Germans Prepare To Launch Invasion

Enemies Of New Deal Lashed By FDR In Press Conference

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 23. — President Roosevelt donned political harness today long enough to speak his mind about Senator

SENATOR BURKE

Edward R. Burke, Lewis W. Douglas, John W. Hanes and former Senator James A. Reed—four anti-third term Democrats who have teamed up with Wendell L. Willkie.

Prompted entirely by press conference questions, Mr. Roosevelt said he understood the Democratic party had bolted from Burke; that the administration felt the minds of Douglas and Hanes, former government officials, ran more to dollars than to humanity; and that Reed was well qualified to lead dissident Democrats.

Has His Doubts

The president was first asked whether the word "bolt" properly described Burke's offer of support for Willkie. He made the remark about the party bolting Burke and then grinned until a roar of laughter at his answer had subsided.

Burke was defeated for renomination in the Nebraska primary by Governor R. L. Cochran.

Mr. Roosevelt was reminded, he said, of Lew Douglas and Johnny Hanes by an inquiry about how he regarded "this dissent of Jeffersonian Democrats."

Douglas did not vote Democratic four years ago, Mr. Roosevelt as-

Military Training Bill Is Approved

Senate Group Okays Act To Register Men

Proposal Calls For Conscription Of Million And Half

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 23. — Compulsory military training moved a long step nearer reality today when the Senate military committee approved a revised Burke-Wadsworth bill providing for registration of 42,000,000 men, of whom 1,500,000 would be drafted in the first year.

Details remain to be worked out, but in the main the measure calls for:

1. Registration of all males between 19 and 64.

2. Actual conscription of about 1,500,000 men between 21 and 30 during the first year, starting Oct. 1, 1940. There are an estimated 11,500,000 between these ages.

Ready Next Week

3. A training period of one year for those selected.

4. Base pay equal to that of the lower grades of the regular armed forces, starting at $21 a month.

5. Later draftees to be chosen from the 21 to 45 age groups.

Senator Sheppard (D.-Tex), chairman of the committee, predicted the measure would be ready for Senate consideration next week. Sheppard did not announce the committee vote, but said there were "few dissenting" voices.

Measure Explained

In explaining the measure to reporters, Brig. Gen. W. E. Shedd, assistant chief of staff, said the men would be classified for exemptions by local boards, similar to the World war draft boards. Men with families, he said, or men employed in national defense work would be placed in deferred groups.

The war department contemplates that youths between 18 and 21 and men between 45 and 64 would be available for home defense service. Legislation providing this probably will be submitted to Congress later.

Subject To Recall

The job of training the draftees, Shedd said, probably would require the services of the entire National Guard. He added, however, that mobilization of the guard would require other legislation.

The committee measure would not interfere with voluntary enlistments in the army, navy and marine corps. Men eligible for the draft also could volunteer for the one-year training period.

If world conditions become worse, General Shedd said, "we might have to train more."

SHARP-EYED TROOPS GUARD HAVANA CONFERENCE — The grave nature of the inter-American conference, being held in the shadow of Europe's war, was impressed upon delegates by armed troops stationed inside and outside the capitol at Havana to guard against violence. Secretary of State Hull, center, George Messersmith, left, United States ambassador to Cuba, and Mrs. Hull are shown passing a line of the sharp-eyed sentries on the capital steps.

Britain Awaits Blitzkrieg With Confidence

Nazi Activity Is Indicator Strike May Come Soon

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 23.—Britain, barricaded behind a growing wall of preparedness, waited watchfully but confidently tonight for Adolf Hitler to start his blitzkrieg.

Reports in neutral sources of "Greatly increased activities" in Dutch and Belgian dockyards and railways indicated her great test may not be long coming.

These reports, unconfirmed in British quarters, said the Germans apparently were concentrating military supplies in the western lowlands—a logical jumping off place for a mass invasion.

More Destroyers

Taking stock of her position against efforts of German warplanes and commerce raiders to create a starvation blockade, Britain found herself strong in ships, food, men and wealth.

Naval experts declared the island kingdom had more destroyers now than when the war started, despite the loss of 26.

Even if the Germans intensify their submarine campaign, Food Minister Lord Woolton declared, Britain will not starve because "we have stocks to stand a long siege."

Lord Woolton asked American newspapermen tonight to tell the United States there is no food shortage in Britain, "because people over there still want to send us parcels of food."

Harvest Is Light

He estimated the harvest in continental Europe would not be more than 70 per cent of normal this year and declared "This business of starving people out may work the other way around—we've still got a navy."

War Minister Anthony Eden declared Britain had 1,300,000 home guard troops ready and reported reorganization and re-equipment of French, Belgian, Czecho-Slovak, Norwegian and Polish soldiers now in Britain was making "good progress."

Long-time American residents of Britain are forming their own "home guard."

British recognition of a new government for "free Czecho-Slovaks," headed by Dr. Eduard Benes, a former president of the dissolved republic, was announced by the Czecho-Slovak national committee.

Two Way Raids

Warplanes roared both ways across the English channel.

Nazi planes bombed ports from Scotland to the Thames estuary and British frighters repeatedly raced out to sea, apparently to intercept aerial squadrons attacking convoys.

An admiralty tabulation for the week ending July 14 ackonwledged that "enemy action" had sunk nine British ships totalling 23,963 tons, four Allied ships totalling 7,335 tons and six neutral ships totalling 20,734 tons.

In their own raids, the air ministry said, British fliers Monday sank a German anti-aircraft ship in a raid on the Norwegian port of Bergen, hit German airfields, factories, barge concentrations and docks.

Political Races Get Hotter As Election Nears

(By The Associated Press)

Texas voters, faced with the longest ballot in history at the forthcoming Democratic primary, Tuesday got an extra large dose of campaign huffing and puffing as the weather grew hotter and election day nearer.

Four candidates for governor—three of them in West Texas—delivered 22 speeches. Another speaker, James E. Ferguson, planned to close his campaign in behalf of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferugson at Fort Worth Wednesday night. County clerks over the state accepted the last absentee ballots Tuesday afternoon.

O'Daniel In Oil Belt

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel guided his hillbilly whirlwind through the oil belt, stopping at Cisco to tell a perspiring and cheering crowd that his majority on the board of control has "cleaned house" of 11 "swivil chair" employes and "boarded up the back door entrance and saved the state half a million dollars."

O'Daniel again bitterly assailed "oligarchic government" at Austin. Although he is constitutionally charged with enforcement of the law, he said, his authority for this enforcement has been lodged in a bureau whose members he did not appoint and whom he can not discharge. O'Daniel planned to wind up the heavy day of speech making with a night rally at Wichita Falls.

He is making a last-minute whirlwind speaking tour before Saturday's primary.

Railway Across South America Is Proposed

(By The Associated Press)

HAVANA, July 23.—The United States proposed today that all American republics join in a mandate over European possessions in the western hemisphere to keep their sovereignty inviolable until Europe's war is over or eventually to give them independence.

At the same time, Bolivia was reported seeking a transcontinental South American railroad which would act in emergencies as an auxiliary to the Panama canal in moving troops and guns from coast to coast.

The joint trusteeship over European colonies in the new world was envisioned in a draft of a convention offered less than a day after the conference of American foreign ministers opened. Broadly, it proposed:

To Act As Trustees

1. That the Americas act as trustees of the European possessions in this hemisphere.

2. That mandates over these possessions be temporary and that they be returned to their original sovereigns as soon as possible, or granted their independence.

3. That the parent mandate commission to be set up make recommendations for any military and naval protection deemed necessary to protect the territories from an outside menace.

In a resolution designed to act as a stop-gap until the trusteeship is in operation, the United States foresaw the possibility that some one nation might have to act independently to offset a change in the sovereignty over the European colonies.

However, the resolution declared such action would be provisional only and the affected colony would be given to the mandate commission as soon as possible.

Colleges Will Probe Charge

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, July 23.—Directors who formulate the policies of seven state teachers colleges will demand a thorough investigation of charges made before the Dies committee that Communism has filtered into a state teachers college, R. A. Stuart, past president of the board, said tonight.

Stuart pointed out that news stories of testimony saying the president of one of the schools was a member of the Communist party and attended a rally near Lake Worth last May 12, did not specify a particular school. He said, however, it was his understanding and that of three other members of the board with whom he had talked that the testimony referred to one of the teachers college.

Should Be Proved

"All members of the board with whom I have talked in the past 24 hours feel as I do—that the charges should be proved or an apology offered the heads of each of the colleges," Stuart said. "What has come out of the Dies committee is a blanket charge against the president of every one of the schools and his coach."

The Fort Worth attorney said he seriously doubted there was anything to the report emanating from the Beaumont hearing, and that it was his understanding that Congressman Dies himself was not satisfied with the charges.

Stuart said a member of the board had contacted the Texas congressman and was waiting the outcome of additional testimony.

Will Remove Him

"You can be sure that if any un-American activities are proved against a teachers college president, that man will be removed," Stuart asserted, "but so far as the board is concerned, all of the colleges have cooperated splendidly in the defense program and are as fine a group of college as there is in the United States."

Plans Are Made For Texas' Willkie Drive

DALLAS., July 23. (AP)—L. A. Casey of Fort Worth returned today from New York where he said he conferred with John D. M. Hamilton and other Republican leaders on the Willkie for president club plans in Texas.

Casey said he was accompanied by Arthur P. Nazro of Dallas.

In a few days, Casey said, he will announce a list of "ex-Democrats who will stump Texas for the Republican presidential nominee, Wendell L. Willkie."

Ex-Gov. Earl K. Long Indicted

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, July 23.—Former Governor Earl K. Long was indicted late today by the parish grand jury on embezzlement charges involving payroll "deadheads" during the bitter February gubernatorial campaign.

Indicted with him were three former members of the dock board and the former assistant to the board's general manager.

Three indictments, charging embezzlement and extortion to the five men, some of them among the most prominent in the city, were returned by the jury whose investigation of a "special" board payroll began after Gov. Sam Jones took office May 14, succeeding Long.

Others Are Charged

Named in the indictment with the former governor were:

I. B. Rennyson, real estate broker and board member from 1929 until this year.

L. J. Vaccaro, vice president of the Standard Fruit and Steamship company, board member from 1932 until this year.

Herbert J. Schwartz, president of the Maison Blanche company, New Orleans department store, and a board member from 1937 until early this year.

John M. Fush, former assistant to the board's general manager and admitted co-custodian of money contributed by state employes during the regime of Huey Long and his political heirs.

The injured, all of whom were brought to a Brady hospital, included: W. C. McMillan, E. C. Bell, Tom Hogan, Clint Holden, Andy Harris, Milton Burrow, Muriell Betsill and Allene Betsill, all of Dooe; and Bill Johnson and Glen Sparkman, both of Freer.

Tonight, physicians had not determined the extent of their injuries.

Saboteurs Aim At Red Cross

(By The Associated Press)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 23. — Unofficial reports have reached President Roosevelt that perhaps half of Denmark's cattle, pigs and poultry are being slaughtered for German use and that "fifth column" efforts are being made to sabotage the American Red Cross' drive for funds for European relief work.

If the reports from Denmark are true, the president said at his press conference, it naturally would be a pretty serious thing for the Danish people.

He said the Red Cross had advised him that somewhat vague letters from all over the United States showed evidences of a rumor that relief supplies intended for sufferers in Europe were reaching German and Italian military hands.

Rumor Unfounded

Mr. Roosevelt labeled this rumor completely and utterly unfounded.

As for prospects of "mass starvation" in Europe this winter, the chief executive said there was general talk about it but definite facts and figures were lacking.

William C. Bullitt, U.S. ambassador to France, sat in on the press conference and listened with obvious interest to a question whether he would return to his post.

Mr. Roosevelt's reply was: He's just turned around and I think he needs a few days' holiday.

The president and Bullitt, a house guest at the Roosevelt home, have been discussing the German conquest of France and the establishment of the new Petain government. Mr. Roosevelt told reporters merely that a very interesting story was unfolding gradually in a normal way.

Mercury Soars To 105 With No Immediate Relief Seen

THE mercury climbed to a maximum of 105 degrees Tuesday, five degrees above Lubbock's high reading the previous day.

The weatherman foresaw no relief from high temperatures but predicted scattered showers over portions of the South Plains for today. Fair, with high cloudiness and evening showers, was his forceast.

Peculiarly enough, the top reading given at West Texas Gas company's main line station was taken between 2 and 3 o'clock in contrast with the usual high figure at about 4 o'clock.

Scattered showers Tuesday cooled some sections of the nation but most residents of the broad swelterbelt between the Rockies and the Atlantic looked in vain for signs of relief, according to the Associated Press.

Pennsylvania, New York and New England enjoyed a temperate interlude while the midwest suffered anew.

Deaths attributed directly to the heat increased to 55 and the

Candidates Are Heard At Park

Today is the final chance for those who plan to be out of town Saturday to vote in absentia, Ed D. Allen, county clerk, reminded Tuesday.

Deputies will work overtime tonight handling late mail in which vacationing Lubbockites have placed ballots. Allen voted several persons Tuesday who are ill at their residences.

Absentee voting reached approximately 650 ballots, including 389 personally voted in the clerk's office. Ballots had been mailed to 247 persons, the majority of whom had not returned choices.

Big Crowd Attends

In the meantime, office aspirants attempted to persuade that fringe of voters who had no preferences, with speeches Tuesday night in Mackenzie state park. It was the first of a series of three final speaking dates before the election.

No one seemed to have any better estimate of the crowd's size than anyone else, but all agreed it was "by far the greatest of the current campaign."

A special park officer had to handle traffic.

Hundreds of motorists were kept on the go and not allowed to stop, since there were no places for them to park and they were holding up the vehicular line behind—so hundreds of persons missed the speaking for want of places to park their automobiles.

Wind Up Friday

Personalities were left out, in the main, but speakers warmed to their addresses with near-election fervency. There was more appeal to their tone.

Tonight another rally will be conducted at Slaton, with speaking starting at 8:30 o'clock. State, district, county and precinct office seekers will present the oratory.

Last appearance of candidates before Saturday's election will be at 8 o'clock Friday night at City hall park.

Hoover Cites Newest Dangers To America

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover roundly condemned Communists and bundsmen today and declared that the nation was facing a new enemy "that is far more crafty, scheming and despicable than the kidnaper, the highwayman or the burglar."

"The forces that threaten America today," he told 400 police chiefs attending a New York state convention, "are motivated by averice, lust and an insatiable thirst for power.

"No fifth column will make headway in America," he added, "if our citizens support and protect legitimate law enforcement, rather than the stab-in-the-back activities of cowardly Communists or goose-stepping bundsmen."

Mother Seeks To Sign Up For Service

PHILADELPHIA, July 23. (AP) — Mrs. Bessie Solomon accompanied her 18-year-old son to an army recruiting station today, watched him enlist, then told the commanding officer:

"I should like to sign up, too—as an ambulance driver or to serve in any other unit that I could."

Lieut.-Col. Frederick Schoenfield informed her that the army, for the present at least, couldn't accept women as fighters. But he added:

"You are a fine American mother. We shall make a record of this case. The time may come when we can avail ourselves of such patriotism."

Famous Estate Has Splendor

MIAMI, Fla., July 23. (U.P.)—Idle but still kept in perfect condition is one of the world's magnificent estates, Villa Vizcaya, built by James Deering, which had been occupied only for two brief periods since the harvester magnate died in 1925.

The estate, reputed to have cost $15,000,000, is located on the southern edge of Miami's city limits on 180 acres of what once was mangrove swamp along the Biscayne Bayfront.

Although the estate has been unoccupied for many years, a brother-in-law and two nieces of Deering, who inherited it, pay a huge sum for maintenance of its formal and tropical gardens, fountains and waterways, natural Florida hammock and immense Roman palazzo.

While Deering lived, a staff of more than 100 gardeners, mechanics and household servants was employed. Although it is vacant, a staff of 40 men still works there.

Royal Residences As Model

Villa Vizcaya was modeled after the royal residences of Europe's Mediterranean countries, where Deering spent his youth and most of the statuary in the gardens and furnishings for the palazzo were brought from Italy.

Construction began in March, 1914, and it took more than 1,000 men 18 months to complete the estate.

On Dec. 24, 1916, Deering, then 54 years old, sailed his yacht Nepenthe up to the entrance of the estate and landed to the booming of two ancient Italian touch-hole cannons placed at the doorway of the mansion.

The palazzo is packed with treasures of past ages which are housed in loggias, salons, a banquet hall and other richly furnished rooms. Walls are adorned with rich tapestries and the rooms contain French furniture of every period from Louis XIV through the empire.

Rare Artistry in Gardens

The formal Italian gardens adjoining the palazzo on the south are said to rival in detail and ingenuity of plan the great landscape triumphs of the Villa Albani in Rome and the Villa D'Este in Tivoli.

Beyond the formal gardens are a latticed tea house, a small rustic theater, a French flower garden, a "peacock" bridge that spans a palm-fringed lagoon, and an open-air sacino with a richly painted ceiling. The estate also has a dairy and a farm, which are not operated now.

Several civil groups here suggested last year that the government purchase the estate for use as a winter White House.

Ex-Premier Daladier And Other French War Leaders Are Ordered Detained

Several Arrive At Marseille

VICHY, France, July 23. (AP) —Marshal Petain's government, launching a full investigation of Frenchmen allegedly responsible for France's entry into the war—and her defeat — tonight ordered ex-Premier Edouard Daladier and others confined to Marseille.

Daladier and several other parliamentarians who left France when ex-Premier Paul Reynaud's government fell to Petain's "armistice regime," arrived at Marseille today from French Morocco.

Action Forecast

Vigorous action against those who left the country for reasons classed here as "not valid" was forecast in government circles where it was declared "punishment for those responsible for the war will come."

Those who left France without sufficient reason will lose their citizenship and property, and some may be accused of deserting the army. Gen. Charles de Gaulle, head of the French national committee in London operating with the British in pursuing the war against Germany, has refused to recognize the Petain government.

Start Immediately

Besides Daladier, under whose helm France entered the war, action was expected against Cesar Campinchi, ex-minister of marine, Georges Mandell, ex-colonial minister, and Yvon Delbos, ex-education minister and former minister of foreign affairs.

It was understood 14 parliamentarians, including Jammy Schmidt, Chamber of Deputies budget reporter, were still in Morocco.

They, along with Daladier, sailed from France June 20 aboard the French steamer Massiglia and went to Casablanca while Marshal Petain's cabinet was suing for an armistice.

The demobilization of French non-commissioned officers between the ages of 35 and 41 will be started at once, it was announced.

Famine In Europe Is Forecast By Agent

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 23. (AP) —John W. Maloney, an American Red Cross representative, returned from war-torn Europe today with a declaration that "Europe faces one of the greatest shortages of foodstuffs in modern times."

Maloney, who toured 19 European countries since Febraury, arrived on the American export liner Exeter from Lisbon. The vessel carried 156 passengers and $1,000,000 in gold consigned to the federal reserve bank of New York from the bank of Portugal.

"The situation in Europe today gets more appalling by the week, as far as food is concerned," Maloney said. "Conditions are very bad. In fact, they are chaotic. There are a lot of people in Europe wondering what is going to happen this winter.

"France looks as though a bunch of locusts had gone over the land."

Adolf Hitler's Confidence May Lead To His Downfall

By J. W. T. MASON
United Press War Expert

Chancellor Hitler's ability to formulate plans of almost mathematical efficiency in waging war is now showing some signs of a decline for the first time. He has convinced the German and Italian people that his contemplated attack on Great Britian is absolutely certain to succeed and if his peace terms are not accepted Great Britain cannot possibly escape full destruction. This attitude is poor strategy, for Hitler is giving himself the quality of omnipotence and if Britain holds off his blitzkrieg the effect on the German and Italian home fronts will be dangerous for him.

Warfare is the most uncertain of all human efforts. Neither Hitler nor anyone else can have full confidence that an attack against Great Britain from the continent of Europe will succeed. It may or may not. According to the rules of military and naval strategy the chances are against a successful invasion.

Gambling With Fortune

Also, according to the rules of psychological strategy, in modern warfare, it is gambling with a fortune for a belligerent government to raise popular hopes too high. If victory is not achieved, depression becomes much greater among the people at home than if promises of success were less omnipotently proclaimed.

To the present time Hitler has been consistently successful in making good his promises of accomplishment. But it is always advisable to develop caution as one's succession of fortunate predictions lengthens.

Hitler apparently is counting on a gigantic air attack against Britain as his fist major move in his offensive. He may use some 5,000 planes in a succession of wave bombings. This is probably his extreme limit, considering the large home and conquered areas that must be protected and the necessity for holding reserves. In the past month it has been estimated that an average of 100 German planes have been attacking Great Britain daily. That is a total of 3,000 planes, and less than 400 people have been killed.

Orders Countermanded

The destruction of property is a military secret, but there is no evidence that it can have been in any way crippling when the number of casualties is so small. Indeed, the British government recently countermanded previous orders that factory workers must seek air raid shelters at the first alarm. They now continue working until the final alarm because it has been demonstrated that most bombs land in fields or yards or other places where they do little harm.

Nor is there any apparent indication that a German invading army is certain to land on British soil in sufficient strength to conquer the country. Even if Hitler has secret weapons and unknown ways of transport, the very fact that they have not been previously tried must show an element of uncertainty in them. It is impossible to have complete confidence in their automatic success such as Hitler seems to display.

Might Lose Face

The third means of subduing Great Britain is by a starvation blockade if air attack and an invasion fail. German air and submarine operations have accounted for considerable destruction of British shipping during the past 10 months, but not sufficient to give an absolute guarantee of final success. The British government announced this week that for every ship sunk, nearly seven hundred safely reached British ports.

It would thus seem that evidence to date does not warrant such supreme certitude as Chancellor Hitler shows that the British have no chance to survive, once he gives the word for his offensive to start. If it fails, as it well may do, involving a heavy German defeat, Hitler will have difficulty in justifying himself not only before his own people but also before the Italians and before the grim and sardonic Stalin, awaiting his chance to drive ahead in the Near East.

Louisiana Creates Investigation Board

BATON ROUGE, La., July 23. (AP) —State Police Superintendent Steve Alford announced today the creation of a bureau of investigation modeled after the Federal Bureau of Investigation and consisting of nine 1940 law graduates.

"Not the least of their duties," Alford said, "will be to keep an eye on possible fifth columnists, one class of people who will find Louisiana an undesirable place in which to work."

Alford said three graduates had been selected from each Tulane, Loyola and Louisiana state university law schools on recommendations from the law deans.

Innocence Proclaimed By M. L. Annenberg

PHILADELPHIA, July 23 (U.P)—M. L. Annenberg, en route to a federal penitentiary at Lewisburg to begin serving a three-year term on an income tax evasion charge, denied today in a front page signed announcement in his Philadelphia Inquirer that he ever knowingly "had the slightest intention of defrauding the government."

"That I pleaded guilty to one count of one indictment is a matter of record," Annenberg said. "In so doing I invited the penalty which now confronts me, but I have the satisfaction of knowing that thereby I saved others, including my only son, from a severe and unmerited ordeal . . .

"I never knowingly evaded any tax, nor had the slightest intention of defrauding the government . . ."

ROSEBUD, S. D., July 23. (AP) —An Indian, who stoically drove a knife into his abdomen with a hammer, was dead today, and his wife and another Rosebud agency Indian were in a hospital as the result of a furious assault yesterday.

Rumania Awaits Hitler's Nod

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 23 (U.P)—Rumania, living dangerously between Germany and Russia, expects to be informed this week of Adolf Hitler's views on Hungarian claims to Transylvania and to be informed soon afterward of new demands by Russia.

It was announced that Premier Ion Girgutu and Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu would go to Salzburg, Austria, Friday for a conference with German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop. It was said in official circles that the visit would be made at Ribbontrop's invitation.

Well-informed sources asserted that Grigore Gafencu, former foreign minister, would go to Moscow soon on an important mission. Russian circles reported that Gafencu would remain at Moscow as Rumanian minister, but others expressed doubt of this.

Slaton Requests Water Survey

SLATON, July 23. (Special)—Directors of the chamber of commerce have made formal request of the Brazos River authority for a survey of the Slaton-Lubbock area watersheds.

The survey would determine possibilities of creating a lake in this section, said John Rayburn, chamber manager.

Announcement also was made at the meeting of the resignation because of ill health of Fred Schmidt as president of the chamber, the manager said.

C. C. Hoffman, jr., vice president succeeds to the office of acting president until an election is held, Rayburn asserted.

Officials Paid Visit

Request for the watershed survey followed a visit to Lubbock and Slaton last week of several officials of the Brazos River authority who said that the investigation would be made if requested.

Officials here were informed that a meeting of directors of the Lubbock Chamber is planned this week. Expectation is that they will join with the Slaton Chamber at that time in the request for the survey.

Present at the directors' meeting here were Hoffman, who presided, and J. A. Elliott, K. L. Scudder, Dr. R. G. Loveless, J. H. Brewer and J. M. Rankin.

Oscar Yount of Galena, Keeling's attorney, said he would ask a ten-day postponment of Keeling's preliminary hearing but did not state his reason.

Lid Blown Off, Nazis Declare

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, July 23.—Britain must brace herself now against a made-in-Germany tornado of terror, high nazi sources indicated tonight, adding that defiant rejection of Adolf Hitler's peace-or-destruction offer had "torn the lid off."

Henceforth, they emphasized, "weapons will speak." Emphasizing this threat, the Nazi airforce again raided Scotland and England.

With one accord the German press, radio and semi-official spokesmen hammered home the thought that Foreign Minister Lord Halifax's refusal to talk peace and the latest British air raids on Germany had definitely killed any prospect of settlement.

Will Know Soon

Exactly when the long-threatened furious wholesale air-pounding on England would begin remained a mystery. It was pointed out, however, that Germany as well as England is aware that only a few weeks more of good summer flying weather remain; therefore Britons will not have to wait long to learn whether Hitler can deliver the full measure of terror he has threatened.

For the first time since the end of the French campaign, DNB, the official German news agency, came out with a "front report" such as it issued daily during the struggle in the west to summarize military progress.

Every semi-official and informative agency began reiterating that the time for talk had ended.

Wide Area Strafed

Supplementing these warnings was the continuation of nightly air raids over England. The high command announced that last night and early today Nazi bombers had raided the length and bredth of England and Scotland.

While preparing full-speed for the grand assault against Britain, Germany turned afresh toward the Balkans with the double aim of preventing inopportune disturbances there and of arranging the basis for a new European economy.

In line with this program, Rumania's premier and foreign minister will confer with Foreign Minister Ribbentrop at Salzburg Friday, while a week-end conference in Berlin will give Bulgaria's premier and foreign minister a chance to present their country's view of Balkan problems. (Bulgaria particularly desires return of the southern Dobruja, from Rumania.)

Interests Not Affected

As to the new Russian expansion westward via absorption of the Baltic triplets, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, an authorized source observed that "German and political interests are in no wise affected by what the Baltic states and Russia decide among themselves."

Observing that the English, in their refusal to talk peace apparently are "speculating upon time as well as the United States being their Allies," the Dienst aus Deutschland warned that Germany is taking full account of "these British calculations."

press conference:

1—Mr. Roosevelt described as very wild rumors spread in Europe that he had counseled Britain to turn down Adolf Hitler's demand that she surrender or be destroyed.

2—He said Secretary Hull had informed Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, who passed the word along, that the Pan-American conference in Havana was getting along very well.

3—When the conference turned to a discussion of the assignment of four destroyers to the marine corps for use in meeting any western hemisphere emergency, Mr. Roosevelt said it was an experimental thing. The destroyers are being fitted out to carry a very small number of marines, he said, probably less than a company of men each.

Asked in what type of operation the reconditioned World war vessels would be employed, the president said they had a speed of 32 or 33 knots and would be used to get the most men to a given point in the fastest possible time.

serted, and he doubted that Hanes did, either. He added that they were honorable and amiable young men who formerly were in the government service.

Has Had Practice

Mr. Roosevelt was told that Reed had called a meeting of "grass root, Jeffersonian Democrats," in Chicago.

Again, he retorted. It seemed to him, he added, that Reed, who once represented Missouri in the Senate, had done much the same thing in 1932 and 1936 and maybe in 1928 and so was well qualified from experience.

It was Mr. Roosevelt's first press conference since he accepted a third nomination and told the Democratic convention that he would have little time, because of the international situation, to engage in purely political activities, although he would answer any false political statements that came along.

Conferences Planned

The president said he expected to confer with James A. Farley in Washington soon but had given no thought to a successor to Farley who is giving up the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee to head a corporation to buy the New York Yankees baseball team.

He described as just another story from Chicago a report that Farley would resign Friday as postmaster general.

Asserting that he presumed Henry A. Wallace would continue as secretary of agriculture during the campaign, the chief executive said he would talk with his vice-presidential running mate in Washington Thursday.

DEMO NOMINEE HOME FOR A REST—His personal sweet corn patch in the back yard of his home at Des Moines was one of the places Henry A. Wallace, secretary of Agriculture and Democratic vice presidential nominee, visited as he rested following the party's national convention in Chicago. Wallace said he does not plan to resign from the cabinet.

Peace Gesture Is Obscure But British Reply Is Not

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Motives which actually prompted Adolf Hitler to make his "last chance" peace gesture remain obscure; but not Britain's answer.

That came promptly in the deeds of British air forces blasting anew at German targets; in the staggering new British war budget, and in the words of Viscount Halifax, Britain's foreign minister, reaffirming solemnly the will of England to fight on.

No Hint Of Dismay

Clearly it is up to Hitler to make good his threat to visit destruction of England. Yet insofar as Halifax spoke for the will of Britons in the mass the Nazi victory drive is already repulsed on one exposed front of attack, and, perhaps the most dangerous—the home political front in England.

Nor is there any word from England or from any outpost of the vast British commonwealth overseas to suggest that British courage is dismayed or British confidence abated. On the contrary, British tax payers appear schooled to accept a new twelve-billion-dollar-a-year war budget and a new boost in basic income tax rates to 42 1-2 per cent. That appears to be an even more forthright answer to the Hitler surrender-or-die offensive than any word from British war leaders could give.

May Have Timed It

It may well be that the Hitler "peace" offensive was timed to precede the imposition of this staggering new war burden on British taxpayers, in the hope that it would be the final straw to break the back of British endurance. The final test of democracy (its vital weakness according to Nazi-Fascist conception) is necessary public acquiescence in taxation.

Obviously, if English taxpayers are ready to accept without protest the vast levies the Churchill ministry has imposed, and the confiscation for war-making purposes of virtually half of even low-bracket incomes, they are prepared to face any other crisis the war brings upon them.

Disturbance Is Balkans

It is incredible that Hitler could have expected any other retort than he has received from the Churchill ministry to his threat—for it was a threat voiced by a "victor" ready to impose terms, not a proffer of negotiation. However, his scorn of all democratic processes, even of those that linger in an England that has set up a virtual war-time dictatorship, is so great that he may well have hoped for a taxpayer revolt there. Otherwise, there is no obvious explanation of his "last chance" speech unless it was due to his flair for drama and showmanship—and perhaps to Italian urging.

Meanwhile, there have arisen other circumstances which might mean further postponement of his proclaimed attack on England. The Balkan situation, athwart Germany's bread-and-oil life line, is simmering with new Russian-inspired ferment.

total of drownings rose to 165.

Fifty cases of exhaustion were reported in Washington, D. C., alone, in the midst of 90 degree weather. Nebraska recorded readings in three figures for the seventh day in a row. Crops there showed the withering effects of the siege.

The scope and severity of the sultry spell was measured by temperatures of 111 in Pierre, S. D., 104 in Rapid City, S. D., 98 in Milwaukee, 94 in Des Moines and Detroit, and 91 in Baltimore and Indianapolis.

In Chicago the highest mark of the summer—95 was registered.

Diluth, Minn., had a top of 90, a record for the year.

Forecasters reported that temperatures generally were above normal throughout the country despite rains that mottled the weather map.

Downpours scaling up to 3.25 inches in southwest Missouri and even heavier falls in southeastern Kansas sent some small streams out of their banks. Thundershowers brought a brief respite to parts of Oklahoma but skies cleared and 90 degree heat set in again later.

Politics In Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Hyde Park—President Roosevelt made caustic references at his press conference to four Democrats who are supporting the Republican nominee.

He referred to John W Hanes and Lewis W. Douglas, former fiscal aides of his, as amiable young men whose slant of mind ran more to dollars than to humanity.

He said of Senator Burke (D-Neb), who was defeated for renomination, that the Democratic party had bolted the senator.

And he asserted that former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri had opposed the Democratic ticket in 1936 and 1932 and perhaps in 1928, and made mention of what he termed a sweatshop matter. (A labor board action against a firm which Mrs. Reed heads is pending in a circuit court of appeals).

NONE INDISPENSIBLE

Cheyenne—Wendell L. Willkie said that the nation would be "going down the same road as the totalitarian states" if the people followed "the Kelly-Nash machine and the remnants of the Pendergast machine and the Guffeys" in the Democratic party. He contended that "in this country there is no such thing as the indispensible man."

TO SUPPORT FDR

Washington—Three Democratic senators opposed to the third term principle said they nevertheless would vote for President Roosevelt. They were Senators Van Nuys of Indiana, Adams of Colorado and Wheeler of Montana. Senators McCarran (D-Nev) and George (D-Ga), who also oppose a third term, said they had no statement at this time.

New York—Friends of Alfred E. Smith, John J. Raskob and Jouett Shouse, who met for a dinner conference, predicted the Democratic leaders of 1928 would shortly announce their active support of Willkie.

colonel stands something under six feet, is amiable but reserved. He is definitely not the dashing military type, but on expeditionary duty in Haiti, Cuba, Nicaragua, and with the A.E.F. in France, he distinguished himself under fire.

He was decorated twice in Nicaragua, received the Victory medal for his part in the battles of St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne, has the Marine Corps Expeditionary medal for his service in Haiti and Cuba, and wears the medal of the Purple Heart.

Colonel Peck likes to dance, but is not fond of "society." He'd much rather spend an afternoon in his garden than at the club. When not gardening in his spare time he reads—mostly books on army and navy tactics.

He is fond of dogs and has a pet Spitz. To complete the strong, silent man picture, he smokes a pipe.

Negro Decides Some Are Born Unlucky

Some persons are born unlucky.

So thought a negro man, Tuesday afternoon.

Just at the moment he—brandishing a knife—ran in pursuit of a negro woman, Bill Mabray, assistant police chief, and Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, chanced along in a police car.

"He had a knife that long," Mabray said, indicating the length of his hand.

"We heard someone yell and saw the girl streak out of a house while we were riding in the Flats. The man soon followed her."

"He took a whack at her every step, then she ran into a barbed wire fence and rebounded under his legs. He cut a few nicks out of her body before we were able to separate them," Mabray continued.

The man was held in county jail Tuesday night. Charges will be filed today, an official said.

Willkie Attends Wyoming Rodeo

By WILLIAM B. ARDERY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 23.—Wendell L. Willkie, enjoying himself today in the "whoop-it-up" atmosphere of Cheyenne's frontier days rodeo, jovially observed that President Roosevelt's comment on Democrats who have announced support for Willkie showed "that the president is thinking of something besides the affairs of state."

Apparently moved by the rollicking spirit of one of the West's biggest rodeo holidays, the Republican presidential nominee let go some of the sharpest jabs he has delivered at the New Deal and President Roosevelt since beginning a pre-campaign vacation in Colorado.

Machines Mentioned

Traveling aboard the Denver Post's Frontier Days special train from Denver, Willkie told a platform crowd at Brighton, Colo., that "in this country there is no such thing as the indespensible man."

Following through at Greeley, Colo., he told another station audience the United States would go "down the same road as the totalitarian states" if the people follow political "machines."

He mentioned specifically "the Kelly-Nash machine and the remnants of the Pendergast machine and the Guffeys."

In his box at the Frontier Park rodeo arena, Willkie, commenting on President Roosevelt's press conferencere marks this afternoon on Democrats who have pledged support to him, told reporters:

On Other Things

"The president is going to make remarks about a lot of Democrats before this campaign is over. This shows that the president is thinking of something besides the affairs of state."

At Brighton, Willkie said:

"I know it was a series of circumstances that caused me to be nominated for president.

"I know there are thousands of men qualified for my position, public or private.

"In this country there is no such thing as the indispensible man.

"The very essence of democracy is that it develops initiative and the energies of men."

No Paid Speakers

He said a "free untrammeled press" was one of the guarantees of democracy and specifically mentioned the Denver Post, whose special train carried 600 Colorado business and political leaders to Cheyenne.

He announced to reporters he had advised Chairman Martin of the Republican national committee that he wanted no paid speakers in his campaign.

Willkie declared that Martin and C. B. Godspeed, Republican treasurer, agreed that there should be no paid speakers.

"I believe," Willkie remarked, "that the cause I represent is the kind of cause in which people who speak for me must believe in deeply enough to speak voluntarily."

practicing it for years. We need less ballyhoo and vaudeville and more business in government. I'll be a doer, not a promiser."

Hines and Ernest O. Thompson both drummed for votes in Northwest Texas, headed for a big political rally in Amarillo.

Thompson told Clarendon voters that the only big issue in the governor's race is "shall we tax ourselves for the support of government obligations, or shall we tax our gas, carbon black and sulphur?"

The crowd cheered when he suggested that 85 per cent of a tax on those natural resources would be paid by "persons living outside of Texas, because 85 per cent of our natural resources are shipped away and utilized by consumers who are able to pay the tax." Thompson promised to call a special legislative session to "do for agriculture and stock raising what has been done for the oil industry" in regard to conservation.

Jerry Sadler was campaigning along the Gulf coast, speaking at Port Lavaca, Bay City and Wharton before winding up with a night rally at Houston.

Pedestrian Rewarded For Obeying Laws

CAMPAIGN, Ill., July 23. (AP)—A group of pedestrians started to cross main street just as the "go" light changed to red. All but one raced across the busy thoroughfare anyway.

The lone observer of safety regulations, Mrs. Robert B. Browne, returned to the sidewalk, waited until the green signal flashed on and made the crossing in leisurely fashion.

When she reached the other side, a patrolman handed her a ticket. It entitled her to $15 in merchandise at a department store as a reward for her compliance with the laws.

That incident was an example of how the city has reversed the old American bawl-em-out-or-summon-em-to-court policy during this week's safety campaign. Instead of confining their efforts to cracking down on violators, the policemen give prize tickets to motorists and pedestrians who comply with the spirit and letter of the municipal rules.

July 18 Is Eventful For Guglicellos

NEWARK, N. J., July 23. (AP)—July 18 is a red letter day on the calendar for Mr. and Mrs. Albert Guglicello—a child has been born to them on that date for the last three years.

The first, Rogers Hornsby Guglicello, named for the baseball player whom the father admires, was born July 18, 1937. Last year Donna Jean arrived on her brother's birthday and last Thursday a second boy, as yet unnamed, was born.

Texas Voters Have High Goal

(By The Associated Press)

Voters in Saturday's Texas primaries will have a million-vote goal at which to shoot if they hope to equal the gubernatorial vote in last year's primaries.

Last year, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel made history when he led a field of 12 other candidates to the largest total gubernatorial vote in Lone Star history, 1,114,885. He made additional history when he polled 573,166 votes—31,345 more than the other candidates combined.

Allred Second

Nearest approach to the 1938 gubernatorial totals was in the 1936 primaries when James V. Allred was elected without a runoff. He got 553,219 of the 1,053,117 votes cast.

The first Democratic primary in Texas was in 1906. That year, Thomas M. Campbell won the governorship in an election that brought only 294,106 ballots.

When Campbell won a second time, in 1908, the total climbed to 320,067.

Other Figures

In 1910 when O. B. Colquitt led the gubernatorial ticket, the vote was 357,380.

Subsequent years, the winning candidate, and the total vote includes: 1912, O. B. Colquitt, 395,995; 1914, James E. Ferguson, 428,620; 1916, James E. Ferguson, 421,903; 1916, W. P. Hobby, 678,491; 1920, Pat M. Neff, 449,800; 1922 Pat M. Neff, 589,926; 1924, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, 729,770; 1926, Dan Moody, 821,234; 1928, Dan Moody, 737,931; 1930, Ross S. Sterling, 933,442; 1932, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, 967,928; 1934, James V. Allred, 994,011.

Kinnick To Land Spot In All-Star Classic

CHICAGO, July 23. (AP)—Nile Kinnick, Iowa's dazzling little sparkplug of 1939, will get one more chance to show his football wizardry whether he takes a shot at the pro game or not.

Kinnick, who has been debating a future in the pro ranks, leads the nation's players in polling votes for the All-Star game in Soldier Field Aug. 29. The voting deadline is tonight at midnight.

Kinnick's votes assure him of a place on the squad and if he is one of the top two among the halfbacks in the final count, he'll be a member of the Collegians' starting lineup.

Opposing the All-Stars, composed of college seniors of 1939, in the annual spectacle will be the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National league.

Final results of the poll will be announced tomorrow.

Jenkins Adds Several New Marks To List

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, July 23. (AP)—Ab Jenkins added a new series of automobile speed records to his collection today but said his assault on existing marks was not completed.

Almost before the tires of his huge Mormon Meteor were cooled from their 161.18-miles-per-hour jaunt, Jenkins said he planned to be back at this saline course next summer for another trial.

In his 24-hour run that ended at 7:33 a. m. (CST) today, Jenkins set up 21 new world's speed records. They ranged from the 50-kilometer mark of 172.915 miles per hour to the 24-hour record of 161.18 miles per hour and included everything in between those two extremes. Most of the old records were his own.

"I think I can do better," Jenkins said, "and I hope to be back on the salt flats for another try next year."

Jenkins' new mark of 161.18 miles per hour for the 3,868.82 miles he drove in the 24 hours eclipsed his old mark of 157.27.

Henry J. Ellis of 2503 Twenty-fourth street left Tuesday for Dayton, Ohio, to attend a sales school of the National Cash Register company. Mrs. Ellis and their small son will visit with her mother in Roby.

Soviet Actions Are Criticized

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 23. — The United States, roundly criticizing Soviet Russia for "annihilating" the political independence of three Baltic republics, made known today it would not recognize their absorption into the Soviet system.

Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state in the absence of Secretary Hull, spoke out at a press conference against "the devious processes" by which he said Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania were to be deprived of their freedom by "one of their more powerful neighbors."

The acting secretary did not mention Russia by name, but he left no doubt in any one's mind as to his meaning. Newly elected parliaments in the Baltic republics had voted in recent days, following red army occupation of their countries and an intensive propaganda campaign to seek union with the Soviet.

Position Clarified

"The people of the United States are opposed to predatory activities no matter whether they are carried on by the use of force or by the threat of force," Welles declared in the prepared statement he read to newsmen. "They are likewise opposed to any form of intervention on the part of one state, however powerful, in the domestic concerns of any other sovereign states, however weak."

Serving notice that this government would continue to stand by these principles, he said that unless the doctrine underlying them once again governed the relations between nations, the basis of modern civilization itself could not be preserved.

Welles added, in response to a question, that the United States would continue to recognize the ministers of the Baltic republics as ministers of sovereign governments now under duress.

Lawton Building Is Damaged By Blaze

LAWTON, Okla., July 23. (AP)—One person was overcome by smoke tonight as fire swept the Wolverton building in downtown Lawton and threatened other parts of the business section.

Merle Warren, 40, employe of an electrical company occupying part of the building, collapsed while fighting the flames in the basement. At a hospital, he was reported "in no danger."

Occupants of 16 apartments on the second floor escaped injury.

Guy True, employe of a drug store in the building, said a jug of chemicals in the prescription room caught fire and the blaze spread swiftly.

Residence Permits Boost City Figures

Three permits for residences and another for repairs added $11,584 to Lubbock building totals Tuesday.

Dwelling permits were issued to Bettie C. Dickinson, owner, and Oliver, Putnam & Martin, sub-contractors, 1919 Avenue L, duplex to cost $4,800; Mrs. Lillie Jones, owner, and C. W. Gunn, contractor, 2101 Avenue L, $2,750, and J. D. Badley, owner, and J. L. Badley, contractor, 1314 Twenty-seventh street, $2,200.

C. C. Leftwich, owner, and B. V. Martin, contractor, obtained a permit for repairs totaling $1,500 on a residence at 1616 Main street.

Total for the week is $16,119, for the month, $103,423, and for the year $2,335,807.

Britain Levies Heavy Taxes

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 23.—The British people received summary notice today that the pounds, shillings and pence for the battle of Britain will be taken from their salaries, by compulsion, through a 42½ per cent income tax and institution of a sales tax which will cost them one-third of the wholesale value of such "luxuries" as furniture and lipsticks.

These are the salient points in an emergency wartime budget presented to Parliament under the dictatorial wartime powers of Winston Churchill's government.

Totals Given

(The 42½ per cent rate is a straight standard rate applying to all taxable net incomes. Surtaxes are applied in the higher brackets. Personal exemptions and deductions are more varied than in the United States and there is a lower rate on the first £165—$660—of taxable income, less personal allowances. The lower rate on this part of the income was increased, Tuesday, to 5 shillings in the pound, or 25 per cent. The tax begins at £100—$400—for single persons and at £170—$680—for married persons. The allowance for each child is £50—$200.)

The budget totals £3,467,000,000—$13,868,000,000—for the current financial year, and of this, £239,000,000 ($965,000,000) is to be raised by new taxes. Direct military expenditures, going upward daily, are estimated for the year at £2,800,000 ($11,200,000,000). The government now is spending $228,000,000 weekly on the war.

Income Tax Boosted

The whole tenor of today's budget is continuation of Britain's basic wartime financial policy of restricting public spending and thinning down home consumption of goods so as to build up individual savings which can be loaned to the state; also, to divert raw materials to the export trade and the production of armaments.

These are the principal points in the budget:

1. Income tax: Increased one full shilling to 8 shillings 6 pence in the pound (42½ per cent), with adjustments in computation of the tax so that smaller wage earners will pay more than now. The surtax on all incomes exceeding £2,000 ($8,000) also was increased from one shilling 3 pence in the pound to two shillings, and the peak surtax rate of 9 shillings 6 pence in the pound was applied to all incomes over £20,000 ($80,000) instead of £30,000 ($120,000). This means that persons in this top wage bracket will pay combined income and surtax at the rate of 90 per cent. The income tax is the highest England ever has known; after the World war it was 30 per cent. Collection of the new tax will be simple—it will be taken orbitrarily from salaries, "month by month or week by week."

Reliables Upped

2. Sales tax: A new "purchase tax," replacing a proposed levy now withdrawn, will operate in two grades: On so-called luxuries and on necessities. The rate on "luxuries" such as furs, silks, haberdashery, jewelry, cosmetics, and furniture will be 33 1/3 per cent of wholesale value or 24 per cent of retail value. On necessities like clothing, boots, shoes, drugs, newspapers, and books, the rate will be 16 2/3 per cent of wholesale value or 12 per cent of retail value. There are numerous exemptions to the tax: Food, electricity, fuel, farm machinery, such drugs as insulin and children's clothing and shoes. Collection of the tax will be made when the goods pass from wholesalers to retailers.

3. The taxes on beer and tobacco, those old reliable revenue getters, went up a penny (almost 2 cents) a point in the first and two shillings (40 cents) a pound on the second. This makes a package of 20 cigarets of the popular domestic variety cost about 37 cents. Taxes on wine and entertainments and estate levies also were upped.

Guns Salvaged From Ship Lost 245 Years

HOMESTEAD, Fla., July 23. (U.P.)—Deepsea divers have salvaged 45 cannons and other valuable relics from H.M.S. Winchester, a British man-of-war that went down off the Florida coast 245 years ago.

The Winchester sailed from Jamaica in 1695 for England and never was heard of until December, 1938, when Charles Brookfield of Elliott's Key and Hugh Matheson of Maimi located the sunken warship off Key Largo, near here.

Rust, coral and shells chipped from the first cannon salvaged from the vessel revealed the marks of the manufacturer which led to the identification of the warship as the Winchester.

Among other interesting articles salvaged in the last year were silver bowl in almost perfect condition, bits of hemp rope that were still strong after 245 years of soaking in salt water and a number of hand grenades of primitive design.

Encased in a lump of coral on the side of one of the first cannons salvaged in the last year were a fragments of a Bible. Printing on the bits of paper was clearly legible.

MA WAS TOO BUSY

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—It was a busy week for the John F. Gillespie family. Two daughters were graduated — Joan Frances from grade school and Theresa Jeanne from high school. Thresa, 17, and her father, 50, had birthdays. A third daughter, Marguerite Josephine, got married.

During the first two years he owns an automobile, the average owner spends about 48.8 cents of his service dollar for lubrication.

Texas Delegation Protests Discriminatory Allocation Of WPA Relief Funds

Conference Is Asked By Group

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP) — Texas members of Congress protested today against what they described as a discrimnatory system of allocating relief funds, and asked F. C. Harrington, Works Projects administrator, for a conference.

They informally discussed the problem in a meeting with Col. Lawrence Westbrook, southwestern regional WPA director. Representative Luther Johnson, chairman of the Texas delegation, told Westbrook the need for relief in the Southwest would increase continually because of loss of European markets for crops, while in contrast Eastern industrial areas should profit by the armament program and need less relief funds.

Figures Are Cited

Representative Poage (D-Texas) submitted figures to show the Southwest was discriminated against under the present system of allocating WPA funds. He said 11.5 per cent of the nation's population resided in the states comprising Westbrook's district — Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, while this area received only 10.9 per cent of the WPA funds.

Westbrook told the Texans the method of allocating relief funds was based on both population and unemployment statistics. He said accurate information on unemployment in agricultural areas was difficult to obtain, adding that if funds were allocated solely on a population basis Texas would have an increase of 8,000 in the number of persons it could employ under the relief program.

Texas might increase its relief employment if the state public welfare department was able to certify more eligible workers, he said, adding it was his understanding that a lack of funds made this impossible.

Fortification Of Guam Advocated

WASHINGTON, July 23. (U.P.) — Chairman Carl Vinson of the House naval affairs committee said today that he expected the administration to seek authority at the next session of Congress do work preliminary to fortifying the Pacific island of Guam, 1,300 miles from Japan.

Vinson said that he anticipated a knockdown fight over this request. The navy has informed congress that considers improvements and ultimate fortification of Guam to be of vital strategic importance in its chain of Pacific defenses.

Congress, however, repeatedly has voted down measures to improve civilian harbor and seaplane facilities there, some members contending that such work would be an unfriendly gesture toward Japan.

Vinson's comment on Guam came during questioning of Admiral Ben Morrell on a bill authorizing the navy to start construction of numerous harbor facilities.

May Be Labor Shortage

"Let's fix up Guam," Rep. Melvin J. Maas, R., Minn., said.

"Let's wait until next session when there will be a knockdown fight on it," Vinson replied.

"By that time we may have to ask Japan's permission," Maas countered. "Let's add $55,000,000 for Guam now."

Morrell testified that he is satisfied with results on work underway.

Asked whether there might be a labor shortage when the construction program reached its height, Morrell replied:

"There definitely will be a shortage of skilled labor in my opinion, although organized labor will not agree."

The Vinson bill provides funds for improvements to various naval stations, including erection of new quarters.

The bill carries total appropriations of $305,000,000 including $250,000,000 for housing construction.

Duke And Duchess To Leave About Aug. 1

LISBON, July 23. (AP)—The Duke of Windsor and his American-born duchess probably will leave early in August for America en route to his new post as governor-general of the Bahamas, it was reported today.

One reason for the delay of the Windsors to take up the post assigned the duke by his brother, King George VI, was said to have been the delay of their luggage and silver coming from France.

After lunch at the automobile club, the duke called at the American legation and conferred with the first secretary, Warren Wilson.

It was not made clear just how the duke would travel.

Bad Marksman Is Charged With Assault In Shooting

DUNN, N. C., July 23. (U.P.)—Twenty-year-old Mack Hobson, who fired five shots—and missed—at the girl who jilted him, was charged today with felonious assault with intent to kill.

The warrant was sworn out by Alease Tart, 20. She saved herself by grabbing Hobson's pistol as he attempted to shoot her in a crowded dime store after she told him her love for him had faded. Two bystanders were wounded slightly.

Hobson, editor of the University of North Carolina's humor magazine, was held in the county jail at request of his father, who told officers his son once before had threatened suicide over his love for Alease, and feared that he might do so again.

He threatened to drown himself last spring and police made public a note addressed to Alease, but never mailed. It said:

"If I have lost you I have nothing to live for. You are the only part of my life that has been really beautiful. You are the only really wonderful thing that has ever happened to me. No happiness in my life ever lasted over a little while.

"Goodbye, darling!

"Goodbye, my sweet, adorable angel!

"Goodbye, my love, my life!

"Alease, please don't blame yourself for this. . . . .

"Here is my last kiss. It contains my soul."

Hobson will receive a preliminary hearing Thursday in recorder's court.

Argentine Trade In New World Increases

BUENOS AIRES, July 23 (AP) — Argentina's trade with the western hemisphere increased during the first half of 1940 while its European trade decreased, the finance ministry reported today.

Imports from American nations were 46 per cent, compared with 29.9 per cent for the first six months of 1939; while European imports dropped from 64.3 per cent for the same period in 1939 to 45 per cent in 1940.

A favorable balance of 97,159,000 pesos (about $29,147,700) in the nation's foreign commerce for the first six months of the year was disclosed in the survey of the finance ministry.

Convict Stays On Death Row

CHICAGO, July 23 (U.P.) — Oliver Lawrence Dressler, convicted of the slaying of Billy Scott Hamilton, Kansas flour salesman, last July as he fled the McAlester, Okla., penitentiary, today was denied transfer from the Cook county jail's "death row."

Dressler requested the federal court to grant him a change to "more cheerful" surroundings, but Judge William H. Holly ruled the defense must present an affidavit in support of the request and give the government an opportunity to appear in opposition.

Dressler was convicted last December of slaying Hamilton after forcing the salesman to drive from Kansas to a Chicago suburb to facilitate Dressler's escape from the Oklahoma penitentiary. He was sentenced to die by electrocution in February, 1940, but the U. S. circuit court of appeals remanded the case for new trial, which now is pending.

Dressler's council contended that in view of the technical release from the conviction he should not be confined to the cells housing convicted slayers.

London Seeks To Be World's Fashion City

LONDON, July 23. (AP)—London's leading fashion houses have started a two-fold drive to capture the title of world fashion center lost by Paris.

In one move, a three-day series of shows for United States buyers began here today. Collections totaling an estimated 240 numbers are presented by Hartnell, Worth, Stiebel, Morton, Lachasse and Pacquin.

As a second move, a wool collection designed jointly by Hartnell Siebel and Morton in co-operation with the wool secretariat—a promotion organization—will be dispatched soon to New York for display at the World's fair.

Passenger Trains Are Held Up In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, July 23. (AP) — The movement of passenger trains in and out of Union station today depended on an old fashioned hand switching and signaling system—rarely used since 1903—after a fire that wrecked the nerve center of the complicated modern automatic controls.

The fire, which tied up all train traffic for 90 minutes late yesterday, destroyed signal tower No. 1 and caused damage estimated at $250,000.

Eight passenger trains, including the Frisco's crack Texas special, were caught in the station, one of the largest railroad terminals in the nation, and delayed an hour and a half.

With destruction of the tower, electrical control of 315 switches and an equal number of signal lights in the yards were thrown out of commission. Under the emergency manual control, a signal man walks in front of each train, calling out the switches to be thrown to a switchman. Another man on the pilot of the locomotive relays the signals to the engineer. Signaling at night is by lantern.

Hubbers Explode In Ninth Again To Nip Sox, 6 To 5; Invade Odessa Tonight

Sandies Stop Pepper Nine, 6 To 4

Single Game Is Booked Tonight

Lubbock's Sandies and the Richmen advanced one step nearer the championship of Lubbock's Invitation Semi-Pro baseball tournament with wins at Fox Park last night. The Sandies eliminated Dr. Pepper by a 6-4 count and Sudan failed to appear for its game with the Richmen.

Tournament play moves on with a single game scheduled tonight. Levelland's hard hitting refinery team will tangle with Barq's Seven-Up at 8:30 o'clock. The visitors' lineup will be sprinkled with former pro ball players and one man from this year's House of David nine.

Two Games Thursday

Thursday night's play will pit Seagraves against the Amarillo furniture company nine. The Amarilloans handed Dr. Pepper their first defeat Sunday.

The second game Thursday night should be a natural with the Sandies seeking a win over Fred Rich's unstinting bunters. Both teams are in the Lubbock county league and to date have been bitter rivals.

Smith Stars, But Loses

Frank Smith was on the mound for the Peppers last night and started off like a house afire. He retired the first eight men with strikeouts, Paul Reeves, the ninth man to face him, clouted a homer over the centerfield palings. Smith continued his hot pace throughout the game finally striking out a total of 16 men.

Winnie "Hard Luck" Breedlove committed three errors that cost the same amount of runs and the ball game. Lewis hit a hot bounder to Winnie in the fourth and he erred. Weaver followed with a double that accounted for his team's second run. Breedlove booted two in the fifth that cost two runs and shoved the Sandies ahead.

James "Hot" Too

Willis James pitched a neat game for the winners allowing only seven hits and whiffing 11 men. He was never in serious trouble allowing one run in the second and third and the final two in the sixth.

Cy Lingle opened the second inning with a snarp single into right field; he was forced at second by Hilliard who scored on a right field double off the bat of Thomas. The Peppers scored their second run in the third when Bettes opened the inning with an infield singie, stole second and scored on Charlie Presley's single.

Amarillo Wins Exhibition

The Sandies scored their fifth run in the sixth on a single by M. James, a stolen base and Kelly's single through shortstop. They added their final tally in the seventh when Reeves drew a walk, stole second, advanced to third on a passed ball and crossed the plate after a single by M. James.

Fred Rich sent his charges in against Amarillo in a five inning exhibition before the regularly scheduled game. The visitors eked out a 6-4 win after both teams had used all their pitchers in the manner of a workout.

Zeke Just Rolls On—And On—

Maybe 'Bananas' Will Make A Travelogue Movie Next

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 23.—There's no stopping that Zeke Bonura. He just keeps rolling on, waive after waive. In fact, Zeke is probably the only player to be waived out of both major leagues in one season, and still be in the majors.

OUT INDEFINITELY — NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—Bill Jurges, the sure-handed shortstop of the Giants who was hit by a pitched ball a month ago today, will be lost to the team a week longer and perhaps indefinitely, it was disclosed tonight.

The word "majors" is used in the common sense. From Zeke's uncommon sense standpoint the Cubs, the latest club to acquire the friendly first baseman who waves at every ball that comes near him, are in the minors. He'll probably have to do some long and short wave explaining to convince his new teammates he never referred to the National as a minor league, and besides, he was only kidding, anyway.

Always Lands Somewhere

Zeke continues to be one of baseball's most unusual pieces of bric-a-brac. Time after time when it appeared that nobody wanted him as a gift and that he most certainly was about to dip to the minors, he has bobbed up on some club which was fresh out of first basemen, and was willing to try anything, even Zeke Bonura.

Through it all Zeke has sailed along on an even keel, his ballast a supreme confidence in his own ability. When Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox gave up on him, intimating that Zeke was a fifth column in the infield, Zeke pointed to his very good fielding average to refute charges he couldn't stop a clock with a hammer.

He's A Power Hitter

When Bill Terry gave up on him and tried to peddle him to any club for a small down payment, Zeke calmly asked for a raise, and held out long, and to a small extent, successfully, against a sharp salary cut.

Zeke always has been a power hitter. He knocked in more runs than any other Giant last year, and if he also hit into more double plays that wasn't his fault. He wouldn't have done it if there hadn't been someone on base.

Fielding Is Question

It's always been his fielding, or alleged lack of it, that has been the despair of managers, and oddly enough his fielding average consistently has compared favorably with that of the best of them. Only once has it dropped below .990. He made only 11 errors in 1,295 chances last year.

The managers will admit, he hangs onto the ball. Their criticism has been that he is a here-it-comes-there-it-goes fielder, that he couldn't touch a batted ball unless it was a case of self defense.

Up From Dallas

As a matter of fact, it is these fielding lapses which unfortunately stick in the mind—the picture of those piano legs tieing themselves into slip knots as Zeke circled under a pop foul at the Polo Grounds, with Zeke and the ball dropping simultaneously some yards apart; the picture of a sharply hit ground ball passing a yard to the right despite Zeke's frantic waving, and Zeke then slapping his glove and holding up his right hand in salute to show that everything was all right, that he, Zeke Bonura, would personally see that the enemy would advance no further.

Zeke came up to the White Sox from Dallas in 1934, and he remained with the Chicago team through 1937. He had a good year in 1937, hitting .345 and knocking home 100 runs. He held out in 1938, and the Sox traded him even-Stephen to the Senators for Joe Kuhel.

He Has Class

The Senators sold him to the Giants late in 1938 for Pitcher Tom Baker, Infielder Jim Carlin and cash. Terry thought he could improve Zeke's fielding, but finally decided there are some things that can't be improved upon.

Just when it appeared that Zeke and the Giants were mutually stuck with each other this year the Senators, who had said they wanted no part of Zeke, even the hitting ANYBODY RECOGNIZE HIM?—Fourteen years ago this fall he was one of the best known figures in Lubbock and his prowess on the gridiron was known over Texas as he 'went to town' with the Texas Tech Matadors. He is Ransom Walker, former fleet halfback for the Scarlet and Black, now operating a 640-acre irrigation farm several miles south of Floydada. The smile he is displaying may be the result of the fact that he has just completed harvesting of a 24-bushel-to-the-acre wheat crop or because Line Coach Dutchy Smith of the Tech staff had just invited him to 'come out this fall and work out with the boys.' Walker was one of the fastest men ever to wear a Tech football uniform, and on numerous occasions made sensational touchdown runs for his team. He and his wife and two children, a girl and a boy, were visitors in Lubbock Tuesday. (Avalanche Staff Photo).

Pub-Links Aces Smash Records

BY DALE STAFFORD
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT, July 23.—All scoring records for United States Golf association amateur competition were obliterated today with a mighty conquest of par by the nation's crack public links players.

Two of the 190 contestants in the National championship — Worth Stimits, jr., of Colorado Springs, and Edward J. Furgol of Utica, N. Y.—smashed the 19-year-old qualifying record of 139 by a stroke and the 64 players who survived the qualifying test shot 149 or better, the lowest qualifying mark in the history of any U.S.G.A event.

Records Falls Fast

Stimits, a senior of Colorado college and champion of the Rocky Mountain conference, added another 69 to his two under par score of yesterday.

Furgol, 22-year-old metal polisher who had been playing golf only four years, scored 68 today to go with his 70 of yesterday.

Two other 68s, lowest score of the tournament, were fired today.

Charles Lind, of Denver, scored one of them to go with his 71 of yesterday, tying the former qualifying record and taking third place. Walter Gilliam, of San Mateo, Calif., was the other 68 shooter and his 140 total deadlocked him with Adrian French, of Huntington Park, Calif., for fourth position.

Texan Near Top

Scores included that of F. E. Ames, of Beaumont, Texas, 74-74—148.

The team championship and possession of the Warren G. Harding trophy went to San Francisco's trio of William Fritz, Einar Hanson and Edward Castagnetto who combined for a 435 stroke total. Pittsburgh was second with 437 and Chicago third with 442.

Two 18 hole rounds of match play tomorrow will reduce the field of 6 to 16 contestants. The semi-finalists who will battle over the 36 hole route on Friday will be determined by two more rounds on Thursday.

Gorski Winner Over Crider To Sweep Series

(Special To The Avalanche)

AMARILLO, July 23.—In a blistering battle, which was as nifty a game as has been seen here this summer, long Walter Gorski sparked a ninth inning rally to win a great pitchers' duel from young Russell "Kid" Crider here tonight.

The final score was Lubbock 6, Amarillo 5, but before the Hubbers could make certain of their victory they had the scare of the evening.

INVADE ODESSA TONIGHT

Odessa's Oilers play host to the Hubbers for the next three nights, marking the local nine's first trip to the Ector county metropolis since the club was transferred from Big Spring. Saturday, the charges of Manager Charlie Engle journey to Midland for a two-game stand, returning home next Monday night for a two-night series with tonight's rivals.

Big Bus Dorman, pinch-hitting for Crider in the ninth, slammed a home run over the right field wall with one on to bring the count up to the final tabulation.

Blas Tenorio then walked, and though there was two away, the situation was tense. Shortstop Mahan put an end to the excitement and the game, however, when he speared Al Duarte's hot grounder behind second base and forced out Tenorio.

At the end of the fifth frame, the count was Amarillo 2, Lubbock 1, the Sox scoring their brace of tallies in the first and the Hubbers their lone run in the fifth when Castino homered.

Tied Again In Sixth

The sixth, the Sox donated the run which tied the score at 2-all. D' Antonio muffed Drake's grounder and two outs later, Sanders let Hajduk's bounder slip through his legs for three bases.

Ratliff, who only tonight returned to the line-up after being out of action for more than a week, homered in the seventh to knock the tally to 3-all after Schlereth had hit a four bagger to give the Lubbock the lead in the first half of that inning.

Then, in the ninth, Castino doubled after one out. Mahan then struck out and it was here that Groski did his rallying act. He poked a three-two pitch into left field for a single to score Castino. Niedziela cracked a grooved pitch over the wall to make the score 6-3. And, as the subsequent happenings proved, it was fortunate for the Hubbers' cause that he did, for Dorman, himself a pitcher, had his own ideas about this rallying business.

Box score:

Reds Cop Two Over Dodgers

Brawl Enlivens Crucial Series

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

BROOKLYN, July 23.—The brash Brooklyn Dodgers got into another brawl and temporarily out of the National league pennant picture in one long, turbulent scene today, dropping a double header to the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 3 in 11 innings, and 9 to 2 in nine.

Cincinnati's conquests in front of a noisy, capacity crowd of 40,000 at Ebberts field increased the margin separating the two clubs to seven full games.

Wild and Furious

The first fracas was as wild and furious as any adventure story, climaxed by a fight between Lonnie Frey of the Reds and Pete Coscarart of the Dodgers in the eighth inning.

The Reds were trailing 3 to 2 at the time, and had Bill Werber on third and Frey on first as the result of a single, a sacrifice and an error. Then Frank McCormick grounded to Peewee Reese at short, who threw to Coscarart as Frey came sliding into second high and hard to forestall a double play.

Players Banished

As soon as Coscarart got his throw away he and Frey dived at each other and the players of both teams rushed into the melee. Pitcher Whitlow Wyatt of the Dodgers, who still is bothered by a knee injury he received in a collision with Frey last summer, got in several good licks with his glove as Frey lay prostrate on the ground.

Pitcher Gene Thompson of the Reds was spiked on his right ankle and two stitches were necessary to close the gash. Coscarart also was spiked on the left knee in the scuffle, but not seriously.

When order was restored, Coscarart and Frey were out of the game by direction, Thompson was out with his injury and the score was tied, Werber having talliedon the critical play.

Lighter Weights Dominate Card—

Gray, Leva Tangle Tonight At Sportarena In Main Go

The "midgets of might" take over tonight at the Sportarena for a five-bout card getting under way at 8:30 o'clock.

Two boys, who believe in standing up and dishing it out as well as taking it, tangle in the main go—a 10-round affair that may see more action than has been reeled off in all previous main events since the punch-for-pay pugilists started showing their wares here this summer.

Both Experienced

Dallas' smart little Latin, Kid Leva, at 144 pounds, mixes it up with Fort Worth's Glenn Gray, 142 pounds, in the main attraction—both having demonstrated to all concerned that each is capable of taking care of himself in fast company. Gray in 1938 held the Georgia state Golden Gloves championship, advanced to the quarter-finals in Chicago's national competition.

Gray and Leva tangled here one month ago in a semi-final attraction. The bout, which was taken by the Cowtown fighter on a very close decision, easily stole the show and was one of the best presented in the city all summer. So, perhaps the fight faithful are in for another evening of entertainment along Lubbock's bash boulevard.

Colorful Filipino Fights

Tonight's semi-final event has great possibilities also. Frisco Linda, 116 pounds of Philippine dynamite, will carry experience gained in 330 fights over a decade of leather tossing into the ring against Haskell Conley, of Ralls and Fort Bliss.

The army slugger comes here with a reputation for being able to lick his weight in wildcats. He is divisional champion of his post and has been around enough to offer the experienced Linda serious opposition. Linda's feats are well known. He having reached national proportion at one time. He has worn the Filipino flyweight crown as well as top honors on the West Coast.

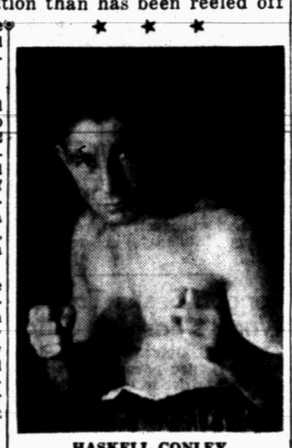

Three prelims, two four-rounders and a negro "battle royal" promise to enliven the card no end.

Inaugurating the night's bill will be a four-round session between Lubbock's Johnny Carmona, tipping the beams at 120 pounds, and Tahoka's Lewis Sessums, tipping them at 120 also. This Sessums kid reportedly is more or less an acrobat when it comes to fighting, baffling his opponents with his peculiar "jack-in-the-box" style.

Following the opener, Dan Daniels, the Tahoka Golden Glover who was set back on his heels in his first pro appearance here two weeks ago, will meet Onis Graham of Trent, a victim of Lorenzo's Sonny Smyer one month ago. Daniels will weigh 137, Graham 138.

Promoter L. D. "Pup" Thomas announced that the proposed appearance of Smyer on this card had been cancelled because of a boil under the Lorenzo ace's arm. The "battle royal," featuring a slugfest between four or five colored fighters will follow the main event.

Admittance tonight will be $1.10 for ringside seats, 75 cents for general admission plus taxes.

Move To Amend United States Neutrality Law Is Protested By House Leader

Axis Guarantee Is Suggested

WASHINGTON, July 23 (U.P.) — Chairman Sol Bloom of the House foreign affairs committee today opposed any move to amend the neutrality law for removing British children from the war zone on American ships, but favored special congressional authorization of such action if Germany and Italy guarantee safe passage for the ships.

Bloom voiced his opinion after Rep. Thomas C. Hennings, jr., D., Mo., introduced a bill to amend the neutrality law to allow American ships to go to the war zone.

Advisability Considered

"If the British parliament seems rather doubtful about taking chances on bringing the children over at this time in their ships, I don't know whether it is advisable for us to take a chance," Bloom said.

"However, if we could have assurances from Germany and Italy that they would guarantee safe passage of these ships carrying only refugee children, their guardians and mothers, this country might be willing to take a chance."

Bloom said he personally did not believe it advisable to disturb the neutrality act, "because as it stands today, it has kept this country out of war." But he pledged to do everything in his power to assist in removal of the children "on a sound and solid basis."

Bloom and other congressmen said informally that the Axis powers might not guarantee the ships safe passage because removal of thousands of children from British soil would mean that much more food for Britain's armed forces.

Legislation already has been introduced asking the state department to move, through diplomatic channels, to obtain from the Axis powers assurances of safe passage for the vessels.

Rep. Franck Havenner, D., Calif., has introduced a bill increasing by 100,000 the number of refugees that can come to the United States.

Tech And Courthouse Win Twilight Games

The Tech Faculty and the Courthouse crew registered victories in Business-Professional twilight softball league competition Tuesday afternoon.

Tech dropped the Federals, 7 to 4 the Courthouse drubbing the Lawyers, 19 to 13. There will be no games this afternoon.

W. Loesel tossed for the collegians, Berl Huffman catching. Batting star of the day was Ollman, homering with Mule Dowell aboard. Field, the stars were W. E. Street and Hubert Burgess for Tech, Roy Robinson for the Federals. Harold Matejowsky and Havis were the losing combination.

Clayton Mallett paced the Courthouse crew's plate work with two booming homers. Burton Burks pitched, T. C. Lawes caught for the winners, Bert Collard working the mound, Charles Crenshaw, jr., handling backstopping duties for the Lawyers.

War Kept AAU From "Greatest Victory"

NEW ORLEANS, July 23. (AP) — American track and field stars, in the opinion of National AAU President Lorenzo Di Benedetto, were knocked out of their greatest Olympic victory through cancellation of the 1940 Olympic games because of the European war.

"We'd have cleaned up bigger than ever," he boasted upon his return from a tour of the Western divisions of the AAU.

To support his claim he pointed to the manner in which the country's runners, jumpers and weight men bettered Olympic records in the National AAU meet at Fresno, Calif., which he witnessed.

Auto Racers Will Vie Again Here Sunday

The leadfoots come back to Lubbock this Sunday.

Promoter N. C. Gaither announced last night that in keeping with his plan to conduct auto races at the Auto Speedways track semi-monthly, that a field of 10 or more would be here this Sunday to compete for cash prizes.

Five, possibly, six events are on the card. The track has been reconditioned and will be re-oiled to prevent dust for this week's events, he said. Two entries from Haskell, where races are held on Sundays not held here, three from Wichita Falls, one from Kress and several from Lubbock are assured.

Approximately 5,000 "bargain" tickets have been distributed in the city and over the area. The tickets will allow admittance for 25 cents plus six cents tax, 35 cents plus eight cents tax otherwise.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Let's Look Into This Now!

IF THERE is truth in evidence reported before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities that faculties in Texas state schools include teachers giving allegiance to the Communist or other organizations inimical to our form of government, then there is nothing to do but get rid of them as speedily as possible.

Our opinion is that the problem is not a serious one in Texas. Certainly, it isn't as serious as in many other states. But at the same time, if there are any—no matter how few—we still don't want them. We must bear in mind that one spoiled apple will ruin all the others in a barrel unless removed. Especially is the danger of contamination great if the rotten apple happens to be a college professor with the influence that he would be expected to exercise over immature minds.

If it happens that there are such teachers in this state and if attempt is made to remove them, then we may be sure that they and their followers will howl to the high heavens. They will do a lot of mouthing about freedom of speech and about constitutional rights. Some among them undoubtedly will insist that although they may be Communists personally, they leave their politics outside the classroom.

However, Texans must be deaf to any such persuasive efforts. They must recognize that the teacher may have a right to be a Communist if he desires. But at the same time, it is the right of those who pay for the support of the schools to say that inimical or questionable doctrines must not be taught in state educational institutions. Furthermore, there must be recognition of the fact that the teacher who is personally "red" is not going to be able to leave his personal convictions outside his classes.

Obviously, the first thing to be done before drastic action is taken is to make every effort to ascertain whether there is truth in the evidence before the Dies committee. The fact that the charges have been made demands immediate investigation of most thoroughgoing nature. From that can be determined the just and safe course to be followed.

"Genial Jim" Steps Down

THE announcement that Postmaster General James A. Farley is to retire as chairman of the Democratic National committee in the near future means that the campaign organization will lose a man who never has received all the credit due him for the successes of the Roosevelt tickets in 1932 and 1936.

There are many of the Washington correspondents who say that Farley has been the man behind the gun throughout the Roosevelt career as a successful national political figure. They say that it was the Farley genius for organization which put Roosevelt "in the bag" even before the 1932 Democratic convention assembled.

They say he was the guiding genius of the national campaign both that year and again in 1936. Certainly, as long as there is politics in this nation, Farley's name will be associated with his statement: "As Maine goes, so goes Vermont." Never in the history of this country, has a political shot been called with such complete accuracy.

Mr. Farley, although mistreated by FDR, will support Mr. Roosevelt. He has given his pledge to that effect and, even if there were no such pledge, he has proved himself too loyal as a party man to follow any other course.

But even so, personal affairs will divide his interests and may provide a means of estimating just what the "Farley touch" actually has been worth in past campaigns.

The One-Minute Sermon

The Lord is gracious, and full of compassion; slow to anger, and of great mercy.

The Lord is good to all; and his tender mercies are over all his works.

All thy works shall prasie thee, O Lord; and thy saints shall bless thee.

They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power;

To make known to the sons of men his mighty acts, and the glorious majority of his kingdom.

Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations.

The Lord upholdeth all that fall, and raiseth up all those that be bowed down.
—Psalms 145; 8 through 14.

YESTERDAY: Bertrand wires Rhoda to postpone her wedding. Denny is mildly angry. The train stops abruptly in the desert. Ogden leaves. Peace is left behind and Carole jumps from the moving train. Denny watches, helplessly, as they disappear in the distance.

CHAPTER X

Denny struggled to the rail to leap from the speeding train, but other passengers held him back.

"Don't be a fool! They'll be all right. You'd be killed!"

"Caleb—Mr. Ogden will pick them up in his car!" called Mrs. King, from the rear. "Unless, of course, a coyote or a rattlesnake—"

"They'll be all right," the conductor reiterated. "Shack right near the track. See it? Your runaway must have been in it or we'd have seen her. Darned lucky the young lady didn't hurt herself, jumping off my train!" Indignation emanated from him.

Carole, Denny realized, had risked her life. A fine person he was to be entrusted with the care of a child.

"I can't stand it!" Rhoda blazed. "This is the end, Wayne Dennis."

"Shut up will you?" Denny grabbed the conductor's arm. "When do we stop? Can I get a car or—it'll be getting dark—a plane? Where are we, anyway? In Arizona?"

"There are wolves after dark!" a woman piped up. "And gila monsters. Oh, I'm going to faint!"

The conductor drew Denny away from the pack. Denny could get off at the first station. He could get a car, or, possibly, wire Winslow for a plane. Sure, there'd be time before dark. Daylight lasted in Arizona. More than likely this Mr. Ogden would have seen the whole business, and would pick up Carole and Peace and bring them to the very same station, before Denny had made his arrangements. Nothing to worry about, but that train couldn't be delayed another minute. He was sorry. They were about a hundred miles from Winslow.

Mrs. King stood at Denny's elbow, wiping her eyes. "I wish I'd never given Caleb $500 for that option on his old oil well."

"Five hundred dollars, madam? So that's it!" The conductor sighed as if the limited meant the weight of the world. "Better let Mr. Dennis telegraph your bank to stop payment."

"B-b-b-but I gave him cash."

"We'll do something after I find Peace," Denny told her.

And this was the woman who'd put the police on his trail. And she was going to watch out for Carole. Sucker! In his misery Denny almost pitied her.

In a few minutes the train slowed down at a cluster of 'dobe shacks. Could that be a station? And a battered roadster beside it!

"Good luck!" called several passengers.

"Pick you up en route, if you get a plane," the conductor said.

"If we don't, wait for me in Los Angeles." Denny instructed Rhoda. "Cocoanut Grove!" It was the only place he could think of at the moment, since their previous plans had been to go on at once to La Jolla. Rhoda would have to look out for herself. His anxiety was so great he forgot to kiss her goodby.

A wan young station agent greeted him as he hopped off. "Jumpin bullfrogs—a passenger!"

Denny had explained the predicament before the train was under way. "Can I take your car?"

"Sure, buddy. Only poor Liz has a flat. Patch her up in a jiffy."

"What would you do," Denny put it up to him, "if you had two girls lost in the desert and one on the limited?"

The agent scratched his rumpled head. "Me? I'd telegraph for a plane. Car couldn't catch the train even without a flat. Then I'd pick up the lost girls and get 'em safely aboard the train at first possible station, and head for Mexico by my lonesome."

Denny heard the click of the instrument, while he watched a group of barefoot, half-naked Mexican children playing in the sand.

The station agent accepted a cigaret. "Be here before you can say Jack Robinson. Hope your folks stick to the tracks and don't try to wander off. Not much twilight here in Arizona. Old sun smears itself all over the sky and plops out of sight. Lots of time before dark though."

The dark! Denny smothered a rising fear.

"Golly, anyone would think they'd been lost two days instead of a half hour. There's coffee in my thermos. Drink it, buddy."

Denny drank it, walking outdoors to scan the road for a possible glimpse of Ogden's car. He must have gone the other way. You could see miles, but not far enough to see the spot where Carole and Peace—What were they doing?

It seemed years before he heard the droning of the plane. Already the sun had splashed sunset gold across the sky. The light still held, and the afterglow would follow briefly. A little crowd gathered from nowhere to watch the plane land.

"Goodby, buddy!" The agent waved away Denny's bill. "Good luck, and when you find 'em, take my advice and beat it to Mexico. Three girls—no harems for me."

Denny climbed into the plane. "Follow the track east. There's nothing near the spot but a tumbledown shack, but it's before you get to Gallup." The pilot knew his business and every inch of the country.

Denny felt comforted, if only the sky didn't fall in. Upward they soared, over a vast expanse of sand, mountain rimmed in the distance. The plane was sailing smoothly.

"That it?" It couldn't be possible! They had only been a few minutes in the air, yet there was the ribbon of a road where the dot of a car had been, toward which Denny had seen Ogden run. Only no Carole was in sight, waving, as she should have been.

"Looks like it, only where are they?" Gone with that Texan? And if so, where? "Let's land and investigate."

The pilot set the plane down like a baby, and the two men headed for the shack.

"Look. They've been here." Denny said. "See those tracks?" He pointed to the impressions made by small high heels and those of a child's shoe. "Peace! Carole!"

They pushed open the door and stepped into a windowless hovel, with a dirt floor covered with debris. The only sound to greet them was a loud snore, coming from a half-breed Mexican-Indian sleeping in a corner.

The pilot was outside studying the tracks again. "They came here, all right, and then they ran. See Mr. Dennis, how much deeper these tracks are?"

"Carole! Peace! Where are you?" Denny shouted with all his might.

"Oh, Denny! Oh, Denny!" The cry came faintly to his ears. And facing it, he made out two little figures running toward him from sagebrush back of the shack.

"There they are!" Denny raced to meet them. He caught Carole in his arms, as she came panting up, dragging Peace.

"Oh, Denny! That awful man! If it hadn't been for you! We were hiding behind those mesquite bushes. We heard the plane, but we had to be sure who was in it, because we were afraid he'd come back for the money. We came out as soon as we heard you call."

"Did that man molest you?" Train or no train, he'd go back and make him pay for it.

"She means Mr. Hogden!" Peace piped, delighted when the pilot picked her up and carried her. "He stole poor little Joany, the horrid old thing!"

"And that isn't all he stole," Carole said. "Wait till you hear."

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

BEFORE Democrats and Republicans have turned their eyes toward the farm states of the West as the battleground where the 1940 Presidential election will be decided. The general belief among politicians and delegates at Philadelphia and Chicago was that November's contest will most closely resemble the 1916 battle, when Woodrow Wilson was re-elected over Charles Evans Hughes by the mountain, prairie and coastal states.

The Democrats don't concede anything—though, for once, James A. Farley is making no predictions—but they entertain the suspicion that Wendell Willkie, the Republican nominee, may sweep the Northeastern, Atlantic Seaboard and Middle Western industrial sections—with the possible exception of New York. Thus, if the Roosevelt-Wallace forces can hold the South, win out in the border states and hang onto the normally Republican West, they figure they can achieve the required 266 electoral votes.

With the political sharps placing such emphasis on the West, the debate centers upon the comparative appeal in this region of Senator Charles L. McNary, the GOP No. 2 man, and Secretary Wallace. And on this point there is sharp disagreement even among impartial newspaper and political observers. The Republican fathered the McNary-Haugen Bill, it is true, but the movement which led to enactment of this measure was sponsored by Mr. Wallace's father, who was Secretary of Agriculture in the Harding administration. Democrats also note that it was twice vetoed by President Coolidge upon the advice of Herbert Hoover.

SENATOR McNARY has voted for almost every law favorable to the farmers, but it is Mr. Wallace who distributed the financial benefits authorized by that legislation. Moreover, the AAA local committees total more than 90,000 people close to the soil and the tillers thereof. That is an extremely powerful political organization if it can be brought and kept in line.

An aftermath checkup discloses that the revolt against Mr. Wallace on the convention floor was not directed against him, personally. It was simply a protest against what the delegates regarded as the dictatorial methods adopted by the White house in puting him over. And a great deal of the booing is supposed to have emanated from gallery sections occupied by Hoosier friends who swept into Chicago to boost Paul V. McNutt.

FRAGRANT: Democratic leaders were amused—but also deeply disturbed—by the editorial behaviour of Col. Frank Knox's Chicago Daily News during the convention. Although Publisher Knox has accepted a place in the cabinet, his newspaper pulled no punches.

Though Mayor Ed Kelly of Chicago acted as host to the delegates in the Augustan manner—though he sat in the secret huddles of the third-term mechanics—though he has promised to deliver Illinois through through his czaristic control of this city—Col. Knox's editorial page ended a review of the Kelly-Nash administration with these words:

"It is the old, old story of a ruthless, debased and corrupt political machine, drunk with spoils and power, in league with crooked gamblers, jail birds, brothel keepers, gangsters and politically minded contractors, to loot and lay waste a great city. . . . The scent of the sewer clings to it still."

The Kelly-Nash domination of the convention goings-on left a bad taste in the mouths of the delegates. And Roosevelt Cabinet Member Knox did nothing to wash it away.

SPORT: Before quitting Chicago, Jim Farley dashed around to thank Senator Carter Glass for his stirring talk placing the national chairman in nomination.

"Listen, Senator," said Jim. "I may be going with the Yankees soon, and I am on the bunt for a snappy shortstop. So I may be looking you up to sign a contract one of these days."

"Sorry, Jim," grunted the 82-year-old Senator in boyish delight at the prospective offer. "I'm not a shortstop. I play third base, where they come down fast and hot."

"Okay, then," replied the national chairman. "You play third, and I'll be over on first handling the high ones you shoot at me."

A great baseball fan, the Senator's favorite team has always been the Philadelphia Athletics. But out of love for Jim he may shift allegiance to the Yankees.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

HERE is the authentic background story of Hitler's speech to the Reichstag. Since the capitulation of France—about a month ago—Anglo-German peace negotiations definitely have taken place, as reported in this space on several occasions. This has been confirmed, moreover, by the British Ministry of Information.

According to unimpeachable sources, the negotiations failed. The Germans offered a mild version of peace for immediate acceptance and indicated what the terms would be after a successful invasion of the Isles. The British maintained that their stronghold is invincible, particularly since about 2,000 airplanes had been destroyed by them or their allies since the Nazis took to the field in September 1939.

The Germans, our informants say, obligingly submitted figures indicating that 3,300 of their own aircraft had come to grief, but that they had 36,000 ships in readiness at the time, backed by an efficient air personnel of 600,000 men. These figures were checked through competent Swedish and Italian sources and apparently are accurate and above doubt or suspicion. But among the British there was still open boasting that their troops were not defeated in Flanders, not in France—nowhere. In the opinion of independent observers this is leading to a great deal of overconfidence in high places, coupled with an underestimation of the enemy which has been a significant—and possibly deliberate—part of British policy since the war's outbreak. The kindest word which military men find for it is "unrealistic." At any rate, the British negotiators rejected any and all overtures.

The Nazis talked about a new order in Europe and the British about a return to the status quo. After the failure of these pourparlers became evident, Hitler decided to call the Reichstag, make a speech and go on record in the usual vague terms he always employs publicly. To the well informed, the chances for peace were definitely lessened, unless something startling happens before this appears in print.

CONFIDENCE: One aspect of the Nazi post-invasion terms—always provided they succeed in what the British claim can't be done—is highly significant for us. Officially, German propaganda authorities are now expounding the theory of doing future business with the United States based on what they call the "work-dollar," representing a unit of our currency producing a certain unit of work or wealth. This they say will be necessary because they possess no gold.

The truth of the matter is, however, that with the help of strong South African elements they hope to establish a politically independent Union of South Africa under leadership of the Boers, benevolently supported by Berlin. In return, the Nazi government would be given gold mining privileges and thus be in a position to compete in world trade without exclusive employment of the barter principle as heretofore.

Our scouts report that negotiations with the South Africans have reached an advanced stage and that the British know about them. The Churchill government, however, still proclaims complete confidence that they can, with the help of the U.S.A., turn the clock back to September 1939.

WAR: Now that the Democratic convention is out of the way, New York opinion is crystallizing. It boils down to four words—"It did happen here." Use of a slightly camouflaged Hitler-Goebbels technique in putting across the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket has given thoughtful people of both parties a sense of grim realities ahead.

This is heightened by study of the President's acceptance speech. Brilliant in form and seductive in statements, it is a masterpiece of half truths and untruths. These will doubtless be dealt with in the course of the campaign. A single instance in this space will point up the opportunity offered to Wendell Willkie to blow up his opponent with White House-made explosives.

A Heartwarming Story About Abe Picus

He Knows Nothing Is Impossible, Even Helping A Son Paralyzed At Birth

FATHER AND SON
They believe in miracles. Honestly they do.

By REED SMITH
Associated Press Staff Writer

CLEVELAND, July 23.—Abe Picus is a genial Cleveland oil man. His hobby for several years has been peace-by-telephone. He has made many trans-Atlantic calls to foreign chancelleries — always suggesting ways to avoid war.

A lot of people in Cleveland came to regard Pickus as a little strange, even though they agreed with his cause. But the other day they learned something new about him.

Only a few friends had been aware of what they called a "miracle" in Pickus' household.

PICKUS' 8-year-old son, Sheldon, had developed spastic paralysis after a natal injury. Specialists had said nothing could be done for the child until he was 8 or 10, when he could help himself in the fight against the malady.

"'Wait and see what happens,' they all told me," Pickus recalls. "The shock of this thing made me so sick I had to go to bed."

Pickus indicates it probably was the only time he ever gave up, even for a moment. He had arrived in America as a poor immigrant in 1910. He knew the value of determination.

Seeks A Cure

Getting out of bed, Pickus started visiting hospitals for crippled children in the hope of finding a cure. But they filled him with a sense of futility greater even than his unavailing efforts to reach Adolf Hitler by telephone.

Finally taking matters in his own hands, he began massaging his son's crippled arms and legs hour after hour, week after week, maintaining a rigid schedule but using care not to tire the child.

One day an arm muscle loosened! Excitedly Pickus took Sheldon to a physician. The doctor expressed amazement.

"I don't know how you've done it," Pickus quotes the doctor as saying, "but whatever you're doing is all right. Keep it up."

PICKUS kept at it, even taking up athletics himself as an example for his growing son. He taught the boy to swim in a Y. M. C. A. pool.

The paralyzed arms and legs gradually straightened. Today Sheldon is declared 80 per cent physically normal, running and playing like other children. But the exercses and massaging continue.

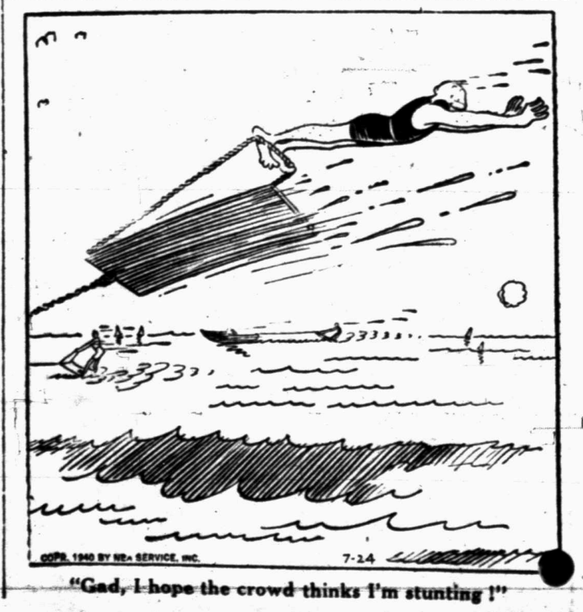

"Anyone could have accomplished the same results," says Pickus modestly. "The trouble is that most parents are lazy. Spastic paralysis can be licked with work and determination."

It took courage, too, say friends.

MELBOURNE, Australia, July (AP)—The Commonwealth film censor today banned two Hollywood movies. They are "Susan and God" starring Joan Crawford and Fredric March, and "Strange Cargo," in which Miss Crawford appears opposite Clark Gable. No reason was given.

Plane Building Is Discussed

By MACK JOHNSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Cabinet officials, national defense experts and British purchasing agents drafted plans today to synchronize American and British plane procurement in such a way that there will be no interference with U. S. military orders.

The conference was held in the office of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., following an army appeal to Defense Production Chief William S. Knudson to make certain that new British orders for 1,200 American planes do not delay this nation's own defense program.

Morgenthau, Knudsen, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Secretary of Navy Frank Knox attended the meeting, as did Arthur B. Purvis, chief of the British purchasing mission here.

Others Attend

Although the conferees declined to disclose details, it appeared that the meeting was devoted largely to the army's request for an orderly coordination of plane buying.

Others attending the meeting were Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps; Gen. Georges H. ...tt, assistant chief of the army air corps; Admiral John Towers, chief of the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics; N. W. Wilson, representative of Lord Beaverbrook, British aircraft production chief; William E. McReynolds, assistant to the president; Donald Nelson, coordinator of government purchases; Treasury General Counsel Edward H. Foley, jr., and Philip Young, member of the president's coordinating committee for military purchases.

Bahamans Ponder Selection Of Duke As Their Governor

NASSAU, Bahamas, July 23 (AP)—Puzzled Bahamans, trying to guess just why the Duke of Windsor, former British ruler, is being sent here as governor, speculate that Britain may be planning to unify all her West Indian possessions.

They see obstacles ahead for any plan to put the 11 British colonies of this area under one administrator. Yet, they believe there must be some deep, basic reason why the former king of 500,000,000 subjects was designated to govern a mere 68,000 residents of one minor colony.

More Than 3 Millions

Their speculation turned on unification and dominion status for the British West Indies because the formal announcement said that the duke would come here as "governor-general," a title customarily reserved for the administrators of dominions, such as Canada, South Africa and Australia. The simpler term "governor" has been used for the chief executive of this and other colonies.

Nassau officials conjectured that a new dominion might be contemplated, composed of the Bahamas, Bermuda, Barbados, Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago, the Windward islands, the Leeward islands, British Guiana and British Honduras.

It would have more than 3,000,000 inhabitants and would invest the duke's new office with added importance.

Postmasters In National Meet

DALLAS, July 23. (AP)—Postmasters must show the way to prove that America is worth saving by work, suffering and if need be, dying, the National League of District Postmasters was told today. The league and other postal groups are in convention.

Harrison Parkman, purchasing agent for the postoffice department, also told them:

"I have traveled much lately over the country, and I know America is awake to the seriousness of the situation. But I notice, too, a vast difference between attitudes of people in the Mississippi valley and those nearer the coasts.

"The valley folk are strangely complacent in their feeling that this country is safe. I predict that if any Axis powers land in Brazil, as army leaders agree they would do in an attack, the Mississippi valley, not the coasts, would get the first bombs from their invading planes.

LEADERS GO DOWN

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP)—The stock market continued to work under war blankets today and leaders generally followed diverse trails.

A few aircrafts, motors, chemical and specialties managed to post modest recoveries but small fractional declines were well distributed at the close.

For the second day in a row the Associated Press average of 60 issues was unchanged at 41.4. Activity in a handful of low-priced stocks picked up near the finish and transfers for the full stretch amounted to 251,460 shares against 237,120 the day before.

Gains of fractions to a point or so were retained by Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Sperry, Glenn Martin, General Motors, Chrysler, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Bethlehem Steel, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Loft, Chesapeake and Ohio, Pennsylvania, Alleghany Corp. preferreds and Texas Corp.

On the offside were U. S. Steel, Anaconda, Sheet, American Telephone, Anaconda, Kennecott, Western Union, Johns-Manville, du Pont, Woolworth, Consolidated Edison, Eastman Kodak, Standard Oil of N. J., and General Electric.

Bonds and commodities were uneven.

Ahead slightly in a spotty curb were Brewster Aero, American Gas, Republic Aviation, Glen Alden Coal and N. J. Zinc. In arrears were Humble Oil, Pantepec, Aluminum of America, Creole Petroleum and St. Regis Paper. Volume here was around 88,000 shares compared with 47,000 Monday.

The American Medical Directory lists 195,104 physicians in its latest edition, noting increases for 38 states and the district of Columbia.

Man Sentenced To Ten Years

ST. LOUIS, July 23. (AP)—James Russell, Chicago, was sentenced to 10 years in prison today following his conviction by a jury in Federal Judge John Caskie Collet's court on a charge of interstate shipment of stolen property.

Russell was one of three men arrested last Feb. 8 near St. Louis by state police who found $18,000 worth of jewelry in their car, which overturned after a chase on ice-covered roads. The jewelry had been taken from Irving Slifkin, Hollywood, Calif., salesman, in a holdup on the outskirts of Dallas, Tex.

The three men escaped from an ambulance after the wreck but Russell was caught at Elgin, Ill. Conrad Selin, ex-convict of St. Paul, Minn., also was recaptured and sentenced to eight years in prison on his plea of guilty. The third man still is at large.

Russell testified he was given a ride with Selin and the other man at Springfield, Mo., and did not know they had stolen property in the car.

EARLY VOTING RESTRICTIONS

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 23 (AP)—The final day of trading in July grain contracts plus continuation of the heat wave served to unsettle the grain market today.

Prices of all grains dipped nervously with July deliveries of wheat, oats and soy beans affected adversely and the July rye delivery bounding upward.

The July delivery of wheat was erased from trading with a huge total of contracts unfilled. At the start today there were 4,400,000 bushels in open contracts—that is contracts bought or sold calling for delivery of that quantity of wheat this month. With trading in July wheat at a fairly normal pace, this would leave a huge quantity of wheat to be delivered to fill these open contracts. The exact figure will be announced tomorrow.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅛ cent higher than yesterday's finish after ranging lower most of the session, September 73¼ @73⅜, December 74⅜@74½, and corn was ½ cent lower to ⅛ higher, September 60⅜ @60½, December 56⅛@56¼, oats ⅜ to ⅝ off, rye unchanged to 2⅝ up, soy beans ⅞ to 7¼ cents lower, and lard 10 to 13 cents off.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, July 23 (AP)—Wheat—No. 1 soft red winter 81½-82¼; No. 1 hard 79¼-80¼.
Barley—No. 2 nom 51-53.
Sorghums—No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom 1.30-1.33.
Corn, shelled—No. 2 white 86-86½.
Oats—No. 2 red 38½-39½.

Cotton . .

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP)—All business in today's cotton futures market was within a 4-point range and final levels were unchanged to 3 points higher.

The narrow swing reflected a very small interest on the part of the trade and professional operators. They still were waiting for developments in the expected "battle of England."

Exports Monday 70 bales; season so far 6,191,755. Port receipts 8,106. Port stocks 2,472,813.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, July 23 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16 inch cotton at ten southern spot markets today was unchanged at 10.26 cents a pound.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 23 (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular here today with trade buying offsetting better weather in the belt. Closing prices were steady, 1 to 3 points net higher.

Lubbock Visitors To Return To Honolulu

A Clipper plane will take Mrs. E. S. Hudson and son Halley back to Honolulu.

They and Mrs. R. L. Gude of Springerville, Ariz., visited in Lubbock Monday.

Mrs. Hudson, formerly Miss Winifred Halley of Seminole, will rejoin her husband in Honolulu. He is a civil service official whose leave was cancelled when he was about to join his wife in Springerville.

Mrs. Hudson said her husband's letter was cryptic so far as mention of reasons for his leave's being cancelled, but that undoubtedly it was because of the tangled political situation in the Orient. Islanders fear Japanese moves growing out of a reshuffling of the Japanese cabinet. Ministers dedicated to a more firm hand in the Orient have filled government slots.

Miss Helen Hart, deputy county auditor, attended school with Mrs. Hudson before Mrs. Hudson's marriage.

TO THE VOTERS OF CONSTABLE PRECINCT 1

It has been impossible for me to see every voter of Precinct 1 and I would like to take this opportunity to ask each of you for your consideration and support of my candidacy for CONSTABLE of Precinct 1.

I am not a stranger in Lubbock for several years I was on the law force of Lubbock. I like our town and the people. I stand for law enforcement and can and will work with all other officers. I am for a better town of Lubbock and will let you be the judge.

In 1923 we all worked hard to get the Tech College. I cleared off the vacant blocks on Broadway, Main and Avenue J down to the light plant. The way they were to take the committee to show them the Tech site and town. I donated $200 to help buy the Tech site. We had a big celebration. I barbecued 150 head of beef cattle with no charges to the committee. After the celebration Chris Harwell and myself washed tubs two days to get them back into the warehouse. I am an outdoor or chuck wagon cook and I have never charged a church for preparing a feed. I am ready at any time to help that which will benefit the town. And finally I sure need the job. I am known as "Big Jim" Robinson. When you go to the polls Saturday

British Attitude Is Made Plain

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The declaration by British Foreign Minister Halifax that England won't stop fighting "until freedom for ourselves and others is secure" would seem from all the evidence at hand to represent fairly the present attitude of his people towards Herr Hitler's peace ultimatum.

Taken in connection with previous British pronouncements it presents in a general way a picture of a Europe restored to its status before the Nazi Fuehrer began his expansion. Undoubtedly it is Britain's purpose to do its utmost to achieve this.

Not A Tall Record

Still, it does in fact represent such a tall order that one may be justified in doubting that it could be filled.

The political, economic and social changes which war already has made in Europe (and in the Far East as well) are so far-reaching that to my mind there can be no return to the old order. Humpty-Dumpty can't be put together again.

I think perhaps it is a subconscious recognition of this which impels the remark we frequently hear that civilization is being destroyed. Well, "civilization" isn't being destroyed of course, though it is receiving a man-handling. What most people really have in mind when they thus use the term "civilization" loosely is that a mode of life which has been kind to them is threatened with radical change.

That's Not Half

The base of Poland illustrates rather well what I mean in referring to the difficulties of restoration. This country has been torn asunder and now is part German, part Russian. Suppose England did win the war and was able to make the German part of Poland again independent—what about the Russian section? Presumably complete restoration would mean that British also must trounce the Soviet and take back the red portion of Poland.

But that isn't the half. Suppose that Poland were restored to its pre-war boundaries. Nazidom has left a heavy political imprint on one-half, and Bolshevism on the other. The complexion of the population has been altered by the immigration of Germans and Russians. The social structure has been changed over a large area by the "liquidation" of great numbers of the aristocracy.

Little Ones Absorbed

You might get another Poland, but not the old one.

So you can go on throughout much of Europe. The three little Baltic states—Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia—have been absorbed by Russia and Sovietized. Defeat of Germany wouldn't restore them to their old status, and it wouldn't give Finland back the territory which the Bolshevists seized and made Communistic.

Whole populations have been moved from some districts of Europe to others. Refugee peoples are drifting about the continent, forever separated from their old homes. The whole complexion of the old world as you and I have known it is being changed.

Not So Bad

You will read in today's news that the government is about to clamp on more taxation in order to finance the war. Already the man in the street is paying an income tax of about forty per cent, besides indirect taxes. Now it is to be boosted towards the fifty per cent mark, and it is said that the little fellow who earns only $8 a week may have to pay income tax.

That's some difference from the England I first knew twenty-five years ago, when a Briton with an income of $1,000 a year was a man of substance. Those days are gone for all time. Even with victory, England's ways of life must change.

I can't help feeling, however, that in due course, when this whole mess has been boiled down, it won't be such a bad mess of pottage after all.

Japanese Draft Defense First

TOKYO, July 23. (AP)—The first task of Japan's new cabinet is strengthening of totalitarianism at home. Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye declared today, but he said it would be paralleled by "reform" in Japanese diplomacy with a large share of the burden falling on militarists.

In an interview with Japanese newspapers, however, the premier said he was not in a position to define foreign policy definitely pending further discussion.

He parried questions concerning basic South seas policy with the answer that "this matter is having my serious attention."

Share With Axis

But his ministers envisioned Japan as sharing "the world" with Germany and Italy and mapped a diplomatic policy patterned on Adolf Hitler's "blitzkrieg" measures, designed to satisfy Japan's expansionist hopes through closer collaboration with the Rome-Berlin Axis.

"In a broad sense, foremost importance will be attached to national defense," the new premier declared.

"The total strength of the nation will be mobilized and controlled toward this objective, which necessarily brings hardships to the people who are called upon to bear them, but a minimum standard of living will be assured."

Thompson Host To Thousands

(Special To The Avalanche)

AMARILLO, July 23. — Ernest Thompson, who rose from newsboy and candy peddler to success in business, as a soldier and as a state political figure, brought home his campaign for governor at a rousing reception of Panhandle citizens here tonight.

Speaking at a political rally — swelling to several thousands and described as the largest of the year in the Panhandle—at which he was billed as host and to which both local and state candidates were invited, Thompson won resounding applause from the homefolks audience as he predicted he would go into the run-off primary in August.

Hines, Sadler Speak

Harry Hines, another gubernatorial aspirant, and Harley Sadler, representing his cousin, Jerry Sadler, also spoke to the crowd.

Thompson's talk here wound up two days of campaigning in his home section.

Preceeding the open air rally tonight, Thompson was guest of honor at a dinner of nearly 200 leaders from all over the Panhandle.

More than a score of them from various walks of life rose one after another to pledge strong support of his home county to the red-headed colonel.

Charges Hurled

Included in the group were farm and ranch representatives, organized labor, business men; oil men and newspaper men. The scrapping candidate warmed to the response, he brought frequent cheers from his audience as he lashed the record of O'Daniel.

He accused the governor of being the "greatest do-nothing governor" the state ever had and vigorously charged the governor with telling varying stories from speech to speech about his record and his taxation ideas.

"I have found it's best to tell the truth," Thompson shouted. "Then you don't have to remember what you said in the last speech."

A Last Resort

That brought laughs and cheers.

Thompson declared that a sales tax was the last resort of a "bankrupt people." Texas, rich in natural resources, should place the burden of social security financing on them rather than "on what the poor buy to eat and wear," he said.

"Why the governor," said Thompson, "after saying first he was for a transactions tax, then said he was for 'the tax the Legislature passes.'

"I want everybody to know where I stand and that is that I will veto a sales tax each and every time it comes to my desk.

Stresses Tax Plan

"The governor says he's for just any old thing the Legislature will pass. Well, how would you like to have a captain that said to his men: 'Boys we're going to march just any old way you want to march'."

"You can see what kind of an army that would be and you can see what kind of a tax program you'd get from a governor who'll take just any old thing."

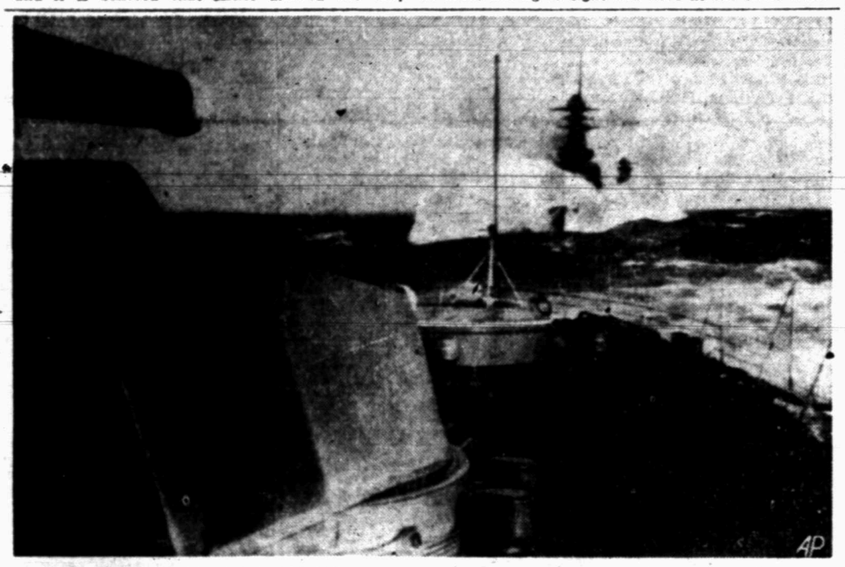

At his night speaking, Thompson made but scant reference to the governor, stressing his taxation and his farm and ranch programs and declaring his confidence that he and Governor O'Daniel would meet for a final decision in the August runoff.

None Arrested In Theft Here

No suspects had been reported arrested Tuesday night for investigation of the theft early that morning of $22.80 from Onyx Oil station at 1702 Avenue H.

A man described as about 6 feet tall, slender, dressed in dark trousers, white shirt and as being bareheaded, slipped in at a side door, broke into a register, took the money and ran.

Picked Up By Confederate

He outsped L. U. Belt, night-watchman, and Thomas Gamblin, night attendant at the station, and was picked up by a cruising confederate in a car.

Bill Gamblin, day attendant who is a brother of the night man, said Thomas Gamblin went across the street to eat at 2 o'clock. He evidently believed he could watch the place. He didn't see the intruder enter, but saw him leave.

Gamblin started after him and the man ran full tilt against Belt, who was patroling the district afoot.

Could Run Too Fast

"But the fellow could run too fast, and neither of them could catch him," said Bill Gamblin.

"A car was circling the block and he slowed down enough for the man in the white shirt to jump on the running board and they sped away."

Police were given a complete description of the car the two men drove.

Dog Is Stolen

Police and members of the Texas Liquor control board arrested Harold Jones, 20 for reckless driving after a hot pursuit which ended in 1600-block Avenue D. He paid $8 as fine on the charge in corporation court and paid an additional $10 on an old fine of speeding.

Jones was the object of a fast chase through downtown Lubbock streets several weeks ago. It was for that he had been fined $10.

More French Escape Nazis

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERN, Switzerland, July 23. — Making use of an "underground railway" said to be spreading slowly through France in all directions, 13 French soldiers reached the Swiss frontier before dawn today still bearing arms after a month's flight through German-occupied regions.

The soldiers, led by a captain and a lieutenant, said they were part of a company which split into small groups and started for Switzerland when hemmed in by the Germans near Metz June 19—a few days before the armistice.

Traveled At Night

Like other isolated groups of French, Polish and English soldiers who have drifted across the border in recent weeks, the fugitives said they traveled mostly at night on their 120-mile journey. They surrendered their arms to a Swiss patrol after crossing the frontier near Porrentruy.

The story of their flight coincided with reports of other travelers that thus far the Germans have been unable to prevent night movements of thousands of French soldiers seeking to make their way to Switzerland or ports in the unoccupied zone of France.

Have Gone Southward

Comparatively few of these men have been entering Switzerland, but tens of thousands were said to have traveled southward through what the French newspaper Le Temps calls "the Chinese wall" separating the occupied and unoccupied French regions.

The Petain government was said to have ordered its guards to assist the Germans in keeping out of the unoccupied zone any French soldiers fleeing from Nazi prison camps. Anxiety over food supplies and agitators was believed to have dictated the Vichy government's order.

Birds Six Feet Tall With Teeth Described

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP) — Six-foot birds with teeth like an alligator which lived in the salty swamps of Kansas 100,000,000 years ago were described today in a report by Dr. Alexander Wetmore, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institution.

These were the oldest true birds which can be traced in fossil remains on the North American continent, he declared. They lived in an era of evolution in which the great dinosaurs were disappearing from the earth and vast areas of the midwest were part of an inland sea stretching up from the Gulf of Mexico.

The birds, which had only tiny wings and could not raise their huge bulk in flight, developed from earlier reptiles and acquired their savage jaws and teeth as a defensive mechanism in the fierce struggle for existance, Dr. Wetmore said.

Road Work Delayed In Study Of Mound

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 23. (U.P.) —Illinois state archeologists are excavating a pre-historic man-made mound through which a new highway will soon be built north of Mossville. Road construction has temporarily ceased while the scientists investigate the remnant of an earlier civilization.

A crew of 14 workers under direction of Winslow M. Walker, state archeologist, are working at the mound with the assistance of photographers and surveyors furnished by the WPA museum extension project of Illinois. Excavation and exploration will require four to six weeks.

The mound, antedating the earliest French explorers, is the first to be opened in the Peoria area, and the state expected to discover a wealth of valuable ethnologic material in its interior, said Walker. The material will be placed on exhibition and findings described in a state publication.
