Little Theatre Organization Planned By Interested Group

Efforts are being made to organize a community theatre group in Olton.

In a poll made Saturday evening following the performance of "Arsenic and Old Lace", more than 40 adults indicated their interest in the proposed chartering.

Participation among the youth is also encouraged. More than 20 young persons indicated their interest.

Anyone interested in the organization of an Olton Little Theatre is asked to call Mrs. R. V. Allcorn, Mrs. Gene Trotter or Mrs. Harlan Carson.

Membership in the group is not restricted to potential actors or actresses. There is need for members who might be interested in serving in any capacity -- directing, acting, or serving on committees for props, publicity or numerous other duties.

An organizational meeting will be announced in the near future.

Mrs. Ruth Holladay will meet with interested persons at that time.

Local Youth Resembles Actor Both In Appearance, Interest

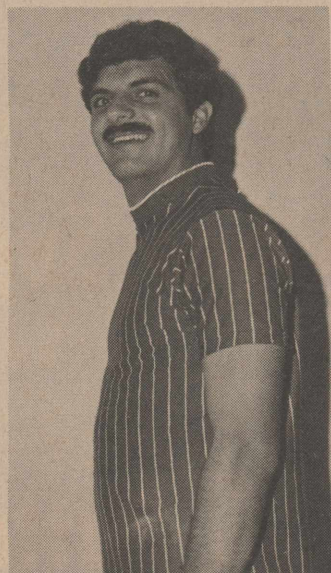

A South Plains College student attributes his keen interest in drama to his father and the popular Egyptian actor, Omar Sharif, to whom he bears a striking resemblance.

The two are about the same height, weight and both have the same swarthy good looks.

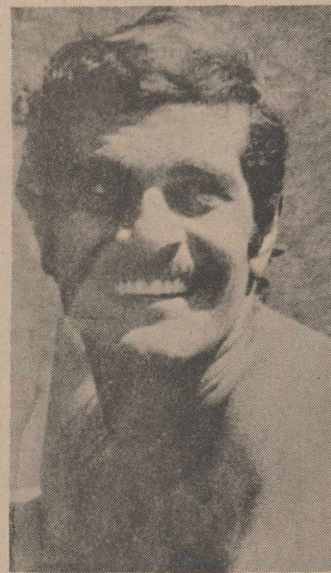

Richard Zakka, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jaffar Zakka, who plans to major in drama will study basic techniques next year at SPC and then transfer to North Texas State University for his degree.

Young Zakka's father, played the hunchback in the Egyptian version of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," in his early twenties. He was an outstanding actor of Egypt, and followed that profession until the war between the Arabs and Jews, when he became a British officer.

This war was a terrifying experience for the older Zakka. At the time he entered the service, he had purchased a home for his bride and their wedding gifts had been carefully transferred to the new home for the couple's return following the

OMAR SHARIF

The younger of the two sons, Ramze, youngest student to be enrolled at SPC is majoring in business administration, also following his father's footsteps, who owns and operates two department stores.

It was during the time "Lawrence of Arabia" was being filmed in Jordan that Richard became acquainted with one of the stars of the show, Omar Sharif.

Zakka was employed as a life guard at the Philadelphia Hotel in Amman, Jordan where Sharif and his party were staying during the filming. Zakka ate lunch with the movie people and visited with them during times they were not working on the sets. He became an admirer of the actor.

"I think he must be the friendliest person I have ever known. He was always willing to pose for pictures and to give autographs. The girls ran after him and as soon as Sharif jumped in the swimming pool, there were dozens of girls to follow," said Zakka.

The introduction of Zakka to Sharif was made by Zakka's father who had known Sharif for a number of years.

Young Zakka has continued to keep in touch with Sharif and keeps clippings of the actor's publicity.

Recently playing in "Dr. Zhivago," and "Funny Girl," Sharif is of Syrian-Lebanese parents, and according to Zakka he was married to Faten Hamama, one of Egypt's great stars at the age of twenty-one. Their 10-year-old son played Sharif's son in "Dr. Zhivago."

The Zakka family came to the United States in December of 1963, enroute to California where they planned to establish residence, they stopped for a visit with Mrs. Zakka's brother in Plainview.

While there they decided that Texas would be a more suitable place to live and to rear their sons; so they started a department store business in Olton and soon after began one in Petersburg, both of which are thriving small businesses.

With the sustaining inspiration and admirable examples of their parents, the young Zakkas have ambition and enthusiastic plans for their future.

Crop Prospects Fair, Need Warm Weather

A check with area farmers this week showed that quite a number have had to replant crops following the rain and hail which fell here earlier this month.

Total amount of rainfall officially for this month was approximately 4 inches with the heaviest amounts falling May 9 and 10.

Small crops were damaged by hail Tuesday May 21 in some parts of the county while others received very little or no damage at all. Too much moisture and not enough hot weather was the main complaint heard.

Bert Stewart, who farms northeast of Olton is reported to have replanted his cotton but the corn crop looks fine, according to Jack Hysinger.

Albert Gabehart whose farm is south of Circle said he had just started planting before the rain. He has just finished replanting and said it was too early to tell anything about the prospects of a crop.

"Neighboring farms are pretty much the same. Some have a little coming up."

North of Olton the picture is not too different, Floyd Light said although he hasn't had to replant, he's had trouble getting crops up.

"We don't have as good a stand as we'd like but will leave it. We feel real lucky that we haven't had to replant."

Aubrey Smyth, located near Running Water Draw, had just "o. k. probably." He said some cotton they scratched is coming a little hail and had to do very little replanting.

"I had just planted when the hail fell and we just keep hoping for more sunshine," is what Calvin Graham had to say.

Castor beans reported to be on up stating that some of it crusted all the way down to the seed.

He farms south of town and also has a farm located northeast of town.

A farmer east of town, B. Coleman, said his corn was fine except that it "all needs plowing at the same time." He had just finished planting cotton this last week and was too early to tell about it.

Northwest of Circle, Malcolm Ogletree said he didn't have anything planted until last week and said he thought it was about ready to come up.

Alfred Allen, who also farms northwest of Circle said most of his crops were up now and

"looking good." A small part which was under water will have to be replanted as will his cucumbers, but on the whole, very little replanting will be done.

South of town, Duane Eby reported that the wheat was pretty and that hail didn't hurt anything. He had to replant just about everything because of the rains, however.

J. D. Stamps said the hail didn't hurt his crops as "much as the water." His maize is up and he has replanted his cotton.

Southeast of Olton, Don Huguley reported to have planted his feed over and "having to scratch cotton up."

"Wheat will still make fairly good despite hail as there wasn't as much hail as there was in town," he said.

So as storm clouds gathered Wednesday evening, area farmers were anxiously watching --hoping they'd just pass them on by.

Out Of The Past

(EDITORS NOTE: Mrs. Raymon Carson handed the following article to us recently. It was published in the early thirties and concerned several old timers. We thought several other old timers might find it rather interesting so we reprinted exactly as it was for publication then.)

Mrs. Myrtle Daugherty entertained a number of old friends Thursday afternoon, February 13th at her home, honoring another old-time friend, Mrs. Arthur Crozier, who lived at Olton many years, but who now lives at Plainview. Those present were: Mrs. H. R. Miller, who came to Olton in 1900; Mrs. E. N. Burrus, who came here in 1900; Mrs. Daisy Dickenson who came to Olton in 1901; Mrs. Mirtie Daugherty who came to Olton in 1901; Mrs. C. B. Turner who came to Olton in 1903; Mrs. Arthur Crozier who came in 1910; Mrs. Ben Dodson who came in 1910; Mrs. W. H. Willis, 1912. Others present were Mrs. C. T. Mason, Mrs. Louella Emberton, Mrs. C. M. Owen, Mrs. Bob Daugherty and Mrs. Fred Daugherty.

The time was most enjoyably spent in pleasant conversation and reminiscing of the pioneers present. Many interesting things were told by Mesdames Burrus, Daugherty, Crozier, and Dickenson pertaining to their life and experiences in the early days of the settling of the Plains. The stories told of prairie fires, rattlesnakes, traveling by wagon train, driving cattle and fording rivers and the lonely life of the pioneer women whose nearest neighbors were several miles apart.

Upon being asked if they ever regretted coming as they did, the answer was a unanimous "No".

The hostess served to her guests coffee and cakes, assisted by her daughters-in-law, Mesdames Bob and Fred Daugherty.

At a late hour, the old-time friends bade their hostess goodbye, saying they had a very enjoyable afternoon.

The following poem was written by Glen Daugherty and dedicated to his mother, and was read to the group after pioneer stories were finished.

RANCH MOTHER

She knows the keen of lonely winds,

The sound of lonely hoofs at night,

The creak of unwarmed saddles in the chill before daylight,

The eager champ of bridle bits,

The jingle clink of spurs,

The clump of boots - lone silence too -

For cowboy sons are hers.

She knew the dust of cattle trails,

While she was yet a bride,

And the tangy smell of branding irons

Upon the dogie's hide,

The yelp of coyotes on the hill,

The night hawk's lonely croon,

The bawling of milling cattle - thus

Her cow-camp honeymoon,

Her hands are hard from laboring,

Her face is brown from sun,

But oh, her eyes are deep

with dreams,

Of days and duties done,

The hand of hardship forged her love,

That first far rangeland spring,

Now he is gone, his memory lives -

A gentle deathless thing.

Her days knew little neighboring,

Less now perhaps than then,

Alone with years she gleans content,

Her sons are horseback men.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Norfleet, Susan and Leslie are vacationing this week in Las Vegas, Nevada.

By O. C. McBRIDE

Did you read that a woman has filed suit under the Civil Rights Act because she was refused a job as a baseball umpire?

I hope she loses. Baseball is too slow as it is, and waiting for a lady umpire to make up her mind whether a pitch was a ball or a strike surely wouldn't help matters.

I'm worried about the recent uprisings in colleges and universities. What sort of an education can students get under such conditions?

Judging from what I read, many of the kids are learning the three R's -- Rebellion, Rioting, and Ransacking.

I read that LBJ has ordered Lady Bird and the wives of Cabinet members to remain neutral in the race for the Democratic nomination.

It was once said that Lyndon was disappointed when he found out that he couldn't walk on water. If he can make this order stick, maybe he should go down to the Potomac and try again. I might even place a small bet on him.

What did you think of the bill recently introduced in Congress changing the dates of several holidays in order to create more three-day weekends?

Politicians can probably get away with juggling the dates of some holidays, but if they want to avoid trouble with housewives they'd better not monkey with Double Trading Stamp Day.

In modern times, don't you think it is almost essential that a person be wealthy in order to be elected President of the U.S.?

Yes. If Howard Hughes ever decided he wanted to be President, he would be hard to beat. Instead of campaigning for the electoral votes of a State, he'd just buy the entire State.

Did you read that many experts think Chas. de Gaulle is in real trouble in France?

I have a long list of things to worry about, and Big Charlie's troubles will have to wait. I'll get around to him as soon as I finish worrying about the whipping Israel gave Nasser, and Adam Clayton Powell being kicked out of Congress.

New Oat Variety Proves Superior In Experiment Station Tests

A new oat variety which is superior in resistance to crown rust and has a good yielding ability is being released to certified seed growers in 1968.

"Coronado" was developed from a series of complex crosses between numerous varieties to breed high yields and disease resistance into oats. The new variety was developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture. Two agronomists from Texas A&M University, Dr. I. M. Atkins and Dr. M. E. McDaniel, started the project in 1961 at College Station.

The new variety is taller than most other adapted Texas varieties, but straw strength is superior and lodging resistance is good. Coronado kernels are plump and attractive. Forage production is equal to that of other varieties, but seedling growth is slow, according to the two agronomists.

Research here, and across the state, shows that Coronado is of about the same maturity as Ora, and is earlier than New Nortex. It is later maturing than Houston or Suregrain. The cold hardiness has not been adequately tested; however, it appears to be about the same as Alamo-X or Moregrain.

Tests at Beeville, Temple, and McGregor were conducted for two years. Coronado was shown to be an outstanding yielder in South Texas, and a moderate producer in the central test areas. It is adapted only to the southern part of Texas and to the adjoining areas along the Gulf Coast.

Little Boys

BY SUE CANNON

I have come to the conclusion that this sure would be a dull world without little boys.

I have taken my kiddos out to the swimming pool several times since it opened for the summer and watching little boys playing in the pool made me very conscious of how "onery" the little rascals are.

They do everything in the world to get water splashed on someone else. That's about the funniest thing that could happen to anyone, except maybe a good dunking.

Fannie Clark had her little grandson, Scott, out there Saturday and she had to pull him out of the water a couple of times by the seat of his bathing suit and he would get out and run around the pool to jump off into the water again.

Finally she took him by the hand and brought him to the sign "Do Not Run". She pointed to each of the words and said, "See Scott, this says 'Do Not Run'."

To which he replied (and pointed just like grandmommy) "Do Not Run" and took off full speed.

By the way I had one of my sister's little boys who was having a hard time deciding what "Do Not Run" meant, too.

But he finally got the point I think, when I told him that I'd have to take him home if he didn't quit running.

I was having a hard time watching all the kids I had out there that day. I had my six, my sister's four and two of the neighbor's kids. If some of them hadn't been big enough to help watch the little ones, I'd have probably had to jump in.

Bill Smith asked me how I was when I came in to register them and I said, "Crazy, I brought 12 kids out here today."

Well, back to little boys. One day last week I was at the post office when this little fella came by the bakery and just as little mischievous boys will, he pulled the door open and walked right on by just as innocent as he could be.

Well, as most of you know, it has a buzzer and I'm sure Russell was pretty confused when he came up front to wait on a customer and no one was there. Or maybe this little guy had been by before.

Then there are the little league baseball players (and before you jump on me--I have not seen the pee wee league play yet.) They are the cutest things and I'll tell you right now, they are in there to win!

I might get to be just like our gal Mozy if I hang around those baseball parks very much more.

Summer Jobs Required Immediate Application

If you are a college or high school student and want a summer job, apply immediately. Competition for summer jobs will be keen.

About 300,000 more young people aged 16 through 21 will be looking for work this summer than a year ago, the Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates. In all, there will be 3.8 million new workers, and of these about 2.8 million want summer jobs - much scarcer than full-time positions, according to Wanda Meyer, Extension home management specialist.

"Jobs will go to the most qualified, diligent and ambitious," the Bureau says. How do you measure up in this department?

As a first step, high school students should see a school counselor, advises the Texas A&M University specialist. College students can go to the employment office on campus.

A local office of the State employment service can advise you about any openings it has listed and register you for future openings. Watch the want ads, and make the rounds of potential employers - the more the better, she suggests.

Crepe Fabrics Require Care

Crepe is back with its care problems.

A term used to describe fabrics made of a plain weave, crepe is very serviceable with reasonable care, says Graham Hard, Extension clothing specialist. Some crepes have a tendency to shrink and others to stretch.

Take care not to glaze the fabric in pressing, reminds the Texas A&M University specialist. Bias cut garments are more difficult to press than garments cut with the grain or straight of the fabric. A well trained dry cleaner is likely to finish crepes better than the inexperienced homemaker.

LCC Announces Summer Sessions

Lubbock Christian College has announced that its first summer session will begin June 3 and continue through July 12. The second session will be from July 15 to August 22. Students can get as many as 16 semester hours in the two sessions.

An important addition to Lubbock Christian's program is the "Directed Studies Program" for those students who may expect difficulty in moving directly into the regular academic program.

It is the experience of colleges that most of those who graduate in the lower 1/4 of their high school classes do not succeed in college academic work without additional instruction. Because of this experience and through the desire to offer every high school graduate an opportunity to attend college as a part of its "open door" policy, LCC has started the "Directed Studies Program."

Those selected for this program are students who have scored in the lower 1/4 on the ACT entrance exam or are in the lower 1/4 of their high school graduating class. Directed studies in English, math, and general science along with reading improvement and study skills, Bible and PE activity make up the program which each student assigned to it must complete in part or in whole as designated by the college.

The student who qualifies for the program is strongly urged to enter LCC in the summer session. He will take English, reading and PE in the first session and math and general science will fill the second session.

After completing this program, the student's record will be carefully evaluated and record will be made that he has completed this and it will be recommended as to whether he consider other types of educational pursuits. Each student's program will be specifically planned for him and his needs.

Special events for the summer will include the 8th Annual Youth Lectureship, June 2-6, and the 9th Annual Music Camp, August 4-16.

PRESTON SMITH for GOVERNOR

VOTE
SATURDAY
JUNE 1

TO: The Citizens and Voters of Texas
FROM: Preston Smith, Candidate for Governor

The purpose of this message is to ask for your support and vote in the Second Democratic Primary Saturday, June 1.

As your Lieutenant Governor for the last six years, I believe I have qualified myself to seek the high office of Governor. You know I finished second among 10 candidates in the First Primary, about 29,000 votes behind the leader with 1,750,000 votes cast.

With your help we can win this runoff against an opponent who has no public record of any kind... one who is aligned with groups that want to reject the progressive, constructive programs built by John Connally and his predecessors and replace them with so-called "liberal" ideas of their own.

I want to continue and improve on the start we have made in education, pollution control, law enforcement, highways, water conservation, promotion of industry and tourism, and many other vital areas.

I am proud to have been a part of Texas government for 18 years. Opponents may harp about what is wrong in Texas; I happen to think there are a lot of things RIGHT in Texas. I am proud of my state and its people.

Things can be even better, and I want to work with you in that direction.

It's more or less in the political tradition to lambast your opponent and say a lot of ugly and cutting things about him. I don't want to engage in personalities; my opponent has no public record to criticize. Therefore I am running for Governor on my own merits.

It may be pretty ambitious for a farm-born, farm-raised Texas boy, who worked his way through Texas Tech and spent his adult years in business activities in Lubbock, to aspire to be Governor. You will be the judges as to whether my experience and proven qualifications entitle me to be elected. I will accept your judgment with real gratitude for your past support and friendship.

Please remember that if I am elected, my door will always be open to any Texan who has any problem whatever that the Governor can help with. I will always be interested in good government. I will always be interested in you.

Preston Smith

RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Whittington returned Tuesday from a trip to East Texas where they visited with relatives.

Ed Sullivan's radio show, greeting the radio world with, "Hello, folks! This is Jack Benny. There will be a slight pause for everyone to say 'Who Cares?'" The crowd that cared grew enormously in a brief span, following him from radio to his TV transition.

Moving into the Television medium more successfully than most "old guard" radio men,

Benny carried with him the acclaim of editors and columnists in the United States and Canada who selected him as the "outstanding radio personality in the past 25 years." When the polls are tapped in 1975, the Waukegan Wit may well be pegged as "outstanding television personality" as well. Benny and the Benny Program have secured a total of eight Emmies for programming excellence.
