Senate Agrees on Ratification of Naval Ratio Treaty

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

BY H. N. F.

Munday is a bustling Texas town in Knox county. There are large ranches in Knox county but the territory continguous to Munday has its stock and its wheat and cotton farms. There are valley lands very productive. R. P. Munday died the other day. He was born in Kentucky 82 years ago. He came to Texas in 1887 and was one of the real pioneers of the Munday country. Munday was named for him. When he pitched his tent there it was an unfenced prairie, with thousands of cattle, hundreds of antelope, coyotes, rattlesnakes and a few people claiming the vast domain as their home. It was all state school land and five years after the coming of the pioneer from Kentucky it was placed on the market. He gave the first business lot for a store to a pioneer merchant who opened the first store in that section. He was also instrumental in securing the first postoffice and from his coming to Texas until his departure "in search of the beautiful adventure over there" he had been foremost in all movements for the advancement of the little city named in his honor and the country that surrounded it. These pioneers of the Munday type encountered hardships and made many sacrifices. They planted cotton and Abilene, 85 miles away, was the nearest market and to Abilene these cotton growers of Knox county hauled their cotton to have it ginned and to purchase their supplies. Gone is the wide range. Gone the unfenced lands. Gone the deer and the antelope. Gone the coyotes and the rattlesnakes. Now there are well tilled farms and prosperous farmers; railroads and modern highways; motor cars and motor trucks; wheat elevators and flour mills; school houses and churches; sanitariums and asylums; banks and bankers; telephones and free delivery and going are the rugged and God-fearing pioneers who conquered a wilderness and made it subject to the needs of man.

"Only money that is put to work makes money. It is almost as wrong to have your money idle as to be a loafer yourself." This is the conclusion of B. C. Forbes. He didn't invent it. He just reiterated that which wise men have been saying for thousands of years. Every money panic or business depression in the history of the United States has been caused in part by the hoarding of money and the consequent lack of cash capital with which to do business. This is another discovery made by the same writer. Herbert Hoover made it in the month of June, 1921, when he announced that more than a billion dollars had been withdrawn from circulation in the United States and hid out or placed in safety deposit vaults by those who should have known that money which is not moving is dead money. This is his argument against the hoarding of the coin of the realm. A dollar in the bank changes hands at least 20 times per annum, pays twenty persons, does twenty dollars worth of business of which something like $12 goes for wages and helps

SPECIAL GRAND JURY TO MEET THIS MORNING

Sixteen Men Summoned to Report to Judge Ed. Napier in the 78th District Court Today.

Rumors Say K. K. K. May Be Investigated; Call Occasions Much Remark and Interest Here.

Sixteen men summoned by Sheriff Smith will report this morning in the 78th district court to Judge Ed Napier to serve as a special grand jury. The order of summons was made Tuesday by Judge Napier.

Rumors current Tuesday were to the effect that the special grand jury had been summoned to investigate activities of the Ku Klux Klan in this county. Another rumor was to the effect that there had been developments during the last few days in connection with the finding of a new born baby last week in the Marlow lake on the west edge of the city. The baby had been tied to a stone and apparently thrown into the tank. So far as any public announcement is concerned there has been no positive developments in connection with the finding.

Asked concerning the grand jury Judge Napier said he had no announcement to make other than the grand jury had been summoned to investigate the usual run of criminal matters which are brought to the attention of all grand juries.

According to information available Tuesday, the following grand jurors have been summoned. Carl Yeager, Tom Drinkard, J. P. Hund, J. L. McMahon, G. H. Watson, Rhea Howard, D. M. Perkins, Frank Keim, Sam Kruger, C. M. Miller, L. J. Bullitt of this city; S. B. Merchant, Electra; Adolph Loboefner, Burkburnett; Scott Ralston, Iowa Park; Frank Burns, Kemp City. The jury was selected by the sheriff.

Regardless of the reasons for calling of the grand jury, they are sure to be important ones, according to local attorneys, who have interestedly discussed this development since the announcement of the call. In support of this they point to the provision in the statute creating the 78th district, which precludes the calling of the grand jury, unless in the opinion of the judge the calling of a special grand jury is of more than ordinary moment.

The calling of a new grand jury, instead of the re-convening of the 30th district grand jury, which the statute makes legal for all purposes in the 78th district court, were also discussed with interest—particularly in connection with rumors of investigation of the Ku Klux Klan, and the accusation brought against the recent grand jury that they were dominated by the klan.

WHITE ROBED MEN JOIN MOURNERS AT FUNERAL OF MASON

By Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 28.—As mourners turned from the bier of Charles Edward Van Wormer in the mausoleum in in Oakridge cemetery at the close of the Masonic ritual today, twenty-one figures, dressed in the white robes of the Ku Klux Klan, marching in the form of a cross, entered the long marble hall and proceeded noiselessly to the crypt in which the body had been placed. Here the leader deposited the six-foot red floral cross which he bore, spread his hands momentarily above it, turned and led the strange procession out and down a ravine back of the mausoleum to waiting automobiles.

JEWELL MAKES WAGE PLEA FOR SHOP WORKERS

Budget Requiring $2,636.97 Yearly Presented as Minimum for Maintaining a Family of Average Size.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Industries should use the same principle in supplying energy to their employes as to supplying coal under their boilers, B. M. Jewell head of the shops crafts unions, told the railroad labor board today in presenting a budget requiring $2,636.97 a year for sustaining a workman's family.

Mr. Jewell's budget, he said, was based on an average railroad mechanic's family. It provided, he asserted, no more than a "sane supply of food and only the barest minimum to the board, would furnish the wage earner 4,140 calories a day. The $2,636.97 family budget, Mr. Jewell said was about $300 more than the department of labor's budget.

"Some people will undoubtedly comment upon the absurdity of a mere worker expecting an income of this size," said Mr. Jewell.

"Under the 67 1-2 cents an hour rate, which the railroads propose, a mechanic can make $1,651.40 a year, $1,000 less than the amount necessary to purchase the essentials listed in the budget.

"Then there is the rate of 40 cents an hour proposed for helpers. With not an hour of regular working time missed during the year, this means annual earnings of $979.20. The allowance for food of $383.20 provides 10 cents a meal for the man and 6 cents daily for the youngest child. For clothing $180 is allowed.

"Every article of clothing must wear two to three times as long as is contemplated in the budget prepared by the economists for the railroad workers."

A typical menu of what a shop worker would be able to eat on such a wage was given by Mr. Jewell as follows:

Breakfast—Dish of oatmeal with milk and two spoons of sugar, one slice of bread with butter, two cups of coffee; (336 calories).

Dinner—Two thin slices of pot roast (about half pound); 3 small potatoes, 2 slices of bread and butter, and a cup of coffee; (855 calories).

Under Mr. Jewell's budget a typical menu for one day would be:

Breakfast—Two shredded biscuits with milk and sugar, two pieces of sausage, two slices of French toast with butter and jam, 2 cups of coffee.

Lunch—Two roast beef sandwiches and a cheese sandwich, 2 doughnuts, 2 apples and 2 cups of coffee.

Dinner—Two pork chops, 3 small potatoes, a dish each of cooked cabbage and beets, two slices of bread and butter, a big dish of rice pudding with sugar and milk and a cup of coffee.

"Statements that men do live on such wages," argued Mr. Jewell, "amount to not more than the statement that millions of Germans and Austrians lived through the blockade. They did, but the infant death rate jumped, the suicide rate jumped, the tuberculosis rose tremendously and resistance to other diseases was so reduced that epidemics were developed which swept over continents. These epidemics began among classes forced to accept a low standard of living by inroads into the rich and well-to-do.

"I think an industry which permits employes to secure 4,000 calories of good daily food, gets a proportionate amount of energy from these employes. It is strange that industries cannot use the same sense about supplying energy to their employes as they use about supplying coal under their boilers."

Congress Halts Work Tuesday Out of Respect To Memory of Parrish

By B. N. TIMMONS,
Record News Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The legislative wheels of the national government stopped today out of memory of Lucian Walton Parrish, late a representative from the state of Texas.

The house meeting at noon adjourned after the chaplain in his prayer had eulogized the late Texas congressman and Congressman Hatton W. Sumners of Texas, had formally notified the house of his death.

Immediately upon the official notification the flag over the house chamber, the flags on either side of the big dome and the flag on the house office building were dropped to half mast.

The intelligence was at once communicated to the senate, and it, too lowered its flags to half mast and soon afterwards adjourned out of respect.

Congressman Hatton W. Sumners in announcing the death of Congressman Parrish, said that at an early date he would ask that a Sunday be set aside for memorial services. He then presented the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that the house has heard with profound sorrow of the death of Honorable Lucian Walton Parrish, late a representative from the state of Texas;

Resolved, that the clerk communicate these resolutions to the senate and transmit a copy thereof to the family of the deceased;

Resolved, that as a further mark of respect, this house do now adjourn.

Senators Culberson and Sheppard during the morning coferred and drew up a resolution, which was later presented in the senate by Senator Sheppard.

Senator Sheppard whose father, the late Congressman John L. Sheppard, was one of the three sitting Texas members to die in the last two decades, paid a warm tribute to Mr. Parrish.

"It becomes my sad duty to announce the death of Lucian Walton Parrish," Senator Sheppard said.

"He was a young man of high ideals, sterling achievements and great promise. He was the best type of American."

Senator Culbertson sent the following telegram to Mrs. Parrish: "You have my profound sympathy in the death of your distinguished husband."

Senator Culberson asked for a statement paid the following tribute to Mr. Parrish: "Representative Parrish was a man of high ideals and with a lofty conception of public service. I esteemed him highly, and profoundly regret his death."

In the house, Chaplain James Shera Montgomery said the following prayer: "Our blessed Heavenly Father, the earth wind has blown and death has made its encroachment upon us and we are touched with sorrow.

"In the strength of noble manhood, in the light and promise of the Christian's faith he has left us. Be with those who have such heaviness of soul

FILM ACTOR IS DEFENDANT IN $200,000 SUIT

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, March 28.—Herbert Rawlinson, motion picture actor, was made defendant in a suit for damages of $200,000, filed in the superior court here today by Mrs. Ethel E. Clark, of New York who charged Rawlinson had committed a statutory offense against her daughter, Dorothy Clark, two years ago.

Mrs. Clark and her daughter are now in New York but their exact address was withheld by the attorney, J. K. Stickney of San Diego, California who said he had filed the action at the request of Mrs. Clark.

The alleged offense, according to the papers in the suit, was committed in New York in 1920 when the girl was 15 years old. At that time, it was said the girl had had a brief experience in motion picture work. More recently, Attorney Stickney stated, she had been on the legitimate stage in New York.

SENATORS TO SEEK HARDING'S VIEW ON BONUS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—While the senate is digesting the 300-odd page tariff bill before it is formally called up on the floor, the senate finance committee majority, under present plans, will have its wrestle with the compromise soldier bonus bill, which the house passed last week, continued.

Probably one of the first steps in the consideration of the bonus will be a conference between the committee majority and the president. Before going ahead with the bill, some members want to learn definitely just what kind of a measure will be satisfactory to the executive. Because of the pressure of work in connection with the preparation of the tariff most majority members of the finance committee have had little opportunity to give thought to the bonus legislation and are unprepared to express views on the house bill. One or two however, say they are inclined to regard the Fordney measure as a "happy solution" of the bonus question.

NO OPPOSITION SHOWN DURING DEBATE OF DAY

Administration Leaders Confident Treaty Will Be Accorded Unanimous Ratification.

Democrats in Claiming Their Share of Credit, Assert Idea Originated With Congress of 1916.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Five hours of debate on the naval limitation treaty today revealed a virtually unanimous senate sentiment in its favor and resulted in an agreement for final ratification at three p. m. tomorrow.

Throughout the day's discussion no voice was raised in opposition. Some democrats, however, expressed disappointment that the treaty did not go further towards both land and sea disarmament. Claiming a share of credit for reduction actually accomplished they sought to show that the whole idea of an armament conference originated with the democratic congress of 1916 and finally was forced upon the republican administration.

Tonight administration leaders predicted that ratification would be unanimous and that the submarine and poison gas treaty would be likewise approved before adjournment tomorrow night. The sudden sweep of progress aroused hope that the two Chinese treaties might also be ratified and the whole group of arms conference covenants returned to the White House with senate approval by the end of this week.

Debate on the naval treaty was devoid of the colorful touches which had characterized the fight over the four power pact. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican leader, explained the treaty's provisions in a detailed statement and later, Senator Underwood of Alabama, democratic floor leader, added his approval in a short speech, declaring the treaty would be accepted as an epochal achievement by the American people regardless of party.

By Associated Press.

BURCH FLIRTS WITH FLAPPERS DURING TRIAL

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, March 28.—Drawing of a jury for the second trial of Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, was begun at the opening of the afternoon session of Judge Sidney N. Reeve's court today.

The jury panel was exhausted in 40 minutes and as no jurors were available, adjourned until tomorrow. Seventeen talesmen declared opposition to capital punishment, and one woman declared she had a fixed opinion.

When Burch entered the court room this morning, he was seen to smile and wink at some one occupying the spectator's seats. Bailiff Clark Reeder declared that Burch was continuing a flirtation commenced yesterday with what he termed "two Los Angeles flappers."

Attendants at the outer doors of the court room said they had been instructed not admit the two girls should they seek admittance again.

Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, Burch's co-defendant, was in court this morning when her case was transferred to Judge Shenk's department of the superior court. Her second trial was recently set for June 5 in Judge Reeve's department where the Burch trial is now being held. The transfer of the case was to prevent possible conflict of the two trials.

The Sign On the House

A "Room for Rent" sign on the house spoils many opportunities to secure a very desirable young man or young woman as tenants. Because most desirable people prefer to live in a house which uses the more modern method of advertising in a newspaper when it has a vacancy.

And besides, the sign on the house is seen only by passers-by, whereas the newspaper is read all over the city and surrounding country.

It costs much more to have a room vacant a few days than it does to advertise.

JUDGE NAPIER WRITES TO NEFF ABOUT K. K. K.

Says Will Endeavor to Control Elections This Year in an Open Letter Addressed to Governor.

Intimates Neff's Recent Answer High Flown Generalities; to Question All Candidates.

In an open letter in which he declares that the Ku Klux Klan is endeavoring to control the coming elections and that because of that fact and the principles for which it stands its future status is the "paramount issue" of the elections, Judge E. W. Napier of the 78th district court of this city calls upon Governor Neff to let the public know his exact attitude with regard to the much discussed organization.

In his letter, a copy of which was received by the Record News, Judge Napier strongly condemns the organization, declaring that it was fast "breeding contempt for constituted authority." The letter shows that Judge Napier has previously written the governor regarding his attitude toward the klan and that he is not satisfied with the recent public utterances by the governor regarding law enforcement as answering his questions.

"It will not suffice," Judge Napier declares in his letter to the governor in regard to a recent statement at Fort Worth, "when this question is put to a candidate for him to indulge in a lot of high-flown generalities about 'law enforcement' and the candidate who fails to come out squarely upon this issue is going to be classed as a klansman or a political coward."

Judge Napier incorporates in his letter a series of questions, which he says he is going to ask all aspirants for the state legislature, as well as candidates for governor and lieutenant governor. The letter follows:

"Hon. Pat M. Neff, Governor, Austin, Texas: Dear Sir—The newspapers are quoting you as having made the following statement in response to a query as to your attitude toward the Ku Klux Klan:

"Austin, Texas, March 24.—Governor Neff was asked tonight for an expression of his attitude with reference to the Ku Klux Klan activities and mob lawlessness prevailing throughout the state recently and replied: 'I can add nothing to my Fort Worth law and order speech. I used vigorous language in denouncing acts of lawlessness of all kinds, whether by mobs or individuals, and I can not make my position any clearer at this time. I stand for the strict enforcement of all the laws of the land and this is all there is to it.'"

You were asked to state your attitude toward the Ku Klux Klan, but I do not see where you have mentioned that organization in this statement, nor in the Fort Worth speech to which you refer. This response is a clear evasion of the question which was asked you; it is the stereotyped reply of every Ku Klux Klansman to that question.

On the 9th day of March I wrote you the following letter:

"Hon. P. M. Neff, Governor, Austin, Texas: Dear Governor—I have read with considerable interest your speeches concerning law enforcement. I heartily concur with you in all that you have said upon that subject, but there is another sort of lawlessness abroad in the land that, in my opinion, deserves the attention of those whose duty it is to suppress crime, and it is of this sort of lawlessness that I desire to speak.

"Of course, it is unnecessary for me to call your attention to the fact that there is in this State an organization of men who, under the guise of enforcing the law, have undertaken the suppression of crime outside the legal and recognized channels and are breeding contempt for constituted authority.

"You, of course, are as familiar with that condition as I am, and if this were all I would not take the trouble to write you, but this organization has gone further than merely attempting to usurp the powers of the courts; it has in many instances attempted to corrupt and control the courts * * *

"These conditions alone are enough to warrant the condemnation of this organization, but that is not all. It is currently reported that one of the cardinal principles of the organization is to oppose certain classes of citizens on account of race and religious belief. This idea, of course, is directly opposed to the principles upon which our Government was founded and must be abhorrent to every true American.

"That this is a great political machine, working in secret, to control the politics of the country can not be successfully denied, and in this respect it has already shown its teeth.

"It is my opinion that every officer charged with the duty of preserving our American institutions ought to take an uncompromising stand against such movements as this and that you, as the highest executive officer of this state, should openly condemn this organization and its practices in no uncertain terms, to the end that its further growth may be checked and its malign influences counteracted.

"I trust that you will not feel that I am taking undue liberties in making this suggestion to you. I simply believe that you have it within your power materially to relieve this situation, and sincerely hope that you will see fit to do so without delay. Yours respectfully."

I was somewhat alarmed at the conditions which seemed to prevail throughout the state and sincerely believed that I could hope for some action by you which would tend to stem the tide of this fanatical tendency which seemed to me to threaten the very foundations of our government. Not only did you fail to take the stand that I thought that you should take, but I was not even accorded the courtesy of a reply to my letter.

Since writing you that letter, however, I have learned that hundreds of other citizens have written you along the same lines and you have uniformly ignored them all. Your rather doubtful statement which I have just quoted (and which is nearer the question at issue than anything that you have ever said before) will not satisfy the people of Texas. Every one knows that the Ku Klux Klan question is going to be the paramount issue to every campaign this summer. It is perfectly apparent that the Ku Klux Klan intends to control the coming elections, and it is just as apparent that those opposed to the klan are going to exert every effort to defeat this purpose. It is the most vital question affecting the citizenship of this state and one upon which every candidate for office must take an unqualified position. It will not suffice when this question is put to a candidate for him to indulge in a lot of high-flown generalities about "law enforcement," and the candidate who fails to come out squarely upon this issue is going to be classed either as a klansman or a political coward.

This organization, which boasts its "Americanism," has even laid its foul hand upon the judiciary of the state and is undertaking to control the election and appointment of our officers.

The legislature has been in session several months since you have been governor, but I have never heard of any attempt made by you to procure the enactment of legislation designed to correct this condition. Nearly every governor in the South has spoken upon this subject, while you have remained silent.

The following is a letter which I intend to address to every candidate for membership in the legislature, as well as for governor and lieutenant governor of this state. I would like to know what your attitude will be toward these proposed measures in the event of your re-election.

"Dear Sir: In the event you are elected a member of the legislature will you actively support the following measures, if introduced?

"1. A bill requiring the custodian of the records of every fraternal or benevolent society doing business in this state to file with the county clerk of the county in which such society or any branch thereof is situated a complete roster of its membership within such county, and the name and address of some local officer of such society upon whom service of legal process may be had.

"2. An act making it unlawful for three or more persons wearing masks or otherwise disguised to parade upon the streets of any city or town in this state, unless such persons shall have first obtained from the mayor of such city or town a permit in writing, authorizing the same, such permit to be issued only upon a written application setting forth the true names and addresses of each person participating in such parade.

"Each of the foregoing proposed measures to provide a suitable punishment for violations.

"3. An act making it a felony for any person or persons to commit, with premeditated design, an assault upon the person of another under any of the following circumstances:

"(1) When the means used are calculated to inflict disgrace upon the person assaulted.

"(2) When such assault is committed by a person or persons in disguise.

"(3) When the person assaulted is enticed or forcibly removed to a place of seclusion for the purpose of such assault. And providing for an increased penalty where the assault is committed in the nighttime, or where the person assaulted is abducted from his home."

I am sending this as an open letter through the press in the hope that it may receive some recognition. I trust that this will not be considered impertinent or offensive. My only purpose is to elicit from you certain information which I believe the people of Texas are entitled to have. Yours very respectfully,

E. W. NAPIER.

A Wife or a Profession?

Chapter XXXVI

His experience with Luella Gower had a peculiar effect upon Dr. Blake. He never had been at all self-conscious in spite of his good looks. A man is just as aware of his physical attractions as is a woman. Men have mirror and eyes as well as women. But as far as even thinking of his appearance when with his patients Howard Blake was absolutely innocent and indifferent. He felt in some way belittled. To him his profession was almost a sacred calling. That is should be prostituted to anything resembling sexual emotions not only disgusted but hurt him. It was almost like a physical hurt, and he cringed from even the remembrance of that almost paralyzing scene.

"I must forget it," he said aloud, brushing his hand across his brow, as if to brush away the remembrance of it.

"How's Luella?" Annette asked when he reached home.

"She's better. I think her mother may take her away for a while," Mrs. Gower had made no promise, but he would take it for granted.

"I wish I knew what ailed her! I think you might talk over her sickness with me. She is my best friend."

"You know my determination in that direction. Why keep bringing it up?"

"She's awfully interested in all you do. She asks me about all your patients and everything. If it were any one else but Luella I should think she was in love with you. It mortifies me to death to have to say I know nothing of what you do!" Annette added, not waiting to note the effect of her random shot. Then: "Dr. Agnew is expected back from his vacation today or tomorrow. I suppose she will have him then."

"Probably—if she remains at home. I have finished. All she needs is fresh air and the tonic I prescribed."

"I do hope you will charge a big fee! I need a new dress and a lot of other things. I notice you had a box by express today. More instruments?"

"Yes, I needed one or two," he replied absently.

"There is always money for anything of that sort."

"I give you all I have except what is absolutely necessary for my practice," still absently. Suppose Luella should try to make it appear he had—no; that wasn't possible.

"Do stop mooning over some patient and pay a little attention to me. I declare you grow worse by the minute. I'm a married woman, but haven't any husband—most of the time. Nice condition for any one as young as I am to be in. Most women would do something desperate, have some one to admire them at least."

"Is that a threat Annette?"

"You wouldn't care! I don't believe you'd even know if another man made love to me if some dirty child happened to have the chicken pox or measles at the same time. Your mind would be on the case instead of me."

Howard laughed heartily.

"Don't try it to find out, Annette!"

"I may—some day."

"Don't."

Howard took her in his arms and kissed her the more tenderly, the more passionately, because of his late experience. After dinner they went for a long walk and talked happily and joyously together. It was an evening both long remembered.

"I don't know when I have had so nice a time," Annette said when at last they turned toward home.

"It is nice to forget everything but ourselves, darling, even if it is selfish." Howard pressed a kiss upon the fact upturned to him in the moonlight. "We must try to hold on to our happiness, dear."

"If you would always be like this and stay with me I'd be the happiest girl in the world," Annette replied as she snuggled closer to him. She did not see the fleeting look that swept his face. A look of keen disappointment. She could not forget herself, her desires, even when she was happy.

Nadine Norwell and her mother had gone. Gone out of her life, as Annette joyfully told herself. It wasn't at all likely another beautiful girl would be injured and taken to the hospital.

"I'm terribly glad they have gone," she said to Howard. "The paper says they have returned to their home in New York. Pity you wouldn't tell me."

"Here is what they left you. I am almost tempted not to let you have a penny of it you have been so naughty about them." He laid a check on the table. Annette gasped when she saw the amount.

"I can have a new dress and a hat and lots of things now! Thank you, Howard. But—I'm glad they are gone just the same. I'd rather be poor, as poor, than have you shut up in a room with a girl like Miss Norwell."

Howard Blake turned away. He was beginning to learn that, no matter what he did for Annette, his devotion to his patients would always come between them. Perhaps if she were among people she knew it would be different.

"A more conscientious public servant has never been sent to Washington," Mr. Hatchitt declared in concluding his address.

The meeting of the bar association held Tuesday morning at the courthouse was the most largely attended of any held in the history of the organization. Judges P. A. Martin, E. W. Napier and Guy Rogers and A. H. Carrigan and Tarlton Morrow, local attorneys, were appointed on the resolution committee for the bar association. J. B. Hatchitt, S. A. L. Morgan, Dan Boone, Sam Holliday and P. A. McDermott were members of the committee of the Texas-Exes Association.

Congress Halts Out of Respect To Mr. Parrish

"May we be impressed that the flowers of life wither even while they unfold; that the year is dying that we have just called new. O teach us how few our days and how urgent is life. Lay Thy hand of wisdom upon our country and direct all who make and interpret our laws and may the precepts and examples of Him who spoke with divine authority prevail among our people. In the name of Jesus, Amen."

The Texas delegation in the house was grief stricken. Deaths have been fewer in the Texas delegation than in most states. On Oct. 11, 1902, Congressman John L. Sheppard of the First Texas district died. On April 24, 1905, Congressman John McPherson Pinckney was slain at Hempstead. Sheppard had long service in the house. Pinckney had been a member only two years, having been chosen on the resignation of Col. Thomas H. Ball.

The Texas house delegation met and sent the following telegram to Mrs. Parrish:

"We have learned with profound sorrow and with the deepest sense of personal loss of the death of your beloved husband. Each member of the Texas delegation extends his sincere sympathy to you and yours in this great bereavement. High ideals wrought out in a life of exalted service have made Lucian W. Parrish dear and his memory sacred to all who knew him.

"That is the sentiment expressed today on every hand by all we meet, regardless of the section of the country from which they come or the party to which they belong. May God help you to bear your great loss."

The telegram was signed by Eugene Black, John C. Box, Morgan G. Sanders, Sam Rayburn, Hatton W. Sumners, Ruffus Hardy, Clay Stone Briggs, Daniel E. Garrett, Joseph J. Mansfield, James P. Buchanan, Tom Connally, Fritz G. Lanham, Harry M. Wurzbach, John N. Garner, Claude B. Hudspeth, Thomas L. Blanton and Marvin Jones. It is doubtful if there has ever been a personally more popular member of congress from Texas than was Mr. Parrish.

Big, jovial, good natured, kind hearted and earnest, he was the typical west Texan. The home life of Mr. Parrish was beautiful. The devotion of Mr. and Mrs. Parrish to one another was the subject of general comment. In their beautiful home here they often entertained Texans, and their hospitality was famous.

Nothing in years has so deeply shocked the Texas colony in Washington as the death of Mr. Parrish.

COMMISSIONERS COURT REACHES AGREEMENT ON HIGHWAY PROGRAM

Makes New Agreement With Potts & Prentice Whereby All Money Becomes Available Now.

The county commissioners court in adjourned session Tuesday signed an agreement with local banks by which the county will receive $630,000 now remaining from road bond issues in one lump sum and also entered into a supplementary agreement with Potts & Prentice, contractors, awarding them the contract for the construction of the roads to be built from the remaining bond money.

In connection with their action the court authorized County Auditor Murphy to advertise for sub-contracts for the construction of the concrete highway from this city to the Clay county line and for the five-mile concrete road to be constructed north of Electra. Further indication that the court desires to complete the road program as soon as possible was apparent in their action authorizing County Attorney Fulton to go to Austin to confer with the state highway department regarding a change in the improved road program so that precinct 3, commonly known as the Iowa Park district, can use the road funds allotted it in the construction of gravel rather than concrete roads. This action is in line with the request of Commissioner Kunta of that precinct made several weeks ago.

The actions taken Tuesday, the most important in several months, were unanimous as to the members of the court present. Commissioner J. P. Jackson of this city is confined to his home and was not present. Whether the action is in line with his wishes is not known. Other members of the court Tuesday expressed confidence that county road matters had at last been satisfactorily arranged and there would be no further difficulties in completing the program as provided for under present bond issues.

The agreement entered into by the court regarding the payment of the remaining road bond money was with the First National Bank and the Empire Mortgage company, both of this city. R. E. Huff and J. P. Montgomery, local attorneys, represented the two institutions. Briefly the two banks will turn over to the county the $630,000 yet remaining from the bond money in one lump sum, taking the place of the monthly agreement plan. In return the First National Bank receives $27,106, and the Empire Mortgage company $10,491, the two amounts representing the loss to them when they purchased the original $1,500,000 bond issue. According to the representatives of the banks the amount just assures them against loss in the purchase of the bonds which they would have gotten back in interest had they paid out the bond money in monthly payments as was intended when the bonds were purchased.

In the supplementary agreement of Potts & Prentice the firm agrees to reimburse the county for the $37,597 paid the banks. The contract further provides that after the program of 44.3 miles is completed, the firm shall continue the construction of the roads until the road bond money is exhausted. In addition to paying the $37,597, the firm will construct the remaining roads under an 8 per cent cost basis. The present contract calls for 10 per cent. The maximum fee allowed the contractors under the supplementary agreement is $68,000. All other features of the original agreement remain in force.

Gentlemen:

We beg leave to submit the following proposition for consideration at your meeting on Monday, March 27, 1922:

Our present contract with Wichita county calls for the construction of 44.3 miles of concrete road, of which nearly 40 miles is now complete.

During the progress of the work there have been very substantial reductions in the cost of labor, but these reductions have been more than offset by the increase in freight rates on materials, together with slight increases in the price of some materials.

In spite of these facts, the construction methods have proven so successful that it now appears that the county will have sufficient funds to build considerable mileage of concrete road in excess of the 44.3 miles originally planned.

As a matter of professional pride, we are naturally anxious to handle to completion the entire job upon which we have been working. Furthermore, the work now in hand is holding us here for a part of the present working season and tends to make a move to some other job less desirable. For these, and other reasons, it is to our best interest to make such concessions to the county as would justify you in extending our present contract to cover all work now contemplated and in making necessary financial arrangements to complete the work this season if possible.

On the other hand, it will undoubtedly be to the county's advantage to have us continue with the work, since our plant and organization is already moved in, set up, and in successful operation. It would be an unjustifiable expense for the county either to shut down the present outfit for an indefinite period, or to bring in other outfits to handle your future work.

In view of the foregoing facts, and of the further fact that the county has a contract with the banks restricting the withdrawal of the special road funds, and should pay to the banks their actual loss in the sale of the bonds, if the money is withdrawn as rapidly as suggested herein, we propose:

1. That the county extend our present contract to cover all additional work contemplated, and pay us for same a fee of 8 per cent, based on the lowest unit prices in our present contract, the maximum amount of said fee to be limited to $68,000, this fee to be paid on monthly estimates as the work progresses.

2. That, in order to enable the county to properly finance these operations, we hereby agree that the county may charge to our account the sum of $37,597, said sum being the amount the county will be required to pay to the banks in order to set aside the existing contract with the banks and make all the balance of the special road funds immediately available. The county shall then be permitted to withhold from our estimates of fee on this additional work an amount equal to fifty-five (55) per cent of each monthly estimate, until a total of $37,597 shall have been withheld and the county fully reimbursed for said expenditure. It is understood, however, that we assume no obligation for the payment of said sum except as hereby provided, by deductions from monthly estimates.

3. All other specifications and conditions of the present contract to remain in force; therefore, it will be seen that the fee actually paid to us will be a little less than 4 per cent of the cost of the additional work proposed.

POTTS & PRENTICE.

HEREFORD BREEDERS ASS'N. AND CHILDRESS FAIR

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, March 28.—The American Hereford Breeders' association advised the Exhibit Bureau of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce that they will put up one-third of all the prize money to be awarded by the Childress State Fair on registered Hereford cattle. This action by the American association is considered locally as the best possible evidence of the national recognition both of the State Fair at Childress and of the importance of the registered Hereford cattle industry in West Texas.

JURY FINDS S. HARWELL NOT GUILTY

After a two-hour deliberation, a jury in the 89th district court Tuesday afternoon returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Sandy Harwell charged with robbery with firearms. Harwell, who is under 21 years of age was alleged to have been one of two men who held up and robbed Dr. W. H. Johnson of Burkburnett in June of last year.

He and his partner were alleged to have taken a diamond from their victim valued at $2,000. The alleged holdup took place in a shack in block 88 of the Northwest field. Harwell presented an alibi defense.

Martin Talks To Business Women's Club

Beginning his address with an adaptation of the ten commandments to conform with the needs of young women in the business world, the Rev. S. M. Martin of Seattle, who is conducting a revival at the First Christian church, spoke to about 60 members of the Business Women's club at the weekly meeting Tuesday evening. Dr. Martin confined his remarks principally to advice concerning the business relations of the employe and employer. Preceding Dr. Martin's talk, J. V. Maeklin of Fort Worth, who is assisting with the music during the revival, gave two solos, "Within the Garden of My Heart," (Scott) and "To a Messenger" (La Forge).

A business meeting followed in which several important reports were made, and Mrs. Mason elected a delegate to attend the Y. W. C. A. convention to be held at Lot Springs in April in the place of Miss Florence Jackson, who was first chosen but found that she could not go.

Miss Era Dawson of the program committee, announced that Mrs. E. L. Fulton would be in charge of the entertainment for the meeting next Tuesday night.

Hostesses for the month of April will include: Mrs. Mildred Packer and Misses Brothers and Alice Bennett.

Floral Heights Church Planning Easter Service

Dr. J. H. Groseclose, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church, announces that preparations are being made for an elaborate Easter celebration at his church this year. Local Knights Templars will attend the services in a body, in full regalia and a "flower processional" by a large bevy of girls dressed in white will be a feature. The church will be attractively decorated for the occasion and a class of 50 people will be received into the church as new members as the result of the "win one" campaign which has been launched following the revival held by Bishop Mouzon. At night the chorus choir will sing the cantata "The Greatest Love" by Petrie.

A "get acquainted" prayer meeting will be held at the Floral Heights Methodist church tonight. The announced purpose of the affair is to bring together as many new members and also old ones as possible so that they may get acquainted with each other. Rev. and Mrs. Groseclose and members of the board of stewards and their wives will constitute the reception committee. It will not be a formal reception, according to the announcement, but merely an old fashioned Methodist hand-shaking in which the spirit of good fellowship will be promoted.

to make business more prosperous. A dollar in hoarding does absolutely nothing. This reminds the writer that Boies Penrose was an American statesman and when he died he was chairman of the Senate Finance committee, the most important of all committees of the American congress. A few days after his burial the executives of his estate opened his strong box or safety deposit vault in one of the Washington City banks. They found in the box $250,000 in currency, in bills of large denomination. This was hoarding with a vengeance when financial conditions were deplorable and the financiers of the country, including those of the federal reserve board, were doing all in their power to advance relief to the farmers and stock growers of America as well as other industries. It has been said that the ignorant foreigners who work in the mills and mines of Pennsylvania hoard their money, hide it out whenever a financial flurry comes. But it must have given the Hoovers and the Forbeses and others of their school a most decided shock when the Penrose safety deposit box disclosed the fact that the chairman of the Senate Finance committee was a hoarder of money on a very large scale. His money was dead money. It wasn't on deposit. It wasn't moving. It wasn't in circulation. It was as useless in a commercial sense as a mummy in the catacombs of Egypt.

There are many irrigation projects in Texas and the greatest of these is the Wichita Valley irrigation enterprise which is to create a lake with a capacity of 165,000,000,000 gallons sufficient for the irrigation of 200,000 acres of valley land. Hon. Victor W. Grubbs was for a long time a resident of Texas and known for his activities along educational lines. In his brain grew an idea in the long ago and the College of Industrial Arts blossomed. Years afterwards came the Grubbs Vocational College at Arlington. Then he migrated to the golden shores of California and is luxuriating there as a citizen and builder. A recent letter should be interesting to all who believe that the magical flow of waters will reclaim to the needs of man the arid or semi-arid sections of Texas: "I am much pleased to note the inauguration of a great movement in Texas having for its purpose the transformation of the arid, semi-arid and cutover lands of the State into fertile fields, fruitful orchards and extensive forests. It is doubtful if a more dreary and uninviting country could have been found anywhere between the Eastern and Western coasts of North America than among the mountains and deserts of Southern California not much longer than a half a century ago. Now the deserts and mountain sides are covered with golden fruits of many varieties and along which are to be seen forests of stately eucalyptus and other trees which contribute so much to the far famed beauty of the country. Many flourishing towns and cities are now seen where within the memory of persons still living the land was looked upon as fit only for sheep and goat ranches and rather poor ones at that. What irrigation and forestration has done for the Southern California deserts can be done on a much larger scale in Texas if the people there will only make the effort which it seems that they are now very much inclined to do under the inspiring leadership of a few unselfish persons in various portions of the State."

An old man, traveling a lone highway,
Came at the evening cold and gray,
To a chasm deep and wide.
The old man crossed in a twilight dim,
For the sullen stream held no fear for him,
For he turned when he reached the other side,
And builded a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," cried a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your strength with building here.
Your journey will end with the ending day
And you never again will pass this way.
You have crossed the chasm deep and wide
Why build a bridge at eventide?"

And the builder raised his old gray head,
"Good friend, on the path I have come," he said,
"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet will pass this way.
This stream which has been naught to me,
To that fair-haired boy may a pitfall be.
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim,
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him."

Dictator Lenine of Soviet Russia is said to have one foot in the grave and the other close to the brink. Dictator Lenine abolished capitalism. When he did it he invited a break down of industry, a bankrupted treasury, anarchy in the rural districts and famine for all concerned. Dictator Lenine made history and he will live in history as the apostle of a civilization which began in a slaughter house and ended in a cemetery.

President Harding has signed 7,000 postmaster commissions since his inauguration. The plain English of this is he rewarded 7,000 Republicans after having decapitated 7,000 fat and sleek followers of Woodrow Wilson. "To the victors belong the spoils." Should the Democrats return to power there will be a national slaughter of Republican officeholders. There is ever a great principle at stake—the Ins fight to stay in and the Outs fight to get in.

Rippling Rhymes

GOOD FOR DUCKS

Long the rain had been descending, and the town was like a lake, and the walls of people, blending, made the famous welkin quake. And when neighbors got together they pursued the common game, and they all denounced the weather as a bald and beastly shame. But today I met a gaffer who has comfort of his own; he's a sort of chronic laugher who is never heard to groan. "Yes," he said, "the weather's sappy, and the tireless torrents pour, but the little ducks are happy as they never were before. And I think we should not quarrel with the weather, though it's wet, for the ducks are highly moral and deserve the good they get. With your groans and hully-cheerings you disturb the public peace; yet I doubt if human beings count for more than ducks and geese. Ducks are fond of moistened water and they like to swim and dive, and on droughty days they totter, scarcely more than half alive. They are glad when rain is drumming on the woods, and creeks are wet, but they take whatever's coming, and they quack, no vain regret. When the sun again is shining, and your life seems slick as grease, you will hear no loud repining from the grand old ducks and geese. There is weather for the gander, there is weather for the hen, and man should control his dander if the rain starts in

OLD MR. TOAD LEARNS A LESSON

Pride is like a great big bubble;
You'll find there's nothing in it.
Prick it and for all your trouble
It has vanished in a minute.

Old Mr. Toad was so puffed out with pride as he started for the Green Forest to dine with Buster Bear that those who saw him wondered if he wouldn't burst before he got there. Everybody knew where he was going, and this made Old Mr. Toad feel more important and proud than ever. He might not have felt quite so puffed up if he had known just how it had come about that he received this second invitation to dine with Buster Bear. Jimmy Skunk had brought it to him, but Jimmy didn't tell him Buster had been asked to send the invitation and that it was all part of a plan on the part of some of Old Mr. Toad's old friends and neighbors to teach him a lesson. No, indeed. Jimmy didn't say anything about that!

So Old Mr. Toad went hopping along and stumbling over his own feet because his head was held so high and he was so puffed out that he couldn't see where he was going. He could think of nothing but how important Buster Bear must consider him to invite him to dinner a second time, and of the delicious ants he was sure he would have to eat.

"What very good taste Buster Bear has," thought he, "and how very fortunate it is that he found out that I also am fond of ants."

He was so busy with these pleasant thoughts of his own importance and the good dinner that he expected to have that he took no notice of what was going on about him. He didn't see his old friends and neighbors peeping out at him and laughing because he looked so foolish and silly. He was dressed in his very best, which was nothing at all to be proud of, for, you know, Old Mr. Toad has no fine clothes. And being puffed up so, he was homelier than ever, which is saying a great deal, for at best Mr. Toad is anything but handsome. It was no wonder that he was laughed at.

He was beginning to get pretty tired by the time he reached the Green Forest and came in sight of the rotten old chestnut stump, where he was to meet Buster Bear. Buster was waiting for him.

"How do you do this fine day? You look a little tired and rather warm, Mr. Toad," said he.

"I am a little warm," replied Mr. Toad in his most polite manner, although he couldn't help panting for breath as he said it. "I hope you are feeling as well as you are looking, Mr. Bear."

Buster Bear laughed a great grumbly-rumbly laugh. "I always feel fine when there is a dinner of fat ants ready for me," said he. "It is very fine of you to honor me by coming to dine." Here Mr. Toad put one hand on his stomach and tried to make a very grand bow. Peter Rabbit, hiding behind a nearby tree, almost giggled aloud, he looked so funny.

"I have ventured to invite another to enjoy the dinner with us," continued Buster Bear. Mr. Toad's face fell. You see, he was selfish. He wanted to be the only one to have the honor of dining with Buster Bear. "He's a little late," went on Buster, "but I think he will be here soon, and I hope you will be glad to meet him. Ah, here he comes now!"

Old Mr. Toad looked in the direction in which Buster Bear was looking. He gave a little gasp, and turned quite pale. All his puffiness disappeared. He didn't look like the same Toad at all. The newcomer was Mr. Blacksnake. "Oh!" cried Old Mr. Toad, and then without even asking to be excused, he turned his back on Buster Bear and started back the way he had come with long, frightened hops.

"Ha, ha, ha!" shouted Peter Rabbit, jumping out from behind a tree.

"Ho, ho ho!" shouted Jimmy Skunk from behind another.

"Hee, hee, hee!" shouted Johnny Chuck from behind a third.

Then Old Mr. Toad knew that his old friends and neighbors had planned this to teach him a lesson.

NEXT SUNDAY—MR. TOAD IS VERY HUMBLE.

Watching the Parade
By JOHN PILGRIM

When I was about old enough to feel that my mother's passion for keeping me in knee pants was a crime against civilization George Jackson lived on the next street but one in our small town. I have never since been able to work up quite the same adoration for any human being that I felt for George. He was tall, handsome, handy at every sort of sport, and adventure came as naturally to him as getting caught at stealing apples and being sent to bed did to me.

"George is a fine boy," was the opinion of our elders. "Pity there aren't more boys like him in town." Whereupon every one most unjustly looked at me.

It wasn't that George was successful only on the physical side. He had everything, as we say nowadays. When he decided to leave home and seek his fortune the goodwill of every man and woman in town went with him. It was felt that he was one of the boys who would inevitably succeed. He might even put our small town on the world map. A proof of the interest and affection he aroused is that in all the years that have passed our small town still follows his fortunes, so far as that has been possible.

"He's a big man down in Mexico, they say," was the report that came to me when I last revisited the scene of my own youthful getaway.

Last week I saw George Jackson for the first time in all these years. Now he is Senor George Hackson in Spanish. He is tall, fat, dark, somewhat high-lighted as to the nose, sleepy, indifferent, bad-tempered, and a failure. True, he has plenty of money. That venture in Mexico was successful so far as this world's gear is concerned. He has won through various revolutions and uprisings and failures and is a man of mark in his own community. But he feels himself a failure.

"I thought I could waste a few years when I was young," he said. "I wanted to have adventures and see the world—and I did. It would have done me no harm, except that I did my wandering during my impressionable years. A boy of twenty had best stay where he hopes to become a permanency, and do his wandering after his character has been formed and strengthened by the passage of the years."

Every foreign land is full of "lost men." Every man jack of them, barring those who ran away from the law or from failure, began his world-seeing too young. They have been hardened in the wrong mould.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS
By M. JESSIE LEITCH

ONLY A BANDAGE

I spent the whole afternoon waiting to see the doctor and all he did was to order a bandage," said the young engineer in the little railroad town. He had slipped on the ice the previous day and hurt his knee.

The landlady—they were just finishing supper—made a funny little noise with her lips, signifying sympathy.

The young engineer seemed to have the usual small town reticence about consulting a doctor as well as about accepting his advice.

And he liked to grumble about things he did not understand.

If the doctor had even ordered a liniment or a blister. But just a bandage—the engineer was extremely annoyed.

Just then the woman who carried a small black bag up and down the town every day of the year came in and stood a moment in the hall. She lived in a big room at the top of the house, and few of the roomers knew her, unless they had been ill.

Nurse Explains About Bandages

She was the company nurse. She took care of all the women and children in the village and was a sort of glorified school nurse, emergency assistant and community person to whom people were always bringing little presents after they had been sick.

Often, in summer, it was a limp bunch of flowers wilted in some child's hot palm. But a message of love, however limp.

Or a basket of garden stuff wrung from the rocky soil by some determined woman who had been raised back east and still tried to make things grow in her sorry little stony plot out west. The nurse knew how much these little gifts meant, and appreciated them mightily.

The man who was so cross because the doctor had not ordered liniment or blisters for his knee spoke, shyly and with much twisting of his necktie, to the nurse as she stood in the hall reading a letter.

And she laughed aloud when he said sniffingly, "Just a bandage! What good is a bandage?"

"Bandages," she said, putting down her bag and opening it in the circle of lamplight that flared in the hall, "bandages are very important. They are used to keep surgical dressings in place, to make compression, to reduce swelling, to control the circulation and to afford support, as well as to limit motion."

Company Nurse Won Her Way.

"But——" sputtered the man, "I thought——"

"Sit down and let me see your knee," said the nurse. The landlady drew near to lend dignity to the occasion and the man unlaced his leggings and pulled it back from the knee that was slightly swollen and painful to the touch.

"A bandage will have the same effect as a splint," explained the nurse, taking a roll from her bag and placing the free end of gauze firmly against the man's knee.

"Are you going to put all that bandage on?" asked the man, as the nurse's fingers drew deftly and layer after layer o fgauze spun smoothly around, above, below the knee.

"It's only five yards long," said the nurse. "Six yards would be even better, but this will do. The length makes it possible to apply even pressure, without fear of interfering with the circulation. Thus the object of the bandage is accomplished. It acts as a splint, keeps the joint at rest even when you walk, and reduces the swelling as well as the pain."

Penalties of Pretense
By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE
Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1922, by The Associated Newspapers.)

It needed only one glance of the physician's practiced eye to classify her among the nervously exhausted. Her first words confirmed this instantaneous diagnosis.

She told the usual story of extreme and unaccountable fatigue, of inability to obtain really refreshing sleep, of digestive disorders, of a haunting feeling of impending evil.

And, as so often happens, the physician could find in her no physical cause for the nervousness that beset her. All his tests brought negative results.

It then became a matter of psychological probing. "The cause of your trouble is not in your body but in your mind." This she was insistently told, despite her vigorous denial that the cause could possibly be a mental one.

Worries, she affirmed, she had none. She was finaficially well-to-do. She had nothing of which to complain, nothing about which to feel anxious.

Presently, though, an interesting admission was drawn from her. She had not always been financially prosperous, wealth had come to her only with her marriage. And with wealth had come an ambition to win social prestige.

This, of course, was an ambition perhaps natural enough, and certainly not in itself blameworthy. Only the poor woman lacked the educational and cultural background well-nigh essential to its realization.

Conscious of this, she had striven desperately to conceal the lack. And in the process of pretending to possess what she not possess, to be what she was not, she had worn herelf out. Psychic strain is always as exhausting in its effects as any physical strain—and may be much more exhausting.

Tactfully the physician made this clear to his nervous patient. Earnestly he urged her to banish pretense from her life. Heartily he gave her the reassurance, as he rightly could, that so soon as she did banish pretense, peace of mind and health of nerves would be hers once more.

Many a woman needs similar advice. Many a man, too, pretending to be what he is not in finance, in business, in intellectual work, in general knowledge, needs to be warned that such pretense, if persisted in, may mean nervous wreckage and is certain to mean discomfiture and unhappiness.

Pretenders are always found out, soon or late. Self-betrayal inevitably comes. And with self-betrayal comes the knowledge that respect has been forfeited—itself a penalty of no light sort.

Also, as some one has well said:

"Success may not always be given to the strong, but it has a way of seeking out the sencere."

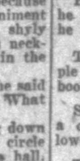

Pretenders, whatever else they may be, cannot possibly be sincere. Hence, even if their native vigor be of such that they can endure the nervous wear and tear of pretense, the knowledge that through their pretense they are making it specially difficult for them to gain success should serve as a deterrent to continued pretending.

BRISCOE'S COURT HOUSE AND PAVED SQUARE

Special to the Record News.

SILVERTON, Texas, March 28.—Briscoe county through its commissioners' court has issued an order for the erection of a $70,000 new court house in this city. The "Pave the Square" compaign of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is resulting here in a demand to pave the court house square at the time the new court house is erected.

MINERAL WELLS WELCOME SIGN FOR ALL VISITORS

MINERAL WELLS, Texas, March 28.—According to advices sent to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Mineral Wells will erect a large electrically illuminated "Welcome" sign. The same will be erected on East Mountain, where it may be see by all persons for many miles around.

This Mineral Wells movement follows that of several other West Texas cities. Eastland has an electric welcome sign, so has El Paso. Other West Texas cities contemplate erecting such signs.

Fashions for Americans

The fancy for matching hats and frocks, or hats and coats, for the younger generation, heralded in the very early days of the spring season continues strong, and many charming little warm weather outfits developed along this line are now being shown. The one sketched combines plain linen or chambray and checked gingham. If the frock proper is white, embroidery in a color to match the gingham may me used on the frock, and if a colored fabric is employed, white embroidery would naturally be used in connection with gingham bands, piping, etc., in the trimming of it. The dress is a simple Russian smock, buttoned in the back, and cut short enough to expose several inches of the checked gingham knickers or rompers.

Sunbonnets, such as the one sketched, are frequently seen both in gingham and cretonne, and the larger hats with tam crown and rather "floppy" brims are also popular.

Simple, dainty clothes and plenty of them is the rule followed by the wise mother in the arrangement of her young daughter's wardrobe. Elaborate styles and elaborate trimmings are in poor taste to begin with, and they are never satisfactory in the long run.

For sturdy warm weather frocks for children, sateen is a material very much favored this season. Both plain and figured fabrics are popular, and some brocaded effects are also offered. A frock of pink brocaded sateen recently seen, for a girl of 6 years, was trimmed with narrow puffs of white organdy set into the skirt, finishing round neck and short sleeves, and a wide sash of the organdy was tied in a flaring bow at the back.

For the party frock for the little girl organdy is an excellent choice. The trimmings employed for dresses made of this crisp, sheer material are many, dainty flowers cut from cretonne appliqued on being a very effective decoration.

GEM PICTURE TODAY FILLED WITH THRILLS

The special train bearing Richard Stanton, the eastern capitalist, and his daughter, Mildred, who were coming to the Shaster Lumber company's headquarters, was saved from being wrecked by Billy Fargo, the well known ranchman. Fargo, while riding near the railroad, noticed a giant tree lying squarely across the track and knowing that Richard Stanton's private car was soon due to pass over the spot, spurred his horse to a gallop down the line to warn the engineer. Failing to attract the engineer's attention, Fargo took his life in his hands and leaped from his horse upon the swaying engine and the train was brought to a stop almost upon the tree.

This hair-raising incident and other spellbinding situations make up the exciting and entertaining production, entitled "Western Firebrands," featuring Big Boy Williams, which will be shown at the Gem theater today.

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

CALOMEL IS A DANGEROUS DRUG

Next Dose May Salivate You, Loosen Teeth or Start Rheumatism.

Calomel is mercury; quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate. (Adv.)

BUDDY TANNER PUTS SPUDDERS THRU WORKOUT

Skipper Salm Expected Back Today From Search for Southpaw Twirler and Another Infielder.

With Skipper Salm still away in search of additional baseball timber, the Spudders went through another warm workout under Buddy Tanner's tutelage yesterday. Buddy put them all through their paces according to Hoyle and made every man on the squad take active part in the festivities.

Not only did the so-called regular infield, as the fans have come to regard it thus far, take a stiff workout with Beck, Sorey, Tanner and McDonald cutting the pill around the diamond, but Buddy also gave a similar dose of practice to an infield make up of Comstock on first, Wright at second, White playing short and Ammons guarding the hot corner—while Jake Miller, Ray O'Brien, Homer Summa and several of the twirlers ran themselves ragged in the outfield.

Batting practice for everybody was included in the afternoon's session, and all the boys leaned on the agate good and proper.

Skipper Salm is expected back early today from Marlin, and there is a possibility he may have some interesting news to spill. The impression seems to be general that he is after Jim Clancy, southpaw twirler with the Indianapolis club who was obtained from the Giants by Jack Hendricks. How true that is, is open to question, of course. There's a deal on also for still another second baseman, but you'll also have to guess at his identity at this time.

SENIOR AND JUNIOR HIGH PLAY TODAY

By "HANK" HAYES

The undefeated nine of the Senior high school will tangle with the Junior high baseball nine, pupils of Coach MacMillan, this afternoon at the Junior Hi diamond at Thirteenth and Broad. The lads of Junioi Hi have been outfitted with uniforms and are playing a fast brand of ball, according to Coach MacMillan. They recently walloped the Burk aggregation and held them scoreless, as did the Senior Hi team in the game two weeks ago.

The Senior Hi nine will probably be represented by Bourland or Ray in the box, while Ross will do the receiving. Gladwell will take the mound for the Junior Hi boys with Perry at the backstop position. This battery of the Junior Hi nine should give their older schoolmates a run for the money, as well as opponents in many other games that have been matched between Junior Hi and other high school teams of this vicinity.

EDDIE WRIGHT TO LEAVE SPUDS FOR THREE-I LEAGUE

DECATUR, Ill., March 23.—Dan O'Leary, manager of the local Three-I club, has secured Infielder Wright, Catcher Campbell and Pitcher Hale of the Oklahoma City club of the Western league, according to an announcement by President Hill today. Wright was one of the leading third sackers of the league last season.

It developed yesterday that Eddie Wright was obtained by the Spudders on option from Oklahoma City, and the deal referred to above was confirmed in a wire received by Secretary Will Gray from Jack Holland telling Wright to report to Decatur.

PRESIDENT TURNS FIRST EARTH FOR MEADE MEMORIAL

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Standing bareheaded in the rain today in the national botanic gardens west of the capitol, President Harding turned the first spadeful of earth when ground was broken for the memorial to Major General George Gordon Meade, commander of the victorious Union army at the decisive battle of Gettysburg. Secretary Weeks, Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania, Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, a member of the memorial commission, George Gordon Meade, grandson of the union leader, and George Gordon Meade, Jr., a great grandson, as well as Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, participated. The president was accompanied by Mrs. Harding and Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft.

Secretary Weeks declared in a brief address that it was not out of place to use General Meade as an illustration of the value of having in the regular army trained officers, even if they are not engaged in strictly military activities during much of their service.

IS SALM TRYING TO BUY THIS BABY FROM HOOSIERS?

Jim Clancy.

Jim Clancy, portside flinger with the Indianapolis club, wouldn't look at all bad in a Spudder uniform. Jack Hendricks obtained him from the Giants. He's a rookie, and a good one; good enough, perhaps, to stick with the Hoosiers, and on the other hand he may need just a wee bit more seasoning before he's ready to step in Class AA company. Wonder if he's the southpaw Skipper Salm went to Marlin after?

WILLIE HOPPE AGAIN BESTED BY SCHAEFFER

"Young Jake" Increases Lead by Spectacular Playing Block Ending With Score 1,000 to 952.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Willie Hoppe tonight gave one of the gamest exhibitions of billiards in his long career but was unable to overcome the spectacular playing of Champion Jake Schaefer in their 1500-point, 18.2 balk line match for the world's title and the second block of play ended with "Young Jake" still in the lead, 1,000 to 952. Schaefer won tonight's block 500 to 486 but at one time led his challenger 300 to 97.

Scoring by innings:

Schaefer: 157, 143, 35, 16, 53, 27, 11, 58—500, 500—1,000 total, average tonight 62 2-8, grand average 58 14-17.

Hoppe: 43, 54, 0, 71, 17, 134, 167—486, 466—952 total; average tonight 60 3-7; grand average 59 8-16.

The champion started with rapid scoring runs of 157 and 143 which took the heart out of Hoppe's followers but only stiffened the backbone of the veteran, who as a boy in his teens nearly two decades ago, beat the world's greatest players.

Hoppe's lips tightened perceptibly as he sat in his corner watching Schaefer's perfect work in the first two frames and when the challenger failed to score in his third inning the match appeared to be over.

Schaefer, however, weakened in the final frames and Hoppe came back with 134 in his sixth frame and passed Schaefer in the next inning with a run of 167.

At the start of tonight's play Schaefer was in the same form as last night. He played with precision that was perfect, while Hoppe was very unsteady and the breaks were all against him. As the game progressed the luck shifted and the champion at one time seemed certain of defeat.

Back of Hoppe's corner tonight sat his five-year-old daughter, Alice, and as the night's play closed she rushed up to her father and whispered: "You'll win sure tomorrow, papa."

"Perhaps she's right, commented Hoppe. "I hope so and think so, but it's evident now that the breaks will decide this match."

Schaefer left the balls in good position for his first shot tomorrow night, when the final 500 points of the match will be played.

WESTERN VILLAGE ROMEOS ORGANIZE AGAINST FLAPPERS

By Associated Press.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., March 28.—New in thought as well as in existence the county seat of Harding county, New Mexico, a town of several hundred population and going under the name of Mosquero.

What is believed to be the first organization of its kind in the United States has been launched there with the avowed intention of eliminating the flapper from the matrimonial race. The organization starts with a membership of fifty—practically every young man in the town eligible to take unto himself a bride.

The rules of the organization taboo the following:

Immodest dancing; bobbed hair; face painting; too short dresses and rolled hose.

Each member, the membership list contains the names of all classes of young men from laborers to the wealthiest boys of the town, is pledged to boycott any girl transgressing any above rule.

Membership fee is $5. The money thus secured is to be used in buying presents for the first man lucky enough to marry under the restrictions of the club.

The young ladies in Mosquero are organizing an independent attitude.

TWILIGHT LOOP NAMES TEAMS IN 1922 CIRCUIT

University Club, Pond's Laundry and Methodists Hold Over With Five New Club Entries.

The Twilight Baseball league of Wichita Falls held its second meeting of the year last night at Collier & Landon's and elected the following teams to membership in the 1922 circuit:

Wichita Mill & Elevator company, University Club, American Legion, First Baptist church, Pond's Laundry, North Methodist church, First Christian church and the Shrine club of Maskat Temple.

The University Club, North Methodists and Pond's Laundry, which held memberships in the league last year, were admitted again without vote. Five teams were then elected by secret ballot with the results given above, the Leipold nine and the Knights of Pythias failing to receive sufficient votes to place them in the circuit.

The league also adopted its constitution and by-laws following the report of the rules committee, voting a salary of $25 per month to Secretary Raley and incorporating in the by-laws stricter provisions for the keeping of all records during the coming season than have been customary in the past.

It was announced that the schedule committee had drawn up a tentative schedule, and would have it completed in time for publication in both the Record News and the Times of Sunday next.

Frank Collier was elected vice-president of the league, while President Landon announced he had appointed Claude Woods, Joe Pate and E. G. Hill, prominent business men, as an executive committee to render decisions on all controversies that may arise during the playing season.

In a fanning bee that followed the meeting, general approval was given to the suggestion that the league should offer prizes for the leading hitter, base stealer, run getter, fielder and pitcher—and several prizes were put up immediately with promises of more. A committee will probably be appointed later to complete these details, and to make an announcement of the prizes.

BANDITS LOCK UP FAMILY AND STEAL NINE CASES LIQUOR

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Deputy sheriffs were searching the countryside about Downers Grove, Illinois, and Chicago police were on the watch today for nine bandits who, masked and armed last night invaded the country home of Arthur W. Cutten, wealthy grain man, robbed the house and imprisoned Cutten, his wife and his brother, Harry, and two servants in a wine cellar. The bandits escaped in two automobiles and took with them a motor truck carrying nine cases of whiskey from the Cutten cellar. They also took jewelry valued at about $12,000, Mrs. Cutten said.

THE LONG, LONG TRAIL

WISDOM and WORSE

By C. F. C.

When the St. Louis Cards face Salm's Spudders this week, local fans will see in the visitors' outfield the fastest man in the National league, Clifton Heathcote—at least the fastest man in getting from home plate to first base. Many of Heathcote's hits that help to fatten his batting average are merely infield taps on which he "beats it" down the first base line with a startling burst of speed. The funny thing about Heathcote is that he couldn't make good in the Texas league, or didn't, at any rate. The Cards took him out of Penn State university in 1918, and sent him to Galveston—but the Sand Crabs couldn't use him. The Cards took him back, and he made good in big league company almost from the jump.

In fact, the fans will probably see a number of crack players with the visiting Cardinals. For although Branch Rickey is sending here what he is pleased to term his second team, I notice in exhibition games thus far played the names of many St. Louis regulars in this "second team's" line-up.

A certain young rookie came to see Walter Salm this spring in search of a chance to try out with the Spudders, and the Skipper asked him a few questions:

"Can you hit?"

"Yes, sir, I can hit good," was the confident answer.

"Good as Danny Clark?"

"Yes, sir, as good as any one."

"Can you grab flies and are you fast?" queried Walter.

"You bet I can catch 'em, and I can go get 'em. I'm as fast as any one," the kid insisted.

"Fast as Fred Henry?" grinned Salm.

"Yes, sir, just as fast as Fred Henry," retorted the rookie.

"Judas Priest! He's the fastest man in the league," exclaimed the Skipper.

"Well, Mr. Salm, I'm not sure of him," solemnly explained the candidate. "You see, I never heard of this guy, Priest."

Stories being in order for a minute or two, here's one I heard from one of the Cleveland sport scribes who accompanied the Cleveland Yanigans to Wichita Falls. In batting practice at Dallas, Nelson Pott, Cleveland southpaw, soaked one on the nose.

"That boy can sure crack 'em," remarked a player on the bench.

"How come?" queried Walter Mails, also a forkhander.

"Well, he hit .321 with Des Moines last year," was the answer.

"Yes," said Mails, "but Des Moines ain't in the American league. I hit .439 in the Pacific Coast league myself once."

Young Pott came up just in time to hear the tail end of the argument.

"Sure you did," he agreed heartily, "but when the scorers figured the averages in Des Moines they didn't include batting practice!"

And they say Mails was completely shot from ambush, and couldn't find an answer to that one!

With Le Berceaux, De Vormers, Vivieroses and other gentlemen with Laura Jean Libbey names breaking into the game yearly, it's real thrilling to read every now and then where Smith or Jones has made good in the majors.

Mike Gibbons says his brother Tom "trained with a lot of hams and got the idea he could hit." Some foxy promoter now ought to match Mike and Tom in a grudge fight.

Young Fellers Like Adrian and Adams Is Shootin' Better Now

But Charlie Greenberg's Shirt Is Considered By Clay Quail Authorities to Be a Violation of the Ethics of Trapshooting in the Best Gun Club Social Circles.

By PARKER GUNN

Well, sir, there ain't much that can be said about the mid-week workout of the clay quail whoofers being as how I ain't improved so fast as I oughter, and was only able yesterday to beat the tar outer Hunter Dempsey and Lee Magee and to get a tie with "Too" Morrow which the same the boys calls "Too" Morrow because he is always late like me with his gun barrel in getting on them right angle targets only the Lord knows when he is shooting for big money he is a lucky stiff always count on me getting all the tough birds they is to shoot at because the boy in the trap house knows that I am good anyway and don't care what angle they is and only asks that they come out of the trap whole so as I can get credit for breaking them instead of the boy in the trap house getting most of the credit.

However, which as the feller says is a word what was invented so as to make the comma popular, they was some right smart shooting done at them traps yesterday and as an old-time clay quail whoofer myself I was surprised at the improvement which some of the new men is showing, meaning for instance, that young feller Paul Adams, which got something in his right eye yesterday and broke 15 straight and after I could not get the thing out of his eye he went ahead and broke 10 more, making it 25 straight in his squad which if I knowed what was in his eye I would stick something like it in my eye next Friday afternoon I'll tell the world. And they was another bright young shooter there which is Bert Adrian and Bert whoofed 24 out of 25 twict and handled his old gun like he had never been no contractor nor no ball player, but had followed the clay quail all over the country through the migratory seasons of them birds like what I have and anyways I cannot say much for Patty May Nabb this week, seeing as how he is still gun shy from his experience in the trap house a week ago and he is joined up now with the spectators and expects to take most of his exercise calling on his friends to ask them has they seen anything of his bird dog "Sport" which has got the bad habit lately of going downtown and holding points on jelly beans.

Whilst they may be some fellers which is not good judges like what I am and may not agree with me, I am still arguing that Roy Rhodes will some day maybe get to be a good clay quail whoofer, and the fact that he only whoofed 16 out of 25 in one of his squnds yesterday should not be held against him, and he was shooting in a new suit and he did not want the gun to wear a hole in his vest and so he did not shoot in his customary style and also because he was afraid of leaning up against the hitching rack and getting splinters in his new pants. And I have got very little comment to make about Charlie Greenberg today except to state that they was some fellers present what could not tell whether Charlie was firing at the targets with his gun or with his shirt they was both so loud and it is my opinion that there would be less confusion if the American Trapshooters association should adopt a rule that a feller with a 12-gunge gun should wear a 20-gunge shirt so as you could tell the difference in the two noises.

And so I will now print the scores which was made, except that I will print both the honorable and the dishonorable scores just to make a novelty so as to speak:

Record News Readers: Laugh With Us

Some Chest-Nuts

A local society gave a banquet to the members of a certain regiment noted for gallant conduct during the war.

The president of the society was a bit flustered when called upon to give a toast, and said: "Here's to the gallant Eighteenth—last on the field and the first to leave it." Roars of laughter greeted this sally. The secretary arose.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "our president never could give a toast. You must excuse him. Now, I'll give a toast. 'Here's to the gallant Eighteenth—equal to none!'"

A doctor was pleased with a certain aerated water and by his assiduous recommendations procured for it a widespread popularity. The doctor acted solely in the interests of humanity and expected no return.

To his surprise, there came one morning an effusive letter from the company saying that his recommendations had done them so much good that they "ventured to send him a hundred——"

"This will never do," said the doctor. "I could not think of accepting anything."

When he turned the page he found that the sentence ran, "of our circulars for distribution."

Didn't you tell me," said an angry customer, "that you got as many as twelve eggs a day from the hens you sold me?" "Yes, ma'am," replied the poultry farmer. "Then why is it that I am able to get no more than two eggs from them, and sometimes not that many in a day?" "I don't know, ma'am," returned the man, unless it is because you look for eggs too often. Now if you look for them only once a week I feel sure you will get as many in one day as I did."

The youngster who asked his father why God hadn't given the zebra stars as well as stripes has a match in the little girl who wrote this description of the ark:

"Overhead was a gorgeous rainbow and beneath it the little ark rode proudly over the waters, with smoke pouring from her smokestack and the United States flag flying at the bow."

After fidgeting about over his tea, the youth suddenly blurted out:

"Can I go out tonight, mother, to see my girl?"

"Yes," said his mother grudgingly, "but come back in half an hour."

At the expiration of that time the youth returned.

"And did you see your sweetheart?" asked his mother.

"Yes, mother; and she would have seen me too if I hadn't bobbed down behind the hedge!"

The flashy townsman was swaggering around the farmyard imparting gratuitous advice to the old farmer.

Having criticised the poultry, the sheep, and the rest of the old fellow's possessions, the townsman visited the stables.

"Say, do you know how to make a slow horse fast?" he asked.

"Yes," replied the farmer. "Don't feed him."

ROBBERS' VICTIM WORRIED BECAUSE HE LOST MUSTACHE

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, March 28.—Loss of a mustache which he had for eight years apparently worried a man living northeast of Dallas more than having had $26.50 taken from him by highwaymen last night. The man accepted a proffered ride in an automobile. He said he was attacked and robbed when a few miles from the city. In the struggle he was hit in the mouth and doctors had to shave off his mustache to sew the wound. "I don't mind losing the money so much, but I've been eight years raising that mustache," he told the surgeon.

THINK CITY WILL GET 1924 ROTARY MEET

Special to the Record News.

MINERAL WELLS, March 28.—The advance guard of the Wichita Falls contingent to the conference of the Rotary clubs of Texas here, left in a motor caravan for Wichita Falls this afternoon, satisfied that their preliminary campaign for the conference for 1924 had swung the odds in their favor.

The Wichita Falls club had the fight against the proposed split of the Texas district—a stand which was almost unanimous in the convention. El Paso was given permission to transfer to the Arizona-New Mexico district.

An address Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Nat F. Grafton of Wichita Falls was one of the concluding features of the program.

CHANCELLOR WIRTH BITTERLY ASSAILS ALLIES' ATTITUDE

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, March 28.—The Genoa conference will either be a shining star or a will o' the wisp, Chancellor Wirth told the Reichstag today at the conclusion of discussion of reparation commission decisions.

The chancellor was unusually frank in his criticism of the allies' treatment of the reparations problem, charging that the commission either was unamenable to every day logic or had persistently neglected to acquaint itself with the actual status of Germany's economic situation. The reparations decision, accompanied by a letter which the chancellor said was couched in a needlessly severe tone, not only had aroused national indignation, but incidentally had added 28 billion marks to the German budget in consequence of the unprecedented slump of the mark which set in automatically with the notes arrival.

Denying that the German government was wasteful in the conduct of its administrative organism, the speaker said that two entente generals are receiving more pay than President Ebert and the entire cabinet.

FUNERAL OF SOUTH DAKOTA OFFICIAL MARKED BY TRAGEDY

By Associated Press.

PIERRE, S. D., March 28.—Tragedy marked the funeral services of the late Justice Charles Whiting of the state supreme court, held from the capitol here today. Just as the procession was leaving the capitol steps, S. S. Ruble, funeral director, dropped dead of heart failure.

Shortly before the services a message was received from Polson, Mont., announcing the sudden death there of Clarence Wood, nephew of the dead judge, which necessitated the departure of a brother and sister of the late justice for Montana instead of accompanying the body of Rochester, Minn., for burial.

The men drove up to the drug store in three motor cars. Entering with drawn revolvers, they started to force the physician from the store. Dr. McLain resisted, but was overpowered. He was marched to one of the cars and the band drove west toward the country. No word was uttered by the kidnapers.

ORDINANCE AGAINST WOMEN SMOKING IS DECLARED ILLEGAL

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 28.—A proposed ordinance to prohibit women from smoking in public places which was drafted today was tonight declared a violation of the state law by an attache of the corporation counsel's office.

"The state law provides that no persons between the ages of 7 and 18 years shall smoke," this attache said. "This is construed by the courts to mean that any person over eighteen may smoke as much as he or she desires."

The first American society for prevention of cruelty to animals was chartered by the New York [illegible] in 1866.

MARKET REPORTS

Cotton

NEW YORK, March 28.—While not active at any time during the session, the cotton market was remarkably steady today, considering the news at hand and closed unchanged to 12 points net higher, some of the late positions making new high levels in the last hour. The steadiness was chiefly explained by local covering and in a little wall street buying on further rains and in the eastern belt, efforts were made to minimize the effects of these rains, but the fact that the eastern belt forecast indicated further precipitation, to be followed by colder weather made it seem evident that it would be several days at best before farm preparations could be resumed in the eastern belt.

Emphasis was given to these conditions by a private crop report in which the probable acreage increase the coming season was placed at only three per cent. The report stressed the fact that there has been too much rain in eastern belts, and said that even in Texas and Oklahoma, where conditions are more favorable than elsewhere in the belt, the start is a little late. It called attention to a genereal apprehension of serious boll weevil damage. The principal influences operating against an advance today were the labor difficulties in the New England textile districts and unfavorable reports from the dry goods market. It was said that goods were freely offered at the trading levels of yesterday and that Rhode Island mills were able to offer spot deliveries of goods in practically any amount now from the fact that the mills had been closed by strikes for ten or eleven weeks, suggesting both a slow demand and abnormally heavy stocks.

It is understood that the shipping of cotton will continue from the local stock and that before the movement culminates the clearances from New York will probably reach 25,000 bales. From 17.63, the low point of the forenoon, May contracts advanced to 17.77 near the close and October rose from 16.70 to 16.80. Exports today 15,000, making 4,131,000 so far this season. Port receipts 19,538. United States port stocks 1,654,241.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 28.—Cotton had a very steady undertone throughout today, prices did not move far, rising to their highest in the late trading when the list was nine to twelve points higher than the close of yesterday with May up to 16.05. Last prices showed net gains on the day of 8 to 10 points with May at 16.50.

For the steadiness the rainy weather over the belt was mainly responsible along with fears that the rain would continue and that high water in the middle belt would result in a still higher stage and flood an increased area of cotton country before it would begin to subside. Operations on the long side, on the basis of these features were held within bounds by reports that the rains in West Texas had been very beneficial, and by claims of an increased acreage, taking the belt as a whole, and by the increasing magnitude of labor disturbances both in this country and in England.

It was the quite general opinion among traders that anything favorable that might be said about acreage was more than balanced by the further serious delay to new crop preparations which a large part of the interior said would result from prevailing wet weather.

LIVERPOOL SPOT COTTON

LIVERPOOL, March 28.—Cotton, spot, quiet; prices steady. Good middling 11.08; fully middling 10.78; middling 10.58; low middling 9.68; good ordinary 8.83; ordinary 8.33. Sales 7,000 bales, including 5,100 American.

Grain

CHICAGO, March 28.—Despite unfavorable domestic crop conditions, the wheat market here averaged a little lower today influenced to a considerable degree by comparative weakness of quotations at Liverpool. The close here was unsettled at 3-4c net decline to 5-8c advance, with May $1.32 5-8 to 1.32 1-2 and July 1.19 1-8 to 1.19 1-4. Corn finished 3-8 to 1-2 @5-8 down, and oats unchanged to 1-8c off. In provisions, the outcome was the same as yesterday's finish to 7 cents higher.

With Liverpool closing at a slight decline today in the face of a material uptrend in prices yesterday on this side of the Atlantic, selling orders predominated at first in the wheat trading here, especially as bearish estimates of the Argentine exportable surplus were current. Declines which ensued in prices were subsequently more than offset by advices that winter wheat in western Kansas and Oklahoma was making much less response to moisture than had generally been looked for. Word of unseasonably cold weather in the northwest and west tended also temporarily to lift the market. On the other hand, milling demand slow at Kansas City and St. Louis in particular, and with export business also failing to develop any important volume the market here sagged again at the last.

Corn weakened with wheat, notwithstanding a good export demand for corn at the seaboard. Wet cold weather delaying seeding gave relative firmness to the oats market.

Changes in the provision market were governed almost entirely by the course of hog values.

Stocks

NEW YORK, March 28.—Dullness was the most noteworthy feature of today's stock market. The turnover of barely 650,000 shares was the smallest of any full session since the middle of the month.

Price movements were in keeping with these apathetic conditions. Changes or fluctuations of more than 1 point were almost entirely restricted to low priced or speculative issues under professional control.

Developments bearing upon market values offered little incentive to the long or short account. Further price advances in steel products were taken as a matter of course and an extension of the New England industrial disturbances was without perceptible influence.

Minor or secondary steels, equipments and motors, as represented by Gulf States, Crucible, Vanadium, Virginia Iron, Lima Locomotive common and preferred, American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive, Pullman, General Electric and Electric storage battery made gross gains of 1 to 4 points.

Sears-Roebuck supplemented yesterday's substantial gain and leathers, coppers and gas and express company issues were prominent in the extended movement of the final hour. High grade rails were sluggish, despite more excellent February earnings. Mexican petroleum made a net gain of almost 2 points.

The money market reflected the listless course of investment stocks, a 4 1-2 per cent rate ruling throughout for call loans. Predictions of an early cut in the local federal reserve rediscount rate were not shared by informed banking interests.

Cables quoting the German chancellor to the effect that his government would not be able to meet latest demands of the reparations commission were without adverse effect upon foreign exchanges. Sterling rallied from the early low quotations and allied bills were steady. Even the German mark recovered slightly from its minimum of the previous day.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Cotton goods were barely steady today with the demand quiet for print cloths and fine cottons. Sheetings were steady and yarns easier. Heavy weight burlaps sold on a basis of 6 cents for 40-inch 10 1-2-ounce goods, a rise of over 1 cent a yard in a month. Silks were quiet.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The raw sugar market was quiet and prices were a shade easier. Spot Cubas were quoted at 2 5-16 cost and freight, equal to 3.92 for centrifugal with April at 2 3-8c equal to 3.98. It was rumored that operators bought 15,000 bags of Cubas second half April shipment at quoted prices, although no business could be confirmed.

The market for raw sugar futures was fairly active and prices were lower under scattered liquidation, prompted by the easier ruling of the spot market. Final bids were 3 to 4 points net lower. May 2.50; July 2.68; September 2.65; December 2.90.

In refined, prices were unchanged at 5.40 to 5.50 for fine granulated with the demand still light.

In refined futures there were sales of a few lots of July at 6.10, an advance of 10 points over the previous close. Final prices were unchanged to 10 cents net higher; May 5.90; July and September 6.10.

COFFEE

NEW YORK, March 28.—The market for coffee futures was reactionary today. It opened 3 to 11 points lower because of less favorable Brazilian cables, large clearances from Santos and other Brazilian points and considerable hedge selling against lower cost and freight ofers. The market closed rather easy at 7 to 9 points net decline. May contracts early in the day sold at 9.42 but dropped later to 9.35 and the whole market closed at or near the lowest of the day. Owing to the quieter spot market and the change in Brazilian markets, there was less support through commission houses than was noted on Monday. Sales were estimated at about 42,000 bags. May 9.37; July 9.30; September 9.18; December 9.18; March 9.18.

Spot coffee was less active at 10 to 10 1-8 for Rio 7's and 13 3-4 to santos 14 for santos 4's.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, March 28.—Three thousand head of cattle and 500 calves appeared today. The market averaged 25 to 35 cents lower on steers, heifers and yearlings, and on cows and bulls prices were weak to 25 cents down.

Increased hog receipts did not prevent an advancing market. The average gain was around 10 to 15 cents. Bulk sales ranged from 9.00 to 9.35. Receipts were close to 3,500 head.

Sheep receipts 500. Market remained quotably unchanged.

Cattle: Beeves 3.50@7.75; stockers 3.50@6.50; cows 3.00@5.75; canners 2.25@2.75; heifers 3.50@7.50; yearlings 3.50@8.75; bulls 2.25@4.50; calves 2.25@8.00.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, March 28.—Cottonseed oil advanced 4 to 12 points early in sympathy with lard and the tight position of crude but prices turned downward near the close under freer pit offerings and lack of outside support. Closing bids were five to seven points net lower. Sales 4,400 barrels. Prime crude 10.00@10.25; prime summer yellow spot 11.50; May 11.60; July 11.35; Sept. 11.34, all bid.

Vet Would Meet Floggers With Hand Grenades

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, March 28.—"Can I lay in a stock of hand grenades? I want 'em in case floggers come around here bothering me. I'm an ex-service man and know how to use them."

Maury Hughes, district attorney, was asked that question and gave the above information when he answered the telephone late last night. After recovering from his momentary surprise Hughes replied:

"Sure! If you can do it conveniently, it might be well to install siege guns as well."

Hughes says the recent flogging cases have caused many questions of the kind to be asked his office, suggested means of defense varying from mustard gas to bayonets.

OPEN LETTER NO. 4

Judge J. P. Jones, County Judge; County Commissioners and J. M. Isbell, County Engineer.

It has come to our attention that some of you gentlemen are of the impression that our Open Letters No.'s 1, 2 and 3 have been incited, suggested, or written by some of your opponents, or prospective opponents in the coming election. We wish to go on record here as making an unqualified statement that such is not the case, and that our letters have no political significance whatever, without it should be that the tax payers of this county should become dissatisfied with the manner in which you are administering your duties and should govern themselves accordingly. In other words these letters were written solely by officials of this company, and were written and shall continue to be written for the one purpose, viz. that of showing to the tax payers of Wichita county the business ability, or lack of same that you are demonstrating in handling the financial affairs of this county. We feel that the tax payers are entitled to the information that you are knowingly and willfully spending large sums of money more than necessary in buying sand for the concrete roads for this county.

We have made the statement repeatedly that you can buy sand as good, or better than you are now using at a saving of 10c per ton which, according to the statement of your engineer as to the quantity that you were using, would mean a saving of approximately $1000.00 per month to the taxpayers of this county.

We are unable to understand how you gentlemen can afford to ignore our letters No.'s 1, 2 and 3, and you may be sure that the tax payers of this county are not ignoring them.

If you have an idea that these letters are not attracting the attention of your constituents we wish you would have some of your friends interview a reasonable number of tax payers so that you may get true knowledge of just how your constituents look at this proposition. And when you have this information we feel sure that you will not further ignore these letters, if there is any answer you can make.

This letter is very different from the one we had first intended publishing as Letter No. 4. After the one conforming to our original idea was written we decided for the present we would hold it up and give you an opportunity of making some defense of your attitude in the matters already suggested before we ask for an explanation of other matters that might be more embarrassing than those already suggested. In the meantime we have a few questions we would like to ask and have you answer.

Do you think there is any justification for you not giving the tax payers the information asked for when we have offered to pay the expense of publishing any answer you might wish to make?

Is the court still of the impression that Mr. Isbell is a competent engineer on the road building work in this county?

Does the court think that Mr. Isbell has displayed sufficient interest or ability in judging the quality of material that has been used in our roads?

If you answer yes to the above questions what evidence have you that he has displayed the ability or interest that he should have displayed?

Isn't it a fact that you are paying more for other materials beside sand than the present market price justifies?

Five new tests, four of them offsetting recent discoveries, and one a semi-wildcat just across the Wilbarger county line, west of Electra, have been authorized by the Texas company in this district, according to announcement by J. L. McMahon, general superintendent.

UNION MINERS PRESENT DATA ON LIVING COST

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Contending that while the rest of the country has been profiting by a decrease in the cost of living, the anthracite miner has been confronted by an increase, union members of the miners' and operators' sub-committee on wage contract negotiations today presented their demands for a "saving wage" scale as the only basis for settlement of the strike called for April 1.

Data compiled by the United States bureau of labor and by the miners from figures of 300 business men in the centers of population in the coal fields, were submitted to the operators at today's session.

At the close of the session the miners announced they would have more statistics ready for tomorrow's negotiations. When their case was presented later, the operators said they would submit data in support of their claim that miners' wages should be reduced in proportion to reductions in other industries of the nation.

"GREATEST RODEO EVER HELD HERE" PLANNED IN MAY

Tom Burnett Plans Biggest Rodeo and "Real Old Wildcat Western Time" at Iowa Park Ranch; Is Erecting Big Arena and Stands.

"The greatest rodeo ever staged in this section will be staged at the Triangle ranch, four miles west of Iowa Park, according to an announcement Tuesday by Tom L. Burnett, owner of the ranch and sponsor of the rodeo which will probably be staged the first week in May. Rumors have been current for several days regarding the coming event but the announcement Tuesday by Mr. Burnett was the first confirmation.

"The old west as I knew it as a boy and young man is going to be brought back for the enjoyment of old timers like myself, as well as those who have never had an opportunity to see real western life," Burnett declared Tuesday night, as he sat in his room at the Kemp hotel. "I have had this idea of staging a real old western celebration at my own ranch for some time and we are going to put it across within the next five weeks in a manner that is going to leave everybody satisfied."

Plans in connection with the rodeo are already under way, according to "Foghorn" Clancy, publicity and right hand man to Mr. Burnett, who was at the Kemp with him. A temporary arena capable of holding the large crowds which are expected, is to be constructed at once. A feature new to Texas rodeos, but part of the Cheyenne, Wyo., rodeo and other western celebrations, will be the cowboy relay races, it was announced. In connection with the staging of this event a quarter or three-eighths mile track will be laid out on the ranch at once.

"I have just finished staging the greatest rodeo of my life at Fort Worth," Burnett said.

"There were 97 real cowboys and cow girls there and all of them are going to come to the ranch to take part in the events there. We will have everything that the Fort Worth show had and some other features which you cannot have except where the events are staged on a ranch."

The Triangle ranch is just off the concrete road between this city and Electra. The ranch has a station on the Fort Worth & Denver railroad, so the crowds can get there.

"After they are there we are going to take care of them. A feature of the four-day rodeo is going to be the free barbecue, where our friends are going to be treated as they used to be," said Burnett.

"We are going to bring in some tents and tourists and others can stay at the ranch during the four days. My friends, the Indians, are going to be there, for I am going to invite them all and they have assured me that they will come. To make it short we are going to have at least once more a real old wildcat western time."

It was announced that additional features in connection with the rodeo are under consideration and would be announced as plans were completed.

"ELECTION A FRAUD" CHARGES DEFEATED WOMAN CANDIDATE

CHARLOTTE, Iowa, March 28.—"Booze and money won the election" was the charge made today by Mrs. James McDermott, defeated woman's candidate for mayor in yesterday's town election. "The charge is false," responded J. R. Kane, who won from Mrs. McDermott, 151 to 104, "booze was not the issue at all" he continued. "It was woman suffrage."

The mayor elect added that every vote in the town was out, asserting that the challenge of the young women of the town to men to support the women's ticket or cease courting them had added fuel to the campaign. On the other hand Mrs. McDermott maintained that not only all of the voters in the town were at the polls but "imported" ones as well.

"Booze and money won" said Mrs. McDermott. "They were in use for the last ten days. The women didn't use that sort of inducements and lost, that's all there is to it. And the men imported a few voters, too."

MAKES MOONSHINE AS DINNER IS PREPARED

(By International News Service)

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 27.—The latest wrinkle in moonshining apparatus just brought to light by the city police is a combination hot plate and moonshine still. One was confiscated when officers swooped down upon the abode of John Ferrise, in the Northview section of the city. He was using it, the officers say, and was cooking a meal on the thing while making moonshine whiskey at the same time at the rate of a gallon an hour. The alleged owner and operator was arrested and held for trial.

STATE SPRINGS SENSATION IN 'FATTY'S' TRIAL

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The first direct testimony linking Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle with the death of Virginia Rappe, was given in his trial for manslaughter late this afternoon by Miss Virginia Briggs, secretary to Dr. Francis Wakefield, at whose sanitarium the actress died. She said Miss Rappe told her:

"Arbuckle took me by the arm and threw me on the bed and put his weight on me and after that I do not know what happened."

With the testimony of Miss Briggs, a surprise witness, the state rested its case. The defense immediately began the presentation of its evidence by calling Adolph Jewel, head of the police identification bureau to the stand.

This is the first time Miss Briggs has appeared as a witness. The defense made a motion that her statements be stricken from the record as hearsay, but this the court denied.

Miss Briggs explained that she had gone into Miss Rappe's room on the day of her death. "She asked me about the amount of the hospital bill that would be due," said the witness. She said she didn't see why she should pay the ball as Arbuckle was responsible for her being there. I told her that if Arbuckle or anyone else should pay the account after she left, the money paid by her would be returned. She replied that she was not going to leave, that she was going to die.

"Then I asked her why she thought she was going to die and it was then that she told me the details of the party."

IS ELECTED CONSTABLE FOR FIFTY-SECOND TIME

WHITINSVILLE, Mass., March 28.—Frank A. Cross of Northbridge, claims a record as a long distance office holder. At the annual town meeting yesterday he was elected constable for the 52nd time. He is 77 years old.

Full Value to Be Assessed on Unrendered Rolls

Frank Watkins, for several years a peace officer at Burkburnett, was appointed constable of Precinct 2 by the county commissioners court in an adjourned session Tuesday. He succeeds Shannon Layne, whose resignation was accepted Monday by the commissioners court. Watkins was formerly city marshal at Burkburnett and also served at deputy sheriff for a time.

The commissioners court at its adjourned session also passed a resolution ordering the tax assessor's office to assess all property that was not rendered by April 30, of this year, at 100 per cent of its cash value. The period for the rendition of property closes on that date and the order of the court means that all property placed on the unrendered roll will be assessed at its full value.
