

Mineral Wells Is Named '41 Host To WTCC Meet

J. S. Birdwell, Wichita Falls, New President; Special Awards Presented

"Fins" was written promptly at noon Saturday to the 1940 edition of the West Texas chamber of commerce convention, a convocation that universally was declared to be a landmark.

Visitors trekked out of the city Saturday afternoon, after a concluding session that brought these principal developments:

Next convention city—Mineral Wells. The resort city was handed the next gathering on a unanimous vote, after other bidders, Midland and Waco, withdrew. Result of the official balloting was not announced, but it was believed Mineral Wells had a wide margin.

New president—Joe S. Birdwell of Wichita Falls. This oil man-stockman was elevated from a vice presidency to succeed E. K. Fawcett of Del Rio, and had been much in the convention limelight.

Other officers—J. Thomas Davis, dean of John Tarleton college, Stephenville, first vice president; George Jones, Marfa stockman and president of the Highland Hereford Breeders association, second vice president. Re-elected were M. M. Meek, Abilene, as treasurer, and D. A. Handen as manager. Two new district directors were named, Albert L. Clifton of Waco to succeed Davis for district 10, and Wayne West of Ozona to succeed Jones for district 8.

Home town winner—Betty O'Mara of Lubbock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. O'Mara, Betty is a senior in Lubbock high school, a petite brunette pretty enough to have been one of the charming sponsors. Her talk was delivered, along with that of two other finalists at the final session, and she received the Thomas Etheridge trophy, $50 in cash, and scholarships to several Texas colleges. Second place winner, $15, was William R. Snow, Jr., of Abilene; and third place and $10 went to Ed Williams of Stephenville. The prizes were tendered by Chairman C. M. Caldwell of Abilene who said 60 competed in the speech contests here.

Official band G. Ward Moody's Odessa high school aggregation, a snappy bunch that got a hand in the final assembly. The honorarium was a cash award of $50. Odessa succeeds the Sweetwater musicians in the official WTCC title.

"Miss West Texas" Winifred Finer, representative of Texas Tech and a Big Spring girl. She assumed the honor held for the past year by Joyce Winkley of Sweetwater.

"Ten West Texans" By tradition, this honor is tendered the outgoing president and recipient of the plenary Saturday was that picturesque West Texas leader, E. K. Fawcett.

Most valuable chamber of commerce manager—Jerry Debenport of Odessa. A new man at Odessa, Debenport quickly boosted his local membership from 100 to 750, to give Odessa one of the largest C-C memberships anywhere, and brought the WTCC membership in his city up from 2 to 42. Through his efforts, Odessa was one of the best represented towns, from every standpoint, at the convention.

Most valuable WTCC director—Port Bludworth of Brownwood. It was Bludworth who conceived and executed the regional chamber's extensive outdoor advertising campaign this past year, putting out 200 panel posters. The project, achieved at small outlay through co-operation of advertising firms, was valued at $10,000.

Best membership town—Ralls, with the honor going to P. D. Ralls, WTCC director there. One of the oldest, if not the oldest, WTCC directors in point of service, Mr. Ralls has been a leader in showing a WTCC membership increase for his town every year for the 22 years of the regional organization.

Miss West Texas was crowned Friday night. Other awards were made Saturday, with plaques going to the honored men, presented by J. J. Gallaher of Graham.

Special tax committee contest—Announcement of a $250 cash prize, to go to the local public expenditures and taxation committee which achieves the best results this year, was made by J. D. Hamilton of Farwell, chairman of that activity. This was made known at the concluding breakfast session for directors, at which officers were named. The public expenditures and freight equality items were listed by Manager Handen as the major work projects for the year.

Convention finances—Total registration revenue was checked Saturday afternoon by Convention Manager Max Bentley at $2,717.58.

The Big Spring Week

The big meeting has come and gone. It is safe to say that the 22nd annual West Texas chamber of commerce convention here was one of the most outstanding of the organization in recent years, and aside from reflecting credit on Big Spring as a host, may stimulate more interest in the regional organization.

Many important things happened, but perhaps none was more vital than the Americanization parade and meeting. Several material items achieved at the meeting have their pronounced effects on West Texas, but nothing, save spiritual values, is more important than the American Way.

Of course the railroad commission order, announced by Commissioner Jerry Radice, will be enforced by rail carriers, but because of its open a new line of attack on the freight rate problem which has oppressed Texas

Markets Asked To Peg Price Of Wheat

Wallace Takes Emergency Action After Third 10-Cent Drop

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Taking emergency action to halt modern history's most sensational break in wheat prices, Secretary Wallace asked the nation's grain futures markets to peg prices at not less than today's closing quotations.

30-Cent Drop in Week
The request was telegraphed to market officials after wheat prices, reflecting uncertainty over the European war, tumbled 10 cents a bushel—the limit permitted in any single day by market rules—for the third time this week. The net loss for the week was about 30 cents.

Wallace's request, if accepted by the markets, would establish minimum prices of 79 cents a bushel for May wheat futures and 59 3/4 cents for May corn futures at Chicago, the nation's principal grain market.

At Chicago, Fred H. Clifton, secretary of the board of trade, said directors would meet in a special session tomorrow to consider what steps shall be taken. This is only the third time since the turn of the century that such steps have been taken.

Wallace's action came shortly after Canadian authorities had pegged prices at Winnipeg at yesterday's closing figures.

While agriculture department officials explained that the price-pegging request was designed as a "temporary measure against further price disturbances from current war developments," there was speculation in official quarters that the government might turn to outright price-fixing as an emergency policy to protect prices and incomes of producers of not only wheat and other grains, but cotton as well. Virtually all farm commodities have been affected by price declines this week.

Whether the government has authority to establish minimum commodity prices was debated by agriculture department officials. Some held the view that legislation would be necessary.

Would Extend REA Service

With the possibility of an early allotment for financing a local Rural Electrification Administration project in prospect due to a congressional appropriation, directors of the Caprock Electric Cooperative, Inc., have authorized the planning of an extension to proposed lines.

Original plans for the REA set-up called for lines splitting the heart off the northern Howard county farming section, spurring south to Midway community, serving Lenora, Tazewell and Courtney communities in Martin county as well as the area around Stanton.

Under the extension plan, an additional 22 miles of line would be run south of town to serve the Cable and Elbow communities, and work to within a striking distance of Lomax. A total of 47 prospects are on the suggested routing.

Directors of the cooperative named D. H. Yates of the Cable community direct the sign-up along the extension. When his work has progressed far enough, Harry N. Roberts, Lubbock, engineer, will make a survey and submit plans to the REA for approval.

Little less than 400 persons have posted deposit fees along the original 150 mile route in Howard and Martin counties.

Allies Bolster Eastern Force

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 18 (AP)—The allies pushed a rapid reinforcement today of their Near Eastern forces and tightened Egypt's defenses, especially on the western desert frontier with Italian Libya, in the face of increased uncertainty over Italy's war plans.

Transfer of civilians from Libyan border towns cleared the way for more British troops.

More French units joined the battle fleet of Alexandria, and a second contingent of Australians arrived for Palestine.

An increasing number of Americans booked homeward passage.

CHURCHILL TO SPEAK
LONDON, May 18 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill will broadcast a message to the British people at 9 p. m. (3 p. m. CST) tomorrow.

PART OF LEAGUE OFFICES MAY BE MOVED TO U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—A shift of a portion of the League of Nations to the United States was considered a possibility in official quarters today as the Geneva institution began preparations for removal to Vichy, France, in case Switzerland is invaded.

The transfer would be in line with the desire of the Roosevelt administration to promote the non-political activities of the league—such as economic studies, control over opium production and sale, and suppression of white slavery. Well-informed persons felt this portion of the league would be the most logical to transfer to the new world.

Officials would not be surprised to see also a transfer to this country—temporarily of the International Labor Office at Geneva, of which an American, John G. Winant, former governor of New Hampshire, is secretary general.

Industry And Trade May Go On New Basis

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Sweeping changes in the business activity may result from the gearing of the United States' vast industrial capacity to defense needs and from dislocation in foreign trade. Wall Street analysts said today.

Despite the collapse of speculative markets this week and fear in financial circles the German onslaught may curtail Europe's ability to buy in this country, many economic experts looked for expansion of heavy industry under stimulus of the greatest arms spending here since World war.

Aircraft, shipbuilding, machine tool, metal and machine accessories industries were judged in financial quarters destined for faster action to supply both home and allied needs, particularly if the allies hold out in face of the Nazi effort to achieve a quick knockout on the western front.

The German push across the low countries eliminated from the world markets, temporarily anyway, two important trading and manufacturing nations. The Belgian steel industry, a big factor in the export market, had been selling more than 4,000,000 tons abroad, according to trade estimates.

Holland sold a variety of goods in the foreign markets, bought raw materials and food in this country. The prospect that the United States might be called upon to supply much of this loss in export markets, including steel for the allied war industries, was only one aspect of a rapidly shifting economic picture.

With the Mediterranean and the Balkans threatened by the spreading war, analysts could only speculate vaguely on the long-range business significance of the European upheaval. Against the prospects of war industry expansion, for instance, they had to weigh possible effects of the abrupt slump in stocks, bonds and farm commodities.

The crash—the biggest concentration decline in stocks Wall Street has seen since July, 1933—wiped out billions of dollars in quoted values. Merchants, watching the fall in cotton, grains and other farm products, were apprehensive rural buying power might be hit unless commodities rally before growing crops reach the market.

Full Endorsement Should Be Given FD, Says Jim

AUSTIN, May 18 (AP)—Unqualified endorsement of President Roosevelt for a third term—because of the national defense problem—should be given at the democratic state convention in Waco May 28, former Governor Jim Ferguson said today.

In a formal statement the former chief executive said Vice-President Garner would be "the big man his friends contend he is" if he would withdraw his candidacy for the presidential nomination and support a draft-Roosevelt movement.

ARMORED CARRIAGES FOR BABES IN INDIES

MINNEAPOLIS, May 18 (AP)—The operator of a hotel-general store-automobile agency business in the Dutch West Indies is taking no chances on an unfavorable turn in the war so today a nursery furniture company here began turning out bullet-proof baby carriages.

The company received an order from Aladar Pleschke, of Aruba, in the Indies, for 25 armored carriages.

FD Wants To Speed Planes To The Allies

Fast Completion And Delivery To Be Talked At Conference

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt was said authoritatively today to have decided to put the administration's force behind efforts to speed deliveries of American-made warplanes to the hard-pressed allies.

Conference Monday
Informed airmen said means to hasten completion of more than 4,000 planes which Britain and France had ordered since the war started would figure prominently in a conference of industrial leaders with government officials Monday.

The feasibility of turning over to the Allies new planes manufactured for the army probably would be considered also, it was predicted, though officials said no formal requests that this be done had been received thus far.

Mr. Roosevelt's extraordinary program to strengthen defenses at home made swift progress in congress during the day, and word spread that the chief executive might ask still more millions for armament later if he deemed them necessary.

Working with rare speed, a senate appropriations subcommittee approved a $1,827,491,724 army supply bill carrying the army's share of the special defense fund proposed by the president earlier this week.

The subcommittee provided that the money should be available the moment the law is signed, instead of next July 1 as most appropriation measures specify, and sent the bill to the full appropriations committee for consideration Monday.

Many members of the senate predicted that that chamber would approve the huge fund, and send it back to the house for acceptance of the extraordinary additions, by mid-week.

Tax Proposals Are Numerous

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Treasury files contain scores of tax proposals which could be used to pay for the new $1,182,000,000 defense program, with levies ranging from stiff increases in income taxes to imposts on bachelors.

President Roosevelt has left to congress the problem of paying for the extraordinary expenditures. Privately, borrowing was regarded in administration circles, as the method to be used immediately. But new taxes, possibly at the next session of congress, were not ruled out. Increasing the treasury's $45,000,000 debt limit to make borrowing possible was believed by most officials to be a virtual certainty.

A third group of possible methods, mostly opposed by the treasury but favored by various congressmen, involves using idle assets of the treasury. This group includes taking money out of the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, spending part of the estimated $2,000,000,000 "paper profit" which the treasury has made on silver purchases and printing $3,000,000,000 of "green-back" paper money as authorized in 1933.

Weather Forecast

WEST TEXAS—Generally fair Sunday with increasing cloudiness Monday; showers or thunderstorms in mountains of southwest portion Monday; warmer in north portion Monday.

EAST TEXAS—Partly cloudy Sunday and Monday.

Sweetwater And Rotan Take Round Up Honors

Superb organization Saturday accomplished the operation of the 10th annual Buffalo Trail council Scout Round Up in record time.

For the first time in history of the council, the contests were completed before noon. Troop No. 42 of Sweetwater was high in the camping division, and No. 33 of Rotan, winner of the Round Up last year, was first in activities.

Scout officials estimated that there were approximately 800 men and boys represented in the meet, with 41 of the council's 72 troops participating. The number would have been considerably larger but for the fact that school closings caught many of the boys.

Contests were finished at 11:30 See SWEETWATER, Pg. 10, Cl. 6

Allies Say Drive Slackening; Antwerp Falls To Invaders

By The Associated Press

Germany's warlike men and machines engulfed Antwerp and was reported by the Nazis to be within 60 miles of Paris Saturday night.

The British and French professed, however, to see some slackening of the unprecedented assault in its ninth day.

The indicated German position, widening and deepening simultaneously toward the west and south, puts the invaders roughly midway between Paris, one apparent objective, and the channel ports, ideal bases for direct assaults on England.

The French said the main fighting was in the vicinity of Guise and Landreies, about 90 miles from Paris.

(In the World war the Germans were stopped at the outskirts of Paris.)

They admitted a widening of the German-held portion of France, and Premier Paul Reynaud told the nation that the situation was "grave."

Reynaud himself took over the ministry of war and national defense, named former Premier Edouard Daladier foreign minister, and chose Marshal Henri Petain, 83-year-old World war hero, as vice premier in a general cabinet revision.

Munitions plants went on a 24-hour work schedule. German planes bombed stations and highways in the Paris region, but were driven away from the city itself, with one-fourth of their 18 raiders reported shot down.

The British Royal Air Force announced bombing of German oil supplies with heavy damage in Bergen, Norway; Bremen and Hamburg, Germany.

The still-fighting Belgians said the forts at Namur and Liege were holding out, even though the Germans already had passed them and captured Brussels and Antwerp.

Although the French told of still violent German assaults all day Saturday, they theorized that some of the great flame-throwing German tanks which led the charge had dropped back for refueling.

Some inkling that perhaps the Germans were preparing to draw on their second wind was given in a German report that "pacification" of the Netherlands, nearing completion, would release another 800,000 Nazi troops for the surge into France.

The British military spokesman, who contended the Saturday situation certainly was no worse than Friday, while acknowledging that the allies still were falling back, said the British and Belgian withdrawal in Belgium was taken to conform to the German advance in France.

Unaware of this strategy, the troops in Belgium were indignant at being ordered back, he said.

The military situation, although too fluid for exact definition, shaped up like this:

BELGIUM—Allies apparently determined to hang on in east and west Flanders; Germans in control elsewhere except for comparatively isolated positions from the Liege and Namur forts; Antwerp occupied after cracking of its ring of forts in two places.

FRANCE—Germany driving into the triangle formed by the Aisne and Oise rivers, swinging westward and southward into France on the route toward Paris, possibly intent on a head-on attack aimed at taking both Paris and the channel ports.

NETHERLANDS—Nature of remaining resistance uncertain, but confined to Zeeland province and probably as Germans announce seizure of Walcheren, Schouwen and South Beveland islands, all in Zeeland and north of Antwerp.

German Radio Stations Silent

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—The radio stations at Bremen and Hamburg, Germany, where RAF planes dropped bombs last night, went off the air suddenly at 10 p. m. to-night (3 p. m. CST). Bremen resumed broadcasting half an hour later, but Hamburg remained silent.

FDR TAKES A CRUISE

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—After a busy week which kept him at his desk for many overtime hours, President Roosevelt left the White House tonight for a brief outing.

He took an overnight cruise down the Potomac river aboard the government yacht Potomac.

Quake Rocks Calif. Area

EL CENTRO, Calif., May 18 (AP)—At least five persons were killed, scores injured and widespread property damage was caused by a series of earthquakes which shook the Imperial Valley tonight.

In the city of Imperial, apparently the epicenter of the quake, four persons were killed in the collapse of a grocery store on the principal business street, and another was killed at El Centro when a wall of the El Centro hotel at Fifth and Main streets fell across the street.

Walls of the Imperial Valley hall, which houses the fire and police departments, collapsed, but no one was injured. The walls of the old Imperial theatre, vacant at the time, also collapsed. Many other buildings were damaged.

More than $100,000 damage was caused by demolition of buildings in the border cities of Mexicali and Calexico, said reports to police here. Fires raged in these two cities.

Bigger collapsed in some sections of the valley, the largest vegetable producing area in the west. Flashes were opened in sections of highways.

The telephone operator in Imperial said that "virtually every building on the main street was wrecked" by the force of the earth shock, which was recorded at 8:36 o'clock.

The Southern California Telephone company said its El Centro office reported that "all the windows between fifth and sixth streets" in the business section were broken by the force of the quake, but that the buildings themselves did not collapse.

Many women on the streets fainted with fright at the first heavy shock.

The shock was felt in Long Beach, San Bernardino, Pasadena and other communities near Los Angeles, but was slight at those points.

German Resistance In Narvik Sector Said Near End

STOCKHOLM, May 18 (AP)—Norwegian authorities announced tonight that German resistance in the far Narvik area appeared near an end, and that Norwegian forces had taken up positions south of the city and close to the Swedish border on the east.

A communique released by the Norwegian unit in the Narvik district today occupied a hill close to the Swedish border on the Narvik-Swedish railway.

"It is reported that only a small German force is left in the town of Narvik. A French officer declared fighting was near an end in this sector."

"German air attacks have decreased in violence and two enemy planes have been shot down."

"Norwegian troops have taken positions near Narvik south of Rombakstjord."

INJURIES FATAL TO TEXAS CCC WORKER

MONTROSE, Colo., May 18 (AP)—Eugene Gold, 17, of Clarksville, Texas, died in a Montrose hospital today shortly after he and 15 other CCC enrollees were injured in a truck accident.

A forest service truck bearing the Texas youths overturned at a curve on Cerro Pass highway east of Montrose.

Three were seriously hurt and a Perry, 18, of De Kalb, Tex.; C. W. Dosen suffered slight injuries.

Hospitalized were Chester L. Braswell, 18, of Marietta, Texas; and Dick Cavitt, 17, of Naples, Texas. All suffered leg injuries and severe cuts and bruises.

BOY IS KILLED
MARSHALL, May 18 (AP)—W. H. Lawrence, 12, of Latex, was killed today when an automobile struck the boy's bicycle as he was riding.

Superiority In Air Gives Nazis Edge

By H. TAYLOR HENRY

PARIS, May 18 (AP)—German superiority in the air, backed by mass attacks of armored divisions of shock troops using flame-throwers, has been the main factor in carving out the pocket in the French line from Mons to Sedan.

During the five days of heavy fighting which I have just seen on the northern front, I have learned how heavily air superiority counts.

German tactics have ignored the traditional artillery preparation but have gained the long-sought combined effect of preparation and surprise by substituting attack aviation for artillery.

The Germans made the initial opening in the pocket by attacking on a restricted front and then shifting the force of attack to a neighboring sector so quickly that it seemed almost simultaneous action.

The action opened almost as soon as the French had rolled into action in Belgium and dug their hasty combat trenches behind rocks and under trees.

Fleets of 300 to 400 German planes dived and bombed French nests in each sector.

As fast as they swooped—at some 600 miles an hour—to drop bombs from a height of sometimes no more than 100 yards, they turned and swooped again to machine-gun soldiers who remained.

After the air attack, as many as ten armored divisions of medium and heavy tanks crashed against the narrow front, opening fire from their flame-throwers.

Trailing the tanks, light motorized infantry rushed to take over the territory.

As soon as the crack blitz divisions had smashed into one sector, they suddenly were shifted in an effort to strike a demoralizing blow against another.

Court Term Is Concluded

The year's court term of 70th district court in Howard county ended quietly here Saturday after a comparatively lax-five week session.

In the final two days of the term, Judge Cecil C. Collins denied an injunction against Marvin Wood and Burt Richardson, which would have restrained them in the erection of a building at the corner of N. 3rd and Goliad streets. The injunction petition was based upon the location of property lines.

By actual consent and without prejudice to either party, the sequestration suit of A. L. Wasson against J. S. Garlington, was continued until the September term when the status of litigation in federal court should be known.

The court will open a two-week term in Stanton Monday and then will go to Midland where the bribery charge against Gordon Bigham, former railroad commission district supervisor, is to be submitted to the grand jury.

Duce's Reply Noncommittal

ROME, May 18 (AP)—Premier Mussolini has replied to President Roosevelt's latest efforts to prevent spread of the European war, it was learned from a reliable source tonight. The nature of the reply was not disclosed but it was believed to have been noncommittal without being alarming.

The reply, in courteous terms, was said to have informed that he has been communicated to Mr. Roosevelt through United States Ambassador William Phillips, who delivered a personal message from the president to Il Duce May 15.

With Italy's entry into the war believed by most observers to be awaiting a final death blow to the allies, the fascist press tonight openly exulted at the advance of Germany's war machine into France.

O'Daniel Attacks Ad Valorem Levy In Tax Address Before WTCC Crowd

Points Out That Texans May Expect To Pay More For Needed Services

A strong criticism of the ad valorem tax system, an assertion that Texas can yet afford to pay more for vital governmental services, and a renewed appeal for citizens to watch costs of local government were major items in Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's address, "The Citizen and His Government," delivered Saturday morning at the closing session of the West Texas chamber of commerce convention.

A crowd that filled the lower floor of the municipal auditorium heard the governor and two other speakers—Rupert F. Asplund of Albuquerque, N. M., and Dr. George C. Hester of Georgetown—discuss taxation topics. O'Daniel lauded the West Texas chamber for its campaign to eliminate useless governmental expenditures, and pointed out that the regional organization was one of the first to take note of the continuing upturn in governmental outlay, to recognize a need for "broadening the tax base," and for a better control of local expenditures.

The WTCC itself is on record as abolition of the ad valorem levy. This levy the governor termed "unequal, unfair and inconsistent." It is outmoded economically," he said, and can be the most dangerous and burdensome tax we have today.

Mentions Legislation

He asserted that the ad valorem levy creates a mortgage on property and could result in confiscation. It does not take into account the return on investment in property, he said. The governor, who in several occasions reminded his audience that the Texas legislature had not followed his recommendations, said that too many "pussyfooted" legislators are afraid to stand up for a modern adjustment of taxation.

He pointed out the need, however, of added outlay for schools, eleemosynary institutions and other proper governmental services, and said that only 12 states in the union have a lower per capita tax collection than Texas, based on a survey covering 1937 and that this state's per capita is $15 below the national average. Comparisons he used were for state and local government expenditures.

"Our state would have to spend $84,000,000 more to equal the nation's average," he said. He asserted that honesty demanded that the people should understand that additional revenues are needed. He said more money—more from state sources—should be put up for schools, more for eleemosynary institutions. As the state spends, he said, it must pay for what it gets as it gets it.

The governor made no reference to the transactions or sales tax methods which he has advocated.

Budget System Needed

He asserted that Texas has no adequate budget system, and that a sore need is a consolidation of the state's numerous accounts. He told the crowd he had recommended remedies for both deficiencies. He said the governor should have authority to appoint a director of the budget, and that the auditor should be named by a legislative committee.

An assertion that the only solution to the Texas fiscal muddle is a thorough overhauling of the entire system also came from Dr. Hester, a tax specialist on the faculty of Georgetown university and a former legislator. The voting of appropriations, Dr. Hester said, will never solve problems, and the approach must be made from the other angle—a complete reorganization of the state setup, including a far-reaching system of budgetary control. Dr. Hester's plan is to have a business-man board of budgetary control, members serving without pay and employing experts, to remove the setup as far as possible from politics. As if in answer to O'Daniel's assertion that Texas can produce more revenue, Hester pointed out that taxpayers in this state are paying as much as any others in proportion to their income. The Texas income, he added, is a third below the national average.

Could Save 10 Million

"If we vote no more taxes until we have solved the organizational and budget problem," he said, "we will find that we can get along on little revenue, and that $10,000,000 a year could be saved easily in this state."

Dr. Hester, pointing out that this nation faces one of the most uncertain economic outlooks in its history, expressed concern over the continuous trend of increased public expenditures. "Our great test," he said, "is to provide government services without exploiting industry and the people."

Asplund, director of the New Mexico Taxpayers league since its organization in 1915, explained how it has brought about a close check on all New Mexico expenditures, both state and local, he said, and has been influential in the adoption of several beneficial fiscal laws, one of them prohibiting any government unit from spending in any year more than it actually collects in taxes. Asplund sounded an appeal for active citizen participation in governmental financial affairs.

Carriers Will Convene Here

Representatives from 15 post-offices in district No. 4 will gather here Thursday for an area meeting of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

W. T. Sargent, president, and W. L. Nowell, secretary of the Big Spring branch of the association, said that the meeting would be partly in preparation for the state convention at Waco on July 5-6. State officials of the association and others prominent in its affairs have been invited to discuss matters of vital importance to those in the postal service. Postmasters and others in supervisory capacities have been urged to attend. The meeting will be an all-day one, and the Ladies Auxiliary will serve a chicken barbecue luncheon to delegates. In the afternoon business session, officers will be elected and delegates named to the state convention.

M. J. Birdwell, state AAA auditor, was in Big Spring Saturday auditing marketing quota records of the county AAA office.

AS WEST TEXAS CELEBRATED—Friday was the "big day" at the West Texas chamber of commerce convention in Big Spring, with a great Youth parade contributing color. It was a review led by the state's chief executive, and one studded with bands that quickened the tempo with stirring music. Top picture, Governor and Mrs. W. Lee O'Daniel shown in the lead car of the review; second photo, Big Spring's own band, host musicians, as they swung down Third street past the municipal auditorium; third photo, the popular Hardin-Simmons Cowboy bandsters, a fast-stepping crew that added to the carnival atmosphere. Successful Career In Oil, Stock Raising Charted By Joe Bridwell, Resident Of Wichita By 'Accident'

Joe B. Bridwell, new president of Falls, another in Crosby county, the West Texas chamber of commerce, became a resident of Wichita Falls and West Texas by accident.

Selling a wire stretching device with success in portions of the Southwest opening up for farm and ranch settlements, Bridwell was at Chickasha, Okla., in 1906 when he saw a solid trainload of farm machinery and implements being freighted by rail to Stamford, Texas.

"Any place that can sell that much farm machinery," he thought, "ought to be the place for a farm boy."

En route, he was stopped at Henrietta by a train wreck and came on to Wichita Falls, where he has since resided. First Bridwell was in the real estate and insurance business, occupying for a time a small office building which he shared with a printing concern. Friends say that one of his first investments was to take $1,200 of his $1,500 and purchase an automobile, one of the first few driven over the city's streets.

Successful in Oil The investment paid for itself in publicity, alone, apparently, for Bridwell had a rapidly growing clientele when, in 1918, he got into his first oil venture, with the Cashion Oil company. For some time he had been handling oil leases and scouting for at least one major company as a part of his real estate activities. His first oil venture a success, Bridwell's interest in the "oil game" quickened. Today Bridwell is recognized as one of the mid-continent area's leading independent operators.

His oil interests cover fields in Texas and Oklahoma, centering in North Texas, Southwest Texas, and Southern Oklahoma. But Bridwell's yen for farming has given him equal fame as a rancher. He owns two ranches in the immediate vicinity of Wichita and a fourth in Oklahoma county west of Amarillo. His herds are all white face cattle. Among prizes taken by Bridwell's fine registered stock are three grand championships in the carload division of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show out of four showings.

Many Affiliations

Bridwell is a past president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, North Texas Oil & Gas Association; president of the American Hereford association; president of the Independent Producers Equity association; director and vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; chairman of board of stewards of First Methodist church of Wichita Falls; member of board of trustees of Southern Methodist university; member of board of Mid-Continent Oil & Gas association; member of board of American Petroleum Institute.

He was presented the philanthropic award of the Wichita Falls Advertising club for 1933, one of two coveted honors given annually to distinguished citizens.

Bridwell is a native of Marshfield, Missouri. He is married and has two daughters residing in one of the city's fine homes.

In 1939 Bridwell organized the Bridwell Employee Oil company which is owned and operated solely by his 89 employees of three years service or longer. The company was given a 400-acre oil field in South Texas by Bridwell.

In 1939 at Houston, Bridwell was presented a check by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas association in appreciation of his services to the Texas oil fraternity.

During the early years of the Roosevelt administration, Bridwell frequently was called to Washington in connection with code provisions affecting the oil industry and was chairman of the planning and coordination board of the N. R. A. petroleum division.

WPA Projects To Be Open To Public

Big Spring is to join with the nation this week in inspecting professional and service projects operated as a part of the Works Progress Administration.

Although only two are now in operation here, it will in no way affect observance of the week. Invitations have been sent by John Burnside, district 19 WPA manager, to all WPA workers to inspect various projects and other citizens are included in the invitation.

Slogan for the week is "This Week Pays Your Community." There will be a radio program Thursday from 7:30 p. m. to 8 p. m. over KBBT to carry the Washington broadcast in charge of Mrs. Florence Kerry, assistant WPA commissioner and in charge of all professional and service projects. In addition, there will be local entertainment.

The recreational and sewing room projects will be open to the public. Last month two units of the recreational program employed 16 workers with a federal payroll of $920 and served 6,138 persons, according to H. F. Malone, director.

The sewing room employed 24 women, turned out 2,106 garments during April and had a $1,303 payroll. Besides this, it was pointed out, it contributed to the reduction of the cotton surplus through garment manufacture.

Recently Big Spring has had a housekeeping aide project at 1610 Gregg. The nursery at 4th and San Antonio cannot well be opened to the public and the same is true of the commodity project at 307 E. 1st street, and the library job at the schools. Wednesday the recreational division will present a program at the municipal auditorium at 7:30 p. m. consisting of stringed and rhythm bands, dramatic sketches, stunts, musical and group games.

R. F. Marchbanks, Snyder, visited here Saturday. Until two years ago he resided north of town where the Big Spring State Hospital is now located.

Cliff H. Day, administrative assistant in the state AAA office, visited briefly here Saturday morning. He was en route to Lubbock, he said.

Youth Challenged To Hold High Torch Of American Democracy

Friday, the day that Brussels fell and dragged down another hope of a free people with it, West Texas challenged its youth to take up the torch of American democracy and hold it high and well.

While 2,000 people thronged in and around the city auditorium—the largest crowd ever to hear a function at the hall—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and Oscar H. Benson, New York, national director of rural scouting, Boy Scouts of America, recognized that America's hope lay in its youth.

Taking up a creed sounded by the governor that the only American was a 100 per cent American, Benson cried: "There are no hyphenated Americans in this country by right. We are all typical Americans, not clannish."

"May God help us through organization to do the thing now before it is too late . . . to keep our nation strong and make it even greater."

Four-Square Citizen The challenge of today, he said, is for America to "build men and women four-square," and added:

STOKOWSKI—No musical story does Sonia Stokowski, 18, want though her father is Conductor Leopold Stokowski and her mother's a pianist. Sonia prefers a stage career.

that "the builders of America are the builders of men."

Benson considered it "reckless" to take the position that the nation's democratic institution would of themselves be perpetuated. "Everything, we hold dear," he asserted, "must be taken over and carried forward by boys and girls."

Totalitarian war lords, recalled the speaker, have literally robbed the cradle to school youth in the technique of mass murder, and legions of "young men have sacrificed their lives on battlefields today who never knew the meaning of liberty."

Recounting training given youths in the 4-H movement, which he founded with Dr. Seaman Knapp, Benson said that their earnings—"thrift dollars"—were "the greatest dollars America ever produced."

Because through their youth learning the value of money, and how to use it properly. Boy Scouts, of which there have been nine million leaders and boys and currently 1,400,000 in the program, 4-H clubs, Girl Scouts, Future Farmers of America, and the host of other youth organization recognizes the principal of "training while training counts the most."

and of constructively harnessing leisure time of children and relating youngsters to the finest and clearest men and women of the nation, said the scout official.

Proper Youth Programs A sound picture of spending $120 per capita per annum, 15 billion a year—to "top up" this mess of crime (five million in America) is the wrong approach, according to Benson, for "we can do it much more effectively and cheaper by prevention" through proper youth programs.

He saluted the WTCC for its Americanization stand and the Scouts empire as a living example of how "America was built," in whose confines all the seven conquered peoples of Nazism could live and still leave room for countless numbers more.

Benson was introduced by Charles Paxton, Sweetwater, president of the Buffalo Trail council, who cited Benson's multitude achievements. Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth, presided at the meeting and bade Godspeed to the family of Dr. E. Leathers, Cleburne, Typical West Texas Family" on the trip to the New York fair and charged him to present a WTCC resolution demanding retraction of unfavorable magazine articles on the section. Leathers said his family would attempt to adequately represent West Texas, a task which could be done rightly only by all the people.

Humor, another saving quality typical of Americans, came right into the meeting when Carter and Leathers fretted over a dead microphone. Carter observing that "microphones are like children, they never perform when they are expected to."

People laughed, but they set their jaws grimly, clasped hands and hats over their hearts as the colors were brought to the front by Boy Scouts. They sang "America" with a zeal, and blood coursed hot through American veins while Sweetwater's official band sounded the "Star Spangled Banner."

"We're going to look at that Chrysler right now!"

Never before has interest in Chrysler run so high. Never before have so many owners of other makes changed to Chrysler.

The new Chrysler is obviously superior to the car you now have, but . . . has it occurred to you that it may also be superior to the make of car you may be thinking of buying? . . . and will cost you no more?

Go to your Chrysler dealer. Take a ride in the new Chrysler and see how the High-Torque engine improves performance . . . what amazing get-away it gives you . . . what tremendous pulling power in high gear.

A ride will show you how scientific weight distribution cradles all passengers at the center of balance and gives you riding qualities that you can get only from Chrysler.

If you want to know why Super-finished parts double engine life . . . why tin coated pistons are practically free from scuffing and scoring . . . why any engine is smoother and quieter with Floating Power . . . why Chrysler's plastic enamel actually improves with age and seasoning . . . ask your Chrysler dealer.

See your Chrysler dealer today. He's anxious for you to be among the thousands who think it wisdom to see Chrysler before they buy any car. Accept his invitation to drive the car that leads in style, performance and engineering. Ask your Chrysler dealer to figure how surprisingly little it will cost you to own a beautiful new Chrysler.

Class Events At Coahoma This Week

COAHOMA, May 18 (Sp) — School closing will be held on May 24th with graduation of 24 senior students, and baccalaureate service is to be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The program will open with the processional by the choir, "Tramere" by Schumann and will be followed with the invocation by the Rev. N. W. Pitts. The doxology will be given by the audience.

Jean Young will sing "Ava Maria" by Bach-Gounod and the Rev. J. W. Price will give the scripture. The choir will also sing "Ivory Palaces" and the recessional by Largo-Handel.

The Rev. C. E. Lancaster of Big Spring will give the sermon and benediction.

Dr. D. D. Jackson, professor of education in psychology department of Texas Tech in Lubbock, will give the graduation speech Friday night at the high school at 8 o'clock.

The welcome is to be given by Mae Ruth Reid and the class farewell by Fred Trotter. A quartet composed of Elsie Mae Echols, Joan Young, Earlene Reid and Mildred Patterson will sing "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell. Jim Turner and Buddy Young will play a cornet duet, "Dreadnaught" by Holman. Bryan Musgrove will introduce the speakers and George M. Boswell will present the diplomas.

Candidates for graduation are Mae Ruth Reid and Fred Trotter who tied as class valedictorians. Bryan Musgrove, who ranked second, and Dorothy Mae Lindley, Freddie Tiner, Nila Pearl Bodine, Marian Prather, Cathleen Sullivan, Nell Rita Barton, Bertha Lee Tonn, Wilmath Robinson, Lalea Heckler.

'Socialized State' In New Deal Aim, Taft Declares

TOPEKA, Kan., May 18 (AP) — United States Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) declared tonight "the immediate objective of the new deal is to set up a socialized state in which the federal government cures every abuse by universal regulation."

Taft, making his presidential bid in Kansas where another republican aspirant, Thomas E. Dewey of New York, campaigned recently, asserted that new deal "methods have swallowed up their objectives."

In an address prepared for delivery before a Kansas republican rally, Taft emphasized he was opposed to any stop movement against any of his rivals and mentioned by name Dewey, Michigan, Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Frank Gannett of Rochester, N. Y., as candidates who have presented the issues "in concise and effective form."

"From a political standpoint, I do not believe we are likely to be involved in war during this 1935 campaign, and I hope there may be no campaign fought out on differences of foreign policy," he said.

"The issues of the campaign are predominantly domestic."

ANGELOAN TO TALK TO UNDERWRITERS

Big Spring Life Underwriters, convening for an associational luncheon at the Crawford hotel Monday noon, will hear an address by A. R. Dalchau, president of the San Angelo Underwriters association, it was announced Saturday by the local president, Lib Coffey.

Dalchau will be accompanied by several San Angelo association members. It was said, and all local underwriters are urged to be present for the meeting.

Forsan Class Hears Talk By M'Donald

FORSAN, May 18, Sp. — Commencement exercises for Forsan High school were held Friday evening in the high school gymnasium with Martelle McDonald, district attorney, speaking to the class on "Good to Know, Better to Do, Best to Be."

I. O. Shaw, president of the school board, gave the invocation. The salutatory address was made by Joy Lane and the valedictory by Betty Jane Harmon.

Seven seniors sang, with Mrs. Herman Williams playing the accompaniment. Mrs. Williams also played the processional and recessional.

Brady Nix presented several awards that included scholarships to Betty Jane Harmon and Harold Patterson. Best grades were won by Carol Jane Criner and Floyd Griffith; best school spirit, Lyna Fae Dunlap.

Joy Lane and Curtis Grant won the citizenship award and Virginia Gregory and Tommy McDonald were honored as outstanding girl and boy. Vera Mae Wimberley and Jimmie Johnson were given the award for the most activities.

Perfect attendance awards went to Robert Craft, Robert Yarbry, Glenn Shaw, Martha Southerland, Gladys Cardwell, Harold Patterson, P. D. Lewis presented the diploma to Helen Marting, Vivian Klahr, Jack Craig, Ralph Thorpe, Myra Nell Harris, Theo Willis, Mary Brown, Fred Lonsford, Jimmie Johnson, Harold Patterson.

Edna Earl Bradham, Norma Barber, Earl McAlpine, Virginia Chambers, Bill Lonsford, Jewel Israel, Betty Jane Harmon, Tommy McDonald, Joy Lane, Clinton Sterling, W. E. Lonsford gave the benediction and Mrs. Herman Williams presented a piano scholarship to Betty Bransfield for the most progress made in music in the past year.

Market Has Worst Week in 7 Years

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) — A war-shocked stock market today stumbled out of its worst week in about seven years with declines still present but recoveries appearing here and there.

With the ticker tape frequently as much as 4 minutes late, aircraft stepped up in the last few minutes to close with gains for most issues. Steels and motors steadied. Early losses running to 4 or more points were reduced in the majority of shares in other groups at the finish.

Notwithstanding modest buying support, apparently based on dispatches telling of stiffer French resistance to the Nazi advance on Paris, the Associated Press average of 80 stocks ended with a net loss of 9 of a point at 40.5, a new low since June 13, 1933. For the week the composite was off 8.1 points, biggest setback for any like period since July, 1933.

Transfers for the two hours total of 1,663,370 shares, the heaviest Saturday turnover since last Nov. 4.

Sixteen stocks comprise the Gilt-best list in mid-Pacific. Sweden has 787,000 telephones, or 127 for every 1,000 inhabitants.

Ben Hogan Far Ahead In Goodall Meet

Texas Total Of 24 Points, Sarazen In Second

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—It was all Ben Hogan in the Goodall golf tournament at Fresh Meadow club tonight.

The thin young man from Texas was so far ahead of his 14 competitors that it practically was no contest. With two rounds of match play to go tomorrow Hogan couldn't possibly lose unless he fell down stairs again.

Having taken a tumble Thursday night and bruised his back, Hogan went out and shot two beautiful rounds of 66, 71 for his fourth and fifth rounds of the tournament.

These two sparkling rounds—the first matching the competitive record for Fresh Meadow—gave the dauntless Texan a total point of plus 24, while his closest competitor, Gene Sarazen, had only 8. Sammy Snead in third place had 7.

Hogan this morning knocked the ears off Paul Runyan and Dick Metz. In the afternoon, with a gallery of 3,000 waiting for him to crack, he won a couple more points from Jimmy Demaret and Sam Snead.

The complete standing tonight in this particular tournament, where, in the course of seven rounds, each of 15 crack professionals plays a match against every opponent, was as follows:

Ben Hogan, 24 points; Gene Sarazen, 8; Sam Snead, 7; Paul Runyan and Byron Nelson, 5; Jimmy Thomson, 2; Clayton Heffner, even. The "minus" scores, or those without a hope, were Henry Picard, 2; Martin Potts, 3; Jimmy Demaret, Horton Smith and Lawson Little, 5; Craig Wood, 6; Dick Metz, 9; Jimmy Hines, 16. These last named were out of luck.

Pearson Hurls Two Hitter

CHICAGO, May 18 (AP)—Stylish Monte Pearson pitched the New York Yankees to their third straight victory—longest winning streak of the season for the world champions—today when he limited the Chicago White Sox to two hits for a 3-0 shutout.

Tom Heinrich hit a home run for the world champions in the first inning.

The sixth round saw the Yankees chase across runs on hits by Joe DiMaggio and Buster Mills.

Pearson struck out five and gave up only three bases on balls.

Thornton "Lefty" Lee worked on the hill for the Pale Hose, giving up 11 hits.

Cards Hit Five Homers To Rout Brook, 6 to 2

BROOKLYN, May 18 (AP)—Five home runs—two each by Terry Moore and Johnny Mize and one by Ducky Medwick—gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 6 to 2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today.

Mize also had a triple and a single.

Luke Hamlin, starting Brooklyn hurler, gave way for a pinch hitter in the sixth round.

Fems Poised For Start Of Southern

FORT WORTH, May 18 (AP)—Four tournament-wise artists stood slightly in front of a women's golf "Who's Who" field on the rain-drenched eve of the twenty-ninth women's Southern tournament tonight.

Naming favorites from the bulky field was more or less a grab-bag gesture, but, nevertheless, the quartet that held gallery respect included National Champion Betty Jameson, defending Champion Marion Milley, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page and Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, a homemaker.

Clustered in the dangerous bunch of challengers to the "Big Four" were such stars as Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta youngster; Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas; Mrs. Sam Israel of New Orleans; Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C.; Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio; Mrs. David Roberts of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Connally Henson of Little Rock, Ark.; and Kathryn Hemphill, still a doubtful entry.

Winner of the title the past two years, Miss Milley, dark-haired and boyish Lexington, Ky., girl, has been working out her game over River Crest country club's deceptive course of several days.

"Never has the Southern been played on a course in finer condition than this one," she commented.

The 18-hole qualifying round will be played Monday. Scotch four-somes will give entrants a last minute tour of the course Sunday.

ITALIAN VESSEL'S SAILING DELAYED

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—The Italian liner Roma, scheduled to sail at Saturday midnight for Italy, remained at its Hudson river pier early today.

Italo Verardo, general manager of the Italian Line, said the delay was caused by loading of cargo and denied emphatically the sailing had been held up because of the possibility of Italian entrance into the European war.

Line officials said the Roma would depart later in the morning.

Many Norse explorers probably reached America before Columbus.

Postponed from last Thursday due to rain, the Anderson-Standard Major-City softball league game will be played Monday evening at the city park.

Both teams will be seeking to keep their chances alive for the first half title. If Standard is defeated, it will be eliminated as a contender team, having lost both of its starts to date.

The Devils have won one of two games but the Oilers will be favored to win.

The Standard manager, Howard Schwarzenbach, said he would probably take his team to Abilene for a game some time later in the week.

Tuesday evening the league's regular schedule will be resumed with Standard opposing Carnett in the 8 o'clock bout and Ward meeting Phillips' Tire at 9:30.

Yet undefeated, the Tremen are heavy favorites to sack up that decision and advance a step nearer to the first half title.

Dutch Meyer, A Visitor Here, Says SMU, Baylor To Be Rough

A convention visitor here Friday was Leo "Dutch" Meyer, famed football mentor of Texas Christian university. Perfectly willing to talk over next season's Southwest Conference football race, Meyer seemed highly optimistic of his team's chances but said he was inclined to believe that the flag would go either to Baylor university or Southern Methodist.

He saved the Texas Aggies an excellent chance to repeat as conference champions but reminded of the fact that the Farmers' three toughest opponents—SMU, Texas and Baylor—will be played away from home. The Dutchman was high in his praise of Dean Bagley, whom he termed "just about as good a running back as I've ever seen" but added that Kyle Gillespie would be his quarterback again next fall. That Bagley would probably be moved to halfback. Although expressing plenty of confidence in Jess Neely, Meyer does not expect the new Rice Institute mentor to come up with a contending ball club next fall. Dutch took occasion to hold parley with Harold "Lefty" Bethell, the Big Spring high school great headed for Fort Worth and TCU next fall. Ira Thurman, local banker, made him find the time to watch the Barons baseball club play before he left for home at midnight Friday.

HEAD COACH LEO "DUTCH" MEYER - T. C. U.

Grover Seitz, Pampa's baseball skipper, has released Dale Linebeck, freshman pitcher of Winner, North Dakota, who has been in a couple of games thus far. Either Lefty Millsbaugh or Luke Lucas is slated to be released soon by Lamesa's skipper Jodie Tate. Tate is having trouble keeping enough rookies on his roster. Bob Knobles, who has been with Tony Rego and the Big Spring club for ten days, was let out here before the Barons left on their road trip Saturday morning. Tink Revere, coach and chief aide to Tate at Lamesa, has seen service with six professional baseball clubs during his long career, all Class A-1 or better. A pitcher, he started in the Texas league, jumping from the University of Texas campus into the Cardinal lineup.

Later he worked in the American league, the American Association, International league and Southern Association. In 1935 as a member of the Dallas Steers, now the Rebels, he cut on the Dixie Series purse was $1,200, the record. He played under Branch Rickey when that Saint Louis executive was an active manager. Of French heritage, Tink has three cousins fighting in France. He's maintained residence at Liberty, Tex., all his life, learned his baseball under Uncle Billy Disch first at St. Edwards, then at T.U. Went to the majors in '23, a year after Bib Falk, now active head mentor of the University of Texas baseball crew, was grabbed up.

Muhrlock, New Hurler, Holds Discus Record In Missouri

Andy Muhrlock, new Barons pitcher who hails from Buck Schulze's home town, Saint Louis, holds the state high school discus record in Missouri. He tossed the disc 139 feet in competition at the state meet at Columbia last year. Attended Washington high school near Saint Louis. Elby Miller, rookie Lamesa hurler from Snyder, resembles Charley Bryan, former WT-NM league manager who two seasons ago pitched good ball for Lubbock. A decided hit as a baseball comedian was Arkansas Clayton, Hollywood, California, who pitched a half inning prior to the Big Spring-Lamesa game Friday night. Clayton knows plenty of Al Schacht's old tricks, including the slow motion windup, a balking throw, a colorful windmill windup and others. When Joe Devine, the Yankee scout, stopped here last week, he was on his way to Dallas to watch George "Lefty" Uhle, Rebel right-hander, in action. Uhle gave him an eyeful, setting Oklahoma City down with four hits. The Yankees may make a major bid for him next winter.

Alton Bostick, University of Texas freshman from Big Spring, finished the season batting .393 for the U.T. shortstops. Lamesa's Lobos are sorely missing the batting punch of Mal Stevens, out of the lineup with a pulled leg muscle. Mal, a Galveston youth, suffered the injury when he rode a horse at Lamesa. Watch for fireworks in some future Amarillo-Borger games. When Dick Ratliff, Amarillo backstop, slid in home and badly spiked Ernie Potocar, Borger catcher, forcing Ernie to the sidelines for two weeks, Gordon Nell and his followers thought it was intentional and put the finger on Ratliff. When Lew Jenkins and Henry Armstrong fight, if they ever do, it will NOT be for Armstrong's welterweight title. Jenkins figures he can make more money in a non-title bout than as a challenger for the 147-pound crown.

Paul Derringer Shelled By Phils

PHILADELPHIA, May 18 (AP)—Right-hander Paul Derringer, usually a certain winner over Philadelphia, was just another pitcher to the amazing Phillies today as they pounded him from the mound for an 8 to 3 victory over Cincinnati.

Bill Atwood batted in three of the Phillies runs. Cincinnati ... 300 000 000—3 7 1
Philadelphia ... 022 004 000—8 14 0
Derringer, Moore and Hershberger; Mulcahy and Atwood.

JONES LEADS WAY TO 8-3 WIN FRIDAY

By HANK HART

Tony Rego's Big Spring Barons, the best six inning ball club in the WT-NM league, went the route without a hitch here Friday evening to decision the Lamesa Lobos, 8-3.

The Barons breezed in behind the nifty chunking of Leo Jones, the versatile California boy who, in twirling his first victory of the campaign, left the impression that he's going to be a mite tough from here on.

Jones gave up six base knocks and but two earned runs. Staked to a three run lead in the first heat when Soapy Scopetone knocked one of Elby Miller's pitches out of the lot with two mates aboard, the little right-hander shouldered full responsibility of snapping a Barons losing streak that had mounted to four games, looking particularly good in the clutch when his comrades got the late inning jitters.

Too, he exhibited his prowess as a switch hitter, getting impressive safeties from both sides of the dish. His single in the eighth round from the right side accounted for two runs.

Garbe Right

The Barons, outside of Bill Garbe, had some trouble adapting their style of swinging to Miller's pitching, but exploded the Lefty Lucas myth for once and for all when that wrangler, too, over in the eighth, their offense in their only chance at Luke netted them four runs and Carl Cox, Eldon Muratore and Eddie Laurel all broke in with base blows at his expense.

Garbe treated both Miller and Lucas rather roughly. He belted out a first inning triple and a fifth inning double off Miller, then walked on Luke for a single that kept the eighth inning rally going.

Joe gave up a run in the third when he hit Harry Rorden with a fast one, issued passes to Lefty Millsbaugh and Al Berndt and let Miller get away with a swinging bunt, another in the sixth on a single by Miller and Cox's bobble in the far corner, and the third in the ninth when Red Hood and Eddie Guyne put together a double and a single, respectively.

Yates Receives Notes From Ex-Walker Cuppers

ATLANTA, May 18 (AP)—Charlie Yates, former Open champion, knew today that two of his friendly enemies of the golfing wars are keeping their chips up in a different, grimmer game.

Yates began a close friendship with Laddie Lucas and Gordon Peters of the British Walker Cup golf team back in 1936 when he was battling against them for this international trophy.

Worried by the war news, Charlie cabled to each of the golfers-turned-war-filers, asking "are you o.k.?"

Soon came the answer from Peters: "Everybody fine as still. Thanks."

And from Lucas: "Yes, coming home in par?"

Rex Mays Will Be At The Poll Post May 30

Wheels Around The Miles Per Hour Speedway At 127

By HAROLD HARRISON

INDIANAPOLIS, May 18 (AP)—Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., today captured the pole position in the starting field for the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 30 as 11 drivers earned their places among the contestants.

Mays qualified at 127.854 miles an hour, approximately three miles an hour slower than the qualifying record of 130.135 miles an hour held by the late Jimmy Snyder of Chicago.

With Mays in the front row will be Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis and Mauri Rose of Columbus, O.

Shaw qualified at 127.085 miles an hour the same Maersall which he piloted to victory in 1939. Rose averaged 125.625.

Cars which average the required 115 miles an hour for 10 miles on later qualifying days must take positions behind today's drivers regardless of their speeds. If more than 33 cars qualify, those having the slowest speeds will be out.

If all today's drivers start the race, here is the order in which they will line up:

First Row

Rex Mays, Glendale, Calif., 127.854; Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis, 127.085; Mauri Rose, Columbus, O., 125.625.

Second Row

Ted Horn, Hawthorne, N. J., 125.545; Mel Hansen, Los Angeles, 124.753; Cliff Bergere, Hollywood, Calif., 124.673.

Third Row

Frank Wearne, Pasadena, Calif., 123.216; Frank Briskin, Chicago, 122.716; Tommy Hennessey, Reading, Pa., 122.624.

Joel Thorne, Tucson, Ariz., 122.432; Russell Snowberger, Detroit, 121.564.

Meet Qualifying To End Today

Guy Rainey's 70 Remains The Low Score To Date

By HAROLD HARRISON

Guy Rainey's 70 remained as the score to beat as the city's golfers went out today to qualify for Harold Akey's Munny Spring tournament at the Municipal course.

About 16 players have already played opening rounds and at least that many more are expected to shoot for medalist honors today.

The scores the golfers shoot in qualifying for the tournament will determine their positions in ladder play, which will be conducted throughout the summer.

Pairings for the meeting will be drawn up by Akey Monday morning and will appear in Monday afternoon's edition of the Daily Herald.

Merchandise prizes will be awarded the medalist and winners and runners-up of each flight.

Bell, Cherry To Coach Gridders

WICHITA FALLS, May 18 (AP)—Matty Bell of S. M. U. and Blain Cherry, University of Texas assistant coach, today were named to coach high school football state in the third annual oil bowl game to be played in Wichita Falls Sept. 2.

Maskat Shrine Temple, sponsor of the game, said Coach Ted Jeffries of the Wichita Falls high school, would serve as Bell's assistant in coaching the North Texas squad of 22 players selected from district 2-A and surrounding Class "A" schools.

Goobar Keyes of the Lubbock high school Westerners will assist Cherry with the West Texas squad, selected from district 1-A and Class "A" schools in that area.

Half of each squad will include Class "A" players.

SHIPPERS CLIP OKLAHOMA CITY

BEAUMONT, May 18 (AP)—A triple by Ned Harris in the eighth inning, coupled with two walks and a long fly, gave the Exporters three runs and a 5 to 4 victory over the Oklahoma City Indians in the series opener here today.

BIMELECH BEATEN AT BELMONT

CORYDON WINS WITHERS BY 2 LENGTHS

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) Bimelech didn't have it today.

The "great horse" of the Blue Grass ran second to Mrs. Payne Whitney's Corydon in the 65th running of the Withers Mile at Belmont Park and there appeared to be no excuse for the colt who was touted as the "second Man O'War."

Backed down to 1 to 5 in the betting, Col. E. R. Bradley's galloper was never in front and had to call on the camera even to take second money from Joseph E. Widener's Roman.

Bimelech was beaten badly by a colt that had won only one race previously in his career, coming home first last October 18 in a mile and sixteenth maiden race.

But today he was a lot of horse. Eleven lengths back, a dead last in the backstretch, he seemed to have no chance. Then Jockey Eddie Arcaro turned him loose and he finally finished two lengths on top in 1:37 1/5 for the mile.

Mrs. E. Graham Lewis' General Manager was fourth, trailed in order by William Ziegler, Jr., in Charge, Sonny Whitney's Parasol, Jock Whitney's Calvary and Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson's Call to Colors.

Corydon returned $87.00 for each $25 win ticket, $10.00 for place and $5.00 for show. Bimelech was $2.60 for place and $2.40 for show, and Roman returned $3.20 for each show ticket.

Supervisors For Conservation Dist. Are Nominated

E. T. O'Daniel and B. O. Brown have been nominated as supervisors for the recently chartered Martin-Howard County Soil Conservation district.

Together with two chosen from Glasscock and two from Martin counties, they will form the ticket of six from which three supervisors will be selected.

Two supervisors, R. N. Adams, South, and Joe Polindexter, Stanton, previously had been named by the state board and they effected incorporation of the district and secured its charter.

No date has been set for electing other members of the supervisory board.

New Texas Paper Mills Viewed By Publishers Group

LUFKIN, May 18 (AP)—Publishers who worked for years in behalf of the southern pine newspaper industry surveyed for the first time today the actual fruits of their labor when they inspected their "five million dollar baby"—the Southland Paper Mills.

A delegation from a dozen southern states, enroute to the Southern Newspaper Publishers association convention at Mineral Wells, arrived at the mill during the morning and spent several hours witnessing the processes by which their enterprise is being turned into newspaper for southern newspaper presses.

E. L. Kurth, Southland Paper Mills president, was in charge of the inspection. Optimistically, he announced that success thus far in-dictates an early plant expansion. This afternoon, the delegates left by train and automobile for the SNA at Mineral Wells where for three days May 20-22—they will study problems of the fourth estate.

On the program are listed discussions of the newspaper's duty to its community, roundtables on advertising, editorial affairs, labor, postal and legislative projects, schools of journalism, and similar subjects.

"Native Son" To Be Reviewed On Monday

Sisterhood To Present Dallas Lecturer

"Native Son," by Richard Wright will be reviewed by Miss Evelyn Oppenheimer Monday at 4 o'clock at the Settles hotel under auspices of the Temple Israel Sisterhood.

The novel has been acclaimed as the finest novel ever written by or about an American negro and its author has been compared to Steinbeck, Dreiser and Dostoevski for his power and vivid portrayal of character.

Reviewers have said of Wright that he is not merely the best negro writer but an American author as distinctive as any now writing and others have claimed that whether it is judged upon the standard of a thriller or a psychological novel, it is supreme from both points of view.

The book is said to be a milestone, not only in American literature but also in American thought. Heated discussion of the theme of the novel has been raging since its publication when 13,719 copies were re-ordered in the first week it was released.

Miss Oppenheimer, who has given many reviews in Big Spring, is well-known for her remarkable interpretation and delivery.

Winifred Piner Chosen By WTCC Convention As Miss West Texas

Coronation Is Held Friday At Revue

Before a capacity crowd at the municipal auditorium Friday night, Miss Winifred Piner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Piner, was crowned Miss West Texas of the 1940 WTCC convention. Miss Piner represented Texas Tech as sponsor. Dressed in a powder blue net formal with a bouffant ruffled skirt, Miss Piner was given a crown of red, white and blue flowers by Amos G. Carter of Fort Worth who made the presentation speech. The crown was borne in on a white satin pillow by Little Patricia Neel, who with Sonny Hargrove represented Little Mr. and Mrs. Big Spring.

A silver trophy was also presented to Miss Piner by Mr. Carter and it was brought on the stage by Maaser Hargrove. Other flowers and bouquets were presented to the new Miss West Texas.

Miss Joyce Whaley of Sweetwater, Miss West Texas for 1939, was dressed in a white chiffon gown and carried an arm bouquet. She assisted with the coronation of her successor.

Miss Gloria Conley as Miss Big Spring wore a white net formal made with a full skirt embroidered with flowers and carried an arm bouquet of roses. Miss Conley with Miss Whaley sat on thrones on either side of the stage during the revue flanked by the other sponsors of member towns.

The stage was decorated in patriotic colors and Floyd Graham and his orchestra provided music. The program, "Life in America" was the same as was held Thursday night and was produced by Mrs. Ray Lawrence.

Among distinguished guests Friday at the revue and coronation were Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and Mrs. O'Daniel.

Some seven years ago in 1933 when the WTCC convention was entertained by Big Spring, a 13-year-old girl, accompanied by her parents, looked on while she saw the coronation of another queen and also accompanied by her parents, watched the dances given in honor of Miss West Texas of 1933.

Wistfully she wished to grow up quick so that she too could attend the dances and take part in the fun. The little girl was Miss Piner who Thursday and Friday saw her wish come true.

The new queen is five feet five inches tall and weighs 110 pounds and has black hair and blue eyes. She is a member of the DFD social club at Tech and also a member of the Association of Women Students at the college this year.

As for sports she admits she is "sort of foolish about horses" when she sits horseback riding as her number one athletic activity with dancing listed as second.

Miss Piner is well-known to Big Spring people, having lived here all of her life and attending high school here and being active in high school events.

She is majoring in English at Tech but as yet is undecided as to just what her plans will be upon graduation next summer. With her poise and personality, "Miss Piner is well-known to the title bestowed upon her by the WTCC 1940 convention and will hold the honor until next year.

Editorial

Gravity of the war situation, with future prospects none too bright, serves to erase any opposition which might be expressed to President Roosevelt's proposal this past week for a emergency defense appropriation of $1,182,000,000. It is a huge sum, to be sure, but the trend of events necessitates this nation's building a modern military force second to none, even at the expense of trimming other governmental outlay.

The expansion of our military force would not be an indication that this nation is ready to go to war. It would serve notice to the world that the United States is not going to permit its rights to be overrun. It seems the psychology of might prevails, and only the weak and the unprepared are attacked. That being true, we cannot afford to be weak and unprepared. There are too many things at stake.

The West Texas chamber of commerce, in convention here this past week, pointed to the need of defense in a special resolution. It pictures the situation, and is reproduced here:

"When the officers of the West Texas chamber of commerce selected the theme of the organization's 1940 convention at 'The American Way of Life,' their thought was to pay grateful re-tribute to the priceless heritage and blessing of American citizenship, and of suggesting to a war-torn world as the true way of peace and justice the principles upon which our American democracy was founded and has pursued.

"When the announcement of this theme of the convention was made, the war in Europe was in virtual stalemate, and the phrase, 'Total War' was still only a phrase.

"Within the past few weeks, total war has become a frightful actuality. Four peace-loving neutral nations that had committed no offense whatsoever—namely, Denmark, Norway, Holland and Belgium—have been suddenly and brutally overrun because, by reason of location alone, they were considered important in war strategy. All the remaining small neutral nations of Europe are now in imminent peril of being similarly overrun and of completely losing their independence.

"Swift developments of the war in Europe are tragically showing us that time and distance are no longer barriers or even deterrents to a completely trained and mechanized army bent on world domination. Today the peril of lightning war hangs over every remaining neutral nation, especially rich and resourceful nations maintaining democratic governments. It is not an exaggeration to say that the United States and the American Way of Life for the first time, is in danger, and as the heart of the Pure Americanism Country we declare ourselves for the American Way of Life, for the saving of civilization for democracy and for absolute security by invulnerable defense."

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON: The newest deal in Washington is over at the department of justice. It was born back in January and its papa is Bob Jackson, who first paced the justice complex then as Attorney General of the United States.

Typical of the newest deal is an occurrence which took place the other day at a staff conference. The one-time country lawyer who now is the nation's No. 1 attorney, was presiding. An official asked what was to be done about employees' putting their feet on the desks.

"If you are going to have a rule against putting feet on the desks," answered Jackson, "it certainly will cramp my style."

Another perturbed and jumpy official once asked the attorney general if he didn't think there should be a rule against employees' reading newspapers. That quizzical smile which Jackson uses where other men might use anger or irritation spread over his face and he stated simply that if the men got their work done and still had time to read the newspapers, why not.

Now we are getting at the crux of the newest deal. The emphasis is on accomplishment, not on method; on results, not on the routine used in obtaining them.

PHONE POLICY CHANGES

It is impossible, of course, to run a department—or any other business, for that matter—with the hands of employees without some policies. I don't mean that the justice department does not have these. Its offices are not tea party parlors. Actually, Jackson leaves the routine matters of office administration to his department heads, but his personal policy of eliminating strict regulations is seeping all the way down to the third assistant secretaries.

There was a time for example, when any justice employee, picking up the telephone to make a call was asked sternly by the operator: "Is this call per-

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK: There are some interesting points to consider in connection with Noel Coward's visit to this country at this time. The man who wrote "Cavalcade," "Private Lives" and "Tonight at 8.30" did not cross the Atlantic just for the ride.

The points to consider concern his present post with the British propaganda ministry in France, and the fact that he is rich and has sizable holdings and investments in this country.

For 15 years Mr. Coward has been writing books and plays, and most of them have made money. Of the million he is reputed to have earned, at least half of it was earned in this country. It has been a matter of pride with him that none of this money has been taken out of this country.

Now England is at war and must look to the United States, through "cash" legislation, for a considerable portion of her war materials. There will come a time when Allied credits in this country will be exhausted. Coward's holdings, like the widow's mite, when added to the incomes of Laughton, Oliver, Brook, Leigh, Howard and innumerable other popular and high-salaried British actors and authors in this country, are certain to be enlisted in British credits. This is not a new move. It has been going on since the first day of the war. What arrangements his own government has made with him, and with his popular countrymen over here, is a guess.

It will be remembered that last September Charles Boyer, the French Apollo, hurried back to France to join his regiment when war was declared. Within a few weeks the man who has caused the hearts of thousands of American women to flutter was in uniform. He was detailed to some prosaic chore that had something to do with counting army mules. This seemed rather absurd. The French government wisely considered that Boyer would serve his country better if his salary, a big one, were being piled up credits in American dollars in this country. Therefore, Boyer hurried back to the U. S., more of a heart-flutterer than ever. He had been in the army. He had satisfied all questions as to his physical courage.

Noel Coward, it seems logical to conclude, is here in a similar capacity. He brought along two new plays. These were turned over to his friend and manager, Mr. John C. Wilson. After a few days in Manhattan, he hurried on to Hollywood, where he has many friends and business interests. He will not remain long in this country—only a matter of a few weeks. Then he will return to his post in the propaganda ministry in Paris.

What is this post? When he bobbed up in his old haunts on Broadway all of the boys bombarded him with questions. . . . Had he been bombed yet? What sort of work was he doing?

Coward may have confided the nature of his duties to his intimates, but to his public he has remained pleasantly vague. He has, however, made it unmistakable that war has turned his life inside out, like a hastily removed sock. How? "Well, I have to be up, bathed, dressed, fed and at my desk by 9 a. m."

Plainly, if war has done this to Noel Coward, Sherman was right.

Chapter 32

SPITFIRE AT WORK

"Well, Mac hasn't lost his job entirely," Eric said in answer to Brenda's question. "That is—I mean to say—well, the nephew is here, all right. Maybe they're keeping Mac on to coach him a bit."

Anger began to kindle in Brenda's eyes. "Why don't you say straight out he's been fired? Bringing the boy here is the equivalent of it. I wonder that Mac stays on after being insulted like that! He ought to have turned on his heel and marched out; and let the nephew go to the dickens with his old accounts!"

"What a little spitfire you are, my dear!" Eric said admiringly. "Temper becomes you, too, if I may say so. But about Mac. He couldn't walk out on his job like that, you know. It wouldn't be square. No matter whether he likes it or not, Mac's not the sort to leave things in a mess."

"And I suppose you haven't tried to help him?" It was an accusation rather than a question. "You haven't seen this Mister—Mister—"

"You know his name is Hopkins, Brenda," Eric said.

"Well, Mr. Hopkins, then! I suppose it never occurred to you to go and speak a good word for your friend—"

He laughed in genuine amusement. "What could I have said? Hopkins knows a darn sight more about Mac's ability than I do. Of course, he went on kindly. 'I could have mentioned that he always leaves the bathroom tidy, and that his table manners are good and that'—"

She turned on a vicious high heel and walked away.

"Men," she said coldly, "are absolutely spineless! They are utterly without resource!"

"Mm. Try your hand at helping old Mac, why don't you? I know for a fact he won't be let out before the first of the month, and that's eighteen days from now. Time for plenty of action."

Brenda, her head held high, was thinking the same thing as she marched away. She had had a vague plan in the back of her mind all along, she now realized. It seemed the time had arrived to put it into execution.

In her own room, she opened one of the drawers of her bureau. From beneath piles of fragrant, sliver things, she drew a neatly folded flat package. It was what Mac called a "layout." He had considered it the best thing he had ever done in that particular line. So, also it seemed, had the villainous Mr. Hopkins. A number of details had been changed, so Mac made two sets. Brenda had salvaged this from the wastebasket where he had thrust it.

Now she wrapped it more carefully and addressed it to a man she knew in New York.

"I'll write him to hurry the answer back at once. And then push for you, Mr. Hopkins, sir! Mac'll have a job twice as big and important as the one you took away from him!"

Better, Then Worse

When both package and letter were gone, she felt better; at least for a few days. Then she felt very much worse. Before even she had expected it, the answer came from New York. "Good work," was the brief comment. "You man has brains without doubt. But I couldn't get my own brother a job here right now, supposing I had a brother, and he needed a job in anybody's advertising department!"

She crept about the house, crushed. She had shot her bolt and it had come back and rapped her smartly on the head.

But Brenda never remained crushed over long. Corklike, her mind bobbed up and set to work anew on the problem.

"Eric, how is young Hopkins getting along?" she demanded on an evening perilously close to the first of the month.

"Not too well, it seems. I was talking to Mac today. We lunched together. I honestly believe the old man would send the boy back to his first job—if someone who counted applied a little pressure."

"Mac?"

"Good Lord, no! Even a girl ought to know Mac's last one who can do it."

"You then?"

He shook his head. "Hopkins knows I'm Mac's friend. I explained that to you before."

"Who, Eric? Could Hugh Salter, Judge Harper?"

"He doesn't know either of 'em from Adam. Moreover their opinion wouldn't count with Hopkins."

"Whose would then?"

"Somebody in his own field, I suppose. Forgive me, Brenda, but you know that letter and package you gave me to mail last week? I couldn't help but recognize the name and address. If an expert like Wilkinson boosted Mac's work—"

"He did! Oh, he did! Wait! I'll show you." She ran upstairs eagerly and brought down the letter. "See, it says it's good work and Mac has brains!"

Eric's face underwent a sort of convulsion. He looked over Brenda's curls straight into space. After a moment he said: "Yes, I think we may take it for granted he has brains. Well, it's a pity Hopkins doesn't know about this letter. It might make all the difference."

She thrust it into his hand with feverish eagerness.

"Take it to him! Make him read it!"

"No," he answered sadly. "Don't you see it wouldn't carry any weight in that case? Hopkins knows I've never been in New York; that I don't know Wilkinson."

'All Mixed Up'

Brenda thought confusedly that there was a flaw in this reasoning, but she was too worried to hunt for it. She gazed at Eric sternly.

"Then I'll take it to him myself!"

Eric jumped. "No, no, Brenda! I didn't mean that at all! What I meant is that if you'd show Mac the letter, and tell him how you wrote this Wilkinson, he could—maybe—accomplish wonders with it. Anyway," he finished, "it would certainly buck him up to know you'd been trying to help him."

"You give it to him, and tell him!"

Eric hesitated. "I'd rather not, if you don't mind. Mac would think I'd been appealing to you on his behalf, don't you see? You could explain it so much better. Brenda, I'll tell you! I happen to know he's going to be home tomorrow evening. There's a sort of lobby where he lives. How would it be if I borrowed Isabel's car and drove you down right after dinner? Just for a few minutes, you know."

Her dark brows drew together anxiously. "You're getting me all mixed up about this. Eric, if Mac has the letter, I can't see what difference it makes who gives it to him."

"But you've been giving me thunder for not helping Mac," he reminded her. "And now when you have an opportunity—maybe not only to save his job for him but to give him a little friendly encouragement besides—and I'm here to tell you, Brenda, Mac needs friendly encouragement mightily!"

"Don't! I'm not! If Isabel will let us have her car, I'll go with you. If she won't—she paused and added impressively—"we'll take a taxi!"

But after Eric had taken his departure for his office the next morning, she changed her mind. Afterward she blamed Adelaide's calendar for it. It hung in a conspicuous place by her landlady's desk in the library. Brenda, wandering restlessly about the lower floor of the house, was transfixed by the date which stared in accusing black numbers at her. Two more days left in the month! And then it would be the first of the next, and any business man (the unlucky Mr. Hopkins' business ability had long had a low rating with Brenda but still he managed to keep afloat, it appeared) would certainly conclude any arrangements he might intend to make two or three days before a given date.

She made her decision on the instant. Running upstairs, she got into street clothes, examining with a sort of detached interest the small brilliant face above the collar of the fur coat Aunt Anne had given her last Christmas.

Half an hour later, she was being politely seated in a chair by old Mr. Hopkins' desk.

Continued tomorrow.

Vivien Leigh And Robert Taylor Co-Starred In 'Waterloo Bridge'

TOGETHER AGAIN—Vivien Leigh, known as Scarlett O'Hara of "Gone With The Wind," and Robert Taylor, are together again in a picture, the new one being "Waterloo Bridge," which is offered today and Monday at the Ritz theatre. They were seen together in "A Yank At Oxford." The new offering is a re-make of a popular picture dealing with adventures in wartime London.

Story Of Wartime London Playing At The Ritz

It was like homecoming for Vivien Leigh and Robert Taylor when they were starred in "Waterloo Bridge," picturization of the famous Robert E. Sherwood stage play, which is featured today and Monday at the Ritz theatre.

The setting of the picture is London, where Miss Leigh and Taylor met three years ago to make "A Yank At Oxford," the film that started the English actress on the way to fame, realized with her Academy Award performance as Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone with the Wind." But their new romantic teaming takes place during more graphic and exciting periods than the stars experienced when last in England, with the scene of "Waterloo Bridge" laid in wartime London of 1917 and 1940.

One of the tenderest romances brought to the screen since "Seventh Heaven," the story is woven around the whirlwind courtship and love affair between a ballet dancer and a handsome young officer. They meet on Waterloo Bridge during an air raid, are engaged in twenty-four hours, and then are separated on their wedding day when he is suddenly called back to the front. She reads that he has been killed in action. But a year later, they are brought together again at Waterloo Station when he returns after having been held in a prison camp.

Both Miss Leigh and Taylor have vital, sympathetic roles in the dramatic film, which damns the evil forces of war for what they are, destructive, senseless and brutal.

Supporting the stars in an outstanding cast are Lucile Watson, Virginia Field, Maria Ouspenskaya, C. Aubrey Smith and others. The picture was directed by Mervyn LeRoy, who gave the screen "The Wizard of Oz" and "Anthony Adverse." It was produced by Sidney Franklin, noted for his direction of such hits as "The Good Earth," "Smilin' Thru" and "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Prison Film Is Offered At Queen

John Litel And Barton MacLane In 'Men Without Souls'

Hailed as an entirely different type of prison film, Columbia's thrilling "Men Without Souls," is the featured offering for today and Monday at the Queen theatre with John Litel, Barton MacLane, Rochelle Hudson and Glenn Ford heading the cast. Remarkable because it is said to give the real "inside" story on prison brutality, the new film presents the penitentiary expose through the story of a straight-shooting chaplain who struggles to humanize the treatment accorded the inmates.

Litel plays the chaplain who arrives at the prison only to find the "cons" solidly arrayed against him. Their resistance is personified in their surly leader, Barton MacLane, who stubbornly fights Litel's effort to win the trust of the inmates.

The struggle between Litel and MacLane reaches an impasse until the arrival of Glenn Ford to serve a sentence. Working through the new inmate's sweetheart, Rochelle Hudson, Litel manages to win his first friend in the ranks of the prisoners. His victory is short-lived, however, as Ford is unjustly convicted of the murder of the captain of the guards and sentenced to death.

Nick Grinde's direction is said to wind the film up in a swirl of events. The convicts attempt a "crash-out," and the death-house is blown up while Litel and MacLane fight a tremendous battle amid the screaming sirens and chattering machine-guns of the guards who try to prevent the break.

Lamesa Rodeo June 19-20

LAMESA, May 18—Dates for the annual rodeo here have been set for June 19-20, Bill Boyd, newly elected president of the Lamesa Rodeo Association, Inc., announced today.

Cash prizes of $500 daily will be posted in addition to other awards including saddles, spurs, boots, etc. There will be afternoon and evening performances. Boyd said purses had been boosted to attract top rodeo talent, usually in this section of the state about the time of show dates.

Added this year is a girl sponsor contest to which young women in this area will be invited. Those who previously have won first place twice in other shows will be ineligible to compete for the first place saddle.

The Dickey Cowboy band, a ranch string band featuring western tunes, has been signed up for the music.

Boyd pointed out that the Lamesa rodeo is "a non-profit organization designed to give folks the kind of western show they like."

Other officials of the association are Guy Weekes, vice-president; Bub McDonald, secretary-treasurer; Jap Baldwin, assistant secretary; Elmo Smith, Jack Phinizy, Dick Jones and Dr. J. M. Harrington, directors.

'Fifth Column' Drive Request Not Yet In O'Daniel's Hands

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel said Saturday that he had received no communication from Governor Rivers of Georgia urging that other state heads follow his lead in casting out "fifth-column" movements.

Friday the Georgia governor instructed his legal staff to "put down, put out, deport and suppress every possible 'fifth columnist' whether in public or private life" and said he was asking other governors to do likewise.

Gov. O'Daniel simply said: "I will follow the lead of the president." Asked what his reaction would be to Gov. Rivers' proposal, he again replied that he would cooperate with President Roosevelt.

Wartime Play Returns To The Lyric

'Fighting 69th' An Action Drama With Historical Background

"The Fighting 69th," starring James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and George Brent, will have a return local showing today and Monday at the Lyric theatre. Supporting the star trio are Jeffrey Lynn, Alan Hale, Frank McHugh and a host of others, playing featured roles in the story written by Norman Kelly Raine, Fred Niblo, Jr. and Dean Franklin, and directed by William Keighley.

A roiling action drama, "The Fighting 69th" shows Cagney as a cocky young private, bucking army discipline in the form of domineering top sergeant Alan Hale. Pat O'Brien plays the role of Father Francis P. Duffy, well-known and beloved chaplain of the 69th, and George Brent portrays "Wild Bill" Donovan, dare-devil colonel of the regiment.

"The Fighting 69th" is unique in that, with the exception of but four characters, all in the picture represent real persons, many still living. The Cagney and Hale roles are fictional, but the O'Brien and Brent roles are taken straight from famed real-life characters. Jeffrey Lynn portrays Joyce Kilmer, soldier-poet of the 69th. Often called the Shamrock Brigade, the 69th regiment was one of the best known for its unusually heroic exploits and its general capacity for scrapping. Captain John T. Prout, of the 69th, acted as a technical adviser during production of the film, supplying much of the personal data which makes up the human interest story of the scrappy regiment. Previewed on the west coast, the film is heralded as one of the most exciting action pictures ever made.

ENLISTMENTS OPEN IN U. S. ARMY

Vacancies now exist for various branches of the service in the United States army, it was announced Saturday by Sgt. Troy Gibson, local recruiting agent. Eligible men for these vacancies, he said, must be between the ages of 18 and 35 and must be without dependents. Those under 21 must have their parents' consent.

"There are good opportunities and advantages for the young man who enlists in the army," said the recruiting officer. "I will be glad to talk with any prospective recruit who will call or write my office, room 12 of the First National bank building."

whether in public or private life" and said he was asking other governors to do likewise.

Gov. O'Daniel simply said: "I will follow the lead of the president." Asked what his reaction would be to Gov. Rivers' proposal, he again replied that he would cooperate with President Roosevelt.

Graduation Events Start Tonight With Annual Senior Class Sermon

The annual senior sermon, set for 8 p. m. today at the city auditorium, will mark the beginning of the end of high school days for 110 Big Spring boys and girls.

Only two things now remain to connect the graduation candidates with the Big Spring high school—the senior sermon and the commencement exercises, set for Friday evening in the auditorium.

Thursday at 8 p. m. in the auditorium, 205 seventh grade students will be promoted into high school with Burke Summers, who has a son in the class, as speaker. Camille Inkman as student speaker, and James Little to present the Cushing awards.

Donald McKay president of the Eastern New Mexico college at Portales, will be the senior commencement speaker and Billie Bob Phillips, will be the girl to give the student speech. The band will play at commencement, and the seventh grade choir, under Lurline Paxton, will sing at the Thursday activity.

Program

At the senior sermon today, W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, will preside and Miss Marie Dunham will play the processional—Wagner's "Festival March" from "Tannhauser." Vivian Ferguson will play the recessional, the "Jubilee March" by Eltinge.

Dr. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the First Methodist church, will deliver the sermon, "Values that will Outlast War."

Others on the program are Dr. D. F. McConnell, First Presbyterian pastor; invocation; the Rev. Homer W. Haislip, First Christian pastor; scripture reading; Dorothy and Howard Carmack, vocal duet, "Ivory Palaces"; the Rev. J. A. Englab, pastor Wesley Memorial Methodist church. The choir and congregation will sing the doxology and "America, the Beautiful."

Candidates for graduation are:

Alfred Cole, E. G. Christensen, Sneed Christian, Crend Coffee, Thomas Corree, Dorothy Collins.

An 18-inch gold-plated trophy, shown at right, will be presented to the winner of the finals. All six of the school champions will be given a medal emblematic of their titles and will receive a sweater shield, not unlike the shields given to Olympic team members.

The tournament has been sponsored by the youth committee of the Kiwanis club headed by Walter Wilson.

Wilson said that there had been widespread interest in the tournament.

Marble Shooters To Compete For City Title, In Tests Wednesday

Marksmanship with marbles—not guns—will be put to the acid test Wednesday at 4 p. m. on the high school campus when champions from six ward schools flip it out for the city-wide title, the first such ever offered in the history of the city.

Of more than 200 boys who participated, the field had been narrowed to six Saturday day in the Kiwanis club sponsored marble tournament, in which the physical education department of the schools has been cooperating.

Champions by virtue of out shooting boys in their own schools were: Troy Bettes, North Ward; Bennett Petty, South Ward; E. J. Haymes, East Ward; German Steadman, West Ward; Thomas Haislip, Central Ward; and Donald Lester, College Heights.

The tournament was held in a gymnasium at the high school. The trophy is an 18-inch gold-plated trophy, shown at right, will be presented to the winner of the finals. All six of the school champions will be given a medal emblematic of their titles and will receive a sweater shield, not unlike the shields given to Olympic team members.

Britons Cling To New Lines

By DREW MIDDLETON

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN BELGIUM, May 18 (AP)—British troops, weary after eight days of almost continuous movement and action, clung stubbornly today to new lines west of Brussels.

As the Nazi war machine crunched forward there were fears that German successes in the Sedan sector, which sent waves of armored cars and tanks bowling into back areas, might dictate a further allied withdrawal.

The British, who 72 hours ago occupied a line on the Dyle river running through Louvain to Wavre, east of Brussels, now are in a better position to meet the German push, despite the allied withdrawal.

There is no tendency to minimize the desperate allied situation here. One comfort to the allies is that the British and French armies virtually are intact and are well-equipped for the defensive warfare dictated by the German tactics.

The RAF was declared to be holding on to advanced bases in France in spite of the severe battering administered during the first week of the blitzkrieg.

Success was credited to British fighters in countering to a large extent waves of bombers and fighters at the head of Adolf Hitler's tank columns south of the Sambre river.

The Week

and the Southwest, A $10,000,000 annual saving, and perhaps even eventually a $12,000,000 saving may well be felt and stimulate industrial development.

Political observers in these parts are indebted to the WTCC convention for clearing up the mystery of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's strength. From the showing he made here the governor is not quite as strong as he was two years ago, but mark you he is almost as strong. Anyone who witnessed the high press and Governor and Mrs. O'Daniel will not doubt it.

Last week the commission received and passed on to the public the proposed city budget calling for expenditures totaling $272,790. That's a lot of money, and should a careful study of the document disclose that it is based on need and justifiable foresight, it should go through. But every citizen interested in his city should secure a copy of it, study it and then, if suggestions are in order, attend the public hearing on May 24 and make those suggestions.

Those planning to attend the senior sermon are reminded again that it will be held in the city auditorium this evening, and NOT in the amphitheater as originally scheduled. This holds good for other school closing ceremonies.

Big Spring is engaged in an observance of National Cotton Week. It was a swell stunt to place 21 bales of cotton around town during the WTCC party, for it doubtless made area visitors conscious of cotton's economic importance in West Texas. It still is true that "What Helps Cotton Helps You."

Unfortunately, it cannot be said that the rain last week broke the drought. Temporary relief came to Big Spring but by and large the farmers are still in need of plant insurance. On the brighter side, the showers did prove that the city lakes are so located as to trap considerable runoff, for nothing like the downpour in the city fell on either watershed.

This week WPA open house is to be observed here and the public is invited to inspect projects. WPA has had its criticism, and some of it was deserved, but none can deny that WPA has been building up, not tearing down.

32,000 Acres Pooled In Texas For Nation's Biggest Soil Experiment

AP Feature Service

TEMPLE—Wind, sun, rain and the things of the earth are mingling in a huge "test tube" here, working out an experiment that holds important implications for the entire cotton south.

For it is in the North Elm creek watershed that the U. S. Soil Conservation Service has located the largest of its 170 demonstration projects. The biggest contiguous block of conservation-treated land in the country, 32,000 acres, has been formed out of 167 farms. Four hundred and fifty other farmers with 51,000 acres are cooperating in the experiment. And the results are sufficient to make the Final assembly of the convention, Saturday morning, was devoted not only to wind-up affairs, but to tax problems. Speakers included Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, Rupert F. Asplund, director of the New Mexico Taxpayers League, and Dr. George F. Hester of the school of government, Southwestern university, Georgetown.

White-wear host groups relaxed Saturday, they could have the satisfaction of knowing their efforts drew praise from all sides. Bentley, Edmund Notestine, chairman of the local steering committee; J. H. Greene, local C-C manager, and Ted Groehl, organization president, joined Saturday afternoon in expressing warm thanks to the multitude of Big Spring people who assisted in the convention and its wide ramifications. Everyone did a swell job. Notestine declared: "There was no hitch in any detail and every committee functioned in perfect fashion. We would like to thank everyone personally, but there are too many to thank, so we will say to everyone, so we are grateful for a fine job well done."

OIL MEN MEET FOR ANNUAL EXPOSITION

TULSA, Okla., May 18 (AP)—A pelling rain greeted the 11th International Petroleum Exposition's opening ceremony today but the oil men, used to nature's spasms, simply moved indoors for the formalities.

In lifting the eight-day show's curtain, W. G. Skelly, Tulsa, its president emphasized the United States' strength in the "one vital essential to both military victory and industrial progress—oil."

B. C. Hascock, Peoria, Ill., manufacturer, who made the principal address, praised oil engineers and technicians as continuing to cross new frontiers.

PARITY CHECKS TO GRAIN PRODUCERS

Howard county small grain producers shared Saturday in the distribution of 1940 wheat parity checks.

In all there were 47 checks totaling $2,029.82, said M. Weaver, AAA administrative assistant. The payment represented about 75 per cent of the amount due.

The payment came in the nature of crop insurance to producers since no wheat was raised this year due to severe drought conditions.

Weaver said that wheat growers would be able to apply for wheat insurance this summer for the 1941 crop. Insurance will be based on an average eight bushel per acre yield. There are around 4,000 acres in the county planted to wheat.

Farm And Ranch Talk
ROUND THE COFFEE POT

By Newton Robinson

Rain in this section Thursday evening was insufficient to do a great deal of good. However in certain parts of the county and surrounding areas rain was heavy enough to bring up some stuff that has been planted and to help the growth of feedstuffs that is already up.

A Howard county committee named to investigate the possibilities of establishing a food locked plant in this county visited lockers in several towns last week. The committee is composed of Mrs. H. S. Hanson, Mrs. Glenn Cantrell, H. T. Hale and Reece Adams. Establishment of the plant will be decided by the Land Use Planning committee when it meets the first Monday in June.

Lloyd Guiley, on business in Big Spring Saturday said that range conditions in the Sonora area is in top shape after several heavy rainfalls this spring. Mr. Guiley formerly operated a cafe here and now has a business in Sonora.

A contour furrowing job on the Jim and Edmond Tom ranch near Stanton has just been completed. The work covered 200 acres on the ranch.

Around $650 a day will be awarded in prizes for top performances at the annual rodeo at Lamesa June 19-20. Bill Boyd, president of the Lamesa Rodeo Association, Inc. said that several awards of saddles, boots and spurs would be made in addition to the money prizes. The winner of the girls' sponsor event will receive a saddle. Sponsors who have won prizes at other shows for two or more times will be excluded from competition.

A good rainfall was reported to the Hartwell vicinity last week. That area was in the dry belt last year.

A horse show with the best breeding classes for ranch use will be an added feature at the Stamford Cowboy Reunion July 2-4 if has been announced. One class of Palominos will be in the competition.

D. F. Senter of the Elbow community reported that section received a nice shower Thursday. Mr. Senter was getting in a plug for his berry crop. He produced enough dewberries and blackberries last year to can 32 quarts and will have more this year. The vines are hanging full of fruit that is ripening fast.

Most classes of slaughter cattle were higher on the market at Fort Worth this weekend. Good stocker calves were strong to 25c higher with other stockers scarce. There was a shortage of mature fed steers with the demand strong.

The sudden popularity of frozen food vaults in Texas can easily be explained when the savings of food preserved are checked. A locker holding up to 350 pounds of meat can be rented for only $16 per year. Meat produced on the farm can be butchered and preserved for an indefinite period for a fraction of the cost of meats bought over the counters of stores. Then too, the convenience of preserving fruits and vegetables that are home grown with-

There will be no evening service on account of the commencement exercises at the new amphitheatre at the city park. If the weather is bad the service will be held at the city auditorium. Our Wednesday night prayer meeting is good, and you and you are all invited to attend all of these services. "Peace, yes that is what the world wants, but they are on the wrong road to find it. Battleships, bombing planes, war munitions and all other mechanism of warfare, will not produce peace. They might conquer and defeat for a time but as for peace, such as the world must have, or else we will just continue to slaughter human lives in wholesale fashion, they will not bring it about. Hate may be subdued and overpowered, but it will break out again in some new fashion more deadly than ever. Through the gospel of Jesus Christ is the only solution for the world's troubles, and the only means of a lasting peace.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, May 19.

The Golden Text is: "This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality" (1 Corinthians 15:53).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ" (Ephesians 4:13). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals can never know the infinite, until they throw off the old man and reach the spiritual image and likeness" (page 519).

Red Cross To Make Drive

The war will be brought close to home here starting Monday when the Howard county chapter of the American Red Cross launches its campaign to raise the $1,184 county quota for foreign relief.

Shirley Phillips, chapter chairman, said that the funds would be used to relieve non-German non-combatants.

Much of the money raised nationally will go to the low countries which themselves contributed liberally to invaded countries before they were crushed by the same aggression.

Because of the size of the quota, Phillips urged all to thoughtfully study the appeal and make as sacrificial gifts as possible.

Coahoma News

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fletcher and sons, Harrie Ray and Bobbie, have returned to Coahoma to make their home after spending the past few months in Van Horn.

Mrs. Ophelia Sullivan has as a weekend guest her daughter, Mrs. Finas Daniels and child of Vernon. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Talley are spending the weekend with relatives in Snyder.

Mrs. E. F. O'Daniel and Mrs. O. D. O. Daniel returned Friday from a two day fishing trip at Sweetwater Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jackson spent last week in Hamilton where they attended graduating exercises of their granddaughter, Jacquelyn Jackson.

Even at the "last minute" you will find gift choosing convenient and easy at A.M.F.Co. Some gifts are beautifully expensive for personal needs ... others are gifts of luxury that the graduate longs to own ... and still others add to the pleasures of travel. We've made a special point of having lots of things that maybe you wouldn't think of.
