Wheat Suffers Much Damage From Freeze

The experts disagree on whether the late May 2 freeze destroyed all the wheat in this area, but it is generally agreed that tremendous damage was done by the freeze, especially to the early varieties of wheat.

County agent Delbert Timmons says he believes a large percent of the wheat that was headed out on May 2 has been lost to the freeze. Wheat that was later, and had not headed out, will perhaps be all right, Timmons believes. Much of the wheat in the area around Perryton, especially to the north and east, is turning a pale green now, in spite of the rains, and there are some who contend this is freeze damage.

The Perryton area went into the winter, and even into the spring, with one of the best crops.

Two Civil Cases In District Court During Week

The jury decided in favor of the plaintiff on four special issues in the suit in district court this week, L. E. Thomas vs. W. L. Herndon, debt. This was one of the longest civil cases in several years, with the jury serving from Wednesday through Monday before returning their findings.

The suit was brought for an alleged debt for "extras" in connection with the house built by Thomas for Herndon in 1950. The jury was instructed to return findings on a number of special issues and Judge Jack Allen now has the case under advisement.

The jury found that the amount of labor and materials in excess of the contract price of the house was $4,807.97; that a reasonable attorney fee for Thomas' attorney would be $750; that the home was completed on Dec. 29, 1950; and that the contract was for $10,000.

Best Rain In Six Months Falls In Perryton Area

County Gets Over Inch Of Moisture

The best rain in six months visited the Perryton area this week, with a total of 1.48 inches recorded in Perryton by Judge Jack Allen and with more than an inch received in all parts of the county. This brought the total moisture for May to 1.58 inches — as much as the first four months of the year combined.

The slow drizzle started Sunday and continued through Tuesday with a steady fall that penetrated the ground with very little run-off. Most observers believe that the rain, falling as it did, was as beneficial as a three inch rain falling in a short period.

Rain reports from over the county, as compiled by the staff of radio station KEYE, included: J. H. Kershaw, 1.61; Levi Blosser, 1.75; Billy Sanders, 1.55; L. E. King, 1.90; C. O. Peterson, 1.90; Kenneth Cudd, 1.30; Ross Leatherman, 1.75; Mrs. E. R. Thurman, 1.50; Sam Judice, 1.25 and Paul Harbaugh, 1.75.

Farnsworth reported 1.50 inch and the rain was general in Oklahoma.

While this rain came several weeks too late to be of much benefit to the majority of wheat fields, it came in time to aid some of the late wheat. Much more moisture will be needed to prepare the land for planting grain sorghums, most farmers believe.

The rainfall thus far in 1954, as recorded by Judge Allen, is as follows:

January	.18
February	.05
March	.24
April	1.13
May	1.58
Total	3.18

Richard Wilson Wins First In Jaycee Teen-Age Road-e-o

Richard Wilson, Perryton high school senior, was the top scorer in the Junior Chamber of Commerce Teen-Age Road-e-o held Saturday at the school playground.

Wilson made a total score of 293 in the written and driving tests, scoring most of his points in the driving test when he acquired 213 points.

Second place winner was Franklin Hardy with 276 total points and in third place was Philip Pope with a total of 260 points.

These three winners were guests of the Jaycees Wednesday and each will receive a plaque from the club as an award.

All three will compete in the regional Road-e-o contest at Dalhart in two weeks and the winner there will try for state honors in Austin.

The driving tests included: 1. Straight line driving, forward and back, with the wheels on the left of the car driven between pairs of balls eight inches apart.

Golf Tourney Here Sunday

The annual Perryton Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament will be held at the Wolf Creek course Sunday, with golfers from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas expected to participate. Last year the event drew 137 golfers.

This is one of the scheduled tournaments of the Panhandle Golf Association. Play begins at 7 a. m. or earlier if enough golfers show up, according to Bill Gray of the tournament committee. There will be five flights, and it is planned to have three rounds for each flight.

However, if the entry list is too large, there will be two rounds for all flights except the championship flight, which will have three.

Entries are expected from Buffalo, Shattuck, Guyton, Beaver, Straight, Hooker, Enid, Booker, Spearman, Hugoton, Canadian, Liberal and Borger.

Caddies are needed for the tournament and boys wanting to make some extra money should apply at the golf course Sunday morning.

There will be a concession stand at the tournament. Visitors are welcome to watch the tournament at any time, according to J. H. Stehenson, president of the club.

Murphy Misses the Luck of the Irish

A Fort Worth man brought sadness to the heart of Hamilton "Bus" Murphy last week when he inquired as to the possibility of buying a thoroughbred mare owned by Murphy. The man was interested because a colt of this mare is now the second leading money winner in the U. S. and Canada for steeplechase runners and the Fort Worth horseman wants desperately to buy the mare or a colt with similar breeding. The colt, "Sev-Even," is estimated to be worth at least $20,000 now. Murphy, while he formerly owned both mare and colt, had to admit that he sold the mare several years ago—for $35,000.

Don Bell Wins Top Honors In Senior Class

The valedictorian won first place in slide rule competition in the district and regional contests and was second in the state meet. He is a member of the National Honor Society and a member of the Ranger Band. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aldon Bell.

E. N. Puckett, Union Manager, Dies In Enid

E. N. Puckett, founder of the Union Equity Exchange in Enid and a former manager of the Perryton Equity Exchange, died in a hotel in Enid May 7 of a heart attack. He had made his home in Hot Springs and Enid, and was in Enid on business when the fatal attack struck.

He went to Enid from Perryton in 1926 to start the Union Equity with a capital of $6,000. Under his leadership, it grew into a four million dollar business and now has the largest grain elevator in the world in Enid.

A deeply religious man, Puckett was noted for his daily prayer meetings for his employees. He started the business world several years ago when the Union Equity paid a federal income tax, although not required by law to do so.

His shrewd insight into the grain business could make him a millionaire, associates said. However, he elected to remain with the cooperative and draw a modest salary. Much of this he gave away.

In recent years, he had been turning many of the duties of the cooperative over to his son, Ed Puckett. However, he still retained the title of executive manager.

He maintained close ties with the Perryton Equity and for years never missed an annual meeting of the local concern. He had countless friends in this area.

The Stubblefields visited with his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gillispie and family in Cleveland. They also visited with an aunt and uncle, the J. L. Pevetoes of Skiatook and in Tulsa before returning home last Tuesday.

Good Luck Rides On

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Mike McGrew deputy U. S. marshal here has carried his son's first baby shoe as a good luck charm for 13 years. He has had it hanging on the rear-view mirror of four automobiles and during the war, kept it in the pocket of his army uniform.

The shoe made two invasions and six times crossed the Mediterranean Sea. McGrew once was thrown into the sea but he and the shoe came out safely. McGrew estimates the shoe traveled 418,000 miles in his four cars.

The deputy marshal is getting a new car but he's facing troubles. The mirror is in such a position that the shoe can't ride as it did before. However, the deputy marshal vows he'll work out something. He couldn't go any place without the good luck charm.

Keeping Time Is a Problem In Texas Town

SIERRA BLANCA, Tex. (AP)—Setting your watch can be a problem in this far West Texas town.

Set it one way and you might miss a bus. Set it another and you could be late for your wedding.

Sierra Blanca, 87 miles southeast of El Paso, lies in a "twilight zone" between two time belts—Central Standard Time and Mountain Standard Time.

All of Texas is in Central Standard Time except the extreme Western tip, which is in Mountain Standard. Central Standard is one hour ahead of Mountain Standard.

Sierra Blanca's problems are described in the April issue of the Hudspeth County Monthly Review, published at Sierra Blanca.

The "Desert Sage," author of a column, "Sand Dunes," tells of them:

"We are still having timely troubles here.

"The schools and the court house have MST... the post office, the railroads and buses have CST..."

"A man suggested I try to get them together. I told him that was an excellent idea, except I wanted him to try it.

"We don't have many fights over it except when some one says his is Standard Time.

"Some people here don't know when to go to bed; others don't know when to get up..."

"A man started to El Paso and got to Fort Hancock (36 miles) before he left Sierra Blanca. He had CST..."

"Some say it gets dark here before the sun goes down; others say it depends on which 'watch' it is.

"More than one has missed his bus in Sierra Blanca... Apointments are not kept and dates are broken. All weddings here are announced CST (and) MST, so the groom will not leave the girl at the altar..."

"A politician wore his watch out running it up and back, trying to agree with everyone.

"If times don't change, it's going to get hot next summer."

The present London Bridge is still called New London Bridge although it is 123 years old.

Texan Hopes to Find Pappy's Buried Gold

TIGERTOWN, Texas (AP)—There are those who laugh and tell you the story of Irish Jim Braden's buried gold is just another legend of the Red River country.

But the oldtimers around this little community in Northeast Texas believe it . . . oldtimers like Jim's grand-nephew, Albert.

Albert Braden is 71 years old and farms his great uncle's old homestead. As he gazes across the old farm, he will tell you:

"Somewhere, out there, there is a keg of gold worth from $80, 000 to $90,000. And if I live long enough I'll find it."

Jim Braden came from Alabama with a love for gold and good horses. During his life time in Lamar county he saw fine horses bearing the JB brand spread over all the Red River valley. When he sold one he always insisted on payment in gold.

No one ever saw the gold again. When Irish Jim had a debt to settle, he sold a horse on the spot and paid for it. Never did he reach into his poke of gold pieces.

In his old age Jim spoke proudly of his fortune. Day after day, he lay on his death bed on the front porch and in the east room. Always he watched the woodpile and the front yard.

Once, before he died, he called his nephew, Albert's father, into

WELCOME TO COUNTY—The Waka 4-H Club, above, has finished installing another 4-H Club sign at the edge of Ochiltree county. This one has been placed on highway 117 at the Hansford county line.

HONOR STUDENTS—Don Bell, left is the valedictorian of the 1954 graduating class of Perryton high school and Janice Miller, right, is the salutatorian. Bell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aldon Bell and Miss Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Miller.

his bedroom and ordered everybody else out. No one knows whether Jim Braden intended to tell the secret of his gold. The only words he could manage were "I've waited too long."

When Jim died in 1906, he left $400 in the bank, his old place and 1,440 acres of land. There was no trace of the gold.

Relatives checked Jim's belongings. A miniature zinc trunk two feet long and a large pharmacist-type medicine crock were missing. Neither has ever been found, so the suspicion was born that Jim Braden buried his gold in them.

Prospectors with every kind of gold finding gadget on the market prowled for days on the Braden farm. Once the fortune turned out to be a four-foot length of log chain. Another time it was an old cross-cut saw 10 feet under ground. And still again it was an old pair of spectacles. Where does Albert Braden think his uncle Jim buried his gold?

"Been to two fortune tellers, and both of them told me I'd find a fortune one of these days," he says. One of them even told me it was buried under that rose bush in the front yard. But my wife wouldn't let me dig it up."

With a chuckle, he adds, "going to have to hurry and find it if it is going to do me any good. Gettin' most too old to enjoy it."

Youngest Organist?

BROADUS, Mont. (AP)—This small southeastern Montana community claims the youngest church organist in Montana and possibly the United States.

He is Haroldie Miller, 10, who first played at St. David's Church last Christmas Eve. Church members liked his music and asked him to stay on as regular organist.

Haroldie also is a tap dancer and plays the drums for the school band.

Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia combined to form the Confederate States of America in 1861.

The Agriculture Commodity Surplus Problem

The House Committee on Agriculture is presently hearing testimony on ways and means to dispose of our surpluses. Much has been printed and spoken in the last few years bemoaning government-owned agricultural surpluses and creating in some quarters the feeling that food surpluses were somewhat akin to a grasshopper plague or a death-dealing epidemic. Nothing could be further from the truth. The primary physical requirements of man are food and fiber. That Mother Earth has seen fit to bless us with what appears to be more than our immediate needs should be the subject of thanksgiving, rather than weeping and wailing.

None of these commodity backlogs are of sufficient proportions to fill the gap that could be caused by a general crop failure in a particular commodity. A crop failure (and I hope we never have another one) is not necessary to prove this statement. We have but to turn back the pages of history in order to insure a fair distribution of most of these commodities. The problem today is not over-production; it is actually under distribution. I venture to say that there are enough hungry stomachs in America today to easily consume this so-called surplus in the matter of a few short months. Unless we do something about the distribution situation, we can expect the situation to get worse, simply because our population increases daily. Let us say we are certainly making progress in one field, and that is in the population increase.

In March of 1953 I wrote a newsletter in which I pointed out that on March 18, 1953, at 1:55 p. m. our population was 158,940,556 individuals, and that this was being increased by one individual every 13 seconds. Just the other day I was in the Department of Commerce Building and made another tabulation of the population. The reading at 9:55 a. m. May 7, 1954, was 162,013,867 individuals, an increase of approximately 3,000,000 in just about one year.

The present figures show that there is a birth every eight seconds, a death every 21 seconds, an immigrant every two minutes, an emigrant every 24 minutes, all totalling up to a net gain of one additional person in this country every 12 seconds.

It is interesting to note that the increase in increasing. In March of last year the net gain was one individual every 13 seconds. All of this adds up to the fact that each year creates the need for 30 more Amarillos, 120 more Pampas, or almost 4 more Houstons.

At this rate, we won't have a surplus problem long. It will soon be a shortage problem.

Speaking of surpluses, did you know that, under present regulations, some of the surplus commodities can be used for cattle and livestock relief, but not for human relief. I have reference to corn and wheat. In other words, you can use the corn and wheat to relieve the starvation of the livestock, but not to relieve the starvation of the human being. What queer mortals men are.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Jines of Kirby, Montana spent Mother's day in the home of his mother, Mrs. J. H. Jines, and other relatives.

PHILLIPS IS FIRST to bring you a gasoline with the added super aviation fuel component, Di-isopropyl (pronounced di-iso-pro-pull). A Phillips exclusive, developed originally for highest performance military aircraft.

Phillips was the first to make Di-isopropyl and HF Alkylate—so valuable to smooth motor performance that, until recently, their use was restricted by the U. S. Government to high performance aviation gasoline. Now authorities have removed these restrictions, and these powerful components can be blended into new Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL. New FLITE-FUEL provides increased power, higher anti-knock performance, greater fuel economy and freedom from cold stalling. You also benefit from Phillips 66 controlled volatility and remarkable clean burning qualities which eliminate the need for an additive to combat engine deposits.

Only Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL contains added Di-isopropyl. Get it at stations where you see the orange and black Phillips 66 Shield.

last Friday evening. Balko went down under a 19-2 victory.
The teams were tied until the seventh inning with a score of Zimmerman proved fatal to the team who had reached and won semi-finals.

What, No Beer?
ST. LOUIS (AP)—Robert Moore found himself accidentally locked inside a tavern cooler room which he was repairing.

With the temperature near freezing, the shirt-sleeved repairman shouted and pounded on the six-inch walls for half an hour to no avail.

Then he had an inspiration.
He cut off the supply of beer piped from the cooler room to the tavern tap. That brought Herbert Kempke, the tavern owner, on the run.

Mrs. Val McLanahan, 718

Fireman Save My Child' Bedlam of Laughter

Bedlam takes over the "Fireman Save My Child" which comes to the Ellis on Tuesday-Thursday. Spike Jones and his band provides just the framework for some of the antics that ever came to Hollywood's fun-factories. The lieutenant in of old San Francisco's Number 12—and his assistants of his own zany bers, Hackett who hopes of a fool-proof fire extinguisher and O'Brien who hopes from Hackett's formula. Novel Setting Portrays Thrills Suspense and thrills played against the grandeur of scenic Glacier National Park are seen in "Dangerous Mission" which comes to the Ellis Theatre on Sunday and Monday.

The picture stars Victor Mature, Piper Laurie, Vincent Price and William Bendix.

Victor Mature excels as a special agent who tracks his quarry to the Park after learning the murderer has gone there to do away with a witness to his crime. Piper Laurie, as the sought witness, furnishes Mature with a refreshing romance. Vincent Price, as the pursued, is as suave a villain as has crossed the cinematic screen in many a day. William Bendix scores as the chief of the park rangers. Broadway star Betta St. John makes an auspicious film appearance as an Indian girl.

Racing Story Told In Film

"Racing Blood," which comes to the Ellis Theatre on Friday and Saturday, co-starring Bill Williams, Jean Porter and Jimmy Boyd, is a tale of thoroughbred racing.

Jimmy Boyd, who won fame as the singer of "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus," makes his screen debut in the picture.

The human reaction which causes gooseflesh is the same as that in animals when the hair stands up because of fear or anger.

Hidden Assets

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Felix Cysz hid $336 in silver coins in his home so well he couldn't find them when he moved a year ago.

Robert Deer, second occupant of the home since Cysz left, found the money while cleaning the basement and took it to police.

Cysz established ownership. He saved the money for a college education for his son.

Printing School Opens June 7 At Dallas

The Southwest School of Printing will enroll its next new class June 7 in a continuing effort to help a shortage of craftsmen in the printing industry.

"There is a real need for trained young men in the printing field," emphasized Mr. Robert Gleason, general manager of the school, 3800 W. Clarendon Drive, Dallas.

He pointed to a recent federal survey which showed alarming shortages of personnel in all divisions of printing covered by the 16-month general course of Southwest School of Printing.

"Printing offers opportunities for a successful and interesting vocation to those high school graduates who plan to leave school now to enter a trade," he added.

The school's general course includes hand composition, press work and composing machine operation (machine type setting). "This instruction gives a trainee the basic techniques of each of these subjects and provide the foundation upon which to build a printing career," said Mr. Gleason.

Southwest School of Printing is recognized throughout the printing industry—in fact, it is owned and operated by the newspaper publishers and commercial printing firms of the Southwest.

As a non-profit institution, the school figures its tuition and fees on an actual cost or below basis.

The school, which has nearly 400 graduates since 1946, was established thirty-four years ago. And more than 85 per cent of its trainees have remained in the printing field.

Both classes and practical work are done in a modern and well-equipped plant on the Southwest edge of Dallas.

The school's general policy requires that an accepted applicant be a high school graduate or have equivalent training in night school, service school or some other educational institution.

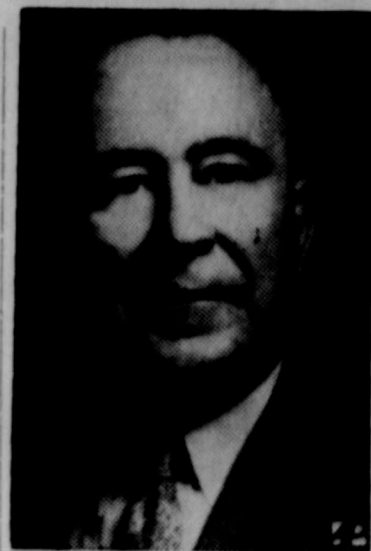

However, some exceptions are made—and special rules are set up for veterans and handicapped applicants.

Full information can be obtained by writing the Southwest School of Printing, 3800 W. Clarendon Drive, Dallas.

That's The Time!

OMAHA (AP)—Military habits are hard to shake. A visiting Army officer found a note in his hotel box to "Call Mr. Smith AT 0300." Not acquainted with Omaha telephone exchanges (AT stands for Atlantic), he interpreted the message in military language as meaning to call at 0300 hours—or 3 a. m. So he called Mr. Smith at 3 a. m.

OUT OF DARKNESS

Light was the first thing God created. "Woe to those who put light for darkness and darkness for light," Isaiah 5:20. Jesus said, "I am the light of the world, he who follows me shall not walk in darkness," Matt. 5:7. A great statesman said guidance for America was not in the state house, or the court house, or the counting house, not even in the school house, but in the Church House. Bad men are not wise men. Atheists and scoffers at church and religion are ignorant men. Light reveals... it shows the difference. What sunlight is to the body, God and the Bible are to the mind. Is your soul facing God's light? Are You Out of the Darkness?

A Date Forgotten?

Like the rest of the country, we let May 8 slip by without a notice of any sort—although this was the ninth anniversary of VE Day, that revered date that meant so much to America and the free world on May 8, 1945.

This was the surrender of Germany and signaled the end of the global war which had taken the lives of so many men and cost so much money.

Perhaps the real reason VE Day and VJ Day, and even the long established Armistice Day, have lost their meaning is that the nation has never felt quite peaceful since World War II started or ended.

We have gone through a "Cold War" and a "Hot War" in Korea, plus scores of international incidents which keep the nation on the edge of its collective seats, so to speak.

The Selective Service Act functions right along, our national budget is earmarked for defense in billions of dollars, and the taxes keep high as the nation struggles to pay for past wars and prepare for future wars.

Is it any wonder that May 8, 1945, is likely to be overlooked?

We Buy Ours Here

This newspaper, like everyone else, gets a deluge of mail trying to sell merchandise at "wholesale" or with "dividends" or some other gimmick to try and pry us loose from our dollars.

Recently we have received circular letters advertising a "savings" on fire and automobile insurance when bought by mail since there is no "profit" to a mutual.

This business has found that the insurance rates are reasonable when quoted by established, reputable local agents who are here on the ground and who will be handy when and if we have a loss.

These local agents are also the men who are called upon to "sweeten the pot" every time an organization passes the hat; they pay their full share of county, city, state and school taxes; and all are working for the betterment of the Perryton community.

We have the same feeling for mail order insurance that we do for mail order printing—we're again it.

An Important Meeting

Nearly all meetings are called "important" and certainly every meeting is important to some persons. But the meeting at Dumas on May 19 is quite important to all of us, although it is called for the benefit of landowners of this and other Panhandle Counties.

This hearing is called by the State Board of Water Engineers to form an "Underground Water Control District" which will be made up of all the Texas Panhandle north of the Canadian River.

Such a district, once formed, has wide powers such as the power to regulate and control the use of water from underground sources; control over the drilling and spacing of water wells; and on the amount of water to be pumped.

A district can levy taxes up to a maximum of 50 cents and ad valorem on the land within its boundaries.

For those who wonder why it is necessary to form an Underground Water Control District, it is being done for the protection of these Panhandle counties.

More than a year ago there was a movement under way to add the North Panhandle to other water districts on the South Plains. A group of irrigation farmers in the North Texas Panhandle got together and decided that if they were going to have to join a water district, they had much rather form their own.

The counties north of the Canadian River have the same water strata and water problems, making it natural for all these counties to be included in this district.

From the SIDELINE

with HAROLD HUDSON

We have been corrected quite nicely about our statement that this was the first year since 1923 that Perryton has had a representative at the state track meet. In 1928 Marion Tucker represented Perryton in the broad jump at the state meet. This information comes from Mrs. Viola Frances Gum, now of Canyon, who was a state winner that year in the 3R contests.

Marion Tucker, of course, is perhaps the best all-around athlete ever produced by Perryton high school. We know this statement won't go unchallenged, but we can't think of an athlete before or since who completed such an outstanding record in football, basketball and track for the Rangers.

This county could take lessons from Texas county in Oklahoma if more local candidates for office are desired. We noticed in the Guymon paper that the county has nine candidates for sheriff. There are four Republicans and five Democrats and the fur is flying in our neighbor city to the northwest.

The Lions Club staged a spelling match Tuesday between four junior high school students and four Lions. This was to test the oft-quoted statements by adults that "they don't teach kids to spell like they used to." We hate to report this, but the kids had all the best of it in this spelling match. We once read of a spelling bee contestant who tripped over such a simple word as "legal." To console the speller, this newspaper wrote of another contestant in the national spelling bee who missed out on such a simple word as "bier." This kinda threw us, too. We didn't know there was but one way to spell "beer."

Down at Anson they have a community project going which will convert the school "rock and gravel bed" known as the playground into a grass covered play area. By adding top soil and fertilizer, plus grass seed and water, the community hopes to have a grassy turf by the end of the summer for sure. The project was launched after parents finally got enough of repairing torn clothing and washing playground dirt off their youngsters.

Wonder what it would take to start a similar project in Perryton?

An Associated Press report from New Orleans dismisses as "ridiculous" the proposal by a Texas lawyer to divert water from the Mississippi across the dry Texas Panhandle in order to furnish irrigation and avert floods on the big river. In calling this "ridiculous," the Louisiana folks say it would cost too much and is too vast a project to contemplate building that many dams and canals.

Baloney! Any nation that can split the atom can divert the Mississippi River. And no Louisianian need try to tell us otherwise.

Women have been placed at a disadvantage since men now can travel faster than sound.

"Please Make It Work for Other Kids"

reveal a glaring lack of interest. It has been reported that two pitchers, three outfielders and a bat boy turned out for the first workout. This is going to be interesting if no more than that turn out by the time the league opens.

We received a publicity blurb from Ralph Yarborough, the candidate for governor, wherein he sobbed, "As a Democrat, I will not stand idly by while the Democratic Party is again betrayed. Nor can I remain silent while Texas becomes a vassal state, where liberty and freedom are being replaced by fear, dread and dismay." Come, come, now Ralph. Don't you really think that is laying it on a bit thick?

An old timer is a person who can remember when we talked about McCarthy and meant Charlie.

The rain finally fell, although this area missed the heaviest rains of the past few weeks that dented the Panhandle drought. It stands to reason that we will get more moisture from now on. The annual rainfall average is 19 inches and less than an inch fell in the first four months, leaving a lot of rain to make up the average. Even if 1954 were to be the driest on record, it would still be about 10 inches, leaving around an inch a month to fall for the rest of the year.

Trouble with our weather is that things come too late. The rains came too late and the snow didn't come at all. Even the last freeze of the winter came much, much too late. Same thing happened to the maize last summer—the rains came too late.

This is the wind-up of the school year and if you can think back that far, remember what a wonderful feeling it was to be a graduating senior. You were the center of attention, you felt that this was indeed a milestone in your life, and the commencement speaker told you that this class was entering the most crucial period in history. Sure enough, you found that things after graduation were not quite the same as before. Your classmates had scattered, you no longer had as many things in common, and you realized that you were actually growing up.

Wolf Creek Philosopher Has Solution to Water Problem

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher comes out with a strange idea this week, but no more strange than others he's had.)

Dear editor:

I have been noticing in nearly every newspaper that turns up out here on my farm where nearly every candidate, regardless of office, has come out forthrightly for more water for Texas.

One candidate I know bitterly accuses his opponent of having done nothing about the drought.

"Here we've had a drought for five years and he hasn't done a thing about it except talk," the candidate said.

While up to now I didn't know there was anything else you could do about it except talk, in fact, a drought has always struck me as sort of like a depression, all any politician has ever figured out to do about it is deplore it. I am glad to find out more candidates are incorporating the water situation in their platforms. It's a healthy sign. It ain't that they can do anything about it, it's just that when a man's miserable he likes to have sympathy, and a politician who hasn't learned to find out what the people are disturbed about and come out against it, hasn't learned the first lesson in vote getting.

I notice some of the politicians are pointing out that the main trouble with the water situation in Texas is that we don't keep enough of the water that falls on the state, most of it runs off into the ocean, and lots of people are proposing we build more dams, and I'm in favor of it, although I'll admit that if there were 50 dams in all directions of my place, each one backing up thousands of acres of water, and it didn't rain on my farm, I wouldn't own any of that lake water. I'd be just as dry as I was when I first came to Texas. I have seen the plant yet that could give just on shifts of water blown in from a lake five miles away.

If you ask me, I think the politicians are failing to get to the bottom of the problem.

The reason we don't have enough water in Texas is that the streams in the state run wrong way.

You picture a situation when it rains all the water would head out on the land, instead of down the creek to the ocean, and you'll begin to see the light. There's where the trouble is.

If the Texas Legislature successfully attack this problem from this angle, we may get it somewhere, but until the situation is remedied, earth is tilted so all the water will start emptying water stream instead of down, and we'll have a drought all the time it goes three months out a rain.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Buick now outsells all other cars in its price class and above

YOU'VE probably noticed it right in your own neighborhood.

Bright new Buicks appearing here, there, everywhere. And more and more of them in recent weeks.

Know what's happening? Folks in growing numbers — (and maybe you'll be joining them soon!) — are finding Buick styling, performance and value far too wonderful to pass up.

So Buick is selling at a record pace—outselling all other cars in its price class and above.

Matter of fact, latest figures for the first quarter of 1954 show that, in total national volume, Buick is outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

A look and a ride and a peek at the price tag will be all you'll need to know what's back of this best-selling success.

There's styling in Buick that's the greatest beauty advance in years — the very look of tomorrow — and with the spectacular panoramic windshield that's part and parcel of this dream-car look.

There's performance in Buick as never before — with record-high V8 power, with the sensationally smooth whip of Twin-Turbine Dynaflo,* with the buoyant ride of all-coil-spring, with a new precision of control and handling.

And there's value in Buick that's hard to match — with prices starting near the "low-price three" — prices that buy more Buick beauty and power and thrill and sheer automobile than smart money ever bought before.

How about you?

Are you ready, willing and waiting to be shown that this best seller called Buick is the buy of the year for you, too? Drop in this week, or give us a call, and we'll arrange a demonstration.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Police have found a new wrinkle in the bootleg whiskey business in constitutionally dry Oklahoma. Scout car officers noticing "a large amount of foot traffic" entering and leaving a domino parlor got a search warrant and found a door with a sign reading "Please knock or ring the bell."

A slot in the door received money. The lower part had a sliding tray. You paid your money and the whiskey was slipped out on the tray. The bootlegger could see the customer through a one-way glass. The officers got behind the door by showing the search warrant; found 6½ pints of tax paid liquor.

The distinction between man in God's image and a false sense of man as mortal will be brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" to be read this Sunday at Christian Science church services.

The Golden Text is from Romans: "They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit" (8:5).

From the King James Version of the Bible will be read these verses: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God; and if children, then heirs; heirs of God and joint-heirs with Christ" (Romans 8:16, 17).

Correlative selections from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following: "In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. The beautiful, good and pure constitute his ancestry. His origin is not, like that of mortals in brute instinct nor does he pass through material conditions prior to reaching intelligence. Spirit is his primitive and ultimate source of being; God is his Father, and Life is the law of his being" (p. 63).

WHY IT MAY COST YOU MORE TO BUY A "LOW-PRICED" CAR

Let us show you how some cars price-tagged less than a Mercury can cost more—when you figure the deal we can make on your present car, over-all operating cost, and Mercury's proved record of high trade-in value.

PACE-SETTING STYLING KEEPS MERCURY AHEAD OF ITS FIELD—HELPS KEEP TRADE-IN VALUE HIGH

This new Mercury proves that extra power doesn't have to cost you extra money—when you buy, or while you drive. A new 161-hp V-8 can give greater economy than previous engines, which were famous for economy. And Mercury's famous stamina has been increased still further by new engine design, and new ball-joint front wheel suspension. This means longer engine life, less tire wear, lower upkeep.

But the biggest bonus of all is Mercury's higher trade-in value. According to authoritative independent surveys of used car prices, Mercury leads all other cars in its field. This indicates that your Mercury will probably return a higher percentage of your original investment at trade-in time. This, plus Mercury's famous record for economy, brings its true cost down in many cases below so-called "lowest-priced" cars. We'll be glad to give you facts on this amazing economy story, and you'll be pleasantly surprised with the deal we can give you on your present car. So see us—and drive a Mercury.

AUSTIN, Texas—All the questions having been resolved concerning who is going to run for what, the big political season is now under way.

Ralph Yarborough of Austin, who announced that he would be a candidate against Allan Shivers for governor, declared himself against breaking the two-term tradition in the chief executive's office.

Yarborough contends that Shivers actually is seeking a fourth term; the incumbent has served two elective terms in office, plus the unexpired term of the late Beauford Jester.

Machine politics and one-man domination of the state government were also charged by Yarborough as he put his name on the ticket.

Shivers had previously announced for an unprecedented third term for governor. He had stated prior to the announcement that there remain some things that need to be done, such as putting through a water conservation program.

No. 1 Problems

Governors of five Southwest states attended a White House conference to talk about the drought.

"Agriculture and livestock are our No. 1 problems," Shivers said at the conference and "a permanent solution for them must be found. Past efforts over many years have not been more than temporary expedients."

Present to confer with Mr. Eisenhower, Agriculture Secretary Benson, and other federal officials were the governors of Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Kansas.

Asked by the governors was a $15 million appropriation to deal with emergency dust and wind problems.

Placed before the President was a long-range program designed to eliminate conditions causing droughts in the Southwest.

Among the recommendations, drawn up by the governors, were: reseeded grasses and other cover crops, coordination of all federal and state agriculture agencies, more incentive for soil conservation practices, parity procedures to guarantee farmers in drought areas adequate prices for their crops, and tax policies designed to promote proper land management.

Shivers said that suitable farm land should be kept in farms, but land better suited to pasture should remain in pasture or be converted to pasture.

Close to Home

Prior to the Washington conference, Shivers had said that water conservation should begin at home, with towns and dis-

IX CORPS, Korea — Dewey E. Taylor, 22, whose wife, Lyndol, lives at 505 S. Eton Ave., Perryton, Tex., was recently promoted to sergeant while serving with IX Corps' 955th Field Artillery Battalion in Korea.

The IX Corps, one of three in the Eighth Army, coordinates an intensive post-truce training program for UN units under its control.

Sergeant Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Taylor, 1300 S. Main St., is a section chief in Battery C.

He arrived in Korea in April 1953 from an assignment at Camp Chaffee, Ark. He entered the Army in October 1952.

Tricks taking the lead in financing and supplementary money to come from the state.

In a session here, directors of the Texas Water Conservation Association echoed that opinion, calling for financing at the "lowest practical political subdivision level."

Urged by the directors was a constitutional amendment setting up a state fund to underwrite local communities in building dams.

Money so used by the state would be recovered from the sale of water and electricity.

J. E. Sturrock, general manager of the association, was doubtful that the state would ever solve the water problem.

Sturrock said he had opposed federal participation in the water conservation program. But he said the people who are suffering from drought don't care whether the water comes from a state tap or a federal tap.

"The governor's in Washington today asking for drought aid," Sturrock commented. "If we'd had water conservation in Texas, we wouldn't need drought aid."

Senator Lyndon Johnson spoke for action to combat drought and asked for a $15 million increase in soil conservation funds.

"This money," said Johnson, "would be used to fight the wind erosion that could so quickly turn one of the most fertile sections of our nation into a barren wasteland."

Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Davis, who have been visiting in Ottawa, Kansas, returned to their home in Darrouzett this week. They report that crops near Ottawa look fine and that prospects are excellent for an above average wheat crop.

Fly Control Is Essential to Good Health

AUSTIN, Texas—The Texas State Department of Health urges strict attention to sanitation as a fly control measure. The main sanitation problems responsible for fly production are neglected phases of community clean up, like garbage storage, disposal, animal shelters and insanitary disposal of decaying industrial wastes.

Now is a good time to clean up the unsanitary conditions around your town and home. Every time you destroy a breeding place, you stop whole colonies of flies before they can start. Insecticide spraying is effective only after a complete clean-up job and only if sanitary conditions are maintained throughout the year.

Proper garbage storage is one of the most important factors in good sanitation. Garbage should be stored in water tight, galvanized metal containers with a tight lid. Dispose of all cans, bottles and other rubbish. Proper disposal of garbage collected is equally important in the prevention of fly breeding areas.

Another measure in proper fly control is proper screening of homes. Each householder should check the screens on his house for holes that will allow flies to enter. Repairing of screens will help to protect food from contamination by fly borne disease organisms.

The importance of fly control can be realized when it is known that flies carry and spread such diseases as typhoid fever, the dysenteries, infant diarrhea and other diseases. Fly control is an individual and community duty. It is the job of every person and every locality and the results will benefit everyone.

In the past eight years, the United States has gained more than 120 million in population.

Dallas Bank Offers to Help Perryton Attract Industries

A Dallas bank has volunteered to help Perryton attract industries—provided Perryton has what industry is looking for.

The Texas Bank and Trust Company in Dallas sent a letter to the Chamber of Commerce, offering to help in locating industry. The letter was referred to J. W. Erickson, chairman of the industrial committee, which is now in process of making a survey compiling information that would be helpful to new industry.

The letter reads in part, "We have a plan that we think can be helpful to your community."

"During the last 13 years some 3,000,000 new people have come into Texas and we are wondering how many of these settled in your community. We know you would like to bring new business enterprises to Perryton and we at the Texas Bank think we can help toward this end."

Our public relations department is making a continuous survey of all sections of our nation to ascertain the names of business concerns who are considering moving to Texas. When we contact these prospects we want to have something to offer them.

"We would like very much for you to have your industrial committee send us a brochure giving the economic and other factors that might attract enterprising firms or industries to your community. Also mention such inducements as free building sites, and or waiving of local taxes for some fixed number of years. We would like to get current utility rates, the tax rates, valuations, transportation facilities, etc."

"I can't judge. I always wanted to learn to read and write, but I never had the chance."

The judge ordered the papers redrafted to include a proviso that he learn to read and write, and assigned a probation officer to help him.

"Thank you, judge," he said.

Court Apologizes

DETROIT (AP)—Harold Mason and Milton Santwire were arrested for loitering in an over-hours drinking place. The case was a membership case of the Civil Rights Congress, which is on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

They meekly pleaded guilty and accepted $10 fines and a year's probation. Later the case was revealed as FBI undercover agents when they were witnesses at a trial of Red leaders.

Judge Frank G. Schenck called the pair before him.

"This court owes you an apology," he said. "For what you and your Communist friends country owes you a very big thanks."

Plymouth

is your "best buy"

in the lowest-price

field!

Recently a 1954 Plymouth and current models of the other two best-known low-price cars were taken apart by Plymouth engineers and compared, part by part. Standard "stock" models were used. We've listed some typical findings below.

Plymouth is "best buy" in many ways. Here are just a few!

Front Wheel Brakes

Plymouth engineers provide two hydraulic brake cylinders to each front wheel to ensure smooth stops without "grabbing." The other two low-price cars have only one.

Seat Springs

Plymouth uses coil seat springs, for longer lasting support. The other two have a zigzag platform type. Also, Plymouth's "springs-on-springs" design adds more comfort.

Valve Rings

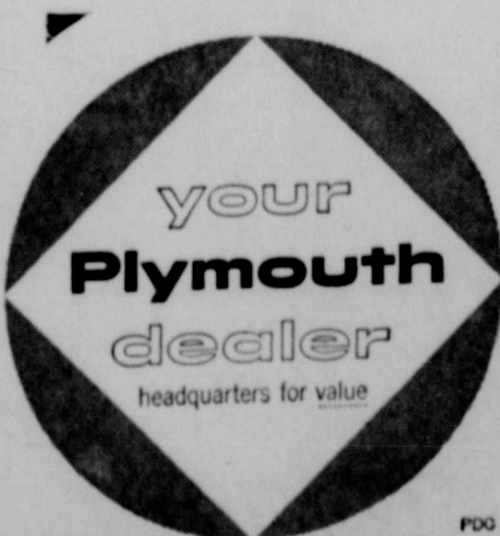

Plymouth has four rings on each piston; the other two have three. Result: decreased carbon deposit, more consistent power output, increased oil economy, too!

Abrasive Oil Filter

Standard on most Plymouth models. Keeps abrasive dirt out of the engine, reducing wear and achieving greater economy. Extra cost on the other two low-price cars.

and dozens of other part-by-part comparisons prove Plymouth is your "best buy"! See us today... and get the facts!

See us for the big illustrated booklet that shows how Plymouth leads in frame construction... engine design... performance... economy... comfort... safety.

Veterans Forum

Q. My husband, a World War One veteran who did not have any GI life insurance, left me a $10,000 commercial life insurance policy when he died. He stipulated in the policy that the proceeds be paid to me in a lump sum, but I was permitted to change that so I would receive regular monthly amounts. In computing my annual income for VA pension purposes, am I supposed to count these monthly insurance payments as income?

A. So long as the original option was for a lump sum payment, you must declare the $10,000 face value of the policy as income for the calendar year in which your husband died. Then you do not have to report the monthly payments as income until they total $10,000. After the monthly payments aggregate $10,000, however, you must report any monthly payments over that amount as income for VA pension purposes.

Q. I am receiving disability compensation payments from VA, but lately my service-connected disability seems to be getting worse. Could I get a statement from my private physician, testifying that my disability has increased? Would that be sufficient to entitle me to higher compensation?

A. A statement by your private physician would serve to reopen your case, but your condition

Supt. Boyer at School Meeting

BALCO—Supt. D. L. Boyer returned Sunday evening from Hot Springs, Ark., where he attended the Southwest Regional Conference on Administrative Leadership in Rural Communities.

Five states, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas were included in the conference. Three representatives were selected from each state. Boyer represented the northwestern part of Oklahoma and spoke on "Accrediting Elementary and Secondary Schools."

It would have to be ascertained by an official VA examination, and then a comparison of the findings would have to be made with the requirements for increased compensation payments.

Q. In my original application for Korean GI Bill college training, I put down as my objective an AB degree in English. I've received it, and now I want to go on and get an MA degree, also in English. Would this be considered as my one-and-only change of program, inasmuch as I'm only aiming for the next step in the same field—English?

A. Going from your AB to your MA in English would be considered a change of program, in your case. The reason is that you've reached the objective stated on your application, and now you're going on to another objective. If originally you had listed the MA as your original objective, the move you now intend to make would not be considered a change of program, but rather as a stepping-stone to the MA degree. Under the law VA must accept as an objective whatever is listed on the application.

Ben Shepperd Outlines Plan for Small Texas Towns

HOUSTON (SPL.)—Attorney John Ben Shepperd has a plan to turn the "dying" small towns of Texas into thriving communities by using both population and industry.

He said many of the towns have been trying to bring in new business in order to increase their population.

Shepperd said the problem should be solved by means that can be found in the people, industry and the land.

He said that for the percentage of Texas on the farm or in the woods has fallen below the national average.

Two-thirds of all the people in towns of more than 100 people, and we are seeing the small towns that are dying.

counties on top of a map showing the counties that have had the heaviest population losses, and you'll find that they correspond almost exactly," he stated. "This shows it's the young people who are leaving and going to areas where industry is booming and opportunities for business are brighter."

"It is high time Texas had what other states have—a Department of Industry and Commerce to help these small towns survey their resources, their water supplies and their industrial advantages. Such a department could be financed on a self-liquidating basis at no extra cost to the taxpayer."

The Attorney General said that recent surveys show that 50 people working in a basic industry create work for 78 people in service industries and support an additional non-working population of 225.

"Every job you create is really two jobs and supports four or five people."

Shepperd pointed out that a certain part of the exodus away from small towns to cities is normal migration since it takes more and more people to work the factories and fewer to work the farms.

"But some of this exodus is not only abnormal but fatal to the little towns," he said. "A lot of older people are spending their retired years in the city suburbs and some families even live in the city and commute every day to their business in the little towns."

"The heart of the problem is that too many young people are pulling out. Ways must be found to make small town life attractive to the young people or no amount of new industry from outside can save the dying small communities."

Attorney General Shepperd named financial assistance for young people as the primary way to encourage them to go into business in their hometowns instead of migrating to the cities.

"We can put up collateral for loans to help them get started in business and can work for an equitable adjustment of the inheritance tax that takes away so much of what we pass on to our children."

"Along with scholarships, we can establish job-ships to finance the technical education for young people that will fill the gaps in what the town needs in the way of business or professional people. If you need a veterinarian or a doctor or a lawyer, train one and bring him back home to work. We need to do less getting and more creating."

Shepperd urged businessmen to welcome competition as a sign the town is healthy and to encourage older people to stay in business instead of retiring.

"A small town needs good schools, hospitals and recreational facilities if it is to compete with the advantages of the cities," he emphasized. "Above all, it needs a spirit of cooperation to weld its youth firmly to its side."

Shepperd's address was given to the Jacksboro Chamber of Commerce Saturday evening.

Q. How do I go about applying for institutional on-farm training under the Korean GI Bill?

A. Obtain an application blank at any VA office. Fill it out completely. Send it to your nearest VA regional office along with the following attachments: (1) photostat or certified copy of your separation paper; (2) detailed outline of your program as set up by your school; (3) certification from the school stating that the program meets all standards of the law, and (4) evidence that you have control of the farm and that the training will occupy your full time.

Q. Would I be allowed to take institutional on-farm training under the Korean GI Bill in a dairy processing plant?

A. No. Under the law, on-farm training must be given on a "farm or other agricultural establishment" owned or managed by the veteran. A dairy processing plant does not fit in with this definition. You may, however, take on-the-job training—as opposed to on-farm training—in the plant under the Korean GI Bill, providing the plant gets State approval for the training.

Q. I'm entitled to the maximum of 36 months of training under the Korean GI Bill. Could I use all that time taking institutional on-farm training?

A. You could use all that time for farm training only if you needed it to reach your goal. Farm training programs are tailored to the individual veteran; so if you could reach your objective in a shorter period of time, as a result of prior experience, you would not need the full 36 months to complete your course.

Q. How much classroom instruction is required of veterans taking institutional on-farm training under the Korean GI Bill?

A. Under the law, a total of at least 200 hours per year of classroom instruction is required. Not less than eight hours of it must be given in any one month.

Coffee Advice Provided

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—"Women," the man says, "know very little about coffee or coffeemaking. So, I'll tell you."

Robert T. Cameron, retired Knoxville lawyer who keeps bachelor quarters, has been working on a coffee pot for five years. Its patented with eight claims to special features. It brews coffee in any of the popular ways—percolator, drip or pot—all in the same container.

Don't boil it hard he urges. That brings out bad taste in a substance called caffetannin and boils off the good taste with the aromatic oil.

That's the heavenly aroma you smell in some kitchens when coffee is being made and that makes your disappointment greater when the cup handed you holds a comparatively tasteless brew," he says.

Cameron's coffee pot, he says, keeps the caffeine and oils in the brew and leaves the caffetannin in the grounds.

Selling Grain Is Answer To Surpluses

There is a simple solution to the surplus of grain which is causing our storage facilities to bulge at the seams.

That solution is—sell it! Sell it to the highest bidder even if the price will be below the support paid by the federal government.

Such action would recover at least a part of the taxpayers' dollars paid out on this program and, in addition, it would produce some positive results which would more than make up the difference in money lost.

The benefits from such a plan are these:

(1) It would bring the cost of such feeds down to the level of the farmers pocketbook and move the feed into consumption where it ought to be.

(2) Provide storage space for upcoming crops, thus relieving a serious storage situation at the beginning of wheat harvest.

(3) Save taxpayer money on new warehouse construction.

(4) Make money for grain and cotton farmers by providing them with storage for their crops.

(5) Save taxpayers millions, perhaps billions, of dollars, because they would realize a return from products now off the market and which are now an expensive dead weight.

(6) Solve serious drought relief problems for cattlemen.

(7) Will not interfere with normal trade in feed products.

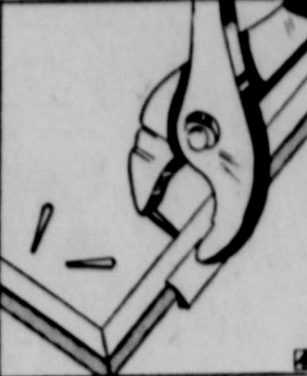

Selling our surpluses for drought relief measures may sound too simple for those who like to do things the hard way. Yet costs of feed for hungry cattle is too high in relation to the sale market.

Such a situation means we must either raise the price of cattle or lower the price of feed. Either would bring relief, but raising the price of cattle would be complicated and obviously require direct subsidies.

The proposition of lowering feed costs has not been studied except as federal relief programs involving reams of red tape, allotments and expensive administration. On the other hand, the plan of placing surplus feeds on the open market would be simple, direct and entail no government interference or controls on farmers or businessmen.

About 54 per cent of the total land area of western Europe is suitable for farming or grazing.

Makes A Living By Remembering

DALLAS (AP)—A fellow who makes a living by remembering the names of 20,000 strangers a year says there's nothing mysterious about the feat.

"It's a hard-working chore," says George Bailey of Slate Lick, Pa. "Nothing mystic or Yehudi about it, though."

Bailey travels over the nation appearing at luncheon club banquets and conventions.

His specialty is calling a room full of persons by their names after milling through the crowd getting acquainted with everyone present. If he misses, he pays $5 to the mis-named party.

Bailey told about his profession while here to perform for the Dallas Knife and Fork Club. He is a personable man in his 40s.

Bailey said last year he appeared before 20,000 persons and averaged one miss in 200 names. This year, he said, he is running one miss in 300.

Bailey said his formula is to "pay attention when you hear a name, repeat it often and write it down."

"When you see it often, you can remember it," he added.

He said the only thing he does that most people don't "is to work very, very rapidly."

"It's the easy ones like Bill Brown that stump you," Bailey said. "Had one last week in Miami, Fla., and so help me, when he stood up to be identified I didn't know him from Adam."
