Germany Declares War On Russia As Nazi Troops March On Soviet

Roosevelt Sends Stiff Warning To Germany

Consulates Of Fascists Are To Be Closed

By RICHARD L. TURNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 21.—President Roosevelt sent German today a copy of the grim message he had given Congress on the sinking of the Robin Moor, and thereby told the Nazi government his views without cloaking and blunting them with the stilted and inexpressive language of a formal diplomatic protest.

This message called the sinking of the American freighter last May 21 an act of "piracy," asserted that reparations were expected of Germany, and declared that this country would resist Nazis efforts to dominate the seas.

Its dispatch to the Berlin government, along with a brief message of transmittal, will constitute the formal Amrican protest over the sinking.

Italians Ordered Out

"Nothing further is required," said Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, when newspaper correspondents asked if it was planned to supplement today's action by sending a formal note to Berlin.

At the same time, Mrs. Roosevelt ordered that all Italian consuls and their aides and all Italian citizens employed here by official government agencies quit the country by July 15.

The latter move had been expected. German consuls and their staffs were instructed earlier in the week to leave by July 10. In prompt retaliation, Germany and Italy ordered American consuls to leave by July 15 not only those nations but all European countries which Axis troops have occupied in the course of the war.

Charges Are Rejected

In this connection, Welles said today that the American embassies in Rome and Berlin had been told to make it clear to the governments there that this nation categorically rejects all charges of improper activities made against the American consular agents by the Nazi and Fascist governments.

These successive developments, plus the order freezing German and Italian assets here, all coming within a week, and all accompained by plain speaking on both sides of the Atlantic, had reduced diplomatic relations with the Axis nations to a slender and fragile thread tonight.

Washington speculated excitedly on whether this slight connection might not break or be severed altogether within a short while. A general feeling was that much would depend upon the nature of Germany's reaction to the president's views on the Robin Moor incident.

Instructions from state selective service headquarters at Austin Saturday have caused change of plans to register young men 21 since last Oct. 16 at three places, members of draft board No. 1 announced.

Registration for that board, and possibly for board No. 2, will be conducted at a vacant store in the Myrick building, formerly occupied by Craig-Gholson company, it was announced. All young men of the county probably will be asked to register there.

Seaman On Sub Thought All Was OK

(By The Associated Press)

DEL NORTE, Colo., June 21—Ota Eagleton, father of Charles L. Eagleton, 24-year-old seaman on the submarine O-9, said today his son whote him 10 days ago telling of a test run with the submersible on which "everything went wrong."

Young Eagleton, who was a Del Norte high school football player, was aboard the craft which sank yesterday off Portsmouth, N. H.

The father said his son's letter related:

"We've been on a test run. Everything went wrong, but we've got it under control now. It's all right."

Naval Attempts To Reach Sunken Submarine Fail

(By The Associated Press)

PORTSMOUTH, N. M., June 21.—The first two attempts by navy divers to reach the pressure-crushed submarine 0-9 failed today, and the probability grew that the craft and her 33 dead had found a permanent grave 440 feet below the surface of the Atlantic.

The second effort resulted in a descent of 370 feet—the deepest working dive ever made in the North Atlantic—but the tremendous pressure at that depth, said the navy laconically, forced "difficulty in breathing."

Earlier, Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, returned from the scene to report that "at that depth it is highly improbably that a salvage attempt would be undertaken."

Service Is Planned

He said "some form of service" would be held over the spot where the 23-year-old submarine rested upon a muddy clay bank, if it was decided she could not be raised.

Obviously moved, Knox expressed a reluctance to speak publicly at any length.

"Those poor fellows are dead out there," he explained. "They are just as much heroes as if they had died in action."

George Crocker, 27-year-old native of Seattle, made the first two diving attempts today, and even after he finally had been hauled up, Rear Admiral Richard Edwards, commander of submarines in the Atlantic fleet, announced the diving efforts would continue.

In a brief message from the submarine salvage ship Falcon, anchored above the 0-9 18 miles off shore, he said:

"Diver descended 370 feet. Had difficulty in breathing. Brought to surface. Will continue atttempts

Winners Are Named In Rodeo At Spur

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SPUR, June 21—Officials of the annual Spur Roundup and Rodeo association toiled until nearly midnight endeavoring to ascertain winners of the two-day rodeo which closed tonight in Charles A. Jones Memorial stadium before an estimated crowd of 6,000 persons.

So close were the averages of several leading performers in the rodeo that officials were unable to announce winners in numerous events.

The rodeo, which celebrated Dickens county's golden anniversary was said by officials to be the most successful in the four-year history of the event.

Winners announced were Miss Fern Sawyer of Crossroads, N. M., first; Mrs. Sallie Taylor of Stacy second and Mrs. Punk Snyder of Melvin third in cowgirls sponsors contest; Miss Zell Ellis, first in local sponsors contest, Mrs. Al Bingham second and Miss Peggy Durham third and Miss Janelle Swanner fourth.

Johnnie Downs of Abilene, and Ed Keller of Wichita Falls, tie in saddle bronc riding; Jimmie Olsen of Pampa, steer riding; Harold Dickson of Carlsbad, N. M., bareback bronc riding. John Gilbert of Clarendon won tonight in wild cow milking, but final times had not been compiled, as was the case in calfroping.

Charges Fly As Senatorial Race Draws To Close

John Williams Throws Support To Martin Dies

(By The Associated Press)

TEXAS' frenzied senatorial campaign, nearing judgment day, developed into a maelstrom of charges and counter-charges Saturday night and brought forth the withdrawal of one candidate in favor of Martin Dies and a letter of protest from a piqued legislator.

Briefly, developments were:

1. Candidate John C. Williams of Rockport, a salty man of the sea who has campaigned for a separate air force, withdrew his candidacy in favor of Rep. Dies, foe of Communists and Nazis. He called on Candidates Gerald Mann and Lyndon B. Johnson to do the same.

Hit On All Six

2. Rep. (Miss) Rae Files, accused Gov. O'Daniel of trying to bludgeon state legislators into supporting bad measures by threatening to broadcast that they were "against the old folks." Miss Files, from Waxahachie, made her charge in an open letter.

3. The more prominent candidates themselves were hitting on all six, making speech after speech as the special election interval narrowed to six days.

4. Rep. Johnson, jibing at O'Daniel, asked a Sherman audience if it felt like sending President Roosevelt during this crisis "a band and a fiddle."

5. Attorney General Gerald Mann teed off on both O'Daniel and Johnson.

6. O'Daniel continued berating the legislature, saying some legislators like the old age pension idea so well they refused to pass a pension bill—in order to use it as a campaign issue year after year.

The withdrawal of Candidate Williams, a man who served in the navy 17 years and is now retired, came at Paris. His statement said:

Banning Import Duties Asked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 21—The army, the treasury and the Reconstruction Finance corporation were reported today to be pressing for enactment of legislation giving the administration broad powers to wipe out import duties on articles needed for national defense.

However, substantial opposition was developing to the proposal which was quietly introduced in both House and Senate two weeks ago. Several senators declared that it would have to be modified drastically before it could be enacted.

As it stands, the bill would eliminate import duties and internal revenue taxes on any article certified by any government agency to be necessary for defense when the article was purchased "by or on behalf of" federal agencies.

Language Is Broad

Some senators contended the language was so broad that the administration would have virtual power to write its own tariff schedules.

O'Daniel Bids For South Plains Votes

Governor Lashes Legislators, Foes With Sharp Attack Before Audience Of 4,000

By JAY HARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

BENEATH the sparkling dome of his shining white sound truck, from which has originated some of the most amazing political performances in Texas' turbulent gubernatorial history, Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel pleaded his senatorial aspirations before Lubbock's largest rally of the campaign Saturday night.

Lashing legislators who have opposed him or his program with one of the most caustic verbal barrages of the campaign the governor spoke before approximately 4,000 persons—easily the biggest such assemblage since his appearance here last year in his drive to succeed himself as the state's chief executive.

Assails "Political Machine"

After giving an accounting of his accomplishments in Austin during his second term in office, Gov. O'Daniel promised the group that "when I get to Washington, I will straighten things out, or will try to straighten things out" as regards the discrimination in federal assistance and matching of federal funds with state assistance and state funds for the aged of Texas.

Confident Of Victory

In this respect, he charged that New York, Pennsylvania and other Eastern states were receiving more than the Lone Star state from the national government.

French Somaliland Asked To Surrender

LONDON, Sunday, June 22. (AP) General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, British Middle East commander, has called upon the governor of Jibuti, French Somaliland, to make up his mind either to join the Free French forces immediately or openly disassociate himself from the pro-Axis policy evident in Syria, it was learned here early today.

In the event of the governor's refusal to negotiate regarding the proposal, Gen. Wavell has stated his willingness to evacuate women and children from Jibuti and to supply them with milk and essential foods until this evacuation is completed, it was said here.

Jibuti is the chief port of French Somaliland and is the terminus of the only railroad running into Ethiopia.

Holy City Of Damascus Is Taken By British, French

(By The Associated Press)

THE ancient capital city of Damascus, a center of 4,000 years of war-spotted history, fell today to the British and Free French armies on the 14th day of their invasion of French-mandated Syria, the British Middle East command announced last night.

The Allied forces marched into the ancient Moslem capital just 24 hours after they began to shell it with big guns. This bombardment was launched after French High Commissioner Gen. Henri Dentz refused a British ultimatum to withdraw his defending troops.

The German radio reported that British artillery had destroyed Mezze, western suburb of Damascus, with artillery fire prior to fall of the capital. A French dispatch from Beirut, Syria, indicated that the capital itself may not have been defended. This dispatch said that French troops withdrew from the city, after which it was occupied by the British.

The French in dispatches from Beirut, admitted they had been forced to withdraw from the capital to positions to the north, where it was said the Vichy troops were taking up new defense positions.

The British radio said

Contractors Given 120 Days To Complete School

BY H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

CONSTRUCTION probably will be started before July 15 on the advanced twin-engine aviation training school of the army air corps to be built on a 1,400-acre site 10 miles west of the city.

It must be completed within 120 calendar days from the time the contract is signed. Contractors will be liable to a penalty of $1,000 per day for each day beyond 120 which may be required to complete the job.

This information was revealed through the chamber of commerce here Saturday.

Moves Into High Gear

The information revealed further that the endeavor to hasten the completion of the school has now been shifted into high gear, and that speed may be expected to be the watchword henceforth.

Saturday's announcements, made by army and engineering officials through the chamber, brought the answers to many questions which had been awaited with anxiety since the official announcement on Friday, June 13, that the Lubbock site had been selected for the school.

One among the new announcements was that the contracts, expected to total around $4,570,112 are to be awarded on a competitive bidding basis. The possibility had been considered that the award might be made directly as a "cost, plus fixed fee' proposition.

Four Groups Eligible

Announcement also was made that four groups of contractors are eligible to compete for the contracts—each group including three or more contractors. Lubbock firms including among one or more of the eligible groups, were disclosed as being W. G. McMillan Contracting company, W. S. Moss Contracting company and Panhan-

Soldiers May Serve Over Year

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Simultaneously with a war department recommendation that the national guard be kept in active service beyond the single year originally planned, the author of the selective service act said today that Congress would quickly act on an additional year's training for draftees if the administration requests it.

Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY), who introduced the draft bill, added that if it is decided to prolong the training period of the selectees, men over 28 years of age, now in service, should be permitted to withdraw after completing their 14 month training periods.

While Wadsworth insisted that 21 to 35 age-limits be written into the original law, he said today that experience had shown that those from 28 or 30 to 35, although "good men," haven't proved "so readily trainable."

Britain, USSR In Agreement

Italians Standing By To Aid Germany; Finns Said Fighting With Nazi Forces

(By The Associated Press)

GERMAN troops marched on Soviet Russia along a 1,500-mile front from Norway to Rumania Sunday after a sudden, dawn declaration of war by Adolf Hitler and the London radio declared a statement had been issued in Moscow stating that Britain and the U.S.S.R. were in full accord.

The Italian army was said by the Rome radio to be standing by ready to aid Germany in the struggle.

A dispatch telephoned from Berlin to New York said German troops massed in East Prussia, along with soldiers from Finland and Norway in the north and Rumania in the south were on the march.

Enough Of Violations

Adolf Hitler himself ordered the Nazi armies to move out after assailing the Soviet union bitterly in a proclamation broadcast to the world.

He said he had had enough of Russian violations of the German frontier and had commended the fate of the Reich to the armies which have been all-victorious since September, 1939.

The German radio announced that within the next 24 hours representatives of the international press would be given documentary proof that Russia had come to a secret understanding with Great Britain behind Germany's back.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels read the proclamation and then Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop came on the air to read out a formal declaration of war against the nation with which Germany linked herself in a 10-year non-aggression pact less than two years ago.

Long Battlefront

Hitler, in his proclamation, said it had been difficult for him to send an ambassador to Moscow in 1939 after the pact was signed and that it had been as hard to relinquish the Baltic states to the Soviet in 1940.

He accused the Russians of sending planes across the common German-Russian frontier countless times and said that the moment had arrived at last when Germany could no longer overlook these developments.

"Together with the Finns, the Germans are standing from Narvik to the Carpathians," the proclamation said.

Break Was Expected

This one sentence indicated perfectly how far-reaching is the new battle front—from Narvik, in far northern Norway, to the Carpathian mountains on the Black sea, or more than 1,500 miles.

Although the proclamation and declaration of war came with startling suddenness on an otherwise quiet Sunday morning, the break was not unexpected, since Europe has been teeming with rumors for weeks that open conflict between the two great powers and erstwhile "friends" was imminent.

All the same, U. S. government officials in Washington were caught short, entirely unprepared for events of such vital significance. President Roosevelt's aides said that so far as they knew he was not awakened for the news.

Germany, according to these reports in almost every capital of the old world, had made harsh demands on Russia, especially for the oil and wheat of the great Russian breadbasket—the Ukraine.

Had Been Jumpy

Finland had been especially jumpy and had ordered mobilization of practically all her reserves but there was nothing from the censor-veiled Russian capital to indicate anything other than peace and light.

The split with Russia followed hard on the heels of a Turkish-German friendship pact and only yesterday a foreign source in London declared that new agreement included a secret provision that Turkey would remain benevolently neutral in the event of war between the Reich and the Soviet.

This might mean that Turkey, guardian of the Dardanelles, might clamp that vital strait shut, thus closing Russia's exit to the Mediterranean from the Black sea.

The text of Hitler's proclamation, as heard in New York, indicated that he expected help from both the Finns and the Rumanians.

German troops occupying Rumania have been concentrated on the Russian border for days, according to unconfirmed reports circulating in Europe, and Rumania, these same reports said, had been promised the return of Bessarabia, which she lost to Russia in a deal last year.

"At the Danube and on the shores of the Black sea under Antonescu (Gen. Ion Antonescu, the Rumanian premier) German and Rumanian soldiers are united," the proclamation said. "The task is to safeguard Europe and thus save all."

Hitler assailed Britain at one or two points in his proclamation but mainly stuck to his bitter denunciation of Russia.

Foreign Minister Ribbentrop, who negotiated the Nazi-Russian pact of 1939, charged in his radio declaration that the Russian secret police commissar had "systematically trained German Communists for the disintegration of Germany."

"The Soviet Russian diplomats and consular agents aided greatly in this," he added. "The radio also proves that the Comintern was working against Germany.

"We are in possession of a great number of documents prowing this and also sabotage acts. No less than 16 German ships have been attacked by sabotage. Germans were utilized by the OGPU and even the Russian ambassador in Berlin did not hesitate to use his extra-territoriality for espionage."

The fuehrer's proclamation made a special point of emphasizing the Russian-Yugoslav friendship and nonaggression pact signed just before Hitler's armies marched into the Balkans to crush Yugoslavia and Greece.

The purpose of this pact, Hitler charged, "was to incite the Serbs against Germany."

"Moscow," he said, "demanded

America Suspicious Of British Aid For Soviet Russia

Hitler Wasting Precious Time

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
Avalanche-Journal War Analyst

Groping in the darkness of the German-Russian embroilment, the afternoon paper of Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of state, puts its finger on what would be, for both Britons and Americans, a delicate consequence of German-Russian war. The newspaper, the Evening Standard, urges in advance that the British give Russia whatever aid is possible in case Russia resists German demands, and goes on to say that it will be necessary, also, to try to make Americans understand the reason for aid to Moscow.

Perhaps it is too early to go in for such long-distance peering into what has aptly been called shadowland, but it is certainly true that any aid to Soviet Russia, even though intended to defeat Nazi Germany, would be regarded with repugnance and suspicion by large numbers of Americans. Indeed, it would be none to easy to convince the British themselves that such aid would be wise.

Direct Aid Impossible

With Turkey neutralized by the treaty of neutrality which the Turks have signed with the Germans, direct British aid to Russia is practically out of the question. United States supplies, especially airplanes, could, however, reach Russia via the Pacific, and that is what Lord Beaverbrook's newspaper is talking about, without actually saying it.

The reason which would be advanced for the giving of such aid to the Muscovites would be, of course, that Germany must be struck on every possible front if the war is to be won. But Whether either Americans or British would be willing to put the weapons in Russia's hands and trust Russia to strike Germany with them is something else again.

No Concrete Evidence

Out of the torrent of rumor from the German-Russian borderlands, there has come no concrete evidence that Russia intends to fight rather than to give Hitler the economic, political and military domination that he seems to want. The Finnish mobilization, which is fact, not rumor, is, however, pretty convincing evidence that Hitler is now ready to attack Russia, at least with non-German troops, to force acquiescence.

Time's a-wasting for Hitler. The rising tide of American aid to the British, President Roosevelt's challenge on the Robin Moor: "We do not propose to yield;" they mean to the German fuehrer that he must hasten to bring Stalin to time and get back to the battle of the west, return to the offensive in the Near East.

News Briefs

Mancil Hall of Littlefield is in a Denver, Colo., hospital "very ill, with pneumonia," his mother, Mrs. Christine Hall, 1627 Tenth street, said Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Hall were attending the national Rotary convention in Denver when Hall was stricken Tuesday. Attending physicians held hope for his recovery, Mrs. Hall said.

Bruce Gentry, farmer of near Lubbock, said Saturday night wheat he started harvesting Saturday morning was yielding close to 20 bushels to the acre and was testing 53 to 54 per cent moisture. He said the wheat on his 320-acre farm tow miles north of Municipal airport was better than had been expected after heavy rains of this and last month. Cotton is up to a good stand, although many farmers in the area have planted three and four times, Gentry said.

Several Lubbock Lions plan to go to Friona Tuesday night for a charter night program for a new club there. H. C. Pender, district governor elect, is to make the principal address. Dr. Marshall Harvey, secretary; Dr. F. G. Harbaugh, outgoing president and H. J. Bingham, of the extension committee, may attend. The Muleshoe club sponsored formation of the group. F. V. Wallace, Dumas, district governor, is to deliver the charter.

Sgt. Patric A. Ridgway has recently arrived in Lubbock after 22 months in foreign service in Hawaii. He is en route to Fort Monroe, Va., where he will attend an officers school. Upon completion he will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the coast artillery. Ridgway worked for a local food store two years before joining the arm.

Burdette Cow Leads In Production In May Herd Report

Butterfat average for cows on test in the Lubbock County Dairy Herd Improvement association, as well as milk production, increased in May over April, the monthly report of Wayne Mears, fieldman, shows.

R. L. Burdette, who has a dairy farm on the Hockley county line, had the leading cow for the month, producing 2,015 pounds of milk of 5.8 per cent butterfat and 116.9 pounds of fat during the 31 day period.

In 12 herds on test there were 392 cows, 357 of them in milk, averaging 797 pounds of milk of 33.1 pounds butterfat, compared to 396 cows producing 30.1 pounds butterfat and 636 pounds of milk in April.

Sixty seven cows averaged 40 to 50 pounds butterfat; 32 produced from 50 to 60; 14 produced from 60 to 70; three produced from 70 to 80; one produced 80 to 90 and three over 90 pounds in 31 days.

Seven herds were on pasture; eight received alfalfa hay, five cows were sold and three cows died, Mears said.

Sam J. Paschall had high Texas herd in May.

Seven of the 12 herds placed on the honor roll; seven in the J. R. Jenkins herd; five in the J. E. Rigler herd, seven in the Burdette herd, one at Texas Technological college, 19 in the Paschall herd, four in the B. C. Wells herd and three in the R. C. Young herd, a total of 47. Twelve first heifer calves were on the roll, four owned by Burdette, three by Young, two by Paschall, two by Wells, one by the college and one each by A. B. Buchanan and Mrs. J. J. Smith.

Paschall's herd led the association, 976 pounds of milk of 44.1 percent butterfat; Young's herd was second with 795 pounds of milk, 38.3 pounds butterfat; Wells' herd was third with 677 pounds of milk, 37.2 butterfat; Buchanan's herd was fourth with 739 pounds of milk and 36.83 pounds butterfat; and Clayson Fuller, 749 pounds of milk and 35.9 pounds butterfat; Tech college, 773 pounds of milk, 33.8 pounds butterfat.

Members of the association who exhibited registered Jersey cattle at the annual Panhandle-Plains dairy show in Plainview, won $200 in prizes. Rigler and Mrs. Smith had the most animals in the show. Burdette won $60 with four animals shown.

Scurry Farmer Shot To Death

(By The United Press)

DUNN, Tex., June 21 — The body of Oscar Worthington, 38, prominent Scurry county farmer, was found early today in a parked car on a country road one mile northwest of here.

Worthington's body was discovered by T. A. Echols, a farmer who was en route to one of his fields when he noticed the parked automobile. An investigation revealed Worthington's body sprawled on the seat, part of his head blown away, apparently from a shotgun blast. A shotgun and empty shells were found near the body.

A number of persons had passed Worthington's automobile on the lonely road since it was parked there about Friday noon but none had noticed the body until Echols investigated.

A verdict of death from gunshot wounds, self inflicted, was rendered by Justice of the Peace P. E. Davenport.

LYNDON JOHNSON FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

DEAR WEST TEXAN:

In deciding whether to vote for or against LYNDON JOHNSON, A WEST TEXAN, (who was born at Johnson City in Blanco County, and still lives there) please consider:

LYNDON JOHNSON, only 32, already has spent 10 years in public service in Washington, part of the time as N. Y. A. director for Texas, part as secretary for Congressman Kleberg of Texas, and remaining four years as Congressman himself. Consider Johnson's years' of successful congressional experience against lack of congressional experience of other candidates. If you want confirmation that Lyndon Johnson "gets the job done," please write, phone or wire any one in the Austin district acquainted with Johnson's achievements. Lyndon Johnson is a natural leader and team worker.

That's why the President and Congress respect and admire him, and need him now. What this youthful representative has done for his District he can do for West Texas, and all Texas. And, Lyndon Johnson is one man, who, if elected, will not "move" to Washington to take up his seat in the "House of Lords" (figuratively speaking), and thereby lose acquaintance with the people, but will be coming back constantly to West Texas to keep in touch with her conditions and problems.

Watch Johnson's lead increase day by day the last week of the campaign.

Private Imports Of Rubber Barred

WASHINGTON, June 21. (AP)—The government, extending far-reaching control over all manufacturing use of rubber, today suspended private imports from the Far East and ordered civilian consumption cut 20 per cent in the next six months.

At the same time, it acted to guard against sharp rises in automobile tires prices by announcing that a "ceiling" would be established within a few days that would provide, in effect, that prices may not exceed those charged on June 16.

Jesse Jones, the federal loan administrator, announced that effective June 23 the Rubber Reserve company, a government corporation, would become the sole buyer for crude rubber exported to the United States from the Far East.

Will Control Source

In effect, this will give the government control over rubber supplies at the source since virtually all this country's imports come from British Malaya and the Dutch East Indies.

"The purpose of this action," Jones said, "is to accelerate the accumulation of the government reserve supply and to facilitate distribution to the manufacturing industry for defense and commercial requirements in accordance with such consumption programs as may be established by the Office of Production Management and the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply."

He said, however, that consummation of existing purchase contracts would not be affected.

The arrangements for the Rubber Reserve company to become the sole buyer of imports from the Far East was worked out, Jones said, through cooperation of the British and Dutch governments and the International Rubber Regulation committee.

"Ceiling" On Tires

Rubber will be purchased at 18½ cents a pound for standard ribbed smoked sheets. Freight charges from Asiatic ports will be borne by the Rubber Reserve company.

Leon Henderson, price administrator, announced the prospective "ceiling" on tires prices.

A schedule will be issued within a few days, he said, providing that no wholesale or retail dealer may charge more for tires or tubes than the lowest net price in effect on June 16.

The schedule also will establish ceiling prices for crude, reclaimed and scrap rubber.

At the same time, Henderson appealed to automobile owners not to buy more tires than they need immediately.

"No shortage in rubber or rubber products is necessary if consumers do not overstock in anticipation of a shortage," Henderson said.

South Plains Farmers Working Night And Day To Prepare And Plant Crops

Printers Expected To Fight Prison Work

EL PASO, June 20 (AP)—Printing trades delegates, arriving for sessions of the Texas Federation of Labor convention, today voiced belief that their group would renew a stand against allowing Texas prison printers to compete with commercial firms.

Officials of the Texas Allied Printing Trade council said a prison labor measure, permitting such competition, was defeated in the last state legislature.

The printers council, headed by W. W. Strong, Houston, president, opens business sessions tomorrow as one of six convention expected to attract 400 delegates from AF of L labor groups in the next week.

Large Portion Of Cotton Planted

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Taking advantage of every minute of warm sunshine and hot weather, South Plains farmers last week worked night and day to get their land worked and cotton planted, in anticipation of any cotton planted from now on out being purely a gamble on a late fall.

Estimates of the probable amount of crop planted varied, but a general consensus was that up to probably 75 per cent of the area's more than 1,400,000 acres alloted to cotton, had been put in. Others placed the percentage as high as 85 per cent. Some estimated 50 to 60 per cent of the acreage sown before the early part of the week had germinated, others thought more had sprouted.

Seed Shortage Reported

Scarcity of seed was indicated by several sources, especially half and half seed. So many farmers had had to replant that there was believed to be a great lack of seed of a more desirable type. Others said that farmers could get "all the seed they wanted," although it was admitted that some farmers were unable to get all of their particular type or variety.

Don L. Jones of the state experiment sub-station reported 75 per cent of the cotton on the station farm was up, most of it had been up for ten days. Jones is now planting feed. Cotton planted late last week and early this week was beginning to show up.

Records of the station, Jones said, indicated cotton that had been planted 120 days would be 25 per cent open. Records are for cotton planted from 116 to 132 days which showed one-quarter open at the end of the time.

Ground Has Been Wet

In some sections of the territory the ground has been too wet to permit tractors to be used in planting; in other communities, low places are still too wet and farmers have planted only on the high places. Knifing of weeds is being done by some, along with planting.

Very few reports have been received of farmers who got their first cotton planting up to a stand. One farmer in eastern Lubbock county said he knew of only two or three farmers with small acreages of April or early May cotton.

Cotton men hold to the view that of the total acreage planted, 50 to 60 per cent will, based on present weather conditions, mature for a good crop; status of the remainder of the acreage will depend upon lateness of the first killing frost. Normal or average date for a first killing frost at Lubbock experiment station is Nov. 3. Frosts have come as early as mid-October and as late as Thanksgiving day.

Replantings Frequent

Farmers have planted an average of two and three times, with a sizable proportion who have replanted three times and some even four times. High winds and sand have covered some cotton; later plantings of seed according to farmers, have not been as deep as the normal depth.

With a 13.5 cent loan for cotton this year, many farmers will take advantage of that high figure to plant their entire alloted acreage, on the theory that they can gamble on seed planted after June 20 to make. There are 134 more days until normal killing frost date, and, with possibilities of the crop making in from 120 to 130 days, farmers are willing to gamble.

Scattered showers since the week-end rains of last week, have been reported. The fall a week ago was also scattered, heavy in some sections and none in others.

Lakes are full and farmers have planted cotton as close to the edge of water in lakes in cultivated areas as possible. A small percentage of alloted acres may be lost, due to crop land being covered with water.

Grain sorghums are to be planted this week by farmers who have completed cotton replanting. With an exceptional underground season little trouble is anticipated in getting crops up to a good stand.

Lubbock Second In Building

(By The Associated Press)

Contracts for 300 defense home corporation houses to shelter its rocketing family of defense workers shot Corpus Christi back into the Texas building lead the past week.

The DHC's $750,000 gave the Gulf city a seven-day building permit total of $844,100 to raise its current 1941 total to $8,606,985—second only to Houston.

Runner-up for the week was Lubbock with $349,639, but five other cities had weekly totals above $100,000. They were Houston, Austin, Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth.

Totals for the week and for thus far during the year from various representative cities include:

Swindling Suspect Held In Jail Here

David Cowan, 45, who earlier in the week had been charged in county court with swindling by worthless check, was transferred to county jail here Saturday by Ed Hofacket, Hockley county sheriff.

Pleading guilty to the charge, Cowan was assessed a fine of $25. He completed serving a fine on a similar charge at Levelland Saturday, Hofacket said.

T. G. Sims, 26, a negro who officers said had previously been convicted of liquor law violation, was charged for the same offense and bond was set at $1,000. His mate, Ruby Hereford Sims, 25, posted $300 bond on a liquor law violation charge.

Willard Branch, 22, was fined $1 and costs and Judge G. V. Pardue deferred payment until Wednesday.

A 30-year-old man who has been under investigation for forgery was committed to jail pending a sanity hearing.

Boys In Milam Home May Go To Farms

Young boys of the Milam Children's home at 3800 Avenue H will be permitted to visit with farm families again this summer, Mrs. W. T. Milam said Saturday night.

Approximately eight homes are being sought for boys ranging in age from six to twelve years, Mrs. Milam said. Though too young for all farm work, they are willing to help with chores, she said.

Families interested in keeping one of the children may call Mrs. Milan at 2107 or see her at the home.

Man's Damage Suit Tossed Out Of Court Because He Showed Up In Shirtsleeves

(By The United Press)

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—Myron H. Chance, whose damage suit was marked off the calendar by Judge W. Vickers because his appearance in shirtsleeves "deliberately floufed the dignity of the court," sought a resetting of the case today.

Chance, 53, an unemployed plumber and war veteran, explained, when his case came up for trial, that he had been ill most of his life and in recent years his skin had become allergic to wool. He said he never wore a coat and, in fact, did not own one. He used a leather jacket when it rained.

Meant No Discourtesy

"I've worked all my life in shirtsleeves," Chance said later, insisting he had not intended to be discourteous.

"It's the people who rolled up their sleeves and went to work who built this country. President Roosevelt said the other day that we were going to have to roll up our sleeves and go to work; that's what I'd like to do if I could find a job," he said.

Judge Vickers refused to try his suit despite the allergy. He commented that all court attaches, litigants, witnesses, attorneys and spectators are accustomed to wearing coats and ties.

Chance seeks $10,000 damages for assault and battery and $10,000 punitive damages from a local automobile company.

Young King Peter Now Is In Britain

LONDON, June 21 (AP)—Accompanied by his prime minister and other ministers, 17-year-old King Peter II of conquered Yugoslavia arrived in England today and it was understood the Yugo-Slav government in exile would be established in London.

The party, traveling by plane, was greeted by the Duke of Kent, brother of King George VI of England.

The youthful monarch, who had been reported in Jerusalem since he fled Yugoslavia in April before the crushing might of the German military machine, had assumed his throne in a military coup d'etat on March 27, when the regime which signed up with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis was ousted.

Many Positions Are Said Open

Demand for dairy manufactures graduates from Texas Technological college has been greater during the five and one-half months of 1941 than at any previous time since organization of the department in 1927, said K. M. Renner, head professor of dairy manufactures.

"This extra demand has been due in a large measure to governmental insistence in both uniformity in composition and quality of dairy products produced for consumption of the army and navy and to the rapid growth of the dairy industry in Texas," he said.

Had Many Requests

The Tech department has had requests for more than twice the number of graduates of this year, including those who are to be graduated in August. Several of the June graduates did not accept employment because they expected to be called for military service before end of the summer.

June graduates employed in the dairy industry include F. A. McCaskill, jr., of Lubbock, Borden's at Lake Charles, La.; Nathaniel Nelson of Clifton, Vandervorts, Inc., Fort Worth; James Saul of Miami, Borden's, Oklahoma City; Howard Strawn of Clarendon, Plains Cooperative, Plainview, and George Wilson of McKinney, Borden company, Lubbock. Ross Putty of Lubbock is waiting call as a second lieutenant in the cavalry reserve. J. Augustus Cooper of Roaring Springs is farming and awaiting call for selective service training, and T. Moffett Ryan of Lubbock is finishing a CAA flying course.

Called To Service

Of the three students completing their work in August, Wayne Hildreth of Fairview, Okla., will enter a marine reserve officers training school and Billy Keahey of Roaring Springs and Clayton Roach will have opportunity to enter the dairy manufacturing industry if not called to military service, said Renner.

Attend Summer School

Alvin Bell, Lewis Price, W. S. Spears and Virgil Woodfin, juniors, are attending summer school at Tech and working part-time in the college creamery.

John Kilgore, dairy manufactures graduate of 1939, on Sept. 1 will take a position held this summer by James Huffman, creamery superintendent at Tech. Huffman is to return to duties here after spending the summer operating the Banner creamery at Brownwood. Kilgore has been plant superintendent of Colvert dairies at Ardmore, Okla., since his graduation.

Of the 78 graduates from the Tech department since 1930, all are gainfully employed in various phases of the dairy industry or closely allied agricultural work, with exception of four employed in other fields, said Renner. Four graduates are in charge of operation of dairy school creameries. Curtis Scharnberg is creamery superintendent at Texas A. and M., Edwin Williams is assistant superintendent at Ohio State university and Huffman is superintendent at Tech.

Former Students To Get New Positions

Several former students in the plant industry department of Texas Technological college have taken new positions, said Dr. A. W. Young, head of the department.

Allen King, June graduate and son of Mr. and Mrs. K. N. King of 1811 Fifteenth street, has left for Temple to take a position in the soil conservation office. He obtained the position through a civil service examination. Since his graduation he had been employed at Bushland experiment station near Amarillo.

To Fill Position

Earnest Thaxton, jr., of Lubbock, who was a freshman student last year, will fill the position King had at Bushland this summer.

Russell Cook, graduate of the department who has been serving as assistant rural rehabilitation supervisor at Littlefield, visited at Tech several days ago en route to Stamford to enter the army air training school.

Rogers Lindsey, June graduate of Lubbock, is to be employed by the Soil Conservation service at Amarillo.

Robert Lee Smith, June graduate of Lockney, plans to grow certified seed on his own farm near Lockney.

Several other positions had been previously announced.

Police Bureau Said Due For A Cleanup

SAN ANTONIO, June 21 (AP)—The police department's crime prevention bureau is slated for a "housecleaning," Fire and Police Commissioner P. L. Anderson said today following an inspection which he said showed that the bureau was spending most of its time making permanent records of "young kids mixed up in neighborhood scraps and just plain mischievousness."

"I'm not going to start off any box six or seven years old with a permanent criminal record that will follow him for the rest of his life.

"Why, suppose when he's 21 years old he want to get a civil service or government job. That record of a mischievous act that didn't really amount to anything might keep him from getting the position and turn him into a real criminal."

Petain "Surrendered" Month Before Armistice Signing, DeGaulle Charges

Exclusive Story Of Break With Vichy Is Told To U. S. Novelist

General de Gaulle, gaunt and angular "Jean d'Arc" of Free France, whose words and movements have been veiled in secrecy since he elected a year ago to carry on from distant shores his country's war against Germany, has broken his silence in a revelatory interview with Ben Lucien Burman, distinguished American novelist. Burman is now in the de Gaulle-controlled area of French Africa on assignment from NEA Service and Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. The following dispatch, written immediately after Burman's interview with General de Gaulle earlier in the month, was delayed in transmission and has just been received in America by wireless.

BY BEN LUCIEN BURMAN

(Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.)

BRAZZAVILLE, French West Africa, June 21.—From the jungle heart of Africa, General Charles de Gaulle charges today that Marshal Petain was beaten even before he took supreme command of the retreating French army on May 28 of last year.

"France is done; we must surrender!" — that, according to de Gaulle, was the aged Petain's plea to war-time Premier Reynaud nearly a full month before the French-German armistice.

This revelation was made in an exclusive interview which General de Gaulle legend-shrouded leader of "Free France," granted to me at his temporary quarters in this sleepy little settlement on the palm-fringed banks of the Congo.

For the first time General de Gaulle—a tall tower of a man, solemn and measured in his words—told for publication the full story of the incredible chain of events which led him to divorce himself from the Vichy government and to start the Free French movement.

"There was no other way." He stirred his tea in reflection. "It was not a matter of minutes, not a matter of a quick decision. The debacle was long in coming. I saw it arriving. More than that, I SAW THE DEBACLE BEING PREPARED."

He sat there for a moment. He is an extremely quiet man—far more the reserved Englishman than the popular conception of a gay, electric Frenchman. He is a shy figure, obviously accustomed to thinking a lot in solitude.

His blue eyes grew troubled. "I am very reluctant to say what I am going to tell you," he said, "but I love my country and my countrymen. The life of France and of the world is at stake. The truth must be told no matter whom it touches.

"As you remember, Marshal Petain took over supreme command of the army as minister of war on May 28. All France believed that he was going to rally all the great powers of the country to resist the Germans. This was his duty. But unfortunately for the world his actions were exactly to the contrary.

Attitude "Beyond Belief"

"At that time I was in the war office of the Reynaud Ministry. I shall never forget the occasion when Petain arrived for his first conference with Reynaud. To my astonishment, instead of advancing plans for halting the enemy, with his first words he urged that Reynaud ask for an armistice.

"'We are finished,' he said. 'We must capitulate.'

"Remember, this was the 28th of May—almost an entire month before the armistice—when the resisting powers of France were still enormous. From that moment on, every time he saw Reynaud—at ever slightest opportunity—he continued to repeat his plea: 'France is defeated; we must give up.'

"Even if matters had been going well instead of badly, the psychological effect would have been disastrous. For a general supposed to be defending his country and for an officer of the French Army, whose tradition was to die before surrender, his attitude was beyond belief."

Defeatism Of Petain

General de Gaulle turned to speak to his adjutant, who came in with a message, then went on quietly. "I know that honor in these days has become a platitude, but it is not merely a word to be found in the dictionary. If there is to be no faith in sacred promises, I do not see how a civilized world can be possible.

"I tried to argue with Petain and one of my colleagues in the War Office joined me. 'France must resist,' we pleaded. 'We have promised England that we would fight to the end. Whatever happens, we must keep our word. Moreover, there is no reason for despair. We have lost some battles, but we have not lost the war. It is not the first time that France has been invaded and won in the end. The situation was desperate at the Marne in the last war, but France did not surrender. Even if the Germans sweep across all France, we can fight delaying actions as long as possible and then carry on the fight from the colonies. The war has really just begun.'

"But each time Petain would deny us. 'You are young,' he would tell us, again and again. 'What you are saying is silly, puerile. I am an old and experienced military man. And I know that England is finished. The war is over.'

"And so, when he became head of the Government and had the power, he asked for the armistice."

Role Only In Defeat

I asked General de Gaulle if he could advance any explanation of Petain's extraordinary conduct. He read a telegram which his adjutant brought to him and went on thoughtfully: "Any explanation is in the personality of Petain himself. I have known him for a long time. Much of my military life has been spent in close association with him.

"You must remember that Petain is of the old French military school, brought up on the traditions of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870. He used the same tactics in the war of 1914. When the mechanized war of 1939 arrived, he still could not see any difference. He tried to fight it with a strategy that was 70 years old. The result could only mean catastrophe. Morever he was always a pessimist. He always saw only the dark side of an affair."

I knew there were more reasons. I had learned from others of Petain's associates of his deep royalist sympathies that caused him to mistrust his own people in a democracy and caused him to prefer dealing with a dictator; how to many of his intimates he had always been a man of great personal ambition. Now that he was old and could no longer play an important role in war, he could play it only in defeat.

"Nothing Else To Do"

The General gave me a cigarette and continued slowly. "When the armistice was signed, I knew that it was a false armistice, arranged by Petain and his associates to suit their own purposes and their philosophies, and that it was a complete, a stunning, denial of the spirit and wishes of the French people.

"There was nothing to do but to call upon my countrymen to resist. Any true Frenchman with the knowledge of the circumstances would have done the same.

"There have been theories that the character of the French soldier had changed enormously since 1918. From personal observation, I can assure you to the contrary. The French soldier of 1940 fought just as bravely, died just as heroically as his fellows of 1914 to 1918. It was some of the chiefs whom he trusted who failed him and dishonored France."

The sun began to touch the palm-framed horizon. Strangely clad negroes, their work finished, sauntered past on the road outside on their way to the native village.

General de Gaulle took me to the door. Some young French soldiers stopped before the white gateway. "Vive de Gaulle!" they shouted. We shook hands and I climbed into the automobile waiting outside.

His tall figure vanished.

New Production About Evenly Divided Between Slaughter And Wasson Fields

Higher Per-Well Average Seen; Eleven Producers Are Complete

By FRANK D. GARDNER
Special Oil Writer

New production last week in the North Permian Basin was about evenly divided between the Slaughter and Wasson fields as the former gained 7,873.40 barrels in daily potentials and the latter 6,003.10 barrels.

In all, 11 producers were completed for an aggregate of 13,876.50 barrels per day, with a higher per-well average than usual. Four wells on the Cochran county side of the Slaughter field made 3,700.36 barrels a day while five new oilers on the Hockley side made 4,137.04 barrels.

Most In Yoakum Area

Bulk of the Wasson activity was registered in the southern Yoakum county sector of the field which finaled five producers with combined ratings of 5,130.94 barrels daily. A sole new well in the northwestern Gaines county portion of the Wasson made 872.16 barrels per day.

Continuous swabbing bettered prospects of The Texas company's opening a new pool in west central Terry county at its No. 1 S. T. Murphy, 660 feet out of the northwest corner of section 22, block K, public school land. The well is bottomed at 5,275 feet in dolomite and has been acidized with 1,000 gallons in single stage.

On last gauge reported the well swabbed 40 barrels of fluid in 15 hours through 2-inch tubing set three feet off bottom. Fluid was 63 per cent live oil and 37 per cent sediment and salt water. Swabbing still is in progress at the well.

Hopes Are Blasted

Encountering of granite at 6,755 feet blasted hopes of production in Humble, Standard and Stanolind No. 1 Byrd, southeastern Hale county wildcat originally scheduled to go to 9,000 feet. Drilling was halted at 6,760 feet in granite and the test is shut down awaiting orders. It probably will be plugged and abandoned. Location is 660 feet from the south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 17, block K, TTRR survey.

Daily potential flow of 631.80 barrels was made by Magnolia Petroleum company No. 6 F. L. Woodley, Cochran well offsetting to the south Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1 Woodley, four-fifths mile northwest extender of the Slaughter field. The Magnolia well was acidized with a total of 10,500 gallons at 4,970 feet in lime and has a gas-oil ratio of 688-1. The Anderson-Prichard strike remains shut in awaiting potential gauge.

Newest Completion

Newest completion for the Cochran sector of the Slaughter is George P. Livermore, Inc., Lubbock, No. 3 H. T. Boyd. After acidizing oil lime from 4,993 to 5,048 feet, total depth, with 12,500 gallons it flowed at a daily rate of 1,078.60 barrels. Oil is 32-gravity and gas-oil ratio 700-1.

Also in Cochran, Devonian Oil company No. 4 Boyd made 1,181.28 barrels of 31-gravity crude daily, with gas-oil ratio of 700-1, after treatments totaling 13,000 gallons in pay section from 4,994 to bottom at 5,057 feet.

Now drilling below 3,385 feet in anhydrite, Wiggins & Hyde No. 1 Stimson & Burley, southwestern Martin county wildcat, occasioned some interest by topping both the anhydrite and the Yates sand at a point believed above normal regionally.

Is Running Higher

With elevation of 2,838 feet it logged first anhydrite at 1,870 feet and Yates sand at 2,820 feet. Correlations show it running higher than far-distant failures to the north, northwest and southwest.

A wildcat in southern Andrews county, Mascho Oil company No. 1 Gulf-University, was marked up a duster as it showed 80 feet of drilling mud, with no oil, gas or water present, on 30-minute drillstem test from 4,476 to 4,517 feet, the total depth. Contract depth of the failure was 4,500 feet. It failed to show anything in the pay horizons of the Emma pool, three miles to the south, or the Fuhrman pool, three miles to the north. Owner is preparing to plug and abandon the test.

In northwestern Andrews, Magnolia No. 1-20-38 B. B. Ralph also appeared doomed to failure in the nominal Permian zone when it drilled soft lime showing broken porosity and sulphur water from 4,854 to 4,997 feet. It is drilling ahead below 5,180 feet in dry porous lime.

German-Russian War

the mobilization of the Serb army. When I still was silent, the men in the Kremlin went one step further. Russia offered to deliver war material against Germany.... Serb officers flew to Russia where they were received as allies.

"Victory of the axis in the Balkans at first foiled the plan to involve Germany in a long war and then together with England and with the hope of American supplies to throttle Germany.

"Now," the proclamation declared, "the moment has come when I can no longer look at this development. Waiting would be a crime against Germany. For weeks the Russians have been committing frontier violations. Russian planes have been crossing the frontier again and again to prove that they are the masters. On the night of June 17 and again on June 18 there was large patrol activity....

"I have therefore today decided to give the fate of the German people and the Reich and of Europe again into the hands of our soldiers."

Work On Air School

dle Construction company.

The maps, drawings, blueprints, specifications and forms on which detailed bids are to be submitted were placed in the hands of the eligible bidders Saturday.

Suggesting the magnitude of the job confronting contractors in preparing their bids was the fact that the data turned over to each of them weighed 37 pounds. The materials were brought here by Major James H. Stratton, chief engineer of the army district which has headquarters in Caddo, Colo.

The various contractors were instructed that to be eligible for consideration, their bids must be in Caddo by next Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

May Know Monday

They will be tabulated there, the findings telephoned to proper officials in Washington and, according to information here, the awards will be announced on Monday, June 30.

The next step will be the preparation of bonds and other technical preliminaries to the actual signing of contracts. Estimates were that the signing should take place "within one or two weeks" after the announcement of the award.

After the contracts are signed, the contractors will be confronted with the task of star ing from scratch and of providi g within 120 days for all the requirements of a city of approximately 4,000 population. Incidentally, it will be the most modern city in this portion of the state. If the job is not finished within 120 days, the penalty of $1,000 per day will begin.

Breakdown Not Available

The construction, according to information here, will include everything that is necessary to make the school a self-contained operating unit.

It will include, among the major features, 198 buildings; 401,800 square yards of cement paving for runways, aprons and taxi-ways; modern water, light and sewage systems; sidewalks, lighting and paving for streets; fencing; a Santa Fe railroad spur; installations for such utilities services as gas, electricity and telephones; and even for the landscaping of the portions of the grounds on which buildings are to be located—including the sodding for grass of 110 acres of the site.

Complete breakdown on the types of buildings which the successful bidder will erect was not available here Saturday. Apparently, however, officials said, there have been some revisions from the breakdown as contained in an official press release from the war department on June 18.

Excavation Planned

That release listed for construction of the following: 64 barracks buildings, 21 operations buildings; 16 day rooms; 15 each of administration buildings and supply rooms; seven mess halls; seven officer's quarters; six warehouses; four link trainer buildings; three hangar shops; two each of post exchanges, gasoline storage units, recreation buildings and paint and dope buildings; and one each of the following: officers' club, fire station, 151-bed hospital, motor repair shop, telephone and telegraph unit, theater, parachute building, chapel, guard house, utility shop commissary, incinerator and radio unit.

The work on the portion of the site to be used as an air field will involve, before the cement runways, aprons and taxi-ways can be laid, approximately 250,000 cubic yards of excavation and the laying of 75,650 cubic yards of caliche as base.

Three runways are to be built, each 150 feet in width and 5,200, 5,500 and 6,000 feet in length, respectively.

Call For Reservoir

One item indicative of the magnitude of the whole job is the fact that the water system will include one metal reservoir of 500,000 gallons capacity. A specified requirement is that the bottom of the the reservoir must be 100 feet above ground level.

The water supply, according to specifications, must be at least 750 gallons per minute—1,080,000 gallons per day. Bids for the drilling of necessary well, or wells, were opened by federal engineering officials at the chamber of commerce Saturday, and were announced as follows:

Nordyke Lumber company, Wolfforth, $731.50 per well; L. A. Peeples, Lubbock, $1,014; Anderson & Henderson, Lubbock, $1,141; R. F. Davis, route 4, Lubbock, $1,201; and B. R. Baron, Lubbock, $1,274.

Announcement of the award of that contract, officials said, must come out of district headquarters in Caddo. Belief was expressed, however, that drilling operations will be under way not later than Tuesday.

Items Are Estimated

Officials said that specifications call for enough wells to produce a minimum of 750 gallons of water a minute. However, local officials said, most wells drilled in that area have averaged more than 750 gallons.

Engineers' estimates of costs of various work items to be done at the school site included the following:

Housing, $2,349,650; concrete runways and strips, $958,680; service and parking areas, $266,100; sewage system, $219,295; water system, $207,232; roads, paved streets and sidewalks, $172,450; gasoline storage, $150,000; power distribution, $58,610; night lighting, $53,000; gas distribution, $44,050; fencing, $39,600; railroad spur, $31,000; and street lighting, $20,445.

DESULTORY WEEK

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP) — The stock market today finished a desultory week with tendencies toward steadiness.

While plus and minus signs were pretty evenly divided at the close of the brief proceedings, it was noted that many pivotal issues emerged with modest advances.

It was one of the slowest sessions of the past year, transfers of 125,200 shares comparing with 193,620 a week ago the turnover actually was the smallest since May 31. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 41.4, the exact figure at which it started last Monday. A month ago the composite stood at 39.8 and a year ago at 41.2.

Stocks on the upside included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, American Telephone, Southern Pacific, Kennecott, American Car and Foundry, American Locomotive preferred, Standard Oil of Cal., Armour preferred, Douglas Aircraft and Caterpillar Tractor.

American airlines was a weak spot, dropping 2⅛ points to 41⅛, not far from a 1941 bottom. A few behind were Chrysler, Westinghouse, Consolidated Edison, International Harvester and Anaconda.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—Cotton futures advanced 9 to 11 points today as a result of a more acute shortage of contracts. The advance was to the highest level since March, 1937.

Sales of print cloths an related items in the Worth street goods market during the past week were estimated at 20,000,000 yards or approximately 80 per cent of current production. Threat of price ceilings held down the volume as did scarcity of available goods for spot and nearby delivery.

Exports Friday none. Reason so far 1,013,624 bales; port receipts 11,784; port stocks 3,397,363.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, July 21 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16-inch cotton at 10 designated southern spot markets today was 9 points higher at 14.16 cents a pound, a new high for the season; average for the past 30 market days was 13.21 cents.

Middling ⅞-inch average was 13.96 cents.

of metal could be saved on each such dwelling, he said.

House wives throughout the nation were asked by the government to contribute their discarded aluminum pots and pans to the defense program. A nationwide drive for collection of such almuinum probably will be conducted for one week in July. The OPM decided on the campaign after it had conducted tests in Hadison, Wis., and Richmond, Va., which brought in approximately 80,000 pounds. The aluminum collected will be sold by the OPM and the funds probably will be used in the civilian defense program.

In making known its recommendation for holding the national guardsmen for further active duty, the war department noted that legislation would be necessary. The final decision, it said, was "a matter of public policy which must rest with the president and the Congress."

W. H. Cox, Morton's First Mayor, Dies

MORTON, June 21. (Special)—William Henry Cox, 67, first Mayor of Morton who died early Friday morning in Lubbock, was buried in Morton cemetery after 2:30 o'clock funeral services this afternoon.

Rev. J. W. Watson, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated in the church, and was assisted by B. B. Huckabay, Baptist pastor.

Business houses closed for the services. Mr. Cox has lived here since 1931, when he moved from Estancia, N. M.

Senatorial Race

drawn from the race . . . in behalf of your (Dies) candidacy because I believe you stand for the fundamental policy of my campaign, clean politics, and because I hope you will work for a separate air force."

Asked To Do Likewise

Williams called up Johnson and Mann to likewise throw their support to Dies.

"Mr. Mann we know to be honest in his error of allowing the Communist party on the election ticket and we also know he will correct any mistake he has made.

"Mr. Johnson has assailed Communists in the CIO and we know these Red elements must be eliminated . . ."

The candidates, gunning for big game, worked out final itineraries for the crucial, final week ahead.

Fully aware that many a race is decided by what is said, and where, in its last stages, they concentrated their canvassing on the cities, loading in as much hadio time and tank towns stops as possible.

Many An Ear-Full

If the sultry atmosphere of last week's closing days presages what is to come, the electorate is due to get many an ear-full between now and next Saturday, when it will do the talking.

The three-way battle between Martin Dies, Gerald Mann and Lyndon Johnson, with heated charges, counter-charges and denials temporarily at least took the headlines away from the somewhat patterned political procedure of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel and his hillbilly troupe.

Saturday there was a temporary lull in the Dies-Mann-Johnson arena, but no one relaxed. The time was too short and the state too big to permit any let-up in the speaking and traveling.

Strikes At Governor

"When you vote for the third or fourth man in this race you're voting to put the flour-barrel man in the Senate.

"Can you vote to send Franklin D. Roosevelt, that tired man who is laboring to get the planes in the air and the ships on the sea, a band and a fiddler?"

Johnson said his legislative experience gave him an edge over the other candidates. He said he had entree to national defense councils. He said he was proud to be a yes-man for the president on national defense but that he had voted against him more than once.

He said he would leave the Senate to join the army the day he voted for war.

Followed Opinions

Johnson referred to his farm-vote record, to his rural electrification and naval affairs accomplishments, and said he wanted to "get old age pensions off the Sunday radio and out of politics," and make it a working reality.

Thirty minutes after Gov. O'Daniel and his troupe rolled away from the courthouse square in Midland, Gerald Mann moved in to address a throng.

He told how in three years he had delivered 45 opinions on vital matters for guidance of the governor.

"In each instance," Mann said, the governor followed exactly the recommendation of my office on opinions rendered."

Mann then returned to pot-shotting at Lyndon Johnson, again reading a letter attributed to the senior counsel for the CIO-affiliated United Mine Workers, urging support for Johnson's candidacy.

"It is the same CIO union that has been impeding work in our national defense program with strikes in vital industries," Mann cried.

The attorney general said that regardless of polls, the race was between him and the governor.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 21 (AP)—Wheat moved up about a cent a bushel in moderate trading in today's short session, deriving strength from soybean and lard quotations, which advanced to new high marks for the season and to the best levels in four years.

Wheat closed ¾ to ⅞ cent higher than Friday, July 1.01⅝@1.01¼, September 1.03⅛@1.03. Corn ended ½ to 1 cent higher, July 73¾, September 6⅛@76¼; oats ¼ to ⅝ cent higher; soybeans 1⅝ to 2⅛ up; rye ¾ to 1 cent higher; and lard 7½ to 10 cents higher.

Trade reports said that harvesting in Kansas was progressing rapidly, outstripping some sections of Oklahoma and Texas. Some Southwestern points are anticipating receipts of 1,000 wheat cars after the week-end. Grain thus far received is reported as high grade and without a high moisture rating.

Doomed Submarine

by varying diving techniques."

As searchlights played on the calm waters of a huge square marked as the resting ground of the ill-fated 0-9, officials announced that the diving operations would continue through the night.

The glare from the little hand lamps carried by divers could be seen at infrequent intervals, apparently signifying another courageous attempt was being made to reach the submarine far below.

With clock-like precision, every 15 minutes, the Falcon sounded with an oscillator the call-letters of the 0-9—on the remotest chance that the "knock" from the machine that sends out waves in water would be picked up.

Among the crew members of the veteran Falcon were two men who knew the horror of being trapped at the ocean bottom—and lived to tell the story. They are William Isaacs of Washington, D. C., and Allen C. Byron, of Greenville, S. C., survivors of the Squalus, which foundered a few miles from the grave of the 0-9.

Crocker's efforts to reach the deck of the 0-9 were called by Admiral Edwards the "deepest working dive ever attempted." Others aboard the Falcon called it "the most dangerous dive" in submarine history. (A 500 foot descent was made in Hawaii under test conditions.)

O'Daniel Speaks Here

Washington' nonchalantly," he said, "because I believe everybody knows that I'm going to be elected next Saturday . . . even my opponents know that!"

Then he presented figures, which he said "proved that he was going to be elected," by asserting that the state's more than 261,000 persons over 65 years of age, who "are receiving full social security payments in June for the first time since the voters of the state promised pensions to the state's aged, will support me." In addition, he claimed support of "practically all the state's teachers," many of the truck drivers "because that silly 7,000 pound truck load limit has been raised through my efforts," the support of most of the preachers "because of my fight against "that liquor gang" and even "that liquor gang' itself . . . because it would like to get me as far away from the state as possible."

"Sawed Off Limb"

Earlier in his speech, the governor had charged that a number of the representatives who supported the resolution asking him to seek the vacant Senate post did so only with the hope that they would rid Texas politics of him.

And after claiming that the "political machine" began spreading the word around that if the governor was sent to Washington "all of his fine work would be reversed," Gov. O'Daniel told the group that:

"I just let that bunch crawl out on a limb, then sawed the limb off . . . I got on the radio and told you common citizens that if you wanted me I would come back at the end of this Senate term, which is 18 months, and again run for a third term as governor . . .

"And then," he asserted, "they, and several newspapers over the state, came out with the news that I INTENDED to seek a third term . . . I did not say that . . . I said that we would put the politicians on probation and that if they did not behave, then if you folks wanted me I would come back and run them out."

Asks Question Of Foes

The governor, accompanied by his wife, two sons, Pat and Mike, and his daughter, Molly, appeared in high good humor, and although devoting most of his speech to "our accomplishments" as he termed them, he spent some time as he terminated his talk having photographers take pictures of the crowd. Also present were the now widely known little "flour barrels" for campaign collections.

Following in the footsteps of other candidates who have appeared here recently, the governor combined most all previous campaign blasts and tossed indirect barbs at his foes, rather than assailing them by name.

Speaking of the old age assistance program and his plans for "doing something about it when I get to Washington," he said "We have our record to show," then asked "why haven't my two congressmen opponents done something about it? . . . They have been down there (Washington) several years."

Assails "Reckless Spending"

Among other points which he brought forth for consideration were:

His support and the passage of the bill providing for a state constitutional amendment to put the state on a "cash on the barrelhead basis" after the "old clique" had written "hot checks the past ten years which amounted to approximately $25,000,000 and which you common citizens will have to pay."

His hopes for "doing something about reckless spending in the nation's capital," and here he made it a point to emphasize that he was not referring to national defense expenditures

His claims that he had "twisted the tails" of rebellious legislators in Austin and gained passage of the higher truck load limit.

Hits At Lobbyists

The assertion that he had nothing against capital or labor but that he believed his anti-strike legislation should be copied for the nation, "so that your sons and my sons will not have to train with broomsticks and branches of trees for guns."

The charges that it was "almost a miracle" that his program was so rapidly passed only a short time after the late Sen. Morris Sheppard's death and just after the resolution urging him to seek the office had been unanimously approved. In this connection the governor said that the tax bill raising social security legislation and other of his proposals were passed so quickly that some of the solons didn't know what had happened "until they read about it two or three days later in the newspapers."

The "old clique" and some of the new legislators were acidly referred to when he charged that work and "you common citizens" were neglected while they (some of the new solons) and the lobbyists "got acquainted."

One of the highlights of his appearance was his introduction of Rep. Hop Halsey and his accompanying praise for the Lubbock resident and solon. Halsey told the assemblage and Gov. O'Daniel that he had cast his vote for the governor, and urged those present to follow his example.

Earlier Saturday, Gov. O'Daniel had spoken at Odessa, Seminole and Lamesa with stops at inr te-vening points. Monday's itinerary will carry him, his party, his colorful truck, two other relay sound trucks and bus to Plainview, Tulia, Amarillo for a broadcast, Claude, Clarendon, Memphis, Childress, climaxing the day's activities with a night appearance in Vernon French forces also were retreating northward toward Beirut. The radio said this meant the main body of French in the mandate would be concentrated in front of what coastal city and that the main battle for Syria might take place there.

Just before the fall of Damascus, the French admitted the British had almost surrounded the city and were holding positions from only a mile to six miles outside its gates.

ate, told reporters that "nobody in Congress is more opposed to this bill than I am."

At the request of the war department, Johnson presented the bill on behalf of Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the military committee. Reynolds was out of Washington at the time.

"The bill was offered in my name because of my chairmanship," Reynolds explained. "I want it distinctly understood that it was introduced only by request. It is a very drastic bill, and before we can hold hearings on it I want to listen to any objections that senators have to offer."

Building Boosted By Phone Permit

A $240,663 permit to Southwestern Bell Telephone company, owner and contractor, for installation of new dial equipment which goes into use Aug. 2 spurred Lubbock's total Saturday, bringin the 1941 figure closer to that for the corresponding period of 1940.

The building volume for 1941 so far, as reflected by the building permits, stands at $1,803,462.40 —$394,931 less than the total of $2,198,394 in permits issued during the first six months of 1940.

The 1940 lead is slightly less than the $400,000 permit issued Jan. 1, 1940, to Lubbock National company for construction of its new office building.

The permit to the telephone company, according to L. R. Grimes, local manager, was the second to be issued in connection with the installation of the dial system which is scheduled to go into operation Aug. 1.

The first permit, for $60,000, was for an addition to the building at 1408 Broadway.

At least two other permits are to be taken out, probably within the next 10 days, in connection with the improvement, Grimes said. They probably will total around $100,000, he added, or a grand total of $400,000.

The actual cost of the change to the dial system will exceed $600,000, Grimes said. However, more than $200,000 of the total cost represents salvage from existing equipment, or the types of expansions which would not be shown in a building permit.

Two residence permits were issued Saturday: to R. E. Hefner, owner, and C. W. Gunn, contractor, 2304 Twenty-ninth street, $4,250; and to George Martin, owner, and C. B. Harris, contractor, 2507 Twenty-seventh street, $3,300.

They brought the month's residence total to 38, with a total valuation of $117,927, and for the year to 163 with a total valuation of $679,548.

Ninth-Inning Homer Beats Hubbers, 5-4; It's Big Spring Again Today At 3

Stevens, Reeves Combine To End Hubber Streak

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Wild William Sucky had his seventh victory of the season in the palm of his hand last night, but it slipped from his palm and against the big willow wielded by young Eddie Stevens, and young Eddie poled it over the right field wall to score a couple of runners ahead of him and give the league leading Big Spring Bombers a 5-4 victory in the ninth inning.

Up to the fatal ninth, Sucky had pitched shutout ball since the first, when the Bombers took a 2-run lead, and had given up only five blows, three of them in the initial inning.

SAKAS VS. KOHOUT TODAY

The Hubbers will try again, this afternoon, to take the league leaders down a notch. Manager Engle will pitch Steve Sakas against the Big Spring Bombers, and Manager Tate will retaliate with big Bob Kohout, the large man who defeated the Hubs a week ago today in Big Spring. The game starts at 3 o'clock, and fair weather should bring out one of the largest crowds of the season.

In the fourth inning, the Hubbers "walked" Andy Mohrlock off the mound after scoring their four runs, and thereafter couldn't get the job done against a newcomer lefthander, Mel Reeves, from California.

Mohrlock didn't allow but five hits during the nearly four innings he pitched, but he was pretty wild, and after he had loaded the bases, then walked two batsmen to force in two runs, Manager Jodie Tate drew him out and sent in Reeves, a Brooklyn Dodger signee sent to the Big Spring farm and originally intended as an outfielder. But the guy can pitch, too.

Eighteen Runners Die

Sucky had turned in a good pitching stunt, after the first inning, giving up a total of seven hits.

The Hubbers may have set a league record when they left no less than eighteen players stranded on the bases. Four times they loaded the sacks—and left them loaded when batsmen failed to deliver in the clinches.

Going into the ninth, Lubbock had a 4-2 lead that seemed safe enough, what with Sucky getting hotter every inning and striking out two men in the sixth, one in the seventh and three in the eighth. But Pitcher Reeves himself teed off with a single over second to start the ninth. Haney popped out to Mahan at short. The lead still seemed safe. Then Sucky and Umpire Lefty Craig walked Shortstop Hayden Greer for the fifth consecutive time, and up came Malcolm Stevens' big brother from Galveston.

Such business runs in the Stevens family, so the 16-year-old Eddie jumped on the third pitch—he had struck wildly at the first two—and sent it far and away over whichever avenue it is that runs back of the Hubber park. That tied the score and won the game. Larry Drake flied out to Bartkoswki in center, and Lindsey pop-fouled to his erstwhile Southwest conference opponent, Don Haley.

Spirit All Gone

The supposedly heavy end of the Hubber hitting department came up in the last of the ninth, but Bob Rivera, Lubbock's leading hitter with three singles, struck out; Warren Lorenz, whose consecutive hitting streak of ten straight safe blows was abruptly halted in the first inning, grounded out to third, and Gene Schlereth fanned and the game was over.

Sucky got out the bigwigs of the Bomber attack—J. L. Haney, leadoff man and left fielder, and Larry Drake, right fielder and cleanup hitter, without any trouble. But in the first inning, following Haney, Greer drew a walk. Stevens slapped a single to right. Drake popped to short, then Lindsey beat out an infield hit to short. Centerfielder Zmitrovich singled to center, and Bartkowski, trying to handle the easy bouncer with his meat hand, let it get away and Greer and Stevens scored. Poitras walked but was forced by Zigelman.

A snappy double play, featuring Lorenz, Bengston and Haley, cut

Henry Ransom Cops Texas Open Crown

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, June 21—In the most dramatic finish in the history of the Texas PGA and Open tournament, Henry Ransom, sunburned pro from Fort Worth's Glen Garden club, staved off a last-minute rush by Jimmie Gauntt of Longview and Harry Todd of Dallas to win the 1941 event over the Amarillo Country club course by two strokes.

His final round was a 77 and his 72-hole total was 286. Gauntt, who came up strong in the afternoon round to take the lead, faltered on the last five holes and dropped two strokes to finish with 288. Todd came in late and posted an afternoon score of 71 to match Gauntt.

In third place was amateur, John Olver, Amarillo Country club champion, with 290. Billy Bob Coffey of Fort Worth, state amateur title holder, was fifth with 291.

Ralph Morgan of Tyler, closing with a par 70, was third low pro with 294. Don Malarkey, Kilgore pro, and Jack Munger, Dallas amateur, were grouped at 295.

AMARILLO, June 21 (AP)—Texas PGA and Open Champion Henry Ransom announced immediately after he had won the 1941 tournament here this afternoon that his $500 prize would go for a defense bond.

He also becomes custodian of the huge silver PGA cup and the diamond-studded Texas Open medal. A total of $3,000 in cash will be distributed among the 30 low pros. Amaturs will get golf equipment prizes.

When the afternoon round started, Ransom was seven strokes ahead of the field with Gauntt in second place. They played in the same threesome, with Coffey the third member. When they made the turn, Gauntt had picked up five strokes and was one under par. He birdied 10 and 11 to catch Ransom, and on the short thirteenth he took the lead when Ransom went one over. It was the first time since the firing began Friday morning that the Fort Worth pro had been headed. But it was Gauntt's turn to go to pieces. He dropped strokes on no's 15, 17 and 18 to finish two strokes to the bad.

The weather was ideal, the wind having dropped during the morning, and a large gallery devoted itself exclusively to the dramatic Ransom-Gauntt match.

Sunday the Texas Cup matches will be played between 10-man teams, the pros captained by Jack Burke of Houston and the amateurs by Jack Munger of Dallas.

Demaret-Hogan Team Takes Long Lead In Inverness Tourney

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

TOLEDO, O., June 21.—Those two torrid Texans, Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan, took a strangle hold on the $2,000 top prize in the $7,000 Inverness invitational fourball golf tourney today as they halved one match and copped a six-up decision in another to jump six points ahead of the field with two rounds to go.

After being held even this morning by the second-place duo of Byron Nelson and Jimmy Thomson, the leaders came back in the afternoon with a 63—eight under par—to smother Sam Byrd and Johnny Bulla, the first day's leaders.

Demaret was the hot-shot in the sizzling afternoon round, his score a sparkling 66-32 on the front nine and 34 coming home.

Little Sinks Ace

With two rounds to go, the point standing of the eight twosomes, made up of 16 of the country's first-flight professionals was:

Demaret-Hogan, plus 11; Thomson-Nelson, plus 5; Horton Smith and Lawson Little, plus 3; Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, plus 1; Lloyd Mangrum and Harold "Jug" McSpaden, even; Dick Metz and Clayton Heafner, minus 5; Ralph Guldahl and E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, minus 5; Byrd-Bulla, minus 10.

Little, the 1940 Open king, furnished the fireworks today as he sank his tee shot on the 156-yard third hole for the only "ace" in the seven-year history of the tournament.

Lamesa Pounds Spuds, 15-12

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

WICHITA FALLS, June 21 — The Wichita Falls Spudders knotted the count with two runs in the ninth and then fell apart in the tenth as Lamesa took a 15-to-12 decision in a wild and woolly West Texas-New Mexico league game here tonight.

Manager Sammy Hale was chased out of Spudder Park for the first time this season following an argument with Umpire Swindell.

The Spudders got off with five runs in the first frame and knocked James Sullivan out of the box in the fourth with two hits and three runs.

Lamesa drove Southpaw Mike Pruitt from the mound in the eighth with a four-run barrage and gained an 11-to-9 advantage that was offset when the Spudders rallied in the ninth

Morgan Meets A Problem!

By Collier Parris

THE BIG, BAD BOMBERS FROM BIG SPRING are still with us, for a single and final game this afternoon starting at 3 o'clock. It's Steve Sakas' turn on the hill for the Hubbers.

It'll be Lubbock's last home appearance until a week from tomorrow night, to entertain Wichita Falls. From here they go to Pampa for two games, Borger for three, then back to Lamesa for three.

Your attention is directed over to page 6, section five of this edition—the "get acquainted" division of the sports department. There are some 25 or 30 sketches of local sport leaders, and you'll get a boot out of trying to identify them without looking at the names. Our apologies are hereby extended for not getting ALL the sports leaders and affiliates in the "get acquainted" section, but there's the matter of space and the matter of our own absent mindedness and the matter of non-cooperation on the part of some sports figures who wouldn't have their pictures tooken. But the "field" is pretty well covered, and we think you'll like it.

JOHN ODELL MORGAN is the sort of guy who would worry if you sawed one of his legs off. The Texas Tech head coach bustles in here to report that the final examination reports have been returned—and all the Red Raider football and basketball prospects for 1941 have made the grade!

You'd think that would be cause for joy in Mr. Morgan's department. But then he slumps down and starts worrying about the possibilities of some of his prize athletes passing the physical test for selective service.

"Can't you think of any old injury that Clarence Tillery might have had that would keep him out of the army?" queried Morgan, serious as heck.

We couldn't think of any disabling injury that might have happened to Tillery. The only injuries he has ever figured in, to our recollection, effected the morale, pride and maybe the physical well-being of Texas Tech's football opponents when he attached his deadly tackles and caught some deadly passes.

But maybe he'll turn up with a punctured ear drum or flat feet or a couple of hangnails. His number comes up this summer, no doubt. Some of the other numbers probably will come up, too.

Morgan is thinking seriously of having all the football players start majoring in agriculture or engineering—or of getting each of them married to a widow with six children.

BIG Charley Dvoracek, the fullback par excellence, got his questionnaire the other day—but the draft board turned him down because he has a 1-A classification in the study of agriculture. The army isn't dragging off to the drill camps the guys who are proficient in agriculture and engineering. Trouble is, old Charley may have to start farming!

Captain-Elect Ty Bain, the Quarterback, got himself married the other day—and here are belated congratulations, Ty, to both of you—but she wasn't a widow with six children and he might have to answer the call.

Not that any of us would hesitate to answer the call, Morgan included (and what a soldier he'd be!) but we'd sure like to see the Texas Tech football team in action this fall.

IF MORE people in more countries were more concerned about their athletic teams, they wouldn't have time to be concerned about submarines and bayonets.

We ain't no appeaser or isolationist, and we ain't got no conscientious scruples against giving the bloody business to anybody who even looks like he was in the notion of cutting off our water.

But they should have had coaches and managers instead of dictators and dirty warmongers.

Maybe it's our fault; maybe our "foreign missionaries" should have been broad-beamed ex-football stars and major league baseball players, accompanied by sports writers as propagandists.

SHORT, SHORT STORIES: To the kids and their moms and pops: The Texas Tech-Kiwanis Knothole Gang business starts again tomorrow, and Dell Morgan, who started the whole thing about ten years ago, is anxious to have all the youngsters between 7 and 16, inclusive, out there every week day morning except Saturday, at 8:30 o'clock . . . Monday's "organization" meeting is called for 9 o'clock, but thereafter the kids will congregate at the Tech field at 8:30 . . . Special invitation is extended to the underprivileged kids of the town. Maybe they won't all see the published announcement or hear it on the radio, so spread the news as much as you can. . . .

A golf match that'll set the woods afire is scheduled this week in New York and Boston . . . It's the long-waited contest between those famous left-handers, Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb. . . . Rivalry is so hot that Arthur Donovan, the celebrated fight referee, has been called in to referee the golf match between the ex-baseball stars. . . . It's to be hoped that Donovan's skin is as tough as a baseball umpire's, because the competitors, Cobb especially, don't mind spouting off and snarling and arguing over an official's decision . . .

Old Hack Miller rarely writes a letter, but he comes through with a novel postcard or gift sometimes, and the latest to this department is a miniature — very miniature — baseball bat, fixed to a special tag . . . Hack, by the way, is still doing a swell job of catching, and is one of the very top hitters in the Southeastern League, with something like .350, for Meridian, Miss. . . . And speaking of baseball, these junior league teams are playing a lot of ball around here, and you ought to go out and see them . . . A plan is under way for a special game to be played under the lights at Hubber Field one night when the Hubs are out of town . . . Watch for the announcement, and come out. . . .

MARTIN SETS RECORD

DALLAS, June 21 (AP)—Fred Martin, Houston's sensational hurler, set a new Texas league record tonight by squeezing in his 13th straight victory over the Dallas Rebels, 8 to 7.

The feat bested the record of his teammate, Howard Pollet, who came to Martin's rescue in the seventh inning when the Rebels scored 5 runs.

Jim Rollins Blanks Gassers For Clovis

CLOVIS, June 21 (Special) — Jim Rollins out-dueled lefty Bill Garland here tonight to give the Clovis Pioneers a 3-to-0 victory over the Borger Gassers in the series opener.

Rollins blanked the Gassers while the Pioneers were touching Garland for one run in the first and two in the seventh.

Nova Chosen For September Bout With Joe Louis

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 21. — Joe Louis can eat his fried chicken and while away the summer without worrying (if he ever did such a thing) over who will be the 19th challenger for the heavyweight boxing crown he has worn since 1937.

That little matter of business, No. 1 item on Promoter Mike Jacobs' calendar since Billy Conn bowed to Louis in the 13th round Wednesday, was settled today when Jacobs signed Lou Nova to meet the champ in September.

Jacobs will announce the exact date and site later. But in view of the crowd of more than 54,000 who paid nerly a half-million dollars to see Conn's gallant stand against the Bomber, it wouldn't be much of a surprise if Jacobs decides on either the Yankee stadium or Polo Grounds. It figures to be half-million dollar gate in either place.

Nova earned the chance the hard way. Two years ago he had just scored a technical knockout over Max Baer and his manager, Ray Carlen, was hunting Jacobs' office, asking that the California collegian be given a shot at bixing's richest prize. Then in September, 1939, he met Tony Galento in Philadelphia. "Two-Ton" Tony stopped Lou in the 14th round and for the next year, Nova was ill, his ring future in doubt.

But last fall, Lou came back. After a warmup bout or so on the West Coast he came East and punched promising Pat Comiskey all over the ring in Madison Square Garden. In April he tangled with Max Baer again and this time stopped the Livermore "Madcap" in eight rounds, three earlier than on their previous engagement.

Things looked a little dark again for Nova after Conn's impressive showing. Jacobs however, finally decided on Lou, thus forcing Billy to wait until next summer for another chance to capture the title that he so narrowly missed. Jacobs pointed out he selected Nova over Conn, Abe Simon and Buddy Baer because Lou was the only one that never had met the champ. Louis' managers also expressed a preference for Nova for the same reason.

Jack Knott, Moses And Others Beat Sox

PHILADELPHIA, June 21. (AP)—Clubbing out 15 hits to offset three Chicago home runs, the Athletics swamped the White Sox, 11 to 5, today to break a three-game losing streak.

Wally Moses, Dee Miles and Frank Hayes paced the attack as the Mackmen drove starting pitcher Jack Hallett to the showers in the second inning and continued the assault on Lee Rose and Pete Appleton.

Knothole Gang Organization Meeting Scheduled Monday

Head Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech, who was one of the originators of the idea back in 1931, has announced that the 1941 "class" of the Texas Tech-Kiwanis Knothole Gang would begin Monday morning and continue for six weeks at the college athletic grounds.

All boys, 7 to 16 years of age inclusive, are invited to take part in the activities planned this summer.

There'll be divisions according to age groups, and there'll be all kinds of outdoor games played each week day morning from 8:30 o'clock to 10:30.

Tomorrow's "organization" meeting, however, is called for 9 o'clock, after which there may be some games. Coach Morgan and his staff of assistants, made up of Texas Tech athletes, will talk with the boys when they meet in the west side of the football stadium Monday morning, and outline plans for the summer session.

Boys of the "underprivileged" class are especially invited to take part in the Knothole Gang activities. There is no cost involved to the boys and all boys, whether rich or poor, will be treated equally.

Everything from croquet to football, from softball to baseball, will be played. There will be touch football, horse shoe pitching, badminton and tennis, marble-shooting and possibly some shuffle-

Junior Loop Twin Bill Set For Hubber Field Friday

Lubbock's junior baseball league, now operating smoothly a week after the season opening, makes its first "public" appearance Friday night.

Four of the leading teams in the leagues will tangle in a double-header at Hubber Park, beginning at 7 o'clock.

In the opening game, a regular American league affair, Bill Dean's Yankees will tangle with the Kuykendall Chevrolet Cubs. In the second game, the Baker Company Cardinals and the Avalanche-Journal Dodgers will battle in a National league contest, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

The game will be a benefit for the Boys' club, which sponsors the junior league, and all proceeds above actual expenses will go to the Boys' club fund.

The league, organized as a unit of the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation under the sponsorship of the Boys' club and assisted by the Recreation department of the WPA, has been in operation since Monday. Boys from 10 to 13 compete in the American league, boys from 14 to 17 in the National league.

The Yankees and the Cubs are the two leading teams in the American league, the Yankees unbeaten in three games and the Cubs beat once in four starts. The Cardinals are also unbeaten in senior league competition, with two victories. The Dodgers have won one and lost two, but are considered to be among the best teams in the league.

Cardinals Support Ernie White For 6 To 0 Victory Over Giants

Southpaw Takes Second In Week

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—Ernie White, the Cardinals brilliant young southpaw, turned in his second two-hit shutout of the week today as he pitched the National League leaders to a 6 to 0 triumph over the New York Giants.

ERNIE WHITE

White allowed only a single by Bill Jurges in the second inning and another by Mel Ott in the fourth. He yielded five walks but never was in real trouble. His other two-hit whitewashing was recorded against Brooklyn last Sunday.

The victory stretched the Cards' lead to three full games over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were beaten in Cincinnati, and it ended the Giants' winning streak after four straight.

Paced by Enos Slaughter, who drove in three runs with a pair of singles, the Cards belted Bill Lohrman for all their ten hits and six runs in the first seven innings.

CINCINNATI, June 21. (AP) — Elmer Riddle, 23-year-old right hander, continued to take up some of the slack in the Cincinnati pitching staff toady as he hurled six-hit ball in the world champions' 4 to 1 decision over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

In chalking up his sixth victory without a defeat, Riddle fanned eight Dodgers and had a shut out until the ninth.

TAAF Schedule Full Today

Sundown Plays Bettesmen Here

TODAY'S SCHEDULE
Sundown vs. Bettesmen at Lubbock.
Levelland at Seagraves.
Dr. Pepper at Plainview.
Wolfforth at Sudan.
Denver City at Plains.

Three league leaders in the South Plains TAAF baseball league put their undefeated records on the block today in games in Lubbock, Sudan and Seagraves.

Sundown's crack team, victorious in two starts, will play the Lubbock Bettesmen on the Arnett-Benson diamond, the game scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock. Clarence Tillery, Texas Tech's ace football end, is scheduled to start on the mound for the visitors, with Nicholas the probable Lubbock choice.

Fred Rich's Barg's Root Beer team will journey to Sudan to engage Tot Allen's sluggers. The Root Beers have won three straight games, downing Lubbock Dr. Pepper, Plains and Seagraves. Sudan lost its opening game to Levelland, also still undefeated, then whipped Denver City 16 to 0 on Ernest Minyard's no-hit pitching.

Dr. Pepper At Plainview

Levelland, the third of the trio now tied for the league lead, risks its record at Seagraves. Seagraves has yet to win a game, but has been improving steadily, dropping a 4 to 3 contest to Wolfforth last Sunday.

The Lubbock Dr. Pepper team plays Earl Thompson's Plainview team in Plainview. The Dr. Peppers, last year's champions, have won and lost one game, while Plainview has won one and lost two.

The fifth game of the day finds Denver City at Plains. Denver City also has yet to win a game, while Plains has won one, a ten-inning decision over Seagraves, and lost two.

Bombers Win

down a Bomber rally in the second after two had walked, and another, started by Mahan, did the business in the fourth. Poitras got a double in the sixth, but Sucky struck out Zigelman and Reeves. Zmitrovich previously had popped to Schlereth in left.

Mahan Starts Rally

Sucky allowed a walk in the seventh, another in the eighth, but was able to get the enemy out with no difficulty.

Lubbock got a single, by Rivera, and a walk in the first inning, two hit-batsmen in the second, and three hits, including a double by Bartkowski, in the third, but for no good. A double play and a fly to center got 'em out.

In the fourth, Mahan drew a walk to start with. Sucky walked, and was forced at second by Bengston's grounder to third. Rivera walked to stuff the bases, then Lorenz singled to left and Mahan and Bengston scored. Schlereth walked, and Bartkowski struck out. Haley walked, forcing in Rivera, and Castino walked, forcing in Lorenz and forcing out Pitcher Mohrlock.

Lefty Reeves struck out Mahan, up for the second time that inning, to retire the side, and leaving three Hubs stranded.

The Hubs had left the sacks loaded in the third; they did it again in the sixth and again in the eighth, three of them going down swinging in the latter frame.

BILL DEAN'S COLUMN

This is Jimmie Gunn. He's the guy to get acquainted with if you want to get anything done around BILL DEAN'S. He really runs the place. Give him half a chance and he'll make a regular customer out of old sourpuss himself.

Next to W. E. "Hoke" Weeks, than whom there is no whicher in the mechanical line. "Hoke" can make a balky motor lay down and roll over. When he tunes the old bus she stays tuned.

If you see a pair of number 12 shoes projecting from under a car in the shop at BILL DEAN'S—that's Jim Dobbs. Jim gets the job done and you will like his work.

This is the senior half of our efficient brother act—Arthur "Ott" Sparks. "Ott" knows his way around the lubrication department — take it from me. You will like his work, his personality and his little brother.

Dick Sparks, who completes the Sparks delegation. Ott brother hails from Rule, Texas, but don't hold that against him. I'll set 'em up if he doesn't give you better service in less time than you ever got before.

This is that famous wit Fred, the flat buster. Fred had quite a scare the other day. Said Fred, "I was kidnapped. I went to my house and looked in bed and I was gone."

Louie Hereford admits that he is the best car washer in these here parts and who am I to question his word. Louie bought a pair of size 11 shoes for June-teenth but says they were the wrong kind of 'levens.

R. B. "Bob" Lee is a member of the firm of DEAN SUPPLY COMPANY, the wholesale end of this business. Bob works the territory and keeps the dealers supplied with QUAKER STATE OIL, PENNSYLVANIA TIRES and NATIONAL BATTERIES. A veteran in the business, he has a large and loyal following in the trade.

If you place a blotter even with this gent's eyes and cover the lower part of his face you will probably recognize ole open-handed Dean. But, more than likely, you didn't get this far down anyway. See you next week.

HEN WILL NOT PRODUCE COUNTERFEIT EGG

By ROBERT PENQUITE
Associate Professor, Poultry Department Oklahoma A. & M. College

The hen that does not receive a laying mash during the summer months is laboring under a serious handicap because she is requested to produce a counterfeit article. This is something that nature will not allow her to perform. Consequently, she ceases to lay.

An analysis of the egg shows clearly that all eggs contain definite amounts of protein, fats, minerals and vitamins. Experiments in nutrition prove that these materials must be supplied to the hen in the raw state in the proper amounts.

When the hen does not receive a laying mash during the summer months the raw materials usually lacking are proteins and vitamins. Many flock owners think that laying mash is too expensive to feed in the summer months. On the contrary, no flock owner can afford not to feed a laying mash where a flock of hens is kept for egg production. The hen has demonstrated time after time that, although one of the smallest animals on the farm, she is one of the best summer revenue producers.

FEED YOUR FLOCK THIS SUMMER FOR SUSTAINED PRODUCTION AND MORE PROFITS THIS FALL.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
With disturbed conditions of the world, monies of the peoples have greatly depreciated in value: other countries more than that of the United States. There is every reason to anticipate further reduction in the value of our money, thus enhancing the value of real estate, especially land around Lubbock. Lubbock is the best town in the west, with the best expectancy. We have for sale, one property of 200 acres, with extra good improvements and modern conveniences. Sales price moderate, value should be double, in few years.

Lubbock Housing Shortage Is Shown By Recent Survey

The general knowledge that Lubbock already is confronted with a housing shortage was given emphatic confirmation Saturday by the results of a survey made during the past week under the supervision of Knox T. Thomas, secretary-treasurer of First Federal Savings and Loan association.

Results of the survey were reported to the chamber of commerce, and comprise one of the preparatory steps toward the handling of whatever housing problem may result from the construction and the operation here of the recently awarded advanced twin-engine aviation training school of the army air corps.

Caution Is Advised

Despite the existing shortage, suggestions came from several sources that caution should be the policy of those who contemplate new building or the enlargement of existing residences, apartment houses and the like until information is more definite as to what will be required in the way of housing in Lubbock.

In particular, there was the comment in one authoritative quarter that disappointment is almost certain to be in store for those who expect to "get well" financially from the rooms, apartments or residences they may have for rent.

The survey during the past week, Thomas reported, included all the area within the city limits which lies west of Texas avenue and south of Fourth street.

The survey discovered a total of 142 vacancies of all kinds, including 31 houses in rentable condition, 23 houses in bad repair, 23 duplex apartments, and 65 apartments of other kinds, Thomas said.

The apartments were not inspected, he explained, so that figure can be taken only as an estimate, as the vacancies were determined from newspaper advertising and owner's cards in windows. However, Thomas reported, about 95 per cent of the apartments either are of garage type or are in one-family residences.

Cooperating in the survey were the local federal housing officers and Glen Hess of the Real Estate board which has been inactive for many months.

Houses Being Built

In addition to the vacancies, 84 new residences were reported to be under construction within the area inspected.

Likewise there has been a sharp increase since the aviation school was announced for Lubbock in the number of city building permits for residences. Within the past 10 days, permits have been issued for residence contruction costing more than $100,000 and the indications Saturday seemed to be that the pace is more likely to accelerate than slacken.

Official information still was wholly lacking as to the procedure that will be followed in handling rentals after the school is operating here—and especially, how rentals will be handled for the married commissioned officers who will bring their families here.

Officers Are Protected

Experience in other cities in which training centers of various kinds have been located, however, was reported as being that official boards protect such officers from attempted gouging. Experience also has been, according to reports here, that they insist upon "something nice."

Various official sources emphasized, however, that there can be no reliable knowledge as to what housing needs are going to be until more definite information is received concerning the plans for the training school.

Special Venire Will Report For Trial

A special venire of 7 men will report to Judge Daniel A. Blair in 72nd district court at 10 o'clock Monday morning when one of three capital offense cases is scheduled for hearing.

Non-jury action will be called in 72nd court pending completion of criminal cases and civil matters are set in the 99th district court of Judge E. L. Pitts.

Court officials said which ever of the cases of John Bush and Leon Brown, indicted for murder, or Oland Saint, 18, charged with rape, is ready Monday will be called.

Bush, 21, and Brown are charged with murder in the shooting of Glenn Davis the night of May 23. Brown is 19.

City Makes Bid For Clubs Meet

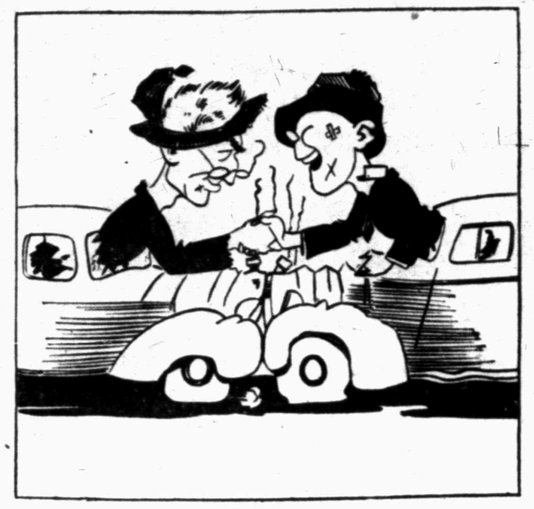

City Federation has invited the executive committee of the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, to name Lubbock convention city for the annual spring convention in 1942. The convention was held in Amarillo this year.

Although present records of the City Federation cover only since 1930, the Federation was organized about 1925, an outgrowth of the Lubbock Civic League, for the purpose of sponsoring a club house. Mrs. Garland Woodward, nov of Houston, was first president and when she moved from Lubbock Mrs. J. F. Hankins, first vice-president completed her term.

Later presidents were Miss Mae Murfee, Mesdames A. T. Biggers, J. H. Hankins, W. A. Jackson, now of Houston, E. L. Banks and N. H. Holt. The office tenure is two years.

Various projects have been carried out by the organization. The next undertaking will be to serve as hostess for the Latin-American seminar which opens here Monday.

Officers are: president, Mrs. George S. Berry; first vice-president, Mrs. Rex Tynes; second vice-president, Mrs. T. R. Prideaux; recording secretary, Mrs. Bryan Edwards; telephoning secretary, Mrs. C. D. Doggett; auditor, Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Brock; reporter, Mrs. Truman Camp; parliamentarian, Mrs. Vance Apple; historian, Mrs. Frank Haden.

"Gosh, we'd be awful dern mad if it wasn't Get Acquainted Week, eh?"

Swimming Meets To Be Held This Week

Muleshoe, Plainview and Post will be the scenes this week of the first of nine district swimming meets of the summer in South Plains Boy Scout council, according to announcement Saturday by Jack O. Stone, council executive.

The Muleshoe meet is scheduled Monday afternoon, and will be for scouts there and in Amherst, Sudan and Roaring Springs. The Plainview contests are to be held Friday afternoon, and will be for boys there and in Dimmitt, Silverton, Tulia and Petersburg. The Post contests are scheduled Saturday afternoon for scouts there and in Slaton, Tahoka and Southland.

Boys placing first, second and third in junior, intermediate and senior events will qualify for the council tournament in Lubbock city swimming pool the night of July 18, the executive said.

He also announced that arrangements are complete for the encampment for negro scouts at Camp Post Monday through Saturday. Final encampment for white scouts at Post ended Saturday afternoon.

Hub City Credit Group Is Affiliate Of Credit Breakfast Clubs

Hub City Credit council, affiliate of the Credit Women's Breakfast Clubs of North America, was founded in July, 1939, with Miss Helen Peters as president and 31 charter members.

The club continues to grow, has instituted a study course for each third Thursday night in each month and became affiliated with the breakfast club in January this year.

Mrs. Roy C. Coffee is fiscal president, having been installed with other new officers last May 7 in a candlelighting ceremony, the council celebrating Lubbock's golden jubilee at the same time.

Mrs. Roy Coffee

Other officers are Mrs. Herbert T. Johnson, vice president; Mrs. Sally Francis, secretary, and Miss Addie Lee Lindsey, Mrs. Billye Parker and Mrs. Dorothy Phieffer, directors.

Only employes of member firms of Lubbock Retail Merchants association are eligible for membership. Purpose of the club is promotion of education in the field of credit.

Besides Miss Peters, other charter officers were:

Miss Alva Richardson, vice president; Mrs. Donna Cook, secretary; Mrs. Gladys Workman, Miss Celia West, Miss Minnie Hazel Gore and Mrs. Lela Smith, directors.

Suicide Verdict In Death Of Prisoner

DALLAS, June 21 (AP)—A cell mate, rising to light a cigaret, found a 58-year-old city jail inmate hanging by a shirt from an upper bunk early today.

The man, charged with criminal assault of an 11-year-old school girl, left a note asserting his innocence.

NEW RECORD SET

CHICAGO, June 21 (AP) — Miss Margaret Hamma, 27, of New York, established a new world record in typing—149 words a minute—in winning the international commercial schools contest last night. The former champion, Albert Tangora of Evanston, Ill., was runner-up with 142 words, one better than his old world mark.

Forty-Seventh Legislature Almost Certain To Set A New Record For Length

Deadlock Over Recess Remains

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 21. — The 47th Texas legislature today seemed almost certainly headed toward setting a new record for length of a legislative session.

A long deadlock between the House and Senate over whether to adjourn finally or recess until mid-July was unsettled at the week end. The Senate had adjourned until Tuesday and the House until 4:30 p. m. Monday and unless the fight is patched up promptly when it reconvenes the session will pass previous number of days.

Present Record 163

The present record length of 163 days was established by the 46th legislature. The 47th will reach that number of days on Wednesday and will establish a new mark if it is still here next Thursday.

There was considerable evidence that the Senate will not have a quorum when it is supposed to reconvene Tuesday. When the body adjourned Friday for the week end, several of the senators were packing up their belongings and three already had gone home.

Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston proposed that the senators go home and stay there until the House agreed to end the session. A Senate resolution to do so on Wednesday was sent to the House as the Senate's latest proposal.

House To Be Helpless

If Senators follow Moore's advice there is no way for the House to force absentee senators to come back. By ordering a "call" to procure a quorum the senators present can make the absentees come to Austin, but the House cannot compel Senate attendance.

Closeness of the U. S. senatorial election on June 28 led many to believe the House will stand firm in its plan to remain in session or keep the legislators in position to come back and review expected vetoes of appropriation items.

Rep. Houston McMurry of Henrietta calculated that the legislature has spent $50,000 by prolonging its session in the dispute over recess and sine die adjournment. He advocated staying in session until early in July "so we can finish our work and go home."

Could Settle Things

"By that time," said McMurry, "the appropriations will have been acted on, the Senate race will be over, and we'll know whether the legislature will be reconvened if necessary."

For the first time, the House late Friday voted down a recess-sine die adjournment plan. It would have sent the members home without pay on June 25 and brought them back for a three-day stay on July 15. After defeating that resolution, proponents of outright adjournment tried unsuccessfully to obtain a House vote on the Senate-passed resolution for June 25 sine die adjournment.

The House voted for adjournment until 4:30 p. m. Monday when a point of order was raised against following the Senate's example of quitting until Tuesday. The constitution provides that joint consent must be given for either House or Senate to recess for longer than a three-day period.

Will Lack Quorum

It is expected that the House will lack a quorum (100 of its 150 members) on Monday afternoon, so it will adjourn automatically until Tuesday morning without transacting any business.

Last of the appropriation bills has been enrolled and sent to the governor's office. He will have to act on them by July 3 if the legislature does not adjourn in the meantime. If it adjourns before that time, he has an additional 10 days in which to sign or veto measures.

Besides the right to review vetoes and override them by two-thirds vote, some members have voted to stay in session to see if Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, in event of his election, will resign at once and go to Washington or follow the late Huey Long's plan of continuing to hold the governor's office.

Bills To Be Left

If the session adjourns without further action, it will leave hanging two bills that have been called "must" matters. One is House bill 611, to make state old age pension requirements conform to rules of the federal social security board. For several years, the board has threatened to cease matching Texas pension grants unless the change is made. July 1 is announced as the final deadline.

Despairing of getting the bill through the Senate in its present form, Sen. Clem Fain of Livingston has arranged amendments on which he hopes to work out an agreement next week.

Big stumbling block to the bill is the fact that nearly all the House members and most of the senators who had to run last summer pledged more liberal pension regulations while the social security board is demanding restrictions.

The state's participation in retirement of road bonds issued for building roads now a part of the state highway system is also unsettled. If county officials get all they are contending for, the state will continue to meet current payments on such bonds and pay the surplus provided by 1-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax to the counties for local road purposes.

The Texas Good Roads association has contended for turning over the surplus to the highway department for construction purposes. If there is a deadlock to the end of the session all of the cent-a-gallon tax would go to the highway department.

Superintendent Hale Taught School In County 15 Years

He had taught school seven years in Lubbock county's rural schools and eight years in Junior High school here, so it was rather natural that Claude L. Hale should dovetail into the county superintendent's office here, his friends say.

The county superintendent, who lives at 2111 Sixteenth street, was born July 2, 1893, near Bonham, and he went to East Texas and North Texas normal colleges, as well as Texas Technological college. He has two degrees, a B. A. he took at Tech, and an M. A.

Claude Hale

He was married in 1916 at Chisholm, Rockwall county, Texas, to Miss Clatie Frances Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Morrison of Caddo Mills, and one son was born to them, Lee Edwyn Hale, a sophomore in Tulane Medical school of New Orleans.

Hale is a Mason and a member of the Methodist church and the Kiwanis club. He is a member of the chamber of commerce, and secretary to the Lubbock County Tuberculosis association.

He is serving his first term as county superintendent.

His hobby is flower culture and yard beautification, and he goes to baseball, football and hunting for his sports.

Woman Fails In Her Fight For Freedom

DALLAS, June 21. (U.P.)—Peggy Hurd King's fight for freedom from the U. S. women's reformatory at Seagoville for herself and her one-month-old baby failed today when Federal Judge W. H. Atwell ordered her remanded to that institution following a habeas corpus hearing.

Mrs. King, 19, was sentenced to the reformatory on a Dyer act charge and she sought freedom on the basis that she plead guilty to the charge when she was pregnant and believed she would be given a suspended sentence.

At today's hearing Mrs. King admitted that no federal official ever had promised her a suspended sentence if she would plead guilty to the charge against her—that of transporting a stolen automobile across state boundaries.

She was first convicted in Salt Lake City.

Big Crop Yield Still Possible

AUSTIN, June 21. (AP) — Good growing weather can still result in fairly high yields of truck crops in Texas despite excessive moisture, the United States department of agriculture marketing service said today.

Important commercial truck crops remaining for harvest were cantaloupes, onions, potatoes and watermelons.

Cantaloupes and watermelons began to move from the early southern counties, but production of all other crops was to come from the eastern, northern and northwestern commercial districts, the report declared.

General rains continued through the first half of June and all districts had ample moisture. Rains caused delay of the onion harvest in the important North Texas districts and of the potato harvest in the central and northeastern parts of the state.

Damage to the panhandle potato crop was also reported.

Texas tomato movement for the latter part of June was to be mainly from the older East Texas districts. Most of the tonnage remaining in the lower valley was expected to go to canning plants.

Carpenters Union Organized In 1916

Lubbock Carpenters Local union 1884 was organized Aug. 4, 1916, with a charter membership of 16 persons and had steady growth through the peak year of 1927.

V. C. King

There are 130 members, headed by V. C. King, president. Other officers are C. C. Stringer, vice president; J. G. Wilhite, recording secretary; Ray Walden, financial secretary; Ray Corbin, conductor; O. B. Williams, warden, and Bain McCarrol, B. H. Dennison and A. J. King, trustees.

Records of the original group are not available but members of the charter directorate are reliably reported to have been Bill Bramblett, J. W. Agnew, Zeb Agnew, Billie Clark, Jack Swatley, Lucian Curry and L. W. Squyres. Squyres was financial secretary.

Purpose of the union is to create and maintain a fair wage scale, to promote a higher standard of living and a common understanding, and to give every individual a chance to make a living, based upon social and economic fairness.

Opening Of New Pool Looms With Cochran County Well

BY JOHN B. BREWER
Special Oil Writer

Improved showing through reacidizing by a Cochran county wildcat that may open a new pool or extend the Duggan sector of the Slaughter field northwest and prospects of a strike in northwestern Terry county held most interest in the north part of the West Texas Permian Basin late in the week. Favorable markers had been logged by a wildcat each in Yoakum and Martin counties.

Continuing to lead the district in new production added weekly, the four most northerly producing counties, Cochran, Hockley, Yoakum and Gaines, registered 21 completed wells with total daily potential yield of 19,039 barrels. Cochran county accounted for a quartet good for 3,607 barrels, Hockley county eight for 6,494 barrels, Yoakum five for 5,224 barrels and Gaines county four for 3,714 barrels. The record for the preceding week was 20 producers rating 18,111 barrels.

Retreated With Acid

O'Neal Drilling Co. No. 1 Della Saughter Wright on the southeast edge of Whiteface was retreated with 6,000 gallons of acid and on one six hour test swabbed 93 barrels of fluid cut 10 to 40 per cent by water and four to 20 per cent by basic sediment. During another period of two hours 48 barrels of fluid recovered showed only eight per cent basic sediment and 12 per cent water. Testing continued, with the total depth 4,983 feet in lime. The wildcat is 440 feet out of the northeast corner of labor 12, league 60, Martin county school land survey.

Magnolia No. 6 F. L. Woodley, in Cochran county, extending the north end of the Duggan sector of the Slaughter field three-quarters of a mile west, was finaled at 4,949 feet with a daily potential of 632 barrels of oil and gas-oil ratio of 688-1. It is in league 57, Oldham county school land survey.

One Of Week's Failures

One of the week's failures was Humble, Stanolind and Standard of Texas No. 1 A. F. Byrd, scheduled 9,000-foot wildcat in Hale county two miles northeast of Petersburg. It encountered granite at 6,755 feet and shutdown for orders at 6,760. Location is 660 feet from the south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 17, block K, T. T. Ry. Co. survey.

Disappointing in early tests following treatment with 1,000 gallons of acid, The Texas Co. No. 1 S. T. Murphy, swabbed 40 barrels of fluid, 3 per cent oil and 37 per cent basic sediment and water, after a 15-hour shutdown. This was more oil and less water than had been swabbed previously. Testing continued, with the total dept. 9,275 feet. No. 1 Murphy is 660 feet out of the northwest corner of section 22-K-psl.

Yates Sand Topped

Dr. Sam G. Dunn and H. L. Cain of Lubbock No. 1 R. L. Moore, Yoakum county wildcat, with elevation of 2,580 feet, topped the anhydrite at 2,580 feet and the Yates sand at 3,370. Top of the brown lime was picked both at 4,390 and 4,410 feet. The test is 47 feet out of the southeast corner of section 486-D, John H. Gibson, one miles west and one location north of Livermore No. 1 Shell-Ownby, pool opener or extension to the Waples Platter pool, three miles north and three-quarters of a mile east.

J. W. Murchison No. 1 Texas Pacific M. B. Sawyer, old test in Yoakum county scheduled to deepen from 5,255 to 7,000 feet unless production is obtained at a lesser depth, began drilling after reaming the hole and cementing 8 5-8-inch casing at 2,300 feet. It is 350 feet out of the southeast corner of section 720-D-John H. Gibson.

Texas Pacific and Seaboard No. 1-C Midland Farms, scheduled 5,500-foot rotary wildcat in southeastern Andrews county, spudded Thursday night and had drilled Friday morning past 130 feet in redbeds. It is 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 8-41-In-T&P, 14 miles northwest of Midland.

Well Is Abandoned

Mascho No. 1 Gulf-University in southern Andrews county, in the northwest corner of section 19-9-U, three miles north of the Emma pool and the same distance south of the Fuhrman field, was abandoned at 4,517 feet, 17 feet below contract depth. The last core showed porous lime probably carrying water.

Mascho No. 1 Texaco-University, Andrews county wildcat in the Shafter Lake area, in the northwest quarter of section 11-13-U, had drilled past 4,289 feet in gray lime, the top of which was picked by the driller at 4,230. Magnolia No. 1 B. B. Ralph, Andrews wildcat in the northeast corner of section 20-A38-psl, had passed 5,180 feet in porous lime showing nothing.

Devonian completed two of Cochran county's producers, No. 4 Boyd for 1,181 barrels and No. 5-B Duggan for 809 barrels, Honolulu No. 5-3 Igoe-Smith rated 985 barrels daily.

S. W. Richardson led in Hockley county, his No. 3 Coe being finished for 931 barrels, No. 5-C R. L. Slaughter, jr., for 1,392 barrels and No. 4 Sun-Allison for 850 barrels. Tide Water No. 2 Sue Alice Slaughter registered 551 barrels daily, Honolulu No. 4-A Mallett 585 barrels, Honolulu No. 5-B Mallett 936 barrels, Fain & Riner No. 3 R. L. Slaughter 524 barrels and Milhoan No. 1 Fannin-Slaughter 714 barrels.

Completions in Yoakum county were Denver No. 6-A Whittenburg for 1,286 barrels, Drilling and Exploration Co. No. 1-A Hudson for 392 barrels plus four per cent water, Aloco No. 16-B Miller for 899 barrels, Aloco No. 10 Walker for 184 barrels and Argo No. 3-B Comer for 2,362 barrels.

In Gaines county Continental No. 8-46 Moore registered a daily potential of 872 barrels, Carter and Continental No. 2-A Willard 1,126 barrels, Amon G. Carter No. 10-45 Moore 867 barrels and Amerada No. 3 Austin 849 barrels.

Those words with that delightful accent tumbled from pretty Sara Belze, wife of the general director of the Turkish government's press department, in an interview here. She skipped political discussions.

She and her sister, Eva Gabor, Hollywood actress, were en route to Hollywood by plane.

Technical Club Has Civic Enterprises As One Of Aims

Highly instrumental in the promotion of a city zoning ordinance and the improvement of the local water supply, the Lubbock Technical club is composed of men from Lubbock and vicinity engaged in technical work.

The club was organized on March 3, 1936 at the instigation of a group of engineers including Dean O. V. Adams of Texas Tech, H. N. Roberts, H. F. Godeke, J. H. Murdough and Lon C. Ingram with an original membership of 45.

Carl Svensen, Lubbock architect, is president; G. W. Parkhill, Tech professor, vice president; and C. G. Decker, secretary-treasurer. H. N. Roberts served as the club's first president, Homer D. Grant, vice president; and Parkhill, secretary-treasurer.

In general the purposes of the club were, and still are, to promote a feeling of closer unity among its membership, which, according to the by-laws of the club is limited to men of technical training or occupation to promote such civic enterprises at it deems worthy to broaden the viewpoint of each of its members through the discussion of many and varied subjects introduced by outside speakers or by those in the club itself who might be considered experts along certain lines; and, through the sponsoring of certain public speakers and exhibits, to develop a greater civic interest in matters technical.

The club meets the first Tuesday night of each month.

Texas' New Senator Has 87th Birthday

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The Senate's oldest—and in point of service, newest—member reached his 87th birthday today.

Andrew Jackson Houston, interim Democratic senator from Texas appointed to serve until the winner of a June 28 special election is seated, planned no special activities to mark the anniversary. A son of Texas' favorite hero, Sam Houston, he took the oath as senator June 2 to succeed the late Morris Sheppard.

The oldest man ever to enter the senate, Houston has attended four daily sessions but spends most of the time in his hotel where he lives with two daughters.

Oil Demand In July Will Show Increase

WASHINGTON, June 21. (AP)—The Bureau of Mines today forecast the July market demand for domestic crude oil at 119,260,000 barrels, or 3,847,100 barrels daily.

This was 17,100 barrels higher than the estimated daily demand for June and 6 per cent above the actual demand for July, 1940.

The bureau estimated July crude oil exports would amount to 2,900,000 barrels, against actual exports of 5,607,000 in the same month last year.

Domestic demand for motor fuel in July was estimated at 60,300,000 barrels, an increase of 12 per cent over the abnormally low actual demand in July 1940, but an increase of 10 per cent over the bureau's estimated normal for that month.

Houston's Kin Seeks To Secure West Point Post

BY L. T. EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP) — A great-great-grandson of General Sam Houston has applied to Andrew Jackson Houston, Texas Democratic interim senator, for an appointment to West Point Military academy.

He is Henry Aurand, jr., of Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

About the time of the appointment of the 86-year-old son of Sam Houston as a temporary successor to the late Senator Morris Sheppard, Representative Kleberg of Corpus Christi received a letter from Aurand's mother, Mrs. Edward S. Everitt, asking whether he or any other Texas congressman had a vacancy in West Point to fill.

She said the boy's father was an army officer, and suggested that because of his relationship to the great Texas hero—he is a great nephew of Senator Andrew Jackson Houston—they might be willing to give the youth an appointment.

Under Consideration

But not one of the Texas representatives had a vacancy to fill at the present time, so they as a body signed a letter referring the young man to Senator Houston to see what he could do. Shortly after the state's octogenarian junior senator arrived here, Aurand called upon his aged kinsman in person and pressed his case.

The matter is still under consideration, but aides of Senator Houston said there was little likelihood that the request could be granted. There are no vacancies for Houston to fill coming up before July 1. Though it is unlikely the duly elected candidate in the special senatorial election of June 28 will have time to be seated by the time the war department announces the vacancies in the academy, custom more or less decrees that the incoming senator should get to make the appointments.

Mrs. Everitt stated in her letter to Kleberg that her father was the late D. E. Decker of Quanah, Texas, and that her brother was Major Stiles Decker of Houston.

He Takes It Easy

Senator Houston spent a quiet week-end in his hotel apartment suite his first Saturday and Sunday here after taking the oath of office.

His secretary, D. R. Potter, said he expected to do some sight-seeing around Washington before his term comes to an end in about three weeks.

As an aide to Senator Sheppard for 15 years, Potter assumed the responsibility for the bulk of business coming into that office after the death of the veteran Texas legislator. When he became Houston's secretary he continued to handle practically all the work of the office, referring with explanations to the aged senator only the most important matters.

Exactly a week after his induction, Senator Houston attended his first committee meeting, a closed hearing of the Senate Postoffice and Post Roads group.

REPRESENTATIVE GENE WORLEY made his first speech in Congress during debate on legislation to extend the President's power to devalue the dollar.

It was very perplexing legislation, confusing to most congressmen as well as the layman. Because he was on the committee which considered the measure, Worley spent a great deal of time reading upon the subject.

Before starting to talk, he frankly confessed that before his recent studies he knew little or nothing of the very confounding angles in international monetary problems and that he still did not profess to know a great deal. However, he talked so convincingly that the majority followed his recommendations in defeating two amendments sponsored by Republicans.

Assessor-Collector Is Friendly Fellow; H. B. Bryan Likes Hunting

H. B. Bryan, county tax assessor-collector, is a friendly sort of fellow—about as friendly as you'll find in a day's flight.

The initials are all—they represent nothing.

He was born Feb. 18, 1907 in the Indian territory of Oklahoma. Memphis, Texas, High school, Draughon's Business college and Texas Technological college were his schools.

H. B. Bryan

A son of Henry Bunyan Bryan and the former Mary Frances Campbell, he was married Nov. 28, 1929, in Lubbock to Miss Bobbye Dawson, daughter of Norman Buck Dawson and the former Sarah Jane Cozart. They have two children, Jim Bob, 9, and Joe Dale, 5.

He is a member of the Masonic bodies, the Methodist church and the American Business club.

Bryan, known to his friends simply as "H," likes his hunting, but he doesn't have much time for it. Drink a cup of coffee some time with him and steer the conversation toward shooting and he'll take the bait readily enough.

The family lives at 2003 Twenty-eighth street.

The husband contended it was all in fun.

The justice, saying Mrs. Peters had proved her charges of cruelty, awarded her $6 a week alimony, after Peters said his income as a waiter was $20 to $25 a week.

Of late the major activities have been to help the chapters in Canada to do their part in aid to the British. These latter chapters are in charge of canteens for the soldiers, aviators and refugees from England.

The cultural programs are based on a study of the fine arts, including painting, sculpture, architecture and the dance.

The first international convention will be held in Kansas City in June with national defense as its theme. The state convention will be held in Austin next fall and several chapter members are planning to attend.

The national organization was founded in 1931 in Kansas City and now there are 1170 chapters and 23,000 members in the United States and Canada.

Present officers in the Lubbock chapter are: president, Mrs. Dayle Vannoy; vice-president, Mrs. Lloyd Zellner; corresponding secretary, Mrs. P. T. Glazner; recording secretary, Miss Bertha Singley and treasurer, Mrs. Nathan White.

Automobile Dealers Of City Seeking To Keep Down Excessive Taxes

Lubbock Automobile Dealers association was organized in 1929 to create better trade relations between Lubbock car distributors and has spent much time and money in its attempts to keep down excessive taxes that perforce would be passed on to automobile purchasers.

Ray Dickey

The association recently passed on to the ways and means committee of the congress a petition objecting to a proposed 20 per cent defense tax on new and used cars, parts and accessories, suggesting that such a tax would mean ultimate end of many car dealers and would be a tremendous burden on persons in absolute need of motor transportation.

The association, however, pointed out its belief in the automotive industry's need to bear its part of the defense program's costs.

J. R. Dickey is president of the association; C. A. Bestwick is vice president, Fenner Tubbs, secretary-treasurer.

Letter Carriers Unit Here Affiliated With Federation Of Labor

Branch No. 2589 of the National Association of Letter Carriers was established in 1924 as an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor. It had three members, John Morrison, W. B. Sides and J. O. Morrison. J. O. Morrison has been transferred from Lubbock, but Sides and John Morrison are still employed in the Lubbock service.

McLaurin

By 1936 the carrier force here had expanded to 11 regular carriers and two substitute carriers. At the present time the carrier force consists of 20 regular carriers and eight substitutes, including operators of three parcel-and-relay trucks, but excluding the rural mail service. Nine carriers have to be carried to and from their territory by bus because of the great distance from the postoffice to which the mail service extends.

Civil service examinations have recruited the carriers from many occupations. Some have been farmers, grocery clerks, school teachers, soda-jerkers, carpenters, dairy operators and radio repairmen. All but one are married.

The local branch now has 21 members and is entitled to representation at an annual state convention by three delegates and by one delegate at the national convention. Present officers of the branch include C. R. McLaurin, president, L. C. Cooper, vice president, L. H. McCrummen, secretary, and J. M. Willson, treasurer.

Church Of Christ Is One Of Outstanding Churches In Texas

Organized 38 years ago in Lubbock with a mere handful of members, the Broadway Church of Christ has grown through the years until it is now one of the denomination's ranking churches in Texas. It has a membership of more than 1,200 persons.

A building expansion program is planned for the church in the future which will provide more room for the congregation's continual growth.

G. C. Brewer

Liff Sanders, pioneer Church of Christ minister, organized the church here in 1903 and in 1906 built the first building on east Broadway, a little 36 by 56-foot structure which seated about 300 persons. In 1917, the church was moved to the vicinity of Tenth street and Avenue L. The present building was finished in 1925.

G. C. Brewer is present minister of the church and E. Gaston Collins is associate minister. Others who have served the church besides Sanders, who retired from the post in 1919, were: John T. Smith, T. M. Carney, R. B. Brooks, and W. M. Davis.

The church board of deacons is composed of Paul Sherrod, A. L. Scoggin, E. A. Shepard, J. A. Phillips, J. C. Sanders, M. E. Hawes, Claude Tatum, Dr. J. B. McCorkle, J. D. Thomas, L. J. Green, O. H. Allen and Ed Tonn. The board of elders is composed of Raleigh Martin, P. F. Brown, B. Sherrod, Gus Niblack, S. E. Holt, W. E. Street, Brewer and Chas. Collier.

County Treasurer Is Formerly Lubbock's "Woman Constable"

Lubbock county's treasurer, Mrs. Winnie Mae Coleman, is known in this section as the "woman constable," since she held that office before being elected last summer to her new office.

Deputies did most of the out-of-office duties directed at those who disrupted the peace and dignity of the realm, but Mrs. Coleman was known to make an occasional arrest of a drunk—one of whom was found by the constable in the courthouse lobby.

Mrs. Coleman

She lives at 2220 Ninth street, was born in Montague county, Texas, attended schools at Saint Joe and New Hope. Her father, the late J. C. Roberts, was constable before her. Mrs. Coleman was married May 30, 1935, in Lubbock and has two children, Mary Virginia and Charles Henry Coleman. She is affiliated with Cavalry Baptist church, fishes and rides horses every available chance and makes a hobby of collecting pictures.

Mrs. Coleman's mother was born in Arkansas, her father in Texas. They moved to Lubbock county in 1917. Relatives on both sides of the family fought in the Civil, Spanish-American and World wars.

Frances Jane Crosby, blind from birth, wrote 2,000 religious hymns in her lifetime. Some days she wrote six or seven, and completed one, "Safe In The Arms of Jesus," in 15 minutes.

"Hello, honey—just couldn't get away from the boys. It's Get Acquainted Week, you know."

Major Jessee Is One Of Army's Veterans; He Collects Tackles

A man who has probably started more South Plains young men on a military career than any other man in this area, and who knows the "ins" and "outs" of military life, as a private soldier and as a commissioned officer, is Major Walter Jessee, district army recruiting officer, with an office in the federal building.

Major Jessee

Major Jessee served 27 years in the regular army before he was retired, and last year was recalled into active service to help handle recruiting, relieving another officer for active duty with troops.

Born in Castlewood, Va., June 20, 1888, Walter Jessee joined the army in 1908 as a private and rose rapidly as a non-commissioned officer. In 1917 he was commissioned as a second lieutenant, and had held the rank of major for several years prior to his retirement six years ago.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Taze Jessee, both of whom are now deceased. During the years he spent in the army he served from coast to coast; in World war days he was stationed in the Northwest, and had charge of German soldiers who were prisoners of war.

On July 16, 1916, in Cincinnati, Ohio, he and Martha Ange were married. Young Jessee was stationed at Fort Thomas, Ky., across the Ohio river. The couple have three children, Kathryn Belle, Billy and Walter jr. The family home is in San Antonio, where he was stationed at the time of his retirement. He is a Mason and a Shriner.

Collecting fishing tackle is his hobby, and his favorite sport is fishing. His youngest son is here with him this summer and the two try to get out and do a little fishing on the side.

Elmer Reed Is Already Acquainted With Lots Of People Over Area

A man with information that would delight the average village gossip and who knows the family skeletons of hundreds of people in Northwest Texas, is Elmer Reed, United States probation officer here, whose territory includes the major portion of the Northern U. S. judicial district of Texas.

Men placed on probation by federal district judges in the Lubbock, Amarillo and Abilene divisions or in other divisions of the district who reside in Northwest Texas, report to him. When a man fails to report it is his job to find out the reason why. Too many failures means a trip to El Reno federal reformatory or Leavenworth prison or perhaps one of the federal reform schools in the East.

Reed resides with Mrs. Reed, the former Julia Mae Carter of Crosbyton, and their two children, Elmer, jr., and Julia Beth, at 1917 Fifteenth street. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Reed, well known Crosby county residents. Mrs. Reed's father is R. S. M. Carter of Crosbyton.

For six years he served as sheriff and tax collector of Crosby county, Jan. 1, 1927 to Dec. 31, 1932. At the time he was elected he was the youngest sheriff in the state.

After retiring from office, Reed was named deputy U. S. marshal in Lubbock. When the position of probation officer was made vacant, he was appointed and has served since.

Reed's favorite, and only, sport is baseball.

Seldom does he discuss any phase of his work with reporters or other persons. He spends a great portion of time in travel, visiting men under his charge. Frequently he makes trips to New Mexico or Oklahoma on investigations and when necessary, accompanies men sentenced to reformatories.

Reed tries to help young men who have made a mistake in life and who desire to go straight. He will advise with them on many problems outside his regular duties as probation officer, because he believes that they should have another chance to make good as citizens.

New Faces Join Goober Keyes On Lubbock High School Coach Staff

By JOE PIERCE
Avalanche-Journal Sports Writer

What Lubbock football team has won 15 of its 16 games under the tutelage of its current coach?

Right the first time. The Lubbock Westerners.

Right again. Goober Keyes.

Goober Keyes

This is get acquainted week in Lubbock, but there are few people who are unacquainted with the tall, blue-eyed young man who has been at the helm of the Westerners since November of 1939.

More than seventeen thousand of you turned out to see his football team play their traditional rivals, the Amarillo Sandies, last fall. Many times that number read of Westerner exploits in the newspapers, or heard them on the radio.

James Garland Keyes got his football start at Cisco High school in the late twenties. There he played under Weldon Bailey Chapman, who was later to become Lubbock High's head coach.

In his college days, Keyes was an ace backfielder for the Abilene Christian college team, and when his alma mater comes to Lubbock to play Texas Tech in the season opener next fall he'll be one of the most interested spectators.

After graduating from ACC, Keyes coached at Cross Plains and Albany before coming to Lubbock in 1935 as assistant to his old high schoach, Chapman. He replaced Berl Huffman, who stepped up to Texas Tech as freshman coach and has recently been promoted to assistant coach.

Keyes has been head basketball and track coach ever since he came to Lubbock. His basketball teams have won three consecutive district championships, starting in 1939, and his track teams won district titles in 1938 and 1939.

During the 1939 season, Chapman died. After the death of their beloved coach, the Westerners were unbeatable, although they had lost three games and tied one before. Under the mentoring of Keyes and Walker Nichols, they drove to a state championship, Lubbock's first.

After the season was over, Keyes and Nichols were selected to continue in charge of Lubbock High athletic affairs. A year later, Nichols resigned to accept a job as freshman coach at Texas Tech, his alma mater, which he'll take over this fall.

Keyes was married last fall to the former Miss Pauline Hooser.

In his first year as assistant at Lubbock High, Keyes helped coach a boy who is coming back to him this fall as assistant, Dixie White. White finished at Lubbock in 1935, winning all-district honors as a tackle that year for the second time. He enrolled in Tech the next fall, played one year of freshman football and three years of varsity.

He played in Tech's Sun Bowl game in 1938 and Cotton Bowl game in 1939, and captained the Red Raiders in 1939. During the summer of 1939, he suffered from a serious stomach ailment which endangered his life. An operation pulled him through, but doctors told him he would never play football again.

Cy LaMaster

Nevertheless, Dixie was in uniform from the start of the following season, and before the fall was half gone was playing almost 60 minutes in every game.

He completed his football eligibility in 1939, but came back to Tech to finish requirements for a degree in 1940. That season he helped Berl Huffman coach the Tech freshman team.

When Walker Nichols was promoted to the Texas Tech staff, White was chosen to succeed him at Lubbock High. He graduated from Tech this spring, and soon after was married to Miss Ann Sweatman.

No. 3 man on the high school athletic department staff is Cy LaMaster, coach of the Cowhands, "cannon fodder" and feeder team for the Westerners. LaMaster will serve his second season in that position this fall. He succeeded Nichols as coach of the Cowhands when Nichols moved up to the Westerners.

Last season his Cowhand team was generally adjudged the best in history, winning victories over many strong Class A teams of the section.

G. Thompson

LaMaster is a Tech alumnus, but never played varsity football with the Red Raiders; he was far too small for that. He was manager of the football and basketball teams during his college days.

After graduation he was assistant coach at Tulia, coming from there to Lubbock after the 1939 season.

Gordon Thompson is the fourth member of the staff. He is head baseball coach and assistant Cowhand football and basketball coach.

Thompson attended West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, lettering in football as a back and in baseball as an infielder for three years. Since his graduation he has taught and coached at Rule, Happy and Canyon, coming to Lubbock in 1936.

He served five years as coach of the Junior High Calf Ropers, moving up to the high school this spring.

Since Christmas of 1930, Thompson has been married to the former Miss Loucille Middleton. Mrs. Thompson is employed in the registrar's office at Texas Tech. Thompson holds a master's degree from Tech.

Not to be forgotten in any list of athletic staff members is E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, business manager of athletics. Under his direction, few complaints there have been on the handling of football tickets, despite frequent sellouts in the last three years.

E. J. Lowrey

Lowrey's full-time job is mathematics instructor, and he's one of the most popular in the high school. His interest in athletics dates back to his own high school days, when, despite his small size, he played regularly for the Westerners.

Tennis, Jimmie Allen Synonymous Terms

Tennis and Jimmie Allen are synonymous terms in Lubbock.

James G. Allen has been tennis coach at Texas Tech for the last nine years. During that period he has coached several outstanding players.

And whenever there's a tennis tournament going on, you'll find Dean Allen — he's also dean of men and associate professor of English at Tech —somewhere around.

James G. Allen

Particularly pleasing to Allen has been the development of the Junior Chamber of Commerce West Texas Open tournament. Begun only a year ago, this tournament attracted most of the major players in Texas this spring.

Tennis is mostly a hobby or sideline with Dean Allen. He has never received pay for coaching the Tech tennis team, and no mention of his coaching duties is made in the college catalogue.

He came to Tech in 1927, after graduating from Southern Methodist and taking a master's degree at Harvard. On August 30, 1928, he was married to Miss Louise Crawford, whom he had met while in Southern Methodist.

Mrs. Allen is instructor in journalism at Tech.

Champlin Keeps Big Reputation In Motorcycle Ventures

The only national athletic championship ever won by a Lubbock outfit doesn't belong to any football, baseball or other "major" sport team but to the very active and hard-riding Lubbock Motorcycle club.

Champlin

Headed for years by Stewart Champlin, who owns just about every kind of motorcycle riding trophy, medal and ribbon offered in American competition, the Lubbock Motorcycle club went to Philadelphia in 1934 and won the national motorcycle polo championship. A year later the same club competed in the finals of the national tournament.

Champlin is considered one of the outstanding riders of the American Motorcycle Association, of which the Lubbock club of from 15 to 20 active members is an affiliate. The Lubbock club flies in its headquarters office the National Safety Banner for 1940, having experienced a full year of much activity without a single accident. So far in 1941 there have been no accidents.

Champlin competed in three motorcycle field meet competitions in Austin last Sunday and won three second places. A week earlier he had won the Tri-State championship in a meet at Borger.

The Lubbock club plans a "Gypsy tour" for July 4, and all members have been invited to take part.

Fox, Spears Are TAAF Directors

Amateur baseball on the South Plains is guided by Clarence Fox and Lewis Spears, West Texas representatives of the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation.

Fox and Spears, both West Texans of long standing and sportsmen through and through, serve without pay, and have done a remarkable job this season and last in building up interest in amateur baseball in this area.

Fox

Spears is director and Fox assistant director of senior baseball for the TAAF in this territory. A ten-team league including clubs in Lubbock and eight other South Plains cities operates under their supervision. The league is now playing its second season.

Fox is director of junior baseball in West Texas for the TAAF. Under his supervision come junior baseball activities affiliated with the TAAF in Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Abilene and Amarillo.

The Lubbock junior league begins its season's play Monday. Various civic organizations are represented on the committee which directs the league, but Fox himself is responsible for the starting of the movement.

Recently, more than 250 boys attended a five-day baseball school with Texas Tech and high school coaches serving as instructors. The school was sponsored by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, but it was Fox who started the movement which led to the school.

Spears

Boys from 10 to 17 attended the school, and boys within those age limits will play in the junior leagues. This movement is hailed by civic leaders as being one of the most important steps ever taken in Lubbock in the interests of boys, as well as a great step forward for amateur baseball.

Spears has been connected with athletics for almost all of his 28 years. He started playing football and baseball when in grade school at Tahoka, and continued in high school at Lubbock. He was a member of Lubbock High's first district championship football team, in 1932, playing end, finished Lubbock High in 1933.

He played freshman football at Texas Tech in 1934, but during the season injured a knee. The next fall he was a candidate for an end position on the Red Raiders, but the knee injury kept plaguing him, and finally he had to withdraw from football competition. He hasn't played football since 1935.

Just Call Him "Doc"

Later he served as manager of the football team, and in 1936 became assistant instructor of physical education. He has served as trainer for Tech's athletic teams for several years, although he hasn't been officially recognized as such until this spring.

Perhaps inspired by the knee injury which ended his own football career, Spears has invented a knee brace and a series of knee exercises which have gained him renown throughout the country. Tech's footballers adopted the exercises and the brace, and since have had little trouble with knee injuries which so frequently plague football players.

Thousands of Tech students know him as "Doc," a sobriquet earned by his work as trainer of the athletic teams.

Married In 1938

Most of the students at Tech are required to take physical education courses, and all freshman and sophomore boys' p. e. courses are given under Spears' supervision. And he knows nearly every student by name.

Spears and the former Miss Elizabeth Daniel were married in June, 1938. Their residence is at 910 Avenue R. Mrs. Spears is a graduate nurse.

Fox attended high school at Littlefield, where he lettered in football and basketball and captained the basketball team one year. Since 1930, his last year in school, he has been prominent in West Texas amateur and semi-pro baseball circles.

He married Miss Norma Lee Gattis in 1930. They have one child, Roystelle, a daughter seven months old. Their residence is at 1505 Arnett street.

Getting Acquainted With New Texas Tech Staff Very Easy

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Most timely is this "get acquainted" edition so far as the new athletic regime at Texas Tech is concerned.

It's a "new deal" at the college, with a new athletic director, head coach, assistant varsity coach and freshman coach of football.

Actually, the "get acquainted with the new coaches" idea started last spring when William Morley Jennings, who had coached football and baseball at Baylor university for 15 years, was named athletic director; when Dell Morgan was named head football coach, with Berl Huffman as his No. 1 assistant and backfield coach, and when Walker Nichols was selected to take over the freshman football coaching duties.

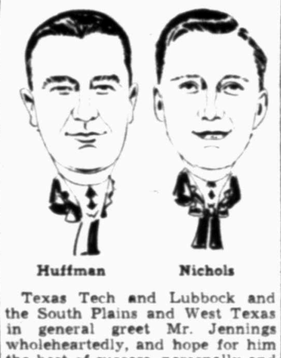

Jennings

Early this year the Texas Tech athletic council and the college's board of directors saw fit to close out an eleven-year athletic regime under P. W. Cawthon, the early part of which had been a period of reconstruction of athletics at the young college and to look forward to a more progressive era under the direction of the popular Baylor university mentor, Morley Jennings, and the capable Dell Morgan.

Morgan

The change was greeted with almost universal approval by Texas Tech students, the town's citizens and the college's fans and "rooters" all over the Southwest, although, at the time, full credit was extended Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith for the fine work they had done at Texas Tech.

Mr. Jennings gave up what could have been a "lifetime" job at Baylor university as head coach and athletic director to assume the title of director of athletics at Texas Tech. He had coached Southwest conference teams at Baylor since 1926, coming there from Ouachita college in Arkansas where he had been coach for 14 years. He succeeded Frank Bridges at Baylor, and although his teams never won a Southwest conference football pennant, they were recognized as one of the best coached teams in the country year after year.

Huffman Nichols

Texas Tech and Lubbock and the South Plains and West Texas in general greet Mr. Jennings wholeheartedly, and hope for him the best of success, personally and for the school.

Dell Morgan needs no introduction here. He formerly coached at Lubbock High school, and when his former Austin college coach, Cawthon, came to Tech as head coach in 1930, Morgan was called in as line coach. The following year he became freshman football coach and varsity basketball and track coach, with Dutchy Smith taking over the varsity line coaching job. Later, Morgan went to Alabama Poly (Auburn) as line coach under Jack Meagher, and his record there has spoken for itself. He was called to Rice institute as line coach by Jess Neely, when the latter left Clemson to accept the head coaching job at Rice, succeeding Jimmy Kitts.

Dowell

In one season, Morgan became popular in the Southwest conference, put out a powerful line at Rice.

From almost two hundred applicants for the head coaching job at Texas Tech, Morgan was chosen unanimously by the athletic council, and the council's recommendation to the college's board of directors was immediately confirmed.

Mrs. Huffman

Morgan, given a free hand in the choice of his assistants, promptly named George Berl Huffman, Texas Tech freshman football and varsity basketball and track coach since 1935, as his No. 1 assistant, or varsity backfield coach.

Huffman went to Texas Tech to replace Morgan. Previously, George Berl had coached Lubbock High school backfields, working hand in hand with the late Weldon Chapman. Since then he has coached freshman football, varsity basketball and track, instructed physical education classes and served as district director of the Texas Interscholastic league. He probably will continue to serve in that capacity.

From the ranks of Texas Tech star athletes of recent years, Morgan selected Walker Nichols as freshman coach and scout. Nichols has been assistant coach at Lubbock High school. From his home high school at San Angelo, Nichols came to Texas Tech as a raw freshman, came out for football and was rejected as a prospect by the same Dell Morgan who is now head coach — because of his (Nichols') size. A welterweight at the most, Nichols refused to be kicked off the squad. He later became a star guard, of the "watch charm" variety, and then captain of the Texas Tech Red Raiders. His work as line coach at Lubbock High is in the records, the Westerners having reached the State finals twice, winning on the second try.

Mrs. Jennings Mrs. Morgan

If there's an athletic director, there must be a man to help him out or take his place and to do a lot of the work. That man is G. C. "Mule" Dowell, whose popularity with West Texas sports fans is of the highest rank. Ole Mule, one of the greatest fullbacks ever turned out at Texas Tech, relinquished a good commercial job to come back to his alma mater as graduate manager of athletics. He served faithfully and well, and it was only natural that he retain his "job" with an increase in salary. This he got when Jennings was named director of athletics.

Dowell was named assistant to the director of athletics, an elevation in title and salary. It's his job to do what the director of athletics hasn't time to do, and no better man could have been selected for the position. Ole Mule is a "work hoss" par excellence and, in a business capacity, he took up where he left off in football. He served a hitch in professional football with the Chicago Cardinals, and he has learned the "business" end from the ground up, in football and with the front office.

Bill Parker

Into the Texas Tech athletic picture must also go the women's department, featuring Mrs. Berl Huffman, Mrs. George Langford and Miss Margaret Baskin, instructors in almost every phase of women's sports. They do a great job out on the hill, and it's to the discredit of Sports Publicity Man Bill Parker that they and their teams are not more frequently named in the news. The Mesdames Huffman and Langford and the Miss Baskin have jobs of which they are just as proud as the head football coach or the director of athletics.

Bill Parker does a creditable job of publicizing Texas Tech athletics. Now and then he does bring in the women's department. Parker is a newspaper man of the first order. He came to Texas Tech in 1939, just as the Red Raiders were about to be invited to the Cotton Bowl game, and his work as sports publicity agent was cut out for him. He has proved valuable to the college and its athletic interests, and we hereby salute him. Formerly with the Dallas Times-Herald and later with the Associated Press bureau of Texas, Parker came to Texas Tech as the answer to a publicity prayer, and he succeeded in spreading news of Texas Tech throughout the broad and long of the country. As a tribute to his sports knowledge, he was named by the United States Golf association as chief scorer and boss of the press tent at the recent National Open golf tournament at Fort Worth. He was given leave of absence from the college in order to take the job.

One of the most important jobs on the Texas Tech athletic force is that of team trainer and overseer of intramural athletics. This dual job goes to Lewis "Doc" Spears, former Lubbock High school football star whose college football career was stopped by an injury. Lew has found a definite place in not only local but national athletics. He has perfected a knee brace, for instance, that has helped hundreds of high school and college football players — and netted a nice bit of change. He is chief trainer of the football, basketball and baseball teams of Tech, and also is district director of TAAF activities. You'll find his picture in another story, but he's a fixture at Texas Tech.

BAND DIRECTOR NAMED

LEVELLAND — Jack Veazey, who has been band director at Stratford High school for three years, has been elected here. He succeeds J. Budd Farrar, who was inducted into the army at Fort Bliss. Veazey has been attending Texas Technological college summer band school.

Davis, Liston Boast Long Service Record

What athletic coach in Lubbock has held his position for the longest number of years?

You'll probably guess quite a while before you think of J. Mule Davis, head football coach at Lubbock Junior High. Davis, who was one of Texas A. and M.'s stars in his college days, was coaching at Junior High when some of the other coaches in town were still wearing short pants.

Mule Davis Mrs. Davis

And second oldest in point of service is Lovic Liston, second in command to Davis with the football Cowboys and head Cowboy basketball coach. Liston is a graduate of West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon.

Both Liston and Davis, in addition to their coaching duties, do a lot of football officiating during the fall months.

Lovic Liston

Over a period of years, teams coached by Liston and Davis probably have a better won and lost record than any others in Lubbock. The Cowboys have played through several undefeated seasons, and it is a rarity when they lose more than a couple of games.

Third member of the Junior High coaching staff is Bennie McWilliams, former Tech gridiron star who coaches the Calf Ropers, the Junior High second team. McWilliams succeeded Gordon Thompson, who moved up to high school, this spring.

Four Men Qualify For Soil District Board

Four of the five men who have been selected as supervisors of the Lubbock county soil conservation district have qualified for the office, according to C. C. Jobson, county farm agent.

Grover C. Gillett of Shallowater, is the only one who has not qualified by accepting the post. He has been busy with replanting, Jobson said, and the rest of the board decided to wait until he had time to come to Lubbock and qualify. Others on the board are, W. O. Perkins, George Eklund, T. L. Holt and Earl Davis.

S. C. DOSS INJURED

SEMINOLE — S. C. Doss sustained the double fracture of three ribs and back injuries when he jumped from the roof of the old Presbyterian church while engaged with others in wrecking the building. Doss jumped as the rafters began to sway, falling backwards onto a pile of shingles.

Hubber Skipper Gets Around

Regular patrons of Hubber Field have already become pretty well acquainted with the two gents who run the professional baseball machinery here, but for the benefit of the newcomers, Charlie Engle and Johnny Gilchrist are the lads in question.

Charlie Engle

Engle, field manager of the Hubbers since the start of the 1940 season, has "been around" in the baseball world—from Greensboro, N. C., through half the Texas league ports, up to the Southern Association and both major leagues and back again to Rayne, La., and Lubbock.

Gilchrist, the Hubber business manager, served as assistant business manager last year and is the "business agent" for the parent Chicago White Sox this season for the first time. He comes from Los Angeles, where he was, and still is, a student and football player at U.C.L.A. during the "off season."

John Gilchrist

Engle broke in at Greensboro as an infielder in 1924, and promptly went to the Philadelphia Athletics, playing part of the next two seasons with the A's. "About all I did there was run for Perkins," Engle explains, "and he didn't get on base much so I didn't have much to do."

From there, he went to Memphis and played three seasons, then to Pittsburgh in the National league for most of the 1930 season. After that, to Fort Worth, San Antonio, Fort Worth again, Galveston and Tulsa, winding up his Texas league career with Tulsa in 1938.

"In 1939 I went to Rayne, in 1940 I went to Lubbock and in 1941 I'm going to pieces," he explains his managerial career, all of which has been spent under White Sox domain.

PAVING IS ORDERED

SPUR—The state highway department has ordered a 5-block paving project that will connect paving on Harris street with the state experiment sub-station east of town. Total paving to the farm will be 1.3 miles long at an estimated cost of $21,311. WPA will furnish $8,351 and the department $12,960.

Meadowbrook "Dresses Up"

One of the "show places" of the city is the new Meadowbrook Golf club, located in the north and northeast part of the Mackenzie State Park.

A privately operated course for public benefit, Meadowbrook recently took on a new dress in the form of 18 grass greens and a new hat in the form of a fine clubhouse building on the crown of a hill overlooking the entire course.

Bob Lee

Open to the public on payment of daily, monthly or yearly greens fees, Meadowbrook boasts a "membership" of more than 200 active players. As many as 175 players have been registered for a single day's play.

W. G. "Bill" McMillan, operator of the club, leased the land from the State park board, and last year installed bent grass greens. The new greens were opened to the public late in the golfing season, but the "winter play" was exceptionally large.

The magnificent new clubhouse also was opened last fall. From its wide veranda, capable of "dancing" more than a hundred couples, may be seen 17 of the 18 greens on the course. The building has a large lobby, ample locker and shower room space for both men and women players, and a large pro shop.

Mrs. Newton

Bob Lee is general manager of the Meadowbrook club, keeper of the pro shop and host. Mrs. Lee is hostess. The Lees reside in an apartment in the new clubhouse.

Meadowbrook's women's golf association is quite active. Some 25 women play regularly and compete in special "ladies' day" events each Thursday. Mrs. Hugh Newton is president of the Meadowbrook women's golf association, serving her first term.

Nudity Gaining British Favor

BY WILLIAM R. DOWNS
United Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN, June 21.—An attendant wearing a cockney cap and knee-high firemen's boots— and nothing else—demonstrated a stirrup-pump for fighting fires today at one of Britain's most popular nudist camps.

A dozen undressed men and women watched the demonstration eagerly.

Really Want To Relax

"Possibly it's because when people come from air raid shelters, factories and the fighting forces, they really want to relax and get away from the war," he said.

This camp is far from being out of the war, however. It has such air raid precautions as anti-splinter fabric on the windows of its buildings, one air raid shelter and two stirrup pumps.

It is situated in a section where many fighter, bomber and reconnaissance trainer planes are based, and most pilots know the camp's location by dead reckoning. Low-flying bomber squadrons skirt the trees and reconnaissance planes circle the camp daily.

Officers Are Resting

Macaskie said several Royal Air Force officers on leave are resting at the nudist camp.

Macaskie's camp provides weekly family rates under which a group of three can vacation without clothes as inexpensively as $10 weekly.

Although the inmates discard their clothing and most of their worldly cares, the women never change in one respect, Macaskie said. The women, young and old, go about fully roughed, powdered and lip-sticked.

RESIGNS HOSPITAL POST

Mrs. Thomas B. Duke, who has been office assistant for her husband at Littlefield hospital, has resigned after several years of work. Mrs. Charles Foust, a nurse in the hospital for several years, succeeds her.

Country Club's New Deal Works

Keeping step with progressive Lubbock is the Lubbock Country club, which in the last five years has come from a near-bankrupt, stodgy and ill-kept golf club to one of the most modern and sportiest layouts in West Texas, a rendezvous for nearly two hundred "paid up" members.

Cliff Dean

Shrewd managing and manipulating by an active board of directors who took the bull by the horns, so to speak, employed a young and experienced pro-manager and installed grass greens, tees and a fairway watering system have brought about a wondrous change at Country club.

From the time Cliff L. Dean was installed as president, and Charles Akey as professional-manager, the club has been on the upswing, and at nearly all times there have been would-be members on the "waiting list."

An effort had been made to install grass greens the year before Akey came here from Big Spring in 1936. An experienced "greens keeper" and builder-upper of golf courses as well as golf, Akey nursed the greens along gradually replacing the bermuda with bent, and now all eighteen greens are carpeted with lush bent grass, green the year round.

Charles Akey

The fairway watering system, capable of spewing out the equivalent of half an inch of rain all over the course every three days, was completed last year at considerable cost, and while the fairways still do not permit "play as you lie" golf, they're rapidly rounding into that form.

A lively women's golf organization of some 25 active members keeps things from getting too dull at Country club and forms a definite part of the club's life. Mrs. Cliff Widener is president of the women's golf association, which meets for golf and luncheon every Wednesday—a day permanently set aside as "ladies day." Mrs. Widener is serving her first term as president.

Cliff Dean has been president of the club for six years. Prominent ginner, "country gentleman" and aviator, Dean has turned in a fine job of "running" the club, working hand in hand with the board of directors and the professional.

Mrs. Widener

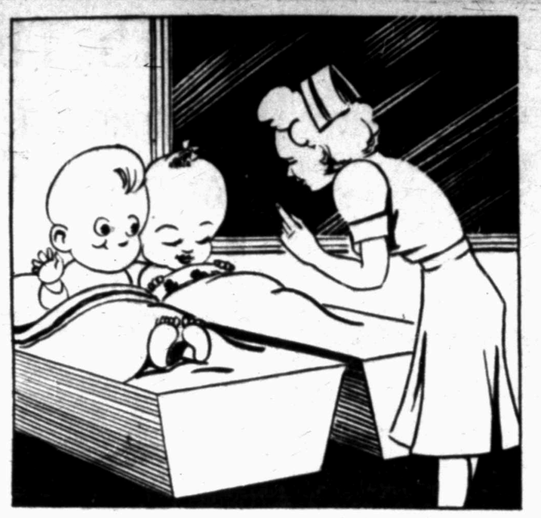

Akey came here from Big Spring in 1937. He had served as assistant pro at Dallas and Fort Worth courses before going to Big Spring. He is one of the busiest young men of the city, having about all the instruction he can handle, along with keeping an eye on the course and seeing that groundkeepers get the job done. At that, Akey also finds time to hedge-hop over the country, and he holds a private pilot's license. An expert flyer, he goes by plane to most of the tournaments and league contests over Texas.

Leaning On Shovels By WPA Labor Defended

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—The butt of countless jokes—the WPA worker who leans on his shovel—was defended in the Senate yesterday by Sen. Thomas (D-Okla.)

Protesting this type of humor, the silver-haired Oklahoma senator suggested that some of his elderly colleagues "near 70 with some ailment that does not show on the surface" try "going out on a WPA job with a long-handled shovel."

"I can understand why some of those men have to spend part of the time leaning on a shovel or some other instrument for support," he said.

"You can't start too early, nurse, when it's Get Acquainted Week."

Reporter Asks One Question Too Many And Now He Is Practically In Army As Result

(By The United Press)

RICHMOND, Va., June 21.—Stanley Kennon, a reporter for the Richmond News-Leader, is experienced at asking questions, but he asked one too many and is practically in the army as a result.

Kennon, who registered for the draft at Newport News, Va., dropped by his local draft board this week on a visit to Newport News and asked when his number—759—would be called.

"Number 759 was inducted April 22," the board told him.

"You're crazy," Kennon insisted, "I'm 759 and I haven't been near an induction center."

"Our records show 759 was inducted April 22 and has been serving three months," the board reiterated.

A hurried investigation brought to light that on April 18 Kennon filled out his questionnaire and on April 23—by mistake—he received through the mail his complete selective service folder. Not knowing what to do with it, he kept it.

The local draft board thought the induction center had the folder and marked Kennon up as "in service."

The local board told Kennon to report for induction July 10—and bring the folder.

W. O. Fortenberry Has One Of Largest Beet Acreages In Texas; Has Total Of 120 Acres

Largest sugar beet acreage in Texas is on the farm of W. O. Fortenberry, at Monroe, where between 80 and 85 acres out of a total of 120 acres, is up to a good stand.

Fortenberry, an irrigation farmer, is chairman of the state sugar beet committee of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Texas was alloted 195 acres for beets by the AAA and the committee asked interested farmers to apply for allotments.

Raised His Allotment

When the committee met in May and the expected quota requests failed to materialize, Fortenberry, who had planned to raise about 20 acres, increased his allotment to 75 acres. At subsequent meetings the committee found the state allotment was short, so the Monroe farmer agreed to take all of the remaining acres.

Sugar beet farmers have had to plant at least twice, because heavy rains washed out crops. Beets can be grown best under irrigation. Allotments have gone to Lamb, Hockley and Floyd counties as well as Lubbock. H. L. McCauley, who lives north of Texas Technological college, has a 10 acre allotment and the college three acres.

Francis Carthel of Floyd and S. N. Twilley of Lamb are other members of the state committee, with Fortenberry.

County And District Clerks Express Thanks

Expressions of thanks to Lubbock citizens for their cooperation in the 49th annual convention of the County and District Clerks association of Texas were made Saturday afternoon by Ed D. Allen, county clerk, and Royal Furgeson, district clerk.

"We want to express gratitude for the wonderful cooperation of every one who helped make the convention a success," Allen said.

AAA Examinations Scheduled Monday

Examination for the post of performance reporters under the Agricultural Adjustment administration to measure Lubbock county land will be held Monday at 1320 Avenue Q in the county AAA office, with Robert Gibson, chief performance supervisor, conducting the examinations.

Approximately 20 men are to be named to check performance of farmers with the AAA program. Crop lands will be measured on all farms to see that cotton and feed crops are not overplanted.

Several months will be needed to measure the 483,000 acres in crop land and to recheck to see that there is no overplanting. Each farm has an allotment for cotton, feed and soil conserving crops. Some farmers have beet or peanut allotments. Wheat land has been measured.

Last week between 30 and 35 men, most of them college students, attended a two-day school at the AAA office, studying regulations. They have been studying further at their homes, said Walter Y. Wells, administrator, preparing for the tests.

Service Rendered By Retail Merchants To City's Businesses

Rendering an invaluable service to business of the community is Lubbock Retail Merchants association of which B. Sherrod is president, A. B. Davis is manager and Mrs. Gladys Workman is secretary.

The association was organized in 1923 and has been functioning continuously since then, although its expansion has been most rapid within recent years. The first board of directors to serve after the charter was granted in January, 1923, was composed of B. C. Dickinson, George E. Benson, E. L. Robertson, Raleigh Martin, France Baker, G. V. Smith, M. L. Price, J. A. Rix and W. B. Atkins.

B. Sherrod

Services rendered by the association are many. It helps protect the member merchant against the "dead-beat," and it assists the person deserving of credit to obtain it speedily; it provides a protection against those who give worthless checks; it sounds a speedy alarm if counterfeit money appears; through its bulletin it supplies to members information of value to them.

Present officers and directors of the association are, in addition to Sherrod: J. D. Hassell, jr., and M. B. Hilburn, vice presidents; and L. E. Grimes, W. O. Daniels, W. G. Alderson and Paul Hardwick, directors.

Olive Fluke Holds Two Positions In Federal District Court Here

Daughter of one of the few remaining real pioneers of Lubbock county, Mrs. Olive Fluke is one of the few women to hold two federal posts, deputy U.S. court clerk and United States commissioner.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isham Tubbs, came to Lubbock county in the early days and lived through the trying times before the turn of the century. Her father, still active and a regular church attendant in spite of his age, also was born in Texas.

Olive Tubbs was born March 29, 1900 in Lubbock, graduated from Lubbock high school, attended West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon and Draughon's Business college here. She was a deputy clerk of the district courts of Lubbock county from 1925 to 1934.

Appointed deputy U. S. court clerk when the court was first established here, she has been an official ever since. She has attended national conventions of the association of federal clerks and deputies.

She and Buster Fluke were married in Lubbock May 13, 1920 and they have a daughter, Mavis Louise.

Besides her church connection, First Methodist, of which her father is a charter member, she belongs to the Altrusan International club and takes an active part in it.

Listing her hobby as "collecting lamps," Mrs. Fluke also raises flowers in profusion, particularly roses. One hobby is distributing roses among her friends and she has been known to start for her office with a huge armful of flowers, only to give most of them away before she reached the federal building.

Golf is her favorite sport and she is well known among the women golfers of the city, being found on the golf course frequently after office hours.

Students Can Graduate From Texas Tech In Three Years Instead Of The Regular Four; But It Means Work During Summer

Is it possible to be graduated from Texas Technological college in three years?

The answer is yes, prospective students are being informed in supplemental sheets being sent out with college catalogues.

Numerous inquiries have been received as to whether a student may finish work for a degree in three years. A representative letter is included on the sheet, written by a prospective student who says he would be subject to military service when 21 years old while still lacking one year of graduation from college if four years were required. "As I fear that an interruption of that kind would be a very serious matter, I am writing to ask you whether there is anything I can do to complete my college work and be ready for the army when needed," the letter continued. "I was a very good student in my high school, but I am not a mental giant."

An answering letter signed by President Clifford B. Jones followed, informing that "four long sessions of hard work" are required at Tech. "Furthermore, we will not permit a student to undertake too much work at a time so in your situation, I suggest that you adopt a program of three regular college sessions and three summer sessions and thus get the full four years' work in its entirety in three years before you are 21 years old." Texas Tech has always carried on a full year-round program, the letter continued. Summer sessions offer most of the required studies at least one year in every three.

A MAN IN TEXAS walked into a Dodge showroom last week and, BANG—he bought five Fluid Drive Dodges with a sweeping wave of his arm—one for each member of his family. That sweeping wave of the Texas man's arm was his way of saying—"There's no use talking or comparing—there's nothing else that touches Dodge." Woman's Angle
by Margaret Turner

THERE is one thing in the world of which we can always be certain and that is change.

GET ACQUAINTED

"KNOW thyself," said a wise man. And know Lubbockites in various walks, business, church, club, school and social says the Avalanche-Journal this morning in its get acquainted edition. It's the opinion of the writer that there will be fewer strangers in Lubbock within a few days if everyone enters into the proper spirit of the thing.

There used to be a slogan: "Every Day is Howdy Day at Texas Tech" and that feeling of western cordiality should be paramount here this week. With a little practice it will come natural and first thing you know we'll all be acquainted and having lots of fun.

Quotation of the week is from remarks made by Lieut.-Col. Jesse E. Moseley at Tech convocation last Monday morning:

"To me the blessings of liberty and freedom are so dear, the American and democratic way of life and living are so precious, I would rather be dead and buried beneath the sacred soil of Texas than to live for one hour under the cruel tyranny of Hitler!"

SCATTERINGS

JOHN KIERAN of Information Please fame reminds us of little Dopey of the Seven Dwarfs family. . . . People of England, instead of singing "Keep the Home Fires Burning," as they did during World War No. 1, should sing "Put the Home Fires out." . . . Four well-dressed women we observed when they were registering at the Hilton hotel the other day had dress boxes along with their expensive luggage. Wonder why a woman can't go anywhere without taking a load of boxes? . . . Do you suppose wives never tire of hearing their husbands say, "Reach over and pull the handle down, or pull the knob up" when they enter cars? It seems that would be an understood task.

Wonder why women invariably apologize for the wretched condition of their hair when they remove their hats, no matter how recently they have been to the beauty shop? . . . Many Lubbock families are planning a Texas tonic when that feeling of the need for a vacation comes over them. The variety vacation land of Texas also is appealing to other staters. . . . That stirring song, "Spirit of the Air Corps," that is sung by the male choral group on Randolph Field broadcasts, has been officially adopted as the marching song for the cadets. It was composed by Major William J. Clinch, adjutant of the Gulf Coast Air Corps training center with headquarters at Randolph Field. The major who completed his flying cadet training in the U. S. Army Air Corps at Kelly Field in 1928, directed a dance orchestra at the University of Nevada, from which he was graduated in 1926.

Hotelmen Are Smart: A room clerk can see through most people "like glass," according to John C. Benson, who has been connected with Atlantic City's hotel industry for a quarter of a century. Newlyweds who try to act like they've been married for years, never fool any hotel man, he says. It's really simple, he adds. They are wearing new clothes. The bride wears a fresh flower, frequently an orchid or gardenias. The knot in the bridegroom's tie is a marvelous bit of craftsmanship. In signing "Mr. and Mrs." on the register the man feigns an utter unconcern that is laughable, but the bride follows the penpoint with her eyes. And if all other signs fail, there is yet a dead giveaway—two brand new pairs of shoes.

THE SAYING "he who runs may read" is a twisted form of that beautiful verse in Habakkuk 2:2, "Write the vision and make it plain, that he may run that readeth it." . . . Elvey Kaleb, woman artist and pilot, has introduced a parachute doll as a novelty appropriate to the interest in aviation which has been stimulated by American Flying Services foundation. This is a voluntary association of over 400 American World war flyers. . . . "Captains of the Clouds," a picture about the Royal Canadian Air Force, is to be produced soon. . . . While those with houses and lots and businesses are looking forward to the coming of Lubbock's air base, there are many young women who are viewing it from a romantic angle. . . . Shantung is a new fragrance inspired by the Chinese influence in fashion and art. . . . Frank Case, famed hotel manager, is writing a cook book. His research has indicated the famous like plain food, which makes it easier for him to fix up recipes. . . . Frozen custard, which is a national industry, was made when the inventor was trying to contrive a new ice cream freezer, something went wrong and the custard resulted.

PEOPLE: Wonder what has become of Maxine Sullivan who rose to fame on the swing arrangement of "Loch Lomond?" . . . Best news of the week is that Fritz Kreisler, violinist, will play again as he has always played. He lay in an unconscious or semi-conscious condition for six weeks after being struck by a truck and receiving a skull injury. . . . Frances Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Douglas of Big Spring has assumed duties as assistant medical technician at Fort Bliss in El Paso. She was graduated from Tech college with botany major and received her technician degree from the Research hospital in Kansas

Sam Leifeste Directs Distributive Classes; Heads Teachers Group

Several years ago Sam Leifeste began to see that there was a definite need in Texas high schools for training of students in a practical, usable subject heretofore almost entirely neglected—salesmanship.

So in the school year of 1938-39 the high school teacher, after much planning and consulting with school authorities, offered the first course in distributive education at Senior High school. It was immediately successful, and Leifeste's idea spread to other high schools until now it is common.

Distributive education provides training in salesmanship during the school year in the mornings only. Afternoons students work—with pay—for downtown business establishments, picking up pocket change and valuable experience.

During the last school year the class at Senior High had approximately 20 students, who earned an average of $9 a week while they attended school. And on an average two out of three students remain as permanent employes with the employer they worked for in high school, Leifeste has found.

Largely because of his activity in bringing distributive education to the foreground in Texas, Leifeste was elected president of the West Texas Teachers association for 1941-42 when they convened at Big Spring this spring.

Soldiers Visit Here

That a large part of Brownwood was here last week-end after the war games. Some present were Wayne Webb, T. L. Biggs and "Corporal" Beasley—

That Rajkuman Abdul Mehta reminds one of Tyrone Power in "The Rains Came"—

That some people are really collecting tinfoil for Britain in earnest—

Compliments Passed

That Mrs. C. M. Reese is one of the most beautiful women in Lubbock, that Mrs. Paul Laverty and Mrs. T. C. Delaney are pep, fun, energy and vivaciousness personified and that Mrs. Rubye Payne is tactful—

That a few persons seem always in a hurry to hang up when talking on the telephone and that some will say "Goodbye" before the person who called—

That Bill Miller from Snyder came to Lubbock to see Reuby Tom Rhodes.

I'VE seen, at church: Warlick and Waggoner Carr and Marion Turner and Ernestine Story; Pauline Barrier and Brady Lowe; Milbry Jo Bell and Howard Alford and a handsome foursome, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Jameson and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Leftwich.

At the skating rink:

Lucile Read, Violet Murphy and James Nelson—

Peter Blonda and Masie May and Jack Anderson and Betty Babb—

Adolf Hunt and Helen Jarrott, now that Marilyn's gone to Alaska—

And at the swimming pool:

Jack Longley.

I'VE heard: That Jimmy Vickers, Tech senior, will go to Randolph Field for two weeks after which he will be a basic instructor at Brady Field—

That the Harold Humphries have a swell cabin at Buffalo lakes that is nearly completed—

That Eddie Donaldson, a student in Tech last year, is with Anson Weeks' orchestra—

On Vacation Trip

That Joyce and Cora Jean Watson have gone to Yellowstone park and Salt Lake City—

That customers are missing Jeanne Redford since she stopped working at a department store—and that she and her husband, a pre-med student and an assistant instructor to Dr. R. A. Studhalter, are an attractive couple—and

I'VE read: That Miss Nancy Binford, the charming daughter of Mrs. Kathryn Binford, owner of the Binford ranch, five miles north of Wildorado, and junior at Tech next year, was unanimously voted the sweetheart of the Will Rogers' Range Riders club and that she represented the club June 17 and 18 as sponsor during the Memphis Round-up and Pioneers celebration.

Nan is 19 years old and is known as the "oomph" girl of the range.

Love,
Lou.

Progress Seen For Test Well

BY HOWARD A. TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WHITEFACE, June 21—Drilling is going ahead on the Helmerich & Payne wildcat, on the 5,000 acre block of the Coronado Oil Co., southwest of Lehman and 12 miles west of Whiteface, without delay. Casing for the 5,000 foot test was placed on the rack and all other supplies for the drilling are at the well.

With usual speed, the depth of the lime should be reached inside another week, when coring is due to begin. The most interesting outpost, if a producer, is due to extend the oil development about 14 miles ahead of production, northwesterly trend. That this operation is a most favorable one, is evidenced by the logs of old wells in the area which reported excellent oil showings. This well is about a mile and three-fourths from the old Penn well, which had 1,000 feet of oil in the hole. Crude from the Penn well was used in drilling the Marland and Continental wildcats near Bledsoe.

Potential Is Due

A potential test on the Dela Slaughter-Wright wildcat of John T. O'Neal of Lubbock and G. W. Wheeler, of San Antonio, is due. This well, which has been making oil and gas for nearly three weeks, was swabbed down to within 100 feet of bottom, Wednesday. A casing swab was used for five hours and all of the basic sediment and water which had bothered for a day previously, was reported to have been cleaned out. Rotary men were called back, the tubing was run and after two hours of swabbing inside the tubing, a test showed only one per cent water, with all sediment absent. Pipeline oil is two per cent. Preliminary test for five hours gauged 15 barrels of oil an hour.

O'Neal-Wheeler well extended the pool about 3 1-2 miles northwest of production on the Woodley tract of Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation and the Magnolia Petroleum. Both the gas and the oil, it is reported, is almost identical to that being produced on the adjacent producers. Earlier tests made of the gas showed the gas to be "sweet," but since the hole is cleaned up, tests indicated that there is no difference in this gas than that of other wells, all of it being "sour." This pool extension is due to result in a big drilling campaign since at least 50 new locations have been proven.

Army Flying School For Grayson County

SHERMAN, June 21 (AP)—Location of a basic army flying school between Sherman and Denison was revealed yesterday, the Democrat said, in an army order authorizing construction to begin on a 1,153 acre site.

The order, from Adjutant General B. Cooley, authorized building of temporary structures. Authority for runways and other paving has not been given, the paper said.

There will be four school squadrons and weather and mechanics detachments at the school, which will handle a maximum personnel of 2,351 persons, including 176 officers and 422 cadets. Preliminary plans also indicated that about 1,500 men including 211 cadets would be stationed there at the beginning.

The school will cost more than $3,000,000.

Grayson county recently voted $60,000 in bonds to buy the land for the school, which will be completed in November. Bids will be asked shortly, the paper said.

WOMEN VS. MEN

Women outnumber men in most countries of the western world. In France, for every 1,000 men, there are 1,071 women; 1,088 in Britain; 1,058 in Germany; and 1,103 in Russia. In the United States, there are only 976 women for every 1,000 men.

Come In And Meet These Folks!

MRS. AUDRIE BOYD: Eats, sleeps, dreams, and talks hats. Mrs. Boyd became head of the millinery department some 3 months ago. In that short length of time she has increased the Jo Ann Shop's millinery business some 300%. The sweetest smile and the sweetest person you ever met and the only hat lady we're known who won't sell you a hat unless it looks like you. Come meet Mrs. Boyd.

MRS. WILBUR WOLAVER: Perhaps the most widely known ready-to-wear saleslady on the South Plains. Has a tremendous personal following which is growing daily. In addition to her downstairs duties as saleslady, Mrs. Wolaver is in complete charge of the Jo Ann Shop's balcony Orchid Room carrying sizes for stylish stouts only. Mrs. Wolaver's patience and conscientiousness has made her a favorite. You'll enjoy knowing Mrs. Wolaver!

MISS ALICE TOWNSEND: Of Miss Townsend it is said: She is the only woman we know who can look extremely well dressed in a black suit. Miss Townsend is head of the Jo Ann Sports Department. Frequent contact with leading sportswear manufacturers in California and New York enables her to present the smartest and newest sportswear to Lubbock before it is presented in any other South Plains ladies shop. Increase your play time clothes personality by meeting Alice Townsend.

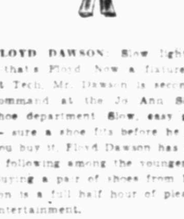

MISS MIMI BIGLER: Very, very emphatic-ated, and extremely clothes conscious is Mimi. Miss Bigler is assistant to Miss Townsend in the sportswear department, and has a huge following in the read-to-wear girls who admire the refined taste and smart appearance of Mimi. For a little extra touch of sophistication in your wardrobe next time have Mimi Bigler make a few suggestions.

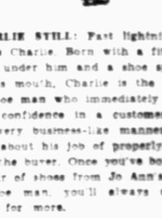

MRS. CLYDE SEALE: Sew, sew, sew. Direct, direct, direct and Mrs. Seale's day is gone. Mrs. Seale is head of the Jo Ann Shop's free alteration department and we might as well admit it. Many women give the Jo Ann Shop preference in their buying because of the beautiful fittings turned out by Mrs. Seale. For beauty, get a Jo Ann dress. For fit, see that Mrs. Seale takes the fitting.

TILLIE (JO ANN) SILVERMAN: Jo Ann should be quadruplets. Nearly every customer that enters the Jo Ann Shop wants Tillie's opinion about what she should buy before she buys. A bunch of personality that shows a sincere interest in every customer — that's Jo Ann. And if you think she's smooth, you're dead wrong. Come in and call for Jo Ann, and you can quickly tell you've found a friend.

FLOYD DAWSON: Slow lightning — that's Floyd. Now a failure out at Tech, Mr. Dawson is second in command at the Jo Ann Shop's shoe department. Slow, easy going — sure a shoe fits before he'll let you buy it, Floyd Dawson has quite a following among the younger set. Buying a pair of shoes from Dawson is a full half hour of pleasant entertainment.

CHARLIE STILL: Fast lightning — that's Charlie. Born with a fitting stool under him and a shoe spoon in his mouth, Charlie is the kind of shoe man who immediately creates confidence in a customer by the very business-like manner he goes about his job of properly fitting the buyer. Once you've bought a pair of shoes from Jo Ann's No. 1 shoe man, you'll always come back for more.

HERBERT SILVERMAN: The most cussed and discussed man on the Jo Ann Shop's payroll — that's Herbert. General manager and goodwill man, Herbert gets a lot of the dirty work. All adjustments are made by Mr. Silverman, and many the lady on the South Plains who came back crying with a grievance sang walked out singing the praises of the store. Mr. Silverman meets every customer, and most of them he calls by their first name. If you haven't met him, go in and introduce yourself. Mr. Silverman will consider it a real honor and a privilege to know you, and you'll enjoy it, too!

Museum Group Shows Growth

Organized June 6, 1932 for the purpose of collecting and preserving paleontological, achaeological and historical specimens; to perpetuate the cultural history of West Texas and to encourage and promote the arts, the West Texas Museum association is a sectional-wide organization.

Dr. J. T. Hutchinson of Lubbock is president; Geo. P. Kuykendall, vice president; Clarence Scarbauer of Midland, second vice president; R. F. Hinchey, third vice president; A. B. Davis, fourth vice president; Mrs. A. G. Hinn of Plainview, fifth vice president; J. Doyle Settle, secretary; Mrs. W. G. McMillan, treasurer; Dr. W. C. Holden, curator; Hubert L. Allen, Sam C. Arnett, sr., R. C. Hopping and Dr. C. J. Wagner, directors ex-officio.

Dr. Hutchinson

The original name of the association was the Plains Museum society and was organized back in 1929. The name was changed and the new organization setup made in 1932.

A basement museum building was built on the Texas Tech campus in 1937 from a grant of $25,000 from Texas Centennial funds and a successful give-a-brick campaign was conducted in 1940 which raised enough bricks to construct a two-story biulding. Funds from the legislature will be sought to complete the structure.

Conducts Field Trips

The association has conducted numerous archaeological and paleontological expeditions, among them three trips into the Yaqui Indian country of Old Mexico.

In the museum building are numerous exhibits on display, loaned to the association by residents of Lubbock and West Texas. Thousands of other museum pieces and artifacts are in storage, there being no room in which to display them.

Memberships in the association may be obtained by anyone interested in the cultural and industrial development of West Texas. Life memberships are $100; annual sustaining memberships $10; resident $2.50; non-resident, $1 and students $1.

URUGUAYAN STAND GIVEN

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, June 20. (AP)—Uruguay announced today she would not consider any American countries warring against foreign powers as belligerents and would permit United States and other American warships to use Uruguayan harbors if war spreads to the western hemisphere.

Speed Of Airplanes Causes New Problems

PHILADELPHIA, June 20. (AP)—Airplanes moving at a speed approaching the velocity of sound have given engineers the problem of producing measuring and recording instruments that will function accurately under such conditions, it was reported here today.

Correct measurement of air temperature and pressure by methods previously used no longer is possible, H. W. Emmons of Harvard and J. G. Brinerd of the University of Pennsylvania told a meeting of the applied mechanics division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Planes now being built with top speeds of 600 miles an hour, they said, may not exceed the velocity of sound—about 750 miles an hour in air—but certain points on the plane's surface do go faster.

Accurate measurement of the temperature and air pressure is needed, the two engineers explained, as a guide to refinement in plan design.

When an object moves through air at a speed lower than that of sound, they said, it is preceded by sound waves, but when the object goes faster than sound it is unheralded and its impact with the air causes an abrupt increase in temperature and pressure.

Dates For Fair Set Oct. 6-11

New directors and officers have been chosen and Oct. 6-11, inclusive, set as dates as preparations gain momentum for the 1941 Panhandle-South Plains fair, according to announcement of association officials.

New president of the association is Homer D. Grant, vice president and secretary of Panhandle Construction company succeeding C. E. Maedgen, president of Lubbock National bank.

Homer Grant

Other 1941 officers are Marvin B. Hilburn and Chas. A Guy, vice presidents; Lennis Baker, treasurer; A. B. Davis, manager; and Mrs. C. E. Luce, secretary.

Newly elected members of the board of directors are Charles L. Adams, Smylie C. Wilson, Baker and Claude Hurlbut. Adams, Wilson and Baker succeeded to the expired terms of S. C. Arnett, C. E. Hunt and Neil H. Wright. Hurlbut will complete the term of the late Joe Baldridge. Holdover directors are J. A. Hodges, Maedgen, Grant, Hilburn and Guy.

Most important of the preparations already made for the fair, officials announced, has been the signing of the Beckmann and Gerety shows as the midway attraction. It is described as being one of the "big four" among carnivals in the United States.

Officials reminded that the fair association is chartered strictly as a non-profit organization. The charter requires that any profits that may be made must be put back into the fair in the form of improvements.

Workshop Theater Is In Third Year

Comprised of people of every walk of life — doctors, lawyers, merchants, school teachers, housewives, bankers, young and old — Lubbock's Workshop Theater became a full-fledged organization the night of March 27, 1939.

Presenting an answer for persons interested in any phase of dramatics, the Workshop Theater offers an avocation not only in acting, but in stage work, makeup, costuming, scenery, lighting and other such essentials of the art.

Dr. Harvey

First year officers of the body were Charles Maedgen, president; Achilles Corcanges, vice president; Mrs. C. M. Stanley, secretary; and Miss Coleta Baker, treasurer.

Present officers of the club are Dr. Marshall Harvey, president; Mrs. George Pierce, vice president; Mrs. D. W. Alden, secretary, and Alton Taylor, treasurer.

First major production of the theater was presentation of "The Drunkard," sponsored by Lubbock civic clubs in 1939 for the benefit of the Boys club. Also offered in 1939 were two one act plays, "Gallant Lady," and Thornton Wilder's "Happy Journey." The past March, "Ladies of the Jury," a three-act comedy, staged at Senior high school, highlighted the year's work, although five one-act plays also have been presented thus far.

Parents Exonerated In Death Of Girl

GILROY, Calif., June 20. (AP) — Parents of 14-year-old Louise Ford were not to blame, in the eyes of a coroner's jury, for the girl's death.

For several days they had refused to let a doctor treat her for penumonia, because they belong to a sect which believes in healing by prayer alone.

The jury held yesterday the parents were not negligent.

Louise died Tuesday in a hospital, where she was finally removed by court order. Indignant neighbors had failed to persuade the father, Price Ford, to let a doctor see the ailing child.

Bar Association Is In 33rd Year; Seeks To Raise Standards

Lubbock Bar association usually transacts business of slight news to the public in general, but in its records are found accomplishments of much intrinsic value.

In the last few years it has been unusually active in the enactment of legislation tending to speed disposition of cases in the trial and appellate courts.

Anderson

It was one of the first such associations in the state to recommend that procedure followed in the federal courts be adopted by the state courts, which was largely done by the legislature at its last session.

The association took a lead and was active in movements to raise the standard of individual members of the bar, and one of the Lubbock members is serving on the grievance committee for this congressional district.

Present officials of the association, which meets twice monthly in informal luncheon, are: Hugh Anderson, president; E. L. Pitts, first vice president; Ralph Brock, secretary, and William H. Evans, sergeant-at-arms.

The association was organized in 1908, and James R. Robertson was its first president. It has become affiliated with the state and national bar associations.

MOTORIZED

Highest ratio of ownership of motor vehicles on American farms is in southern and central California, where 97 out of every 100 farm families own such vehicles.

AUTOMOTIVE MOLASSES

In the construction of every million automobiles, use is made of 2,500,000 gallons of molasses, the product of 12,500 acres of sugar cane, for making anti-freeze, shock absorber fluids and solvents.

Capt. Maney Gault Of Texas Rangers Could Tell You Many Stories

Ben Maney Gault, captain of Texas Rangers for the Lubbock district, is as taciturn as a turtle in a drouth — until he gets to knowing you.

He simply said, on a biographical form submitted to him, that his name was Maney Gault, that his business association is with the State of Texas, that his residence is at 1606 Nickerson street in Austin, that he formerly was associated with a furniture manufacturing company, that he was born June 21, 1886, of John M. and Minnie Gault, his wife being born of Mose and Catherin Sabins Johnson, that his children's names are Johnson Gullett Gault and Leona Gault, that he is a Mason and a Woodman and a Baptist, that hunting is his favorite sport, and that his parents were born in Texas.

Capt. Gault

Behind the impassive mask of the captain's weathered face, however, is many a story that other officers will tell you. They piece together an occasional reference from Ranger state headquarters to let you know that it was Captain Frank Hamer and Maney Gault who did the work in running to earth Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker a few years ago.

The grand lodge of Texas owns and maintains an orphan's home at Weatherford, Texas, situated on a 320-acre tract of land about two miles from the city limits. The endowment and home are valued at $500,000, and the home maintains an affiliated high school.

Boabdil temple 185, Dramatic Order the Knights of Khorassan, was organized June 20, 1938.

Italian Would Prefer Concentration Camp

FORT WORTH, June 20. (AP) — A. Ortolani, elderly, greyhaired Italian consul here, studied the newspapers today and made up his mind about one thing.

If the United States closes Italian consulate as it has ordered Germany to close hers, Ortolani would rather go to a concentration camp than be deported to Italy.

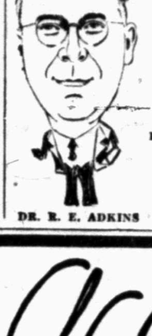

"I hope," he said, "that the United States government will be willing to send me to a concentration camp. I have lived here so long and I have a good record. Maybe they will."

Ortolani came to this country as an immigrant in 1897 and has returned to Italy only once, in 1928, for a short visit.

On top of that, he said, his wife "is Irish, with British leanings."

"She would have to go to Italy, too, if I went. And she wouldn't like that."

Ortolani said he would prefer any sort of arrangement permitting him to stay in this country. He has two sons, a daughter and four grandchildren, all American citizens.

First Presbyterian Church Organized Here In 1903; Has Made Rapid Strides

Many years ago a fire swept away records concerning the organization and early history of the First Presbyterian church. Only a few points of interest have been recalled by one or two of those present at the time of the organization.

After several visits to Lubbock by the Revs. O. G. Jones and H. M. Hammock in 1903, a group of 21 Presbyterians organized a church. S. C. Wilson was made a ruling elder and clerk of the session, a position he has held continuously ever since. Other elders who served on the session of the early church were: T. H. Ellis, Geo. W. Briggs, W. S. Palmer and F. L. Farris. The late W. R. Adams was the first deacon to serve the church and others who deserve mention as having served in this capacity during its early years were: the late B. R. McWhorter, Colby Thomas, E. C. Priest and S. P. Robbins.

Rev. Lewis

Rev. Hammock came to the young church as stated supply for a period of four years until 1907, preaching only about an average of one Sunday a month. Rev. Irving L. Cunningham replaced him in 1907 as its first regular pastor and he died after serving about a year, being succeeded by Rev. J. L. Word, who served until 1917.

Church Made Strides

During Rev. Word's service, the church made strides; membership gained, five lots were purchased at Fourteenth street and Avenue N and a church, now used as a manse, was built on these lots.

Other pastors who served the church have been: Rev. J. H. Freeland, Rev. T. H. Pollard, Rev. A. E. Miller and Rev. Henry W. Burwell. During Rev. Miller's pastorate, a small basement structure was erected on the southeast corner of the church property and the temporary structure was used for a church until the present building was erected in 1924.

Lewis Here 19 Years

In March, 1922, Rev. J. M. Lewis came to Lubbock as pastor and has served the church ever since. During his pastorate, the church has grown to become one of the major religious institutions of Lubbock and now has a membership of 950. The present church structure and educational building has an estimated value of $70,000.

The church was honored in the fall of 1928 in being selected to entertain the meeting of the Synod of Texas of the Presbyterian Church, U. S.

Rev. W. Jack Lewis is assistant pastor and educational director of the church. Miss Virginia McLean had served as religious educational leader 12 years prior to leaving in 1940. Miss Mary Louise Hawkins has been added to the staff as church secretary and organist. J. A. Pressley is business manager of the institution.

Sponsors Locust Street Chapel

The church was instrumental in the organization of the Locust Street chapel in the Friend and Arnett-Benson additions in northwest Lubbock with Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Moxley being largely responsible for the erection of this chapel.

Sunday school is under the direction of Ray C. Mowery. H. S. Weiss is president of the Men-of-the-Church and Jimmy Curry is president of the Tech Presbyterian Student league. Bob Harvey serves as president of the high school group. Mrs. W. L. Hester is president of the woman's auxiliary.

Sheriff Tom Abel Is Experienced Officer; Serving Fifth Term

Thomas Jefferson Abel, the sheriff who has been elected five times, was a farmer, a special officer for the Santa Fe railroad and, for eight years, chief of police at Slaton.

The official, who has roamed between the oceans and from Canada to the gulf for prisoners, lives at 2118 Main street. He was born Jan. 22, 1880, in Cleburn county, Ala. He attended school in that section, and, with his parents, J. C. and Josephine Abel, moved to Texas in March of 1893.

Tom Abel

He was married Dec. 8, 1900, in Bowie county, Texas, to Miss Dessie Bell Reeder, daughter of Ed and Sallie Reeder, and to them were born six children: Leslie, Miniard, John, Buryl, Bonnie and T. J. Abel, jr.

The officer belongs to the First Baptist church and never misses a football game or a boxing match unless press of official duties prevents.

Local Architects Are Affiliated In State Architectural Society

Seeking to unite in fellowship the architects of Texas and to promote the interests of the profession in the state, the Texas Society of Architects was organized in 1939 and on Feb. 11, 1941 the Lubbock Section of the society received its charter after being organized in the latter part of 1940.

J. B. Roberts

Members of the Lubbock Section formerly belonged to the West Texas-New Mexico Architects association which had as its members registered architects in Amarillo, Lubbock and Clovis, N. M.

John B. Roberts is president of the Lubbock Section; W. T. Strange, jr., is vice president and James Atcheson is secretary-treasurer. The group has a membership of ten architects.

Maintenance of high professional standards; cooperation with all branches of the building industry; advancement of architectural education; cooperation between architects on their common problems and dissemination of proper educational publicity in selected public channels are objectives of the group.

County Librarian Is Former Teacher; She's Also Tech Graduate

Mrs. J. A. Humphries is Lubbock county librarian who six years taught in the public schools of Lubbock.

Her residence is at Meadowbrook acres, on route 3.

Mrs. Humphries

She was born at Temple, Texas, attended Temple High school, Southwest State Teachers college at San Marcos and Texas Technological college.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. McDonald of Temple, she was married Jan. 12, 1910, and Mr. and Mrs. Humphries are the parents of one daughter, Daisimay Humphries.

She belongs to the Altrusa International club and to the Methodist church.

Military service? Well, no, but she registered aliens for the government in World war No. 1.

She's another of those ardent fishermen you hear about. She and her husband journey to the Concho every chance, and she gets as many fish as he — and has seen just as big ones get away.

MRS. H. E. WOLFEARTH

Twentieth Century Club Is One Of Lubbock's Earliest Organizations For Women

Naming as its aims self-culture and child welfare, the Twentieth Century club, Lubbock's first literary society, was organized thirty-two years ago. Mrs. George L. Beatty was charter president; the late Mrs. O. L. Slaton, vice-president; Miss Elizabeth Robertson, secretary, and Miss Nora Mae Dupree, treasurer.

Early in its history this group, which was definitely literary minded, joined forces of the old circulating library with that of the Lubbock Library association and sponsored a petition to secure space for books in the court house. From that nucleus the present Lubbock County library had its beginning. Each year the club adds to the library's shelves and also donates books to Lubbock elementary schools.

Mrs. Overton

Pioneered Programs

Through the efforts of the Twentieth Century club Lubbock county's first home demonstration agent was secured. The club sponsored the first paid playground supervisor in Lubbock. It organized the Junior Twentieth Century and Sorosis clubs and when Texas Technological college was first established here it started a loan fund which has grown to $640. This amount in cash and notes was turned over this year to the Student Memorial Loan fund committee to be administered by a committee from the college.

During its years of study and projects, the club has sponsored art contests, short story contests and other means of bringing about self-improvement to Lubbock Public school children of all ages. Supplies that underprivileged children could not buy, medical attention and clothes to enable them to remain in school also have been among the worthwhile accomplishments of this club.

Through the years it has maintained a comprehensive course of study.

Officers, who were installed recently, are: President, Mrs. M. C. Overton; vice-president, Mrs. George W. Dupree; recording secretary, Mrs. R. A. Studhalter; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Hankins; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. S. Mast and auditor, Mrs. Roy Riddel.

Reserve Officers Of Area Are Organized; Goodwin Is Leader

The Army of the United States consists of three components: the Regular Army, the National Guard and the Organized Reserves. The Organized Reserves includes the Officers Reserve corps and the Enlisted Reserve corps.

These components are all so organized and trained as to provide the framework on which the required manpower of the nation is mobilized, trained, armed, equipped and supplied. In an emergency requiring maximum mobilization, the Regular Army will furnish one field army; the National Guard, two and the Organized Reserves three field armies.

R. C. Goodwin

Lt. R. C. Goodwin of the chemical warfare reserves, is president of the Lubbock chapter, Reserve Officers association. Capt. Roy M. Pointer of the infantry reserves, is vice president and Lt. Geo. B. Blair of the coast artillery reserves, is secretary-treasurer.

The Organized Reserve consist of officers Reserve Corps, the Enlisted Reserves corps, the Regular Army reserves, and the Organized Reserve units. They include all branches necessary to supplement the Regular Army and the National Guard in order to complete the first line of defense. In time of peace, they are a potential, rather than an actual fighting force.

The Officers Reserve corps is well represented in this area, as there are over 100 Reserve Officers living in and near Lubbock. Several have already answered the call to duty in various branches of the service.

No potatoes were available at leading hotels and restaurants of Kobe, Japan, during a recent week.

Evelyn Sue Burks.

Burks is past master of Yellowhouse lodge 841, AF&AM, is past district deputy grand master of the grand lodge of Texas, is past worthy patron of the Order of Eastern Star, and is former local chairman of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers. He belongs to the First Methodist church, the Lions club and the Knife and Fork club.

He served two enlistments in the Texas National guard, medical detachment.

A lefthander, he flips a mean softball for the courthouse playground team and at home, when not reading tomes that smell of the English common law, he has a woodworking shop that he dives into and doesn't emerge from until hours later.

District Attorney Is Former Telegrapher; Good Softball Hurler

Burton S. Burks was a young railway telegrapher. He sought to gather legal information of a minor nature to assist the railroad in an impending case, and was refused permission.

"That sort of business can be done only by a member of the legal fraternity," a superior told him.

Burks burned. He clipped a coupon from a magazine and soon he had a set of correspondence school law books. In three years he had been admitted to the bar.

Burton Burks

So that, after telegraphic tricks with the H&TC, Western Union, GCSF and with the Katy, he left Cleburne and came to Lubbock, where he successively became a member of the law firms of Ratliff & Burks, Howard & Burks, Levens & Burks, then assistant district attorney and, three terms ago, district attorney.

He was born Oct. 28, 1897, at Wynnewood, in the Oklahoma Indian territory, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Burks. He attended school at Brownwood and, Oct. 30, 1926, was married in Fort Worth to Miss Madeline Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Warren of Granbury, Texas. To them were born three children, Mary Kathryn, Burton, jr., and

First Presbyterian Auxiliary Has Been Active For 33 Years

First regular woman's organization of the First Presbyterian church in Lubbock was in 1908 when Mrs. J. L. Word gathered women of the church together for Bible Study, mission work and social service. Mrs. Word was the first president; Mrs. M. E. Merrill, vice president and Mrs. Temple Ellis, secretary - treasurer.

Mrs. Hester

Gradually the First Presbyterian congregation increased and as new residents came to Lubbock, the Ladies Aid society expanded its various endeavors. State synodical action changed the name of the organization to Woman's Auxiliary several years later. From the small group, the auxiliary has grown until it now has more than 300 members.

Some of the objectives through the years have been helping in the building of the new church and Sunday school building; purchase of oak pews at a cost of $3,500 and pulpit furniture; furnishing dishes, silver and linen for the complete kitchen unit in the church basement; purchase of several pianos, song books and pictures for various departments; outfitting of a complete nursery in the church basement and numerous other activities. An orphan at Files Valley Presbyterian orphanage is clothed and board and room paid for by the auxiliary and generous contributions are made each year to Pres-Mexican girls school at Taft and the Tex-Mexican boys school at Kingsville.

Social service is carried on in the Community center by Mrs. J. A. Rosamond and others. Mesdames Harry Blocker and Paul Laverty, together with other denominations, sponsor a children's hour and adult classes each Sunday afternoon.

Miss Mary Louise Hawkins is educational director and secretary of the church, succeeding Miss Virginia McLean, who served in the post for 13 years before going to Austin.

Mrs. W. L. Hester is present president of the auxiliary.

A World war veteran, and former school teacher, who later became a peace officer in Lubbock and Plainview and who now is deputy U. S. marshal for the Lubbock division of the U. S. district court, Clarence E. Luce finds time to do a little hunting as well as to attend football games here in the fall season.

Club Boys Are To Attend Encampment In Ceta Canyon

Between 350 and 400 farm boys from district 2 of the state extension service are expected to attend the annual district 4-H club camp in Ceta Glen, near Tulia, according to K. J. Edwards, district farm agent, who announced dates as Aug. 11-13.

The usual program of camping will be followed. County farm agents and their assistants will supervise the program and the camp, assisted by senior leaders and club advisors. The usual sports will be enjoyed, swimming, boating, baseball, hiking and other games. This year, as last, a rifle shooting contest is planned for club boys.

George Adams, vice-director of extension service, C. Hohn, a specialist and L. L. Johnson, state club leader, are expected to be on the program, Edwards said.

Final details of the program will be outlined at the coming annual short course at College Station in July.

The district this year has its largest club enrollment, with approximately 2,500 in the 20 counties comprising the district. Each county will be limited to the number of boys that may attend, as facilities at Ceta Glen are limited.

Counties comprising the district include, Bailey, Briscoe, Borden, Castro, Crosby, Cochran, Dawson, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Parmer, Terry, Scurry, Swisher and Yoakum.

Stabilizing Work In Southwest Studied

DALLAS, June 21. (AP) — Problems of stabilizing employment and income in three separate areas to the Southwest through sociological reports of area analysis by field workers were studied here today by land and population committees of the National Resources Planning board in a regional meeting.

J. W. Tarrant, planning technician for the board, said "we hope to find out what public works can do to solve these problems and to make some recommendations as to how far public works can go and what kind of works will be best adapted to the purposes."

The three areas under study are the Ozark - Ouachita mountains area, Cross Timbers section and Southern High Plains.

Edwin O. Mills, regional planning counselor, presided over the joint session. Edwin R. Henson of Amarillo, land use co-ordinator for the department of agriculture, is chairman of the population committee, and Dr. T. Lynn Smith of Louisiana State university, of the land committee.

Daylight Saving Time Urged For Southeast

WASHINGTON, June 21. (AP) — The Federal power commission said today it would urge immediate adoption of daylight saving time throughout the Southeast as a means of combatting a power shortage in that area which produces aluminum and other materials vital to defense.

A large area of the Southeast now is on a program restricting non-essential use of energy in homes and commercial establishments, so that more power may be delivered to plants with defense orders.

Interior Secretary Ickes said at his press conference today the government now was considering the possibility of establishing new aluminum plants in the Tennessee Valley area and the Pacific Northwest. Ickes has urged daylight saving time on a nationwide scale, as a power conservation measure.

New business and industrial enterprises cannot be started in Switzerland without government permit.

Palace Is Offering "Man Hunt;" "The Great Lie" Tower Feature

WELCOME mats are out and the glad hand awaits South Plains folks this week as Lindsey Theaters Inc. go "all the way" in making everyone acquainted with jolly good entertainment and southern hospitality at its best.

Cooperating in saying "hello, everybody" are the New Lindsey, Palace, Broadway, Tower, Lyric, Texan and Cactus. And believing that deeds speak for themselves, here is the headline program awaiting moviegoers—

The squirrels have nothing on "Love Crazy"—the latest cuckoo episode of "Mr. and Mrs." of the screen, William Powell and Myrna Loy, cutting capers at the Lindsey today through Wednesday in a funfest as nutty as a fruitcake and twice as spicy.

Bill Powell

With the duo teamed again in another of their hilarious features, the picture offers something new in the art of madcap matrimony.

The screen's famous husband and wife find discord in this new picture when Myrna becomes jealous of Gail Patrick and wants to divorce Powell. He learns that an insane man cannot be divorced, so stages all manner of queer antics to feign insanity. But the trouble is that he fools the alienists who take him seriously and want to bundle him off to an asylum.

He Finally Escapes

Then his frantic efforts to prove he isn't crazy make him appear all the daffier. Amid divers bughouse complications he finally extricates himself from his web of deceit, after getting caught in an elevator chewing up a phonograph record and even impersonating a woman.

Thrust off a fifty foot cliff, relentlessly pursued from the Bavarian Alps to the North sea, across the Channel to England, then from London to the British countryside — that's Walter Pidgeon's fate in "Man Hunt," the Palace's thriller today through Tuesday.

Joan Bennett

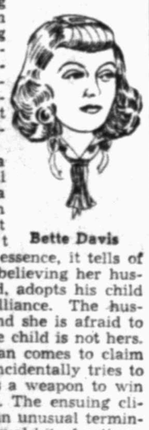

Filmed against the swift-moving panorama of recent history, "Man Hunt" tells the story of a world-renowned hunter and sharp-shooter who is subjected to barbaric tortures by his cruel foe when he slips up in stalking the biggest game of all. He becomes the quarry and leads his pursuer in a thrill-packed chase interwoven with a poignant romance, a chase that culminates in a sensational climax.

Joan Bennett, who shares starring honors with Pidgeon and George Sanders, plays the role of a cockney-speaking "girl out of the shadows." Her's is a new and superb performance as portrays the part of a London "waif", to whom love comes too late. Masterful work is turned in by supporting actors John Carradine and Roddy McDowall.

Bette Davis At Tower

At the Tower today through Wednesday is "The Great Lie," starring Bette Davis, twice winner of the Academy Award, and George Brent.

Bette Davis

The story is a decidedly original treatment of a triangle situation that is fraught with interest throughout. In essence, it tells of a woman who, believing her husband to be dead, adopts his child by a former alliance. The husband returns, and she is afraid to tell him that the child is not hers. The other woman comes to claim the baby, and incidentally tries to use the child as a weapon to win back the father. The ensuing climax furnishes an unusual termination to an unusual bit of acting.

Flying At The Texan

"Men Against The Sky" headlines the Texan's entertainment bill today through Tuesday. With Richard Dix, Kent Taylor, Wendy Barrie and Edmund Lowe reeling off highly entertaining roles, the aviation photoplay offers an insight to the drive behind the goal of why men seek wings.

Richard Dix

Dramatic basis for the picture is the regeneration of an irresponsible barnstorming pilot, and how it influences his sister's romance and the perfection of a new, speedier plane.

Jack Holt takes the lead performance in "The Great Plane Robbery," current attraction at the Cactus. Assigned the unusual job of seeing that a man is kept alive, Holt lives excitement in following his charge, a former racketeer just freed from prison with an insurance policy the company is afraid will have to be paid should he meet with harm, into a transcontinental plane, into a forced landing, holdup and even into a pre-arranged hideout. Action is the keynote of the film.

Jack Holt

American Business Club Is Young Men's Civic Organization

The American Business club, organized to allow young men of the community a place for pooling their civic impulses, was the first such organization to contribute its full share toward expenses of constructing Lubbock Boys club building.

Anderson

Members have gone so far as to personalize their interest in boys, having taken in charge several juveniles who had been found to be delinquent. Several such boys noticeably reacted favorably as a result.

The club was organized March 22, 1930. Carl Brandt, former head of the textile department in Texas Technological college, was the first president, and Wyatt Hester was named secretary.

Hugh Anderson is present president; Bert Collard is first vice president; W. B. Rushing second vice president; Jimmie Wilson, secretary, and Joe Leaverton, sergeant-at-arms.

Mickey Rooney Cuts Capers At Lyric In Hardy Family Picture

GET Acquainted Week along Theater Row provides the Broadway an opportunity to introduce to Lubbock movie fans all over again two beloved characters, Father Flanagan and Whitey Marsh in "Men Of Boys Town," opening today for a three-day engagement.

And if you haven't made the acquaintance of Father Flanagan and Whitey, then you've missed something in the way of theater entertainment which comes but infrequently.

Spencer Tracy

Father Flanagan is played by Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney has the role of Whitey, mayor of Boys Town.

The story is woven around Father Flanagan's increasing financial problems as he over-expands to care for the increasing hundreds of boys who appeal to him for aid. But such troubles mean nothing to him when a boy needs him.

The film reaches its climax when Whitey is adopted by two wealthy people, gets into the hands of the law when he tries to help a boy criminal, and is sent to a reform school.

Suspense And Drama

Others who have fine parts in the cast include Henry O'Neill, Mary Nash, Lee J. Cobb, Bobs Watson, Larry Nunn and Darryl Hickman.

And there's a chance to renew acquaintances with old favorites at the Lyric today. Mickey Rooney, the irrepressible Andy Hardy, gets all mixed up into all kinds of trouble in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary."

Mickey Rooney

With Mickey are such well-known players as Lewis Stone, the kindly judge, Ann Rutherford, Andy's girl friend, Ian Hunter and a newcomer, Kathryn Grayson.

Andy is having many problems as he seeks to guide the senior class through closing exercises and he almost comes to grief by failing in his studies because of his extra-curricular activities.

However, when he goes big time and gets a private secretary to help, he finds the going a little smoother with the possible exception of the attitude of his girl friend who turns thumbs down on the secretary idea.

Lubbock County Boys Considered For Camp

Lubbock county has two 4-H club boys who are among the six or eight in Texas being considered for a Texas representative to attend a week's summer camp at Shelby, Mich., sponsored by President Danforth of Purina Mills, according to Lee H. McElroy, assistant county farm agent and club leader.

James Potts of Cooper and Douthit Grinstead of Slaton are the boys. Both are outstanding in club work and their records are so high that they were sent to the state club office at College Station, McElroy said.

Each state is given one boy to attend the camp and he is chosen from a small list of outstanding boys. "It is unusual for two boys to come from one county," said McElroy.

The camp will be held in August. Danforth pays the expenses of the camp, said to amount to approximately $42. Boys, however, must pay their own expenses to and from Shelby.

Meet The "Queen Of Destiny" At Tech; Midway Is Featuring "Maryland"

Aviation Thrills Are At Arcadia

TECH theater today provides its patrons an introduction to England's greatest empress in "Queen Of Destiny," which stars Anna Neagle and provides a featured cast including Anton Walbrook, C. Aubrey Smith and Walter Rilla.

It's the Tech's major attraction for Get Acquainted Week in Lubbock and the theater has brought a story of history—written in the heart of a woman in love, and told in the acts of men who made an empire.

Anna Neagle

"Queen of Destiny" is a dramatic presentation of the intimate lives of Queen Victoria of England and the prince consort.

The picture is produced entirely in technicolor and the intimacies of Queen Victoria's reign are unfolded. Great historical figures crowd the stage as the young royal lovers push their romance.

Time rolls on, the Crimean war breaks out, despite the efforts of queen and prince consort to preserve the peace. The charge of the Light Brigade shows the British cavalry like a human avalanche rushing on the Russian guns. The massacre of General Gordon and his garrison at Khartum in the Sudan at a later epoch, is also recorded.

Fateful Moments Filmed

The passing of the grand old Duke of Wellington, the demise of the prince consort, and the sequences surrounding the fateful moments when all Britain waits in suspense to hear the tolling bells announce that Victoria's life is ended touch the extreme of emotional strain.

Arcadia theater presents a double program, "20,000 Men a Year," with Randolph Scott, Preston Foster and Margaret Lindsay, and "Buck Benny Rides Again," with Jack Benny.

Jack Benny

"20,000 Men A Year" is a timely picture dealing with the training of college youths for pilot jobs. Scott has the leading role as the flier who is grounded for breaking rules. He starts his own airport but goes broke and then is named supervisor over training of college boys.

Miss Lindsey is seen as the sister of a youth who longs to fly but is unable to do so because of the sister's objections. The climax of the picture comes as the boy proves himself capable and a hero by bringing in a plane with Scott and another flier as injured passengers.

James Potts Turns Down Luling Offer

Because he preferred to attend Texas Technological college this year to spending a year at the Luling Foundation, Luling, Texas, James Potts, a 1941 graduate of Cooper high school, has turned down an offer to work at Luling, according to Lee H. McElroy, assistant county farm agent and club leader.

Young Potts has an outstanding record as a club boy. He has made plans to attend the division of agriculture at Texas Tech and, after talking over the matter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Potts, decided to stay here. The Luling year, McElroy explained, would give a farm boy an excellent opportunity to learn the dairying end of agriculture. A substantial salary is paid those boys chosen for the year.

Hollywood On The Loose..

Doomsday For The Double Feature Is Believed Near

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 21 — Behind the screen: Nothing but increasingly bad business could have persuaded any large number of theater owners to unite against the double bill. Visitors attending the exhibitors' convention here still weren't sure that second features were the villains in their 25 to 40 per cent box office tragedy, but most of them are willing to find out.

The fact that so many more people have money in their pockets these days, while fewer people have been going to movies, has been a shocking paradox to the flicker industry. The dealers in make-believe finally are realizing that the whole tempo of American life has changed.

People who are working don't go to a movie just to kill time; nor do they want to stumble out of theaters after midnight, weary-eyed and stiff from some interminable program, if they have to be at the factory at 8 o'clock in the morning.

A larger percentage of husky stunt men than of actors have been rejected by the medical examiners of local draft boards. Writers seem to be in the worst condition of all. When friends asked Martin Greene how he fared in the examination, he said, "They just took one look and sent me home in a taxi."

Shakespeare Club Is Ten Years Old; Mrs. J. D. Jones Leader

The Shakespeare club is ten years old, having been organized and federated in May 1931. Study and service are objects of this society which plans an intensive study of "Macbeth" next season.

The general course of study always conforms to the State Federation outline. One yearly project consists of a contest managed through the public schools in which a volume of Shakespeare's complete works is awarded to the Senior student making the highest grade on a theme dealing with some phase of the study of the English bard.

Mrs. J. D. Jones

The Shakespeare club contributes to all civic needs and cooperates with other organizations in promoting a better town and community.

Mrs. E. L. Banks was the first president and charter members were Mesdames E. Paul Carter, H. L. Cain, A. H. Crawford, Roscoe Etter, R. C. Harvey, A. C. Jackson, Wade Hardy, W. M. Peticolas, jr., J. A. Raley, jr., Wallie E. Schmid, Lola Shuey, Clyde Tatum, Charles Whitacre and E. Waldo Trotter.

Technicolor Hit Takes Spotlight

A POIGNANT and colorful story of the "sport of kings" cleverly interwoven with the simple romance typical of any American community furnishes the plot for "Maryland," technicolor hit offered today through Tuesday at the Midway.

With a headline cast of Walter Brennan, Brenda Joyce, John Payne, Fay Bainter and Charles Ruggles, "Maryland" tells the story of a love for action, tradition and spirit in the face of all dangers.

Highlights Related

The photoplay revolves around the following highlights:

Payne returns home from college, and against his mother's wishes starts helping Miss Joyce and Brennan, old friends of his while he was a youth, train a thoroughbred for the annual Maryland steeplechase. His father had been killed in such a race, thus bringing rise to Payne's mother's stern convictions against her son ever participating in the sport.

And for a time it seems that her wishes will be carried out when she makes arrangements to do away with the horse only a short time before the big event. But the clever manipulations of a faithful negro helper, who usually is spending his time in the doghouse because of his love of the galloping dominoes, Brennan, Miss Joyce and Payne make for a last-minute entry and participation.

The thrilling climax tops off the story.

Summer Officially Arrives Saturday But Nation Thinks It Sneaked In Early

High Readings Are Reported

(By The Associated Press)

The almanac listed the official arrival of summer as 1:34 p. m. (CST) Saturday but folks in the sweltering eastern two-thirds of the nation vowed it had sneaked in with a full head of steam sometime Wednesday.

Fans and ice cube freezers did extra duty from the Dakotas to the Atlantic where temperatures in the 90's were general Friday.

And "more, but hotter" was all the Chicago weather bureau could offer. Forecasters said the spell would stay on for two more days and grow in severity.

Mass Of Warm Air

The cause of what appeared likely to become the year's most protracted heat wave thus far was a stagnant mass of warm air with few, if any, clouds to filter the heat from the brilliant rays of the sun.

A cooler air mass, the bureau said, was expected to move in from the north Pacific coast or western Canada early next week, bringing scattered showers.

In the south where the air was heavy with moisture, heavy showers developed Friday. Brownsville, Tex., had a fall of 2.28 inches in 12 hours. Amounts were heavy at other points along the gulf coast, in Florida and scattered inland regions.

Relief Fund Approved By Upper Chamber

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—Without a record vote, the Senate approved today a relief fund of $936,390,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 but ignored President Roosevelt's request for elimination of a number of existing restrictions on WPA.

The measure now goes back to the House for consideration of $50,485,000 of Senate increases as well as numerous other amendments.

Both the Senate and House approved the $875,000,000 asked by the president to provide WPA jobs for an estimated 1,000,000 persons during the 12 months beginning July 1. This was a sharp reduction below the $1,381,000,000 available for WPA during the present fiscal year when an average of 1,700,000 persons were employed.

The club is keeping with the Texas Federation of music clubs in its idea of presenting local musical talent. The club sponsored the appearance of two student artist, Edouard Blitz, violoncellist, and Ermadel Floyd, pianist.

In observance of national music week, the Allegro club presented a series of programs inaugurated by a radio program over K.F.Y.O., a program honoring American composers and their works and a Mother's day tea with a program based on composers and their mothers.

Legion Post Is In 21st Year

One of the most active of the American Legion posts in Texas is Allen Bros. of Lubbock which holds its regular meetings the second and fourth Monday nights of each month in the $25,000 home at 910 Texas avenue.

Typical of its activity have been some of its undertakings during the administration of the present post commander, J. Louis Murfee, who is a charter member of the organization.

Louis Murfee

Last Nov. 11 the post joined in the sponsorship of an elaborate Armistice day observance. On the night of Jan. 8, it was host to Milo J. Warner of Toledo, Ohio, national commander, at a public mass meeting in Senior High school auditorium. On Feb. 22, members of the post and volunteer helpers registered more than 800 Lubbock county ex-service men for emergency service in the national defense.

Soon after that it sponsored the organization of a Lubbock unit of the Texas defense guard. On May 30, the post sponsored Memorial day observance. On June 14-15 the post was host to record breaking conventions of the fifth division and the 19th district of Texas. And, in addition to these special activities, the post carried on continuously a program of rehabilitation and assistance to disabled former service men, their families and dependents. The post now has a membership well in excess of 275, as compared with a quota assignment of 250.

Organization meeting of Lubbock post was held Jan. 14, 1920. Temporary officers named at that time were John J. Noone, commander; E. B. Porter, vice commander; B. H. Meskimen, adjutant; Hubert L. Allen, finance officer; and B. C. Dickinson, historian. Charter membership numbered 112.

Chas. Whitacre

Space limitations forbid the attempt even to sketch undertakings and accomplishments of the post since then. Worthy of mention, however, are the claims that the first agitation of the movement which resulted in the establishment of the Civilian Conservation corps originated in Allen Bros. post in 1932. Also noteworthy among accomplishments was the fact that a campaign of less than five hours duration in 1929 made possible the building of the post home as a "cash-on-the-barrelhead" proposition.

The post is named for Phillip Simpson Allen and Roland Terry Allen, brothers who died in action in France during closing weeks of the first World war. They were ranch employes of S. C. Arnett when they enlisted in Lubbock on Aug. 24, 1917.

Present officers of the post are, additional to Murfee: E. Kelley Nail, first vice commander; C. E. Luce, second vice commander; Earl Teague, third vice commander; D. C. Weeks, adjutant; Durwood H. Bradley, service officer; Alex McDonald, mess officer; Lester B. Park, sergeant at arms; Rev. Jeff D. Welch, chaplain; Dr. C. B. Qualia, historian; and A. R. Osborn, finance officer.

Chas. Whitacre is 18th district commander, having been re-elected at a convention here last week.

Asbury Church Group Organized In 1940

In 1940 the Asbury Methodist Women's Missionary society was reorganized into the Woman's Society of Christian Service with a membership of eighty. Officers are: President, Mrs. J. E. Walter; vice - president, Mrs. Harmon McLarty; recording secretary, Mrs. Paul Williams; treasurer, Mrs. Arch Harper; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ted Vernon.

Mrs. J. E. Walter

Thirteen members made up the charter organization with Mrs. J. H. Rhea as president. Those still active are Mesdames Rhea, W. F. Bonds, P. B. Williams, H. E. Ross and Minnie Sanders.

HOW has it been done?—the presentation of the cartoons of local personalities.

The cartoons of members of organizations, of civic, religious and social leaders of Lubbock, the personnel of business establishments has been done by artists with only a picture of the individual to follow. Pictures were taken, sent to the artists and from the picture miniature cartoon drawings were made.

In analyzing "the faces"—the drawings are merely an outline of the face. Complexion tone is entirely absent—no attempt is made to shade it. The pigment of the skin as it reflects light makes the complexion tone of an individual's face and this is not shown in the cartoon sketches.

The cartoons for this edition have been drawn for The Avalanche-Journal by The Postlethwaite Company, Kansas City, Missouri. The Get Acquainted Week feature is copy-righted by this company.

Calvary Baptist Church In Its Fifteenth Year In Lubbock; New Building Planned

The Calvary Baptist church was organized in Lubbock, March 20, 1927 with 11 charter members and Rev. W. A. Todd as its first pastor.

Rev. and Mrs. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ramey and daughter, Margaret Ramey, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. McCrummen, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Alred and Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Clinton were charter members. Mr. and Mrs. Alred, Mrs. McCrummen and J. A. Ramey are still members of the church.

Rev. McCarty

Sixteen months after organization, Rev. C. J. McCarty came to Lubbock as its pastor and has served the church continuously ever since. D. C. Hamilton came as educational director Oct. 1, 1939.

Under the ministry of Rev. McCarty the church has had 1,461 additions, and the present membership is 918, the church having lost 763 members in 13 years. There have been 80 additions since January 1.

The church was first located at Nineteenth and Avenue Q and was then known as the Nineteenth Street Baptist church but this property was sold and six lots purchased just east of the Senior High school building where a new church was erected in 1933 and the name changed to Calvary Baptist church. The church is now entering a campaign to build a brick and tile building with a 72 by 106 feet auditorium with balcony, work having already been started on the structure. The present building will be used for Sunday school and educational purposes.

The church has also built a pastor's home and also a home for the educational director.

J. E. Whitehead is president of the men's brotherhood and Mrs. Estelle Gibson is president of the women's work. Joe B. Taylor is church treasurer. D. C. Hamilton directs the music and supervises the Sunday school and training services.

Catholic Parish Group Is Newly Organized In City; Has 20 Members

Although the Lubbock Parish council is newly organized, the National Catholic Welfare conference of which it is a part was organized in 1919. The council has for its purposes "unifying, coordinating and organizing the Catholic people of the United States in works of education, social welfare, immigrant aid and other activities."

Mrs. Mullenix

All members of the parish are council members but there are only about twenty members. Officers are: president, Mrs. R. V. Mullenix; vice - president, Mrs. T. F. McCann and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. F. G. Orsak.

Meetings are conducted second Friday mornings of each month. At present the council is working on the youth department in the church, establishing libraries and facilitating exchange of information regarding philosophy, organization and program content of youth.

Other aims are listed as being to defend and advance the welfare of the Catholic world and the welfare of the United States.

Highway Patrol Head Saw Service In Navy During World War 1

Capt. W. W. (Walter Wilson) Legge of the state highway patrol office in Lubbock can sympathize with English crewmen of those little dancing surface craft that sound the sea with depth bombs and lace the darkness with sawing tongues of light and bursting shot in their relentless search for Axis submarines.

Capt. Legge

He has been there—or in similar positions numerous times.

A product of the navy and of the merchant marine in World War No. 1, Capt. Legge learned to walk with a rolling gait on a sub-chaser.

Capt. Legge saw service on the USSC No. 181 and on the USS Rowan, a destroyer which at its pleasantest antics had a habit of rolling 58 degrees.

After the war he was in the merchant marine. Just as in the war, he was radio operator and worked aboard ships running between the United States ports and Europe and South America.

The peace officer lives at 2212 Ninth street. Formerly he was traffic officer of Abilene, Tex., six years and earlier with the city of Sheffield, Ala.

He was born Nov. 4, 1895, at Biloxi, Miss., where he returns almost each year to fish. He attended school there, took a course in radio at the naval radio school in Harvard, at Cambridge, Mass. He was married March 18, 1928, in Abilene to Miss Clara Stillwell, daughter of Melvin T. Stillwell and Anna Stillwell of Denver, Colo., and they have two children, Melvin Legge, a son, and Marion Hardin Legge, a daughter. The family came to Texas in 1924.

Radio and mechanical work is the captain's hobby—he tears down the family bus frequently and repairs it — and favorite sports are boating, swimming and fishing the deep sea.

Children of Paengaroa School, Bay of Plenty, N. Z., raised a ton of onions and two and a half tons of carrots in the school garden and presented the vegetables to the Papakura soldiers camp.

Area Scout Work Shows Growth

A1 Area Scout

Remarkable growth has been made in South Plains Boy Scout council since Jack O. Stone came to Lubbock as council executive in April, 1939. Dr. Frank B. Malone is council president.

Membership in the 20 counties making up the council has increased from 2,332 to 3,104 and has included all phases of Boy Scout work. Program for the present year calls for a continuation of the expansion, along with the inclusion of a special program designed to key Boy Scouting into the national defense.

Dr. Malone

Mr. Stone was born in McAlester, Okla., Sept. 17, 1908, but moved during boyhood to Oklahoma City where he graduated from Central High school. He holds a B.A. degree from the University of Oklahoma and is a graduate of the Scout Executive's Training school, Mendham, N. J. His widowed mother, Mrs. P. B. Stone, still resides in Oklahoma City.

Jack Stone

Before coming to Lubbock he was a Boy Scout field executive in Oklahoma City, assistant executive at San Angelo, and executive of Sabine council at Port Arthur. He is a Methodist, a Master Mason and a Rotarian.

Mr. Stone and the former Miss Christine Spalsbury of Oklahoma City were married there June 14, 1934. They have a son, Sidney, 5. The family resides at 2506 Twenty-second street.

Airport Board Has Charge Of Municipal Airport Supervision

Official supervising agency of Lubbock Municipal airport is the Lubbock Municipal airport board which was created and appointed by the city commission about two years ago.

Members of the board since its creation are:

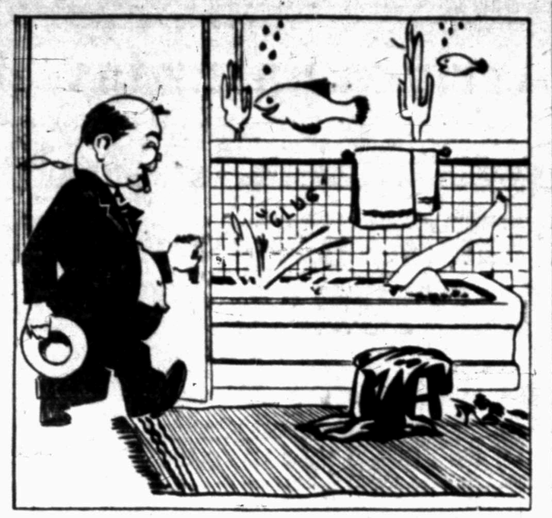

A. F. Holt, chairman, secretary-treasurer of Peoples Ice company; Ray F. Hinchey, vice president and general manager of West Texas Gas company; and J. Doyle Settle, field representative of Texas Technological college.

A. F. Holt

The airport of which they have supervision occupies a section of land north of the city. The tract is described as being one of the most perfect for airport purposes from the natural topographical standpoint of any in the Southwest.

Additional to their supervision of the operations of the port, members of the board also have given invaluable cooperation in attempting to further all manner of aviation development for Lubbock, including efforts to obtain commercial airlines, improvements now being made at the port at a cost of nearly $350,000 and other services.

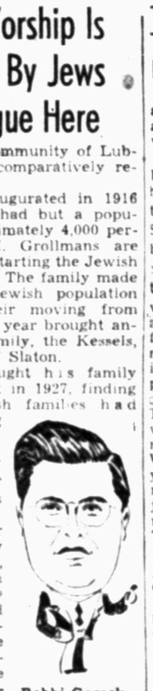

"Hello, Mrs. Van! I'm just making the rounds during Get Acquainted Week."

Regular Worship Is Conducted By Jews In Synagogue Here

The Jewish community of Lubbock is of but comparatively recent date.

Originally inaugurated in 1916 when this city had but a population of approximately 4,000 persons, the C. H. Grollmans are given credit for starting the Jewish community here. The family made up the city's Jewish population until 1920. Their moving from Lubbock in that year brought another Jewish family, the Kessels, now residents of Slaton.

Grollman brought his family back to Lubbock in 1927, finding additional Jewish families had moved in during his absence. In 1929, Morris Levine moved here and opened his business establishment. For the high Holy Days of that year, a Sefer Torah (scroll of law) was borrowed from a neighboring city and the services conducted in one of the hotels. The services were attended not alone by Lubbock residents but by Jews from surrounding towns.

Rabbi Garsek

A Sefer Torah was purchased by the community in 1935 and that year marks the first active organized communal attempt at a synagogue and regular worship. A congregation was organized and named Shaareth Israel. A building was purchased in 1935, remodeling started promptly, and since it has served as a center for synagogue activities of the Jewish community.

Garsek Here 3 Years

In former years a rabbi was invited to hold High Holy Day services. Leaders in the community thought it advisable to see whether or not they could engage a spiritual head of the community on permanent basis. In December 1938, the call was extended to Rabbi Isadore Garsek, and he accepted the pulpit of Congregation Shaareth Israel and has served since.

Officers of the Congregation are George Finberg, president; A. Bender, vice president; A. I. Glassman, secretary-treasurer. Board of directors includes Morris Levine, Sam Rosenthal, H. J. Jarett, Sam Koretzky, Abe Korenfeld, Abe Kelnor, Louis Freed, C. H. Grollman, and Abe Kessel.

Tech Press Building Is To Be Ready In Fall; Horne Is Director

A new $70,000 press and journalism building will come into use at Texas Technological college with opening of the fall semester.

The building, which will be of brick and stone with architecture harmonizing with the modified Spanish type buildings on the campus, will have two stories. It will house offices and classrooms for the department of journalism, the Tech press, publicity department, the Toreador, semi-weekly student newspaper, La Ventana, college yearbook, Tech magazine, photographic studio, a journalism library and reading room and several extra offices. There will be four class rooms.

Cecil Horne

Head of the department of journalism is Cecil Horne, who came to Tech in 1926.

The new building, built with borrowed funds, will be paid for with income from student publications and the Tech press.

Council Of Women Graduates Of Tech Has AAUW Affiliation Included In Objectives

Looking forward to future affiliation of Texas Technological college with the American Association of University Women, 16 women graduates of Tech held a preliminary meeting, February 23, 1937, to organize the Council of Women Graduates.

Purposes of the organization are to promote sociability among members, interest in welfare of college girls who are working their way through school, interest in college girls who are not in social clubs, interest in sanitary facilities offered women students, interest in raising educational standards in college in order that graduates might enjoy opportunities which high standards bring, such as affiliation with AAUW and establishment of such national societies as Phi Beta Kappa, interest in cooperative housing for women, interest in a recreation and study center for women on the campus and compiling a news letter to be sent twice a year to alumnae.

Mrs. Keyes

An outstanding accomplishment of the group was the beginning, in 1939, of the Paul Whitfield Horn Memorial Fund, established in honor of the first president of Texas Technological college; the fund being available in loans to outstanding women graduates either of Tech or other comparable institutions, who wish to continue study in Tech or in another college or university. Cooperating in this move was the Quarterly club and Las Leales.

Annual events include a tea in the spring for senior and graduate women students, and a luncheon in the fall. Meetings are held the first Tuesday of each month in the Hilton hotel. Any woman graduate of Texas Technological college is automatically a member, and an effort is being made to encourage all eligible women to attend meetings. Dues are $1 yearly. Annual business meeting for election of officers is usually in March.

Other highlights include appearance of college and town speakers, musical programs, coffees and other such events honoring distinguished visitors.

Newly elected officers for 1941-42 are Mrs. J. G. Keyes, chairman; Miss Rosemary Duff, vice chairman; Miss Gladys Butler, recording secretary; Mrs. Walker Nichols, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. C. Holden, reporter, and Mrs. Leonard Earnest, editor of women's page in Tech Magazine.

Lubbock Jaycees Is Active Group

Organized to provide young Lubbock business and professional men with opportunities for civic performance and achievement, the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce is in its third year.

Its activities have been many but outstanding projects have been the staging of a safety drive last fall which has resulted in more than 200 deathless days in Lubbock, an annual kids baseball school attended by more than 250 youngsters, promotion of an annual West Texas open tennis tournament, promotion of a soap box derby scheduled here July 4 and cooperation in the City's annual cleanup and paintup campaign.

Arlie Crites

Hugh Dunlap was its first president and is still a member of the board of directors. Arlie Crites is its present president; C. W. Ratliff is first vice president; George Dale, second vice president; Holt Waldrep, secretary-treasurer. Members of the board of governors are: Crites, Ratliff, Dale, Waldrep, Vance Apple, Joe H. Bryant, Bruce Collier, Dick Cook, Dr. Clyde F. Elkins, James Gunn, Dunlap, Glen McDonald, Marion Sanford, Oscar Slaton, Charles Still and Oliver Thomas.

The organization is affiliated with the Texas State and United States Junior Chamber of Commerce and has sent delegates the past two years to the state convention.

Membership of the group is approximately 125 but a goal of 300 members has been set for Lubbock and efforts will be made to secure that many members in the near future.

Meetings are held each Monday noon at the Hilton hotel and the year's program of activities is interspersed with numerous ladies night programs, dances and stag parties.

The Jaycees seek to cooperate in every way possible with the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce in its activities, mainly through the furnishings of manpower in its various committees.

Annual election of board of directors is scheduled for Monday, June 23 and the new fiscal year begins July 1.

'Fess Up Now, And Be Honest--

Have You Ever Been Guilty Of This Old One: Watch Out, You'll Break The Camera

Newspaper reporters have to do a lot of funny things and this is one of them.

This is an interview with one C. A. Mera, a run down at the mouth specimen of the photography species if you ever saw one. Despite looking down in the mouth, and a bit seedy, however, this same fellow is a bustling workman, having raced madly about and taken some 800 photographs for The Avalanche-Journal Get Acquainted edition.

Undaunted by his usual tactiturnity, not to mention his frequent complete silences, we approached him with a pad in one hand, and pencil in the other.

A Model Interviewer

"Well, Mr. C. A. Mera," we said in our jolliest voice, "you've seen a lot of folks around here the past few weeks, what do you think of them."

He snapped back his shutter and smiled. "Oh, a bumper crop, a bumper crop. Only call me Leica, all my friends do. It's a cute nickname, don't you think."

Not only cute, but usually wearing a fancy price tag, we thought.

"All right, Leica. I suppose, since you've seen so many of our Lubbock citizens, that you have a few opinions on them. I wonder if we could get you to make a statement for The Avalanche-Journal."

Throwing his shutter wide open, he boomed, "You certainly can, young man, you certainly can.

"First of all, I'll say that most people can be divided into three classes—men, women and children. Now, first as to the women." He winked at me.

"Women subjects can be bracketed into two divisions. There are (1) women who giggle. Eighty-seven out of 100 women subjects over 35 try to be funny. You know—'Look out, you'll break the camera if you take my picture, tee-hee.' Few of them realize that in all probability their own father made that choice comment when having his wedding picture taken.

"In the second group are the women under 35 who too often think a Hollywood talent scout might see their picture in the paper. So, they duck into the house or their purse, or what-have-you, 'just to put a little powder on my nose.' I'm not bitter, but I can honestly say that a third of my life has been spent waiting for a new coat of cosmetics."

"I can readily see your point, Leica. Now what about the men? Not many faults there, are there?"

"Well," he paused, "maybe not quite so many. At least pictures of men don't turn out looking like a dental advertisement. Still, they have their foibles."

Like a good reporter, we wrote the word down even if we didn't know what it meant.

"There are those men whose hair is growing thinner. Without exception, they'll take to a mirror at sight of me to plaster those few locks over a wider surface, so their head won't shine in the picture.

"Then there are those sourpusses who think it's unmanly to crack a smile in a picture. Boy it's harder to get some of those Simon Legree-lookers to smile than it is to get a movie actress to cover her fangs.

"Thirdly, and lastly are the children—les enfants terrible—all of 'em. Wherever I stop there're a half dozen spawn of Lucifer pushing and pulling each other to try and get in the background. And as if that isn't bad enough—

"When you want the little dickens, what do they do? They bawl and kick and holler and bite and claw and wiggle and wail, 'I don't wanna have my picture took.' It's like taking pictures of flying fish. First they're there: then they aren't."

He stifled a yawn. "In closing, I have just one request to make. The next time you, or any of your friends, have your picture taken for the paper, please, please don't say, 'Is this for the funny-paper page?' and expect me to laugh."

Permian Basin Association Is Headed By Paul C. Teas

For several years, a need had been apparent for an organized voice to represent the prolific oil-producing section of West Texas known as the Permian Basin, and, so, in August of 1939, through the leadership of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, representatives of all the towns in the Basin were invited to a celebration, from which came the organization of the Permian Basin association.

Paul C. Teas

It was fitting that Colorado City should take the lead in a matter of this kind, for it was this same town which was the original oil center of the Basin, having been the greatest beneficiary of the original Westbrook strike in Mitchell county in 1923.

Those far-seeing individuals who organized the Permian Basin association are still active in the work and have done much during the two years just past to place the association on a well-established, well-financed basis with a definite and beneficial program engaged in legislative protection and in tax-saving activities which are felt by every citizen of the Basin, whether he be an oil producer, a land-owner or a business or professional man.

Adams First President

Harry Adams of Midland was elected the first president and H. B. Spence of Colorado City executive secretary. Vice-presidents were Chas. C. Thompson, Geo. W. Elliott, M. D. Bryant and R. V. Oberholtzer. Headquarters were designated as Midland and offices were opened there on November 1, 1939. Illness forced President Adams to resign early in his term of office and he was succeeded at the Odessa convention in June, 1940, by Hamilton McRae of Midland. Following the untimely death of Executive Secretary H. B. Spence, that office was taken over by Wilburn Page, who had been manager of the chamber of commerce at Wichita Falls.

At the recent successful convention in Lubbock, Paul C. Teas of Lubbock was named as president for the current year. Serving with him and representing the four regions of the association's territory are vice-presidents Ben L. LeFever, Big Spring; M. C. Lindsey, Lamesa; Luther A. Neal, Odessa; and R. L. Cannon, San Angelo.

The present Lubbock directors, in addition to Teas, are Thos. B. Duggan, jr., S. E. Cone and H. H. Van Aken.

Principal activity of the association to date has included the complex fields of taxation and legislation.

Pythian Sisters Have 50 Sisters On Rolls; Formed Here In 1936

Lubbock Plains temple No. 135, Pythian Sisters, was instituted July 29, 1936, by members of the Grand Temple.

There were 22 charter members of the auxiliary to the Knights of Pythias lodge, whereas now the temple has 50 Sisters and 35 Knights as associate members.

The temple meets at 1107½ Avenue K each second and fourth Wednesdays.

Mrs. Payne

Officers are: Mrs. Elmo Payne, most excellent chief; Mrs. J. H. Hackfield, excellent senior; Mrs. Russell Hardin, excellent junior; Mrs. Acie Cope, manager; Mrs. E. J. Dresser, mistress of records and correspondence; Mrs. J. D. Corcorran, mistress of finance; Miss Nicky Moss, protector; Mrs. T. J. George, guard; Mrs. J. C. Crawford, captain of the staff; Mrs. J. W. Philips, past chief; Mrs. G. H. Ater, district deputy grand chief.

The temple has been instrumental in organization of other temples, at Spur and at Pampa.

Engineering Society At Tech Seeks Unity Among Engineers

The Engineering society, which was organized the first year of Texas Technological college, is open to any student in the engineering division and during the session that ended in June had a membership of 750.

The organization's main purpose is to foster a spirit of unity, cooperation and friendship among students in the division and to provide a means for promoting any enterprise for welfare of the students.

Atcheson

Mack Atcheson of Lubbock will serve as president during the 1941-42 session.

The society was organized Feb. 5, 1926, when a group of students met, with William J. Miller, former dean at Tech, presiding. Officers elected were Melvern Hunter, president; Houston Frederick, first vice president; Virgil Jones, second vice president, and N. E. Trostle, secretary and treasurer.

The first annual banquet was held March 1, 1927, and since then the society has sponsored a banquet each year. During the last few years it has become a tradition for Tech engineers in various parts of the country to gather on the night of the local banquet. This year banquets were held in Corpus Christi, Dallas, Houston, Washington, D. C., Chicago, Atlanta, Ga., and Inglewood, Calif.

The society also sponsors an annual Engineers' ball each fall and a picnic each spring.

Market Week Is Popular Event

Important among the regularly established events on the Lubbock calendar have been the wholesale clothing markets sponsored each spring and autumn during the last 14 years by Western Wholesale Market association, an affiliate of the chamber of commerce.

Purpose of the market is to provide a trading center in Lubbock where wholesalers, manufacturers and jobbers from the most important style and trade centers can meet retailers from West Texas and Eastern New Mexico for business purposes.

I. A. Stephens

Importance of the market is reflected in the fact that during the last several years, five floors of Lubbock hotel have been reserved for each event so as to provide space where merchandise could be displayed.

The market of last spring, according to I. A. Stephens, president of the association, was one of the most successful in the history of the association. Mr. Stephens is head of the dry goods business bearing his name.

Paul Davis is vice president of the association; M. D. Fanning is secretary; and the directors are O. J. Sexton, Arlie Crites, E. T. Pope, Irving L. Jones, Luther Godwin, Sam Rosenthal, Morris Levine, Davis and Stephens.

There has been an increase of approximately 3,350 square miles of land in the United States since 1930, due largely to a decrease in inland water area.

Texas Tech Is Emphasizing Standards For Study; College Nearing 17th Year

Texas Technological college, which opened 16 years ago this fall, attracted 4,076 students from 21 states, the Canal Zone, Hawaii and Mexico during the session that closed June 2.

Officials long since have ceased to place great emphasis on enrollment, and have emphasized standards, instead.

Their success was indicated this spring when some departments had more than twice as many requests for graduates for employment as there were graduates available.

Dean Gordon

The majority of Texas Tech's 4,963 graduates are gainfully employed and numerous graduates have risen to prominence in their fields.

President Clifford B. Jones and three of the divisional deans have been associated with the college since it opened. President Jones was appointed a director in 1923, two years before the college opened. He became president more than two years ago.

Dean Weeks

A. H. Leidigh, dean of the division of agriculture, has held that position since 1925. Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of home economics, also has been dean since the college opened its doors.

Dr. James M. Gordon, dean of the division of arts and sciences since 1925, formerly held two dean's positions. He served as dean of men until a few years ago. He is at present director of the summer session, as well as a divisional dean

Dean Leidigh

O. V. Adams, dean of engineering, has been on the faculty since 1927 and became dean in 1932.

Texas Tech draws its enrollments from families in numerous occupations. Parents of 1,480 students of the 4,076 who were enrolled during the 1940-41 term had as their occupation agriculture and animal husbandry. Occupations of parents of the remainder were classified as extraction of minerals, clerical, domestic and personal service, manufacturing and mechanical industries, public service, professional, transportation and trade.

FAST MAIL

ROANOKE, Va., (AP) — Uncle Sam's postal service was just too speedy for a Roanoke housewife. Downtown, she put a special delivery stamp on a greeting, addressed it to her husband at their home, and at 3 p. m. dropped it in a mailbox where she thought it would be collected that night. When she got home at 4 p. m., she found the greeting had got there ahead of her.

Postmaster Howard Is Acquainted With Lot Of People In Lubbock

Frank Walker's personal representative in Lubbock, who gets your mail delivered to you on time —provided the train is not late— or who delivers other mail to those for whom you intend it, is generally to be found in his office in the federal building.

He is Amos H. Howard, former county clerk and World war veteran, whose favorite sport is golf, and who knows almost everybody who lives within the jurisdiction of the Lubbock postoffice. If he does not know you — you know him, which is all the same.

Amos Howard

Amos is a former abstractor, who was in the business before and after being county clerk. He gives all of his time to his federal duties.

Born in Livingston, Texas, May 13, 1896, to Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Howard, he attended Stamford college, Stamford and then West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon. He was married Dec. 30, 1923 to Miss Una May Coleman, daughter of Cyrus Coleman, at Henrietta.

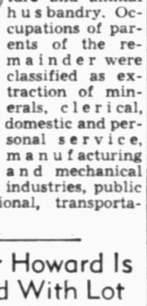

The couple have two children, Amos H. jr. and Elizabeth, both in school. The family home is at 2309 Seventeenth street.

He is a member of Lubbock Masonic bodies, the American Legion Post and the Kiwanis club, as well as the Methodist church. He is active in the Legion work and the service club and this year is chairman of the program committee.

College Ave. Baptist Church Has Shown Steady Progress

College Avenue Baptist church —then known as West End Baptist chuch—was organized April 17, 1930, in one room of what now is La Fonda, 2406 Main street. The first pastor and leader in its organization was Rev. Boyd P. Milburn, who came to Lubbock from Fort Worth.

There were 11 charter members: Mr. and Mrs. Milburn, Mrs. S. M. Wilson, Miss Jessie Wilson, Hillery Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Butler, a Mr. Black and Mrs. Ethridge.

Rev. White

After meeting a few months in Cheri Casa — as La Fonda was then known — a revival meeting was held in July, 1930, with Rev. Virgil Starnes, an evangelist, preaching, in a tent at Tenth street and Avenue W. In the fall the group met in the home of a member, Leo Roberts of 2213 Ninth street and at the Milburn home, 2214 Tenth street. In 1931 the first church building was erected at 2420 Tenth street, site of the present building.

Auditorium Built In '33

In July, 1933, the present brick auditorium was completed and an all-day service held for the cornerstone laying. Dr. Bradford Knapp, then president of Texas Technological college, dug the first shovelful of dirt where work on the building was started. From time to time improvements were made. This year new pews were purchased.

In 1934 Mr. Milburn resigned and was succeeded by Rev. Ira Harrison, who resigned and went to Paducah in 1935, and was succeeded here by Rev. J. M. Parker. He resigned in 1937 and Mr. Milburn served again, resigned again in 1939 and was succeeded by Rev. A. E. White, present pastor.

From charter membership of 11, the church has grown to more than 300, with a Sunday school membership of 200 and a large BTU membership, as well as other organizations such as the WMU. The church participates in all work fostered by the Southern Baptist convention.

There are as many rats as people in the United States, according to estimates.

Herd Improvement Goal Of Dairy Body

Members of the Lubbock Dairy Herd Improvement association envision a steady growth in the need for commercial dairies.

R. L. Burdette

R. L. Burdette is president of the association, organized July 1, 1940. D. M. Carrell was the first tester, having been succeeded by Wayne Mears.

Objective of the organization is to improve the dairy herds of members. A field tester has been employed for testing cows for butter fat and for checking the ration fed each cow. The tester assists in getting herds in readiness for shows and fairs.

Feed, mild climate and excellence of markets are considered outstanding advantages favoring commercial dairying.

18 YEARS IN LUBBOCK

Lubbock County Has Outstanding Program In Agriculture; Agents Capable Leaders

Lubbock county is recognized throughout Texas as an outstanding leader in things agriculturally and the program of the state extension service and also the Agricultural Adjustment administration are considered among the best in the state.

Charles C. Jobson, county agricultural agent, has been here six years. He is one of the oldest agents in the district in point of service with the state extension service, and also in length of time in one county. Jobson, as his predecessors, has trained a number of men who are now county agents.

C. C. Jobson

Extension work has been in operation in the county for more than a score of years.

Major program of the service is that of the county land use planning committee. Formed about two years ago, the committee has met monthly and has assisted in putting over the formation of a county-wide soil conservation district. This work is just now functioning, a board of supervisors having been named. W. O. Perkins, chairman of the land use planning committee, is one of the supervisors and George C. Eklund of Union, the other, named by the committee. Grover C. Gillett, Shallowater; Earl Davis, Acuff and T. L. Holt, Idalou, are the other members.

Lee McElroy

Farmers throughout the county have cooperated in demonstrations of various types of agriculture.

Four-H club work is directed by Lee H. McElroy, graduate of Texas Technological college and formerly assistant agent in Lamb county before coming here last fall to succeed Monroe U. May, promoted to be Castro Farm agent. There are 16 clubs in the county, with 438 members. Two meetings monthly are held.

Miss Pratt

Projects of boys include: 202 boys with 306 swine; 82 boys with 121 beef cattle; 80 boys with 4,048 head of poultry; 67 boys with 392 acres in crops; 25 boys with 25 dairy calves and 17 boys with 110 sheep. Boys have won many prizes, trips to Washington, to the National 4-H congress and the Chicago International Livestock show and also to the short course at College Station. Several boys who did their club work here and who attended Texas Tech while senior club leaders, are now in the state extension service.

Miss Keeter

Miss Clara Pratt is home demonstration agent, with Miss Mona Keeter her assistant and club leader in charge of the girls clubs. There are 12 girls clubs in the county with 369 members. A heavy percentage of the total, estimated at 70 per cent, complete their projects from year to year.

Miss Pratt has supervised the mattress making program for low income farm families and the total number of mattresses made will approximate 1,350 this year. A home demonstration council, with representatives from the 17 clubs in the county, directs the program. There are 343 women in the clubs.

Walter Wells

Walter Y. Wells is administrator of the AAA. Annual payments to farmers of the county approximate $1,250,000 a year and this has been an average since the program began in 1933. There are 11 employes in the office at this time, and during certain months as many as 30 are employed.

Lubbock county has more than 2,600 work sheets, including 362 wheat contracts, 2,500 cotton contracts, three sugar beets, a dozen peanut contracts and all have a general contract. Cooperation in the federal soil conservation program is a large part of the work.

C. E. Lilley of Slaton is chairman of the county AAA committee, with John R. Murrell, Shallowater and James Steele, Cooper, as members. Six communities, Idalou, Monroe, Shallowater, Wolfforth, Woodrow and Slaton have three members each of a community committee. These groups contact the farmers and also the state AAA office.

V. L. Cade of Carlisle is a member of the state AAA committee. He has held this post for many years.

"It's all right, officer—it's Get Acquainted Week."

I think the Get Acquainted Week is a splendid idea. Since hearing of it, I've been thinking of it a lot.

I wish that all homes could experience during the week something which would last forever in those homes - a sort of a "re-acquaintance" if I make myself clear.

I mean that for wives and husbands to start really being sweethearts again in their romantic enjoyment as they were before they were married.

That feeling of "I'm just a wife" or "I'm just a husband" CAN be erased forever. And, I'd like to see it erased out of every home everywhere.

Kappa Gamma Group Aids Milam Home

Organized to promote good will and fellowship among business women, the Kappa Gamma sorority was formed here in May, 1933. Miss Hazel Ligon was its first president; Mrs. Joe Leaverton, secretary and Mrs. Frank McPherson, treasurer. Miss Ruth Pirtle was sponsor.

Miss Dederick

The sorority has a two-fold purpose in its meetings, the second and fourth Mondays of each month. One is a dinner and lecture, an educational program, and the other is a social event.

An annual anniversary dance is held each May.

Dues of members go toward paying the milk bill for the children at the Lubbock Milam home each month.

Miss Magdalen Dederick is president of the sorority; Mrs. Dan Ethridge is vice president; Miss Louise Chance, treasurer and Miss Roberta Raybon, secretary.

The sorority has a membership of 30 young Lubbock business women.

STATE'S FIRST LIGHTHOUSE

North Carolina's first lighthouse was a crude affair in the form of an iron lantern. Built in 1794, it was 10 feet 9 inches in diameter, 15 feet high, and located four miles from Frying Pan Shoals, near Bald Head, noted bluff on Cape Fear Island.

Hatched in May, a fly could have five million million descendants by by September.

Community Center Is Major Project Of Church Women's Federation; Funds Needed

In the fall of 1922, a group of Lubbock women met in the basement of the First Baptist church to organize a Church Women's Federation. They were inspired by Mrs. Tom Moore, who now resides in Fort Worth.

Mrs. C. J. Wagner of the First Presbyterian church was selected as first president. The following presidents have served during the 19 years: 1922-23, Mrs. Wagner; 1924, Mrs. W. C. Rylander, First Methodist; 1925, Mrs. W. P. Jennings, First Christian; 1926, Mrs. Eric Studeman, First Baptist; 1927, Mrs. J. A. Rix, Episcopal; 1928, Mrs. J. A. Pressley, First Presbyterian; 1929, Mrs. H. T. Kimbro (deceased), First Methodist; 1930, Mrs. A. T. Biggers, First Christian; 1931, Mrs. J. H. Hankins, First Baptist; 1932, Mrs. Joe Penney, (deceased), Episcopal; 1933, Mrs. A. C. Bickley, First Methodist; 1934, Mrs. E. L. Robertson, First Presbyterian; 1935, Mrs. S. J. McFarland, First Christian; 1936, Mrs. J. L. Nisbet and Mrs. Mark Allen, Episcopal; 1937, Mrs. R. A. Metcalfe, Asbury Methodist; 1938, Mrs. J. H. Cox, First Baptist; 1939, Mrs. G. W. McCleary, First Presbyterian; 1940, Mrs. A. W. Evans, First Methodist; and 1941, Mrs. R. A. Mills, First Christian.

Mrs. R. A. Mills

The building of a place of worship and recreation for the people of the Sanders school area became a project of the federation in 1936 and has become the major objective of the federation. A building has been erected known as the Community Center. First meetings were held in the women's building at the fairgrounds and later other meeting places were used but in 1940 the center was started on lots purchased at the corner of Sixth street and Avenue B.

Need $1,000 More

More than $3,000 has been spent on the building and $1,000 more is needed to complete it. Everything has been paid for as it was built. The first money, $300, went for the lots and foundation; $400 was spent in salvaging and moving the old Nicolette hotel which was a gift of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Stephens. The union carpenters, union plumbers and electricians, the lumber, paint and paper companies have made donations of labor and materials and various individuals have made contributions to the project.

Recreational programs, children's hours, fun nights, sewing classes, Junior League better baby clinic, boys' club, Bible classes, and worship services are conducted in the center.

The committee in charge of the building is: Mrs. Mills, chairman; Mrs. C. P. Carlock, First Methodist; Mrs. W. H. Porter, First Baptist; Mrs. W. L. Hester, First Presbyterian; Mrs. J. W. Houston, St. John's Methodist; Mrs. J. E. Walter, Asbury Methodist; Mrs. C. C. Longabaugh, St. Paul's Episcopal; Mrs. T. L. Johnson, Nazarene; and Mrs. Lloyd Ricketts, College Avenue Baptist. Officers are: Mrs. Mills, president; Mrs. John W. Broome, vice president; Mrs. D. M. Davis, treasurer; and Mrs. S. T. Hodges, secretary. Mrs. Elliott Taylor is program chairman with Mesdames M. C. Overton, Ray Mowery, Robt. Allen and W. L. Stangel, members.

FOUNDATION GARMENT

Modern women select foundation garments that give adequate figure control with the maximum of comfort. New on the market is a girdle with garters made in one seamless, boneless garment assuring the wearer smooth, suave lines. Made of liquid latex, in pale shades of pink and blue, or white, it is said never to "ride up" or chafe. The new garment is also porous and extremely light in weight, resilient, and beautifully launderable. Simply rinse in mild suds, pat with an absorbent towel and it is dry and ready to wear again. The fact that the garter is made in one piece with the girdle and of the same elastic material is said to prevent the sharp, sudden pull which so often causes hosiery to run.

Get Acquainted

Is Something That We Just Naturally Like

The policies of Ellwood Farms were formed on the idea of friendship and loyalty to our fellow man. We have always liked the idea of getting acquainted with people. We want you to meet us and we would like to meet you. Come in this week. . . . Let's get better acquainted.

40 YEARS OF FARMING AND RANCHING IN WEST TEXAS

There was a time, and not so long ago, when people seldom heard of the South Plains; when the occasional range rider was the lone herald of an approaching activity; when we were strangers to much of the world.

But people now are getting acquainted with us. By the thousands, they have come each year to establish their farms, their stores, their professions, and even their factories and plants. Our products are going to the far corners of the globe, and our farms and oil fields are yielding mightily of the earth's bounty. We're no longer strangers. The world has sought us out and, finding us good, is availing itself in increasing volume of our basic industries . . . agriculture and livestock.

The history of the South Plains is largely the history of Ellwood Farms and its famed predecessors, a fact in which we take pardonable and understandable pride. We have been part and parcel of its romantic past; we contribute to its vigorous present, and look forward to sharing in its hopeful future.

Tech Faculty Club Offers Diversion For Its Members

The Faculty club of Texas Technological college was organized shortly after the opening of the college in 1925, selecting Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of the division of home economics, as its first president.

Dr. Ellsworth

The club met monthly in the college cafeteria, now the bookstore, and carefully planned programs under direction of the late Dr. Paul W. Horn and the deans consisted primarily of a speaker talking on some professional or scientific topic, followed by a social hour. The club offered a medium of social and professional contact between members of the faculty.

Membership of the Faculty club consists of all members of the faculty, there being no other requirements. The dues were decreased from $1 annually to an individual assessment for each meeting.

As the faculty increased in numbers and more professional groups were organized by specifically related subject matter and interest groups, the club dispensed with its monthly meetings, allowing for only four meetings annually, and now it meets as a club only in the fall and spring with very informal programs at each meeting. Picnics and dinners are the favorite diversions at these meetings with games, dancing and other activities.

The officers for the 1940-41 session were: Mrs. Edna Buster, president; C. C. Galbraith, vice president; Miss Margaret Baskin, secretary; and E. L. McBride, treasurer. Dr. J. O. Ellsworth is the newly elected president; Mart G. Pederson, vice president; Miss Mina Wolf, secretary and Charles G. Decker, treasurer.

Ministers Association Of Lubbock Dates Back To '22

The Ministers Association of Lubbock dates back past its oldest member's coming to the city.

Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, is dean of Lubbock pastors in active service and found an association at work when he came here in 1922.

Rev. W. A. Bowen, then pastor of the First Baptist church, was president.

Rev. Winslow

In 1927 the group sponsored a revival, with the widely known evangelist, Rev. Will Hogg, preaching in a tabernacle at Fifteenth street and Texas avenue. Oldtimers say the revival series was successful.

Shortly afterward Rev. Walter Jennings came to Lubbock as pastor of the First Christian church and during his tenure here he did much to promote the organization of ministers.

Winslow Is President

Rev. John A. Winslow, pastor of St. Paul's-on-the-Plains Episcopal church, is president; Rev. Albert F. Laing, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, vice president, and Rev. Cecil R. Matthews, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, secretary-treasurer.

In recent years a constitution has been drawn up, which sets out the purpose of the association is "to extend the kingdom of God through organized Christianity; to foster Christian fellowship, to help raise spiritual standards, to seek moral uplift and to promote social and civic righteousness."

Church Census Taken

Bi-yearly church census is taken and union activities have included a Holy week service this spring. Member churches are:

First Baptist, Central Baptist, Tabernacle Baptist, Calvary Baptist, College Avenue Baptist, First Methodist, St. John's Methodist, Asbury Methodist, First Christian, First Presbyterian, First Nazarene, St. Paul's Episcopal, and three negro churches, Messiah Presbyterian, Zion Methodist and African Methodist. In addition, Broadway Church of Christ, the Catholic church and the Jewish congregation have cooperated from time to time.

Woman's Missionary Society Of Baptist Church Dates Back To First Church Here In 1891; Group Was Organized In Jail

Eight women met in the Lubbock county jail back in 1891 and organized the first church in Lubbock whose membership was composed entirely of women for nearly a year.

An outgrowth of that period was the formation of a Ladies Aid Society for the Baptist church on January 1, 1902.

Mrs. Porter

Mrs. S. A. Richmond was its first president. Other members included the late Mesdames Willie Winn, R. M. Burns and J. B. Mobley. Mrs. R. A. Barclay is the sole surviving charter member.

The society had a large part in the building of the first Baptist church here in 1909.

As the years passed the duties and aims of the society increased. Today the Woman's Missionary society union is composed of the society for women, the young woman's auxiliary, ages 16 to 25; the girl's auxiliary 9 to 16 years; the Royal Ambassadors, boys 9 to 16 years and Sunbeams for boys and girls, ages 4 to 9 years.

Each unit has three objectives—missions, education and benevolence. Aiding denominational hospitals, Buckners Orphans home at Dallas and aged ministers are included in the activities.

Mrs. Crosby

Mrs. W. H. Porter is president of the society; Mrs. Alfred Crosby, assistant to the president; Mrs. J. E. Alexander, recording secretary; Mrs. Claude Key, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Ben Jenkins, young people's secretary.

The society is divided into fourteen circles, each named for a missionary in the Baptist church.

Journeymen Barbers Of City Are United In Union; 28 Affiliates

Cecil Turner

With the betterment of working conditions and improvement of standards of the trade objectives, 28 barbers of Lubbock are united in Journeymen Barbers Local Union No. 781 which was organized here, March 21, 1927. The union meets the last Monday nights of each month.

G. L. Catlett is president; Leo Baggett, vice president; Cecil Turner, secretary-treasurer; L. R. Johnson, recorder; and T. J. McGuyer, guide.

The union is affiliated with the Lubbock Central Labor union, the Texas State Federation of Labor, the Texas State Journeymen Barbers association and the American Federation of Labor.

Justice Davies Is In Third Term; Whittling Is One Of Hobbies

You've seen him riding a sleek horse in the van of Labor day parades the last three years.

He is Walter Davies, justice of peace of precinct 1, place 1, who has held his office two terms and is serving a third.

Justice and Mrs. Davies live at 2303 Ninth street. A former architectural supervisor who was born May 9, 1884 in Runnels county, Texas, he is a son of Job and Elizabeth Kettle Davies. He was married Aug. 15, 1915, at Cone, Crosby county, to Miss Annie Ford Tinsley, and John Lennox Davies, who is in Camp Bowie, is their only child.

Walter Davies

Justice Davies is a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge, in trustee, and is associated with carpenters union No. 1884 and the First Methodist church.

He has supervised construction on numerous large buildings, including the Winkler county courthouse, the Scharbauer hotel and the Thomas office building in Midland and buildings at Coleman and Brownwood.

His parents moved to the United States from England and were married at Lampasas, Texas, in 1877, and the father hunted buffalo all the way from Dodge City to the Texas Panhandle. Justice Davies still proudly exhibits his father's old Sharp buffalo gun.

He whittles intricacies that make you scratch your noggin and will stop en route to the grocery store and forget what he went for if someone will talk carpentry or old times with him. And has learned how to "laugh it off" when he gets home, Mrs. Davies has to concede.

The University of Washington has a new $80,000 campus playhouse intended solely for arena dramatic productions.

Woman's Forum In Seventh Year

Next fall the Lubbock Woman's Forum will enter its seventh year, having been organized Feb. 12, 1935. High points in the club's history show its yearbook has twice been one of five chosen from the seventh district to be entered in a Texas Federation contest.

The Forum sponsored Grace Noel Crowell, past poet laureate of Texas, in a lecture.

Mrs. Underwood

Goodwill activities have included collection of good books that was a nucleus for a library at the Dunbar High school. The Forum has furnished quantities of magazines both to the negro and Mexican schools to be used as reading and for poster work. They sponsored two sales of good used clothing, enabling cotton pickers to obtain clothing at ten cents a garment.

The Forum has contributed regularly to the Girl Scouts and to the Marlin home for crippled children. Members have contributed clothing and food to needy families, have actively participated in the Paintup-Cleanup campaign and have paid for x-ray treatments for a girl's hands and for a succession of tonsilectomies for under-privileged children.

Retiring officers are: president, Mrs. R. S. Underwood; vice-president, Mrs. R. P. Fuller; secretary, Mrs. Noel Stalnaker; treasurer, Mrs. Joe McIlhaney.

Incoming officers are: president, Mrs. Arch L. King; vice-president, Mrs. G. V. Fulton; secretary, Mrs. Howard Redding; treasurer, Mrs. Clem Boverie.

Charter officers were: president, Mrs. Martha Knight Davis; vice-president, Mrs. C. J. Bell; secretary, Mrs. O. C. Moore; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Adams, jr.

County Auditor Boyd's Experiences Varied; Active In Civic Work

Lubbock county's auditor, Joe Young Boyd, comes of a fighting family, but has confined his attention to flour milling, engineer for flour, cotton and oil mills, farming, manager of a drug store, assistant county auditor and county auditor and chief deputy tax collector of Hill county.

His parents came to Texas in 1866 and settled in Washington county, later moving to Johnson county.

J. Y. Boyd

The father, B. M. Boyd, deceased, was a Confederate soldier.

Joe Boyd was born Aug. 16, 1881, near Cleburne, Texas, and attended school at Clifton and Alvarado, Texas college.

He was married April 15, 1906, at Brandon, Texas, to Miss Fannie Boone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Boone. To them were born Mrs. H. T. Kirk and Joseph Y. Boyd, jr., who live in Lubbock.

Boyd is a member of the WOW Willow Camp lodge No. 86 of Hillsboro and Yellowhouse lodge 841, AF&AM in Lubbock, and a member of Downtown Bible class, of which he is auditor. He is a Lion, for whom he served two years as director, was on the Lions' auditing committee several years and now is second vice president of the club, his term expiring July 1.

"No special hobby," Boyd says, but he is an ardent baseball fan.

Parent-Teacher Association Work Dates Back To 1910 In Lubbock; City Now Has Council And Nine Active Groups

The first organization of parents in the Lubbock Public schools dates back to 1910 and was called the Mothers club. That was the year Lubbock got its first railroad and credit for the organization should go to Mrs. J. K. Wester, pioneer teacher and widow of a former superintendent of schools here.

Receiving her inspiration from the late Mrs. Ella Caruthers Porter, the founder of Parent-Teachers association work in Texas, Mrs. Wester, with much urging and pleading and with the aid of Mrs. Geo. L. Beatty, gathered a group of women in what is now Central Ward building and formed the club. Mrs. Wester, a primary teacher, was named first president but after a short time Mrs. Fred Stubbs was named president.

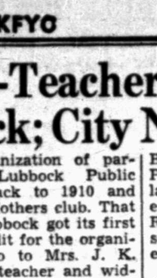

Mrs. Young

Those pioneer mothers raised their money by giving ice cream socials, oyster suppers and serving chicken dinners on election day and provided for many of the needs of the schools at that time. Sidewalks were built, trees were planted, books were contributed to the library and many other improvements made around the schools.

After a few years, the organization as a Mothers club, became inactive and the group was reorganized under the name of the Parent-Teacher association. This change was made by the state and national organizations in order to include the father and the teacher in the membership.

In 1922, the Central Ward building which had housed the primary, elementary and high school grades, was made into an elementary school and Lubbock's school system began to expand with the growth of the city. Central Ward has played an important part in parent-teacher work in Lubbock.

Mrs. Cheatham

One of the projects sponsored here has been the feeding of approximately 25 undernourished children under the supervision of Miss Mayme Alexander. The Central Ward association also sponsors an annual fun night on Hallowe'en and proceeds from this project take care of the finances for the year.

Mrs. A. W. Young is president of the Central Ward association; Mrs. Preston Walker, vice president; Mrs. Jack West, secretary and Miss Margaret Prewitt, treasurer. The association has 76 members.

In 1921, the late Mrs. E. R. Haynes, another pioneer Lubbock teacher and wife of a pioneer superintendent, aided by Mrs. W. L. Baugh formed the Geo. M. Hunt Parent-Teacher association. The late Mrs. Eppie Sowder, a teacher; Mrs. L. D. Rankin, Mrs. W. C. Rylander and Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson were among the active leaders at that time.

Mrs. R. J. Cheatham is president of the association; Mrs. E. J. Wilgus, vice president; Mrs. J. H. Brock, secretary and Mrs. O. J. Sexton is treasurer. Equipping of a school kitchen where hot lunches are furnished pupils; summer round-up of medical treatments; a Little Theater, the sponsoring of a school paper, planting of trees and shrubs and purchase of playground equipment and various other projects are carried on by the association.

Mrs. Wilson

There are 57 active members in the association. Meeting place is the Central Baptist church near the school.

The Junior High school association first functioned as a unit in 1925 with Mrs. R. Bean as president after Mrs. W. M. McMillan had served as president of the Hutchinson unit for primary students.

The planting of trees on the grounds; sponsoring of art exhibits; distribution of garments to needy children; the furnishing of a lounge and sickroom for emergency use; payment of fees for home economics students and other activities are among the projects of the Junior High association.

Mrs. Vaughn Wilson is president; Mrs. John T. Miller, vice president; Mrs. W. B. Sides, secretary; and Mrs. J. R. Stewart, treasurer. The association has 96 active members.

The K. Carter Parent-Teacher association was organized in 1923 with the Geo. M. Hunt association sponsoring the organization. Mrs. G. C. Wolffarth was its first president; Mrs. G. M. Cosby, vice president; Mrs. W. W. Royalty, recording secretary; Mrs. H. A. Davidson, treasurer; and Mrs. S. C. Wilson, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Kelso

The first few years this association raised $1,500 for double roller shades for the building and $400 for playground equipment. Later a sidewalk was built and trees and shrubs planted around the school grounds. Health scales, reading benches and tables, phonographs, radios, pictures, books and an organ were purchased for the school.

Mrs. W. E. Tosh is retiring president of the association; Mrs. L. L. Kelso, vice president now serving; Mrs. O. J. Felty is secretary and Mrs. Milton Greer, treasurer. The association has an active membership of 121 parents.

After Sanders school was erected in the northeast part of the city in 1926, the City Parent-Teacher council sponsored the organization of the Sanders P-TA with 18 charter members and Mrs. A. J. Wright as its first president; Mrs. A. E. Davis, vice president; Mrs. Ollie McIlhaney, secretary and Mrs. Steve Clay, treasurer.

The assistance in the forming of a Sunday school which meets in the school building; sponsoring of a Camp Fire Girls group, two Boy Scout troops and a Cub Scout troop; beautification of school grounds and the feeding of from 50 to 125 children at lunch have been among the projects of the association.

Mrs. Runkles

Mrs. Frank Runkles is president; Miss Murl Ratliff, vice president; Mrs. John Haddock, secretary; and Mrs. E. M. Jones treasurer of the association which has 20 active members.

The erection of the Dupre school at the same time of the Sanders school also called for another P-TA and Mrs. W. T. Milam was named its first president; the late Mrs. M. M. Dupre was secretary and Mrs. B. Sherrod treasurer.

Activities of the association have included the equipping of a cafeteria for the school which has been discontinued; sponsoring of room mothers who visit the rooms, contacts the teachers and discussed problems of the particular room; the sponsoring of study courses with panel discussions and various other educational projects.

The Asbury Methodist church is used for meeting of the association which has a membership of 184. Mrs. L. L. Miller is president of the association; Mrs. Harvey Austin, secretary; and Mrs. H. D. Stanley, treasurer.

Mrs. Miller

The Senior High school organization functions under the name of the Mothers club.

With a charter membership of ten, the Roscoe Wilson association was organized on Feb. 22, 1940. The membership has grown to 163 in its first year, the largest growth of any association in the 14th district during the year.

Mrs. L. D. Thomas was first president of the association; Mrs. Townsen Waddill, vice president; Mrs. O. A. Terry, secretary and Mrs. O. W. English, treasurer.

The sponsoring of a public address system and a traditional tree planting ceremony on founders day are among the projects of the association.

Rebekah Lodge Again Active Organization

Lubbock Rebekah lodge No. 321 was established in 1908, went defunct about 1926, and was instituted again Jan. 30, 1929.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bettes, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bullock, Mrs. H. O. Waters, Miss Margaret Mallard, Mrs. Ann Baze, W. M. Ross and Miss Delia Wilkinson are residents of Lubbock who belonged to that first lodge. Miss Wilkinson received the highest honor the lodge could bestow when she was awarded the degree of chivalry, about 1920, at Waco.

Mrs. Baze

Little progress was made from 1930 until 1933, because of the depression, but in 1934 the lodge began increasing membership. In 1935, the Abernathy Rebekah lodge was consolidated with that here. Several years ago the subordinate and Rebekah lodges of Littlefield, Sudan, Abernathy, Brownfield, Levelland and Lubbock organized the South Plains association of IOOF and Rebekah Lodges. This association meets in April each year and competes in degree work.

Present officers are: Mrs. Ann Baze, noble grand; Mrs. Eula Anderson, vice grand; Mrs. C. C. Heatley, secretary; Mrs. J. J. Smelser, treasurer; Mrs. R. G. Swayder, warden; Mrs. M. E. Stone, conductor; Mrs. Audie Robertson, inside guardian; Mrs. Valeria Campbell, outside guardian; Mrs. R. G. Saverance, right supporter to noble grand; Mrs. E. B. Butler, left supporter to noble grand; Mrs. N. M. Gosdin, right supporter to vice grand; Mrs. Nina Tudor, left supporter to vice grand; Mrs. Irma Lee Henderson, chaplain; Mrs. Lucille Pierce, left altar bearer; Mrs. M. A. Sanders, right altar bearer; Mrs. Jim Johnson, musician; Mrs. T. C. Porter, lodge deputy president; Mrs. R. G. Saverance, captain of the degree staff; Mrs. Frank Barclay, reporter.

The lodge now has 81 members.

Since 1916, Egbert Lee Pitts, judge presiding of the 99th district court, has served the public in an official capacity.

At that time he was county school superintendent of Palo Pinto county, and from 1920 through 1928 he was county judge there. He became county judge of Lubbock county and served from 1931 to Sept. 1, 1936, since which time he has been magistrate of the 99th district.

Judge Pitts

Judge Pitts, who lives with his family at 2911 Twentieth street, was born June 25, 1889, near Honey Grove, Fannin county, son of Andrew Young Pitts and Alice Pitts. He attended public schools at the East Texas Normal college at Commerce and the University of Texas. He was married Feb. 2, 1919, at Fort Worth to Miss Lilla Belle Llewellyn, daughter of Dr. G. A. Yowl Job

Wherever you're working - in office or shop,
And however far you may be from the top -
And though you may think you're just treading the mill,
Don't ever belittle the job that you fill;
For, however little your job may appear,
You're just as important as some little gear
That meshes with others in some big machine,
That helps keep it going - though never is seen.
They could do without you - we'll have to admit -
But business keeps on, when the big fellows quit!
And always remember, my lad, if you can,
The job's more important - (oh yes) than the man!
So if it's your hope to stay off the shelf,
Think more of your job than you do of yourself.
Your job is important - don't think it is not -
So try hard to give it the best that you've got!
And don't think ever you're of little account -
Remember, you're part of the total amount.
If they didn't need you, you wouldn't be there -
So, always, my lad, keep your chin in the air,
A digger of ditches, mechanic or clerk

THINK WELL OF YOUR COMPANY, YOURSELF, AND YOUR WORK!!

Art Institute Is Cultural Force

Dating back to the formation of the Lubbock Art association in March, 1932, the Texas Technological College Art Institute is an outgrowth of that early organization and seeks to promote the creation of a center of beauty at Texas Tech, the encouragement of an appreciation of art by the people of West Texas and to acquire works of art for a permanent collection on the campus.

Mrs. Roscoe Wilson was first president of the art association which developed into the broader organization. Present trustees are: Dr. Clifford B. Jones, Dr. Allen T. Stewart, and R. F. Hinchey. R. A. Kleinschmidt is director; Robert Ivan Lockard, secretary and S. J. McFarland, treasurer. Members of the museum committee are: Mrs. J. C. Allensworth, Miss Mabel Erwin, Dr. W. C. Holden, Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson, Geo. P. Kuykendall, Dr. Bessie League and Miss Martye Poindexter.

Kleinschmidt

Since its formation, the institute has been a vital force in the educational life of the community and has brought numerous well known lecturers such as Dr. Herbert Spinden, Walter Pach, Thomas Benton and Doel Reed, as well as outstanding art exhibits which have averaged about two per month during the college year. It has acquired by gift and by purchase, 88 oil paintings, water colors, etchings, lithographs and several minor art objects, the total value of which has been estimated from $5,000 to $7,500.

The two most outstanding exhibitions the institute has sponsored have been the South Plains Artists' show and the Children's Art show. This year, for the first time, a visitor from Philadelphia, Dr. Edgar B. Howard, purchased one of the children's drawings, a pastel of two dogs — the work of James Fisher, a fourth grade Geo. M. Hunt pupil, for $5.

Total membership of the institute now is 154 persons.

Woman's Society Of First Methodist Church Dates Back To 1902; Nearly 400 Members

Local aid was the objective of the Woman's society of the First Methodist church when it was organized, Feb. 25, 1902 with twelve charter members. Mrs. Jennie Davis was its first president but resigned before the first year was out and Mrs. George M. Hunt finished out the term. Other officers were: Mrs. T. W. Sharp, wife of the pastor; Mrs. Ezra Hinshaw, Mrs. George L. Beatty and Mrs. G. A. Rush.

The society's first activity was to sponsor the erection of a three-room parsonage.

Mrs. Carlock

In 1910 the foreign work was organized and in 1912 the two groups united as the Woman's Missionary society. Mrs. E. E. Robinson organized the Mary Helm society for younger women in 1924 and the two societies united in 1934. When the three branches of the Methodist church united the society was reorganized as the Woman's Society of Christian Service and throughout the Northwest Texas conference the local group is recognized as one of the outstanding women's groups. It has a membership of almost 400 and has one of the largest connectional pledges in the conference.

Thirty-nine officers, committee chairmen and circle leaders under the direction of Mrs. C. P. Carlock constitute the executive committee. The society is divided into 12 circles, each bearing the name of the foreign country in which the woman's society maintains workers.

Outstanding meetings of the calendar year are: annual pledge day in January; circle organization; Week of Prayer and Harvest day. Meeting days are the second, third and fourth Mondays in each month.

St. John's Church Auxiliary Is Among Active Church Units

On Nov. 19, 1939, Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of the Northwest Texas conference in session in Lubbock appointed Rev. R. L. Kirk to organize and build a new Methodist church in Lubbock. Rev. On Jan. 14, 1940, the new church was organized with 100 charter members. The church was named St. John's Methodist church and on Jan. 19, 1940, the first quarterly conference was held and the first stewards elected were: W. B. Gates, C. A. Sanford, W. M. Slagle, R. D. In organization of a Sunday school, Marion Sanford was elected superintendent. Mrs. J. W. Houston was named president of the St. John's Women's Society of Christian Service with the church pioneering in a morning circle meeting.

Rev. Dwight L. McCree came to the church as pastor, Nov. 24, 1940 and during the six months he has served the church 176 new members have been added to bring the total membership to 369. Rev. McCree also organized the Methodist Bible chair at Texas Technological college.

Uncle Sam Holds Whip Hand Over Nazis; FDR-Hull Note Will Mince No Words

We Have 330,000 Hostages

Americans In Germany Protected

SEVERAL reasons, all of them sound, dictated our governmental order the other day forbidding the 330,000 German nationals in this county to leave the United States.

The more obvious reasons include the recognition that a mass flight of the Nazis from this nation would increase the probability that some would get out of the United States with large sums of money. Then, too, a course has been followed which gives Latin American nations an opportunity, if they desire it, to keep propagandists of this kind out of their borders.

But the reason that likely will impress itself most strongly on the European and the Nazi mind is that Uncle Sam is retaining the whip hand in his dealings with Adolf Hitler. The few thousands of Americans who remain in Germany aren't likely to suffer too many indignities as long as several hundred thousand Germany nationals are in this country.

Regardless whether it may have been the reason primarily responsible for the new order, the fact still remains that Uncle Sam has retained in his hands some 330,000 hostages to guarantee the safety of Americans who are in lands under Nazi control.

Why Not Get Acquainted?

OUR HOPE is that this "Get Acquainted" edition will inspire more Lubbock people to get acquainted with each other. This edition can be made the starting point for a lot of lasting friendships because it contains so much "homey" information about so many people.

It is a waste of time to expound on the desirability of getting acquainted with people. You know that most of your business dealings of all kinds are with people with whom you are acquainted. The same is true of most of your pleasures. It is a rule to which there are very few exceptions that the happiest people and the most prosperous people are those who are acquainted with the most folks.

This edition is sure to tell you a great deal that you didn't know about various people in Lubbock. You will feel acquainted, to a degree, with many of them as result of the edition. But you never will really "get acquainted" with them until you make the effort that is necessary to know them personally. If you do that, you will discover that most people are anxious to meet you more than half way in any get acquainted endeavor you may make.

Another "Scrap Of Paper"

PERHAPS—and let us emphasize the word, "perhaps"—the most significant feature of the 10-year friendship treaty in which Turkey and Germany have joined is its implication that the Turks expect the Axis powers to win the Battle of the Mediterranean sea.

The very least that it could signify is that the Turks are persuaded that if they should permit themselves to become involved in war with the Axis, they could expect no worthwhile help from Britain. Both suppositions are thoroughly justified.

But while these clouds unquestionably are dark as viewed by the democracies, they aren't as dark as they now may appear to be. The prolonged negotiations and the fact that it merely is a "friendship" instead of a "mutual assistance" treaty are evidences that Turkey may have been the victim of pistol-at-the-head persuasion.

Then, too, everyone knows the value of any kind of European treaty. It will be respected as long as self-interest or necessity requires. If either sees the chance to cut the throat of the other with profit and without penalty, then the throat-cutting will begin.

It simply isn't the European way of doing things—and, especially, the Nazi way of doing things—to be bound by any pledges contained in the "scraps of paper" that are their own evaluations of their solemn treaties.

Fort Knox Turns Out Graduates As Fast As They Can Learn!

75,000-Man Tank Force Being Rushed

BY HOWARD YOUNG
NEA Service Writer

FORT KNOX, Ky., June 21—It would give a big kick to the men who best know the needs of America's new army to stand outside some of the long wooden buildings here and hear the steady, pulsating roar of motors from within.

They would be hearing the regular throbbing of the new army's heart—the Tank School of the Armored Force—growing louder and stronger as it pumped a lifeblood of technical specialists through the army's veins.

Modern warfare has brought the army face to face with no more pressing problem than the training of men capable of driving, repairing and fighting the new weapons of war covered in that overall phrase, "the Armored Force."

CORPS HAS MANY SPECIALISTS

TANKERS require more specialists than any other branch of the service. The contemplated strength of the Armored Force is around 75,000 of these men. Turning them out at the highest speed possible is the all-important task of the Tank School here. Yet a year ago there was no such organization in existence.

It was only last July that Maj. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, boss tanker of the U. S. Army, ordered Col. S. G. Henry to "go to Fort Knox and establish a school to train all the technical specialists of the Armored Force"

When Col. Henry arrived here he had no buildings, no mechanical or military equipment, no estimate of the number of men that should be trained, no office, not even a pad or pencil. Even today you can walk into many an unpainted office and come face to face with a major or colonel sitting behind a makeshift, unpainted desk, using boxes for filing cabinets.

Four months after Col. Henry received his orders, the first class of 200 officers and 2000 enlisted men moved into the Tank School, were assigned to the eight departments of the school, began going to lectures and working in completely equipped shops. Early next month the school will be working at capacity, with 380 officers and 4946 enlisted men as students.

SENT TO DUTY AS SOON AS TRAINED

BEFORE a student is assigned to the school at all he is given a thorough interview and tests to check his abilities. Mechanical aptitude and IQ tests are given all. Specialists, like radio operators, get special tests, such as phonograph records which measure ability to recognize sound patterns.

The unique things about this army school is that there is no set time required for training. Three months is standard, but men are sent ahead as fast as they learn—and the faster, the better

Robin Moor Protest Hot

(The National Whirligig)

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE ROOSEVELT-HULL note protesting the Robin Moor sinking will be the sharpest a President of the United States has sent to any foreign power since the series of ultimatums with which Woodrow Wilson constructed a legal case for the declaration of war against Germany in 1917.

Advance information indicates that President Roosevelt will not demand an "explanation" for the torpedoing. Washington is proceeding on the premise that there can be no acceptable justification. The incident is regarded here as one of wanton assault. The communication will serve notice on Hitler that future attacks upon U. S. vessels will be countered with force. Secondly, the message will warn the Reich that failure to comply with the specified demands will lead directly and immediately to a complete severance of diplomatfc relations (which usually is the final step preliminary to declaring or waging war). As the official who is constitutionally vested with authority to conduct foreign relations, the President can utter these threats without consulting Congress. That leaves it up to Berlin.

The warning that our vessels will use force to resist sub attacks conveys a sharper hint of warlike action than does the threat of breaking relations. Few of our merchantmen are armed now. It is obvious that they cannot be fitted with guns overnight. Some are sailing the seas at this moment. Seemingly they can resist German attackers, only if our Navy is under orders to "clear decks for action."

CHALLENGES: The freezing of Axis funds and the closing of German consulates were carefully calculated moves to prepare the public mind for the warlike tenor of the Robin Moor ultimatum. They were intended to be psychological rather than practical in their effect.

Almost every official except Secretary Hull has favored freezing for many, many months. To whatever extents the facts and figures may support Mr. Hull's argument that United States interests would suffer in any duel of asset confiscation here and abroad, the point contains as much validity now as was the case several months ago. If Secretary Morgenthau is to be believed, the action has come too late to have practical value. The Treasury Secretary fears that "the barn doors have been closed too late," meaning that everything of value has been removed except fixed property.

It perhaps is true that German consular agents have violated the tenets of hospitality. Nevertheless, when Under-Secretary Welles was asked why the consulates had been blacked out, he referred questioners to the Department of Justice. D. of J. officials were utterly unprepared to furnish any explanation. After asking reporters to wait around for several hours, the D. of J.-ers decided they had "no comment" to make on Mr. Welles' suggestion. Now, after refusing to listen to financial experts and Dies investigators for more than a year, the White House issues two simultaneous invitations to Hitler and Mussolini to knock chips off our shoulders. The note will be the third challenge.

INEVITABLE: Topnotch OPM-ers are studying intensively a series of recommendations designed to break war production bottlenecks in every key industry. The suggestions have come from men who ought to know the present and future problems, that is from the producers of raw materials and the fabricators of manufactured goods.

These experts point out that they cannot build additional plant capacity for steel, aluminum, tin, rubber, etc., in time to meet all-out needs of national defense and full aid to Britain. They warn that even if they could, the required expansion would aggravate post-war problems. As an alternative, they suggest that the manufacture of civilian goods involving use of critical materials be suspended or, at least, curtailed by from 60 to 75 per cent. Almost every article now needed for ordinary peacetime purposes, including even replacements, would be banned from production. Our people would have to get along with their present clothes, household utensils and furniture, automobiles, radios, refrigerators, etc. Perhaps one-third of all industry, and particularly the smaller factories, would be forced to turn to armament production or be driven out of business.

The OPM-ers are scratching their heads and tugging at their forelocks over these hard proposals, even though they have seen them coming. They may stall for a time before approving them, but their acceptance and effectuation by Autumn are regarded as almost inevitable. How to inaugurate this system of guns-and-no-butter, without producing dangerous price inflation, is a problem which not even Leon Henderson has solved.

DUALITY: The ultimate consumer appears to have become the "forgotten man" in the present war emergency. Washington agencies are cluttered with "consumers' counsels" and their staffs, but these concede that they are only vestigial mementos. They possess neither power nor influence.

Dr. Harriet Elliott represents consumers' interests on OPM, but she has no authority. A respected educator, she spends most of her time making hopeful speeches.

Don Montgomery, AAA watchdog for buyers, issues pretty pamphlets while the price of food increases every month. Price Fixer Leon Henderson has set ceilings for numerous defense items, but in each instance his maximum approaches the highest price recorded in the market. But the prize illustration is provided by the nomination of Dr. Luther Harr of Philadelphia as Consumers' counsel on the Coal commission.

Dr. Harr is conceded to be an able man, even by Senate objectors. There was no opposition when Senator Guffey recommended his appointment. Then it developed that Dr. Harr intends to retain his $14,000 job as Philadelphia city treasurer until his present term expires next January. Meanwhile, he will do double duty, ignoring Senate protests that his coal clients will suffer. However, he was confirmed in spite of the Guffey Coal act providing that "The counsel shall not actively engage in any other business, vocation or employment."

PERSONNEL: President Roosevelt suffers from the loss of Capitol Hill leaders at a time when he needs his smartest men on hand to explain and justify his policies and to force through emergency legislation.

Temporary President Harrison of the Senate, a popular and effective legislator and parliamentarian, has just undergone a major operation. It will be months before he can return to work. Majority Leader Barkley of the Senate has been absent with an infection that appears to be more serious than was thought at first. Senator Wagner, personal friend and spokesman for the President, has been ill for a long period, and it is a question when he will be able to resume his place. Meanwhile key measures on banking, finance and social problems are pigeonholed. Pinch Hitter Byrnes of South Carolina is a hard-bitten veteran who never capitulates to sickness, but he has been retired to the Supreme court.

Meanwhile three key chairmanships have fallen to men who are not White House favorites. The Foreign Relations committee's head, Senator Walter George of Georgia, although he generally supports the administration's foreign policy, has not forgotten that he was a 1938 "purgee." Senator "Bob" Reynolds of North Carolina is tops on the Military Affairs committee, a post won by him over administration protests. And David I. Walsh, Naval Affairs chairman, follows the Boston rather than the Washington line with respect to problems of peace or war.

"Spurs On The Boot" Gives Different Picture Of Il Duce

"SPURS ON THE BOOT," by Thomas B. Morgan; (Longmans, Green).

AFTER all the dozens of books on Italy and Mussolini it would seem unlikely that one could appear which would have a fresh approach, and new interest. There is one, however, and it is by Thomas B. Morgan. Morgan was a foreign correspondent in Italy at the time Mussolini came to power, and for two decades he watched the twistings of that policy which has brought Italy to her present dilemma.

Morgan

His book is different because of two things, chiefly. The first is his apparent nearness to Mussolini himself, combined with the fact that he was neither pro-Mussolini nor the opposite. He relates that he helped the dictator write "My Twenty-four Hours." Most books in English on fascism and the Duce have been written to prove a point—usually an anti-fascist point. The second difference is the style in which it is written. Morgan writes throughout as if he were reporting a news story. A pretty devastating story it turns out to be.

There is hardly a nation, Morgan says, which is not the victim of Mussolini's deception. In the war with Spain, he adds, it was officially announced by Italian ambassadors that "Italy was in no way giving any military aid to Franco," yet later Mussolini admitted he had 100,000 troops in Spain. Morgan gives dates and figures in what he calls "a series of betrayals" with England—both the Greek and the Egyptian campaigns followed treaties of friendships with those countries. Morgan charges that Mussolini's aids, with his knowledge, were responsible for a million and a half deaths in Libya, Ethiopia and Spain, and that in both Ethiopia and Libya a large share of these were simple murders.

He also charges flatly that Mussolini has betrayed successively the Italian socialists, the royalists as far as possible, the capitalists, the workers, and finally the people at large and collectively, this last by an alliance which has "sold them out" to Germany. It is not a pretty picture, although the writing has wit and pungency.

Central Baptist Church Growing

Originally known as the South Side Baptist church, the Central Baptist church was organized Dec. 21, 1924 in the home of Elder W. N. Jackson at Fifteenth street and Avenue D.

W. H. Breeding and W. B. Wages, state missionaries, founded the institution, and Mr. Breeding served as missionary-pastor briefly until Mr. Wages was called as first pastor.

Rev. Welch

Charter members besides the pastor were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Roper, T. J. Wages, E. E. Breeding, Mrs. W. E. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Waldron and Faye and Elizabeth Waldron.

First officers were Mrs. Roper, church clerk; T. J. Wages, church treasurer; Waldron, Sunday school superintendent, and C. R. Blake, Sunday school secretary-treasurer.

Two lots were deeded the organization at 2205 Avenue Q by Mrs. Eva Knight. The first building was completed on the lots Feb. 22, 1925.

Membership Gains

The building was moved to 1311 Eighteenth street in 1932 when the original location proved inaccessible.

Rev. Jeff D. Welch has been pastor 10 years and for a time was assisted by his twin brother, Rev. Jack Welch. Membership of 830 has been gained by an average to more than 100 a year since the building was moved.

Church property is valued at $12,500 and plans are being made to construct a new building, including an auditorium and educational building. A church bulletin has been published seven years.

Present officers are Mrs. Tommie Findley, church clerk; Jack Medley, choir director; Mrs. Jack Medley, pianist; J. S. Morgan, J. G. Thompson and J. C. Cox, church treasurers; J. Orville Smith, Sunday school superintendent; Mrs. Guy Kennedy, secretary-treasurer; Jack Swain, B.T.U. general director; Marie Medley, B.T.U. secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Bryan Wages, W.M.S. president; Mrs. Earl Horton, W.M.S. secretary-treasurer; S. S. Allcorn, brotherhood president, and Warren Johnson, brotherhood secretary-treasurer.

St. John's Church Is Lubbock's Newest Methodist Group

Organized in February, 1940, with 23 charter members in the home of Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw, the Woman's Missionary society of St. John's Methodist church is now one of the ranking church auxiliaries of Lubbock. When the three Methodist churches united, it was necessary to reorganize the missionary society and the name was changed to the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Mrs. L. C. Christianson was first president of the original society; Mrs. E. R. Howell, vice president; Mrs. Bradshaw, secretary and Mrs. W. M. Slagle, treasurer and superintendent for the various departments of work.

Mrs. Houston

In reorganization of the society and changing of its name, Mrs. J. W. Houston, who is still president, was named president; Mrs. Luther Kirk, vice president; Mrs. U. V. Blake, secretary; Mrs. Howell, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Slagle, treasurer.

Two circles were formed and Mrs. E. F. Alford was chosen leader of the Mary Louella Dunn circle, named in memory of the wife of an outstanding pioneer minister; and Mrs. E. G. Pope leader of the Maud Keith Horn circle, named in memory of the wife of the first president of Texas Tech.

Local church work, community welfare work, study of missions and Bible study are principle activities of the society in developing spiritual, intellectual and social life of the women.

Other officers are: Mrs. Lucile Smith, vice president ;Mrs. L. M. Flanary, recording secretary; Mrs. E. R. Howell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Slagle, treasurer; Mrs. T. C. Porter, secretary of missionary education; Mrs. J. D. Strickland ,secretary of Christian social relations; Mrs. C. E. Scott, secretary of library and publications; Mrs. S. H. Postoffice Clerks Have Organization

For more than a half century, there has existed, with headquarters at the seat of the Federal government in Washington, an organization dedicated to the high calling of guarding the welfare and interests of clerks attached to postoffices of all classes throughout the United States. Founded in 1883, the United National Association of Post Office Clerks has grown from a handful of courageous pioneers to a closely welded, enthusiastic and robust organization of more than 35,000 men and women. Under its influence have been won a host of improvements in the pay and working conditions of postoffice clerks.

E. V. Hicks

The local branch of the association was organized in 1920, and has been active since that date. The present officers are: E. V. Hicks, president; W. C. Barnett, secretary-treasurer, and Clyde Cummings, district organizer of the 19th Congressional district.

The association has an active list of members and one of the highlights of the year's activities is an annual banquet.

Arch Harper

Another organization functions among post office clerks here. It is the Lubbock local No 952, National Federation of Post Office Clerks which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Per capita assessments are paid to the AFL. The local has about 25 members.

Arch R. Harper is president of the Lubbock local; V. S. Smith is vice president and Bert R. Hatton is secretary-treasurer.

Members of the federation group may also be members of the United National Association of Post Office Clerks.

U. S. Tank Corps Being Built Up the army likes it.

The school is divided into several large shops. In some, students dissect dead engines. In others, they diagnose the ills of live ones. Before he graduates, the student will have taken a tank apart, put it together and solved scores of problems involving spotting and correcting mechanical troubles.

Since the Armored Force uses a lot more trucks and motorcycles (for supply and communication) than tanks, there are complete departments here for these vehicles.

Radio operation occupies 40 per cent of the students.

GUNNERS PRACTICE ON SLOT MACHINE RIFLES

THE field engineering department teaches mapping, photography, how to handle land mines, remove tank barriers and other field expedients. For officers exclusively, there is also a tactics department—theory and map problems.

Every man in a tank must be familiar with its various guns, but those designated "gunners" are the most thoroughly trained specialists. To select students worthy of this training, Col. Henry bought four of those electric-eye rifles such as you see in nickel arcades. He then set up a miniature shooting gallery for an indoor practice range, with tiny tanks bobbing and weaving as the targets.

Almost all the school's first students were enlisted men. As they graduate, most of them are being made instructors. And soon nearly all the students will be drawn from draftees taken from the big replacement center which is also part of the military establishment here.

In a year's time the Tank School can turn out an estimated capacity of 22,400 tankers. It will be none too soon. Already the Armored Force, which was established last summer as a single, undersized experimental brigade of tanks, has grown and been divided into two full divisions—the First here at Fort Knox, the Second at Fort Benning, Ga. These in turn have established two more divisions—the Third at Camp Polk, La., and the Fourth at Pine Camp, N. Y.

And next winter the number of armored divisions likely will be doubled again.

VACUUM CLEANERS

Vacuum cleaners perform best when they are kept in good condition. Oil them often, cut threads from the brush and empty the dust bag after each using. To empty the bag, shake the dust down into one end, then carefully remove the tube and shake the dust onto a dampened newspaper. Roll it up and discard. When dust comes out of the sides or end of the bag when cleaning, the bag needs replacing.

Episcopal Auxiliary First Started Here By Mrs. Coleman

Any attempt to write of the Woman's auxiliary of St Paul's-on-the-Plains Protestant Episcopal church would begin with the late Sally McKay Coleman, mother of M. M. Coleman, Lubbock attorney, and sister of the late J. B. Mobley.

In her ranch home three miles west of Lubbock, visiting clergy were entertained, and the first Episcopal communion and prayer service were held in this section.

Mrs. Longabaugh

About 1905, three church women organized the "Guild," Mrs. Coleman becoming president. She named the church of the future, St. Paul's-on-the-Plains.

Mrs. Coleman died in 1910. In 1912 the organization disbanded so it could become the Woman's auxiliary and join work of the district. The six Guild women who became charter members of the present organization, which has 52 members, were Mrs. A. J. Towle, Mrs. C. L. Griffin, Mrs. J. S. Penney, Mrs. J. H. Weidel, Mrs. R. T. Penney and Mrs. Arnold Brown.

The first confirmation class was in 1908, in the old opera house standing on the site now occupied by Hemphill-Wells Co. Bishop Garrett came from Dallas, riding part way on horseback, to officiate. In 1912 the first little church was erected at Fifteenth street and Avenue O. There were only 13 confirmed members of it. Monthly services earlier had been held in a vacant store building and in the Presbyterian manse. In 1927 the church was moved to Sixteenth street and Avenue Q and enlarged. A rectory was bought on the corner across the street.

Had Variety Of Jobs

The Woman's auxiliary made pledges toward purchase of lots, buildings, furniture and the minister's salary. To meet the payments, it competed for premiums offered by the fair, served dinners, sold Christmas cards and cook books and concert tickets and baby clothing, and conducted food sales and bazaars

Now St. Paul's has grown from a mission to a parish church, Lubbock from 3,600 persons to 40,000. And the auxiliary meets weekly in homes and at Seaman hall, student center given the district when

HUNTERS HUNTED

SACRAMENTO, Calif., (AP) — With the foreign, transplanted ringneck pheasant flourishing in California and providing much sport in the brief hunting season, game wardens find a problem on their hands in the primitive loop-type of snare. Recently in a small area 35 of these were found, and in a single month 30 persons were convicted of illegally taking pheasants.

New Brunswick's coal mines produced 31,867 tons of the mineral in June, 1939, as compared to only 22,589 tons in June of the preceding year.

Officers are Mrs. C. C. Longabaugh, Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Richards, Mrs. M. A. Brophy, Mrs. Carl L. Svensen, Mrs. J. A. Reaney, Mrs. Bert C. Wallace, Mrs. William V. Stone, Mrs. V. O. McCoy, Mrs. George Pilcher, jr., Mrs. James H. Whiteside, Mrs. Mark Allen, Mrs. W. W. Rix, Mrs. John A. Winslow, Mrs. E. T. Lynch, Mrs. R. E. Ponce, Mrs. Mary W. Doak and Mrs. A. L. Strout.

Rev. John A. Winslow is rector of the church.

Justice J. T. Inmon Is Former Sheriff Of Deaf Smith County

It's justice of peace, precinct 1, place 2, but from 1901 to 1907 it was Sheriff J. T. Inmon, not to mention a handle of tax assessor and collector.

The justice, who lives a sedate albeit busy existence at his office in the courthouse and at his 2216 Seventh street residence, hit the Panhandle in a raging blizzard, but his hardihood manifested itself early. There at Hereford, before the blizzard had subsided, he erected a shed to protect his livestock and Hereford became his home. And in after years when in pursuit of official duties he found himself hobnobbing with famous Texas rangers who live as a chapter of the Old West.

J. T. Inmon

He doesn't tell one much of those days.

"There's too much going on in the present," he'll tell one, and launch into a discussion of how to kill blueweeds or how he has improved the "homeplace."

John Thomas Inmon was born Oct. 14, 1860, in Arkansas, where he learned his favorite sport, fox hunting. He grew quite adept at it about 45 years ago, Mrs. Inmon will tell one. The son of J. A. and Sarah Inmon was married Dec. 24, 1885, in Brown county, Texas, to Miss Alice Bratton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bratton, and three children, E. H. Inmon, W. E. Inmon and Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, were born to them.

Justice Inmon has been a member of the IOOF since 1894 and the WOW since 1897. He is council commander of that order now. He is a member of the First Methodist church of Lubbock.

It was in 1870 that Justice Inmon moved to Texas. His father was a veteran of the Civil war, having been one of the first volunteers from Arkansas.

MOON SUPERSTITIONS

In the Middle East, exposure to the rays of the moon is said to cause nightmare as well as headaches, and in the Far East a morning "thick head" is added to these symptoms. In Burma, there is a belief that when the insane suffer from mental storms these correspond to the phases of the moon.

"HOT WATER SHOPS"

Hot water of varying cooking temperatures is a specialty of hot water shops which are common in China. The water is sold from lukewarm to boiling heats.

Get Acquainted Edition

How TO GET ACQUAINTED

1—One of the best ways to meet somebody is to introduce yourself. Just approach the prospective new acquaintance and say, "my name is Charlie Piddlewhit." That may be a bit formal perhaps, but if you have a name like Piddlewhit, you will at least astonish your prospect into an awesome attention. Never fear, once he gets it he as she will never forget it. Of course many people will wonder how on earth such a fine fellow ever got himself crossed up with such a name anyhow.

Now if your name is Jones or Brown or Smith, just introduce yourself by saying, "My name is Jones. You know, of the Chicago Jones. Or Brown of the St. Louis Browns. Or Smith of the be-whiskered Smiths." (But don't cough.)

2—You can have a friend introduce you to his other friends. Now if your friend is a heel of the first order be prepared to be classified according to that old adage; "Birds of a feather flock together." But then if you are aware of this handicap you can turn on the charm, thereby establishing your own personality on a firmer basis.

3—Another method of meeting people is to start up a conversation about "What lovely weather we are having," or "aint this weather awful. I wish it would clear up, warm up, quit raining, or what not." This is a time worry method of approach suffering a bit from tritness as Mark Twain once philosophied. However, if you think of no other method at the time, this will do.

4—The ladies have that old drop-the-handkerchief method of meeting a likely looking gentleman, but during Get Acquainted Week, it shouldn't be necessary. Just smile. That should be enough.

5—If you are in a restaurant playing tunes with your soup much to the annoyance of the gentleman next to you, strike up a conversation about the harmonic possibilities of soup. Before you know it, you'll both be down right chummy. (We hope.)

6—A bit drastic but no less effective, is to come tearing around the corner of a building and crash head on into some other person doing the same thing. The usual procedure is to pick yourself up, if able, rush over to the other person, assist him to his feet, or her feet as the case may be, and say, "I'm terribly sorry, are you hurt?" The question of course is superfluous for the chances are you have shattered the nervous system if nothing else. Anyhow you have a common basis for conversation that should lead to a warm friendship, and a detour at slower speeds around corners.

7—Another way to get acquainted is to engage a prospective acquaintance by using a subtle approach, or instance. "What time do you have?" "Pardon me. Could I borrow a match?" "How far am I from the main street?" "I'm lost. Can you tell me the best way to get back to the newspaper office?" These pleas always bring out the helpful side of a person's nature, and before you know it, you'll probably be discussing your operations. That is if time permits.

8—The boy-scout approach is to offer assistance to enduring humanity. For instance if it's raining and you have an umbrella, offer to share it. However it should be against the rules to limit the offer to good looking blondes only.

9—For the younger generation there is nothing like the blind date to get acquainted. Of course that isn't always limited to the younger generation for if you are an eligible bachelor, somebody is forever trying to get you acquainted with the right gal. Some folks just can't stand to see a man single. But the blind date, while venturesome, does have its possibilities. However a full description should be obtained beforehand so that if you are a small person you won't get another who is six feet three in stocking feet. Of if you are a tall person you won't get some freckled date two feet too short. Yes. It has its possibilities, but caution should no doubt be the rule.

10—Parties are an excellent way of getting acquainted during Get Acquainted Week. You can invite all your friends in and have a jolly get-together. You can play drop the handkerchief, blind man's buff or post office. It would probably be a good idea though to move out the furniture.

So here we have made a number of "DO'S" on getting acquainted. We hope that during the Week you will throw your every timid complex into the ash can. Meet people and make friends. You'll find it fun.

Get better Acquainted with-—YOURSELF. This Get Acquainted Week is a good time for all to check and double-check ourselves in every walk of life for individual betterment. This week can have a BIG meaning if individuals will do this very thing. How can I make myself better to myself in my relations with others?—maybe, there's a BIG idea in our answering that to ourselves and then doing something about it.

AN EDITORIAL
"Get Acquainted" Seriously speaking

Getting Acquainted does not mean simply being introduced to another person, shaking hands and saying, "Pleased to meet you." That is but the beginning of acquaintance, as the planting of a packet of seeds is the beginning of a garden. Acquaintance, like a garden, must be cultivated to come into full flower, and there must be additions to one's list of acquaintances from time to time, in order that new ideas may be conceived and new thoughts produced so that we have a better understanding of our fellow citizens.

Samuel Johnson said, more than a hundred and fifty years ago, "if a man does not make new acquaintances as he advances through life, he will soon find himself left alone. A man, sir, should keep his friendships in constant repair."

Friendship is a follower of acquaintance and the result of knowing men and women better. Acquaintance is the first step toward increasing the number of one's friends and friendship is more necessary now than ever, since the world is in such turmoil. Genuine friendship will smooth many rough places in the pathway of life and make us more mindful of our dependence upon each other.

Get Acquainted Week, which is fostered by this issue of The Avalanche-Journal, in intended as a beginning of better acquaintance and stronger friendships among our people. We must have a solidarity of purpose and effort to be successful in carrying on our community interests. We must know each other better before we can do the work we have to do. We must acquaint ourselves with the problems of "the other follow" and in helping him reach a solution he will help us solve our own.

So this week make it a privilege as well as a duty to meet people you have never met. Let them know you are interested in their well-being, and the result will be of benefit to all of us.

Don't Judge Anyone In A Hurried Manner

Isn't it true that oftentimes one makes a big mistake by judging folks by the FIRST impression? Haven't you met folks who — at first — sort of made you feel you wouldn't like them? Then, after you knew you found that your first impression was a decidedly erroneous one?

It's well during Get Acquainted Week, and each week of the year, to remember the words of Lincoln. He said, "I don't like that man. I must get to know him better."

Chief Of Police Reeder Lists 'Get Acquainted' Aids

Chief of Police Don Reeder last night prescribed the following useful rules to promote Get Acquainted Week by accelerating the getting acquainted process between individuals:

1. Meet ten new persons each day during Get Acquainted Week.
2. Smile at everybody you meet — wherever you meet them — whether you like the physiognomy (face) or not.
3. Make it a point (of the 10 persons you meet each day) to introduce yourself each day to at least three people from territory surrounding Lubbock—at stores, on the streets, in offices. Make the visitors welcome.
4. Meet every one in your residence block during Get Acquainted Week. Let's be more neighborly.
5. Discard your inferiority complex and actually enjoy yourself meeting people you have always hesitated to meet for fear they wouldn't co-operate and meet you half way.
6. Report any case of non-cooperation to me personally so I can call all cars and have the offenders quickly rounded up. I will enforce the correct "Get Acquainted order."

Don Reeder
Chief of Police

Tipping The Hat

In the ancient tournaments in which knights combatted against one another, not to display hostility but prove their prowess or for practice, the knight after winning over an opponent would ride up to the ampi-theatre and raise the armored protective mask from his face as a gesture. If his armored helmet, the entire helmet would be removed as a gesture to his lady. From such . . . the tipping of a gentleman's hat to a lady originated.

Good Will Theme Of Friendly Days

Avalanche-Journal Presents Hundreds Of Pictures As Aid To Knowing Neighbors

Get Acquainted Week opens in Lubbock today.

Getting acquainted is an old Texas custom, but it needs a little reviving, and this is the week to do it.

The family that moved in next door, that new employe in your department, the strange face behind the soda fountain—make a point to get acquainted with them this week. You may find yourself a new friend and certainly you'll be one.

The man who lives up the street from your house—you've seen him out in the yard a dozen times—find out who he is, introduce yourself, get acquainted. No more of this just smiling and wondering "who that is."

It's a "put 'er there, Joe, I'm glad to know you" week. It's a week for making new friends and renewing old ones. It's a week to be friendly; a week to make Lubbock friendly.

Men and towns are built with friendships, not by strangers seeking lonely ends. Get in the harness and start pulling—you'll find the man next to you eager to be friends. Give yourself a break; get acquainted this week.

You'll get a big start right here. Get Acquainted Week is being launched in this edition of The Avalanche-Journal. In it, you'll find hundreds of picture-cartoons—pictures of people you know, old friends; pictures of bare speaking acquaintances, pictures of people you know "but can't think of their names"; and pictures of people whom you may never have seen.

Paper Is Ideal Guide

Several hundred organizations of the city—all kinds—are presented in articles reviewing their history, their personnel, their aims and accomplishments.

Scores of merchants and professional people of all types have seized upon this opportunity to present pictures of their employes, the individuals who make up the business side of the city.

Prominent personalities in the news of Lubbock and the South Plains are presented throughout the paper, in brief stories and pictures.

Propitious Time

Get Acquainted Week comes at a propitious time in our nation's history.

With a host of foreign threats to our country, there could be no better time for the building of a foundation of mutual understanding and unity. Getting acquainted is a first step in that direction. The man who knows and understands his neighbor will have little of hate or suspicion in his heart.

Although it must seem but of infinitesimal proportions, intra-community relations must be the base of a national program of unity.

Trimmed down, that means a slap on the back, a cheery word, a hearty smile and a firm handclasp—and a facility for getting acquainted and remembering names.

So, see if you can't, within the next seven days, add five or ten or 100 new acquaintances to your list of friends. Lubbock isn't such a large city but what you can know a majority of its residents.

Badges Help You Get Acquainted

"You know the nicest young lady always waits on me at that store."

"I've paid my bill at that cashier's window for a number of years and I can't begin to tell you her name although she is always so very courteous to me and everyone else."

"You know I sorta feel embarrassed. That nice young man always smiles and calls me by MY name when I enter the store—but, for the life of me, I couldn't begin to tell you HIS name."

And you've heard many, many other expressions from persons who do not know the employes at local stores and service institutions. This "name business" is so important. It's sorta human nature for one to like being called by his or her name.

Badges Worn

So, during Get Acquainted Week, something has been done about this very thing. Here you will see reproduced in illustration, the personnel badge which will be worn at places of business—by those who call at your home by service concerns. Each and every employe's name of those being presented in this Get Acquainted Week. You'll be pleased in many various ways in the weeks and years to have done this very thing during this Get Acquainted Week.

THE IMPORTANCE OF REMEMBERING NAMES

Do you enjoy the greeting: "Hello, there!"? Or do you (as most of us do) like better being greeted by your own name? In business and social contacts one of the best habits to form is that of remembering individuals' real names and addressing them by their names.

How can this be done?

One may find a method which is helpful to him alone. Some repeat a new name mentally three times immediately after meeting a person. Others write a new acquaintance's name on paper shortly after the meeting. Others make mental notes and at the end of the day try to repeat in writing the newly made acquaintances. Others find it an esy method to associate something distinctive about a person in his mind and designating it in association with the person's name.

Get better Acquainted with-—ALL THE POLICEMEN. Now, this won't enable you to "get away from a ticket" nor will it permit you to use the city's streets for a speedway. But, make no mistake: you'll find times in the future when your acquaintance with the officers of the law will be most helpful. P. S.—You'll really find 'em to be fine fellows, too.

As The Cartoonist Sees The Police Chief's Conduct Rules For Get Acquainted Week

Red Cross Unit Is Active Here

World war No. 1 marks the beginning of the Lubbock County Red Cross chapter of which Dr, S. C. Arnett, jr., is present chairman; Olen Stewart, vice chairman; Mrs. R. L. Hooten, secretary and R. S. Rodgers, jr., treasurer.

During the first World war period, sewing, knitting and bandage-making was done in each entrance of the courthouse. Following the close of the war, a permanent secretary was maintained to care for veterans who were returning from the war. This work has never stopped; it is now under the able direction of Glen Hess and the chapter assists war-disabled veterans and their families in the solution of problems growing out of war service. It assists in obtaining government benefits by filing applications and securing necessary evidence in the support of their claims. Last year the Red Cross assisted 200 veterans through this service.

Dr. Arnett

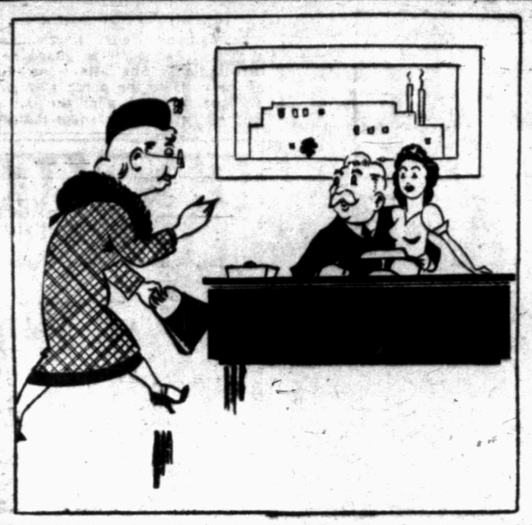

The chapter also maintains a disaster relief service, providing emergency relief and rehabilitation for families and individuals suffering from the effects of floods, tornadoes and other disasters. A typical example of this service was in the aiding of 37 families in the Shallowater storm area of 1939.

Instructions Are Given

A course in home hygiene and care for the sick is given to National Youth administration girls and life saving first aid instructions are given. There are 12 licensed instructors in Lubbock and each year about 300 take the course. All of the firemen, policemen and state highway patrolmen are also licensed instructors.

Last Nov. 22, the chapter opened a headquarters at 1712 Thirteenth street where an average of 172 women have been working each month from 1 to 5 p. m. on knitting and sewing has been done. A total of 1,000 knitted garments, 1,500 sewed garments and 165 layettes consisting of 28 sewed garments have been made in the project. The first quota shipped was 1,276 pounds and a larger quota was to be shipped this month.

"Oh! That's alright, dear—go right ahead. I know—it's Get Acquainted Week."

Rev. J. R. Miller came as first pastor in 1901 and that year persons of all denominations in and out of Lubbock contributed to a building fund for the first building, located on the lot now occupied by Shamburger Lumber company. The building was moved to the present site, Main street and Avenue N, in summer of 1915 and was remodeled and enlarged in 1918 under leadership of J. B. Cole, pastor.

Rev. Hereford

In 1920 membership reached 1,000 and led by Pastor W. A. Bowen, the congregation launched plans for a new building which was finished in summer of 1924 and now serves as educational building.

In June, 1929, membership was 2,538. A campaign was launched to build the present auditorium building. Dr. W. R. White was pastor then, and he was followed by Dr. R. C. Campbell, who served from 1929 to 1936.

Has 3,562 Members

There are now 3,562 resident members and 918 whose addresses are unknown, making a total of 4,480, the largest Baptist church in a city of Lubbock's size in the Southern Convention of 13 states. Additions have averaged 10 a Sunday since Dr. C. E. Hereford, present pastor, arrived in 1936. A fund is being accumulated for a new building.

Dr. Hereford came from Columbus Avenue Baptist church of Waco. He is an aggressive leader and an able speaker, in great demand in Texas and the Southern Baptist Convention as a speaker.

Mrs. Hereford is organist and director of a choir of 60. Other officials are Leo E. Waite, educational director; Miss Lois Henson, general secretary; and Miss Melba Riek, financial secretary.

LUBBOCK STORES. There's false allurement in any thought of shopping away from Lubbock. Lubbock stores have a state-wide reputation for the high quality merchandise they offer, the service they give, and the selections afforded right here in town. Often times folks have made trips away from Lubbock, made purchases and upon shopping have found the same merchandise here—and, that expense of the auto trip could have been saved. Buy it in Lubbock—swell "buy words."

Plumbers Auxiliary Active Organization

Canada's stand of sugar maples is estimated at 70,000,000 trees, only one-third of which have been tapped.

Lubbock B. & P. W. Club One Of City's Active Organizations

Lubbock's Business and Professional Women's club members have been in a daze this month. They've just finished entertaining the state convention and have done a swell job.

Much of the credit for the work is due the club's enterprising president, Mrs. Vera D. Maxey and Mrs. Allie M. Dyer, convention chairman. Mrs. Maxey is the club's only president to serve two terms.

Miss Walls

The club was organized, Sept. 13, 1931 with its objective to promote the interest of business and professional women; to gether and distribute information relative to vocational opportunities; to participate in public affairs; to bring a spirit of cooperation among the women of the town. The policies of the club are self-governing, self-supporting, nonsectarian and non-partisan. The club's motto is "Better Business Women for a Better Business World."

Miss Katharine Walls is the new president.

The first club president was Miss Nina Ellis, who was secretary for the Red Cross. Other presidents have been: Miss Mable Marsh, Mrs. Emma Jean Smelser, Miss Mae Murfee, Mrs. Leo Buchanan, Mrs. Lula Belle Moreman, Mrs. Rosa Mae Burford, Mrs. Mattie Randolph Ausmus, Miss Margaret Mallard, Miss Ruth McCormick, Mrs. Blanche Bean Wilson, Miss Elsie Link, Mrs. Hallie Posey, Mrs. Floe Swenson, Miss Juanita Pool, Mrs. Jennie Fay Stennett Gammill, Mis Ruth Ford, Miss Lavenia Williams and Mrs. Maxey.

The club meets twice a month, on the second Wednesday of each month a luncheon is held where all business is transacted; on the fourth Wednesday of each month a dinner is held. The club is affiliated with both state and national federations.

The club is active in civic work, aiding the Red Cross in its first year. Sponsoring of a Cotton carnival, art exhibts in the schools; purchase of drums for the high school band and records for Geo. M. Hunt school; assisting in all of Lubbock's cleanup campaigns and numerous other activities are listed on the club's achievements. It has given a business scholarship to the outstanding Lubbock High school graduate for the past three years and has assisted eleven girls to attend Texas Tech. When the Salvation Army hall was built the club furnished one room to be used for women and girls without work and lodging. Purchase of food and payment of hotel bills an dtransportation for women and girls when they were without funds has also been done by the club.

Women Of Tech Faculty Are Organized In Quarterly Club

General professional and intellectual advancement of women members of Texas Technological college faculty and raising standards of women students in the institution is the purpose of the Quarterly club. The membership is composed of all faculty women at Tech and others whose connection with student life would make them qualified to render useful service in carrying out the club purpose.

Meetings are held four times a year, usually the first week in October, January, March and May. This year it was changed to a dinner club. A lecture is given by a member at each meeting.

At the time of organization which was October 1932 the following were members: Misses Mabel D. Erwin, Lucile Gill, Vivian Johnson, Bessie League, Jonnie McCrery, Emma Main, Annah Jo Pendleton, Dorothy Pray, Lulu Stine, Harriet Tilden, Mayme Twyford, Margaret W. Weeks, Elizabeth H. West, Frances Whatley, Mamie Wolfarth, Ruth Potter, Ruth Pirtle, the late Flora McGee, Johnyne Gilkerson, Zella Riegel, Gussie Lee Teague; Mesdames Edna W. Buster, R. M. Chitwood, Mary W. Doak, Eunice J. Gates, Hulda W. Marshall, William G. Dingus and the late Olive Holden.

Mrs. Allen

Fifty-five women faculty members and Mrs. R. A. Studhalter and Mrs. Harry Hill, former faculty members, comprise the membership now.

First Officers Listed

In 1932 officers were Mrs. Doak, chairman; Miss Pirtle, vice-chairman and Miss Twyford, secretary-treasurer. The 1940-41 officers are chairman, Mrs. James G. Allen; vice-chairman, Mrs. Robert I. Lockard and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. George Langford.

Among the projects sponsored by the club are the cooperative housing for women students which is now in the form of Casa Linda, on the campus; the Paul Whitfield Horn Memorial fund which is maintained with the cooperation of the Council of Women Graduates and Las Leales, the Women Recognition Service, the Council of Women Graduates, campus beautification, Fireside Forum and a Student Union building.

Pledges of approximately 1,000 have been made and $576 has been paid into the fund. This spring two loans of $250 will be available to two graduates for use at Tech next year or at some college or university of their choice.

The newest project is the Student Union building. The organization has expressed willingness by formal vote to cooperate with the Association of Students of Tech in any effort they may make to promote such a building.

Catholic Church Has Been Active In City For Past 17 Years

Phenomenal growth of Lubbock made it necessary for the Bishop of Dallas to arrange for building a Catholic church here in 1924, after services had been conducted at private homes and at the Merrill hotel for more than 10 years.

Rev. Thomas O'Brien, present pastor at Slaton, had to journey from Amarillo to minister to Lubbock persons. Later Lubbock was assigned to the Slaton parish and attended by Revs. Guttierez, Killen and French. In 1924 Fr. French erected St. Joseph's church at Second street and Avenue O, and it was blessed by Rt. Rev. Joseph Lynch, Bishop of Dallas, Dec. 12, 1924. Holy Mass was celebrated thrice a month for large Mexican and comparatively small American congregations. In 1928 Lubbock was changed to the Plainview district.

Rev. Donegan

The Rev. Gregory Boeckman became the first resident pastor in July, 1929. In 1932 Fr. Gabriel Diamante served a year, to be succeeded by Rev. George Schneider. Fr. Gabriel returned, however, in 1935.

Built New Church

Because of great increase in the congregation Fr. Gabriel found it necessary to build a new church at Main street and Avenue W, named St. Elizabeth's. It is California Mission style, erected at a cost of $25,000. A generous donation of the Countess Price, former Texas resident, made the building possible. St. Joseph's became a mission for Mexican Catholics and was cared for by Fr. Gabriel with the aid of Frs. Guttierez and Stanley.

A missionary wing was added to St. Elizabeth's in 1940 to serve as rectory. Fr. Gabriel resigned in June, 1940, and Bishop Robert E. Lucey, D. D., of Amarillo, asked the Paulist fathers of New York to take charge of the Lubbock parish and on July 1, Rev. Jerome P. Donegan of Los Angeles, Calif., was named pastor. With him came Rev. Frs. P. E. Hoey, James A. Noon, Francis Jelineck and Richard A. Malloy.

A motor trailer chapel given by the Paulist fathers is in charge of Frs. Hoey and Malloy.

Present membership of St. Elizabeth's is approximately 400, of St. Joseph's approximately 750.

The Missionary Society of Catechists, an organization of religious social workers, came to aid in the parish in 1928 and a residence was erected for them near St. Joseph's church.

Parks System Is Pride Of City

Lubbock has one of the best parks system in the state of Texas and this can be traced to the efforts of the fifteen-year program of the Lubbock Parks commission. The commission was appointed by Mayor H. D. Woods back in 1926 and was composed of J. B. Maxey, chairman; Mrs. C. F. Stubbs and K. N. Clapp.

In 1929 the commission was increased to five members and Mrs. Clark M. Mullican and Chas. H. Mahoney added as members, Mahoney being named chairman. In 1931, Mahoney left Lubbock and C. E. Russell was named to his place and Clapp was named chairman, a position he has held ever since. In 1937, O. W. Ribble succeeded Russell on the commission, the latter leaving the city.

K. N. Clapp

Lubbock has six parks and two undeveloped park sites. The system has an estimated value of $205,000. Included in the parks are one for the negroes and one for the Mexican quarter.

Under the direction of C. D. McGeehee since 1930, the parks have a staff of eighteen employes and during that time have made plantings of 710 trees, 1,235 evergreens, 3,336 shrubs, a total of 5,311 plants in the city's system. The commission also maintains Mackenzie State park of 547 acres at a cost of $15,000 where 5,500 trees, 410 evergreens, 1,600 shrubs and 80 acres of Bermuda grass have been planted. The park has an estimated value of $827,000.

The commission has $35,000 for its 1941 budget. Members of the commission, appointed for staggered five-year terms, one expiring each year, are: Maxey, Mrs. Stubbs, Mrs. Mullican, Ribble and Clapp. Members serve without remuneration.

Sorosis Study Club Is In Its Sixteenth Year In Lubbock

"Light, Love and Life" is the motto for the Sorosis study club which was organized in 1925 at the home of the late Mrs. H. T. Kimbro under sponsorship of the Twentieth Century club. Colors are white and gold and the daisy is the club flower.

Mrs. Clement

This is strictly a study club and meetings are conducted on second and fourth Tuesdays from September through May.

The late Mrs. J. R. B. Cooper was the first president and other charter members were Mesdames R. T. Campbell, H. D. Chipley, William Dingus, L. S. Harkey, S. A. Henry, O. B. Hewett, R. H. Moore, J. H. Murdough, W. W. Royalty, W. A. Jackson and Miss Vera Murfee.

Membership is limited to twenty-five.

Officers are: president, Mrs. W. P. Clement; vice-president, Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw; recording secretary, Mrs. C. M. Chandler; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. E. McCleary; treasurer, Mrs. T. C. Root; auditor, Mrs. Ed Tonn; federation representative, Mrs. Rufus Rush; executive committee mmeber, Mrs. G. A. Foote.

During its 15 years of existence the club has embraced studies of Texas authors and artists, Mexico's history and geography, the contemporary English and American short story, travelogues, insular possessions of the United States, homes, neighbors, the quest for security, science and has just completed a literary history of the Southwest.

Lubbock Is Headquarters For Activities For 22 Counties In Farm Security Work

Lubbock is the center of activities for 22 counties in two districts of Farm Security administration, a total of 67 employes reporting to the dual district offices here.

These two offices handle a business estimated at approximately $1,500,000 annually, nearly 2,700 loans having been approved for the counties. Besides the rural rehabilitation work, farm debt adjustment work is another department and the savings to farmers amounts to thousands of dollars monthly.

Earl Wise is supervisor of district 4, with 30 employes in the 14 counties comprising the district. Latest report showed 1,292 loans approved, averaging well in excess of $500 and with many approximating $2,000 and more. Included in the totals are the Cochran county FSA project with a score of loans averaging $1,900 each, and nearly as many just a few hundred dollars under that figure. The district is west and south of Lubbock.

Earl Wise

In district 3 Marvin C. Wilson, formerly Lubbock supervisor, has 37 employes in eight counties, including Lubbock. His loans approved were 1,394 at the last report. His territory includes most of the wheat counties on the South Plains. Loans average $500 to $600.

Wilson

Mrs. Juanita Butler is home management supervisor for the two districts, with 14 women handling the 2,686 clients. A strong program of home gardens is being conducted this year.

P. F. Murray is farm debt adjustment supervisor for the area, which is half of the Texas portion of Region 12 at Amarillo. Murray's records show that debts of farmers who have worked through him have been scaled an average of 17 per cent. His debt reduction program averages well over $10,000 monthly; in one month he handled a case which caused a slash of $50,000 in the debts of one farmer.

Mrs. Butler

Water facilities are available in all counties. Walter F. Johnson, who has been Lubbock county water facilities supervisor, is now acting as district supervisor, replacing Clifton W. Cole, who has been accepted as a flying cadet and is reporting soon. Charles A. Cravens, who is graduating this summer from Texas Technological college, will succeed him.

P. F. Murray

John E. Key is the county rural rehabilitation supervisor. So far this year approximately 200 loans amounting to $100,000 have been approved in the county. Loans were for the purchase of feed, seed, farm equipment and livestock. Most of the livestock purchased were dairy cows with some pigs. Later a 4-H club and F. F. A. program will get under way.

John Key

Equipment loans are for the purchase, mostly, of tractors, including all equipment. Relatively few farmers now buy work stock. Purchase of registered stock is the rule.

Loans are made over periods of more than a year, up to five and ten years. Interest is five per cent. Repayment is very high. Some of the larger loans, such as the Cochran county program, are for the longer periods.

Water facilities in the county this year are 11 approved and 10 more to be approved. These loans so far approximate $5,000 to $6,000 and include a well, windmill, overhead tank, bath room and fixtures and piping of water into the house and to stock pens, etc.

Miss Brent

Miss Gertrude Brent is the home management supervisor of the county. Her work includes the making of farm budgets, helping plan farm gardens, landscape work, arranging body-building diets and similar work.

Johnson

In the Lubbock area is the Ropesville community project with 76 farmers on the 16,000 acres. Thomas G. Moore is manager. The project is termed one of the few successful FSA projects in the nation. The Cochran county project on the old C. C. Slaughter headquarters ranch, where 42 farms are being purchased, is the only one of its kind in the nation.

Mrs. Cook

Land tenant purchase program has been a major factor in activities of the FSA in this area. The work has been started in Floyd, Dawson, Lynn, Hockley, Lubbock, Lamb and Hale counties.

A total of ten farms will be purchased for tenants in each of the counties and this is the second year for several of the counties.

Mrs. Cathryn Cook is secretary for the FSA in the Lubbock office.

FIRST PARACHUTIST

The inventor of the parachute is unknown, but Sebastien Lenormand was the first person to demonstrate its practical uses. He descended by parachute from the tower of Montpellier observatory, France, 1783, seeking a means to aid persons to escape from burning buildings.

Six of this year's seven graduates of the Thayer School of Civil Engineering at Dartmouth College expect to join the navy.

Tabernacle Baptist Church 8 Years Old

On March 7, 1933, a group of people desiring a Fundamental Baptist church in Lubbock met at the home of J. M. Norman and invited Rev. Ben D. Johnson, pastor of the Fundamental Baptist church at Littlefield, to preach to them. Johnson returned the following Sunday and preached again and that afternoon a church was organized and Johnson called as pastor.

The first place of worship was the Norman residence, then the church rented a building at the corner of Nineteenth and Avenue T and the next week had to move to a vacant store building east of the postoffice, the membership having grown to 35. In the next thirty days the membership increased to 65 in number and a building fund was started.

Sixty days later a tabernacle was started at the present location of the church, Fifteenth and Avenue N. Later the tabernacle was torn down and a better building erected in the summer of 1938. The present building and site is clear of debt and the church voted on May 18 to build an additional 32 by 60 feet basement and auditorium addition.

Rev. Johnson

Present membership is 600. Charter members of the church were Mr. and Mrs. Norman, Mrs. Mattie Luster, Miss Marion Jay, Miss Jewish Martin, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Martin, Mrs. Edgar Tatum, Mrs. Lucile Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. R. Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Risinger, Mrs. L. Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Pierce, Porter McDougal and Mrs. E. G. Jay.

In the past eight years the church has sent out the late L. L. Johnson, Porter McDougal, Ren Denson, Hill Stewart and Frazier Bartlett as ministers. The church has also aided in the establishment of the West Side Baptist church at Brownfield, the Pleasant Hill church in New Mexico and the North Side Baptist church in Brownfield with Rev. Johnson preaching at these places as missions until they were able to maintain a pastor.

The church maintains a radio program over KFYO each Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

Graduate Nurses Are Organized

District 18, Texas Graduate Nurses association, comprised of 18 South Plains counties, was organized in October, 1931, with Mrs. Ruby Gilbert as president.

Miss Neubrand

It is one of 19 districts in Texas, which is a part of the American Nurses association, one of the largest professional women's groups in the nation. It is composed only of professional graduate nurses, who have completed a three-year training course in an accredited school and have passed a state board examination covering the course.

The association strives to supply adequate nursing for communities represented and to provide closer relationship of members. A plan has been devised to provide patients with hourly nursing at a moderate cost.

Each Christmas the Lubbock district organization contributes to local charities. It sponsors a local institute, with the state general secretary in charge. A delegate is sent to the annual state convention and the secretary is sent to the state secretaries' institute.

District 18 originally had 16 members, and now has 108 members, 10 more than last year. Assets include $251 in the treasury.

Officers are Miss Lilla Neubrand, president; Mrs. Blanche Mabray, first vice president; Miss Corinne Irons, second vice president; Mrs. Era Ford, third vice president; Miss Lena Mae Williamson, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Doris McCune, Miss Martha Haugsten, Mrs. Mattie Lea and Miss Ruth Sneath, directors.

Junior Twentieth Century Club In Its 19th Year In Lubbock; Cooperates In Civic Work

The Junior Twentieth Century club was organized and sponsored by the Twentieth Century club in 1922. Each member of the senior club selected a daughter who became a charter member of the club.

Officers were Mrs. Fredda Spikes Hunt, president; Mrs. Lottie Boles Hilton, vice president; Mrs. Elmer Conley, secretary; and Miss Mayme Alexander, treasurer. The club's purpose was cultural development and for several years was guided by the senior group in activities.

Mrs. Wright

An outstanding achievement of the club has been its work with the Camp Fire girls. Mrs. O. L. Peterman organized the first group granted a charter in Lubbock. Later Mrs. Tom Foster and Mrs. Elmer Conley organized groups. From time to time other members of the club served as counselors. For a number of years the club as a whole made substantial contributions which made possible a summer camp for the girls.

In recent years, due largely to the efforts of Mrs. Foster and Miss Alexander, the Junior Twentieth Century club has made contributions to aid underprivileged children, including tonsillectomies and other medical aid. Offerings of food and clothing are made at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

A donation of $100 was made to the clubhouse of the state federation at Austin. The club was awarded a first prize for the best welfare report in the seventh district for the year 1939-40.

The club cooperates in all civic projects. Officers for 1941-42 are Mrs. Robert W. Wright, president; Mrs. Parker Prouty, vice president; Mrs. Richard L. Douglas, secretary; Mrs. Amos Howard, treasurer; Mrs. B. C. Dickinson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. O. L. Peterman, auditor; and Mrs. L. C. Bacon, critic.

Senior High Mothers Club Supplements P.-T.A. Work

For many years Lubbock Senior High school has had a parent-teacher organization, but in 1934 the Mothers club was organized to supply the needs of mothers, teachers and pupils more thoroughly.

Mrs. Kleinschmidt

The first officers were: president, Mrs. C. E. Love; vice-president, Mrs. Maple Wilson; secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Charles Whitacre; program chairman, Mrs. J. C. Allensworth and chairman of social activities, Mrs. M. C. Overton.

The club has a representative committee working with the city commissioners toward solving traffic problems near the high school. In 1935 and 1936 the club gave $500 to help assure the public address system which is now installed in the school. In 1937 two scholarships of $50 each were given to a boy and a girl. In 1938 and 1939 $85 was given for a movie projector for the school.

In 1940 the club gave $100 toward payment of an electric kiln for the art department. This year the group gave an oil painting valued at $25, a punch bowl, cups and plates to the homemaking department and a complete orchestration and records were given to the music department.

In addition to these projects the main purpose of the club has been to provide hot lunches for students who needed them; to provide material for students and to secure medical aid and dental aid for students who were unable to do so themselves.

BOOM IN SCHOOLS

HONOLULU (AP)—The big defense program in Hawaii has created a public school problem. The Army and Navy are building 3,717 family dwelling units in three areas and it is estimated the tenants will have at least 3,000 children. Thus far an estimated $500,000 needed for schools for these children has not been forthcoming.

Army airfields in New Zealand are being expanded.

Lions Club Is One Of City's Most Active Service Clubs

Lubbock Lions club, organized and chartered by Lions International July 29, 1929, with 56 charter members, has been unusually active since its beginning.

Dr. Harbaugh

Its major activity is aiding the blind and those with defective eyesight. The Lubbock club has purchased more than an average of 100 pairs of glasses for underprivileged school children each year since its organization.

It financed the establishment of Miss Coyla Prosser, who is blind, in business, a news stand she operates in the Federal building.

The business has enabled her to be independent despite her handicap and she, in turn, has aided others who are blind.

Activities Listed

Other activities listed for the Lions: staging of an annual Christmas party for all children, with an average attendance of more than 1,400; giving annual assistance to Goodfellows in their drive; giving an annual dinner program for Texas Technological college football team, honoring most outstanding freshman players; giving annual assistance to the Junior Fat Stock show; sponsoring from time to time of rural campus beautification contests and giving awards, as well as awards to outstanding senior student of Lubbock county high schools; giving fluorine-freed water to school children in grade schools; conducted a one-class cotton contest for 4-H and FFA boys, stimulating considerable interest in growing a better class cotton on the Plains; erected large road signs on three leading highways, each giving important information on Lubbock; aided in formation of the Crippled Children's council, thus making contribution that insured the council's permanence; taking part in promotion of Lubbock Boys club and promoted good will between all South Plains towns by aiding in organization of Lions clubs and by visiting those clubs and patronizing their activities.

Past Presidents

Past presidents of the club were C. F. Dresel, S. S. McKay, Judge E. L. Pitts, the late B. F. Condray, S. J. McFarland, John D. Mitchell, W. H. Carpenter, H. C. Pender, William H. Evans, Robert H. Bean and Dr. Marshall Harvey.

Judge Pitts once was district governor.

Present officers are:

Dr. F. G. Harbaugh, president; Dr. Harvey, secretary-treasurer; Vernice Ford, first vice president; J. Y. Boyd, second vice president; Raymond Burford, third vice president, and the following are directors: Bean, Arlie Crites, Dr. R. P. Reeds, A. I. Glassman, Clyde Fortune, W. O. Fortenberry, and Dr. C. C. Craig.

TWO IN ONE TERM

During the two administrations of President James Madison, two vice presidents died in office. They were George Clinton and Elbridge Gerry.

A "back-to-the-country" movement noted in Pennsylvania seems not to be a "back-to-the-land" trend but rather a "back-to-the-small-towns" movement.

The club has a membership of 275 members.

How NOT to GET ACQUAINTED

During Get Acquainted Days when you are doing your level best to be gregarious, and meet a lot of people, there are certain ways in which it just isn't good form to try to get acquainted. In fact if you do some of the "Don'ts" we are about to mention, the result could be physical damage to most any section of the anatomy from the posterior to the anterior.

Now let us suppose that you see some feminine member of the local community for whom you have had a yen for many moons to meet, walking ahead of you down the main drag. Shortly she stops in front of you to inspect closer a display in one of the store windows. Of course since it's Get Acquainted Week you have every right in the world to stop and make her acquaintance. But for heaven's sake don't interrupt her inspection and jostle her composure by suddenly stoppinng and saying, "pardon me, Miss Briggs your slip is showing and I thought I would stop and tell you for I've been wanting to meet you for a long time anyhow." If the lady is carrying anything resembling a blunt instrument, be prepared to duck.

Smacks Of Salesman

Another way not to do it, is to say, "Gad, gal, where have you been all my life?" That immediately types you as a gallant of the late twenties, if not later. Then, too, it smacks of the traveling salesman approach. The one usually used on the waitress at the hotel coffee shop.

Emily Post would undoubtedly oppose the informal greeting of "Hi Toots." That just isn't done by the 400. Not that you give a little thought on the subject you should be able to figure out a little more subtle approach than "Hi Toots."

Then there s the approach you might be tempted in using, that of: "Pardon me, but haven't we met before somewhere?" The chances are that she can tell by your guilty grin that you know darn well that you haven't met before somewhere. Of course if you use this one with the right tonal qualities and the right approach, you can get by with it. But please, we plead, don't make the supposed meeting place El Paso. That would be too much for the average individual to swallow. Make it some original place like Clayton's Corners, just outside of Amarillo, or even Dallas, if you must. This approach though has been used so often since the time of Anthony and Cleopatria that it is a bt thread bare.

Little Dangerous

Of course if you have your accident insurance paid up, you can use the back slappng approach. But for your own information that is a bit drastic for a lady. That is an approach reserved for only some one with a strong back and a weak mind. Very few have the stamina or the disposition to appreciate the hail-fellow-well-met attitude that back slapping is supposed to imply. And anyhow the lady in question may be a physical education instructor which most certainly would end the affair in anything but the desired way.

You could of course tap the lady on the shoulder and say, "Pardon me lady, my name is Herky Hipplewait. What's yours?" Then clasp her lily white hand in your big paw with the firm grip of a brother Elk; tightly as though you meant it.

Better For The Brothers

If she sizes you up for a moran, you're lucky. Otherwise you'd suffer some drastic form of retaliation providing you didn't hold both hands with that firm grp. And anyhow you had better reserve ths greeting for the lodge brothers. They'll understond you.

How then would a person get acquainted with said lady? Oh. We have reserved that for another stoyr entitled: "How to get acquainted in ten easy lessons." These above are the "DON'TS." Look farther for the "DO'S." We have tried to be ultra-ultra scientific in this matter, but we wave all responsibility in cases where our advice may happen to go wrong.

Intellectual And Civic Development Are Major Objectives Of Athenaeum Study Club

With intellectual and civic development as its major objectives, the Athenaeum Study club was organized and federated in 1923. The club has a limited membership of 25 and meets September through May, each second and fourth Tuesday.

Mrs. E. L. Robertson, the club's first president, is the only charter member in the club and as a result the club voted her an honorary membership in 1937. Mesdames W. L. Baugh, J. T. Hutchinson and W. G. Murray served on the committee which drew up the first constitution.

Mrs. Irvin

Present outstanding projects of the club are: a scholarship of approximately $200 being used at the present time by five girls enrolled in Texas Technological college and assistance in the home economics department of the Dunbar Negro High school.

Mrs. W. B. Irvin is president of the club; Mrs. E. L. Mader, vice president; Mrs. Irving L. Jones, recording secretary; Mrs. T. C. Delaney, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Earl T. Duke, treasurer; and Mrs. C. C. Galbraith, auditor. Mesdames J. F. and W. A. Jackson from the club's membership have served as presidents of the City Federation of Women's clubs. Of the present membership, Mesdames Robertson, R. A. Tynes, Irvin and Kleinschmidt either have served or are serving in various capacities as district chairmen.

The following have served as presidents of the club, Mesdames Robertson, Hutchinson, Hankins, R. G. Shelton, S. B. Haynes, P. W. Cawthon, S. C. Wilson, Tynes, M. L. Shepherd and A. W. Young.

Church Is In Its 40th Year Here

First Christian church is one of the oldest churches in Lubbock, having been organized in 1901 by Elder Lay, who was pastor of the First Christian church at Colorado City.

There were fourteen charter members: Steve Collier, W. D. Crump, Miss Mamie Crump, Judge John R. McGee, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. McLarry, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Quick, Judge and Mrs. J. R. Robinson, Mrs. L. I. Rouse, Mrs. Mary Catherine Wilkinson, Ed Vaughn and Charles Vaughn.

Rev. Gants

After having been organized in the Baptist church building they erected their first church in 1909 on the present site at Sixteenth street and Avenue J, at a cost of $3,200. The dedicatory sermon was delivered by Rev. W. P. Jennings, then pastor of First Christian church at Amarillo. The original building still stands as part of the church auditorium. It was expanded at intervals as the congregation grew.

A parsonage was built about 1918 and remodeled and enlarged in 1925. An education building, built in 1930, was enlarged in 1936. The present property covers half of the block facing 16th Street on the north and Avenue J on the west. It is debt-free.

Has Had 8 Ministers

The church has had eight ministers in its 40 years: John C. Welch, J. E. Chase, V. L. Graves, A. N. Julian, C. D. Poston, W. P. Jennings, W. R. Vivrett and H. G. Gantz, the present minister.

It has a membership of 850. In a Brotherhood of 9,000 churches it ranks 133rd in missionary giving and is among the first 79 in giving to benevolences.

Officials of the church are G. P. Kuykendall, chairman of the board, D. N. Leaverton, vice chairman, J. H. Brock, secretary, and L. O. Armstrong, treasurer. R. L. Hooten is Sunday school superintendent and Mrs. L. O. Armstrong is president of the woman's council.

Know Members Of City Commission? Here's Brief Information On Them

Governing body of the city of Lubbock is the city commission composed of the mayor, elected at two year intervals, and four commissioners, each of whom is elected to a four-year term.

Terms of the commissioners are staggered so that two are elected each two years along with the mayor. This provision of the charter assures that control of the commission is at stake at each election.

Carl Slaton

As mayor, Carl Edwin Slaton, is the presiding officer of the city commission. Mayor Slaton is a native of West Texas and has spent most of his life in this portion of the state.

He was born in Wise county Dec. 27, 1889, graduated from Chico High school and spent a year in Decatur Baptist college. He and Miss Cora Lee Hicks were married in Midland June 15, 1911. They have two children, Betty Ross and Ann. The family resides at 2013 Tenth street.

Mayor Slaton is a Methodist and a member of the Kiwanis club. Football is his favorite sport. He was elected mayor in 1938 and re-elected in 1940. He is Lubbock agent for Sinclair Refining co.

Salvation Army Here 19 Years

The local corps of the Salvation army was organized in Lubbock, Feb. 14, 1922 with a meagre start but through the years the organization has grown until it is now one of the dynamic forces in the social welfare work of this area.

The local work of the army is supervised by an advisory board of which Morris Levine is chairman, Geo. Berry, vice chairman and Paul Hardwick, secretary-treasurer. Other members are: Mrs. W. H. McDonald, Mrs. Fred Higbee, Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson, Mrs. C. C. Lindsey, Dr. H. H. Bidwell, Hubert L. Allen, R. F. Bayless, Rex Blackburn, Durwood Bradley, Hurley Carpenter, L. D. Casey, George Dupree, R. F. Hinchey, Dr. W. B. Irvin, Dr. J. M. Lewis, Clark M. Mullican, Dr. J. W. Rollo, C. A. Sanford and Carl Maxey.

Capt. Lambrecht

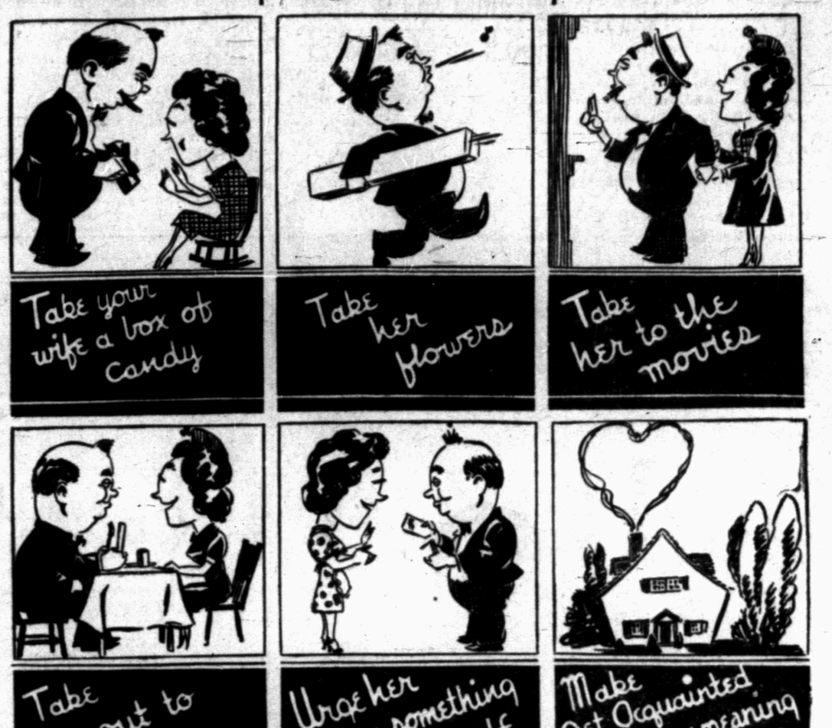

The local corps is under the command of Capt. and Mrs. Herman Lambrecht. In keeping with the general policy of the Salvation Army, the corps operates a religious as well as a social program in Lubbock.

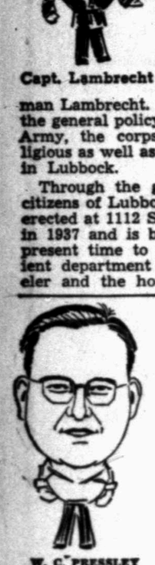

Through the generosity of the citizens of Lubbock, a citadel was erected at 1112 Seventeenth street in 1937 and is being used at the present time to house the transient department where the traveler and the homeless may find temporary shelter and food. The building also houses the emergency relief program where there are over 200 Lubbock families registered for some type of relief and where lunches for 400 school children are prepared daily and 125 served at each noon in the chapel. The building also houses the chapel where all religious and character-building activities are carried on.

The Salvation army program is carried on here through the financial support of a group of generous Lubbock citizens.

Operation Of Well Baby Clinic Is Junior Welfare League's Major Objective; Roll Of League Has Increased To 100 Members

Operation of a well baby clinic at the Community center, Sixth street and Avenue B, is the major objective of the Junior Welfare league, now in its seventh year in Lubbock. The clinic is operated for benefit of underprivileged babies whose families are on relief, the cases being referred to the clinic by the county welfare office.

The clinic has been in operation since September, 1939. Prior to that time the league assisted other Lubbock charities in their work and sponsored a resident training home economics project for the National Youth administration. The league assisted the Crippled Children's council, Milam home, Goodfellows, Civic Music association, Parent-Teacher councils and the Lubbock Public schools in various other projects.

Mrs. Harvey

School and medical supplies were furnished the orphanage; expectant mothers were provided with layettes and tonsillectomies for underprivileged children were paid for.

A graduate nurse is the only paid employe of the well baby clinic, the pediatricians, Drs. Pauline Miller, Arthur Jenkins, and M. H. Benson donating their services. The average monthly case load is 140 babies and treatments range from rickets to eye, ear, nose and throat cases.

Miss Coleta Baker, now of Amarillo, was first president of the league. Mrs. John D. Mitchell, now of Odessa; Mrs. Bob Crawford, Mrs. Marion Sanford and Mrs. Paul Graham have been other presidents with Mrs. R. C. Harvey as the present president. Mrs. Wayne Prather is first vice president; Mrs. Bruce Collier, second vice president; Mrs. Cecil Barrow, recording secretary; Mrs. Bert Collard, corresponding secretary; Miss Jynatha Harbison, co-corresponding secretary; Mrs. Harold Humphries, treasurer; Mrs. Geo. Walton, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Elliott Taylor, sergeant-at-arms. The league's membership has increased from 12 to 100 women in its seven-year history.

Sponsoring management of a tea room, style shows, benefit bridge tournaments, annual charity dances, milk dances, rummage sales, thrift shop and two musical revues have been the league's methods of raising funds with which to carry on its work.

The first building was located at Fourteenth street and Texas avenue, valued at $1,500,000. It was used until it burned during the conference year of 1916-17. In 1917, under leadership of Rev. J. T. Hicks, as pastor, the present auditorium was built; the educational building erected in 1928 during the pastorate of Rev. E. E. White, and the present parsonage built during the pastorates of Revs. C. N. N. Ferguson, W. P. McMicken and E. E. White.

Want that chughole filled in the lateral road near you? Or perhaps you don't like the county tax valuation placed on your farm.

In either case you'll want to go before the county commissioners court, which handles everything pertaining to the county's welfare from authorizing the purchase of road machinery to transfering money to the old folks home.

Late Tomato Crop Is In Prospects In State

COLLEGE STATION, June 21. (Special)—Texans will eat their home grown tomatoes later than usual this year. J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist, reports that rain in the Rio Grande valley has delayed harvesting and disease has caused some damage to plants. Rio Grande tomatoes usually are on the market the first week in May, but it was mid-May before shipping began this year.

Tomatoes in the Yoakum area will also be delayed because of excess moisture this year, Rosborough says, and it is expected the crop will be ready for market after the latter part of May.

Plantings in southeast Texas are rather light, but excessive rainfall has held back growth and shipments are not expected to begin until June. The Jacksonville area also had heavy rains and the peak of the tomato movement is not likely to be reached before mid-June. In the northeast section near Avery and Bogata a large acreage was planted and if favorable weather continues the quality should be excellent.

Jacksonville and northeast Texas growers have found a ready market in canneries in recent years, producers selling their ripe and pink tomatoes for canning and shipping the remainder to ripen en route to market. The total acreage of tomatoes in Texas has increased regularly during the past three years and, although this year's planting equals that of last year, the crop is likely to be smaller on account of unfavorable growing conditions.

The 10-year average acreage for the state is 37,000 but in 1939, 52,000 acres were planted. Rosborough suggests that growers put in additional late acreage to sell to regional canners where available. However, those undertaking late plantings should not stake the tomato plants as is commonly done in the East Texas section. Where plants are tied upright the fruit is likely to suffer sun blistering. The suckers should be allowed to grow on the plants to provide shade for the tomatoes which will be harvested during July.

JAPANESE BAN BOXING

Professional boxing has been banned as "unhealthy" in Osaka, Japan. The new regulations also hit lawn tennis and baseball. Professionals in all three sports now must obtain permit cards from the police before appearing in these sports for profit.

The typewriter was invented by a Dane, Malling Hansen.

Seventeen National Sororities Listed In Pan-Hellenic Society

Of the 23 national social sororities, 17 are represented in the Pan Hellenic society which was organized in Lubbock in 1925, the year Texas Technological college opened its doors. The organization has one civic purpose, granting a scholarship to the freshman girl making the highest grades in the home economics division.

Mrs. Bert Collard

A number of the faculty members were affiliated with sororities so town women organized a society of women to keep college memories alive and to provide social fellowship such a group would enjoy.

Charter members were Mesdames Roscoe Wilson, George Langford, T. B. Duggan, Frank Winn, G. V. Harris, Alice Mahoney, I. C. Enochs and Miss Ruth Horn. Mrs. Wilson was the initial president, Mrs. Harris, secretary-treasurer.

Dues of one dollar per year went into the scholarship fund and monthly meetings were held at the Lubbock Country club where the society was organized and at a tea room which is now the College Book store. The scholarship amounted to $30 the first year.

At present there are 80 members in the group and meetings are conducted four times yearly. The scholarship fund is the largest in the history of the society.

Officers for next year are: President, Mrs. Bert Collard, Kappa Kappa Gamma; vice president, Mrs. David Bergin, Zeta Tau Alpha; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Jack Stone, Chi Omega.

Funds Needed To Complete Lubbock Boys' Club Building; Five Civic Clubs Sponsor Project Designed To Build Boys' Character

In 1937 a project sponsored by the Lubbock Lions and Kiwanis clubs organized a Downtown Boys' club and meetings with supervised play and recreation were conducted in the basement of the Ellwood building. The project lasted about ten months but due to the fact that the space was leased for commercial use the club was forced to disband for lack of a building in which to meet.

The present Lubbock Boys' club, Inc., is an outgrowth of that activity which now is sponsored by all five civic clubs, Lions, Optimists, Rotary, Kiwanis and A. B. C. with the cooperation of the City of Lubbock and the Lubbock school board.

John Wilson

The boys club committee is composed of members of the five civic clubs. Dr. Marshall Harvey, Lions club representative, is president; Don Reeder, Optimists, vice president; and Marion Sanford, Kiwanis, secretary-treasurer. Other members are: John Halsey, Kiwanis; O. W. Ribble, J. A. Raley, Rotary; Robert Bean and Harry Morris, Lions; Syrian Marbut, Optimists; and Dr. M. M. Ewing, American Business club.

John W. Wilson is the director of the Lubbock Boys' club.

A club building is now under construction at the corner of Twenty-fourth street and Avenue K and funds are badly needed to complete the project. When completed, the building will have game rooms, gymnasium, library, showers, offices, handicraft shops and such things as will make a desirable place for boys to spend their leisure time constructively.

Medical Auxiliary Is Active Organiaztion

Sponsoring an English contest and awarding prizes for Senior High school and placing copies of Hygeia in the libraries of Senior High and Texas Technological college were two of the outstanding activities of the Lubbock-Crosby Counties Medical auxiliary.

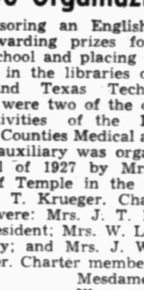

The auxiliary was organized in the fall of 1927 by Mrs. A. C. Scott of Temple in the home of Mrs. J. T. Krueger. Charter officers were: Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson, president; Mrs. W. L. Baugh, secretary; and Mrs. J. W. Rollo, treasurer. Charter members were: Mesdames C. J. Wagner, M. C. Overton, Fred W. Standefer, R. L. Powers, W. E. Craven, H. C. Maxwell, Sam Stewart, and the women mentioned above.

Mrs. Hutchinson

Mrs. Hutchinson is the present president of the group with Mrs. Sam C. Arnett, jr., vice president; Mrs. E. M. Blake, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Mina Watkins, Hygeia chairman. Members are: Mesdames Doyce M. Clark, R. C. Douglas, M. M. Ewing, E. L. Hunt, Olan Key, Henrie Mast, Wayne Reeser, A. T. Stewart, V. V. Clark, Sam G. Dunn, Chas. A. Feil, Arthur Jenkins, R. H. McCarty, Rollo, J. H. Stiles, Krueger, James Wilson, D. D. Cross, O. W. English, O. R. Hand, A. J. Jenson, Frank Malone, Overton, G. S. Smith and Otis Taylor, jr. Mrs. Stiles held the state office of councilwoman for this district in 1936 and 1940.

The auxiliary is federated with the state and national medical auxiliaries. For a number of years the members met monthly in their homes for a social hour and made layettes for needy families. Later this was abandoned for evening meets which are held the same nights that the doctors meet. The auxilary now meets four times a year for luncheons.

Altrusa Club Is Women's Group

The Lubbock Altrusa club, which is a selective and classified service club for business and professional women executives, was organized March 2, 1939 with fifteen members and there were twenty charter members when the charter was presented April 24, 1940.

The name "Altrusa" is taken from the word, "altruism," which is derived from the Latin "alter" (other) and the Italian, "altrui" (of or to others); hence, comes the meaning "regard for and devotion to the interest of others."

Miss Crosson

Each member is classified under an occupational unit based upon the major source of her income and determined by the Altrusa classification guide. Only one representative in each particular occupational classification of business and profession can hold membership in the local club. The membership, thus, is kept balanced between representatives of three large fields— business, education and professions.

Altrusa is represented in all of the major cities of this country and in Mexico. Objectives include the cultivation of friendly relationships, promotion of mutual understanding and fostering of the solidarity of women who are actively engaged in business and the professions.

Officers Are Listed

Charter officers of the Lubbock club were: Miss Clara Pratt, president; Miss Lula Mae Cravens, vice-president; Miss Dora Snyder, secretary; Mrs. Jennings Lewis, treasurer; Miss Mary Alice Crosson, district representative; Dr. Pauline Miller, Mrs. Ben F. Maxey and Misses Martye Poindexter and Gertrude Watson, directors. Present officers are: Miss Crosson, president; Dr. Miller, vice-president; Miss Lillian Johnson, secretary; Mrs. Lewis, treasurer and Mrs. W. W. Morris and Miss Poindexter, directors.

Last fall the club conducted a six-weeks school for negro maids. Seventy maids registered for the course which was taught by club members. There was an average attendance of 37 maids and 22 were given certificates for perfect attendance.

Miss Elmire Tesson organized a Girl Scout troop at the Salvation army in 1940 and Misses Johnson and Crosson helped with the troop until another leader was secured. The club is continuing its sponsorship and helping with a sewing project.

Both years since its organization the club members "adopted" children who would not have Christmas otherwise and gave them a party, presenting them with toys and clothing. Fifty-five children have enjoyed these occasions.

The club has been sewing and knitting for the Red Cross emergency.

WORK HARD FOR LOOT

GILROY, Calif. (AP) — Thieves who stole 5,000 feet of copper wire from the Storms ranch worked almost as hard at the job as if they'd earned their loot by honest labor. They climbed eight power poles and risked electrocution in cutting the "hot" wire.

President Theodore Roosevelt's 50-word presidential inaugural address is the shortest on record.

Lubbock Chamber Of Commerce Is City's Chief Agency For Cooperative Effort; Work Has Been Effective Here 38 Years

Virtually from the date of its organization 38 years ago, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce has been the chief agency through which community effort has been coordinated and crystalized for the common good.

It has exemplified the spirit of cooperation which, by general acknowledgment, has been more responsible than any other factor for the city that Lubbock has become at this spot on the South Plains which, in the beginning, enjoyed no physical advantages over any other portion of the prairie in this part of Texas.

Asa May

As explained by A. W. May, president of the organization, the fundamental policy of the chamber of commerce has been that the possibilities of achievement have been in direct proportion to the whole-heartedness and the enthusiasm of the cooperation that the citizenship of the community would lend to any project.

Many Achievements Cited

It is a spirit, he pointed out, which has made possible such achievements toward community building as obtaining the Santa Fe railroad, which now operates in more directions out of Lubbock than out of any city in West Texas; the obtaining of Texas Technological college; the winning of 11 consecutive annual trophies emblematic of the cleanest city in Texas; the erection of the Lubbock National company office building; the successful support of road building programs which have benefitted all portions of the South Plains; which has obtained industries, businesses, official agencies and the like by the scores that have meant additions to Lubbock payrolls and which have furthered the endeavor of this city actually to be "the Hub of the Plains;" to encourage the development as far as they have gone of the phenomenally rich North Permian basin oil areas; and to serve in almost numberless other constructive capacities.

Officials Are Listed

Present officials of the chamber, additional to May, are Arno Dalby and Parker F. Prouty, vice presidents; Charles R. Bacon, treasurer; and those officials together with Mark Halsey, R. C. Hopping, O. J. Sexton, J. B. Maxey, J. L. Quicksall, Sam Rosenthal, H. L. Allen, S. C. Arnett, J. A. Fortenberry, G. P. Kuykendall and G. A. Simmons, directors; and A. B. Davis, manager.

Members of the original board, including the officers, when the chamber was organized in 1913 follow: Colby Thomas, president; Jno. W. Baker, vice president; W. S. Posey, treasurer; George W. Briggs, secretary; and E. L. Klett, Jno. F. Robinson, K. Carter, A. N. Lewis, L. D. Rankin, George C. Wolffarth, L. B. Wright and Roscoe Wilson, directors.

Growth Of St. Paul's Church Steady; Plan New Building Soon

St. Paul's-on-the-Plains Episcopal church, at Sixteenth street and Avenue X, has grown steadily from its original membership of 11 persons.

There now are 285 members, headed by Rev. John A. Winslow, first rector of the St. Paul's parish, which became self supporting in Jan. 1940.

Rev. Winslow

Church officials are Edgar G. Lewis, senior warden; John B. Rountree, junior warden; Dr. S. C. Arnett, jr., C. C. Crenshaw, jr., T. F. Wiesen, Arthur Yonge, jr., S. E. Marbut and C. R. Young, vestrymen.

Members recently purchased the Clark M. Mullican residence at Sixteenth street and Avenue X and are planning to erect a new church building. Seaman Hall has served in recent months as the church building.

Mrs. Coleman First

Mrs. J. C. Coleman first brought Episcopalian faith to the city, in the 90's. In 1905 Rev. Harry C. Goodman of Clarendon held the first public service in the Methodist church, at Fourteenth street and Texas avenue.

First church was a store building north of the present court house, with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Towle, Mrs. Joe Penney, Mrs. Bob Penney and Roscoe Wilson as new members. Rev. Edwin Weary, Rev. J. S. Wicks, Rev. L. G. H. Williams, Rev. Bradner J. Moore, Rev. Lyle Barnett and Rev. J. Hodge Alves have served the church either as circuit or resident pastors.

Rectory Purchased

A rectory was purchased in 1921 at 1602 Avenue Q and the church building was moved nearby and enlarged. The name was adopted at the request of Mrs. Coleman shortly before her death.

Seaman hall was erected as a student center. It was named for Rt. Rev. E. Cecil Seaman, D. D., of Amarillo, bishop of North Texas, and was gift of the United Thank Offering of the Woman's auxiliary of the Episcopal church.

Beauty Is As Beauty Does

As you look at this and that person in this Get Acquainted Section, seeing them as the cartoonist has "seen" them let's be mindful of one thing: real beauty. An individual's words, mannerisms and actions make for the true beauty of that person. Looks are only "skin deep"—we have all heard that truthful expression.

Upon reflection, no words regarding beauty have been more meanfully and expressively spoken or written than—"Beauty is as beauty does."

Camera Club Has Made Progress

TO WASH SWEATERS

Sweaters will retain their proper shape and size even after many washings if they are laundered correctly. Draw an outline of the sweater on a thick turkish towel before washing. Use rich lukewarm suds, handle quickly and gently, taking care that the sweater is not stretched. Rinse thoroughly in lukewarm water, never wringing or twisting during the process. Absorb excess water by wrapping in a thick towel, then lay out the sweater on the dry turkish towel to conform with the pattern drawn. If it tends to shrink a bit, pin in shape with rustproof pins.

'WEATHER' VICTIM

MONTEVIDO (AP) — The death of Enrique Silboso Barcas, 53, who had suffered several broken ribs, was attributed to a change in the relative humidity of the city. It caused the plaster cast about his chest to contract, strangling him.

A housewife in Shenandoah, Ia., dropped the dinner meat and broke her toe. The damage was done by a frozen steak tumbling from the refrigerator onto her foot.

Medical Society Was Organized In 1908

Advancement of medical knowledge and better relationship between the laity and medical profession are aims of the Lubbock-Crosby county Medical society, founded in 1908.

Dr. M. C. Overton was first president of the society, which at that time included some counties north of Lubbock. The present president, Dr. Sam C. Arnett, jr., was born in 1908, the year of organization, and was delivered by Dr. Overton.

Dr. Arnett

The society acts as a body to help in public health, control public health for the community through cooperation with American Medical association, state association, Public Health and other organizations.

It meets first Tuesday in every month at a hotel. Papers are read and discussions are held.

The medical profession maintains an open book policy, members explained. In other words, one physician has as much opportunity to knowledge as another; none maintains secret formulas for any illness. Physicians are not allowed to copyright any therapeutic agent and charge high patent rights on it.

Fire Chief Twitty's Hobby Is Making Fire Fighting Equipment

The other day William Edgar Twitty made a hydraulic jack that will raise anything but the tax rate.

The fact really isn't unusual, for Twitty, fire chief here since about the time somebody discovered phosphorus matches, has invented wheel pullers for pulleys and gears, a shearer attachment for electric drills and much fire department equipment, including three booster trucks and one hose wagon that were transformed under his direction from burned wreckage into gleaming speedy fire wagons.

Chief Twitty

Twitty lives at 1109 Seventeenth street and has been chief of the fire department continuously since 1920, and earlier had alternated in that role since 1911. He was born March 6, 1887 at Hillsboro, was educated at Decatur, was married to Miss Elba Moore in September of 1914 in Lubbock, and has a daughter named Meda Craig Twitty. That's all he'll say about himself, except that he has been a member of International Association of Fire Chiefs since 1928 and that he likes mechanics and hunting.

As to the jack, it is about the size and length of an automobile cylinder, but will lift 56 tons 800 pounds, employing a ratio of 94 to 1, whatever that may be. It weighs only 75 pounds, but with one finger working one inch from the lifting piston you can cause the jack to break the strongest chain in a Lubbock garage.

Have You Ever Wondered About The Origin Of Various Greetings; Here's Interesting Information On How Some Were Started

As to words of salutation, even among the lower races certain ordinary phases have passed into formal greetings. Many formulas express difference of rank and consequent respect, as where the Basuto salute their chiefs with "Tama sevata" i. e., "Greeting wild beast." Congo Negroes returning from a journey salute their wives with an affectionate "Okowe" but they but they, meekly kneeling around him, may not repeat the word, but must say "Ka! Ka!"

Among cultured nations, salutations are apt to be expressions of peace and good will. Such formulas run on from age to age, and the latter may be traced on to the Mauslim greeting, "Salam 'alaikum!" (The peace be on you), to which the reply is "wa-'alaikum as-salam!" (And on you be the peace," sc. "of God"). This greeting is a password among fellow believers, but it may not be used by or to an infidel. The Babylonian form, "O king, live for ever!" (Dan. III, 9), represents a series of phrases, which continue still in the "Vivat rex!" ("Long live the king!")

The Greeks said, "Be joyful!" both at meeting and parting. The Romans applied, "Saive" ("Be in health!") especially at meeting, and "Vale!" (Be well!) at parting. In the modern civilized world, everywhere, the old inquiry after health appears, "How do you do?" becoming so formal as to often be said on both sides, without either waiting for an answer.

Hardly less wide in range is the set of phrases "Good day!" "Good night!" etc., varying according to the hour and translated into every language of Christendom. Among other European phrases, some correspond to our "Welcome!" and "Farewell!" while the religious element is exemplified by our "Goodbye!" (God be with you) and French "adieu." Such half-meaning-less forms of salutation serve the purpose of keeping up social intercourse.

DIAMONDS SWEPT OUT

Diamonds worth $30,000 were swept out with old papers from the store of Jacob Malkes & Co., Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. A frantic search of the city's old-paper dumps failed to bring the gems to light. The stones had been sealed in an envelope and left outside the safe overnight.

UDC Chapter Seeks To Honor Lubbock's Capt. Tom Lubbock

Next objective of the Stephen W. Wilkinson chapter No. 1943, United Daughters of the Confederacy, is to place a picture of Capt. Tom Lubbock, Confederate veteran for whom Lubbock county was named in the Lubbock county courthouse and the placing of pictures of Gen. Robt. E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson and Jefferson Davis in the public school rooms of Lubbock.

MRS. HANKINS

The chapter, which conducts patriots, benevolent and educational work, was organized in April, 1927 with 28 charter members. Of the charter members, only four are still active. They are: Miss Delia Wilkinson, Misses Mamie and Katie Bell Crump and Mrs. Ruth Slaton Fowler. Mrs. Eppie Earhart Sowder was the first president and women who have served as presidents :are Mrs. A. V. Weaver, Mrs. Fowler, Miss Wilkinson, Mrs. C. S. Middleton, Mrs. J. S. Johnson, Mrs. A. W. Evans, Mrs. John LeMond, Mrs. J. D. Rondeaux and Mrs. J. H. Hanks, the present president.

The chapter has purchased and placed iron markers on graves of all Confederate veterans buried in Lubbock, Slaton and Wilson cemeteries. An effort is being made to secure government markers for the graves of all those veterans whose families desire them. On Memorial day each year the members of the chapter decorate the graves of the veterans in Lubbock cemeteries with Confederate flags.

Members remember the wives of deceased veterans on their birthdays and at Christmas time with useful gifts.

The chapter contributes to all causes sponsored by the general organization of United Daughters of the Confederacy and endeavors to bring early Southern literature into its rightful place. The History of the Rise and Fall of the Confederacy by Jefferson Davis has been placed in the Texas Tech library and three sets in the libraries of Lubbock public schools. One of the objectives of the organization is to keep alive the traditions of the Old South and to foster the true history of the War Between the States.

The chapter now has a roster of 30 members: Mrs. E. L. Angus, Floydada; Mrs. Fowler, Littlefield; Mesdames Dan Blair, P. E. Collette, Evans, E. R. Green, Hankins, Fred Higbee, Nola Margaret Henley, E. A. Hankins, J. T. Hutchinson, Ansel Hines, LeMond, Mary Lovell, R. A. Metcalfe, Alemia McKinney, J. D. McKnight, Marvin McLarty, Middleton, R. S. Rodgers, Rondeaux, Fred Synder, W. O. Stevens, J. T. Southerland, A. V. Weaver, and Miss Wilkinson, all of Lubbock; and Mrs. Robert L. Smith of Slaton.

Association Promotes Skill And Integrity

Lubbock General Contractors association, which seeks to promote skill, integrity and responsibility among its members, was organized Jan. 26, 1937.

McMillan

The following officers were elected: W. G. McMillan, president; V. D. Shell, vice president, and Homer D. Grant, secretary.

Present members are: J. B. Maxey, Robert E. Maxey, Sampson Bros., Ingle & Sikes, Panhandle Construction Co., and McMillan.

The Nobel prizes for 1941, which probably will not be awarded until the war is ended, will be worth $32,874. Value of the prizes depends on income from investments of the fund left by Alfred Nobel.

ORIGIN OF ICING

In the early part of the eighteenth century, cakes with pretty pink icing were in vogue. Then science discovered the coloring matter was not obtained from a plant seed, but from the cochineal insect. The vogue vanished until the discovery of artificial colors for foods again brought the delifor foods agains brought the delicate tidbits back to favor at strawberry festivals.

The Bank of England has its own church yard adjoining, where many bank officials are buried.
