OLD HOME TOWN IS PRACTICALLY BOOMING

LORTON, Neb. (AP) — Things are looking up in Lorton, population 74. A new grocery store has opened on Main Street. The opening was the first bright spot in a year, which saw Main Street establishments dwindle to a hardware store, the postoffice, an elevator and a filling station.

First, the bank closed because Cashier Steffens wanted to retire. Everyone got his money and the stockholders made a profit. Then Conrad Sherstad died and his garage was closed. Next Bertha Leach died and her general store closed, leaving the townspeople no place to buy groceries. The county bought the lumber yard and Jake Paben moved his tavern to another town.

Miss Frances Goodall, of Gatesville, is visiting here this week with Miss Hattie Emma Yates.

Motorist Must Buy Tax Stamp By August 1st

Reports reaching the office of Collector of Internal Revenue indicate that most persons subject to the $5 automobile tax due July 1, 1942, have already purchased the required stamp but that in some sections many automobile owners have failed to purchase this stamp. Beginning August 1, 1942, a concerted drive by Deputy Collectors in every section will be undertaken, and all persons subject to the tax, using their cars without the stamp affixed, will be vigorously prosecuted. Such tax evaders will be subject to a $25. fine and 30 days imprisonment in addition to payment of the tax. This automobile use tax is a war measure, and all patriotic people should respond without delay.

The most important thing to remember is that the $5 automobile tax stamp cannot be purchased from post offices after July 31, 1942 and purchases will have to be made from the Collector of Internal Revenue, and late purchasers will be required to establish the fact under oath that they have not used their cars prior to the purchase date of the stamp, in order to avoid penalty.

This is a final notice and further leniency cannot be extended. This statement is made by direction of the Bureau of Internal Revenue in Washington.

—W. A. Thomas, Collector of Internal Revenue.

The ship was engulfed with flames and sank within a few hours."

Peaches May Be Canned Using Little Sugar

Due to an unusually large crop of peaches, expected to be at least 25 percent greater than average, the Agricultural Marketing Administration has designated peaches a Victory Food Special. Local merchants are cooperating in this drive by offering fresh peaches at a price that will appeal to homemakers.

The Bureau of Home Economics, USDA, reports: When peaches are plentiful and cheap, economical housewives begin to think of home canning—and offers the following tips on canning peaches with a reduced sugar allowance:

To make sugar go farther, use just enough sirup to make the peaches palatable. This may require cooking outside the jar and hot packing so as to draw the juice out of the fruit in order to have enough liquid to cover. Honey or corn sirup may be substituted for half the sugar without affecting the delicate peach flavor.

In jams, jellies, preserves, and marmalades, sugar acts as a preservative and gives consistency to the product. You can accomplish the same end by using three parts of sugar to four parts of fruit instead of equal weights of fruit and sugar, as usual. This will also give you more of the natural peach flavor. Honey, when available, may be used to replace half the sugar.

Plan To Expand Use of Milk In Schools Outlined

Creation of necessary new outlets for expanded dairy production of Texas farmers is the primary purpose of the new school milk program the Agriculture Marketing Administration plans to operate throughout the fiscal year 1941-43. B. F. Vance, Texas USDA War Board, said today.

School authorities and parent-teacher associations or other civic minded groups eligible to sponsor a school milk program were urged to take advantage of this excellent opportunity to make more milk available to more children in their communities.

"New outlets created by the program will be a big boon, especially to farmers in areas where the facilities for dairy manufacturing are not sufficient to handle the increased production of milk," Vance said. "Making the over-abundance of milk in such areas available to

It is not practicable to make jellies entirely without sugar. In making preserves, corn sirup may be substituted for as much as half the sugar. But in jellies, jams, and marmalades corn sirup can replace only one-fourth of the sugar. Since sirups contain water, you may have to cook slightly longer to get the same consistency as when using sugar alone."

growing children, will be a wise investment in the future of America. No nation is stronger than its citizens and undernourished children do not grow up to be strong citizens."

Farmers supplying milk for the program will receive the price paid producers F. O. B. plant in the program area for unprocessed milk to be sold for consumption as milk. Program sponsors will be responsible for processing and handling costs and for the limited facilities required to serve the milk. Milk may be served free, or sponsors may charge the children up to a penny a half pint to help pay processing and handling costs. All children in participating school will be eligible for as much milk as they need each day.

Those interested in a school milk program for their community should contact Emmett McBryde, Acting District Supervisor, Agricultural Marketing Administration, 406 Ewell Nalle Building, Austin.

A SAFE PLACE TO HATCH DUCKS

PRINCE ALBERT (AP) — A mallard duck perched atop his chimney provided a farmer with a new pet and a clue to why his stove wouldn't work after a prolonged absence. Nine feet down the chimney was a nest containing three duck eggs. The farmer plans to set out the mallard ducklings on water as soon as they hatch.

The Cliffside field near Amarillo, Texas, is estimated to contain more than 2 billion cubic feet of recoverable helium.

Co-Op Institute To Be Held In College Station Aug 10-12

A three-day institute for leaders of farm cooperatives in Texas will be held on the Texas A. and M. College campus in College Station, August 10-12. Representatives of the co-ops will gather to exchange experience and to discuss plans for future cooperative development.

The program for the institute is being prepared by representatives of the Texas Federation of Cooperatives, Texas A. and M. College, and the Houston Bank for Cooperatives. L. T. Mayhugh, Amarillo, president of a federation of about 50 local wheat growers' cooperatives, is head of the cooperative federation, and B. E. Stallones, manager of the South Texas producers' co-op, Houston, is secretary.

Texas has 845 active cooperatives, according to C. E. Bowles, specialist in organization and cooperative marketing for the A. and M. College Extension Service. These organizations engage in processing, storing, marketing, and financing every important agricultural crop produced in the state. Leading in number are the cooperative cotton gins, the grain and rice associations, and the purchasing cooperatives. Others have been set up by farmers to supply themselves with electric current, production credit, hospitalization, insurance, and similar services. One third of the farm families in Texas now are members of one or more of these cooperatives.

National leaders as well as men prominent in Texas cooperative activities will appear on the program of the institute. Mr. Bowles and one of the leaders attending the institute will broadcast on the Texas Farm and Home Program, August 11, at 6:15 a. m.

BUT WAIT'LL HE GETS IN THE SENATE

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Delegate Snow Martin told it to Florida sheriffs at their convention here: A member of the Florida House of Representatives was awakened one night by his wife who screamed "There's a robber in the house!" Sleepily the legislator replied, "There may be a robber in the Senate, but not in the House."

Farmers Urged To Increase Winter Legume Planting

Growing winter legumes will help Texas farmers maintain their peak productive strength.

Drawing on present soil fertility without replacing may result in declining food and fiber production later in the war and post-war period when most of the world will be looking to American farmers for food and clothing, George Slaughter, chairman, Texas AAA committee said.

Planting winter legumes, mainly vetches and winter peas, is recognized as one of the best methods of restoring productive vigor to soils.

The seedings also are needed to replace nitrogenous fertilizer which is being diverted to manufacture of munitions. The only effective substitute for fertilizer diverted in this manner, the AAA official explained, is the growing of legumes that transfer nitrogen from the air to the soil.

Present crop reports indicate that seed production this year will be more than twice that of 1941 and supplies soon will begin to move from the Pacific Northwest to Southern counties.

The Agricultural Adjustment Agency, which long has encouraged the planting of winter legumes, already has arranged for farmers participating in the program to obtain seeds and pay for them later out of payments earned under the AAA program.

For the seeding of winter legumes, cooperating farmers can earn AAA payments which practically cover the cost of the seed, Slaughter said.

THIEF'S CONSCIENCE COST THIS GUY $15

BANGOR, Me. (AP) — A thief's conscience cost a gasoline station operator here $15.

A messenger came to the station one morning with two books and a note explaining the sender had stolen them from the station owner about two years before. The owner left his station unattended to report the event to a neighbor.

When he returned he discovered another thief had rifled the cash register of $12 in bills and $3 in change.

PRUDENCE IS THE MARK OF A GOOD AMERICAN

The prudent American budgets his income... and plans ahead for his known needs. He does not wait until the last minute—and then buy hastily and unwisely. If you are going to need a good warm coat this winter, plan for it by reserving a little out of each week's pay. Buy the best quality you can afford. That is true prudence.

Thus a share of each pay will still go into war stamps and bonds. Our Lay-Away Plan is a big help in such budgeting.

New Type Cotton Cloth

Miss Carol Lloyd of Memphis inspects a pattern of the new cotton cloth called fabric-masslin. The new fabric has been developed by Johnson and Johnson, makers of surgical dressings. So cheap is the process of manufacturing that after a garment made of it has been soiled, it will be thrown away with no attempt to launder it. Commercial production is not expected to begin until after the war.

Sharks Give Up Their Liver To Help Win War

By SAMUEL A. TOWER
Wide World Features

WASHINGTON — Tigers of the sea are helping to boost the deadly accuracy of the flying tigers of the United Nations. The ordinary soup-fin shark, galorhinus zyopterus to the scientists, has become the greatest source of vitamin A, key to successful night flying. Since the war, West Coast shark fisheries have skyrocketed into a $5,000,000 business.

The soup-fin used to be an awful pest — a net ruiner and bait-stealer. The Chinese used his dried fins for soup, hence the name, while his carcass was reduced for fertilizer.

Norwegian Supply Cut

When Hitler marched into Norway a large part of our vitamin A supply — 72,000,000 pounds of Norwegian cod-liver oil imported annually — was cut off. About the same time, RAF pilots discovered daily doses of vitamin A reduced night blindness, and a dive-bomber crash disclosed that the Germans were using the vitamin to stop nose-bleeds.

The demand for vitamin A for aviators, plane spotters, growing babies, nursing mothers and Mrs.

Average Jones' diet had drug companies searching frantically for new source.

T. J. Guaragnella, A San Francisco fish broker, is credited with starting the West Coast fishing boom. He played the worthless shark as a long shot and resulting tests showed the liver of the soup-fin to be 100 times richer in vitamin A than cod-liver. The soup-fin is one of nature's curiosities, with a huge liver from 8 to 30 per cent of its weight. The oil content of the liver runs from 30 to 70 per cent.

Gold From The Ocean

The soup-fin's value, once $10 a ton as fertilizer, zoomed in August, 1941, to $500 a ton; September, $1,200; October, a record of $1,500.

Shark fishing means more than dangling a pale over the wharf and pulling up "gray gold", as the shark liver is called.

It's not exactly child's play to boat a struggling 75-pound shark. Sharks' skins are tougher than sandpaper, and severe cut and bruises often result from wrestling with the monsters.

Sharks for vitamins is a west coast industry, and fishermen seek soup-fin and dogfish sharks from Mexico to Alaska.

Greenland and Antarctica are the only territories in the world with- legally established time.

Fewer than half the states in the Union regulate child labor in street trades.

The people of the Falkland Islands are almost exclusively of pure British descent.

There are only 25,500 street cars in the U. S. and less than 10,000 elevated and subway cars.

"There Ain't Gonna Be No Bargain Days, Either"

For the information of all Courier subscribers who have been putting off renewing their subscriptions, with the thought in mind of waiting for the usual Bargain Days Announcement, we bring the sad news that, "There Ain't Gonna Be No Bargain Days."

The reasons for the abandonment of Bargain Days are far too numerous to mention, and we do not intend to burden our readers with a lot of sympathetic argument in favor of increased prices.

Subscribers are again reminded that, "There Ain't Gonna Be No Bargain Days," and are urged to renew their subscriptions at the earliest convenient time, in order that they may not miss a single copy of the paper. New government regulations make it necessary that all subscriptions be dropped from the list at time of expiration.

Texas' Crop Of Golf Stars Never Falts

Wide World Features

FORT WORTH, Texas —The supply of golf stars never runs low in big Texas.

Texas has produced such stand-outs as Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Ralph Guldahl, Jimmie Demaret and a flock of others who cashed in on the big time.

Among its amateurs have been Gus Moreland, Reynolds Smith, David Goldman, Bill Welch, Harry Todd and many more who won national fame and brought this section a fine representation on the Walker Cup teams.

Among the women are Betty Jameson, twice national champion; Aniela Goldthwaite, Peggy Chandler and other who rank with the country's best.

National champions? Well, in addition to Miss Jameson there were Nelson, Guldahl and Hogan who took open titles; Welch, winner of the public links crown, and Earl Stewart, 1941 national intercollegiate king.

Watch These Three

Now tab three youngsters for future greatness: 17-year-old Ray Kenney of Dallas, C. Tyrell Garth of Beaumont, also 17, and 16-year-old Polly Riley, the ex-tomb-boy of Fort Worth.

Polly, the experts say, will become one of the finest Texas ever has produced.

Results have been outstanding thus far. In 1940 Polly won the first flight of the Southern tournament held there and in 1941 went to the semi-finals of the championship flight at Memphis. She also reached the quarter-finals of the State tournament in 1941.

This season the pretty miss swept through the women's West Texas tournament and the critics say she definitely is on the way to national prominence.

A. G. Mitchell, Fort Worth professional who developed Mrs. Goldthwaite and other women golf stars, is quite enthusiastic about Polly's chances. So is Mrs. R. E. Winger of Fort Worth, who has played with and beaten practically all the top-flight women golfers of this section. Polly won the West Texas by defeating Mrs. Winger in the finals.

Has Plenty of Power

Stocky Miss Riley is the combination of many required qualities, the experts say. She has the physique, loves the game to the degree that she is willing to work at it, tirelessly and has a strong competitive spirit and mental poise.

She possess the power to hit the ball farther than most of the top women players. She has a sound swing and smooth co-ordination and improvement of her short game is what Mitchell is working on mostly now.

COPS STOPPED PLAY AND WENT TO WORK

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — To relieve the monotony while cruising around, Police Lieut. Harry Daugherty and Officer W. S. Hamrick play a game with auto license numbers, the winner being the one who spots the highest number in a given time.

"I see 330-199, so I win," said Hamrick.

"Not so," said Dougherty. "West Virginia licenses go only to 200,000 and something."

They pursued the car, discovered the "3" on the license had once been a "B" to denote a truck license, and arrested the driver for improper use of license plates.

PRACTICE BOMBERS MATCH THE LUFTWAFFE

MIDLAND ARMY FLYING SCHOOL, Texas (AP)—Over a target area greater than the State of New Jersey, bombardier cadets are dropping a daily average number of bombs rivaling that established by the Luftwaffe during the London blitz of 1940.

This statistic is right off the slide rule of Lt. Col. Richard H. Smith, director of training of this big war school. Breaking the totals down, Lt. Col. Smith figures that each cadet during his 90-day training period drops something like 200 practice bombs.

She's done the job so well that she has been awarded an Emblem of Honor Pin, an honor ordinarily reserved for mothers of four or more sons killed in action.

All Nationalities
Since October, 1940, 5,000 cheerful letters — birthday cards, get-well cards, sympathy cards—to former University of Michigan students, lonely Negro soldiers, a Greek boy, a Canadian in officers' training, and to hundreds of plain American boys in every rank have gone from her home.

"Auntie" Buchanan adopted her task vountarily, saw it grow to a size she had never imagined, and met the swelling responsibility with a smile and a chuckle.

She's answered every request for correspondence. To a bomber pilot in the Navy who asked for mail daily she sent letters by the score. To 30 or more others she promised and delivered a letter weekly.

Gets A Reward
"My reward comes in small but powerful doses," she explains. Then she pulled out a note from one of her Negro correspondents and reads: "The Japs ain't gonna get you, Complimenting Mrs. Jack Edmonson who, before her recent marriage was Miss Jane Boone, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Miss Connie King and Miss Retti Meek entertained with a shower Saturday evening at 6:30 at the Lamesa Country Club.

HE NEARLY SPENT FURLOUGH IN KITCHEN

CAMP STEWART, Ga. (AP)—Tip to soldiers on leave: always keep your furlough papers with you.

Pvt. Hoyle Conway, on furlough at his home at Palm Beach, Fla., went to Miami to see a friend at the Air Force School. As he walked into his pal's barracks a tough sergeant confronted him with:

"Where are you going, soldier?" "Just visiting," Pvt. Conway replied.

"You don't say! Well, suppose you report to the kitchen. We need another KP."

Pvt. Conway protested He finally had to call in his aunt, who was waiting outside the post, to verify the fact that he was on furlough and that his papers were at home, locked up in his desk.

When it's all over Aunt Ruth plans to write a book, describing among other things, the attitude of her boys before and after Pearl Harbor. And she will sprinkle the text with hundreds of amusing and serious incidents which have been described for her by soldiers from California to Maine.

Until then, she plans to keep up the job, spending hard-earned postage, simply "because of what they're doing for us."

Congratulations To Sheriff Bennett

From IKE HOUSTON

Congratulations. I feel that you should be proud of yourself. It is quite an accomplishment to be able to run for a third term without an opponent. The joke is on you. We boys just got out and pretended to be opposing you to make you get out and hustle. We were not on the ticket. We had our good friend, Henry Norris, sitting in the court house chipping off little pieces of your own votes and when he got enough pieces to equal a vote, he piled them up until he had enough to divide a few between us and then he would announce. I hate we pulled such a rough joke on you, but it was all through fun, I assure you.

I don't think you treated me right by refusing to furnish me with a couple of body guards to escort me home. As I came home every time a rabbit hopped across the road, I nearly swallowed my tongue. I feel like everybody will agree that a man with as few friends as I have couldn't feel safe without a body guard.

Old Pal, if you were as big as the ones you thought were opposing you, I wouldn't be surprised if you got every vote in the counties adjoining us. I regret I didn't run you against W. Lee O'Daniel. I am sure you would have beat him and a good Pal like me surely could have got a job in the Senate shine parlor.

Say, by the way, as a pal of mine, please, if you should run on to any bootlegger, use your influence, and get them to forgive me for criticizing them so hard. Tell them I made an honest mistake and pulled the wrong string. Tell them I didn't know they were the only friends I had and I sure want to regain them back, and that I wish I had used the money I wasted on the Sheriff's race in stocking up for the business myself.

I apologize for beating you in my home box. Those who voted for me knew I didn't need them, and they also knew they wouldn't do my other mates any good, and they thought if I was elected they would get rid of me from the community for 2 years. They really didn't mean to say they were against you. One thing I am proud of; I got a few votes in every box in the county. I feel like they will get their gun and protect me should I come to their community. Well, I am going to try to improve my standing and try you again in the year 1960, but in case we both are not alive then I hope we meet in Heaven, where we can laugh throughout eternity. Should I fail to get there I know they can't keep you out, and I am sure you will use your good influence on Father Abraham, and see that I get there too.

Well, Buck, come to see me and let's be friends for I certainly covet the friendship of men like you. Mr. D. M. Johnson ever gets a back seat fixed on his hump back mule, we other three boys are going to take a vacation with him in Arkansas. So good luck, God be with and bless you to make you the best Sheriff on earth.

Your Friend,
IKE HOUSTON

OLEY SHOFNER THANKS VOTERS IN THE ELECTION

I sincerely appreciate this help and will sincerely appreciate your continued support and influence in the run-off election.

Oley Shofner, candidate for Commissioner Precinct No. 1.

Gliders Taking Off At Lamesa School

Tips For Saving Vegetable Seed

Seed of many vegetables produced under farm conditions generally prove satisfactory for planting, says J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. Plants grown in soil of low fertility, or where disease lowers the vitality, cannot be depended upon as a reliable source of seed.

Seed of beans of all kinds, including bush and pole varieties, should mature thoroughly on the plant, then harvested and spread out to dry. Most varieties of butterbeans, pole and bush, must be harvested as the seed pod is beginning to turn brown to prevent splitting. Spread out to dry further before storing.

English peas: Pick when the pods turn brown and spread out to dry.

Cucumbers: Select straight-sided dark green specimens and leave on vine until a rich, golden color. Remove seed, and spread out to dry.

Tomato: Remove seed from vine-ripened tomato into small wire strainer and wash out material holding seed. Seed also may be scraped on a newspaper and placed in the sun to dry.

Pepper: Cut off lower half of ma-

"THE EMPTY ROOM"

This editorial is reprinted from the New York World-Telegram, July 15, 1942

That is the caption of an advertisement—one of the most inspiring advertisements we have ever seen. The illustration shows a middle-aged man, standing alone and looking into a boy's bedroom. The text has him saying:

"This is my boy's room.
"This is where he slept.
"This is where he dreamed a child's dreams.
"This is where he saw a man's visions.

"Here, in this empty room, are faded pictures of teammates and heroes . . . books scribbled over with notes and exclamations . . . the gloves and spike shoes we hung up for good before he went to war . . . the silver cup he won at Sea Bright . . . bright pennants . . . and all the careless memoranda, the echoes of his days.

"If fathers could only pour their hate through the hot barrels of smoking guns and write the records of their grief with bayonet steel!

"They said I was too old to fight, though I'm only 50.

"But, if I'm too old to sight and drop a stick of bombs, I'm not too old to lay my money on the line for War Savings Stamps and Bonds!

"Maybe I am too stiff and slow to fly, but I've got control enough to keep my car under 40 . . . so they can keep their fighting planes above 400!

"And if I can't march 30 miles a day with a full pack, I can walk two miles to work and back to help save gas and rubber!

"No, I'm not bitter any more because I won't win this war behind a gun or on a ship or in the sky.

"I've come around to thinking that here at home we've got the job of passing the ammunition along, of sacrificing little things, of giving up and going without, of looking ahead to 'less' instead of 'more.' Somebody's got to do the necessary, undramatic things . . . and I guess that's what older men are for."

To the United States Rubber Co., which sponsors this advertisement, and to the artist and the writer who prepared it, our thanks. Through the door of an empty room they have given us a glimpse beyond the squabbling and striving for advantage, the petty arguments and futile buck passing that sometimes seem to be the chief substance of our war effort here at home, into the real heart of America.

CARD OF THANKS TO THE VOTERS BY IKE HOUSTON

I know of no greater pleasure than I get out of thanking you who supported me in my race for Sheriff, though I was not the choice, and I pray that my future acquaintance and dealings will be in such manner as to cause you never to regret your part in my support. To those who had some reason or other not to make me your choice, my prayer is that providence will provide me opportunity to improve your confidence in me as the years go by. As I pray for you I do not do so feeling that you envy me or choose to do me harm. I have faith in the providential guidance and care of the celestial powers using you to protect and become a blessing to me. Anyhow, I will always feel indebted to you and honored by every vote that was cast in the election for or against me in the election of July 25, 1942.

THERE ARE SMILES AND THERE ARE VOTES

McPHERSON, Kas. (AP) — Veteran politicians, wise in campaign tricks, smile over an incident that befell John Allison.

Allison, running for a senate office, stopped on the road to help two distressed women change a tire.

"Did you get their votes?" the friend inquired.

Allison snapped his fingers in vexation.

"By gosh," he exclaimed. "I even forgot to tell them my name."

BRAIN OPERATION ON INFANTS SUCCESS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A delicate surgical operation designed to prevent children from developing bulging skulls has been pronounced successful after nearly 20 years of waiting for final results.

The procedure requires the removal of thin strips of bone along the seams of the skull. In normal infants these seams remain open for many years to provide growing space for the skull bones and increasing capacity for the brain.

ture red pepper and scrape seed from cavity in the upper half.

Okla: seed may be left in the brown pod until ready for planting.

Eggplant: Seed from mature fruit should be washed thoroughly and spread in the sun to dry quickly. Otherwise seed will germinate if left overnight in damp pulp.

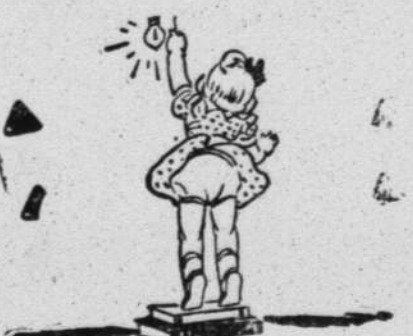

Cantaloupe and watermelon: Wash seed thoroughly and spread out to dry.

If thoroughly dry, vegetable seed can be stored in various paper containers and should be kept in a cool, dry place. Beans and peas should be treated with a teaspoonful of carbon disulphide to a quart of seed to prevent weevil damage.

"Every penny saved helps to blackout the Axis."

THE simplest of home recipes for saving pennies: turn out unnecessary lights. One person shouldn't have to follow others around, turning switches! Besides—ample electric supply is vital to war production!

Co-Op Buying And Two-Way Haul Will Benefit Many

Pooling orders and working out a two-way haul for exchanging such things as wheat for peaches or feed for syrup may mean better distribution of agricultural commodities and better fed Texans.

C. E. Bowles and Myrtle Murray, specialists of the A. and M. College Extension Service, say cooperative group purchasing offers one of the best ways to get rid of seasonal surpluses and make it easier for people to follow The Texas Food Standard, a simple guide to a good daily diet.

Marketing committees of many county home demonstration councils have pioneered in cooperative buying in Texas. Truck loads of citrus fruit, wheat and pineapple have been ordered, delivered, and distributed among home demonstration club women far from the localities where these are produced. Syrup, honey, sweet potatoes and other food crops may be purchased cooperatively, and Number 4 wheat for feed is being released from storage at prices which compare favorably with other grains.

The specialists add that farmers' cooperatives and other groups easily can pool their members' order for grain or fruit and eliminate much of the cost and waste which often result from less direct distribution.

Here is one example of this type of cooperation. In the Panhandle, a federation of about 50 local wheat growers' cooperatives, has consented to serve as a clearing house for information regarding sources of wheat. And in the West Cross-timbers, a fruit growers' association is prepared to perform the same service for groups wishing to purchase truck loads of peaches.

Although he came from a line of seafaring men, Chester was raised in landlocked Fredericksburg, Tex. As a child, he listened to his grandfather relate the experiences of Nimitz sailors. Chester's early inclinations were for a business career.

Call of the sea was strong, though, and at 16, he entered the Naval Academy. He conquered seasickness, made good marks and scores of friends. Associates say no admiral afloat has as many acquaintances as Nimitz; his ships are noted for high morale.

Commissioner in 1907, Nimitz rose steadily, served brilliantly in World War I. Veteran of pigboats and battleships, he once told a House committee: "No government can risk its entire naval force on a single battle—future fighting will be by special units."

Of Chester William "Cottonhead" Nimitz a friend once remarked: "I've never known him to start anything he didn't finish." Now Admiral Nimitz, 57-year old commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, has one of the toughest jobs of the war; that of smashing the Japanese navy. He's making headway, marks the victories at Midway and in the Coral Sea as milestones in avenging Pearl Harbor.

Full admiral ship and command of Pacific feet came 10 days after Pearl Harbor. He won superlative praise from the United Nations leaders after his Midway island victory! quipped a Chinese commentator: "There are no limit to Nimitz."

HAD TO ESCAPE HIS OWN STOCK

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — An injured farmer had to fight off a herd of pounding hogs and a young bull to save his life recently.

A tractor upset in the field, breaking Theodore Belle's leg and cutting a deep gash in the calf. Too far from a dwelling to call for help, he began crawling across a pasture.

A herd of 250 hogs and a cross young bull picked up the scent of his blood and trailed him swiftly. Desperately, Belle fought them off and dragged himself on until he reached a small shed, where he stayed until he was able to attract attention.

In its first monthly report to Washington as to progress being made in solving labor shortage problems, the Board declared that in 109 counties, USDA war boards, cooperating with the U. S. In Fight

His plane shot down after it had hurtled a torpedo at a Jap aircraft carrier, his gunner and radioman dead, Ensign George H. Gay, Jr., (above) of Houston, Texas, floated for 24 hours amidst the Midway Island sea battle and returned to Pearl Harbor with a stirring eyewitness account of Japanese naval destruction. He hid under a floating seat cushion from his sunken plane to escape detection; saw other U. S. aircraft blast Jap naval units; saw Jap planes, their mother ships aflame, circle helplessly for a landing place.

LANGMAID PAINTING BRITISH SET BATTLES

CAIRO (AP) — Art lovers in future years will have a chance to see how the British Navy won its victories in the Mediterranean. Lieut. Commander Rowland Langmaid, first official artist assigned to any British fleet in this war, has been given the task of putting outstanding battles on canvas.

Langmaid, giving up a job as naval censor in Alexandria, says he intends to put down in black and white for photo reproduction and possible exhibition in galleries every major naval engagement. He has completed some paintings of night action in the battle of Cape Matapan and now is depicting the recent rout of a heavy Italian squadron during Malta convoy operations by cruisers commanded by Rear Admiral Philip Vian.

Langmaid is 44. He studied at the Royal Academy in London and the Royal College of Art in South Kensington. His work has been exhibited at the Royal Academy and also in Philadelphia galleries.
