This Vegetable Compound is wonderful and it helped me very much, so that during my periods I am not now sick or drowsy. HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets that are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calotab on the tongue at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleases or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calotabs only in original sealed packages, price thirty cents. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you do not find them delightful.—(Adv.)

PRESIDENT VETOES EMERGENCY TARIFF

HOUSE DEFEATS ATTEMPT TO PASS THE MEASURE OVER HIS VETO.

"NO REMEDY IN MEASURE"

Refund Relief Can Come Only From Constructive Measure of Broad-er Scope.

Washington.—Efforts to override President Wilson's veto of the Fordney emergency tariff bill failed in the house early Thursday morning, and the measure, originally designed to aid the farmers thereby met its death.

The vote on the motion to pass the measure over the president's veto was 201 to 132 against.

This was 21 votes less than the necessary two-thirds.

In vetoing the tariff measure, President Wilson said that the situation "in which many of the farmers of the country find themselves can not be remedied by a measure of this sort," and that "there is no short way out of existing conditions."

Actual relief for the farmers, the president asserted, could only come from the adoption of constructive measures of a broader scope, from the restoration of peace everywhere in the world, the resumption of normal industrial pursuits, the recovery particularly of Europe, and the discovery there of additional credit foundation.

The American farmer, the president asserted, needed in the present situation a better system of domestic marketing and credit and an opening to foreign markets rather than any protection from foreign products as laid down in the tariff bill.

The president remarked that it was not a little singular that a measure "which strikes a blow at our foreign trade should follow so closely upon the action of congress directing the resumption of certain activities of the war finance corporation, especially the urgent insistence of representatives of the farming interests who believe that its resumption would improve foreign marketing."

DEATH CLAIMS FORMER SPEAKER CHAMP CLARK

Washington.—Death closed Wednesday the career of Champ Clark of Missouri, for more than a quarter century a towering figure in national politics, a stalwart of stalwarts in the democratic party.

He died in the very shadow of the capitol, just over the way from the hotel where he had lived many years. House and senate seethed in the closing hours of the congress of which he was an honored member and leader. The stir of legislative battle was with him until the end. He lived again in memory, as his pulse flagged, days of the eight years he wielded the speaker's gavel in the house. Those sorrowing at his bedside heard the old chieftain mutter in his last delirium:

"The question is on adoption of the conference report."

By mandate more binding than any written law, congress barely halted in reverence to mark the passing of the aged member. Knowing the vital urgency of time in the closing days of a congress, the former speaker sent word to both houses, from what he knew was his deathbed that no halt in public business should be made at his death.

In obedience, the house, peopled with his personal friends, halted a short half hour in adjournment, then marched on with its crowded program.

Mr. Clark would have been 71 years old had he lived until Monday, March 7. But his twenty-six years of service in the house would have ended Friday, for he was defeated for reelection.

Mr. Clark's sincerity, friendship for opponents and adherents alike, his fairness as a presiding officer and his knowledge of history, his love of clean anecdotes and humorous stories and his marvelously retentive memory ranked with his attributes of leadership.

Physically he was a giant of a man, standing over 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighing a trifle more than 200 pounds.

Although Champ Clark was known as a Missourian he was born in Anderson, Ky., on March 7, 1859. He was christened James Beauchamp Clark, but early in life reduced this to Champ Clark. His first work was as a farm hand, clerk in a general store and on a country newspaper.

SENATE SPEEDING UP PENDING MEASURES

MINORITY REPORT UPHOLDING AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT IS ADOPTED.

Austin, Texas.—The senate got an early start Tuesday morning and adopted the minority report on the Clark bill, it refused to abolish the department of agriculture. It engrossed the Dorough bill making it a felony to throw a baseball game, the Witt bill basing freight charges for coal shipments on the railroad weight at the point of destination, the Davidson bill designed to provide a more systematic method of road maintenance for Texas and another bill by Senator Witt requiring persons or firms using fictitious names to register their names with the county clerk.

The American Legion boxing bill, drawn by Senator Baugh, authorizing local regulation of public indoor sports, was finally passed, as was a bill by Senator Darwin appropriating $10,000 to supplement an equal amount subscribed privately for the purchase of the Aiken collection of English literature for the University of Texas. A bill by Senator McNealas authorizing organization of holding companies in Texas to take up securities of Texas corporations was killed on final passage.

According to the journal this bill had been engrossed in the senate several days ago, but during the absence from the chair of Lieut. Gov. Davidson it was brought up for engrossment and received a favorable report of 16 to 7.

The senate then voted unanimously to suspend the rule in order that the bill be put on final passage. At this juncture Lieut. Gov. Davidson, returning to the chair, ruled both the votes out of order on account of the record in the journal showing previous engrossment and ordered the votes expunged from the journal.

Several amendments to the Davidson road maintenance bill were adopted on motion of the author. One of these changes Sec. 2 so as to designate a county road superintendent of maintenance, who shall be appointed by each county commissioners' court within ninety days after passage of the act, to have charge of all public highway construction and maintenance, together with the building of bridges and culverts, in his county. The amended section also provides that wherever a county now employs a county engineer he shall be the road superintendent, with increased salary.

GOVERNOR ISSUES FIVE BOLLWORM ORDERS

Noncotton and Regulated Zones Covered in Proclamation.

Austin, Texas.—Five proclamations affecting pink bollworm eradication in Texas were issued Thursday by Governor Neff. In one of the proclamations noncotton zones are created in certain localities in Harris, Chambers and Liberty counties, and, in addition, regulated zones are established in other localities in these counties. The action of the governor was taken after the Texas commissioner of agriculture had caused a thorough examination of cotton fields to be made and had certified to the governor that the pink bollworm had been found to exist in certain localities. Pink bollworm commissions have also held hearings, as required by law, and they have recommended the creation of noncotton and regulated zones.

In the noncotton zones the growing of cotton is declared to be a public menace, and hereafter it shall be unlawful to plant, cultivate or grow cotton in these zones until the proclamation shall be withdrawn or modified by lawful authority.

RANGER FORCE TO BE INCREASED IN EASTLAND

Austin, Texas.—A decision to increase the ranger force in Eastland county instead of withdrawing the four officers now stationed there was reached after a conference Tuesday morning between Governor Neff, Adjutant General Barton and Ranger Captain Hickman, who was called from Eastland to attend the conference. General Barton announced immediately after meeting with the governor that he intended sending additional rangers into Eastland county, but did not intimate to what strength he would increase the force now stationed there.

In defense of his policy, General Barton showed a telegram from an official of that county stating that the presence of the rangers in that section and their work in suppressing lawlessness had exerted a good moral effect in that community.

Funds For Two Helium Plans.

Washington.—There will be assured $65,000 for development of helium at the government plants at Fort Worth and Petrolia. The house voted in the army appropriation bill $100,000 and the senate increased this to $400,000, but the conference committee to which the measure reported has agreed to $250,000. In the naval bill as it passed the house and now is pending in the senate there is allowed $400,000 for this activity on the part of the navy.

FEDERAL FARM LOAN ACT VALID SAYS COURT

POWER OF CONGRESS UPHELD TO ESTABLISH BANKS AND EXEMPT BONDS.

Washington.—The farm loan act, designed to assist the agricultural development of the United States by providing readily accessible credits to farmers through federal land banks has been declared valid by the supreme court.

In an opinion which Commissioner Charles E. Laddell of the farm loan board "clears away every legal question and removes every shadow of question as to the legality of the banks or their bonds" the court held that congress had full authority to establish the land banks and the correlative authority to exempt their bonds from state taxation.

Commissioner Laddell announced that there would be an immediate issue of farm loan bonds "to an undetermined amount" to finance the $100,000,000 in loans which already had been approved by the board and which were held pending the court's decision.

"A bond offering will be made as soon as the bonds can be made ready," Mr. Laddell said, "and immediately thereafter the distribution of funds begun. It will be at least thirty days, however, before funds are available for actual loaning."

"The farm loan board is hopeful that the market may absorb farm loan bonds equal to the borrowing demands of the farmers of the country, but no one can predict with safety the result of a financial operation of this magnitude."

The court, in a practically unanimous opinion, upheld the authority of the government in both instances. The power to designate fiscal agencies has been conceded to congress since the days of Chief Justice Marshall, the opinion held, and the tax exemption provision was a necessary protection.

FOOD CONTROL ACT HAS BEEN DECLARED INVALID

Washington.—The supreme court Monday held unconstitutional the sections of the Lever act under which the government stopped the coal strike of 1919 and subsequently launched its campaign to reduce the cost of living by prosecuting alleged hoarders and profiteers in foodstuffs and other necessities.

The court's opinion was rendered specifically in an appeal by the government from a decree in lower courts quashing an indictment against an alleged profiteer in sugar, but it was sweeping in its terms and will have the effect of ending all prosecutions begun by the department of justice in its cost of living campaign.

The action of the government in obtaining injunctions to stop the strike of bituminous miners in November, 1919, was not before the court, but department of justice officials said that it was under section 4, which was held invalid, that the government had proceeded against the miners.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE TO ADJOURN MARCH 12TH

Austin, Texas.—The regular session of the thirty-seventh legislature will adjourn sine die on Saturday, March 12, one day after the sixty days of $5 per diem expires. This was decreed Monday when the senate adopted the house concurrent resolution providing for final adjournment on that date. There will now be much haste to get pet bills up for consideration. Not many of them will pass, for this is a bill-killing legislature, but members have that abiding hope and will do their utmost to have their measures reached. However, scores of bills are going to die on the calendar, as is always the case.

Governor Signs Sanatorium Bill.

Austin, Texas.—Governor Neff late Monday signed the bill by Senator Woodville Rogers of McKinney appropriating $1,500,000 for the erection of a sanatorium at Kerrville for Texas soldiers of the world war who are afflicted with tuberculosis. The governor wired Dr. Guy Shirley of Fort Worth, commander of the department of Texas of the American Legion, that the bill had been approved and that the pen with which it was signed would be given Dr. Shirley.

To Repeal War Laws.

Washington.—Congressional action has been completed on the resolution to repeal virtually all of the war laws, the house voting to concur in senate amendments. The measure now goes to the president.

King Nicholas Is Dead.

Antibes, France.—King Nicholas of Montenegro died here Tuesday.

Anxiety Felt For Johnson Bill.

Austin, Texas.—With the house having given notice of its intention to adjourn sine die on March 12, and thus invoking the rule against the further consideration of any but important measures, and with the house appropriations committee determined to have all of the general appropriation bills sent to the senate before adjournment, speculation is rife among the legislators as to fate of the Johnson bill, providing for the removal of corrupt enforcement officers.

DENIED PLEASURES OF TABLE

Great Jockey Had to Sacrifice Much to Maintain His Position as King of Riders.

Fred Archer, the famous English jockey, had to employ heroic measures to keep his weight down. The story is told of how, on one occasion he was the guest of a very hospitable host.

From the kitchen came the perfume of savory meats, and at dinner a sturdy, rosy-cheeked man-servant made his appearance, his back bending under the weight of a great salmon on a lordly dish.

Poor Archer's face, as he surveyed the initial preparations for the evening meal, was quite piteous to watch. Then, with a shrug of the shoulders and a sigh, but ill-concealed by a cynical remark, he left the table, and shortly afterward his host saw him pass the window on a hack, galloping toward the training grounds.

Later on he partook of a tiny glass of champagne and a biscuit, playing one game of billiards, and retired to bed.

HERE'S HOPING HE SUCCEEDS

French Inventor Works Out Which Would Be of Wearing

A French inventor, many years in Brazil and now states that women will be able to purchase blouses, jumpers, and even tumes, made of leaves and peels. Men may be offered suits and underwear of the same materials.

This man has devised a machine which can extract weaving threads from bananas, pineapples, and other fibrous plants. For example, the rind of the wild pineapples gives a thread over two yards long.

He hopes later to be able to utilize the skins of many other fruits. It is to be hoped that he succeeds, for the cost of clothes will be considerably less than those made of present imitation silks and mercerized cottons.

Common Trouble. "I got a letter from my husband from Paris."

"How is he getting along with French people?"

"He says they are very nice and polite, but they don't seem to understand their own language."—Baltimore American.

LONELY MAN DIED BELOVED

Hermit of Grubb Street Had Kindly Qualities That Endured Him to Many Who Never Knew Him.

Usually when one hears of a hermit it is to associate him with the wilderness of some desolate place, where, surrounded by wild nature, he passes his time like the beasts of the field, depending upon the fruits of an untilled earth for his sustenance and to a cave in the rocks for his covering at night.

But the story of Henry Welby, the hermit of Grubb street, as told in a curious old work published in the seventeenth century, is of a man possessed of wealth who retired to his mansion owing to the bad treatment of a younger brother, and who for forty years was seen by no one; neither did he leave his house until his death, on Oct. 29, 1836, when he was borne on the shoulders of the men who carried him to his grave.

On his retirement from the world he took a very fair house in the lower end of Grubb street and had it prepared for his purpose and such a way that the three rooms in which he lived enabled him to eat, sleep and write without ever being seen by his servants. His food was of the simplest character, and when his bed was making he went into his study. In all of these years he tasted neither flesh, fish nor wine.

On Christmas his table was loaded with great cheer, but of it he never tasted, sending it to the poor of the neighborhood. His benefactions to the needy were great, and his death was sincerely mourned by many who had never seen him.—Chicago Journal.

FLYING FISH NOT A MYTH

Denizen of the Sea Known to Be Really Capable of Sustained Flights Through the Air.

Does the flying fish really fly? Or does it merely leap out of the water and glide through the air?

This is a question that has been much disputed; which is rather odd, considering how many people have had opportunities to watch at leisure the aerial "stunts" of the finny species in question.

The fact, as asserted by eminent naturalists, is that the flying fish does fly. In flight it will sometimes turn at right angles, or even at a very acute angle. Nay, more, it is occasionally observed to turn about swiftly and come back in a direction opposite to that in which its course was begun.

From the bow of a ship one may see the wings of flying fishes flap as they hurry to get out of the way. When in full flight the outlines of their "wings" are blurred to the eye, so rapid are the flappings.

They sometimes fly 150 or 200 yards without rising more than a couple of feet above the surface of the sea. Often they are observed to rise over the crests of waves and sink into the hollows. These performances could not be accomplished by mere leaping and gliding.

Flying fishes are able to rise to a considerable height, and often come on board of large steamers. Such a vessel is as high above the water as a tall house. When they arrive upon the deck they cannot rise and fly away; but the same is true of many sea birds.

High School Notes

New life and enthusiasm is being shown in all places of work in Tahoka High School. This zest is due partly to the approach of our County Meet, which will be held here on the 25th and 26th of March. A number of beautiful prizes are offered as rewards to the winners in the various events. T. H. S. is working with the hope of carrying off, at least, some of the trophies. The prizes are six quadrupled silver loving cups; they are given by the citizens of our town.

Basket ball, tennis, racing, high and broad jumping, hurdle racing and base ball are some of the sports that are claiming the time and practice of our talented. Work is also being done by the Declamers, Debaters and spellers. The try outs for those to represent T. H. S. will be held Friday, March 18th.

Half of another month has gone, leaving only ten more weeks of school. Students are "pepping up" in their work in order to earn a pass at the end of school. T. H. S. has great prospects in the future.

NINTH AND TENTH GRADES

The weather has been so warm lately that we find it a difficult task to keep awake at school.

An interscholastic was held in the eighth grade room last Monday morning, in which Mr. Caviness explains the requirements and limits of each contest; he also arranged the contestants. We are practicing for the track meet, which will be held March 25th and 26th. Our school will be represented in each contest.

The ninth grade Latin class are reviewing adverbs and adjectives. In History they are studying recent reforms and conditions in England. They are slowly but surely mastering "Quadratic Equations" in Algebra.

In English they are reading Coleridge's "The prime Rime of the ancient Mariner." They have lately memorized "The charge of the Light Brigade" by Tennyson. Those who made 90 or above in every subject in the Ninth grade, last month, were Flora Goodrich, Audy V. McCormack, Ola Belle Singleton, Ely Lam and Ben Lawson.

The tenth grade can report only one pupil making ninety or above, this one being Conrad Lam. There were others who fell short on only one subject.

The tenth grade Geometry class are trying to master the chapter on proportional lines. We find this work very difficult.

In History we are studying the strategy of the Civil War in the East. We are required to memorize Lincoln's famous Gettysburg address. This selection is said to contain more in fewer words, than any other piece in American Literature.

In English we have completed Emerson's essay on "Self Reliance." We are now reading his essay on "compensation." These essays are very interesting as well as practical. In addition to this we have two lessons a week on the Revival of Romantic Poetry in English Literature. We have memorized Antony's "Funeral oration" which was a quotation from Shakespeare's drama "Julius Caesar." The Caesar class is studying "The War against the Belgian Confederacy." The Physics class is working on the chapter on "Sound." We find this work to be most amusing we have ever done.

MONTIE DRAPER
10th Grade.

EIGHTH GRADE

We have taken up "Franklin's Autobiography" as a classic, in English. In Rhetoric, we are trying to master the art of Letter Writing. Themes were handed in Monday on the following subjects: "Today is Here. Use it," "My Dream; Man or Girl," and "When lights are low." We will have only one more term to memorize this term.

We are deeply absorbed in the studying of fractions in Algebra. As we have studied fractions heretofore in Arithmetic, they are not very difficult for us in Algebra.

In History, we are deep in "The General Character of the Medieval Church." Tuesday we handed in a set of questions on this chapter.

We find our General Science very interesting. One of our latest experiments was the working of a lift pump.

Our sincerest hope is that our school will carry off all the honors in the County Meet, which will soon be here.

Our boys were not so fortunate, the score of their game being 13 to 25 in favor of Garlynn. In the boys game, Jack Wells was referee and Mr. Henderson, of Garlynn, was umpire.

SAVE 50c to $5.00
on the next dress you make by using THE DELTOR

The Deltor is a new patented invention just brought out with BUTTERICK PATTERNS and Butterick alone. Among many other advantages it gives a "layout" prepared by trained experts for placing the pieces of the pattern in the size you buy on any width of material you buy and thereby saves for you one-eighth of a yard of material, more often one quarter and sometimes more.

Heretofore a pattern has been able to give only the amount of material which the average woman could use in laying out the pattern. It has not been possible to give the smallest amount on which experts could lay out the pattern because it is not safe to give the least possible quantity without giving the experts layout which permits this least possible quantity.

Now the Butterick Pattern with the Deltor gives the smallest amount which the best trained experts can use, and the Deltor in the Butterick Pattern shows the layout by which this is accomplished. This means that the Butterick Pattern will always save all that it costs and usually many times more than it costs.

HARDING TAKES OATH OF OFFICE FRIDAY

IS READY TO ENTER AN ASSO-CIATION FOR CONFERENCE
ONLY

MAKES PLEA FOR HARMONY

Simple Ceremonies Mark Induction Into Office of Chief Executive of United States

Washington—The people of the United States now have a new president, vice president and a new congress.

The inauguration at the capitol of Warren G. Harding of Ohio, as president, and Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, as vice president, took place Friday, at about the noon hour.

The inaugural program began at ten o'clock when the joint congressional committee, headed by Senator Knox of Pennsylvania and Uncle Joe Cannon of Illinois motored to the Willard Hotel and took under escort Mr. Harding and Mr. Coolidge.

The White House, where President Wilson joined the party, was the next stop; after which the motor cars under military escort started for the capitol.

In the first car rode President Wilson, President-Elect Harding, Knox and Cannon. The second car contained Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Harding, Senator Nelson and Representative Rucker. In the third was Vice President Marshall, Mrs. Coolidge and Senator Overman. The fourth car carried Vice President-Elect Coolidge, Mrs. Marshall and Representative Reavis.

Upon arriving at the capitol, Harding and Coolidge went to an anteroom of the senate chamber. Wilson went to the president's room near by to sign or reject last minute legislation.

Congress shortly before noon paused. House members marched to the senate chamber where the diplomats, army and navy officers and the supreme court witnessed the induction of Coolidge as Vice President. Wilson and Harding attended the ceremony. Then congress was declared adjourned and everybody went to the east front of the capitol for the inauguration of Harding.

Immediately after taking the oath of office which was administered by Chief Justice White, President Harding delivered his inaugural address, outlining what he thought the policies of the American government should be on various foreign and domestic problems.

After the ceremonies the Hardings went to the White House, where luncheon was served for the Harding family.
The Wilsons then went to their new home.

Text of Speech

Washington—The text of President Warren G. Harding's inaugural address follows:

My countrymen, when one surveys the world about him after the great storm, noting the marks of destruction and yet rejoicing in the ruggedness of things which withstood it, if he is an American he breathes the clarified atmosphere with a strange mingling of regret and new hope.
We have seen a world-passion spend its fury, but we contemplate our republic unshaken and hold our civilization secure. Liberty—liberty within the law—and civilization are inseparable, and though both were threatened we find them now secure, and there comes to Americans the profound assurance that our representative government is the highest expression and surest guaranty of both.

Standing in this presence, mindful of the solemnity of this occasion, feeling the emotions which no one may know until he senses the great weight of responsibility for himself.
I must utter my belief in the divine inspiration of the founding fathers.
Surely there must have been God's intent in the making of this New World Republic. Ours is an organic law which had but one ambiguity, and we saw that effaced in a baptism of sacrifice and blood, with union maintaining the nation supreme and its concord inspiring. We have seen the world rivet its hopeful gaze on the great truths on which the founders wrought. We have seen civil, human and religious liberty verified and glorified.

In the beginning the Old World scoffed at our experiment. Today, our foundations of political and social belief stand unshaken, a precious inheritance to ourselves, an inspiring example of freedom and civilization to all mankind. Let us express renewed and strengthened devotion, in grateful reverence for the immortal beginning, and utter our confidence in the supreme fulfillment.

Progress Proves Wisdom
The recorded progress of our republic, materially and spiritually, in itself proves the wisdom of the inherited policy of noninvolvement in Old World affairs. Confident of our ability to work out our own destiny and jealously guarding our right to do so, we seek no part in directing the destinies of the Old World. We do not mean to be entangled. We will accept no responsibility except as our own conscience and judgment, in each instance, may determine.

Our eyes never will be blinded to a developing menace, our ears never deaf to the call of civilization. We recognize the new order in the world, with the closer contacts which progress has wrought. We sense the call of the human heart for fellowship, fraternity and co-operation. We crave friendship, and harbor no hate. But America, our America, the America built on the foundation laid by the inspired fathers, can be a party to no permanent military alliance. It can enter into no political commitments, nor assume any economic obligations which will subject our decisions to any other than our own authority.

I am sure our own people will not misunderstand, nor will the world misconstrue. We have no thought to impede the paths to closer relationship. We wish to promote understanding. We want to do our part in making offensive warfare so hateful that governments and peoples who resort to it must prove the righteousness of their cause or stand as outlaws before the bar of civilization.

Association for Counsel

We are ready to associate ourselves with the nations of the world, great and small, for conference, for counsel, to seek the expressed views of world opinion, to recommend a way to approximate disarmament and relieve the crushing burdens of military and naval establishments.
We elect to participate in suggesting plans for mediation, conciliation and arbitration and would gladly join in that expressed consensus of progress which seeks to clarify and write the laws of international relationship and establish a world court for the disposition of such justifiable questions as nations are agreed to submit thereto. In expressing aspirations, in seeking practical plans, in translating humanity's new concept of righteousness and justice and its hatred of war into recommended action, we are ready most heartily to unite; but every commitment must be made in the exercise of our national sovereignty. Since freedom impelled and independence inspired and nationality exalted a world super-government is contrary to everything we cherish and can have no sanction by our republic. This is not selfishness, it is sanctity. It is not aloofness, it is security. It is not suspicion of others it is patriotic adherence to the things which made us what we are.

Today, better than ever before, we know the aspirations of human kind and share them. We have come to a new realization of our place in the world and a new appraisal of our nation by the world.
The selfishness of these United States is a thing proven, our devotion to peace for ourselves and for the world is well established, our concern for preserved civilization has had its impassioned and heroic expression. There was no American failure to resist the attempted reversion of civilization; there will be no failure today or tomorrow.

Rests on Popular Will

The success of our popular government rests wholly upon the correct interpretation of the deliberate intelligent dependable popular will of America. In a deliberate questioning of a suggested change of national policy, where international-ity was to supersede nationality, we turned to a referendum to the American people. There was ample discussion and there is a public mandate in manifest understanding.

America is ready to encourage,
eager to initiate, anxious to participate in any seemingly program likely to lessen the probability of war and promote that brotherhood of mankind which must be God's highest conception of human relationship.
Because we cherish ideals of justice of peace, because we appraise international comity and helpful relationship no less highly than any people of the world, we aspire to a high plane in the moral leadership of civilization and we hold a maintained America, the proven republic, the unshaken temple of representative democracy, to be not only an inspiration and example, but the highest agency of strengthening good will and promoting accord on both continents.

Man kind needs a world-wide benediction of understanding. It is needed among individuals, among peoples, among governments and it will inaugurate an era of good feeling to mark the birth of a new order. In such understanding mea-will strive confidently for the promotion of their better relationships and nations will promote the comities so essential to peace.

Trade Ties Bind

We must understand that ties of trade bind nations in closest intimacy, and none must receive excep-tance as he gives. We have not strengthened ours in accordance with our resources or our genius, notably on our own continent, where a galaxy of republics reflect the glories of new world democracy, but in the new order of finance and trade we mean to promote enlarged activities and seek expanded confidence.

Perhaps we can make no more helpful contribution by example than prove a republic's capacity to emerge from the wreckage of war. While the world's embittered travail did not leave us devastated lands nor desolated cities, left no gaping wounds, no breast filled with hate, it did evolve us in the delirium of the expenditure, in expanded currency and credits, in unbalanced industry, in unspeakable waste and disturbed relationships. While it undermined our portion of hateful selfishness at home, it also revealed the heart of America as sound and fearless and beating in confidence unfailing.

Amid it all, we have rivited the gaze of all civilization to the unselfishness and the righteousness of representative democracy, where our freedom never has made offensive warfare, never has sought territorial aggrandizement through force, never has turned to the arbitrament of arms until reason has been exhausted. When the governments of earth shall have established a freedom like our own and shall have sanctioned the pursuit of peace as we have practiced it, I believe the last sorrow and the final sacrifice of international warfare will have been written.

Our Supreme Task

Our supreme task is the resumption of our onward normal way. Reconstruction, readjustment, restoration—all these must follow. I would like to hasten them. If it will lighten the spirit and add to the resolution with which we take up the task, let me repeat for our nation, we shall give no people just cause to make war upon us, we hold no national prejudices, we entertain no spirit of revenge, we do not hate, we do not covet, we dream of no conquest nor boast of armed prowess.

If, despite this attitude, war is again forced upon us, I earnestly hope a way may be found which will unify our individual and collective strength and consecrate all America, materially and spiritually, body and soul, to national defense. I can vision the ideal republic, where every man and woman is called under the flag, for assignment to duty, for whatever service, military or civic, the individual is best fitted, where we may call to universal service every plant, agency or facility, all in the sublime sacrifice for country, and not one penny of war profit shall insure to the benefit of private individual, corporation or combination, but all above the normal shall flow into the defence chest of the nation.
There is something inherently wrong, something out of accord with the ideals of representative democracy, when one portion of our citizenship turns its activities to private gain amid defensive war, while another is fighting, sacrificing or dying for national preservation.

Unity of Spirit and Purpose

Out of such universal service will come a new unity of spirit and purpose, a new confidence and consecration, which would make our defense impregnable, our triumph assured. Then we should have little or no disorganization of our economic and commercial system at home, no staggering war debts, no swollen fortunes to flout the sacrifices of our soldiers, no excuse for sedition, no pitiable slackism, no outrage of treason. Envy and jealousy would have no soil for their menacing development and revolution which engenders it.

A regret for the mistakes of yesterday must not, however, blind us to the tasks of today. War never left such an aftermath. There has been staggering loss of life, and measureless wastage of materials.
Nations are still groping for return to stable ways. Discouraging indebtedness confronts us, like all the war-torn nations, and these obligations must be provided for. No civilization can survive repudiation.
We can reduce the abnormal expenditures and we will. We can strike at war taxation, and we must. We must face the grim necessity with full knowledge that the task is to be solved and we must proceed with a full realization that no statute enacted by man can repeal the in-exorable laws of nature. Our most dangerous tendency is to expect too much of government, and at the same time do for it too little.

We contemplate the immediate task of putting our public household in order. We need a rigid and yet sane economy, combined with fiscal justice, and it must be attended by individual prudence and thrift, which are so essential to this trying hour and reassuring for the future.

Reflection of War's Reaction

The business world reflects the disturbances of war's reaction. Here in flows the life blood of material existence. The economic mechanism is intricate and its parts interdependent and has suffered the shocks and jars incident to abnormal demands, credit inflations and price uneasiness. The normal balances have been impaired, the channels of distribution have been clogged, the relations of labor and management have been strained. We must seek the readjustment with care and courage. Our people must give aid and take. Prices must reflect the receding fever of war activities.

Perhaps we never shall know the old levels of wage again, because war invariably readjusts compensations and the necessities of life will show their inseparable relationship, but we must strive for normalcy to reach stability. All the penalties will not be light, nor evenly distributed. There is no way of making them so. There is no instant step from disorder to order.
We must face a condition of grim reality, charge off our losses and start afresh. It is the oldest lesson of civilization. I would like the government to do all it can to mitigate them, in understanding, in mutualty of interest, in common for the common good our tasks will be solved. No altered system will work a miracle. Any wild experiment will only add to the confusion. Our best assurance lies in efficient administration of our proven system.

From Destruction to Production

The forward course of the business cycle is unmistakable. People are turning from destruction to production. Industry has sensed the changed order, and our own people are turning to resume their normal, onward way.
The call is for productive America to go on. I know that congress and the administration will favor every wise government policy to aid the resumption and encourage continued progress.

I speak for administrative efficiency, for lightened tax burdens, for sound commercial practices, for adequate credit facilities, for sympathetic concern for all agricultural problems, for the omission of unnecessary interference of government with business, for an end to government experiments in business and for more efficient business in government administration.
With all of this must attend a mindfulness of the human side of all activities, so that social and economic justice will be squared with the purposes of a righteous people.

With the nation-wide induction of womanhood into our political life, we may count upon her intuitions, her refinements, her intelligence and her influence to exalt the social order. We count upon her exercise of the full privileges and the performance of the duties of citizenship to speed the attainment of the highest state.

Prayer for Industrial Peace

I wish for an America no less alert in guarding against dangers from within than it is watchful against enemies from without. Our fundamental principles no class, no group, no law recognizes as none in legislation. There must be none in legislation or administration. The supreme inspiration is the common weal. Humanity hungers for international peace, and we crave it with all mankind. My most reverent prayer, with America is for industrial peace, with its rewards widely and generally distributed amid the inspirations of equal opportunity. No one justly may deny the equality of opportunity which made us what we are. We have mistaken unpreparedness to embrace it to be a challenge of the reality, and due concern for making all citizens fit for participation will give added strength and citizenship and magnify our achievement.

If revolution insist upon overturning established order, let other peoples make the tragic experiment. There is no place for it in America. When world war threatened civilization, we pledged our resources and our lives to its preservation, and when revolution threatens we unfurl the flag of law and order and renew our consecration.
Ours is a constitutional freedom, where the popular will is the law, where supreme and minorities are scarcely protected. Our revisions, reformations and evolutions are orderly progress, and judgment and not blind force, never destroy or permit destruction by force.
I had rather submit our industrial controversies to the conference table in advance than to a settlement table after a conflict and suffering. The earth is thirsting for the cup of good will, understanding is the fountain source. I would like to acclaim an era of good feeling amid dependable prosperity and all the blessings which attend.

Protection of Industries

It has been proved again and again that we can not, while throwing our markets open to the world, maintain American standards of living and opportunity and hold our industrial empire in such unequal competition.
There is a luring fallacy in the theory of banished barriers of trade, but preserved American standards require our higher production costs to be reflected in our tariffs on imports. Today, as never before, when peoples are seeking trade restoration and expansion, we must adjust our tariffs to the new order. We seek because therein lies our way to widened influence and the triumphs of peace. We know full well we can not sell where we do not buy, and we can not sell successfully where we do not carry. Opportunity is calling not alone for the restoration, but for a new era in production, transportation and trade. We shall answer it best by meeting the demand of a surpassing home market, by promoting self-reliance in production and by bidding enterprise, genius and efficiency to carry our cargoes in American bottoms to the marts of the world.

An America of Homes

We would not have an America living within and for herself alone, but we would have her self-reliant, independent and ever nobler, stronger and richer. Believing in our higher standards, reared through constitutional liberty and maintained opportunity, we invite the world to the same heights.
But pride in things wrought is no reflex of a completed task. Common welfare is the goal of our national endeavor. Wealth is not inimical to welfare, it ought to be its friendliest agency. There never can be equality of rewards or possessions so long as the human plan contains varied talents and differing degrees of industry and thrift, but our ought to be a country free from great blotches of distressed poverty. We ought to find a way to guard against the perils and penalties of unemployment. We want an America of homes, illuminated with hope and happiness, where mothers, freed from the necessity of long hours of toil beyond their own doors, may preside as betters the hearthstone of American citizenship. We want the cradle of American childhood rocked under conditions so wholesome and so hopeful that no blight may touch it in its development, and we want to provide that no selfish interest, no material necessity, no lack of opportunity shall prevent the gaining of that education so essential to best citizenship.

There is no short cut to the making of these ideals into glad realities. The world has witnessed, again and again, the futility and the mischief of ill-considered remedies for social and economic disorders. But we are mindful today as never before of the friction of modern industrialism, and we must learn its causes and reduce its evil consequences by sober and tested methods. Where genius has made for great possibilities, justice and happiness must be reflected in a greater common welfare.

Service, the Supreme Commitment

Service is the supreme commitment of life. I would rejoice to acclaim the era of the Golden Rule and crown it with the autocracy of service. I pledge an administration wherein all the agencies of government are called to serve and ever promote an understanding of government purely as an expression of the popular will.

One can not stand in this presence and be unmindful of the tremendous responsibility. The world upheaval has added heavily to our tasks. But with the realization comes the surge of high resolve, and there is resur-ance in belief in the God-given destiny of our republic. If I felt that there is to be sole responsibility in the executive for the America of tomorrow, I should shrink from the burden. But here are a hundred million, with common concern and shared responsibility, answerable to God and country. The republic summons them to their duty and I invite co-operation.

I accept my part with single-mindedness of purpose and humility of spirit, and implore the favor and guidance of God in his heaven. With these I am unafraid, and confidently face the future.

I have taken the solemn oath of office on that passage of Holy Writ wherein it is asked, "What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly and love mercy, and walk humbly with thy God?" This I plight to God and country

YOU NEVER CAN TAME A WILD CAT

Mr. Dodson Warns Against Use of Treacherous, Dangerous Calomel.

Calomel salivates! It's mercur-ical! Calomel acts like dynamite on a sensitive liver. When calomel comes in contact with your bile it crumbles it, causing cramping and nausea.
If you feel bilious, headachy, con-vulsed and all knocked out, just get your druggist and get a bottle of son's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and easier than nasty calomel and without dangering you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll sick and nauseated tomorrow; but it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children. They like it.—Adv.

Connally Bros. Get 99 Years in Pen-- Bond, 50 Years

Lubbock, Texas, Mar. 6--E. C. Connally and Hulitt Connally, brothers, and Jess Bond, were found guilty of the murder of J. Edgar Craft, by the jury in district court which returned a verdict at 9:00 o'clock Sunday morning, after having been out since 11:30 Saturday night. The Connally brothers were sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary and Bond's penalty was fixed at fifty years.

The jury rendered its verdict to the court behind closed doors and the sentences announced on the accused Monday morning.

The defense will not make any effort to secure a new trial it is announced.

The three men were arrested on Feb. 25, after J. Edgar Craft, telegraph operator for the Santa Fe here, was shot and killed during an attempted hold up of the station. The three later confessed to the killing of Craft but claimed that the firing of the fatal shot was accidental. Hulitt Connally is alleged to have fired the bullet into Craft's body when he told the masked men he did not know the combination on the safe, after he had been ordered to open it.

Ed Connally was charged as being the master mind of the case and Bond was held as an accomplice.

The three men were rushed to the Amarillo jail when feeling began to run high here. A speedy trial was promised and the men were arranged in court Friday morning. The jury was selected Friday and the evidence heard Saturday. The jury was charged at 7 o'clock Saturday and following arguments retired at 11:30 o'clock.

The case has attracted wide attention over this section and was considered by many as having been one of the most brutal murders ever committed in this district.

Growth of Wilson S. S.

The enrollment of the Wilson Sunday School, Sunday, March 6th, was 98. Many new pupils have recently moved into the Wilson community.

Several weeks ago Rev. W. L. Tubbs, of Amarillo, conducted a Teacher's Training Course. Diplomas, granted by the Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tenn., have been received by the twelve who stood the examinations. The teacher of each of the seven classes holds a Normal Diploma with the exception of one.

The school has been graded up to the Senior class. Three classes have already been organized. Some of the classes will have to be divided within the next few weeks, because of the increased attendance.

Report of the Lynn Co. Singing Convention

The Lynn County Singing Convention met at O'Donnell, Feb. 27th, 1921. Convention was opened by the president, Prof. N. C. Rainey, opening song No. 140 in Temple Bells; prayer by Bro. LeMond, of Draw.

Then the leaders of the different classes as they were called, came forward and led class songs and quartets.

We also had leaders from other counties as follows: Prof. J. T. Dyess of Lubbock, Prof. Tisdale, of Dawson County, Prof. J. M. Green, of Brownfield. Prof. Green having been sick for the past two weeks was unable to lead in the singing, which the class regretted very much.

At the noon hour a bounteous dinner was served. It is estimated that there were a thousand people present.

At about 1:30 o'clock, the house was called to order by the president, and the program continued of class singing, quartets and duets until three o'clock, then the business session was held.

The Magnolia class was admitted and the next convention will be held at that place, the fourth Sunday in May, 1921.

Mr. Hatchett's motion to make Tahoka the permanent meeting place, was voted down by a small majority, but will be taken up next meeting day.
