Voters OK Bond Issue At Forsan

FORSAN — Patrons of the Forsan County Line Independent School District Saturday approved issuance of $350,000 in bonds for school expansion and improvements by a two to one margin.

The vote was: for the bonds 111; against the bonds 51. Majority of the opposition to the proposal generated in Forsan proper where the vote was 50 for and 43 against. At Elbow, where the second voting box was set up, the vote was 61 for and 8 against the proposal.

CANVASS VOTE
Darrell Flynt, superintendent, said that the votes will be canvassed at the meeting of the board of trustees on Tuesday night. At the same time Carter Johnston, fiscal agent for the district, will be present to instruct the trustees in the next step.

As quickly as possible the bonds will be approved for sale and the money made available, Flynt said.

The architects have already prepared the initial plans and will now be instructed to push ahead with the final plans and specifications. Flynt said that moving at top speed, the earliest possible date a contract

BULLETIN

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets shot down two Soviet-built MIG-17s in a five-minute aerial battle north of Hanoi, American spokesmen announced Sunday. It was the first time in more than nine months that American planes had bagged any MIGs in the Viet Nam war.

Mauled Viet Reds Slip From Trap

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Communist regiment mangled by U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops through a 48-hour battle in the Quang Ngai sector slipped from the allied trap Saturday and escaped into central highland jungles.

A U.S. spokesman's announcement Friday that the troops and supporting planes and artillery had killed 257 of the Red enemy was scaled down on a recheck to 220. Allied losses again were termed light.

Ebbing of the spring's heaviest ground battle coincided with the rise of a threat to the precarious political peace that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime obtained by promising the Buddhist hierarchy to hold an election this summer to restore civilian rule.

Roman Catholic refugees and the Saigon Student Union called for pro-government street demonstrations here Sunday. That could stir up a violent reaction from the Buddhists, quiet lately even in such dissident hotbeds as Hue and Da Nang.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has called the election, due to be held in three to five months, an untold path for the Vietnamese. He said in a taped CBS television interview Friday the political turmoil has affected the military effort against the Communists and set back the drive for economic reconstruction.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

It waited almost to the very end of the week, but rain made big news. Early reports Saturday indicated that most of the county got an inch and a half or substantially more. This will be enough to be of tremendous help to pastures and may give enough in many areas for an early planting. This also will bring out the wild flowers. Yellow primroses have been blooming along with wild verbena, Spanish dagger, and guara (honey-suckle weed). Now the mallows will flourish along with a variety of daisies and tansy asters. Next will be the cactus, yucca and poppies.

There was a somber aura for the whole week, for services were held here for two of our men who died in Viet Nam. Memorial services were held Tuesday morning for Maj. Charles Penn, and that afternoon for a native son, Pfc. Coy Thomas, whose remains were returned to his own land for final rest.

Banks made the big news, too. First off, the three banks in Big Spring and one in Coahoma showed total resources in excess of $50,000,000 for the first time. Perhaps there's nothing magic in this figure, but it is encouraging to surpass it. Deposits of $45,835,000 were up 10.4 per cent, cash of $18,677,000 was up 28 per cent, resources of $50,866,000 were up 9.77. In the face of this, it was natural that loans and discounts should ease a bit. They were down .64 of one per cent at $22,039,000.

The other big banking news was the return of all outstanding stock in the Security State Bank to local ownership. R. L. Tollett, R. D. Johnson and R. W. Andrews formed a syndicate to acquire 9,222 shares held by Rodman and Noel of Odessa. Top banking officials and others will be afforded an opportunity to purchase blocks of the stock. It was only a month ago that local buyers closed a deal for control of the First National Bank.

DDD may sound like an insect spray, but it's a modern service soon coming to Big Spring. It is Direct Distance Dialing. When it comes on July 14, you can pick up your phone, dial a number anywhere else in the United States without going through an operator (unless you are on a multiple party line) and then only to clarify your number. When we go DDD, all the Amherst numbers beginning with 4 will switch to 7.

Politics are picking up plenty fast. Local candidates were turning on the steam, for the first primary is only two weeks away. Rep. Omar Burleson came here Thursday to open

Rendezvous, Space Hookup Feats Readied

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Gemini 9 pilots described Saturday how they plan to simulate three rendezvous maneuvers essential to the Apollo objective of placing astronauts on the moon.

Gemini 9 is scheduled to be launched May 17 from Cape Kennedy, Fla. Its three-day flight plan includes one rendezvous with an Agena target satellite the first day and two more on the third.

"They will be closer to what an Apollo rendezvous will be than was the case with Gemini 8," Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford, the command pilot, told a news conference.

SPACE WALK

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan, the pilot, also is scheduled to make a 2-hour 25-minute space walk, during part of which he will use a 125-foot tether and a new backpack maneuvering unit that has its own propulsion system and oxygen supply.

Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. form the backup crew.

FIRST RENDEZVOUS

The first rendezvous is planned 3 hours 59 minutes after launch, during the third orbit, with a hookup with the Agena planned 12 minutes later. This is approximately the same time an Apollo lunar excursion module, with two astronauts aboard, will need to return from a moon landing to the Apollo command spacecraft.

Gemini 8 did not make its historic rendezvous and docking maneuvers with its Agena target March 16 until the fourth orbit.

MODULE SEARCH

The second Gemini 9 rendezvous will be attempted without the use of radar and the third will simulate a search for a lunar excursion module having some difficulty on the 90-mile descent or return from the moon to the command spacecraft. On the latter, the command spacecraft would have to come down to join with the lunar module orbiting at a lower altitude.

Stafford and Cernan plan to back Gemini 9 about 195 miles behind the Agena before starting the second rendezvous with the use of a computer, a sextant, the stars and their own vision. This would simulate conditions resulting from failure of radar systems aboard either the Apollo spacecraft or its excursion module.

"This will be a dress rehearsal for a passive rendezvous such as Gemini 10 will be doing," Aldrin said. Gemini 10, scheduled in late summer, is to rendezvous with one of the Agenas used by Gemini 8 and 9. But, by then, both of the targets will be passive in that they will be without power.

FAA Inspector, New Pilot Perish In Crash

CLARENDON, Tex. (AP) — A Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) inspector and the pilot he was checking out for a rating were killed Saturday when a twin-jet plane crashed near Clarendon in the Texas Panhandle.

The FAA identified the pilot as William M. Majowski, 28, of Sparta, N. J.

The FAA official was not immediately identified.

Tracy Gilman, also of Sparta and regular pilot of the Lear Jet, said the craft was owned by the Rexall Drug and Chemical Co. Gilman said the two men took

Investigators Sift Airliner Wreckage; 81 Die In Crash

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — Federal investigators late Saturday combed the wreckage of a chartered airliner which crashed into a southern Oklahoma mountainside, killing 81 persons, including 75 Army recruits.

Only 17 of the 98 persons aboard the plane survived. It was the fourth worst air disaster of the year. Two plane crashes in Japan and one in France earlier this year had killed feeding in the area were killed. The body of one of the victims was found in a tree.

The probers hoped to find the answer in recorded conversations of the pilot and undamaged instruments taken from the charred remains of the four-engine Lockheed Electra turboprop.

"It's certainly too early to make any intelligent analysis of what might have caused the crash," said Edward Slattery, an information officer for the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The plane, an American Flyers military charter, was preparing for a fuel stop at nearby Gene Autry Airport when it overshot a converted World War II airbase runway and crashed in the foothills of the rugged Arbuckle Mountains of southern Oklahoma.

The plane was on a flight from Ft. Ord, Calif., to Ft. Benning, Ga., and its 92 passengers were Army recruits who had recently completed basic training.

SIX CREWMEN

The other six victims were crew members, including pilot, Reed Pigman, 59, Fort Worth, Tex., founder, owner and president of the airline.

Pigman apparently chose to handle the flight personally to help relieve a manpower shortage.

The aircraft struck the base of a hill, skidded about 400 yards and burst into flames. Wreckage was strewn over a two-mile area. Several head of cattle feeding in the area were killed. The body of one of the victims was found in a tree.

PLANE WOBBLER

From his hospital bed, Pvt. James Gorman, 20, Bellerose, N.Y., said: "I thought there was something wrong. The plane wobbled all over the place as we were coming down. We banked left and then banked right. Then we

Pastures, Stock Tanks Helped

It may not have been a million dollar rain Saturday but it was close enough to it to bring happy smiles to the faces of most farmers and ranchers in the Big Spring Howard County area.

If the rain, which was general over the entire Big Spring area, and averaged dumping an inch and a half of welcome moisture on nearly all parts of this county, had been delayed two weeks

LOMAX LEADS

The rains varied widely. Heaviest reported moisture seems to have been in the Lomax area where some gauges showed as much as 2.70 inches. In the extreme northwest part of the county, near Vincent, there were measurements of 2.25 to 2.30 inches. South in Glasscock County and along the county line many farmers had from 1.50 to 2.00 inches.

Northeast of town, near L. J. Davidson's place, there were reports of 2.40 inches.

Northwest corner of the county seems to have fared the poorest with the area around Ackery reported only .50 inch.

SPEED PLANTING

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, said that the moisture will undoubtedly send the planters into the fields on many farms.

"If there is an ideal time to plant cotton," said Helbig, "it is probably after May 15. However, the best date to plant is a matter each farmer selects."

"There will be some planting started now. The rain is enough to stir the interest of the farmers. There'll be a pep up of farm activities."

Another rain, such as the one which fell Saturday morning, about the middle of May, Jimmy Taylor, former county farm agent, noted, would just about insure the happiness of the county's agricultural population.

GENEROUS IN CITY

Here in Big Spring, rains were generous. Most parts of the town had from 1.50 to 1.70 inch. The moisture was welcome on grass and shrubs which needed it badly.

From a water supply angle, the precipitation did not turn out too good.

Lake J. B. Thomas, the reservoir of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, apparently caught only slightly more water than fell in it Saturday.

The increase was .27 of a foot, or 1,200 acre feet. This approximates 400 million gallons of

Floods Plague Texas After Tornadoes Hit

By The Associated Press

Torrential downpours of more than 9 inches sent flood waters swirling in Northeast Texas Saturday in the wake of tornadoes that smashed through three small towns.

Numerous highways in the area were under water and flood warnings were issued for the Sabine and Little Cypress Rivers.

The turbulent weather touched off by a mild front, stretched across Texas with heavy rains continuing at a number of points Saturday.

Flood warnings were also issued for the Chambers and Richland Creeks in the Dallas and Corsicana areas.

FOLLOW TORNADOES

The downpours followed tornadoes that caused heavy property damage at Chandler, Mineola and Spring Hill during the early morning hours. Gladewater measured 9.65 inches, Hawkins 9.05, Gilmer 7.88, Harleton 6.62, Chandler 5 inches, Brownboro and Athens 4.50 and Corsicana 3.40.

Heavy rains also soaked other sections of the state. A 3.50 inch downpour flooded streets at Abilene in West Texas.

Partly cloudy to cloudy skies with continuing scattered thunderstorms have been forecast for the state through Sunday.

TWO HURT

Two persons were slightly injured by a tornado that smashed into Mineola. Two others were injured when their car crashed into a tree felled by the twister that struck Chandler.

Teaches Creative Art Program

Teacher Emphasizes Importance Of Art

By JERRY MONSON

"Art is an important part of living," said Miss Clara Secrest, art teacher in the Big Spring Public Schools. "Every one has the right to understand, appreciate, and enjoy art."

Miss Secrest, who is teaching for the last year at Runnels Junior High School, instructs a lively group of seventh and eighth grade students, who are eager to learn about all types of art.

IMPORTANCE

"In the art course, the pupil should learn to realize the importance of art to himself, his home, school and community," she said. "The main objective is to try to develop the innate creative imagination of the student so that his power to think and act creatively will always insure satisfying accomplishments."

Materials Miss Secrest uses in the art course provide information and stimulation to encourage a creative art program. The course includes lettering, poster making, painting, (which itself is broken down into water colors, crayons, charcoal, pastels, India ink and pastels), various crafts, costume designing, outside sketching, sculpture, ing with clay, murals, collages and holiday projects.

One interesting project which her students are working on now is sketching in the rest of a picture from a magazine cut-out, which has been sliced in half. Students must concentrate on symmetry, form, color combinations, shapes — all types of art techniques. The students must "finish" faces, hairdos, bottles, dresses — just about everything imaginable. Do they enjoy it?

REWARDING

"It's been most rewarding, for both the students and myself," Miss Secrest said. "A lot of talent is revealed through something like this."

For many years, Miss Secrest was the penmanship instructor. Penmanship was taught in the Big Spring Public Schools until about three years ago.

Clara Secrest was born in Hamilton and attended Baylor University and Texas Technological College at Lubbock. She earned her bachelor of arts degree at Texas Tech and went on to complete her master of arts degree at Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth. She taught penmanship at Texas Tech for six years before coming to Big Spring to teach penmanship and art. In addition, she has done private tutoring in penmanship.

Miss Secrest attended the Zaner-Bloser School of Penmanship in Columbus, Ohio, and holds two teachers' certificates in penmanship and one professional certificate.

ORNAMENTAL

"I love to do ornamental writing," she said. "I used to write all the diplomas in the public schools, and many times when a club or organization is presenting a certificate or award, I have been asked to write for them."

Her classroom load now is about 125 students in five classes. She will miss the children, she admits, when she tops teaching.

"I am going to stay with my sister in Hamilton after this term," Miss Secrest said. "Later, if plans permit, I hope to do a lot of traveling, maybe even go around the world."

Miss Secrest has traveled every chance she has had, and has visited Europe (Germany and Italy were her favorite countries there), Hawaii and Mexico.

TALENT

"Just look at all this talent," she said, pointing to several students' work. "Some of them will continue with this same love for art throughout their lives, while to others, this phase in their lives will quickly pass."

Future Designer's Work?

This smartly-dressed miss in the tailored suit is really a "split personality." Half of her was taken from a magazine and the other half was filled in by a young lady in one of Miss Secrest's classes. The half on the left was sketched in; the right half is the original.

Demonstration Curb Imposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department today banned public gatherings and the distribution of handbills or circulars on five streets ringing the White House.

The prohibition was contained in new regulations governing public gatherings in capital parks issued by the department.

A department spokesman said under the regulations a permit also would be required by any group seeking to use Lafayette Park across the street from the White House.

Ninety Mississippi Negroes set up tents in the park two weeks ago—without a permit—to dramatize their request for antipoverty funds to build homes.

Cornett Is Named Vet Officer Aide

The appointment of James H. Cornett, Longview, a veteran of 20 years with TEC and 39 months in the Air Force, as assistant state veterans employment representative was announced today by R. L. Coffman, Texas Employment Commission state administrator, and T. D. Kimbro, state veterans employment representative.

Cornett will assist Kimbro in coordinating employment services to veterans in TEC offices throughout the state.

Oldham Elected Director Of State Oil Jobbers

George Oldham, Shell Oil jobber here and longtime active in community affairs, was elected a director of the Texas Oil Jobbers Association held in Houston last weekend.

More than 1,000 delegates from throughout Texas attended the annual meeting in the Shamrock Hilton Hotel. Another West Texan, Rigdon Edwards of Sweetwater, was elected president of the organization. He is a former director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and also active in his community.

The three day convention is the state's largest petroleum marketing show. Guests at the meeting were Waggoner Carr, attorney general; John Tower, United States Senator; and Mrs. Abigail Van Buren, author of the syndicated "Dear Abby" column, that appears daily in The Daily Herald.

Oldham entered the oil business on Feb. 1, 1961, when he established the El Paso-Shell jobbership in Big Spring. He has been active in the TOJA each year since, including three area meetings annually, and management training institutes held twice annually. In addition to these, Oldham plans to participate in some 18 one day "shirt-sleeve" workshops this year, all designed to improve the services of the industry.

He opened new offices and warehousing last week, at 1405 E. 2nd.

A lifetime resident of Big Spring, Oldham attended public schools here, then attended Kemper Military School at Booneville, Mo., before getting his degree at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

He received the Outstanding

GEORGE OLDHAM

Young Man award in 1964, and has served in many areas of public activity. He is past president of the chamber's petroleum committee; a member of and past vice chairman of the tourist development committee; past vice chairman for the service station dealer's appreciation dinner; and has served on the board of directors.

Oldham for six years was sponsor of the YMCA's H-Y program; and is a past director of the Y. He is past secretary and a 14 year member of the Rotary Club. He is clerk of the Session of the First Presbyterian Church; formerly executive secretary of the Citizens Traffic Commission; and first chairman of the Big Spring Traffic Commission.

He is a United Fund director, past board member of the Big Spring Concert Association; and a past neighborhood commissioner of the Boy Scout program.

Attending the convention with Oldham were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Gage and Mr. and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon.

Rhodesia's Oil Low

LONDON (AP)—Rhodesia's breakdown regime is apparently beginning to feel the pinch of the four-month-old British oil embargo.

The white minority regime's oil reserves face possible exhaustion by the end of the summer, even with stepped-up rationing and increased supplies from South Africa, say some observers.

A one-month supply of oil remains aboard the Greek tanker Ioanna V in the Portuguese Mozambique port of Beira, 189 miles down the pipeline from the Rhodesian refineries at Umtali.

Greece has called on Portugal to observe the United Nations resolution barring oil to Rhodesia and the ship's captain has said he will not discharge his 14,000-ton cargo.

Visits Factory

Pete Cook returned Saturday after having flown on Wednesday to Dayton, Ohio to spend two days at the Frigidaire factory. He inspected production and was introduced to the new developments and lines of the company.

Coahoma Band Plans Concert

COAHOMA (SC)—The Coahoma High School band will be presented in its spring concert Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium, and band members will be outfitted in their new uniforms.

The colorful red suits with white trim and accessories are the first new uniforms the band has had in many years. For marching, they also have a silver overlay which adds to the color.

Felton Carr, director, announced that the band would include these numbers: "Col. Bogey" march, "Gallant Man," "Trumpet Voluntary," "Fantasy for Band," "Jungle Drums," "Bugler Holiday," "Blue Tango," "Night Beat," "Hennese's Theme," an ensemble "Singing Blues," "Independencia," "Siba," and John Philip Sousa's immortal "Stars and Stripes Forever."

There are 52 members of the senior high band. Tickets are 50 and 25 cents, said Carr.

Truthfully Speaking...

By SI ADDINGTON

A union man, printer by trade, told a member of the opposition who was trying to convince him that CONGRESSMAN OMAR BURLESON was always voting against the administration: "You know, I think that the only thing worse than a man who says no all the time, is a man who says yes all the time."

For instance there were 353 roll calls for voting in the House of Representatives last session, a modern-day record. There were 12,000 bills introduced and less than 500 became law. Only 86 bills passed that would be considered major bills. CONGRESSMAN OMAR BURLESON voted for some and opposed some that in his judgment were unsound. Can you imagine anyone blindly voting "yes" on this staggering amount of legislation? Would you want him for YOUR Congressman?

One of the bills CONGRESSMAN OMAR BURLESON voted against was repeal of the Right to Work Law (14-B), and his opponent said he also would have voted against the bill at a political rally, before a Farm Bureau group in Ballinger April 14, 1966. Therefore the union man in seeking to cast an intelligent vote will have to evaluate each man on other points. We hold that you can't buy experience at the corner supermarket. You can't take a magic pill and acquire it. It is something you must learn and earn.

CONGRESSMAN OMAR BURLESON has voted against FOREIGN AID during the 20 years he has served in Congress. We hope you get our point... with the volume of legislation to be voted on, any conscientious Congressman would vote for some and against other. Get CONGRESSMAN BURLESON'S record from the campaign office in 200 block of Main, Big Spring, and read it.

"Behind every good man there is a better woman." We may be paraphrasing too loosely but we would like to tell you a little about Ruth, CONGRESSMAN OMAR BURLESON'S wife. She is at his side during this campaign and has been there since 1929. She is the daughter of a pioneer West Texas Baptist preacher, Reverend R. D. DeWeese, who served in Bronte, San Antonio, Anson and other area towns.

She grew up in Anson, attended Hardin-Simmons University and Baylor University and was teaching school when she met and married OMAR BURLESON. Ruth is past president of the Congressional Club, a quasi official organization of wives of Representatives and Senators. She has been given the responsibility on numerous occasions for the Club's traditional luncheon for the First Lady. She has given freely of her time and advice with wives of new representatives, and if you had heard the three Congressmen and one former Congressman praise her at the Appreciation Dinner for OMAR BURLESON last month, you would know the high esteem in which she is held.

We have seen her talking to union men and their wives, male and female store clerks, professional men and women, ambassadors, administration officials and housewives. She is the same gracious, charming and down-to-earth gal that we love to be around. You will too.

There has been a lot of conversation that she is a better campaigner than CONGRESSMAN OMAR BURLESON. Certainly they both love people and establish empathy and rapport with them at first meeting. We hope that you get a chance to personally meet them.

Mental Health Observance Set

Observance of National Mental Health Week has been proclaimed for Big Spring by Mayor Arnold Marshall for May 1-7. One of the busiest programs in several years has been outlined for this special week.

"Our people are being awakened to the needless tragedy and waste imposed by mental illness that can be prevented or can be helped and cured," said Mayor Marshall. "No longer is mental illness something to be viewed with suspicion and shame, but rather a sickness that can and does happen in every strata of society without respect to persons.

MORE HOPE

"Today there is more hope than ever before in the field of promoting mental health. Today achievements team with excitement and promise. It is my earnest hope as mayor that hundreds of people will be personally concerned in taking part and interest in Mental Health Week."

The Big Spring State Hospital is taking a leading role in the observance. There will be tours open to the public at 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 3, Wednesday, May 4 and Thursday, May 5. At the end of the tour, visitors will go to the All-red building auditorium to view a blue ribbon film, "The 91st Day." This is the story of a high school music teacher who suffers a mental illness and of the attitudes and struggles he encounters.

SPECIAL SESSIONS

There also will be two invitation meetings during the week when demonstration projects by staff and patients will be given. Officials and organization heads in Big Spring will be invited for Monday, May 2, and those from Colorado City, Snyder and Lamesa on May 6.

Several service clubs will witness a film, "Faces of Depression" during the week. Junior college and high school students will receive information on careers in the field of mental health.

The Music Study Club, which will be observing National Music Week, will stage a program for patients on May 6.

CRMWD Funds Remain Steady

Revenues of the Colorado River Municipal Water District through the first quarter are almost identical with those of a year ago.

The only appreciable difference occurred in yields from recreational facilities due to a low lake level. The receipts there through the first quarter were $22,606 as compared with $24,165 for the same period in 1965.

Total receipts were $634,778 as compared with $635,983 a year ago for the three-month period.

However, consider these totals for the first quarter of this year and those of last year: Sale of water to cities $325,913 and $323,415; sale of water to oil companies, $282,502 and $282,479; pipeline fees $5,755 and $5,755.

Revenues in April, however, will show a pronounced gain, for March water deliveries (which are paid for in April) set new records for the month.

Expenditures for operations during the first quarter amounted to $435,179 as against $446,045 a year ago, adding slightly to the net. The difference between revenues and expenses is transferred into funds for retiring bonded indebtedness.

Receipts for the first quarter were based on sale of 2,230,181,000 gallons of water as compared with 2,062,029,000 for the period a year ago. With the exception of 141,946,000 gallons from city lakes and well fields, all the water came from Lake J. B. Thomas which is now at 45 per cent of capacity.

CRMWD Board Meets Wednesday

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will have an important session in Big Spring Wednesday when they consider the new lake project.

Final formal approval of the water contract with Midland is expected to come from the meeting. Directors previously had given informal approval to this pact, on which voters of Midland will have a referendum Thursday. The contract calls for delivery of graduated amounts of water from 9,000 up to 18,000,000 gallons a day over the next 60 years.

O. H. Ivie, general manager, will have a report on completion of information for fiscal agents, who are in the process of preparing bond schedules and a bond prospectus. The issue may run in excess of $30,000,000.

Progress reports on land acquisitions and preparations for a dam near Robert Lee will be heard by the board.

Tax Refunds Up On Average Basis

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The district director of the Internal Revenue Service says Rhode Islanders are averaging $15 more in their income tax refund checks than one year ago.

Class Study Spurs Two Girls To Offer Petitions

LAMESA (SC)—Two Lamesa Junior High School students, Karen Watkins and Julianne Black, have been studying and making a survey of the governor's mansion and feel it needs more space. They are using this as a project in their social studies class but they plan to circulate a petition concerning the mansion and present it to Gov. Connally, Lt. Gov. Smith, Sen. Doc Blanchard and State Rep. Randy Pendleton.

Julianne and Karen have found 1) Some Texans believe the present mansion should be preserved and made into a museum and a more adequate mansion built; 2) Others feel the present building should be kept in repair and used to house the governor of Texas and his family; 3) A number of people interviewed by the girls thought the Pease Mansion, now owned and occupied by the Shivers family, should be purchased for the governor's mansion, providing Mr. Shivers would sell and 4) Another group feels that more adequate and suitable grounds should be purchased to meet the state's needs.

Julianne and Karen have studied the proposals and feel they would like to have the present mansion made into a museum and a new home built for the first family.

Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Watkins and grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Branon. Julianne is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Douglas B. Black, Lamesa's mayor. Both are seventh grade students of Mrs. Carriewood Stephens.

NINE TIMES AROUND THE WORLD
Lee Ashley commended by Supt. Sam Anderson

Honored For Bus Driving

Lee Ashley, Howard County's bus driver of the year, has piloted his school bus the equivalent of 25 times around the world without an accident.

During the more than 19 years that Lee Ashley has been performing this service, he traveled 229,104 miles on regular schedules. There is no record of his out-of-town trips, but these would add several thousand miles to this record.

And again while there is no record, it is safe to say that he has carried more than 100,000 passengers, assuming only 30 children to a trip. Actually the figures are far higher than that.

"He is the type of school bus driver who, on occasion, has counseled with parents in order to maintain good discipline which is necessary for the safe operation of the school bus," said school officials in nominating him to the Texas Education Agency for the honor. "His attitude of close supervision of his pupil passengers has aided his having an accident free driving record."

Over the years of driving approximately 70 miles a day, Ashley has seen his itinerary changed from unpaved and sometimes impassable dirt roads to an almost 100 per cent hard-surfaced route. In those early years, he had a difficult time in keeping his bus in best mechanical condition, but his extra effort always kept his bus in good running condition.

Until a few weeks ago he operated a regular schedule, but due to his experience, skill and knowledge, he has been named as a utility substitute and supervisor.

His record is unique in that he has served practically the same area during his entire tenure. He has children of his former passengers to ride his buses. His service has come to be on an intimate, personal basis.

Lee Ashley also has served as a member of the Big Spring district maintenance staff and is regarded as a valued, dependable employee there.

"He takes pride in developing a timetable which his passengers can thoroughly depend on," said the recommendation. "This same dependability is reflected in everything he does."

Almost a life-long resident of Howard County, Ashley is married and has one daughter and two grandsons.

Law Needs Citizen Aid

Van Perry, local businessman, underlined his message to West Texas Republican Women's Club Thursday by quoting from Jenkins Lloyd Jones that "It's time for decent people to yell bloody murder. The robbers have been chasing the cops long enough."

Perry, speaking on behalf of the Optimists Club in its project against public apathy, suggested that there was a need for adequate training for law enforcement officers (such as the Southwest Academy at HJJC), and a need for cooperation of citizens in providing help to officers regarding crimes and potential crimes.

Citizens must criticize less and instead support their officers more strongly by providing information which might be helpful to them in performance of duty. J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, he said, had cited an "indifference to crime and general safety of their communities" as making citizens in effect allies of the underworld.

Approximately 27 billion dollars are lost annually through robbery and other crimes, said Perry.

A discussion of the May 7 primary featured the business session of the club meeting at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. The next meeting will be at the same place at 1:30 p.m. May 19.

Checking Circulation

Eric Weichert, a field auditor for the Audit Bureau of Circulation, headquartered in Chicago, Ill., looks over facts and figures with Jack Kimble, standing, circulation manager for The Big Spring Herald. The organization annually checks circulation data of most major newspapers in the United States. The figures will be sent to Chicago to be checked, and then net paid circulation of The Herald for the preceding 12 months ending March 31 will be released. Weichert completed his audit here Tuesday.

Rotary Plans Annual Parley For May 5-7

The annual conference of the 45 Rotary clubs in the Rotary district for this area is to be held in Big Spring, May 5-7, according to the Rev. Donald Humberford, president of the local Rotary Club.

"At the meeting," he said, "we will discuss matters relating to this Rotary district, in addition to hearing informative addresses and making plans for increasing our service activities."

A delegation of 80 members of the Rotary Club of Big Spring is scheduled to attend the conference. Presiding at conference sessions will be Jimmy Wilson, Floydada, governor of this Rotary district which comprises the entire Panhandle south to Big Spring, west to Odessa and east to Sweetwater.

One of the principal speakers on the conference program is Judge Harold Sam Kessinger, Ridgewood, N. J., widely known as "a philosopher who makes you laugh, and a humorist who makes you think." He will speak on "The World's Greatest Adventure."

Judge Kessinger is a past Rotary international director and has served on the districting, magazine and constitution and by laws committees of RI, and has also spoken at four district conferences in England, in 1964.

Born in southern Illinois, he has lectured in 49 of the 50 states.

Another speaker will be Stuart A. Coulter, Newport-Balboa, Calif., retired owner of an avocado ranch, former member of the Rotary Club of Covina, Calif., and past president of that club.

He is a member of the Newport-Balboa club, and has served RI as district governor and committee member. He is a member of the North American transportation committee for the 1960 convention.

He is a past president of the San Dimas (Calif.) Water Company, the San Dimas Chamber of Commerce, the San Dimas-Charter Oak Domestic Water Company, the Jones-Yorba Water Company and the United Avocado Growers.

The program will also include special entertainment and hospitality features, such as House of Friendship; all-conference luncheon; a fashion show for ladies, which includes bridge, shopping and a tour of houses in Big Spring; golf at the Big Spring Country Club; an air show by Webb AFB Rotarian section.

Plenary sessions will be held in City Auditorium, from 7:15 to 9 p.m. Thursday, May 5, 9-12 a.m. Friday, May 6, and at 4 p.m. that day.

The conference will nominate a Rotarian to serve as governor of the district for 1966-67. He will be elected, along with 278 other nominees of districts all over the world, at Rotary International's 1966 convention in Denver, Colo. Rotary governors supervise and coordinate the service work of more than 12,000 Rotary clubs with a total membership of 580,200 business and professional men in 129 countries.

Avery Speaks To Aggies

Hank Avery, mayor of Midland, spoke to the Big Spring Texas A&M Muster Thursday evening on the origin of the muster on April 21 and the significance of San Jacinto Day in Texas History.

Avery is an oil operator and producer in West Texas. He is in his second term as mayor of the City of Midland, also vice president of the Association of Former Students of Texas A&M University.

"Each year since 1903 former students of A&M have gathered on April 21 wherever they may be," said Avery, "to commemorate the battle of San Jacinto and to pay homage to all Aggies who have died during the past year."

Cochairmen for the muster this year were Don Womack, of Texas Electric Service Company, and Dal Herring, of Howard County Junior College. Also on the program were Don Newsum, John Taylor and Don Robins.

Some 60 persons enjoyed a supper of roast prime rib with vegetables and assorted salads. The muster, which was held at the Big Spring Country Club, was for Aggies, their wives, and guests.

Big Spring Leads Retail Sales Climb

AUSTIN (AP)—Retail sales for Texas in March totaled $1.3 billion, up 17 per cent from February and 7 per cent over the normal seasonal increase.

This was reported by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, which said March sales were second only to the record high reached in July.

Cities leading the retail sales growth during the first quarter, with year-to-year growth rates more than double the state average, include Big Spring 20 per cent, Longview 16, San Angelo 15, Paris 14, Harlingen 14 and Galveston 13 per cent.

Nondurable goods sales of $733.6 million set a record. Sales of durable items trailed only the 1965 peak.

Retail outlets showing the greatest percentage gains from February were auto service stations, lumber, building material and hardware stores; furniture and appliance stores and general merchandise stores.

Sales were 8 per cent over March, 1965, due in large measure, the bureau said, to the fact that Easter came a week earlier this year.

For the first quarter, retail sales were 6 per cent higher than a year ago, the bureau said.

Ft. Davis Flag Pole To Be Built

FT. DAVIS, Tex. (AP)—Reconstruction of a 60-foot flag pole, duplicating the original at historic Ft. Davis, is planned.

The pole will mark another step toward returning the parade ground of the old fort to its 19th Century appearance.

A 37-star flag will fly from the staff — the same number of stars when the fort was an important post in the West.

Stock Market Logs Another Weekly Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market digested some news — both good and bad — and posted its third straight weekly gain last week.

Trading was heavy but was well below the previous week's record total of 53.5 million shares. Last week's turnover was 46,746,581 shares.

CREDIT RESTRICTION

On Friday the market had to weather overnight news that the American and New York stock exchanges had adopted new regulations to restrict the use of credit in stock trading, effective Monday.

The moves were aimed at what was described as "the recent increase in speculative activity in the stock market."

Prices sank in reaction to the news but they were starting to recover in the final hours Friday.

DOW JONES

The Dow Jones industrial average last week ended with a slight gain of 2.06 at 949.83. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .9 to 351.4, also a minor movement.

Among other Wall Streeters there was talk that the exchanges were "putting their houses in order" to forestall possible stiffer action by the Federal Reserve Board in the form of higher margin requirements than the 70 per cent now required as a "down payment" on stocks bought partially on credit.

Ike, Mamie Will Return To Farm

Postal Savings Out Thursday

Next Thursday, the death knell of the postal savings system, for 65 years a feature of the United States Post Office department, will sound.

Frank Hardesty, postmaster here, asking that all depositors who have postal saving certificates to withdraw their accounts as soon as possible, said that on April 28, no more deposits will be accepted and that all interest payments on accounts of record cease.

He said there were 114 accounts on the records of the local post office Thursday, and that these accounts involve $15,250. Friday, two depositors withdrew their money—more than $2,000.

Postal savings have been a feature of the local scene since 1911.

The system was established by the post office department 65 years ago in an effort to get money being hoarded out into circulation and to fulfill the need of the many immigrants in this country who had grown accustomed to making deposits with their post offices in their home villages.

The postal savings system had been in operation many years in Europe before it was adopted here.

The law which created it pegged the interest rate was fixed at 2 per cent—fairly good in 1911 but no longer appealing to persons with money to save.

Classing Office Records Reflect Big Cotton Crop

The Abilene Cotton Classing Office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported its volume of cotton classed during the 1965-66 harvest the largest since the "bumper" crop of 1961-62.

B. B. Manly Jr., officer-in-charge of the office, said the combined total for the Abilene and Munday offices was 575,087 bales, which was much better than 349,437 for 1964-65, but short of the 660,750 classed during the 1961-62 harvest. The Abilene office processed 485,206 samples of the 1965-66 crop and the Munday Classing office 79,881.

The quality of the crop was better than average for this area, said Manly. Abilene grades for the 1965-66 season compared to the 1964-65 season respectively were: White 15, 15; light spotted 75, 60; spotted 9, 21; tinged and yellow stained 1, 3; below grade 0, 1; grade average (middling white is 100) 93.0, 90.8; Other quality factors for Abilene in the same order were: Bark 5, 3; grass, 0, 0; staple average (32nds of an inch) 29.8, 29.4; wasty 1, 3.

Pressley readings for both Consumer and Marketing Service Offices were good. Ninety-four per cent of the Abilene samples read 75,000 pounds per square inch or higher in 1965-66 compared to 89 per cent in 1964-65, while the Munday office had 95 per cent that went 75,000 p.s.i. or higher in 1965-66 compared to 91 per cent for the preceding season.

Practically all cotton in every county, except Martin, Midland, and Glasscock, was planted or came up in the later part of May or first portion of June. Weather conditions caused the cotton in the areas north and south of Abilene, to mature early. Consequently harvesting was

Voter Apathy Anticipated By Candidates

By The Associated Press

Candidates began their last two weeks of primary campaigning with widespread grumbling about the apathy of Texas voters.

One poll on the hot attorney general's race showed 31 per cent of all voters contacted still are undecided — a margin wide enough to give the Democratic nomination to either one of the three candidates.

Associates of the three candidates said they already were worrying about voter turnout in the expected June 4 runoff when there will be practically no local contests to attract voters.

LONG SCHEDULES

All candidates planned long and busy travel schedules for the week, coming at what often is the most crucial period of a campaign. That's when the undecided voters make up their minds, if they are going to vote.

Candidates repeated their promises Saturday of what they would do, if elected.

"Texas needs a new constitution," Stanley Woods, a candidate for governor, said in Austin. "I would see that a constitution convention is convened for the purpose of submitting a new, streamlined constitution to the legislature and then to the people. I would recommend that the new constitution also streamline state government."

MARTIN PLEDGE

Crawford Martin, candidate for attorney general, said in an Austin statement:

"After I am elected, I will ask the next legislature to grant statutory authority to the attorney general allowing his office to render legal opinion and assistance to city attorneys, police departments and other municipal officials."

"Then I will create a special metropolitan division in the attorney general's office to devote its full attention and resources to advising local governments in these urban areas that request aid."

Franklin Spears, another candidate for the Democratic nomination for attorney general, said Martin has been trying to say that Spears is responsible for alleged registration irregularities in Bexar County. "My opponent's attempt to make political mileage out of the alleged irregularities will go down as the biggest absurdity and hoax by any candidate in statewide race this year," Spears said in Abilene.

Supporters of Fred Williams of Del Rio, a Democratic candidate for land commissioner, said Williams will make a statewide campaign by charter plane in opposing the re-election attempts of Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Coahoma Captain Honored

Capt. Carl A. Wyrick, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wyrick, Coahoma, was presented the First Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Force Commendation Medal recently for distinguished service during Operation "Power Pack" in the Dominican Republic in 1965. Wyrick was cited for flying the lead aircraft into San Isidro Air Base and various other battle honors. He was assigned to the 776th Troop Carrier Squadron at that time, but was later transferred to the 315th Air Division at Tachikawa, Japan. He is presently assigned to the Viet Nam area, out of Tachikawa.

First Oscar Ready To Go Behind Iron Curtain

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The first Oscar to go behind the iron curtain will be carried there by a couple of Czech film makers who represent the "new wave" of that small country.

Followers of film festivals have remarked on the high quality of Czech films during the past two years. Last Monday night, the Motion Picture Academy took cognizance of this trend and chose Czech-made "The Shop on Main Street" as best foreign language film of the year over movies from Italy, Greece, Sweden and Japan.

FILM VETERANS

The Oscar was claimed by Jan Kadar and Elmar Klos, two film veterans who codirected the movie. It was their eighth such collaboration.

Codirection is virtually unknown in American films. That isn't the only element in the Czech film industry that is dissimilar.

"We have no star system," explained Klos, 55 and a Czech. "Our most important actors might do supporting roles in films."

"Directors earn more than actors," Kadar, 46 and a Slovak, added with a degree of pleasure. "The actors are paid according to what category they are; the quality of their work determines their category."

IS NATIONALIZED

The film industry is completely nationalized in Communist Czechoslovakia, of course.

There are three studios in the country producing 36 features a year, plus numerous shorts, cartoons and TV subjects.

In the last few years the Czech movie goers have had much to shout about. I asked the Kios-Kadar combination why their industry has flowered.

"It is because of a new cultural atmosphere that began about four years ago," explained Klos. "Since that time 20 new, talented directors have graduated from the academy and they are doing exciting things."

"The Shop on Main Street" is now a hit on the art-house circuit in this country and may achieve general release on the strength of its Academy Award.

Administration Farm Price Policies Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Biting criticism was directed at Johnson administration farm price policies Saturday by a general farm organization which long has been a staunch supporter of the Democratic Party and its national officials.

The executive committee of the National Farmers Union issued a statement charging the administration with "further discrimination against America's already underpaid family farmers" in an effort to lower consumer food prices.

Thus, the Farmers Union lined up in effect alongside the rival American Farm Bureau Federation. President Charles Shuman of the Farm Bureau recently said the administration is making the farmer a "whipping boy" for inflation which Shuman said was brought on by the administration's over-spending.

Thus, farm prices appeared to be growing and a vital issue in this year's congressional elections in rural areas.

Lynn Preston Selected For Specialized Program

By SAM BLACKBURN
There were 5,152 Texas high school students who made application to be selected for an intensive seven week summer training program in five of Texas' leading colleges and universities.

These youngsters took a difficult examination to prove their qualification.
Out of the 5,152 applicants, 125 girls were selected to attend Texas Women's University under the special program.

BIG SPRINGER

One of these chosen young women was a Big Spring girl—Lynn Preston, 16, a junior in Big Spring High School. She will attend TWU from June 13 through July 29.

Lynn is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. T. J. R. Preston, 75 Ent.

John Talmadge, high school counselor, has been assisting Lynn since she made her application for this highly specialized training.
"I am personally delighted that Lynn has been selected for this work," he said. "She will profit importantly from the program and will bring credit to her town and her school."

She will study chemistry at the TWU on a college level—she selected chemistry because of her like for the subject. However, she was also slated as an alternate in math at the University of Texas—indicating she is not to be regarded as a one subject girl.

HIGH GRAD

Her record in school bears this out. She is a straight "A" student, and a member of the National Honor Society. Her mother said Lynn has always made high grades.

Pat Lawrence, who is Lynn's chemistry teacher, said that he is happy at her selection. "She is an excellent student," he said, "with an exceptional grasp of the principles of chemistry. I feel the special work she will do at TWU will be of great help to her in her senior year and in her college career."

He pointed out that another Big Spring girl attended a similar program in 1965. She is Claire Eichbrecht, 17, now a senior in the high school. Claire is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Eichbrecht, 4215 Parkway.

ACTIVE

Lynn Preston is not a girl who devotes all of her time to study, however. She is active in many campus enterprises, including the Court Jesters. She served as assistant to the director in the Jesters' production of "South Pacific" last year. She also is a piano student.

Lynn is a member of the Church of Christ at Fourteenth and Main, and takes an active part in church affairs.

She likes tennis and swimming. She cooks and sews and is adept at knitting.

She has served as a member of the annual staff at the high school and finds time for all of the activities which attract girls and boys of her age. As the child of an Air Force family, Lynn has lived in numerous places since she began her school career. Born in Houston, she will have attended 10 schools before she completes her senior year.

The two years she has been here is almost a record for her in the matter of scholastic continuity.

Her father, until recently, was commander of the 356th Training Command at Webb AFB. He is retiring May 31, and he and his family will move to San Antonio where they own a home. They lived in San Antonio prior to coming to Big Spring.

Lynn attended her third and fourth grade school years in Canada.

She has two sisters—Kay, 13, who is a student at Goliad Junior High School, and Jan, 10, who is enrolled at Marcy Gibbs Jones Dormitory. The funds allocated for the program are not adequate to the expenses of the student selected, so Lynn will have to bear a sizable share of the costs of her seven weeks at TWU. An allotment of money is made to each student, but this is based on the financial needs of the student and Lynn was granted only $27.

NO CHANGE

Lynn's grades here are no change from the school pattern.

Play Slated For Children

"Hans Brinker or the Silver Skates," Mary Mapes Dodge's beloved classic of long-ago Holland, will be presented Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium. The National Children's Theatre Association of Dallas and New York will present the production, which is sponsored by the Washington Place P-TA. Tickets for the play are 75 cents at the door.

"Hans Brinker" is the story of a great skating race, a lost fortune, and a serious illness which is miraculously cured after many years. Don Davlin, a member of the National Theatre cast, portrays Hans Brinker, and was in the Dallas Theatre Center Company which toured Europe last summer.

This is the last production of the 1965-66 season by the National Children's Theatre Association. The association was in Big Spring during the winter for "The Chinese Nightingale," also under the sponsorship of the Washington Place P-TA.

Future Teachers Get Some Practice

LAMESA (SC) — The V. Z. Rogers Chapter of Future Teachers of America elected officers at its meeting recently. They are: president, Charles Crowover; vice president, Jim Bob Dyer; financial secretary, Ann Ayers; recording secretary, Linda Bratcher; historian, Jim Stuart, and parliamentarian, Bob Ayres.

The chapter had 77 junior and senior students as active practice teachers the past week. They were observers in the classrooms and conducted classes in the elementary grades one morning without supervision.

Educators To Attend Parley

DALLAS — More than 5,000 educators are expected here May 4-7 for the 11th annual convention of the International Reading Association. Attending from Big Spring will be remedial reading teachers from Cedar Crest, Bauer and Lakeview Elementary and Runnels Junior High. Four other reading teachers are also expected to attend, according to Dr. C. L. Almsworth, director of instructional services.

About 700 speakers, moderators and panelists will present topics from "Teaching Bilingual Children to Read" to "Controversial Issues in Reading." Theme of the conference is "Vistas in Reading."

Sir Ronald Gould, secretary, National Union of Teachers of England and Wales, and president, World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession, will address the first general session Wednesday evening, May 4. His topic will be "The International Teacher."

Dr. Willis Tate, president of Southern Methodist University, will welcome the international association to Dallas.

Small discussion groups and other lecturers are featured throughout the session. Convention sessions will be held in Dallas Memorial Auditorium and the Adolphus Baker and Statler-Hilton Hotels.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Presidential 'Copter Visits Local Airport

By JERRY MONSON
A Presidential helicopter, en route from Pennsylvania to San Francisco, Calif., carrying an Army crew of three, paid a visit to the Howard County Airport this week, reports Howard Loyd of Big Spring Aircraft.

Loyd said that the huge copter was equipped with auxiliary flotation gear used for emergency landings in water.

Others stopping by the airport included Panhandle Aviation Co., in a Bell-Ranger helicopter, going to California; and Paul Hahn, well-known golfer, who flew in a Twin Comanche. Hahn later participated in an exhibit at the Municipal Golf Course.

A meeting of all pilots interested in forming a Glider Club will be held at the city hall Tuesday at 7 p.m. Dr. Fred Janting or O. D. Landrum may be reached for further information. A group of pilots met recently at the Chamber of Commerce offices to discuss the possibility of a club.

Dr. P. W. Malone flew his

Aztec to Austin over the weekend for a medical meeting. Those up for Big Spring Aircraft this week included Judy Denton and Pat Petosky, on a cross-country to San Angelo; Roy Smith, Don Loyd and Bob Herring.

Up for the Howard County Flying Club this week were Joe Dawes and Jim Beam in the Cherokee, and Jacky Romine, D. R. Bates and Mike Moore in the Colt. Beam was on a cross-country early in the week.

Up in the Cessna of the Big Spring Flying Club were Mrs. Jo Polone, Roy Granberry, Clayton Bettle, Robert Saners, and Charles Cooper.

All students soloing for Big Spring Aircraft have formed what they called "The Big Spring Solo Club." Anyone soloing gets his "colors" and the name of his instructor, the airplane, and the date, posted in a prominent place on the bulletin board in the lounge at the airport.

Air traffic control service in the Lubbock area will be more orderly with the commissioning of the new airport surveillance radar service, commonly called terminal radar control (TRACON), within 45 days.

Flight checking of the radar for accuracy was held last week, and training began to run for seven to eight weeks. Service in the area is expected to start May 29.

Installed by the Federal Aviation Agency, the radar is required to meet the increasing needs of the military at Reese Air Force Base and will provide radar service for civil air traffic at Lubbock Municipal Airport and Hale County Airport at Plainview. It will track aircraft in a 40-mile radius of Lubbock.

Abilene has the same type of radar-tracking equipment, operated by the FAA. Webb Air Force Base operates a radar-tracking service, which is available to the Howard County Airport, when needed.

Boat Believed In Holdup Role

LONDON (AP) — A cabin cruiser Scotland Yard believes may have been used to help some of the great train robbers make a getaway with their loot was inspected today by detectives.

Members of the Yard's flying squad and fingerprint men spent an hour on the craft, seized in Dover, apparently acting on a tip from James White, one of the gang who was arrested this week almost three years after the $7-million robbery.

Police said the yacht made frequent trips to the continent from Dover Harbor last year. It also left the harbor last July 10—the day train robber Ronald Biggs escaped from prison—and returned the next day.

Church Support Could Be Better, Ministers Report

Church members could give better support to their faith, some local ministers believe. They are divided on whether more people or less are actively supporting their church.

"Per capita giving has increased, but not at the same rate as inflation," the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian Church, said. "There is a real possibility that there will be a decline before there is an improvement. Too many people still consider religion as a luxury. About 10 per cent of the half who give account for 90 per cent of the church support."

"Less than 50 per cent of the people carry about 90 per cent of the load," the Rev. Robert Polk, First Baptist Church, said. "In giving, the church is holding its own."

The Rev. Jim Puckett, Baptist Temple, felt that church support is "constantly improving." He said: "Nationwide, about 20 per cent of Baptists tithe, nearly one-third of our people, probably due to four years of annual stewardship emphasis."

At the local level, the Rev. Henry Salley, Kentwood Methodist Church, said, "The ones participating are giving far above the national average."

The Rev. Claude N. Craven, Trinity Baptist Church, agreed, saying that his parishioners' giving habits are "good"; so did the Rev. Donald Hungerford, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

"Giving habits could certainly be improved," the Rev. Melvin Montgomery, Mount Bethel Baptist Church, said. "In general, a faithful few are carrying the load, but there is a decline before there is an improvement. Too many people still consider religion as a luxury."

As to congregation sizes, there was a general division of opinion.

Rev. Montgomery said: "There is a chance that some might be neglected, if the congregations get too large. However, if there is a large enough staff, there should be no limit to the size."

Rev. Puckett agreed: "Any organization ought to try to reach every person it possibly can. The larger the congregation, the better, if there is adequate staff."

However, there is a contrary view.

"When a church gets beyond 500 or 600 adult members," Rev. Hungerford said, "it also goes beyond a point of efficiency. There are problems of reaching the individual adequately. Communication becomes a problem."

"A church needs to be of about 500 people," the Rev. Henry Salley said, "to fulfill adequately various ministries. But we need all sizes of churches for different reasons from the smallest to the largest."

Rev. Polk said: "Size is not the most important thing, but a church should grow to a size which provides leadership, buildings, staff, equipment to carry on the most effective type of ministry. Some may be so small that to exist is a struggle; others may become so large they reach the point of diminishing returns. Someone suggested this test: 'Only live things grow.'"

"One study showed that the per capita giving of members for local operations is about the same regardless of size," Rev. Lloyd said. "It's the benevolences that suffer when churches are too small."

The only handicap to congregation size, Rev. Craven felt, is that a "large congregation needs more on the staff."

There was also a wide divergence of opinion about church architecture.

Rev. Lloyd: "I see some modification of church design coming. There will be less of the radical departures in ultra-modern and futuristic design. Educational portions may tend to more functionalism; there will be less gingerbread because of cost."

Opposed to this view was Rev. Puckett: "I am very disturbed by the ugliness of the so-called modern - style architecture. Modernistic items will never be sold in antique stores - they're just too 'sick.'"

Rev. Craven said, "I don't think there will necessarily be any basic change in church design."

"In church design, some have gone to extremes and have taken away the sanctity of the church," Rev. Montgomery said.

Rev. Hungerford: "Definitely yes. Church designs are becoming contemporary to portray the worship of churchgoers today. The worship can be conveyed beautifully through drama and symbolism in architecture. I find contemporary design quite attractive."

"Functional and modern designs of buildings say and explain the gospel in a contemporary way," Rev. Salley said.

"Just carrying over old designs for the sake of their oldness does not excuse a church from proclaiming the gospel in every way."

As for trends in the kind of support people are giving the church, there were also several varying opinions.

"The trend is for a few persons to carry the load with an educational emphasis for all to truly be ministers, or in the priesthood of believers," Rev. Salley said.

Rev. Hungerford: "The trends in support of the church are that more people are carrying the load rather than just a few whom the church must depend on for subsistence."

Disagreeing, Rev. Montgomery declared: "In general, a faithful few are carrying the load."

"The programs are about the same as 25 years ago," said Rev. Polk. "Perhaps people are voting on them with their attendance, or non-attendance. This is going to force religious leaders to rethink, perhaps to consolidate some things, to conceive new approaches."

However, Rev. Puckett said: "The healthiest thing in the church is the broadening of the base of support. But there is a long way to go."

"A minority tends to carry the load," Rev. Craven stated.

Rev. Dorothy Brooks, Big Spring Gospel Tabernacle, 1907 Scurry, has recorded nearly 100 per cent gain in active membership in the past three years, according to the Rev. Dorothy Brooks, pastor.

In 1963, she said, the membership was 17 adults and children. Today the church has 35 active members. An average Sunday service sees from 35 to 40 in attendance with about the same number taking part in the Sunday school.

Rev. Brooks has been here since 1963. The church was organized in 1956.

The minister's previous pastorate was in Arkansas, Missouri and Virginia. She is a graduate of the Central Bible Institute in Missouri. Rev. Brooks is the entire staff of the Gospel Tabernacle.

Annual budget of the church is $5,000 of which 10 per cent is earmarked for missions. The present church building dates back 12 years and has a capacity of nearly 200 persons. There are classrooms for the graded departments and the building has a kitchen and the evangelists' quarters.

Value of the church property is about $15,000 and the parsonage is valued at $10,000. It was built six years ago. No building program or expansion enterprise is contemplated by the tabernacle at this time.

"We are planning to build a library of good books for all ages in our Sunday school this year," said the pastor.

Society Blamed In Failure Of Church To Meet Needs

Churches are failing to meet the full needs of today's society but a part of the responsibility must be laid at the door of society itself.

This seems to be the general opinion of several ministers of Big Spring queried as to whether they felt their institutions were fulfilling their ultimate destiny.

The challenge of today's church has not changed with the years. It is still the aim of the church to make God, real and true to mankind.

The church is faced with many obstacles in its effort to achieve its goal. The primary one seems to be apathy on the part of the people - a general disinterest in matters spiritual which is so solidly enmeshed in society.

However, the ministers of Big Spring feel that the church will prevail; that it will achieve the end for which it was established.

While all of the preachers do not agree in the same words on these issues, they all were agreed in the essence.

The Rev. R. F. Polk of First Baptist Church, for example, put the challenge of the church in these words: "It is what its founder Christ intended it to be - worship, proclaiming the gospel, ministering to the needs of individuals in the name of Christ."

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian Church, says that the main challenge is to make today's church relevant to today's problems. A conflict exists between the past and the present. "Our generation is not content merely to save a soul, but it also wants faith to be relevant to life."

The Rev. Donald Hungerford, St. Mary's Episcopal Church, feels the real challenge is for the church to make God real to people in their everyday lives. "An instrument is needed that will help people have a concept of God and a sense of living before God and with God."

The Rev. Melvin Montgomery, Mt. Bethel Baptist Church, says cults lead the attack on the church.

The old fashioned gospel must be brought to the people as it was on other days; people today are prone to forget spiritual needs, according to the Rev. Claude Craven, Trinity Baptist Church. "The church must bring them back," the Rev. Jim Puckett, Baptist Temple, calls for the return of the "evangelistic church" united in the effort to win more Christians. The church is not to be a vehicle for passing whims of society. The Rev. Henry Salley, Kentwood Methodist, feels that the lack of communication is the real challenge. The church needs to have its message understood. "Some people," he says, "have already rejected the church without understanding why and what it is saying."

Ministers seem worried over the issue of whether the church is meeting the need of today's society. Salley says "yes and no. I sense the church is becoming aware of its inadequacies, emptiness and self-imposed isolation from the world. Stained glass and brick are not enough."

Rev. Polk feels that the church is meeting society's needs only in degrees; so do other institutions. "The need of society is a spiritual need and I do not think over all that the church is meeting this need," remarks Rev. Craven. "However, I do not think society wants this need met. 'In the business world,' asks Hungerford, 'just where does Christ fit in? ... There are several areas of our social framework where the church is not involved or is excluded from ...'

Dr. Gage Lloyd thinks "the great tides of the church come in ebbs and flows ... today we are in the ebb stage. It may become worse before it gets better." Communication, Rev. Hungerford feels, is the greatest barrier to the church meeting the challenge it faces. Rev. Montgomery believes competent leadership and developed Christians must be found.

Rev. Polk feels that there is a tendency these times for men to compartmentalize themselves - breaking life into sacred and secular components. "He associates religion with what is done in the church," the minister said. "He wants religion done up and delivered to him in a neat package." Rev. Salley believes there is a preponderance of uninformed, disinterested and nondedicated members and clergy, all of which set up the church.

Have We Priced Our Contact Lenses Too Low?

You might think so, if you consider the exclusive advantages our contact lenses have, and then compare our price of $70 for single vision lenses with the much greater amount others charge. We agree, it's difficult to conceive of contact lenses priced so low, especially when they are unsurpassed in quality. Here's how this is possible: It is Texas State Optical's policy to provide the very finest eye care and eyewear at the lowest cost possible. Therefore, every factor which reduces our cost also reduces yours. Because no outside sources produce our contact lenses, as they do for most other practitioners, you benefit from both quality control and lowered cost. We not only examine eyes, prescribe and fit lenses, but also, in our own laboratory, we process them according to individual patient prescription. So that we can provide each TSO patient with the very finest service and eyewear at low cost, we expect a reasonable, not exorbitant profit in each case. As a pioneer in the field of contact lenses, TSO has fitted over 50 thousand pairs ... experience which assures the most precise fitting. Our laboratory has advanced the design and finishing techniques to such degree, we believe our contact lenses to be among the most comfortable-fitting available today. These outstanding improvements provide for minimum adaptation time and maximum possible wearing comfort. Our contact lens price of $70, complete with initial and progress examinations, is low. If it is too low, that's to your advantage, just as we want it to be. From a logical viewpoint, there is no good reason for paying more when you can't get better made, more precisely fitted contact lenses elsewhere at any price.

Bifocal Contact Lenses are also available at reasonable cost. Directed by: Dr. S. J. Rogers, Dr. N. Jay Rogers, Optometrists.

4-H's Set For Roundup

Howard County will send eight youngsters to the 4-H Club roundup at College Station in June as a result of the showings the club members made Saturday at the Lubbock district elimination contests.

his campaign office for congressmen of the 17th District. Monday, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith will be here for a brief reception. A week ago Stanley Wood brought his bid for governor here.

A request for $226,000 for construction at Webb AFB has been put before the Senate's subcommittee on military appropriations, Sen. John Tower advised. Approval of a $665,000 REA loan to Westex Telephone Cooperative was announced by Rep. Burleson.

Two junior high and the senior high choirs gave a concert Thursday, and it was something special. A climax was when 150 voices from the three choirs massed on the stage for the finale, "Once to Every Man and Nation." Somehow, we had the feeling that many together, they ought to sing "Battle Hymn of the Republic." That would have been a real goose bumper.

The Veterans Administration Hospital honored its volunteers, and it is amazing the number who have put in 1,000 or more hours. Two of them, Mrs. Harry Lees and Mrs. A. W. Moody, have given over 3,000 hours of service. You may be interested to know that both of these have given the ultimate—a son in battle.

Webb AFB is about to lose perhaps its oldest tenant. He is James M. Brown Jr., who was notified last week that he is being promoted to rank of major. When he came to the base eight years ago, he was a first lieutenant. Our pride in his promotion is tempered by regret of his reassignment.

C-C Hears Whipkey Talk

FORT WORTH (AP)—West Texas' economic development hinges on one of its greatest resources — people, a publisher says.

"Only human resources are infinitely expandable," R. W. Whipkey of the Big Spring Herald told delegates of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention Friday.

"This means that our greatest opportunity for development in the years of the future lies with our people."

He said leading West Texas cities are about as diverse as the original 13 colonies.

"Just as the colonies were bound together by the resourceful leadership, by a common British heritage, so is West Texas bound together by a common heritage and by a vigorous civic leadership," Whipkey said.

Harry Brookby, a vice president of the Phillips Petroleum Co., said that by 1970 West Texas' $500 million a year petrochemical product value could reach $800 million.

Mrs. Newman's Rites On Monday

Services for Mrs. Grace C. Newman, 64, Pampa, former resident of the Bennett House who died Friday, will be held Monday at 1 p.m. in the St. Paul Methodist Church, Pampa, with the Rev. Patterson officiating. Burial will be in the Fairview Cemetery under the direction of the Duenkel Funeral Home. Local arrangements were by Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Bohlen Says NATO Unity Unhurt By French Pullout

WASHINGTON (AP) — France's pulling its forces out of NATO is described by Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen as "probably the most serious event in European history since the end of the war."

But in testimony released Saturday night by a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, the American envoy to Paris said he does not consider the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in disarray and that the unity of NATO allies remains.

SUBPANEL HEARING
Bohlen's closed-session testimony came at a hearing by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Edna F. Kelly, D-N.Y.

The ambassador testified March 17 while he was here for consultations with French President Charles de Gaulle served notice of intention to withdraw French military units from NATO control and have NATO forces leave French bases.

Bohlen acknowledged that over "a long period of time, it could do great harm to NATO as a structure."

But he added: "I will say that the reaction of the other allies has been very good so far in regard to this (French move)."

One reason Bohlen sees behind De Gaulle's action is his belief "that through the operation of the NATO mechanism, France could be drawn into a war outside of Europe in which they were not interested, for example in Viet Nam."

"NOT ACCURATE"
"I don't think this position is very accurate," Bohlen added. The ambassador said also De Gaulle doesn't believe "at the moment there is a menace of a Russian war."

The French president, Bohlen also testified, feels there is no great danger to France in this move, for one reason because of the "disagreeable fact, in many ways, of geography."

The ambassador said France lies to the west of Germany, protected by the Atlantic alliance, and "nobody can get to her except across Germany."

Bohlen declared as a "defensive military alliance," NATO still stands and "on the whole I would say from a military point of view, NATO is in just as good shape now as it has been."

Alliance Flop Seen By GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican party says Johnson administration policies toward Latin America are a failure — and the Alliance for Progress actually was originated by Republican President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The party's National Committee made public Saturday night a task force study of Latin American problems which asked:

"WHAT HAPPENED?"
"Whatever happened to the goal set forth in September, 1962, by the then vice president, Lyndon Johnson, who declared 'Our policy is to get rid of the Castro regime and Soviet Communist influence in Cuba.'"

"The continuing political stalemate in the Dominican Republic threatens the peace and security of the Western Hemisphere," the report added.

"The Organization of American States has as yet not provided prompt, adequate collective security measures to combat Communist intervention." It said the United States "must provide stronger leadership in the OAS if we are to achieve a truly regional and genuine collective security system for the Western Hemisphere."

"The administration is urged to maintain, not relax, pressure through the OAS, NATO and the free world community to restrict existing trade between Castro and our allies and to further isolate and weaken Communist Cuba, politically and diplomatically."

"IKE ORIGINATOR"
Asserting the Democratic party "inherited, endorsed and re-named" Republican programs, the study said:

"Contrary to popular belief the Democratic administration in 1961 did not establish a new program for Latin America with the announcement of the Alliance for Progress. The concept of equality of opportunity through democratic social change originated under the Eisenhower administration with 'Operation Pan America' in 1958 and the Act of Bogota in September, 1960."

Robert C. Hill, Franconia, N.H., U.S. Ambassador to Mexico in 1957-61, was chairman of the task force and David N. Rowe, professor of political science at Yale University, vice chairman.

The rain on Saturday set a new record for April 23.

Forecast for today and tonight calls for additional moisture.

water, and it is about one week's supply at this time of the year.

There is a possibility that heavy rains may have fallen on the upper reaches of Bull Creek, which is diverted into Lake Thomas. In this case, it likely would be Sunday before any effects would be felt. Approximately two and a half inches fell at the Big Spring-Odessa intake, and the south edge of the drainage area had one and a half to two inches.

COVER AREA
Apparently the rains were all over this area. Mitchell County had general rains with Colorado City reporting 1.80 inches.

Midland reported 1.6 and Martin County had from 1.50 inches upward.

In Glasscock County there were reports of rains up to 2.50 inches.

A few miles south of Lee's store, moisture ranged from 1.50 upward to more than 2.50. A. W. White, who lives in the area, said his neighbors reported an average of 1.50 inches.

OTHER PLACES
Chalk had 1.22 inches to 8 a.m. No report was available after that hour but it was probable more rain fell in that area.

Escola, the Texas Electric Service Co. said, had 4.0 to 8 a.m. Saturday.

The TESCO switch plant here in town had about an inch and a half.

The U.S. Experiment Station had measured only .76 at 8 a.m. However, Grady Randel, who keeps the weather records, said he was sure that the station had as much as other parts of the town. He said that he had 1.60 in his gauge on Jefferson Street.

In the southwest part of town, 1.50 inches was reported at most gauges.

Elbow had from .70 inch to 1.60. Moss Creek had 1.50.

Forsan had reported 1.18, Knott 1.00; Coahoma 1.00 to 1.50; Vealmoor had 1.70 inches; and Luther community 2.40.

TWO INCHES
Aubrey Lankford, north of Luther and near the Borden County line, had 2 inches and more. Vincent, in the extreme northeastern part of the county had from 2 to as much as 2.50 inches.

The Wallace Ranch on Wild Horse Creek had 1.50 and Mrs. M. M. Edwards, whose ranch is south and east of Coahoma, estimated the rain there at better than 1.50.

LIGHT HAIL
Light hail was reported on some areas but the fall was unimportant and caused no damage.

The rainfall on Saturday set a new record for April 23.

Forecast for today and tonight calls for additional moisture.

Rain Drives Horse Show From Arena Into Building

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Rains, which brought sloppy roads and deep mud in the arena, did not halt the Colorado City horse show Saturday. It did cause the cancellation of four events, however, and drove the participants from the Western Biding Club arena into the Mitchell County Agricultural building.

The events canceled include the senior and junior barrel racing, and junior reining classes.

Clyde Miller was judge of the show. He is from Ft. Worth.

A 1962 stallion, Sir Baum, owned by A. T. Scharbauer, was declared the grand champion of the show in his class. Jets Away Bar, a 1963 stallion, owned by the Hayes Ranch of Snyder, was reserve champion.

An unnamed 1965 colt, owned by Bill Saunders, Midland, was selected as grand champion mare of the show and Miss Bar Turp, a 1964 mare, was rated as reserve champion.

She is owned by the Hayes Ranch.

Kuopio police said firefighting efforts were hampered by a water shortage.

In addition to being locked, the patients' rooms had unbreakable window panes.

Bulb Sale On Monday

More than four score members of the Downtown Lions

Club will be knocking on doors here Monday and Tuesday.

The occasion will be the annual lightbulb sale, postponed from last week because the incandescent bulb shipment failed to arrive.

The city has been divided into a dozen or more districts with

All the net proceeds from sale of the bulbs are applied to the club's work for the blind and sight conservation, or for other charitable projects. Last year the club bought over $1,100 of glasses for children and adults who could not afford them.

New Orleans Hotel Fire Routs 800

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Fire gutted two rooms in the French Quarter's towering Monteleone Hotel early Saturday, filling rooms and corridors with smoke and sending over 800 guests scampering from their beds.

Several couples escaped by clambering out of their bedroom windows and creeping their way along eight-inch-wide ledges. Firemen helped them to safety.

A bellhop wriggled on his stomach from room to room on the 14th floor, where the fire started, rousing patrons and leading them through blinding smoke to the elevators.

The lobby filled rapidly with persons wrapped in bedspreads and dressed in rumpled pajamas.

One fireman was hospitalized after being overcome by smoke, but none of the guests were seriously injured.

Fire Chief Arthur Heyd said the fire started in Room 1459, occupied by Miss Claudia Garvin, 24, of Baton Rouge.

She was arrested at a hospital where she was treated for a burned arm and booked with careless smoking in bed.

Storm Alert Stirs Mishaps

CHANDLER, Tex. (AP)—Two persons were injured early Saturday in a chain reaction accident just after a devastating tornado struck this East Texas community.

The accident occurred on Texas 34, near Chandler, during a torrential rainstorm which accompanied the twister.

Mrs. Nell Hamilton, 40, was driving to her home after hearing of the storm when she struck a tree which had been blown down on the highway.

Mrs. Chandler was taken to Tyler for treatment of facial cuts.

A passing motorist stopped his car to aid Mrs. Hamilton and a third automobile, occupied by two Waco men, struck the parked automobile.

Woman Takes Cab From Toledo To San Francisco

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A Toledo taxicab was on the road to San Francisco Saturday, with two drivers chauffeuring a woman who produced $1,250 to get to the Golden Gate in style.

Nobody asked why the well-dressed woman about 35, wanted to hire a taxi for a trip that will take about three days by cab.

"The person just wanted to rent a cab to go, she had the money and so she went," said Melvin Farrell, dispatcher for the Black and White Cab Co. who dispatched two drivers to the trip.

"It is kind of unusual," he granted. "These trips don't happen too often."

The woman came into the cab office Thursday night and ordered a cab to drive her to San Francisco. She produced the fare—50 cents a mile—without hesitation.

Drivers Paul Mertz and Chester Reanne then set out, the two of them to alternate driving straight through to San Francisco and back.

So the trip will wind up costing a good bit more than the $141.12 it would have cost for a first-class airplane ticket or the $130.40 for a two-day train trip on a sleeper car.

N.Y. Paper Strike Start Set For Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The Journal-American and the World Telegram and Sun published their final separate afternoon editions Saturday, their plans to publish under a merger with the morning Herald Tribune stymied by a labor dispute.

The World Telegram printed an optimistic final editorial entitled "Not Goodbye," but there was gloom as reporters left the city rooms, still unsure who would have a job.

Negotiations continued, but all sides agreed the city faces a partial newspaper blackout Monday, for the third time in less than four years. Mayor John V. Lindsay, who failed to get the merger postponed, was keeping in touch.

STRIKE SET
Ten unions, dissatisfied with the way the merged firm plans to cut 2,000 workers from payrolls totalling 5,700, have set a strike for 4 p.m. Sunday.

That will give the Journal-American and the Herald Tribune time to print final separate Sunday editions. The following week they planned to be merged as the Sunday World Journal Tribune.

There was little chance that the morning Tribune or the new evening World Journal will appear Monday. Even with a weekend settlement, preparatory work is too long delayed already.

CALL MEET

The New York Publisher's Association called a meeting for noon Sunday to decide whether their members would continue publishing if a strike is called.

The Times and the Daily News, both morning papers and members of the Publishers Association, might shut down in sympathy. The fifth Manhattan daily, the Post, was expected to publish as usual. The Post left the association during the 125-day strike in 1962-63, and published during the 25-day shutdown of 1965.

The World Telegram's final editorial said the labor dispute jeopardized the merger, which

Owner Galbreath Is High On Graustark

By FRANK ECK
AP News Service Sports Editor

One of the toughest jobs in sports is getting a young horse to the post for the Kentucky Derby. Breeders, owners and trainers know the heartache better than anyone because the road from a Kentucky foaling barn to the Churchill Downs starting gate in Louisville takes three years, and often covers thousands of miles.

Take Graustark, favorite to win the 92nd mile and a quarter to be run Saturday, May 7. He's owned by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Galbreath of Ohio's fabulous Darby Dan Farm. He is the son of Italy's great Ribot and his dam is Flower Bowl.

Off what Graustark showed in his first five races—three last year at age 2 and two sprints at Hialeah this winter at age 3—he must be rated a Wonder Horse. Nothing has come close to catching him and his margins of victory total 29 lengths. Smallest gap was four lengths in a seven-furlong Hialeah dash on Feb. 2.

"There is no question in our minds," says Galbreath whose Chateaugay won the 1963 Kentucky Derby and the mile and a half Belmont, "but that Graustark can run a distance. Yes, he is the greatest horse I ever owned."

BROKEN IN COLUMBUS But to get Graustark even near the Derby, the long striding chestnut colt had to travel more than 6,000 miles.

It took three states to develop him. He was foaled in Kentucky then sent to Columbus, Ohio for a breaking period under Bob Moore. In December, 1964 he was sent to his present trainer, Loyd (Boo) Gentry, for light galloping at Stuart, Fla.

Last July 19 he won his first of three races at Chicago's Arlington Park. Then it was back to Kentucky for a rest, then to Hialeah for two more victories and back to Lexington, Ky., where he again proved his soundness in workouts. On April 9 he won a betless exhibition at Keeneland by four lengths.

Yet there was one wet day in Florida in February when Graustark's Derby chances looked rather dim. He had to be taken out of training.

STEPPED ON A STONE "He had just worked out for the Everglades and was being led back to the stable," says Galbreath, "when he stepped on a stone and bruised a heel. We put a pad under his shoe and kept a boy with him constantly. We then walked him a mile and a half every day with a boy—former jockey John Nazareh—on his back."

Care—and the little pad—seemed to do the trick. Graustark shipped well to Kentucky and popped eyes in workouts.

A horse such as Graustark changes the lives of some people. Popular Jim Conway, last summer had Galbreath's first string of thoroughbreds racing in New York. Conway was peeved over not having Graustark under his care. Just when Galbreath—who also owns the Pittsburgh Pirates—was about to ship Graustark to Belmont for racing at Aqueduct, Conway resigned.

Last September 1, Galbreath hired the 225-pound Loyd Gentry as his No. 1 trainer. Conway's parting actually stemmed from a ruling that prevents one racing stable from having too many 2-year-olds at one track preparing for a meeting.

"We felt we couldn't send all our 2-year-olds to Hialeah for the 1965 season," explains Galbreath. "We sent Graustark to the St. Lucie training center at Stuart."

"Graustark was sent down from Ohio with two other horses," recalls Gentry. "He had been broken, that's all. I spotted him right away as something special. He did everything so easy. He had that long stride right from the start, reaching out when he ran."

"I kept asking when they were coming to take him away, but nothing ever happened. Mr. Galbreath just left him in my public stable. I was training young horses for a dozen or so owners."

John Galbreath is the kind of a man who seeks harmony. He has vast holdings in real estate, racing stables and baseball. He is in constant touch with all situations but believes in delegating authority.

"The boss never interferes with the baseball operation," says Joe L. Brown, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

One of the few times he went into the Pittsburgh dressing room was on Oct. 13, 1960. That was the day his Pirates won the World Series from the Yankees. It was his place to be there to congratulate his winners.

Paul Lambert Named H-SU Cage Mentor

ABILENE — Paul M. Lambert, 32, has been named head basketball coach at Hardin-Simmons University.

He succeeds Lou Henson, who resigned earlier this month to accept a similar post at New Mexico State University.

Lambert comes here from Kansas State College, Pittsburg, Kansas, where in three seasons his teams won 45 and lost 29. His Pittsburg teams were conference titlists in 1963-64 and again the past season.

The new coach of the Cowboys was named Coach of the Year last year for the NAIA District 10 and Area 4, which embraces six states.

Lambert was head coach at Moberly, Mo., High School from 1956-59, where his teams won 50 and lost 29 games. He moved from there to Boone, Iowa, High School, where his team won 12 of 18 starts. Later, he was head freshman coach and assistant varsity mentor at Drake University.

Lambert and his wife, Carol, have two daughters. He arrives here May 7 to assume his duties.

Steers Shocked In SW Baseball

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice overcame Texas' 5-4 lead in the seventh inning Saturday to defeat the Longhorns 6-5 in Southwest Conference baseball.

Rice's Ray Hooten allowed only six hits in going the full length of the game. He stepped into trouble only once, when Texas ran four men across the plate in the sixth inning. He avoided further problems with a double play that ended the inning.

Rice got its two big runs in the seventh when Ron Henson walked and forced in Ronnie Waldo. Lynn Berry then drove in Jim Levering with the winning run.

Rice scored two runs in the first inning and one in the second and third to hold a 3-1 lead over Texas until the near-disastrous sixth, when Texas jumped ahead temporarily.

Washington Senators Turn Back Detroit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators hopped on Mickey Lolich for four straight hits with nobody out in the second inning Saturday and went on to defeat the Detroit Tigers 5-3.

Singles by Don Lock, Ken Hamlin and Doug Camilli wrapped around a double by John Orsino were good for two runs in the second, and a third scored when Fred Valentine hit into a double play after Mike McCormick's bunt single off Orlando Pena.

McCormick retired the first 11 batters without a difficult play behind him.

Willie Horton led off the fifth with a home run and Cash homered in the seventh. The Senators scored off Pena in the fifth on Ken McMullen's single and Frank Howard's double, then added a run in the sixth on Orsino's single, a sacrifice and Cash's error on Camilli's grounder.

Men ought always to pray, and not to faint. (Luke 18:1)
PRAYER: O God, how great is the privilege of prayer! May we be constant in our communion with Thee, and not grow faint or weary. Forgive our failures, and grant us the spirit of intercession; in Jesus name. Amen.

Primary Time Nears

The time grows shorter for Democrats of Texas to make their decision in charting the continued progress of their state, as it has been mapped by the John Connally administration. Since what opposition has developed against the governor seems to have generated more heat than light, surely it can be predicted that John Connally will be returned to office by a handsome margin.

The same ought to be said for other officials of state rank who have worked in harmony with the governor in developing so many worthwhile programs for Texas — in education, particularly; in building a better climate to attract industry; in establishing more efficient state departments.

Some call these men the "Connally team," but this is no disparagement. The Herald prefers to think of each of these candidates as able, conscientious people of his own standing, and worthy of support.

Preston Smith for lieutenant governor. The solid-thinking West Texan who has proved beyond a doubt his grasp of affairs of the Senate (over which he presides) and his willingness to carry on the best fundamental traditions for state betterment.

Byron Tunnell for railroad commissioner. An appointee to this office, Tunnell established his reputation for public service as Speaker of the House, now has demonstrated his ability to serve as administrator, particularly in comprehending the problems and needs of the great oil industry, whose business makes up most of the work of the commission. We believe the oil people of all facets want Tunnell and that he can do an outstanding job for Texas.

Crawford Martin for attorney general. He is in a wide-open race but brings with his candidacy a past record of law practice, public office, and administrative experience as secretary of state. He is no extremist for either the "liberals" or the "conservatives" but a man who has the grasp of Texas government. He can add stature to the administrative forces in Austin.

Our Churches

In today's issue of The Herald is a supplement devoted to the churches of Big Spring.

There are stories about approximately 50 congregations, and a word about pastors and other staff members. Also included is a story which shows the extent of church membership, participation and investment in Big Spring.

This is, we believe, an important story and important section. It reveals that while there is a vast field for enlistment and involvement of more people in our community, the record in Big Spring is nevertheless far more encouraging than on a national basis.

Since the mid-50s the church has experienced an ebb tide, which may not yet have reached its peak, but there are signs that the cycle may be turning. The great debates concerning the church, while temporarily disturbing to some, are in the main an encouraging sign. It is far healthier for people to debate the church than to be silent on it.

Out of this experience we trust that our churches will emerge with a deeper spirituality that is reflected in attitudes and involvements in the world here and now. If the kingdom is to come on earth as it is in heaven, it must come from the instrument of the church.

David Lawrence Need To Redefine International Law

WASHINGTON — The most ambiguous word in the dictionary of today is "peace." It is being used indiscriminately in a world of make-believe. For, under the definitions of international law, there is no peace today. World War II has never been ended by a peace treaty even though there have been some proclamations declaring that hostilities have ended.

BASED ON precedents, some of the belligerent rights of World War II are still in effect. The Soviet government, for instance, maintains an occupation zone in the Kurile Islands granted her by the Yalta conference of Feb., 1945, and also has kept an occupation force in East Germany ever since the armed conflict there terminated that year. The Soviets never signed the peace treaty with Japan. Nor did they join the Western powers in signing in 1955 their treaty recognizing the sovereignty of West Germany. The belligerents who accepted Germany's surrender in World War II have not signed any treaty with the German people as a whole.

ALSO, THE United Nations, legally speaking, is still at war with Red China. The resolution declaring an arms embargo against Communist China, adopted by the General Assembly in May, 1951, has never been specifically erased from the record. Nor has the resolution by the U.N. condemning Red China as an aggressor in Korea been withdrawn. It is difficult to see how Red China can be legally admitted to membership in the United Nations without disposing of the unsettled questions of law that have accumulated since the Peiping regime sent its military forces into Korea in November, 1950.

The Armistice agreement entered into by the United Nations and Red China on July 23, 1953, provided for a conference to decide on peace terms. Talks were carried on for many months, but got nowhere. The legal status of the conference has never been abolished, and at present the meetings are subject to call by either side. But from the viewpoint of international law, the Korean War is legally still in effect. Certainly it would seem odd for the United Nations to extend its loving embrace to a country which remains technically a belligerent power.

BUT MOST perplexing of all is the situation in Europe. Here international law takes its biggest nose dive into legalistic confusion.

The Soviet Union, for example, started out in 1939 as the ally of Hitler but converted itself into an ally of the west in June, 1941, when it was attacked by the Nazi armies.

Today, however, the Soviet Union is lined up against its Western allies and insists on maintaining military control of East Germany, thus preventing by force the people of that territory from voting to join the West German Republic.

WHILE ARMED conflict was terminated between West Germany and the nations which fought Hitler in World War II, allied armies of occupation still remain in Berlin, and there have been occasional acts of war in recent years as the Russians have arbitrarily imposed air or road blockades. Erection of the "Berlin Wall," for instance, was a unilateral act. It wasn't sanctioned by the Western partners of World War II.

The Soviet government, moreover, has formed an "alliance" with a bloc of countries under Communist control in eastern Europe. Fifteen nations in the West have signed the North Atlantic Treaty pledging themselves to make war at any time to defend any member country against attack. France has not repudiated the treaty but is objecting to some aspects of the military organization. These were designed to enforce the terms of the pact if a war between East and West breaks out.

ALTHOUGH President Truman at the end of 1946 proclaimed a state of "peace," complications since then, growing out of World War II, have caused the United States to maintain troops in the Far East as well as in Southeast Asia and in Europe. Because fighting is not going on in Europe at the moment, the fuzzy situation isn't called a "hot war." The phrase "cold war" has been substituted. Legally speaking, however, the rights of belligerents in the "hot war" are being retained and occasionally are exercised.

Maybe the people who are calling for peace ought to concentrate on a conference that will re-establish "international law" in the world or at least define what it means today.

A BIGGER AND DEEPER RAT-HOLE

Business Review

Still Counting Petals On Flower Of Tax Raise

By JACK LEPLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Higher prices helped fan the gross national product — GNP — to a record high level in the 1966 first quarter.

And the cost of living rose again in March.

These two developments indicated that the Johnson administration must still keep in mind the possibility of asking Congress for an income tax increase to keep the economic boom from running away.

The Commerce Department reported during the week that the GNP — total of all goods and services produced — rose to an annual rate of $714.1 billion in the first three months of this year, up $16.9 billion from $697.2 billion in the 1965 fourth quarter.

BIGGEST ADVANCE
This was the largest quarterly advance since the Korean War.

The Commerce Department said the gain amounted to about 2.5 per cent, reflecting a 1.5 per cent advance in output and an increase of 0.9 per cent in prices.

The price rise "was the largest of the current business expansion" that began in early 1961, the department said. It noted that quarterly price rises in the past two years have averaged less than 0.5 per cent.

The accelerated price increase "is largely attributable to the steep rise in food prices," the department said.

Contributing to the GNP growth were continuing strong increases in consumer and government purchases and fixed business investment.

Consumer spending, which reflects the biggest part of the GNP, rose $11.6 billion to an annual rate of $452.6 billion, topping its $5.5-billion advance in the previous quarter.

RAISE OR NOT
A Treasury official said the GNP increase indicates that the question of raising taxes still is not settled.

Another official commented that the first-quarter growth wasn't enough to "make you jump out of your seat and decide to raise taxes but it was not so alarming that we don't have to worry any more."

Living costs advanced four-tenths of one per cent in March, a smaller jump than in February. But it was enough to cause continued official concern over price pressures.

With prices of many foods, goods and services advancing during the month, the consumer index rose to 112 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 111.6 per cent in February.

Commissioner Arthur Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics found a ray of hope in the slight decline of wholesale prices in the week ended April 19. They stood three-tenths of one per cent below the February level.

BACKLOGS GROW
Orders received by durable goods manufacturers rose 3 per cent in March to a record $24.2 billion. Shipments of durable goods also climbed about 3 per cent to a record $23 billion.

The Census Bureau reported that the backlog of unfilled orders for durable goods reached $66.2 billion at the end of March, an increase of $1.2 billion during the month.

The Commerce Department reported that the housing industry recovered during March from most of the slump it experienced during February. The number of private housing starts increased during March to an annual rate of 1,543,000 units, up 13 per cent from February.

EXPORTS UP SLIGHTLY
An 11 per cent increase in U.S. exports occurred during March. This boosted the total for the first three months of the year to $7.2 billion. March exports amounted to $2.59 billion, which was below the March, 1965, total of $2.75 billion, but the first-quarter total was ahead of the $5.75 billion a year earlier.

Retail sales fell to $5.58 billion in the post-Easter week ended April 18 from $6.118,000, the previous week.

Cash dividends paid by corporations in the first three months of this year totaled $5.19 billion, a gain of 12 per cent from the 1965 first quarter.

With trading volume soaring, Edwin D. Eberling, president of the American Stock Exchange, warned that the feverish activity "signals the need for care and caution on the part of those who use the marketplace."

BE CAREFUL
"It is important at all times," he said, "for people who assess the potential rewards of sound investment to ponder, as well, the inherent risks of ill-advised or casual speculation."

The three - millionth passenger car of the calendar year rolled off an assembly line during the week. Production for the week was estimated at 210,500 cars, compared with 211,731 the previous week and 207,924 a year ago.

Steel mills reported that demand for steel was leveling off and output for the week of 2,686,000 tons was unchanged from the previous week.

To Your Good Health How Much Vitamin D Is 'Too Much'

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard that excess Vitamin D, if taken over a long period, can be detrimental to adults. What would be considered excessive, and what sort of troubles can be caused?—C. W. M.

Yes, it's possible to get too much Vitamin D, although nobody is likely to do so unless for no valid reason he starts taking supplemental portions in excessive amount.

An excessive amount depends upon the individual. In general, it would be over 50,000 units a day, although in some instances it may be as little as 15,000. Excessive Vitamin D mobilizes calcium and phosphorus from the bones. This leads to fatigue, weakness, nausea, and possibly encourages formation of kidney stones.

Rarely does an adult need large doses of Vitamin D, since ample amounts are obtained from ordinary foods and from normal exposure to sunlight.

Children, it is true, particularly infants, may benefit from moderate Vitamin D supplements, which is why a few drops of halibut or codliver oil may be added to formulas but the average daily requirement for a growing child is only about 400 units.

Dear Dr. Molner: What do you think of cabbage juice for ulcers? In Europe it is very popular and even sold in drug stores. Please send me your booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." I enclose the required 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.—A. M.

Along with other doctors my age, I've been all through the cabbage juice vogue, and it just didn't hold up.

It is more to the point to use measures which we KNOW are helpful—diet, medications, ample rest, changes in living habits (avoiding or modifying smoking and drinking), and, perhaps most important of all, changing your psychological outlook on life, avoiding tensions, hostility and so on.

If someone believes that cabbage juice—or any special food or juice—helps him, the psychological effect may be good. But plain water would do as well, if one believed in it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am nearly 80 and recovering from a bad case of shingles. I have heard that after a case a person should be on the lookout for cancer, as shingles denotes a susceptibility to that disease.—C. F. F.

Everybody should be on the lookout for cancer, because the time to treat it successfully is as soon as it is discovered. However, shingles does not predispose to cancer in any way.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Note To Columnists: Don't Try Verse

Of the million or more mistakes this corner has made in the past year, absolutely the worst was to have lapsed into what you might call, if freely translated, a form of verse.

Anybody in his right mind knows that putting poetry, or versions thereof, into a newspaper is a fundamental mistake. I don't know why, it just is.

NEVERTHELESS, in a year or two past, I broke out into doggerel, little rhyme, no reason, about the time the Christmas decorations went up. This past holiday season, I kept up my resistance, but by the time the spring season had gotten here — whammo! The bug bit me. There emerged a bit of stuff about the winds of West Texas and how generally unwelcome they are.

In the main, people don't respond to this column, certainly they seldom take the trouble to write. In person, some are scornful, one or two have said such and such episode wasn't too bad.

BUT, THERE'S something about poetry. That effort of mine elicited several replies, and guess what? All of them in a form of verse of their own.

One was nice and brief, just calling attention to a fact of early spring—"the mesquites ain't out." Another went to some length, and creditably so, I might add, to verify that the winds of the midwestern snows are a lot worse than the sand-bearing breezes of this area.

ANOTHER DID a bit of rhyme on the proposition that if winds didn't blow in West Texas, where would the people be who have to exist on water drawn by windmills? A good point, and no argument here.

Kicking myself for ever having tried rhyming in the first place, I thought that was the end of it. Not so. One of the earlier writers came back later and said, "surely you are not going to let a bit of competition discourage you?" The note continued:

"Never let it be said of an established 'poet' that 'he' permitted a mere female the last word, poetically speaking."

IT IS A SHAME that this note (as well as the other offerings) came anonymously. It would have been pleasing to know who would respond in kind when they read jingles.

But I will answer even an anonymous letter, as long as it doesn't call me a dirty name. And my answer is that I never heard of a "he" who didn't permit a "mere female" the last word, whether it is poetically speaking or any other kind of speaking.

MY PLATFORM, in this political year, is plainly stated: Any member of the fair sex may have the last word, because she is going to get it, whether or not she is entitled to it. This goes for garden-variety conversation, household discussion, mild argument, bitter debate, and even poetry.

I stand dismissed, and there will be no more lousy verses in this column if I can help it. You understand, there may come another week when I can't help it.

It's Goodbye Charley

WASHINGTON—The problem of what the United States should do about Charles de Gaulle may be resolved very soon. I went over to the State Department the other day and spoke to one of the men involved with the French situation. He seemed far more confident than I expected him to be.

I ASKED him why he was so optimistic.

"We've reached the conclusion that we can no longer deal with De Gaulle, so we're going to have to get rid of him."

"How do you plan to do that?"

"It's very simple. We're going to have President Johnson invite President de Gaulle to a meeting in Honolulu. At the meeting President Johnson will embrace De Gaulle. As soon as the photos appear in the French newspapers the students will go out into the streets and demand that De Gaulle resign. They will also call for new elections. That's how we plan to get rid of De Gaulle."

"IT SOUNDS great," I said, "but how will you get De Gaulle to come to Honolulu after what happened to Premier Ky?"

"We're going to tell him if he doesn't come we'll pull all American troops out of France."

"That's ingenious. With a threat like that hanging over De Gaulle's head, he'll have to come."

"I should hope so."

"What will President Johnson discuss at the conference?"

"HE WILL TELL De Gaulle that the United States considers his government the only legitimate government in France and that we intend to help him with social and economic reforms."

"If that doesn't cause De Gaulle's downfall, nothing will," I said.

"We will also send Hubert Humphrey back with De Gaulle on the same airplane to show there is no question of our backing him up."

"The students should be wrecking the U.S. Embassy in Paris before their plane lands."

"We hope so. We expect the new elections to be held within four or five months."

"You've really got this thing figured out well," I said.

"WE ALWAYS believed something good would come out of the Honolulu conference, though we weren't sure exactly what it would be."

"I know this is a very tough question to pose, but suppose President de Gaulle embraces President Johnson at the Honolulu conference? What will happen then?"

"What do you mean by that?"

"Well, it was very easy for President Johnson to embrace Premier Ky because he was so small. But President de Gaulle is taller than President Johnson, and it would be very easy for him to embrace President Johnson before President Johnson embraced him."

"WHAT ARE you trying to say?"

"If De Gaulle embraced Johnson instead of the other way around, wouldn't the American students demand that President Johnson resign?"

"When it comes to embracing somebody else," the State Department man said smugly, "I'll put my money on President Johnson."

Faint Gleam Of Hope

WASHINGTON—To get some idea of what it means to try to hold elections in Viet Nam, consider a historical analogy. Imagine that a proposal had been made in, say, 1863, to hold nationwide elections to decide the future of the country at the height of America's Civil War.

WHILE THIS ANALOGY is far from exact, it suggests the overwhelming difficulties in the way of holding anything like a fair election which would express the will of a majority of the South Vietnamese people. The blood hatreds, the tribal and religious feuds go so deeply, that a choice made through the ballot box must seem all but impossible.

The Viet Cong have repeatedly practiced the most savage reprisals, shooting down in village after village not only men but women and children. Terrorism has killed or maimed far more innocent Vietnamese than military or other forces engaged in the war.

AMERICAN BOMBING in South Viet Nam has without doubt alienated many peasants and their families. The indiscriminate use of napalm has done fearful harm to individuals and to whole villages. Viet Cong hideouts are inevitably near communities from which the Viet Cong can levy supplies and manpower.

Formidable as the obstacles are, there is a gleam of hope in the fact that Premier Ky has agreed to hold an election for a constituent assembly on Aug. 15. As a partner in the war and in the search for peace, the United States must do everything possible to try to see that a reasonably fair election is held. In that light, a proposal by Sen. Albert Gore, a Tennessee Democrat, deserves serious consideration.

GORE PROPOSED in a speech on the Senate floor that the United States join with South Viet Nam in calling for a cease fire for a two-week period leading up to the election. Obviously elections cannot be held, except in very limited areas, if the fighting goes on. The chances for a cease fire, as other senators pointed out, are virtually zero.

But if the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam rejected such an appeal, this would be evidence that they do not want free elections. Gore noted that he had been the first to propose a call for negotiation early in 1965. This was three months before President Johnson made his Johns Hopkins speech calling for discussions looking to a negotiated settlement of the war. That speech and the peace offensive of December and January helped to persuade the world that the United States wanted peace while the Communists rejected any and all overtures.

THE POLITICAL upheaval in Viet Nam was a direct outgrowth of the Honolulu conference. The meeting in Honolulu can be taken as a classic example of how not to conduct diplomatic negotiations with the uncertain government of a state that is weak and dependent.

Perhaps the strongest plank in American policy in Viet Nam is its expressed determination to prevent the Communists from imposing a government on South Viet Nam by force and violence.

INCREASINGLY, however, it must look to the Vietnamese as though Washington meant to impose—despite a disclaimer every other day—a government bearing its own stamp of approval. History shows not a single instance of an invading army—no matter how beneficent the reason for the invasion—being able to impose a government on an unwilling people. That was what our own revolution was all about.

So with careful and not too obvious help, the election may precede light at the end of the tunnel. At the same time, it cannot be ignored that the odds probably favor more chaos and confusion.

Bullets End Bull Stampede

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fifty-nine steers led by a red bull broke from a Hialeah slaughterhouse Friday stampeded through residential neighborhoods, smashing trees and fences and charging cars before they were killed by bullets and poisoned darts.

animal inspectors and residents joined the chase in Hialeah, a Miami suburb of 70,000. Some carried rifles, others deerguns, still others knives and clubs.

The only confirmed injury, however, was to an 11-year-old boy who slashed his hand on a steel fence trying to escape after he was cornered.

"It was just horrible," said Mrs. Anna Pursino, 80, a widow, in whose backyard lay seven dead steers.

Proclamation Begins 'Secretaries Week'

"Better Secretaries Mean Better Business," the National Secretaries Association slogan, has been chosen as the theme by the Big Spring Chapter in their observance of NSA's 15th annual Secretaries Week.

Arnold Marshall, mayor, officially proclaimed the week of April 24-30 as Secretaries Week with Wednesday designated as Secretaries Day. On hand for the proclamation signing were Mrs. Jean Stone, president; and Mrs. Dee Ratliff, recording secretary, of the Big Spring chapter.

"Although NSA officially sponsors Secretaries Week, said Mrs. Stone, observance is not limited to our members alone.

but to all secretaries everywhere who are an indispensable part of management's team in business, industry, education, the professions, and government."

Special attention during Secretaries Week will be focused upon the Certified Professional Secretary Program (CPS) which provides certification to secretaries completing the examination successfully.

The local chapter stresses continued education for its members, both formal and self-development, and has sponsored credit and non-credit classes at Howard County Junior College. Monthly meetings are used as a means of learning, with speakers chosen with professional development in mind. Three chapter members, Mrs. Camille Patterson, Miss Margarette Cooper and Mrs. S. Gorman, hold the CPS rank.

Other activities during the week will include the showing of the CPS film, "Emblem of Excellence" and talks to interested groups. Members will present American Beauty Roses to non-NSA members and host a luncheon on Wednesday. The highlight of the week will be the 4th annual Bosses Night Banquet on April 30 with announcement of "Boss of the Year" and "Secretary of the Year."

Speaker for the evening will be Maj. John D. Blagg Jr., judge advocate from Webb AFB.

EVERY CHILD SHOULD HAVE GOOD TEETH

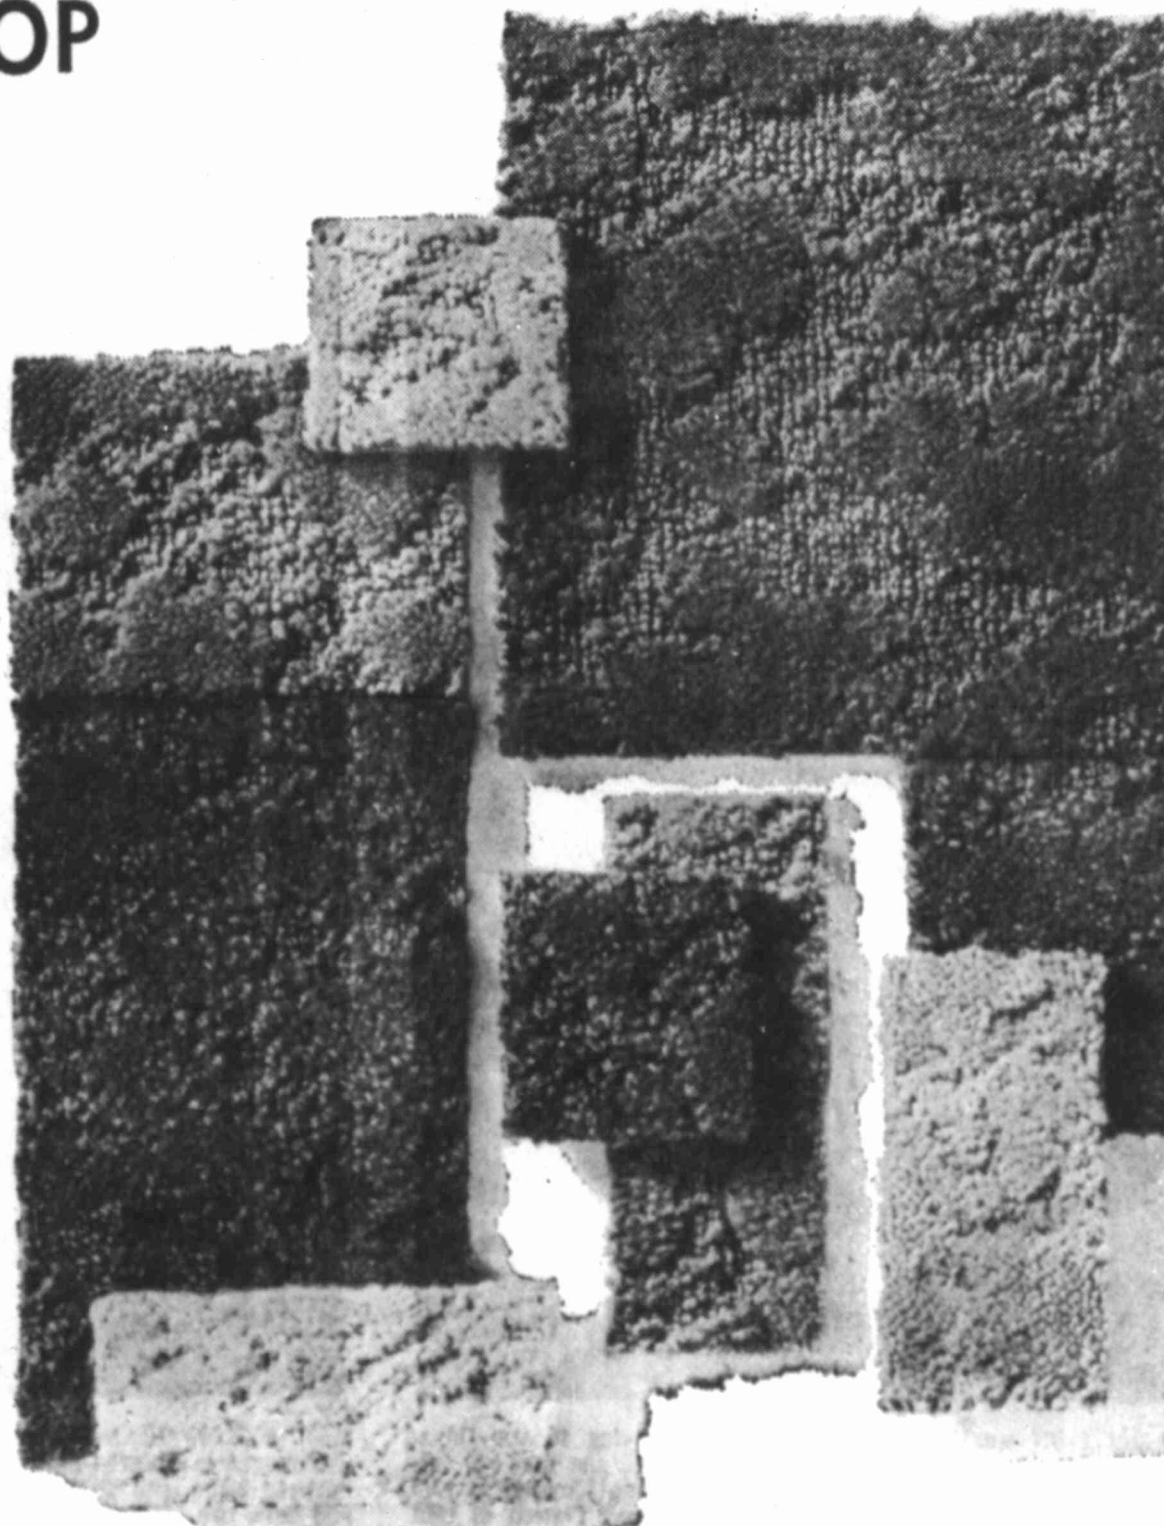

It is a mistaken notion that "Baby" teeth do not need care just because the body replaces them with "permanent" teeth. Imperfect "Baby" teeth often cause many later-life dental problems.

Every child should be taken to a dentist at about two and a half years to three years of age. By then all the "Baby" teeth will be in. The dentist will check for minute signs of decay, or any malformations which can cause later troubles. Dental patients under four years old have an average of three teeth that need fillings. If dental-aids are needed, whether it be a child's toothbrush or a good tasting effective toothpaste, we have a complete stock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Hart, 500 Ayford, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Van Allen, Visalia, Calif.

Fern - entwined candelabra flanking baskets of white gladioli formed the background at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of blue Chantilly lace over blue satin. The dress was styled with long tapered sleeves which ended in petal points over the hands, a scalloped neckline and a full skirt which ended in a short train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a cap of lace and satin accented with teardrop pearls. For her bouquet, the bride carried white feathered carnations showered with blue streamers.

Assisting her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Clydel Chapman of Lamesa. She wore a dress of pink satin, a pink veil and gold accessories.

Best man was Airman 3.C. Wade Self of South Memphis, Ark. Ushers were Cecil and Travis Hart, brothers of the bride.

For a wedding trip to Oklahoma, the bride's traveling costume was a blue dress worn with white accessories, and her corsage was taken from the bridal bouquet. The couple will reside at 702 1/2 E. 15th.

The bride attended schools in Big Spring, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Mt. Whitney High School, Visalia, Calif. He is stationed at Webb AFB with the 3560th Field Maintenance Supply.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church where the honored couple, her parents, and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth over a blue underlay. The white, three-tiered wedding cake was adorned with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Russell Parks, sister of the bride, was in charge of the register. Other members of the house party were Mrs. Jackie Pachall, sister of the bride and Mrs. Cecil Hart, sister-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker was the program leader, and Mrs. A. C. Bass introduced the speaker. The treasury balance amounted to $397.71, and the group agreed to give $100 to the Loyalty Scroll at the state clubhouse to be used for repairs of the building.

Miss Willo Robinson Weds James Craft

Miss Willo Dean Robinson became the bride of T. Sgt. James Craft in a Saturday evening ceremony at the First Methodist Church in Garden City. The Rev. T. H. Taylor, pastor, officiated for the double ring rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Robinson, Rt. 2, Garden City, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Craft, Tyler.

Mrs. Jesse McCormick of Big Spring, pianist, presented a selection of traditional wedding music.

The altar was graced with candles entwined in fern and flanking a large basket of feathered chrysanthemums and gladioli. Altar markers completed the arrangement.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal-length dress of Chantilly lace and organza. The fitted bodice was designed with a scalloped neckline and long lace sleeves ending in petal points above the wrists. The full lace skirt extended into a sweeping train and was accented by an organza overskirt and adorned with small nosegays at the draped hem line.

For her bouquet the bride carried a cascade of Frenched carnations and white roses atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Wayne Davis, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a street-length dress of light blue lace over peau de soie. The dress featured a round neckline, short sleeves and a bell skirt. She wore a lace cap and a blue veil, and her flowers were blue carnations showered with matching streamers.

Lloyd McCreight was best man, and ushers were the bride's brothers, Gary and Melvin Robinson, both of Garden City.

For a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a light blue suit and shell accessories. For her corsage, she wore the white roses from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside at 1403 Dixie.

The bride graduated from the Garden City High School and is employed as a teller at First National Bank.

The bridegroom attended Tyler High School and is stationed at Webb AFB.

Following the wedding, a ceremony was held at the church where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a lace cloth over a blue underlay. The centerpiece was formed with a candelabrum surrounded by the attendants' bouquets. The three-tiered white cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Lloyd McCreight was in charge of the register. Other members of the house party were sisters of the bride, Mrs. Glen Hillger and Mrs. Ervin Wooten, both of Garden City; and Mrs. George Hillger of Midland; and Mrs. Jim Robinson, Midland, the bride's sister-in-law.

A discussion of vacation spots in Texas was the highlight of the Thursday evening meeting of the Forsan Study Club. Mrs. C. B. Long presided at the school cafeteria session.

Mrs. M. M. Fairchild gave the devotion, and Mrs. Darrell Flynt was program leader.

Mrs. E. L. Strickland presented a program on "Parks, Lakes and Tourist Attractions." She described the recreational facilities in Big Bend National Park, Bandera, Brownwood Lake and Lake J. B. Thomas.

Hyperion Told Of Civil War

A program on the Civil War, as it progressed around the boundaries of Texas, was given by Mrs. Clyde Angel at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the 1948 Hyperion Club. Mrs. Charles Tompkins was hostess, and her cohostess was Mrs. George Blair.

Mrs. Angel described the vastness of the state and the different peoples that made up its population during that historic time. She traced its history under the six flags, noting that the Spanish influence still remains in its culture. Also, she explained that the areas of Texas differ vastly in regard to climate, terrain, industry and culture. She pointed out that when the war came, slave-holding Texans succeeded and joined the Confederacy.

Majority Of County's Voters Live In City

By SAM BLACKBURN

Forty-five per cent of all of the qualified voters in Howard County who will be eligible to ballot in the May 7 election could cast their votes in only three of the county's 20 voting boxes, a check of the voting lists shows.

Eighty per cent of all of the potential voters in the county live in the city of Big Spring and will vote in the seven urban voting boxes. The remaining 20 per cent of the voters ballot in the 13 rural boxes.

Total possible vote in Big Spring is 8,398. This includes 5,375 who paid their poll tax, 1,872 who hold exemption certificates, and 1,151 voters who registered in the special voter registration period after the poll tax paying time had ended.

Total voting strength of the county for elections this year, as revealed by the records of Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, county tax assessor, is 10,622. This includes 7,188 citizens who paid their poll tax, 1,923 who were issued exemption certificates, and 1,510 who registered in the special registration period set up after the closing of the regular time to pay poll tax.

Also on the list, but not eligible to vote, is one alien, who paid his poll tax.

Although it is said this represents a better than average total qualified voters, it is far from what it should be. It is estimated there are at least 14,000 and perhaps more men and women in the county who could qualify for voting. This indicates only about two-thirds of the total voting strength is reflected on the lists of the qualified electors. However, this is not unusual. In 1963, a presidential election year, the total potential vote in the county was 11,491 — only about 700 greater than in this non-presidential election year.

There are seven voting boxes in Big Spring. Three of these are the voting residences of 4,988 of the county's 10,622 electors.

These big boxes are: No. 4, City Hall Fire Station, 1,810 votes; No. 2, Washington Place School, 1,706; No. 3, Main and 18th Fire Station, 1,472.

The other four city voting boxes could poll 3,410 additional urban votes thus accounting for 8,398 of the county's potential vote of 10,622.

The other Big Spring boxes and their voting strength are: No. 1, North Side Fire Station, 861; No. 8, Cedar Crest School, 900; No. 15, Runnels Junior High, 777; and No. 16, Park Hill School, 872.

The only other large voting box in the county is No. 9, Coahoma City hall, which has a potential vote of 811.

The other of the larger rural boxes include three created only a year ago. These are No. 18, Byron Neel residence, 165; No. 19, Elbow, 301; No. 20, Crestview Church, 225. The fourth and fifth of the larger rural boxes is at Center Point where a voting strength of 163 is listed, and Forsan with 132.

These five boxes, with Coahoma, could account for 1,797 votes.

The remaining six boxes in the county, all in rural areas, have the remaining 419 votes.

These boxes are No. 5, Vincent, 35; No. 6, Gay Hill, 102; No. 7, R-Bar-Salem, 37; No. 12, Prairie View, 56; No. 13, Knott, 89; and No. 14, Vealmoor, 46.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1966

Lt. Gov. Smith Coming Monday

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith will be in Big Spring Monday for a public reception in his honor in the First Federal Savings and Loan building from 9 to 10 a.m.

Smith has served as lieutenant governor since 1962 and is now seeking a third term. The 54-year-old West Texas businessman has a long career in public service dating back to 1944, when he was elected a state representative. He served three terms in the House, then in 1956 was elected to the state senate to represent an 11-county West Texas district. After six years in the senate, he was elected to the chair of the presiding officer of the senate as lieutenant governor, winning the four opponents.

Smith is a native of Texas, born on a farm near Georgetown, the seventh child of a family of 13. He attended schools in Williamson and Gaines counties, graduated from high school in Lamesa, and is a graduate of Texas Tech College in Lubbock.

Smith and his wife, Ima, reside in Lubbock. They have two children, a son, Mickey, and a daughter, Jan, a student at Texas Tech. The Smiths are Methodists.

Webb Planning Big Air Show

Saturday, May 7, the Armed Forces Day air show at Webb AFB will feature the USAF official aerial demonstration team, the Thunderbirds, and the Army's Golden Knight parachutists. These will be held in conjunction with the review honoring graduating pilots of Class 66-G.

A high speed pass by one of Webb's T-38 aircraft will begin the show at 9 a.m. Next, 66-G pilots will be awarded their certificates of aeronautical rating and their silver wings as Air Force pilots. The command will then pass in review, just prior to the parachuting demonstration by the Golden Knights.

Included in the maneuvers will be the "Cutaway" in which the jumper leaves the aircraft at 13,500 feet, free falls to 3,500 feet, causes his parachute to collapse and cuts it away, again free falling to 1,800 feet. At this point he opens the main chute to land.

The Thunderbirds will include a cross-section of aerobatic team and solo maneuvers in their demonstration. Lt. Col. T. J. R. Preston is project officer for the show.

Guest speaker at the dining-in the night before the review and air show will be Col. Daniel D. James Jr., director of operations, 443rd Combat Training Wing, Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz. The dining-in will be for graduating members of Class 66-G and their guests.

The public is invited to see the show and the culmination of Webb's pilot training program—the awarding of pilot's wings.

Public Works Meeting Opens Here Friday

Big Spring's Ramada Inn will be the gathering place for about 100 members of the Texas Public Works Association at their spring meeting Friday and Saturday.

Mayor Arnold Marshall will welcome the members at 1 p.m. Friday, following an executive session and luncheon at 11:30 a.m.

From 1:15 to 2:30 p.m., John S. Stiff, Amarillo's city manager, and president of the City Manager's Association, Texas Municipal League, will speak on public relations. Stiff, a native of Big Spring, worked for this city during summers while attending college.

"Personnel Management" will be the topic of a discussion by Clyde McCollough, director of personnel for the city of San Antonio at 3 p.m.

George Dieter, of the El Paso, department of public works, will speak on "Reports & Records," an hour later.

A banquet will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday, following breakfast.

Robert Nichols, of Fresno, Nichols & Endress, president of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, will speak on "Planning a Public Works Program" from 9 to 10 a.m.

After a coffee break, John Tiepel, deputy, department of public works, Dallas, will speak on "Public Works Management," ending the meeting.

Riordan Pegs Delegate Total

C. V. Riordan, Howard County Democratic party committee chairman, had to make like Old King Solomon this past week.

He had to arbitrarily designate the number of county democratic convention delegates that four Howard County voting precincts were entitled to have. It came about like this:

RULE

The rule of determining the number of delegates a precinct may send to the county convention is to take the number of votes cast in that precinct for governor in the last general election. For each 25 voters recorded, one delegate is allowed. For each major fraction of 25 above the first, a second delegate is designated.

This is all very easy except that Precincts 17, 18, 19 and 20, now having a potential total voting strength of nearly 750, were not in existence in 1964 when the last gubernatorial election was held. Voters living in those precincts then were voting in urban boxes. A new law restricted persons from voting in such boxes if they lived outside the city limits. The county commissioners therefore had to create four new precincts to accommodate the voters.

NO ANSWERS

"Well," reasoned the county chairman, after he had pawed through the law books and regulations and found no answer for this particular situation, "it is quite clear that these boxes are entitled to have delegates at the county convention. It is also pretty well established that in any election, about 70 per cent of the registered and qualified voters go to the polls.

"Therefore, I am going to assume 70 per cent of the registered voters in these precincts balloted in the 1964 election and figure their delegation strengths accordingly."

Thus Precinct 17, (Gerald

Harris residence) with 55 potential voters, was allotted two delegates to the county convention; Precinct 18, (Byron Neel residence) with 165 voters, five delegates; No. 19, (Elbow School) with 301 voters, eight delegates; and Precinct 20, with 225 voters, six delegates.

287 DELEGATES

The 20 voting precincts in the county are entitled to 287 delegates. These delegates must be selected at county precinct conventions to be held as soon as the polls close at 7 p.m. May 7. The conventions are usually held in the voting places. Any group of qualified democratic voters can convene a precinct convention, Riordan said. He emphasized that the names of the delegates must be filed with the county clerk. Within 72 hours after the polls close.

"Precinct chairmen," he said, "are urged to either deliver their delegation lists to me or personally file them with the county clerk within the specified time."

He also stressed that only those Democratic voters who can prove they had balloted in the May 7 primary are eligible to participate in the precinct conventions.

FORMS

He said he had copies of the forms on which the convention minutes may be entered for filing and any precinct chairman who wants a copy is asked to contact him.

There are only six of the 20 voting boxes in which announced candidates for precinct chairman are listed. There are 14 boxes where no candidates' names for this post appear on the ballot. Riordan said that such boxes can fill the office by write-in votes.

The records of the 1964 gubernatorial election shows that Gov. Connally received 7,243 votes in the 16 voting places operating that year.

The precinct votes for governor on the Democratic ticket, with the number of delegates each is entitled to select for the 1965 county convention:

- Precinct 1, N. Side Fire Station, 578 (23).
- Precinct 2, Washington School, 1,065 (43).
- Precinct 3, 18th and Main St. Fire Station, 1,010 (40).
- Precinct 4, City Hall, 1,203 (48).
- Precinct 5, Vincent, 45 (2).
- Precinct 6, Gay Hill, 79 (3).
- Precinct 7, R-Bar-Salem, 45 (2).
- Precinct 8, Cedar Crest School, 531 (21).
- Precinct 9, Coahoma, 584 (23).
- Precinct 10, Forsan, 107 (4).
- Precinct 11, Center Point, 146 (6).
- Precinct 12, Prairie View, 51 (2).
- Precinct 13, Knott, 97 (4).
- Precinct 14, Vealmoor, 43 (2).
- Precinct 15, Runnels Junior High, 457 (18).
- Precinct 16, Park Hill School, 606 (24).
- Total 287

WEEK LATER

The county convention will be held a week later than the precinct conventions. At the county convention, the delegates will name the delegates to the state convention and adopt resolutions to be laid before the state meeting.

The county is entitled to one delegate at the state convention for each 300 votes cast in 1964 for Gov. Connally. The county delegation should be 24 this year.

BUSINESS LEADERS INVITED TO UNITED FUND LUNCHEON

A sizeable number of business leaders of the city are being invited to attend a luncheon Monday at which time new purposes and goals of the United Fund will be outlined. The affair is to be held at the Settles Hotel at noon, and some special films and slides will be shown.

M. R. Koger, UF president; Dick Ream, campaign chairman; and Bill Pollard, vice chairman of the campaign, are joining in urging a full attendance.

"We are not asking for money, or for work," they said. "We feel that the full story of our United Fund needs to be told again, to the leaders of the community, and we want them to hear it. We will be asking them for counsel as we proceed with our plans to make the 1966 campaign a real success."

Youth Honors Banquet Scheduled

Winner of a distinctive community honor for young people — the Zale • Herald Youth Achievement Award — will be known Friday evening.

A banquet, to be held at the Cosden Country Club and starting at 7:30, is scheduled for April 29. At this affair, the honored boy or girl will be announced and presented with a large trophy and an engraved watch.

All the nominees in the award program — there are 35 of them — will be honor guests at the dinner, at which Zale's Jewelry is host. Judges also will be present.

By Friday, the judges will have selected the senior or junior boy or girl from one of the county's three high schools who has been selected as outstanding in a variety of volunteer activities, demonstrating leadership, and serving faithfully in school, church and civic activities.

Scratch On Car Brings On Killing

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A scratch on an automobile which would have cost perhaps $125 to fix resulted in the death of one man and serious injuries to three others persons, police reported Friday. They gave this account:

After the cars of neighbors Otto Ball, 45, and Bernard Metzger, 23, scraped while parking, Ball went into Metzger's home, shot him dead; shot and wounded Metzger's parents; and another neighbor who tried to intervene.

THE ARTS

Local Choirs Give Outstanding Show

For three decades we have been watching and hearing high school choirs, and it is a fair assumption that this year's Big Spring High School choir is the best we have ever had. This fact was demonstrated clearly in the Thursday concert at the Municipal Auditorium. Mel Ivey, director, has blended some outstanding voices into an exceptional singing group. The choir was imposing in "O Magnum Mysterium," and in the Brahms double-choir motet it was little short of terrific. Versatility and artistry were completely shown in "Walkin' on the Green Grass," a tricky piece with change in tempo and counterpoint. Both the Runnels Junior High (under Hubert Murphy) and Goliad Junior High (under Susan Cupp) choirs were really impressive, and they give promise of things to come. Five years ago our total choir program had 150 participants; now there are 350. This is exciting news.

Frank Hardesty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hardesty Jr., was a featured tenor soloist in "Variety 66" at Odessa Friday and Saturday. He is a graduate of Big Spring High School and of North Texas State University, and studied under Ira Schantz and Mary McCormick. In 1964, while in the Army in Korea, he won first place in the Seoul Area Command talent show and was one of the five finalists in the all-eight Army Talent Show. A teacher in Odessa schools, he has been serving as a soloist for the First Baptist Church choir, and recently he was prevailed on to lead singing in a revival.

"Texas" is musical drama presented in an outdoor setting in an amphitheatre on the Palo Duro canyon floor by a cast of 45 persons. Tryouts are now underway and the first "Founders Festival" programs will be presented July 1-6, followed by the nightly shows (except Tuesday's) from July 7-Sept. 5. The amphitheatre is located southeast of Canyon on State Highway 217. Those interested in tryouts may write Texas Panhandle Heritage, Box 268, Canyon.

W. L. (Bill) Hopper, who lived in Big Spring from 1918 to 1935 when he moved to the Dallas-Fort Worth area, has had his book, "Famous Texas Landmarks," released recently by The Arrow Press (1102 Trail Ave., Mesquite, Texas). Hopper attended the old Center Point school northeast of Big Spring, then studied writing with the American School of Chicago. Since then he has written four other books, plus numerous articles, some for national magazines. He also has composed Gospel songs, having more than 100 published. Dear Abby

The Givers, The Takers

DEAR ABBY: I am a small independent grocer, and I have a question for you. Why do some customers (including relatives) ask for groceries on credit, but when they have the cash they will drive an extra mile to shop at a supermarket and give their money to strangers? The people they give cash to wouldn't give them groceries on credit if their whole family was dying of malnutrition.

FED UP WITH PEOPLE

DEAR FED UP: There are two kinds of people in this world: the givers and the takers. The credit customers (including your relatives) who spend their cash elsewhere are "takers." You may complain, but the next time someone is broke and needs groceries on credit, you won't turn him down, because you are a "giver." The takers may eat better—but the givers sleep better.

DEAR ABBY: My children are just average, but they are good kids. I have no outstanding beauties among my daughters, and while they do have friends, none of them is wildly popular. My boys are average students, just fair in sports, but none of them ever made the team. A relative of mine has outstanding children. They are popular, good looking, and get lots of honors. And he doesn't let me forget it for a moment. What can I say when he collars me and brags on and on about his kids? STUCK FOR WORDS

DEAR STUCK: Nothing. Just because a jackass brags does not mean you have to answer him.

DEAR ABBY: No woman in her right mind would hire a housekeeper to come into her home and look after her children without first checking to learn where she had worked before. The reason she is no longer working there, and something about her character, disposition and temperament.

So why, when one is considering marrying a previously divorced person, doesn't she (or he) sit down and have a long talk with the former mate? One could learn more just listening for an hour than living with someone for a year.

DEAR PRACTICAL: No doubt. But when the emotions are involved few are "practical." When one desperately wants something, he refrains from examining it too closely lest he discover too many imperfections. In other words, most people enjoy living with illusions.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

U.S. READIES, FAILS TO USE COMIC BOOKS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now comic books are being stockpiled by the government, two House Republicans said Friday.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., and Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., said 435,000 comic books promoting the Job Corps have been gathering dust in Washington since July, 1965.

Called "Li'l Abner and the Creatures from Drop - Outer Space" the book was created by cartoonist Al Capp and includes a card that is to be mailed in by a Job Corps applicant.

Quie and Goodell, in a statement said officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity had second thoughts after getting the booklets and decided not to use them.

A spokesman for the OEO said Job Corps promotion, by various means, was so successful that it has 300,000 applicants for the 30,000 corps openings now authorized.

LILLIAN SMITH

First Book Broke Silence

By CHRIS ECKL
Associated Press Writer

CLAYTON, Ga. (AP)—For 22 years Lillian Smith has been quizzed about the South, its white and black people and segregation.

At 68, Miss Smith, a novelist and essayist, still discusses the South and its future with passion. But her conversation reflects more than concern for one region's fate.

Ill with cancer, she lives alone in her home on the ridge of Old Screamer Mountain in the scenic hills of northeast Georgia. Her career, reading, music, visits from friends and numerous phone calls keep her from being isolated. But she said that spells of pain prevent her from writing as much as she would like.

"I have never been a 'cause' person," she said in an interview. "I am concerned with the excellence of the human race—not white, black or yellow. Our future is as human beings, and I hope that in a thousand years they will look back on us as primitives."

What made people seek her as one of the spokesmen for a more liberal South was her first book, "Strange Fruit," a novel about a tragic love affair between a white boy and a Negro girl.

Published in 1944, it was a shocker and sold more than 3,000,000 copies. It was rejected by seven publishers before it was printed.

"It broke the silence," Miss Smith said, "but kids in college now wonder why their parents were shocked."

She well remembers the sensation the book caused in the press and the reaction of Clayton's residents.

"The town gave an awful gasp, but I had already told some women who came to tea that the book would shock them. But 99 per cent of the residents here have been good to me and most of the ugly calls I have received during the years have been long distance."

Another book, "Killers of the Dream," also dealt with the South. It was a joint autobiography of a person and her region. A reviewer said it was a book about "destructive forces at work in a culture and in the lives of children who grow up in it." It received the Southern Authors Award in 1950.

Her latest novel, "One Hour," published in 1959, was about erudite Southerners—a scientist, his wife and a clergyman—who were destroyed by malicious, ignorant persons. Race was not a major issue, and Miss Smith said reviewers found her victims unreal because they demand that books written by Southerners be about the poor. Miss Smith feels these books and others ask questions that are not limited to the South.

But what about the South? She said as the region continues to prosper and becomes more familiar with music, art and drama, it will have a creative outlet for its fantasies and aggression.

"Many persons in the white group have had free and open access to aggression against Negroes. When tension piled up in them, they had one place they could get rid of it, and their wives, their church and their culture didn't prevent them from doing it."

This cultural change will affect novels set in the South, she said. "Strange Fruit" may have a comeback as a good story about complex, interesting people instead of being read only as a book about the Southern 'problem.' I wanted them to see a subtle relationship, but all most of them saw was the problem."

Miss Smith is working on a "little" book called, "The Poet and the Demagogue," a study of the conflict "between the poet who searches for the future and the demagogue who clings to the past with pseudo-culture." She plans another book on letters she has received from young people and has worked on a novel tentatively called "Julia."

One of the foundations for her optimism about the future of man are the writings of the late Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, a Jesuit priest and noted paleontologist, whose books she has reviewed.

She wrote in one review, "For as Teilhard reminds us, the earth is round; and because it is round we cannot escape each other; we are breathing down each other's necks, embracing and choking. Some of it is none too pleasant but (because of) this inevitable proximity . . . awareness becomes more intense, reflection more complex, knowledge expands outwardly and inwardly."

Miss Smith remarked, "An artist should remember that he cannot have hate in his nature. He has to have compassion. Everybody sins; everybody is evil, and everybody can be good."

Historical Drama

CANYON, Tex. (AP)—An historical drama, "Texas," is to be produced this summer in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

It is being written by Paul Green, who won the 1927 Pulitzer Prize in drama with "In Abraham's Bosom" and who has authored several pageants that are presented annually in outdoor festivals. "Texas" is to open July 1 and run through Labor Day.

'THE SINGING NUN'
Debbie Reynolds as Sister Ann

Debbie Reynolds Plays Lead In 'Singing Nun'

Replete with catchy songs, and afterwards becomes her greatest friend.

It opens Thursday at the Ritz.

In it, Debbie Reynolds, playing the title role as the young Belgian Dominican nun, Sister Ann, has her most triumphant role since "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," which won her an Academy Award nomination.

When you see this joyous young nun careening over the countryside on a motor scooter, getting kicked in the shins in a soccer game, zooming down a slide in a playground or leading a Pled Piper's dance with a group of youngsters, you are completely caught up in the infectious endearment of this appealing story.

The all-star cast also has Greer Garson, making one of her rare screen appearances as Mother Prioress of Samaritan House, Ricardo Montalban, Agnes Moorehead, Chad Everett, Katharine Ross, Juanita Moore and Ed Sullivan, who plays himself in a segment of the story in which he recreates one of his television shows.

Sister Ann, one of the nuns who has come to Samaritan House to help the poor and underprivileged, brings with her the guitar on which she has composed light-hearted songs, which ultimately are to make her a celebrity and to bring her soul-searching personal problems.

These are the songs of the famous Nun's Music, and one of the delightful aspects of "The Singing Nun" is Debbie's singing of such songs as "Dominique," "Sister Adele," "Brother John," "Raindrops," "Beyond the Stars" and "Aveo Tol," to mention a few.

Why Sister Ann is persuaded to record an album of her songs, her efforts achieve overnight popularity, leading to her appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show. But her sudden and unexpected fame also faces her with a momentous decision, one which has its impact on other persons. One is Robert Gerard, who fell in love with Sister Ann when they were fellow students at a music conservatory, and who implores her to give up her life as a nun in favor of a professional career.

Another is Nicole, the sister of a youngster who has become Sister Ann's protégé. Embittered by poverty and neglect, Nicole has taken the "easy way" to get something out of life. Sister Ann's ultimate decision marks not only the pattern of her own life but theirs as well.

Greer Garson gives a warm and glowing performance as the Mother Prioress, with other fine portrayals by Montalban as Father Clement, Agnes Moorehead as the grumpy Sister Cluny, Juanita Moore as Sister Mary and Katharine Ross as the embittered Nicole who eventually finds a ray of hope in her drab life. Chad Everett wins sympathy as Robert Gerard and little Rickey Cordell is completely endearing as the youngster who kicks Sister Ann in the shins

Wars Are Similar

A PASSIONATE PRODIGALITY. By Guy Chapman. Holt, Rinehart, $5.

Are there experiences which warriors share in common, no matter in what conflict they have fought? Wasn't death just as final at Troy as it was at Thermopylae—and at Verdun?

Such questions arise from the idea that mortal combat in every age has its universal, primitive qualities, and only the circumstances vary. This book is about a war of unusual circumstances — World War I—a strange blend of the 19th Century (the last of the cavalry) and the 20th (tanks and airplanes), a conflict of congealed positions, fought in trenches.

CONGREGATIONS HAVE 16,669 MEMBERS

Ours Is A Church Town

Big Spring is a church town. It not only has almost three score congregations, but it has an imposing array of modern church plants to house them.

The people who make up the city's churches invest upwards of a million and a half dollars a year in church programs.

Properties owned by churches top seven million dollars in value, most of it being in places of worship.

The 49 churches who responded to a questionnaire by The Herald reported a combined membership of nearly 17,000—16,669 to be exact.

Yet this is less than half of the city's population.

On an average Sunday, these same churches reported 11,000 in gram.

More Unity, Professionals, Training Listed As Goals

More training for Christian marriage, more professional people in church work, and more unity among the churches are goals listed by the churches of Big Spring.

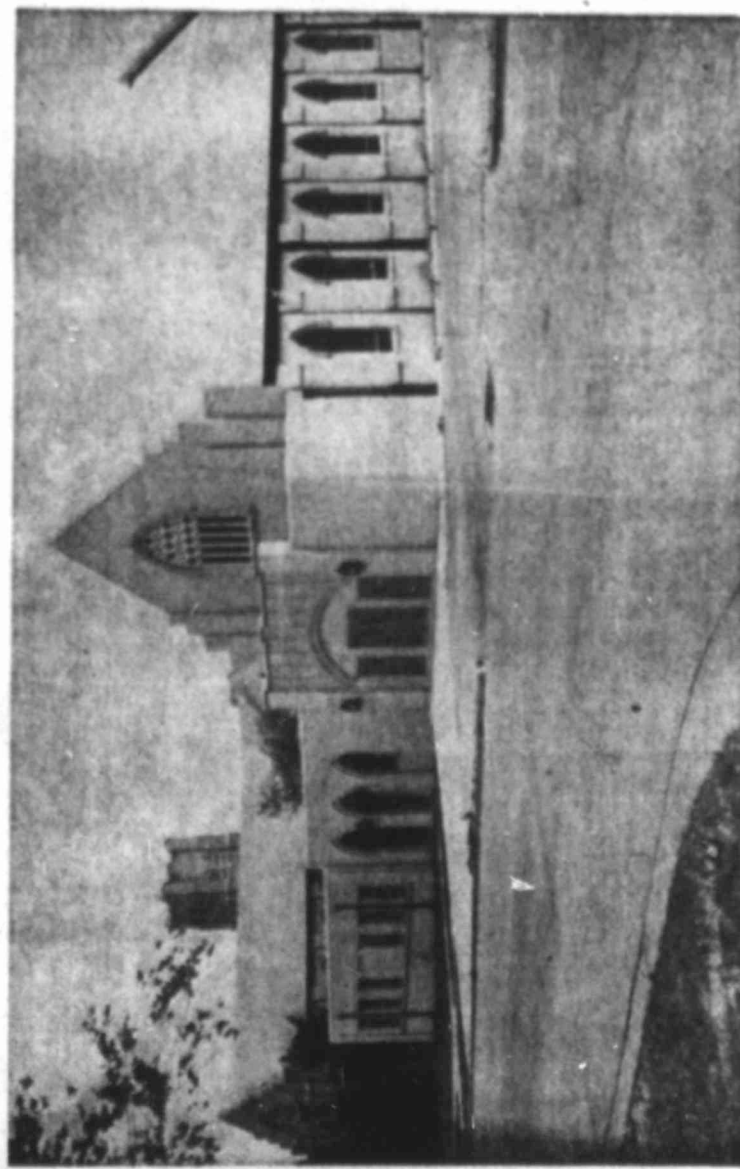

According to the Rev. Melvin Montgomery, pastor of Mt. Bethel Baptist Church, there are three major goals for the churches in Big Spring.

The first goal is more unity among the churches. "We are doing more counseling than ever before," he said. "We are participating in 'Laymen's work' all walks of life."

The second goal is more professional people in church work. "We are doing more counseling than ever before," he said. "We are participating in 'Laymen's work' all walks of life."

The third goal is more training for Christian marriage. "We are doing more counseling than ever before," he said. "We are participating in 'Laymen's work' all walks of life."

These figures compare favorably with national averages. A national poll showed that only 44 per cent of the people consider themselves regular attenders of church services.

When it comes to Bible study or Sunday school, the attendance amounts to slightly less than 8,000. This means that less than one in four of the residents of the city are taking part in this portion of the church program.

On the other hand, if all members reported for Bible study or Sunday school, the churches would be able to serve them. Here the attendance amounts to 11,000.

Although another survey indicated that only about half of the people in churches give any other types, Methodists ranked next with 2,382 members in five congregations. Catholics had 1,811 in three churches, and the Baptist Church had 1,351 in five congregations (and here were two or three not responding).

There are a few thousand members in the churches, and the churches in general are equally divided. (See METHODS, Pg. 15, Col. 1)

Laity Is Being Drawn In, Taking A Bigger Place

Although there is a trend in some areas to let the professional staff carry the load, the laity is being drawn into the work of the church and is taking a bigger part. This is the consensus of several local ministers.

"Our members take a big part in the work of the church," said Rev. Melvin Montgomery, pastor of Mt. Bethel Baptist Church. "Although some take the attitude that the staff should do all the work, many pitch in and do their share. The church is for more members to take a bigger share of the church work."

Rev. Claude Craven, Trinity Baptist Church, pointed out that there is a tendency for some to let the professional staff carry the load.

"The minister can help equip and prepare the laity for service," he said. "The laity is becoming more active in church work, particularly in business affairs."

Rev. James Puckett, pastor of Baptist Temple, is the job of every Christian and the growth of the church is evidence they are doing a good job. All members participating in church work are the growth of the church.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, sees no dramatic or revolutionary change in the laity.

"Laymen are used extensively in teaching and in the fields of visitation and recruitment," he said. "They may be used more in the fields of visitation and recruitment."

Significantly, he pointed out that it is "not merely a matter of involving more people, but a matter of how and for what purpose."

METHODS

The Bible plan of personal witnessing.

"An increase in programs to meet special needs, such as youth, counseling, marriages and family can be good," he said. "We can use these other techniques to advantage, providing they don't become the sole source of the church's program."

Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said that most churches, whether they enunciate it or not, are more concerned with social issues than before.

"They want more than a 'fire-escape' religion," he said. "They are asking what should be the Christian's stance on economics, race, government, politics, sex, divorce, child rearing—the everyday issues of life."

"A change in attitudes rather than methods will be the main change," he said. "Many churches tend to give the impression that are out-of-simners are not wanted. Some look down on the alcoholic. Instead of wanting these to share in the love of Christ."

"Many churches, too, are making a move to get religion outside the church house through small groups, Christian retreats, fellowship of groups (such as athletes, doctors, lawyers)."

One of the highlights of the past year was the 42nd anniversary celebration, when about 100 persons gathered for the occasion.

Assisting Rev. Montgomery is Mrs. E. S. Dawson, minister of music, and Patricia McDade, pianist.

eight other churches brought large delegations here for joint worship services.

In the future, the congregation is hoping to remodel the educational space, providing permanent rooms for each section, as well as air conditioning the annex and build retaining walls around the west side of the church property.

May Relocate Church Plant

The Rev. A. J. Fox Jr., pastor of the Church of God, has announced plans to relocate the church plant to a new site. The church is currently located at 1310 Birdwell Lane.

The church is considering plans for relocating the parsonage and the church at the present time, Rev. Fox said, so that parking problems will be eased. The value of the church property is estimated at $20,000.

There are 116 resident members, with Sunday morning attendance at 100 and Sunday church school attendance at 110. The budget last year reached $18,000. About $55 is donated to missions.

The present building is about 36 years old. The church itself was organized in 1927 by the Rev. Claude Asher. The sanctuary can accommodate about 150, with the classrooms seating nearly 200.

The church supports the Waterford Church of God State Camp Grounds, as do other Churches of God throughout Texas.

The young people of the church purchased a new piano as part of their church project last year, and they also support the Youth World Evangelism Mission Program, and the Lee College, Tennessee, Alumni Program.

Rev. John Black is the minister, and the new building will be at the church's present site at 701 NW 5th.

Rev. Pena has been with the church for a year, and was ordained at the Mexican Bible Institute in San Antonio. Before coming to Big Spring, he was with the Baptist Mission in Ackery.

The church donates approximately $125 yearly toward the operation of missions.

To accommodate an expanded membership, Rev. Pena plans to double the auditorium size to a capacity of 200 with interior redecoration throughout the building. The building program is scheduled to begin in August.

Baptists Have Newest Minister

Loebhart Baptist Church, 4000 Wesson Road, likely has the newest minister in Big Spring. He is Larry Haag, who preached his first sermon last Sunday. Then he returned to Bronson, Kan., to get his family to move to Big Spring.

The church was organized in 1911 and the following year work was begun on the present building. The congregation has its sights on building a parsonage on part of the four-acre tract, possibly tackling this project this year.

The buildings are central heated and air conditioned. Property is valued conservatively at $15,000.

Membership currently is about 50 with an average attendance of 35 in worship services and Sunday school. The first pastor was J. E. Wilson, who served two years. He was succeeded by Aaron Oden, who served for 10 years.

Mr. Haag has been in the ministry for 10 years. He has previously ministered in churches in California, Paducah, Ohio, and Matamoros.

Saving Funds To Expand

St. Paul Presbyterian Church, 1009 Birdwell Lane, dates back to 1883. The church has a membership of 105 and an average attendance of 75. The Sunday school attendance is from 70 to 90.

In addition to Seddon, the church has two staff members—Mrs. John Arnold, choir director, and Annelle Fitzhugh, organist.

Rev. Seddon is a graduate of the University of Texas, where he earned his BA degree, and Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, where he received his divinity degree.

He served as pastor in Bay City, Kansas, Austin, Texas, and San Antonio, Texas. He has been in the ministry for 10 years.

The present church was built 13 years ago. It's sanctuary will seat 110 and the Sunday school classrooms are adequate for 75 persons. The church has a kitchen and a library (not housed in a separate room). The church property is valued at $40,000 and the parsonage at $5,000.

The church has an annual budget of $14,000. Of this $1,200 are allocated to mission work. Funds are being accumulated to finance an expansion program and to provide a new sanctuary.

The church is planning to build a new sanctuary. The job No. 100 is needed to do the job. No date has been set for the proposed enlargement of the plant.
