Cross Roads School To Open

Opening of the Cross Roads School has been announced for Monday, August 24, with Mrs. George Jones as teacher. Mrs. Jones formerly taught at Elm Valley.

Patrons have been asked to gather at the school on the opening morning and help in cleaning the grounds.

Approximately 20 students are expected to be enrolled this year. J. I. Reynolds is president of the school board and L. S. Keller is secretary.

"We are looking forward to a good school year, and we ask the cooperation of all patrons of the district in making it just that," Mr. Keller said.

Men In Service Must Surrender War Ration Books

E. N. Lewis, chairman of the Collingsworth County War Price and Rationing Board, has called attention to the fact that many persons, either from lack of information or through negligence, are failing to surrender their War Ration books to the local board when they are inducted into the armed services.

Heirs and next-of-kin also are failing to surrender to the board the books of persons who have died, Mr. Lewis said.

"There have been very few ration books surrendered for these causes to this board," he pointed out, "while a large number of persons have entered the armed services from this county since registering for War Ration books."

"Birth registrations and surrenders of books as a result of deaths also are considerably below our estimates of the reasonable expectation."

Mr. Lewis added that the War Rationing regulations are very strict in this regard and he expressed hope that the local board would not have to call on the Office of Price Administration to invoke penalty provisions against persons who fail to observe this regulation.

Mrs. T. B. Sledge Improving After Recent Operation

Mrs. T. B. Sledge, long-time Wellington resident, is reported to be improving following an operation on one eye, which was performed at St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday night.

She had been seriously ill before undergoing the operation.

Mrs. Sledge came here approximately 30 years ago, and has been prominent in the church life of the town.

She is the mother of Mrs. Sandy Parsons, Sr., and Mrs. Tom Campbell of Wellington. Two other daughters, a son and daughter-in-law, were here at the time of the operation. They were Mrs. Travis Baumgardner of Austin, Mrs. W. O. Higgins of Littlefield, and Mr. and Mrs. John Sledge of Amarillo.

T. W. Devenport, Jr., 16, of Wellington was killed and his cousin, Lynn Welch, 18, of Silvertown was seriously injured early Thursday, August 13, in a hit-and-run accident which occurred 13 miles south of Wellington at the intersection of Highway 138 from Hollis, Oklahoma, with Highway 83.

To date no arrests have been made in the case, and only meagre clues have been found as to the identity of the machine or the driver involved, Sheriff Paul Bell and Highway Patrolman Sam Gardner, report.

The Devenport youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Devenport of Wellington, and was one of the outstanding boys of his age in the city. Welch is the son of Patrolman Sam Gardner has asked that all persons who were along Highway 83 at about the time of the accident co-operate with law enforcement officers by contacting either himself or Sheriff Paul Bell. Although no eye-witnesses to the accident are known, it is believed that some person who rode along the scene of the accident may be able to furnish a bit of information that will be valuable in the search for the hit-and-run driver. Already several of these persons have reported the fact to officers and have given any information they might have. All information given will be confidential.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Welch of Silvertown. He is now in St. Joseph's Hospital, where his condition is described as satisfactory.

The accident is believed to have occurred between 2:00 and 2:30 a. m. Thursday, Patrolman Gardner said. The boys were coming from Silvertown to Wellington, where Welch was to visit in the Devenport home. Apparently they were waiting to get a ride into town, the officer added.

Young Devenport's death came instantly and was due to a head injury, Patrolman Gardner said.

The boys were first seen after the accident about 2:30 o'clock, although it was not discovered that there had been an accident, until

Speeders Forfeit Tire Eligibility

Speeders were given a stern warning by E. N. Lewis, chairman of the Collingsworth County War Price and Rationing Board, that speeding tickets issued against them by either state or local police will cause them to forfeit their eligibility for new tires or retreads. "Abuse of tires by speeding must be stopped," Mr. Lewis emphasized.

"We have been advised by Mark McGee, the Texas OPA Director, that carbon copies of all speeding tickets issued on the highways by the Texas Highway Patrol will be forwarded to the local board.

"We are asking city police and county officers in Collingsworth County to extend this same assistance to us in enforcing the vital wartime necessity for conserving rubber."

Mr. Lewis said that the local board had been requested by the state OPA office to regard speeding as an abuse of tires and as reason for voiding a person's eligibility for new tires and retreads. After such an offense, the speeder

Two Cases Tried In Special Term Of District Court

Two cases, both involving minor children, were disposed of in a special term of district court conducted Monday morning, August 17, by Judge A. S. Moss.

The first case was a hearing for a temporary order with reference to the custody of a child, J. McBroome, district clerk, said. The court set the time that the child was to spend with each parent until the fall term of the district court, and determined the money to be paid toward his support.

An exparte case declaring a Wellington boy a dependent was the other case disposed of. This action was necessary in order that the child may be accepted for medical treatment at the Scottish Rite Hospital in Dallas, Mr. McBroome explained.

Salvage Drive To Reclaim County's Scrap

Plans neared completion this week for the most intensive salvage campaign ever experienced in this county, in which every available piece of scrap metal and scrap rubber will be sought for national war purposes, A. B. Mears, county salvage chairman, declared early this week.

Salvage committees of every community have been called on to help round up the materials by contacting their neighbors and urging them to sell or donate all junk material.

Scrap metal and rubber may be either sold or donated. Junk dealers in each town are buying the scrap materials at designated prices and they in turn will dispose of it into channels that reach the manufacturers of ammunition and weapons for war use.

To give impetus to the drive, Pink Sullivan, mayor of Wellington, this week issued a proclamation designating Thursday, August 27, as the opening of the town's intensive drive for junk metal. That is the date chosen by most cities throughout the nation for this purpose.

"Selling of junk is a patriotic duty," Mr. Mears pointed out, "but it is more than that. It is an absolute necessity if we are to keep the manufacture of war equipment moving."

Junk metal, it was explained, has always been an important factor in the smelting of iron and steel. It is added to the raw ore to obtain the finest quality metal. Just now, with the demands on the iron

S. A. Combs In Training At Miami University

S. A. Combs of the U. S. Navy recently was transferred to Oxford, Ohio, and is now being trained in radio work at Miami University.

He was selected for this training after he proved to be one of five high ranking men in intelligence tests given at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, where he was stationed upon entering the Navy.

Upon the completion of his first period of instruction at Miami University, he was moved to the head of his class, and reports from the University indicate that he is maintaining this same high average.

S. A. is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Combs of Wellington. He graduated from Wellington High School and later attended Texas Tech at Lubbock.

He was a member of the Wellington Leader Staff for about five years.

County Court Now In Session

The August term of County Court will continue through this week and next week, Judge C. C. Bishop said Monday.

Since court opened last week, one civil case and two criminal cases have been disposed of.

Jury cases will be tried next week, the county judge said.

Proclamation

Whereas, Wellington and Collingsworth County have been called upon to give their unlimited support to the nation-wide Salvage Campaign by giving or selling all scrap metal and rubber in order that it may go into war materials,

Now, therefore, I, Pink Sullivan, Mayor of the City of Wellington, proclaim Thursday, August 27, as the opening of the Scrap Drive in and for the City of Wellington, whereby every citizen may have the opportunity to contribute to the defense of this nation by furnishing material for ammunition to be used by the men who are fighting on the front lines of defense; and I call on all people of Wellington to contribute or sell any scrap metal or rubber material that they may have, to aid this urgent national need, and to act quickly in order that the needed metals and rubber may reach the men who use it before it is too late.

Witness my hand and official signature,
Pink Sullivan,
Mayor of Wellington.

Ginners Hear Cotton Problems Discussion

Cotton problems ranging from pest damage this week to sales and storage outlook next winter are being studied by ginners of the county this week at the annual school of instruction of the Chickasha Cotton Oil Company, being held at the Wellington gins.

Cotton experts are discussing these problems and advising with ginners and farmers on their solution. These speakers have included Dr. F. A. Fenton of Oklahoma A. and M. College, Stillwater; K. C. Davis of the Department of Agricultural Economics, Stillwater; O. B. Crawford of the cotton department of the Chickasha Cotton Oil Co.; Claude Britain, assistant general manager of the company; and E. A. Force, who is in charge of the school, and B. A. Zorns, county agent.

While the school of instruction is primarily for managers of the Chickasha Cotton Oil Company in this county, G. A. Ream, manager, stated that any ginner or any farmer in the county who wished to attend any of the meetings was cordially invited.

Discussions are held from 9 to 10 a. m. and from 4 to 5 p. m. The hours between are devoted to the study of classing and grading of cotton.

Prospects for this year's cotton crop were outlined Monday morning by Mr. Crawford. There will be a good demand for higher grades and good staple cotton, but the lower grades will probably be forced into the government loan, he predicted, adding that the markets were flooded with low grade cotton.

Mr. Crawford spoke frankly of the problem of cotton storage un-

Baptist Pastor Conducts Revival

Rev. J. P. Neal, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Wellington, is conducting revival services at Twitty, in Wheeler County, this week.

Harry Lee Roy will preach at the local church Sunday morning. Rev. Neal will be back for the evening service. Mr. Roy has spoken here several times in the past, and is already well known to the congregation. He is a ministerial student.

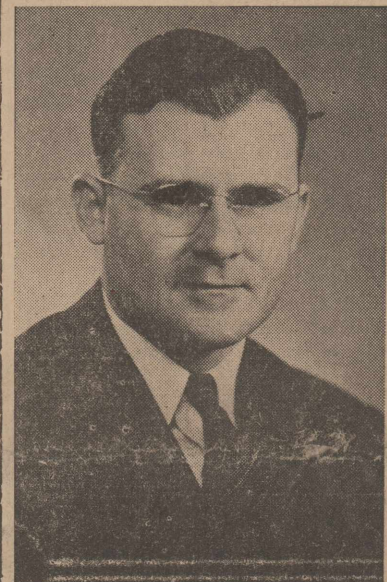

Rev. Neal reports that he is having a good meeting at Twitty.

Leaf And Boll Worms Threaten Damage Here

Cotton growers were warned this week of a leaf worm infestation that is already county-wide in extent, and of possible boll worm damage that may be expected within a short time. Recent wet weather is blamed for the infestation.

Jack Watson, manager of the Co-op Gin in Wellington, reported Monday that in addition to the leaf worms now working on the cotton, boll worm millers have been found in a number of cotton fields.

Poisoning has been urged in either case, and several gins of the county now have some poisoning material on hand, or are making

Three Men Help Fill County's Navy Quota

In the U. S. Navy's campaign to enlist at least 6,000 men during the months of August and September Collingsworth County has been assigned a total quota of nine men. Collingsworth County has enlisted three, Lieutenant Ridout, Jr., officer-in-charge of the recruiting district of North Texas, announced Wednesday from the Dallas Recruiting Station.

"This is a splendid showing for the first two weeks of the campaign and if this pace is continued this county will more than reach the assigned quota, said Lieutenant Ridout.

He also thanked the civic groups and committee aiding the campaign and expressed confidence that this county would continue its active cooperation with Navy recruiters. Members of the local voluntary naval committee aiding in naval recruiting are Clark Anderson, chairman, and Cameron Beam.

Three precinct officials, no county officials, and five state officials will be voted upon by Collingsworth County voters in the second primary election Saturday, August 22.

Ordinarily a ballot of this short length would draw a light vote, but intense interest in the United States Senatorial race is expected to raise the number of votes polled in this county well above the usual second primary number, according to Olan Alexander, who is in the office of Lee O'Neil, county chairman. The total vote, however, will fall below that of the first primary, it is believed. Only 58 absentee votes were cast.

Only voters of precincts 1 and 2 will vote on local officers.

The official list, as released by Mr. O'Neil, includes the following:

For United States Senator: W. Lee O'Daniel of Tarrant County, and James V. Allred of Harris County.

For Lieutenant Governor: John Lee Smith of Throckmorton County and Harold Beck of Bowie County.

For State Treasurer: Jesse James of Travis County and W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas County.

For Railroad Commissioner, unexpired term: Beauford H. Jester of Navarro County and Pierce P. Brooks of Dallas County.

For Chief Justice, Court of Civil Appeals, 7th Supreme Judicial District: E. L. Pitts and E. C. Nelson.

For County Commissioner, Precinct No. 1: B. A. Vandiver and Hunter Peters.

For Constable, Precinct No. 1: V. L. Williams and Homer (Grasbur) Willoughby.

For County Commissioner, Precinct No. 2: Kenneth E. Johnson and Henry Davidson.

Voting boxes will be open between the hours of 8 a. m. and 7 p. m. Voting boxes of this county, along with the presiding officer are:

North Wellington, B. W. Boardman.

South Wellington, Pink Sullivan. Aberdeen, G. M. Thompson.

First Open Cotton Reported

The first open boll of cotton reported to The Leader was grown by Doc Blevins at his place a mile north of town. Mr. Blevins told of his cotton Monday.

A number of grown bolls now cracking open are to be found in the 5-acre patch planted around May 1, Mr. Blevins said. He believes that this plot will average more than half a bale of cotton per acre. It could have been even better if more rain had fallen a month ago, he pointed out.

Mr. Blevins also reported that as yet no worms have gotten into his cotton.

Sgt. Holland Is Chosen For Officer Training

Sgt. Truett Holland has been selected for officer training in the United States Army Air Force, and is now stationed at an officer's training school at Miami Beach, Florida.

Upon the completion of his work, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant.

Sgt. Holland entered the Air Force about a year ago and after completing his training, he was stationed at McClellan Field, Calif.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rob Holland of Dodson. Before entering the armed service he was with the AAA office in Wellington.

Policy Holders Benefit By Fire Insurance Cut

Sweeping, statewide reduction in fire insurance rates will result in considerable saving for owners of certain types of property in Collingsworth County, insurance agents in Wellington estimated last week.

Especially affected by the reduction will be insurance policies on dwellings. In some cases the reduction will amount to as much as 25 per cent.

No reduction was made on insurance on mercantile stocks, but a reduction amounting to about 10 per cent was made on brick mercantile buildings.

The total saving of Collingsworth County policy holders could not be determined, the total amount of fire insurance is not known, but the estimated saving for the state as a whole is around $3,200,000, according to Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner.

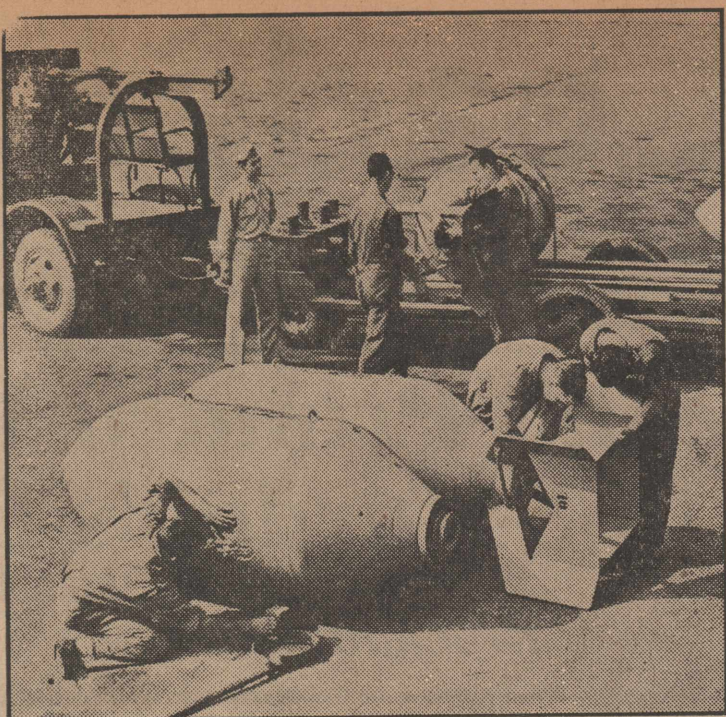

The new rates are effective as of August 1.

"The revision of rates in today's order," Commissioner Hall explained, "has resulted from an extensive study of fire losses experienced in these classes. The Board of Insurance Commissioners is continuing a study of loss experienced in other classes with a view of determining whether other reductions may be justified. In addition, the Board is giving serious consideration to the subject of broadening the coverage of insurance policies to give the policy holder added protection."

The greatest saving in any class will apply to dwellings. This benefit, estimated to exceed $2,625,000 within the next 12 months, will reach more individual property owners than any other class. Premiums on insured dwellings last year accounted for approximately 40 per cent of the fire insurance business written in Texas.

Insured loss records on Texas property are established over a five-year period, with adjustments made annually and it is upon this loss record that rates are determined.

Indications are that vegetable seed will be high priced next year and may not be available at all. Therefore a wise procedure would be to save as many kinds of seed as is practical in quantities enough to plant next year's victory garden.

Workers Needed For Service At Pearl Harbor

Another urgent appeal came today for skilled artisans needed at once in the Navy yards at Pearl Harbor, according to Lee N. Gragg, local civil service secretary at the post office.

Uncle Sam will pay wages from 99c to $1.49 an hour for aircraft mechanics, aircraft instrument mechanics, blacksmiths, boiler makers, boxmakers, coppersmiths, aviation electricians, instrument makers, joiners, outside machinists, bomb-sight mechanics, aviation metal-smiths, torpedo ordnancemen, patternmakers, riggers, shipfitters and shipwrights.

Only men between the ages of 20 and 62 years will be accepted, except for helper positions where the minimum age is 18.

First class transportation will be furnished from the home of the appointee to Pearl Harbor. No dependents will be allowed to make the trip.

Cantonments operated on a cost basis offer accommodations at reasonable prices regulated by the Commandant.

Mr. Gragg urges qualified men to see him at the Wellington Post Office for further details.

When a Child Needs a Laxative!

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT is a tasty liquid that most children will welcome whenever they need a laxative. What's more important, it has the same main ingredient as BLACK-DRAUGHT, its older companion. Perhaps that's why it usually gives a child such refreshing relief from the familiar symptoms which show a laxative is needed. Comes in two sizes: 25c-50c.

WHENEVER I hear about anybody having a big family I think of Dad and Ma Hoskins. The Hoskins' had thirteen children.

I mention this story about Dad Hoskins because it's something like what I understand the beer industry is doing to regulate itself.

They weren't a bad bunch of kids, by and large—but it seemed one or the other of them would always be having a fuss with the neighbors, or would break a window playing baseball, or some other kid trick. Kept Dad and Ma mighty busy all the time.

As I see it, most of the beer industry behaves itself perfectly all right... but every now and then, I guess, a retailer comes along who runs a place that isn't up to scratch... sort of like a wayward kid.

One day Dad got a bright idea. He called the whole family together for a special meeting at the dinner table.

So like Dad Hoskins' family, the brewers and beer distributors have united together in an industry self-regulation program to help the proper authorities "clean up or close up" offending retail places.

He told them he was tired of checking up on them all the time. He said he thought they were old enough now to check up on themselves. The older children would watch the younger ones. They would have meetings every so often and hand out rewards or punishments.

The brewers, who want to protect beer's good name, cooperate wisely with the authorities who enforce the laws.

Well, it was a crazy idea but the kids liked it and they started behaving better than they ever had before. The idea worked and Dad finally did get a little time for himself.

From where I sit, that's a fine thing for the brewers to do... particularly when you realize that after all they're really not responsible for retailing conditions.

"What's it good for?"
"Guns, tanks, and maybe part of a plane"

In the barnyards and gullies of farms and in the basements and attics of homes is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example. Even in peacetime, scrap provided about 50% of the raw material for steel. It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel—with most impurities removed, and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

The production of steel has gone up, up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined. But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead and tin.

The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help? First—collect all of your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Rodeo Is Highlight Of Pioneer Day Celebration

Attracting what is believed to be the largest crowd to gather in Wellington during the summer months, the two rodeo performances sponsored by the Wellington Rodeo Association and held along with the Old Settlers Reunion, Thursday was pronounced both by members of the association and by the spectators as a distinct success. Fleet Pruden, secretary of the group, said following the event.

This was the first such performance given by the Association since it was organized a little more than a year ago. Merchants of Wellington cooperated by financing the Thursday event.

Approximately 30 professional and amateur performers took part in the two performances, including some of the top-notch rodeo men of this section of the state.

Winners in the afternoon events include the following:

Calf roping: first, Delbert Riddle of Odell, 17 seconds; second, Eddie Smith of Wellington, 18.3; third, Jack Lowe of Seagraves and Pat Henard of Plains, 22.

"We greatly appreciate the work of the merchants in financing this rodeo, and we want them to know that we do," Mr. Pruden said. "We have received a great deal of encouragement from the people since the rodeo, and the Association plans to make it a permanent event in connection with the Old Settlers Reunion."

Steers for the roping event were secured from Andy Bell and Elzie White, while Bess Owens was owner of the mules ridden.

This rodeo, it was pointed out, was the outgrowth of roping contests held three nights each week by members of the association. These are held by the members for their own amusement and for the pleasure of those local merchants who wish to come and watch.

Junk Goes To WAR

UNCLE SAM NEEDS YOUR SCRAP METAL AND RUBBER

Today junk is ammunition—it's guns, it's planes, it's bullets, it's tanks—and these materials must be supplied to our fighting forces in invincible volume. There is sufficient metal and rubber on the farms, vacant lots, and in our homes to make a definite contribution from Collingsworth County to the war effort.

The next few weeks are the vital weeks in getting this scrap in. THE WELLINGTON STATE BANK joins with all others supporting the Salvage Drive to urge each one to get in your junk—it's the material that is helping win the war!

Would You Do this Job for A DIME A DAY?

KEEP 'EM RUNNING!

Our Servicemen Will Help You!

... and when you and the carpet are both worn to a frazzle, would you clean the oil lamps... and do a week's wash on a knuckle-bruising board... and run out to the springhouse after milk and butter... all for the same 10 cents?

"No bargain!" you say. But Reddy Kilowatt, your electric servant, does all these jobs and more—for a dime a day or less in the average West Texas home. What's more, that dime's value has grown so steadily that nowadays it buys about twice as much service as it did ten or fifteen years ago.

It's about the biggest bargain in the world... and probably the only household item that hasn't gone up as a result of the war!

Today, under experienced and practical business management, West Texas enjoys an abundant supply of electric power... power to perform household drudgery... power for wartime schools, training camps and industries... and power that will enrich the life of everyone in peaceful years to come.

West Texas Utilities Company

Keep Advertising, Warns Babson

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass.—I have just been reading in a New York newspaper a most interesting advertisement of a great steel company. In effect, it constitutes a report of the progress this company has made in its production of steel plates for ships, bombs, and other war materials. This company has nothing whatever to sell to the general public, but it chooses to buy considerable newspaper to give the people some most encouraging facts.

Since the "Truth in Advertising" campaign of many years ago which, incidentally, was inaugurated by members of the profession, the writing of advertisements has held to high standards. Some copy is, of course, in the "silly class," but generally, agency men have made it their business to avoid misleading statements. The public has come to rely upon advertisements. In countless instances people make it a practice to read the ads first and the news stories second. Naturally, there is some waste in advertising; but 90 per cent of it is to the good.

Generally, the individual or firm which foots a bill for advertising expects his ad to "pay its way." The return in merchandise sales per dollar spent for space is carefully watched by retailers and other advertisers. In certain types of copy featuring the sale of shoes, dresses, and various other articles of consumer goods, a merchant can determine an hour after his store opens for business whether or not the advertisement is a success.

Agencies and newspapers have apparently believed that the consumers goods industries must now fall off badly. As I pointed out recently, I cannot agree with this position. I feel that Washington will find ways and means to supply the buying public with most of its needs. The vast machinery of manufacturing and distributing which makes up our great retail trade will be kept running. Both agencies and newspapers have felt the shift-over to war production and are missing the revenue from pre-war advertising. They also have suffered under the Wage and Hour bill. But I believe if their employees will sufficiently cooperate all losses can be overcome.

The average reader accepts his paper as a matter of course. Papers are, however, as important to their communities as are municipal conveniences and services. Probably no single item would be missed more from our daily lives than our newspaper. A newspaper is the greatest buy in the world. All papers, regardless of size, are highly educational. Unlike other great institutions of learning, however, they are not endowed and must be self-supporting. Naturally, what keeps a paper going is its advertising revenue.

Such revenue is vastly important not only to advertising agencies and to the papers, but to retailers, to manufacturers, and even to churches. All kinds of civic and social organizations rely upon free notices of their activities. For this reason, I would like to see all daily newspapers sell for five cents and weeklies for 10 cents. We all have more of a stake in the business of advertising and newspaper publishing than we realize. Our papers make it possible for us to have each day not only our local news, but information from every point in the world. Washington certainly owes a debt to all newspapers whether editorially they are "for" or "agin" the Administration. Rationing and other government controls could not be put into effect without the free publicity given by the press.

The government might well underwrite a series of advertisements prepared, through regular agency channels, to keep the people informed on what is going on. After all, as it has been said before, this is the peoples war. They are paying the bills in life and property and have a right to know what is going on. Even Elmer Davis must depend upon the generosity of newspaper publishers to get his stories across to the public. Furthermore, the government must appreciate that the advertisements of our steel companies, airlines, railroads, banks, and other business interests are today helping Washington acquaint the people with the progress of our war effort.

The experiences advertising men are now having may result in an entirely new concept of the job that advertising in newspapers can do. Many manufacturers are carrying on a most sensible campaign of paid publicity with no chance of now getting their money back through increased sales. I hope many other firms will take advantage of today's opportunities to emphasize stories for the public good as well as to place emphasis upon sales type of copy. Yes, I am optimistic for advertising both as a business and as a profession for those who stick to it "rain or shine."

Judge E. L. Pitts

CANDIDATE FOR
Chief Justice Court of Civil Appeals
AT AMARILLO

Judicial, Not Sectional
Pitts Will Be "Judge" of Entire District,
Not Merely Local "Representative" Certain "Part"

SECTIONAL REPRESENTATION? Don't be misled by appeal to sectional prejudice for election of "representative" from "Northern part" of District, because Judge lives in Amarillo instead of Lubbock. Pitts takes broader view that, in suit by citizen of one section against citizen of another section, law should not be "charted" along sectional lines.

AMARILLO ALWAYS REPRESENTED. The truth is that Amarillo (where the Court is centrally located) always has all the Judges, because after their election they live there, and Amarillo's gracious citizens gladly welcome them, no matter which one of the 46 counties in the District the Judges may come from. And these Amarillo people (the same as the people of other sections of District) properly expect these Judges to be judges for every part as well as the "Northern part."

LUBBOCK NOT REPRESENTED. In no election, during 30 years existence of District, has Lubbock ever had a candidate for office of Judge on this Court. (20 years ago, one Lubbock lawyer, appointed to fill unexpired term, served only 8 months.) (paid political adv.)

300 Gather To Attend Old Settler's Reunion Thursday

Approximately 300 pioneer residents of Collingsworth County and their families were present for the annual Old Settlers Reunion Thursday, August 13.

In spite of tire rationing, visitors were present from Oklahoma, New Mexico, California, Mississippi, as well as from almost every section of Texas.

After a morning of visiting with old-time friends, and a basket dinner spread at the Lahue Grove, a majority of those attending the reunion returned to Wellington for the afternoon rodeo performance, given this year for the first time in connection with the reunion.

A square dance and the night rodeo performance concluded the reunion events.

"In every way the reunion and rodeo were a success," Dave Thomas, president of the Old Settlers Association, stated. "We greatly appreciate the cooperation of the business men and citizens of the county, and we feel that this reunion was truly one of the finest we have had in recent years."

Coming from the greatest distance was Dan Kutch, now a California resident, who served as sheriff of Collingsworth County from 1904 to 1906.

Among those who registered for this year's reunion were:

Jap Smith, 1896; E. T. Johnson, 1895; Mrs. J. W. Loter, 1889; J. W. Loter, 1889; James H. Nooe, 1896; J. W. Fain of Mangum, 1909; C. C. Copeland, 1906; Mrs. J. W. Fain of Mangum, 1908; Mrs. C. C. ELMORE DODSON of Dodson, will take part on the program of the T-Anchor Cowboys Reunion to be held at Canyon soon.

Elmore Dodson On Program Of T-Anchor Reunion

The old cowpunchers of the West are ready for their annual reunion on the T-Anchor range near Canyon on the evening of Aug. 27, president E. C. Britain announced early this week. Elmore Dodson, pioneer Collingsworth County resident and ex-cowpuncher, will have a prominent part in the event.

On Thursday evening, Aug. 26, there will be a son-of-a-gun stew prepared by Mel Armstrong, an Old Tascosa sheriff. Edd Baird of Canyon will supervise the evening program.

The feature of the evening will be a ranch style square dance on a big and strong platform. There will be suitable music. Bill Hensley of Amarillo, "Uncle Billy" Jarrett of Dalhart and others will do the leather-lunged calling. The dance will last as long as anyone wants to "shake a leg."

The big reunion comes the next day—a morning of yarn swapping, a John Snider barbecue at noon and a snappy program in the afternoon.

President Britain will call the meeting to order just before the "come and get it" sounds for the barbecue. Elmore Dodson of Dodson, an old Laurel Leaf puncher, will say the invocation.

Soon after the barbecue, President Britain will call for order. There will be music, including numbers by the Blackburn-Shaw Quartet, and second generation cowboys and girls.

Officers will be elected; then Judge C. E. Coombes of Stamford will speak. Also on the speaking program are Mrs. Billy Dixon and Miss Laura V. Hammer. All old punchers and pioneer women will be introduced by John McCarty, the master of ceremonies.

Mr. Britain said that all persons eligible should notify him of membership and send in the $2 initiation fee. Mr. Britain's address is Oliver-Eagle Building, Amarillo.

This will be the 22nd reunion of the old punchers. Any men, or their families, who pioneered in the west prior to 1900 are eligible for membership.

JUDGE E. C. NELSON
Candidate for Chief Justice Court of Civil Appeals
Saturday, Aug. 22nd

Does Training Count?
If not, why have schools and colleges? Judge Nelson has had the best literary and legal training our country affords.

Does Experience Count?
Should a Chief Justice have had some actual experience as a practicing lawyer? Should he have had some experience before the Court he seeks to preside over? Judge Nelson has had years of experience, both as a practicing lawyer and as a trial judge.

Should Representation Be Equal?

The Lubbock area already has one of the judges of this Court; and the Vernon area has one. Isn't it fair for the northern part of the district to continue to have a representative on the Court?

Who Should Choose The Chief Justice?

The people? Or a group of Lubbock lawyers? Judge Nelson did not ask any group whether he might run for the office; and he has not sought any endorsements. If elected, he will be under no obligations to any such group. He will be able to chart the course of the law fairly for all. Is that what you want? If so,—VOTE FOR JUDGE E. C. NELSON.

Samnorwood Enrolls Above 450 At Opening

More than 450 students will attend the Samnorwood School when enrollment is completed, Earl R. Ponder, superintendent, said Monday evening, after a majority of the students had entered for their work.

"We are looking forward to a successful year. The patrons are cooperating with the faculty and trustees in every way, and much interest is being shown in the work," Mr. Ponder said.

Two additional faculty members were also announced.

Miss Willie Willard of the Needwood community was elected to teach Seventh Grade work. Miss Willard is a graduate of the University of Texas and has worked toward her master's degree at the University of Southern California.

Kinnard Smith of Wellington has been named for 5th grade work. Mr. Smith received his degree this spring from West Texas State College, and for several months he has been employed in Mississippi.

In the short opening exercise Monday morning, an explanation of the working of the school system was given before a large number of parents. Preceding this, Rev. Haynes, pastor of the Methodist Church at Shamrock, and Rev. Hugh Blalock, pastor of the Samnorwood Methodist Church, gave the devotional part of the program.

Alvie Redden, principal of the grade school, explained the plans for that section during the year, and Paul Morris, high school principal, explained the changes in the high school, and the work that is planned.

Mr. Ponder reviewed the entire school program.

Other speakers were Tom Cunningham, president of the school board; Bill Knoll, secretary; Cecil Craven and George Admire, members of the Seale school board; and Frank Schoonover, from the Hackberry school board. The latter three represent schools that have transferred to Samnorwood for this year.

The hot lunch room will be operated again this year, but its opening has been delayed due to the assignment of workers, Mr. Ponder said.

Plane geometry and second year algebra have been added to the high school curriculum in keeping with requests relative to national defense. Shop work will probably be added in the vocational agriculture departments as an additional defense course, Mr. Ponder said.

Mrs. T. W. Poteet and son, Michael, of Fort Worth are visiting this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McClure. Mrs. Poteet came to Wellington with Mrs. McClure after Mrs. McClure returned her daughter, Mrs. A. A. Watts, and son, Anderson, to their home at Weatherford.

Dorothy Norman returned last week from Hereford where she has been visiting with her cousin.

SOLICITS YOUR VOTE IN THE SECOND DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY, AUGUST 22nd.

I want to take this means of asking the people of Precinct 1 for their vote and support at the Second Democratic Primary Saturday, August 22.

It has been impossible for me to get to see all the voters of the Precinct, but I want you to know that I appreciate your vote just the same.

I have lived in the county 18 years, and for 14 years I have worked with the State Highway Department. This has enabled me to know that good roads are one of the chief concerns of the people of a precinct. Too, through past experience, I feel that I will be able to handle the other duties required of a County Commissioner.

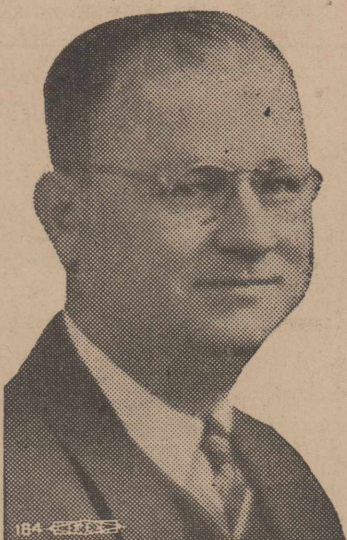

If I am elected, I have but one promise to make, and that is to do my part in conducting the affairs of my office in a businesslike, efficient, and fair manner.

Editorial

Another opportunity to render a definite and valuable service to their country at war has been given Collingsworth County—and every other county in the nation.

The intensified all-out campaign to salvage valuable and vital materials generally designated as junk is on, and in the next few weeks, this campaign will reach its height in this county.

Under the direction of A. B. Mears, salvage chairman, committee workers in every community will see to it that their neighbors know what is wanted and how to get the scrap materials in to the best advantage. And this is no small undertaking for the county.

Collingsworth has already completed a most successful scrap metal drive and a salvage rubber drive. The richest of the scrap harvest has been taken, but there remains a big supply of old metal and old rubber in the county that can and should be turned over for war use. This scrap will help win the war.

Six million tons of scrap metal is the objective set by the government's War Production Board. This scrap is ammunition—its the guns and the planes and the tanks and the ships that will mean the second front. It will mean the advances of the Allied armies and navies. It will be a contributing force in every major offensive and every successful gain.

Some things may be put down simply as a moral builder, designed to keep the idea of our war in our minds. The scrap drive definitely is not that. Its results can be seen in the tremendous upswing in production within the last six months. Although we have lost heavily since war started, it can help to keep us from losing even more.

Reliable information has been given out to the effect that there is enough steel and iron on the farms, vacant lots, and in city homes that, if collected, would be sufficient when used with other materials to make double the world's number of battleships afloat today or enough 2,000 pound bombs to drop three per minute for three years.

There's enough scrap in Collingsworth County to make some uncomfortable minutes for the enemies. It's enough to sink a battleship or blow up an ammunition

• Benefits From War

An authoritative source has made an informal report on the health and mental attitude of residents of the British Isles after three years of strain and long periods of actual sufferings in the hardships of war.

The people there are said to be in splendid physical condition, a bit of knowledge that answers questions in the minds of many Americans. They show outward signs of the mental strain through which they have passed but retain the vigor that it takes for active thinking and industrious effort.—The Frederick (Oklahoma) Leader.

• Texas Iron Ore

Texas offers a second front in the production effort as important in its sphere as the second battle front. That is, the production of iron and steel from all-year ore beds, instead of depending on the ice-bound Great Lakes routes to feed a localized industry in the East . . . Texas is doing its part in the scrap metal campaign, but their utmost result is an infinitesimal part of what a real, permanent productive industry would do in the utilization of the vast resources of Texas to meet continuing and big scale war needs.—The Wichita Falls Record News.

• Conversation Pieces

When the electric lights were dimmed so low Monday night that they might as well have been completely out, we decided that although candles are very romantic to eat by, they certainly don't shed much reading light. Wondering what we were going to do during the evening ahead while we sat in the flickering shadows, we came to the conclusion that Americans must develop the lost art of conversation or perhaps many an evening would be wasted. With blackouts occurring frequently in many cities, (and may occur here) American people who have been so dependent upon picture shows, books and magazines, bridge cards, automobiles and other amusements must fall back on their own resources for an enjoyable evening—hence, the need of learning to talk intelligently to one's companions.—Tulsa Herald.

• A Neighbor Town Rallies

On August 28 the people of Hall County will take part in a junk rally which is a nationwide effort to collect and centralize junk metals and materials needed in the war effort. This co-operative effort will be climaxed with a big patriotic rally at Memphis City Park and probably in other towns in the county.

The rally program committee is leaving nothing undone in trying to make the climax worth while. Parents and wives of boys in service will be honor guests, and music and short speeches will provide the fireworks in an effort to make the people more war conscious. Minute men, under the direction of Chairman W. C. Davis are appearing at every public meeting in behalf of the rally. Ministers are also planning to have appropriate services in connection with the publicity. It promises to be the greatest patriotic rally ever held in Memphis.—J. Claude Wells in The Memphis Democrat.

dump. It's enough to help.

Let's turn over our scrap where it can—where it WILL—help win this war.

Washington Snapshots

—By JAMES PRESTON

The raw material shortage, as evidenced by factory shut-downs and emptying retail shelves, demands immediate attention, even as inflation, wage stabilization and price control. Outcome of the material scramble will decide whether war manufacturers will deliver quotas on schedule and whether civilian goods makers can stay in business. Channeling of available supplies to the right place at the right time calls for bold action. WPB will deal with maladjustments due to Lend-Lease unscheduled operations.

The President's anti-inflation blueprint, being drawn up by Justice Roseman, is eagerly awaited. War Labor Board's basic "Little Steel" formula is expected to win out over OPA Henderson's wage-czar proposal. WLB wants single agency to review all wage increases, in dispute or not. Window-dressing is being set up to mollify OPA.

Sponsors of a price control subsidy bill are seeking administration support before submitting this newly-drafted measure to Congress. Under this bill, business men would have prominent roles in an administrative body. Subsidies that over-depress prices or dislocate distributive channels would be prohibited. A special commercial court of review and the bill would be limited to the "duration." Secretary of Commerce Jones, who has been talking with Senator Taft and other OPA subsidy foes, proposes a 1½ billion dollar appropriation bill permitting RFC to subsidize producers squeezed by price ceilings with cost-living commodities as test items. Congress is inclined to pass the bill to Jones.

WPB now master of raw materials has taken steps to correct Lend-Lease disruptions. LL will now line up with Army, Navy for metal rations. Army-Navy-WPB sore spot resulting from LL's preferred position is healed. Lend-Lease is on a priority basis consistent with the overall rule-of-thumb policy of arms to fighters.

The Treasury is advocating a new policy to avoid a double burden on corporations. A tax credit on profits recaptured by the government through contract renegotiation, and on which excess profits have been paid, would be allowed. This may be included in the new tax bill.

Black markets are due for trouble. Investigations in all critical materials are imminent. OPA, WPB, FBI, Army, Navy and the Maritime Commission are on the war path. The President has issued pointed orders. Appropriate legislation to follow will have long, sharp teeth.

Log books may soon be a part of the automobile driver's equipment. Officials are planning federal licenses for all cars, drivers of which must record mileage and keep within quotas, tuned to occupational needs. Under ODT administration, violators could lose licenses and automobiles.

While considered as an autumn "must," ODT officials are reluctant to barge into the new travel priority plan. Under this measure all seats, including coaches, would be reserved. Passenger engines may soon be used for freight.

Even under White House blessing, any AFL-CIO "peace exchange" combine is not likely to ripen soon. While both groups find they can cooperate as separate units and are working out a formula to eliminate jurisdictional disputes—each eyes the dairy progress of Lewis with considerable fear.

TICKLERS By Hayes

"I wound it too tight."

On The Home Front

Southwestern merchants, sometimes baffled by complicated OPA price schedules, will be glad to learn that Washington officials have taken a major step toward "streamlining" their price control program. This was apparent in the revision of Maximum Price Regulation 165 which previously covered only consumer services, such as shoe repair, dry cleaning, farm machinery repair, hat blocking and cleaning and developing and printing of photographs. Coverage is extended to include wholesale services and commercial and industrial consumers as well as ultimate consumers. The newly-revised regulation, which became effective August 19, drops the word "consumer" from its title and becomes simply "services."

The few services previously under the consumer service regulation and not listed in the new regulation automatically revert to the controls of the General Maximum Price Regulation unless specifically exempted or covered by a specific maximum price regulation. The basic principle of establishing ceiling prices at the highest levels of last March remains unchanged, but the mechanism has been simplified. The broad groups of services set forth in the new regulation make clear just which operations are to be controlled by its provisions, and the practical difficulty of determining whether a service is a "consumer" service has been eliminated.

Meanwhile, one of the Axis' most helpful little colleagues in America today—the rumor monger—took a severe beating at the hands of Paul M. O'Leary, deputy OPA administrator in charge of rationing. In commenting on rumors that certain commodities are to be rationed shortly, Mr. O'Leary declared that OPA is planning the rationing machinery for many commodities in which there is no present need for rationing, but he said, in this respect, we're like the fire department. It gets its fire-fighting equipment ahead of time so when the alarm sounds, they don't have to go shopping for a fire engine in order to get to the fire. He added that "a competent discharge of our duties requires that we be ready to meet any emergency as it arises."

In a followup on Region OPA Administrator Max L. McCul-

lough's recent statement that the policy of OPA was raiding moving from education to enforcement, region officials last week sent out their first notice to a Southwestern retailer that he must cease violating price regulations or face the threat of having his business closed. The warning notice was sent by registered mail to a retail beer and soft drinks dealer in Arkansas. Under provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, OPA can ask suspension of a business' licenses if, after receiving the warning notice, the business continues to violate the regulations. OPA spokesmen said that additional warning notices are being prepared.

Already playing a major part in the war on the Home Front, farmers in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma have been asked to participate in another great harvest—a National Scrap Harvest. That old "go-devil" or harrow you've had out behind the barn so long but for which you have found no use, can be quickly transformed into a war weapon if you will get it into the scrap heap. It may be made into a bomb which will blast Tokyo or Berlin. It may well serve in a powerful American tank when the soldiers of Uncle Sam hit the high road to Berlin.

Of great interest to all in the Southwest this past week was the announcement by the War Production Board that production of 300 civilian articles made of iron and steel had to cease on August 14. This move is one of the key objectives of officials running the war. As the output of civilian goods drops, the production of war goods will climb. It will mean less buying of luxury goods and more buying of war stamps and bonds.

Approximately 1000 metal manufacturers in Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Texas are affected by this far-reaching order. Here are a few of the things on which production is being stopped: Watering, dipping and feeding tanks for animals (strapping excluded), barn pushers and scrapers, dishwashing racks, buttons for clothing, except for overalls, overall suits and dungarees, many types of fencing, wagon bodies, frames, and wheels, all metal (maintenance and repair excepted)—except for construction, ironing boards and stands, garden trowels, garden sprinkling cans and a host of others.

"Soft Pork" Can Be Avoided By Proper Methods

DALLAS.—Department of Agriculture releases from Washington, urging hog feeders in soybean and peanut areas to guard against increased production of "soft pork," should call attention to the important value of cottonseed meal in swine rations to prevent soft pork. A. L. Ward, Educational Director, National Cottonseed Products Association, points out.

Price discounts for soft hogs usually run from 50c to $1.00 per 100 pounds in the South and higher than that in the middle west, said press association dispatches quoting the Department's plea. "Soft pork," the dispatch explained is the term applied to meat produced from hogs fattened on excessive quantities of whole soybeans and peanuts.

"With increased acreage of peanuts, soybeans and similar crops this season, the danger of increased production of soft pork is recognized by the Department of Agriculture," Ward added. "This danger is easy to avoid, however, by taking the pigs off of the peanuts or soybeans before they reach 100 pounds weight, and by feeding cottonseed meal in rations designed to offset the "softening" influence of these feeds."

Extensive research at the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station and other stations, in cooperation with the national Bureau of Animal Industry, has shown that cottonseed meal is not only important in the pig's ration, because of its feed value, but also, because of the firmness which it imparts to carcasses of pigs that previously have been fed softening feeds.

Professor E. H. Hostetler of the North Carolina Experiment Station commented, in a recent address:

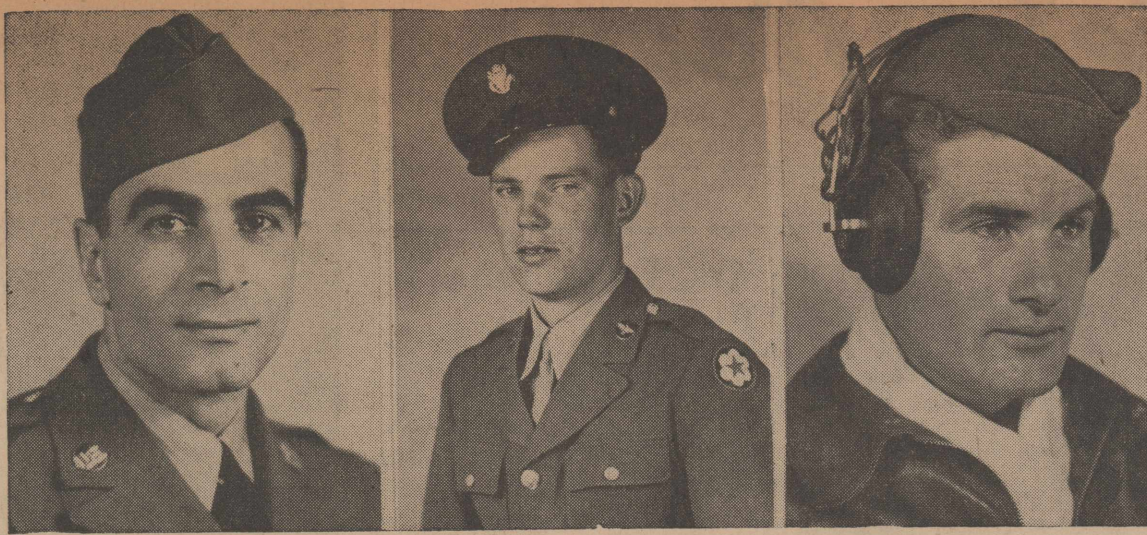

"Results of these experiments show that if pigs are taken off of a peanut ration at individual weights of approximately 100 pounds, and then finished on a ration containing approximately 13 percent cottonseed meal, they will yield carcasses of satisfactory firmness. But when the finishing ration does not contain cottonseed meal, a much higher percentage of the carcasses will remain soft under normal cooler temperatures. This addition of cottonseed meal to the ration has not only produced firmer carcasses, but but has also resulted in satisfactory feed utilization and gains."

Complete information on the research conducted by Prof. Hostetler and others may be obtained from the North Carolina Station or the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, but Cotton Oil Mills throughout the country have available practical rations for preventing soft pork, Ward said.

A popular mixture for this purpose, after the pigs have been eating peanuts or soybeans until they weigh 100 pounds, has been: 75 pounds of ear corn-meal; 13 pounds of cottonseed meal; 5 pounds of tankage; 5 pounds of alfalfa-leaf meal; 1½ pounds of ground limestone or oyster shell flour; and ½ pound of salt, Ward said.

At left is John Shadid, the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Shadid of Wellington. He is now stationed at Birmingham, Alabama. Before entering the service he was associated with a brother in the dry goods business. Center is Sgt. Wister Harrison, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Harrison. Letters Of 50 Years Ago Describe Ranch Grocery Troubles

Life on the old Rocking Chair Ranch has been the source of much speculation among those who enjoy Collingsworth County's early history. The article below, furnished by Mrs. K. D. Tinkler of Wellington, tells something of the troubles of the English-born manager, unused to pioneer hardships:

Probably the thing that irritated the Honorable Archibald John Majoribanks most was the type of groceries that were constantly sent to the ranch. Almost every order that was filled brought forth such caustic denunciations as the following:

"The two cases of bacon you have just sent us are very sorry stuff, veritable 'sow-bellies' . . . about four-fifths being pure fat and waste, there is hardly any lean on it at all. . . had we cut into it before the wagons started back, we should have sent it all back to you. . ." (A. J. Majoribanks to John L. Dickerson, Dec. 4, 1892.)

"The 53 pounds of prunes you lately sent us were more worms than prunes; it is an outrage to try to put off such filthy stuff on us; we utterly refuse to receive or pay for such stuff, and the said sack of prunes and worms has been left in Aberdeen in Mrs. J. J. Drew's care to be returned to you." (A. J. Majoribanks to Fore Bros., August 29, 1892.)

"It was neither at Mr. Drew's or my insistence that this bill of goods was got from you; our range boss took the entire responsibility upon himself and we have censured him severely for securing these from you; the so-called New Orleans molasses was nothing but glucose, unfit and even dangerous to eat; the bacon was execrable, no such stuff has ever before come to this ranch; the flour was musty and black and it was impossible to make even fair bread out of it; the coil of ropewas unfit for ranch use, being so loosely twisted together in the strands; we are not accustomed to such goods, and had the goods come by freighter, or had we been able to spare our wagon and team at the time for the trip back to Memphis, everything would have been sent back." (A. J. Majoribanks to Byron Jones, May 29, 1892.)

Typical of the grocery orders given by the ranch just 50 years ago is the following:

Gentlemen:

Take care that you put none of the articles ordered in paper sacks and mind that the flour is good for we shall sample it and, if bad, return it. . . Mind that the fruit you send us is good and not wormy, we shall examine it, and if bad, return it. Also see that the molasses is in reality New Orleans molasses, we will not receive anything else.

Navy Needs Radio Workers

An urgent call for men interested in radio work was issued today at the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station at Amarillo.

Operators, repair and service men and technicians between the ages of 17 and 50 years are especially wanted for enlistment in petty officer ratings with beginning pay ranging from $78.00 to $96.00. Inexperienced men between the ages of 17 and 28 years may be enlisted as apprentice seamen with beginning pay of $50.00 and, if qualified in accordance with standards for entrance in Navy service schools, be assigned to Navy radio school upon completion of recruit training. Men who fail to qualify for or in radio school will be retained in the naval service in rating and pay in which qualified to hold.

All enlisted men of the navy receive 20 per cent addition to base pay for sea service or foreign duty. Married men are also allowed extra pay for their family.

Five Arrested For Gambling

Four men and one boy were arrested Thursday by Sheriff Paul Bell and charged with gambling. None were local residents, and the group was in Wellington buying scrap iron, the sheriff said. The arrests were made in the east part of Wellington. Fines of $1 and costs were assessed the four men in Justice Court, while the boy was remanded by the court.

During the week end one man was arrested for drunkenness and a local negro was arrested following a fight, Sheriff Bell said.

Mrs. T. T. Fain of Canyon is here visiting this week.

We Can't Wait For Weapons To Grow

Wars take time and efficiency of primary importance, and the critical needs of the United States, and the United Nations cannot wait for the normal, slow peacetime pace of production.

PORK and LARD are weapons of war—vital to the war effort. They must be produced rapidly and efficiently—time is important, especially to avoid "swamping" burdened markets at the normal peaks of peacetime hog marketing.

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND WAR PRODUCTION BOARD URGE YOU TO SAVE TIME and GRAIN IN HOG PRODUCTION.

Properly used in balanced rations, COTTONSEED MEAL can be a major factor in saving time and grain in hog feeding.

COTTONSEED MEAL also will reduce the cost of your protein supplement mixture, and increase its efficiency.

"Soft Pork" can be avoided by proper management and use of COTTONSEED MEAL for swine on "softening" feeds, such as peanuts or soybeans.

Stylish Corduroy

Wide wale cotton corduroy, designed in strict accord with WPB rules, takes a long step toward conservation of fabric without sacrifice of style. The trim, figure-flattering jacket and gored skirt may be worn with a variety of blouses and accessories to serve as a "basic" costume for many fall occasions.

"Back-To-School"

The little miss pictured above will surely receive "A" in appearance when she arrives at school on opening day dressed in this dark plaid cotton gingham. The pattern capitalizes on every inch of its WPB fabric allowance to achieve the utmost in style. Pegtop pockets in the skirt and a smart bolero collar, set off by a white pique collar, are the sort of details to endear this frock to a junior miss.

Mary Dell Longino Weds Staff Sgt. C. S. Walter At Wichita Falls

Miss Ball presided at the cake which was topped with a bride and a soldier groom standing beneath an archway of fresh flowers and greenery. Miss Reba Longino presided at the punch bowl.

Government Loan Rates On 1942 Cotton Given

Cotton farmers will receive loans on this year's cotton crop at 85 per cent of parity, and about two cents above the loan rate of last year, it has been announced from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Collingsworth County farmers will receive 16.75 on 15-16 middling cotton, net weight, Wellington, Sandy Parsons, St., local cotton buyer, said.

The loan of 7-8 middling cotton will be about 16.55, net weight, Wellington.

Strict middling will bring 30 points above the middling loan rate.

The loan rates throughout the state will vary, because of location and freight rates. As in previous years, premiums and discounts for grade and staple in the 1942 program will be calculated in relation to the loan rate on 15-16 inch middling cotton.

Although there is some 15-16 inch cotton grown here, a majority of that sold has a staple of 7-8 inch.

The major problem faced by farmers with reference to loan cotton is storage space, it is pointed out. Loan cotton must be stored in a bonded warehouse. The Traders Compress in Wellington offers the only such storage space in this county, and at present it is filled almost to capacity, J. V. Langford, local manager, said Tuesday. Approximately 90 per cent of last year's cotton was placed in the loan, it is believed.

Notes on loan cotton will bear interest at the rate of 3 per cent per annum and will mature July 31, 1943, but will be callable on demand. Loans will be available until May 31, 1943.

Full loan rates will be available to AAA cooperators, while non-cooperators may receive loans at 60 per cent of the full rate on that part of their cotton subject to penalty.

will have to give the local board conclusive proof that he is observing the 40-mile speed limit imposed by the Office of Defense Transportation, before he again can become eligible.

"OPA and ODT inspectors are beginning to take the license numbers of speeders," Mr. Lewis said, "and these numbers will be sent to our board. A lot of city delivery trucks and even big freight line trucks and public buses still are ignoring the 40-mile limit. They may ignore it, but we are not going to. The next time those fellows apply for tires, if we find they've been speeding they will know that we mean business."

August 31 Is Deadline On Wheat Insurance

Deadline for applying for government wheat crop insurance is August 31, R. E. Byrom, administrative officer of the County AAA office reminded all farmers in the county who have wheat crop allotments for the coming year.

Although few growers in Collingsworth County are collecting on their federal all-risk wheat crop insurance this year, they know that every year can't be a good year and are now signing up for insurance on their 1942 crops," Mr. Byrom said.

Federal all-risk wheat crop insurance is now being sold only on a three-year contract rather than on a yearly basis as in the past, it was stated.

"The three year contract makes it possible for the wheat grower to know what his minimum income from wheat will be for the next three years, since the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation guarantees that it will not lower the yield or increase the premium rate during the life of the contract," Mr. Byrom said in pointing out the advantages of the plan over that formerly used.

At the same time, the grower has the privilege of cancelling the contract and signing up for a new three-year period in any year when the yield and rate established for his farm would be more advantageous to him.

der the loan system this year. Warehouses are even now filled almost to capacity. There is no relief in sight, and no action has been taken by the government to relieve the situation, he said.

Mr. Davis discussed the Smith-Doxey cotton classing plan, whereby one variety cotton communities may profit from classing services. He explained that complete records can be kept by the grower on the grade and staple of his cotton for a season. In addition, considerable cotton marketing information is distributed to these farmers under the set-up. Every gin in the county is now able to give the Smith-Doxey classing service, it was stated.

Dr. Fenton and B. A. Zorns, county agent, discussed cotton insect control, with special emphasis on the leaf worm and flea hopper infestation now being experienced in this county. Both men recommended spraying and dusting as the most effective method of control.

Mr. Britain outlined the government regulations over ginning, and stressed the necessity of gins turning out good, clean seed, in order that high grade cotton lint may be obtained by the cotton oil mills. These linters, he told the group, are now being produced entirely from the government for use as explosives in the war effort. Failure to turn out clean cotton seed means that the ammunition used in the war will not be the best, he declared.

The school of instruction will continue through the week, with cotton problems of prime importance coming up for discussion and study, Mr. Ream said.

Corporal and Mrs. Robert F. Hurst of Madison, Ind., were guests of his brother, Jack Hurst, and family from Wednesday until Monday. On Thursday the group fished at Lake Kemp. Cpl. Hurst is stationed at the Jefferson Proving Grounds.

No Shortage Of Cotton Sacks

COLLEGE STATION.—Cotton bag manufacturers in Texas have informed the Texas USDA War Board that they can supply plenty of picking sacks made from cotton cloth, B. F. Vance, board chairman, has announced.

Vance said that shortages of cotton duck cloth for the manufacture of cotton pick sacks required a shift to sacks made from osnaburg. Texas mills, in answer to queries from the War Board, indicated they could supply as many of the osnaburg sacks as needed.

Hon. J. Ross Bell Endorses Judge E. C. Nelson

Judge E. C. Nelson, candidate for Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, has received the following self-explanatory letter from Hon. J. Ross Bell. Judge Bell carried a heavy vote through the eastern part of the district in the first primary and carried the largest number of counties next to Judge Nelson. His letter is as follows:

Childress, Texas
August 18, 1942

Judge E. C. Nelson,
Amarillo, Texas

Dear Judge Nelson:

While it is not my intention to take an active part in your contest for Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, I do expect to vote for you. I shall do this for two reasons:

First: I believe you to be the best qualified for the position you seek.

Second: With other qualifications equal, I feel that the northern section of the district is entitled to representation on the court. The South Plains country already has one member on the Court and it probably would be more satisfactory to have all sections of the district represented.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) J. Ross Bell

It is believed that the friends of Hon. J. Ross Bell and the public in general will be interested in knowing his position and views in the matter. This letter is used with permission of Judge Bell.

Vote for Judge E. C. Nelson on Aug. 22
