Giant Rocket Test Firing Is Successful

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — The world's largest known solid-fuel rocket motor scored a spectacular success on its first test firing today, shooting a towering pillar of white-hot flame more than 1,000 feet into the sky.

The success was a major milestone in a space agency program to determine whether large solid - propellant rockets can be effectively used as boosters for giant space payloads.

The rocket, 80 feet tall and 22 feet in diameter, was strapped down firmly in a 160-foot deep pit, its 20-foot exhaust nozzle pointed skyward.

The nose-down position enabled the rocket to vent its flame upward, eliminating the need for costly ground equipment that would have been destroyed if the rocket were in a nose-up position.

At precisely 11 a.m. (EST), after a perfect two-hour countdown, a radio signal was sent to an ignition system and the huge motor with its 840 tons of rubber-like fuel flashed to life.

For 140 seconds, the tower of flame spewed upward as the motor generated thrust of more than 3,000,000 pounds and sent a great thunderclap rolling across the swamps of the nearby Everglades.

A huge mushroom - shaped cloud of black smoke rose from the flame and hovered for several minutes over the site.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced later that the firing was completely successful.

The rocket, a test vehicle, as yet has no name.

The firing site is a new test facility built by Aerojet General Corp. in an isolated swamp about 35 miles south of Miami. Aerojet built the two test motors under a $25 million space agency contract.

Success of both shots might prompt NASA to move into phase two of the program, which would involve ground testing motors with twice the length and more than double the thrust.

Richard Cottrell, manager of Aerojet's solid rockets operations, said the purpose of the test was "to take the solid propellant technology developed so successfully in smaller rockets, such as the Polaris and Minuteman, and apply it to large rockets which could show a significant role in future U.S. space missions."

Presently, all large U.S. rockets under development used a liuid fuqel. The solid propellant would be simpler to handle and more economical.

William Cohen, head of NASA's solid propulsion experimental engine program, said a full scale version of the rocket tested today could fill a gap between the two large liquid fuel rockets being developed by the space agency.

He noted that the Saturn 1B can place 30,000 to 35,000 pounds of payload in earth orbit, while the Saturn 5 man-to-the-moon rocket will be capable of placing 250,000 pounds in the same orbit.

Cohen said a large solid rocket, combined with a Saturn 1B upper stage, could orbit 90,000 pounds. He said a cluster of four big solids with high powered liquid upper stages could orbit one million-pound space stations.

South Viets Retake Post

By RONALD L. DEUTSCH

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese forces have recaptured an outpost overrun by Communist guerrillas in a big assault two days ago, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

The Communists stormed the outpost Thursday in the central coastal province of Binh Dinh about 300 miles northeast of Saigon. The Viet Cong then launched a regimental-sized assault north of Qui Nhon against a government force.

The government forces met no resistance Friday when they retook the outpost, the spokesman said.

Vietnamese sources reported 600 Communist guerrillas were killed in the fighting although only 70 bodies were counted today. They said 500 of the dead were victims of air strikes. U.S. military authorities have not confirmed the figure.

One unconfirmed report from the scene said the Viet Cong were attempting to remove their dead. Other reports said 170 bodies of Viet Cong were lying in the open.

The heaviest fighting raged near the district town of Bong Son. No further contact was reported.

Viet Cong in undetermined strength penetrated a hamlet 10 miles southwest of Saigon and blew up a school, a health clinic and an outpost. One civilian was killed and eight were wounded. The guerrillas escaped.

The Communists continued to probe the defense perimeters of U.S. Army's 101st Airborne Brigade and 1st Cavalry Division near An Khe in the central highlands, 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

The guerrillas reportedly opened up with mortars and small arms fire on the 101st and inflicted light casualties.

Eighty-two U.S. planes blasted Communist military targets in North Viet Nam Friday.

U.S. planes showered a million leaflets on Haiphong, North Viet Nam's main seaport, and giant B52 bombers kept hammering at suspected Communist hideouts in South Viet Nam.

Four F105 Thunderchiefs dropped the psychological warfare leaflets Friday into wind currents that carried them over the city of 365,000, a spokesman said.

It was the first time planes dropped such leaflets on the seaport and it also was the first successful mission of its kind in the Viet Nam war, he added.

India, Pakistan Swap Charges Of Violation

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The India-Pakistan cease-fire line was reported quiet today after both countries accused each other of violating the two-day-old truce.

India's Defense Ministry reported no major incidents from midnight Friday to midday today along the cease-fire line, where skirmishing and jockeying for a few more yards of ground had been under way since the "halt firing" order went into effect at dawn Thursday.

Pakistan accused India of laying down an artillery barrage Friday night 12 miles from Lahore, Pakistan's second largest city, and moving forward in three truce line areas.

The Indians accused the Pakistanis Friday night of violating the cease-fire in the Ferozepore and Sialkot sectors.

Both countries threatened to retaliate. For the moment India and Pakistan were dragging their feet on the United Nations call for both governments to withdraw their troops to positions they occupied before Aug. 5, when the fighting started.

A Pakistani government spokesman announced in Rawalpindi that Pakistani troops would stay in their front-line positions until the United Nations agreed on means of solving the dispute with India over ownership of the Himalayan state of Kashmir.

India was emphatically reiterating its long-held position that there can be no plebiscite in Kashmir — an integral part of the formula for settlement demanded by Pakistan.

Contingents of U.N. observers to man the cease-fire line were scheduled to begin arriving today. Ten Danish officers were the first due in New Delhi.

No major incideats were reported on India's other tense frontier — the long mountainous border with Communist China.

In a note delivered to the Indian Embassy in Peking Friday, Red China charged India with new "provocations and intrusions" along their frontier. The note accused the Indians of capturing Chinese border dwellers, sheep and yaks and demanded their return — "not short a single one."

In reply, thousands of Indian demonstrators drove a flock of bawling sheep before the Chinese Embassy in New Delhi.

India, in turn, protested to China the killing of three Indian policemen last Sunday whom the Indians said the Chinese had abducted.

TO DOMINICAN

Exiled Chief Back Home

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Former president Juan D. Bosch returned home today from two years in exile. A burst of gunfire marred an otherwise hearty welcome from his followers.

The shooting came about halfway into Santo Domingo from the airport as his motorcade sped along a heavily guarded highway.

It could not be determined immediately whether anyone was hurt or the reason for the shooting.

Before leaving San Juan, P.R., Bosch's chartered plane was delayed an hour by a bomb scare.

The shooting was about 150 feet behind Bosch's car as it passed a check point guarded by army troops.

Bosch's car paused momentarily, then sped on toward the rebel sector of Santo Domingo. He waved to people who had ducked behind parked cars, apparently to assure them he was unharmed.

Leaders of his Dominican Revolutionary Party (PRD) greeted their chief at the airport. A security force of Dominican national police and rebel troops was on hand to escort Bosch into the rebel sector of Santo Domingo where the ex-president scheduled an address to a welcome-home rally.

Before leaving San Juan, Bosch dismissed reports that his life may be in danger in the Dominican republic.

"There are always rumors," he said. "These say that I am going to be killed. But rumor is not news."

Bosch also told San Juan newsmen concerning his political future:

"I do not return with hope. I return because my party called me."

MYSTERY BOY—This teenager was found sitting like a statue in Miami International Airport with labels snipped from his clothes and unable because of apparent shock to identify himself or tell how he got there. (AP Wirephoto)

Mystery Boy Is Identified

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An official of the Dade County Juvenile Court today identified a silent teen-age boy found alone last Wednesday at Miami International Airport as Richard Bruce Thorne, 16, of the Detroit suburb of Troy.

Barron Shields of the Juvenile Court said he had identified Richard through conversations with relatives and neighbors.

He said the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Thorne of Troy, had left by car for Florida.

There was no immediate information on why the boy was alone at the airport.

Meanwhile, a hopeful Texas mother who flew here on the chance that Richard might be her son, missing since Sept. 1, saw the airport waif and turned from him in tears.

"That's not him," wept Mrs. Teno Elliott after one glance. Her boy, Kenneth Elliott Jr., 18, disappeared after registering at Arlington State College.

"There are a lot of things to be investigated," Shields said.

He would make no furhter comment.

Richard showed signs of nervousness after the brief encounter with Mrs. Elliott and was turned over to a child psychologist, Dr. David Rothenberg.

Police at Troy said Richard has been mute after an automobile accident two years ago.

However, a relative by marriage, Mrs. Gertrude Willis, blamed Richard's silence on an illness in early childhood.

Farm Bureau Shelves Plan For Stores

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation has dropped for the time being a proposal to buy a nationwide chain of food stores to give farmers greater bargaining power in selling their products.

A special committee appointed to study the plan has agreed that it should not be pursued at this time.

The unprecedented plan, which would have made farmers both producers and retailers, would have involved the investment of several million dollars.

The proposal is not dead, however. Douglas Stanfield, executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau, said his group will continue to fight for it with the hope of eventually getting the giant farm organization's approval.

The idea of farmers acquiring control of a nationwide food chain grew out of refusal of many food processors to discuss prices they would pay with producer marketing groups. Many processors would deal only with individual growers.

With farmers controlling a big food outlet they would be in a position—as buyers for a retail outlet—to limit their large purchases of foods to those processors who deal with farm bargaining organizations. The bargaining organizations are designed to do in a large measure for farmers what labor unions do for workers in setting wage rates.

Gemini Sets Launch Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — The next U.S. manned space flight may come one month from today.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Friday that Oct. 25 is the earliest date for launching Gemini 6. Plans call for a two-day mission devoted primarily to experiments in linking the spacecraft with another orbiting body.

An unmanned Agena rocket will be sent aloft first from Cape Kennedy, Fla., and the manned Gemini 6 will go up one or more orbits later in an attempt to rendezvous with and then fasten onto the Agena. Repeated dockings are planned.

Manning the Gemini 6 will be Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford.

It's Easy To Get Exhibit In Fair

How does a person enter something in the Scurry County Fair?

Just bring the exhibit to the fair anytime after 1 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 6, but in plenty of time to have the exhibit in place before 9 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 7.

The judging schedule will begin on Thursday, the official opening day of the fair. Practically any product grown in Scurry County may be entered.

Specific divisions have been set up for livestock, including cattle, swine, sheep, poultry and rabbits; for agriculture products, including individual exhibits, educational exhibits and community exhibits; a women's division, including textile work, culinary displays, canned foods, art, crafts and a girls division. Arrangements also have been made for a flower exhibit, which is expected to add considerably to the fair.

Moreover, the division for agriculture products includes one class for any items which are not covered specifically in the fair's general catalog, which means that any unusual products may be placed on exhibit even if there is not a specific class for them.

Commercial exhibits will be featured. Several organizations are assisting the fair association in arranging for rentals of commercial booths, with space being made available both inside and outside the fair buildings. It was hoped that the commercial exhibit lineup could be completed early in the coming week.

Ribbons which will be awarded during the fair are being furnished by the West Texas State Bank.

Antipoverty Bill Gets Senate Nod

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has overridden Republican objections and sent President Johnson a bill authorizing $1,785,000,000 to combat poverty.

Despite strong GOP criticism and doubts about the program voiced by some Democrats, Congress made available $285 million more than Johnson requested.

Actually, the antipoverty money will be supplied later in a separate appropriations bill. The administration then may ask for something less than the full authorization.

The Senate passed the authorization 46 to 22, with 39 Democrats and 7 Republicans supporting it. Seven Democrats and 15 Republicans voted "no."

Included are funds to help a wide variety of community action projects originating with local organizations, to send unemployed youths to job camps, to provide jobs in a neighborhood program for youths who remain at home and to furnish work on conservation projects to adults who have been seeking employment for a long time.

Also to make loans to rural low-income areas, to finance basic education courses for adult illiterates and to pay for these teers willing to serve in poverty-stricken areas.

In a three-hour flurry of debate before the passage vote, Republican senators charged that the program was being used for all sorts of partisan political ends and was being badly mismanaged.

They said Democrats had made clear the program has a political nature by striking from the bill a Senate-House conference provision which would have applied the Hatch Act to community action and VISTA projects.

This act forbids political activity by federal employes.

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., announced he had decided to vote against the bill largely because of this deletion.

"I want the war on poverty to succeed," he asserted. "But it cannot succeed if its benefits are channeled away from the poor and into the pockets of politicians."

On the other hand, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he is supporting the program but agreed there have been cases of improvidence, misuse, foolishness and stupidity.

"If the administration isn't agile and quick to deal with the VISTA program of volun the drain, he said.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can help me with a problem. When a salesman comes to my door and I see him first, I don't answer the bell. My husband says this is dishonest and I should see what they have to sell and then if I don't want any I should say so firmly. But you know how some of these characters are. If they ever get their foot in the door, you can never get rid of them. What do you say?

ANNI-BELL

DEAR ANNI: I say your husband must be a salesman.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to convince a gentle, lovely 14-year-old girl (our daughter) that it is not important to be popular NOW. That the sexy girls she envies so much are not the kind to aspire to be. That the loud and brassy actions she tries to imitate are not the desirable ones. That being one of THE crowd (the ones who "make out" and are sought after by the boys) is nothing to be proud of. That trying to dress and look older than she is is a mistake.

She cries to me that she doesn't know how to "flirt" and attract the boys like some of the "real neat" kids do. Why do girls today believe that if they aren't "sexy" and popular at 14—their lives are ruined? What do you say, Abby?

DISTURBED

DEAR DISTURBED: It is perfectly normal for a 14-year-old girl to want to be popular NOW. And since most girls that age think that being "sexy" will bring them popularity, they try to dress and act sexy. No mother can convince her 14-year-old daughter that that kind of popularity will not last; that the 14-year-old easy "make-out" is passed when a nice boy wants the company of a nice girl; that a girl has only one reputation and she should guard it carefully; that she can get into serious trouble pretending to be more experienced than she is. Don't expect adult thinking from a 14-year-old girl, Mother. She is using 14-year-old mentality because she IS only 14! Continue to instill in her high moral standards and her values will change, just as did yours and mine.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown (?) woman who made a donkey out of herself at a party recently. I drank too much and aired my husband's and my personal problems in an argument with him. He wants me to leave him because he feels we are ruined socially. I am sorry and have told him so a dozen times. I have begged and cried and pleaded, but he won't even listen to me. I would like our friends to know that I can behave properly. But most of all I want my husband to be proud of me. What can I do, Abby? I am now a teetotaler.

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: One swallow does not make a summer. Neither should one unfortunate scene destroy a marriage. If you are now a teetotaler and sincerely want to show your friends that you can behave properly, you deserve another chance. Quit groveling and apologizing. Act like a lady and hope your husband has the grace to forgive and forget.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where a man was bothered by the barking of his neighbor's dog. I have a suggestion. When a dog starts to bark, throw a glass of ice water in his face. And if ice water isn't handy, use the garden hose. It doesn't hurt the dog, it only shocks him. I own 8 dogs and my neighbors can't believe how quiet they are. This is how I trained them all to cut out the barking.

Texans Glimpse Political Preview

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas voters got a glimpse last week of political things to come.

Democrats turned up an arm-in-arm slate of statewide candidates aimed at putting Texas solidly back in the one - party column and ready for President Johnson's expected re-election bid in 1968.

Republicans made clear their campaign efforts will be confined to the uphill task of re-electing Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who gained office in the major Texas GOP triumph of this decade.

Republicans also tried to forget that Johnson's election last year carried with it the defeat of two Texas GOP congressmen and 10 Republican state representatives.

"We have arrived at the realistic conclusion," Tower told newsmen, "that the 1966 (Senate) race will be the only extensive contest for the GOP on the statewide level . . . We will have a Republican candidate for governor but I don't expect him to be an active candidate."

The Democratic candidates are Gov. John Connally, seeking a third term; Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, asking re-election; Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr; former House speaker who is directing six years of statewide campaign experience and organization against Tower, and Secretary of State Crawford Martin, a former state senator who wants Carr's job.

The four got the unofficial label at once of "the Connally slate." Connally has made no formal endorsements.

The hottest Democratic primary contest appears possible if Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth follows oft repeated predictions and gets into the Senate race against Carr.

Another good possibility is a primary race between Martin and Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio for attorney general.

At any rate, it's a long time to the filing deadline of Feb. 7.

Humane Use Of Tear Gas Debated By Policy Makers

EDITOR'S NOTE — Should the United States and Saigon forces use gas in Viet Nam when it appears this will save lives? The question is being debated again by military and political leaders. The background of the dispute, with some of the factors being weighed, is reported in this dispatch from the chief of the AP's bureau in Saigon.

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Only seconds after the canisters were tossed into the openings in the ground, people began to straggle to the surface.

Tears streamed from their eyes. Some of the women and children wept hysterically. Others whimpered from fright.

But they were all alive and there were no bodies torn by bullets, ripped by grenade fragments or seared by flamethrowers. Within a few hours they would have only smarting eyes and noses to remind them of their experience.

The Viet Cong and their sympathizers among them had all the fight taken out of them when they came out of the ground, but they could talk when subjected to later interrogation.

The incident occurred early this month during a U.S. Marine operation near Qui Nhon.

The Marines, hunting down the Viet Cong, knew that some of the guerrillas had gone into a maze of tunnels and underground fortifications that are woven into the earth in many areas of Viet Nam.

With them, hiding from the terrors of war, were scores of civilians, many of them women and children.

A battalion commander directed his men to toss in canisters of "CN," a common tear gas that produces tears and makes the nose smart but has no lasting after-effects. The same type of gas is used by police and other authorities to handle riots in many parts of the world.

The commander was quoted as saying he gave the order to use the gas as the most harmless method of getting the Viet Conog out of the tunnels and not harming the civilians.

Many people here — officials, military and others — feel that the commander did the best possible thing under the circumstances.

But in doing so, he violated a strict U.S. policy against the use of any type of gas during military operations unless authorized by the top military commander here, Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

An investigation was opened by military officials and at the end of the week Westmoreland announced that the commander, Lt. Col. Leon N. Utter of Fallbrook, Calif., had been exonerated. Westmoreland did not go into details.

The issue brought to the forefront again one of the touchiest issues in a touchy war. It was learned this week that it brought a request from the military command here to Washington for re-examination of policy on tear gas.

Wins Greek Vote Of Confidence

By PHILIP DOPOULOS

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Premier Stephanos Stephanopoulos won a vote of confidence in Parliament today, ending Greece's worst government crisis in nearly 20 years.

Parliament voted in the 21-member coalition 152-148 after a tumultuous debate.

It was the first government to receive a parliamentary mandate since King Constantine fired George Papandreou from the premiership July 15. They disagreed over control of the armed forces.

Two other governments installed by the king were voted down when it came to the mandatory confidence test.

Stephanopoulos, 66, a bachelor economist, is a dissident member of Papandreou's Center Union party. He won the support of the National Radical Union's 99 deputies, plus eight of the Progressive party and 44 other dissident Center Union members.

Papandreou's original majority of 171 was reduced to 126 as the crisis wore on and members defected. Those remaining loyal to the 77-year-old former premier and 22 deputies of the pro-Communist United Democratic Left voted against the new government.

Immediately after the vote, groups of Papandreou backers gathered outside Parliament chanting the name of their chief and shouting "Shame!" at members of the new government.

From his home Papandreou vowed to keep up his "unrelenting struggle" and predicted the new Cabinet would soon collapse.

Stephanopoulos said his government's main aim was "to restore peace and order."

His confidence vote was a big victory for the king and a bitter blow to Papandreou.

Investigating officers said the mishap occurred as Mrs. Burton, driving a 1957 Model Chevrolet station wagon, was going south on Avenue E. and was in collision with a 1965 Model Chevrolet Impala driven by Sylvester Spells, 1109 Thirty-second Street. Spells was traveling west on Thirtieth prior to the accident.

Officers also investigated a two-car mishap at Avenue W and Twenty-fifth Street at 12:43 a.m. Saturday. Involved were cars driven by Sandra Jean Bailey, 2904 Avenue W, and Teresa Kay Meador, Route 3, Box 63. Damage to each vehicle was estimated at $400.

WITH PRESIDENTIAL MANDATE

Branton To Head South To Implement Vote Law

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal civil rights official said today he will head South soon — with a mandate from President Johnson — in an effort to speed the pace of Negro voter registration.

Wiley H. Branton, 41, who helped map the President's shakeup of federal civil rights agencies, said Johnson is not satisfied with the pace of Negro registration so far.

He said Johnson asked him to go to work for full, swift implementation of the Negro voting rights law which took effect Aug. 5.

At the Justice Department, officials said Johnson has expressed no dissatisfaction with the way the new law is being enforced.

But some of the plans Branton sketched in an interview do not deal directly with enforcement of the law. The Negro attorney said he will seek to encourage people to turn out for registration, and talk with local officials in an effort to overcome resistance to Negro voting.

Branton joined the administration five months ago as executive secretary of the President's Council on Equal Opportunity. Under the reorganization of civil rights assignments, announced Friday by the President, he will become a special assistant to Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach. The council is to be abolished.

The White House said Friday Branton will be responsible for overseeing newly assigned Justice Department responsibilities in the civil rights field.

Branton said, "I expect to to spend a great deal of time in the South in the next several weeks."

The administration has stressed voluntary compliance in its enforcement of the voting rights law. Federal voter registration, which could be ordered in parts of seven states, has been put into effect in 19 counties, in Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana.

To date, the Justice Department reported, 44,680 Negroes have been registered by federal examiners. Department officials believe voluntary compliance with the law has put another 60,000 Southern Negroes on the books.

Top administration sources have conceded the registration pace has slackened since the first days of the new law.

Branton set no numerical target for Negro registration. But he said with "the full weight of the federal government" behind an effort to register Negroes, all the people who really want to vote can be enrolled in a relatively short time.

In some cases, Branton said he may recommend the assignment of new federal registrars to Deep South counties.

Experts Learning To Predict Location Of Earth Tremors

By RALPH DIGHTON
P Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Experts are still a long way from saying exactly when earthquakes will happen, but they're getting closer to saying where.

They are so close, in fact, that a group of California Institute of Technology scientists pinpointed Saturday three areas in their state which they say are "likely" to have major shocks.

The areas:

1. The San Andreas fault — earth crack — zone for several hundred miles northwest from San Bernardino.
2. The central Owens Valley.
3. The Banning-Mission Creek fault zone between the Imperial and Coachella valleys along the east side of the inland Salton Sea.

Summarizing a computer study of 10,126 earthquakes between 1934 and 1963 in the southern part of the state, the institute said: "It is now possible to indicate more accurately than before areas likely to have earthquakes.

"No part of California is free from earthquake hazard, and the hazard is less dependent upon nearness to a fault than most people suppose.

"Gradual slippage of rocks along faults unaccompanied by earthquakes may be a more important geologic factor than heretofore recognized in relieving seismic strain — and hence earth quake danger.

"Big earthquakes do not necessarily occur in areas where there are many small ones."

The institute said the conclusions, by a group of scientists headed by Dr. Clarence Allen, director of its sesimological laboratory, were based on records from 18 seismological stations spread over southern California.

Southern California has a network of faults, mainly branching from the 600-mile-long San Andreas system of cracks in the earth's crust. The lower half of the San Andreas was "seismically quiet" in the years covered by the study.

A spokesman said the study shows that, "statistically, earthquakes are more likely in active fault zones which have been quiet in recent years.

"The most obvious of these areas is the San Andreas fault zone for several hundred miles northwest from San Bernardino.

"Two other areas of peculiar recent relative quietness within otherwise very active belts are the central Owens Valley and the Bannin-Mission Creek fault zone."

The study found that Southern California averages more than 200 earthquakes a year of magnitude 3 or greater and has a great earthquake of magnitude 8 about twice a century.

A magnitude 3 shock can be felt locally but is too small to cause damage. A magnitude 8 tremor is comparable to the destructive San Francisco disaster of 1906.

Cleared In Tear Gas Incident

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Marine officer who directed his troops to use tear gas during a military operation early this month has been "exonerated," Gen. William C. Westmoreland said today.

Westmoreland, who is commander of all U.S. forces in Viet Nam, declined to discuss further the incident involving Lt. Col. Leon N. Utter of Fallbrook, Calif., a Marine battalion commander.

Utter instructed his men to use non-lethal tear gas to force Viet Cong from underground fortifications near Qui Nhon. The guerrillas had taken refuge among a large number of civilians, many of them women and children.

Utter was quoted as saying he took the action as the most humane way of dealing with the situation. In doing so, however, he violated U.S. policy against the use of any type of gas in military operations here.

After the incident, it was stated that it was not known whether the battalion commander had been aware of the policy.

Westmoreland said: "Lt. Col. Leon Utter has been exonerated by me. No disciplinary action has been taken and none is contemplated."

Man's Two Wives Meet

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Both of the women who claim to be his wives chatted amicably with each other and with him while a charge of cohabiting was drawn in court Friday against Oliver Boyd Riley.

Riley, 41, was released on $2,500 bond for preliminary hearing Sept. 30.

He had been arrested on complaint of Jacqueline Riley of Amarillo, Tex. She said she married him at Gainesville, Tex., last March and that he left her.

She said she learned he was living here with Evelyn Jean Kennedy Riley, 35. The Kansas City wife produced a copy of a license showing she married Riley Jan. 6, 1962, in Oconee County, S.C.

The seldom-used statute makes it a felony to live with two wives in the states.

Most Solons Ok New Canal Plan

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's history-making plan to end the quarrel over the Panama Canal by making Panama a partner in the enterprise appeared today to have found general approval in Congress.

Democratic leaders in the House and Senate hailed the idea, and Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt. said, "Things will be much more harmonious if Panama itself becomes a partner in the canal."

However, Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., chairman of a House subcommittee on Panama Canal affairs, called joint management "one of the most foolish, unnecessary and saddest things which could be done." She said it would not benefit Panama's impoverished masses, and would help only the government in power there and "the privileged families which run Panama."

But even Mrs. Sullivan conceded that in recent weeks she had had no success in efforts to halt the partnership approach.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said in a brief speech: "Reasonable men have sought reasonable solutions and they have found them."

The areas of agreement reached so far, Mansfield said, "are a true sign of justice and fair play."

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert called the agreement "eloquent proof of friendship and good will."

In addition to offering Panama a share "in the administration, management and operations of the canal," Johnson said the disputed 1903 treaty, which first established U.S. control of the canal, would be scrapped, and a new treaty drafted which "will effectively recognize Panama's sovereignty over the area of the present Canal Zone."

Johnson's statement, read on national radio and television as Panama's President Marco A. Robles broadcast a similar message to his country, gave no details of the proposed joint operation plan.

The statement hinted Panama is being given preference in U.S. studies of a new sea-level waterway to replace the lock-type Panama Canal.

Actress On Critical List

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Dorothy Malone was reported to be slightly improved early today while a team of doctors maintained a constant vigil, saying "the next 24-hours may

The 38-year-old Academy Award-winning actress spent 10 hours in heart-lung surgery Thursday night. During the marathon operation doctors said her heart stopped and "she was near death innumerable times."

"But I think she will make it. We have removed the clots from her lungs and I'm optimistic," said her doctor, who asked not to be identified. She was off of the hospital's critical list.

A hospital spokesman said recovery would be complete if the willowy blonde star survives. But he did not indicate how long the recovery might take.

A spokesman for the television series, in which Miss Malone plays Constance Mackenzie, said that episodes have been filmed for the next two months and that no decision has been made on whether the actress will be replaced.

Texas Pair Are Adept At Small Talk With Johnsons

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — What would you tell the President if you had a minute or two?

Col. and Mrs. Frank Bender have had minute-plus audiences with President Lyndon B. Johnson every time he came to Texas via Bergstorm Air Force Base, where Bender has been commander. His retirement takes place officially Thursday.

They never lacked for conversation, even though they had competition from the high-pitched whine of Johnson's jet and the whoosh of helicopters' rotor blades.

Johnson always lingered a moment as he stepped off the plane to kiss the strikingly attractive Joan Bender on the cheek and shake her husband's hand warmly.

Bender will enter an auto dealership in Jackson, Miss. His career spanned 26 years of action, and he received two Silver Stars, the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star, and two Purple Hearts. His wife calls him a troubleshooter who never stayed long at one place.

They were at Bergstrom nearly three years, but the last 22 months are what Joan Bender will miss.

As presidential greeters, she and her husband averaged about two minutes conversation with Johnson each trip. "I told him how much I watch him on television — and I always have to tell him what I think of his programs.

"Once as he was going back to Washington, tanned and relaxed, he listened to my comments about a television speech and then said, with a grin, 'and I always look better when I've been at the ranch, don't I.'"

Mrs. Bender joined her husband at the flight line to be of help to Mrs. Johnson if needed, on the first trip. She became a fixture.

Col. Edwin H. Garrison, Bender's successor as commander of the Strategic Air Command's 340th Bombardment wing, will find his weekends controlled by whether the President is in Texas.

The Benders got about 30 minutes' advance notice before Johnson arrived.

Mrs. Bender says she'll miss the newsmen clustered in a "bullpen" near the flight line almost as much as the celebrities they were covering.

Before her marriage, Joan sang, danced and acted professionally in New York City. She was a reporter's favorite at Bergstrom.

Mrs. Bender says she'ss miss the Johnsons, particularly the President's knack for the unexpected.

"Once he was nearly in his waiting helicopter when he swiveled around and walked back to the Benders. "Joan, would you like to come and see my new boat?"

She clambered aboard the helicopter. On the swift boat, she tucked away her gloves, took off her high heels and let the winds off Lake Lyndon B. Johnson run through her hair.

She and Mrs. Homer Thornberry, wife of the federal judge and close Johnson friend, saw Johnson relax as he piloted the boat and then took a short nap.

Joan hopes to paint and read historical novels now that she and her husband and Cheri, 15, are out of the service. But it won't be quite as exciting as being a presidential greeter.

Homemaking Is Program Feature

Homemaking Departments of the Snyder Senior and Junior High Schools will be featured on the school's Closed Circuit TV program this week. A 30-minute "Know Your Schools" program will be presented Monday at 6:30 p.m. on SCAT, Channel 2.

Purpose of the program is two-fold. It is hoped to better acquaint citizens of the Snyder school district with the schools and serve as a means of training students in radio and TV production and presentation.

Weekly programs are being planned for the 1965-66 school term to cover all phases of the school's curriculum. These programs will be produced through the combined efforts of Gerald Gafford and his advanced high school speech class, Ed Phy, A-V coordinator for Travis and Lamar Junior High schools and Daniel R. Martin, Director of Instructional Materials for the school system. Phy will also be the school's technical director for the SCAT programs.

High school students to assist Phy and Coy Thompson, SCAT engineer, for this week's program are Glenn Arnold, Tom Lowe, Robbie Wesson and Herbert Eades.

A 10-minute school news cast will precede the homemaking demonstration program. High school speech students to appear on this week's news cast are Donna Davis, master of ceremonies; Nan Martin, elementary news reporter; Barbara Gracey, high school news caster, and Lora Pinkerton, reporter for the two junior high schools.

Nine students enrolled in advanced speech will work on the weekly closed circuit television programs throughout the year. Each student will work on television news collecting, camera work and production and television speaking. Speech students to participate throughout the year beside the four already mentioned are Bill DeKnight, Dan Brunken, Dean Kaplan, Lloyd Potts and Mike Stephens.

Students from Travis and Lamar Junior High Schools and the Snyder High School homemaking departments will present a 20-minute program Monday. This program will stress the importance of proper diet, good table manners, good posture and other personality traits necessary for charm.

Students taking part from Mrs. Howard Gracey's homemaking department at Travis will include Jackie Stewart, who will demonstrate flannel board work, with Tanya Arnett as narrator. Barbara Gracey, student in Miss Vera Perlman's high school class, will be assisted by Lloyd Potts in presenting do's and don'ts of good table manners. Members of Mrs. Daniel R. Martin's high school and Mrs. Douglas Flynn's Lamar classes will present a skit on charm development. This group will have Barbara Crowell as narrator and will include Ann Crawley, Sharon Hudson, Emily Kincaid, Sammie Raines and Karen Robertson, senior high students, and Gayle Beckham, Dianne McGuire, Andrea Logan and Jennifer Ellington of Lamar.

School personnel preparing these weekly presentations hope to show the school's programs in such a manner that interested citizens may better understand what is being taught, how it is being presented to students in order to encourage learning, and why some new methods of teaching have been adopted by the local school system.

Powerful Steer Offense Sinks Scrappy Tigers, 34-7

Displaying a quick hard-hitting offense and a tenacious defense, the powerful Big Spring Steers showed why they are highly rated in state AAAA circles here Friday night with a convincing 34-7 decision over the scrappy Snyder Tigers.

If anything, the Steers more than lived up their advance billing, for they had to fight for everything they got from the smaller 3-AAAA team. Four times the Tigers of Coach Horrace Bostick fought off the bigger, faster Steers within their 20 yard line.

THE YARDSTICK

Snyder went down to defeat the hard way, giving up yardage grudgingly. The touchdown against Big Spring was the only one scored against the big Steers this season.

Not until the fourth quarter did the visitors pull completely out of sight of the gallant Tigers. The superior depth became a distinct advantage in the last frame when the home towners began to tire. Then, hitting with speed and size, the thundering herd was able to score twice from within the 20 to put the game on ice.

Most of the Big Spring tallies were of the spectacular variety with their gigantic linemen opening gaping holes to spring their fast backs. Fullback Rey Navarette looked like All - District caliber, both on offense and defense. He scored the first touchdown with a 28 yard burst over the center, cutting back to his left about the 15. Four Tigers had a shot at him but couldn't pull him down.

The first Big Spring score came two plays after the Horns took over on downs at the Tiger 35. It happened as Jackie Rice tried to run, rather than punt on a fourth down situation.

Less than three minutes later, cool quarterback Van Tom Whatley fired a perfect strike to end Wayne Nail from 29 yards out for Big Spring's second touchdown. Center Ronnie Dale Smith missed the extra point try, but an offsides penalty gave the Black Knights another chance nd halfback Joe Jaure's boot was true.

Just before the quarter ended, Rice returned a kickoff 27 yards to the Tiger 42. He almost got loose, but the one man between him and the goal was able to grab an ankle and cause him to loose balance.

The score at halftime was 13-0 as neither team was able to dent the doublestripes in the second quarter. Twice in this period, the determined Tigers cut off Big Spring drives within the 20, and once the clock halted the visitors.

Big Spring moved from its 31 to the six before relinquishing possession with Whatley finding Nail on three short passes. Whatley and Jaure accounted for the other yardage on roll-outs and short blasts. The second drive began on the Steer 34. Whatley passed 10 yards to end Terry Fields, then skirted right end to the 15. Two more running attempts by the 163-pound Senior quarterback lost one yard and a pass attempt missed. Whatley then tried a field goal but it was no good.

With 1:34 remaining, Big Spring reached the four on a 15 yard penalty and a 41-yard pass from Whatley to Jaure.

The 2-AAAA warriors took a 19-0 lead, moving 71 yards in two minutes, 24 seconds in the third quarter. The drive took only three plays. End Harrell Newton intercepted a pass for Big Spring after the Tigers had brief possession following a fumble. On the first try, Jaure stepped for a 1st at the Snyder 45. Whatley sneaked for four, then halfback Gary Earhart shot over right guard, cut back to his left and went 41 yards to pay dirt. On the conversion attempt, the ball was bobbled and Whatley was slammed down short as he tried to run it over.

An exchange of interceptions put the Tigers in possession on the Steer 34. Billy Wilson had swiped a Whatley aerial at his 29, returning it 37 yards. Bowden struck for four, Holt (who played fullback) slanted for five, and then Murry picked up a 1st at the 24.

Holt gained one and two incompletions left the Tigers facing fourth down on the 25. Bowden hit Rice at the 14 for a 1st. Another fourth down situation occurred after Curtis Clay gained four in two carries and Hall was dropped for a loss back to the 15. Cadena came in and lofted one straight down the middle to end Bobby Clardy. Holt's kick was good and Snyder trailed, 7-19, going into the final frame.

Big Spring launched a drive on its 38 in the third frame. It was climaxed in the fourth quarter as Whatley slanted over right tackle from the 15. He then swept right end for a two-pointer and the Steers led, 27-7. A big play in this march was a 17-yard pass, Whatley to Fields.

The final tally came after a 58 yard drive with reserve halfback Bobby Baker notching it with a 12 yard swing around left end. Tackle James Carver kick the final point.

Still, Snyder did not quit. Third-string quarterback Rob Golden passed to Billy Wilson as the Tigers penetrated midfield in the final stages after holding the Steers at their 44.

Snyder thwarted the first Big Spring drive in the initial period, holding at the 32. Then the Tigers punched across midfield with power runs by Rick Hall, Jackie Rice and David Holt. Navarette "red - dogged" Hall at midfield, Bowden was thrown for a loss trying to pass, and Rice failed to get off the punt. With good field position, at this point, Big Spring managed to get the upper hand. With depth, speed and size, they never relinquished it.

Most of the Tiger tackles were made in the secondary. Wilson, Fred Johnston, Rob Golden, Fred Wiman, Donnie Newman, Eldon Woodward and other backfield men looked good for Snyder. They came through when they had to on numerous occasions. Keith Noble was perhaps the outstanding Tiger lineman.

Tackles Wesley Ballou and Freddie Stiehl, both weighing over 200, were able to bog down the Tiger attack.

There's no doubt about it. Big Spring is the team to beat in the 2-AAAA District. The second unit played almost the entire last quarter with little, if any loss in efficiency.

Cookie, Broncos Romp Over Boston

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Big Cookie Gilchrist thinks his old American Football League bosses in Buffalo did him wrong and he's out to prove it with the Denver Broncos.

After gaining only 75 yards in losses to San Diego and Buffalo, the 250-pound fullback was turned loose Friday night and powered the Broncos to a 27-10 victory over Boston in the winless Patriots' home debut before a crowd of 26,782.

Gilchrist sparked an 81-yard drive which ate up 10 minutes with 18 plays at the outset of the second half as the Broncos broke a 10-10 deadlock en route to their first road victory in 18 games since 1962. He finished with 142 yards in 32 carries.

"This game bears out what I said all along about not being used properly at Buffalo," said Gilchrist, who was traded to Denver after the 1964 season.

Denver, which had not won in Boston since the first AFL game in 1960, scored in the first period as linebacker John Bramlett recovered a fumble in the Pats' end zone. The Patriots' rebounded with a 76-yard scoring drive, capped by Babe Parilli's four-yard pass to Tony Romeo.

The teams exchanged field goals in the second period before Denver took charge after halftime with unheralded John McCormick replacing starter Mickey Slaughter at quarterback.

Gilchrist carried 10 times for 39 yards in the scoring surge, McCormick clicked on his only two passes and rookie halfback Wendell Hayes finally raced through tackle from six yards out for the touchdown.

The Broncos permitted Boston two plays, recovering a fumble by Parilli at the Pats' 34. Seven plays later Hayes sprinted 12 yards for a touchdown. Denver marched downfield in the final period, but mercifully settled for Gary Kroner's second field goal.

All other pro football games are scheduled for Sunday.

The National Football League schedule has Chicago at Los Angeles, Baltimore vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, Detroit at Minnesota, New York at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at San Francisco, St. Louis at Cleveland and Washington at Dallas.

Baltimore Faces Best In West: Green Bay

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore's Colts go from tough to tougher for the second weekend of action in the National Football League season.

The Colts opened defense of their Western Division title last Sunday against a top-rated challenger, Minnesota, and whipped the Vikings 35-16. This Sunday they face the team regarded as the best in the West — and perhaps in the league: The Green Bay Packers.

The Colts and the Packers, 41-9 winners over Pittsburgh on opening day, tangle at Milwaukee.

Also on the Sunday schedule the St. Louis Cardinals vs. the Browns at Cleveland, the Detroit Lions against the Vikings at Minnesota, the Washington Redskins against the Cowboys at Dallas, the New York Giants and the Eagles at Philadelphia, the Chicago Bears vs. the Rams at Los Angeles, and the Pittsburgh Steelers against the 49ers at San Francisco.

Denver started the American Football League weekend Friday night with its first road victory since 1962, beating Boston 27-10. Sunday's AFL games are New York at Buffalo, Houston at Oakland and Kansas City at San Diego.

Both the Colts and Packers, obviously, looked impressive in their openers. And the winner Sunday, obviously, has to be regarded as the favorite in the West.

Cleveland's defending league champions opened last Sunday with a 17-7 decision over Washington, while the Cardinals — picked by many to dethrone the Browns this season — were upset 34-27 by Philadelphia. This one shapes up as Jimmy Brown's power running for Cleveland against the passing of Charley Johnson.

Detroit displayed its usual unyielding defense in shutting out the Rams 20-0 on opening day, but the Vikings' versatile offense should provide a much sterner test.

The Cowboys showed a lot of all-around talent in burying the Giants 31-2, and probably can roll again over the Redskins.

Quarterback Norm Snead and runner-receiver Timmy Brown stood out in the Eagles' upset of the Cardinals and should be even more bedeviling against the Giants.

John Brodie's passing was a high point as the 49ers started their season with a 52-24 rout of the Bears, and they seem due for another romp against the Steelers.

After the debacle at San Francisco, the Bears again are invading a West Coast city. It should be a toss-up at Los Angeles between two clubs apparently heading for low finishes in the Western Division.

Hermleigh Shut Out By Meadow

MEADOW — The Hermleigh Cardinals were given a rude welcome here Friday night as they fell to the hometown Meadow Bronchos 12-0 in a non-district clash. The defeat left Hermleigh with a 1-2 won-lost record for the season while Meadow is 2-1.

Both Meadow scores came on short gainers as substitute uarterback Roy Cato got the first marker on a 1-foot plunge and fullback Tim Melcher scored the other from one yard out. Both tries for the extra points failed.

Gail Dropped By Garden City 26-16

GAIL — The Bearcats proved to be too much for the Coyotes here Friday night as Garden City defeated Gail 26-16 in a non-district 8-man football clash. It was the second loss in 3 outings for Gail, and the victory for Garden City was its second in 3 contests.

The Coyotes led briefly in the second period, but the passing and running of Vernon Newsome enabled the strong Garden City team to take the win.

Both teams were held scoreless until early in the second quarter when Newsome passed to Riley Chandler for a 17-yard touchdown. The try-for-points was no good, but the Bearcats had a 6-0 lead.

The Coyotes stormed back a few minutes later with Tony Isaacs taking the ball over from 10 yards out. Don Nunnally ran for the extra points to give Gail an 8-6 lead.

The lead changed again toward the end of the first half when Newsome again passed to Chandler for a TD. This play covered 40 yards. The half ended with Garden City leading 12-8.

The Bearcats stretched their lead to 26-8 with one touchdown in the 3rd period and one in the 4th. Newsome tallied both times, the first comingon a 15-yard run, with the second on a one-yard run. After the last TD Ronnie Hirt passed to Chandler for the 2 points.

Gail tallied its last score about 4 minutes before the end of the game when Isaacs went into pay dirt from 5 yards out. Brant Payne passed to Rickey Cunningham for the points.

Gail will begin District 4-B (8) play next Friday when the Coyotes will host Sands, who defeated Gail last year. Game time is set for 7:30 p.m.

Bob Schmidt, No. 3 catcher with the New York Yankees, played with the San Francisco Giants, Cincinnati Reds and Washington Senators.

Cloninger, Braves Cut Giant Lead

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Koufax? Marichal? Ellis?

When you talk about the key pitchers in the National League pennant battle, don't overlook Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger.

Cloninger fired the first shot in the 10-day pennant stretch Friday night, stopping San Francisco on four hits and driving in three runs in an 8-2 Milwaukee victory that trimmed the Giants' lead to one game.

The loss was the Giants' third straight and cut their league lead over Los Angeles in half as the streaking Dodgers rolled to their seventh consecutive victory, edging St. Louis 4-3 on Jim Lefebvre's two-run single in the eighth inning.

Cloninger has won 23 games and is tied for the most victories in the majors with Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers.

Cloninger drove in the tie-breaking run against the Giants in the sixth inning, smacking a sacrifice fly with the bases loaded that snapped a 1-1 deadlock after San Francisco Manager Herman Franks had ordered Ron Herbel to intentionally walk Woody Woodward.

Ty Cline followed with a two-run double, and then the Braves put it out of reach by adding four runs in the seventh on Mack Jones' 30th homer, Cloninger's two-run single and an error by third baseman Jim Hart.

Cloninger, who has lost 10 games, surrendered a run in the fourth inning when Willie Mays singled, stole second and scored on Willie McCovey's double. McCovey hit his 38th homer in the eighth inning.

The Cardinals were ahead 3-1 in the sixth before the Doodgers started to move.

A walk, Derrell Griffith's pinch single and a sacrifice fly by Maury Wills trimmed the score to 3-2 in the seventh, then singles by Willie Davis and Ron Fairly drove Bob Gibson from the mound in the eighth.

Hal Woodeshick came on, issued an intentional walk to Lou Johnson that filled the bases, and then Lefebvre ruined the strategy by smashing a single up the middle that produced the tying and winning runs.

One other NL game scheduled for Friday night was rained out, New York at Philadelphia.

In the American League, Cleveland edged Detroit 3-2 in 10 innings, Kansas City crushed Boston 8-0 and Baltimore outlasted California 10-6 with the second game postponed because of rain. The Minnesota at Washington and Chicago at New York games also were rained out.

Tribe, Tigers Battle For AL Fourth Place

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chico Salmon threatens to frighten the Detroit Tigers out of fourth place in the American League.

While Minnesota plods toward the AL pennant and Baltimore tries valiantly to keep the race alive, Salmon has given Cleveland a big boost toward fourth.

He singled across the winning run in the 16th inning Friday night, giving the fifth-place Indians a 3-2 triumph over Detroit just four days after the Indians edged the Tigers 5-4 on Salmon's run-scoring single in the 14th inning.

Those clutch hits plus his first major league grand slam home run earlier this month have been the high spots of an otherwise so-so season for Salmon.

While Salmon threw another scare into the Tigers, rain washed out Minnesota's game at Washington and Baltimore defeated California 10-6, keeping the Twins' magic pennant-clinching number at three.

Rain also erased the second game of the Orioles-Angels doubleheader and Chicago at New York. Kansas City whipped Boston 8-0 in the only other game.

In the National League, Milwaukee crushed San Francisco 8-2 and Los Angeles nipped St. Louis 4-3. Rain stopped New York at Philadelphia.

In singling across the winning runs in the two games, Salmon did it both times as a pinch hitter against Orlando Pena, and both times the hits won games for Sam McDowell.

The 14th-inning single last Monday night snapped the Indians' four-game losing streak and started them on another streak that has shot them from four games behind Detroit to 1 games back.

Baltmore moved to within 7 games of the Twins behind Jerry Adair and Brooks Robinson. Adair drove in four runs with a single and a homer while Robinson rapped three hits, knocking in two runs.

Jim (Catfish) Hunter held the Red Sox hitless for six innings, but Carl Yastrzemski led off the seventh with a double to left field. He wound up with a two-hitter and rapped three hits. Wayne Causey and Dick Green each batted across three runs.

Grid Pay Ain't Hay

BALTIMORE (AP) — Quarterback John Unitas of the Baltimore Colts predicted Saturday that top salaries in the National Football League would reach the $100,000 level within five years, if the current prosperity continues.

"I'm not close to that figure, and I don't think I'll ever attain it," said the 32-year-old Unitas, one of the top quarterbacks in pro football.

"But if the league continues the way it's going — with increased attendance, and more revenue from television and other sources — someone has to reach $100,000 in the next five years," Unitas said.

Unitas, who signed for about $7,000 in his rookie season, will make an estimated $60,000 this year under a basic contract, with the possibility of adding substantially more through season-performance clauses.

While conceding contract offers are based on last year's performance, Unitas contends that "no athlete, regardless of the kind of season he had, should be asked to take a pay cut."

"I've never taken a cut, and I don't anticipate taking one either," he said. "The Colts have been good to me, but at the same time I can't hold them up. I bend a little, and they do, too."

Unitas views the big salaries and bonuses of recent years as basically "the intent of the owners to knock baseball and basketball off the sports pages, and make football look good in the eye of the public."

"The player may not even be making as much as reported," he said, "but the idea is to put an image in front of the people"

Joe Namath reportedly was given a three-year, $400,000 contract by the New York Jets after finishing his collegiate career at Alabama.

"Namath may have a bunch of 'if' clauses in his contract," Unitas said, "and the club probably will buy insurance against the guaranteed amount, in case anything happens and he cant' play.

"If it was $400,000 for three years, that's several times what a lot of experienced quarterbacks are getting. A lot of NFL quarterbacks are getting less than $35,000 a year, and they have to holler and scream to get that."

LaGrone On Links Team

DALLAS (AP)—Texas Public Links Champion Jim Grant of Baylor is now on the amateur team that faces the pros Monday and Tuesday in the Texas Cup Matches at Baytown.

Wally Murray, the amateurs' non-playing captain, Friday said Grant replaces David Eichelberger of Waco. Steve LeCrone of Texas Tech will fill in for Rik Massengale of Jacksboro.

The amateur team will include John Farquhar, Amarillo; John Thornton, San Antonio; David Goldman, Ed Hopkins and Chip Stewart, Dallas; Randy Geiselman, Houston; Mark Hopkins, Texas City; and Marty Fleckman, Port Arthur.

The Professional team, headed by non-playing captain Jackson Bradley of Houston, will include Jack Sellman, Houston; Buddy Weaver, Lake Jackson; Horace Moore, Plainview; S. A. Smith, Andrews; Earl Stewart, Shelly Mayfield and Raymond Gafford, Dallas; Buster Cupit, Longview; and Joe Conrad and Joe Conrad Jr., San Antonio.

Alternates for the professionals will be Ross Collins, Dallas; Bob Veal, Kilgore; Hart Warren, Pampa; Chuck Klein, San Antonio; and Pete Hessemer, Houston.

Cougars Claw 'Cats, 21-6

HOUSTON (AP)—The University of Houston Cougars, held scoreless for their first 11 quarters of football this season, erupted for three big touchdowns in the final quarter Friday night to whip the Cincinnati Bearcats 21-6.

Cincinnati tallied in the third quarter on a dinky 4-yard look-in pass over center from Steve Schweitzer to Tom Sobolewski.

The enraged Cougars struck back with a 74-yard drive, capped by a 16-yard pass from Dick Woodall to Ken Hebert, who dropped a couple of passes in the first half. Hebert kicked the extra point.

They weren't finished. Much bumbling, fumbling football had to be atoned for. Mississippi State whacked them 30-6 and Tulsa shut them out 14-0.

Cincinnati couldn't move after the kickoff, and Houston launched another drive from its 46. At the Cincinnati 28 fullback George Nordgren exploded up the center, veered right and raced to the one-yard line. He slashed over on the next play.

Each team stalled on their next series of downs and Houston kicked to the Cincinnati 12, where Dolph Banks fumbled and Mike Spratt recovered from the Cougars.

Warren McVea, the touted sophomore who has been a flop so far this year, took a pitchout and snaked to the 6. Bo Burris hit him with a sideline pass and McVea blew into the end zone.

Neither club was able to move inside the others 25-yard line in the first half.

Top Lady Golfers Vie

DALLAS (AP) — Defending champion Jeanie Butler of Harlingen battled the 1963 Louisiana champion, Mrs. Paul Hendrix of Tyler, in the semifinals of the Texas Women's Amateur Golf Tournament today.

State junior champion Kathy Ahern, 16, of Dallas met Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, who last won the championship 25 years ago.

Boilermakers, Irish Fight For No. 1 Spot

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Notre Dame took on Purdue in the main event on today's two college football card, and should the Irish stumble there are a number of powers ready to muscle into that top national ranking — including Purdue.

The battleground for this year's showdown between these intrastate rivals was figured a match between the strong Irish ground game and the sixth-ranked Boilermakers' passing, notably Bob Griese to Bob Hadrick.

Challenging Notre Dame for No. 1, in addition to Purdue, were such prominent members of football's big time as Nebraska, Texas, Michigan and Arkansas.

Nebraska and Michigan had something less than demanding tests. The Cornhuskers were at the Air Force Academy to meet the Falcons, a team severely weakened by last winter's cheating scandal. The Wolverines were at home to California, softened up last week by Notre Dame to the tune of 48-6.

Arkansas entertained Tulsa, and could be in for an interesting day against the Hurricanes' passing show. Texas' aggressive Longhorns also had a home game, at night, against Donny Anderson and Texas Tech.

Florida, Kentucky and Louisiana State — Southeastern Conference title contenders in the national Top Ten — were at home, the latter two in night games.

Florida played Mississippi State. Kentucky, with end Rick Kestner and halfback Rodger Bird ailing, met Mississippi. And LSU faced a non conference opponent, Rice.

A major Eastern attraction paired Miami of Florida against Syracuse.

PUTTER PARALYSIS

Seattle Course Puzzles Pros

SEATTLE (AP) — An epidemic of putter paralysis threatened the 70 survivors who set out shakily today on the third round of the $45,000 Greater Seattle Open Golf Tournament.

If an inanimate thing like a golf course can fight back, Inglewood County Club's layout did it with lightning fast greens that confounded the finest putters in the business.

Nastiest of all was the 10th, where even the most hardened tour veterans were happy to get down in three putts.

One of the vets was Bob Rosburg, now in his 12th touring year, who had to sink an eight-foot tap-in to escape with a double bogey six on the hole. Despite his three putts there, Rosburg totaled only 28 putts in the round of 67 which tied him with Al Geiberger at the midway point.

Both had 130's, Rosburg carrying over a par-72 and Geiberger adding a 70 to his first round 69.

Charles Coody was a stroke back of the leaders. Tied at 141 were Bob McCallister, Gary Bauer and Gay Brewer.

So tough was the layout Friday that players with 148-four over par-survived the cut.

Defending champion Billy Casper made the grade, booking a 72 after his first day 73. Dave Marr, 1961 Seattle champion, fired his second 73 to stay in contention.

Jack Nicklaus, this year's richest tourist, skied to a 74 on the puzzling greens after his first round 69. He was champion here in 1962.

Hobbs Remains Undefeated, 40-8

HOBBS — Quarterback Tommy Lay and right end Jerry Hodges led Hobbs to an impressive, 40 to 8 victory over Mertzon here Friday night to keep intact a perfect 3-0 season record.

The Lay - Hodges combo clicked for two touchdown passes. In addition, each of the two shook loose on a touchdown run. The only Mertzon tally came on a 55-yard run by Henry Manny against the second team Panther defense late in the 4th quarter. Oscar Molina kicked the two-pointer. (In six-man football, conversion kicks count for two points. A run or pass counts one points.)

Lay got the ball to rolling in the first quarter on a 12-yard TD pass to left end Maurice Martinez. Hodges followed it up later in the period with a 70 yard punt return, and Lay kicked for two points.

Lay intercepted a pass in the second quarter and returned it 20 yards to the Mertzon seven yard line. On the next play he scampered around right end for a touchdown. George Martinez passed 55 yards to Hodges in the third quarter.

In the 4th period, Lay passed 55 and 24 yards to Hodges for touchdowns. After the first one, the smooth Blue and Gold quarterback split the uprights for another two-pointer.

Coach Bernard (Boxie) Weems' boys will host Paint Creek at 7:30 p.m. next Friday.

BURT LANCASTER stars in "The Train," opening Sunday, Sept. 26, at the Palace Theater through United Artists release. He portrays a French resistance fighter in the adventure drama, which co-stars Paul Scofield and Jeanne Moreau. The thriller is about a successful attempt to prevent the Nazis from removing a trainload of priceless loot from Paris to Germany in the last days of the Occupation.

Elvis Sheds His Guitar In Picture

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — First the sideburns. Now the guitar. Whither Elvis?

Elvis Presley in the movie he is making now, "Hawaiian Paradise," sings 10 songs but doesn't play a guitar in one.

"People seem to think I'm married to the guitar but the truth is I'm not very good at it," says old swivel hips.

"I usually get credited with beating up a storm on it but usually I have another and much better guitar player backing me up when I play it.

"For me the guitar has just been something to do with my hands and beat time with.

"What I'm really studying to play is the drums."

In "Hawaiian Paradise," Elvis is either playing Polynesian drums or holding onto girls.

"That beats holding a guitar anytime," says Elvis.

Elvis says he is virtually abandoning the instrument with which he long has been identified.

He now gets a million dollars a picture against 50 per cent of the gross, which ranks him alongside Elizabeth Taylor as the highest-paid movie stars.

So giving up the guitar isn't about to hurt him.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer Josef Auerbach was one of the top Czech moviemakers before World War II.

Among his pictures was the famous "Ecstasy" in which Hedy Lamarr ran nude through a forest and stirred up so much controversy that she became a major Hollywood star.

Then came the Nazis. Auerbach fled to South America, broke, and eventually made it to New York.

Little by little he has recouped his fortune. The biggest boost came when he bought the "Our Gang" comedies, held onto them and then released them to television.

In recent years, Auerbach has mostly distributed or sold films, but now he is back producing. He is currently making "Theft of the Mona Lisa" with George Chakiris.

He is 80 years old.

JAN MOORE
. . . star on the rise

Ex-Snyderite's Star Ascending

Jan Moore, former Snyder resident and a well-known recording star, is awaiting the premiere of her first motion picture, "The Forty-Acre Feud."

The premiere is set for Oct. 13 at Andrews, where her parents now reside.

Miss Moore, who now lives in Nashville, Tenn., lived in Snyder from 1950 to 1958 and attended school here.

Her recording career zoomed when her first record, "Reassure Me," was released. She was awarded a contract with Todd Recording Co. and followed her initial success with "Deep Waters" and "Crazy Mixed Up Teens."

On Sept. 16, she opened an engagement at the Golden Nugget at Las Vegas.

When her movie is released, Jan will begin a promotion tour that will take her across the United States. In the movie Jan has the role of a "countrified" Juliet in love with a poor but honest and equally countrified Romeo. Dale Reeves, top western recording star plays the role of Jan's boyfriend.

The cast includes such country singing stars as Minnie Pearl, Ferlin Huskey, Skeeter Davis and Buck Owens. The color movie was produced by Bill Packham and directed by Ron Ormand.

Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carter Moore of Andrews. She is a niece of Mrs. Bill McJennan and Mrs. Gene Overby of Snyder, and while living here in the fifties she was a dance pupil of Elaine Lambert for some 6½ years.

Reno? It's Still A Lively Town

By BILL STALL

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Whatever happened to Reno?

Gone are the golden days when Reno was a stylish, carefree divorce capital where shipwrecked marriages were ended as painlessly as possible.

Las Vegas, with its Alice-in-Wonderland strip, has eclipsed "The biggest little city in the world" as the nation's center of legal gambling.

But Reno is still rolling along. And fun, in Reno, still boils down to gambling — in virtually every shape and for every pocket book.

By day, downtown Reno resembles any young city with a metropolitan area population of 100,000 or more. Businessmen go to Rotary on Mondays while their secretaries lunch or windowshop. Four blocks from the casino center boys and men dangle their feet in the mountain-born Truckee River and catch sleek trout.

At night, Reno swings to the pull of thousands of slot machine handles, the rattling of dice and chips on green felt tables and the big beat of the brassy bands in casino show lounges. Eight million visitors a year crowd into a half dozen city blocks to try their luck at blackjack, craps, keno, slot machines, bingo, the wheel of fortune and poker. The bookies are legal, too, and take bets on horse races and a few other sports events.

The casinos are open around the clock but the money, people and liquor flow freest after sundown.

It still is easy to get a divorce at the black-domed Washoe County courthouse. But marriage outnumbers divorce more than five to one. Weddings are big business, with neither blood test nor waiting period required. The marriage license bureau is open weekends and neon-fringed wedding chapels tie the knot for young and old with mechanical dispatch.

The Chamber of Commerce plugs for less reliance on gambling, but its exhibit at the New York World's Fair is "the world's largest slot machine."

Reno has a stable labor market, but the region has to persuade prospective industries that gambling will not create a personnel problem if they move here, says Harold Gorman, president of the First National Bank of Nevada.

"It's a difficulty to overcome in convincing people we're not a bunch of wild Indians out here," he says.

Motels, restaurants and bars line the major routes for several miles into Reno from each direction — along east-west U.S. 40 (Interstate 80) and north-south U.S. 395. Luxury hotels and motels and under construction to handle the increasing tourist crowds — most of them from Northern California.

Besides the gambling casinos, however, Reno has 22 public schools, 56 churches, 24 parks.

The average Reno wage earner shuns the gambling tables because he knows he can't win in the long run. Many do take advantage of the inexpensive entertainment brought in by the clubs to attract tourists.

Delayed Field Day Set For Tuesday

LUBBOCK — After a one-week delay forced by heavy rains, the annual field day and openhouse at the South Plains Research and Extension Center will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 28.

The major agricultural event had to be postponed after six inches of rain drenched the research center in two days making roads there impassable and putting parking space under water.

However, Superintendent C. E. Fisher reports there was only slight damage to research plots.

This year's field day will emphasize research that shows promise for reducing crop production costs when adapted to on-farm situations, Fisher said.

The center is located 7½ miles north of Lubbock on U.S. 87 and the event is open to the public.

The field day will include a tour and discussions of selected research plots, a chance to see educational plant displays in air-conditioned greenhouses and a large machinery exhibit.

Research plots to be visited and discussed pertain to cotton irrigation, verticilium wilt, cotton mechanization, water conservation, grain sorghum breeding and soil fertility. Other field projects will be explained as tour traders go through the center.

Displays in the greenhouses are designed as an opportunity to learn to identify various abnormalities in plants caused by diseases, fertilizer deficiencies and improper use of chemicals.

Both the researchers and county agents report that a number of new problems with plants have confronted area farmers recently and they believe the greenhouse displays will give added knowledge about some of these problems.

Water usage will be emphasized on two stops of the field tour. Visitors will be told about the water saving advantages of various land forming practices and efficient use of limited irrigation water.

At the stop on cotton mechanization Allen Wiese of the Bushland experiment station will team with center Ag-engineer Elmer Hudspeth to discuss weed control. They will cover costs, rates and degree of control with various types of chemicals.

Some of the work of Hudspeth and his co-workers will be on display in the large commercial machinery exhibit. The exhibit will include models of cotton strippers equipped with green-boll separators and on-the-bed planters. The special planters and strippers resulted directly from research at the center.

Verticilium wilt will get special emphasis. Scientist Levon Ray will talk about effects and control of the wilt on the field tour while cotton with the disease can be closely examined in the greenhouses.

Ray is having some success in developing a long staple storm proof cotton and he says that he may have a small display showing an example of the improved varieties.

Grain sorghum researchers will tell about a new hybrid, which was developed at the center and recently released to breeders. It is a headsmut resistant, medium - late maturity variety that can be harvested earlier than later varieties and should get by with one less irrigation.

South Plains County Agents will be on hand to serve as tour guides. They and the research staff encourage anyone interested in agriculture to attend the field day and open house.

Mrs. Kennedy Stars As Belle Of Ball

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

BOSTON (AP) — White-haired conductor Arthur Fiedler had hardly begun his waltz repertoire when the queen of the ball faded out and Boston's biggest party in years was over.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who has appeared at few social events since the death of her Bostonian husband, the late president 22 months ago, left the Golden Trumpet Ball at half-past midnight.

She was tucked into her limousine with an assist from her host, Henry Cabot, and drove away as a crowd pressed forward for a closer look.

With her went the luster of the Boston Symphony Orchestra's 85th birthday party. Mrs. Kennedy was honorary chairman of the event, which raised approximately $150,000 for the orchestra.

The 65-year-old Symphony Hall was transformed into a magnificent al fresco dining and dancing ballroom, decorated with Edwardian grace.

The lovely widow, her long chestnut hair at her bare shoulders, wore an American-made dress by French designer Jean Patou.

She danced the Blue Danube and other waltzes played by Boston's celebrated Boston Pops Orchestra led by conductor Fiedler. Her partners were gentlemen of Boston chosen by the symphony committee — with the permission of each man's wife.

At her table in Henry Cabot's $1,000 box, Mrs. Kennedy talked to her host at her left and symphony conductor Erich Leinsdorf on her right.

The guests paid $1,000 for a box or $150 for a lobster and veal dinner at a table in the vast ballroom. The ladies wore elegant and expensive, but hardly flamboyant, gowns with a strand of pearls or a diamond pin or two.

After Mrs Kennedy begged to be excused, the men collapsed their top hats, the ladies clutched their chinchillas and everybody went home.

GLENN K. ROBERTSON

Sailor Off To Hawaii

U.S. Navy Petty Officer Glenn Keith Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Robertson, 3804 Galveston, left Long Beach, Calif., recently for Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Robertson, a 1961 graduate of Snyder High School, enlisted in the Navy on Sept. 26, 1961. Part of his first four years in the Navy was spent aboard the USS Bennington, an aircraft carrier which took him to Hawaii, Japan, the Philippines and Hong Kong.

Robertson is now on the USS Bryce Canyon. He was originally scheduled to be discharged this month, but his time has been extended for four months due to the Viet Nam war. His last trip home on leave was a year ago last July.

Mrs. Robertson has just returned from California where she visited her son prior to his departure for Pearl Harbor.

Road Work Is Underway On U. S. 84

The Texas Highway Department announced at a pre-construction meeting here recently that a new highway project for two additional lanes on U.S. 84 from 5 miles northwest of Snyder to 12 miles northwest of Snyder is now under construction.

The construction consists of grading, structures, base and two-course asphalt surface treatment. A structure for FM 1611 to overpass U.S. 84 at a point near Basin Wax Products plant is also included in the new project.

Homer Ray, resident engineer for Scurry County, said construction cost for the work is estimated at $522,000 and all work should be completed within the contract working time of 200 days.

J. H. Strain, contractor, said his construction forces had placed necessary barricades and warning signs throughout the project and at all intersecting roads for the protection of the traveling public.

It was brought out during the discussion that such a meeting was held to acquaint all concerned groups with the project and to promote ways and means for traffic protection during the construction period.

Board Nixes New Bank At Longview

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Banking Board has turned down an application to open the proposed Texas Bank of Commerce at Longview.

The board gives no reasons for its decisions, basing a rejection on its finding that there is no public necessity for a new bank.

Spokesmen for four Longview banks opposed the charter request at a July 16 hearing. They contended the city still feels the economic effects of the 1962 slant oil well scandals.

A hearing scheduled Friday on the proposed Lawndale State Bank of Amarillo was cancelled because the application was withdrawn.

State Sen. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock representing backers of the Amarillo bank, said he did not know whether the application would be reinstated.

He said there were "some matters we need to check out" but did not specify what they were.

Short Is Expensive

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The electric clock at the home of Delbert Hopkins had a $3,000 short Friday.

Firemen who put out a fire in Hopkin's home blamed the short circuit as the cause and estimated the loss.

India's 'Sparrow' Proves Fearless

NEW DELHI (AP) — Many Indians who once considered Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri mild and soft have revised their views in the nation's recent hours of trial.

He assumed the look of a tough, decisive leader. The transformation astonished Indians almost as much as the war with Pakistan over Kashmir and the menacing stance of neighbor Red China. They began to compare Shastri with past leaders who rose in crisis from mediocrity to strength.

Only several months ago, Shastri was making few decisions. He even refused to endorse a birth-control program, evidently in fear people would laugh because he was the father of six children.

The little leader — he is only 5 feet 2 — won the nickname "Sparrow."

But in the crisis, the "Sparrow" often sounded more like a hawk, and people responded. He was cheered from all sides in Parliament. He answered questions bluntly. His speeches seemed to portray a man who would bow before no nation, large or small.

One day a member of the House asked whether Indian troops would shoot back at Chinese firing across the frontier in the Himalayas. He replied:

"I would merely wish to say we will resist them."

It was not just talk. A day later the government announced Indian troops had exchanged fire with the Chinese on the Tibetan border.

The program of action tended to rally India's quarreling political factions behind Shastri. He made a practice of calling leaders to his office, in the Lyndon Johnson style, to explain the crisis and seek support.

With a similar approach, Shastri spiked some journalistic guns. He called in a group of leading editors and told them, "If you see me doing something wrong, tear me to pieces."

Now, however, even one of his bitterest newspaper critics wrote, "The little man is coming along very well."

Shastri seemed to gain new confidence in himself. He told intimates he was pleased by two results of the crisis:

—India rose from her knees and acted like a big nation whose neighbors would not be permitted to push her around.

—The whole nation was pulling together. Sectional and social quarrels seemed to disappear, at least for the moment in the face of common danger.

Raleigh To Sport Pink Garbage Truck

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The women of Raleigh were asked by city officials for ideas to spruce up the North Carolina capital.

The ladies responded with suggestions for rearranging furniture at City Hall and painting the drab green garbage trucks a pretty shade of pink.

Public Works Director Warren Mann thought a fleet of pink garbage trucks would be too much. But he said one truck would be painted pink for the ladies.

'Where To Put It' Becomes Big Problem Of Astronauts

By HAROLD B. WILLIAMS

HOUSTON (AP) — Imagine taking a two-week trip around the world in your car and not getting out once, or even rolling the windows down to throw out trash.

You would have to eat, sleep, brush your teeth, wash, do all the things you would normally do in living out 14 days but in the small confines of your car.

Sounds tough? Well then consider doing the same things but adding a passenger, cutting the car in half and using just the front seats.

Impossible? Astronauts Frank Boreman and James Lovell don't think so, and they intend to do just that this year.

Not in a car, but in their Gemini 7 space capsule, which has about the same roominess as the front seats of a compact car.

There are problems. Just as astronaut Gordon Cooper Jr. predicted after Gemini 5. Finding a place to put everything for the long flight has given astronauts and engineers some monumental puzles.

Borman and Lovell have been going over the cabin's interior inch by inch, cosverting unused space into storage bins, drawers and pouches. Even the leg room under the astronauts' couches is being converted into storage bins.

Empty spaces under the couches, once thought essential for safety in case the astronauts had to bail out, is being filled with food packages.

In addition to a 14-day food supply, which includes four meals a day, there are several cameras, rolls of film, lenses and several other equipment to be used for the many experiments.

Charles Mathews, Gemini program manager, says plans are being drawn to place a pneumatic tube—much like the ones used in office buildings and department stores — in the spacecraft's roof to get rid of trash — a space-age garbage disposal.

Gemini 7 is scheduled for shortly before Christmas. It could be delayed until 1966.

Before Lt. Col Borman and Cmdr. Lovell fly the long mission, Gemini 6, with Navy Capt. Walter Schirra Jr. and Maj. Thomas Stafford, must be launched.

Mathews says a 14 - day mission was picked because it is the maximum time for a round-trip to the moon.

The Gemini 5 eight-day flight equalled the minimum time. Astronauts and engineers may want to spend more time getting to the moon, and particularly getting back," said Mathews. "We may want to increase our stay time on the moon more than one day."

Firemen Let Blaze Take Its Course

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The fire department's truck No. 18 had a fiery journey to its final destination — the city garage where it was to be sold.

The 1940 model truck had to pull to the curb Friday when a brake band on its drive shaft overheated.

Fire Marshal Thomas Gilfoyle said firemen looked around the truck for an extinguisher, but found none. So they let the fire burn itself out and continued to the garage.

Library Notes

The problems that growing children present in today's world are increasing in frequency and intensity, and many parents do not know how to cope with them.

Numerous books are available at the Scurry County Library which offer practical help for dealing with family situations and the problems of children.

An excellent book is "Children: The challenge." By Dr. Rudolf Dreikurs, one of the country's most important child psychiatrists. The book covers situations and challenges that parents face with their children and offers tested solutions for meeting these problems.

Other helpful recent guides for parents who are raising children include "From two to five," by Kornei Chukovsky. This author views the child as a tireless explorer, writing delightfully as well as instructively about children's fanciful and often shrewd reactions to ordinary life situations, among them the mysteries of sex and death. In Frances Ilg's book "Parents Ask," among the questions answered are those dealing with the problems such as feeding, toilet training, sleeping, relations with the family, discipline, behavior in school and the uses of television. Also, specific advice is given on how to handle thumb - sucking, - sloppiness, stuttering, etc., but there is wise and sympathetic discussion of the fundamental causes for such behavior in children. In Murray Polner's "Questions children ask," answers are given to those 'hard' questions about divorce, adoption, race, religion, life, and death. 'Problems of Parents," by Dr. Benjamin Spock, is a book of special interest. Dr. Spock's warmth and compassionate understanding have made millions of mothers and fathers turn to him trustfully, as to a familiar wise friend.

Parents bewildered by preteen and teen-agers behavior can get help and advice from the many excellent books on adolescence and youth. "Your preteenager's mind and body", by Dr. Flanders Dunbar, world - famous physician, psychiatrist and pioneer in the field of psychosomatic medicine, here presents a practical, highly readable guide to the preteen years. Dr. J. Roswell Gallgher, in his book "Emotional problems of adolescents", places emphasis throughout upon the fact that though most adolescents have problems, the adolescent girl or boy is a person, not a problem. It is the individual, not his failure, that needs to be understood. Adolescents are different. They are no longer children, and they are only beginning to be adults. Especially at this time in life, many minor emotional and behavioral problems can be solved by the kindliness and understanding of the right person. Another book of particular interest is "Adolescence and discipline", by Dr. Rudolph M. Whittenberg; "Vanishing adolescent", by Edgar Z. Friedenberg. This book is an original and penetrating study of adolescents in our society-their struggles to survive and to succeed, and their all-too-frequent humiliation and defeat at the hands of terrified and insensitive adults.

Other books include "Growing pains", by Helen Parkhurst; "Teen-agers ask more questions", by Sheila John Daly; "How to live through Junior High School", by Eric W. Johnson; Pat Boone's "Twixt twelve and twenty", and "Between you, me and the gatepost."

Sally Liberman Smith, in her book "Nobody said it's easy", asks the question: can the years between 13 and 19 be the best years of your child's life? The author talks to teen-agers as young adults who, once they understand what makes them tick, can cope more successfully with their conflicts and tensions, and with their parents, teachers, siblings, friends, and dates.

Material on more specialized areas such as children at school, the handicapped or retarded child, the only child, jealousy, and other problems is also available at the library.

Crumble crispy cooked bacon and add to buttered noodles to be served with veal or chicken.

5 Lawn Tips For Winter

When you start preparing your garden for Winter, don't forget your lawn. Here are five suggestions:

1. Keep mowing until the turf stops growing.
2. Remove all leaves from the lawn. These can be raked off or removed with the rotary mower.
3. Treat the entire turf area against snow mold diseases.
4. Apply a pre - emergence crabgrass control to prevent crabgrass germination.
5. See that the lawn has been well fertilized in early Fall to give the plants strength to carry them through Winter.

TICKING

Old-fashioned ticking stripes make a delightful background for a girl's room. Ticking is featured in many of the new wallpaper designs, including prepasted wallpapers, which are easy to install, and papers with a plasticized finish for ease of maintenance.

Gardener's Corner

SOME DAY you may be able to spray your lawn to keep it green through a dry spell. Scientists are learning new ways to manage plants, that we may better utilize limited resources, including water.

The effort is pointed up in these days of water shortages.

The idea was given a field test some time ago by two of the oldest agricultural experiment stations in the world. The idea came from the Connecticut station and the test, made at the Rothamsted station near London, showed that use of water by a field crop could be regulated by a chemical applied to its leaves.

"These experiments demonstrate the effectiveness of evaporation control by the chemical closure of stomates," the researchers reported. (Stomates are the microscopic pores of leaves. Water vapor passes through them into the air.)

The test crop was barley. The chemical applied was an ester of nonenyl succinic acid (NSA). When the test area was sprayed with NSA, the stomates closed and transpiration, or evaporation from the leaves, was sharply reduced compared with that on an adjoining check plot.

The test showed that water use by a growing field crop could be markedly reduced.

The idea was born some years earlier when Dr. Israel Zelitch noted that a chemical, as a side effect of other experiments, closed stomates in tobacco leaves in sunlight.

* * *

Plant growth — trees, flowers, grass — maintain their own system of water conductors and valves. They can take water from the soil and conduct it through roots and stems and into leaves. The water carries along chemical elements and compounds that give life to plant cells. Much of the water taken up by plants goes into the atmosphere through stomates, or automatic valves in leaves.

The amount of water a plant uses varies with season, sun and wind.

When the stomates open wide, on a dry and sunny day, carbon dioxide enters the leaf, water vapor and oxygen flow out. On a humid, cloudy day, photosynthesis is slower. Less carbon dioxide is used; less water vapor escapes.

When soil moisture is plentiful, plants use water, vaporizing it into the air according to the demand of the atmosphere, not according to the demand of their growth.

Plants can be made to use less water by cutting off some leaf-bearing stems, thus destroying many water - escape stomates, or by spraying chemicals on leaves to waterproof the ports.

But some scientists see more promise to control of transpiration in control of the stomates.

How much water is lost through plants? A well - watered acre of grass or trees may lose 4,000 gallons on a sunny summer day. A field of corn may transpire enough water during a growing season to cover the ground to a depth of 15 inches.

Women Upset Supreme Court But Make Point

"It will need more than the 19th amendment to convince me that there are no differences between men and women."

So spoke Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes in 1923, but not everyone in our government is yet convinced. Women have always caused legal problems. Some countries have simplified the situation by simply refusing to recognize their existence. In many countries a woman is a piece of property, while in others she may be a voting citizen but cannot participate in government.

In EQUAL JUSTICE UNDER LAW, a new book being distributed by Grosset & Dunlap many of the cases brought before the Supreme Court are vivid examples of the trouble women have caused these illustrious gentlemen — simply by being women.

When Oliver Wendell Holmes argued for women in 1923, Congress had passed a law establishing 10 hours as the maximum work day for women doing heavy factory duty or working under hazardous conditions. Five other Justices felt that women having won the right to vote, were legally equal to men.

Today the battle is still going on. As EQUAL JUSTICE UNDER LAW shows, it was all right for women to be men when it came to long hours, but will it be all right for them to be men when it comes to equal pay?

EQUAL JUSTICE UNDER LAW — the Supreme Court in American life — is an accounting of our Supreme Court from its inception, and how it works today. It is profusely illustrated.

Plants For Bath, Laundry

plants for 2-14 jo

Clean families and healthy plants go together. Many clay-potted plants thrive on the humidity that prevails in bath and laundry rooms. The more laundry people do and the more showers they take, the better plants that like high humidity seem to do.

For best flavor in the resulting loaves, let yeast - bread dough rise in a warm place whose temperature is nearer 80 degrees than 85 degrees.

Neutral Containers

When you stick with neutral shades for plant containers, the color and drama of your house plants will be enhanced. That's why the neutral terra cotta earth tones of red clay pots make them the decorator's perennial favorites.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY KEITH MORELAND

Moreland - Hanney Vows Solemnized In First Baptist Church Of Seguin

The Rev. Oscar Thompson officiated at the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Patricia du Menil Hanney and Henry Keith Moreland on Friday night, September 3, at 8 o'clock in First Baptist Church, Seguin, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Hanney. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dawson Moreland.

White gladioli in a large basket adorned the altar. Candelabras were entwined with ferns.

Mrs. Leonard Luton was organist and Bob McCulloch, soloist, sang "This Day of Days" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was pretty in her gown of white tulle and Chantilly lace over white satin. The fitted bodice of lace came to points in the front and in the back at the waistline. The scoop neckline was accented with scallops and the long lace sleeves came over the wrists. The bouffant tulle skirt was detailed with motifs of appliqued lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion cascaded from a crown of seed pearls. Her bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by white glamellias.

Miss Evelyn Branning was maid of honor. Miss Sue Moreland, sister of the groom, and Miss Sharon Hanney, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids.

The attendants wore identical floor length sleeveless gowns of blue satin designed with A-line skirts, and accented by bows with streamers on bodice f[illegible]. White tulle with blue bows fashioned the headresses. Each carried a bouquet of white glamellias.

Mrs. Hanney wore a beige sheath with a matching jacket, beige and brown accessories and an orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a white sheath with matching coat, black accessories and orchid corsage.

Richard Snyder of Austin was the groom's best man. The groomsmen were Ronnie Eades of Snyder, cousin of the groom, and Kim Hanney, brother of the bride. The ushers included Max Moreland, brother of the groom, and Clifford Hanney, brother of the bride.

A reception was held on the lawn of the church with hurricane lamps and English ivy outlining the paths.

Mrs. Marvin McCall registered guests in the bride's book. Misses Mary Louise Dullnig and Patsy McQuay served the bride's cake, a three - tiered white confection topped with a muniature bride and groom. The groom's cake, three layer German chocolate, was served by Kaye Lloyd and Mrs. Dennis Springer. Lou Gerick and Ann Stafford served punch and coffee.

Also in the houseparty were Mmes. Marvin Semmler, Harold Haines, Robert Henning, Oscar Thompson and Virginia Cross.

As the couple left on a wedding trip to Austin, Sonora, and Snyder, the bride wore a three-piece royal blue suit, white and black accessories and orchid corsage.

Mrs. Moreland, a 1962 graduate of Seguin High School, is presently a senior elementary education major at University of Texas. A 1962 graduate of Snyder High School, Mr. Moreland is a junior biology major at University of Texas. They will make their home at 600 East 24th Street, Austin.

Fall Hairdos

Fall '65 is a season of coiffure controversy — hairstyles are short and curly, long and straight or piled high in curls, or severely sheared. The hairstyling centers say there's something for everyone, but the young crowd is staying with their straight locks kept smooth and sleek with an uncurly permanent.

Good combination shrimp and crab in a cream sauce served on toast or rice or in pattie shells.

Collier, Kitchen Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kitchens

Alma Joyce Collier of Odessa, became the bride of Mr. Donald Wayne Kitchens in double ring ceremonies held at the Temple Baptist Church of Odessa on Sept. 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Raymon F. Collier, 1918 N. Hancock, Odessa, and Mrs. Marie Kitchens, 3208 Redwood, Odessa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of lace over satin with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves buttoned at the wrists. Her fingertip veil of tulle was attached to a headband covered with sequins and pearls. For something old she wore a gold wedding ring belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. W. H. Cage, something new, a single strand of pearls, a gift from her parents, something borrowed was her wedding gown and veil from her aunt, Mrs. Dean Carman, something blue was a garter, and she wore a penny in her shoe for luck.

She carried a white rose arrangement atop a white Bible.

Special emphasis was given to the forthcoming Area Workshop to be held Oct. 16 in Abilene at Hardin Simmons University. All members were urged to make plans to attend. Special speaker at the Oct. 16 meeting will be the Texas Division President, Mrs. John J. Haslem of Orange.

Other special guests for the evening were Mrs. Maxie McNew, Miss Virginia Odom, and Mrs. June Anderson.

Organ Is Older Than Christianity

Do you know that the organ is actually older than Christianity?

The first organ was devised in 250 B.C. and combined water, a trumpet and air pressure to make "a powerful sound." More than 1,900 years later, an organ was built that had 400 pipes and 26 bellows, and needed 70 men to operate it and two organists to play it.

Eventually, other mechanical devices were added and soon the organ was known as the King of Instruments. But, it was so large and magnificent only the very rich could own it.

In 1935, Laurens Hammond put together the first electric organ and, fittingly, Henry Ford, another great American inventor, was the first man to own a Hammond Organ.

Today, more than three million Americans play electric organs for fun and enjoyment.

Stretch Children's Shoe Budget

Back-to-school time also means back to the store for more families, and shoes are high on the list of new purchases. Unless the youngsters have outgrown their shoes this is often a needless expense. Loose inner soles, holes in the lining, and even sole can, with a little do-it-yourself mending, be made comfortable and wearable with household cement.

Holes in the lining, for example, can be fixed by using an small patch of strong cloth. Feather the edges of the hole, and the small patch. Uneven edges make the wearing more comfortable. Apply household cement to hole and patch. An important tip — wait until the cement is tacky and then smooth hole and patch together.

Leather soles can be made whole again if the layers have separated. When that happens it is best to pull all those loose flaps as far apart as possible. Then, a good cleaning with soap or cleaning fluid is the most important step toward a successful repair. Dry thoroughly and apply household cement between layers.

Fluvanna News

By MARJORIE MATHIS

To say that Daisy and Bob Jordan were a little surprised one Thursday evening recently might well be the understatement of the year. The first hint they had of unusual happenings was when one of their three lively daughters looked out the window and said, "There's an awfully lot of cars coming up the road."

All the Jordans looked, and sure enough, there were cars and cars approaching. For just at dusk on that Thursday evening, friends and relatives, perhaps sixty strong, gathered quietly on the Lubbock Highway east of the Jordan place and when assembled drove together up the winding road that leads to the recently enlarged and remodeled Jordan ranch house.

When the Jordans opened the front door, they were mobbed by gift - bearing women, ice-cream freezer-toting husbands and children laughing, running and giggling.

It was a surprise house warming, with gifts and eats. The Jordan Family was all but speechless. In fact, later in the evening, Mrs. Jordan remarked when trying to say her thankyous, "Well, at speech making, I'm not so good" and finished her remarks with tears of pleasure.

It was a fun-inspired evening for all, this nearly impromptu party, and an awfully nice idea for a host and hostess who were given no warning and therefore didn't have to think of refreshments. Luckily the Jordans were at home, or there might have been a get - together without them.

Labor Day found Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Mathis attending the annual Mathis Reunion in El Campo at the home of a brother, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mathis. They also visited at the home of Mr. Mathis' mother, Mrs. J. M. Mathis, at Longacre Farm near Wharton. Thirty members of the family were together, some being from Louisiana, Houston, Angleton and Mission. Enroute to the reunion, the local couple stopped to see Mrs. H. B. Hoover at Florence, an aunt of Mr. Mathis. At Liberty Hill, they spent the night with Mr. and Mrs Thea Gallatin who entertained with a supper for their guests and others of the Mathis relatives which included Mrs. Mary Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Landrum and their daughter, Mrs. Faye Canady and children, and Mrs. Myrtle White. On the way home Mr. and Mrs. Mathis visited with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hurley and Tom, in San Antonio overnight and with an old friend, C. M. Knight.

Fluvanna Young Farmers made themselves known at the field on Sept 11. The chapter had one hundred percent attendance at the meeting. They received a handsome trophy for having the most present, another trophy for being the Outstanding Chapter in the Area. Ray Herring, past president, received second place as Outstanding Farmer for Area II. James Bever was elected secretary for the 1965-66 year.

During the evening, Fluvanna wives joined their husbands to attend the awards banquet. On hand for the entertainment and the presentation of awards were Messrs. and Mmes. Bill Jones, Roy Lee Beaver, Bill Jennings, Herman Kiesling, Bill Stansell, Jeff Martin, Don Wills, James Beaver, Orval Mathis, Glenn Toombs, Don Jones, Burl Belew, Buddy Drum and Jimmy Jo Key. Also present were L. M. Dawson, Rex Pylant and Buster Lemmons.

Mr. Herring presided during the banquet and introduced guests and speakers. By being named Outstading Chapter of this area, the local group will run in competition with nine other chapters from across the state. The winner will be annouced in Austin at the State Convention January 14 and 15, 1966. The local group is making plans now to attend this meeting, where they hope to have an even more successful trip than the one to Dallas last year which about twenty Fluvannaites made.

Start A Musical Hobby This Fall

Fall months signify a shift into "winter gear." It's a good time to take up new activities, new hobbies and pastimes for the indoor months ahead.

It's the perfect time of year for people of all ages to pursue new interests like learning to play a musical instrument.

It's never too late or too early in life to start a hobby like this, advises Mildred Alexander, teaching consultant, Hammond Organ Company. A youngster approaches a hobby like music by acting first and thinking secondly. A more mature person will think first, then expend energy. But, the surprising result is that both arrive at the same degree of skill at the same time when it comes to learning to play an instrument like an electric organ.

A most important aspect of any new undertaking is to be able to see accomplishments quickly, Miss Alexander says.

So, if you want to tackle something new this year for sheer fun or want to start your child on the path to music, consider learning to play a musical instrument this fall. Pick one like the electric organ, where you'll be hearing yourself — or your youngster — play a variety of tones and tunes literally after the first lesson.

Music provides fun for the whole family and puts more life into those indoor winter gatherings when friends come to call.

Homemade beef stock in the refrigerator or freezer? Heat it with an equal amount of tomato juice and, if necessary, add seasoning. Serve in cups as a bracer on a cool day.

Foliage Plants Always Satisfy

Disappointed in your past green thumb potting abilities? Avoid failure. Select easy-to-care-for foliage plants such as Chinese evergreen or philodendron - both popular choices. Whatever you choose make sure they're professionally grown in porous red clay pots.

Home Safety

More accidents occur at home where people feel they are safe than at any other place, according to safety experts in a new color film "Safety In The Home," produced by Encyclopedia Britannica Films, Inc. The film follows a family through its daily activities relating how accidents can be prevented by using common sense.

Curing Bud Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — If buds drop from African violets, it's usually because there isn't enough moisture in the room. One way to remedy this is to set clay-potted plants in trays filled with pebbles and water. The pots should rest on stones above water level.

Nowadays packaged dried fruit may usually be cooked without the soaking old - fashioned recipes always called for.

Ladies To Assist The Jaycees

The Snyder Jaycee - ettes met Thursday night at the Snyder National Bank community room.

The program, introduced by Mary Jimm Floyd, was given by Mrs. Maureen Robinson. Mrs. Robinson presented a very interesting talk on her work with mentally handicapped children, with special emphasis on the Snyder Special Education School.

Ellie Dryden, president, presided over the business meeting following the program. Reports were given on the Jaycee carnival concession and also the coffee given for Jaycee wives. Members were asked to save coupons to give to State Jayceeettes for contribution to Camp Sweeney for diabetic children. An invitation was extended Snyder Jaycee-ettes from the Sweetwater Club to a Style Show and dinner to be held Oct. 5. Plans were made to assist the Jaycees with consessions at the Scurry County Fair, Oct. 7th, 8th. and 9th.

Following the meeting refreshments were served to 11 members and two guests, Mrs. Robinson and Linda Horn.

Cue For A New Fall Coif

Don't you enjoy starting new in the fall? The zing in the air and the new fall fashions make autumn an exhilarating season, a time for beginnings, the start of something new.

When you choose your new fall hairstyle to go with the new fall look, decide on one that is easy to do. This doesn't mean your new hairdo has to be so simple that it's a "little nothing" coif.

You can have the newest fashion look in hairstyles, no matter how intricate or complicated, and set it faster, easier and neater yourself with the new hair setting gel. It eliminates the old-fashioned drippy lotions which made hair setting a time-consuming chore.

Just dip your fingers in the gel, stroke it on a strand, comb through and wind into a roller. Quick as a twist of your fingers it's up and clipped into place, because this gel makes the hair hug the roller. With the body it gives your hair, a roller set will last much longer.

HE MUST HAVE HIS OWN TIME MACHINE!

'Dirty American' Is China's Issue To Cover Inactivity

By HANS KONINGSBERGER
written for
The Associated Press

PEKING (AP) China has variously been called an iceberg with only its peak showing or an ocean with only the surface visible. I have no pretentions to have fathomed its depths. I can only present, with many reservations, how these men and women in the street, and in factories and offices, in a handful of the biggest cities, seem to feel about the world around them and, specifically, about the war in Viet Nam.

In the realm of foreign affairs, Viet Nam is well nigh the only topic: with every foreign visitor, private or official, it is an immediate touchstone of his attitudes; it is the steady five- or six-column headline on the front page of the People's Daily, the official newspaper; it is the main subject of government advertising.

In these ads, noble-looking groups of people of all races, profiles tilted toward the horizon, and clutching rifles or hand grenades, are taking a stand against "imperialism." The text informs us so; very rarely do they actually show American soldiers attacking or being attacked. And some of the posters, featuring curvy and very pretty girls with glossy black hair, clutching tommy guns, could have come straight from Madison Avenue; oddly enough, in some subtle way they seem to use sex in selling their message.

But are "the people" really concerned? Is the Peking government really worried, or is Viet Nam a godsend which they would have invented if it hadn't been there? As with most questions about China, the answers are, "yes and no."

The people surely are concerned.

"Imperialism" is no empty politician's phrase here: with whomever I had some kind of halfway serious conversation it had a most precise meaning. And, avoiding all the talk about class struggle, capitalism, communism, and revisionism, I think this meaning may be summed up effectively as follows: "Imperialism is: white soldiers in Asia (or Africa)."

Both the town people, including any lukewarm intellectuals, and the peasants — made aware of the world for the first time in their history — accept this definition easily and as it were, instinctively.

To the average Chinese, now and long before Mao Tze-tung was ever heard of, no case can ever be made for the presence of white troops in his part of the world.

Because of this, the vast audiences of the new "revolutionary operas" and revolutionary movies, political cabarets and theater plays, which forever use themes from World War II and the Chinese civil war following it, easily accept the Americans, advisers and helpers of the Chiang Kai-shek government, as the "bad guys," rather than the Japanese, the great despoilers of China of those years.

This is not simply a matter of no choice. I have talked to actors and actresses who had toured the West and who discussed this in sophisticated terms which would not have been out of place in the office of an American show business agent. The war with Japan was an incident in history; the enmity of the whites is a lasting historical truth to them.

I found this concept of "imperialism" to hold, too, with other Asians diplomats accredited in Peking, and overriding any fears of communism.

Because this angle of "race war" hits men so hard and evokes such deep and irrational emotions, the Chinese people are indeed deeply involved, without the need for their government to do more than keep the issue in the news.

Yet, that being said, I think that the Chinese, like everyone else, is not really interested in foreign politics — not interested the way he is interested in his life, work, family, and prospects.

The way the Chinese government is handling these feelings of the people is a complex matter too. Like most Westerners, I was shocked by hearing nursery tots sing about their determination to shoot down American planes.

A French student friend of mine who, without asking, photographed some children in Hanchow — something the Chinese hate, had little boys scream at him, "Dirty American — why don't you go back to Formosa?"

But attention should be drawn to an important element in these processes of "thought molding" which makes them rather different from what, for instance, the Hitler youth was put through. The striking difference, to me, seems to be that whereas Hitler was mentally preparing a generation for aggressive war, the Chinese government, as of now, seems to provide a substitute for war.

This is not necessarily a matter of morality; it is practical politics. The point is, that if China were as great a power as it is in the image projected for its people by the government, it might have gone to war quite a while ago, and it would have had enough support from the population in such a venture.

It is no such power; and its leaders are surely aware of the fact that the American air force could destroy in an hour all that has been put together so slowly and wearily during the last 15 years.

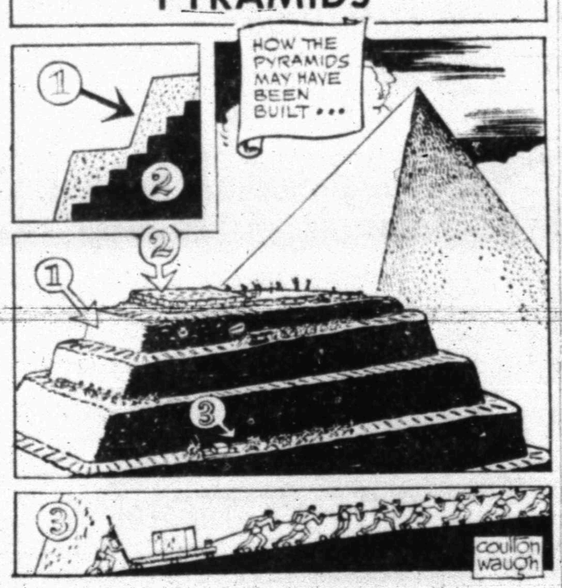

And thus all those demonstrations and resolutions seem not to prepare, but to substitute, for war, to gloss over the government's actual inactivity.

The point that "Viet Nam" provides the Chinese government with an issue needed to help the people hard at work, has little visible reality. The Chinese people do work hard — though not as hard as most Western experts think — and have done so through most of their history, whenever they got a halfway decent break from their rulers in terms of food, clothing, and "pride." But, in a deeper sense, there is substance to the idea that American policies, willy-nilly, provide a most useful challenge.

The China of 1965 tries to be a sober, intense, and Puritanical society. Rather than saying it is Communist and contrast it with Western capitalism, a more useful juxtaposition may be given by saying that in China various disciplinary and "steering" forces and rules have been given the regulating tasks in daily life which, in the West, are performed by economic laws and by money as a regulating agent.

Such a moneyless, profitless, society would function best in isolation. And in that sense, the political isolation which the United States has imposed on this country since 1950 — and the Russians since 1959 — paradoxically created a favorable climate for the drastic government reforms and actions.

Junior Editors Quiz on PYRAMIDS

QUESTION: How did they build the pyramids?

• • •

ANSWER: The purpose of an ancient Egyptian pyramid was to serve as a royal tomb. Since the Egyptians thought that life after death demanded that their remains be preserved, rulers built pyramids to preserve their bodies forever. Robbers broke into some of them to get treasures buried with the rulers, so the pyramids did not fulfill their function as planned.

These monuments, however, are as impressive and awe-inspiring as any structures made by men. The secret of how they were built is not exactly known, but our picture shows a method which many experts think may have been used. The "Great Pyramid," near Cairo, was built of limestone blocks each weighing 2 1/2 tons. It is recorded that 100,000 slaves worked for 20 years to build it. According to the theory shown in the picture, layers of these blocks were laid down, each layer slightly smaller than the one below (shown in black in #2.) To carry the blocks up, a ramp was built around them (1) which spiralled around the structure, both ramp and inner structure being built as the pyramid rose up. Crews of slaves pulled the blocks up the ramp on sledges. Logs were embedded in the ramp to lessen the friction. When the top was reached, the ramp was removed as the workers came down, and the steps of the layers were filled in at the same time.

FOR YOU TO DO: Draw a triangle with two equal sides (you can check this with a ruler or piece of paper). Now put a little palm tree beside your pyramid. Color the pyramid gold, the sand light yellow and the tree green. 9-25
