Economic indicators down for July after June increase

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government's chief gauge of future economic activity fell 0.1 percent in July, erasing June's slight gain and continuing a seesaw pattern that has signaled a sluggish economy since the first of the year.

The Commerce Department said today the decline in its Index of Leading Economic Indicators followed an anemic 0.1 percent advance in June. The index had fallen 0.4 percent in May, wiping out April's 0.3 percent gain.

In advance of the report, many analysts had predicted a 0.2 percent decline in July.

The index is designed to forecast economic conditions six to nine months in advance. Three consecutive moves in one direction are considered a good - but not conclusive - barometer of future economic activity.

But there's been no trend so far this year. In addition to the second quarter flip-flops, the index fell in January, rose in February and fell again in March.

The latest report came on the heels of the Clinton administration's downward revision of anticipated economic growth this year.

The Office of Management and Budget projected on Wednesday a sub-par growth rate of 2 percent this year, fourth quarter over fourth quarter, down from its 3.1 percent forecast last winter.

The economy, as measured by the gross domestic product, had grown 3.9 percent in 1992. It was advancing at a meager 1.3 percent annual rate in the second half of this year.

In another suggestion of economic weakness, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce reported Thursday that its bimonthly Business Confidence Index fell again in August, the third straight drop.

"The index is indicative of the economy's inability to develop any real momentum," said chamber economist Martin A. Regalia.

The Commerce Department said seven of its index's forward-looking indicators fell in July, while four advanced.

Listed from the largest to the smallest contribution, the negatives were:

- A drop in consumer confidence, as measured by a University of Michigan index. The index now has fallen in four out of the last six months. It rose in April and June.
- A decline in orders to factories for consumer goods.
- An increase in new claims for unemployment benefits, from an average of 386,000 a week in June to 400,000 in July.

- Fewer new orders and contracts for new commercial buildings and business equipment.

- A decrease in business delivery times, meaning businesses are more easily meeting demand in the economy.
- A drop in stock prices.
- A decline in the inflation-adjusted backlog of unfilled orders at factories for durable goods such as autos and appliances.

The positive indicators were:

- An increase in the average workweek of non-supervisory factory workers, from 41.2 hours in June to 41.4 hours in July.

- An advance in the number of building permits.
- An increase in the money supply.
- Rising prices for raw materials, indicating growing demand.

The various changes left the index at a seasonally adjusted 151.5, up 1.7 percent from a year ago, but down 0.3 percent from three months ago.

Victim of wind

Gusty winds that struck Hereford Thursday evening left tree limbs in streets and yards. A major victim of the wind was a big elm tree in the backyard of 101 Avenue B. The tree was sheared off at ground level.

High winds sweep in with Thursday front

A cold front moving rapidly southward across Texas triggered gusty winds in Hereford and the area Thursday evening, and it produced showers and thunderstorms in part of West Texas.

Winds gusted to 50 mph as the front moved across the state, according to an AP report.

In West Texas, showers and thunderstorms continued behind the front, mainly in the Permian Basin, Edwards Plateau and Concho Valley.

In North Texas, showers and thunderstorms developed along the front that was located along a line from Tyler to Waco to San Angelo.

Winds were gusting in South Texas early today, but there was no rainfall.

Forecasts called for the showers and thunderstorms to be ending across West Texas by tonight with cooler temperatures in store on Saturday.

Clinton: Plan will generate jobs, slow Medicare, Medicaid spending

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton promises his health reforms will create jobs and slow the growth of Medicare and Medicaid spending without price controls. But a fellow Democrat says the White House is heading "down the wrong road without a road map."

Clinton is still nailing down the final details on his health reform package and how to pay for it, but his intentions came under attack Thursday.

A research group sponsored by the restaurant industry released a study contending that forcing employers to pay for workers' insurance could cost 3.1 million Americans their jobs. But Clinton spokesman Bob Boorstin called the Employment Policies Institute report "ludicrous" and said it was "based on ridiculous assumptions."

Rep. Jim McDermott, D-Wash., a physician who was briefed Wednesday by Clinton's health policy lieutenants, issued a stinging criticism of the White House effort.

McDermott, who has 87 Democratic co-sponsors for his bill to abandon private insurance and switch to a Canadian-style, government-financed health system, said the administration officials were unable to provide cost estimates or any details on Medicare and Medicaid financing.

"The White House appears to be going down the wrong road without a road map on health care reform," he said.

McDermott predicted "wholesale defections from the Democratic side of aisle" and said health spending could "soar through the roof" without cost controls between now and 1998.

"And I'm a friend. I want them to succeed," he said in a telephone interview. "If they are as ill-prepared as they are at the moment...it's going to be a real fiasco."

Clinton has been meeting with Cabinet officers and key advisers this week to nail down details of his plan, due for release later this month. The White House, in response to news leaks, said Thursday that the plan would guarantee coverage for all Americans by the end of 1997, with "the vast majority" of people covered by 1996.

The New York Times reported today that the president has decided to include only limited coverage for mental health care - generally 30 outpatient visits and 60 days in the hospital each year. The Clinton plan also won't include dental care for adults, the newspaper reported.

Administration aides said the latest incarnation of the health plan seeks to come up with $16 billion from so-called sin taxes.

DSGH expansion project given boost in City Commission action

A $650,000 expansion project at Deaf Smith General Hospital got a boost from the City of Hereford Thursday evening.

In compliance with state law, the City Commission conducted a public hearing to determine if the park property on the east side of the hospital may be used for the DSGH project.

Determination of two issues was necessary before approximately 1.5 acres of land previously designated as park lands can be sold.

To provide the park property for a use other than park, the commission is required by law to determine if there is no feasible and prudent alternative and if the project includes all reasonable planning to minimize harm to the land as a park, recreation area, scientific area, wildlife refuge, or historic site.

A motion by Commissioner Roger Eades and second by Commissioner Wayne Winget made the findings necessary on the two issues. With Commissioner Silvana Juarez absent from the meeting, the vote was five to one.

Commissioner Dennis Hicks voted against the motion while Mayor Bob Josseland and Commissioners Nancy Griego, Carey Black, Eades and Winget were in favor.

In commission action earlier on calling the public hearing on the land sale, Hicks had voted against the proposal, saying he was not in favor of selling any park property.

During the hearing, the commission heard from Ron Rives, hospital chief executive officer, who described the use for the land. He said the building to be constructed would house health care facilities and offices for medical and dental staff.

Also speaking to the commission, Mal Manchec, a hospital director, said the board is in total support of the expansion project.

Only Rives, Manchec and Alan Rhodes of Amarillo, hospital district attorney, were present for the hearing.

A bid notice has been posted for sale of the property. Bids will be opened Tuesday and the commission will take action on the bids at a special meeting at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Pepper spray death raises questions about police aid

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - The first death officially linked to the use of pepper spray by police has raised questions about a weapon that is fast replacing the nightstick as a means of subduing unruly suspects.

North Carolina's medical examiner concluded this week that the fiery spray triggered bronchial spasms severe enough to kill Angelo Robinson, a 24-year-old who was arrested July 11 during a disturbance at a restaurant in Concord. The death provoked rioting in the mostly black community.

Concord police stopped using the spray immediately. The Durham police force also suspended its use. North Carolina's attorney general issued two pages of guidelines on the care of suspects who have been sprayed. Manufacturers were deluged with calls.

And the American Civil Liberties Union suggested there may have been other deaths around the country.

"As with stun guns and other laudable attempts to try to find less severe uses of force, sometimes the technology gets oversold," said John Crew, director of the Police Practices Project with the ACLU.

Jackpot is $25 million

By The Associated Press
No tickets correctly matched all six numbers drawn Wednesday night for the twice-weekly Lotto Texas game, state lottery officials said. The jackpot will grow from $16 million to $25 million.

The numbers drawn Wednesday night from a field of 50 were: 3, 27, 32, 40, 41 and 46.

There were 150 tickets sold with five of the six numbers, with each ticket worth $2,111. There were 8,596 tickets with four of six numbers, with each winning $133.

And there were 180,240 tickets sold with three of six numbers, with each worth an automatic $3.

Lottery officials estimate the jackpot for Saturday night's game will be $25 million.

Sales from Saturday to Wednesday's draw were $12.8 million.

Doctors examining 268 children taken into custody in cult raids

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) - While doctors examine 268 children taken into custody in raids on 10 homes used by a religious cult, former members are telling of sexual abuse and psychological domination.

About 80 of the children were Americans, and some of the others also were foreigners, the national news agency Noticias Argentinas reported.

Thirty adult members of the Family, an offshoot of the Children of God sect, were also detained. Twelve were charged with conspiracy to kidnap and conceal children, and the others were held for interrogation, police said.

The Children of God, founded in California in 1969, was disbanded in 1978 but reappeared under other names, including the Family. The cult also is found in England, France, Australia and elsewhere.

Raids on the Family have been made in other countries, including one in France last month in which at least 72 children were placed under foster care.

The Family has been accused of using female members to lure males into the cult with sex and of encouraging sex between children and adults.

A spokesman for the cult at its base in England denied the group engaged in child abuse.

Atilio Alvarez, president of the National Council for Minors and the Family, said authorities were seeking help from foreign diplomats to identify the children and notify family members.

The children, who ranged in age from infants to teen-agers, underwent medical and psychological tests on Thursday.

The raids were conducted before dawn Wednesday to catch cult leaders asleep and off-guard.

The sleepy children "were like zombies, with sad eyes and a lost look as though they were somewhere else," said Police Commissioner Juan Carlos Rebollo.

Buenos Aires television channels showed film clips of nude children dancing, allegedly taken from video cassettes confiscated in the raids.

Another official, Federal Prosecutor Carlos Villafuerte, told reporters that confiscated material included "many things that were not normal," including "free and explicit sex between father and daughter."

Rabin, Arafat had personal agendas for mutual goals

By NICOLAS B. TATRO

JERUSALEM (AP) - Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin was running out of time, and needed to deliver on campaign promises before his volatile coalition came apart.

PLO leader Yasser Arafat also felt the heat: he was running out of money and facing a rebellion in his ranks.

Those factors helped break a taboo on direct negotiations that strangled previous initiatives.

But they were also influenced by larger forces, crosscurrents of change that swept the region and the world.

First there was the Palestinian intifadeh, or uprising.

After nearly six years, the 1.8 million Palestinians in the occupied lands were weary of bloodshed and squeezed economically by incessant strike calls and a loss of jobs and commerce in Israel.

Israelis have killed 1,135 Palestinians in clashes and 748 Arabs have been killed by their fellows, most on suspicion of collaborating with Israel, in the uprising.

Abdel Sattar Qassem, a political science professor at Bir Zeit University in the West Bank, said the self-rule plan was "very timely" because Palestinians were in no position to resist.

"It is the people who are under pressure and not Arafat. It is the people who face social and economic collapse and not Arafat," he said.

Palestinian leaders were nonetheless less anxious to transform the uprising into an initiative that would end Israeli occupation before the anger and frustration were turned on them.

For Israel, the intifadeh ended illusions about living with the status quo. At least 145 Israelis died in the uprising.

Gaza, with its exploding population and poverty, could no longer be controlled. Pressure built on politicians to find a solution that would bring the citizen-soldiers home.

There was also the Persian Gulf War.

The PLO backed the wrong horse, Saddam Hussein of Iraq, and angry oil sheiks cut off funds to Arafat - more than $20 million of which was spent in the West Bank and Gaza Strip every month.

The war also prompted a change in Israeli strategic thinking. Iraqi missiles had easily reached Tel Aviv and wreaked havoc. The West Bank and Gaza Strip did not shield Israel from attack and were viewed as less essential militarily.

"The lesson of the Gulf War to Israelis was that control of the territories could not protect the centers of population," said Nimrod Novick, an adviser to Foreign Minister Shimon Peres who helped negotiate the Gaza-Jericho plan with the PLO and Egypt.

"At the same time, there was the toll of the intifadeh. The Israeli public was not only tired of the repeated violence, they were also sick and tired of Gaza. It became difficult to make a case for Gaza being vital to security."

Another regional development having an impact, not only on the PLO and Israel, but Arab governments as well, was the expansion of Islamic fundamentalism.

The fundamentalist Hamas, with wide influence in Gaza's crowded camps, was challenging Arafat's control. The Gaza-Jericho option gave him an opportunity to recapture the momentum and to personally get a foothold on Palestinian land before his influence faded.

Hand in Hand, a workshop for caregivers of older adults, will be presented at the Hereford Senior Citizen Center Wednesday, Sept. 8, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Hand in Hand is a community-based educational and support program for adult children and others, including professionals, who care for elders in the community. Goals of the workshop are to provide caregivers with education about the aging process, to share information on community resources and services, and to assure caregivers they are not alone.

There will be an opportunity for small group sessions. Lunch will be available at the Senior Center. To make reservations, call the Center at 364-5681.

The workshop is presented by "A Partnership in Aging," a collaborative effort of the Harrington Regional Medical Center in Amarillo, the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission Area Agency on Aging, and the South Texas Geriatric Education Center of San Antonio.

There is a new program for people interested in learning how to be religious education teachers. Learn to teach by helping a current teacher with a class. Signup sheets are in the church or for additional information, call Deacon Jessie Guerrero at the church office, 364-5053.

T.Y.M. mini-course registration and fun night will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 15, at San Jose Hall. We will have our kick-off mini-courses with a youth worship from 7-9 p.m. Sept. 22 at the church.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

"Living in Community" is the title of the sermon by the Rev. Charles A. Wilson on the Fourteenth Sunday after Pentecost and is based on Romans 12:9-21 and Matthew 18:15-20. The Holy Eucharist is celebrated at 11 a.m. and there is a coffee hour in the parish hall after the service.

The regular Wednesday Public Service of Healing is at 7 p.m. with the Litany of Healing, the Laying-on-of-Hands with Holy Unction and Holy Communion. Special prayers for education will be used recognizing the beginning of the school year.

On Sunday, Sept. 12, St. Thomas will begin an Inquirers' Class during the Adult Christian Education hour at 9:30 a.m. The class is intended for all who wish to know more about the Episcopal Church and the Anglican Communion; for those who are preparing for the sacrament of confirmation; and for those who want to have a refresher course on the faith and practice of the Episcopal Church. All interested persons are invited to attend.

On Sunday, Sept. 19, the Rt. Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas, will make his annual visitation to St. Thomas. For this Sunday only, the principal service will be at 4 p.m. with Bishop Hulsey as the presiding celebrant at the Holy Eucharist, at which time he will administer the Sacrament of Confirmation. A reception in the parish hall will follow the service.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

A new school year has begun and the Wednesday night youth group meetings have changed. The concept of the meetings is "Hang Time" (meeting with fellow Christian friends for fellowship, playing games, watching videos and listening to music.)

If you know anyone who can help locate the following non-resident members, please call the church office: Mrs. Bert Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Albright, Carolyn Anderson, David and Jeanie Andrews, Jack Arnold, Nancy Asher, Vivian Harold Baker, Mrs. Jerry Medlin Banner, Jim Barnes and Betty Barnes.

This Wednesday evening the graded choirs and missions organizations will have their first meetings. Please join us for supper at 5:30 p.m. followed by RAs, GAs, Missions Friends and Acteens at 6 p.m. The prayer meeting will begin at 6:15 p.m. around the tables in the fellowship hall. Dr. Brown will be present to lead the group. The graded choirs will meet from 6:55-7:45 p.m.

Acteens will begin meeting at 6 p.m. Wednesday. There are two groups: 8th grade through high school who will meet in the church parlor and seventh grade youth who will meet in the junior high classroom.

CHRIST'S CHURCH FELLOWSHIP

The CCF churches in America actively support the CCF churches in Russia.

Presently, Rick and Heather Ives are the CCF missionaries to the Russian churches. Heather has been the driving force in starting praise and worship teams and children's ministries in all the churches. Rick works closely with the Russian pastors and in interviewing graduates of the Victory Bible Institute in St. Petersburg for pastors of the new Russian churches being planted.

One of the pastors in Russia had joined the Communist Party as a young man and was a professional sportsman on the USSR ski and rifle teams. After his conversion, he left the Community Party and now pastors a church in Morozova which consists of over 100 people. Numerous CCF evangelistic teams from Sweden and the USA have made trips to Russia to help such pastors and churches.

CCF is committed to world evangelism and reaching out to local communities. "We must accept others as Christ has accepted us."

Sunday school begins at 9:30 a.m. followed by the morning worship services at 10:45. Everyone is welcome. Anyone needing special prayer is invited to attend the Wednesday prayer and praise service at 7 p.m.

The church is located at 401 W. Park Ave.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Sunday school for all ages begins at 10 a.m. at the church located at 100 Ave. B.

This Sunday, we will finish all of the materials started for the summer as we look forward to starting the new year with new Sunday school material and a new program in our new educational building Sunday.

During the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service, the sermon will be entitled "The AHA Experience of Grace" taken from Romans 11:33-36.

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League will have its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 8.

A special building dedication ceremony is planned Sept. 12. Confirmation instruction will begin at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 13.

FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

Church service begins with Sunday school and Bible study from 9:30-10:15 a.m. each Sunday.

Sunday school is taught by Tammy Hyer and the junior and senior high youth groups are led by Carolyn Baxter. Doug Manning leads the Bible study for adults and the Sunday worship service from 10:30-11:15 a.m.

This Sunday has been designated as "sack lunch" day. Please bring a sack lunch to eat following the services.

Nursery and toddler facilities are available and are directed by Vida Cash.

There is a free taxi service available to those needing it by calling 364-0359.

If you are looking for a church home, we invite you to come and worship with us.

Coach eager to start CC season

Cross country coach Martha Emerson is enthusiastic about this year's team and its chances of improving on last year's low district rank.

"This is exceptional bunch of kids," she said, not trying at all to hide her glee.

"They work hard; they're enthusiastic; they want to improve on last year's record; they're competitive; they're just plain excited about the season," Emerson said, and later added that the team members even like to work together.

"I'm anxious to let 'em run a meet and see where we are."

The Herd cross country team will run in its first meet of the season Saturday at Borger, starting at 9:30 a.m.

"We're young, but we do have a lot of returners," Emerson said. "We have nine (girls) who either have varsity or JV experience, and we have a really good group of freshman girls; we're going to have two, possibly three on varsity this year. Bethany Townsend (a freshman) is our top runner at this point. She won six JV races last year."

Emerson identifies her other top girls as Rita Soto, Krista West, Michelle Garza, Karon Harder, Nora Herrera, Beth Weatherly, Ricka Williams, Marie Crox, Kris Daniel.

Last season, the Hereford girls finished fifth, and the JV girls finished second in JV competition. Last year's boys' team finished fifth and didn't always have enough for a JV team. They won't have enough this year either.

"I only have seven boys," Emerson said. "But five of seven have varsity of JV experience. The boys were fifth last year. We look to improve on that."

The top boys should be Randy Sorensen and Miguel Carrillo, Emerson said.

Emerson thinks her teams will be improved, and she'll know more about the other teams in District 1-4A after the Borger meet.

"I'll have no idea until after we run this meet," she said. "I'm sure Borger'll be good; they just have a strong program. Randall lost some to graduation; we'll have to see what they have coming up."

Hereford will host a cross country meet Sept. 18, two weeks from Saturday. It'll be held in Veterans Park, and more details will be announced the week before the meet.

Runnin' wild

Members of the Hereford cross country team sprint for home at the conclusion of practice Thursday. The debuts Saturday at a meet in Borger.

JV starts season with windy victory

The Hereford junior varsity football team used a strong north wind to advantage and opened the season with a 20-12 victory over Tascosa's JV Thursday at Whiteface Field.

Hereford led 13-6 going into the second half. The north wind was a gentle breeze at the start of the game but by the start of the second half, it was nearing gale force. Hereford's offense went into the wind in the second quarter and possessed the ball the entire quarter. A Tascosa penalty on a Hereford punt let Hereford extend the drive, as did two fourth-down conversions by the Herd.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, with the wind at his back, Hereford quarterback Todd Dudley hit Ronald Torres for a 22-yard touchdown pass. Martin Martinez kicked the extra point for a 20-12 lead.

Tascosa controlled the ball for the rest of the fourth quarter. Time was running out on the Rebels when they reached Hereford territory. In desperation, they tried a couple of passes, but had no chance against the wind.

"I was tickled to death with our offensive performance in the second half," coach Craig Yenser said. "Any time you can hold the ball for an entire quarter, it's an amazing feat. We're real excited about this bunch of kids for the future. We have another good bunch."

Hereford had two first half touchdowns set up by fumble recoveries in Tascosa territory. The first time, Ralph Morales' sack of the Tascosa quarterback forced a fumble which Colby Christie recovered at the 26, setting up a four-yard scoring run by Hugo Reyes. Later, Martinez pounced on a fumbled Tascosa snap at the 18, setting up Freddie Valdez for a 12-yard TD run. Martinez kicked the extra point for a 13-6 lead. (Hereford tried and failed to run for extra points after the first touchdown.)

Tascosa's scores came on a 87-yard run on the second play of the game, and on a 55-yard interception return. The second touchdown brought Tascosa to within 13-12, but their pass for two points failed.

Hereford's sophomore team debuted in Lubbock and lost 24-18 to Monterey. Wade McPherson scored on a 17-yard scramble and threw a 31-yard TD pass to Jeb Skiles. The pair also connected for a 62-yard pass which set up another score, a four-yard run by Duane Thomas.

Coaches Britt Narrell and Chris Christopher praised the play of fullback John Emerson and defenders Brian Betzen and Aaron Sorensen.

Hereford's freshmen teams were shut out by Palo Duro Blue. The A team lost 22-0 and the B team lost 28-0.

Great Britain defeated Denmark, 18-1, to win the gold medal in soccer in the 1912 Olympics.

Don Hutson, Green Bay wide receiver, led the NFL in scoring five straight years, 1940-1944.

Boosters won't meet Monday

Due to the Labor Day holiday, the first meeting of the Whiteface Booster Club will not be Monday as originally planned.

The first meeting now will be Sept. 13, at 7 p.m. in the HHS cafeteria, and meetings will continue each Monday throughout the football season. Coach Danny Haney will go over the game film of the previous week's game, and he'll introduce the players of the week for varsity and each sub-varsity team.

Braves prove to be pain in Burba's backside

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

In a game the Atlanta Braves needed to win, they caught the San Francisco Giants from behind. Or, more precisely, on the behind.

Ron Gant's single off pitcher Dave Burba's rear end highlighted a three-run rally in the seventh inning, leading the Braves past San Francisco 5-3 Thursday night.

Atlanta trimmed the Giants' lead in the NL West to 3 1/2 games by winning the last scheduled meeting of the teams. The Braves won two of three from San Francisco at home after sweeping a three-game series last week at Candlestick Park.

"This was big, but it doesn't decide anything," Gant said. "There's still a month left. We have to take it inch-by-inch. If we keep the attitude we had in taking five of six, it'll work out."

Barry Bonds hit his 40th home run and pitcher John Burkett hit an RBI single in the fourth inning, putting the Giants ahead 3-2 and finishing Braves starter Steve Avery.

The score was still 3-2 in the seventh when pinch-hitter Tony Tarasco doubled with one out against Jeff Brantley (4-6). Otis Nixon hit a tying single and, after a walk to Jeff Blauser, Nixon stole third.

Gant followed with a line drive up the middle that hit Burba on the backside. The ball rolled toward the first-base line, about 15 feet from the plate, and catcher Kirt Manwaring ran to retrieve it as Nixon headed home.

Nixon and Manwaring both dove for the plate, and Nixon was safe.

"I'm not trying to make a joke out of it," Burba said, "but yeah, it hurt. It still does."

"I threw the pitch and whack!" Burba recalled. "I was bent over when it hit me, so I looked up first because I figured it had to bounce into the air."

"When the ball hit Burba, I took a step or two back to the bag," Nixon said. "If it didn't carom, or the pitcher or first baseman could have gotten the ball, I would have stayed at third."

"But when I saw the catcher chase it, that's when I went," he said. "It's a game of inches and I was safe by a foot."

Mark Wohlers (6-2) pitched one inning and Greg McMichael pitched two more for his 12th save.

Dodgers 8, Pirates 0
Pedro Astacio shut out Pittsburgh on three hits for eight innings, and Los Angeles won at Three Rivers Stadium.

Astacio (11-7) struck out eight and walked one. In two starts against the Pirates, he has pitched 15 scoreless innings and allowed just eight hits.

Astacio helped himself with two hits and a sacrifice. Raul Mondesi added a two-run triple off Jeff Ballard (2-1).

Marlins 8, Padres 2

Chuck Carr got four hits and stole three bases, leading Florida over visiting San Diego.

Carr's 43 steals are the most in the NL. He moved past Pat Kelly for the second-highest total among players on expansion teams, trailing only Tommy Harper's 73 for the Seattle Pilots in 1969.

Rookie Pat Rapp (3-4) gave up seven hits in his first career complete game. Scott Sanders (2-1) was the loser.

Marlins catcher Benito Santiago made his third error in two nights against his former team, but atoned by driving in two runs with a double and a single. Orestes Destrade hit his 18th home run for Florida.

Mets 8, Cubs 3

Todd Hundley hit his first grand slam and drove in a career-high five runs as New York won at Wrigley Field.

Hundley's 10th homer of the season and first slam in 831 at-bats came in the third inning off Jose Guzman (11-10). He added an RBI single in the ninth.

Rookie Bobby Jones (2-2) allowed six hits in 7 1-3 innings.

Sammy Sosa hit his 30th home run for Chicago.

Key, Owen lead Yankees' win

By The Associated Press

Jimmy Key has come through all season when New York has needed a big game from their free-agent left-hander. Spike Owen, another expensive offseason signee, hasn't had as many chances to help the Yankees.

They both came up big Thursday night as the Yankees beat the Chicago White Sox 7-1 to snap out of a brief tailspin that saw them drop the farthest out of first place since early August.

Key (16-5) allowed three hits in eight innings and Owen, who wasn't even in the lineup until game time, had a two-run double in a big fourth inning.

"I thought it was an important game. I didn't think it was crucial. There's a difference," Key said. "We just need to win games. We lost two games at home and we had to get this thing going again."

The Yankees, who had lost four of five, including the first two of the Chicago series, now are two games behind Toronto in the AL East. New York opens a three-game series at home with Cleveland tonight, while the Blue Jays, who were off Thursday, open a three-game series at California.

"I think it was a big game for us as a team," said Yankees captain Don Mattingly, who was ejected in the seventh inning. "You've got to stop streaks early. It sets a positive tone for us going into the Cleveland series."

In the only other AL games played Thursday night it was: Cleveland 4, Minnesota 3; Seattle 8, Milwaukee 1; and Baltimore 4, California 3.

Owen's name made the lineup card when second baseman Pat Kelly was scratched just before the game began with a slightly sprained hamstring. He entered the game with a .238 average and only 18 RBIs in 95 games.

But in the fourth, with two runs already in and the bases loaded, Owen greeted reliever Chuck Cary with a double to right-center. The Yankees added two more runs without a hit.

"I try to prepare myself every day. It's not that easy," Owen said. "In this situation, it's easier to get up because of the situation we're in."

"I was just looking for a fastball the first couple of pitches. He got behind in the count (2-0) and he got a fastball up in the middle of the plate."

Chicago starter Tim Lincecum (3-3) walked seven in three innings, his shortest outing since joining the White Sox in the trade with Cincinnati.

Mariners 8, Brewers 1
Chris Bosio beat his former team for the first time.

Indians 4, Twins 3

Wayne Kirby had three hits and two RBIs and Carlos Baerga drove in his 100th run of the season as the Indians won on the road. Kenny Lofton and Kirby started the eighth with doubles to snap a 2-2 tie and Baerga followed with a run-scoring single off Kevin Tapani (7-14). Tom Kramer (7-3) pitched one inning of relief, working out of a bases-loaded jam in the seventh. The Twins scored in the ninth on a two-out RBI double by Dave Winfield, his 2,991st career hit.

49ers stay strong despite absence of Montana, Holt

By BARRY WILNER
AP Football Writer

No Joe Montana. Maybe no Steve Young for a little while. No Pierce Holt or Tim Harris or Mike Sherrard. No hope? Don't bet on it.

The San Francisco 49ers, even without those five key players - although Young should be in place at quarterback for nearly the whole season - are the class of the NFC West. Whether they have enough to get to a fifth Super Bowl will be decided in January, probably in Texas Stadium.

The Niners, despite an injury-ravaged training camp, should have no trouble staying ahead of the Saints, Falcons and Rams, all of whom have glaring weaknesses. San Francisco's woes - a shaky defensive line, questionable special teams and the wave of injuries - are minuscule in comparison with, say, New Orleans' stodgy attack, Atlanta's unpredictable secondary and Los Angeles' poor rushing defense.

Young, the NFL's MVP who was sidelined in the second preseason game with a fractured thumb, should drive defenses crazy again when he returns, which he claims will be for the opener in Pittsburgh. He expects the offense to be dominant now that Ricky Watters has added a threat from the backfield to the superb Jerry Rice-John Taylor-Brent Jones receiving trio and a savvy line. The defense won't be far behind, Young says.

"We just need to improve here and there," he says.

Two key improvements to help offset the losses:

- No quarterback controversy;
- Tim McDonald at strong safety.

Without Montana in the shadows - at least not physically; the legend always will be lurking - Young can relax a bit. Steve Bono's shoulder injury would be more unsettling if Young was sidelined longer.

Regardless, it's Young's job.

"There are always pressures," says George Seifert, who reached 50 wins faster than any coach in NFL history. "For Steve, there is the pressure to compete, to be productive, to win. There's always that tiger on your tail."

The tiger on defense will be McDonald, a Pro Bowl safety with the pitiful Cardinals who signed on as a free agent. He might not be vintage Ronnie Lott, but he's as close as you can find.

If San Francisco gets anything from top picks Dana Stubblefield and Todd Kelly on the defensive line, it could have the NFC's best record again. Stubblefield plays inside, where Holt was a star before leaving for Atlanta as a free agent. Kelly will be a pass-rushing end-linebacker in the mold of Harris and, before him, Charles Haley and Fred Dean.

McDonald, Young, Rice, Watters, Taylor, Jones, offensive linemen Harris Barton, Steve Wallace, Jesse Sapolu and Guy McIntyre, linebacker Bill Romanowski and cornerback Don Griffin are winners. They should carry the Niners to an easy division crown.

The Saints have slipped enough to have worries about making the playoffs. Forget the division.

The move from Bobby Hebert to Wade Wilson made sense only in that it was time for Hebert to change locales. Wilson had some nice years in Minnesota, but is long removed from them.

His weaponry is limited, as it always seems to be in New Orleans. Vaughn Dunbar, who produced 565 yards rushing as a rookie, is gone with a knee injury. Top picks Willie Roaf and Irv Smith should start at tackle and tight end before long, and the rest of the blocking unit is good, but the skill positions aren't skilled enough. A breakaway threat at receiver would be nice.

The defense, even without All-Pro Pat Swilling, is very nice. Linebackers Rickey Jackson, Vaughan Johnson and Sam Mills made the Pro Bowl and do everything. End Wayne Martin led the Saints with 15 1/2 sacks and the secondary, with tough corners To Cook and Reggie Jones, is a strength.

Unfortunately, that weak offense makes the defense carry too much of the load.

The Falcons will be a lot more exciting with the ball than the Saints can dream of being. Chris Miller, if he ever stays healthy for a whole season, is a first-class passer, with dangerous targets in Michael Haynes, Mike Pritchard and Andre Rison, the Jerry Rice of Atlanta.

Rison, as always, has something refreshing to say about his team. "People better pay attention to us," he says. "We're going to make some noise."

They certainly will with the outrageous Jerry Glanville as coach.

The Rams might not win more than six games - the early schedule is brutal - but they'll be vastly superior to the 1992 team. First pick Jerome Bettis is the fullback coach Chuck Knox coveted. Rookie tight end Troy Drayton should start. Another rookie, Russell White, might have an impact in the backfield.

All of that should help the inconsistent Jim Everett. But blocking woes again might give him happy feet, and the aging line looks shaky.

So why will the Rams be last? Because the receiving corps is so-so, they don't get much pressure on opposing passers, Everett has slipped too far and too many players are unproven.

Give them time.

PREDICTION: 1, 49ers (11-5); 2, Saints (9-7); 3, Falcons (7-9); 4, Rams (6-10).

with Mel Phillips

At long last, the bass fishing is improving at Lake Meredith. Just for the record, during the past three years only the Morse Bass Club and our Thursday evening Fun Tournaments had regularly scheduled bass tournaments on the Panhandle's largest lake.

Bass fishing at Lake Meredith has been brutal on the egos of some really good anglers. In August of 1991, Sandy Carroll of Pampa won a tournament because out of the 30 entries, he caught the only keeper bass, a skinny 1.6-pound largemouth.

While state bureaucrats ignored the pleas of anglers, the bass fishing somehow got worse. "Worse" is a kind word to describe conditions that prevailed in 1992. Remember the August Fun Tournament, when not one of 27 entries could catch a legal bass from Lake Meredith.

It was time for action, and, in the spirit that built this region, it was the rod and reel anglers who took it upon themselves to improve bass fishing.

Step one--Catch-and-release of the few precious remaining bass became the norm at Meredith.

Step two--When the state could not/would not react to a six foot increase in the water level, anglers from as far away as Kansas joined with local bass clubs from all across the Panhandle and raised $4,250 to do a timely bass stocking. Results--10,000 bass between 3 and 5 inches were stocked in Lake Meredith.

Step three--Something new was happening at Lake Meredith...moss, lots of moss, established down to 12 feet deep. Beautiful green stuff that provided hiding places for juvenile largemouth to escape the deadly jaws of the toothy walleye, smallmouth, sandbass, crappie and yes, even starving black bass.

Step three and a half--While New Mexico annually stocks bass in their lakes located on the Canadian River, Ute and Conchas, it took years for Texas to react. In June of 1993, 100,000 bass fry (1 1/4 to 1 1/2 inch long!) were added to the food chain. Catching a hungry bluegill was a challenge this summer.

1993 Fun Fishing results are evidence that Meredith does not have to be the dead sea for bass. Witness that 19 of the 36 entries brought bass to the scales during the 1993 Fun Tournament. Yes, many were below the slot smallmouth bass, but seven were legal black bass longer than 14 inches. Keep your fingers crossed, and please practice catch-and-release because thanks to you, the bass fishing at Lake Meredith is finally getting better.

Fun Tournaments--Thursday evenings, 6-9 p.m.

Cowboys lose another Smith; surgery trouble tackles Jimmy

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Wide receiver Jimmy Smith has developed complications following a recent appendectomy and is out for the 1993 season, the Dallas Cowboys announced Thursday.

Smith underwent surgery to remove his appendix Aug. 24 and suffered post-surgical infection and complications from the operation, team spokesman Brett Daniels said.

"His placement on Reserve, Non-Football illness means he will be unable to participate in any team workouts the remainder of the season. According to the doctors, it would be six to eight weeks before he was healthy enough to even begin working out," Daniels added.

It marks a disappointing turn for both the club and for Smith, who spent the first half of the 1992 season on injured reserve after suffering a broken leg in training camp.

Because of his speed and big-play potential, the Cowboys had considered the 6-foot-1, 205-pound Smith a possible replacement for Kelvin Martin as the Cowboys' third wide receiver. He has 4.4 speed in the 40.

Smith, 24, of Jackson, Miss., was a second-round draft pick in 1992 out of Jackson State. He was almost part of a package last month in a trade with the Los Angeles Rams that would have brought running back Cleveland Gary to the Cowboys.

His father, Jimmy Sr., was a linebacker for the Cincinnati Bengals in 1968.

After spending the first five weeks of last season on injured reserve, Smith returned to practice on Sept. 28 and was activated on Oct. 7.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

WHEN KINGS DIFFER!

ALTHOUGH KING JOASH OF ISRAEL SOUGHT TO DISSUADE KING AMAZIAH ON HIS WARLIKE PLANS AGAINST ISRAEL, AMAZIAH WOULD NOT BE DETERRED. SO THE TWO KINGS MET IN BATTLE! AS PREDICTED BY KING JOASH, AMAZIAH AND HIS ARMY WERE DEFEATED!

THIS DAY HAS BEEN A BITTER ONE
FOR JUDAH!

KING JOASH, AROUSED BY THE EMOTIONS OF WAR, ORDERED HIS TROOPS TO PURSUE UNTIL AMAZIAH'S ARMY WAS COMPLETELY DEFEATED AND HIS OWN SOLDIERS' FEET WERE TRAMPLING THE VERY STONES OF JERUSALEM ITSELF!!

QUICKLY! FOLLOW THEIR
ARMY UNTIL ALL IS DESTROYED...

...AND JERUSALEM
ITSELF HAS FELT
MY WRATH!

U.S. agrees on space alliance with Russia

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The new U.S. and Russian space alliance may rescue the space station programs of both nations but at a cost of American prestige and some jobs.

The two nations settled on a joint venture Thursday that will allow American astronauts to spend a total two years' time on the orbiting Mir space station and put U.S. experiments on Russian craft. It also calls for mutual development of an electrical power system to replace damage-prone space station solar arrays.

"It is the intent of the U.S. and Russia to undertake a cooperative human space flight program," according to a statement issued following two days of meetings between Vice President Al Gore and Russian Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Russian Space Agency were instructed to develop a detailed plan of activities by Nov. 1 that then will be cemented with specific agreements.

The agreement marks a significant change in U.S. space policy, which since the 1950s has been driven by achieving preeminence over the former Soviet Union in rocketry and space exploration.

And it marks another turn in the long road to build Space Station Freedom, the Reagan-era scheme that already has cost $9 billion and which has been subject of scorn in much of the U.S. scientific community and hostility in a cost-conscious Congress. Freedom was scheduled for construction in Earth orbit by the end of the decade.

"The combined space station will be significantly better than any of the options we could orbit on our own," Gore said at Thursday's signing ceremony. He said the new station also would be less expensive and would fly sooner than Freedom.

NASA Administrator Daniel Goldin said, "A new partnership in space between two former adversaries offers considerable economic advantages for both countries."

Goldin said, "Russian participation will not have a significant impact on U.S. jobs" but conceded "there will be areas where we rely on proven Russian systems."

The scope of activities envisioned will far eclipse previous joint ventures between the two spacefaring nations.

The cash-hungry Russians will be paid $400 million in the next four years for goods and services, which include the two modules to be attached to their Mir for American experiments.

The Russians reportedly have built the modules but don't have money for the instruments and experiments to use them.

A major concession by the United States calls for the two nations to "operate in an orbit which is accessible by both U.S. and Russian resources."

That means some launches from Russia's space port at Baikonur, which puts spacecraft into orbits much farther north and south than from the United States. NASA generally flies the shuttle in orbits at a 28.5 degree angle from the equator. In order to power its way into the Russian orbit of 51.6 degrees, the space shuttle has to reduce its cargo weight by 12,000 pounds - roughly one-fourth.

The weight loss consequences will be felt in reduced cargo on construction flights from the United States during assembly of the space station. It also causes difficulties for two of America's international partners, Japan, and the European Space Agency.

Japan has opposed the Russian orbit because its space station module is so heavy it probably will have to be split in two for transport on the shuttle. The Europeans have much the same problem, but they have been working on reducing the size of their module.

EDITOR'S NOTE - Harry F. Rosenthal has covered space flight since 1965.

Hutchison will respond to grand jury in private

AUSTIN (AP) - U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison says she will respond in private to a Travis County grand jury's request that she testify in an investigation about her tenure as state treasurer.

But David Beckwith, the senator's campaign spokesman, suggested late Thursday that Mrs. Hutchison will honor the grand jury's invitation.

"We will send our answer to the grand jury directly and confidentially, the way it should be done," Beckwith said. "And we're certain the jurors will react to it favorably."

Grand jurors stepped up the pressure on Mrs. Hutchison to testify by giving her until 3 p.m. today to choose either Sept. 9 or Sept. 10 to appear. District Attorney Ronald Earle wouldn't comment on whether the senator would be subpoenaed if she refused the request.

The senator earlier had said she would appear voluntarily if called before the grand jury. But on her attorneys' advice, she refused an Aug. 11 invitation from Earle to testify this week or next week.

Beckwith said Mrs. Hutchison had asked Earle's office to be discreet about any appearance she may make before the grand jury because the senator has been pursued by a stalker.

"Who knows what he (the stalker) could do," Beckwith said. "He is considered dangerous and authorities are now looking for him. For Earle's office to be talking about all this so publicly for their own political motives is despicable."

Earle added, "No deals were made. Special treatment was requested, but it was not offered."

The grand jury is examining allegations that state employees and state equipment were used for personal and political purposes during Mrs. Hutchison's 2½-year tenure as state treasurer.

Texas law forbids public officials to use a state office for non-state business.

Mrs. Hutchison, a Republican, has said the 11-week-old investigation, which began June 10 with a raid of the Treasury by Earle's office, is an attempt to derail her re-election bid next year. Earle is a Democrat.

The Newspaper BIBLE

GOD YES; GODS NO!

While Paul and Barnabas were at Lystra, they came upon a man with crippled feet who had been that way from birth, so he had never walked. He was listening as Paul preached, and Paul noticed him and realized he had faith to be healed! So Paul called to him, "Stand up!" and the man leaped to his feet and started walking!

When the listening crowd saw what Paul had done, they shouted (in their local dialect, of course), "These men are gods in human bodies!" They decided that Barnabas was the Greek god Jupiter, and that Paul, because he was the chief speaker, was Mercury!

The local priest of the Temple of Jupiter, located on the outskirts of the city, brought them cartloads of flowers and sacrificed oxen to them at the city gates before the crowds.

But when Barnabas and Paul saw what was happening they ripped at their clothing in dismay and ran out among the people, shouting, "Men! What are you doing? We are merely human beings like yourselves! We have come to bring you the Good News that you are invited to turn from the worship of these foolish things and to pray instead to the living God who made heaven and earth and the sea and everything in them. In bygone days He permitted the nations to go their own ways, but He never left Himself without a witness; there were always His reminders -- the kind things He did such as sending you rain and good crops and giving you food and gladness."

But even so, Paul and Barnabas could scarcely restrain the people from sacrificing to them!

Young-at-heart seniors enjoying camping lifestyle

Think camping is just for the young? Think again.

Recreation vehicle (RV) camping and touring are favorite activities for anyone who's young at heart, says the Go Camping America Committee. In fact, nearly half of the nation's 8.5 million RVs are owned by mature Americans aged 55 and up. Many opt to go beyond vacationing and take up residence for the winter or longer in RV parks.

While not everyone can backpack or tent-camp due to age or physical restrictions, anyone can enjoy outdoor living with an RV. In an RV, seniors are surrounded by accessible home comforts, because units are equipped with living, dining, sleeping and bathroom facilities.

Modern kitchens, complete with refrigerators and freezers, enable senior RVers to keep foods on hand for special diets. On-board closets and storage space eliminate the need to pack, unpack and carry heavy suitcases in and out of hotels. In RVs, seniors can vacation or enjoy extended retirement living more economically by avoiding high-priced hotels and restaurants. The average campground charges only one-fourth the price of most hotels.

Whether for frequent getaways or a "snowbird's" annual migration to warmer winter climates, mature Americans often choose RV parks with expanded facilities that concentrate on the senior traveler.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My doctor thinks I have Meniere's disease. I have had several spells of increased pressure and noise in one ear, followed by intense dizziness, nausea and vomiting. The last bout was extremely severe and included shivering, though I didn't feel cold, numbness in my forearms and hands and the feeling that I might faint. These episodes last as long as eight to 10 hours. After sleeping, I feel weak, but otherwise fine. I've also begun having fainting spells.

The ear specialist I was sent to says there is nothing to be done except not to eat salt. I was given scopolamine, which takes a long time to work and makes me drowsy. Is there anything I can do to avoid these episodes?

DEAR READER: Meniere's disease is thought to be caused by an excess accumulation of fluid in the balance canals of the ears, usually just one ear. It can involve both ears eventually. The three characteristics required for the diagnosis are vertigo as you describe, tinnitus (the ear noises) and hearing loss. It is one of a group of disorders associated with increased fluid in the balance canals called endolymphatic hydrops. Attacks can cause nausea and vomiting.

I am not sure that your associated shivering, numbness in the forearms and fainting is caused by Meniere's disease. It is not part of the usual picture. That suggests the need for a careful neurological examination to be sure there is not some other underlying problem.

Read details about Meniere's disease in Special Report 110. Dizziness, Balance, Vertigo, Motion Sickness, which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, No. 10 envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/110, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537. Medicines such as Antivert are used to prevent attacks. So is scopolamine. Scopolamine patches are available.

Limiting salt intake is often recommended to help prevent the accumulation of fluid in the balance canals. Diuretics are also prescribed for this purpose. If all else fails, and a person continues to have recurrent severe attacks, a shunt can be put in surgically to relieve the pressure in the balance canals. But it is important to know that the symptoms of dizziness and tinnitus are from endolymphatic hydrops rather than some nervous system disease which would require a different treatment approach.

DEAR DR. LAMB: My tongue got a little canker sore on the side of it and began to swell, getting big enough to fill my mouth. I was afraid I would not be able to breathe, but it didn't affect it. I could hardly talk. It eventually went down. Even my lips were swollen.

Three months later, the left side of my tongue began to swell, but not as bad as the first time. Could you tell me what caused this? My doctor says maybe I am allergic, but I have always eaten or drank the same things.

DEAR READER: It is probably a form of allergic reaction. Your description is that of angioedema, which is, in many ways, a very deep "hive." The swelling often affects the tongue, lips, face and, sometimes, hands. In over 70 percent of cases, the cause is never found, but you have to look for reactions to drugs, foods and even what you might inhale. Some common medicines may cause the reaction.

I think you should see an allergist. You can develop allergies as the years go by to things that did not bother you in the past. Don't let such an attack of the tongue or lips go unattended. The danger is that the swelling will involve the throat and obstruct your breathing.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I find that aspirin and vitamin E capsules cause the ringing in my ear to get worse. Should I avoid foods with acetate in them, and if so, what foods contain the most acetate?

DEAR READER: There are no studies that suggest vitamin E supplements cause or aggravate ear noises. But salicylates will cause and aggravate such conditions. The problem is salicylates, not acetate, and salicylates are not found in food, so you can forget about that.

There are many causes for ear noises, tinnitus. These vary from wax in the ear to a tumor on the hearing nerve. Often it is associated with a hearing loss, and if the hearing loss can be improved, it is possible to decrease or eliminate the ear noise.

Salicylates are found in many over-the-counter medications from simple aspirin to many cold remedies. I would suggest that you read the ingredients very carefully on any of the medicines you buy. Aspirin may be the only cause of tinnitus in some people, particularly when taken in large doses, but some people have this reaction even with relatively small amounts.

When aspirin is the cause, stopping it will usually eliminate the ear noise in a couple of days, less often it may take a week, and in a few cases, there may be permanent tinnitus.

There are other medicines that may also cause tinnitus. Quinidine, used to treat heart irregularities, may. It is a quinine-type medicine. These same medicines are used by some for leg cramps. Among the antibiotics that may cause tinnitus are streptomycin, dihydrostreptomycin, neomycin and kanamycin.

Protect your family from CO poisoning

If you're feeling dizzy, nauseated, tired or headachy, you may have something far more dangerous than the flu. You may have carbon monoxide poisoning.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless gas produced by fuel-burning appliances. To prevent carbon monoxide poisoning in your home, have your home heating system checked every year by a qualified service technician.

Another line of defense is a device called a carbon monoxide detector. It sounds an alarm before you and your family are exposed to hazardous carbon monoxide levels. The detectors should be placed in the hall outside your bedrooms.

An Important Message For Cable TV Customers

The Cable Act of 1992, which will be enforced by the Federal Communications Commission ("FCC"), requires Hereford Cablevision to have permission from TV stations to continue providing their signal to our customers.

WE HAVE RECEIVED PERMISSION FROM THESE TV STATIONS TO OFFER THEIR SIGNAL, AND YOU CAN LOOK FORWARD TO SEEING THEM IN OUR LINE UP ON THE FOLLOWING CHANNELS:

• KACV/PBS	Amarillo	CHANNEL 5
• KAMR/NBC	Amarillo	CHANNEL 4
• KFDA/CBS	Amarillo	CHANNEL 10

WE ARE CURRENTLY NEGOTIATING WITH THE FOLLOWING TV STATIONS FOR PERMISSION TO RESTRASMIT THEIR SIGNAL:

• KVII/ABC	Amarillo
• KCIT/IND-FOX	Amarillo

The Cable Act requires us to notify customers 30 days in advance of any channel changes, and if permission for carriage is not granted by October 6, 1993, KVII/ABC and KCIT/IND-FOX will remove their signals from our line up on that date.

It is our sincere desire to be able to continue to be able to continue offering these channels for your convenience. We appreciate your patience and understanding as we implement the changes resulting from the 1992 Cable Act and FCC regulations.
