Rockets-Tigers Meet Here On Friday Night

Wellington's red and white clad Rockets are looking forward confidently to their fourth conference win when they meet the McLean Tigers Friday night, October 27. According to all figures, the Tigers will go into this game as the underdogs, but Coach Al Duncan's boys aren't taking any chances. They may be confident, but they're not cocky.

The Rockets stand alone in the district as having lost no conference games.

The Tigers, who had been counted on as offering stiff competition to title contenders this year are suffering from inexperience plus bad luck.

In the game Friday, McLean was defeated by the Clarendon Bronchos by the tight score 14 to 13. The Tigers relied mainly on passing to advance down the field, with Sterling on the receiving end.

The Rockets are going through regular practice this week and indications are they will be in top condition for the game.

Probable starters for the Tigers are:

District 3-A statistics include:

Aberdeen Girl Injured In Fall From Bicycle

Maxine Eagle, the granddaughter of Mrs. W. C. Ketter of the Aberdeen community, received serious chest injuries Wednesday, October 18, when she fell from her bicycle at her home.

The girl was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital where it was determined no bones were broken.

She remained here for three days, after which she was returned to her grandmother's home. Her condition is reported as being as improved.

BECAUSE THEY KNOW

Knowing what USO, War Prisoners Aid and other agencies of the National War Fund are doing for their buddies abroad, these wounded veterans of fighting overseas were among the first to contribute to the Texas war fund campaign. The war fund never solicits gifts from service men, but these Texas veterans asked war fund officials to call on them at McCloskey General Hospital, Temple, where they are recovering from wounds, and insisted on contributing on behalf of their comrades in Italy and France. Soldier Helps Injured Men Gain Use Of Limbs

A U. S. ARMY GENERAL HOSPITAL, England—During the course of a day's work, Staff Sergeant Robert L. Shields, 32, of Wellington, Texas is called upon to be somewhat of a magician in addition to his regular duties as wardmaster and surgical technician at a United States Army general hospital.

Many soldiers, who were wounded in continental Europe, come to Sgt. Shields' orthopedic ward requiring adjustments or alterations in the standard casts and splints for their individual injuries, and it is his job to straighten out the problems.

In one case it was necessary to apply traction to a wounded infantryman's finger and because of the nature of the wound, none of the usual methods were applicable.

Sgt. Shields solved the difficulty. He placed a plaster of paris cast over the injured part and before it hardened, drove an applicator stick through the end of the cast. When the cast hardened, he was able to apply steady, even traction to the finger.

For this and similar innovations in the orthopedic department, he has been commended by his ward officer, Captain E. A. McLean of Cape Cottage, Maine.

A former oil field worker, Sgt. Shields entered the army in April, 1941. He received basic training at Fort Bliss, Texas, and technician training at William Beaumont general hospital before coming to his present assignment.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shields of Wellington.

For several weeks, commercial cattlemen as well as owners of outstanding herds have been sending inquiries to the Wellington office of the Mill Iron Ranch asking when the sale will be held.

The Mill Iron sales are something new in the registered Hereford business; for it has been Mr. Hughes intention to breed an outstanding herd of Herefords. But it has been and is his intention to sell these annually at prices the commercial cattlemen could afford to pay.

It has taken years of conscientious and scientific breeding to produce the low set, short bodied, strong backed, quick maturing Herefords that have maintained

Details Of Cotton Purchase Program Available Soon

Full parity price to farmers for their 1944 crop of upland cotton is assured under the new Commodity Credit Corporation purchase program regardless of whether or not it is under a government loan, J. C. Emmert Chairman of the Collingsworth County AAA Committee, said today.

The CCC will purchase all upland cotton for which a loan rate schedule has been announced, offered to it up to June 30, 1945. The cotton will be purchased at the following prices: (1944 crop Midingling 15-16 inch, basis gross weight flat cotton at Memphis, Tenn.) October, 21.90 cents per pound; November, 21.95; December, 22.00; January, 22.05; February, 22.10; March, 22.15; April, 22.20; May, 22.25; and June, 22.25.

The five-point increase per month has been added to the price as allowance to the farmer for storage and carrying charges.

Other highlights of the purchase program are:

1. Premiums and discounts are the same as those of 1944 loan program, based as Midingling 15-16 purchase rates, gross weight.

2. Locations differentials for warehouse points will be based on freight rates to the Group B mill area of the Carolinas except in eastern Mississippi, eastern Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Alabama where a zone system will be in effect as under the loan program.

3. Purchasing agents, mostly local banks and warehousemen, will be approved by CCC.

4. Purchasing agents will buy at CCC prices if warehouse receipts and sales agreement are turned over to them within 10 days after issuance. Agent fee of 50 cents per bale will be paid by CCC.

5. Purchases will be made only from farmers who produced cotton in 1944. Cotton must be stored in CCC-approved warehouses.

6. Farmers with cotton in loan may sell it to CCC by repaying their loan.

The CCC is making these purchases to carry out provisions of legislation enacted by Congress directing the president to take "all lawful action" to assure producers parity prices for their cotton.

COUNTY WAR FUND

Almost half of Collingsworth County's United War Chest Fund had been reaped Wednesday morning, October 25, Joe Terry, treasurer, said after collections from Wellington and five other communities were reported this week.

At present, $2,105.40 has been deposited in the drive. The quota is $4,591.

"Workers are busy in the residential section of Wellington but they aren't through. If you have contributed to the fund and your name doesn't appear in the list published, it simply means that the worker you gave your donation to has not finished her territory and your donation will be turned in along with the rest," Orval Couch, who is in charge of solicitation in Wellington outside the business district, said.

"We cannot urge too strongly that you give generously. The War Fund needs your support. The men in the armed forces need your help. This is your way of helping your man as he fights overseas, or waits in a prison camp, or of aiding the allies of our country," he added.

B. W. Beaird, chairman of all sections outside of Wellington, urged workers to contact every person in their communities.

"Those in charge of the drive realize that you are busy—busier than you have ever been probably, but this is one drive we can't neglect.

"There will be in your community probably a number of people—just here for cotton picking. See them too. If we miss them in this drive, it will mean that they will not take part in this nation-wide drive to raise funds for our allies and fighting men," he added.

Contributions have come in so far from Swearingen, Dodson, Kelley, Midway, North Wellington, and Wellington business section. Mrs. Chester Fires was the first worker to complete her section in the residential part of Wellington.

Alice Smith, 8, Breaks Arm In Fall From See-Saw Thurs.

Alice Smith, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl N. Smith of near Dodson, received a compound fracture of her right fore-arm Thursday in a fall from a see-saw on which she was playing.

Parents of the girl were away from home at the time and an older sister started to Dodson with her for medical aid. After a short distance they met Woodrow Byrd, who brought the injured girl to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

The following day she underwent an operation on her arm and her condition at present is considered satisfactory.

Rockets Blast Memphis For Conference Lead

Wellington's Skyrockets made one more step toward the district championship when they defeated a gallant group from Memphis 19 to 0 October 20. The Cyclone roared into town after great gusts of publicity, but they turned out to be another good team that fought to the last whistle.

On the opening play Memphis kicked to the 20 yard line where Russell fielded the ball. On what appeared to be a prepared play but which may have been the best impromptu team work seen on the local field in recent years, the Rockets blasted a hole in the center of the oncoming Cyclone and Russell was in the clear to make a 75 yard footrace to the 2 yard line, where he was nabbed by a fleet Memphis back. On a power play the ball was carried over and the try for point after touchdown failed making the score 6 to 0 in the first two minutes of play.

The Rockets blazed again in the latter part of the first quarter after superlative defensive playing by the line and the line backers had held the Cyclone without a first down. Wellington took the ball on their own 35 and on well executed off tackle thrusts with Kendrick carrying the ball and on straight line bucks by Russell advanced to the Cyclone 20. Kendrick shot a pass to O'Neil on the 5 and he went over for the second touchdown. The conversion was good making the score 13 to 0.

The only Cyclone threat in the first half was nullified when Dan Austin intercepted their first pass to set the stage for another Rocket drive. Taking the ball on their own 35 the Rockets used line plays to advance the ball to the Cyclone 40. Cleared around the end by good blocking, Kendrick literally ran by two men in the secondary and went down the sidelines for the final score. It was as sensational as some of the best with which Don Austin once electrified the Rocket fans.

The second half offered no such thrills as the first, but both the Cyclone and the Rockets demonstrated a lot of good sound football. Again in the second half Austin intercepted the first attempted Memphis pass to end that method of gaining ground. Russell long punts which sometimes averaged 50 yards were another defensive factor; but it was the outstanding work of the line which kept the Cyclone from crossing the 50 yard line in the first half and only allowed them to cross it once in the second half.

Early in the fourth quarter, Memphis tried the spread formation which enabled them to make a touchdown on Shamrock. All the line shifted to one side leaving three backfield men in the center of the field. The Rocket line shifted with them leaving four men to watch the backfield. The play gained one yard. A double spread play a few minutes later did enable the Cyclone to make one of their two first downs; but they did not try it again.

Wellington played good offensive ball in the last half and made 5 of their 12 first downs in that period. It was no reflection that they did not score. The defense of a fighting Memphis team simply got too tight. But even so, it did not compare with the defensive work of the Wellington line, which was superb just as it was against Lefors.

In addition to the score Wellington made 10 first downs and Memphis made 2. Wellington made 3 penetrations and Memphis none.

Starters for Wellington were: Harrison, Orr, Nelson, Fulton, Erryberry, Burns, O'Neil, Russell, Kendrick, Austin and Winters.

Substitutes were: Raburn, Mad-dox, Brown, Thomas, Copeland, Covey, Baird and Jr. Orr.

People of Texas

The hour has struck when the people of Texas must decide whether to perpetuate the Communistic-C. I. O. Bureaucracy at Washington, or restore our Constitutional Democratic form of Government.

The Texas Regulars Party has been organized to fight for true Democratic principles. In truth it is the real Democratic Party. The Texas Regulars Party will head the third column on the official November ballot.

TEXAS REGULARS STAND FOR:

1. Unstinted support of our Armed Forces and their Real Leaders and the hastening of the termination of the War and Return of our Sons and Daughters.
2. Restoration of Constitutional Government.
3. States' rights, local self government and individual freedom.
4. The removal of Federal Shackles from Southern agriculture and industry.
5. Laboring unions freed from the control of corrupt and racketeering leaders.
6. Enforcement of all Texas laws against mixing of White and Negro blood, and restoration of White Man's Primary.

TEXAS REGULARS OPPOSE:

1. The Communistic, atheistic doctrine of a New Deal.
2. The Federal enforcement of social equality between the Whites and Negroes of the South.
3. Centralization of governmental power in boards and bureaus not elected by or responsible to the people.
4. Federal domination of Texas Free School System.
5. Bureaucratic tinkering with Southern Agriculture.

WHAT WE ARE FIGHTING FOR ABROAD IS WORTH FIGHTING FOR AT HOME

It costs money to carry on this fight. If you believe in our principles, give us your support and contribute if you can. Fill in this blank and send it, with contribution of $1.00 or more, to Judge Merritt Gibson, State Campaign Manager, Texas Regulars, 624 Littlefield Building, Austin, Texas. Gib Gilchrist, A & M Head, Is Noted For Memory

COLLEGE STATION — Soft spoken Gib Gilchrist, Texas A. & M.'s new president, is a native east Texan with a remarkable memory who finds relaxation from work in such diverse fields as aviation, music and history.

The Wills Point, Van Zandt County boy, at 57, brings to his new assignment 34 years of practical and administrative engineering experience, dating from the day in 1910 when he began a seven-year job as construction engineer for the Santa Fe Railroad, followed by World War I service as an army engineer and later as resident and division engineer for the State Highway Department and as state highway engineer for nine years.

Gilchrist left that last position in 1937 to come to Texas A. & M. as dean of its engineering school because he likes to work with young people. As president of the college, he'll have the chance to continue that association on even a broader scale.

The new college president loves airplanes; has so many framed pictures of airplanes he can't hang them all up on his office walls.

He believes that helicopters will be as common five years after the war as automobiles are today.

"Of course, people will have to learn something about air currents to operate helicopters," he adds, "but then folks had to learn how to drive automobiles, too."

Gilchrist, credited with administering $300,000,000 worth of highway construction in Texas as state highway engineer, can send his secretary to his files for a letter dictated two or three years ago, telling her the exact date it was written, to whom it was written and how many copies were made of it.

President Gilchrist often sits down to the carved, old-fashioned foot pedal organ in the library and plays by ear many selections, especially church hymns. He doesn't read a note of music and plays in only one key.

The music takes his mind from the cares of a work-day world. He admits with a smile, however, that "folks have a pretty hard time trying to sing to my accompaniment, for some want to sing in a higher or lower key than the one in which I play."

An accordion, a piano, a guitar which he bought in Mexico for 6 pesos and on which a Mexican youth painted a bull's head, a music box and a record player help contribute to the president's musical hobby.

Mrs. O'dell Finley and Mrs. J. E. Cooper went to Hollis Monday to meet Mrs. Cooper's sister and daughter, Miss Mary Cook and Sandra Kay Cooper who were coming in on the bus after having been visiting in Oklahoma.

FSA Helping County Veterans

Today in uniform, but tomorrow in farm overalls, is the ambition of more than a million and a half American doughboys, according to estimates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. That many of these will want federal assistance in buying farms or setting themselves up as tenant operators is a foregone conclusion, says B. W. Boardman, Chairman of the Farm Security Administration Committee in this County.

"Already seven men home from this war have applied for FSA credit in this county," says Truman J. Jones, FSA Supervisor. "We are anticipating a rush immediately after the close of hostilities of those Veterans wanting to enter farming but unable to obtain adequate long-term financing elsewhere."

Agents Attend Meetings On Extension Work

Two sub-district meetings were held last week in connection with extension service work in this section.

A meat preservation demonstration was held in Clarendon Tuesday and Wednesday. Accepted methods for cutting and canning beef, were demonstrated to county agents and county home demonstration agents. Both agents from this county attended, Miss Rose Erismann and J. W. Thomas.

On Saturday Miss Erismann attended a home improvement and family relation meeting for demonstration agents in Wheeler. This was conducted by Mrs. Eloise Trigg Johnson, recently appointed family relations specialist for the extension service.

Work given by her will be incorporated in the Home Demonstration Club Work next year, Miss Erismann said, after attending the conference.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(The following letter is from CM 3-c Robert Belew to his parent-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rogers, near Vinson. He is the son of Mrs. Fannie Belew of Loco. He has two brothers in service, Pfc. Herman Belew, serving with a medical Br. in the French campaign and Pfc. Grady Belew, who is stationed at Camp Wolters... CM Belew is with a Seabee Br. on Peleliu Island in the South Central Pacific. His Br. has just recently completed an assignment on New Georgia Island. He has been overseas for the past seventeen months.)

Dear Mother and Dad:

Just a few lines to let you know that I am well and that I haven't completely forgotten you. But I have just been so busy that I have not had time to do anything much. But I have thought of you often, and wondered how you were.

I guess Mildred has told you by now where I am. It has really been rough but not so bad now. J. V., I'll agree with you now that war is a living hell. I wish some of the people could see what I saw the other day. If that wouldn't make them open their eyes and thank God they are far away from all this, and ask God for this thing to soon be over then nothing would. I am proud that I am an American, but if some of the people back there would wake up and stop thinking of this thing as a money making thing then I think this would be over before it is going to be. If God is willing, I pray for it to soon be over. But the Bible says "All these things work together for the good of all." So I guess it will work out in the end.

Give my regards to all the folks and our friends. I hope it won't be long until I can see you all.

Your son,

Robert

Dearest Folks:

How are you all this afternoon? I am still on the go. It has been so rainy all afternoon and it hasn't made me very happy either because it is so muddy. I guess I will make it. Here is hoping.

Well, I just finished chow and it wasn't much. The most interesting thing I saw was two monkeys fighting today. And I saw a bear last Sunday. Oh, I see lots of things over here. I had rather see old L. A. most of all. Well, I received two letters from you all today. You just don't know how much your letters helps me over here. It helps me so much. I have something to tell you. It is awful over here. I saw some Indians the other day. First ones I ever saw. They were so black and ugly. There clothing was just an old bed sheet wrapped around them. Most of them wear some kind of a turban. Looks like a low sack or something worse. And they all go barefooted and they have a terrific body odor. I see lots of poor old oxen and Brama Steers pulling big heavy carts of some kind. The carts have two big wheels and a long body with a top made out of bamboo. Over here people drive on the wrong side of the road. I mean the army personnel, the Indians, of course, can't afford a car. Some of the Indians raise Brama cows. Every once in a while I see four or five men herding about twenty cows to each man and most of them have water buffalo's with their cows. The bufflos are black with a long sloping head at about a 60 degree angle. They have long flat horns that lay along their necks.

Well, the only crops they have over here is rice. There is more rice fields over here than anything. I never saw so much rice in all my life. But that looks good to me. It sure is lonesome over here at times. Well, it is getting dark now so I will try to tell you more next time. So I am closing with lots of love.

As ever your loving son,
Junior.

United Gas Pipe Line Company, Union Producing Company and associated companies are regularly carrying out their announced policy of giving former employees on leave in the armed services jobs to come home to, according to figures released this week by the general personnel department of the companies in Shreveport.

To date, according to the official release, 942 employees have gone into the armed forces. Forty-two veterans now are in the employ of the companies, in positions either identical with or corresponding to those which they left when they went into service.

Although this policy is but one phase of the companies' reconversion plans, it is considered a vitally important one.

DON'T BLAME HIM!

HE HAS REASON TO GRIPE

MANY ROASTERS HAVE CHEAPENED THEIR BLENDS

To say "cheapened" is to put it mildly. "Adulterated" is more accurate. That's why certain established brands, used perhaps for years, have recently begun tasting bitter or flat or different in other ways. They're not the same coffee blends they were. But don't misunderstand us. We're not speaking of Admiration. It's 100 per cent in all ways identically the same delightful, satisfying blend it's always been. True—it costs us more money. But that doesn't matter. We place our responsibility and the loyalty of our thousands of users above profits.

NO WONDER THEY TASTE "DIFFERENT"

A change in blending formula makes a changed blend. In many cases it means an altogether new blend of coffee. You simply can't make a superior blend of coffee with cheap coffees. It takes choice, expensive coffees—the kind used exclusively in Admiration. So if your regular brand has been tasting different, buy a pound of the coffee that never varies, war or no war. Buy a pound of Admiration and earn the applause of your hero.

New Rules To Govern Two Draft Classes

In announcing reclassifications of men in this county by the selective service board October 14 and 18, J. M. Strong, clerk, also listed two changes in regulations regarding the various classes.

In the future, men 38 years and over will be placed in Class 4-A. These formerly were retained in their original class, followed by an "H". Class 4-A was then used to designate those men over 45.

The current change is to simplify draft rules. Placing of men 38 and older in this class means they will not be called for service without a blanket change in draft procedure of the entire 38-45 age group.

All servicemen discharged under honorable conditions will be retained in Class 1-C, the local board was notified. This is the classification given all men who enter the armed forces. Previously, only registrants who had been discharged for physical or mental disability were retained in Class 1-C and all others were classified into other groups.

Reclassifications for October 14 include:

1-A, men available for preinduction physical: Jessie L. Branch, Sidney S. Baird, Louis D. Morris, Roy L. Heathcox, Artis L. Majors, Wesley D. Wilfong and Harold J. Burns.

2-A, men in work in support of the war effort: Cecil R. Johnson, Clifford Wheeler and W. E. Marchant.

4-A, men over 38: Chleo A. Davis, Alvin E. Horton, Johnie F. Nipper, Joseph Harmon, John M. Hurst, Jim F. Owens, Joseph Pritchard, John W. Neeley and Lucien W. Clark.

You mean, it's that easy?

This Skeptical Gentleman represents many hundreds of thousands of automobile owners... intelligent, patriotic drivers who are determined to give their cars the best of care, who understand the nation's need for keeping every possible car running for the duration.

They require no long-winded arguments to convince them that quality oil is the best policy. They ask only: How can I select a quality lubricant, when I am neither an engineer nor a chemist? Isn't there some simple, easy way to make sure of getting a motor oil of quality?

There is! Phillips, with an outstanding reputation in the field, makes a frank and clear statement to relieve all doubt when choosing between the various oils marketed under this good name. Phillips says, if you want our best oil, remember we frankly tell you that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality... the highest grade and the greatest value... among all the oils we offer to average motorists.

Oil wears thin in summer use. It also accumulates dust, metal particles, and oxidation products. So it's wise, say experts, to drain every two months, under today's reduced driving conditions. Especially when you make the seasonal change, ask for the correct winter grade of Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The quality of the cotton now being ginned is the best in ten years according to several local ginners. The cotton is of good character and good stout staple. Many farmers who planted long staple varieties such as Delta Pine and Northern Star are bringing in cotton where the staple ranges from 31-32 to an inch. Some gins report some inch and sixteenth cotton. Growers of half and half have not been so fortunate. This ranges from 13-16 to 7-8. Most of it has been grading spotted strict middling, spotted middling and strict low middling. One ginner advanced the idea that another week of fair weather would see much of the spotted strict middling etc. turn to strict middling, middling and strict middling. Another was more conservative and said that it would take the second pulling before the spotted cotton was eliminated. However, there is not much difference in their estimates. Continued fair weather will bring a sizable quantity of middling and considerable strict middling cotton to the markets in Wellington.

The yield per acre is also good. Because the yield is exceptional pullers are making extra good money at the $1.50 rate per hundred that is now prevalent. More pickers are needed and the county could use 500 more; but a good portion of the farmers report that they are in fair shape. But even those with a field full of pickers would like to have more.

Monday, November 6, is the day Lafayette M. Hughes will hold the second annual sale of registered Hereford cattle at the Mill Iron. In a phone conversation Tuesday, Curtis Cook, agricultural editor of the Wichita Falls Record News, told me that the Mill Iron breeding was gaining recognition among all classes of cattlemen and that it was meeting with loud acclaim from commercial cattlemen who want to improve their herds.

When we get the time or additional help, I also want to give some facts and figures on James Doneghy's turkey venture. The actual records show that this is a natural turkey country and that they can be raised here at a profit. It will take a knowledge of the mechanics of turkeys as well as the proper equipment, but the industry can be followed.

Sweet potatoes should be investigated. S. P. Hollingsworth rented a few lots from me about one fourth of an acre. He made 109 bushels of sweet potatoes from this plot. They could have been sold for $150. However, he intends to kiln dry them and then sell them for $300, so he anticipates. I was so amazed at the amount of potatoes he grew that I told him just to count mine in on anything he did.

Next Friday the Wellington Rockets meet the McLean Tigers. It is not expected to be the best game of the season; but it will be much more interesting than the records of the team might indicate. Wellington leads in the conference, and that means that every team is gunning for the Rockets.

In other parts of the district Shamrock meets Lefors with a prayer. They don't want to come to Wellington November 10 with two losses chalked up against them; but they have to get by Lefors before they can approach Wellington with a chance of tying for the conference championship. And Shamrock is going to find both Lefors and Clarendon hard to get by just as was Memphis. In what was supposed to be an off year, there are five real good football teams in this district this year.

TICKLERS

By GEORGE

Texas Hereford Association Is 45 Years Old

DALLAS, Texas—Forty-five years ago as the nineteenth century neared its close, a small group of cattle raisers gathered in San Antonio and organized the Texas Hereford Association. Its purpose was the improvement of the livestock industry in Texas.

W. S. Ikard, a Clay County rancher, who had brought the first Herefords to Texas a couple of decades before, was elected president. Those ranchers didn't have any treasury and before the first membership dues were placed on the barrelhead they set about raising $1,000 for premiums to be awarded at shows and fairs for better cattle.

From that November day in 1899 until now this organization worked ceaselessly, not primarily on increasing the number of cattle, but toward better stock that would produce finer beef at a greater profit to the grower.

At the time the ranchers got their movement started there was more scrub stock in Texas than any other kind. A few years later, Texas Herefords were taking awards in every class at the Chicago International Show from grand champion down. They are still winning.

Today the Hereford breed represents more than eighty per cent of all range stock in the state. Texas is the leading livestock producing state in America and last year the industry brought a cash income of $467,499,000 according to the United States Department of Agriculture, almost double that of 3 years ago. There is not a county in Texas where the White-face is not raised.

The Texas Hereford Association feels that while the first forty-five years were the hardest, the program undertaken by those ranchers in the last century is really only getting well underway.

Under the presidency of Jack Frost, second generation owner of the White Hat Ranch in Nolan County, who maintains association headquarters in Dallas, a program far more ambitious and extensive than that of any previous years has been launched.

The members believe that the continued development of Texas oldest industry on a sound, scientific basis through the post-war years will be the best insurance against such dangers as the one-crop cotton disaster, farm tenancy and lack of diversification which previously disturbed the state's economy.

The Association is preaching the gospel that the blending of good cattle into well-rounded farm programs will do more to stabilize the prosperity of the state than any other single factor.

Because financial interests of the state are directly affected by the success or failure of the efforts of the Texas Hereford Association, the bankers of Texas have been asked to affiliate themselves with the organization as associate members and to cooperate in the program.

Texas Trains 44,958 Pilots Since Jan. 1, 1942

Texas, whose limitless flying space threatens to replace the tennant hat with the flying helmet as a state symbol, has produced 44,958 pilots from Jan. 1, 1942, to May 1, 1944, the Army Air Force Training Command revealed at Fort Worth Saturday.

In its first roundup for public consumption, the command revealed in its praise of Texas as a natural plant for every type of aircraft training.

"In one way or another, the origin and control of almost every factor of the gigantic coast-to-coast educational system that provides individual training for United States air power can be traced to Texas," the report said.

A few facts to amuse Texans, who are accustomed to amazing facts about the home state:

In nine cases out of ten, American instructors in all parts of the nation learned to teach in Texas.

The nation-wide training command, Fort Worth, under the direction of Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount, had more than 1,000,000 men and women under its jurisdiction at peak strength Jan. 1, 1944, and operated nearly 30,000 airplanes of all types.

The Fort Worth command directs the vast chain of schools from New Haven, Conn. to Boca Raton, Fla.; from Sioux Falls, S. D., to Harlingen, Texas, and from Seattle, Wash., to Santa Ana, Calif.

Training fields in Texas include twenty-eight major airfields, fourteen contract flying schools, covering 925,000 acres in forty counties.

From raw recruit to finished graduate, an airman need never leave the borders of Texas.

Trained in the state are fighter, bomber, liaison, glider and woman pilots; bombardiers, navigators, gunners, technicians, instructors. This in addition to supporting air forces professions from mess sergeants to administrative officers.

Of the 44,958 pilots turned out in twenty-eight months, there 647 women pilots, 2,040 liaison pilots. In addition, the AAF trained 12,534 bombardiers, 12,706 navigators, 74,022 airplane and engine mechanics, 12,247 pilot training instructors.

A small army in itself is required to administer and operate the huge training pipeline. Early this year the training command had a total military personnel permanently assigned to Texas stations totaling 101,540. These were aided by 31,334 civilians.

sun-drenched air above the Colossus of the Southwest comes nearer to being the epitome of the "wild blue yonder" of which airmen sing in their favorite Air Corps song than the sky above any other section of the United States with the exception of Calif. and Florida. Above Texas it seems that the "wild blue yonder" is bluer and higher more often than almost any place else in the world.

"The state of the far horizons, the limitless skies, the star-studded nights, the widely scattered cities is the logical site for the central nervous system, the brain and the heart of the AAF's continent-spanning training system."

TEXAN IS LEGION'S "MAN OF THE YEAR"

Selected as "Man of the Year" for his outstanding record in advancing the principles of Americanism advocated by the American Legion, Horace H. Shelton (left), attorney of Austin, Tex., is shown at the national convention in Chicago as he received the $1,000 Lewis S. Rosentel Award for distinguished community service. Making the presentation is James F. O'Neil, of Manchester, N. H., vice-chairman of the Legion's National Americanism Commission.

Health Vital War Factor

AUSTIN.—With the United States experiencing a loss of more than six million man-days per month in defense industries alone from accidents and illnesses, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, is intensifying the Texas State Department's effort to cut down the total days lost in this State.

"The number of man-days lost from accidents alone each month reaches an alarming total. But when we consider that there are nine times more absentees from communicable and other diseases it becomes apparent," Dr. Cox asserted, "why it is necessary to urge that each individual protect his own health to the best of his ability."

Communicable disease and even mild epidemics can seriously handicap the nation's war effort by slowing down the production of the food and supplies necessary for speeding victory. Careful attention to personal hygiene, immunization, proper nutrition, sufficient rest, fresh air, and sunshine is the personal responsibility of every individual at this time.

"It is our job," Dr. Cox said, "to fight sickness and accidents. Production can be boosted and lives can be saved by strict adherence to community and industrial hygiene standards and full cooperation in such community projects as mosquito control and rat extermination for preventing the spread of malaria, dengue, and typhus fever. Loss of time renders aid to the enemy and this country must be able to depend on peak production from all of its industrial army."

Dr. Cox pointed out that the armed forces have called a great per cent of our doctors and nurses into active service and the war has made unattainable many of the drugs and chemicals which have heretofore been used as ordinary household remedies. This shortage of doctors and nurses, together with our inability to obtain many needed drugs, makes the conservation of good health a definite war duty and the patriotic obligation of every citizen of Texas.

GI's Overseas To See More And Better Movies

American service men overseas see more and better pictures than the folks back home and often see the films first, the War Department says. Overseas forces usually see three new movies each week.

Editorial

Why should you give to the National War Fund?

The basic reason, of course, is because you are a patriotic American and want to help win the war. Or you may give because you have a heart that bleeds for suffering humanity, and would like to help the children, the women and the aged whose lives have been wrecked by war.

But there is still another reason—a simple, practical reason why every Texan should help. That reason is simply that giving to the National War through your county war fund is GOOD BUSINESS!

Yes, it's good business! It's good business to bring our sons, husbands and friends home from war. They are our greatest asset—the strength of the nation. The longer we permit the war to last, the greater will be the loss of our greatest asset—our men.

It's good business to help because the sooner we win the war, the sooner we can return to normal trade and normal living.

It's good business because the sooner we win the war, the sooner we can expect reduced taxes, lowered living costs.

The truth is that we can't afford to let down in the war program. Every practical business consideration says to us all: "Give now, to win the war!"

The war will end sooner because of our gifts to the National War Fund. Peace will come earlier, our sons will return quicker, if we give generously. That's why every Texan must answer the war fund appeal in these words: "Sure, I'll Give a Texan's Share!"

It's good business!

• Congratulations

In a triumph of freedom of expression over self-importance, the Mexican congress has killed a bill which would have prohibited the press and theatre from ridiculing any of its own members. In so doing the legislators left for themselves the not insurmountable task of maintaining their own dignity.

So—Viva el Congreso! And may they live long to enjoy many counterparts of "I'd Rather be Right," "Of Thee I Sing," "First Lady" and other lampoons which have helped to keep our elected public servants conscious of their human frailty.—The Wichita Falls Record News.

• Political Game

The same old political question arises. The News has been asked time and again, "Being a Democrat, and having voted in the Democratic primary what will happen to me if I vote for Dewey or the Texas regulars in the general election." The answer is simply this: No one can do anything to any Democrat who decides to vote in such a manner. The pledge on the primary ballot is a matter of law, but there is no way to force any voter to go to the polls and void his conscience in voting for any nominees who happen to get on the November ballot. Furthermore, no pledge was taken in the Texas primaries in regard to the presidential candidates. The Newsman happened to be a member of the legislature when the brass collared boys attempted to punish Texas Democrats who supported Hoover rather than vote for the Democratic nominee, Al Smith. A lot of oratory was the sole results. Those who would have kicked all Hoover followers out of the Democratic party could find no law, or any court ruling whereby such a thing could be done. Therefore, when you go to the polls in November you may vote for any group of Presidential electors that you like. Perhaps four years hence you will vote directly for President and Vice President rather than for the anticipated form of electors.—Clyde Warwick in The Canyon News.

• Air Age

Members of the Vernon Chamber of Commerce are to be commended and deserve the help and co-operation of the community in their efforts at this time to link Vernon up with other towns and cities interested in aeronautics. It is going to require some time and effort to get the job done, but it will pay dividends in the future.—Charles P. Ross in The Vernon Times.

The jewelry trade hears that some watch types will fall a third in price when movements begin arriving soon from Switzerland. It's about time, on the face of it, but let's not get too wound up till we see the price tags.

Are you a paradox? A paradox is a business man who throws a Justin boot at his Big Ben alarm clock, rolls off his Ostermoor mattress onto a Congoleum rug, hops into his B. V. D's, runs his Gillette razor over his Mennen-lathered face, consumes a hurried breakfast of Shredded Wheat and a cup of Postum, lights a Chesterfield at his store and then tells the advertising solicitor of a newspaper: "Advertising doesn't pay; it never sold me anything!"

An entire chapter of Texas newspaper humor is to be found in your columnist's new book, "Tall Talk from Texas," from which the above is quoted. (The book, by the way, exhausted four editions in three weeks—for which the author is deeply grateful to thousands of friends.)

Just a few more samples from the book:

A Texas editor received a letter asking "How long cows should be milked." He replied, "The same as short cows."

Broncho Bill saved a lot of lives one time—he shot the camp cook.

This is a Texas story—even if it did happen in New York City. The chief figure was the famous (or infamous) slave-driving city editor of the old New York World. The foreman of a Texas ranch had eloped with the ranch owner's daughter and they were in Manhattan on their honeymoon. The city editor sent a reporter for an interview.

The groom met him at the door, cussed him out, blacked his eye and threatened to kick him down the steps if he came back. The reporter went to a telephone in the lobby and reported the treatment he had received and the threat that had been hurled.

The "chief" banged his fist on the table as he shouted into the telephone, "You go back and tell that blankety-blank that he can't intimate me."

Again word has been received from Lieut. John Roy Noles, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Winn of the Hockabay community. Lieutenant Noles has been a prisoner of the Japs since the fall of Bataan. He writes that he had received letters, which had raised his spirits to record heights and made it much easier to endure time behind prison walls. His letter was written on Easter Sunday and he had just returned from singing, which was fairly good considering the material they had. In the past few weeks he had been brushing out the cobwebs on mathematics and also studying a course in agriculture and air conditioning, which he thought may be of some use in the future.

Glowing Autumn Chrysanthemums

Chrysanthemums, queen of the autumn, displays her charm glowingly in this new wartime arrangement. This skillful arrangement makes a modest bouquet appear like many flowers. Oak leaves and sprays of eupatorium do the trick abetted by an unusual use of ribbon. Short lengths of golden hued satin ribbon are rolled into spikes simulating an enormous flower.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

Camp Robinson, Ark.
Dear Mr. Wells:
I don't know whether you know me or not but I went with the group Oct. 1. I am at Camp Robinson, Arkansas now. There are a lot of boys from Wellington down here but they are scattered all over the camp. The boys here are going to train to be rifle infantrymen. The boys down here are Ocie Raper, Mid Scott, Lester Thomas, Troy Gosnell, Royal Copeland, Eugene McBride, Carthel Lewis, Lee Hughey, Jr., Neal Tyler Herschel Lewis, Morgan Painter, Phil Trew, Albert Van, A. J. Fires, and Windy Glenn. There may be a few more but that is most of them. We are learning marching, how to roll a field pack, combat pack, how to take a rifle apart, and other things. There will be seventeen weeks training here. We get up at 5:30 and work till about 8:00 at night. The food is fair. Most of the boys eat all they give them. We are restricted for two weeks. I will close for now. Thought I would let you know who all was at this camp.
Your friend,
Troy Godby.

Chatham Field, Ga.
Dear Mr. Wells and Staff:
This is just a note to let you know my latest address. Have moved around so much that the Leader is having some trouble in keeping up with me.
I do not like to miss the paper, because it is about the only regular connection I have with the news from home. I am flying with a B-24 Liberator Group and doing quite a bit of flying now. Expect to get another trip across in the near future . . . and the home newspaper means more over there than it does in the states.
Enclosing money for renewal of my subscription, so just keep up the good work.
Sincerely,
T-Sgt. Madison E. Dawson.

Dear Deck:
How is everything back in good old Wellington at this time. Gee, but how I long to come back to visit with friends and relatives. Deck, I hope you print this in the Leader as this is my first time to write in the 28 months I have served in the army. This is my second camp. I was in Camp Gruber, Oklahoma, before I came here and do I miss that place. I sure seemed like home to me. I am working with the Postal Service here and I sure like my work for I know I am doing my little bit for our boys overseas and I will be glad when this war is over so all the boys can come home to their loved ones.
Saying so long and lots of luck to friends and loved ones.
Pvt. Jimmie Harris.

North Island,
Oct. 12, 1944
Dear Deck:
I sure was proud to receive the Wellington Leader today. I've read everything from the front page to the last page and it brought me closer to home all the time. The Wellington Leader is the best newspaper that I have ever read. It seems just like a long, long letter from home. It tells you all the answers to the many questions that come to my mind about what is going on at home. I certainly thank God for such a good paper and home town. I wouldn't trade one acre of good old Texas soil for the whole state of California. But you can't make these Californians think Texas was that good.
The job that I've been assigned to sure is an interesting one. I like it fine. It is most important to high altitude flyers. Without the correct amount of oxygen the pilot flying at 30,000 feet could not live. He would get sleepy and pass out. Then he wouldn't never know what happened to him. I also check the safety belts in the planes, check and repack the life rafts. It is interesting to repack the ration kit that goes with the raft. It contains several items such as food, water, fishing gear and believe it or not two blocks of chewing gum.

ONE ELEPHANT, ISSUE, O D

Perhaps you didn't know it before but they are issuing elephants to the troops in the China-Burma India sector. Elephants complete with mahout. Here you see a Signal Corps lineman repairing a wire while a "sidewalk superintendent" on the big beast's rump gives advice. In the jungles and swamplands the elephants are indispensable.

I suppose you know that I'm a Skyrocket 100 per cent. I'm proud to hear we have another good team this year. I sure wished I could play for the Rockets again. I wish them all the luck in the world for a very successful year.

Say, Deck, I sure would like to know Junior Melton's address. We got separated when ever they sent us from Camp Elliott. I would thank anybody a million times to know it. Also any other Navy, Army or Marine guy to write me. I sure would try my best to answer everyone of them. My address is Dale Scott S 2-c, Casu 5 in care of F. P. O., San Francisco. That reminds me to tell you that to be sure you get my correct address on the "Wellington Leader". An overseas address is very easy to get mixed up. I must sign off in hoping that I get the good old Leader this week.

Always a friend,
Dale Scott.

Belgium

Dearest Nita:
Hello, beautiful, how goes everything with you and Freddie Wayne? Here's wishing you both the best of health and happiness. As for me, I am well and getting the best of what is available.

Honey, we are now able to tell what some of the towns were we saw in France. So I will give it a try, and hope it is just a little interesting anyway. On the Cherbourg Peninsula, we were in St. Mere, Eglise, Montebourg, and Igny. If you will look at some old newspaper copies, you remember those towns. There was St. Lo. I know you will remember it. The town was about the size of Childress, and you know what happened there. Avarancher, Cues, San Poir, La Loupe, Chartres, Paris, and Sedan. I'm sure you'll remember those towns. There were numerous other small towns that wouldn't mean a whole lot to you, so I won't name them. The only other town that I was at any length of time, besides Paris, was Sedan. I think the soldiers of the last war will remember that town; quite a historic city. I was told some pretty good stories on what happened there in 1940, that was when the Germans came. I'm not sure I can tell about them, and I know I don't want to have to write this letter all over, so I will wait until I find out, o.k.? Honey, I think the question mark is in the wrong place, but I was late to school the morning the English books were passed out. Ha.

Here's the humorous side. In French towns, when a town was liberated, the patriots would line up who were accused of sleeping with the Germans, and cut all their hair off. Incidentally, that made hats and head scarfs very much out of style, and the girls with hair seemed to go for high pompadors in a big way. I have never witnessed one of these hair cutting campaigns, but I did see the place where it took place in Sedan. The hair was still there—lots of it.

A French guy told me some other stories that were not so humorous. How true they were, I don't know, however I don't doubt his stories.

Well, darling, I will have to close for this time, so be sweet and remember this G. I. loves you more than all the world.

Love always,
Devotedly yours,
Wayne.

TRUTH ABOUT TRUMAN

WHAT EVERY VOTER SHOULD KNOW— HIGHLIGHTS FROM HIS RECORD

Every voter in America is entitled to know the record of candidates for office and especially those for Vice-President.

Should Harry Truman, the Democratic candidate, be elected Vice-President he would, as everyone knows, likely become President of the United States.

Under ordinary circumstances Missourians imbued with state pride would much like to see one of their citizens, if he measured up to the standards of qualifications, elected to this high office, but on the other hand Missourians would not want to see one elected who would reflect discredit on our state. We therefore submit a few important facts from the record—facts so well known to the people of Missouri as to insure the state safe for Dewey and Bricker.

Harry Truman worked at many different jobs such as clerk, farming, road oiler and road overseer; the two latter jobs given him by the Pendergast machine, a political organization which labels itself Democratic.

In the twenties Mr. Truman engaged in a small haberdashery business on 12th Street in Kansas City. The business venture proved a failure and when forced to quit he owed his creditors Thousands of Dollars. Truman was a member of Boss Tom Pendergast's notorious political organization and was taken care of with another job. In 1924 Pendergast ran Truman for Judge of the County Court (not a judicial body as the name implies, but a body which administers the business affairs of the county). Truman was defeated by a Republican. In 1926 the Pendergast organization was more strongly entrenched and Truman was elected. He served in that office until January 1st, 1935.

Although Truman drew a nice salary he refused to pay any interest or part of the principal of a note amounting to $4,750.00. Mr. Omar Robinson, one of the leading Democratic lawyers of the Kansas City bar, brought suit on the note and obtained judgment against Truman. Mr. Truman continued to ignore the judgment but after election to the senate his brother and a banker drove a bargain by settling the judgment and interest, then amounting to over $8,000.00, for One Thousand Dollars flat.

In 1933 the machine began padding the election rolls with tens of thousands of names and voted them illegally. Armed bandits under protection of the Pendergast machine's police roamed the city at will, stuffing ballot boxes and murdering innocent citizens who got in their way. It was estimated that by 1934 there were not less than 75,000 illegal names on the voting registers. It was this year, 1934, that Pendergast announced that Truman would have his support for United States Senator. With the aid of these vote pads, and a three-man race, Truman slipped thru on the lubricated skids of a debauched election.

In Jackson County and Kansas City, Truman received 47.4 per cent less votes when he ran for the second time than he did the first because 75,000 fraudulent votes were stricken from the rolls by a commission appointed by Lloyd Stark, a Democratic Governor unfriendly to the Pendergast machine.

An outraged public aided by a vigilant district attorney caused the indictment of 200 vote thieves and scores were sent to Federal Prison, including the big boss, Pendergast, sent up on a different charge. His nephew, James Pendergast, took over the political reins and was a delegate to the Chicago Convention, whooping it up and voting for Truman for Vice-President.

One of Truman's chief campaign supporters was A. R. Hendricks of St. Joseph who, a few years before, had been convicted of a felony (stealing chickens, and served his sentence. Truman, after being elected to the senate, did not forget his ex-convict friend. He recommended Hendricks' appointment as regional director of W. P. A. in charge of 20 northwest Missouri counties, as many as 8000 men working under him. Hendricks padded his pay rolls and was tried and convicted in Federal court and again sent to prison.

In 1938 a Pendergast-controlled court friendly to Truman loaned Martha Truman (Mother of Harry Truman) $35,000.00 on a farm that was assessed at $22,500.00 although the law of Missouri reads that such body may loan not more than one-half the assessed value, which in this case would have been $11,250.00. Who do you suppose signed the note? Vivian Truman, brother of Senator Truman, and Fred Canfil, custodian of the court house appointed by Truman.

The farm was foreclosed in 1940 because not one cent of interest or any part of principal was ever paid. Did the signers of the note pay anything? NO. Canfil was elevated to the high position of United States Marshal for the Western District of Missouri by President Roosevelt on recommendation of Senator Truman, and Vivian Truman, the brother, was given a fat job as assistant director of F. H. A. with headquarters in Kansas City. They still hold these positions.

Where did the Board get the money to loan on the Truman farm? Answer: From the sacred trust fund of the school children of Kansas City, Mo. The county bid in the farm at foreclosure sale and to this day the taxpayers still own it.

Truman was quoted in the press of Sept. 27, 1944, as saying: "I am a Jackson County organization Democrat and I'm proud of that. That's the way I got to be judge, a senator and the candidate for Vice-President. A Statesman is only a dead politician," he said. "I never want to be a statesman."

Senator Truman seems to give the Boss Machines full credit for his nomination. The day before his nomination in Chicago he had breakfast and a long conference with Sidney Hillman. By "clearing it with Sidney" the Bosses had a field day when they succeeded with Truman's nomination.

Earl Browder, communist leader and ex-convict, is a busy man making speeches for the Roosevelt-Truman ticket. Mr. Voter, will you permit this dangerous enemy of America and of all that our millions of boys are fighting and dying for, to "clear it with you" on election day?

Every patriotic American should appoint himself a Paul Revere to sound the warning against the Browners, Hillmans and Corrupt City Bosses—We must not lose America on the home front.

such uniformity and high quality.

This is the result of consistent type-breeding that has brought great credit to Mill Iron. The Colorado Type bloodlines established by Dominator, Dandy Domino 2nd, Mischief Maker 28 have been developed by their great descendants. On the Mill Iron the get of such bulls as Colorado E10 and Colorado Domino 697 have acclimated themselves and carry their blocky smooth type of cattle into their adopted country, which is evident in the calves that will be sold at Cottonwood on November 6.

Their get has been remarkably uniform producing a Hereford that was sturdy on the range and quick maturing in the feedlot and is one that appeals to mid-western feeders.

The sale November 6 will be under the direction of Mr. Hughes, Austin (Polly) O'Neil, manager of the Mill Iron Ranches, Cleo Rothwell, herd manager, Roy Thomason, assistant herd manager, and Frank Anderson, manager of the Wellington office.
