Coolidge Defends Mellon In Special Senate Letter

TREASURER MAY QUIT CABINET LETTER HINTS

Investigation of Private Matters Has Gone Too Far

HITS TO POINT

Says Comity Exists Between Executive And Legislative

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—President Coolidge today defended Secretary Mellon in a letter to the senate.

The president's message, addressed to the senate, said:

"Herewith is a copy of a letter from the secretary of the treasury, Honorable Andrew W. Mellon, to me, which I feel constrained to transmit to the senate for its information. Also a copy of the resolution adopted by the committee investigating the bureau of internal revenue. This is done because it seems incredible that the senate of the United States would knowingly approve the past and proposed conduct of one of its committees which this letter reveals.

"There exists, and always should exist, every possible comity between the executive departments and the senate. Whatever may be necessary for the information of the senate or any of its committees in order better to enable them to perform their legislative or other constitutional functions ought always to be furnished willingly and expeditiously by any department.

"The executive branch has nothing that it would wish to conceal from any legitimate inquiry on the part of the senate. But it is recognized both by law and by custom that there is certain confidential information which it would be detrimental to the public service to reveal. Such information as can be disclosed, I shall always unhesitatingly direct to be laid before the senate. Recognize also that it is perfectly legitimate for the senate to indulge in political discussions and partisan criticism.

"But the attack which is being made on the treasury department goes beyond any of these legitimate requirements. Seemingly, the request for a list of the companies in which the secretary of the treasury was alleged to be interested, for the purpose of investigating their tax returns, must have been dictated by some other motive than a desire to secure information for the purpose of legislation. The adoption of the resolution already referred to is apparently subject to the same criticism.

"The senate resolution appointing this committee is not drawn in terms which purport to give any authority to the committee to delegate their authority or to employ agent or attorneys. The appointment of an agent and attorney to act in behalf of the United States, but to be paid by some other source that the public treasury, is in conflict with the spirit of 1764 of the revised statutes, the act of March 3, 1917.

Christian Endeavor Convention Opened With Big Banquet

Delegates Here for Three Day Session Launch On Meetings.

"Your life is the finest monument you could possibly build to the memory of your parents," said Austin D. Bryan, state field secretary of Christian Endeavor, in an inspiring talk before the opening session of the Wichita district convention of Christian Endeavor, which met at the First Christian church Friday evening, before over 100 young people.

"Invest your life instead of spending it," said Mr. Bryan, who is a young man of remarkable ability as a speaker, "know the values of that for which you invest it. Instead of making your aims money and social prestige, put your life into service for Christ first, and then for others."

The speaker urged the Endeavorers to "trade mark" their lives with the Christian Endeavor symbol, holding "Christ Exalted," and living God-filled lives and God-planned lives.

Fellowship Banquet.

The conference opened with a banquet in the basement of the First Christian church at which Mrs. T. B. Crouch, gave a violin solo, Mrs. Crouch and Paul Rutledge played a violin duet and R. E. Shepherd sang several songs, accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd.

The song service in the convention room was led by R. E. Shepherd with Mrs. Shepherd at the piano. Dr. N. F. Grafton of the First Presbyterian church led the devotional and scripture reading.

CONTINUE BANK EQUITY CASE

Imortant Federal Case Will Be Tried Probably At Dallas Soon

A discontinuance of the equity case involving various stockholders of American National bank of Wichita Falls was ordered for the time being Friday night, with the possibility of its either being tried soon in Dallas or being continued until the November term of court here. Attorneys indicated last night that they would probably agree on a date and other details and try the case before Judge William H. Atwell in Dallas some time in the next six weeks.

The continuance was brought about through a contention by the defense that they had not been given an opportunity to examine and file bills of exception to a master in chancery report on the condition of the American National bank. This report was filed March 24 and 20 days are allowed in which exceptions may be made to it. Since the present term of court closes tonight, no other opportunity could be found in which to dispose of the affair. The case is really not on trial docket until all preliminary pleadings, motions and bills have been presented and ruled on.

The case is styled Mrs. Ella D. Taylor et al. vs. the American National bank, et al., all principals being

Pitched Knife Over Head To Decide About Buying Oil Stock of Pat Marr

By The Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, April 11—The government took the time of the Pat Marr oil trial today introducing evidence to support their charges that Marr did not live up to the promises and guarantees he made in advertisements sent through the mails. Marr and his co-defendants are charged with using the mails to defraud.

Numerous letters and advertisements were identified by the witnesses which Marr had sent them and in which he promised them 400 per cent dividends and "possibly 4000 per cent."

Mrs. Anna Novintsky of Bentonville, Ark., testified that she invested $50 in Marr's companies and that she later received a 100 per cent dividend for this amount.

"Then I also received another for dollars when I entered suit to get ," she said.

G. R. Calhoun of Victor, Colorado, testified that he invested $1,150 with Marr and received but $350 back.

"This is all the money I ever got from Marr," he said, "I expect to get big dividends because of the statements he made in his advertisements."

Calhoun said that when he "pitted my knife over my head, and if it stuck I bought some stock and if it fell over, I didn't buy any." This was the plan under which he bought all of his stocks, he said.

HERE'S A CHIP OFF OLD BLOCK

MEL DAUGHERTY

Brother of the former attorney general of the United States, Harry Daugherty who yesterday through his attorneys refused to allow Senators Brookhart and Wheeler of the senate investigation committee to examine books of the Midland National bank of which Mel Daugherty is an official.

Daugherty's brother showed the same fighting spirit exhibited by the former attorney general himself under fire and defied the United States senate.

BANKERS HALT SENATE PROBE

Daugherty Committee Is Stopped Cold in Ohio Institution

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio, April 11.—An almost complete check was administered here today to the senate Daugherty inquiry.

A phalanx of lawyers, filing into the temporary hearing room set up by Chairman Brookhart and Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, a special sub-committee of the senate, made clear and certain the refusal of M. S. Daugherty and his associates to allow the financial transactions of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, by Jess Smith, the ex-attorney general friend and "bumper," now dead, of the Midland National Bank, to be raced out by examination or testimony.

Bank Hits Back.

The bank itself, controlled by M. S. Daugherty, struck back at the senatorial inquirers by a hastily arranged legal proceeding which resulted in a temporary restraining order directed to the senators, and served on them as they sat, seeking to stop the inquiry. No recourse was left the committee, Chairman Brookhart said, than to return to Washington and take up proceedings.

The senate sub-committee, did however, through John Phelon, an examiner in its own employe, who was allowed to search the Midland bank records for a few hours several weeks ago learn that Harry M. Daugherty's name was shown on certificates of deposit in the Midland bank to the total of $75,000.

The embargo is directed against all foodstuffs, fruits, farm products, trees and shrubbery and numerous other articles.

WAGGONER CASE DECISION GIVEN HERE FRIDAY

Claims of Waggoner Estate Against County Denied

IS FAR REACHING

Atwell Rules Adversely On Both Plaintiff Contentions

Ruling that oil royalties are not taxable as personal property and also that royalty of the lessee is taxable to that person and not to the lessor, Federal Judge William H. Atwell Friday afternoon handed down a decision denying the claims of the W. T. Waggoner estate in its suit against Wichita county. The case was concluded late in the afternoon after having been started Thursday afternoon. The court's decision was rendered immediately afterward.

In his suit the plaintiff set up two contentions, the first being that the lessor of oil producing lands was liable for taxes on royalties from such production and that the owner of the property was exempt. Secondly, it was contended that if the lesse was liable for such oil royalty taxes, it should be classed as a personal tax and hence payable in the county in which the taxpayer resided. In this particular instance, the tax would be payable in Tarrant county since the plaintiff resided in Fort Worth.

The court ruled adversely on both of the plaintiff's contentions.

Evidence brought out at the trial showed that in 1923 the plaintiff rendered for taxation 723 barrels of oil, this representing the one-eighth royalty received from production on his land. This was rendered at $450 a barrel and was later raised by the county commissioners court sitting as a board of equalization to $1,000 a barrel, thus making Mr. Waggoner liable for royalty taxes on $723,000.

The court's ruling on the personal tax feature of the case was awaited with special interest since a decision that royalty taxes should be classed as personal would have meant a heavy loss to Wichita county. A large amount of oil royalties are received each year by residents outside the county and the sum represented by taxes on these amounts to considerable each year.

It has been indicated that the case will be appealed.

THE MAN BEHIND THE REPORT

Charles G. Dawes photographed in Berlin in a characteristic pose

An American private citizen stands in the world's spotlight as his report on the ability of Germany to pay reparations is being discussed in every quarter of the globe. Charles G. Dawes, Chicago banker, in the report outlined the ideas backing the plan he and his colleagues in a special committee of financial experts set up for the payment of reparations by the former German empire. Dawes will return to this country the latter part of the month. His report was officially accepted Friday by the allies reparation commission.

Europe Sees Solution Of Reparation Issue Report Is Accepted

Semi-Official Meeting Accomplishes Where Supreme Council Fails

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, April 11.—What appeared to be the dawn of solution of the reparations problem broke over Paris tonight with the unanimous adoption by the reparation commission of the report of the experts committee and a recommendation by the commission that the respective governments accept the findings of the experts. The recommendation was couched in such a manner that it seems practically impossible that the interested governments can evade the issue.

Everyone Pleased.

The action of the reparation commission in accepting the report of the experts and recommending approval of it was greeted everywhere with gratification. "The semi-official conference accomplished what all the supreme councils failed to do," was the verdict of one of the members of the reparation commission this evening.

Although no official time limit has been set for Germany to reply to the reparation commission's invitation to accept the experts' report, it is said the reich has been requested to decide within the shortest possible time what action it will take, it being the commission's purpose to ascertain Germany's decision before the German elections which are to be held May 4. It is understood here that Premier Poincare also is desirous of having the question settled before May 11, the date for the French legislative elections. M. Poincare, it is asserted, is ambitious to go down in history as the man under whose tenure of office the reparation problems were settled.

Apparently the situation now is up to Germany.

Parker, president of the National Civic Federation, he announced today. He gave as his reasons that he believed "we ought to love peace so devotedly as to be willing to fight for it."

"I do not want a fight to come, but I don't believe we ought to throw away all our guns yet, considering the conditions of the world," he said.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Subpoenas for six witnesses were issued today by the senate committee charged with the investigation of the indictment of Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, prosecutor in the Daugherty inquiry committee.

Among them are Gordon Campbell, geologist of Great Falls, Montana; James Baldwin of Butte, law partner of Senator Wheeler; Representative Thomas Stout of Lewiston; C. L. Steven and L. B. Beaulieu, both of Great Falls, and Blair Cohan.

Chairman Borah said these witnesses would be examined after the committee had received from Federal Judge Pray of Montana, information in the Wheeler case and the list of witnesses filed by the district attorney.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 11.—William Gibbs McAdoo, candidate for the democratic nomination for president, addressing a large throng in the chamber of commerce auditorium here this afternoon, took issue with Governor Pat M. Neff in the three cornered contest just beginning for the control of the Texas delegation and warned that an instructed delegation from Texas to the democratic national convention is a necessity.

"If Texas wants to nominate and secure the election of a progressive democrat, as president in the general election this year," he declared, "she can accomplish it by sending an instructed delegation to New York, thereby throwing the whole weight and power of her influence back of the progressive candidacy.

"I hold in high esteem and great respect the progressive governor of

Pray today notified Senator W. E. Borah.

Kate Haynes Fountain Unveiled Friday With Impressive Services

Tribute to Teacher Is Touching Affair At Alamo School Grounds.

The beautiful Kate Haynes Memorial fountain, installed on the campus of the Alamo school in tribute to the service of Miss Kate Haynes, the first primary teacher in Wichita Falls who is still at her post, was unveiled in public ceremony Friday afternoon before a huge crowd of pupils, school officials, parents, and friends.

The occasion, long looked forward to by Alamo students, was a most beautiful and impressive ceremony, paying public honor in fitting manner to a greatly loved character.

A selection by the high school orchestra opened the program after which came the introduction by Mrs. G. H. Wilson, president of the Alamo Mothers' club. Rev. Nat F. Grafton gave the invocation.

Abe Marcus, who was a pupil of Miss Haynes in the early days, gave an address telling of the love and esteem in which Miss Haynes was held now, as then. His talk was followed by an address given by his son, Benjamin Marcus, who is now a pupil of Miss Haynes.

Little Miss Juliet Jane Canfield then read an original poem composed for the occasion by Mrs. Curtis Atkinson, "I Want To Hurry Up and Grow Up So I Can Be in Miss Kate's Room."

J. C. Hunt made an address, speaking of pioneer days in the school system when he and Miss Haynes were friends and neighbors. Mrs. L. R. Buchanan spoke on "Miss Kate, The Teacher" telling of the place Miss Haynes filled in the hearts of school children and school workers of the city, and of her wonderful and constructive work in the city school system. She closed her talk with a fitting poem after which little Sarah Elisabeth Culbertson pulled the string which unveiled the Kate Haynes memorial fountain.

Mrs. L. R. Buchanan presented the fountain in behalf of the Alamo Mothers' club, and at the close of Miss Haynes touching acceptance of the honor, the children of her room filed past and laid at her feet bouquets of flowers. One huge basket of flowers was presented to Miss Haynes by the Alamo Mothers' club through the courtesy of Harry Donnelly of the Donnelly Floral Co.

Dr. Cantwell fittingly closed the ceremony with a short address, speaking of the worth while things being done by the school system and the teachers of the city.

During the singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," all the school children filed past to take a drink from the waters of the new fountain.

LABOR PLEDGES C. OF C. SUPPORT

Harrison Speaks Friday To Trades Council Gathering

"The chamber of commerce holds that the real test of a good city is the condition of the average man's home," declared Hubert Harrison, secretary of that organization in an address before the trades council at the Labor Temple last night.

"The average man is the backbone and sinew of the community," he said. "It is around him that the city is built. It can only prosper as he prospers and can only be happy as he is happy. The chamber of commerce of Wichita Falls realizes this and is striving continually to improve the living conditions of the average man, and to make the city a more healthy and wholesome place for his home. It is striving to make the city a better place for every man, whether rich or poor.

"Just as antagonism from any group will hinder this work, so will co-operation help it along. The chamber of commerce wants the co-operation of the average man and they cannot very well succeed in their efforts to make his home a more wholesome and better place in which to live without it."

Mr. Harrison's address last night before the trades council is in line with the labor program of having prominent men of the city address them at their monthly social meetings. It is hoped in this manner to establish a bond of confidence between the trades council and the business men of the town.

Following Mr. Harrison's address President Barnes of the trades council expressed appreciation of the efforts of the chamber of commerce in behalf of the average man. The trades council by a rising vote demonstrated their willingness to co-operate with the chamber of commerce in the work of improving community conditions.

Shots Fly In Battle at Newtown

A barrage of shots in which three Electra peace officers battled with a man resisting arrest at an oil field rooming house nearly terminated fatally early Friday night, although fortunately, no one was injured. The man is now held in the Electra jail as a result of the siege with the officers.

The fight took place a mile southeast of Newtown and started when Constable Tom Shook, City Officer Macey and Justice of the Peace Phillips of Electra were called to arrest a man who, it was reported, had seriously beaten his daughter. The girl, it was said, had been married in Wichita Falls Thursday and had incurred the wrath of her parent by this.

Learning that officers had been summoned, the man concealed himself in a weed patch near his rooming house and when the three men approached, opened fire on them. The shots were returned, and the fire maintained until the guns of the entire party were emptied. The officers, still ready to continue the fight, however, loomed as too formidable contenders and the man dropped his revolver and threw up his hands.

He was taken to Electra and is being held in jail there pending filing of formal charges.

Home-Wrecking Is Always An Inside Job | Lays Blame For Stolen Affections on Lack of Effort

Which of His Three Divorced Wives Shall He Remarry?—Shall She Break Her Engagement With a Man Who Is Quarrelsome and Moody—How Can a Pretty Girl Prevent Unwelcome Attentions in an Office?

Dear Miss Dix—I am no love-sick man. I am past thirty years of age, and have been married four times and also divorced four times, but as yet I do not proclaim marriage to be a failure. Contrary to that, it is the greatest of all institutions created by God.

I married first at the age of seventeen. Since that time I have had three chances of happiness, but in each case my matrimonial ship was wrecked by my own fault. A year since my last divorce I find myself in a strange position. I am corresponding with each of my last three wives and will no doubt marry one of them, but which?

I eliminate wife No. 1. No. 2 is a very fine looking, highly educated lady, very independent; but she loved me with a passionate affection, and with her I prospered more than at any other time of my life.

No. 3 was the clinging vine, a baby doll, good cook, but shallow in mind. Not wanting me to work. Demanded nothing but my love. With her I got lazy and in debt.

No. 4 was a real sportsman. Loves to fish or dance. Anything for pleasure. But must have good time.

I ask you which one of these shall I remarry?

C. W. M.

Answer: You are certainly the world's greatest optimist, C. W. M., if you are willing to tackle matrimony the fifth time after having made a failure of it upon four previous occasions.

As for the ladies, what does it matter which one you take, since marriage is merely a passing episode with you, instead of a binding contract? I doubt if any one woman will ever permanently satisfy you. What you need is a harem, where you can drive your wives all abreast after the Oriental mode instead of tandem, in the American style.

Of the three candidates you suggest, I would think that wife No. 2 would be the best for your soul and pocketbook, and supply a backbone which you seem to need sadly. Wife No. 3, who asks nothing but to burn incense at your feet, would come nearest to holding you, but wife No. 4 will be most likely to stick by you, for it takes a sporting spirit to stand a man who is always wandering off the straight and narrow path.

However, any one of the three is better than you deserve, so toss up for the lucky lady and let fate decide it.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been engaged to a young man for a year, and we do nothing but quarrel. He says he can't help it; that it is the fault of the moods he gets now and then. While he is in one of these moods he is terrible to me, and twice he has almost broken our engagement, and then, blaming it on the moods, he begs me to take him back. What shall I do?

TRYING TO SMILE.

Answer: My dear girl, there is no other fault that a man can possibly have that will make his wife so miserable as for him to be moody. Whether moodiness is the result of a bad liver, or a bum stomach, or nervousness, or is a species of insanity, or is just pure cussedness I don't know. But I do know that a moody man or woman can kill every bit of joy and cheerfulness in a home, and make it a regular hell on earth.

If you marry a moody man you will go in terror all the balance of your life, fearing to do or say something that will bring on one of his spells. For on the least provocation, or no provocation at all, he will lapse into a gloomy silence that sends the domestic temperature down to zero, and that indicts everybody in the household for living committed some unknown crime.

You will have to bear with patience insults and abuse that will make you want to take the carving knife to him, because when he is in his moods he finds a fiendish delight in hurting and tormenting you. You will have to grovel perpetually before him, for if you don't you will precipitate a mood. You will have every plan and hope wet-blanketed, for the moody are killjoys and get their only pleasure out of making everybody else miserable.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—How should a young, inexperienced, good-looking girl behave in a business office when she is complimented by strangers who come to see her manager about business, but who never overlook the opportunity of a short conversation with the girl? What attitude should the girl take toward the young men who are employed where she is? Should she accept their invitations?

FLAPPER.

Answer: The proper way for a girl to conduct herself in an office, or out of it, is like a lady. If she is reserved, quiet, dignified and keeps her eyes straight before her instead of roving all over the landscape in search of whom she may vamp she can go around the world alone or work in an office without being molested.

Virtually every man who meets a pretty girl tries her out to see how far she will go, and if he finds that she is dead straight he respects her for it and becomes her protector. Good girls have little to fear from men. It is the ones who are out looking for temptation who find it.

Dress modestly, my dear, in sensible business clothes. Don't look up from your work and ogle everybody who comes to see your employer, and few men will speak to you. Let your answers be brief and to the point where they try to open up conversation with you, and you will soon cease to be annoyed by the philanderers who wish to make dates with you. Don't let the young men who are your fellow employes hang over your desk during working hours. That is not what you are being paid for.

Save your flirtations for after office hours. What you do after 5 o'clock is your own affair, but it is never wise to mix love-making and business.

Mothers
AND THEIR CHILDREN

Now That It's Spring

One Mother Says:

A printing frame and a supply of blue print paper on which he could print the outlines of leaves and flowers interested my son, who was inclined to stay in and read too much for his own good, in going on expeditions to the woods. Other children in the neighborhood became enthusiastic about helping him get specimens to print, and he made quite a collection last spring and summer. He's looking forward to getting up another one.

Color Cut-Outs

Billy's Reward.

Billy Cut-out thought he simply couldn't wait another minute for his turn to come to parade before the Style Show audience. This was the third performance, but the house was more packed than it had been before.

At the proper time, Billy fairly strutted out in the baseball suit you see above. He felt like Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth and Eddie Collins, all rolled into one.

"This is the last appearance of Mr. Billy Cut-out," explained the young woman in charge of the show. "He has been such a willing model that we will reward him by presenting him with this baseball suit he wears!" Then everybody clapped over Billy's delight.

Was there ever a luckier fellow than Billy to get a baseball suit like this just at the opening of the season? Color it red, with red cap and socks. The glove is brown, the bat, tan. Next week, you'll see Betty's part in the Style Show.

MOTHER KNEW CARDUI'S VALUE

Georgia Lady, Who Had Lost Two Much Weight Was Advised To Take Cardui and Is Now Well

COLUMBUS, Ga.—Mrs. George Hunter of 17 North Columbus, is relieved of great pain and suffering by following the advice of her mother, who knew, from her own experience, of the value of Cardui.

"After I married, thirteen months ago," writes Mrs. Hunter, "I suffered with dreadful pains in my side during....My side hurt so bad it nearly killed me. I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks at a time. I could not work and I just dragged around the house.....

"I got very thin—I went from 126 pounds down to less than 90. My mother had long been a user of Cardui and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I got to the store after it and, before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve.

"My side hurt less and I began to improve in health....The Cardui acted as a fine tonic and I do not feel like the same person. I am much better. I am well now. I have gained 10 pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all....

"I wish every suffering woman knew about Cardui."

A MAN OF CULTURE.

Harry M. Daugherty is out of the game. Harlin F. Stone is attorney general. Harry M. Daugherty has been branded as a misfit and Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania is the man who manipulated the branding iron.

Harry M. Daugherty, all his life long, must have cultivated men of shady reputation as friends and pals, judging from the crop of bizarre characters who came to the surface while the investigation of the former attorney general was on.

Harlan F. Stone is of a different type. He is an Amherst man, he is a top notcher in the cultured and select circles of his countrymen, he does not associate with prize fighters, detectives, race track gamblers, curb-stone brokers, political fixers or the political touts of the nation. He gave up a practice of $100,000 a year when he accepted the call of the president.

Hiram Johnson of California does not approve of the appointment of Stone. Hiram Johnson does not approve of any Coolidge appointment on declaration of principles but Coolidge appears to be capturing the delegates. Four years ago Johnson invaded Michigan and led all the other candidates for the republican nomination by a vote of eight to one.

Johnson invaded Michigan this year. His name was on the ballot. Coolidge's name was on the ballot. By an overwhelming majority the Michigan republicans gave their thirty delegates of that state to Coolidge. They repudiated the man who had been their choice four years ago.

Harry M. Daugherty was a dead weight to the Coolidge administration; he was a dead weight to the Harding administration but he was the life long friend of Harding and Harding never deserted his friends. Senator Pepper told the truth in his Maine speech when he said that Warren G. Harding was responsible for Fall and Daugherty.

All republicans know it; all democrats know it. All the sane thinking voters of America regardless of party affiliations are aware that Senator Pepper told the truth and all the truth. There are democratic senators and republican senators for that matter, who are bitter in their criticism of Fall and Daugherty.

And yet these senators voted to confirm the nominations in 1921, voted to confirm them knowing Fall and Daugherty to be unfit for the high places to which they had been named by the president. It is a rather late in the day for Harry M. Daugherty to begin character building. He should have made the start thirty years ago. And yet when all this is said Senator Wheeler and his fellow investigators haven't unearthed a witness whose evidence would or could convict Daugherty of having violated the laws of his country.

As for the three rivers statesman, Albert B. Fall, unless it can be proven that the $100,000 advanced to him By Edward F. Doheny was in the nature of a bribe this former secretary of the interior will go scot free. Fall acted within the law. Denby acted within the law.

All the big interests act within the law. They know how to get the golden fleece in a legal way.

ARGUMENT NOT SOUND

Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota says the last two months in Washington have put the third party on the map and that the hopes of the movement are not bound in the physical condition of any one man who might be considered available as the presidential candidate.

Magnus predicts the passage of the McNary-Haughen farm relief measure, the smashing defeat of the Mellon tax proposals in the senate and a nation-wide third party in the fall election. The terrible Swede will be a candidate for re-election to the senate and he expects the farmers of Minnesota to rally to his cause and bury the republicans and democrats at the November election.

Magnus is a wheat grower. He insists that the government should finance the wheat farmers of the west. Then why not the cotton farmers of the south? Why not the fruit growers of the country? Why not the livestock interests? Why not the producers of the products of farm and orchard and garden? Why pick out the wheat farmer alone?

PANTOMIME -:- By J. H. Striebel

HAD YOU NOTICED THE GREAT POLITICAL REFORMATION THE WOMEN VOTERS HAVE EFFECTSD

The Persistent Lovers

"Well? How are you advancing?"

"I think I shall have a surprise for you on Sunday, guv'nor," Dick said.

"Sunday?" repeated the vicar. "Quick work, my boy, quick work! I am delighted beyond measure."

That Sunday were duly read for the third and final time the banns of marriage between Richard Ardley-Manners and Lady Audrey Beaumont. A little item to that effect in the county newspaper found its way into the great papers in London. And there it was read by his grace, the Duke of Harborough.

CHAPTER XXI.
Monday Morning.

The vicar's little golden balloon of romance was pricked with the news about Audrey. But to ease the hurt which the shattering of his dreams caused him, there was Dick's happiness.

"Dick," he said as they left the church, "you are a young rascal to deceive me like that!"

And so they came to the door of the inn and were met them, as father and son should.

And so they came to te door of the inn and were met by the two girls. Audrey came forward, her eyes fixed inquiringly upon the vicar's and took his arm.

"Tell me are you angry with us?" she said.

For a moment the old man looked from one to the other. They were well matched, this broad, big son of his and the high-born dairymaid.

"Between you," he said, "you have given me the surprise of my life. Now, I purpose to give you one. Joyce, my dear, are you ready to become a bridesmaid at a moment's notice?"

"A bridesmaid?"

"Yes; I am going to marry these two tomorrow morning before you and I go back home."

Dick's eyes sought Audrey's and held them.

At that moment Joyce, the old man, the inn, the village, the whole world, faded out. They two were alone face to face, breathless, poised in the celestial ether, and the universe was theirs all that was in it.

The moon and stars were their playthings the sun obeyed their commands and mankind was as an ant's nest beneath their feet.

Next morning, at 5:30, old John, Waring's servant, tapped as usual on Dick's door, entered without waiting for an answer, pulled up the blinds and gave Dick a purposely noisy "Good morning, sir."

The routine of it had already laid its hand on Dick. It was no longer a heart-rending effort to exchange the snug warmth of his bed for a chilly shave and a chillier bath. He was deep in the early-rising groove and obeyed the summons as a bullet leaves a rifle when the trigger feels the pressure of a steady forefinger.

"Morning, John," he replied. With one mighty heave the sheets were off, and he stood awake upon the carpet "Is it raining."

"No, sir," said John. "There is a touch of frost on the ground."

Dick pulled on his old riding breeches and laced his enormous boots. Monday morning, the new week's work to face! Well, good enough—Monday morning!

For a moment he stood very straight and still. This was the morning, the great morning of his life, and for 10 minutes he had forgotten it.

He looked down at himself. Did a man get married with six inches of mud on his boots and a pair of riding bags that would have disgraced a war correspondent after a year in action? Did a man usually do farm work on his wedding day?

He laughed again. What was Audrey doing? Was she milking, as usual, or had she any conservative ideas on the question of a marriage morning? With all his soul he hoped that she was not eating her heart out because there would be no red carpet, no crowds no wedding breakfast, no presents, nothing that constitutes the fun of getting married for so many girls.

He went quickly downstairs, bolted his coffee and bread and butter and made his way out into the ray air. As he drew near the milking shed he heard the jangle of milk pails and a low rumble of pleasure from the cows that were being milked.

The door was open; Dick walked in. There were about 20 cows, each in a stall of its own. The four girls at work were thus hidden from one another. Dick walked down the line.

Audrey was at the far end, by herself, with her head pressed against a cow's flank, her milk can very nearly full. Dick tiptoed into the stall bent down and kissed the back of her neck.

She started, and the hiss of the milk in the pail suddenly stopped. She rose from her little three-legged stool The cow turned her head inquiringly, and grumbled at them.

"Good morning," said Audrey, softly.

"This morning!" corrected Dick "Have you forgotten?"

She looked at him.

"Forgotten! I have been trying to make myself believe it all night! I haven't succeeded yet." She came close to him. "Dick, I have a queer feeling that something is going to happen to prevent it."

Dick caught her hands.

"That's sheer nerves," he said. "Don't you dare start that game now! What could prevent it? We have won, we've broken the tape! Oh, my dear what can I say to you?"

Audrey held up her face.

"S-sh! Don't say anything! You might break the spell, and we should wake up and find it's not true."

For a long, silent moment they held each other, and then Dick went away. The old cow cried grumbling. Audrey pressed her burning face against its flank.

CHAPTER XXII.
An Uninvited Guest

It was a very happy old vicar who clomped on his hat, caught up his stick and stumped out of the inn that same morning—so happy that he had to think back in order to grasp by comparison the full measure of the moment. How strangely had events shaped themselves!

Yes, it was a great morning, a red-letter day for them all.

He went round to the local clergyman's house and obtained his smiling permission to officiate in his church.

Then he retraced his steps to the farm.

He found Dick muddled to the elbow, in earnest conversation with Waring.

"Richard, what are you doing in those rags?" he said. "Have you forgotten that you are to be married. Go wash yourself and change into respectable garments. Can you be at the church in half an hour?"

"You bet I can!" said Dick.

"Mr. Waring," said the vicar, "will you undertake to let Audrey know that she must be there in 30 minutes if she wants to be married at all?"

"For goodness sake, don't leave me?" said Dick to Waring. "I'm jumping with nerves as it is. Waiter me and we'll pick her up on our way when I've changed."

"That will do," said his father. "I must get back the church and prepare myself. May I leave it confidentially in your hands, Mr. Waring?"

"You may," said Waring. "Dick, go and wash!"

Dick waited for no more. He ran. The vicar followed, with Waring as far as the door of the house Then he hurried on while Waring went in.

"John, lay lunch for five," Waring ordered. 'Ask your wife to do her best for us, and get a couple of bottles of champagne."

"Very good, sir," said John quietly, as if he were quite used to such an order.

Somehow getting married wasn't a bit like what Dick had imagined it would be. At the moment he felt exactly the same odd sinking feeling at the pit of his stomach which came in those unpleasant minutes in the boat before the gun was fired to start the races at Oxford.

"King Charles going to be beheaded, eh?"

They strode in step down the drive and along the road into the village.

"Eight minutes more!" said Waring. "If only she is ready, we shall do it. What is psychology of women under the circumstances. Are they ready first, or do they fuss over hair and bows and things? What do you think?"

Dick grunted. He wasn't talking much just then.

"Well, I'll bet you five to one she's ready," Waring went on. "Oh, and, by the way," he added, "the best man's privilege is to kiss the bride in the vestry."

"Not on your life!" said Dick promptly.

Waring laughed and turned his head. The honk of a motor car sounded on the road behind them.

"Look out," he said and pulled Dick aside.

A great machine hummed by. Dick glanced at it, and then grabbed Waring's arm.

"Good Heaven!" he said. "The duke!"

CHAPTER XXIII.
Her Chosen Man.

The car turned out of the village into the lane that led to Audrey's cottage—Dick's cottage, for he was paying the vast sum of three shillings a week for it.

Dick let go Waring's arm and began to run. Waring scenting trouble, ran, too. Together they raced the last 200 yards through the empty village and rounded the corner.

There is some talk of congress installing a radio broadcasting station. That would be fine, but not for congress. The main trouble being that the folks at the forks of the creek would find out how congress spends its time.

That would or should be fatal to congress. And if they tried to put all that stuff on the radio, there wouldn't be much room for anything else. But we are for the idea.

For one thing, it might make it possible to do away with the congressional record. The only thing we have against the Congressional Record is that it clutters up our mail.

But the average radio bug wouldn't listen in long on the investigation stuff. He would move over a few notches to something that smacked of life—maybe jazz.

Personally, we have gotten to a point where the jazz stuff is getting too deep for us. But at that we would rather listen to one of these thump-thump orchestras than to a speech made in congress, "for home consumption only."

Boys Id, Says Girl Preacher

Rhea Crawford, the Salvation Army captain who won the sobriquet of "The Aid of Broadway" for her soul saving work in the theatrical white light district of New York a year or so ago, and was allowed to get out of the "army" on account of the publicity it gave her, has stirred St. Petersburg, Fla., by similar activities in the hotels and public places. Despite the fact, she says, that modern girls swear, drink and play poker and wear little, they are better than the boys, and are just as good or just as bad as the boys want them to be.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

OLD AND NEW

A painting process employing a heated palette for colors is intended to enable modern artists to surpass the work of the old masters.

When Phidias, strolling 'round the town,
Saw figures so sublime
That he was fain to hand them down
The corridors of time,
With toil that set his nerves on edge
And made him grunt and groan,
For months he swung a heavy sledge
And hacked them out of stone.

When Leonardo spied a dame,
Whose lovely classic head,
He felt should be preserved to fame,
When he was cold and dead,
He had to rise when fell the dew,
To sit from sun to sun,
And paint perhaps a year or two
Before the job was done.

Today a sculptor need but draw
The form he likes the best,
And lo! a keen electric saw
Rolls up and does the rest.
No dull and spirit-breaking toil
The modern painter knows;
He beats his colors till they boil
And squirts 'em through a hose.

No more the artist sweats and slaves
To execute his theme,
And all the time that thus he saves
He has to think and dream.
And yet, somehow, they strive in vain
The ancients to excel,
For art requires not only brain,
But elbow grease as well!

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

The Other Side of Main Street

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There is quite a considerable school of writers that has sprung up in recent years. They flood the smart Aleck magazines. Their daily droll is found in the newspaper "colyum."

Their main characteristic is that they do not like the kind of people that American civilization has produced.

They hate the American business man. The regard his work as soul-killing, his ambition and his surroundings as deadly.

They look upon the thousands of American homes along Main street as dull boxes inhabited by wretched unimaginative morons who are missing, altogether, the meaning of life.

If they write fiction they find their heroes among the tramps who sleep in the barn or rob the henroost and discover no trace of anything attractive in the poor boob who goes down to the office at 9 o'clock every morning and comes home tired to his wife and children at night, a home where he finds his diversion in helping the children with their geography, or discussing the chautauqua books with his wife.

About all the color they can see in our civilization is furnished by the wastrel, the drunkard, the bootlegger, the prostitute or some sophomoric youth who is excited over the recent discovery of a truth that was a platitude in the days of Socrates.

Mr. Zangwill's play, "We Moderns" vividly depicts these exponents of piddling sophistication.

The moving picture, "The Covered Wagon," which thrilled most of us was dismissed by these super critics with the observation that "it was all right, if you like wagons."

Any effort to bring out the heroism and nobility of the early pioneers of this country is met with a sneer. One critic, the author of various books on French salons and Paris evenings, refers to the characters in Emerson Hough's Frontier Folk as weazened, weary, forlorn gaunt and homely men and women who lived sordid lives.

Referring to these supercilious gentry, William MacLeod Raine writes: "They do not care for the American tradition. The thing they have done is of no value, the empire we have built is wholly Philistine. We must look to Europe for any valid impulse. Let us have realism, stories of the neurotic emotions of youths who have no standrds except self-made ones."

Meanwhile the great life of America flows on, a deep, clear and wholesome flood. It has few interpreters. Most of those who write of it know it about as well as the septic flies understand the banquet, or the boxcar hobo understands the railroad system.

Main street cannot be understood, indeed nothing in the world can be understood, except by those who love it. For there can be no intelligent emotion or worthwhile criticism that does not spring from sympathy.

There is more happiness to the square inch in it than has existed in any other street built by man.

There is more health in it than in any other thoroughfare or any other place or time.

There is more conscience in it, more loyalty, more honesty and square dealing than ever could be found in the Champs Elysees or the Appian Way.

The churches along Main street are filled with sincerity of purpose and those who bow at their altars go out to make a better world.

The men who walk along Main street are employed in making the world a decenter place to live in. The women who nurse their babies in the houses of Main street are bringing up children who are helping to bring about the Golden Age.

There is romance on Main street. The boys and girls are making there a sounder, sweeter, more wholesome love than was ever snickered on Broadway, suggested in a Parisien cafe or whispered in the groves of Athens.

Main street is the United States and no one who does not know its people and who does not have vision enough to see their sterling worth and intrinsic beauty can know what America means.

SOIL AND SOIL PHYSICS
Why Plow?

In the fall and spring the farmer plows his land, or at least stirs it up to some degree. Perhaps few farmers stop to think just why they plow. They would say that they plow so they can plant a crop. That is true but many seeds could be planted on unplowed ground. However, experience has shown that where the ground is plowed better crops can be raised.

There are lots of reasons for plowing. Plowing kills out weeds. It turns weed seeds under so deeply that they will not come up. The soil is opened up and water will then penetrate more easily, and, of course, there are many other reasons for plowing.

One reason that is perhaps seldom thought of, but which is an important one, is that plowing allows a better circulation of air through the soil.

When a field is plowed the soil is turned up in broken masses. There are many more spaces that are filled by air in plowed soil than in unplowed.

This increase in the amount of air in the soil through plowing causes many beneficial chemical changes to take place. The oxygen in the air acts on many substances in the soil altering them in various ways.

A great many compounds that exist in the soil are not available for the use of plants until after the oxygen in the air has acted on them. Plowing, by breaking up the soil, increase its porosity, thus greatly aiding and accelerating the action of the oxygen on the various soil compounds.

Therefore one of the main reasons for plowing is to let the air enter the soil more freely.

FRENCH DEBT HALF A TRILLION FRANCS MARCH 1

PARIS, France.—The French foreign debt, calculated at the normal rate of exchange, amounted to 35,774,937,000 francs on March 1, 1924, according to officials figures supplied by the ministry of finance.

It is made up as follows:

Debts, war and other loans, to allies 30,460,500,000 francs.

Commercial debt, 5,255,338,000 francs.

Total, 35,724,937,000.

Calculated at the rate of franc exchange for the first week in March, France's foreign debt would total between 160,000,000,000 and 170,000,000 francs.

This amount added to the official figures recently available for the French internal debt of 326,353,000,000 would bring the total amount of the French debt close to half a trillion francs.

Senate Committee Hears Oklahoma Promoter At Friday Meet

WORK SPEEDING UP

Senators Busy Despite Absence of Leading Investigators

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The home guard wing of the Daugherty investigating committee drove ahead at full speed today despite the absence of Chairman Brookhart and Senator Wheeler, committee prosecutor, in Ohio. Senators Moses, New Hampshire and Jones, Washington, republicans, alternated in questioning half dozen witnesses on subjects that ranged from Indian land fraud cases in Oklahoma to prohibition enforcement in Chicago, touching on the Old Hickory Powder company case and the Dempsey-Carpentier fight film exhibitions in Oklahoma in between.

Ashurst Absent

Senator Ashurst, Arizona, the democrat member of the home guard wing, was absent, but Senator Moses, who presided, said one member formed a committee quorum under its rules. Nor had the fact that two republican "regulars" were in charge appear to lessen the effort to find out what connection the former attorney general or the department of justice had with the matters inquired into.

The day's grist was cumulative for the most part, the testimony bearing on aspects of matters already in the record from other witnesses. The only new element introduced was the Oklahoma end of the fight picture business.

William Tilghman of Oklahoma, an officer "out of the governor's office there," and also "a motion picture man" told the committee of making a contract in New York with F. C. Quimby for the Oklahoma rights to the fight pictures, paying $7,500 and receiving two films. He said Quimby had said the federal authorities were "fixed" so there would be no jail sentences.

During next week other subjects such as "Crossing Over the Dead Line," "The Devil and Tom Walker" and "The Unpardonable Sin" will be discussed.

stockholders in the American National bank which is now in final process of liquidation.

A review of the case shows that in 1921 the American National bank found itself with insufficient funds and convertible assets to meet its creditors' claims. An agreement was accordingly reached with the First National bank of Wichita Falls whereby the latter institution took over the assets and liabilities of the American National bank for the purpose of liquidating all claims and winding up the affairs of the bank. This was done on condition that the stockholders of the American National bank guaranteed to personally reimburse the First National for any losses that might result in the adjustment process. It was found when a settlement had been made that the assets of the American National were approximately $300,000 less than the amount required to satisfy the claims; this was then paid to the First National bank by the present plaintiffs in the suit, who are suing the remaining stockholders of the American National for their pro rata share.

A plea of intervention was filed Friday afternoon by one creditor of the American National who claimed that he was the only one who has not yet made a settlement with the institution. The pleading was allowed to be entered by Judge Atwell and will be adjusted at a later date.

It now appears that attorneys in the case and probably a number of witnesses will appear before Judge Atwell in Dallas in the near future and wind up the affair there. In case an agreement cannot be reached as to this, the litigation will continue until the November term of federal court in Wichita Falls.

A LONG SCARF EMBROIDERED IN BLACK TRIMS HAT

By MME. LISBETH.

A very effective little hat is one of white chip (shown above) with a white canton crepe scarf embroidered in black wound about the crown and with a long free end that may be draped about the neck or left free to float to the breezes.

It would seem to me a very effective way to retrim a hat, giving it a very up to date and becoming touch. In fact this long scarf would not only trim a hat prettily but would do away with the necessity for another neckpiece for the coat or suit.

Of course one may spend huge sums of money in hats, but if one must economize I always feel it can be done on hats with the least disaster to results. The truest economy is to buy a good hat and trimming in the first place. A hat of good material will outlast several cheap ones, keep its shape better and stand retrimming and may even be reblocked and made to look like new.

Then hats depend more for smartness on their general becomingness and suitableness to the wearer than on any special shape. There are firms who advertise hat trimmings for sale and will show you how to do the work effectively. Some millinery shops also advertise lessons to be given in their duller seasons. These should give one the mastery of the technique of applying trimming and for the rest one must study the type of chapeau that is most becoming.

Millers Run Wild and Fix Last Game, 17-5

FREEMAN AND MORGAN FOUND WITH EVERYTHING BUT PLATE AS MILLERS GATHER REVENGE

Mike Kelly's Minneapolis Millers took their day Friday, when they jumped on Buck Freeman and Dick Morgan for 19 hits, and won the last game of the series, 17 to 5. What promised to be a pitchers' battle between Freeman and McGraw, was rudely toppled in the fourth when the Miller sluggers slammed out eight hits for seven runs.

The Spudders also scored in the fourth, but their two runs on two hits were small beside the Miller yardage. McGraw held Wichita Falls to seven hits and five tallies through six innings, and Mangum turned them back the last three frames with only two hits to boast.

It was the Millers' time, and they took hasty advantage of the opportunity. Eight of their 19 safe blows went for extra bases, five being two-baggers and three home runs.

Millers Active.

The Minneapolis Blues suddenly piped up in the fourth, after Freeman had held them scoreless and to two one-base drives. Kirke, first up, singled. Critz doubled, sending Kirke on to third. Grabowski, third man to face Freeman in the unlucky frame, poured one over left field fence, clearing the bases. McCue grounded out to White, but Pitcher McGraw singled. Mitchell and Rondeau singled in session, filling the bases. Smith doubled, scoring McGraw and Mitchell. Rondeau singled, sending in Walker and Smith. Kirke, up his second time in the inning, hit into a double play, White to Turgeon to Locker. The total was, seven runs, eight hits, no errors.

Continue.

Continuing the battering, Minneapolis scored in every inning following but one. Three were counted in the fifth, four in the sixth, two in the seventh, and one in the ninth. Critz, McCue and McGraw scored in the fifth on Turgeon's error, McCue's double, McGraw's single, Mitchell's sacrifice and Walker's single. The four counts in the sixth followed Rondeau's hit, Kirke's double, Critz's walk, Grabowski's base hit and Rondeau's sacrifice. A home run by Kirke in the seventh, with Rondeau on, was good for two more scores. A hit failed to produce a run in the eighth, but one more and the last came in the ninth. It was a circuit clout by Kirke, first up.

Spudders Conservative.

The Spudders were not so anxiously impatient to gather all the runs in the lot and out, scoring tallies in two innings. In the fourth, following the Miller stampede, Skipper Tanner started off with a single. Weiss walked, but Callaghan popped out to short. Turgeon doubled, scoring Tanner and Weiss. White grounded out to McGraw and Locker flied out to Rondeau. The sixth saw Tanner's crew come close to the mark set by the Millers in their half of the inning. Tanner opened with his third one-base knock of the day, Weiss doubled, advancing Tanner to third, who scored on Callaghan's sacrifice hit. Weiss tallied on Turgeon's single. Turgeon making the third and last score for the inning on Locker's triple. Two more hits were garnered by Wichita, but they failed to produce more runs.

Mangum was right in his three innings in the contest, and saw no runs go in to his discount.

For the day, Kirke, Miller first sacker, was right with the willow. In six times at bat, the husky infielder drove out a single, a double and two home runs, and chalked up four scores. Grabowski got the other homer, and a single. Rondeau hit two singles and a double, while Pitcher McGraw made two one-base hits and two tallies.

Manager Buddy Tanner was the Spudder heavy on the maple, getting three straight singles in five times at bat. The Wichita Falls skipper also got two scores. Turgeon made a triple and a single. Locker sent oue for a rdie and three bases.

Cecil Coombs was out of the lineup with a battered finger, and Howard Fitzgerald with his cold. Fitzgerald was on the coaching line in uniform, and seems about ready to go back. Williams, playing centerfield, had another good day.

St. Jo Today.

The St. Joseph club of the Western league is due in today for two games, today and Saturday, to end the exhibition season.

Osborn.

Bob Osborn will be placed on the mound to start today. Cheeves to be held as relief pitcher, stated Tanner yesterday. Lefty Wright is being primed for the last game, Sunday.

Bubber Jonnard may be able to get back to work, according as his sore arm improves.

St. Jo Opens Series Today

St. Joseph of the Western opens a two-game series here today with the Spudders, to complete the exhibition season in Wichita Falls. The games will be called at three o'clock.

Bob Osborn, lanky right-hander, is slated to start the game this afternoon in the box, Virgil Cheeves to be held in reserve.

Sunday afternoon John "Lefty" Wright will probably do the hurling, according to Manager Buddy Tanner.

Twilight Umps Appointed

Wilford Harrison, J. D. Ivey, and Floyd Brooks have been appointed official umpires for the Twilight Baseball league of Wichita Falls by President L. O. "Doc" Landon.

The Twilight league is scheduled to open Tuesday of next week, team managers having had their candidates out several days in practice.

According to President Landon, Harrison will give his official services to the league free. All three officials have had considerable experience at the game, and officers believe a suitable trio have been selected.

Those who have been watching Walter Koppisch, Columbia university track star, believe that he will be named a member of America's Olympic team.

Koppisch was forced to quit athletics for a time after suffering an injury to his arm in the grid game against Dartmouth last season and it was feared for a time that the injury might handicap him in athletic events. This fear has died out, however.

Koppisch stands out as one of the best middle distance runners in collegiate circles. Last year he equaled the record for the quarter-mile indoors, which had stood for 10 years. His time was 49 3-5 seconds.

Uncle Wilbert Robinson's chest is stuffed out almost as far as his waistline these days. The signing and reporting of Johnny Jones, Pacific Coast infielding star.

Robbie is confident that if Jones comes through according to expectations the Dodgers will be in the thick of the pennant fight despite the fact that the rest of the infield and the outfield doesn't rate very high.

Those who have looked over the new arrival since his debut in a Brooklyn uniform remark on the striking resemblance he bears in size and playing style to the veteran Jimmy Johnston. Jones is a trifle shorter but otherwise a counterpart of the versatile Jeems, who can play the infield or outfield in capable style.

BEAR-OWL TRACK TOURNEY TODAY

WACO, Texas, April 11.—The Baylor Bears will meet Rice Institute in a dual track meet, the first of the conference season, here Saturday. The Bears recently won a meet over Austin College by a decisive score.

Coach Wolf has his athletes well primed for the events Saturday. The dash men are showing the results of intensive training and the distance runners are expected to eclipse their records made so far this season. Except in the 440 yard dash the Bears have strong representatives in every event. If Moses can show as good form in the 220 and 100 yard dashes as he did against Austin college Coach Wolf need not fear for this event.

The Bear team will also be well represented in the field events. Maynard Porter has averaged around 175 feet all season with the javelin and during the past week he has hit above the 130 feet mark with the discus. He managed to get off one throw that measured 135 feet. Gauntt, a high jumper, is also returnig to form he knew in prep school, while the work of Strickland has improved daily in the broad jump.

Coach Wolf will enter Moses, Nash and Strickland in the 100 yard event; Moses and Nash in the 220 yard dash; Creasy, Jones and McGee in both the 100 high and the 220 low hurdles; Taylor and Oliver in the 440 yard dash; Wolf, Griffin and M. Frazier in the half mile; Moore, Griffin and Wolf in the mile; and Moore and Hodson in the two mile.

Biggs, Josephus and Hebata will enter the shot put; Walker and Porter in both the javelin and discus; Jeffreys, Geis and Chambless in the pole vault; Gauntt, Chambless and Creasy in the high jump; Strickland and McGee in the broad jump.

Little Lessons In Big Sports

What factors determine when to use a niblick instead of a mashie?

Answered by
PHIL GAUDIN

Medalist, British open championship; Captain of British International golf team; member of that team for eight consecutive years. Winner of numerous foreign tournaments, including Manchester Guardian trophy.

The length of the shot, the lie of the ball, and where it is supposed to land determine whether a niblick or a mashie should be used for a shot. In a short shot (80 yards) where stop must be obtained, height must be obtained, and you have a bad lie, always use a niblick. Go after the shot with plenty of pep. Many golfers muss up their niblick shots because they are afraid of them.

Today's Iron

By T. T. HUNT.

After all was done, with little said, and the bats and balls collected, the Millers had their big day, yesterday. And at that, after meeting with so much disappointing opposition in the Texas league, the double A boys were due the game. Their touted hitting staff was well organized, for once, and none too soon.

Manager Tanner was not dissatisfied with the way his men looked, Friday. The pilot said the Millers were about due a game, and were about now finding a stride. However, he spoke some on the reason for Freeman's near annihilation in the fourth and fifth. Buck has had little chance to work the soreness out of his arm, and although it might have cost a ball game to do it, there should have been no stiffness in his souper after his work yesterday.

There is the jinx popping up again. Tanner is of the opinion he would be gratified to play twice in succession with the same line-up and batting order. In such case, says he, the season will be ready to be started, as far as he is concerned.

Fitzgerald was out in uniform, but unable to take part. Skipper Tanner says he is doing well and may be able to play, today.

Meanwhile Cecil Coombs threw another spoke in the works when he stuck out a finger to a ball and let it be rapped, hard. Coombs suffered a painful dislocation of a finger nail, and will be out of the line-up awhile.

The change at first base was one of the things the pilot spoke of in wishing for a two-time order. Docker exhibited some nice work, but that did not keep the thing together as the manager had ordained.

Furthermore, Bubber Jonnard is laid up with a sore wing. These things have to take care of themselves. It is hoped the peppy backstop will not be long detained.

There has been some talk of the fight at the Legion card Thursday night. Whether or not the two will ever be gathered together here atop the same canvass is doubtful. Promotor Wofford was not at all certain the two would or could be matched here again, in the near future. It might settle many disputes, or start more.

The Twilight league boys are getting ready to start their season. Umps are already named, and anxious to go.

Somebody announces that the New York Giants have the oldest catching staff in the world—Hank Gowdy, who is 34, Eddie Ainsmith, who is about 32, and Frank Snyder, who is 31. The busy scribe takes the record book's word for their ages, however, and thereby hurts his own idea. This dope makes their ages total only 97 years. Bet it would run something like 110 if the boys weren't so durned modest.

C. OF C. COUNCIL TRIP DISCUSSION

Also Praise Success Recent Conventions Held Here and Plan More

Arousing interest in the trade extensions trip to be made April 22 and 23 was the chief topic of discussion at the business council luncheon of chamber of commerce Friday at the Kemp hotel. "Let's put the trade excursion trip over in a big way," M. A. Bundy, chairman of the committee said, in asking the business men to stand behind the trip.

He stated that letters were being sent out to advertise that trip in the towns and communities in which the train will stop. Mr. Bundy added that an advance man would leave next week to visit all the towns to be visited by the trade trippers, announcing the coming of the men from Wichita Falls.

At the present time more than 100 business men have signified their intentions of buying tickets, but less than fifty have been received by the chamber of commerce. Mr. Bundy declared that in order to complete the arrangements for the trip, at least 100 checks should be turned in by April 15. It is hoped that 125 boosters will go on the excursion.

Plans are made that the Shrine chanters will accompany the special train, and an 18-piece military band will be included. On the train a special radio-receiving set will be placed so that messages from home may be received while away.

J. T. Gant, chairman of the business council, urged the men to make the trip with the boosters. G. H. Wilson also asked the men to take interest in the extension of Wichita Falls rade.

The assistance of the chamber of commerce and of the business council both moral and financial, was asked by city park commissioner, J. H. Patton, when he explained plans of city officials to install a tourist's camp at Scotland Park. He asked that a committee be appointed to cooperate with him in handling the matter.

The committee appointed by the chairman to work out the details with Mr. Patton included Jim King, Joe Ward, and Mrs. M. H. Glover.

"We are more than repaid in our efforts in entertaining the recent conventions," P. A. Rogers said. "Wichita Falls is fast becoming a convention city," and he pointed out how well the two recent conventions were taken care of by the citizens.

Hubert M. Harrison also stated in a short talk that Wichita Falls had been very successful in the methods used in entertaining the Rotary and the Baptist state conventions which were recently held here.

Plans are being made and, it they are perfected, the Traveler's Protective association's Texas convention will be invited to Wichita Falls in 1925. The invitation will be issued by Dave May who will attend the T. P. A. which meets at Corsicana April 30. The business council was unanimous in its vote to invite the 1925 convention here. Details of securing the convention will be worked out by the convention committee of the chamber of commerce and Mr. May. It was announced that 250 to 300 delegates attend the meetings.

Announcement was made at the council that the municipal finance committee would make a complete report Tuesday regarding its investigations into the water system, the tax situation, and other phases of city government.

The city plan committee is still working in its attempt to restrict the section around the Junior college to residences. The agricultural committee of the chamber is aiding in the establishment of the experiment farm and other important matters.

MARCH TAX FIGURES SHOW SMALL GAIN

Total tax collections of $23,339.29 were made during the month of March by the county tax collector's office, it was announced Friday by County Tax Collector Raley. This was a substantial gain over the figures for February.

Of the amount collected, $12,302.12 goes to the county and $11,037.17 to the state.

Selling of Motors Reflection Of Decreased Production Report

Market Features.

Total stock sales, 1,006,500 shares.
Twenty industrials averaged 92.33; net gain .69.
High, 1924, 101.24; low, 91.64.
Twenty railroads averaged 81.82; net gain .58.
High, 1920, 86.32; low, 81.25.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Short covering operations, apparently inspired by the news that the reparations commission had accepted the Dawes report, brought about a sharp recovery in today's stock market after an early period of heaviness, during which most of the motors established new low records for the year. Standard industrials, such as U. S. Steel common, Baldwin, American Can, General Electric and U. S. Industrial Alcohol closed at net gains of 1 to 2 points.

Oil shares developed independent strength on rumors of another early increase in crude prices, Cosden, Pacific Oil, the Pan-American issues, Houston and Standard Oil of California, gaining a point or so.

Selling of the motors was in further reflection of alarming reports of decreased production and sales. New 1924 lows in this group were established by Studebaker, Willys-Overland preferred, Mack Truck, Stewart Warner, Stromberg Carburetor, Yellow Cab and Chicago Yellow Cab.

Fisher Body broke nearly 12 points to 190 1-8 and then rallied to 193 1-2.

Sugar shares were heavily sold on the census bureau report estimates showing record world production of more than 21,000,000 short tons. American Sugar Refining created another record low for all time at 45 and then rallied to 47, up 1 3-4 on the day.

Revival of a demand for Norfolk and Western, which rallied about 3 points to 127 1-2 on rumors of special dividend developments, was the feature of the railroad list.

Call money held steady at 4 1-4 per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged, the bulk of the business being done at 4 1-2 per cent.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet. Demand Sterling held fairly steady just above $4.33, and French francs were quoted just below six cents.

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

A joint-life insurance policy protects both husband and wife at the same time, and costs less than the premiums on two separate policies.

A unique type of insurance policy with which many people are unfamiliar is the joint-life policy. Under such a policy two or more persons may be insured in favor of each other, the policy to terminate and be paid upon the death of the first one.

The premium on a joint-life policy is naturally larger than the premium would be on a policy insuring but one life, because under a joint policy the company must pay if either of two beneficiaries die, but on the other hand the premium is less than the sum of premiums on policies insuring two lives separately.

On the two separate policies the company's liability is greater because two policies must eventually be paid, while under the joint-life policy only one claim must be paid.

Opening: May 31.40@55, July 29.85, October 25.80, December 25.20, January 24.70.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Sharp reactions featured the cotton market today under active realizing or liquidation. May contracts broke from 31.55 to 30.40, a net decline of 87 points, but the market steadied in the late trading on reports of a better tone in the stock market and May closed at 30.97. The general market closed net unchanged to 33 points lower.

The opening was firm at an advance of 1 to 17 points on higher Liverpool cables and an unfavorable weather map. Active positions sold 16 to 28 points net higher right after the opening, but the demand was much less urgent than recently, and prices soon turned easier under profit taking. The failure of continued bullish spot advices, unfavorable weather news and reports of further bookings for export out of the local stock to bring in new buying, no doubt increased the disposition to liquidate long holdings. Stop orders were uncovered on the break to 28.90 for July, making net losses of 77 to 87 points on old crop positions. New crops were relatively steady but sold off to 25.25 for October, or about 25 to 38 points net lower. The close showed rallies of 20 to 57 points from the lowest.

Exports today were 8,120, making 4,777,648 so far this season. Port receipts 13,232. U. S. port stocks 595,454.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—The cotton market after a comparatively quiet morning developed wide fluctuations and active trading in the afternoon. May, after starting with a high of 31.50 or 12 points above the previous close traded as low as 30.60 or at 90 points below the high level, in the afternoon, and October declined from 25.07 to 24.54, a loss of 52 points. All month rallied sharply in the last hour of trading 39 to 58 points from the low and the close showed net losses for the day of 21 to 25 points on old crop months, a net gain of one point on October and a loss of 3 points on December.

In the early afternoon, a sharp bear drive developed on the near position, particularly May and New York reported that a prominent operator recently returned from Florida was a heavy seller of May. That month declined rapidly to a low, four dollars a blae below the previous close. July lost about three dollars and a half a bale, but new crop positions were relatively steady. In the last hour of trading the market rallied sharply, mainly on evidence that the big interests were buying July and new crop months. The report that the Dawes commission's reports probably would be adopted by the allies and even Germany helped the upturn.

More Funds Requested to Fight California Disease

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—An additional appropriation of $1,500,000 to carry on the campaign in California against the foot and mouth disease was requested today of congress by the budget bureau.

The $1,000,000 appropriated last month has proven insufficient in view of the spread of the epidemic, the bureau said. At that time the disease prevailed in four counties, but since has spread to five more and has made its appearance in the stockyards of Los Angeles and San Francisco, congress was informed.

Prompt action by congress was requested so that the fight to suppress the disease "which threatens the livestock industry of the entire country" will not be interrupted.

The request for more funds was forwarded to the house by President Coolidge, who gave it his approval. Director Lord of the budget bureau said it fas impossible to estimate how much was needed to exterminate the disease.

Attention was called to outbreak of the disease among range cattle in Merced county, California, which it was declared may spread considerably to large herds.

Heflin Resolution Rapped in Committee

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The resolution of Senator Heflin democrat, Alabama, authorizing a senate inquiry into alleged land frauds in the lower Rio Grande valley Texas, was attacked before the investigating committee today and questions raised as to its authorship.

Harry L. Seay of Dallas, president of the American Rio Grande Land and Irrigation company, in a communication to the committee protested against what he called "false statements" in the resolution.

Fans of cities listed in the central League back in 1916 are recalling with "I remember when" how Stanley Harris, baby manager of the big leagues, fizzled as a player in the Central circuit. Harris was signed to play third base on the Muskegon team of that league. He did play it that year, was dropped the next season, took him nine years to draw national prominence in baseball but he's top right now.

WEATHER HELPS GRAIN PRICES

Corn and Oats Bought Freely But Price Rise Transient

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Snow and rain likely to delay corn shipment as well as to hinder field work led to considerable buying of corn and oats today, but the resulting upturns in price turned out to be largely transient. Corn closed unsettled at 3-8 off and 1-4 cent advance, May 77 cents. The finish in wheat was also unsettled, 1-8 to 1-2 cent down, May 1.02 1-2 and July 1.03 1-4 to 1.03 3-8, with oats 1-8 cent lower to a like advance, and provisions 2 to 10 cents down.

Offerings of wheat increased whenever the market scored price gains. Reports that Italy was in the market as a buyer had a temporary stimulating influence.

Further evidence of call for oats at Minneapolis tended to uphold the oats market here. In provisions the effect of higher prices on hogs was more than offset by a little foreign selling of meats.

NOON REVIVAL MEET ATTRACTS

Bishop Boaz Addresses 400 In Enthusiastic Service

With an attendance fully as good as that of Thursday, estimated by some to approximate four hundred people, the noonday Methodist revival services continued to attract interest among business men and women yesterday, one of the most enthusiastic congregations of the campaign hearing Bishop Boaz tell of the value of "personal work" in such services as these.

The bishop compared the business activity of men with their church work, and showed how Christian duties invariably suffered in conflicts between the two. He used as examples the heroic exploits of firemen, who daily risked their lives to save some article valued at a few hundred dollars, and the work of men who labored for days out of pure friendship's sake for some comrade to be elected to office.

He then made the point that the same effort expended in Christian service would lead many souls to Christ, be the means of salvation for more than one now outside the church.

Following his sermon the bishop made a plea for personal work in the revival, about a hundred pledging themselves to do their utmost toward bringing about the conversion of at least one person before the end of the meeting.

Dr. Selecman, who is conducting the evening services at the Floral Heights Methodist church, will speak at noon today. Increasing interest is being shown by those who take their lunch in town in these noon services, they being short enough to allow time to eat before getting back to work. It is expected today to smash all attendance records.

WARNS AGAINST

Texas, Pat M. Neff. We have fought side by side for women's suffrage, for prohibition and for other progressive democratic measure. It is with profound regret that I learned that the governor does not favor an instructed delegation from Texas to the New York convention.

"I feel that as and I have the same objective in the fight we are making for progressive democracy, but I am convinced that the course he proposes might contribute to a victory for the reactionary and wet elements in the democratic party.

"I know that Governor Neff would deplore this as much as I do and while I do not wish to seem to be advising the democrats of Texas as to what they ought to do in this matter, as I recognize it is for them to determine this question for themselves, nevertheless I would be recreant to my duty as a progressive democrat if I did not give them the facts of the situation as I see it, so that they may render a verdict upon this important question with the fullest possible knowledge of the facts."

WASHINGTON, April 11.—President Coolidge and senate democrats verged today toward an open breach over the future conduct of senate committee investigations.

In a special message the president admonished the senate to confine its committees within "constitutional and legal rights." Return to a government under and in accordance with usual forms of the law of the land was requested, the president said, by the state of the union.

The message evoked a storm of democratic protest. Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor for the Teapot Dome oil investigation, declared the message was a "rebuke" to all senate investigating committees.

"The president wants us to stop these investigations and ought to say so," the Montant senator said. "Of course, he isn't asking anything of that kind but the message unquestionably was written to formulate public opinion which would have that effect.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader; Senator Jones of New Mexico and others from the democratic side joined in the attack which held the senate far beyond its usual closing hour. It went unanswered from the republican side.

The specific investigation at which the presidential message was aimed was that involving the bureau of internal revenue. The president challenged under cited statutes the legal authority of the committee to employ Francis J. Heney of California as counsel, by Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, instigator of the investigation, paying the costs of Heney's employment.

Senator Walsh dismissed this as a "trifling matter—exceedingly trifling." Senator Jones, who is a member of the investigating committee, introduced a resolution authorizing the committee to employ counsel, paying expenses out of a senate contingent fund. This resolution designed as a flank move against the pending effort of Chairman Watson, republican, Indiana, of the investigating committee, to discharge the committee, joined the Watson resolution on the table.

Senator Jones and Senator Walsh denied that there had been an intrusion or attempt at intrusion into the departments by any of the senate investigating committees. Senator Walsh declared that the president had himself accepted the evidence of the oil committee and was prosecuting through special counsel the "larcenies" uncovered by that committee. He demanded that "someone who can speak for him, tell us what the president wants to do, or to omit to do."

McADOO SPEAKS IN DALLAS FRIDAY NIGHT.

By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, April 11.— William Gibbs McAdoo, candidate for the democratic nomination for president, delivered his second Texas speech at the Coliseum here tonight. He came to Dallas from Fort Worth, where he spoke earlier in the day.

Mr. McAdoo criticized the republican administration for what he termed its "retrogression" and cited some of the accomplishments of Woodrow Wilson's administration. The Washington "scandals," the candidate saying connection with this that he would place the prohibition service under classified or civil service laws, if elected. Questions upon which he said action was needed include international co-operation for peace and economic prosperity, freight rate reduction, tariff reform, tax reductions, farm relief, passage of a child labor amendment to the constitution, and strict enforcement of the prohibition law.

RECOGNITION COMES TO "JOHN ORTH," EXILED ARCHDUKE, AS HE LAYS DEAD

"John Orth" or Archduke Johann Salvatore, and Robt. Flavin.

Recognition comes to "John Orth" as he lays dead in a New York morgue awaiting decision of officials as to disposition of his body. Exiled, hunted and haunted for years, Orth stated emphatically to a few confidants in the United States that he was the long missing Archduke Johann Salvatore of Austria, who was said to have been lost in a shipwreck after being exiled from his country to cover up the scandal growing out of the death of Crown Prince Rudolph and a woman companion in a royal shooting box at Meyerling. The photo above is believed to be the best and last one taken of him in the U. S. It was made while he was working in Painesville, O., in 1908. The boy on his lap is Robert Flavin, son of the man for whom Orth worked then and in whom he confided his secret. Robert is now nineteen.

Gas Consumption Is 36 Billion Cubic Feet

AUSTIN, April 11.—Natural gas consumption in Texas for 1923 reached 36,000,000,000 cubic feet according to figures compiled by the Texas railroad commission today. The potential daily capacity of the wells now producing in the state is about one and one-half billion cubic feet. The month of highest consumption was December when almost four billion cubic feet were consumed.

Want Special Aid For Revenue Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 11.—In the face of President Coolidge's special message objecting to the trend of some of the senate investigations, Senator Jones of New Mexico, asked the senate today after conference with other democratic senators to authorize the special internal revenue bureau committee to employ whatever assistance it deemed necessary.

Senator Jones is a member of the committee and had supported the employment by Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, another member, of Francis J. Heney, as special counsel.

The Day In Washington

The White House announced President Coolidge's opposition to large campaign contributions.

The senate committee to investigate indictment of Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, subpoenaed its first witness.

Japan lodged a bristling protest against proposals in congress to apply further drastic restrictions to Japanese immigration.

More testimony about fight film, the Old Hickory powder case, and the Miller Brothers' prosecutions in Oklahoma were heard by the Daugherty committee.

Chairman Hall of the interstate commerce commission advocated postponement of the effective date of section 28 of the merchant marine act before a house committee.

President Coolidge, it was said, will oppose American battleship conversion to oil burners if it will lead other nations to make similar outlay in naval expenditures.

The senate oil committee sought information about a $3,000,000 loan to the Chase National Bank in New York in 1919 to William Boyce Thompson, former chairman of the republican national committee's finance committee.

GULF BRINGS IN ORANGE GUSHER

Well Is Second Big Producer During Past Week

Special to The Record News.

ORANGE, April 11.—A gusher that was estimated to be good for from 2,000 to 2,500 barrels a day was brought in by the Gulf Production company this afternoon in No. 7 A. Kishi-Lang, at 4,130 feet. The well made pipe line oil soon after it cleared itself.

This makes the second big well to be brought in in this section of the field in the last few weeks. The last well in this territory which is in the extreme northern section of the territory, was in the company's No. 6 A. Kishi-Lang, which was brought in at practically the same depth.

At present the H. T. McClain, et al., No. 1 Mary Williams, is being drilled at a depth of about 3,600 feet. This well is on an adjoining 30-acre tract to the Kishi-Lang. It is believed the McClain well will be brought in at practically the same depth, and that it will be within the next week or ten days.

The American National Oil company, drilling in No. 1 Joe Winfree, was stimulated over the success achieved in the Gulf's late well.

The Rycade Oil company is also drilling two wells on the Kishi-Lang tract in that vicinity and probably will make a well within the next few days.

The Orange Production company has ordered 40 feet of 3 1-2-inch screen to be set in No. 1 Gum Island, at 2,800 feet, according to a report made here today. The screen has been ordered with 9-mesh in order to take care of the unusual formation that has been tested at various laboratories.

TEXHOMA READY TO COMPLETE IN GOSE DISTRICT

The Texhoma Oil and Refining Company's W. H. Taylor No. 1-A, Gose district, American Tribune New Colony Lands survey, Archer county, has set casing on top of pay sand found at 1,606 feet and expect to complete today.

TEXHOMA COMPANY PLANS COMPLETION

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company's Kemp and Kempner No. 2, block 64, Wichita Valley Farm Lands survey, Archer county, has set casing on sand encountered at depth of 1,475 feet. The company expects to complete the well today.

RAMMING WELL MAKING 300 BBLS.

Ramming et, al's L. F. Wilson No. 2, lot 4, section 23, Archer county, has been completed at 275-300 barrel producer from sand found at 1,604 feet. The well has been placed on the swab.

TIMELY REVIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"U. S. SHOULD CONSERVE OIL SUPPLY FOR NAVY," SAYS ENGINEER

America needs naval reserves and surface storage, according to Chester W. Washburne, geologist and engineer, who, discusses the matter in the official journal of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

There is less chance of finding another field on the public lands of the United States than there is in Alaska, asserts Mr. Washburne. It is possible, he thinks, to make good reserves out of the Elk Hills and Teapot areas.

"There are a few small countries, whose right to exist is doubtful, which have granted oil concessions with secrecy, favoritism and even corruption," writes Mr. Washburne. "This nation is now proving that it will not be that kind of country.

"Those who appreciate the purpose of naval oil reserves are glad to see the growing prospect of getting them back without much further injury. The number of new wells drilled is hardly more than that required to prove the capacity of the reserves. These can be thoroughly sealed so that the oil and gas can be held in the sands, the only safe storage for the purpose.

"Naval oil reserves are necessary because there is no other certain way to save much oil for the expected time of great shortage, which may be near or remote. The reserves hold safely all kinds of oil products, including the highly inflammable and volatile gasoline. No one knows what oil product the navy may desire in the distant future.

"The trend of construction in the mercantile marine is toward the internal combustion engine, and the economy that causes this trend may ultimately affect the navy, especially when oil becomes scarce.

"More immediately the navy needs adequate surface storage for current needs, probably enough tot last 1 during a year or more of warfare. Naval oil reserves cannot supply the needs, probably enough to last it needs can be met by commandeering the general commercial supply of the country, and if necessary by forbidding non-essential use in wartime.

"The navy needs surface tanks to handle such supplies. Hence, neither naval reserves nor surface storage can replace the other.

"We can have surface storage by recourse to the treasury. We can have naval oil reserves possibly by new explorations of the geological survey, which discovered the present reserves. The present expedition now on its way to the Arctic coast of Alaska may reveal a new but remote field. It may take ten years to learn its value.

"There is less chance of finding another field on the public lands in the United States. Here we need immediately a commission of broad minded engineers and geologists to determine what should be done with the present reserves."

Rigging Up

By SUMMERS

Major refining plants in the Wichita Falls district led other refining districts in the mid-continent area during the past month.

The Magnolia Petroleum company is now running approximately 9,000 barrels daily at its plant in Corsicana. At its three plants in the north Texas area the company is running about 17,000 barrels daily.

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has increased its runs. The local plant is now refining approximately 7,000 barrels daily.

The Manhattan Petroleum Products plant is now being operated by the Boardman Oil and Refining company. The refinery was formerly owned by the Dixie Refining company, and had been shut down for two years.

The Champlin Refining company, Enid; Imperial Refining company, Ardmore; Lorraine Refining company, Bristow; Pure Oil company, Cushing and Ardmore; and the West Tulsa refinery of the Producers and Refiners corporation, have decreased their gasoline runs.

The Skelly Oil company has increased the runs at its El Dorado Kans., plant from 5,400 to 10,000 barrels daily.

TEST NEAR LAKE WICHITA STRIKES LIKELY OIL SAND

The B. M. A. Oil company's Block No. 1, block 18, H. & T. C. R. R. Co. survey, abstract, 898, approximately a half mile south of Lake Wichita has set casing on top of sand encountered several days ago at depth of 1,205 feet. The test is within four miles of the city limits and is being watched closely.

Visitors' Viewpoints

Dr. John L. Hill, Baptist convention delegate from Nashville, Tenn., before leaving for his home yesterday praised the hospitality of Wichita Falls in connection with the convention and prophesied a phenomenal growth in the city during the next few years.

"There is every indication that Wichita Falls is to be the big city of northwest Texas," he said. "I am told that this is true in business, and I firmly believe it is in a spiritual way. There are magnificent churches here and wonderful facilities for religious work, and my eyes tell me that these are being used by the citizens of the town."

Arthur Bradshaw, cotton goods salesman of St. Louis, was thoroughly surprised at the booming aspect of Wichita Falls when he arrived here Thursday.

"I couldn't get a room at the hotel," was his plaint. "All taken, they told me. About midnight I found a place to sleep.

"Today the papers tell me that the visitors are gone, but your streets don't show it. It looks like plain, good business to me."

"The visitor here cannot help being impressed with the large buildings, the paved streets and the general air of prosperity which seems to percade the business section. The spring clothes that are being worn, and the grassy-green neckties you may see in the shop windows make the streets a real picture, a picture that looks good to one just from the north where the trees have hardly started to bud yet."

This was the remark of J. L. Dinsmore, mining engineer of Butte, Montant, in Wichi ta Falls yesterday in connection with local oil interests.

HUMBLE PLANS TWO TESTS IN KLEBERG AREA

Territory in Southeast Texas Regarded Favorably By Operators

Special to The Record News.

HOUSTON, April 11.—New interest was aroused in oil circles in Kleberg county Wednesday morning of this week by the announcement that the Humble company had made two new locations southeast of town and would begin operations as soon as machinery could be gotten on the ground and other preliminary preparations made.

The first location is west of what is known as Crane creek, about midway between the Francis well and the creek, on the property known as the Clark land, consisting of 120 acres, leased by the Humble company from R. G. Flato et al in the southeast quarter of section 40 of the K. T. and I. company subdivision. The Gulf Production company owns the 40 acres adjoining the 120 acres on the west.

The other well is to be located on the east side of the Cayo del Grullo (Crane creek) on lands owned by Mrs. H. M. King and is out of a 500-acre lease subleased by the Humble company out of a 5,000-acre lease from Mrs. H. M. King to R. G. Flato, trustee. This will be east of the creek, east and south from the one in section 40.

It is understood that the rig will be brought here immediately from Benavides, where it has been in use by the Humble company, and put to work. The rig used by this company, which has been drilling two deep tests, is at the present time in use on the Kissman well in an effor to make a gasser out of it. It was definitely ascertained this morning on which location work would first begin. Superintendent Bell was out at the location with engineers and could not be seen.

According to reports from the Kissman well this morning, a strong pressure of gas is in evidence after having drilled the well an few feet deeper than where the strainer was first set and the gas sand penetrated further. But difficulty was encountered by getting the bailer stuck in the hole. It is understood that the bailer has been hooked and the only reason for not pulling it out is on account of the strong pressure a blowout at this stage of the game, it is believed, would not be safe.

Mrs. Widmayer has just returned to her home in Graham after a pleasant week spent in Thurber, where she had the honor of presiding for the initiatory work in the Eastern Star.

Ramsay MacDonald Joins Club Which Always Held Premiers

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, April —The fact that Ramsay MacDonald has become a member of the Athenaeum club leaves only two prime ministers out of the club roll since it was founded a hundred years ago. They were Gladstone and Bonar Law.

Gladstone refused on two occasions to allow his name to be put forward, but it was not known until after his death that his action was taken because his great political rival, Disraeli, was the leading light of the club at that time.

Zeppelins Out of Airships.

FRIEDRICSHAVEN, April — Dr. Max von Gemmingen-Guttenberg, nephew of Count Zeppelin, who was designated by the latter to manage his foundation, died recently and the Zeppelin interests will no longer be handled by a member of the family which is so prominently identified with aerial navigation. During the war Dr. von Gemmingen-Guttenberg frequently piloted Zeppelins across enemy boundaries and bore the reputation of being extremely successful in his negotiations with the German bureaucracy.

Camp Company Completes Two Archer County

The Camp Oil and Gas company's L. F. Wilson H-11 and H-13, section 24, Geraldine townsite, American Tribune New Colony Lands survey, Archer county, were completed late Thursday afternoon. WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE

ARIES

An excellent planetary influence operates today, which favors aggressiveness in business enterprise and general executive activity. It tends to promote self-confidence and optimism, force and irritation are overcome.

A child born today will be very vivacious and have a sunny disposition. Its life is destined to be a happy one, and consequently, a successful one.

If today is your birthday, your character is a sweet one, although you are rigid and unbending in your conception of what is right and what is strong. You are more critical of yourself than of your friends. You never speak ill, or think unfavorably, of others. You often exaggerate your own "fallings from grace," and attribute to them a seriousness they do no deserve, whilst making light of the shortcomings of others. Your disposition except on those occasions when introspection worries you, is cheerful and bright, and thereby you attract many friends, and avoid enemies.

When a child, you early developed the trait of never resenting correction or criticism, and you firmly believed that in any case it was deserved. This attitude has pursued you up to the present time, and you are the last one to realize that the mote is found in your own eye and the beam is overlooked in the eye of your critic.

You are not as assertive as you should be, although your innate charm of disposition and sweetness of character is in the long run more powerful than virtues blatently advertised, but not as effectively practised.

Business in the ordinary acceptation of the term does not enlist much of your sympathy; You lack the fighting spirit to will and to do. You are more successful in a profession.

Your home life leaves nothing to be desired; in there you are seen at your very best, and children always look to you as a friend and a "chum."

Humility and meekness are virtues, which if sincere, create charm and love.

Successful people born on this date are:

Henry Clay, statesman and orator.
Charles Foster, statesman.
Grenville M. Dodge, soldier.
John S. Billings, physician and author.
Frank K. M. Rehn, artist.
Walter A. Wyckoff, author and sociologist.

HOT UNDER COLLAR IS PROBE SENATOR AFTER A SESSION

Senator Henry F. Ashurst of Arizona emerging from a session of the Daugherty investigating committee.

Senator Henry F. Ashurst admits that he gets hot under the collar literally as well as figuratively in the sessions of the senate jury hearing the testimony against Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general. This photograph was taken as he emerged from a "warm" session of the jury to cool his brow in chill winds whipping around the senate building.

Quaint Thoughts on Sextons In Munich Schoolboy's Essay

By The Associated Press.

MUNICH, Bavaria, April 9. — Schoolboys in a Munich suburb were instructed recently to write a composition about the sexton in the local church, and the following effort attracted so much attention that it is being reproduced in many Bavarian newspapers:

"The sexton is a useful man. He rings the bells at five in the morning so the people know they may sleep two hours longer. At eleven he rings the bells again, indicating to the farmers in the field that they should become hungry. In the evening there is more bell-ringing, which indicates to small children that they will get their ears boxed if they do not run home rapidly. Sometimes the sexton is very troublesome, especially when he rings at night to announce a fire. The sexton thrives on weddings, christenings and the dead. He earns the most money through death. Therefore he is glad when many people die."

It's settled now that Georges Carpentier is coming to the United States next month, but there's still a lot of idle piffle concerning his plans when he does arrive. One story is that everything has been settled for a battle between Dapper Georges and Tommy Gibbons in Michigan City. The other is that Georges has signed to meet Gene Tunney in New Jorsey or New York.

Ho, hum! Let's not show much more interest in the matter until the straight dope.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S.S.S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff 157 15th street, Washington, D. C. writes:

"I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S. S. S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S. S. S. that did it."

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

SLAYS CHILDREN, SAYING THEY'D BE HAPPY IN HEAVEN

Edward Williams.

Edward Williams, a music teacher in Sydney, Australia, is charged with having brutally murdered his three little daughters, Rosalie, 5; Mary, 3; and Cecilia, 2. He crept into their bedroom and cut their throats as they slept. "I thought they would be happier in heaven, so I killed them," he is said to have explained to police.

The Call of the Wild.

There are calls that make us happy,
There are yells that give us blues,
There are yips that chase away the sadness
Like the dry sleuths cart away the booze.

There are woofs that have a tender meaning
Like the wife pulls when we're late for "sup,"
But the cry that sends the wolf pack loony
Is the one that goes batter up.

Speaking of sporting events, Charlie Cummins, veteran wolf hunter of De Smet, S. D., and Roy Campbell, Nebraskan, have just staged a contest that ought to make every red blooded man's pulse quicken. To settle the matter of supremacy at wolf hunting the two staged a 10-day hunt for a side bet of $500.

Cummins took but eight dogs into Campbell's own territory for the hunt and pitted them against the pick of Campbell's pack of eighty. At the end of 10 days Campbell admitted Cummins' prowess after the veteran had bagged 23 wolves.

To rest his dogs one day Cummins used but one of his pack—Buster. This animal brought home three pelts alone that day.

An "As You Were" Party, What Is It?

One of the most unusual parties a screen heroine has ever given to her friends is given by Gloria Swanson in her new Paramount picture, "A Society Scandal," coming to the Olympic theatre for a run of three days on Sunday next.

Her friends in the picture, all being more or less socially prominent, have at some time or other appeared in the motion picture news reels. So Miss Swanson in the role of Marjorie Colbert goes to the trouble of collecting some of these pictures, making out of them several reels of film and shows them at her home, much to the amusement of the social elite gathered for the occasion—for instance, there is a scene dating back to August, 1916, showing a modest war hero, Harrison Peters, who risks his life to save two persons from drowning, but quails before the camera—and so on. This scene is a real novelty in that it shows motion pictures within motion pictures.

Rod La Rocque, Ricardo Cortez and Allan Simpson play in support of Miss Swanson in this picture which was adapted from the stage play, "The Laughing Lady," in which Ethel Barrymore starred with great success. The screen version of the story is said to be far more interesting than the original play.

Shooting of Dan McGrew.

"The Shooting of Dan McGrew," a film version of the famous Robert W. Service poem, made by the Sawyer-Lubin company for Metro, is coming to the Strand theatre for three days, starting next Thursday. This new picture tells the whole story of an Yukon gold rush. The events leading up to the gunfight are revealed for the first time.

Barbara La Marr, Lew Cody and Percy Marmont play the great roles of The Lady Known as Lou, Dangerous Dan McGrew, and Jim, the husband. The exceptional cast also includes Mae Busch, George Siegmann and many others. The production was directed by Clarence Badger and personally supervised by Arthur H. Sawyer. Winifred Dunn wrote the scenario.

Hiers Popular.

Remember fair week back in the old home town and what it meant—rides, games, balloon ascensions, side shows with their bathing girls, bearded ladies, sword swallowers, etc? Well, they're all there in the new Paramount picture "Fair Week," which plays for the last time at the Olympic.

Walter Hiers is the star, supported by Constance Wilson, sister of Lois of "The Covered Wagon."

The balloon ascension is the real thing. If you've never even batted an eyelash at other screen stunts, you'll get a great kick out of seeing Hiers, as Slim Swasey, rescue a little girls hundreds of feet in the air while hanging by his knees from a trapeze.

Walter is the clerk, porter, bellhop, janitor and what not of the most exclusive hotel in Rome, Mo.—exclusive because it's the only one. He plays solo trombone in the village band, too—solo because he's the only one. But, to be serious, we are sure you'll enjoy "Fair Week" more than any comedy you've seen in recent months. Even when Hiers tries to be serious in the picture you'll almost split your sides laughing. He is serious at times, however—witness the fight in the belfry with the bogus clergyman, who might have gotten away with just trying to rob the bank, but when he tries to take Slim's best girl in the bargain—that's too much. And what a fight it is! Of course Hiers gets the girl and the money back.

There are 4,636 laughs in "Fair Week"—one for every foot.

Rob Wagner directed the production. Walter Woods wrote it. Mary Jane Irving is the little girl in the cast. Others include Carmen Phillips, J. Farrell MacDonald, Earl Metcalf, Knute Erickson and Jane Keckley.

Conway Tearle, who is co-featured with Barbara LaMarr in Maurice Tourneur's "White Moth" prefers freelancing to being tied up in a long term contract. "An independent actor can govern his career much better than the player who signs for a long period of time," says Conway.

Nobody loves us. Spaniards object to the way we show bull fights on the screen; the English say our court etiquette is all wrong; Italians don't like our screen peasants, the Mexicans threaten to ban American films because we place them in the wrong light; and Thos. Meighan was attacked in Chinatown, New York, because the Chinamen said we slandered them. However, we are hoping to make good with the French because Maurice Tourneur (a Frenchman himself, by the way), is taking the greatest pains to have all the scenes in "The White Moth," correctly French down to the last detail. The extras are French, so is the orchestra and music, conversation, everything.

The next technical development in the screen play will be the perfected use of color, says S. P. Schulberg, president of Preferred Pictures. Mr. Schulberg thinks the day is not far distant when so satisfactory a method of coloring will be worked out that the entire technique of production will be revolutionized.

Who will play the leading role of Luana in "The Bird of Paradise" for Richard Walter Tully? Suggestions are solicited. Here is a chance to boost your favorite screen actress. Tell whom you would choose and why. Pola Negri, Virginia Browne Faire, Julanne Johnston, Betty Compson, Nazimova, Bebe Daniels, Carmel Myers, Lenore Ulrich, Renee Adoree have all been mentioned by enthusiastic fans.

Anna Q. Nilsson was selected as the first "Queen of the Snow Country of Southern California." California's first snow carnival was staged at Camp Baldwin in Big Bear Valley, Miss Nilsson reigning with Strongheart, the wonder dog, as chief aide, and the country's greatest skaters, ski jumpers and tobogganists performed.

D. W. Griffiths, whose latest superpicture, "America," is being given its premier showing in New York and eliciting much enthusiasm, is to go to Italy shortly to confer with a syndicate of Italian financiers for an elaborate motion picture production to be made in that country. Mr. Griffiths has been assured of ample financial support in his project. The object of the syndicate, it is understood, is to rehabilitate the motion picture industry in Italy which was badly crippled by the war. Representatives of different governments and picture syndicates in Europe have been trying for years to induce Mr. Griffiths to make an outstanding picture for their particular nation.

The Recipes

Spinach in Egg Crown

Spinach.
Hard-boiled eggs.
2 tablespoons flour.
2 tablespoons butter.
Grating of nutmeg.
1-2 cup water.
Bouillon cube.

Steam spinach and chop fine. Melt butter, blend in flour, add nutmeg and stir into spinach. Dissolve bouillon in water and add to spinach. Cut hard-boiled eggs in half lengthwise. Mound spinach in bowl and arrange eggs all around top as garnish.

Biscuit

2 cups sifted flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 tablespoons solid fat.
7-8 cup milk or water.

Sift dry ingredients twice. Work in the fat with an egg whip, two knives or the finger tips. Add enough milk to make a soft dough. Toss dough on a floured board, knead slightly and put to one-half inch thickness. Cut with biscuit cutter and place in baking sheets. Place the biscuits so they do not touch one another. Brush over the top of biscuits with oil or milk. Bake in a hot oven 15 minutes.

Creamed New Onions

4 bunches new onions.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 1-4 cups rich milk.
Salt, pepper.
Rounds of toasted bread.

Clean onions and cut about six inches long. Boil until tender in salted water. Make sauce of butter, flour, milk and seasoning. Drain onions, lay on toast and pour over sauce. They may be served cold as a salad with an acid dressing. Leeks are especially delicious this way.

Welsh Eggs

6 hard-boiled eggs.
1 cup cheese grated.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 cups milk.
1 teaspoon salt.
1-4 teaspoon pepper.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet.
Toast, chopped parsley.

Remove shells and cut thin slice from base of round end of each egg. Lay triangles of toast on platter and set one egg on each piece. Make sauce by blending flour, butter and milk and cooking till smooth. Remove from fire, add seasonings and carefully stir in grated cheese. Pour sauce on top of each egg. Sprinkle top with chopped parsley. Serve very hot immediately.

Eggs and Their Cooking

In many households eggs are seldom served except boiled or fried or in the making of cake. Eggs are the equivalent of meat in food value and at this time of the year when plentiful and cheap should be used often as the main dish of the meal. No meat is needed when they are so used or when a dessert containing many eggs is served.

The white of egg is the most nutritious, the yellow furnishes sulphur and other valuable mineral salts necessary for making bone. Owing to its peculiar nature, the white hardens rapidly under any form of heat and thus becomes less digestible. The ideal way to cook eggs is that in which the temperature is kept low, and where little fat is used. Either an egg must be cooked for a few minutes or cooked for nearly an hour, as in the hard-boiled form.

Dishes such as we call a souffle, where a number of eggs are whipped and then combined into a sauce which is baked slowly, are very appetizing as well as nutritious. Since eggs are flat in taste they combine best with more spicy or flavored foods such as tomato, cheese and meats like bacon and ham.

Many salads can be made of eggs cooked hard and combined with vegetables as a dressing. Served this way they also take the place of meat. Combinations like cabbage and eggs, tomatoes, beets, potatoes and eggs are all good. Or hard eggs may be sliced or riced, heated in a cream sauce and combined and served in many ways. Never give children fried eggs, but see that the eggs are coddled or very soft boiled.

Pat'll Have His Hammer Working

Patrick Ryan, holder of the world's record for the hammer throw, and winner of the event in 1920, is contemplating a comeback. Ryan never really departed. He just faded out of competition as a result of lack of opportunity to express his "art." The hammer throw event has seldom appeared on an A. A. U. program during the last three years, and Paddy, in disgust, gave up hoping for a change. College athletes get many opportunities to heave the big ball, for the event appears on the intercollegiate program. Ryan's chief competitor will be F. D. Tootel, former Bowdoin college star. The present Olympic champion need have no fears of making the team if he gets down to serious business in time.

BAYLOR CO. IN DISTRICT MEET

Many Entries In Literary And Athletic Events At Seymour

County Interscholastic Meet.
Special to The Record News.

SEYMOUR, April 11.—The Baylor county interscholastic league met Friday and Saturday in Seymour with a good attendance, and were entertained by the boys and girls in the homes of their parents.

The schools represented and taking part were Red Springs, Bomarton, Cache Creek, Westover, England, Shawver, Shady, Mabelle and Seymour. Friday evening was devoted to the declamation contest which was held in the auditorium of the grade school.

Those winning in class A and B were; Senior girls—Margaret Jones, Seymour, junior girl; Willie May Bryan, Seymour, senior boy; Nicholas Mitchell, Seymour and junior boy; Glenn McDaniel Seymour. Miss Effie Tucker of England was winner for the senior girls of the rural schools, and Sam Jones of England for the senior boys. Miss Dollie Jernigan of Cache Creek was winner for the junior girls and Jerrye Farr of England for the junior boys.

Each of the winners will represent Baylor county in the district meeting which will be held at Iowa Park April 18 and 19, and each was presented with a gold medal, while those winning second were presented with silver medals and to the third bronze medals.

Saturday morning the contestants with a good attendance from the several schools met at the high school building when a contest in spelling was held. Seymour was represented by John Moilliette and Walter Newton, who made one hundred per cent each, while Ruby Martin of Westover won second place.

After the spelling contest the crowd drove to the fair grounds where athletics was a special feature, which occupied the remainder of the day. Seymour won all points in class A while in class B Bomarton won first and Westover second. Among the rural schools England won first in athletics and Cache Creek second. After summing up the totals it was found that Seymour won everything in class A, Westover class B, and in the rural schools England won first place.

The program for the evening was the debate, when the question, "Resolved, That the United States should join the league of nations," was ably discussed by Vernon Nichols and Shercill Ballew of Seymour and Campbell and Martin of Westover. Negative side of the question was given to Westover, who were winners in the debate. Judges for the debate were Miss Ouita Christopher of McMurry college, Abilene; Mrs. Nelson of Munday and Mr. Stoggins of Throckmorton.

At the close of Saturday evening's program, pennants for the various events, which had been provided for by the chamber of commerce, were presented by Supt. J. P. Kemp, which closed one of the most interesting meetings of the interscholastic league and it is hoped that this meeting will inspire other schools of the county to take part next year.

SWEETHEARTS, PLANNING TO MARRY, LEARN THEY ARE ORPHANED TWINS

By Central Press.

BOSTON, Mass. April 1.—Such are the tricks of fate.

James Buckley and Josephine Buckley were naturally attracted by the similarity of their names. In the course of time James confessed his boundless love for her. "I love you, too, James," she told him.

They went to the parish priest to be married. He investigated their birth records.

And found they were brother and sister; more than that, twins!

Fifteen years ago they were inmates of the same orphans' home. They did not remember being separated.

They are very happy now.

"I'd rather have a brother than a husband, anyhow," Josephine smilingly announced.

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Ollapodrida—Three cups boiled rice, one-quarter cup butter, small bit of onion, five hard boiled eggs, one pint stewed tomatoes, seasonings. Cover bottom of baking dish with rice. Sprinkle on a layer of chopped egg, bit of onion and tomato, repeat and dot top with butter. Season well. Bake covered for one hour and remove lid to brown the last ten minutes. Instead of butter, strips of raw bacon may be laid over the top. This serves six persons generously.

Cranberries and Prunes—One pint prunes, one quart cranberries, sugar to taste. Cover prunes with water and soak over night. Simmer gently till tender. Take up carefully and when perfectly cold slip out stones and pile prunes in center of the serving dish. Add the cranberries to the water in which the prunes were cooked and cook as before with sugar to taste. When transparent pour over prunes and serve cold with lamb or other meats.

Egyptian Caramel Custard—One half cup sugar caramelized, three eggs, two cups scalded milk, little salt, nutmeg, one-half teaspoon vanilla, one-quarter cup sugar. Melt the sugar and pour at once into pudding pan, tipping until syrup is hardened on bottom and half way up the sides. Beat the eggs, adding salt, sugar and flavorings and pour on the scalded milk. Turn into the lined dish, set in pan of hot water and bake in slow oven. Chill and unmold. The syrup will have colored the lower part of the custard and the remainder melted to form the sauce.

Fruit Cobbler.

This is a southern favorite and can be made of preserved as well as of fresh fruit. Pare and quarter tart apples, dip each piece in melted butter, then roll it in spiced sugar. Have ready a crust-lined, shallow, square baking pan and fill with the apples. Turn over them a half cupful of honey or maple syrup and an equal amount of water. Bake the cobbler until the apples are soft and the crust is done. Serve it hot with a little sweet cream or with whipped cream. Peaches fresh or canned, plums and large strawberries make excellent cobblers made practically the same way. The butter should be omitted in case of berries.

SUGGESTIONS.

Some people do not care to do crossstitch work, but admire the unusually attractive designs which can be obtained for this needlework. Try this idea of using the designs, but embroidering French knots instead of the crosses. It is easy to do, rapid and very decorative.

When elaborately carved furniture is to be polished, it is a good idea to take out the dust with a soft bristled brush, then apply polish with another brush. It is so hard to get into the carved corners that only a soft brush will do the work. Do not wet the brush too much with the polish, but use only enough to cleanse the carvings.

DENVER APPOINTS 2 NEW OFFICIALS

FORT WORTH, April 11.—N. S. Davis, connected with the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad for 35 years, has been appointed assistant general passenger agent, succeeding J. J. Lawrence, resigned. John F. Lehane, traveling freight and passenger agent for the company at Houston, succeeds Mr. Davis as general agent. Illness is given as the cause for the resignation of Mr. Lawrence.

Mr. Davis began service with the road in 1889 as city ticket agent at Fort Worth. From this position he went as local agent at different stations along the line. He then became traveling passenger agent, then traveling freight and passenger agent, then general agent. The appointment of both men was effective today. Mr. Davis is one of the best known and most liked railroad men in north Texas. He is popular not only in railroad circles but has the esteem of the public. Mr. Lehane, a young man, is the son of J. F. Lehane, vice president and general traffic manager of the Cotton Belt. He is a veteran of the World War having seen active service over seas. He was a reporter on the Fort Worth Record at the time of his entrance into the army.

The appointments were made by W. F. Sterley, general freight and passenger agent and General John A. Hulen, traffic manager.

Poland to Complete Her Port.

WARSAW, April 9.—The Polish government has decided to complete the construction of the port of Gdynia, work on which was suspended during the economy campaign.

French, Hungarian and Polish firms have tendered contracts and it is expected that the docks will be ready for service within two years. The establishment of the port at Gdynia will avoid using Dansig and provide an all-Polish port for Polish sea trade.

U. S. COURT TO CLOSE SATURDAY

March Term to be Concluded Today; Atwell In Ft. Worth Monday

The March term of the United States district court which has been in session here for the last three weeks will adjourn sometime Saturday. It is regarded as possible that an evening session of court will be required, but with the completion Friday afternoon of the Waggoner vs. Wichita county lawsuit, no other matters of great length remained for disposition.

Aside from completion of the American National bank case, no other trial matters were scheduled and clearing up of these can be attended to.

Judge William H. Atwell is to open court Monday morning in Fort Worth.

Car of Brahma Steers on Way To Burnett Rodeo

One car load of Brahma bucking steers from the salt grass marshes of south Texas will arrive on the Triangle ranch Saturday for use in the Triangle ranch rodeo which will be staged by Tom L. Burnett April 24-27 it was announced Thursday.

This is the first shipment of Brahma bucking steers for the rodeo and it is said that another car will arrive within the next week and that the steer riding events of the rodei this year will be wilder than ever, none of the steers in this event with the exception of the unridable steer called the Bovolupus have ever been used in rodeo performances before. In fact it is said that they are so wild that the cowboys rounding them up in Chambers country had considerable trouble in getting them together and holding them in a bunch for loading.

From as far north as Montana and Wyoming and from as far west as California it is said that cowboys and cowgirls are sending in their entries and will enter the competition of riding, roping and bulldogging for the six thousand dollars in cash prizes which Burnett has hung up for the winner.

It is said there will be many new faces among the contestants this year while practically all those who have become favorites here in past performances will be on hand again.

Boy Plays Hookey; Leaves Home With Dog; Still Missing

J. T. (Johnnie) Alexander, possibly using the name of Johnnie Mitchell, 11, foster son of Mrs. Mae Alexander, 900 Seymour street, with his yellow bound dog, Buster, ran away from home Thursday afternoon, and at a late hour Friday had not been heard from.

Johnnie with another lad had played hookey from school Thursday, it was stated, and he told his playmate that he was going to run away. The last time he was seen was about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon after he had been wading in the river.

He was wearing a light striped shirt, blue knee trousers, gray cap and was barefooted. He is light complexioned and rather fleshy. The dog with him answers to the name of "Buster," and was wearing a collar with the name plate of W. R. Alexander.

The mother reported the case to Juvenile Officer Bralley Friday morning. She is in great distress over the runaway and is very desirous of locating him.

LACK OF MATERIALS DELAY CAR BARNS

Lack of material has delayed completion of the new traction company car barn on Kemp boulevard and the structure will not be ready for occupancy for some time yet, according to word from traction company officials Friday. It had been hoped that the barn would be ready for use by April 15, but unavoidable delays have made this an impossibility.

The new barn, which is being erected in the 2700 block Kemp boulevard, will be of greatly increased capacity and will allow the disposition of the present structure on Ninth street.

U. D. C. MEETING FOR SATURDAY POSTPONED

The meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, reported Friday as having been scheduled for this afternoon at the Y. W. C. A., has been postponed owing to the New Century club function at the Junior college this afternoon.

All federated clubs of the city have been invited to attend the latter event and the U. D. C. meeting has been put off on that account.

"Christianity Greatest Uplifting Factor in World," Boaz Declares

"What constitutes a Christian and Why Be a Christian" was the theme Friday night of Bishop Boaz in his sermon to a large crowd at the First Methodist church, south. The meeting was one of the series being conducted here by the Methodist churches of the city.

After some preliminary remarks, the speaker entered into the subject, announcing as his text: Acts 11-26. "The disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." The bishop spoke in part as follows:

"America and England are called 'Christian nations,' but not all the people in these great nations are Christians by any means. The Christian religion has lifted them to the foremost places among the nations of the earth. The doctrines taught by the Christ entering into the hearts and minds of the people of these great nations have made them more or less Christian, and have lifted them to their splendid eminence at the present time. But not all who are in Christian countries are genuine Christians.

May Believe Bible.

"One may believe the Bible and still not be a Christian. You may believe the Bible is God's message to men concerning salvation, you may believe every word inspired, that holy men of old wrote and spoke as they were moved by the Holy Spirit, you may accept the supernatural in the Bible and believe all the miracles of the Old and New Testaments, and still not be a Christian.

"One may believe in God and still not be a Christian. One may accept God as the creator of the universe and the preserver of mankind, one may even believe in the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of mankind and believe in God's providence, and still not be a genuine Christian. One may believe in Jesus as the Son of God and the Savior of the world and still not be a Christian. Mr. H. G. Wells puts Jesus at the head of the list of the great men of the world. One may go still further than Mr. Wells and accept Him not only as the greatest man in the world, but as the God-man, and still not be in a saving relation to Jesus Christ.

"One may be baptized and be a member of the church and still not be a Christian. Baptism alone will not wash away our sins. It is the blood of Jesus Christ only when applied by faith that can take away the sins of the human heart.

"A real Christian must accept God as a father and Jesus Christ as a present, personal Savior and honestly and earnestly strive to keep the laws as given by Jesus Christ in the New Testament. In order to become a real Christian, one must forsake and accept Jesus Christ not only as the Savior of the world, but as his present and personal Savior. When this is done, conversion takes place. The heart is regenerated and the new birth experienced. Jesus Christ said, 'Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.'

"Perfect conduct is the ideal but not always realized in the beginning of the Christian life. The Christians at Corinth were rebuked for being corrupt and having strife and envy among themselves. Paul called them 'babes in Christ' and declared that they needed milk and could not stand the strong meat of the Word. Babes must learn to walk, and they fall many a time. So Christians sometimes stumble and fall, but we must not remain babes too long. We must grow in grace.

"Ecstatic joy is not probable all the time. Some mistake emotion for religion. Emotion may result from religion, but it is not religion itself. Religious experience must not be measured by your emotions but by your faith and conduct.

"If you ask why I am a Christian, I tell you that Christianity ennobles and lifts. It proves the highest possible pattern. Jesus, the one perfect man, is our model, our divine ideal. When we fashion our lives after His, we reach up to the highest possible ideals. Jesus is the one faultless man. The verdict of Pilot is the verdict of all men: 'I find no fault in Him at all.' Jesus is the one perfect flower of the human race. He is the incarnation of all beauty and goodness. In striving to fashion our lives after His, we may fall far short of the copy, but the copy is of inestimable value. It uplifts and inspires. The man who lives in accordance with the teachings of Jesus Christ makes the best citizen in the community. Compare a high class business man with a non-Christian who takes the name of God in vain and violates the holy Sabbath and forgets his marriage vows. Compare the godly woman, who loves her church and her home, with the godless society woman who looks only for a good time. Compare the young Christian man, clean and filled with high ideals, with the wild and godless youngster giving way to the baser passions of youth. Christianity makes better fathers, better mothers, better husbands, better wives.

"Christianity softens our sorrows. All must have sorrows. Jesus was 'a man of sorrows, acquainted with grief.' He did not have a stoical or fatalistic philosophy of life. He taught the fatherhood of God. He taught us that God loves us and from the Bible we learn that 'All things work together for good for them that love God.'

"Jesus teaches us that God cares for the very birds of the air and the life of the field and that He cares infinitely more for His own children, made in His own image. When I stood at my mother's grave, I felt sure that I would meet her beyond the sky and that robbed the grave of its victory and took the sting out of death.

"Christianity not only softens our sorrows, but it multiplies our joys. All men naturally desire happiness. It is a natural craving of the heart. The Christian life is sometimes thought of as the life without pleasure, but I am able to testify that the most joyous life to be lived in this world is the life of a Christian. We are commanded to rejoice in the Lord. Our religion is a religion of joy and sunshine, and we know that our sins have all been forgiven and that we are in right relations with God as our Father and that heaven awaits us and that God loves us with an infinite love. Surely the Christian ought to be happier than anyone else.

"And in the last place, Christianity assures us of a blessed immortality beyond the grave. We have here no continuing city, but we seek one that is to come, a city that hath foundations whose builder and maker is God."

SERVICE CAR LICENSES DUE

Few Payments Being Made, City Clerk Reports; Have Three Days

All service car license fees for the next 12 months must be paid by next Tuesday, meaning that a large majority of licenses on such cars now in operation must be settled for within the next few days. Announcement to this effect was made Friday at the city clerk's office where only a few of the new payments have been made.

Each service car operated in the city is liable for the payments and all have been notified. Notwithstanding this, however, a very small number have remitted.

All delinquent cases will be turned over to the police department after the time limit expires, it was announced, and the cars restrained from operating.

SCENTED MASCULINE MASSAGES

Tonsor Artists Rival Soda Jerkers

"Is this a barber shop, a drug store, or a soda fountain?" asks the tired business man viewing the array of lotions, creams and preparations that the modern barber applies to the uppermost part of his anatomy with a masterly flourish.

Lemon cream, with the distinct odor and color of the once famous soda water served at picnics and carnivals, is popular now with city barbers. Almond cream, honey lotions, and cucumber creams are applied in turn to the visages of dapper Wichitans who visit the masculine beauty parlors.

"What's that your putting on my face? Chocolate candy?" the customer asks timidly, only to be assured that he's receiving a cocoa butter massage of a disappointing light shade, but with the unmistakable odor of a chocolate drop.

The latest preparation to be introduced is Youth Cream, of a delicate pink shade, made of strawberries and lemons. It is said that the young Romeos who use it make the most delightful partners to dance with immediately afterwards.

Lotions of haunting sweetness are applied skillfully to the shining locks of Wichita Falls mankind by the local barbers, the more subtly the better it seems.

"A man's clay," reads an advertisement of a facial clay in one city shop. Many men now have the clay applied regularly and emerge from the process with a surprisingly fresh, clear looking skin.

LAWSUIT ON TRIAL IN COUNTY COURT

Trial of the case of A. G. McAdams vs. O. E. Glenn, in which the plaintiff seeks collection of approximately $648 alleged to be due him as a lumber bill for supplies furnished the defendant, was started Friday before Judge Guy Rodgers in the county court at law. This is the second time the case has been before the court, the first resulting in a hung jury.

It is alleged that the defendant some time ago purchased a large quantity of lumber with which to construct a house and barn. Part of the bill has been paid, it is set out, with the balance amounting to $648 as yet unpaid.

The case consumed practically the entire day Friday and will be continued Saturday.

Several Troops Boy Scouts On Week-End Trips

A number of troops of the Council of Boy Scouts took advantage of the warm weather and spent Friday night in the open. Troop One, in charge of J. T. Hamilton, went on an overnight hike to the Rod and Gun club. Bill McClure took troops Two and Three to the Marlow place. Troops Fifteen and Sixteen in charge of E. I. Williams and J. R. Manning went on an overnight hike to the Wichita river. The boys are expected to return to the city by noon today.

The showing the world's light heavy weight champion, Michael McTigue, made against Young Stribling the other night may be answer to the question as to why the champ is unwilling to meet Gene Tunney, once holder of the same crown. Tunney is a much more experienced battler, though perhaps not as hard a hitter as the Georgia boy. Maybe Mike knows his own limitations.

Our store will close at 3 p. m. Wednesday afternoon for the opening game. Meet us at the ball park.

American Beauties
in Shirts and Neckwear
to go along with the Lillies

On Easter morning when all these new shirts and neckties start out on Easter parade—feminine millinery concoctions will have some competition!

Easter coming late, gave us the opportunity of getting the last word in shirts and ties—and we ordered as though Wichita Falls had three times as many men and necks.

Lots to see—we can't put them on paper but we do publish this—

No Easter of any year—and no city of this size has ever shown such varieties of beauty in neck dress for men.
