it is planned later to use a Diesel engine of similar output in order to cut operating expenses.

During the extensive test flights with the flying freighter it has been found possible to cover a distance of almost 7,000 miles, equivalent to the distance from Berlin to Cairo, Neirobi-Johnesburg, and Capetown with a load of half a ton of freight in 82 hours flying time.

The plane, it is claimed, can carry a load of nearly two tons from Berlin to Moscow in nine and a half hours or to deliver a ton and a half of paying freight at Instambul 11 hours after its start from Berlin.

J. C. Penney Company Declares Dividends

At a meeting of the board of director of the J. C. Penney company, held in New York City, Feb. 25, the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 was declared on the preferred stock, payable March 31, 1931, to stockholders of record at the close of business on March 20, 1931.

A quarterly dividend of 60 cents a share on the common stock of the company was also declared, payable March 31, 1931, to stockholders of record at the close of business on March 20, 1931.

In commenting, Earl C. Sams, president, said:

"The cash position of the J. C. Penney company, at the close of 1930 with $12,270,083.07 cash on hand or in the bank, revealed more cash on hand than at any other time in the history of the company. Inventory was also approximately $14,000,000 lower than last year and the only indebtedness of the company was that covered by current accounts not yet due.

"While a continuance of the common stock dividend at the previous rate of 75 cents per share quarterly might have been justified by the general conditions of the company, the directors of the company decided on the new rate as more consistent with the conservative policy which the company has always maintained."

Testimony Closes In Citrus Land Dispute

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, March 9. (AP)—Testimony in the old Ojo de Agua land suit, involving 50,000 acres of citrus lands, was completed here today and Special Judge J. E. Leslie announced that final arguments would be held March 21.

There are hundreds of Spanish heirs claiming the lands. The case has dragged through the courts for the past 17 years. Taking of testimony in this last trial has lasted two months.

In tracing titles to the original grant made by the king of Spain, attorneys brought out many sharp differences between Latin and English law.

Auction Bridge Made Simple!

Lesson No. 31
DEFINING DEFENSIVE BIDS
IN Auction Bridge a defensive bid is a bid following a previous bid which is made on less than original requirement strength. This bid should usually be made by the fourth hand rather than by the second hand. Such a bid, as a general rule, should only be made when the status of the score makes extreme measures advisable.

102. LEGAL NOTICES
ORDINANCE NO. 1049
An ordinance ordering an election in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, to be held on the seventh day of April, A. D., 1931, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of the city of Wichita Falls, for adoption or rejection, amendments to the existing charter of the city of Wichita Falls, designating the places at which said election is to be held, appointing presiding officers thereof, and declaring an emergency.
Whereas, on the second day of February, A. D., 1931, a resolution was duly passed by the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls giving notice of the intention to pass an ordinance providing for the submission to the qualified voters of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, of proposed amendments to the existing charter of said city; and,
Whereas, notice of intention to submit such charter amendments was given by publication in Wichita Falls Record News, the official newspaper of said city, published in said city, and which notice was published for ten days, the date of the first publication thereof being not less than twenty days next preceding the date of this ordinance; and,
Whereas, the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls deems it proper to submit proposed amendments to the present city charter to the qualified voters of the said city, an opportunity having been afforded persons to appear for and against said amendments; therefore,
Be it ordained by the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas:
Section 1: That an election be held in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, on the seventh day of April, A. D., 1931, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of said city, for adoption or rejection, the following proposed amendments to the existing charter of the city of Wichita Falls:

AMENDMENT NO. 1
To amend section 34 of the city charter of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, so as to hereafter read as follows:
"Section 34: At 8 o'clock p. m. on the Monday next following the regular municipal election the board of aldermen shall meet at the usual place for holding such meetings, at which time the newly elected aldermen shall assume the duties of office. Thereafter the board of aldermen shall meet at such time and place as may be prescribed by ordinance, but not less frequently than once each month. Special meetings may be called by the mayor and shall be called by the city clerk upon the written request of three aldermen or the city manager. All meetings of the board of aldermen, and of committees thereof, except as hereinafter provided, shall be open to the public and the board shall provide by its rules that citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard at any such meeting in regard to any matter considered, or to be considered, thereat. Executive sessions of the board of aldermen may be held when considering the advisability of appointing or removing officers or employes of the city, or when considering any litigation to which the city is a party, or the settlement thereof, or any matter likely to produce any such litigation, or when considering the purchase of any public utility or other property, and when determining the policy of the city relative thereto, but no vote shall be taken except in open meeting, after such executive session is over and announcement of that fact is made at the door of the city hall where such meeting is held. The board of aldermen shall be the judge of the election and qualification of its members, subject to review by the courts, but any alderman convicted of a felony while in office shall thereby immediately forfeit his office. The board may determine its own rules of procedure, punish its members for disorderly behavior and with the consent of four-fifths of all the members, may expel an alderman. A majority of all the members elected to the board of aldermen shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from time to time."

AMENDMENT NO. 2
To amend section 31 of the city charter of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, so as to hereafter read as follows:
TAXES—WHEN DUE AND PAYABLE. INTEREST AND PENALTIES
Section 31: All taxes due the city of Wichita Falls shall be payable at the office of the city assessor and collector, and may be paid at any time after the tax rolls for the year have been completed and approved, which tax rolls shall be completed and approved not later than October first, and no demand shall be required to be made upon any taxpayer whose duty it shall be to attend at the collector's office and pay the same as aforesaid.
Unless otherwise provided by ordinance as hereinafter provided, all taxes levied and collected for the year 1930 shall be paid by February 1, 1931, or thereafter bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, and all taxes hereafter to be levied for the year 1931 and subsequent years shall be paid by the first day of February of the year succeeding the levy, and when not paid by February first, shall thereafter bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, and in addition thereto there shall be collected an additional 10 per cent upon the amount of such taxes as a penalty against the person, firm or corporation failing, neglecting or refusing to pay such taxes by the time when the same began to bear interest as aforesaid, which penalty shall be collected by seizure and sale of personal or real property of the delinquent or by suit, the same as herein provided for the collection of taxes.
A lien is hereby created on all property, real and personal, in favor of the city of Wichita Falls for all taxes, ad valorem, occupation or otherwise, assessed against such property. Said lien shall exist from the first day of January in each year until the taxes are paid; such lien shall be prior to all other claims, and no gift, sale, assignment, or transfer of any kind, or judicial writ of any kind can ever defeat such lien, but the assessor and collector of taxes can pursue such property and whenever found may seize and sell enough thereof to satisfy such taxes, or the city may enforce and foreclose said liens, by suit or otherwise, in any court having jurisdiction, and may cause all or any part of such property to be sold to satisfy such taxes.
The board of aldermen may, from time to time, by ordinance provide that all taxes due the city of Wichita Falls for the year 1930, and or any subsequent year or years, may be paid in equal installments, but in no event to exceed four such installments, and may fix the times when such installments shall become due and payable, and may provide that failure to pay any one or more of such installments when due shall render all of the unpaid balance of such taxes delinquent, and the penalty accrued thereon and may provide the time when and the circumstances under which the penalty on all such taxes shall accrue thereon, and may fix the time when the interest on such taxes or unpaid balance shall commence to run but the rate of such interest shall never exceed six per cent per annum.
Upon the adoption of such ordinance or ordinances the time of payment and the like therein, shall supersede and take the place of the aforesaid provisions of this section applicable thereto.
This amendment shall not affect the validity of any taxes levied and assessed for the year 1930 and prior years.
Section 2: That the polling places and presiding officers at said election, shall be respectively as follows:

The Lovely Liar

I could be such a fool—" One of his fingers tilted her chin, until her eyes were looking squarely in his.
"Poppy, darling, I love you so!"
Love her? He couldn't. Not when he loved Celia . . .
"Don't you hear me, Poppy? What's the matter?" Then he kissed her softly on the lips, then not so softly. And she was in his arms, sobbing on his shoulder, whispering that she loved him, too, had always loved him.
"Really?" he was asking, as if he couldn't believe it.
"Really, Kevin."
"Well, I wouldn't have known unless Jane had told me. That's how blind I was. She called me up Sunday. She'd just arrived, and asked me what I meant by letting you run away when she'd asked me especially to watch over you. I went up there right away and read the note you'd left, and told her I loved you. And she told me you loved me. I couldn't believe it at first. I hardly can now—"
"I thought you knew."
"Of course, I didn't know. Remember when I asked you in the plane if you loved someone? You said yes. And I thought it was another fellow and was frightfully jealous—madly jealous—"

A Real Marriage

"And I asked you if you loved someone," Poppy exclaimed, "and you said yes, and I thought you meant Celia!"
"I meant you and if you hadn't been so blind, too, you would have known, you imp!" He kissed her again, kissed her eyes, her temples, and the tip of her nose.
"Then you don't love Celia?"
"No."
"She loves you."
"Does she? Poppy, I was going to ask you to marry me that morning on the plane—but when you said you were in love, I didn't. And that was why that night I told you we shouldn't see each other any more. Because I thought you knew I loved you, and you would understand. Now when are we going to get married?"
"Mrs. Evans—"
"I told you, Poppy, that I explained everything to her—at least all she should know. She helped me pack your things."
"Was she—angry?"
"Well, she wasn't exactly pleased, but we can't help that. How about being married today?"
"Oh, Kevin—"
"Fine, today, then. We've waited long enough."
Poppy snuggled against him, thinking of Jane. Dear Jane. All she had done. Somehow she must repay her . . .
The past gone. Only the future ahead. A glorious future with Kevin.
"As soon as your mother gets strong enough we're going to explain everything to her, Poppy. Everything."
The girl nodded, her eyes bright with love, her lips soft with kisses. "Grace knows. I wrote to her." No fear now over the letter, only contentment, because she had Kevin.
How strange it was not to worry. How good. Kevin to lean on. Kevin to trust.
Only one more debt to pay. The debt to Jane Rochester.
"Why are you crying, darling?"
"Because—I'm so happy, Kevin. So terribly, terribly happy. I should be smiling—and I'm crying—"

ANNUAL HISTORICAL FETE URGED FOR WICHITA FALLS AREA

W. M. M'GREGOR OUTLINES PLAN

Section Needs Pageant To Draw Visitors

By FRED L. HASKETT

A historical fete to be held annually in Wichita Falls is the suggestion of W. M. McGregor, president of the First National bank, who is interested in some plan that will preserve for posterity the early history of Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma.

"We have everything to make a thing of this kind of sufficient magnitude to compare with Pasadena's Carnival of Roses, or Albuquerque's First American—talent history, location, people—everything. Hard work and imagination would do it," says Mr. McGregor. Continuing he said:

Rich in History

"Our territory is rich in history of the most gripping and spectacular sort. We have keen men here who pioneered this section of Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma. Soon these men are to be gone. We should call al the old-timers from Vernon, Quanah, Childress, Wellington, Memphis, Crowell, Seymour, Haskell, Henrietta, Bowie, Decatur, Frederick, Altus, Lawton and other cities around a table and construct our very own Texas-Oklahoma pageant, to be held once each year in our big Memorial auditorium, which has not only the seating capacity but plenty of stage room. We should at all times keep in mind the general theme but expand and improve from year to year.

"For the wide publicity obtainable offer a cash prize for the best historical play or pageant written and submitted in a nationwide contest, Wichita Falls to copyright and own all production rights to the winning contribution.

"We have plenty of the finest talent in Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma. We have men and women of wonderful voices, many of whom are sons and daughters of our earliest settlers. We have the various Indian tribes right at our door, and from them can be drawn into the pageant blood kin of the most famous cheifs and warriors. We have musicians of note among the various towns of this great section, who, no doubt, would be pleased to enter into such a wonderful fete to commemorate the deeds and valor of those who have passed to the great Beyond.

Stimulate Music and Art

"I believe that in the forming of such a fete to be held annually that we would stimulate music and art, not only in Wichita Falls but over this entire area. It will be the means of developing children's orchestras and choruses, together with those of senior groups. All year we will be developing the oratory, literature, music and art of the various communities and then bring them together for two or three glorious nights such as no other American city is presenting in the way of entertainment.

"From the purely material standpoint it would be worth a lot. It would be the means of creating a great museum to preserve the relics that are becoming so few and scattered. It would be the means of attracting many thousands of visitors into Wichita Falls as is done at Albuquerque. It would bring to light much early history which must be made correct now or soon lost to posterity.

"The period of adventure and settlement of Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma runs back into the 15th century. Spanish and English adventurers marched up the Red river valley in seeking the gold in the hills about Santa Fe. Great generals have pitched their camps in this area. Government forts were built to protect the invading settlers against attacks of the Indians. Great battles have been pitched between the soldiers and the Indians. Through this section passed the thundering herds of cattle. Roamed also through this section some of the most noted outlaws.

The Era of Progress

"Then followed the era of progress, the coming of the steam horse, the passing of the buffalo, and the Indians to their reservations in Oklahoma. It is a history filled with thrills, education and art. Now is the accepted time to take advantage of the minds of those few remaining old-timers. Let us strive to preserve our history for those who must follow us in the years to come.

"We have reached a critical size in the life of American cities. We will either go ahead rapidly from this point, or we will go back as fast. Now is the time to put on full steam, to work together, build together, play together to force our city and Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma forward. For the next 10-year period will tell the story of supremacy in this great territory and we have a number of healthy competitors striving to draw attention to their cities. Dallas has its State Fair of Texas, Fort Worth its Fat Stock show, Amarillo its annual show, Oklahoma City its big state fair and Tulsa its pretroleum exposition.

"A pageant commemorating the deeds of the early settlers and making our early history available to furture generations will be of value to Wichita Falls."

Today — At the Theaters

By ELEANOR FLEMING

LITTLE THEATER: "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," with W. D. Bent of Burkburnett. Playhouse, Avenue H and Polk street, 8 p. m.

MAJESTIC: "One Heavenly Night" with John Boles and Evelyn Laye. Short subjects and sound news.

STRAND: Joan Crawford and Cliff Edwards in "Dance, Fools, Dance!" Silly symphony and sound news.

GEM: "Raffles" with Ronald Colman, Kay Francis and David Torrence. Comedy.

Three shows will be scheduled each week at the Majestic theater hereafter, at least while the State theater is closed. There will be a three-day run beginning Tuesday of each week, with a change for Friday and Saturday and another for Sunday and Monday.

"One Heavenly Night," starring John Boles and Evelyn Laye, opens at the Majestic Tuesday for three days, to be followed by George O'Brien in "Fair Warning."

On next Tuesday, St. Patrick's day, the Majestic is making a magnaminous gesture by bringing "The New Moon," a Lawrence Tibbetts picture, here for a three-day run. In spite of the fact that every Tibbetts picture so far has been a box-office flop, Manager Victor B. Lowrey is booking "The New Moon" for those few ardent admirers of America's outstanding baritone. (Mr. Lowrey likes him too).

Not even Charlie Ruggles ever did a reporter part as well as Cliff (Ukelele Ike) Edwards does in "Dance, Fools, Dance!" As Bert Scranton, he is the central figure in the picture, although he doesn't appear until it is half over and then gets killed within a short time.

And if "Dance, Fools, Dance!" (Where did they get that title?) isn't enough to satisfy, there is a silly symphony on the same bill which would bring any program up to par.

C.-C. COUNCIL DEFIES JINX

'Hoodoo' Meeting Called For Friday, March 13

A "Hoodoo" meeting of the business council of the chamber of commerce will be held at the Kemp hotel Friday, March 13, and is to be called to order at the 13th minute of the 13th hour of the day, it was announced Monday. At the speakers' table 13 seats will be provided.

The meeting is to be the first of the year and is for the purpose of organizing the 1931 council. By holding the meeting under the sign of the "13" possibly some of the bad "breaks" of the past year will be averted during the current year, it was said. All persons with a jinx were invited to attend.

Principal business to be transacted will be the election of a chairman and vice chairman. Paul G. Putty, present chairman, will preside. J. L. Jackson Jr., president of the chamber of commerce, will outline duties of the business council to members, and talks will be heard from various committee chairmen.

The 13th minute of the 13th hour of the day, the time the meeting is to be called to order, will be 12:13 noon, it was explained.

Manufacturers And Jobbers Meet Thursday

Plans will be formulated for the program of work to be carried out in 1931 Thursday afternoon when the manufacturers and jobbers division of the chamber of commerce meets at 3:30 o'clock. Other business to be transacted at the meeting will be the election of a new executive committee, a chairman and a vice chairman. Members of the division now serving on the executive committee are L. H. Estes, chairman, and Roy Mann, J. W. Chatham, Paul Putty and George Mobley.

Police Arrest Three In Theft of Tires

Three men were lodged in the city jail Monday afternoon following their arrest on charges of tire theft, according to information given by police. Several tires the men were said to have attempted to sell were seized. One of the tires and a wheel was identified by an Iowa Park man as having been stolen recently from his automobile.

The men, two of whom reside at Antelope, Texas, the other at Markley, are to be transferred Tuesday to county officials, Chief Frank Burns, said. A. L. Stubblefield and Ellis Summers, detectives, arrested the men.

PIGEONS BEAT PLANE

OSLO.—Evan though the modern airplane has attained a very high speed, it is slow compared with the flight of pigeons. In a race from this city to Jesshim between an airplane traveling 105 miles an hour and six carrier pigeons, five of the birds beat the plane to the goal. The sixth finished in a dead heat with the plane.

Junior C.-C. to Seek 50 New Members

A drive for at least 50 new members will be commenced by the Junior chamber of commerce when the membership committee meets Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, according to Charles Spragins Jr., chairman.

Prizes consisting of a $10 hat, a $5 shirt and a $2.50 tie will be awarded the three workers obtaining the largest total. All members of the organization, other than members of the membership committee, are eligible and are urged to compete for the prizes, it was announced. Membership of the Junior chamber of commerce is now 315, and the purpose of the drive is to bring the enrollment to well over the 350 mark.

New Service Station Opened in Memphis

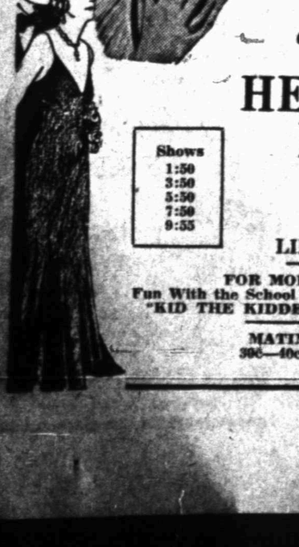

MEMPHIS, Texas, March 9.—With Art Miller as manager in charge the Continental Oil company's superservice station on Tenth and Main streets is open for business. Work on the new $10,000 building was completed by Contractor L. D. Sanders, during the latter part of last week and was accepted by the company at that time.
