Way Cleared For Russia's Entry Into Pacific War

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 5—Russia denounced her neutrality pact with Tokyo today, bluntly accusing Japan of helping Germany and possibly clearing the way for eventual Soviet entry into the Pacific war.

In a strongly-worded note Moscow linked the European and Pacific wars for the first time by declaring Japan had aided Germany and, "in addition, Japan is fighting against the U.S.A. and Great Britain, which are Allies of the Soviet Union." Moscow broadcast the announcement of its action to the world.

The question whether Russia will go to war against Japan was left unanswered. The denounced five-year neutrality pact does not expire until April 25, 1946—more than a year from now.

Placed In Enemy Camp

But the note which Foreign Minister Vyascheslav Molotov handed Japanese Ambassador Naotake Sato this afternoon in Moscow placed Japan squarely in the enemy's camp and stated Soviet Russia's opinion that Japan had violated the pact.

Shortly before Moscow acted, the government of Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso in Tokyo fell in the midst of a political and military crisis, and Emperor Hirohito summoned Adm. Baron Kantaro Suzuki, 77-year-old president of the privy council, to form a new government.

The Japanese crisis was precipitated by the American invasion of Okinawa and perhaps also by strong prior indications of the ominous Soviet diplomatic blow.

Lost Its Meaning

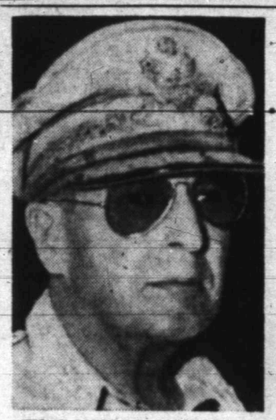

Moscow's announcement said that Molotov told the Japanese ambassador that the neutrality agreement had "lost its meaning and continuance of this pact has become impossible."

Russia ratified the pact April 25, 1941, and it was to have been continued for another five years unless denounced a year before its expiration.

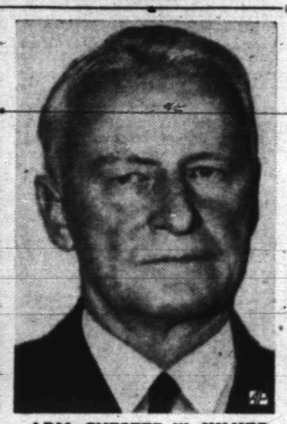

The note given Sato was reminiscent of the same line taken by Russia last September when Russia went to war against Bulgaria, accusing that Axis satellite of aiding Germany against Russia and declaring "Bulgaria actually has been in a state of war with the Soviet Union for a long time."

Anamosity has marked Soviet-

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR

ADM. CHESTER W. NIMITZ

Chiefs Of Pacific Commands Named

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP) — General Douglas MacArthur drew the assignment today to commend all American Army forces in the final cleanup of Japan.

The joint chiefs of staff settled the much-discussed point by reassigning commands in the whole Pacific area, with MacArthur in charge on land and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz directing the United States drive at sea.

The new assignments were disclosed even as Japan reeled under the double blows of Russia's denunciation of a neutrality pact and the fall of the Japanese cabinet.

Toppled Jap Cabinet

It was the close approach of American forces that toppled the Japanese politicos from power, and it was this same factor that made the realignment of American Army-Navy leadership necessary.

Heretofore the commands had been geographically separated, with seas forces in MacArthur's Southwest Pacific area coming under his command and land forces in Nimitz' Pacific Ocean areas taking orders from the admiral.

There had been much unofficial discussion whether MacArthur would go on with the job, or stop in the Philippines where he is now established, and leave the Japan and China campaigns to others.

Lines Being Bent

MacArthur's forces, driving north and west to the Philippines, had been bending the geographical line. The Iwo Jima invasion was an all-Navy show, involving only Marines on land. But the more recent drive onto Okinawa, at Japan's doorstep and involving Army forces, pointed up the need for realignment.

Nimitz has been in technical command at Okinawa. That sort of arrangement can be continued under the joint chiefs' provision

Fund For Cotton Research Asked

AUSTIN, April 5 (AP)—Recommendation for a $336,000 biennial appropriation for the Texas Cotton Research committee was submitted today to the legislature by Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe, acting governor in the absence of Gov. Coke R. Stevenson and Lieut. Gov. John Lee Smith, who are in Mexico.

Moffett, long a champion of research for new and expanded uses of cotton urged that the lawmakers give immediate consideration to financing continued work by the cotton research committee which works jointly at the University of Texas, Texas A & M college and Texas Technological college.

Past appropriations to the research committee total $384,000 and the added income to producers by virtue of the A&M research alone is valued at $1,000,000, said Moffett.

The A&M researchers deal with cottonseed; University of Texas experiments on spun cotton, and Texas Tech scientists work with unspun cotton.

He cited as one product of research the development by A&M college of increasing oil yield from cotton seed by 10 pounds per ton of seed.

Mahon Joins King In Pacific Island View

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) today supported in the House Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King's views that hard-won Pacific island bases should be retained by the United States.

"America cannot, at a peace conference, give up those hard-won bases without betraying the best interests of our country and endangering our security," Mahon said.

Reagan High Calls Roll And 70 Absentees Are Honored

By JOE HOPKINS
Of Houston Chronicle Staff

HOUSTON, April 5. (AP)—They called the roll at Reagan High school in Houston Wednesday night, and there were 70 voices that did not answer. Every school in Texas and the nation has its heroes.

They are the dead. They fell. On the beaches and lonely atolls of the Pacific. Some by night, in the light of the yellow, hateful Pacific moon; some in the vast and lonely skies over continents; and in the snow and mud and loneliness and heartbreak of a Europe locked in death.

It was fitting that the living should gather in the auditorium of the school these had attended to commemorate their memory. And the living gathered, a crowd of 1,250, and listened with bowed heads.

As John L. Andrew, presiding, stepped out on the auditorium stage to call the roll, the lights darkened and a hush fell over the crowd. In that crowd sat Gold Star fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers of the dead. And friends, and many young Reagan students. Mr. Andrew said in a clear voice as though calling someone:

"Donald Carter."

A girl student at Reagan slowly advanced onto the stage, bearing a lighted candle. A piano played softly, and then in the background a massed soft humming by the girls glee club. The girl stood solitary on the stage, at attention, holding the candle, which flared slightly with her breathing.

"Pedro Messa . . ."

"Louis Messa . . ." There were many names called.

The girls advanced one by one

Action Accepted In U. S. As Step Toward Open War

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 5. —Russia's denunciation of her neutrality pact with Japan sent a wave of jubilation through this capital today in the belief that it probably spells much swifter victory in the Pacific.

On all sides, the action was interpreted as a long step toward Russian participation in the war against the Japanese, who would thus be caught in a gigantic squeeze and go down to their doom at a greatly reduced cost in Allied lives.

Some were inclined to restrain their elation, on the ground that only time will tell whether Russia actually intends to strike in the near future. But the general opinion was that the diplomatic move was a forerunner to eventual hostilities.

Action Welcomed

In response to inquiries the State department issued this comment:

"The United States government, of course, welcomes this development."

If the diplomatic step proves to be a prelude to hostilities, the Pacifi enemy will be completely surrounded by belligerent forces of overwhelming power. Her doom, already apparent to the rest of the world, may then become apparent to the Japanese people themselves.

Assuming the accuracy of the general interpretation given the Russian step, here is the situation in which Japan finds herself:

Almost Hemmed-In

From the south she is threatened by advance American positions on the islands of Okinawa and Iwo Jima. Both offer a direct menace to the Tokyo area. In addition, Okinawa seems to offer a forward base from which to operate ships and planes against the enemy's supply lines with Asia.

On the east, Japan lies wide open to the sea for attack or invasion.

To the north her Kuriles island chain lies vulnerably open to assault from American forces in the Aleutians. She has lost all except a trickle of supplies from the Indies to the south and only in China are her armed forces still occasionally successful.

The one area where the Japanese have been free of active organized fighting has been Manchuria-Korea.

It is the Manchurian sector which would burst into flaming warfare if the implications of Russia's denunciation of the neutrality pact are read accurately here. In event of hostilities in that section, the United States airforce presumably would be afforded bases for raiding Japan from the north in the vicinity of the Russian port of Vladivostok.

Another tremendous advantage to the Allies already fighting Japan would be that the main Japanese armies in Asia would be immediately engaged.

Miners Warned Seizure Is Near

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—The War Labor board tonight warned John L. Lewis that unless work stoppages in approximately 200 bituminous coal mines end promptly "the government will have no alternative but to seize and operate the mines on strike."

WLB chairman George W. Taylor addressed a telegram to Lewis as president of the United Mine Workers and John J. O'Leary, UMWA vice president, saying mine strikes are interfering with production of steel and other war materials.

Must Resume Production

"The board calls upon the United Mine Workers of America at this critical stage of the war to take every step necessary to bring about the immediate termination of these work stoppages and the resumption of the production of coal," Dr. Taylor's telegram to Lewis said.

Taylor said that blast furnaces of some steel mills have been forced to close and that others probably would close down within the next 24 hours unless full bituminous production is resumed.

Henderson Murder Case Goes To Jury

VAN HORN, Tex., April 5. (AP)—The case of J. C. Henderson, Jeff Davis county rancher charged with murder in connection with the double slaying of his wife Pearl and her father W. C. Ferris in the Henderson ranch home near Alpine in November, 1943, went to the jury here tonight.

Henderson was the only defense witness to take the stand.

He testified that his father-in-law suffered from faulty vision and shot his daughter while attempting to shoot him, Henderson, as he and his wife struggled for possession of a shotgun at a party. Henderson claimed he was groggy and unable to remember certain facts alleged by state's witnesses who testified that Henderson shot his wife in the back with a pistol as she lay unconscious on the floor.

Henderson said Ferris was killed when the latter attacked him in another part of the house.

Choked Nazi Traffic Lines Are Battered

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 5.—U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators spilled 3,500 tons of explosives today on German targets along the likely routes of the U. S. Third and Seventh armies' drive eastward, rounding out a day in which nearly 5,000 Allied planes from Britain battered the crumbling Reich.

An American force of 1,200 heavies 600 fighters—struck at the Nazi "zero zone," the area of central Germany now being compressed by the Russians from the east and the Americans from the west. The attacks served the double purpose of supporting both fronts.

Blast Choked Traffic

The targets were located on a line forming a huge arc around the western part of Czechoslovakia. Striking ahead of American Seventh Army spearheads, the bombers blasted the choked rail traffic at Nuernberg, burning Nazi shrine city, and an airfield at Unterschlahersbach, just to the southwest, believed to be a jet-plane base.

Other bombers wheeled southward and smashed at an ordnance depot at Inglostadt, between Neurnberg and Munich. Still others swung northeast of Third Army spearheads. These planes pounded rail bottlenecks at Bayreuth and at Plauen, near the Czechoslovak border, and hit an ordnance center at Grafenwohr.

In the Nuernberg area some formations met intense anti-aircraft fire and a few isolated attacks by enemy jet-propelled fighters. One jet plane was shot down by a Thunderbolt escort pilot. Seven parked two-engine fighters were destroyed in a strafing attack on an enemy airfield.

Loss Figures Incomplete

Figures on the American losses were not complete.

The Italy-based U. S. 15th Air force sent out Fortresses which showered fragmentation bombs on parked enemy aircraft on the Campo-Formido airfield near Udine, a fighter base, and Liberators attacked railyards at Brewica and the Dravograd rail bridge in Yugoslavia.

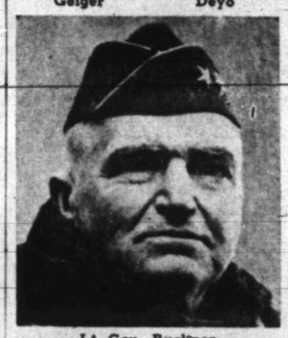

In Germany, Second Tactical Air force fighter bombers knocked out 300 enemy vehicles.

Nine Ships Sunk In Hong Kong Assault

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, April 6. — Philippines-based heavy bombers attacked the vital waterfront area of Hong Kong across the China sea on Wednesday, dropping 168 tons of bombs which set huge fires and sank nine merchant ships. Two other merchantmen and a destroyer were damaged.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, announcing this second successive strike at Hong Kong in his communique today, reported that the 1,000-pound bombs raked shipyards and waterfront installations as well as shipping in the vast harbor.

Storage Tanks Burning

Oil storage tanks were left burning, with smoke rising 7,000 feet.

Japanese fighters sought to intercept the American formation but were driven off after a running aerial battle. All the attacking planes returned.

Other American bombers blockading the China sea wrecked six small freighters from French Indo-China to Formosa and also bombed Indo-China coastal targets at the cost of one plane.

Borneo Battered

Liberators pounded Borneo, now only 30 miles away from MacArthur's latest invasion spot in the Sulu archipelago. Borneo's Miri airdrome was hit and fires were started in the Tarakan oil storage area.

Yanks continued their advance on all fronts in the Philippines, while Fifth Air force planes gave close support to ground operations.

American engineers were engaged in extensive reconstruction of Cebu City and other areas devastated by the enemy.

Nazis Admittedly Are Near Collapse

STOCKHOLM, April 5. (AP) — Das Schwarze Korps, Nazi organ run by Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler, said frankly today that Germany now is "only days or perhaps weeks from absolute collapse."

A Berlin dispatch to Dagens Nyheter, quoting one of the gloomiest predictions yet made by a top-ranking Nazi publication, said Schwarze Korps declared editorially that the German people were "in the remarkable situation of being forced to acknowledge it may be possible to defeat us militarily."

Under the title "People, Hear the Signals," the article said "we raise our voices and direct a word of warning to the world."

SOVIET ACTION HAILED

LONDON, April 5. (AP)—H. V. Evatt, Australian minister for external affairs, said today the Soviet denunciation of the Moscow-Tokyo neutrality pact "demonstrates that Russia will play a notable part in the future security and welfare of the peoples of the Pacific." He described the Russian announcement as "characteristically direct and forthright."

Okinawa Casualties Are Incredibly Low

By MORRIE LANDSBURG

GUAM, Friday, April 6. — Incredibly low American casualties for the first four days of the Okinawa invasion were reported by the Navy today in announcing a sweeping advance on the north end of the Tenth Army line and increasing resistance in the south near the capital city of Naha.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said 175 U. S. soldiers and Marines had been killed and 798 wounded up to midnight Wednesday. This reflected the lightness of the opposition. He gave no figures for naval casualties. A fleet of 1,400 ships aided the momentous inva-

Hobart Says Cattle Industry Thrown Curve In Price Plan

AMARILLO, April 5. (AP)—Fred Hobart, member of the cattle and beef industry's committee which recently held hearings in Chicago and Washington to map a program to offer the government, today said "someone threw us a curve."

He referred to a news story April 2 which quoted Chairman Clinton P. Anderson of the House Food Investigating committee as saying the cattle committee asked for an increase in the government subsidy on choice grades of beef to enlarge consumer supplies without raising retail prices.

Anderson announced receipt of such a recommendation in Washington and his committee began a study to determine whether it would transmit the proposal to the Office of Price administration.

Hobart today denied the group had favored an increase in the subsidy. The Pampa rancher, one of 16 representatives of cattle producers, feeders, packers and retailers who met, said such a proposal was exactly contrary to the actual recommendations.

Hobart said they recommended against subsidies, and favored a wider spread in the wholesale ceiling prices on beef in order to encourage feeders.

"I have just talked with our committee chairman, A. D. Brownfield of Deming, New Mexico, and he is entering our protest," Hobart said.

"We unanimously agreed in Chicago and in Washington against any subsidy and proposed a wider spread between the wholesale price ceilings on the top grades and lower grades of beef as an

British Dash For Bremen

Third Fans Out, Lacking Only 63 Miles Of Slashing Reich In Half

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Friday, April 6—The U. S. Ninth Army broke across the Weser river 157 miles west of Berlin yesterday and the British Second Army in a 30-mile lunge swept up 39 miles south of the great shipbuilding city of Bremen as the enemy fled east along the north German plain.

Without losing a man, the Ninth Army crossed the Weser with troops and tanks south of Hamelin, 23 miles southwest of Hannover.

Simultaneously, the U. S. Third Army struck across Thuringia's hills 130 miles southwest of Berlin in a fanning push that lacked 63 miles of cutting the Reich in half, and the enemy was reported falling back south for the expected last stand in Bavaria's mountain fastnesses.

Canadians Break Loose

The Canadian First Army shook loose an armored column on a 12-mile tear that ripped back into the German peninsula and into Uelsen, on the highway to Bremen and within 53 miles of an arm of the North sea.

This drive, sweeping northward parallel to the British armored push, increased the threat to two German armies, now in retreat toward the Elbe river.

Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Canadian and British forces were battling north on a 100-mile front, and by capturing Stolzenau on the Weser river 39 miles from Bremen the British vanguards had traveled 120 miles from the Rhine. Minden also was seized.

One column on the west was also 40 miles from Bremen after fighting up within less than three miles of Diepholtz.

The battle of annihilation in the Ruhr was rising in fury, as both the U. S. First and Ninth Armies pressed the assault on possibly 150,000 German troops—many of them among the best still left on the Western front. Field Marshal Albert Kesselring was reported trapped there.

The U. S. Ninth Army, under Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's command since the Ardennes breakthrough, was back under the command of Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who thus became the first warrior in American history to command four field armies—a force of at least 1,000,000 fighting men.

Allied armies, capturing at least 26,600 additional prisoners Wednesday, were driving for the knockout all along the front.

The Germans said parachute troops were being rained down by Allied planes in the path of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army, which was pounding across Thuringia in a daring bid to cut Germany in two at the waist and balk any large-scale final stand in the Bavarian mountains.

The Sixth Armored division captured Muehlhausenbn with a population of 36,000, and then roared on eight miles northeast to near Schlotheim, which is 132 miles southwest of Berlin.

Here the Third Army was 72 miles from the great transit city

Reds Gain Heavily In Move To Encircle Vienna, Smashing Powerful Defense Belt

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, April 6 — Tank-led Russian shock troops battled to the southern city limits of Vienna yesterday while other Red Army veterans launched a drive to encircle the Austrian capital after slashing across two of its vital supply links with the war arsenals of Germany and Czechoslovakia.

Assault forces broke across two rivers, a canal and a network of suburban railroads and highways constituting a highly-fortified defense belt and captured the suburban towns of Ober-Laa and Unter-Laa, four and a half miles southeast of famed St. Stephans church in mid-city, Moscow revealed.

Nazi Bulge Rolled Up

Simultaneously, other Soviet troops were rolling up a German bulge in Czechoslovakia's Carpathian mountains, captured industrial Zywiec in southwest Poland and battled closer to the Croation puppet capital of Zagreb in northern Yugoslavia.

Capturing 6,500 prisoners in Yugoslavia, the Russians jumped to 63,500 the number of enemy troops taken in that sector and in southwestern Hungary in the past five days, while in the far north, Red Army men hurled enemy remnants back into Danzig bay in a clean-up of coastal territory north of captured Gydnia.

While three Russian armies surged forward along a blazing

New Thunderbolt Is Now In Production

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—The Army disclosed today that a new Thunderbolt plane, with a combat radius of more than 1,000 miles and a speed in excess of 450 miles per hour, is now in production.

Just 56 days from the drawing board, the P-47N is designed primarily as an offensive fighter but can be used also as a fighter-bomber or as an escort plane on long-range bombing missions.

It is powered with a Pratt and Whitney engine. Armament includes eight .50 caliber machine guns, ten 5-inch high velocity rockets and two 50-pound bombs. The new model was developed by Republic Aviation corporation and the Air Technical Service command.

Blown Bridges Little Deterrent

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ON THE WESER RIVER, Germany, April 5—Despite blown-up bridges, the American Ninth Army's Second Armored division and elements of the 30th Infantry division crossed this next-to-the-last river barrier on the road to Berlin today without a single casualty.

The Second Armored combat command under Brig. Gen. John H. Collier, of San Antonio, Tex., dashed 30 miles by road yesterday and reached the river near Hamelin last night but found the bridges blown.

Heavy Pontoons Used

Early this morning the 30th Infantry, without waiting for assault boats, used heavy pontoons of the 17th Armored Engineers to pull themselves across and attacked toward high ground south of Hamelin. They did not even encounter mortar shot.

A battalion under Lt. Col. Hal D. McCown, Ruston, La., took 110 prisoners including nine officers, who gave up without a struggle and without casualties.

Hamelin, supposed to have a considerable German garrison, overlooked the operation, but in broad daylight engineers of the 17th quickly threw together a

House Passes Judiciary Fund Bill; Two Major Fund Measures Left

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—A $4,447,450 judiciary appropriation, to pay the cost of the state's courts in the next biennium, was approved by the House today and sent to the Senate.

It followed by two days House approval of a $15,781,916 appropriation for the eleemosynary system.

Both bills, representing an increase of $1,553,374 over the same appropriations for the present biennium which ends Aug. 31, now goes to the Senate.

Rural School Aid Bill

The Senate has passed one of the major money bills of the session, a $28,000,000 rural school aid allotment, which is now in the House.

Thus only two more big money bills, those for the support of colleges and state departments, are yet to make their appearance in either branch.

Total appropriations which have been tentatively approved are $48,229,366. This figure is not final since such bills are written finally in free conference committees which adjust differences between the two branches. The comptroller has estimated that general fund appropriations for the new biennium can total $96,344,497 and remain free of the possibility of deficit financing.

The increase in the judiciary appropriation was accounted for almost wholly by salary raises in the lower pay backets. Judges salaries of jurists are pending in committees.

While the House spent most of its time on the appropriations bill the Senate wrangled through a session in which members sought to gain time for preparation of amendments to a bill equalizing insurance premium tax rates between out of state and home insurance companies.

The Senate refused to accept a free conference committee report on a $14,000 deficiency appropriation for soil conservation purposes and asked for a new committee. Some members had objected to removal by the committee of an amendment which requires that the attorney general approve the bill.

Having exhausted the limit of debate on this measure, the members tumbled into another free for all over re-referral of legislation raising the ceiling on old age assistance payments from the constitutional amendments committee to one on county and county boundaries.

Committee Headlock

The motion to yank the measure out of one committee and place it in another was made by Kyle Vick of Waco. This immediately brought Jesse Martin of Fort Worth, committee chairman, to the floor demanding to know "what sort of headlock Vick had upon his committee."

Martin denied the measure had been shelved in committee, explaining that some sort of ceiling should be placed on old age assistance expenditures and that one way to accomplish this would be to deny assistance to those who could be supported by their children.

"Force the children to do this and you will reduce the number of aged recipients materially," he said.

"Some of these old folks are transferring their property to their children in order to qualify for assistance," Martin shouted as the Senate called it a day and adjourned until tomorrow.

Kiwanis Hears Talk On Financial Peril

In speaking at the luncheon of Kiwanis club Thursday in Lubbock hotel, Dr. A. Caswell Ellis of the extension department of the University of Texas, said "we must become better educated and develop our vast resources if we are to solve the financial problems that arise after the war.

In speaking on the subject, "Our Financial Peril and the Way Out," Dr. Ellis pointed out that many thousands of men and women have been trained during the last four years in various skills and that these could be utilized when the war is over.

He said that there is a larger supply of trained engineers, technicians, machinists and others now than ever before. Also manufacturers of the nation are spending millions of dollars in research, developing new materials.

In answer to the common question of where the money will come from to buy all the things that will be manufactured, Dr. Ellis said that this nation now has the biggest backlog of buying power in its history, there being more than 40 billions of dollars in the nation's banks.

Dr. Ellis was introduced by A. C. Jackson, program chairman. Guests included Lt. Joe Terry Jackson of the U. S. Marines, Rowland McCormick and A. C. Strickland, both of Slaton, and Guy Ragland of Wichita Falls. President W. C. Wood presidedt.

To help feel your best—

IT'S VITALLY IMPORTANT TO KEEP PROPER IRON LEVEL IN THE BLOOD

One-ounce dish of KELLOGG'S All-Bran gives over ½rd your daily minimum iron needs

EVERYONE, young or old, needs iron constantly to help keep up the "iron level" in the blood—to help keep vitality up to par.

The best place to get iron is in foods. But—there are only a few foods that have a significant amount of iron. Thus, your diet can be lacking in iron without your knowing it—and your "iron level" may decline.

Fortunately, there is one everyday breakfast cereal that is a rich, inexpensive source of readily assimilable iron. It's KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, which actually gives you more available iron than spinach. And, in addition to iron richness, this nut-brown, crunchy breakfast cereal is an important natural source of calcium, phosphorus, and vitamins B1, B2 and niacin. That's because ALL-BRAN, produced by Kellogg's in Battle Creek, is made from the vital outer layers of finest wheat.

KELLOGG'S All-Bran is made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat

You know that the skin of a potato and the peel of an apple are richest in vitamins and minerals. In the vital outer layers of wheat, too, Nature stores some of the grain's most important nutrients. ALL-BRAN is made of these vital outer layers and is more abundant in many food elements than whole wheat itself.

America's Great Regulating Cereal

And, in addition to being a storehouse of iron and other important elements, famous KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is Nature's great REGULATING CEREAL. Millions eat it regularly. It's America's most widely used regulating FOOD. Just 1 one-ounce serving eaten daily is usually adequate for satisfactory laxation. ALL-BRAN does not interfere with normal digestion. It is triple-milled for golden softness.

Be sure your family gets a good start on its requirements of iron and other important food elements! Serve KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly.

DONOR OF 7 PINTS OF BLOOD

MORE BLOOD DONATIONS NEEDED NOW

Miss Edith Jane Meyer, 835 Trinity Ave., Bronx, N. Y., gave her first pint of blood on her 21st birthday, two years ago. To date, she has donated 7 pints. Other patriots are urged to donate blood for urgently needed plasma. Fluid part of the blood is restored in a few hours. Maintaining the body's proper "iron level" helps to rebuild the red corpuscles.

Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN as a cereal, in muffins, or on other cereals.

It also increases maximum unemployment benefit payments from $15 to $8 per week and the maximum duration of payments from 16 to 18 weeks.

Culberson said that Texas possesses practically 70 per cent of the known reserves of the United States and expressed the fear that the federal government was going to grab control of the gas industry.

Standard Official Calls For Research

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 5. (U.P.)—Dr. Robert F. Wilson, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, today called for continuation of private research in industrial problems, suggesting government funds be granted university and college laboratories "with no political strings attached."

Wilson said competition was essential to successful research and that the government "should not engage in applied research."

"However, we do not have adequate facilities for basic or fundamental research, and we should find a way to improve this situation," he said.

Wilson said that in the past, many valuable discoveries made by government-controlled agencies never had been developed because industry was reluctant to perfect processes which would immediately become available to competitors.

DOCTOR DIES

SAN ANGELO, April 5. (AP) — Dr. George L. Lewis, 63, prominent physician and ranchman here, died in a San Angelo hospital today of a heart attack. Survivors include the widow; a son, Lt. Jack Lewis, Navy chaplain; and a daughter, Mrs. Blake V. Duncan of San Angelo.

General Warns On Work Letup

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—Cessation of the war in Europe, which "is rapidly reaching a climax," should not be a signal for relaxation of war effort, Maj. Gen. Richard Donovan, commanding general of the Eighth Service command, told a joint session of the legislature today.

"The fitting way to celebrate, will be intensification of your war effort. Never let relief become relaxation," said the general who emphasized that after the European was is over, Japan still remains to be whipped and "when the last pillbox is burned out and the last Japanese sniper lies dead, we still have work to do — the maintenance of lasting peace."

Gen. Donovan said Texas has made a "direct and powerful contribution to this war," both in men and materials.

"The Eighth Service command has sent 33 infantry and armored divisions to war fronts in both Europe and the Pacific," said Gen. Donovan, "and of these 21 have been form Texas."

Five of the eight hospitals in the Eighth Service command are in this state, and within a short time the Brooks General hospital at Fort Sam Houston will expand to 5,000 capacity for convalescent servicemen.

One-third of the nation's war prisoners are held in Texas and have contributed to the state's economy by harvesting one-half of the rice acreage and considerable acreage in corn, sorghum and other crops.

Gen. Donovan predicted that Texas could expect war industry and military affairs to form an integral part of its life and economy for years after this war is over inasmuch as both the climate and terrain are so well suited to Army needs.

Inspection Of War Equipment Planned

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — Represtatives Walter (D-Pa) and Worley (D-Tex) are on their way to Europe to inspect war equipment and supplies for a special House postwar planning and policy committee studying surplus property disposal problems.

The date of their departure was not made public but Walter's secretary said they would arrive in England shortly.

Named as a subcommittee for the trip, Walter and Worley expect to visit England, France, Italy and perhaps Germany, the secretary said.

Worley said recently their attention would be focused primarily on maritime problems, including plans by various European nations for rebuilding their merchant marine fleets.

He declared that disposition of the vast tonnage of cargo ships built in the United States since the war began, depends partially on the plans of European powers for carrying on world commerce.

Data obtained on the trip, he added, should help the committee in determining how much tonnage should be reserved for American flag lines and what kind of trade routes they might operate.

Earlier Sessions Of Senate Are Approved

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky) obtained approval late today of a motion calling for earlier sessions of the Senate beginning tomorrow in the hope of speeding final action on the controversial U. S.-Mexico water treaty.

At his suggestion, Senator Downey (D-Calif) a treaty opponent, said he would offer the first of a series of proposed amendments tomorrow if he can get "a respectable attendance" for the debate.

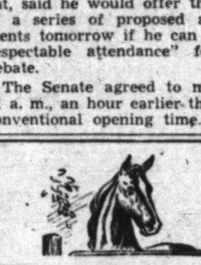

The Senate agreed to meet at 11 a. m., an hour earlier than the conventional opening time.

SAFETY AWARDS

CHICAGO, April 5. (AP)—Five Texas cities won honorable mention awards in the national traffic safety contest for 1944, conducted by the National Safety council. They were Corpus Christi in the 50,000 to 100,000 population group; Wichita Falls in the 25,000 to 50,000; and University Park, Sherman, and Highland Park in the 10,000 to 25,000 group.

The word "tariff" comes from the little North African town of Tarifa, near Tangiers, where ships had to pay to pass a century ago.

APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY

WE have wondered for several years where people go who can't seem to remain through a church service. Of course, there is the possibility of a roast being left in the oven, or a mother may worry about her child in the nursery. Sometimes worshippers become ill and find it necessary to get fresh air. But by and large we have an idea they are tired, or bored, and decided to leave for no sound reason.

A minister once told the late Dwight L. Moody, who was to occupy his pulpit that morning, that he was ashamed to admit that many of his people had formed the habit of leaving church before the close of the services.

Mr. Moody told the minister to not be troubled since he had had experience with that kind of congregation before and could handle the situation.

When the evangelist arose to deliver his sermon, he explained he was to divide his discourse into two sections. The first section would be addressed to sinners, the last to saints. After speaking a few minutes, he interjected, "I have finished my remarks to the sinners, and they may leave if they wish. I will now address myself to the saints." And not a soul left the church.

1,400,000 LETTERS

A weekly exchange of 1,400,000 letters between United States Army soldiers on the Western front and civilians in the British Isles testified that battle-busy American troops still find time to take up old ties of friendship formed when they were stationed in Great Britain. The total is almost evenly divided between British civilians and their American friends, according to Maj. Frank P. Kaine, South Plainfield, N. J., postal officer of the United Kingdom zase, who disclosed the figure. The increased traffic, he explained, can be attributed to the British government's decision to grant custom-free exemptions to American forces on the same basis extended to British overseas troops. Whenever possible, the mail is transported by air.

German Village Learns About War The Hard Way, And Cost Is Heavy

By ANN STRINGER
United Press War Writer

SCHERFEDE, Germany, April 3 (Delayed)—Until last night this little village nestled in a pine forest didn't know what war meant. It knows now. It learned the hard way.

That young woman coming down the street knows about war now. She is pushing a baby buggy. In it is a little girl, about 18 months old. She lies still in the buggy. One side of the pink blanket wrapped around the baby is wet with blood.

Gaping Leg Wound

The weeping mother pushes the buggy to an American aid station. They dress the gaping wound in the child's leg. That's all they can do. They tell her the best thing is to take the baby home and call in a German doctor. Our doctors have their hands full with their own wounded.

They hate the idea of having to send the baby away, but what could they do?

Here's how the baby's mother and her fellow citizens of Scherfede learned about war.

Last night American infantry approached the village. They knew German troops, Elite Guards at that, were hiding there and waiting for them. So, as Sgt. Donald R. Weishaupt of Panama, Okla., relates it:

Warned To Surrender

"We set up a loud speaker system. We told the citizens in both German and English that we had them surrounded. We told them they had no possible chance. We asked them to surrender and save their town.

"Some of the civilians did come out. But the troops stayed."

When the deadline came, our artillery turned loose on the village. Today many houses lie crumpled into the streets, some of them still smouldering. On one street four milk cows lie dead. Their stiff legs poke out straight in the air.

A little old woman is digging in the wreckage of what had been a house. Probably even she doesn't know just what she is looking for—something from her home to take away.

Twenty two captured SS men in black leather togs are being marched through the town. At the edge of it is a German self-propelled gun, undamaged. Atop it are a few limbs and leaves for camouflage.

More Bodies Nearby

On a hill outside the village are the bodies of three more SS men. A grave detail is there now, collecting them for burial.

In a little valley nearby is a wounded elite guard. Through their glasses our doctors saw he was lying on a grenade. They'd go almost anywhere to help the wounded, even a Nazi. But they are not foolish enough to walk up to a wounded German lying on a grenade.

This time it might be all right. The Nazi might respect the Red Cross of the medics coming to save his life. But too many times it has been a different story. So as long as he has that grenade the medics are not going near him.

It cost the lives of many Americans to teach Scherfede about war. But it cost German lives, too.

Judgment Given In Estate Tax Case

DALLAS, April 5 (AP)—The state bar, attacking the constitutionality of a 1942 estate tax act which applies only to community property states, won a judgment yesterday for return of $11,964 in estate taxes in the suit of W. M. Castleberry, Pampa, as executor of the estate of his deceased wife.

Federal Judge William H. Atwell returned the judgment.

The state bar appointed a committee to conduct the fight against the act, contending it is confiscatory and unconstitutional because it applies only to community property states.

Burleson, who was reported missing in action over Austria Feb. 21 and returned safely March 22, wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vivian N. Burleson of 1115 Thirty-first, that Italy was "the most beautiful place" he had ever seen when giving an account of his experience. Lt. Burleson, squadron bombardier of a 15th Army Air forces B-24 group, said they hit the target over Venna before being shot down and the entire crew escaped uninjured and returned to their base. New Rulings Given On Elections, Jobs

AUSTIN, April 5, (AP)—The attorney general has ruled that any candidate for local office, whether elected or not, is subject to a fine of from $200 to $500 if he fails within 10 days after a general election to file an itemized expense account.

This opinion was requested by District Attorney R. C. Hughes of San Angelo, who wanted to know whether the wording "before or during his candidacy" in connection with the requirement for candidates might have rendered the law invalid by reason of being vague and indefinite.

The attorney general also ruled that kinsmen of members of the House of Representatives may not be appointed to state offices that require confirmation of the Senate. Previous rulings have held that no person elected to the House or Senate is eligible for such appointment during the term for which he was elected.

Former Soldier Has Four-Fold Problem

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 5. (U.P.)—Jack W. Dees had a four-fold problem today, the likes of which he never knew during three years of service in the Army air forces.

In the first place, he became the father of triplets.

In the fourth place, he had to find vastly expanded living quarters for his vastly expanded family.

Dees, now a TWA engineer, learned that his first born probably would number at least three. The doctor said the blessed events were due in two weeks so Dees lost no time in appearing at the TWA housing bureau today to seek new quarters.

"We're living in a crackerbox out here that is hardly large enough for two, let alone five—or six," he reported.

The housing bureau promised to keep its eye open. But a few minutes after Dees left, he phoned back. The need was now urgent.

Triplet girls had just arrived.

"I flew a B-25 we named "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen,'" he said. "And we brought her back from every mission. Now where am I going to take the real Kathleen?"

Dees formerly lived in Detroit. His wife, Mrs. Kathleen Dees, is the daughter of Mrs. Catherine McCormick of Washington, D. C. Dees was discharged from the Army last January.

Tom Gwaltney Dies Of Heart Attack

FORT WORTH, April 5 (U.P.)—Funeral services were being planned today for W. Tom Gwaltney, 58-year old insurance company representative, who died of a heart attack yesterday at the wheel of his car, which crashed into a street sign.

He was in 1939 the only insurance salesman in Fort Worth belonging to the Million Dollar club, an insurance organization whose members have sold more than $1,000,000 worth of insurance. He was a Mason and Shriner. Gwaltney is survived by his widow, a son, two sisters and a nephew.

Warning Is Given On Childhood Diseases

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP) — Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, warned today against "treating even light cases of measles, chicken-pox, mumps, scarlet fever, or any other of the communicable diseases of childhood as though they did not amount to much."

That sort of treatment, said Dr. Cox, "makes it possible for these diseases to spread and cause serious outbreaks among children and their resulting impaired resistance makes them easy victims to other forms of infection."

Incident of mumps and chicken-pox are currently 50 per cent higher than the 7-year median.

Many Arrested In Drive At Houston

HOUSTON, April 5. (U.P.) — The Houston-Harris county drive on vagrants and suspicious persons continued today as the total number arrested in the last two days mounted to 136.

However, only 90 persons were held in the city jail today, as compared to 127 Wednesday. Many of them had been released in the police screening process.

The drive was launched Tuesday afternoon by Texas rangers, deputies and city policemen as the start of an effort to rid Houston and Harris county of safe crackers, confidence men and other criminals.

Farmers Rush To Move Stored Wheat

AMARILLO, April 5. (U.P.) — A bumper wheat harvest crop waved greenly in the wild in the Texas Panhandle today while worried farmers waited in long truck lines before scores of elevators in a rush to get the 1944 crop out of farm storage in time.

The 1945 crop will be ready for harvest in late June, experts said, and millions of bushels of old wheat must be sent to market before then.

Trucks piled high with grain are lined up for 24 hours at a time at elevators in some north Panhandle towns. Officials of the Santa Fe railroad said today they are providing all available cars to ship the Texas wheat. Coal cars even are being pressed into service in an attempt to move the crop.

Meantime, a new 500,000 bushel elevator under construction at Perryton and another with 300,000 bushel capacity at Farnsworth, will be finished in time for the 1945 crop, officials said.

Plans Set Up For Baseball Leagues

Lubbock's junior baseball leaders mapped plans for the coming season Thursday night at a meeting at the American Legion hall, with leaders taking an optimistic view on night baseball for the older league this season.

Plans are being pushed forward for the some operating setup as last season, four teams in the older league and six in the smaller loop.

Limit To 18 Years

Eligibility rules for the age limits on the boys was set Thursday night, with the top limit being boys "not yet 18 years of age before June 1." In the smaller league the same date applies with the age of 15 as the key. In the smaller league, the age runs downward to any age boy able to make the team.

An effort was made to get the age limit on the older league to conform with the American Legion rules, which would rule out most of the 17-year-old boys, but a fight against this was led by H. I. "Stoney" Wall, and the measure was defeated.

The optimistic view of playing night baseball here among the older league teams was advanced by the leaders during the meeting, but it will be some time before this fact is determined. If lights are installed, the games will be played at Chapman field, regular site of the games.

Many other improvements to the Chapman field diamond are being planned, other than the hoped for lights. Efforts will be made to get better seating conditions, and a water cooler.

Have Three Fields

The smaller league this year will play on the Boys Club diamond, leaving last year's site, Tech field, open for a practice diamond for the local teams to use on their off days.

Teams will be divided up as they were last year, at the close of the annual baseball school, but just what method will be employed was not worked out at the meeting.

Team rosters will total 15 men to each club, with any new members added only at the certification of the eligibility committee, and will not be eligible to play for 24 hours after being certified. This committee is made up of Bill Dean, Stoney Wall and Dell Morgan.

All Boys Invited

No territory limits were placed on the teams, and any boys in the Lubbock area, who are interested, and can be on hand for the games, are urged to take part in the junior baseball program in Lubbock. The only requirement is the regular rules of the league in which they play. The same blanket invitation is also extended for the baseball school, scheduled May 23-26 at Chapman field.

League play is scheduled to start June 4.

It was also announced at the meeting that the films of the 1944 World Series, and the film "Inside Baseball" would be brought back to Lubbock next week. It will be shown Thursday night at the American Legion hall, Friday night at the Boys club and Saturday night at the Recreation Center.

Details were also worked out at the meeting for the purchase and distribution of baseball equipment for the leagues. Uniforms, bats and balls will be obtained as soon as possible.

Much of the financial aid of the leagues, and to provide a fund for future expansion of the sport was discussed in the form of a "Dad's Knothole Gang" was discussed with membership cards being sold later to men in Lubbock to help along the worthy program.

Another meeting will be held later to make final plans for the baseball school, and discuss final plans.

Mackmen Pound Out Victory Over Birds

ABERDEEN, Md., April 5. (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics, pounding in eight runs in the first inning, defeated the International League Baltimore Orioles 9-6 today in a wind-swept game which was halted in the seventh inning.

Oriole pitcher Walt Jamison was blasted by the A's. Russ Christopher, the Athletics' star hurler, held the Orioles to two hits in three innings.

Nelson Leading Atlanta Tourney

ATLANTA, April 5. (AP) — Big Bryon Nelson, the blonde Texas shotmaster, tore the capital city course to pieces today with a sparkling five - under - par 64 to lead the first round of the Iron Lung golf tournament.

Battling against a high wind which sent scores of most of the other touring pros skyrocketing, Nelson was precision all the way with seven birdies racked up for the day. Two bogies kept him from taking an even longer lead.

Deadlocked for second place with par 69's were the other two big money winners of the winter circuit, Slammin' Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, W. Va., and Jug McSpaden of Sanford, Me. Snead continued the erratic putting which cost him dearly in three Carolina tournaments recently.

Nelson, leading the tour with seven tournaments bagged to date against six for Snead, shot a 32 on each nine. Long drives, sharp approaches and accurate putting featured the Toledo star's play throughout. A 45-foot putt for a birdie three on no. 15, a 425 yarder, was the highlight.

Ed Dudley, Professional Golfers association president, and Orville White, Winston-Salem, N. C., stayed in the running with 70's.

Breakup Of All-Star Navy Teams Ordered

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP) — The Navy formally ordered today that its all-star athletic teams in this country be broken up for morale purposes with more emphasis on games in battle areas.

This new policy apparently means that some star players will be transferred to the Pacific area to give servicemen an opportunity to see first class baseball this summer and other sports later.

The order applies to all forms of athletics, and rubs out a promising season in the continental United States for the Great Lakes team, coached by Bob Feller, Cleveland Indian pitching star.

It also puts an end to brilliant football successes, such as those scored by the Bainbridge, Md., training station eleven, among the nation's best for two years.

But some baseball and football stars who have played on teams like Great Lakes and Bainbridge probably will perform for the fighting men in the Pacific.

The Navy said that it does not favor "deliberate concentration of professional or publicly known athletes within the continental United States for the purpose of exploiting their specialties in athletic team competition."

Aggies To Play Six San Antonio Games

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., April 5. (U.P) — Texas A. & M. football teams will play one football game a season at San Antonio for the next six seasons, the school's athletic council announced today.

Texas Tech will be the opponent this fall and in 1946 and 1947 while opponents for the other three years have not been selected, the council said in announcing the signing of a five year contract with San Antonio officials.

The council also awarded basketball letters to Milton Cherno, Bob Collins, Hub Ellis, Dick Goad, Bill McCormick, Charlie Weinbaum and Oscar White.

Track Stars Set For Texas Meet

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP) — Five states and the Republic of Mexico will be represented in the more than 600 athletes coming here this week-end for the eighteenth Texas Relays.

The entry list today showed sixteen colleges and universities from Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Louisiana and Mexico along with 14 Texas service teams and one from Alabama, while Texas high schools, 36 strong, will furnish almost half the athletes.

The relays are scheduled Saturday but two high school preliminaries will be run off tomorrow afternoon.

Service Stars Entered

Included among the entries in the college-university-service team division is Charles Hlad of Foster Field, Victoria, Tex., who in his college days ran the high hurdles in 13.9 at Michigan State Normal.

Other stars in this division are Irvin Moore of Corpus Christi Naval Air station, who several weeks ago at Fort Worth's Exposition meet soared 13 feet 7½ inches in the pole vault, and Neill Armstrong, crack hurdler from Oklahoma A. and M. who won both these events at the Fort Worth meet.

Included, too, are Bob Umstead of Texas, Southwest Conference champion in the half mile and mile and Jake Leicht, former Oregon university sprinter who will run on relay teams from Randolph Field.

Two Records In Danger

But despite the classy field, no records appear in danger in the college-university section which produced some of the nation's top marks before the war.

In the high school class, however, at least two records are due to fall as August Erfurth, Brackenridge (San Anoino) hurdler assaults his own mark of 14.5 in the high hurdles and Desmond Kidd, Austin star, goes after the quarter-mile standard of 51.6, set last year by Roy Holbrook of Goose Creek, who this year will be running for Texas A. and M. Erfurth already has done the hurdles in 14.4 this season and Kidd has run the quarter in 50.1.

Browns Defeat Hens In Tenth Tilt, 3-1

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., April 5. (AP) — The St. Louis Browns defeated the Toledo Mudhens 3 to 1 in their tenth exhibition game today.

The Browns scored in the second when Martin was safe on an error by Thompson, moved to second and third on infield outs and crossed the plate as Whitehead fumbled an easy roller off Mancuso's bat.

St. Louis tallied in the fifth after Mancuso doubled, going to third on Gene Moore's fly and trotting home on Gutteridge's single. In the eighth Kreevich scored from third.

Schoendienst Given Praise By Skipper

ST. LOUIS, April 5. (AP)—Al (Red) Schoendienst, rookie infielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, got a pat on the back today from Manager Billy Southworth, who placed the youngster in left field in his lineup for the spring series game with the St. Louis Browns Saturday.

"When I look at that redhead I just don't feel I've lost Stan Musial," Southworth said.

Red Raiders Open Workouts With 24 On Football Squad

Encountering brisk football weather for the opening day, Texas Tech's Red Raiders opened the spring football camp Thursday afternoon at Tech stadium with 24 men reporting to Coaches Dell Morgan and Polk Robison for the opening session.

The camp will last 30 days, Coach Morgan announced.

The opening squad consisted of 16 linemen and eight backfield men, with a fair sprinkling of lettermen among those reporting the first day. Several others are expected to be out with the squad in the next few days.

After limbering up the squad, Coaches Morgan and Robison sent to work on showing the players the changes voted in the football rules this week by the National rules body.

The new stance for centers, the barring of the "elbow block" and the permitting of passing from any point back of the line of scrimmage came in for the greatest attention on the part of the coaches.

After the first workout under the new rules, Morgan expressed an opinion that the new rules would not make much difference in the game. The pass rule "might add a few plays" to the regular bag of tricks of a team, but otherwise would show little difference.

Gus Mancuso Eager To Play For Phillies

WILMINGTON, Del., April 5. (AP) — Time was when a big league player, snared by the Philadelphia Phillies, knew he had hit rock bottom. But Gus Mancuso says it was the biggest break in his 20 years of baseball.

And don't think Mancuso, now with his fifth National League club, didn't have his share of good breaks. The veteran catcher, who is beginning his 17th year in the big show, has been on the receiving end of 13 World Series checks.

"I look forward with more enthusiasm this year, my first with Philadelphia, than I did when I broke into the big leagues in 1928. I turned down bids from three other major league teams and several attractive offers from minor league clubs to play with the Phillies.

"I believe this is a growing organization. I think in a few years the Phillies' farm system will rival any in baseball.

"That means it will be necessary to develop players. I'd like to help. Does that mean I'd like to become a manager some day? Why not? When I'm no longer useful to a club behind the plate, I'd love to teach."

However, Gus is not yet ready to lay aside his mask and mitt. In fact, he was at a loss to explain why the New York Giants released him at the end of the 1944 season.

Reds Pitchers Hurl Victory Over Mates

FRENCH LICK, Ind., April 5. (AP) — Loaned to the Chicago Cubs for the day, oldster pitchers Hod Lisenbee and Guy Bush held their brother Cincinnati Reds to seven hits today as the Chicago outfit won the first exhibition game between the two clubs, 5 to 0 in seven innings.

The Cubs leaped on freshman pitcher Herman Wehmeier, Cincinnati high school boy, and scored all their runs in the first inning.

TRIBE STOCK CLIMBS

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 5. (AP) —The Cleveland Indians' infield stock increased today with word that Ed Wheeler, third baseman drafted from the San Diego club of the Pacific Coast League, would join the squad next week.

Officials Clear Up Status For Players

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—The War department said today that any baseball player "holding a deferment" for working in essential industry is subject, as in the case of other war workers, to immediate induction if he leaves that job.

Regardless of what his physical condition may be, he probably would be inducted, it was pointed out.

However, players in war plants without deferments are subject to only normal draft procedure, based mainly on physical examinations, if they return to baseball.

"The nub of the situation for a ball player is whether he has been deferred on the basis of working in essential industry," a War department person said.

"We are still operating under a months-old directive by James F. Byrnes, then war mobilizer, that anybody leaving a job for which he was deferred shall be picked up immediately," he said.

It was suggested that ball players go to their local draft boards for determination of this status before leaving war jobs for the diamond. What happens then, in most instances, will depend largely on local conditions.

CHISOX ALL IN

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 5. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox squad today reached its full total of 37 players with the arrival of infielder Joe Orengo and pitcher Johnny Humphries, both of whom worked out with the team. The addition of Humphries gives Manager Jimmy Dykes eight potential starting hurlers.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

PITTSBURGH, April 5. (AP) — Third baseman Bob Elliott of the Pittsburgh Pirates was released from Deshon General hospital today after his fourth examination to determine his draft status. Elliott said he plans to leave for Muncie, Ind., tomorrow to join his teammates, while awaiting final word from Washington.

SHOES FOR WATCHES

PHILADELPHIA, April 5. (AP)—Penn Relays officials just don't have the time to hunt up gold watches for winners of special events.

Because of the scarcity of timepieces, gold track shoes will be awarded in the April 27-28 meet instead of gold watches, traditional for 50 years.

Educator Warns On Low Salaries

The war has reduced enrollment in teachers' colleges 40 per cent and unless salaries for public school teachers are increased a semblance of this condition will likely prevail in the post-war era, Dr. A. Caswell Ellis, consultant on adult education of the University of Texas, declared in a talk Thursday night to members of the Lubbock County Teachers association in the Lubbock High school auditorium.

"More and better school teachers are needed," he said. Whether they are to be available depends on the salary question, he indicated.

Lifetime Education

He said that one of the principal weak spots in the current system of education is the premise that a lifetime of education can be "crammed into a student" by the time he or she reaches the age of 21. He suggested a "lifetime system of education" in which everyone would be enabled to continue study throughout the life span. Night schools offering courses perhaps three nights a week might be the answer, he said.

Preceding Dr. Ellis' talk, Ishmael Hill, principal of Central Ward school, was elected president of the association to succeed M. S. Kavanaugh, superintendent of Slaton schools.

E. A. Deering, superintendent at Cooper, was elected vice president; Miss Martha Mathis, of Lubbock Junior High, re-elected secretary; R. W. Matthews, superintendent of Lubbock schools, re-elected treasurer.

Delegates Are Named

Delegates elected to represent the county in district and state executive sessions of the Texas State Teachers association were: Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, of Texas Technological college; Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal of Wilson; Miss Mary Lou Roberson, of Junior High; Miss Irene Armes, of Senior High; Roy Boyd, superintendent of county schools; Miss Aline McCarty, of Senior High; Henry Elder, of Senior High; Mrs. J. T. Shaver, local ward school teacher; Mrs. J. B. Caldwell, of Slaton; Mrs. Guy Trow, principal of Dupree; Mrs. J. R. Bridges, local ward school teacher; Kavanaugh.

Dr. Caswell's several talks here were sponsored by the association together with the Association of Child Education and the Lubbock Classroom Teachers association.

Pacific Advances

sion of the Ryukyu island only 325 miles south of Japan proper.

No Jap Figures Announced

No Japanese casualty figures were announced, although they are considerably higher.

Marines at the north scored gains up to four and one-half miles along the narrow Ishikawa isthmus, still finding "ineffective" opposition, but 24th corps infantrymen moving on Naha, a city of 66,000 population, ran into increasingly stiff resistance among fixed defensive positions.

Their advance, previously measured in miles, was only about 3,000 yards. It appeared possible that the first big action of the campaign was building up.

Terrain Ideal For Nips

Associated Press correspondent Robbin Soons told how the Americans on the south end of the line could look ahead to rolling hills with sharp gullies and caves—ideal terrain for the Japanese type of defense.

Sixty-five planes were destroyed out of Japanese air fleets raiding American positions and shipping in the first five days, Nimitz reported.

Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger's Third Marine amphibious corps secured the Ishikawa isthmus, narrowest of the 65-mile-long island — an area which could have been defended comparatively easily by the Japanese but was not.

77th Nears Naha

Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce's 77th division, moving down the west coast upon the capital city of Naha and its nearby airdrome, advanced about 3,000 yards into areas which Admiral Nimitz described as "organized for defense by the enemy."

"By nightfall," Nimitz reported, "resistance to the advance was increasing."

The Yanks were closely supported by naval gunfire and carrier aircraft.

9,000 Natives Surrender

Allied Military government for Okinawa has been established and Nimitz said it was functioning satisfactorily. About 9,000 Japanese civilians have surrendered so far. Considerable stocks of enemy foodstuffs have been captured.

Soviet Cancels Neutrality Pact

Japanese relations for 50 years, and both countries have strong armies massed on the Soviet-Manchurian frontier, where border "skirmishes" amounting to large-scale battles were fought and largely overlooked by the rest of the world during the opening days of World war two in Europe.

Gives Soviet Free Hand

The repudiation of the pact gave Russia a free hand for joining in any joint action the United Nations might decide to take against Japan at the San Francisco conference opening April 25.

The main purpose of this meeting is to lay the foundation for an international security organization against aggressors—and Premier Stalin already has publicly branded Japan "a typical aggressor nation"—equally guilty with Germany.

British official circles here were silent on the possible implications of Russia's latest move, but the first comment from the British Press association's diplomatic correspondent said "it seems something more than coincidence that the resignation of the Japanese government should precede so shortly the Soviet announcement."

The first official reaction came from H. V. Evatt, Australian Foreign Minister here for a Dominions conference, who said that the Molotov declaration "demonstrates that Russia will play a notable part in the future security and welfare of the peoples of the Pacific."

Called Characteristic

Describing the Moscow announcement as "characteristically direct and forthright," Evatt said "it shows that the Soviet despite its gigantic war effort in the west spurns the arch aggressor of the east."

Evatt said the denunciation of the treaty would be "hailed with the greatest satisfaction throughout the whole Pacific area."

Reuters' diplomatic correspondent commented: "Even the most sanguine among the Japanese must now abandon the sense of security in the direction of Russia which Japan has hitherto cherished."

Molotov handed Sato the note at 3 p. m. It pointed out that since the conclusion of the treaty in 1941 "ths situation has radically changed."

"Germany attacked the USSR and Japan — Germany's ally — helped the latter in her war against the USSR," it continued. "In addition, Japan is fighting against the USA and Great Britain, which are the allies of the Soviet Union. In such a situation the pact of neutrality between Japan and the USSR has lost its meaning and the continuance of this pact has become impossible."

Long Time Resident At Dickens Dies

Daniel Lafette Boothe, 69, of Dickens, a resident of the South Plains for the last 32 years, died at 2:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon in a Spur hospital.

He is survived by his wife; four sons, Elbert and Orville of Abilene, Earl of Redmon, Ore., and Wilbur, with the Army somewhere in the Philippines; one daughter, Mrs. Addie Faye Payne of Pampa; seven grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed Thursday night, but burial will probably be at Spur, Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home of Lubbock reported.

The legal designation of the wife or widow of a baronet or knight is "dame" in England.

Hay Fever and Asthma sufferers should have their treatment done before the acute season comes on. It is much easier, quicker and prevents future attacks.

NEWS SMOTHERS PRICES

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—International news, on the side of the Allies and a shorter war, tripped up the stock market today and, while selling was exceptionally light, prices, for the first time in seven sessions, suffered a general decline.

Reconversion skepticism revived as Moscow denounced the Russian-Japanese neutrality treaty and the Tokyo government named a new premier with possibilities of a peace offensive developing. Turnover was 680,000 shares, compared with 920,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .5 of a point at 901.1, first setback since March 26. Of 894 issues registering, 505 were down against 289 up or unchanged.

Prominent on the retreat were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Robber, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, North American, Western Union—"A"—Radio Corp., Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Boeing, Eastern Air Lines, J. C. Penney, Westinghouse, General Electric and Kennecott.

Small advances were retained by American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Texas Co., Standard Oil (NJ), Sears Roebuck and Johns Manville.

Bonds were narrowly resistant.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—For the fourth consecutive session cotton futures advanced in active trading today.

Sentiment that the war and legislative developments point to heavy demand for the staple abroad with government support of parity prices in the domestic market next season were stabilizing factors.

New buying centered chiefly in the distant positions which are selling at a discount.

Futures closed unchanged to 15 cents a bale higher.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 5 (AP) — Most months made new highs for the season in cotton here today on buying which was attributed to the tight spot situation and unfavorable weather in the belt. The market closed steady 5 to 30 cents a bale higher.

Crossing Of Weser

300-foot span.

The prisoners were the bottom of Adolf Hitler's manpower barrel. One non-commissioned officer had only one leg. The rest were a nondescript bunch from a dozen different units without any fight left.

A comic touch was added when 160 smartly dressed Hungarian soldiers under a second lieutenant were found hiding in a small village west of the river. The whole bunch along with 31 Germans, including a captain, were taken prisoners by four engineers armed with rifles.

One Has Wife and Horses

The Hungarians marched off protesting they only had guns for "guard duty." The young lieutenant had a wife along with him. He wanted to bring her along with two horses to the prisoner of war cage. Another woman in the party had to be prevented from accompanying the Hungarians, who also wanted to bring their bicycles and other junk. Their antics brought smiles even to the dour German faces.

The swift advance has been catching increasing numbers of Hitler's followers. Capt. Phillip Gross, North Minneapolis, Minn., of the Second Armored division, reported picking up 15 local party leaders who were on the Allied blacklist.

Anderson said he had asked for a concrecte proposal from the cattle industry "to remedy the squeeze on cattle feeders."

"Albert Mitchell, past president of the American Livestock association, and Roscoe Haynie, the committee member representing Wilson and Company, brought the proposal to my office," Anderson said.

Committee Chairman Brownfield told Hobart yesterday he could not understand why Mitchell and Haynie offered a report exactly contrary to what he said was the committee's decision and recommendation.

Joe Montague, consul for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, told Hobart yesterday that his information was that Mitchell and Haynie were responsible for the report to Anderson.

Montague since has informed Anderson and other congressmen of the committee's recommendation against subsidies, he said.

Ninth Smashes Weser Barrier

of Leipzig and 170 miles from the Russian lines.

The Fourth Armored division to the south pushed four miles to the vicinity of Muehlberg, 68 miles from the border of Czechoslovakia and about 175 miles from the Russian lines.

The Eleventh Armored division on the south flank overran 10 small arms factories as it speared within 63 miles of the Czech border, and pilots reported considerable southward enemy movement toward that Nazi-occupied country.

Many Nazis Pocketed

In the rush to the Weser, the converging British and American columns cut off the German 84th division and a number of smaller units in a pocket seven miles wide and 15 miles long, and veteran U. S. infantrymen hurried up to begin the mop-up.

The 30th Infantry division, following the hurrying treads of the Ninth Army's tanks, drove the last Germans from the Tutobergerwald passes, through which the Ninth Army burst to the Weser.

It was the Second Armored division that racked up 24-hour gains of 28 miles in hurtling through the mountains to the Weser opposite Hamelin, south of where the Fifth Armored division reached the stream Wednesday.

Nazis Pivot At Hamm

Using Hamm as a pivot, the Germans were believed forming a crescent-shaped defense line for the 21 divisions hopelessly cut off in the 3,700-square mile Ruhr pocket.

Ninth Army troops battering to cave in the roof of this box ran into heavy fire inside Hamm, the eastern end of the pocket.

If Kesselring himself is caught in this steel trap, he will have a hard time getting out, for Allied warplanes rule the skies and the guns of two U. S. armies command all ground routes.

The U. S. First Army hammering in from the east and south slugged ahead as much as four miles during the day, driving back determined enemy foot soldiers backed by tanks.

Biggest gains came from the base of a First Army corridor which cuts off the Ruhr from the rest of the Reich. Here an American infantry column backed by tanks fought through light resistance to near Latrop, in the vicinity of Berleburg, which is 55 miles southeast of Hamm.

On the southern end of the front, fierce fighting raged along a 36-mile sector where the U. S. Seventh Army has rammed a spearhead within 34 miles west of the Nazi party rallying city of Nuernberg.

The German Air force was reinforced, and more than 30 enemy planes bombed and strafed the American lines, particularly between the falling city of Wuerzburg and Ochsenfurt, on the river Main 11 miles to the southeast.

Capture of Wuerzburg, on the Main's west bank, would put the Seventh Army 25 miles from Schweinfurt, important manufacturing center.

Already in the Seventh Army's grasp was one military prize, the huge ball bearing manufacturing plant at Kirscheim.

The French First Army to the southwest was reported by the Paris radio to be within 20 miles of Stuttgart in a powerful drive that was cutting in behind the Black forest.

Russian Gains

350-mile front stretching across Yugoslavia, Austria, Slovakia and Poland, Berlin said that a giant Red Army offensive on the Oder river before the Reich capital was expected "in the next few days."

Patriots Called Out

Two mighty Soviet armies were involved in the blazing battle for Vienna. As they converged on the city, the free Austria radio summoned patriots to rise and cut down the Nazis in "this decisive hour." "In this way," the Soviet-sponsored broadcast said, "Vienna can be freed in a matter of hours."

South of the city, it was Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army that battered up to the city line in the face of violent Nazi artillery fire from the city's famous Deer park. Besides Ober-Laa and Unter-Laa, his troops captured Laxenburg, site of the imperial castle six miles south of the city.

Tolbukhin's troops also sped westward in a wide sweep around the capital that cut across the high-speed autobahn linking Vienna with Linz, 89 miles to the west.

West Side Threatened

In a six-mile advance, these forces drove within 13 miles south of the Danube at a point northwest of Vienna by capturing Breitenfurth and Hochrotherd, six and seven miles southwest of the capital. They were within two miles of the Vienna-Linz railroad and were threatening to cut all Vienna's westward communications along the south bank of the Danube.

Southeast, east and northeast of Vienna, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian Army surged forward in gains of seven miles along the south and north banks of the Danube river.

Premier Stalin announced that Malinovsky's men had toppled the key defense bastion of Bruck, 12 miles southeast of Vienna, after hurdling the Leitha river and smashing completely the defenses of the Bratislava gap. Capturing Bruck, Malinovsky's forces linked with Tolbukhin's men north of the Neusiedler see and together the two armies pounded through enemy fortifications.

Others Sweep Into Valley

Stalin revealed also that Malinovsky's tankmen and Cossacks had overcome the small Carpathian mountains north of captured Bratislava and had swept into the Morava river valley to take Malackey, 27 miles northeast of Vienna.

Taking Malacky they severed the main railroad running along the east bank of the Morava.

Reagan Roll Call

onto the stage until there were 70, each one either a relative of the dead, a sweetheart, a friend or a stranger—not really a stranger—let's say someone now at Reagan, instead. Suddenly under the quiet of the crowd you detected a straining forward as each Gold Star parent, or sister, or brother, waited for the sound of a dear name. You felt the collective silent anguish of this moment. And the candles flared slightly, the piano played on softly, and in the background the massed humming of the girls rose and fell like a requiem.

A girl standing at attention on the stage lifted a bugle, and the prolonged, low, sad notes of taps sounded and were answered in return by a second bugle, issuing from the darkness of the upper balcony.

Billy Dya, Reagan student, delivered the benediction.

Roll call at Reagan was over.

Pacific Commands

that either of the top commanders might be assigned specific responsibility for a particular operation, with the other furnishing necessary aid.

MacArthur already had overall command of Allied forces in the Southwest Pacific, including British empire troops.

Nimitz Much The Same

In effect, Nimitz had had much the same authority at sea, since the British naval units recently assigned there had operated under his command.

What the shifts today might signify in the way of a permanent over-all Allied command was not officially indicated, but all along it has been largely taken for granted that the Pacific is an American show.

MacArthur and Nimitz will operate under the American joint chiefs of staff, as will General H. H. Arnold, head of the Army Air forces and commander of the B-29s which have been plastering Japan as units of the 20th Air force.

The joint chiefs of staff is an all-United States group of high Army and Navy officials. It is differentiated from the combined chiefs of staff, a British-American strategic high command.

Mac Arthur has been the commander in chief in the Southwest Pacific and Nimitz in the Pacific Ocean areas. As commander in chief in the Southwest Pacific, General MacArthur has been in charge of naval and airforces in his area, as well as Army forces. Similarly Admiral Nimitz has been the over-all commander in the vast Pacific Ocean areas.

In effect these two theaters now become one, with a top commander for Army forces and a top commander for naval forces.

J. B. McCauley, sr., 70, Lubbock real estate man, died at 11 o'clock Thursday night in West Texas hospital.

Date and time of funeral services had not been announced. However, they will be held in the First Methodist church.

McCauley had been ill of a heart ailment, a member of the family said. He was admitted to the hospital last Friday.

Burial will be at Waco, his home before coming to Lubbock. Plains Funeral home has charge of arrangements.

The McCauley residence is at 2619 Twenty-fourth.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sue McCauley; three sons, J. B., jr., and Howard Lee, both of Lubbock, Lieutenant Commander Walter McCauley of the U. S. Navy; and nine grandchildren.

Fire Wrecks Store, Residence Damaged

Fire caused considerable damage to a grocery store and residence Thursday afternoon.

The entire stock of a small grocery operated by Jess Davis at 1318 Twenty-fifth was probably a complete loss after a fire which spread from a gas stove, according to Glenn Smith, assistant fire chief. The inside walls of the building, owned by Warren Johnson, were scorched, he said.

A lighted cigaret was blamed for the blaze which heavily damaged the furnishings in the living room of a residence at 2108 Ave. M, owned and occupied by T. L. Kennedy. The fire started in a divan, spread to a wall and crawled up to the ceiling and advanced to the other side of the room. Woodwork also was damaged. Smoke and heat caused additional damage in the dining room.

To Hallow Our Ground

City May Get National Cemetery

SELECTION of Lubbock as location for one of Texas' three national cemeteries — under the assumption that the Congress undoubtedly will make required appropriations for a nationwide network of such cemeteries —is something to conjure with, for location of such a cemetery here will mean much more to the city and environs than appears at casual inspection.

In the first place, location of such a cemetery will give Lubbock an opportunity to pay homage to our onetime warriors; to show to their memory our sincere respect. Some of the men who died fighting for their country will be interred here; others who fought, and later died, will lie at their sides. Thus before us will forever be a reminder of the sacrifice which is an integral part of war; at the same time, there will be before us a reminder of the need for continued patriotism.

In the second place, a national cemetery is a reverently beautiful thing. Such institutions are kept, as they should be, in such a way as to inspire love of the beauties of Nature, aided by man. And certainly there is none among us who will gainsay the need for more beauty of nature in this section of West Texas.

Then, too, location of a national cemetery will make of Lubbock a veritable mecca for the relatives and friends of those former service men interred here. While those people will come to the cemetery with sad recollections and with solemn mein, they will come here—which is important. It is not unlikely that a national cemetery will bring to Lubbock as permanent residents persons who otherwise would never have visited our city.

There are, of course, certain commercial aspects involved, but with them we are not concerned.

There is plenty for this, or any other, community to gain from a national cemetery in matters purely aesthetic and not the least of this is the fact that some of our own land will be hallowed land—just as is that of Arlington cemetery near Washington, the nation's outstanding resting place of heroes.

Let us hope the War department will be permitted to place its cemeteries as it now plans and that Lubbock eventually shall have at its gates a national shrine.

It's presence here will make us all better.

It Looks Like A Good Deal

JUDGING from reports, Americans on Okinawa are going to considerable trouble to keep Japanese from killing members of their own families and then committing suicide.

There is a great deal we civilians do not understand about war and the problems attendant upon it. For our part, worry over the Japs killing one another is one of those things.

Like the Irishman who was neutral before the U. S. entered World War I and expressed his neutrality by saying he didn't care how soon the akiser got licked, we don't care how many Japs kill how many other Japs, and then commit suicide.

Fact is, it sounds like a good bargain for our side.

We'll Take It In Stride!

MEN who never understood millinery, and never will, should be interested, nevertheless, in the latest news from Paris about the bonnets French "artistes" are preparing to pour out on the post war world. The patterns will sound portentous to all males, and "darling" to most of the members of the other sex.

The Parisians, who love to deal from the bottom of the deck for the purpose of surprising their patrons, have decided to go back to the Gay Nineties. People therefore should be prepared to welcome big brightly colored hats loaded down with birds, fruit, taffeta bows and especially brandy-colored ostrich feathers.

For instance, "farceur" is a projected taffeta sailor with green and white stripes and piled high with bright red cherries, flowers, birds' wings and lace veiling. "Coin-coin" (French for quack-quack) has a huge duck sitting in a tall sunflower yellow felt toque. "Boulevardier" is a double brimmed model encircled with swirling ostrich feathers. Those feathers have been gone a long time. But they were not dead. They were only sleeping.

To mere males, the prospects of Gay Nineties hats, with ducks and ribbons, and flowers and other gadgets too numerous to mention, may be more than somewhat disturbing. But let none forget that a nation prepared to win a permanent peace abroad and economic security at home should be strong enough to survive even the shock of a revived Parisian hat industry.

Like the tough American pioneers who spanned the desert with an ox team, we can take whatever comes—and survive!

The One Minute Sermon

Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.

And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also.

Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ—II Timothy 2:1-3.

THE STORY: Frederic suddenly blaches as three people enter the cafe where he is dining with Josef Elsner and a casual acquaintance named Sowinski.

GEORGE SAND

"Ah!" Jozef Elsner said. "Liszt!" Sowinski pushed his chair back and turned to look.

But Frederic's eyes were not for Liszt. They were fastened on the woman with him—a woman the like of whom he had never before set eyes on. She was not beautiful in the sense that women are usually judged to be beautiful. Her complexion was dark, almost olive-skinned. Her hair was black. Her eyes, rather close together, were clear without being lustrous, and as black as her hair. Her nose was thick and not too shapely. But the most remarkable thing was her appearance—she was dressed not as a woman but as a man—in trousers, in a waistcoat and a high hat that set jauntily on her head.

Sowinski said: "You are looking, Monsieur, at the most scandalous woman in Paris."

"Who is she?"

"—Sand—George Sand."

"The writer?"

"She's better known for other things." Sowinski smiled maliciously. "As well, Monsieur, you don't attract her attention."

"—Well!" cried a startled Liszt. "Chopin!"

Frederic rose.

"—And Professor!"

Liszt took Jozef Elsner's trembling hand. "George, there he is—this fine fellow I told you about. Let me present Frederic Chopin—and Professor—Professor—"

"—Elsner—Jozef Elsner."

"And this," Frederic said, "is Monsieur Sowinski."

Franz Liszt said: "Gentlemen, George Sand. Gentlemen, Alfred de Musset."

Alfred de Musset nodded with an effort.

"I hope, Monsieur Chopin, you will like Paris," George Sand said. "I am sure Paris will like you."

Frederic gulped as he had gulped first meeting Liszt.

Liszt, Sand and Alfred de Musset moved on to their table.

"—The concert!" called out Liszt; "I'll be there!"

* * *

"Frederic, she is a man!"

Sowinski roared. Diners turned to gape.

The waiter had brought the soups, steaming hot.

Jozef Elsner said: "The woman—the man—whoever—whatever—"

"Professor!"

"—Tch, tch, I am only saying. No matter. You heard Liszt? Eh? He will be there!" Jozef Elsner spilled some soup on his waistcoat. "Tch, tch!"

"So that's de Musset?"

"Never heard of him," Sowinski said.

"Frederic, your soup! It's getting cold."

Frederic said: "What do you know about her?"

Jozef Elsner looked out of the corner of his eye at Sowinski.

"—Writes books. Wrecks lives."

"She?"

"It's what they say."

"Humph." Jozef Elsner spilled a little more soup.

Sowinski said: "It's what they say. But the way I look at it—if it wasn't true they wouldn't say it—"

A waiter interrupted. "Your orders, Messieurs?"

Jozef Elsner was looking for the menu. "The menu! Frederic—the menu—with your music—!" Jozef Elsner looked with stern eyes at the waiter. "It was here—"

"Excuse me, Monsieur—I took it away—"

"Away—where?" Jozef Elsner half rose from his chair.

"It doesn't matter, Professor—I remember the notes—"

Jozef Elsner puffed. "Not the point! Not at all! This is a room full of artists!—and artists—are all thieves!"

Frederic said: "That's it!"

—It was his; the melody he had noted down on the reverse side of the missing menu. It was being whistled by—of all persons—the podgy, middle-aged individual who had so insultingly said the name—Chopin! and whom Jozef Elsner had stopped to reprimand.

* * *

Jozef Elsner reached the table of the grumpy, middle-aged individual. He seized the menu on which Frederic's notes were scribbled. "How dare you—! A man of your type should have nothing—nothing to do with music!"

The fat bewhiskered face of the grumpy individual began to quiver.

"—Tch, tch—it goes without saying your whistle—humph—was flat—absolutely flat!"

"—You say that!"

"I do!"

"—To me—with my ear for music!"

"Your ear! With both your ears! I'm not through! That was written — for your information—yes—written by Frederic Chopin! And he is my pupil—my friend and pupil — I am Elsner — Professor Elsner, his teacher! Yes! And you'll be reading about us, Monsieur!"

Jozef Elsner was working not only his jaw, he was working his neck also, to say nothing of his hands.

The bewhiskered individual now on his feet choked on words still to be uttered. "On the contrary," he managed to say, "on the contrary! I'll not be reading about you! No! I'll be writing about you!"

"—Humph."

"Yes. My name, Monsieur—is Kalkbrenner!"

It was Jozef Elsner's turn to gulp. He gulped. He swallowed. He craned his neck. His jaw stopped working. "Kalkbrenner?"

"—Kalkbrenner!"

"Oh!" Jozef Elsner said in a whisper; "My God—"

Hard Coal Miners Set Wage Demands

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—The United Mine Workers today asked a 25 per cent salary increase for 72,000 workers in the hard coal field.

The miners also demanded a royalty of 10 cents per ton, as they did in the bituminous negotiations, and asked severance pay for suspensions, dismissals and layoffs.

A set of 30 demands was presented by President John L. Lewis to the representatives of 190 hard coal producers in eastern Pennsylvania as negotiations opened for a new contract to replace the one expiring April 30.

Notorious Criminal Taken To Colorado

PORTLAND, Ore., April 5, (AP) —Randel Throneberry, labeled by the FBI as one of the nation's 15 most hunted criminals, was taken back to Colorado tonight to face a charge of murder.

Throneberry was in custody of Sheriff William McFarlane of Routt county, Colorado. He is charged with second degree murder in the death of a sheepherder.

GERMAN OFFICIAL SHOT

LONDON, April 5. (AP) — The Swedish radio said tonight that Max Clausen, secretary of the German Chamber of Commerce in Copenhagen, had been shot in his apartment last night, probably by Gestapo agents because he had arranged to escape to Sweden.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

ALMOST enjoyable party was held at the Greenwich Village Neighborhood Center in New York the other day.

In all your days you never saw more frolicking and youthful enjoyment than there was at this party.

There were 30 guests in all and everyone of them did something to entertain.

BRANDEIS

Aristide Merli, 84 years old, played the piano; Salvatore Rotola, 74, lighted the candles of the birthday cake and told stories; Lena Kelly, also in the seventies sang and did an Irish jig and Mary De Michaelis, of about the same age, accompanied her.

Mrs. Minnie Huber, 83, told fortunes and explained that she was not a professional but had taken up fortune-telling as a hobby because "it is better than gossiping."

Greenwich House, as the center is called, is going to have these parties every month. They are birthday parties. The only condition is that the guests must be over 60.

Most of the 30 who attended receive old-age assistance. All were dressed in their best, threadworn in some cases, but clean. And all agreed that the party had been one of the most pleasant occasions of their lives.

That party was held in New York—known as a hard-boiled, cold-blooded city, the lonesomest city in the world for thousands who have missed success.

And yet, I have seen them in Chicago, in San Francisco, in Newark, in White Plains, in Dayton—and even here in my little Connecticut village, those old, forgotten people for whom the busy world doesn't seem to have much use any longer.

There is an old people's home way up on Fifth Avenue, bordering Central Park. Whenever I pass by here on nice days, I see the old folks sitting on the benches, their canes or crutches beside them.

There they sit, alone, looking into space, frail, weak—lonesome.

Some are just sitting and dreaming. Others are mumbling to themselves. Every once in a while one of them is trying to read a newspaper, but the old eyes don't see so well.

WHENEVER I pass I feel like getting off the bus and talking to those poor old people. But, just like the rest of us, I am usually going somewhere in a hurry and so I never obey that impulse.

And yet—those people were in a hurry once. They were busy once, busy being mothers and fathers and business men and housewives.

Some day you and I are going to be old.

Will we be alone and lonesome?

Will we sit on a park bench or lie long nights on a cot in an old people's home?

Why couldn't every community in America try to follow the example of New York's Greenwich House and make the brief span of life left to them a little more pleasant for our old folks?

Why can't we let them know that they are still part of us and that by taking them to our hearts we are only reciprocating for what they did when they were able?

They are so patient, so quiet, so resigned, these old people.

They ask for so little for themselves — can't we give them at least a little of ourselves?

Clothing Running Short

Discharged Vets Facing Problem

WAHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE shortage of civilian clothing for discharged soldiers and sailors has become an extremely acute problem as the monthly total of men quitting the armed services increases. It will strain supply facilities more severely after a Nazi defeat, even if the number released is kept to a minimum under the present program.

Many of the inductees went to camp with only the clothes on their backs, and did not bother to send them home for storage. Many thousands from low income levels left no substitute outfits or they have outgrown them. Younger sons have survived scarcities by wearing hand-me-downs.

TUCKER

Moreover, the attics, closets and cellars of America have been emptied in response to garment drives by charitable organizations for suffering peoples overseas. There is hardly a household that has not contributed to the needy at home and abroad.

Store inventories have reached new lows and will be even slimmer at the end of the Japanese phase of the conflict. Goods command high prices, and frequently do not give satisfaction.

A veteran may save enough from his discharge money, although some will not, but, even so, he may not be able to buy and "store clothes." Present regulations permit him to wear his uniform for 90 days after the termination of his service, but many will have to stick to khaki for a longer period. The Army has indicated quietly that it will not enforce this time ruling too stringently.

ALLIANCE: It was not altogether accidental that such erstwhile enemies as the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the AFL and the CIO announced their new alliance almost simultaneously with President Roosevelt's request for authority to negotiate a 50 per cent reduction of tariffs.

Leaders of labor and management have been forced to the conclusion that they must rely on a close working agreement if they are to hold their own against a strongly centralized government in Washington. They expect further development of this tendency in the post war era, and prospective conflicts will probably find them pooling their common interests against federal encroachment.

Thus, ironically, FDR has thrown these groups closer into each other's arms than they have been in the past. In fact, he himself set the stage for their union, although it was the outbreak of the war which really brought them together. Their members have served on the same organizations here and throughout the nation, and have discovered that it is for their own good to unite rather than fight.

As representatives of capital and labor, they have a high stake in the coming battle over tariffs, a question which has stirred both Democrats and Republicans in Congress more violently than is generally appreciated.

Most recent instance of their ganging up on Washington was their opposition to Paul McNutt's attempt to redistribute the textile labor supply in New Bedford, and to the current manpower bill.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

READERS may be puzzled by seemingly conflicting communiques from overseas headquarters —one day it boasts that the Reichswehr is whipped; the next it issues a warning that final collapse of resistance is still far off.

These are not contradictions. The confusion is in the layman's misunderstanding of military terms referring to separate operations. The following may clarify matters.

The steps to victory are: (a) Defeating the Wehrmacht in battles. (b) Mopping up by-passed active salients. (c) Liquidating last ditch havens of fugitives. (d) Occupying the conquered country.

LEMAN

Consider the first item. After the loss of a major campaign, an army may still have the ability to recoup and strike again, as we did after the Bulge, the British did after Dunkirk and the Russians did after the drive on Moscow.

Recovery is possible if a routed force possesses a staff organization, coordinated units, defenses, supply depots, transportation, reinforcements and keeps up its morale.

In the crisis of the Nazi thrust on the Soviet capital, Stalin refused to commit his reserves, although capture of his key city appeared imminent. He relied on the remnants of his field troops and the fortifications hastily strengthened by civilians. When German offensive power passed its zenith, Stalin hurled his carefully hoarded nest egg into combat and turned the tide.

PUNISHMENT: Germany's military assets are fast melting away. Dissension and hopelessness are sapping the fight spirit. Manpower is so scarce that 16-year-old legless soldiers are common and, in some places, girls toss grenades at advancing Americans.

General Eisenhower's men have made such mincemeat of the Reichswehr that its only hope of renewing its strength is to amalgamate with the troops around Berlin. Our boys are racing forward to cut the fleeing enemy to ribbons before he can reach the capital or establish a temporary barrier somewhere along the Elbe river or in the highlands of southern Germany.

We do not know how much punishment of this nature the Germans can take and fight on. The deeper our spearheads penetrate the inner Reich, the greater are our logistic problems. Revolt is always possible—minor mutinies already have occurred—but unless there are widespread surrenders or a German revolution, the Nazis may extricate some of their forces for another series of organized encounters.

WHIPPED: Reliable analysis believe that when the Battle of the Rhine started, the foe had 65 divisions in the west, many undermanned. Ten divisions have been wiped out.

The remainder has received no reinforcements since Marshal Montgomery's initial blow on February 8. The fighting value of 30 to 40 per cent of these outfits cannot be great. Hence the Germans probably have less than 40 divisions to team up with the 160 divisions stretched out on the long Eastern front.

As the Russian Bear's fangs tightly grip the bulk of Hitler's forces there is almost no possibility that the Nazis can break away or launch a counteroffensive that will change the face of the war. In view of this fact and the successes mounting in the Anglo-American theater, General Eisenhower was not exaggerating when he announced that the Wehrmacht is whipped. Its collapse as an organized army is inevitable in the near future.

DIE-HARDS: But we must still reduce potentially dangerous pockets left on German soil in the wake of great battles. Reichswehr generals hope to delay our progress by clinging to these strongholds. We can speed forward, but solid bridges over the Rhine and railroad tracks are necessary for bringing up the heavy machines of war for the kill.

The Ruhr trap is congested with brick factory buildings which make excellent defenses, and jammed with weapons turned out by the munitions plants. It is also astride train junctions—one-quarter of prewar Reich freight traffic started from the district. "Suicide battalions" are holding German rail centers elsewhere to deprive us of mobility. It may take time to remove all these nuisances.

The rooting out of die-hard units and Nazi party members in Norway, Italy and other dens may be a laborious process if we want to keep casualties down. The Nazis are still holding Crete and several Mediterranean outposts. The Maquis resisted enemy troops for a long period in the crags and caves of the French Alps—the same type of terrain as the Bavarian-Austrian mountain region. But experts think eradication will not be a major military operation comparable to the Normandy invasion, the great Russian offensivees and the Rhine crossings.

Once Bustling City Is Hostage For Crimes

Cologne Sits Silently In Ruins

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

COLONGE, Germany. — Here is a city which bears grim testimony to the retribution which is overtaking all Nazi Germany—a hostage to the crimes of the once proud nation of which it is a part.

Here desolation sits among the ruins. Here you are aware of an awesome silence. The quietness shocks the senses and automatically you lower your voice, as in a cemetery.

STOKES

Many years age I saw Cologne, then a bustling, thriving city with a beauty all its own. From that memory I came now upon a place of unimaginable horror lifeless streets where once there had been so much life, rows of shattered buildings where once so many people had lived and where there is hardly anyone at all today.

Every so often you come into acres of emptiness where whole blocks have been blown away and rubble is piled high along the streets, like old, dirty snow, leaving only a thin lane for the occasional vehicle. There is very little traffic here now. No street cars run and only infrequently an automobile; usually carrying Americans soldiers.

Hardly any business is done here. There is nowhere to do it, and nobody to do it.

Americans Are Drilling

A few people are about in some sections of the city. They are sad-eyed people, lost and forlorn. Nobody smiles. Nobody even tries to look cheerful.

Some American soldiers were drilling, back and forth among the ruins. Their feet on the stone pavements make the only sound.

We passed two small girls on a street car loading platform. They had stopped there, clutching each other's hands, waiting for our automobile to pass. But it looked as if they were waiting for a street car. Simultaneously two members of our party spoke up, expressing an obvious thought: "Waiting for a street car that never comes."

We laughed a hollow laugh, to cover our poor philosophizing.

THEN we came upon the cathedral and the square. The cathedral still throws its glorious spire toward the heavens, like a wounded, high-spirited cavalry horse above the carnage of battle, triumphant but lonely, looking for the rider who has fallen and will not rise again.

Here the quiet is oppresive and haunting. It rises from the wreckage on every side, from the mountains of debris where once other buildings stood. My wife and I were in this cathedral years ago, one Sunday morning. It was an unforgettable experience for both of us. It was the first European cathedral we had seen on our trip. We came out after the service into a street full of life.

Now a solitary American soldier stands guard here, against the background of ruin that surrounds the church.

There are signs posted about, warning of the German snipers secreted in the buildings across the river in the other part of the city.

As we crossed the square, out in the open, I had that tight feeling inside that comes when you walk on dangerous ground.

Church Foundations Sound

The cathedral still stands, but its windows were shattered by the explosions from the bombings that strewed wreckage on every side and it looks out from blind, staring eyes.

Inside, our footsteps echo on the marble floor until thy fall upon the dust that has filtered down from above, scattered here and there in little piles. There are bits of stained glass in their twisted metal frames about the floor. The great edifice is scarred, but its body is still sound.

MANY emotions surge through you as you see the tragedy of Cologne. It is the quietness that gets you. It is not the quietness of a wilderness, but the quietness of subtraction of sound from a place once so full of human sounds. It is not the quietness that hangs over the ruins of antiquity. That has a healthy sanctity about it that is soothing. This quietness wraps itself about you like a cold shroud.

Here is the vengeance visited on a people who carried fire and death and destruction to others, without reason. This is the ultimate vengeance for Germany, this great silent, lifeless city, the symbol of her expiation of her crime against mankind.

Laws Said Causing Confusion In Trade

HOUSTON, April 5. (AP)—Col. Joseph W. Evans, president of the Houston Cotton exchange, blames legislation promulgated from Washington for what he terms "definite demoralization" in all branches of the cotton trade.

In his annual report to exchange members yesterday, Evans said, "there have been very few weeks during the year when some new legislation, directive or policy, has not been promulgated from Washington, often to the utter confusion of the cotton trade from the producer, the merchant, the manufacturer, on down to the ultimate consumer. No one questions that some of these were conceived in good faith, but many of them were born of political expediency, but the net result has been a definite demoralization in all branches of the trade."

Soviet Action Profoundly Shakes Up Picture In Pacific Overnight

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Regardless of whether Moscow denunciation of the Russo-Japanese non-aggression pact leads to immediate Soviet-Nipponese hostilities, it has overnight profoundly changed the military equation in the war beyond the Pacific in Allied favor.

SIMPSON

The diversion effect upon the deployment of Japanese ground forces both in China and in the Japanese islands themselves can be foreseen. It may be already evident in the ease with which American landings on Okinawa were achieved.

Could Explain Okinawa

Tokyo anticipation of the Russian move could explain Japanese failure to meet that American challenge at sea or on the beaches of Okinawa. The overthrown Japanese war cabinet had to look north as well as south and west. It dared not risk the remnants of its shattered fleet nor call in air echelons from Manchuria and northern Japan to guard the Ryukyu gap being forced by American might.

Potentially, Japan is as completely ringed as is collapsing Germany. It makes little difference whether Russia, now or later, implements her denunciation of the pact with military action direct or indirect. So far as Japan is, concerned another mighty enemy is poised to strike in Manchuria or against Japan itself from the north.

Actions All Timed

Messrs. Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin emphasized in announcing joint Russian-Allied military decisions at Teheran the critical importance of the timing of contemplated action. It can hardly be mere coincidence that the seizure of Okinawa, and Russian denunciation of the pact with Japan came so close together on the eve of the momentous San Francisco conference.

Even without any immediate active Russian aid against Japan the duration of the war in the Pacific theater obviously has been slashed. Yet there is no reason yet to anticipate early Japanese surrender any more than the utterly critical situation in Germany foreshadows German formal capitulation.

General Eisenhower, undoubtedly better placed than any other man to visualize the probabilities in Germany, scotched the idea that the end there would come suddenly and completely. While his letter to President Roosevelt on the subject was no doubt written and made public by the White House to offset any lag in American war production growing out of public belief that the war in Europe is about over, it stated the case bluntly and factually.

German Army disintegration has set in but it may take months to finish the job, months of hard and bloody fighting. Not even with Russia realigned as a potential belligerent against her can an early end of Japanese resistance be foreseen, certain as her final defeat is.

Remission Of State Taxes Is Proposed

AUSTIN, April 5. (U.P.)—A bill providing remission for six years of all state advalorem taxes to counties was introduced in the Texas house today by Rep. Hugh B. Peterman, Celina.

Representatives gave permission to introduce the bill after Peterman said he wanted a record of how members felt about tax remissions. Under the measure counties would use the remissions for soil conservation, flood control, lateral roads or most any development purpose commissioners desired.

Rep. W. R. Cousins, jr., Beaumont, introduced a constitutional amendment resolution to use money from the permanent free school fund to create a $25,000,000 veterans land purchasing fund. The money would be used to by acreage for sale to Texas' world war two veterans.

Cousin said he was the only signer of the resolution which two weeks ago had more than 100 endorsers. He said others had withdrawn because of disagreement on setting up the fund, and he thought a house committee might work out the details satisfactorily.

Rep. J. B. Sallas, Croskett, introduced two companion bills to set up statutory procedure for operation of the land fund.

Early Day Weather In City Is Recalled By Pioneer Resident

P. F. Brown, pioneer Lubbock county resident who lives at 714 Ave. O, was reminded by the icy winds which brought unusual weather to Lubbock county Wednesday, of an incident that occurred 50 years ago Thursday when he was county judge.

On April 5, 1895, a terrific sandstorm was blowing across the South Plains. The galvanized iron roof of the courthouse was blown off and pieces of it were found as far away as the present location of the West Texas compress in southeast Lubbock.

Brown said that he immediately called the commissioners court in special session so that a new roof might be placed on the building, which was located on the same site of the present courthouse. However, a heavy rain came up before work could be started, but luckily no records were ruined as they were placed in a big safe in the county clerk's office.

Labor difficulties were encountered in those days as they are now. Brown said that three of the carpenters hired to shingle the roof went on strike, but the work was finished on schedule, due partly to the fact that he and one of the commissioners helped to put on the shingles. Their services were donated free of charge, he said.

Lubbock Ranks Sixth In Building Permits

The Texas Business Review, published by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas, revealed Thursday that Lubbock's rank in building permits in Texas advanced to sixth place in February.

Lubbock ranked eighth in permits in January and ninth in February, 1944.

Permits during February totaled $177,996 and were exceeded by permits in Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, and San Antonio. Permits in the state totaled $3,495,639.

Expanded Cottonseed Use Cited At Dallas

DALLAS, April 5. (U.P.) — Expanded wartime uses of cottonseed—food oil, livestock feed and a component part of smokeless powder—were extolled today by the National Cottonseed Products association of Dalls.

The association said that since Pearl Harbor, cottonseed has produced enough linters to make powder for 460 billion rifle shells.

Increased values of red points for fats and meats have resulted in a need for increased cottonseed production in 1945, the association said.

Food Inquiry Brings Charge Red Points Sold Freely In New York

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — A report that red ration points are being sold freely in New York City for $6 a thousand was relayed to Senate food investigators today by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont).

The Montanan said he had received information to this effect but did not give its source. He told the agriculture committee he had turned his data over to OPA.

Earlier in the current hearings, Chairman Thomas (D-Okla) said he had received reports that 90 per cent of the meat sold in New York is black market. House food investigators already have announced plans for an on-the-scene investigation of similar reports.

Distribution Blamed

Expressing belief that maldistribution is the biggest difficulty as far as meat is concerned, Wheeler declared:

"The reason housewives who try to live up to the rules are not getting meat is becouse of the tremendous black market."

Senator Wherry (R-Neb) remarked that $6 a thousand must be the "wholesale price." He asked whimsically if OPA had put a ceiling on sales of the stamps.

Carl H. Wilken, Sioux City, Iowa, agricultural economist, told the committee he questioned seriously whether there are 32,000,000 cattle in the United States as had been reported by War Food administration officials.

Assuming the figure is correct, he added, it is "misleading."

Asserting about half are dairy cattle, Wilken estimated there are no more than 20,000,000 which can be marketed for beef.

Wilken contended government officials have over-estimated this country's food producing power and made "wild promises" to other nations.

For 10 years before the war, he said, this country had been importing food.

The food producing power has not kept up with the population, he argued, saying that since 1910 harvested acreage has increased 10 per cent and the population 40 per cent.

The committee received a letter from Rhode Island's governor today taking sharp issue with OPA's estimate that civilians ate an average of 147 pounds of meat last year.

Far Below Reports

Gov. J. Howard McGrath said the Rhode Island food advisory committee kept records on the meat becoming available there in 1944 and that it averaged 109 pounds for each ration book holder. He said receipts this year were still lower, falling to a rate of 80 pounds a year for the week ending March 19.

At the War Food administration, officials said the Rhode Island figures did not necessarily disprove agriculture department estimates that the national average was 147 pounds.

Additional bad news for consumers came, meantime, from the War Food administration. It announced allocation of 323,000,000 pounds of butter to civilians for April-May-June compared with 325,000,000 to 328,000,000 available in the first three months of the year. It also announced a 30 per cent reduction in civilian rice supplies for 1945 owing to increased military demands, particularly for feeding liberated rice-eating populations.

Dobie Says "Regent Gang" Is Maligning Liberals At Texas U

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP) — Tart-tongued J. Frank Dobie, University of Texas professor, says in an article in the American Mercury that "here on this campus believers in the right as well as the duty to think are combatting a gang" of regents "who, in anachronistic rage against liberal thought, malign all liberals as 'Communists.'"

"My mind is paralyzed by this manifestation of 'the American way of life,'" he declared.

In another round of the University of Texas controversy that resulted in the discharge by the board of regents of President Homer Price Rainey, Dobie, who recently returned to America after a year at Cambridge university, declared in the magazine article that "the atmosphere in which I write now is as remote from the air of intellectual freedom enveloping Cambridge as was the atmosphere over 'the wild New England shore' when the Pilgrims moored their bark upon it."

Of England, Dobie says in the article that "few Englishmen, rich or poor, expect to go back to normalcy. Normalcy was ugly, like the word. . . the economy of the nation did not just happen. Man brought it about. Man can manage to benefit from it in a more democratic way. Yet management does not imply a Russian break with the long continuity of English tradition. The English people are coming to believe that they will be able to renew their own world. They are comprehending the meaning of evolution."

Mexico City Plans Victory Celebration

MEXICO CITY, April 5. (U.P.)—The federal district authorities issued a call today to the people of Mexico City to be ready to join solemn victory celebrations in the capital's great square known as the Zocalo as soon as news of Berlin's fall is received.

If the new arrives before midday, the celebration will be staged at 5 p. m., the call said. All labor organizations have been asked to see that their members participate in the victory parade.

"Calf Scramble" To Feature Stock Show At Slaton Saturday

An added attraction at the fourth annual Lubbock County Livestock show in Slaton Saturday will be the "calf scramble," in which winners of cash prizes will compete for nine or 10 calves to be turned loose in an enclosure. The scramble will begin about 4 p. m., immediately following judging.

Boys will be grouped in pairs and those who are successful in catching and tying their calves will be given the opportunity to feed the calves for a year and show them at the county show next year. If the calves are judged then to be good enough, they will be entered in the district show in Lubbock that year.

Funds for purcashing these animals were donated by Lubbock and Slaton business firms.

The show, which is sponsored by the Slaton Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce, will be held on the east side of the square, opening at 10 a. m. with judging starting at 1:30 p. m. Ray C. Mowery of the department of animal husbandry at Texas Tech will judge entries.

Cash premiums will be awarded the first six high placings in each class or division. Special awards of $25 War Bonds will be made to boys showing the grand champion beef calf, dairy calf, fat hogs, and female (swine division), best group of three fat hogs, best group of three fat lambs and best group of three ewes.

These awards will be given by Wood Printing company, Optimist club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, American Business club, Rotary club, Lions club, and Kiwanis club, all of Lubbock.

Taking part in the show will be active members of Future Farmers of America chapters and 4-H clubs in Lubbock county and in Wilson School district.

Okinawa Like Attu-No Trees And A Blonde Behind Every Tree

By ROBBIN COONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE 24TH ARMY CORPS, Okinawa, April 5.—GI's sitting around a mess tent in the field tackling C and K rations with hot coffee to wash it down, guns booming not too far away but still not close enough to interrupt, still have women as one of their favorite conversational topics.

"I saw a blonde Okinawan," one hairy-chested sergeant said.

"Yeah,—it's just like Attu. No trees—and a blonde behind every tree."

At a nearby tent another favorite topic—food—was discussed.

Down the road I met Tech. Sgt. James E. Arnold of Hemphill, Tex., who plays the saxophone and clarinet in the Seventh Division band. The instruments are left behind now—Jim is carrying a carbine.

"The way it's been going so diet and all," Arnold said, "it might not be long before we can start having concerts again." We didn't figure on this or maybe we would have brought our instruments along. It's got me puzzled."

But just then thunder from the front lines boomed louder, perhaps indicating an end to the "quiet" invasion and beginning of the battle which would have no time out for music.

Houston War Workers Favor Thursday Night For Shopping Hours

HOUSTON, April 5. (U.P.)—Thirty thousand Houston war workers favor Thursday night shopping and local stores should remain open on that night to help prevent absenteeism, Pat S. Tillman, area director of the War Manpower commission, said today.

Tillman, announcing the results of a survey of 14 Houston war industries, said he was "very pleased to note that 21 Houston stores will continue Thursday night shopping hours for the duration."

Plans Completed For Bailey County Show

MULESHOE, April 5 (Special) Last minute details have been completed for the Bailey County Livestock show which will be held here Saturday.

Muleshoe business men have taken it upon themselves to subsidize the FFA and 4-H club boys livestock program by offering generous prizes for winners in the show and seeing to it that the animals will bring more money per pound when auctioned than they would ordinarily bring.

Animals will be housed by facilities of the Beavers Motor Supply company, north of the county courthouse. The public is invited to attend the show.

SWEDISH TRAIN STRAFED

Gardening Is Here Again

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This article on gardening was written by Wynelle Eskridge, foods and nutrition major at Texas Technological college.)

APRIL is here again. Another wartime spring. We cannot forget that we are bound by rationing, point systems and an ever dwindling meat supply. Because of these conditions we should become aware of the greater need to produce food in larger amounts. First we need to realize the need, then do our utmost to make the best of the situation by taking advantage of this planting season. All vegetable products must play a greater part in our meals since they not only supply all their nutritive value as a vegetable but must also supplement and stretch our meat supply.

Few of us are without some backyard space that could be devoted to a garden plot. Every available inch should be used, even ground that is usually given over to flowers. Giving up flowers and grass won't seem much of a sacrifice once the plants start growing and producing so that our aesthetic senses are satisfied. A variety of wealth can be obtained from a garden supply of fresh vegetables. Visualize the cool green salads and the appetite appeal in tender, fresh vegetables served alone or in combination. Thinking of the yield of wealth derived from a garden makes the labor worthwhile.

Provides Beneficial Exercise

The benefit of the labor cannot be discredited. Evenings and spare moments spent digging, weeding and tending the plants will provide good outdoor exercise. To the many people who spend their day inside it will be a way to relax tired muscles and release the strain of tenseness. A garden can serve the family in many ways; as a hobby, as recreation and creative development.

As you plant your garden keep in mind those vegetables that will bring the greatest yield in your garden plot. Particular attention also should be paid to planting the vegetables of most nutritional value. For this vicinity of the country tomatoes, string beans, carrots, cabbage, okra, onions, radishes, turnip and mustard greens, spinach, and beets are hardy bearers. Unless garden space is rather large or unlimited, vine squash, sweet corn, sweet potatoes and Irish potatoes are not recommended for planting. Nor are cucumbers or melons.

With such a supply of vegetables, planning well-balanced meals, can easily cease to be a problem and become a pleasure. The virtues of a garden include not only producing food, it saves transportation, saves containers for food and relieves man power to grow commercial vegetables. Our country deserves this help especially since the value received is two-fold. So, now is the time for all good people to come to the aid of their country with bigger and better gardens.

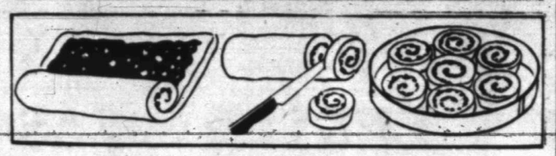

The teeth of the wolf agree in every structural detail with those of domesticated dogs.

MOLASSES PECAN ROLLS . . . Easy to make.

Serve Molasses Pecan Rolls As Real Breakfast Treat

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

YOU can turn out a baked product which will look like one from the finest bakery shop if you try.

I've chosen a recipe for what may be your first effort in the professional-looking baked goods field, which requires no sugar. But it's sweet, sticky and delicious, and that's not easy to achieve these days. Serve it for dessert or as a very special treat with Sunday morning breakfast.

MOLASSES PECAN ROLLS

1 cup milk
½ cup shortening, melted
1 cake yeast
2 eggs, beaten
1½ teaspoons salt
½ pint sour cream
5 cups sifted all-purpose flour
Shortening
1 cup molasses
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup chopped raisins
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Heat milk until only lukewarm. Then add shortening and crumbled yeast cake — stirring until yeast is dissolved. Combine eggs, salt and sour cream and stir into first mixture. Then add flour, stirring until thoroughly combined. Shape into ball, place in greased bowl. Cover with waxed paper and store in refrigerator over night. Cut dough in half and roll each half on lightly floured board into a 12 by 8 inch rectangle. Brush each half with melted shortening; and spread with 1-4 cup molasses, 1-2 cup nuts, 1-2 cup raisins, and 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon. Grasp longest edge and roll as for jelly roll. Cut into 1 1-2 inch pieces. Then spread generous amount of shortening into 10 by 6 by 2 inch square baking pan. Cover with 1-2 cup molasses. Place rolls, cut side down, in pan. Repeat for other half of dough. Cover with cloth. Place in warm place (80-85°) for about one hour or until rolls are doubled in bulk. Bake in 400 degree oven for ten minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking 15 minutes, or until rolls are done. Invert on waxed paper as soon as removed from oven. This recipe makes about 16 rolls.

Eisenhower Says Clean-Cut Nazi Military Surrender Improbable

WASHINGTON, April 5. (U.P.)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Allied armies in Europe, has written President Roosevelt that there probably "will never be a clean cut military surrender" of the German armies, the White House disclosed today.

Eisenhower said that if the present situation continues, V-E day (Victory in Europe) will be signalized only by an Allied proclamation and not by any definite collapse of German resistance.

Foresaw Guerilla Warfare

He foresaw "guerilla warfare which would require for its suppression a very large number of troops."

The further the European campaign progresses, Eisenhower wrote Mr. Roosevelt, "the more probable it appears that there will never be a clean cut military surrender of the forces on the western front."

"Our experience to date is that even when formations as small as a division are disrupted," he said, "their fragments continue to fight until surrounded. This attitude if continued will likely mean that a V-E day will come about only by a proclamation on our part rather than any definite or decisive collapse or surrender of German resistance.

"Projecting this idea further, it would mean that eventually all the areas in which fragments of the German army, particularly the paratrooper, panzer and SS elements, may be located, will have to be taken by the application of or the threat of force. This would lead into a form of guerilla warfare which would require for its suppression a very large number of troops."

Possible Solution Given

Eisenhower added that if the German government or any group that could take political control would make a national surrender "then all armed bodies remaining in the field would, in my opinion, no longer be classed as soldiers of recognized government but would occupy the status of brigands or pirates."

"Since, if captured under these conditions, they would not be entitled to protecton afforded by the laws of war," he said, "it is my conviction that, except for extreme fanatics, they would largely surrender.

"To counteract this eventuality our local propaganda stations are constantly pointing out to the Germans that they should now be planting crops for next winter's food instead of fighting. In addition, I am hopeful of launching operations at the proper time that should partially prevent a guerilla control of any large area, such as the southern mountain bastion."

Eisenhower conceded that it was "always possible" that there might be "a sudden upsurge of popular resentment against the war" which would lead to easier pacification of Germany.

"My opinion," he added, "is based upon the supposition that our experience to date provides our best basis for future prediction. At best we should be prepared for the eventuality described."

Nazis Chortle That Allies Overreaching

LONDON, April 5. (AP)—German military commentators contended tonight that the Allies were overreaching themselves, while the Nazi radio boasted that the "Werewolf" terrorist organization had wiped out an American headquarters and slain a number of Americans at various points behind the lines.

Radio speakers suggested that the speed and scope of the Allied advance "might have the effect of a giant sponge, soaking up the war potential of the enemy and paralyzing his offensive strength," and opined "the temptation to attempt too much is great."

The Germans acknowledged, however, that "the situation is by no means stabilized."

Commentator Max Krull asserted: "The wehrmacht has not been brought to its knees. The encircled Ruhr Army resumed active defense yesterday in full strength."

CITY MANAGER QUITS

PORT ARTHUR, April 5. (AP)—City Manager Bill N. Taylor resigned here today. The resignation is effective April 15. Taylor came here from Longview in 1940. Three city commissioners on a ticket headed by W. H. Bailey, who had been critical of Taylor, were elected yesterday.

Restrictions Against Argentina To Lift

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—Preparing to reestablish relations with Argentina, the State department has decided to remove its special economic restrictions against that country, it was learned today.

The original date set for lifting bans imposed during the year-long estrangement was April 9, but since Argentina signed the Act of Chapultepec in Mexico today, the move may come sooner.

A. U. S. tanker is going to Argentina with petroleum and will pick up linseed oil there.

Several months, ago, the War Shipping administration prohibited American ships from calling at Argentine ports, giving the shipping shortage as its reason.

However, Argentina has been getting oil from Aruba and Curacao, West Indies ports, in her own boats during her diplomatic isolation.

Official Sources Believe Soviet Action Will Greatly Help Allies

WASHINGTON, April 5. (U.P.)—Congressional and other sources believed today that Russia's denunciation of her neutrality treaty with Japan will shorten the Pacific war and save American lives.

The Russian act also "undoubtedly will improve the prospects of a successful (United Nations) conference at San Francisco," in the opinion of Chairman Tom Connally, D., Tex., of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Great Allied Benefit

Most official and other comment was to the effect that the treaty denunciation will greatly benefit the Allied cause in the Pacific, regardless of whether it results—as it probably will sooner or later—in direct Soviet participation in the war against Japan.

Some sources even believed it might persuade Japan to accept unconditional surrender soon instead of fighting suicidally to the end.

The majority opinion was that Russia would be at war with Japan soon after the treaty expires on April 25, 1946—sooner if Japan, as at Pearl Harbor, tries to seize an advantage through treachery.

State department officials believed the Russian step would help to clear a diplomatic atmosphere clouded by such things as Allied disagreement over Poland.

Sen. Warren Magnusen, D., Wash., said the treaty denunciation meant that Russia will start fighting Japan "as soon as the European war is over."

Several other senators said it would shorten the war, and Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., thought it possible that the war in Asia would be finished sooner than hostilities in Europe.

Direct Russian military intervention, some military observers said, could speed up defeat of Japan by as much as a year.

Diplomatic experts seemed to think that Russia had left her immediate course open by accusing the Japanese, in effect, of violating the pact. The Russian statement said Japan was helping Germany "in its war against the USSR." Thus Russia, the experts said, may no longer feel obliged to observe the treaty even though it has another year to run.

Force Troop Movements

Others, however, felt that Russia probably would abide by the treaty for another year if Japan does. In the meantime, however, Japan undoubtedly would feel forced to divert to the Siberian frontier even stronger forces than she now maintains there. In the event of war, Russia would relieve the Anglo-American Allies of the necessity of liquidating these enemy troops.

Some observers believe that cornered Japan might, in a mood of desperation, provoke hostilities with Russia before the treaty expires.

The cacao reached its greatest commercial stature on the west coast of Africa.

Yank AMG Officer Leads Hectic Life Governing Italians

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE 34TH DIVISION IN ITALY. — Major H. Carl Kait is an AMG officer who never procured a bell for Adano, but —

He's helped deliver babies to Italian women.

He's taken a hand baking bread for Italian civilians.

He's fixed up sewers in Italian vis.

He's buried or burned the bodies of civilian war victims to prevent disease.

He's evacuated hundreds of civilians—under gunfire.

He's set up working governments, police forces and water works in communities from Salerno to Bologna.

He's had to listen to the tragic, hard luck stories of civilians every place.

Job Is Depressing

"That's the grimmest part of it," says the AMG officer with the 34th division. Once a school teacher (Georgian Court college) he was more recently a lawyer in Red Bank, N. J.

"It's depressing to see those broken homes and bodies. But the worst part of the job is to listen to the stories of suffering. Thank God it isn't happening to the folks at home."

(The "folks at home" are Caroline and a chubby boy to whom Carl found time to write 1,402 letters since coming overseas in May 1943.)

As he explains his job in the war-whipped towns, "the infantry breaks them up. We start putting them together again." He's set up civil affairs in 80 communities. He's been thanked personally by Prince Umberto—for his work in San Vittore, before Cassino, where, incidentally, he had his toughest job—" helping a young fellow dig seven members of his family out of the ruins of his house."

Travel With Infantry

AMG officers with divisions travel right along with the doughboys. They're "infantrymen without rifles." As often as not, they work under fire.

In Leghorn, for instance, Kait had a government working even before all the Germans pulled out, thanks to some excellent advance work by Italian partisans. The doughboys took over the night of July 19. At dawn, Carl was there to check up. By three p. m., Kait was on the way to the next town.

"The whole thing" Kait explains, "is just as if Paterson, N. J., say, should be shot up. We walk in, look for public officials, start restoring utilities — light, water, sanitation — bury the dead, begin law and order, get police working, survey the needs, help the wounded, prevent disease, get food and clothing if possible, redistribute refugees."

ROSENMAN IN LONDON

LONDON, April 5. (AP) — Judge Samuel N. Rosenman, studying the non-military supply problems of western Europe, returned to London today after three weeks in France and Belgium. He expected to leave in about ten days to make his report to President Roosevelt.

The divorce rate is highest during the fourth, third and fifth years of marriage, in that order.

Baruch Foresees Plenty Of Jobs

LONDON, Thursday, April 5 (AP)—Looking confidently into the future, Bernard Baruch, adviser to President Roosevelt, asserted in an interview published today that American servicemen would not have anything to worry about when they got home, that "there will be more work in the United States than there will be hands with which to do it."

This wave of prosperity, he told a reporter for the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes, would carry over for five to seven years after the war "no matter what is done or not done."

Nature Of Mission

The 75-year-old financier, who has held several conferences with Prime Minister Churchill, was reluctant to talk about the exact nature of his mission to London. But he spoke freely in expressing confidence in the immediate future, and added:

"What happens after those five or seven years depend on the peace the big boys are preparing for us."

Baruch's interview was given to A. Victor Lasky, Stars and Stripes staff writer. As originally prepared for publication it quoted Baruch as saying at this point:

"And one reason I am over here is to hold the big stick over the big boys to make damn' sure they're not going to foul up the peace.

"We've got to so de-industrialize Germany and Japan—at least for a generation—so they won't go to war again. Also we've got to see that those subsidized slave labor countries do not again flood the world with their cheap products, lowering the standards of living of the United Nations."

Asks It Be Withheld

After Lasky's version of the story had been put into type and an abstract had been transmitted by the Associated Press to the United States, where it was widely published, Baruch's secretary asked that it be withheld from publication. However, after deletions of the two foregoing paragraphs, it was published by Stars and Stripes.

Lasky said that during the interview, in Baruch's suite in the Claridge, the telephone rang and Baruch's secretary told him the Prime Minister was calling. Baruch, Lasky said, gave Churchill a mild brush-off to continue his talk with the soldier reporter.

"Hello, Winston, this is Bernie," Baruch said into the phone, according to Lasky. "Look, Winston, I'm busy this afternoon. I'll drop over later." Lasky's account of this incident also was deleted from the final version carried by Stars and Stripes.

GI Bill Of Rights

In the published interview Baruch said that one thing that should be more effective than at present was the "GI Bill of Rights."

"When a veteran is discharged he should be told his rights—rights which are not charity dispensed by a beneficient community but rights which he earned," Baruch said. "He should be protected from supersalesmanship designed to sell him everything from a piece of useless property to a used car.

"He should be advised authoritatively what he can do with the money he borrows. He should have definite assurance—not some vague provision—that he can get his old job back or a better one, and he should be given enough time to make his decisions.

"These jobs must be the kind of work to give a man a decent standard of living and that means good food, clothing, housing, education, medical care and a certain amount of amusement and leisure."

Red Cross Fills In At Birthday Party For LAAF Soldier

Workers of the Lubbock County Red Cross chapter chalked off another "mission accomplished" Thursday when four young ladies presented a four-pound birthday cake, lighted with 22 candles, to Lt. Joseph S. Gregorius of Tarentum, Pa., who is stationed at Lubbock Army Air field.

And therein lies another little story of the services performed by the Red Cross.

The Lubbock chapter received a telegram the other day from Lt. Gregorius' wife, stating that today was his birthday and due to the fact that he hadn't had a cake in four years, she would like for him to have one today, so would the Red Cross please arrange it.

And the Red Cross did.

Four charming young ladies of Lubbock entered the student officers' mess hall at noon today carrying the cake and singing "Happy Birthday" to Lt. Gregorius. They were: Misses Martha Kuykendall, Etoile McLeod, Alice Phillips and Mary Jarrott.

And just for good measure, the girls all stayed for the party and ate with the boys.

Lt. Gregorius, a combat returnee from the European theater and also an evacuee from France where he was shot down and escaped back to his own base, wears the Air Medal with 12 clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the ETO ribbon with four stars. He was pilot of a B-26.

Child Is Rescued From Raft By Four Soldiers

NEW YORK, April 5. (U.P.) — Patricia Richardson, 8, was safe at home today after four Miller field soldiers worked for 40 minutes to rescue her from a raft in the Atlantic ocean.

She was playing on the raft on the Staten island beach when it drifted out to sea.

Cpl. John Maimone, Brooklyn, first sighted the child but found he was unable to swim to the raft and returned for boat. Cpls. John Sullivan, Maden, Mass., and Lloyd Adams, Fort Stockton, Tex., managed to swim to the raft and were pushing it toward shore when Maimone and Sgt. Carl Fritz, Bridgeport, Conn., arrived in a rowboat.

Chocolate houses were harbingers of English club life.

There were 4,700,000 families on emergency relief rolls in the United States during a single month, prior to the war.

No Action Taken On Proposal For Funds To Observe Texas Annexation

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 5—Texas members of Congress took no action today on a proposal that they seek a million dollar federal grant to celebrate the centennial of the state's annexation to the union.

A suggestion that they sponsor legislation for such a grant was presented to a meeting of the Texas congressional delegation by Harland Adair, head of the Texas Centennial of Statehood commission.

Exhibitions Proposed

Created by the state legislature to draw plans to commemorate the centennial date, Dec. 29, the commission proposes a series of exhibitions in Austin and at other points throughout the state during 1946.

With nearly half of the delegation away because of the Easter lull in the house, the Texans met in the senate foreign relations committee room, where Chairman Connally (D-Tex) presides, to hear Adair's proposal. Rep. West (D-Tex), chairman of the delegation, directed the meeting.

Responding to questions, Adair said the legislature had not appropriated any money for the celebration, either to match or to be pooled with proposed federal funds. He added:

"I'm sure any steps taken in Congress will be followed immediately in Texas."

Appropriation Restricted

Adair said the legislature was unable to appropriate money for celebrations unless authorized to do so by constitutional amendment.

Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) said inasmuch as he was a member of the House appropriations committee he felt "compelled to say frankly" that the proposal would not be approved by Congress.

Sen. O'Daniel (D-Tex) said he believed there was ample justification for requesting the grant from the federal government, adding:

"They've been robbing Texas of a million dollars a day in oil since the war started. We also have just given the United States land for Big Bend National park which is conservatively worth $10,000,000."

Specific Steps Asked

O'Daniel said he felt the legislature would have to take some specific steps in maugurating the centennial program before help could be obtained from the federal government.

All congressmen present said they concurred in this view. Former secretary of commerce Jesse Jones, who serves the Texas Centennial commission to help coordinate federal participation, attended the hearing. He praised the idea of a centennial celebration to commemorate annexation.

Eisenhower Warns Germans Of Danger

PARIS, April 5. (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower declared tonight "the end is not far off" in a statement broadcast to urban residents of western Germany warning them to flee at once from factories, mines and rail centers and hide until the Allies arrived.

The supreme Allied commander, in another of the series of instructions being broadcast to town dwellers in western Germany said:

"Cease working. Take refuge with your family in the safest place you can find. Factories, mines and rail centers are death traps. Act at once. Delay may mean death.

"Avoid at all costs being enrolled into the volkssturm. Untrained and ill armed, for you the volkssturm will mean a last minute death."

Spading Is Wasted When Garden Sinks

TACOMA, Wash., April 5. (AP) If Robert C. Gius didn't know what a sunken garden was he knows now.

Gius spaded his backyard victory plot and retired for the night with plans for seeding the next day.

Next morning a yawning hole greeted him.

The garden plot had sunk to the bottom of a 54-foot well, dry and abandoned without Gius' knowledge.

Dog Finds Missing Radium Worth $3,200

LOS ANGELES, April 5. (AP) — Maybe Toby reads the newspapers. Anyhow, while his mistress, Mrs. E. H. James, was taking the dog for a walk, he ran into a vacant lot and began digging furiously.

Presently he uncovered a jewel box, which was found to contain 14 slim platinum tubes. Mrs. James' husband, having read of the theft of $3,200 worth of radium from the offices of Dr. Wilmot F. Robinson, telephoned the physician, who identified Toby's find as the missing element.

One tube was lacking, but it was soon located with an electroscope.

PACIFIC FLEET AUGMENTED

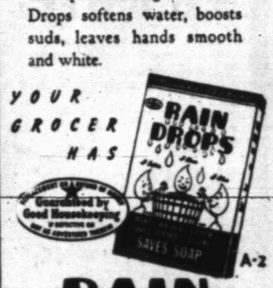

SYDNEY, Australia, April 5. (AP) — H.M.C.S. Uganda, the Royal Canadian Navy's first cruiser, has joined the British Pacific fleet. The warship, commanded by Capt. E. R. Mainguy of Duncan, B. C., is the first unit of the Canadian fighting services to enter the war in the Pacific.

Koiso's Regime Falls In Japan; Russia Denounces Neutrality Pact

(By The Associated Press)

Racked by military defeats and a rising storm of criticism at home, Premier Kuniaki Koiso's cabinet resigned en masse today and Emperor Hirohito called on an elder statesman, Adm. Baron Kantaro Suzuki, to form Japan's third wartime government.

In quick succession to the fall of the doomed Koiso regime, announced by Tokyo radio, came the denunciation in Moscow of the Russo-Japanese neutrality pact.

Russia Gives Note

Soviet Russia explained in a note handed the Japanese ambassador, said the Moscow radio, that the treaty was terminated because Japan had aided Germany in the latter's war with Russia.

In facing the "gravity of the stiuation" which Tokyo said forced Koiso and his ministers to step down, Japan turned to a 77-year-old veteran of public service who had been considered a "moderate" in pre-war years. Suzuki, president of the Privy council, has been looked upon as an opponent of the extreme army clique's program of conquest.

Military disasters in the field and on the seas which have harrassed Koiso since he took over the reigns of government from Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo nearly nine months ago made certain his downfall was not far off. Close students of Japan predicted the succeeding government would be a "moderate" one that might project peace feelers to the United States and her allies.

Babb Gives Opinion

Suzuki, who had been in semi-retirement since being wounded in the revolt by young Japanese army officers in 1936, may fit into this picture as the "front man for a Japanese peace offensive," in the opinion of Glen Babb, Associated Press foreign news editor. Babb spent many years in Japan.

Beyond accepting the office of president of the Privy council last August, Babb added, "Suzuki has given no public intimation of sympathy with the army extremists who have dominated the government virtually ever since the 1936 attempt on his life."

Until the complexion of the Suzuki cabinet is known, however, Babb cautioned, "it may be too early to conclude that the shift presages a peace offensive." He continued:

"There remains the chance, of course, that Suzuki may fail to form a government, but the likelihood is that possibilities were thoroughly canvassed before he received the imperial nomination.

New Phase Possible

"If his cabinet includes several of his own kind, elders who were prominent before the Tojo era, the evidehce would be strong that a new phase in Japan's war effort had begun. This would be a period of peace gestures and peace propaganda, calculated to strike at American determination to see the Japanese war through during the vulnerable period just after the collapse of Germany."

Collapse of the Koiso regime had been staved off for a time by his promise, fulfilled only last week, of forming a new "sure victory" political party that would include leading figures from all of Japan. Koiso's downfall came at a time when Nippon is faced with the most critical war situation it has known.

Marquis Koichi Kido, lord keeper of the Privy seal, recommended Suzuki to the emperor as a new premier after a conference of senior statesmen. Shortly thereafter, the emperor summoned Suzuki to his presence "and commanded him to organize a cabinet," said an enemy broadcast.

Less than 12 hours elapsed between Koiso's resignation and the command to Suzuki.

Commenting on the shakeup, the Domei Japanese news agency said "the people, of course, will not be perturbed in the least by a change of governments."

New Orleans is one of the few cities in America to possess an official city flag.

"Old Friend" Causes Trouble For Drunk

TULSA, April 5. (AP) — Bailiff Fred Harris interrupted a man charged with drunkenness who was pleading innocence in municipal court.

"I've know this man all my life," Harris informed the court. "We grew up together in West Virginia."

The defendant beamed.

"And judge," added Harris, "I wouldn't beleive a word of that story he's telling you."

The sad defendant changed his plea to guilty; paid a fine of $8.
