ROOSEVELT FLOODED WITH PROMISES FROM NATION'S EMPLOYERS

RECOVERY ACT HAS ATTENTION OF CITY NOW

ALL RETAIL MERCHANTS ASKED TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Pampa grocers will meet at the city hall this evening at 8:30 o'clock to discuss the national recovery act, and every retail merchant in the city is being requested to meet at the same time and place Wednesday evening.

WITH President Roosevelt carrying the provisions directly to individual citizens and firms under national recovery act, local people are getting ready to assist the president in carrying out the depression. Last evening a large group, composed of heads of most local organizations, heard Chairman C. H. Walker outline the voluntary cooperation expected by the president. Mr. Walker was appointed by General Hugh B. Johnson, director of the national campaign.

On Thursday, letters from the president to all business men, including certificates of compliance to be mailed back to the chief executive, will be received. Those who sign the agreement to raise wages and shorten hours will be given window placards and emblems to use in advertising and on letter heads. Similarly, citizens will be asked to pledge their cooperation by patronizing those who join the national recovery movement. A war-time spirit of enthusiasm is expected to be engendered.

Mr. Walker pointed out that with 850 registered idle men in Gray county, it was imperative that something be done to reduce this list. Federal government has distributed $44,000 to these men since last November.

As an attack upon depression, the voluntary agreement plan is intended to reduce unemployment. Temporarily, profits will not be the goal, but better business is expected to result from enhanced buying power. Cooperation of women, who do most of the buying, will be especially sought and women's clubs will support the president.

LATE NEWS

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Stocks were higher today. Many opening advances of $1 to $4 were reduced by profit-taking sales, but the market later rose again.

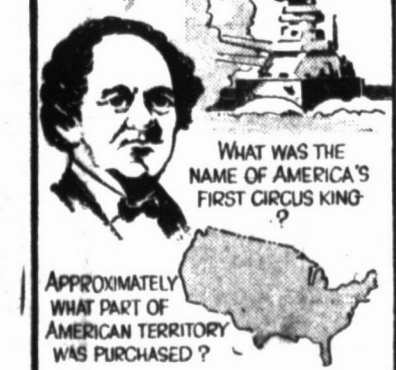

ROCKLAND, Me., July 25 (AP)—One of the 24 seaplanes composing General Italo Balbo's air armada landed in Rockland harbor before 1 p. m. (EST) today.

SUTHERLAND, Ia., July 25 (AP)—Officers spread out from Sutherland, eastward through three counties to La Verne today in a renewed search for three members of the Barrow gang, who escaped during a gun battle near Dexter, Ia., yesterday.

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—James V. Allred, attorney general of Texas, said here today he had ordered investigation into reports that major companies buying oil in West Texas pools were paying 40 per cent less than for oil of the same quality from other fields in the state.

TWINKLES
We may successfully peg our ups and downs now, but we shudder to think of what would have happened to anyone who tried to peg the Hoover boom.

Our Mr. Post is so restless that, if he had two eyes, he might not be content to circle just one world.

As one who remembers what H. C. of L. meant, we hope wages keep pace with the depreciating dollar and that, once we catch up with that dollar, we can hang on to it in moderate equity for at least the length of the recent ups and downs.

Due credit must be given the young Russian pilots who fought evil and fog to put Mattern in Nome. We trust Jimmie learned that even Soviets are human and they learned that capitalists don't grow horns.

If General Johnson can tame the oil men and make them agree to a fair practice, the recovery act business ought to be a cinch.

With seemingly talent to spare, America evidently lacks the sheer genius to dominate the tennis world as of yore. It's our hunch that American playing methods are being introduced a bit too successfully abroad.

HOW TIMES CHANGE!
Two decades ago federal laws were made to protect the "little fellow" against the price-cutting of big out-thats. Today new laws are being drafted to prevent non-cooperating small, fly-by-night outfits from undermining the price structures on which the millions of employees of bigger firms must depend. Too many little plants have been set up to prey on workers whose need was so great they would accept wages far below the general level. Price cutting by these cut-wage concerns in turn drove down the general price structure.

LIFTING LOWER BRACKETS
Setting of low minimum wage limits seems queer in this section of higher levels, but it is being revealed that wages in many places have been astonishingly low. A minimum wage is very fair, if it is general. For years, Wisconsin has been avoided by manufacturers because the state had a minimum wage law of 22 1/2 cents an hour, while other states permitted as low as 10 cents an hour or less in the sweat shops. It is manifestly unfair for industries of Wisconsin to have to compete with cut-wage factories in other states. It is being revealed that many firms already have a program such as General Hugh Johnson is outlining. And a few others are well behind the contemplated minimum wage. One thing is sure—prices have outstripped purchasing power in the last few weeks and the national income must be better spread to prevent a huge overproduction.

ENFORCEMENT IS REVEALING
A huge increase in gasoline tax payments is resulting from better enforcement of the laws against gasoline tax evasion. The amount of revenue escaping is variously estimated at from two to four millions a year. If collected, this would be more than the poll tax receipts and nearly double the sulphur tax. Many observers believe that if the violations could be stopped all over the state, twice the income just found in East Texas could be located. At any rate, that which is escaping is costing the schools, road paving, and county bond retirement programs dearly at a time when these funds are low.

OF HUGE IMPORTANCE
The gasoline tax was conceived as a levy upon traffic and should be restricted to this use. It certainly should be no larger, since an excessive tax puts a premium upon violation.

I HEARD—

Several Pampans really "het up" after losing their hats and ducking under low awnings on Cuyler street this morning. There were no less than five awnings so low that most women had to "duck" to get under them.

THOUSANDS OF TELEGRAMS GO TO PRESIDENT

GREATEST RESPONSE IS GIVEN APPEAL OF LEADER

BY JAMES COPE,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—A flood of telegraphed pledges, hundreds upon thousands of them, answered today President Roosevelt's appeal to the nation for immediate enrollment of all employers under the blanket agreement to raise wages and create new jobs.

Hardly had he finished last night the plain-worded, direct call for patriotic and unquestioning acceptance of the voluntary and individual employer-pledges to raise pay and shorten working hours before the answers began to come in. Within an hour 300 promises had come, a few more minutes and the number doubled and still there appeared no end to the flow.

The president and Hugh S. Johnson, the man who is running the industrial recovery unit, were reported profoundly gratified. A White House secretary said it was the greatest spontaneous outburst that had greeted any of the president's utterances.

Asks For Messages.
His appeal was terse: "We are not going through another winter like the last. . . . It is time for courageous action, and the recovery bill gives us the means to conquer unemployment. . . . The proposition is simply this: 'If all employers will act together to shorten hours and raise wages we can put people back to work. No employer will suffer, because the relative level of competitive cost will advance by the same amount for all. But if any considerable group should lag or shirk, this great opportunity will pass us by and we will go into another desperate winter.'"

Pair Arrested In Mangum For Pampa Officers

Two men are being held in Mangum, Okla., in connection with the theft of wheat and tires in that vicinity. When questioned by Mangum officers, they admitted stealing the trailer they were using to haul the wheat from Pampa along with some tires and gasoline.

B. L. Brown, upon hearing a description of the trailer, said he believed it was one of two stolen from him last month. He is going to Mangum to try and identify the trailer.

The two men being held were arrested here three weeks ago in connection with the theft of gasoline from Gene Green's car on N. Frost street. They were fined $250 each by Judge J. H. Blythe and two companions were released without fine. The two men admitted to Mangum officers that they paid a fine of $5 and gave their attorney $10.

Cooperation With President Pledged By Pampa Stores

Conformity to the national recovery act as recommended by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in his address last night was adopted today by the Pampa Standard Food Markets.

The following telegram was sent to Mr. Roosevelt this morning: "Standard Food Markets, operating two grocery stores in Pampa, employing 23 men, will immediately put on enough additional men so that none will work more than 48 hours per week, with a wage scale of from $25 to $37.50 per week for experienced help. We heartily endorse your plan and will be glad to conform to any other suggestions offered."

The new system will take effect Monday morning. More men will be employed and each will work fewer hours than under the old employment schedule, Mr. Brown pointed out.

"We believe we are the first in our line to assure the president of our cooperation," said Mr. Brown, "and it is our intention to continue to 'do our part' as a progressive firm."

FLOODS RUIN CROPS

Sign of Recovery Act

SOON YOU WILL SEE this badge, in red and blue, reproduced in shop windows, on factories, on the labels of goods, on letter-heads. It means that the proprietors of the factory or shop displaying the sign, or the makers of goods bearing it, are co-operating with the National Recovery Administration by adopting the working conditions which the administration believes necessary for recovery. The president himself has urged that organizations displaying this label be patronized rather than others which have refused to co-operate.

WELL-KNOWN SPEAKERS TO TALK TO PANHANDLE FIREMEN DURING CONVENTION HERE AUGUST 1-2

Second Afternoon To Be Devoted To Contests

PAMPA will be host to the sixth annual convention of the Panhandle Firemen's association August 1 and 2, when firemen from the Panhandle and many from their sections of the state and out of state firemen will be present. M. C. Ray of Memphis is president and will preside at all business sessions.

An interesting program has been prepared and the two days will be spent in business, recreation, and contests. The general arrangements committee was composed of Firemen W. O. Dustin, president of the Amarillo women today ran down a youth who burglarized the home of one of them, and held him until police arrived.

Soon after the youth was seen leaving the rear of her residence, Mrs. H. A. Waller missed five rings and a small amount of money. She and Mrs. Ben Carlton Mead gave pursuit and caught up with the burglar on the Canyon highway, they recovered the rings and money and called police.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dustin returned last night from Missouri, where they visited relatives and fished in the Ozark mountains.

BUYING HIKES WHEAT PRICES ABOUT 4 CENTS

LIQUIDATION IS MUCH NEARER END THAN FIRST THOUGHT

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Farm administrators and representatives of grain exchanges today agreed tentatively to limit daily fluctuations in prices on wheat and other grains to 5 cents a bushel as a permanent policy.

The agreement was reached before the close of a two-day conference at which four principal changes in grain marketing practices were approved.

The first, the daily fluctuation limit at 5 cents, in order to obtain final approval, must be submitted for action to the business conduct committees of the Chicago board of trade and exchanges at Minneapolis, Kansas City, Duluth, and other points which ordinarily operate along rules similar to those at Chicago.

The second provision will be the reduction of the holdings of futures of any trader to a maximum volume, probably from 2,000,000 to 5,000,000 bushels, the exact figure to be determined later after exchanges have surveyed the situation.

The third provision calls for increasing margins of traders. In this instance the exact figure was left undetermined and probably none will be fixed.

Farm administrators took the position that higher margins should be employed than have been in practice for some time in order to prevent a sudden increase in margin requirements and a depressing effect on prices.

The fourth "reform" demanded by administrators and approved by the exchange representatives will be the elimination of trading in both weekly and daily indemnities. This has already been suspended by the Chicago board and other exchanges as a result of insistence by farm administrators and the grain futures administration.

Since last Thursday, limits on daily fluctuations to eight cents a bushel on wheat, five cents on corn and three cents on oats have been employed under a special rule of the exchanges.

Administrators informed Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago board of trade, that President Roosevelt regarded eight cents as too

In Passion Play

DR. ALFRED WOLFF, author of the Passion play in English which is to be presented here next Monday and Tuesday nights, will enact the role of "Caiaphas," high priest of Jerusalem, during the local presentation.

In writing the play in English, Dr. Wolff took for his play the original text of the Freiburg version dated 1104 and the Oberammergau version dated 1634, when Oberammergau found its beginning. Taking these loosely written episodes which were written in Latin and German together with ancient Greek and Latin Bibles, Dr. Wolff wrote the English play, combing the text of the original episodes with the modern text of the New Testament.

While the pictorial episodes in the play closely resemble the presentation of Oberammergau and Freiburg, it is said by critics that Dr. Wolff's text is held closer to the gospels of the New Testament than either the Oberammergau or Freiburg version, avoiding thereby any offense or criticism to any sect or creed.

The chorus, composed of local singers will render a beautiful program of music during the presentation of the play.

CHILDREN MAY GO IN SWIMMING FREE SATURDAY

Pool Will Be Theirs From 9 to 12 O'Clock

Free admission to the municipal pool will be given all children under 15 years of age Saturday morning from 9 to 12 o'clock. It will be necessary, however, for the children to get their free admission tickets at the Boy Scout office in the city hall.

This action was taken by Commissioners Clyde Fatheree and Earl O'Keefe last night. Whether it will be made a permanent plan will depend upon the attitude of Mayor W. A. Bratton, who is fishing near Creed, Colorado.

The commission also directed disapproval at the practice of riding bicycles on the paths in the city park and playing football on the grass. Both these activities will be barred for the protection of the grass and to prevent collisions of bicycles on the paths.

LOSS IN EAST TEXAS FLOOD AREA IS HEAVY

DEAD LIVESTOCK SEEN FLOATING DOWN STREAMS

HOUSTON, July 25 (AP)—A flood menace spread over the northern part of eastern Texas today following rains that have averaged 15 to 22 inches since Saturday.

Everywhere rivers and creeks were on rampages, washing out corn, cotton and watermelon crops. Carcasses of numerous animals were seen floating down their turbid currents. Inundation of heavy livestock loss.

Shelby county estimated its loss would be around $1,000,000. Panola county's damage will be around $500,000, it was thought. Other damage from Lufkin north to the Louisiana border will run into hundreds of thousands.

There had been no loss of life reported. Five men, who had clung to branches of trees for four hours when trapped by rising waters of Flat Fork creek, were rescued about 8 p. m. yesterday.

The men had attempted to cross the creek on foot when the yellow torrent bore down on them so quickly they were forced to climb into trees to escape.

Highway and rail traffic around Center and Joquim was at a standstill. Whole sections of roadway were washed out on highways leading from these towns.

It was reported that 93 miles of railway road bed between Joquim and Shreveport was so weakened it was not safe to run trains.

Jaysees Will Hear Mauk On Next Tuesday

Pampa Junior chamber of commerce today decided to postpone their barbecue scheduled for next Tuesday and, instead, to hear R. S. Mauk of Austin, state fire insurance commissioner, who will be here attending the firemen's convention.

A committee headed by H. E. McCarty will assist the local firemen in holding the convention. Harry E. Hoare and Tracy Cary are other members of the committee.

Frank Hill was appointed to help Harry Kelley of the swimming pool staff plan a Panhandle swimming and diving meet for next month.

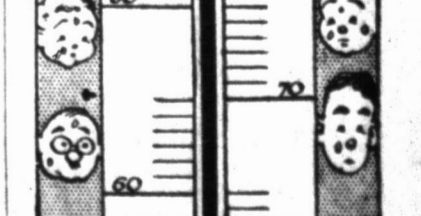

Miss Delta Price, advance agent for the Passion play company, told of the tours of the German cast and said the present tour was probably the last. She praised the Kiwanis club for bringing the players here.

Jack Dunn gave a brief eulogy to George Limerick, local theater manager, who soon will be transferred to another city.

A visitor today was O. O. Zeppe, new employee of the Southwestern Public Service company.

STERN REMEDY NEEDED

No society in which kidnaping for ransom becomes as common a racket as it has become in the United States recently is offering its citizens anything very substantial in the way of security.

No crime emphasizes the helplessness of a community as does kidnaping. There will always be human passions that will result in murder, there will always be desperate men who commit robbery, there will always be weak men who commit forgery and defalcation.

But kidnaping is different. It cannot be an organized racket unless the society in which it thrives has demonstrated its utter inability to protect the lives and persons of its citizens.

Today we have just about reached a point at which we must discuss some extremely revolutionary revision of our whole system of law enforcement.

Police methods could not be more disorganized than they are now. From New York down to the smallest hamlet, each police force is entirely independent.

The editor of the Daily Post-Tribune of La Salle, Ill., recently suggested to President Roosevelt that changes be made in the law so that federal agents could take a hand in all kidnaping cases, and not just in those where the victim is transported over a state line.

It may be that we need to follow Attorney General Cummings in his scheme for a nation-wide federal police force. It may be that we need to surrender and make every cop in the land part of a great, centralized organization, just as we have already put our national guard under federal authority.

It is perfectly obvious that we have got to do something. The kidnapers could not operate as they have been operating if the existing machinery had not proved its utter inadequacy.

THOUSANDS GRAIN

This must not happen. I ask that even before the dates set in the agreements which we have sent out, the employers of the country who have not already done so—shall at once write or telegraph to me personally at the White House, expressing their intention of going through with the plan.

They did, big fellows and little. One of the big ones was Harvey S. Firestone, who pledged to put the program into effect immediately.

Selfish Group Warned. The president's address served clear warning that selfish interest is not going to be let stand in the way of the re-employment drive, and that he is satisfied the blanket agreement is fair to all.

There are, of course, men, a few of them, who might thwart this great common purpose by seeking selfish advantage, he said. "There are adequate penalties in the law, but I am now asking the cooperation that comes from opinion and from conscience. These are the only instruments we shall use in this great summer offensive against unemployment."

But we shall use them to the limit to protect the willing from the laggard and to make the plan succeed. With this statement he joined the following:

Patronize Subscribers. "You can look on every employer who adopts the plan as one who is doing his part, and those employers deserve well of everyone who works for a living. It will be clear to you,

Pampa-McLean Road Stressed In Fund Plea

Gray county has applied for federal funds to construct the Pampa-McLean highway and possibly other lateral roads with funds to be supplied as unemployment relief projects.

Seventeen drought-stricken counties and those with unemployment figures yesterday at Amarillo laid their cases before Senator Clint Small and the state highway department, and today the campaign was carried to Austin, County Judge C. E. Cary went along as spokesman for this county.

Gray and Potter counties asked $750,000 each in federal public works projects, and other counties proportional amounts. The federal money would not be from the $24,000,000 already allotted Texas. Since this county has 800 jobless men and its cross-country road is graded and drained for immediate hard-surfacing, it is believed that the Pampa-McLean project should merit approval. The project is "made to order" as to federal requirements.

PRESBYTERIANS TO MEET. The men of the First Presbyterian church will be hosts to the entire congregation on the lawn of the church tonight at 8 o'clock. They will serve dessert of ice cream and cake or watermelon. There will be no program but a get-together and become acquainted.

LARGE CROWD PRESENT AT GUEST DAY PROGRAM OF CHURCH

WOMEN ATTEND FROM SEVERAL NEARBY TOWNS

ORIGINAL DRAMA IS GIVEN BY YOUNG PEOPLE

VISITORS from several nearby towns swelled the crowd which attended the annual guest day program of the Methodist missionary society yesterday afternoon. About 125 women were present, the largest number at any guest day in the church.

Music and a one-act play by young people of the church, and a talk by Miss Beulah Hubbard of Wheeler, missionary on leave from Monterey, Mexico, featured the program.

Mrs. H. T. Wohlgenuth and Mrs. Paul Jensen greeted the guests and presided at the registry, where women from White Deer, McLean, Wheeler, LeFors, and Oklahoma City, as well as Pampa residents, registered.

President Gives Welcome. Mrs. Joe Shelton, president of the society, welcomed the visitors after the opening prayer by Mrs. H. B. Perkins. A song by Pierce Thomsen and Howard Zimmerman, a reading by Miss Florence Sue Dodson, and a vocal solo by Miss Dorothy Dodd with piano accompaniment by Mrs. P. P. McSkimming, preceded the play.

Mrs. Raymond Harrah, who directed the one-act drama, "The Third Gong," introduced the author, Chester Carson, Pampa youth, who told the Indian legend on which the play was based.

Pierce Thomsen, Misses Harriet Hunkapillar, Daisy Anne Shields, Louise Walstad, and Loraine Noel, comprised the cast which presented the impressive story.

An informal social period followed the program, when Mesdames Roger McConnell and L. K. Sweet served iced punch, cookies, and mints from a flower decorated table.

Recovery Act Views Given By War Secretary

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 25 (AP)—Secretary of War George H. Dern today told the annual conference of governors "if the national industrial recovery act fails, something more radical will have to be tried, because our national existence will be at stake."

The secretary, formerly chief executive of Utah, addressed members of the California state legislature.

"For effective economic planning, such as we are embarking upon for the first time," Secretary Dern said, "state borders must to an extent be disregarded and the United States must be taken as one economic area."

"The industrial recovery act, if not the last stand of the competitive system, is at least an attempt to save that system by eliminating those selfish, vicious practices which are destructive of industry and labor alike."

Mrs. V. Dowell of Denworth was a Pampa shopper yesterday.

FIFTH AVENUE FASHIONS

Graceful Lines for The Mature Woman

These days there's no cause for a smart woman to step out of the fashion parade because she has gained a few unwelcome pounds and has stopped counting her birthdays. It is just time for her to get an entirely new point of view about dressing. There's a special sort of chic for the mature type and as soon as she learns it she will probably be more stunning than ever.

It is merely a matter of choosing the new fashions in simple, flattering versions. This frock, for example, is perfect. The sleeves are fashionably full, but not extreme. The neckline is designed to slenderize, and the skirt makes the most of slim, straight lines.

Stunning in triple sheer crepe in soft, becoming shades such as beige, gray, green or navy. The pattern envelope gives the yardage required for all sizes in standard widths of materials. See our Fashion Book for a large selection of slenderizing fashions.

TREBLE CLEF CLUB CHORUS WILL ASSIST AT PASSION PLAY PRESENTATION HERE

PAMPA'S Treble Clef club of 40 voices, augmented by a men's chorus and a large ensemble, will assist the German company of fifteen players which will present a Passion play in English next Monday and Tuesday evenings at the city hall.

The Kiwanis club, which is sponsoring the show for the benefit of its underprivileged children's fund, believes that the performance will be one of much interest to this entire territory. Tickets are on sale at the Corner Drug store.

Play History
In the preceding articles it was shown how the scripts for the plays were prepared. As early as 1264 the Passion play received the accolade of the Pope when the head of the church selected the Freiburg presentation for special attention in undertaking the introduction of consistency and refinement into the Passion play ceremonial.

In the hands of the city authorities, by 1600 the Passion play began to take on new grandeur. It became a matter of civic pride to outdo in intricacy of plot and splendor of presentation all rival communities. The guilds fought for the right to present the most important episode in the life of the Saviour. Each member in the strict ranks of these haughty labor organizations had a character to portray. It is recorded that many a grim burgher put his finances in a desperate plight to insure the magnificence of the early Passion play.

Guilds in Charge
The drama was unfolded during the height of its popularity in the 14th and 15th Centuries, not on the stage, but on wagons. Each guild owned a platform with wheels that was drawn through the city streets, and upon which was enacted the particular episode granted by tradition to this group. The Guild of the Painters portrayed the Devil, Adam and Eve, Cain and Abel; The Guild of the Beggars, The Angels, The Three Shepherds; The Guild of the Shoe Makers, Joseph, Mary,

King Herod, Two Physicians, Four Knights, and many innocent children; The Guild of Masons and Carpenters, a Mountain, The Coronation, Jesus, Judas, John and Peter; The Guild of the Barrel Makers, Pilate, Four Hebrew Priests, Caiaphas and Annas; The Guild of the Butchers, The Crucifixion; The Guild of the Goldsmiths, Trial before Pilate; The Guild of the Merchants, The Virgin with the Dragon; The Guild of the Blacksmiths, Mary and the Children under the Cloak; The Brotherhoods each year spent much time preparing for their appearance in the procession, that wound around the town through narrow streets, jammed with excited spectators.

Through five centuries the Passion play of Freiburg swung back and forth between the professional presentation on the wagon-platform, and the stage version, as played in the square in front of the Cathedral. By 1700 the religious urge, as a community event, had lost its original spontaneity. The Passion play had become a puppet show. Tiny wax figures were used, and the words of the sacred story spoken by the puppet master from behind the curtains. By the beginning of the 17th century, the nobles had entirely withdrawn.

SUSPENDED ANIMATION
MANCHESTER, Ia. (AP)—A few moments passed as slowly as that many years for James Havens, farmer, as he swung suspended head downward from a hay rope at a height of 40 feet with only the tricky catch of a hay sling holding him to life.

His foot had become entangled in the rope as he stood on a load of hay. His son failed to hear his cries and he was hoisted to the peak of the barn gable, in through the open door and bounced neatly onto a pile of hay unhurt.

FRISCH TO BECOME MANAGER OF ST. LOUIS CARDS TODAY

Believe Next Man To Leave Redbirds Will Be Rogers Hornsby—Rickey Silent.

ST. LOUIS, July 25. (AP)—Frank Frisch, one of the few collegians to jump directly from college campus into big league baseball and stick, will make his debut as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals today against the Cincinnati Reds.

The Fordham flash was named pilot of the Redbirds yesterday, succeeding Charles E. "Gabby" Street, who had been at the helm of the Cardinals since 1930.

Although eight games behind the league-leading New York Giants, Frisch was somewhat optimistic about St. Louis' chances.

"If we can get the winning spirit," he said, "we may be up there on top in October."

Following his release, Street went to his home at Joplin, Mo., without discussing his future plans, except to deny a report that he was planning to buy the Joplin Western league club.

Meanwhile, a feeling existed, the Globe-Democrat said, that the next man to leave the Cardinals would be Rogers Hornsby.

This feeling was strengthened, the paper stated, when Branch Rickey, vice-president of the club, asked whether the change in managers would affect the status of Hornsby, declared:

"I don't want to discuss that now."

"That would indicate some doubt as to Hornsby's future with the Cardinals," he was asked.

"I don't know about that," Rickey replied, "but I can't discuss Hornsby's position now."

DALLAS BEATS MISSIONS IN DOUBLEHEADER

PURDY INJURED; WILL BE OUT OF LINEUP FOR 10 DAYS

Associated Press Sports Writer.
San Antonio took three wallops on the button Monday night. The first was a 3 to 2 loss to the Dallas Steers. The second was an 8 to 3 loss to the Steers. The third was an injury to "Pid" Purdy, diminutive centerfielder and the league's leading hitter, that will keep him out of the lineup for several days.

After getting three consecutive hits in the first game, Purdy was at bat with runners on second and first and the score tied. With two strikes on him, he fouled off a curve. In following through he fell to the ground. An examination revealed that an interior semi-lunar ligament was badly twisted and torn. The hard-hitting outfielder probably will be out ten days or longer.

While the Missions slipped a few notches at third place, the pace setting Houston Buffaloes breezed along with a 4 to 0 decision over Tulsa. Ed "Caveman" Greer stopped Tulsa with four hits while his mates pounded Frank Earnshaw for eight. It was Greer's 18th victory this season and his 20th complete game.

Neither did the Galveston Buccaneers lose ground. They bolstered their second place berth with a 6 to 1 victory over Oklahoma City. Jorgens went to the mound with a lot of control plus a fine curve ball. The two combined halted Oklahoma City with four hits. Chamberlain and King allowed the Buccaneers nine timely hits.

With the veteran Dick Whitworth in starting form, the Fort Worth Cats won the first game of a twin bill from Beaumont, 4 to 3. Whitworth pitched seven-hit baseball against the eight hits allowed by Ray Fritz.

Instead of seven it required eleven innings to settle the second game which Beaumont eventually won, 4 to 3. The Cats tied it up at 3-3 in the seventh to force the issue extra innings. It was early Tuesday morning before the game ended.

SENATORS ARE AGAIN AT TOP OF AMERICAN

WASHINGTON CLOUTERS BEAT EARNSHAW AND GROVE

Associated Press Sports Writer.
Through the once impregnable pitching armor of the Philadelphia Athletics' twin mound ace, Bob Grove and George Earnshaw, the Washington Senators have blasted their way once more to the top of the American league standing.

Taking advantage of the New York Yankees' idleness, the Senators battered the A's into defeat in both games of a doubleheader yesterday, 5-2 and 10-8, and moved into first place by a half game margin. The third-place Athletics, at the same time, fell to a point 11 games behind the Yankees.

Grove, who had won six games in a row, was the victim of bunched hits in the second and fourth innings. The Senators scored three runs in the second on four safeties and two in the fourth, coupling three hits with an error. Grove's defeat was his fifth against 15 victories. Bob Burke, who has started only three games for Washington all year and won them all, allowed only two hits in the five innings he worked, one a home run by Mickey Cochrane, but was relieved by Jack Russell after Roger Cramer singled and Cochrane walked with none out in the sixth. Russell halted that threat and allowed only two hits the rest of the way only two hits Johnson's tenth home run.

The Senators drubbed Earnshaw for 11 hits and eight runs in seven innings in the second game which wouldn't even have been called except for a five-run rally, climaxed by Jimmie Fox's 28th homer in the ninth. Alvin Crowder pitched the 14th victory but lost control in the sixth and was replaced by Bill McAfee, young relief ace. McAfee retired the side then without a score but his later exertions at the plate where he produced a triple and a home run took their toll in the ninth and Russell again had to be summoned after the A's had scored five times.

CLAIMS FARMS IN AREA WILL BE INUNDATED

C. OF C. HEAD IS ALSO UTILITY COMPANY MANAGER

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 25. (AP)—A "delegation" war is on in the national capital on the question of building a mammoth flood control lake on Red river.

One side, including the utility interests, claim that the proposed flood control system would wipe out three counties and make lake bottoms of parts of others while the other side envisions a great plant that easily could furnish power for several states.

Congressmen from Oklahoma and Texas, chambers of commerce, private citizens and publishers are lined up in the Texas border chamber of commerce, at Oklahoma City, headed by J. F. Owens, who happens to be general manager of the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Co., is fighting the proposal. Other chambers, particularly those in towns situated near the proposed dam location are sponsoring the proposal.

Large delegations have been sent to Washington from Oklahoma City, Hugo, Durant, Ardmore and other cities, especially the Texas border towns.

The entire Texas congressional delegation has laid the project before Secretary of the Interior Ickes, urging its adoption as a flood control and power project.

Owens claims the dam would inundate all of Marshall, Carter and Love counties, and parts of Johnston and Stephens counties. It would cost an estimated $31,000,000.

Says Mr. Owens the Oklahoma City chamber president said towns and farms with their millions upon millions dollars in value, would sink beneath the waters of Red river, to emerge utterly ruined when the backed-up flood waters were gradually released. He said his information is based on reports of army engineers on file in Washington.

But the flood control proponents plant a different picture. Their view is that very little, if any, valuable land would be inundated by the project; that only the vast river bottom and adjoining rocky foothills would be submerged; that the owners of all submerged land would be well paid for their loss.

Then, they point to an area of hundreds of thousands of acres of land that would "blossom forth into an agricultural haven" and the extensive power possibilities they believe would give citizens relief from commercial rates.

W. E. Schooler, publisher of the Hugo News, told the Associated Press that many citizens in the border country resented the efforts of the Oklahoma City chamber of commerce to thwart the project.

A New Serial by Ruby M. Ayres

SYNOPSIS: George Bancroft goes to Nicholas Boyd's flat to ask why he is leaving London without telling her, as he had promised to do. Bernie Boyd, Nicholas' wife, comes in, makes a terrible scene, and is escorted out by Nicholas. Nicholas explains that he has written George, that he must go away, because Bernie will not divorce him. George tells Nicholas that she will remain his, come what may.

Chapter 44

EVELYN SPEAKS

IN SPITE of everything George slept soundly that night; she seemed to drift into blissful unconsciousness as soon as her head touched the pillow, and it was late in the morning when she awoke.

The sun was shining outside, sending long golden fingers poking inquisitively between the uncurtained curtains, and she lay for a moment watching them sleepily, before she remembered.

It was another day, and Nicholas had gone. The midnight train had carried him out of her life, perhaps forever. She lay motionless for some time with a terrible sense of loss, then suddenly she remembered that there was still his letter.

It was like a last link between them that still held, and while it held she could not quite despair. She rang the bell, and when the maid came she asked for tea.

"And please will you see if there are any letters?" Then she slipped out of bed and drew back the curtains.

It was a lovely morning, and a faint new hope crept into her heart. Things were never so hopeless when the sun shone. Or were they worse? It was terrible to be alone on a grey, rainy day, but perhaps it was harder when the sun was shining, and the world was a beautiful place in which to be happy.

She looked at herself in the mirror; her face was quite colorless and her eyes showed signs of tears, and George was conscious of a faint disappointment. Surely she ought to have grown beautiful since Nicholas kissed her?

She thought of Bernie, and then resolutely she thrust the thought aside; she would not permit any ugly memories to spoil her brief happiness of last night.

The maid came back with the tray and two letters. George pounced upon them feverishly, but one was a bill and the other which she threw aside was addressed in Clifford Asher's writing.

Nothing from Nicholas. But he had told her he had written. "Are you sure there were only these two?" she asked. "Yes, Miss."

The little cold feeling was creeping round George's heart again; that letter would have meant so much to her, and it after all it never came.

But it would come, of course it would! She drank her tea and was dressing slowly when Evelyn arrived.

"Oh, so you are awake," she said. "Do you know what the time is?" George had forgotten about time. It had ceased to matter since last night.

"It's half-past eleven," her mother said tartly. "A girl of your age ought not to want so much sleep. Why are you looking so washed out?"

"I had a headache. I told you," George said. Evelyn came further into the room.

"YES, I know you told me that you had a headache," she said. "And I certainly left you in bed before I went to the theater last night, but when Bishop and I came home, your bed was empty, and you were out. Where did you go?"

"To see a friend," George said. "What friend may I ask?" "Nobody you know."

"That means you do not intend to tell me. Well, as it happens I already know," Evelyn said. There was a sharp silence, then George spoke.

"Well, if you know, you need not have asked me." She saw the hot color rise to her mother's face.

"There is no need to add impertinence to untruths," Evelyn said. "And I imagine that since I brought you to London your whole life has been a tissue of untruths now I know what I know. How long have you

BOY FOUND IN SAN DIEGO BAY AFTER A WEEK

MOTHERS ORGANIZE TO DEMAND SPEEDY SOLUTION

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 25. (AP)—The entire San Diego police department today searched for some clue that might lead to the slayer of Dalbert Aposhian, 7, whose mutilated body was found in San Diego bay.

Mothers, worried concerning the safety of their children, organized to demand speedy solution of the murder. Telephone calls to city officials from representatives of a group of 100 women asked that the slayer and all of his kind be rounded up immediately.

Sailors crossing the bay yesterday found the body of the boy, missing a week from home. Dr. P. E. Toomey, county surgeon, said the boy's death was from "multiple mutilating operations." He said the body had been in the bay about four days.

Chief of Detectives Harry Kelly assigned all his men to search isolated dwellings, shacks and lots along the water front and in other parts of the city. Many men, listed in police records as suspicious characters, were brought to the police station but none was held.

The boy left his home last Tuesday with a playmate. They went to a department store and looked at toys. Then they separated, Dalbert saying he was going to the park to visit the zoo.

At 5:30 p. m. that day he was seen in the neighborhood of the cleaning establishment operated by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Aposhian. He did not go home, however. At 1:30 a. m. Wednesday G. K. Rose, taxi driver, saw the boy on a downtown street.

Dalbert asked for permission to sleep in Rose's car, but a fare made it impossible. Rose was the last person to have seen the boy alive.

Members of the University of Washington anatomy class were drafted to help preserve the skeleton of Tusko, elephant whose hide and bones weigh nearly three tons.

Stock Drop To Bring New Laws Senator Asserts

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP)—Senator Steiwer (R., Ore.) a member of the banking committee, today forecast legislation by the next session of congress to minimize the possibilities of a recurrence of "the panic of 1929 and the past week's experience with its abnormal shrinkage of prices."

After asking Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, to determine causes of the recent stock slump, Steiwer proposed that business leaders and economists study three propositions for consideration next session. They were:

"Preparation of a simplified form of corporate returns to be used by all corporations, reporting to the treasury, so that the reader could tell approximately the liquidating value of all classes of securities in any corporation at the time the return was made."

"An adequate curb on short-selling."

"A prohibition of the directors of any corporation increasing, decreasing or suspending the payment of dividends without first securing from the stockholders a 60-day prior authorization."

Since the government has added its tax, there is a double penalty for violators. . . The highways are being built, in part, with federal funds. Payrolls which gave the federal road fund would give 600,000 man-weeks in terms of employment, which if split into two shifts of 30-hour weeks would employ 23,000 men at about $80 per month. This aid comes at a time when road paving is slowing down for lack of saleable bonds. Payrolls which gave work to 25,000 men at the beginning of this year have dropped more than half. . . The road allotment may be increased if cities do not take as much of the public works help as estimated, and the government gives but 30 per cent of the cost of general public works, compared to 100 per cent for highway construction.

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

There are so many wheels within wheels in the Roosevelt administration, and they all are revolving so rapidly, that it is no wonder visitors to official Washington often go away completely bewildered.

No other President ever surrounded himself with so complicated a set-up. When you speak of the "inner circle" nowadays you have to designate which inner circle you mean.

There is the regular cabinet. There is the circle of administrators and coordinators, some more powerful than any cabinet member. There is the "brain trust," composed of 20 college professor officials. There is the political inner circle, which includes Postmaster General Farley and Secretary Howe.

Every one of these groups has a special claim to the confidential ear of the President. Not one seems certain what any other is doing. Many crossed wires are inevitable. Washington is as full of rumors as the army was in wartime—which is saying a great deal.

The Welter Of Rumors Treasury Secretary Woodin's continued absence—he went away June 15—has inspired reports that the way is being prepared for his retirement.

His stay in New York is attributed to illness. Stories he disagrees with Mr. Roosevelt's financial policies (many of which originated with the "brain trust") are officially denied, but they persist.

There are many guesses as to what State Secretary Hull will do when he returns from the London economic conference. Private reports of what happened there during the visit of Assistant Secretary Raymond Moley are beginning to reach the White House, and, sooner or later, Washington is expecting developments in the situation between the secretary and the "brain trust" dean who technically is his subordinate.

Nor has the sensitive pulse of official speculation failed to respond to such developments as the extraordinary role assumed recently by Bernard M. Baruch, or the designation of Frank Walker as a sort of coordinator of coordinators—called by some "assistant President."

The Inside Track The general impression around the capital is that if anybody really has the inside track it is the professors.

That impression has been deepened by the Presidents' failure to consult often with party wheel-horses, most of whom don't show much liking for the professors.

It was many weeks after election before Albert C. Ritchie heard a word from the President-elect. Since election night Mr. Roosevelt has had no communication with Alfred E. Smith, unless it has taken place very recently.

Yet the presidential veto of Professor Moley's London stabilization scheme demonstrates that the President by no means thinks the brain trust infallible. Accumulating evidence indicates he reserves the right to make his own decisions.

It is an old trait of Mr. Roosevelt to keep people guessing. He made a game of it when he selected his cabinet, not only with the newspaper reporters but with those immediately involved. Even Farley has told friends he was not invited into the cabinet until just before inauguration.

Here's Angler Who Reels in Rabbits

CHILDRESS, July 25. (AP)—He's a story for the anglers to shoot at—and the cowboys as well. "Red" Fitzgerald, while fishing on Lake Childress, about 100 feet from the bank, noticed a jack rabbit which had approached the water's edge to nibble at the tender grass shoots. Fitzgerald, who was fishing for bass, decided to make a "cast" at the rabbit. The first was a little high, but the second wrapped the line around the rabbit's neck, the plug providing enough weight to keep it from unwinding, and the fisherman reeled him in. Fitzgerald caught a wild duck in a similar manner last fall. There were witnesses to both "casts."

So there can be little doubt that the present guessing game is something more than mere accident; or that the President is enjoying it immensely.
