COTTON BILL IS KILLED IN LEGISLATURE

Measure Designed to Prevent Unnecessary Waste Disapproved in Lower House.

Suspended Sentence Legislation Given Special Place on Calender for Next Monday.

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 26.—The house bill by Williams of McLennan, proposing to prevent unnecessary and wrongful waste in taking samples from bales of cotton, was killed in the house today, when it failed of engrossment by a vote of 44 to 51. Hall of Harris moved to reconsider the vote, but Mr. Williams announced that it was evident that the house did not want the bill, and Mr. Hall withdrew his motion.

The house operated on a bare quorum today and roll calls were avoided when possible. Ninety-five members compose a quorum in the house, and the few roll calls showed exactly that number to be present. The senate was not in session today, adjournment yesterday being until Monday.

The house engrossed the bill by Quinn of Jefferson, proposing to prohibit hotels, restaurants, cafes and public eating places from employing persons who have contagious and infectious diseases and requiring that such employes be examined for these diseases. It also prohibits the use of cracked crockery and dishes. A motion by Keeton of Austin to strike out the enacting clause was tabled.

Suspended Sentence Bill Up.

The bill by Binkley of Young, proposing the outright repeal of the suspended sentence law was brought up in the house this afternoon, and, after considerable debate, it was set for special order next Tuesday afternoon. Cox of Abilene moved to postpone indefinitely consideration of this bill, but subsequently withdrew his motion. During the debate it was pointed out that, as this measure has been recommended by Governor Neff, and probably will meet strenuous opposition, that it should be postponed until all members of the house are present.

A house joint resolution was introduced by Edwards of Coryell, amending the constitution so that the legislature cannot enact laws creating independent school districts.

Careless preparation of a bill caused the temporary death of the measure in the house today. When the bill by Thomas of Nacogdoches, revising the present method of distributing public school text books was brought up for consideration, an amendment to strike out the enacting clause was offered. A point of order was raised by Sid Crumpton of Bowie that the bill did not contain an enacting clause, therefore it was not, under the rules of the house, before the house. Speaker Thomas submitted the point of order to the house, and it was sustained, thereby declaring the bill dead. Mr. Thomason later re-introduced the bill with the enacting clause properly written in the bill. It will now have to go to a committee and take its regular place on the calendar. The enacting clause was left out of the original bill by mistake.

Hearing on Censorship.

An open hearing will be held by the house committee on state affairs next Tuesday night on the bill by Melson of Hopkins, proposing a state board of censorship for moving pictures. Members of the committee have already said that this bill will be reported unfavorably, due to the fact that most cities and towns have their own boards and a state board is useless. The Melson bill proposes to tax the moving picture exhibitors to pay the salaries of the board, to be composed of three members.

City Officials Burned

Moore and Montgomery Sustain Burns When Sewer Gas Becomes Ignited.

Julian Montgomery, city engineer and J. L. (Daddy) Moore, city plumbing and gas inspector were severely burned Saturday evening from flames caused by the latter lighting a match while they were inspecting a manhole in the alley on Sixth street between Lamar and Scott streets.

Following the accident, both were taken to the Wichita General hospital. Attending physicians said the burns of Mr. Moore were serious. The skin was burned off both hands and part of the forearms with the unprotected part of his head severely burned. Mr. Montgomery was burned on one hand and was also burned about the face and head. He was suffering great pain Saturday night. Both were removed to their homes Saturday night.

When the accident occurred, Mr. Moore was in the manhole inspecting it and endeavoring to recover his glasses which had fallen in the hole. Mr. Montgomery was leaning over the hole when Mr. Moore struck a match. It is believed that the sewer line and manhole had considerable gas vapor resulting from waste oil and gasoline coming into the line from nearby garages.

As the match was struck, the flames shot out of the hole several feet in the air.

Mr. Moore crawled out of the hole with the assistance of Mr. Montgomery who was burned when the flames first shot out of the hole. Mr. Montgomery fainted while going for aid for Mr. Moore. The flames attracted other people who came to the assistance of the two men.

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE VOTE FOR TAX REPEAL

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Chambers of Commerce over the country voted 1,719 to 44 in favor of repeal of the excess profits tax, the United States Chamber of Commerce announced today in making public results of a recent referendum. Coupled with the excess profits repeal vote went an emphatic negative on a suggestion that treasury losses due to repeal be made up "mainly from taxes on incomes," the vote being 571 in favor and 1,004 against.

By rules of the national organization, a two-thirds majority is required to carry a referendum proposition.

CHALLENGE LEGION TO PROVE CHARGES ON GERMAN CABAL

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Dr. Otto Von Mach, who has called a meeting in Madison Square Garden Monday night to protest against the alleged quartering of French negro troops on German territory, today challenged the American Legion to prove its assertion that propaganda is behind the movement.

He asserted the meeting would be held regardless of the legion's opposition.

Officers of the legion ordered members to refrain from violence in event the meeting is held.

FEDERAL COURT HOLDS WOMAN GUILTY OF IMPROPER RELATIONS WITH NEGRO

By Associated Press.

GREENSBORO, N. C., Feb. 26. — A federal court jury in the case of Mrs. Florence C. Varner, who sued her husband, Col. Henry B. Varner, Lexington newspaper publisher, for support today, returned a verdict for the defendant after two days' deliberation. One of the issues required the jury to find whether she was guilty or innocent of the charge of improper relations with Baxter Mcrary, wealthy negro of Lexington. The jury answered this affirmatively.

Stealing Liberty Bonds Simple, Youthful Bank Clerk Says After Arrest and Recovery of Securities

By Associated Press.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 26.—William Dalton, 16-year-old bank clerk, who stole $772,000 worth of Liberty bonds in Chicago Thursday, the largest bond theft on record, according to police, was caught in a pool room at Heyworth, Ill., near here today. All the bonds, except one for $500 that he used for his expenses, were recovered in a small leather bag that he had tossed into a corner while he played pool.

The boy said that taking the bonds was a simple matter, but that escape was not so easy. He was taken up for a ride by an autoist, James Dennis, while trudging long the road to Heyworth, heading in the general direction of "the south," but with no definite plans for escape.

The lad tonight told how he tried to evade officers of the law by traveling in automobiles, on foot, electric and steam trains and busses, but was captured largely through wide publication of his picture in Chicago newspapers reaching this district.

He was recognzed by a son of Constable Jack Draper, who made the arrest and who will probably collect the $26,000 reward offered for the arrest and recovery of the bonds.

Throughout his flight Dalton carried the bonds in a little satchel, wherein he had secreted them when he walked out of the bank Thursday for lunch. Walking along country roads, borrowing a ride in an automobile or seeking to get further from the scene of his crime by riding trains the youngster clung to his satchel until he reached Heyworth.

There his fondness for playing pool and billiards caused him to seek a game with a stranger and while the two played, the satchel with its fortune, was left in a corner.

"I read how Judge Landis had said the bankers were partly to blame in the case of an Ottawa boy named Cary, who stole nearly $200,000," said Dalton. "The judge said they should have paid Cary more, and his case seemed to fit me. I saw the chance to take the bonds and decided to try to get away with them. It doesn't pay, however, and I'm sorry. I'm sorry especially for my mother and sisters. I don't know what I can do now."

Dalton broke down and cried when speaking of his mother, who is a widow, but otherwise did not seem to realize the seriousness of his actions.

He then told how he had cashed a bond for $500 across the street from the bank, bought an automobile and started the flight which ended when he was recognized at Heyworth.

ARKANSAS ADJUTANT RESIGNS OFFICE TO ACCEPT LEGION JOB

SOUTH BEND WELL FLOWING 3,000 DAILY

Panhandle McCluskey No. 2 Deepened 10 Feet and Makes Biggest Producer in Field.

Drilled ten feet further into the sand into which it had drilled itself by its own gas pressure, the Panhandle No. 2 McCluskey, originally a 50,000,000-foot gasser, was reported Saturday flowing at the rate of 125 barrels an hour—making it by far the largest producer yet completed in the South Bend pool of Young county.

The present depth of the well is reported as 2,542 feet, and the well is the first really big production reported from the 2,500-foot sand, in which the discovery well of this field was drilled. Production of around 500 barrels per day is the largest initial production yet reported from this sand depth, the larger production to this time coming from the 2,100-foot sand, also found on the Panhandle's McCluskey and adjoining leases.

Other McCluskey Wells Fair.

The No. 1 McCluskey of the Panhandle was, and still is, a fair producer in the 2,500-foot sand. The No. 3, the lease's second producer, was completed in the 2,100-foot sand.

The No. 2 failed at 2,100 and was at first thought dry at 2,500, then struck the gas flow—initial 50,000,000 feet per day—which prevented further drilling. This pressure drilled the well into a 600-barrel producer, which was followed by its being deepened.

Panhandle Scott Well.

The Panhandle's No. 1 Scott, adjoining the town of South Bend, and three miles north of the McCluskey and surrounding production, is reported as flowing 75 barrels per day in its uncompleted state—reports being to the effect that the sand has been penetrated only a few inches.

Another Test Deepened.

Drilled a short distance deeper into the 2,100-foot oil sand, the Oklahoma Petroleum and Gasoline company No. 1 McCluskey was reported Saturday as flowing at the rate of 700 barrels daily.

Other reports from Graham at the same time showed the Godley Oil company's No. 5 Graham making 250 barrels from the 1,850-foot sand.

Another completion of Saturday is the North American Roxana No. 2 Donnell, reported a 200-barrel well from the 1,900-foot sand.

Pratt Well Shot.

Reports Saturday from the Pratt well, on the line between Young and Stephens counties, to the south of the South Bend pool, were to the effect that there was a small showing of oil at 3,345 feet after a 150-quart shot had been administered. The well is now being cleaned out, it is reported.

SUMNER AND BLANTON END BITTER DUEL

Dallas Man Declines to Submit to Hand Picked Committee

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The letter writing duel between Representatives Sumners and Blanton, both of Texas, appertaining to the question of veracity, apparently ended today with Mr. Sumner's refusal "to submit himself to a hand-picked committee."

After Mr. Sumners had denounced his fellow member in the house in the most vitrolic address heard in the chamber in years he suggested that the facts about attempted salary grabs and Mr. Blanton's single-handed effort to prevent them be referred to a committee of the house or the Texas press association. Mr. Blanton countered with a demand that the inquiry be conducted by a committee of Texans to be named by him.

This, Mr. Sumners rejected and members of the delegation said all was quiet along the Potomac today.

Forces Being Mobilized to Drive "Invaders" From Occupied Territory in Coto.

By Associated Press.

PANAMA, Feb. 26.—Hostilities between Panama and Costa Rica showed possibilities this afternoon of developing into a conflict involving all of Central America and Colombia. Leading Colombians residing in Panama have sent a wireless message to Bogota, asking the Colombian government to furnish them with arms for the purpose of enlisting against Costa Rica.

PANAMA, Feb. 26.—It was learned officially this afternoon that President Porras has signed a proclamation declaring war against Costa Rica, but is holding it temporarily in abeyance. The president, assured that the entire country is behind him, contemplates taking dictatorial powers for the defense of the republic, relying upon the national assembly to confirm his action.

The present intention of the president is to convoke a special session of the assembly Tuesday to ratify the declaration of war and the president's dictatorial powers.

A sweeping order was issued this afternoon by Eusebio Morales, secretary of the treasury and the interior, abolishing the constitutional provisions regarding freedom of the press and establishing a strict censorship over Panama-Costa Rican developments.

While nothing has been learned regarding the status of hostilities in the Coto district near the Pacific frontier, where Costa Rican forces on Monday occupied territory held by Panama, it was learned authentically this morning that hurriedly gathered unorganized forces were being sent from Panama in the direction of Bocas del Toro, whence come reports that the Costa Rican garrison across the boundary is being reinforced.

Panama Lacks Arms

Lack of arms and ammunition with which to equip the Panaman forces which the government continues to organize still is proving an insurmountable difficulty. Every available rifle has been issued to the volunteer forces and national police, who have been sent forward to Coto and Bocas del Toro. The belief is strong in official circles that the United States government is in duty bound to furnish the Panama forces with necessary arms, since the country disarmed after completion of the Panama canal treaty and has since been in a defenseless condition.

The dual nature of the obligations of both republics under the treaty is advanced as an additional argument, especially in view of the belief generally held that Costa Rica is counting upon support of the recently formed union of Central American republics.

The Panaman government is urging upon the canal zone authorities and the United States legation here the advisability of recommending that the United States war department issue the necessary war materials and has expressed confidence that such recommendation will be forwarded to Washington. The United States legation is still without instructions from Washington.

SENATE MAKES APPROPRIATION FOR BIG ARMY

Budget Adopted After a Three Hours' Debate Allows Armed Forces Numbering 175,000.

Added Amendment Requested by Pershing, Promotes Generals Hunter And Liggett.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The senate late today agreed to an army of an average strength of 175,000 officers and men during the next fiscal year, instead of the 150,000 approved by the house. The action was taken by approving an amendment of the senate military committee to the army appropriation bill as passed by the house.

The big army budget went through in less than three hours, opposition to the army increase provisions and the total increase of $31,000 made over the house bill, failing to materialise.

Immediately after its passage, Senator Poindexter, republican, Washington, moved to take up the navy appropriation bill, the last of appropriation measures before the senate, but withdrew his motion when it was announced that an agreement had been made with leaders by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, that the naval bill should wait until next week.

In passing the army measure the senate added an amendment, requested by General Pershing, providing for promotion to the grade of lieutenant general of major generals, Hunter Liggett and Robert L. Bullard, who commanded field armies overseas.

The senate provisions increasing the size of the regular army to 175,000 went through after the senate had adopted an amendment by Senator Borah limiting army expenditures to the total carried in the senate bill and operating to bar any deficiency appropriations later.

Among the senate military increases in appropriations adopted was an increase from $19,200,000 to $28,000,000, for army air service.

The senate also adopted the proposed increase from $1,000,000 to $2,500,000 for vocational education in the regular army, and another amendment increasing from $350,000 to $500,000 the appropriations for Alaskan roads.

A committee amendment providing for discharge upon request, of men in the regular army with more than one year's honorable service, also was adopted.

Club Rooms to Be Furnished Bell Employes

Plans have been made by the Bell Telephone company for furnishing the employes' association club rooms with reading and writing tables, a pool table and gymnasium.

The rooms are a recent gift to the association by the company. Thursday night an entertainment of the Wild West variety was given.

At the entrance guests received coin, in the form of washers, to spend during the evening at the bar, lunch counter or Faro Mike's gambling joint. Faro Mike was played by L. R. Norton.

The bar, with its "rail," was the main attraction, with signs of the Western days, as "If You Kill a Man, Drag Him Out—We Need the Room," "Stage Coach Leaves for Frisco and Skunk Hollow Every Wednesday," and "Don't Shoot Out the Light." The saloonkeeper, "Red Eye Pete," played by M. C. Little, was a bold, bad man, with his six-shooter always handy.

Order was restored by "the sheriff," J. M. Lindsey. He was kept busy when a hold-up of the different gambling places or the saloon was pulled, the lights being shot out and the hold-up man escaping.

E. M. ("Slats") Wilson run for mayor, and Jess ("Slim") Allen for sheriff.

A tall step ladder in one corner held the sign "Dance Hall Upstairs."

A wrestling match, pulled by Bert McGregor and M. L. McKay was called a draw.

Prizefights by the lightweights, A. B. Gibson, and Roy Allmon was given to Gibson, going one round. The middleweight championship was won by J. H. Riggs, who took from his opponent, C. C. Garmany, the championship, Garmany also losing part of one tooth. The heavyweight encounter was fought to a finish by J. M. Bridges and J. J. Foster, Foster taking the bout in the first round.

The lunch counter, "bossed" by F. M. McFalls, furnished the feed with hot dogs, cheese sandwiches and other stuff to order.

The grand success is attributed to the planning and hard work of the entertainment committee, J. H. Terrill, F. M. McFall, W. F. Meney, E. B. McCully, F. B. Corrin, Mr. Nicklas, W. W. Cotnam, E. K. Mathis and J. M. Anderson.

Judge Restrains Texas Railroads Against Raise

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Feb. 26.—The Texas railroad commission and the attorney general are restrained, pending hearing at Waco, March 7, from taking any action against the carrying out of the order by the Texas railroads of the Interstate Commerce Commission directing the applying of interstate rate increases to intrastate traffic. Application for an injunction was made before Judge Duval West of the federal district court at San Antonio, Friday. Judge West granted a temporary restraining order and set the case for hearing at Waco, March 7, according to advices received here today.

The petition for injunction asks that the Texas railroad commission and the attoney general be restrained from instituting proceedings that would prevent the Texas railroads from complying with the Interstate Commerce Commission's order, issued Friday morning.

Cavender Ordered Released

V. D. Cavender of Burkburnett, arrested last week on a Mann Act complaint made by the father of a girl in Burkburnett with whom it was alleged Cavender had gone to Oklahoma was released Saturday following a hearing before United States Commissioner Lant. Testimony introduced at the hearing failed to substantiate the complaint according to Commissioner Lantz.

According to the evidence introduced at the hearing Cavender and the girl had agreed to accompany two friends who were going to that state in order to get married. The father of the girl who accompanied Cavender, overtook the couple and forced them to return to Burkburnett where he made the complaint against Cavender. The couple whom they accompanied to Oklahoma have since been married in Burkburnett.

NORTH WICHITA PETITIONS FOR STREET LIGHTS

Petitions for sidewalks and lights for North Wichita will be presented at Monday night's council meeting by a committee appointed at the mass meeting held Friday night at the Fannin school and attended by several members of the Civic League and their husbands, on the invitation of the leaders of the North Side League and the men who are taking the lead in the community organiation.

Luther Waggoner, presiding at the meeting, appointed R. W. Gutzler, J. H. Jones and W. T. White the standing committee on public improvements for the north side, and this committee will take up first the matter of sidewalks, and street lights at points where they are particularly needed.

Lights under the trestle on Front street are very badly needed, it was declared at this meeting, and will be among the first and most pressing requests of the council.

Friday night's meeting was unusually well attended, by both the men and women residents, and the boys and girls.

MARTENS WILL NOT RETURN TO UNITED STATES

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Charles Recht, counsel for Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, deported soviet "ambassador" to the United States, said today he had no official or personal knowledge that Martens planned to return to this country, as asserted by Bronislau Kondish, commercial delegate from Moscow, who has just arrived in Constantinople.

M. Recht contends that Martens is legally entitled to visit the United States again, since the department of labor has cancelled its warrant for his deportation. He said no commercial delegate named Knodish appears in the list of delegates available here.

ARGENTINE NOT TO IMPOSE TAX ON WHEAT EXPORT

By Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 26.—The uncertainty as to whether the government would impose a surtax on wheat exports this year was at last dispelled today when President Yrigoyen announced to a committee of grain exporters that no tax would be added, provided the grain trade agreed upon the fixing of a minimum price to the farmers, which would be adjusted at the shortest possible intervals in accordance with the movement of the market.

RESTAURANTEUR WARNED TO MOVE BY KU KLUX KLAN

By Associated Press.

TEMPLE, Texas, Feb. 26.—A local restaurant proprietor today received a letter signed "Bell County Ku Klux Klan," warning him, on penalty of being "burned out or dynamited," not to acquire any real estate in Temple.

Th letter was written in legible form, on the back of which was a crude drawing to indicate violence in the event the warning should be ignored.

"You are German," said the letter, "and already your place of business would have been dynamited if it hadn't been located among white folks."

CALOMEL DYING FAST IN SOUTH

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Is Taking Place of Dangerous, Sickening Drug.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's Dodson's guarantee: Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick, I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.—Adv.

OFFICIALS BAFFLED IN SEARCH FOR SLAYER OF TWO SCHOOL TEACHERS

Scene of the crime (arrows point to bodies of teachers), and the victims, Miss Mabel Foote, left, and Miss Louise Wolf.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 26.—City and county officials have failed to date to unearth one tangible clew to the identity of the murderer of the two Parma rural school teachers on a lonely road near the school.

The two teachers were Miss Louise Wolf, age 38, principal of the high school, and Miss Mable Foote, age 24. Miss Wolf was a graduate of Ohio State university and had been in charge of Parma high school for the last two years. Miss Foote was a graduate of Baldwin-Wallace college and after teaching in primary schools for two years, took up her duities at Parma high school at the beginning of the September term.

The murder was classed by police as the most brutal crime committed in the scounty within memory of present officials. The murderer wielded several sapplings which he had cut from the thick woods which flank both sides of Bean road.

The women taught school in two portable buildings located across the street from each other at a country crossroad. A new high school building, which they both looked forward with pleasure to occupying next year, is being erected a short distance away.

The teachers, living in the city, rode back and forth to work each day on the street car. This necessitated their walking about two miles to the car.

Leave School Together.

As was the case most every day, the teachers remained after school to correct papers and lay out their next day's work. They left the school houses together about 5 o'clock. C. J. Uhinck, a farmer, living across the road, saw them leave.

The road leads up and down over several steep hills. It is sheltered on both sides by heavy woods and orchards. About a quarter of a mile along the road in a low gully and setting back 200 feet from the highway, is located a little shack built by a real estate company. It was in this shack that the murderer hid himself until the teachers had reached that point of the road.

The deep foot prints made in the soft soil tell the story of the murder almost as plain as an eye witness might have described it.

From the gully, where the murderer started his attack, the road leads up a steep hill for more than 600 feet. A pathway runs at the top of an embankment, six or seven feet above the road.

The 600 feet from the gully at the bottom of the hill to where the bodies lay at the top were marked by bloody clubs, a handkerchief here, a wrist watch farther along, an overshoe which one of the teachers lost in her flight, an umbrella, bent and broken. Two posts in the wire fence which bordered an orchard were snapped off close to the ground, evidently from the force of bodies thrown against them. The grass was trampled and blood splotched.

The teachers fought for their lives and for each other.

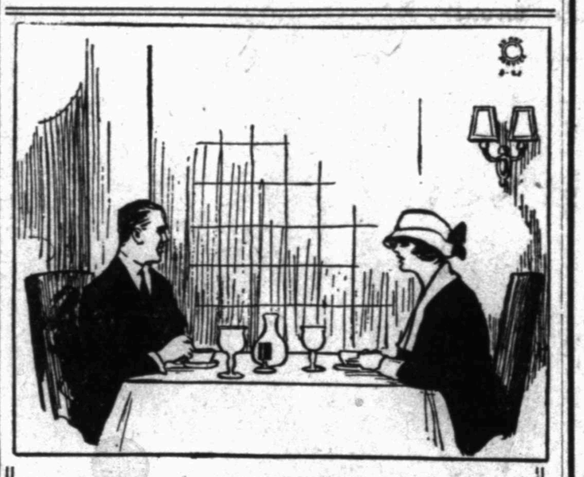

YOUTHFUL GYPSY SHOT BY FATHER DIES OF WOUNDS

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 26.—Tom Thompson, young gypsy, who was wounded at the home of his father-in-law, George Mitchell, late last night, died today. His widow said the shooting was accidental, that several were scuffling over a pistol, which was discharged. All are gypsies.

According to the attorney representing the widow and her father in a police investigation today, the young gypsy, in compliance with tribal customs, had bought the Mitchell girl for his wife and that she had returned home a few days ago. Thompson, he said, had gone there to call, and the accidental shooting followed.

Request Water Department to Change Method

Because of damage to the pavement in making constant repairs to leaks at points of connection with the mains, W. S. Curlee, street commissioner, announced Saturday that he will request the water department to either change their present method of making connections or move the water mains.

Mr. Curlee declared that under the present methods of making connections and with the kind of laterals used, the water department are continually being forced to dig through the pavement to repair laterals and connections. The commissioner declared that while the water department bears the expense incident to replacing the paving, that the repairs are causing serious damage to the pavement which he feels can be prevented by laying the laterals and installing the connections in more permanent form.

In addition to approximately 20 blocks of paving work for which contracts have already been let, Mr. Curlee said that about 50 blocks more of paving is planned for completion during the summer and fall of this year.

He said that officials expect calls for the building of about 150 blocks, but that the city did not have sufficient funds to attempt the work and will be forced to lay paving only where it is absolutely necessary.

For it is believed that the exact center of population of the United States is somewhere on the Herrin farm. Astronomical calculations, to be made shortly, will determine the exact center, to within a few yards at most. Perhaps it will be a mile away from the Herrin farm. But, meantime, the name Herrin has become famous.

WICHITANS ASSURED BIG SPORT YEAR

With the Spudders home for eighty days during the coming baseball season and with the fifteen exhibition games with major league teams before the regular Texas League season opens, Wichita Falls baseball fans will have an opportunity to see (or should we say, watch) 95 professional baseball games this year.

Baseball in this city, however, is not, and will not be confined to professional baseball alone, for with the formation of the proposed City League(and the High school games scheduled, not to mention the many "sand-lot" games that will be played during the summer, it would be safe to say that at least 500 contests will be staged.

With all this large number of baseball games in view, other sports will come in for attention by many citizens, both young and old. The Wichita Falls Polo Club and the Wichita Gun Club have extended schedules for the summer. Boxing and wrestling may come back, although neither has much of a chance unless some real promoter begins operations and puts on bouts of higher caliber than heretofore.

Polo and Traps Popular

It is believed that Polo and Trapshooting will be more popular this year than ever before in the history of this city, for both clubs have launched a membership campaign to increase the size and scope of the sport in Wichita Falls. The Polo Club urges all who desire to learn the game, to get into communication with president or secretary, who will make equipment provision for them on the club's practice dates. The club has spacious quarters at Call Field, with many ponies and plenty of equipment, such as sadles, blankets mallets, balls, etc. Actual participation in the contests, however, will be allowed only as the new-comers learn the game thoroughly enough to limit the possibilities of an accident.

Trap Shooters Enthusiastic

The Gun Club has among its members, perhaps the most enthusiastic crowd of sportsmen to be found anywhere in the country. At present the club consists of about 25 members. They are now holding a membership drive to augment their number to at least 100. Weekly shoots are held every Friday afternoon, a course of 50 singles and 24 doubles being shot at each shoot.

The County Club, numbers among its members, many ardent golfers, who in many cases belong to both the Polo Club and the Gun Club. Individual matches are played nearly every day the weather permits and it is not uncommon to see the course fairly crowded on many of the fine days.

Taking all in all, it looks like a hard summer for the sport writers, for with at least 400 baseball games, 30 polo matches, 40 gun shoots, innumerable golf matches and perhaps a little wrestling and boxing, there will be something doing every day, including Sunday and on many days the whole bloomin' local sport world will be competing for attention.

"Status Quo" of Johnson

A certain likeable and esteemed contemporary, has seen fit to agree with this column in a recent issue on the "status quo" of Jack Johnson, former heavy-weight champion, when he is released from the Leavenworth penitentiary.

We say "agree" with no tense of belittling the efforts and ability of the esteemed etc., but with the intention of merely bringing attention to the fact that this column set forth virtually the same condemnation of the negro prizefighter, several weeks ago.

The "Big Smoke" will soon be released from prison and has told the wide world through the press, that he will try for another chance at the championship. Again we say, Johnson should not be allowed to even approach a prize ring, for the rest of his life, and personally we wouldn't bet a plug pickel on his chances to appear more than once, without getting mobbed.

$4,250, Brother, $4,250.

Evidently "holdout" members of the Spudders are prone to disregard the rule which gives the club the authority to fine all players who fail to report for spring practice at the time designated by the directors of the club. The latest member of Skipper Salm's Pets, is "Monty" Montegut, third sacker, who demands more money. With "Red" Josefson and "Buddy" Tanner setting up the same "monetary howl," it looks as if Salm will have to go through the season with fifteen players instead of sixteen, if the extra money is given the holdouters can be saved by dropping a "rookie" and spending his salary on the others. The salary limit, brothers,. is $4,250 per—not a million.

STUDENTS WANT BASEBALL.

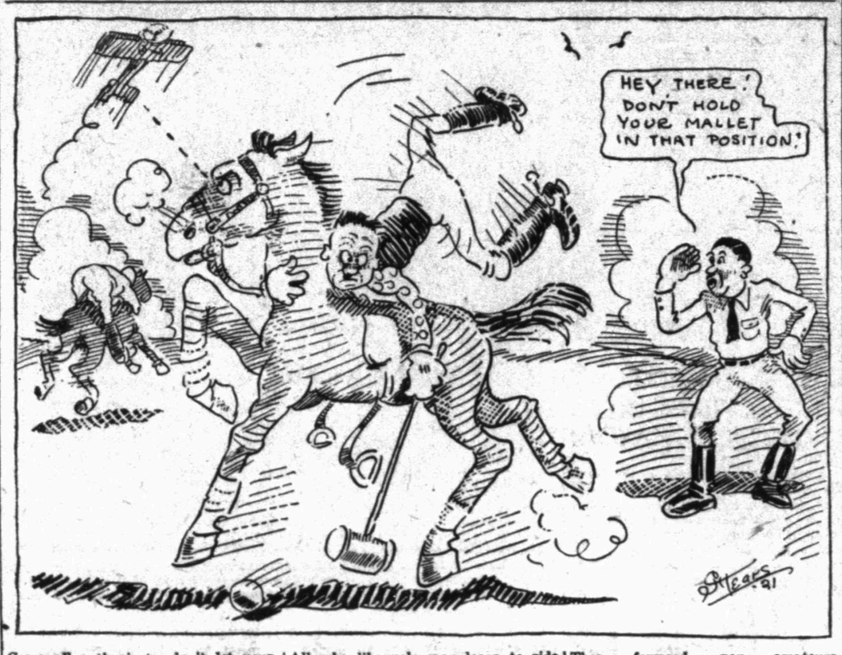

By Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 26.—Circulation of a petition among students at the University of Minnesota, urging resoration of baseball as a major conference sport at the institution, was begun here today.

Out to Call Field, where polo holds sway.
The Wichita Polo club requests e'en the merest dub
To practice with them and learn how to play.

All who like polo may learn to ride solo,
Instructors galore will be out to instruct,
Wilfong and Robbins, Hemphill and Fletcher,
And others, will teach the swing at the puck.

Then forward, you amateurs, bravely, you amateurs,

WHITE SOX BOSS TO COMB BUSHES FOR PLAYERS

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—The reorganized White Sox team will not go into action in the regular playing season April 15 at Detroit until Owner Charles Comiskey has approved the new team, club officials said here today. Comiskey now is on his way West and will reach the training camp at Waxahachie, Texas, soon.

The field will be combed again for available material to replace the seven suspended players involved in the world's series scandal of 1919, Secretary Harry Grabiner said, if Comiskey is not satisfied with his combination of recruits and old timers.

Lack of pitching material and the threat of Dick Kerr, one of the mound mainstays, to go into semi-professional circles here unless he is given an increase, is said to be the chief problem of the club leaders. Kerr's contract still has a year to run, it was said.

Besides Kerr, Douglas McWesney, Milwaukee pitcher obtained by the Sox, also refuses to sign, it was said although offered an advance of two-thirds over his last year's salary.

Rotan Is Golf Champion for Fourth Time

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 26.—George Rotan of Houston, for the fourth time, was returned winner of a Houston Country club invitation tournament today, when he defeated Charles Dexater of Dallas, 4 up and 3 to play in the 36-hole final match. Despite the seemingly one-sided score, Dexter gave the local man a battle until well past the turn in the second 18 holes, when several instances of bad putting put him out of the running.

Rotan finished the morning round 1 up, turning in a card of 37 for the outside and 36 for the inside. Dexter went 1 up on the first hole, when he finished with a 4 to Rotan's 5. The No. 2 hole was halved in 4. Rotan squared the match at No. 3, holing in a 4, while Dexter, due to a bad put, took a 5. Rotan got a par 5 on No. 4, while Dexter, again having trouble with his putting, took a 6, making the match 1 up for Rotan.

YANKEE VANGUARD ON WAY TO CAMP AT SHREVEPORT

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Five recruits of the New York Americans, the vanguard of forty-two players the Yankee management has corraled for the 1921 gonfalon campaign, were on their way to spring training at Shreveport, La., today.

The party will be augmented along the route, picking up men at Philadelphia and St. Louis, and will arrive in camp Sunday night. Manager Huggins and his "first aides," Charlie O'Leary and Robert Connery, will be on hand to put the youngsters to work Monday morning.

WARD OF YANKEES BACK INTO FOLD

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 26.—Aaron Ward, third baeman for the New York American league baseball club, announced here today that he had signed his contract for this season. Ward was a holdout, but declares he is satisfied with the last contract offered him.

CORNELL WINS IN DUAL TRACK MEET

By Associated Press.

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—The Cornell track team won the annual triangular contest with Harvard and Dartmouth at the Mechanics building today with 36 1-5 points. Dartmouth was second with 35 3-5, and Harvard trailed with 26 1-5.

Cup Defenders Go to Graham For Trap Shoot

Fifteen members of the local gun club will leave here Wednesday morning in automobiles to attend the trophy shoot with the newly organized gun club at Graham. They will leave here at 6 o'clock in order to arrive in Graham in time for the shoot which has been announced for 11 o'clock. The cup, for which the contestants will shoot, will be remembered, has been in the possession of the local club since it was won from Dallas over a year ago.

The trophy match will be waged by the five high men of each club constituting the high scores of the organiation. Graham is known to have several experts on its club and its president, W. Gallagher, says his bunch will be hard to defeat. In answer to this statement, W. Daniel, president of the local club, asserts, the Wichita Falls delegation would not go to a strange ground if they were not certain of winning.

All members of the club who intend to join the party to Graham Wednesday morning, are requested to get in touch with Secretary L. H. Little, at the Little Sporting Goods Store not later than Tuesday morning.

Polo Game to Be Staged At Field Today

Wichita Falls polo players will start anew, Sunday afternoon, to instruct "rookies" and incidentally to gain members for the club. The usual Sunday game will be played—probably of six periods of seven minutes each, but before the contest, which will start at 3:30 p. m., all men who would like to learn the game and who can ride a horse will be instructed in the art of swinging a mallet, guarding the goals, and field play.

All members of the club at present are expert players, and are well versed in the game. Undoubtedly they will make good instructors, and the newcomers should soon learn to play polo well enough to break into some of the regular Sunday afternoon contests,

On account of the severe cold weather, accompanied by snow and sleet, it was impossible to hold practice last Sunday, but, according to the groundkeeper, Call Field now is in excellent shape and a good, fast game between the Reds and the White may be expected this afternoon.

The spirit which governs City National Bank of Commerce service is that of co-operation—the endeavor to be of the utmost assistance to Wichita Falls' people in their business undertakings and in the handling of their personal financial affairs.—Adv.

Red and Black Seconds Beat Petrolia Five

The basketball game scheduled to be played at the High school court between Archer City and Seymour High was postponed on account of the failure of the latter five to arrive in time for the game.

In a fast and interesting prelude to the Seymour-Archer City basketball game, Saturday afternoon, the Wichita Falls High school second team trounced the Petrolia basketeers by the score of 24 to 18. The game was played on the splendid court of the local High school and was kept speeded up by the refereeing of J. St. Clair of Denton.

Opening a 10-point lead in the first half, the junior Red and Black seemed to have completely swamped the visitors, but in the second half a remarkable reversal of form was displayed by the Petrolia five and gradually they crept up to almost equalizing the score. However, several baskets by McCanley and Neal in the last few minutes of play were enough for the locals to cop the victory.

The lineup:

W. F. H. S. 2nd		Petrolia
Neal	F.	Balch
McCanley	F.	Robinson
Baldwin	C.	Hoffman
Pardo	G.	Ikard
Seals	G.	Crockett

Field Goals: Neal 5, McCanley 4, Baldwin 1, Seals 1, Balch 1, Robinson 2, Hoffman 5, Ikard 1. Foul Goals: Neal 2. Time of halves 20 minutes. Referee, J. St. Clair.

FIRST CONTINGENT OF WHITE HOSE IN WAXAHACHIE CAMP

By Associated Press.

EMPLOYES OF KATY STRIKE IN ARKANSAS

By Associated Press.

HARRISON, Ark., Feb. 26.—Traffic on the Missouri & North Arkansas railroad, the main offices and the shops of which are located here, is tied up tonight as the result of a strike order which became effective early this morning.

The strike grew out of disagreements over a reduction in wages on February 1, and which the union men appealed to the railway labor board, but, according to C. A. Phelan, receiver and general manager for the road, the board held that employes and representatives of the road should meet in conference with representatives of the board to determine the reasonableness of wages after reduction. Mr. Phelan declared in a statement issued today that the men, instead of abiding by the board's decision, gave notice of just ten hours that they would strike.

Union men declare that 450 men are affected by the strike. They include enginemen, trainmen, telegraphers, station agents and shopmen, they said.

NO TRAINS RUNNNING.

By Associated Press.

HELENA, Ark., Feb. 26.—No trains were running over the Missouri & North Arkansas railroad out of or into Helena today, on account of a general strike of employes, alleged to be due to recent reduction in wages. Twenty-two shopmen here went out several weeks ago and the walkout today included station employes.

FILE CLAIMS FOR DISPUTED RIVER LANDS

Thomas A. Gall, clients and associates of Duluth, Minnesota, holding interests in the river bed oil lands under Sparks titles, have laid federal scrip upon 120 acres of land in the south half of the river bed, believing that such action will secure the land for them should the supreme courts decision hold the land to belong to the federal government, it became known Saturday.

The acreage on which the scrip has been laid includes that held by Gall et al, under the Sparks titles, with a considerable body of land in addition, according to Mr. Gall.

Mr. Gall stated that he had considerable experience with federal scrip, and had finally come to the decision that the action taken was the best method of protection, should the decision finally favor the government.

He states that he submitted his theory to another firm of prominent Duluth attorneys, who had specialized in this work, and that they had concurred in his opinions.

He expressed the belief that placer claims would not avail, were the land given the government. He expressed the hope that the final decision would favor Texas.

BREAKS ARM BUT FINISHES SECOND IN SKI-JUMP MEET

By Associated Press.

MONTREAL, Feb. 26.—Breaking an arm in practice this morning, F. Carlton of Dartmouth college nevertheless jumped sixty-eight feet in the international intercollegiate ski jumping competition this afternoon, and, with 243 points, finished second to R. Whittal of McGill university, who had 259 points to his credit.

Carlton's best jump was only five feet shorter than the victor's. Cheers broke from the spectators, when, thinking the plucky New Englander out of the running, they saw him speeding down to the take-off with his arm in splints.

"White Way" Party Promises Thrills A-Plenty for All Who Come to Witness Style Show

Wichita Falls' "White Way party," on March 11, to which all its neighbors for a hundred miles around are invited, is going to be full of thrills and sensations, as well as some surprises, according to the dope those on the inside are putting out.

Every succeeding Style show is, of course, the "biggest and best ever," but this combination Spring Style show, White Way inauguration, Automobile show and general prosperity celebration is really going to be the most unqualifiedly big thing that business in Wichita Falls has staged for the entertainment and instruction of the residents of the city and the city's trade territory.

The new Wichita Falls, the metropolis, as it has emerged from the strife and turmoil of the oil boom, will have its first Style show, and the turning on of the lights of the "White Way" will be an additional event, symbolical of the change in the city.

This spring also will afford the first real opportunity the city will have to get into its best bib and tucker and properly do the honors of host to its neighbors to the fullest extent, the war, and the oil boom, and the attendant "growing pains" having until this time prevented. Normal times have come again, and it is the celebration of this return to normalcy, and the welcoming of the new era that is inspiring this event.

Every merchant in the city is doing everything in his power to make the occasion the success that it deserves to be, and everyone realizes the great significance that it possesses.

W. W. Anderson, the chairman of the trade extension committee of the retail merchants committee, which is issuing the invitations, and telling the friends and patrons of the city's business in South Oklahoma and Northwest Texas about the event, reports the circularization of the trade territory for a hundred-mile radius, and the placing of advertisements in 75 newspapers in the towns and cities in this territory. All merchants and business men are urged to co-operate in this advertising of the coming event by placing the Style show and Automobile show circulars in their correspondence going out in the district.

Every merchant is realizing the commercial importance of the event, the committees report, and every line of business is preparing to make its part perfection, so that the whole may also be perfection.

The department stores, ready-to-wear and millinery shops, and the shoe stores and the like are planning for a brilliant array for the occasion, according to Jack Barnard, chairman of the sub-committee for these lines. The displays will be held in the individual stores, with living models to be used by a number of the merchants, and all planning an "open house" for their stores, as well as beautifully decorated windows. The men's styles will also have their appropriate shares in the show.

Home furnishing will also have an important part in the show, John W. Bradley and Burton Stayton, on the furniture dealers' committee, report, and all of the furniture stores are making arrangements for exceptionally attractive displays, while a majority of them are planning to keep stores open and to have music and other "fixin's."

The jewelry establishments and drug stores form another section of the city's business which will join in to make the event entirely successful. Louis Pink, on the arrangements committee representing these merchants, is able to report plans under way for some special features.

Next week probably will see some of the unusual features of Style Show week ,not yet disclosed, made public, it is intimated. Just what these will be is merely hinted at present, but it is understood that a Mardi Gras touch will be injected.

The Automotive Dealers association is promising the public interested in automobiles—and that, of course, means everybody—a genuine treat, and their committee reports "Line busy" when an inquiry is made, so that it is to be expected that next week will see their announcement of a very splendid program.

MEDLIN AWARDED COTTON JUDGMENT

Judge Guy Rogers of the county court of law rendered a decision Saturday morning in favor of the plaintiff in the suit of F. M. Medlin against H. B. Hines of this city. The court ordered the plaintiff to pay for three bales of cotton at rate of 25 cents per pound. The case was tried Friday afternoon.

COTTON FIRE WAS INCENDIARY FIREMEN SAY

With theories advanced assigning the cause to the work of firebugs, and others pointing to spontaneous combustion, officials of the Wichita Falls fire department were unable late Saturday to determine the definite origin of the fire which early Saturday morning destroyed 4,000 bales of cotton, warehouse, office and sheds of the Southwestern Compress company, Pecan and Virginia streets, causing damage esthimated to be between $170,000 and $185,000, practically all covered by insurance.

Chief McClure, who expressed the belief that the fire owed its origin to fire bugs, was frankly unable to point to any facts to substantiate this theory, holding merely to this belief. The prompt response of the apparatus from the central fire station was one of the features of the fire—the time recording tape at the Central station showing that the first alarm was received a 3.11 a. m., and that by exactly three minutes later the companies from this station had reached the fire, sized up the situation, and given the signal for the general alarm, calling out the entire department.

Water pressure was so low that hose lines direct from plugs failed to throw streams further than 10 or 12 feet and even those attached to pumps were not sufficient to effectively quench the blaze where they were thrown.

In addition to the property of the compress company destroyed, two box cars and contents, standing on one of the railroad lines passing the compress, were totally destroyed, and five others partly destroyed.

Destruction of the compress itself, and of more than 4,000 bales of cotton in another storage compartment, was prevented by the efforts of the firemen, aided by a large firewall dividing the storage space. This wall prevented the flames reaching the rest of the cotton, although sparks and bits of burning material fell over the wall, to be extinguished by the streams playing on the cotton.

The fire broke out in the southwest corner of the platform, according to the information obtained by firemen from the night watchman, who discovered the blaze. The entire 4,000 bales of cotton were a blazing mass within almost an instant—the fire not being checked until the cotton had been totally destroyed.

The compress is the property of the Niel P. Anderson Cotton Company of Fort Worth and is under the management of A. L. Warren. According to Mr. Warren all records and papers of importance to the plant were in two office safes and are practically undamaged.

A number of small shacks near the blaze were badly scorched and many windows broken from the intense heat of the fire, according to Fire Chief McClure.

School Census Blanks Sent to Rural Sections

Forms for the annual rural school enumeration are now being sent out to the school trustees of all districts in the county from the office of Burl Bryant, county superintendent of schools. The blanks must be filled out and returned to the local office during the month of March.

Superintendent Bryant said Saturday he was desirous of receiving the reports as soon as possible.

He emphasized that in making the report it was important that a full enumeration should be obtained, the amount of state aid that the rural school will receive for the coming year depending on the number enrolled.

Superintendent Bryant also called attention to the fact that the election of school trustees for the coming year will be held on April 2. Trustees from each rural district will be elected in addition to the five county trustees.

Special Train Takes Kerosene From Burkburnett

A second train load of kerosene of 25 cars will leave the refinery of the Manhattan Oil Refining company at Burkburnett today. The first train load of the same number of cars left the plant Friday.

The order represents one of the largest shipments of kerosene that has been made from any refinery in this section for several months.

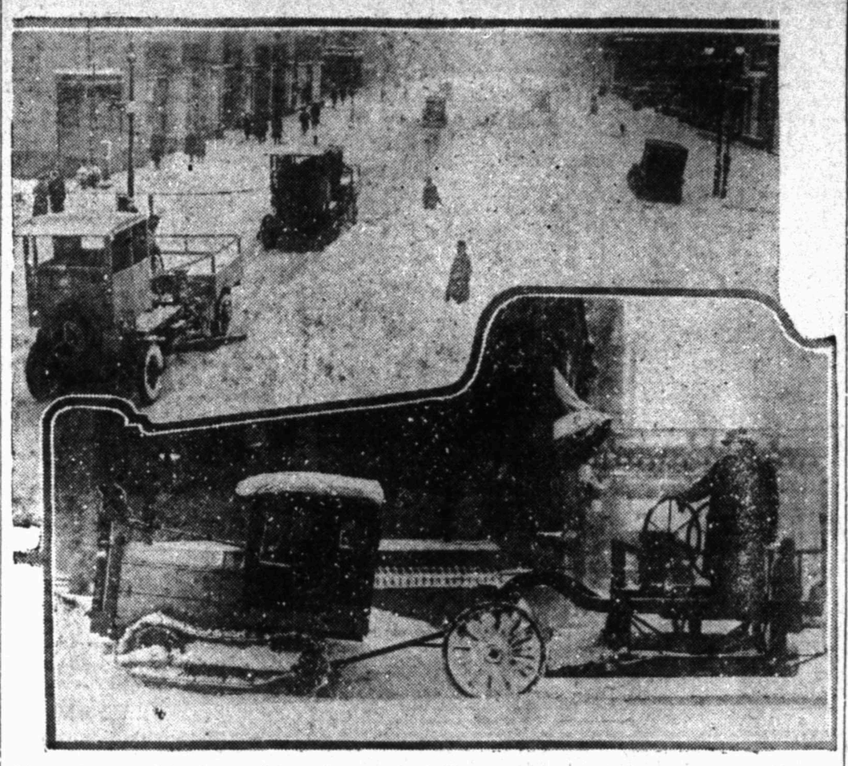

Kerosene for several weeks has been especially weak in local markets and most shipments have been made mainly in less than train loads. The kerosene from the Manhattan Oil Refining company was sent to points in this state.

BABY BURK OIL COMPANY GIVEN $711 JUDGMENT

The plaintiff in the suit of the Baby Burk Oil company against the Texas Queen Oil company, G. L. Bush and the Crude Oil Marketing company was awarded jurgment for $711 in the 89th District court Saturday morning by Judge P. A. Martin. The judgment represented the values of the oil alleged to have been run by the defendants after a receiver had been appointed for one of the defendant companies.

Judge Martin also allowed the Crude Oil Marketing company judgment and cross action against the Baby Burk Oil company for 583 barrels of oil at a stated market price. The oil was alleged to represent the undelivered amount on a contract between the two companies before a receiver was appointed for the former.

WHEN WORST BLIZZARD SINCE 1900 STRUCK NEW YORK CITY

Photos show auto-driven snow plows and scraper hauled by tractor clearing roadways in heart of New York after blizzard.

Seven persons were killed and scores injured, traffic paralyzed and considerable property damage done by the blizzard which swept New York city recently. It was the worst storm in twenty-one years and rivaled the disastrous blizzard of 1888. Tractor-hauled scrapers and plows were used to clear the main thoroughfares of snow. Taxicabs were unable to haul passengers.

RAT KILLING FIGHT PLANS NOW COMPLETE

With preparations completed in the city for the active waging of the rat extermination campaign, beginning Wednesday, the committee in charge plans to increase the scope of the campaign by including the entire county for their field of activity.

The rat menace is just as fraught with danger in the outlying district as in the city proper, the committee believes, and they are making preparations to educate the farmers and residents of smaller towns in the county to the necessity for an active crusade against the rodent pest.

Dr. A. H. Douglass, city sanitary officer, reports that the city wagons have covered the town pretty thoroughly and have disposed of a large amount of rubbish and trash. Work for bettering the sanitary condition of this city is progressing nicely, the reports say and a good start is being made prior to the official opening.

A good sign that the citizens of this city are waking up to the necessity for a vigorous campaign is said by Dr. Douglass to be found in the daily inquiries at the office in the city hall regarding methods of doing away with the pests.

Over 1,000 traps have been distributed by the Chamber of Commerce and the daily reports of their efficiency are very gratifying.

Something like 1,600 2-ounce packages of poison, sufficient to kill 200 rats each, have been put up by Dr. Douglass' assistants and are ready to be issued to the general public. Roughly estimated, this poison will end the earthly existence of 320,000 rats. When this amount of poison is exhausted, there will be an additional supply, Dr. Douglass said.

E. P. Bird, appointed by A. E. Gray, expert from the bureau of biological survey at Washington on his recent visit to this city, is to have charge of the campaign in the district from this city to Fort Worth is conducting some of the preliminary work at points on the Denver. He is expected to return here in time for the official opening March 2nd.

Stress is being laid by the committee on the fact that the campaign should continue until the city is effectively ridden of the pests and there will be no easing up in the matter until that time.

PACT SCORES SWITZERLAND FOR REFUSAL

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Leon Bourgeois of France, speaking at this afternoon's session of the council of the league of nations, said Switzerland struck a great blow at the moral prestige of the league by refusing right of way across her territory to the league's forces, which will insure order during the Vilna plebiscite. Dr. Alphonse Dunant, the Swiss minister, in Paris, had previously explained to the council that, while Switzerland greatly regretted being obliged to refuse, still she could not grant the request without abandoning her neutrality. He pointed out that Poland and Lithuania, the parties to the dispute, had not agreed upon the conditions of the plebiscite arrangements and there was the gravest menace of hostile bolshviki action.

M. Bourgeois admitted difficulties of the Swiss situation, but expressed opinion that it was for the council to decide when requisite conditions had been fulfilled, instead of a member deciding for itself. He added that membership in the league imposed obligations as well as conferred rights, and hoped the Swiss representative would convey to his government assurance that the council understood the difficulties, but keenly felt the prejudice caused the league by its refusal.

MacDowell's Store Slogan "Exclusive But Not Expensive

THE "HOUSE OF PERSONALITY" IS SPECIALIZING IN LATEST STYLES—BUT THE PRICES DON'T INDICATE IT.

MacDowell's "House of Personality" which adopted the policy some weeks ago of operating on the manufacturer-to-wearer plan, has found the arrangement to be entirely successful. At first there were people who did not understand the idea. They got the impression somehow that such a plan would mean "cheap goods" and fire sale quality. However, that impression no longer prevails among ladies who have visited MacDowell's since the new management became effective. Purchasers of ladies-ready-to-wear have proven to their own satisfaction that the plan is a happy solution of the clothes problem.

Instead of meaning "cheap stuff" the manufacturer-to-wearer idea means just the opposite—it means that through their permanent buying office in New York and a special buying arrangement in Paris, MacDowell's is able to select the very choicest wearing apparel and the very newest styles and best qualities at the most exclusive manufacturing enterprises in New York and Paris. Through this permanent buying office in New York and also the special buying arrangement in New York, the most exclusive garments can be purchased from day to day, at the manufacturer's first cost, and shipped direct to Wichita Falls, where they are being offered to the good ladies at the manufacturers' cost plus a reasonable profit for the MacDowell Company. Thus the jobbers profits and the middleman's profits, and other "in between" profits and expenses are eliminated—the "wearer" getting the benefits of all the saving.

"We are not selling below cost," and we are not selling "at cost" the manager at MacDowell's said Saturday. "It is silly to say such things and expect sensible people to believe it. But we do say that we are selling better merchandise at the same price—or the same merchandise at less price than those who buy the usual way, and pay the usual middleman's profits, which must be added to the cost to the ultimate purchaser."

As evidence of the working of the MacDowell buying plan, it was noted last wek that no large shipments of new spring dresses and suits were received, but that nearly every day small shipments of a few dresses or suits arrived by special express. "Every one is a special bargain, of unusual quality and very low price, secured by our New York buyer and rushed to us here" said the manager. It means ultra exclusive offerings and low prices—'exclusive, but not expensive," the manager explained. "And happily the ladies are beginning to appreciate the idea."

The selection of Spring apparel at MacDowell's is rapidly becoming larger, and more complete, but no less exclusive and no less the very last word in Spring styles. An invitation is always extended to interested ladies who can appreciate values in wearing apparel.

NEW YORK COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The market for coffee futures opened unchanged to 4 points lower under further scattering liquidation, but later improvement was reported in Santos and futures rallied. The market closed at a net advance of 30@19 points: March 6.32; May 6.63; July 7.04; September 7.43; October 7.55; December 7.77.

Spot coffee quiet: Rio 7s 6¼@8c; Santos 4s 8½@10c. The official cables reported Rio market unchanged, but early cables showed an advance of 10 to 17 reis in Santos and later a further gain of 50 to 125 reis. Brazilian port receipts for the two days were 43,000; Jundiahy receipts 25,000. Victoria cleared 9,500 for New Orleans and Santos 16,600 for New York.

NEW YORK SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—There was nothing new in the raw sugar market today. It was believed the Cuban committee was still offering Cubas at 4½ cents, cost and freight, equal to 5.77 for centrifugal. In refined, prices were unchanged at 7.75 for fine granulated. Many refiners have withdrawn from the market. Demand continued good. Trading in sugar futures was again light, total transactions not exceeding 1,000 tons. The undertone was steady and closing prices were 1 to 3 points net higher. March closed at 5.09; May 5.26; July 5.48 and September 5.66.

There is no reason why anyone should hesitate to open a Savings Account with a small amount. The City National Bank of Commerce cordially welcomes deposits of $1.00 and upwards and pays 4 percent compound interest.—Adv.

NORTH SIDE KIDDIES FORM ATHLETIC CLUB

Boys and girls of North Wichita, under direction of the Civic league extension department, Friday night completed the organization of the North Side Boys and Girls Athletic association, this action forming an important part of the mass meeting held in the Fannin school. Two auxiliary organizations also were formed, the boys baseball club, to be known as the North Wichita Athletic association, and the Girls Social club. An active program has been mapped out by the young folk.

With the object of making the school the social center for the young people, and the older members of their families as well, and the Civic league extension department and the Y. W. C. A. recreation secretary, Miss Hood, will assist in the work.

Messrs. White and Waggoner of the school faculty also are planning to be active in the organization.

Charlie Hefner was elected president of the association; Ray Ford, first vice president; Cecil Adkins, second vice president; Bessie Hefner, treasurer; Annie Lee Jones, secretary ,and Henry Dunlap, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Harry Mitchell was elected president of the Girls Social club: Miss Kate Hefner, secretary, and Miss Ada Gullat, vice president.

The first social activity of the club will be a pie supper at the Fannin school on Wednesday night. The proceeds will be used in buying playground and game equipment. The entertainment for this occasion is to be planned by the following committee: Ada Gullat, Earl Marsh, Henry Dunlap, Cecil Adkins and Miss Helen Hood, Y. W. C. A. recreation secretary.

This committee will meet Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the school to work out details of the entertainment. The constitution and by-laws and other unfinished business of the organiaztion is to be taken up at this Wednesday meeting, according to the plans.

The officers of the baseball club are: Dan Sellers, manager; Charlie Hefner, captain; Luther Waggoner, coach, and Cecil Adkins, treasurer.

Some of the visitors to the organization meeting contributed towards the funds for the necessary equipment and the other expenses. Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Monroe gave $25; Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Smock, $5, and D. D. Ford and J. H. Jones contributed $5 each.

Counting steel steamers alone, there are now under construction in the United States, 3,075,266 tons, as compared with 2,796,154 tons building in the United Kingdom.

Senate Ready For Hot Fight On Bonus Bill

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Senate forces lined up for a spirited clash over soldiers' bonus legislation when the senate finance committee reported the house bill favorable today after striking out a provision for special taxes to pay the cost subject left for action by the next congress.

Republican leaders announced their intention to call up the bill early next week, with its passage admittedly in doubt, while a bi-partisan attack was made on the procedure with the bill by democrats and a few republicans.

An amendment postponing all benefits under the bill until January 1, was adopted after Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, in charge of the measure, explained that it was believed the cost could be met from interstate payments by allies on their loans from the United States.

Retained in the bill are five options proposed by the house for former service men. These are cash payments based on length of service, service certificates for deferred payment, vocational training aid, loans to aid in purchasing farms or homes, and "land settlement aid" or homestead allottments.

Japanese Omit Reference to Siberia Soldiers

By Associated Press.

TOKIO, Feb. 26.—Reference to the question of Japanese occupation of the maritime provinces of Siberia was omitted in the recent note from Tokio to Washington realtive to the death of Lieutenant Langdon, who was shot and instantly killed at Vladivostok by a Japanese sentry. In the original communication regarding the death of Lieutenant Langdon the presence of Japanese forces in Eastern Siberia was one of the significant features of the United States' position.

The idea of withdrawing Japanese forces from the mainland of Siberia is gaining ground in official circles, declares the Kokumin Shimbun, which points to the judgment of the court martial in censuring Japanese military officials, which, in a sense, is held to endorse the American view that no useful purpose can be served by the Japanese in Siberia.

Viscount Uchida, foreign minister, however, has declared that the government had no present intention of withdrawing the troops.

COTTON FALLS WHEN TRADING SHOW WEAKNESS

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 26.—Except for small gains near opening, the cotton market today stood at a decline, the trading being weakest toward the end of the session and closing at the lowest, at net losses of 35 to 43 points. All months made new levels for the season.

That much of the selling was long account was obvious, and longs were scared out of their cotton mainly by reports of serious rioting in Alexandria. The heavy selling toward the end of the day was due to fear that political news Monday might be unfavorable. Offerings were increased by the unfavorable tons of weekly reviews of trade in general and because of the renewed weakness noted in cotton goods markets.

After the close the trade was thrown into considerable excitement by the announcement that the head of a large cotton organization was seeking to have legislation enacted to prohibit short selling of cotton.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—There was a continuation of southern and scattered selling in the cotton market tolay and still lower price levels were reached.

Last prices were at approximately the lowest, although the final tone of the market was steady at a net decline of 25 to 40 points.

No fresh factor was reported in connection with the decline, but there were various features responsible for recent wakness. Rports from Fall Rivr said increased mill curtailment was expected there next week, while there was no improvement in overnight reports from Manchester, and the appearance of southern selling orders on an open advance here increased nervousness over the spot situation. At the start there was quite a good deal of reactionary feeling around the ring. The opening was higher on covering but otherwise, there was very little demand and the market soon turned easier under the southern selling, renewed liquidation and re-selling by recent buyers. Houses with Liverpool connections were sellers here toward the close, but the southern selling and fear of spot liquidation were the outstanding features of the morning in the opinion of local brokers.

Thrift Campaign Meets Response In Wichita Falls

Hearty response has been secured in the Thrift campaign instituted by the City National Bank of Commerce, on February 22, evidenced by the securing of several hundred new savings accounts, according to announcement by T. A. Key, bank official directing the work, following reports from the corps of special workers employed by the bank.

Just as gratifying as the actual new accounts opened is the general attitude of the people toward the canvassers. He further said, and the fact is very apparent, that the people of this city are in a very respective mood to the thrift movement on foot.

One unique feature of the campaign is the fact that the workers are traveling receiving tellers, as it were, and money can be deposited in the savings department of the bank without the depositors leaving their homes or places of business.

The depositor merely gives the canvasser his check or the financial equivalent and receives his pass book and savings bond, properly filled out.

The ease with which accounts can be opened have led a large number of people, especially housewives, to take advantage of the presence of the workers.

No closing date has been set for the campaign as it is the intention and purpose of the bank to continue the work until every person in the city is reached. It is estimated that several thousand new accounts will be secured during the early days of the drive.

An extensive educational campaign will be waged and will continue to be carried on to impress all of the citiens of this city of the value and necessity for commonsense and systematic saving.

The field work of the campaign is being directed by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Peek with the following assistants: T. W. Tunnell, J. A. Wallace, Harry E. Zimmerley, W. Riseling, R. L. Roach, Arthur McCarty and W. B. Hamlin.

Miss Alicia L. Brown, a Wellesley college graduate and former Philadelphia girl, is director of welfare at Dallas, Texas.

Two Arrested After Horses Are Recovered

Charged at Breckenridge with having stolen several horses belonging to A. D. Jameson, contracting teamster of that city, Henry Cagle and Herman Bordors were arrested near Burkburnett Saturday morning by Ranger Gunzaulias.

All the horses said to have been stolen from Jameson were recovered by Gunzaullos and were later identified by the owner, who arrived here Friday.

Following their arrest, both Cagle and Bordors denied knowing that the horses were stolen, stating that they had been hired by a party at Breckenridge to bring the horses to a corral a short distance southwest of Burkburnett, where two of the horses were found. The remaining horses were found in a pasture several miles from the corral.

According to Ranger Gunzaullas, the horses had apparently been driven to the point of exhaustion. The horses are reported to have been stolen at Breckenridge on February 22 and to have arrived at the corral near Burkburnett on Friday, having made the distance of approximately 150 miles in three days.

In the corral and pasture where the horses belonging to Jameson were recovered a team of mules belonging to J. C. Irvin, mayor of Newtown, also were found, according to officers. The mules, according to reports made by Irvin to officers, disappeared from his place at Newtown several days ago.

The first woman to become managing editor of a daily newspaper in North Carolina is Miss Daisy Handley, who has assumed editorial charge of a daily paper in Wilson, that state.

GAINS MADE IN STOCKS ON 'CHANGE

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The variable gains registered in the course of today's short stock market session were largely the result of short covering, induced to an extent by the more favorable tenor of overnight developments.

Advices, in so far as they dealt with industrial and commercial conditions, indicated a slow but steady restoration of confidence, but there were no signs of any pronounced easement of money rates.

Gains of 1 to 3 points were registered by the popular industrials, such as minor steels, motors and their specialties. Tobaccos, textiles and about a score of unclassified issues, including international paper and industrial alcohol.

Selling for profits caused nominal recessions from best prices in the final dealings, but the net result again suggested an over extension of the bear position.

A fair amount of business was done in bonds, but those issues, including the Liberty division and recent international flotations were mostly irregular.

WHEAT TRADE IS MARKED BY NERVOUSNESS

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—The wheat market was extremely nervous today and fluctuations were rapid. Shorts in March were inclined to cover and that delivery was rather firm. This firmness prevented the May delivery from slipping much lower. At the finish wheat was 1 cent lower to ⅛c higher, including March $1.68 to $1.68¼ and May $1.57 to 1.57 ; corn was off ⅝ to 1⅛; oats were down ⅛ to ⅝c, while provisions finished strong.

The feature in wheat was the relative strength in the March delivery, which went more than 11 cents over May. Sentiment was decidedly mixed and while some of the local element were very bearish, there were others who were strongly of the belief that the market was to work higher. The main bullish influence was the prospect for a marked improvement in the export demand. Germany was reported to have purchased wheat in the United States and wasafter more.

Large receipts and a decline in cash corn as compared with May delivery had a depressing influence on coarse grains, which averaged lower and more than offset the effect of the relative strength in wheat. Local sentiment was bearish. Exporters were after corn in the west and sales of 40,000 bushels were reported.

Provisions were firmer with hogs and on small receipts here and in the west.

VISCOUNT MILNER WEDS WAR WIDOW

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Viscount Milner, the recently retired secretary of state of the colonies, was married today to Lady Edward Cecil, widow of Colonel Lord Edward Cecil. The marriage occurred at St. James church, Paddington.

The wedding came as a surprise to social circles, nothing having been given out in advance regarding it.

OFFERS SMALL IN LIVESTOCK AT FORT WORTH

FORT WORTH, Feb. 26.—Livestock receipts today were very small, around 50 head of cattle and 200 head of hogs constituting the entire offering. The cattle market was unchanged, but hogs gained 10 cents. One car of good light hogs brought $9.45, this being the extreme high range of the market for the week. Other deals were within a general spread of $9 to $9.40.

The week's close is 25 cents higher on steers, steady on all other classes of cattle, steady on the best light calves and 50 cents lower on common, thin calves.

Best sheep are selling at an advance of 50 cents and on lambs the trade showed an advance of 75 cents. Quotations:

Cattle — Beeves $5.00@8.00 stockers $5.00@6.50; cows $3.00@5.50; canners $2.00@3.00; heifers $6.00@8.00; bulls $3.50@5.00; calves $5.00@11.00; yearlings $5.00@8.50.

Sheep 600 head. For week: Sheep and yearlings around $1.50 higher; lambs $2.50@3.00 higher.

NEW METHOD TO SEND PHOTOS BY TELEGRAPH

Record News Staff Bureau.

LONDONA, Feb. 26.—M. Hermos Petersen, a Norwegian engineer, has invented a new and speedier method for the telegraphic transmission of photographs, pictures and signatures, which, he claims, will revolutionize telegraphy.

The new apparatus makes possible a system in which a typed script message with personal signature is handed in at a telegraph station, where it is charged according to square measure, and thence passed through the new machine and delivered to the addressee precisely in the same form as dispatched.

Kiwanians Obtain Many New Members

With 40 members now on the roster, organization of the Wichita Falls Kiwanis Club is proceeding at a rate exceeding his expectations, according to Al Stimers, field representative in Texas and Oklahoma, who is here in the interest of the organization work.

Mr. Stimers stated that he will remain here until the charter membership of 100, the number set as a mark is obtained.

Membership, he states, is secured through invitation of the board of directors only, and is limited to two from each line of business. The first luncheon of the club is to be held on March 10—Thursday—at a place to be announced later.

More typewriters are in use in the United States than in all other countries combined.

East Wichita Test Will Be Resumed Today

Work will be resumed this morning on the test of the East Wichita Company on the Honaker tract three miles east of the city, according to information from H. A. Erwin, manager of the drilling company which has taken over the test for completion.

According to Mr. Erwin, the test now has 175 feet of collapsed casing the discovery being made Saturday when the tools were lowered in the hole.

According to Mr. Erwin's estimate it will take several days to remove the collapsed casing. Mr. Erwin stated that the test had about 200 feet of oil standing in the hole.

The public, he said, would be informed from time to time as to the progress being made in the completion of the test, but those visiting the lease are requested to stay without the roped inclosure.

Hunter Will Make Address At Club Luncheon

A talk by H. L. Hunter of the Empire Mortgage Company on the "Greatest and largest farm loan mortgage company in the world" will feature the weekly luncheon of the University Club on Tuesday.

The weekly luncheon for the first time will be held at the Wichita Club at the City National Bank of Commerce building.

The luncheons for the past several weeks have been held at the Kemp hotel.

The program will also include a vocal solo by R. E. Shepherd, accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd and a violin solo by Miss Marion Miner accompanied by Miss Annette Walsh.

Officers Take Boy Hobo Back To Fort Worth

Johnny Mauck, 15 years of age, was returned Saturday to his home near Fort Worth by Juvenile Officer Morgan.

Johnny was picked up by police officers Thursday night and turned over to Mr. Morgan. He declared that he had left his home near Fort Worth two years ago on account of his step-father and since had spent the time in different parts of Oklahoma, and more recently had worked as a dishwasher at a cafe in Burkburnett.

He was firm in his statements that he did not want to return home. Saturday the officer got in connection with officers at Fort Worth and found out that the stepfather was dead. Johnny was informed and expressed the desire to return at once.

JUDGE NAPIER TO HEAR MOTIONS ON CIVIL CASE DOCKET

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, THAT:

WHEREAS, The Board of Alderman of the City of Wichita Falls has heretofore ordered the improvement of Brook Street from south property line of Eighth street to north property line of Tenth stret and has received estimates, plans and specifications from the City Engineer and after adoption of same, and after due advertisement and notice, competitive bids were received, and it has been determined that all of the cost of constructing curbs along said portion of said street and three-fourths of the remaining cost of such improvement shall be assessed against the property abutting thereon and against the owners thereof, and the City Engineer has made and filed with the Mayor and Board of Aldermen his report and estimate of the cost of such improvement and the estimated amount to be assessed against each abutting lot or parcel of land and the owner thereof and showing other matters and things required by the law and the City Charter and the proceedings of this Board for such reports, and same has been examined and corrected:

I.

That said report of the City Engineer filed on the 7th day of February, 1921, be and it is hereby adopted and approved.

II.

That a hearing shall be given to the owners of property abutting on said portion of said street and to all others interested, and same shall be given and held in the Council Chamber in the Morgan Building in the City of Wichita Falls at 7:30 o'clock P. M. on the 14th day of March, 1921, and at such hearing and at said time and place the owners of said property or any of them, their agents or attorneys, or any one else in any manner interested either in said property or in said improvement or in the manner or method of making and constructing same or in the contract therefor or the proceedings with reference thereto, or the benefits or damages to said property, shall be fully and fairly heard as to any of said matters and as to the amounts to be assessed against the said property and against the owners thereof, and as to the benefits to said property in enhanced value by means of said improvement, and as to damages to said property or the owners thereof resulting from or to be sustained by reason of said improvement, or as to any other matter or thing in any wise incident to or connected with the said improvement, contract, proceedings or assessments therefor, or the method or manner of paying for same.

III.

That any claim for damages shall be made in writing and shall set forth the matters and things in the manner and form provided and required by the provisions of the City Charter, any other claims or matters may be presented either orally or in writing, and at such hearing all claims, protests and objections whatsoever will be passed upon by the Board and said hearing may be continued from time to time until all desiring to be heard have been fully heard, and after all have been fully and fairly heard, said hearing will be closed, and at said hearing and from the evidence before it, the Board of Aldermen will determine the amounts to be assessed against each lot or parcel of abutting property and against the owners thereof and will determine the amount of damages if any to each lot or parcel of property and the owners thereof, the benefits in enhanced value of to each lot or parcel of property, by means of said improvement, and will correct any errors, mistakes or invalidities in any proposed assessment and in any proceedings with reference to the making or constructing of said improvement or the levying of assessments therefor, and will thereafter by ordinance make and levy assessments against each piece or parcel of abutting property and against the owners thereof in the proportion provided and in the manner and form and in accordance with the terms required and provided by law and the City Charter and the ordinances, resolutions and other proceedings of this Board. After such hearing is closed any one desiring to appeal the reform shall prosecute and appeal to any Court having jurisdiction within 20 days from the date such hearing is closed and final assessment levied and not thereafter, and all persons shall after the expiration of 20 days from the levying of such assessment be forever barred and estopped from in any manner attacking or resisting same or asserting any error, irregularity, mistake or invalidity therein. The City Secretary is hereby directed to give notice of the time and place of said hearing to the owners of said property and to all others interested by causing such notice to be published in the official newspaper of the City which said notice shall be in substantially the following form, to-wit:

"To the owners of property abutting on Brook Street from South property line of Eighth street to north property line of Tenth street and to all others interested, notice is hereby given to the intention of the City to proceed with the improvement of Brook Street from South property line of Eighth Street to the North property line of Tenth street by raising, grading and filling same, installing concrete curbs and gutters and paving with concrete, and all lots and lands abutting on said portion of Brook Street, will be assessed for a portion of the cost of such improvements and all such improvements when levied shall be a first and prior lien upon the lots and lands assessed, and a personal claim and charge against the owner thereof. On the 14th day of March, 1921, at 7:30 o'clock P. M., all such owners, their agents, or attorneys or any other persons desiring to be heard will be fully heard by the Board of Aldermen and any protest, objections or claims will be fully heard by the Board of Aldermen and any protest, objections or claims will be fully and fairly heard, the benefits and damages resulting from said improvements will be determined and the amounts to be assessed against each lot or parcel of land and the owner thereof will be determined, and assessments therefor will be levied. Plans and specifications for said improvements and form of contract and report of the City Engineer showing estimated cost thereof, and the estimated amount of assessment against each lot or parcel of land, the owner thereof are on file in the office of the City Secretary and open to inspection. The estimated cost of said improvement is Twelve Thousand Eight Hundred and Fourteen and 70-100 Dollars, the estimated amount to be assessed against property owners is Nine Thousand Seven Hundred and Twelve and 63-100 Dollars, the estimated amount to be assessed against abutting property for the curb is 1.122 Dollars per lineal foot of curb, and the estimated amount of the assessments against abutting property and the owners thereof for pavement and excavation for pavement is 11.9625 Dollars per front foot. All persons, firms, corporations or estates, their agents or attorneys desiring to be heard about any matter or thing in any wise connected with said improvements, the assessments therefor, the benefits thereof or the proceedings connected therewith shall be and appear before said Board at said time and place.

Done in accordance with resolution of Board of Aldermen of the City of Wichita Falls.

Passed on the 14th day of February, 1921.

GEO. W. THORBURN, City Clerk.

And said notice shall be published in said paper not less than four times and the first of said publications shall appear not less than 14 days prior to the date set for said hearing not counting the said day of hearing, and the City Secretary shall cause to be mailed to each owner whose name appears on the said report of the City Engineer a registered letter containing a copy of said notice, such letter to be deposited in the postoffice at Wichita Falls and such notice by letter shall be cumulative of the notice by advertisement and such notice by advertisement shall be sufficient whether or not any other notice be given and whether or not such notice by letter be received or sent.

Read and approved this 14th day of February, 1921.

W. S. CURLEE, Mayor Pro-tem.

Attest:—

GEO. W. THORBURN, City Clerk.

Model of the statue "The American Volunteer," by Jean Boucher.

Jean Boucher, famous French sculptor, has received an order from the French government to model a statue commemorating the American volunteers. The statue, as a gift of the French nation, will be erected at one of the principal squares in Paris. The photograph is a reproduction of the model of the statue.

C. H. De Coppan as he appears on New York street, hatless, coatless and sockless.

Although 64 years old, C. H. De Coppan can be seen walking New York City streets without a hat, coat or socks. All he wears are a pair of oxfords and a silk shirt and pants, and he walks along with the springy step of a 20-year-old boy. He states that in this manner he has preserved both his health and his hair. He wears the same sort of clothes all year round without being uncomfortable.

Thomas A. Edison in his laboratory.

Thomas A. Edison has just celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday anniversary. This photograph was taken shortly before his birthday and shows him at work on his experiments, as is his custom. He is busy for many hours a day in his experimental laboratory, from which has come world illuminating and labor saving devices without number. He has recently become interested in the question of communication between the living and the dead.

Bishop Seydl instructing the prince and archduchess in their home.

Rumors continue to bob up that ex-Emperor Carl of Austria may again ascend the throne following the planned overthrowing of the present Austrian republic. The picture above shows that the former ruler and his family have not resigned themselves to the more democratic ideas of the times. Carl's two children, Prince Otto and Archduchess Adelaide, are tutored privately, as is proper for royal children. Bishop Seydl is in charge of their education. He is shown above with the children in their present home in Switzerland.

She is planning to emulate her famous father by going into the movies.

Major Albert de Kossak with his canvas of General Pershing.

Major Albert de Kossak, who some time ago painted the then Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, has almost completed a splendid canvas of General Pershing. The painting, which is shown here, is ten by six feet in size and when finished is to be presented to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. De Kossak is a Polish artist and will make the presentation on behalf of his country. He is considered Poland's most distinguished and versatile military painter and reputed to have painted more crowned heads than any living artist. He was court painter to the ex-kaiser for eight years. During the war he served as major in the Polish cavalry.

SOCIETY GOES INTO SACK CLOTH AND ASHES FOR LENTEN PERIOD

It is probably due to the fact that Lent is still more than a tradition in Wichita Falls and that society is taking time for a brief spell to commune with its own soul or maybe it is a sort of between seasons rest, but the social calendar for this week has but few things of interest to announce. Whatever the cause, the fact remains the same.

Except for meeting of the Annual North Texas Conference of Home Missionary Societies March 1-5 inclusive, when women of the First church and Floral Heights Methodist churches, societies will be hostesses to 125 or 150 delegates and special guests, there are no exceptionally large and elaborate evening affairs and but few events for the afternoon except the usual round of club meetings, informal dances and informal luncheons that are always with us.

An event which gives promise of being especially interesting will be the open program of the Musicians Club which will be given Monday evening at the Wichita Club under the leadership of Mrs. O. J. McKnight. These programs which are monthly events, are especially enjoyable and are always looked forward to by music lovers in the city with pleasure.

On Friday evening, Yolando Mero, famous Brazilian pianist will appear in concert at the First Methodist church, south, under the auspices of the Musicians Club, Yolando Mero in private life is Madam Steinway, wife of one of the brothers of Steinway piano fame. She is said to be an artist of highest order and also to possess a prepossessing personality. This will be a rare treat to the music loving world and they will all be out to hear the artist.

The younger social set will enjoy another one of the delightful informal dances which the Cypher Club will give Friday evening at the Kemp hotel.

On Wednesday evening the annual reunion of the Texas Exes of Wichita Falls and Northwest Texas will be held at the Wichita Club. This affair will be in the nature of a banquet and ex-university men and women will attend.

FORMER WICHITANS HOSTESSES AT TEA

The following clipping from the Bentonville County Democrat will be of interest to a large number of Wichita Falls women as the hostesses at the reception were former residents of this city.

A Washington Tea

A delightful and most gracious compliment was paid their many friends yesterday from 3 to 5 o'clock with a tea given by Mesdames W. J. Bullock, H. L. Baker and W. H. Heath at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bullock on East Fourteenth street.

The house was decorated throughout with red and white festoons from the ceilings and chandeliers and over the doorways, while hatchets of the same colors were everywhere displayed, and over the piano in the music room hung pictures of George and Martha Washington against a large American flag as their background. A profusion of American roses, red and white carnations reminded the guests of the patriotic commemoration of the day, and those with the greenery of potted plants everywhere about the rooms and the soft light from lowered shades and shaded lights made a beautiful setting for the picture which was heightened by the pretty [illegible] gowns of the guests.

[illegible] girls were in the [illegible] King [illegible]

candle sticks also tied with the tulle forming the center.

Place cards consisting of miniature forest trees in pots and flower nut cups, suggestive of Arbor Day added to the attractive table decorations.

A five-course luncheon was served at 1 o'clock and the afternoon was pleasantly spent in sewing and fancy work. Those present included Mesdames T. P. Adams, J. E. Daniels, C. B. Felder, J. C. A. Guest, W. J. Grisham, C. R. Hartsook, W. B. Hamilton, N. H. Martin and mother, Mrs. Potts of Clarinda, Iowa, C. E. McCutcheon, Walter Cline, C. W. Snider, G. D. Whitney, Martin Rowe and J. M. Sweeton, of Lone Oak, Texas.

LADIES AID SOCIETY WILL MEET MONDAY

The Ladies Aid Society of the First Christian church will meet in regular social and business Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the church. Mrs. Bob Tevis' division will have charge of the entertainment and a number of Burkburnett women will be special guests.

All members of the local society are urged to be present.

BAPTIST CHURCH MEMBERS ENTERTAINED

Between 80 and 90 officers, teachers, their wives, husbands and friends of the First Baptist Sunday school met in the basement of the new church Friday evening for a social hour. Games and contests were played by all present, and refreshments, consisting of ice cream and home made cake, were served.

After the refreshment course, a helpful round table discussion was held by a number of the officers and teachers on "How to Enlarge the Sunday School and Increase Its Efficiency." One of the most important suggestions was that of placing proper value upon the importance of the work of the school, offered by Mrs. W. L. Robertson.

ALL-DAY JOINT MEETING ANNOUNCED.

An all-day joint meeting will be held by the Woman's Auxiliary and the Guild of the First Presbyterian church at the church Monday, commencing at 9:30 o'clock. The lesson for the day will be from the foreign study book, "The Near East of the World's Cross Roads."

The book will be studied in chapters with a leader for each. Devotionals will be lead by Mrs. Fraser.

Lunch will be served at noon at the church and all members of the church and especially new members who do not belong to the societies are urged to come.

NEW CENTURY CLUB HAS ALL-DAY PARTY

Mesdames W. W. Silk, W. P. Bolding and C. R. Hartsook were hostesses Friday at the home of Mrs. Silk to members of the New Century Club with a charming spend-the-day party. The attractive Silk home was decorated for the affair with the spring flowers of various colors and the table was usually beautiful with a large silver bowl filled with sweet [illegible] and other cut fowers veiled with [illegible] and knots of variegated [illegible] unded with silver

GIRLS' FRIENDLY SOCIETY MEETS AT WISDOM HOME

Following a short business session, the Girls' Friendly Club spent a pleasant evening at the home of Miss August Wisdom Friday, when several of the members entertained with story telling. Mrs. Stonewall Brown told the Indian fable on "How Summer Originated." Miss Wisdom told about the "Life of George Washington" and Miss Louise Kodedek read a paper on "Criticism of Story Telling," why it is more interesting to tell a story than to read it.

The reception suite was prettily decorated with sweet peas and carnations for the occasion and refreshments consisting of red, white and blue brick ice cream and cake were served, with dainty plate favors of hand painted George Washington hatchets.

Those present were: Mrs. Stonewall Brown, Misses Katheryn Brothers, Nina Bradshaw, Lillie Corwin, Irene Davidson, Louise Kodedek, Gussie Keil, Gladys Robertson, Hazel Roberts, Ethel and Irene Raney, Carl Waelder and Dorothy Toney. Miss Wisdom was assisted in entertaining by Miss Geneva Wisdom.

TRAVEL CLUB GIVES TWO PROGRAMS IN ONE

A combination of the two weeks programs, the one for Friday and the one for the week preceding, was given at the meeting held by the Travel Club held at the Library Friday afternoon.

After a short business session, "Synge's Play Boy of the Western World," and "Riders to the Sea" was studied under the leadership of Mrs. A. E. Murdock. "The Irish Dramatic Movement" was the title of a paper read by Mrs. A. Murdock and Mrs. Fred Elbert read a paper on "Synge's Style." This completed the study program for the first Friday which was left over, and the lesson for the day was under the leadership of Miss Pauline Richolt, when the same two books were discussed.

The first paper was read by Miss Richolt on "The Primitive Comedy of the Play Boy of the Western World."

Mrs. T. A. Hicks read the second paper which was on "The Primitive Tragedy of the Riders to the Sea." Questions and a general discussion followed both programs.

Those present were: Mesdames James Barnard, H. O. Cravens, F. T. Datson, Grady England, T. A. Hicks, Luther Hoffman, Leslie Humphrey, Everett Jones, A. Murdock, Guy Rogers, G. L. Shappard, Adair Rembert, E. T. Duff, T. C. Holliday, Fred Elbert and Miss Pauline Richolt.

MARTHA WASHINGTON TEA SUCCESS.

An affair which was one of the social events of the week and also a success from a financial standpoint was the Martha Washington tea given by the members of Circle No. 3 of the First Baptist church of which Mrs. Walter S. Robertson is leader.

The affair was given on Monday afternoon and evening at the attractive home of Mrs. J. I. Staley at 1800 Rose street and the proceeds from a free-will offering which amounted to $511.15 was donated to the building fund of the new Baptist church.

The interior decorations of the Staley home being in the modern colonial style, made an ideal setting for the tea. In the reception suit the American flags and American beauty roses were the only decorations used and elegant simplicity was the result.

In the dining room the table was perfect in its appointment, with a silver vase filled with red and white carnations on a handsome handmade fillet and cut work luncheon cloth, minature cherry tree logs and hatchets with additional tiny flags added an artistic touch.

Mesdames G. Clint Wood and Parker S. Simpson poured tea. They were assisted in serving by Mesdames F. R. Collard, T. R. Brunson, Ashford, A. R. Cotton, Leslie Heumpdeyes, Hy Willis, Tittle, Priddy and R. B. Staton. In the receiving line were, Mesdames N. H. Pounds, president of the Auxiliary; J. I. Staley, hostess; and Mesdames J. H. Martin, J. L. Maxwell, R. C. Smith, E. W. Carter, F. C. Barron, R. H. Hall, Finley, S. O. Howery and Walter S. Robertson.

The following program was rendered in the afternoon: Piano solo, Rhinegold's Impromptu in C sharp minor. A group of songs by Ashford was sung by Mrs. Fred Barron. A colonial sketch in which Misses Elizabeth Carrigan, Mora Lindley and Elsie Allman took part and a colonial reading by little Miss Featherstone and J. I. Staley Jr. In the evening, Mr. Vaughn Ray sang "Katinka" and responded to an encore. Mr. A. M. Young sang "Two Roses" by Gilberte; Miss Berenice Jackson, violinist, played Beethoven's "Minuet in G" and responded to an encore with Tirendellies " Berlesque." Mr. J. H. Martin sang Schuman's "Grienadiers"; Mrs. J. C. Mytinger sang "The Cinderila Song" from Buddies and "Mifawny" by Foster. Miss Katheryn Cook sang "Harriet Ware's "Joy of the Morning" and Woodman's "Open Secret." Misses Bessie Lee Bartlett and Edna Jones sang a duet, "I Would My Love" by Mendelssohn. Paderewski's minuet was played by Jessie Lawler.

Several hundred guests called during the afternoon and evening.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR CONCERT

Special rates will be made to piano students who wish to attend the Yolanda Mero concert Friday evening which will be held at the First Methodist church, south, under the auspices of the Musicians Club according to an announcement made by the arrangement committee of the club Saturday. Yolanda Mero is said to be in many respects one of the most interesting women pianists now heard in America and she is especially noted for originality in her choice of recital programs. Tschaikowsky's second piano concerto in G, Op 44 according to press notices is a feature number on her program and the notices state that she plays it with wonderful brilliancy and that it never fails to bring forth an ovation from the audience.

MISS MAER HOSTESS TO GIRLS BRIDGE CLUB

Miss Marion Maer was hostess to the Girls Bridge Club at its regular meeting which was held Thursday afternoon. Four tables of players enjoyed the game of bridge in which Mrs. Jim Barnard won the high score prize, a hand-made handkerchief. A delicious salad course was served.

SPANISH CLASS SERVES DINNER.

The Spanish class of the local high school, under the supervision of Misses Hall and Edith Berney, prepared and served a dinner at the building Friday evening. The class was all in Spanish costume and an enjoyable evening was spent.

O. E. BROWN GUEST AT BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Celebrating her husband's birthday, Mrs. O. E. Brown of 1700 Taylor street entertained Wednesday evening with a pretty 6 o'clock dinner. The pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations, and birthday cake adorned with lighted candles formed an attractive center for the table.

After the ceremony of the guests blowing out the candles and making wishes for a prosperous future for Mr. Brown, the evening was pleasantly spent with forty-two. Those who enjoyed this hospitality were Messes. J. M. McFall, C. E. Deaton, W. H. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. C. Millican and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reighard.

T. E. L. CLASS HAS BUSINESS MEETING

In the business session of the T. E. L. class of the First Baptist church, which preceded the social meeting, held at the church Thursday afternoon ,the class decided to continue to see after and partially finance a family of seven. Reports were heard from sick and visiting committees. With Mesdames Porter, Wolf, Craig and Phillips as hostesses, an enjoyable social meeting followed. Well prepared papers on the Bible characters, Timothy, Eunice and Lois, for whom the class bears the name, T. E. L., was read. An amusing game, in which prizes of all-day suckers were awarded, was played ,and little Miss Murphy gave a reading, which was enjoyed. WICHITA FALLS GIRL STAR ON BROADWAY

It's rather a far jump from amateur theatricals and parlor entertainments in Wichita Falls, Tex., to a real "part" in a Henry W. Savage production on Broadway, supporting the adorable Mitzi, but the jump has been accomplished by Miss Annettia Monroe, Wichita Falls girl, daughter of Mrs. George Davis, who needs no introduction in the city of her childhood.

The young miss, armed with her diploma from the Currie School of Expression, where she studied after graduating from the Academy of Mary Immaculate in this city, charged New York's theatrical stronghold last summer and is now a member of the quaretet of specialty dancers which takes a prominent part in "Lady Billy."

Wichitans returning from New York recently brought with them the news of Miss Monroe's part in this show, which they hailed as one of the real bright spots of the theaters of New York this season. Until this time only Miss Monroe's most intimate friends know of this interesting new step she had taken on the way toward the goal for which she was unmistakably fitted for by natural gifts

Wichitans Enjoy Success.

"I happened to drop into a "Lady Billy matinee one Saturday afternoon," said Mrs. Louise Salm, buyer for Baum & Gardners, who has recently returned from New York, "and had to take a seat on the second row.

Annettia's mother had told me that she was playing with Mitzi, but for the time it had slipped my mind. When I recognized her I was close enough to the stage to attract her attention, and I don't know which was the most excited when the mutual discovery was completed.

"I was so proud of her and the way in which she played her part, and her grace and charm, that I just wished that everybody in Wichita Falls could see her and be proud of her too.

"I had a wonderful time after that, taking her around with me to meet some of the big folks in the wholesale business, introducing her as a 'home town girl' and when they inquired if she was in school, to just casually mention that she was one of the quartet in "Lady Billy."

To have a part in one of the most successful plays of the season in New York city isn't exactly commonplace even to the seasoned New Yorkers.

Other Wichitans, among them Lamar Fain and Jack Barnard, enjoyed a meeting and a chat over Wichita Falls and mutual friends here, with Miss Monroe, and they are just as enthusiastic as Mrs. Salm over her success for "landing" a Savage production engragement without any previous experience is to be regarded as a real success.

Another who feels a great pride in this entrance which the local girl has made into the upper strata of the theatrical world, is Mrs. E. L. Fulton, her dramatic art and dancing instructor in the days when she was a student in the Academy of Mary Immaculate. Annettia was her first graduate and her first pupil to follow up her prep school study with work in the famous Currie School of Expression, and every step of her work has been followed by Mrs. Fulton with a keen interest.

Graduates Last Summer.

She was in on the secret when Annettia, getting her Currie diploma last summer, decided to go from Boston to New York and to try her luck at getting in a production. Any little part in a good production was her aim, so that she could climb up by experience with a speaking and acting part as the ultimate goal.

Savage was advertising for girls for Mitzi's new production. Fifty stood in line when the little graduate of the school of expression got there. Two were weeded out of the 50, and only one of the two would be selected. Miss Monroe's name on the program today tells the tale of the selection.

When Mrs. Fulton wanted to let Wichita Falls know what a splendid beginning had been made, Annettia demurred. It wasn't much, she insisted and she might not stick.

But the home town visitors, making the rounds of the big successes were so thrilled at "clever little Annettia Monroe" playing with such a star as Mitzi, and in such a success as "Lady Billy" that the story just had to come out.

To the many friends of her own age and older as well, who have known her since childhood and who have enjoyed her remarkable gifts as she gave them expression, the theatrical columns in the New York papers, and in the magazines will have a new interest. When "Lady Billy" is mentioned there will be a thrill of a sort of ownership, for who doesn't like to say, "I know HER" when somebody is mentioned who has done something that is out of the ordinary.

And these same friends will watch her work with confidence that she will accomplish what she sets out to do.

Expected here This Year.

Miss Monroe will be at home this summer, the first time in almost two years. The exact time of her coming will depend of course on the time that "Lady Billy" continues to run. The show opened in New York at Christmas time, after the usual road workout, and it continues to draw big crowds.

"Lady Billy" is a musical comedy with the unique distinction of no chorus, theatrical critics point out, and next to Mitzi and her two leading men, the butler and the American business man who becomes her husband, the quartet of specialty dancers of which Miss Monroe is one, gets "honorable mention."

OUT-OF-TOWN SOCIETY

BOWIE.

Mr. Moore of Friendship was a Bowie visitor Wednesday.

OUT OF TOWN SOCIETY ... ... IOWA PARK

Circle No. 1 of the Baptist Ladies' Auxiliary met Monday afternoon with Mrs. S. D. Jacks. Mrs. L. B. Owen led the lesson, the subject being the "Home Mission Outlook." The scripture lesson was Matt. 3, which was followed by the personal service lesson, and also by a prayer led by Mrs. W. T. McKinney. Mrs. H. M. Smith read some interesting things about "Saving America for the World," and some "Home Mission Thrills." Mrs. Robert Brubaker discussed "The Climbing Race," and a "Frenzied Immigration." This was followed by some interesting points given by Mrs. P. G. Kildow on "Who's Who in America?" Mrs. S. A. Baxter made an interesting talk on the "Rich Indian," and Mrs. McKinney discussed the "Church Building Loan Fund."

After the lesson, the contest on the "Penny Mile" between the reds and blues was planned. Mrs. S. A. Baxter is leader of the blues and Mrs. P. C. Kildow is leader of the reds.

The circle meets next Monday with Mrs. L. B. Owen at 2:30 p. m.

The local lodge of the Knights of Pythias observed the 57th anniversary of the order by holding services at the Methodist church Sunday evening Rev. H. B. Johnson, a loyal member, filling the pulpit.

All other churches of the city gave way for this service and a large attendance was present. Rev. Johnson preached a forceful sermon.

Mrs. R. R. Brunbaker and Mrs. Jess Penn entertained the Baptist Ladies' Auxiliary at the beautiful home of Mrs. Brubaker on Monday afternoon, February 14 at 2:30. The home was very pretty in its decoration of valentines and hearts. Each member was appropriately tagged with valentines on entering. In the short business session, a contract was closed to repair the interior of the church and a committee was appointed to confer with the contractor. After the regular business was dispatched, a pleasant social was enjoyed. Several interesting contests were entered and some were much more familiar with the scripture than with the bow and arrow.

A delicious salad course was served in heart design and the plate favors were valentines in an arrow shape. Those enjoying the hospitality were Mesdames Williams, Mann, Kildow, Watkins, Campbell, Ferguson, Harris, Owens, Baggett, Thornton, Morgan, G. T. Smith, Franks, Jack, Johnson, Conway, Farmer, Payne, W. T. McKinney, H. M. Smith, John Childress, Curtis Hill, Curry, Noel McKinney, Starling, Childress, Hendrix, Reeder, Thompson, Cannon, Jones, Burge, Cain and Misses Irdie Gauntt and Emma Gantt and the hostesses Mesdames Penn and Brubaker.

In spite of the mud, quite a number met at the home of Mrs. J. C. Murphree for the regular meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society last Monday afternoon. The delegate to the annual meeting of the Mississippi Society which convenes in Wichita Falls next week was instructed to pledge $100 for Home and Foreign Missions.

An unusually interesting program was given on New Orleans and its needs and the work of the church there. Several splendid talks were made, after which the hostess served cake and cream.

Those present were Mesdames C. C. Davis, E. M. McBride, J. B. Sisk, J. H. Renfro, D. W. Clark, C. W. Dennis, L. M. Garner, T. P. Lynch, C. C. Burrows, M. A. Love, G. R. Hoge, S. L. Denny, R. Abernathy, Thurber and W. G. Shipman.

The place of the next meeting will be announced at church Sunday.

HEAVY WAGERS MADE ON RACE OF STEAMERS

Record News Staff Bureau.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 26.—Never since the days when clipper ships made record runs around the Horn and visited distant ports in the Orient has such keen interest been manifested in a sea race, or so much money been wagered as on the contest between two steamships which sailed from Baltimore February 15 on voyages from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Thousands of dollars are said to have been wagered as to which vessel will complete the trip to San Francisco first.

Incidentally, the completion of the two big ships marked an epoch in American shipbuilding. The vessels, the Hawkeye State, operated by the Matson Navigation company, under command of Captain Peterson, and the Golden State, controlled by the Pacific Mail Steamship company, commanded by Captain Yardney, sailed within six minutes time of each other. The Golden State weighed anchor at 1:01 p. m., the Hawkeye State followed at 1.07 p. m. It was the ships' maiden voyage from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The steamers are practically of the same type, built on the same general model and almost identical in details. They are 535 feet long, have a displacement of 21,000 tons and are the second largest passenger ships built in the United States.

The Hawkeye State was built at the Baltimore plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation and is said to be the most expensive vessel ever turned out by a shipyard in this country. It is said the United States shipping board is preparing to pay $8,500,000 for the vessel. The Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation will receive about $6,500,000 for the construction of the Hawkeye State, it is estimated. The remaining $2,000,000 will be paid for outfitting, decorating and for several innovations. The joining work alone, it is said, will amount to $500,000.

The Hawkeye State's enormous cost was caused partly by many changes necessitated in her design. First intended for a troop ship, the vessel was remodeled into a passenger ship when the war ended.

Among the passengers booked on the Hawkeye State are about ten millionaires. One of the passengers, it is said, is spending $14,000 on the trip. Members of the Chicago Athletic club occupy most of the ship.

It was the government's first experiment in passenger ship building of large type vessels and every effort was made to see that the Hawkeye State was as good as, if not better, than any ship built in Europe. The ship has magnificent staterooms, many with private baths, smoking and lounging rooms, dining salons and handsome officers' quarters, all of which drew loud praise from the passengers.

The vessel will go to Honolulu, stopping at Havana, Panama Canal ports and San Francisco. The round trip will be made in 70 days.

The Golden State was constructed at Camden, N. J., by the New York Shipbiuding Co. Like the Hawkeye State, the Gold state is elaborately equipped and carries a record passenger list and will cover the same route as the Baltimore-built boat.

MENTAL ABILITY SAME AS TWENTY CENTURIES AGO

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 26.—Human intelligence has increased little during the past 2,000 years, according to Dr. William H. Burnham, professor of pedagogy and school of Hygiene at Clark university.

Ability to do things, the psychologist acknowledges, has advanced enormously and this is responsible for the many improvements.

But fundamentally he believes we are no further along than the people were in ancient Athns.

Correction of this stagnation. Professor Burnham believes, lies with the proper training of children.

"Many children are hopeless morons from birth," he said," but a much larger number have their mental development retarded because of misunderstanding by parents or teachers. If we should change that condition the improvement of the child's intellect would be easy."

He advocates more rigid mental tests for immigrants.

Exchange Rate Hurts Trading By Britishers

Record News Staff Bureau.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—"Britain's hope of restoring trade lies not in reducing wages, but in restoring the purchasing power of the nations on the continent who made up her former market," declared Arthur Henderson, secretary of the British labor party, who is directing a campaign in parliament for relief of the unemployment.

"Not the rates of wages, but the rate of exchange between this country and the continent is the principal cause of the decline in foreign trade. The chief factor is not that Britain manufacturers are being undersold by those of other countries, but that the purchasing power of continental nations had been prostrated by the war, and later, by the artificial economic conditions created by the peace treaties.

"Attempts are now being made to bring about wage reductions. Efforts to lower the standard of living will be resisted by every means at the command of organized labor. Reduction of wages would hurt home markets and it would have no effect on sales in our foreign market.

"Neither before nor since the armistice has the government had a real policy for dealing with the situation, and it has never had a real method of preventing depression of trade. The many strands of foreign trade remain as they were snapped by the war. There is chaos where, after two years of peace, there should be order.

"We are trying to compel the government to face the issue. Until the impoverished nations of Europe are able to re-start their industrial life the foreign trade of England and of the world will continue to be seriously restricted. This is the basic cause of the world unemployment crisis.

"The labor party is endeavoring to convince the government that it cannot longer be allowed to shirk its responsibility; the restoration of trade through the revival of industry on the continent."

The golden rod is the state flower of New York.

Morning Matinee For Kiddies Will Be Provided Here

Wichita Falls kiddies are soon to enjoy an institution which has for some time made Saturday a bright spot in the lives of youngsters in various of the larger cities of Texas and throughout the country, a Saturday morning "Children's Matinee," according to the plans now being worked out by Mrs. A. H. Britain, chairman of the extension department of the Wichita Falls Federation of Women's clubs, with the co-operation of local theater managers.

A definit announcement as to the theater in which the matinees will be given, and the date of opening is expected to be made in a short time.

At these matinees pictures that are made especially for children will be shown, following the plan of the mothers councils and federated clubs throughout the country.

Film manufacturers have been interested by the movement to such an extent that they are putting out special films with an appeal to the children. Fairy stories, and the best loved of the children's books are reproduced, the purpose of the pictures being to furnish children entertaining pictures, with the most wholesome story possible.

The cities that are already enjoying these Saturday morning children's movies have found that they are entirely worth while and that the children are entirely content to refrain from movie going during the week, satisfied that they will have a real treat when Saturday comes.

Authoritative reports from the Yukon territory, Canada, indicate the location of marvelously rich silver deposits in the Mayo district, about 150 miles east of Dawson, says the Popular Mechanics magazine. A few veins, eight feet in thickness, assaying 5,000 to 14,000 ounces of the metal to the ton, are begin worked. Five-foot veins are common, and smaller lodes, with an assay of 200 ounces, said to be plentiful. At present, transportation and living conditions in the district are very bad.

THE PEACEFUL GENERAL AND BELLICOSE POLITICIANS

A recent occurrence in congress reveals the United States as a country of curious contradictions. An American general spoke before the house committee in favor of disarmament.

It sounds peculiar to hear such old warrior as Major-General Tasker H. Bliss, formerly member of the supreme war council in Paris, say that the present form of civilization cannot stand any longer the continuous piling up of armaments. The war has undermined the world, and another war would ruin the forces of civilization entirely. It seems peculiar to us because we usually hear different things from generals. Usually the politicians are endeavoring to force the generals to disarm, but this time a general is persuading the politicians to do it.

The secretary of war and the general both speak in favor of disarmament, but the senators and congressmen do not move. Not long ago, Senator Borah offered a resolution authorizing the president of the United States to notify the governments of Great Britain and of Japan that the government of the United States is ready to take up with them the question of disarmament with a view to arriving at an understanding to reduce it during the next five years to 50 per cent. Such a reduction of armament would save $1,500,000,000 for American tax payers without weakening the military power of the United States (because Great Britain and Japan would do the same), but nothing has been done although the governments of Great Britain and Japan expressed their willingness to consider the proposal.

As a result of this attitude of the senators and congressmen towards disarmament, the population of the United States, with millions of unemployed workingmen, have to suffer from war-taxation, and we will probably have to wait for the lower taxes and reduction of expenses on our army and navy as long as we will have to wait for the peace with Germany.—Svoboda (Ukrainian, Ind.,) Jersey City, N. J.

NOT WHAT THE HOUSE WANTED.

To the certain chagrin of the house, president Wilson has promptly replied that he will send it the itemized statement, called for by resolution, of expenditures from the two national defense funds. The least he could have done, out of consideration for the republicans who engineered the move, was to refuse to render an accounting, or to offer a report under pledge of secrecy. Of course, if he furnishes the information the house does not want it.

The president had made a previous accounting last year. The object of the Gould resolution was not to obtain fuller details, but to insult him in the last days of his administration. There are barely two weeks left for this kind of partisan diversion, and any pretext is good enough for a fresh exhibiton of malice. It is an occupation suited to the average small politician in congress who finds debates on such minor matters as the annual appropriation bills tedious and unprofitable. — New York World (Dem.)

Somebody proclaims the discovery that a fountain pen will hold just one drink. Now, or never, should genius bend itself to the task of making a pen that won't leak.—Kansas City Star.

WHY NOT A SPECIAL MONUMENT IN WASHINGTON?

Somewhat tardily we are to offer a national honor to the American soldiers who sleep unidentified in the soil of France by th burial of one of them in or near Washington. France and Great Britain have already paid a similar tribute to their unknown dead, but though we have been slow in giving adequate expression to a thought which appears to everyone, there is no reason why we should not make the beautiful idea our own. Who suggested it makes very little difference. The suggestion probably originated in human hearts long ago, and the classical scholar could cite more than one example of ancient symbolism in which abstract virtue and heroism were glorified in monumental marble.

St. Paul saw in Athens an altar inscribed to the "Unknown God"—to a divinity whose mysterious attributes called for awe and worship. A national altar to the nameless heroes who symbolize the highest of human qualities may well be an object of inspiring reverence. Their fate has given them a sort of patriotic apotheosis. Blotted out of the records of their country, stripped of such compensations as come from a place in some contemporary memory, unknown even in the country for which they died, they have earned the right to the most splendid of pedestals. Over one of these nameless orphans of patriotism—whose parentage is lost, whose old home is undiscoverable, who is unknown to all but Heaven—we raise an altar to the noblest of human sacrifices—the impulse of all-absorbing love for others, the sacrifice which utterly obliterates self and personality and leaves behind only the pure flame of an unknown soul.

The memorial to our unknown dead should be erected neither in Arlington nor under the Capitol building in Washington. It symbolizes an idea that should be given separate and special expression at some public point in the national capital, where it will stand as a perpetual reminder of the beauty and glory of individual sacrifice, of the enduring honor which sometimes comes to the unknown soldiers of unselfish service, in peace as well as in war.—Baltimore Sun (Ind. Dem.)

NAILED!

It has required no very long time to nail the falsehood industriously circulated by men who still persist in hating President Wilson, to the effect that he, the president, had while at the Versailles conference promised that the United States would cancel the debt owed her by the allies.

Washington officials who best know the circumstances united in declaring that at no time did Mr. Wilson ever look favorably upon the plan of wiping out the debts, and does not today. As a matter of cold fact, all the correspondence between the British chancellor of the exchequer and the secretary of the treasury of the United States goes to show that this government has steadily refused to entertain the proposition.

Furthermore we are told in a dispatch from St. Augustine that Thomas W. Lamont, who acted as financial advisor to the Americans at the peace conference, told President-elect Harding that President Wilson made no commitments, direct or remote at Versailles, regarding cancellation of allied debts.

But the most conclusive proof of all is the fact that the president has in no way, shape or manner even hinted to congress that cancellation of the loans would be advisable. The country knows by this time that if Woodrow Wilson wanted a thing done, he was certainly not backward in making that desire known—Boston Post (Ind. Dem.)

Editorial Digest

WAR DEBTS AND ALTRUISM.

"There is a touch of humor" says the Spokane Spokesman-Review (Ind. Rep.) "in the British suggestion that the United States join in a general writing off of all interallied loans," and while the rest of the American press may not consider the proposition a laughing matter it certainly has refused to take it seriously. A few writers make the suggestion, however, that America agree to wipe the slate clean if the foreign powers agree to disarmament. Although some grant the British argument that John Bull's plan is really based upon altruism, since he owes less than is owed to him, most editors call attention to the fact that many of the debts to Britain, like that of Russia, are "bad" anyhow, while others point out that the allies are pretty well loaded down with the "spoils of war" in which the United States did not share.

No practical statesman would dare to support a policy of cancellation "as matters now stand," declares the Rochester Times Union (Ind.) but the time may come when it might be "good business to recognize the inability of Europe to meet its obligations," in which case there should be "concessions from the other side," such as a willingness "to disarm and keep the peace." The New Haven Journal Courier (Ind.) speaks with even more emphasis: "There is no reason in the world," it believes, to cancel the debts as an act of charity but there is "every sound reason in the world why we should do so" if our credits "will pool the resultant power in advancing the world to a basis of avowed peace co-operation by means of disarmament." At present, however, the Baltimore Sun (Ind. Dem.) thinks the situation demands that:

"The United States should not offer to cancel these debts unless it can secure certain guarantees from the debtor nations and it is not in a position to exact those guarantees."

The Port Huron (Mich.) Times Herald (Ind.), one of those who believe that Great Britain, under the arrangement projected, "would give up nearly twice as much as she owes this country" considers that though we are "still too near the war" now, "possibly, a few years hence, this nation will look with greater favor on forgiveness of indebtedness." The Johnstown Democrat (Dem.), like most of its contemporaries, disagrees with this view. "Britain's magnanimity is proverbial," it remarks, "but Mr. Chamberlain omitted the advantages which Britain was prepared to forego. There is an impression abroad that she fared rather well in the division of spoils." Looking at it from this angle, the Springfield Republican (Ind.) ventures the assertion that "America is pretty well skinned" already, said:

"Britain's crop is gorged with former German territory in Africa and the Pacific, while her jurisdiction has been much extended in Asia Minor. She has oil-blessed Mesopotamia. Persia is virtually under her control. France has likewise enormously extended her colonial empire, and so has Italy. America has nothing; she cannot even lay claim to the little island of Yap."

Since we asked for and got nothing "in the way of territory or reparations" there seems to be "no good reason why the United States should consent to a cancellation of the debts of its allies" in the opinion of the Bangor (Me.) Commercial (Ind.) and the Ann Arbor (Mich.) Times-News (Ind.) declares that "our debtors might just as well understand now that the debts will never be cancelled." The Knoxville Sentinel (Ind. Dem.) reflects a popular view when it remarks that "the American taxpayer is a patient and long-suffering animal but we fancy he would develop a disposition to buck up to some purpose against a proposition to add ten million to the burden already on his back." The Wichita Beacon (Ind.) sees in the "rich tracts of territory" and "protectorates" in oil and mineral bearing countries sufficient argument against the plea that America is under such moral obligation to her former allies and the Omaha News (Ind.) considers that Great Britain and Italy "have won vast acquisitions far outbalancing their financial losses."

COURTSHIP ENDS IN POLICE COURT

Record News Staff Bureau.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Feb. 26.—It don't pay to trifle with women, even if the women may trifle with the men Here's the proof. Emanuel Layman went out now and then with Miss Lela Tucker. He decied he was her steady fellow until he was jolted by the announcement of her forthcoming marriage to another man. This upset Layman, and, meeting Miss Tucker on the street, he beat her up. She was unconscious five hours, she says. Then she got revenge by telling the police that Layman was a liquor law violator. His home was raided and forty quarts of liquor secured. Layman is now held on two charges—assault and battery and violating the prohibition law.

I never make up my mind about a public proposition until I hear what Henry Ford thinks about it.

I never saw a man's wig that looked like real hair.

I don't think I am getting more than I earn. If I did, I wouldn't be getting it.

I have given up the habit of knocking people I don't like. It took me years to find out that it didn't do any good.

I don't admire a man who regularly washes the dishes, and I don't know any woman who admires one, either.

I have read the doings of the smart set for years and am still satisfied not to belong to it.

I have worn soft collars for years, but have never been able to explain any good reason for them.

I have never yet received a good assortment of linen from the laundry. Either the bundle is all shirts, all collars or all handkerchiefs.

I never eat eggs. When they are expensive I can't afford them and when they are cheap I don't care for them.

Out in Kansas they have a plan to make all bachelors identify themselves by wearing red neckties. But that seems superfluous. It is possible to identify all married men now by the neckties their wives pick out.

There seems to be a lot of prodigies running around loose. Every once in a while we hear of a kid 3 years old who is in his second year at Harvard and has all the mathematicians guessing; another child of 5 who has the brain of a man of 47; another infant recently out of diapers who can beat sixty of the world's champion chess players at one time; a kid of 6 who has the astronomical eye of a man of 61 and who has discovered three or four new stars; a young bird of 12 who has invented a self-starting mop-wringer that has all the scientists in the world mystified, and the child of 4 who can add up ten columns of figures at one time without using a slate pencil. But we seldom hear of the wise birds in politics who are 40 or 50 years old and have the minds of children of 6. It would be interesting to have the scientists figure out some of these cases.

Several "spring drives" are being planned by European powers. In the meantime the spring plowing can wait. But here it will go on as usual, and in the autumn we will get the usual howl from Europe for food.

A MEMORY.

C. C. Bradner tells us the following appeared in the Detroit Journal twenty years ago:

"Ground was broken yesterday for the addition to the plant of the Schonotte Manufacturing company, producers of petticoats and cotton hose. The addition will be nine stories high, 563x984 feet. The concern is three months behind on orders."

DINNER STORIES

"Listen!" commanded the arch-conspirator. "There is one point of the utmost importance in carrying out this crime—It must be done some place where there is not the slightest danger of interference."

"Yes," hissed the gang.

"We gotta be sure there's no chance of the cops getting a line on the murder," continued the chief plotter.

"Yes," hissed the gang.

"I've got it!" snapped the leader. "The very place. A nice, safe spot we can reach in a few seconds, where we can murder this guy and not get a peep outa a soul."

"Where?" demanded the gang.

"Broadway and Forty-second street," was the answer.

A temperance lecturer displayed to his audience two geraniums. The first had been watered in the usual way. The other had been dosed with alcohol and its foliage was shriveled and sparse, its stem twisted and its vitality decayed.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen," cried the lecturer, "what can you say to a demonstration like that?"

"It's all right, and if I were a geranium," said a shabby man at the back of the hall, "I'd stick to water—but, you see, I'm not a geranium."

"Wud yer luk at thot!" exclaimed Mrs. Brady, with indigation, in passing a neighbor's house and reading the sign, "Washing and Ironing Done."

"Shure, she ain't wan bit better than Oi am. Oi've got me washin' and ironin' done, too, but yez don t see me hangin' out no signs braggin' about ut."

Montana May Increase Tax On Bachelors

Record News Staff Bureau.

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 26.—Montana's bachelor maids and men are in a dilemma.

They are caught by the tax collector if they stay single and they must pay the piper more for the Lohengrin march if they trot in double harness, according to the array of new measures which have been introduced in the present session of the legislature. In addition the state is seeking greater revenue, and two new poll tax laws have been introduced for the single folks especially, while another solon has trotted out a bill which boosts the ante for marriage licenses from $2 to $5.

One proposed poll tax increases the annual fee from $2 to $6 for all males not supporting others, the $4 increase over the present law to go into the county widows' pension funds.

Another proposes a tax of $10 for every man and woman who is unmarried, not supported by another and is between the ages of twenty-one and fifty years. The proceeds are to be divided three ways—the state to receive 60 percent as revenue, and the counties to get 20 percent for widows' pension funds and 20 percent for the counties' poor funds.

The latter tax is to be collected by the county assessor at any time in the year, and he is to remit to the state treasurer every quarter. He is permitted to sell property to collect the tax on three hours' verbal notice and also holds all corporations liable for the tax from their employes. In addition, to make collections easy, it may be collected from the debtors of unwilling taxpayers and taken off the amount due.

CORRECT WEARING FOR WOMEN
INDIANA AVENUE AT TENTH STREET

MERE MAN'S WARDROBE COSTS AROUND $700 FOR COMPLETION

Men, have you a correct wardrobe in your home? To be outfitted with all of the essential clothes and equipage of a perfectly suited, hatted, footed gentleman you must have necessarily spent quite a good deal of money, not $2,000 as one of the heads of the national association of tailors has estimated, but something around $700. This price is the nearest figure taking the amount of clothes and other essentials that stamp a man, according to customs prevailing in this city, as correctly dressed. Of course in larger sities like New York and Chicago the correctly dressed man must have a more pretentious wardrobe and consequently a more expensive one but local clothing men and haberdashers agree that a man can be up to the minute in matters pertaining to dress and not spend over $700 on his original outfit.

According to a local authority on men's dress, men are not as fastidious as formerly and are making their old clothes go much farther than in days gone by. This is not due to the temporary tightness of cash and depression entirely. It is thought by some to be the effect of military life in that the sameness of dress seen in the uniform has made the men careless in matters of clothing. Not that they are accused of being slovenly but there is less striving for the honor of being the best dressed man in town. The old adage that "clothes make the man" seems to have fallen in disfavor temporarily at least.

But to get back to the correct wardrobe and the cost of same. In the enumeration of what goes to make up a complete outfit it follows that the first item to be considered is evening dress. Next he must have business suits, outing suits or golf suit, dinner coat, underwear, shirts and other necessary though hidden articles of wear. And he must be well provided for in the line of headwear, a couple of soft hats, a cap, silk hat, derby and maybe a tweed cloth hat. And shirts, collars, ties, etc.

For evening wear the following articles are considered essential: Dress suit, $100; tuxedo coat, $50; dress shirts, $8.50; dress collars, ties and vests, $30; silk muffler, $10; silk hat, $15; derby, $15; dress shoes, $20; one top coat, $45.

No man would go down to his work in "soup and fish" unless he were a movie actor, so the correctly dressed man must have at least two business suits. A conservative estimate for these two suits would be $100 with the other parts of his dress as follows: Two pair of shoes, $30; half dozen pair socks, $12; half dozen shirts, $25; half dozen suits of underwear, $15; two hats, $20; one cap, $2.50; half dozen neckties, $10; two silk shirts, $20. With an outfit like this the man would not be extravagantly dressed just with conservative good taste. Any elaboration of this program would put him in the class with stenographers who come down to "work" with sealskin coats, expensive hand-tailored coat suits or "Lucile" creations in evening wear, and the tea wagon would be more appropriate than the adding machine in offices decorated in this manner.

Every red-blooded American loves sports and devotes some part of his leisure time to the pursuit of such. Golf is becoming more popular here therefore the correctly dressed must have a golf outfit in his wardrobe. As he must have a khaki hunting suit with boots to match. A bathing suit, possibly a tennis outfit with duck trousers. It can be seen that the man's wardrobe can be constantly augmented as his needs justify and no attempt has been made to say the last word on the matter. A golf or outing suit would probably tax him $50; golf hose, $5; shoes $12.50; flannel or woven silk shirt, $5; and so on. A hunting suit would no doubt come to $40, including boots. Then of course the bathing suit has to be accounted for that would be $7.50 more.

We almost neglected some very essential parts of the well dressed man's outfit. A bathrobe costing $12.50; house slippers at $5; two suits of pajamas, $10, and of course a travelling bag, $35, and a dozen or so handkerchiefs, $3. There are several small items that have not been mentioned in the above discourse, whether for lack of space or information is not known right now. But one thing remains if any man has the above outfit he can be assured he can "get by" at any social or business affair that will be given in Wichita Falls.

But probably the most important fact about the wardrobe is that like a phonograph, "it's not so much the original expense, its the upkeep that costs."

Civic League Department to Begin Studies

Friday, March 11, has been set as the date of the first meeting of the study department of the Civic league, recently created and the charter of the city of Wichita Falls will be studied at this initial meeting from 9 to 11:30 p. m. at the Kemp library. Plans for this organization of the department and the program of study were perfected at a meeting this past week of the committee, headed by Mrs. D. O. Long as chairman.

A cordial invitation is extended to every woman in Wichita Falls who is interested in matters of civic importance in the city, state and nation. Meetings will be held twice each month, on the second and fourth Fridays. There will be no fee charged.

This department, which is officially named "Good Citizenship Study Department of the Civic League," has already acted on the matter of a bill before the present legislature, senate bill No. 178, dealing with school appropriations. A wire was sent to Senator Bledsoe urging his vote and his support.

Mrs. Long announces the appointment of the legislation committee, the duty of which shall be to keep in touch with the state legislature and to work for such measures as they feel should be supported, and against those that are considered undesirable.

The committee includes: Mesdames W. W. Cooke, John C. Key, M. A. Beckman, S. L.C onn, Chas. W. Wallace, John W. Naylor, Richard Bailey, Fred Loomis, A. B. Lipscomb, Guy Davis, H. H. Markey, R. T. Evans, Virginia Fine, T. R. Broonson, F. H. Whaley, C. J. Coffey and D. O. Long.

The department has been fortunate in securing daily copies of both the senate and house journals, it is announced, this giving them first hand information on the proceedings in the state legislature. Other sources of information to cover all details of government and legislation in which the women will be interested are being arranged for.

Each meeting of the study department will be featured by a general discussion of current political events, in the form of a roll call, the chairman announces. In this manner each woman enrolling for study will be expected to contribute her share of news and to participate in the discussion.

Every program will be arranged with the idea of keeping pace with the civic affairs of the city and state, as well as national. It will be handled from a strictly civic standpoint, not political. It is planned to take up the study of state civics in class work and also to make a study of laws that particularly affect women and children, laws to better the educational system and tax laws. These subjects are scheduled for immediate study. The program of work for the department calls for a continued and comprehensive study of all kinds of legislation.

The program for the first meeting will be announced later.

CHICAGO OPERA COMPANY WILL SING IN DALLAS

DALLAS, Feb. 26.—The coming of the Chicago Opera association to Dallas this spring should not only prove the musical event of the season, but also go to prove what this wonderful organization is attempting to do in the way developing the highest form of musical art throughout the United States. While it is true that there are several small opera companies in the country that tour the smaller cities and, on many occasions, play a week or two engagement in the larger musical centers, to have an organization such as the Chicago Opera association in our midst, bringing with it such world famous artists as Rosa Raisa, Mary Garden, Lucien Muratore, Alessandro Bonci, Frieda Hompel, Cyrena Van Gorden, Edward Johnson, Forrest Lemont, Giaccomo Rimini, Carlo Galeniffi, Georges Bakanoff, Constantin Nicolay and other well known singers and presenting such stupendous operas as "Monna Vanna," "Lohengrin," "Carmen" and "Traviata," should make the occasion a gala event in every way.

The Chicago Opera association stands second to none. Europe or South America has no musical organization that presents a more complete list of singing celebrities, and no opera company in existence gives its subscribers and patrons more novelties. The annual tour to New York is always awaited there with the profoundest interest and the vast audiences that nightly crowd the Manhattan opera house during the six weeks stay, is another proof of the completeness and standard of this organization. In bringing the Chicago Opera association to this city, General Director Mary Garden in no manner cuts down on her cast of principals, chorus and ballet. Each opera is staged in the same manner as presented at the Auditorium theater in Chicago and the cast is precisely the same. This only goes to show that Miss Garden gives her admirers from other cities the same sort of productions she gives in Chicago.

American Army Supplies Bring Loss to France

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Favoritism, red tape and inefficiency are likely to cost the French government much money and trouble in the liquidation of American war stores which France bought from the A. E. F. after the armistice, according to Deputy Charles Vavasseur, official recorder on the parliamentary commission inquiring into what has become known as "the stock scandals."

Deputy Vavasseur's principal role is to find out who is mainly responsible for the huge losses France will incur in the liquidation of these stocks and also as to how sales were effected and how the stocks were taken over and guarded. He already has many striking examples of French red tape and inefficiency to relate. He, however, finds his task extremely difficult, for he states that various government departments are "passing the buck." from one to another. Indirectly he believes the American army authorities are in part to blame; firstly, it is stated, because they continued to dispose of their stocks after having sold them to France, and secondly, because some of the goods were shipped back to merica. Information which M. Vavasseur has received tends to show that 2,000 cars which should have been left in France were sent back to America. In this connection, however, he points out that the stocks were bought on April 15 and the liquidation department only took charge of them in August. When this was done icompetent persons were placed in command of the camps, he alleges. At one place a poet had charge and he began his new duties by giving beautiful poetic names to his typists. He sold goods right and left at any price, and M. Vavasseur says he lost France many millions. The recorder estimates that France will face a large deficit on the American stock transactions.

Montana Oil Company Test To Commence

Unless bad weather again interferes, the test of the Montana Oil & Gas Co., on the J. D. Avis ranch, two and a half miles southeast of the East Wichita No. 1 Honaker will start drilling early this coming week.

The derrick has been completed over a week and the driller, John Wall, has had part of his rig moved on. The heavy snow made the transportation of the rig materials very difficult, some of the trucks sticking in the fields and for this reason rigging up has been delayed.

"PRICE OF POSSESSION" AT THE EMPRESS

Presenting an unusually dramatic and appealing story, "The Price of Possession," a Paramount picture starring Ethel Clayton, will be shown at the Empress theater Monday and Tuesday.

The story deals with a young woman whose husband, a bush rider in Australia, meets a mysterious death. She finds some papers which seem to prove that the husband is heir to a vast English estate, and the widow goes to England and showing her proof is awarded the estate. But the real heir appears and it is only after several stirring developments that the widow comes to a realization of the truth. She is about to give up the estate when the real heir avows his love and both are happy.

Miss Clayton is delightful as the widow, while Rockcliffe Fellowes, who played the roles of the bush rider and heir, amply proves his versatility as leading man. The picture is an excellent one. The support readered by Maude Turner Gordon and Reginald Denny is artistic.

"THE PASSIONATE PILGRIM" AT OLYMPIC

Matt Moore and Rubye de Remer, two of the best known players of the screen, have the leading role in the Cosmopolitan production for Paramount, "The Passionate Pilgrim," which will be shown at the Olympic theater next Monday and Tuesday. The support generally is one of unusual excellence and their portrayals add much to the enjoyableness of the picture.

The story deals with a novelist whose career is ruined through a murder committed by his mother-in-law and who later finds happiess and love after many thrilling incidents have transpired. Rubye de Remer, an invalid heiress, plays an important part in his life's work. The story is based on Samuel Merwin's famous novel and the picture was personally directed by Robert G. Vignola with artistic results.

Eight Victor Artists Will Play Tuesday

Monroe Silver, monologist, with the eight Victor artists who play the Palace theater Tuesday.

The eight Victor artists, who play the Palace theater Tuesday night, March 1, are considered one of the most popular road show attractions en tour in America at present.

This attraction is a vaudeville show par excellence and every artist a star. All are known the country over by the phonograph records which they have produced. Everyone knows Billy Murray, singer of popular songs, and Monroe Silver, the monologist is almost as well known because of his famous "Cohen at the Telephone," and other comedy monologues. The Peerless Quartet and the American Trio are equally popular.

The program for the eight Victor artists Tuesday night will be as follows:

Part 1.

Opening chorus, (words and music by Ray Perkins—Entire company.

Baritone and bass duet, "Not in a Thousand Years"—John Meyer and Frank Croxton.

Cohen stories and songs, selected—Monroe Silver.

Sterling trio, "Just Like a Gypsy"—Campbell, Burr and Meyer.

Banjo solo, "Down South"—Fred Van Eps.

Tenor solo, "Blue Diamonds"—Henry Burr.

STRANGE WRITING ON COLLEGE WALL

Record News Staff Bureau.

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 26.—"Women's Christian Temperance union, no beer, no work; we we want whiskey."

This sign on the highest gable of University hall greeted early class-goers at Northwestern University. The authorities believe the sign was hung by initiates of one of the college fraternities.

Flies have intense hatred for the color blue, according to a French scientist. Rooms decorated in blue will, he says, help to keep out flies. A room sweetly perfumed and decorated with blue as the prevailing motif, is sure to drive flies away or unhinge their reason. Flies do not like oil of lavender, so that if equal quantities of the oil and water are put in a common glass atomizer and sprayed around rooms where flies are they will disappear, according to an authoritative statement. Geranium, heliotrope, mignonette and white clover are also offensive to flies, and they especially dislike the odor of honeysuckle and hop blossoms.

For the first time in the history of Literature-Drama or Movie—a heroine is sensible enough to refuse to go to somebody's room. How Startling, but you should see Rupert Hughes' famous story

At the Gem Theatre—Monday

TEXAS GIRL IN SPLENDID FILM

Jack Holt, who plays the leading male role in "All Souls' Eve," the new Mary Miles Minter picture, which will open Monday at the Majestic theater, is a man with an unusually interesting personal history.

In the first place he was born in the historic Marshall mansion in Virginia from which Sheridan made his historic ride "to Winchester 20 miles away." His grandfather was Colonel Tom Marshall of the seventh Virginia cavalry, while included in the list of his ancestors one finds the name of the famous chief justice who did so much for the struggling young republic.

Perhaps it was in the blood that young Jack should have followed paths of adventures. For he was just a youngster when he went to Alaska with an exploration company. There for several years he carried mail for the government and freighted for the road commission. After five years of life in the frozen north he returned to America and settled down on an Oregon cattle ranch.

It was his ability as a horseman, gained from his life as a cowpuncher, that gained Mr. Holt his first part in a motion picture, a production entitled, "Salome Jane."

The "d" in the phrase pounds, shilling and pence is derived from the Latin denarius, a "penny."

INDIANS KIDNAP AMERICAN OVER MEXICAN BORDER

In the making of the Triangle play, "The Lamb," which will be shown at the Wichita Monday and Tuesday, the director was very grateful that the star was Douglas Fairbanks, rather than some other actor, particularly wherein a band of Yaqui Indians was employed. The Indians were necessitated by the story and were expected to attack Fairbanks while he defended himself with a machine gun.

Now in the picture realm, it is a well known fact that Indians, when employed as actors, will do precisely what they are told and nothing more or less. Generally speaking, this is a decidedly exasperating thing for any director to combat and this instance proved no exception to the rule.

FRENCH INVENT FLIVVER WITH AIR PROPELLER

Record News Staff Bureau.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—A light car which derives its motive power from an 8 horse-power engine, driving a propeller, is the invention of Marcel Levat, a French airman.

The "Helica" is built with a stream line body, something like that of an aeroplane. Driver and one passenger sit side by side and are well sheltered from the draught of the propeller.

The engine is an eight horse-power, two-cylinder, air-cooled, and enables the "Helica" to attain a speed of 50 miles per hour while the gas consumption is well over 70 miles per gallon. The propeller, the diameter of which is less than that of the car, is protected by a framework so that careless people will not blunder into it when it is revolving.

By means of this method all gear change is done away with, extra power for gradients being obtained by opening the throttle and so gaining more propeller power.

The car has already been tried on the streets of Paris.

An American motion picture actress recently received a wonderful collection of butterflies from a Japanese admirer of her screen work.

HUGHES STORY IS FILMED FOR SIDNEY OLCOTT

Sidney Olcott has been directing motion picture plays for a good many years and has been up against some difficult problems but never anything like the one he encountered in "Scratch My Back," the new Rupert Hughes story, a Goldwyn Eminent Authors' production, which comes to the Gem theater Monday. Mr. Olcott had to get several feet of film showing a cat scratching his back. It was a puzzler.

Old Tom, the studio cat, was drafted for the job and didn't like it. There was no reason why he should scratch at that time and pleading was of no use. All the tricks that he director, assistant director, players, cameraman and everyone who saw the operation could think of were tried unsuccessfully. Tom wouldn't scratch. They even put a rubber band around one of his legs but he just pawed it off.

Then they let him alone and waited. The minutes passed. Tom wasn't itchy. There was nothing to scratch for. Then just as everyone gave it up and the cameraman turned away in disgust Tom very carefully and negligently scratched just as he was wanted to. But it was a short scratch and before the cameraman could get in his work Tom was quite comfortable again.

After that there was a postponement of the scene. It was tried another day. Director Olcot told the cameraman to wait all day if it was necessary, adding: "He's got to scratch sometime."

So the cameraman waited for the urge to come to Tom and no one had the heart to figure how long he waited. Finally, however, Tom apparently realized that something was expected of him and that he might as well get it over with, so he did his part like a good actor and the scratching process was recorded. Mr. Olcott, after seeing the scene on the screen, said it was well worth waiting for.

Gompers Urges Labor Alliance With Churches

Record News Staff Bureau

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Consideration of the industrial situation with reference to the establishing of vital contacts between the churches of America and the industrial world occupied the opening session here today of a two-day conference of religious and labor leaders from all over the United States, meeting under the auspices of the Church Federation of Chicago.

Bishop Samuel Fallows, Earl A. Eubanks, president of the Y. M. C. A., of Chicago; Dr. Graham Taylor of the Chicago commons, etc., were prominent among those present.

The relation of the church to the industrial world, and the part which must be played by the former in ameliorating labor conditions, particularly during the present period of industrial depression were subjects of addresses by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and other labor leaders of national importance. John Fitzpatrick and other officials of the Chicago Federation also addressed the conference.

Calls Our Age Vulgar, Cheap And Immodest

Record News Staff Bureau.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—"The age is brash, brazen, cheap, uncivil. We are fresh, vulgar, immodest, common. We can't help being fresh. We like being just a little immodest, and we mean to go on being common."

This is the estimate of "A Mannerless Age" as voiced by Rev. Dr. C. R. Havighurst, pastor of the First M. E. church here.

"There are so many propagators of vulgarity in taste and manners all around us that it is almost impossible not to catch it," continued Rev. Dr. Havighurst.

"The very air is full of the germ. Those whose material prosperity has suddenly overtaken them are especially susceptible. Just now the influences dominantly current in America are: Cheap movies, jazz, making touchdowns, kicking goal, good ball pitching, heavy batting, business success and political pull.

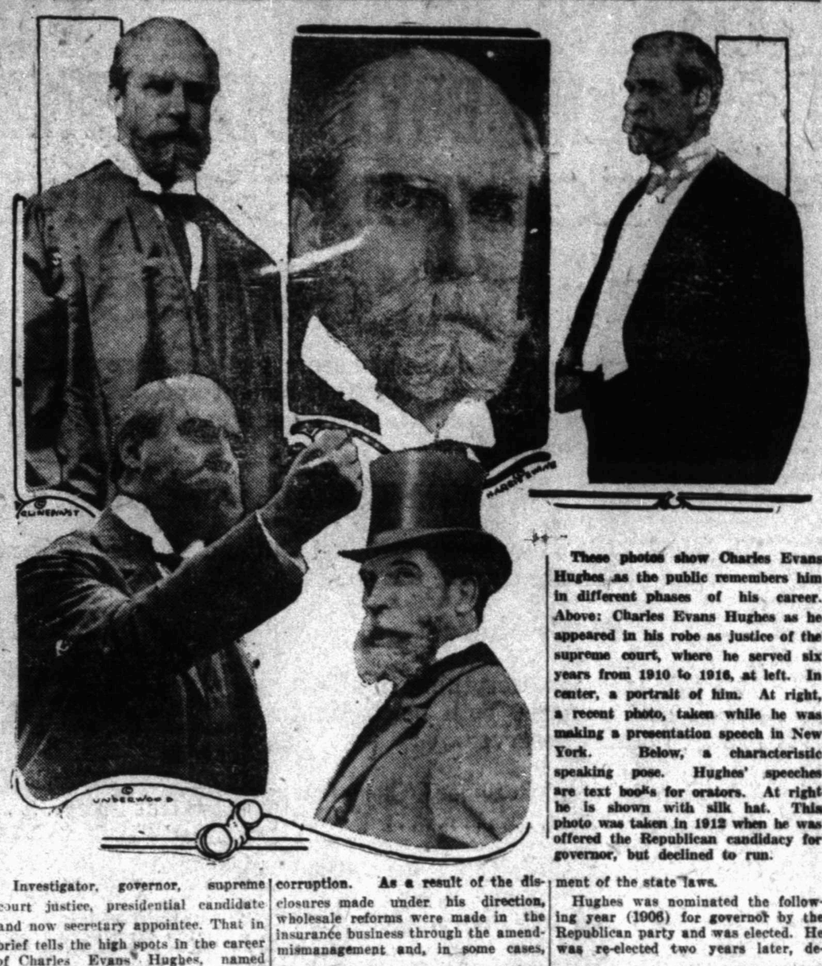

"And none of these seems to interfere seriously with our democratic determination to be common.

"The classics, the sources of real culture, have either gone to the top shelves of our bookcases or have been relegated to the attic, and the cheap magazine and the sterile, vulgar projection of the cinematograph have full swing and sway.

Whether an age of intelligent refinement and good manners is about to set in is difficult to tell. Culture is the finest flowering of the human spirit and it cannot be bought with, nor produced by, money. The 'smart set' is characteristic of the mannerless age. The golden opportunity to re-establish culture and good manners lies especially in the hands of fathers and mothers in the home."

The practice of the jury challenge, which has heretofore been seldom resorted to in the British courts, has become quite common since women were made eligible to jury service, many prisoners objecting to being tried by women.

CHARACTERISTIC POSES OF HUGHES

Those photos show Charles Evans Hughes as the public remembers him in different phases of his career. Above: Charles Evans Hughes as he appeared in his robe as justice of the supreme court, where he served six years from 1910 to 1916, at left. In center, a portrait of him. At right, a recent photo, taken while he was making a presentation speech in New York. Below, a characteristic speaking pose. Hughes' speeches are text books for orators. At right he is shown with silk hat. This photo was taken in 1912 when he was offered the Republican candidacy for governor, but declined to run.

Investigator, governor, supreme court justice, presidential candidate and now secretary appointee. That in brief tells the high spots in the career of Charles Evans Hughes, named head of the state department by President-elect Harding.

Hughes was born in Glen Falls, Warren county, N. Y., April 11, 1862. His father, David Charles Hughes, a Baptist minister, was a native of Wales, and his mother, Mary C. Connelly, a native of Delaware county, New York. The elder Hughes came to New York in 1855 and soon thereafter became a teacher of languages in West River Collegiate Institute, Maryland.

Later he was ordained a minister in the Baptist church and started his ministerial duties at Glen Falls.

Until he was 10 years old the mother of Charles had full charge of his education, after which he attended public school in Oswego, N. Y., Newark, N. J., and New York City. At the age of 13 he delivered the salutatory address when he was graduated from "Old 35" in New York City in June, 1875.

In his 14th year he entered Madison (now Colgate, college, Hamilton, N. Y., but changed to Brown university, Providence, R. I., two years later. At his graduation from Brown in the class of 1881 and was admitted to the bar two years later, but in 1891 his health failing, he became professor of law at Cornell.

Hughes first attracted public attention in 1905 by his brilliant work as special counsel for the legislative commission probing the gas and electric companies in New York City.

The ability shown by Hughes in this investigation led to his selection as counsel of the Armstrong investigation of the life insurance companies doing business in the state. In that capacity Hughes unraveled complicated situations and exposed corruption. As a result of the disclosures made under his direction, wholesale reforms were made in the insurance business through the amendmismanagement and, in some cases, ment of the state laws.

Hughes was nominated the following year (1906) for governor by the Republican party and was elected. He was re-elected two years later, despite the opposition of many organization leaders.

Among the measures urged by Hughes while governor was a bill to establish public service commissions, which was opposed by many politicians as destroying patronage. When opposed on this bill by a majority of the party in the legislature, Hughes appealed to the people and aroused such public sentiment in its favor that the bill was passed.

People Support His Campaign

Hughes also aroused resentment in his party for the vigor with which he attacked race track gambling. He again appealed to the people and succeeded in having anti-gambling laws enacted.

In 1908 the state Republican convention indorsed Hughes as a candidate for the presidency, but President Roosevelt's insistence upon William H. Taft as his successor destroyed his chance. Shortly before the expiration of his second term as governor he was appointed to the supreme court bench by President Taft.

Hughes was again mentioned for the presidency in 1912, but he refused to permit the use of his name. In 1916, however, he was nominated for president. He resigned his seat on the bench to make the campaign.

The election was so close that the result was not known for several days, the vote of California, which was cast for President Wilson, finally turning the scale.

After his defeat, Hughes returned to New York and resumed the practice of law. In 1918 President Wilson appointed him to conduct an investigation of the airplane situation. After a thorough inquiry, Hughes made a report, placing responsibility for the delays.

During the controversy over the league of nations, Hughes, although approving some of the purposes sought to be accomplished by the league, expressed opposition to Article 10 of the covenant and in reply to President Wilson once said that the league had a "bad heart."

During the last presidential campaign, Hughes supported President-elect Harding effectively, and his speeches were regarded as among the best made on the Republican side.

Hughes's family consists of his wife, two daughters and a son, Charles E. Hughes, Jr., who is a lawyer in New York City.

BRITISH PREMIER CLOSELY GUARDED WHILE IN PARIS

Record News Staff Bureau.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—In addition to the two Scotland Yard detectives Premier Lloyd George brought over with him from London for the Paris conference a dozen or so French detectives and police were told to watch and guard the British minister. Correspondents, as they entered the Hotel Crillon, headquarters of the British delegation and now famous as the haven of foreign diplomats, were carefully "looked over" and anyone carrying a small package or appearing to have bulky clothes was watched until he left the building.

Lloyd George, when he returned from the foreign office where he had been in conference with allied statesmen, was met at the door of his car, by the hotel manager and a French detective and hurriedly accompanied into the hotel and "shot" up the lift at express speed.

A lover of dogs, Premier George, after a conference, noticed a terrier in the hall of the Crillon and on his way to the lift made as if to stroke the animal. He was, however, gently persuaded to get into the lift and could only mutter, "That's a nice doggie."

The premier himself appeared not to relish the careful watch made about his person and seemed more at ease when able to look out of a window and realize the blessedness of being alone for a few minutes.

MEXICANS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF LAND GRANTS

Record News Staff Bureau.

ZACATECAS, Mex., Feb. 26.—Two hundred and ten applicants have been granted fractions of agricultural lands near Fresnillo, in this state. These fractions have been formed from the extensive haciendas known as Hacienda Grande, Bonon, Santa Cruz and Valdecenas. Forty more applications are pending from small farmers who will be located as soon as the surveys are completed.

Luis G. Anguilar, prominent attorney of Zacateca and owner of the Tayahua Ranch, has voluntarily given an extensive acreage of agricultural lands to be divided into fractions for colonization by small independent farmers.

The people are beginning to realize the government's firm intention of aiding those who wish to work independently in colonizing small tracts of lands taken from the large haciendas. The State of Zacatecas is far ahead in this move, but other states are taking up the same work.

TEXAS LEADS IN REFINERY NUMBER

Record News Staff Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Texas leads all states in the number of oil refineries in operation, the Bureau of Mines announced today. Texas has 70, Oklahoma is second with 68, Pennsylvania has 51 and California 43. The daily capacity of the Texas refineries now operating is 330,800 barrels; that of California refineries is 312,700; and of the Oklahoma refineries 312,700.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school at 10 a. m. We are exceedingly anxious to have as many as possible of our church membership and others who may desire to do so to come and attend Senior and Adult classes, and study with us the subject tomorrow's lesson. We will study "Rewards of Faithfulness." (1) Faithfulness is required. The Master ascends from Olivet. He is coming again. We have our task until he comes. (2) Faithfulness is expected. The Lord purchased his servants with his blood. He is entitled to their service. He counts on it. (3) Faithfulness is responsible. All the interests of Christ's kingdom on earth are in the hands of His servants. (4) Faithfulness is commensurate. Each of us can do something. There is a worthy task that exactly fits each for use. And what a field there is The talent was not for display but for use. Aid what a field there is for the investment of the consecrated talent. (6) Faithfulness is developing. The first man did not more than the second. Each multiplied his endowment by two. The man with one talent could have done the same. (7) Faithfulness is contrasted. The one-talented man failed not because of his meager endowment, not ignorance, nor lack of opportunity, nor extravagance but simply because he kept his Master's money in slothful disuse. (8) Faithfulness is accountable. It is ready for reckoning. When the Master comes, all of us must give an account of ourselves. (9) Faithfulness will be rewarded. The Master's approving smile, His gracious word, His loving promotion, His abounding joy—that is the sweetness of heaven when the hard day's work is over. (10) Faithfulness will be continued. Draw aside the veil that curtains off the larger life. We shall have greater responsibility and wider service hereafter. Our school is having a wonderful growth. Our enrollment is nearing the nine hundred mark. To be correct, we have eight hundred and sixty-five pupils. We have the largest organized class in the city. If you have not done so before it will be forth your while to visit our Primary and Junior departments. We are now headed for an enrollment of three thousand. Come join a big thing and help make it go.

Preaching at 11 o'clock by the pastor. Subject: "The Fundamentals of Prosperity." Evening service at 7:30 o'clock. Subject: "What Would We Have to do to Destroy Christianity?" We have a treat in store for us in the form of a duet to be sung by Mr. R. Vaughn Ray and Miss Edna Jones, at the morning service. At the evening service Mr. J. X. Martin will bring us a message in song. It will do you good to hear him. You are cordially invited to come and partake of the bread of life as the pastor shall break it to us, morning and evening.

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1921.

AUTO SHOW BEING ARRANGED

MORE THAN FIFTY STYLES AND CLASSES WILL BE EXHIBITED DURING SPRING EXPOSITION

Over 50 different makes of automobiles will be shown in the exhibits in the two-day automobile show which will be staged by the Automobile Dealers association in connection with the white way opening and style show, to be held March 11 on the three floors of the new Thom building at the corner of Scott and Seventh street.

All previous shows in the state will look like a window display of a second-hand dealer, if what the committee in charge says they are going to do, comes to pass.

Every effort will be made by the committee, consisting of W. J. Daugherty, chairman, Lloyd Weaver, G. C. Eckman, J. M. McFall and L. L. Dixon, to attract out of town visitors to the city and no expense will be spared to "put over" the affair "with a bang." The local dealers in many cases are also representatives for the entire district surrounding Wichita Falls and they are going to make sure that their sub-dealers are present at the show and bring as many of their customers as possible.

The first floor of the building, which is better fitted to accommodate a show of this nature than perhaps any other local structure by reason of size, accessibility and location, will be devoted exclusively to the displays of accessory dealers and the second and third floors to automobile dealers.

Each automobile dealer will be allowed to exhibit three cars only, due to lack of space. However, it is thought this will permit a more distinctive display as it will force the dealers to show only their newest models and most striking body designs.

Floor space will be allotted to each dealer at the next regular meeting which will be held Friday, March 4 at 7 p. m., at the Kemp hotel. Further plans outlined by the committee in charge will also be presented at this gathering. Seven new members were taken in at the meeting of the body this week. These new members are accessory men and will be represented at the automobile show.

Several interesting and pleasing features will be given in connection with the show in the form of music and favors for the women visitors.

CHIVALRY MUST BE ESSENTIAL IN MOTORISTS

In olden days a youth of noble blood mounted his horse and with another noble youth as esquire roved the highways of the world, seeking to rescue the weak, right the wrongs of the helpless and perform all the duties of knightly chivalry. They fared forth through Arcadian paths, and upheld by force of arms the ideals of their hearts.

The beginnings of the civilization of the 20th centrury lay in the ideals of these knights and esquires, the "riders" of the Teutonic and Anglo-Saxon lands, the "cavaliers" and "horsemen" of Latin Europe.

These were the "gentlemen" of their age, and their mantle of obligation has come down to the gentlemen of today. Their ideals and altruism, modified and softened by the centuries, build our code of etiquette that when practised, raises each man nowadays above the level of his fellows and wins him the title "gentlemen" and all may have "nobility" self-conferred.

And there are "riders" today—in America and all over the world, but they drive steel steeds here, there and everywhere. They are our men and women of wealth and position, they establish the standards of our manners and our chivalry. Our city's streets are becoming black with their ranks, that spin 9,000,000 strong on the roadways of America. A half million dollars and a few daring spirits in 1899 have waxed today to two billions of capital and countless leagues of folk who plan, make and minister to this newest and greatest force in molding our affairs, the motor car in all its types.

Message in the Mortorist.

This is a thought, a message and a plea to the knight motorist that he recall the obligations and ideals of his knightly prototypes of centuries long ago, when noble youths won their spurs and thought out and achieved high ideals. The motorist is the "rider" now, heir and scendant of the dim and misty cavalcades that people in memory the broad white roads to Paris.

The makers of cars and makers of tires have taken a supremely high attitude of service. The driver who buys a car is assured without even a thought of doubt that his interests will be cared for long after he has taken his car and paid for it, for a car is not successfully sold until the driver buys a second one. Four or five years ago, by an error, many thousand cars of a certain make were put in the hands of the drivers before a rear axle defect was discovered. These drivers were reached regardless of cost and each received not only a new rear axle, but its free assembly into the car.

The makers of tires produce today as never before the highest possible and increasing value in what they deliver the driver. The mileage mounts higher and higher. A "good tire" made for an expected 10,000 miles often give 30,000 miles of service.

Stupendous Growth of Industry.

Scrupulous honor, probity, generosity and all the high ideals of the days of knighthood have been brought into the giant productive industries that enable the motor car to transport each year in the United States the equivalent of carrying one driver 4,800,000,000 miles. Every 20 seconds the motor car transports a rider from Augusta to Los Angeles. Day and night this lonely motorist travels at the rate of 9,133 miles a minute. Each second of the year $1.20 in tires has to be made, transported, sold and fitted on a car.

With all this stupendous cumulative activity can the driver recognise his share of responsibility to other drivers and to the public? Can he maintain for this great industry the favor of the people? For it rests in his hands whether with the rapidly increasing road congestion he will continue to be treated with cordiality. Today many cities must have elaborate traffic and policing regulations and the traffic is growing.

The careless driver, the thoughtless driver, the driver who does not force himself to be a "knight" and "gentleman" will greatly increase the danger of motoring to the pedestrain, to other drivers, and to himself and jeopardize the privileges hitherto enjoyed.

Rules Are Very Simple.

What should a driver do? The rules are very simple:

Keep to the right of the road.

Slow down at crossings.

Signal for a stop or turn to the cars behind by holding out the left hand.

Apply brakes slowly. Change speed rates slowly. Drive carefully.

Be prepared to help any motorist in trouble on roads distant from garages.

Be prepared to give pedestrains "lifts" on country roads.

Stop car and engine when meeting drovers with sheep, swine or cattle on country roads.

Park at side of roads, leaving fair way.

When buying produce in the country, park alongside the road, not on the road.

When parking at night, leaving warning lights.

Have headlight dimmers and use them when meeting and passing other motorists at night.

When picknicking, carefully put out picnic fires.

When picknicking do not trespass to gather wild flowers, tree branches, blossoms, fruit or shrubs.

When picnicking, clean up thoroughly, removing from sight all cans, papers and rubbish.

Give all vehicles, especially loaded trucks, a good half of the road.

Take hills on the right side of the road. Go over the crest carefully. Avoid coasting or speeding around curves at foot of hills.

Be courteous to pedestrains. Do not drive your car at them full tilt, and laugh when they jump. Do not splash water on them as they stand at crossings or near curbs, waiting for you to pass.

Avoid street cars carefully at stops.

Learn to follow the local traffic rules, speed limits, and driving ordinances. These are made for the common good of all drivers including yourself, and of all pedestrains.

Drivers Should Be Chivalrous.

With these practices universally followed by drivers, motoring will maintain its safety, its freedom, its standing and its favorable acceptance b ythe community. Five years ago such suggestions as these were unnecessary. Today, when each 11th person owns a car, it is vitally necessary to have drivers recall the days of chivalry. Crowded and still more crowded streets and roads have produced a nation-wide problem whose simplest solution is a return to the courtesy of the days when knighthood flowered.

The automobile is too vital to the nation, too much a part of the blood and bone of the country's economic life to have its use curtailed through the failure of its users to follow the rules of simple courtesy and safety.

SPRING TIRE CARE

After driving in wet weather if the car owner is careful to sponge off the tires when he returns to the garage and then wipe them dry, especially along the beads, he will do much to prevent the formation of rust. This advice is particularly applicable during the spring months of frequent and copious rains.

DON'T FORGET

'Automotive Dealers' Dinner

Friday, March 4th.

Kemp Hotel, 7 p. m.

THE AUTOMOBILE.
By J. W. Atwood.

"The automobile is the realization of one of humanity's fondest dreams. It has given to the people the next best thing to a pair of WINGS. It has proven to the world that it costs more to walk than it does to ride!

The chief argument put forward against the motor car is the expense. It is a foolish argument. It doesn't hold water at all. A cash outlay ceases to be an expense when the benefits of USE are worth more than the price paid to bring them about.

There are always TWO sides to this matter of expense.

One is the expense of ownership.

The other is: The expense of getting along WITHOUT.

People who need a thing pay for it whether they buy it or not. They pay for it in forfeits. There are many people in the world who are downright extravagant by attempting to be too economical. They don't know how to figure profit and loss as applied to every day living. They don't stop to think of BOTH sides of the economy question.

The automobile helps a man to get the most out of life. If time is worth anything to him, it puts more minutes in an hour—it makes the day longer—it enables him to get more OUT of the day.

Life is made out of time. Time and life mean the same.

The automobile, through the saving of time, performs the equivalent of presenting the user with a gift of more life!"

FORECASTS CAR FAMINE THIS YEAR

With one automobile to every 12 people, the United States is to habituated to the use of the motor car for personal transportation that any reduction in the number of cars in use would mean serious deprivation. This being the case, practically all of the million cars that will go out of commission in 1921 after five years use, will be replaced by new cars and several hundred thousand cars will be bought by others.

A demand therefore, of one and a half million cars or more is certain, and as production has been very much reduced for the past three or four months, no surplus stock such as usually accumulates during the winter months, is available this year to take care of the spring demand. With the stablization of prices and the easing of the credit situation set by all authorities for early spring the buying of motor cars will be resumed on a scale approaching normal and dealers and manufacturers will be making frantic efforts to meet it.

All of the leading motor car manufacturers today are standing at "attention" ready for the public's command "forward, march!"

The automobile shows in New York and Chicago have just revealed that the nation-wide demand for motor cars cannot be over-estimated.

All authorities agree that spring will see a shortage of cars, and this means that within a week or two after spring buying starts, people desiring cars will have to take delayed deliveries ranging any where from five or six weeks to two months or more.

The part of wisdom then is to buy early. The price situation in the motor car field is not likely to change toward lower prices for many seasons. One of the chief of these is the fact that automobiles of the leading popular makes are sold at a much closer margin of profit than most other commodities.

It is, therefore, apparent that the way to reduce motor car prices is to produce and sell as many cars as possible and that reduced demand instead of bringing prices down sends them up.

MASSACHUSETTS FREE FROM TYPHUS FEVER

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—There is no typhus in Massachusetts, according to Dr. Bernard W. Carey in charge of the infectious and communicable disease section of the state board of health.

There has been no suspicion of the disease here for two years and a half, according to this official, who declared that there is no need for alarm.

LOOSE VIBRATOR.

In case the screws that hold the small crass jackets to the vibrator box become worn so that they do not grip any more, do not try to remedy the trouble by using longer screws, as this will probably injure the windings of the coil and ruin the vibrator. The better plan is to put a metal band clear around the box and attach it to the dash with small bolts.

BLOW-OUTS FROM AUTO ROW
BY FLAT TIRE

The sale of new cars for the past seven days has been very good for this time of year, judging from reports gathered all along auto row. Most every dealer is satisfied, so to speak, with the general outlook and show a great deal of optimism for the future. Accessory business has been exceptionally good and tires and tubes are being put on in goodly numbers by every tire dealer in the city.

Now while we are reading the "Blow Outs" let us not forget the forthcoming automobile show on March 11 and 12, for we are of the opinion that this will be the biggest 'blow out' that Wichita Falls has experienced in a long time. Extensive preparations are being made for this event and every indication points to one of the nicest shows ever held in Northwest Texas.

Next dealers' meeting will be next Friday and those that happen to be absent will not only miss a goodly gathering but might be disappointed in the places they draw at the auto show, for at Friday night's meeting the spaces will be alloted and all final preparations made for this gala affair, so be on time if you don't want to be left out in the cold.

A. B. Booth, our friend up at the Overland Motors, has recently been elected a director of the newly formed Kiwanis club. We asked old man Webster what the meaning of the word Kiwanis and was informed it was an old Indian word meaning 'peaceful' Wonder why these worthy members of this organization picked on Al to represent something peaceful. Wish they could hear him and Walter Daugherty occasionally.

L. L. Dixon the one who holds sway over the destinies of the Buick, made some sales last week and to quote Mr. Dixon "for cash too." Among those sold was Bert Bean of coffee fame. There was some dispute over an extra tire cover for the spare tire on the rear with the word Buick thereon. But after the argument which was in Mr. Dixon's favor the cover remained intact. Now we can expect to see an added line on the bottom of this spare tire the first of the week. "Who Can Beat It."

Toute Suite Dodson our friend who sells Firestone tires, reports good business the past week, and when one can afford to blossom forth in a new wardrobe we must believe them. How does he do it?

Hugh Weaver of the King & Weaver Company reports the sale of Two Nash roadsters last week. Now, this is a new firm in business here but they are going to set a pace according to Hugh who has just returned from a trip to Dallas and Fort Worth. Watch 'em boys.

We had a nice ride in a Hupmobile last Wednesday. In fact we accompanied C. C. Eckman to make a delivery. Eckman says that when show time arrives "The best car in its class in the world" will be much in evidence as he has some snappy models he will display.

W. K. Thompson of the Williams-Thompson company, the firm who sells cylinders either in single lots or pairs, reports that things are looking better every day. Packard sales may not be as numerous as some others in the city, but when they do come, Oh Boy!

The latest sport dope along the row is that Battling Joe Hill of the Overland Motors company is meeting all comers, mechanics preferred, so if you are out looking for someone to go about ten rounds with, don't overlook our favorite.

W. S. Langford of the Motor Supply Company returned to the city last Friday after an extended trip through the south and southeast. Mr. Langford says that the southeastern states are hit much harder from a business point of view than this section of Texas is owing to the low price on cotton. The automobile business in that section of the country is almost at a standstill and, in his opinion, Wichita Falls is progressing very nicely when all is considered. We are glad to see Mr. Langford return to his business and we will now be able to find things running smoothly again at the Motor Supply company with Queisser and Omohundro on the job once more.

The champion story teller along auto row is Homer Crawford of the Velie company. Homer has a couple of new ones under his hat that are well worth listening to, so corner him the next time he passes and hear something good.

Those new signs the Wilhelm-Moulder company put up last week were responsible for the sale of two new Chandlers the other day, to say nothing of a lot of prospects. Now who said it didn't pay to advertise.

D. L. Fritz, who peddles Marmons up on Austin avenue, spent a few days in Dallas last week with a factory man from Indianapolis. Fritz says that he has a good surprise for his friends at the show, so we had better keep an eye on him.

Chas. Nolen of the Nolen-Stringer company has been neglecting his regular line of endeavor lately and bending all his efforts towards furthering the dealers' association in the way of new memberships, and we are safe in saying he has made a showing. Charles is just the proper fellow for this line and can put ti over 100 per cent so let's let him go to it, and besides Lesly Stringer don't want him hanging around anyway.

Highway Officials Plan Auto Route To Mexico City

An international highway, linking San Antonio and Mexico City is the plan of the Meredian Highway association. When this project is completed it will be possible to go from any of the larger cities of Texas direct to Mexico City by automobile. In fact, with the northern terminus of this highway in Winnipeg, Canada, this will be the first great tri-national route on the American continent.

The Meredian Highway association is planning to send a logging committee, headed by G. A. McNaughton, secretary of the association, from San Antonio to Mexico City by automobile. The minister of public works of the Mexican government has announced that he will furnish a committee to co-operate with them, joining the party at Laredo. Among the stops in the republic of Mexico will be Lampasos, Bustamente, Monterey, Saltillo, Vanegras, San Louis Potosi, Gonzales, Quereters, Del Rio, San Juan. It is promised that this route will be improved rapidly, so that it will be only a short time before tourists will be enabled to penetrate the heart of our southern neighbor by motor car, with greatly improved facility for trade.

In addition to the visit into Mexico, the logging committee will visit El Paso, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls, this route being part of a western loop of this highway.

PAIGE

If you stepped into a New Series 5-passenger Paige Glenbrook without knowing its make or price and experienced its power, speed and general excellence in actual performance, we would be willing to make this prophecy:

After a single demonstration of its capabilities you would price the Glenbrook at five hundred dollars more than it costs.

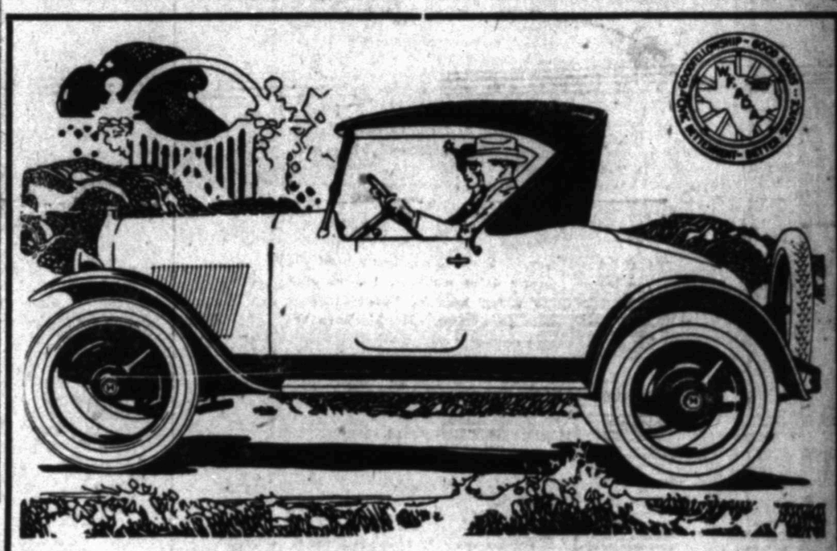

That is because there are no existing standards by which the New Series Glenbrook can be compared. It has established its own standards.

HUPMOBILE ROADSTER

It isn't its long life, alone, that makes people think the Hupmobile is the best car of its class in the world. They are influenced just as much by the car's consistent economy as they are by the years of continuous good service.

Economy in The Hupmobile Car isn't an indefinite quantity, but a positive saving which registers itself every day in every month, and every month in the year. By saving, we mean not only gasoline saving, but tire saving, and that still greater saving which results from marked infrequency of repair.

PRESIDENT-ELECT WILL RIDE TO INAUGURATION IN AUTO

President Jefferson rode horseback from the capitol to the White White House when he was inaugurated. All other presidents have used carriages in correspondening trips. President-elect Harding will smash precedent: his conveyance will be an automobile. This seems to be the last echo of the relegation of the horse to the land of the dodo in city highway passenger traffic, says Coker F. Clarkson, general manager, Society of Automotive Engineers.

"It is hard to appreciate fully the part automobile vehicles have in our national life, not to mention the development that is to come in passenger cars, motor trucks, farm, military and industrial tractors, motor boats, aircraft, semi-portable engines and farm lighting units. It is clear that the form and extent of use of these are in their infancy.

Effects of the Evolution.

"One's mind can grasp only in a general way what will be the manner and effect of the economical design, production, use and servicing of tens of millions of these vehicles. The case is like the sage advice, pay our debts, look cheerful and be kind; then, if immortality exists you will participate. The intellect of a Jules Verne or an H. C. Wells is not adequate for the visualization of what the automotives will be and do.

"The people of this country have been spending for motor cars and their parts perhaps $2,000,000,000 annually. It is stated that more than this is expended for tobacco and about half as much for candy, $50,000,000 for chewing gum, $750,000 for perfumery and cosmetics, $400,000,000 for toilet soaps. These are pertinent data in luxury and utility studies.

"In the effort to restore that proper economic balance which is essential to national prosperity, the automotive engineers will play their full part. The achievements with which they are to be credited are a good indication of this. It is said that most men have conviction, that some have courage and that the names of those who have both illuminate the pages of history. This thought typifies the forward-looking engineer. He deals with facts and proceeds according to them. He has to solve the problems of the "perversity" of matter. In knowledge of operating conditions in manufacture and of the policies that should be pursued in connection herewith he stands between capital and labor and probably no one can be of greater assistance in the solution of industrial relations problems than he.

Second Decade of Its Work.

"The national organization of the men responsible for the design and production of automotive apparatus in this country is the Society of Automotive Engineers, which is now entering upon its second decade of aggressive work on a large scale. It is work that is really done that counts. The man who is entitled to the greatest credit is the man who completes his work. The Society of Automotive Engineers has done much original constructive work that is permanent. That fellowship and loyalty of its members have effected for many years co-operation that has resulted in great benefits to makers and users of automobiles and other self-propelled machines. It has been stated by an authority that efficiency is the straight view of a strong character. That is the sort of thing that has actuated the Society of Automotive Engineers as an organization. Its reputation is justly second to none in standardization activities, sustained consistently and most helpfully for ten years; in its war work and in the furtherance of the arts and sciences connected with automotive engineering. It has been essentially a democratic body giving full scope for the best and most apt to work toward the good of the whole. It has been ever a resourceful organization. It has had, in the words of Dr. Eaton, the spirit of real men working together at a real man's job as friends dedicated to a worthy task.

Over $5,000 Members Enrolled.

"The society has over 5,000 members resident throughout the world, and local organizations that hold frequent meetings in Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago, Indianapolis, Buffalo, Boston, Washington, Philadelphia, Minneapolis and New York. The members assemble in national sessions prominent part at all the national automotive shows. A staff of 50 persons is maintained in New York. The annual financial turnover is in excess of $300,000.

"The S. A. E. has established over 200 separate and distinct standards relating to materials and mounting dimensions involved in the construction of automotive apparatus. It has a large amount of standard matters in process of formulation. The real value of the establishment and observance of standards is just beginning to be realized in a degree commensurate with their usefulness to the many millions of people concerned.

VETERANS TO CONTINUE IN DODGE AFFAIRS

Announcement of the election of Frederick J. Haynes as president and general manager of Dodge Brothers which was made in New York last week, is now followed by a complete list of new directors and chief executives. Arthur T. Waterfall is made vice president and assistant general manager, Harry V. Popeney secretary of the corporation, and Reginald J. Fry, assistant secretary. Charles W. Matheson has been advanced to the position of general sales manager. Howard B. Bloomer is made chairman of the new beauty of directors. The other directors are Frederick J. Haynes, Arthur T. Waterfall and John Ballantyne.

Mr. Haynes' association with the two Dodge Brothers covers a period of over 21 years. During this time he was not only chief executive of their great business, but was also a close personal friend. By reason of this long association, there is no one more familiar with their aims and principles or more admirably qualified to carry on their work. Immediately after the death of Mr. John Dodge a year ago, Mr. Haynes was elected vice president and general manager, and has been the active head of the business during the long illness of the late Horace E. Dodge. It was Mr. Dodge's request, just before his death, that Mr. Haynes be elected to the presidency of the institution. His election therefore comes as no surprise to those familiar with the implicit confidence which the two Dodge Brothers placed in his ability as a manufacturer and chief executive.

Mr. Waterfall was for many years superintendent of the Russell Wheel and Foundry company of Detroit, and later vice president and director of traffic for the Detroit Board of Commerce. In the latter position he gained national prominence as an authority on transportation matters. While Mr. Waterfall is generally known as a traffic expert, he has had a long training in the more general executive duties required of a man in his present important position, with an intimate knowledge of all questions attending the operation of a great industry.

Mr. Popeney joined Dodge Brothers about 10 years ago, and since that time has occupied various positions of responsibility. For some years he was assistant to the former secretary of the company, and in that capacity exhibited unusual ability in the handling of financial and accounting matters. Mr. Fry's association with Dodge Brothers dates back to 1910, and he, too, has developed with the company. In recent years he has occupied positions as autditor and office manager.

Charles W. Matheson, who now takes the position of general sales manager, has been associated with Dodge Brothers sales department since they first started to manufacture a car of their own. He first acted as New York district representative and later as director of service at the factory. Since the resignation of the former sales manager, he has been the acting head of Dodge Brothers sales department. Mr. Matheson has been connected with the industry since the inception of it, and was for 12 years a manufacturer of one of the early high-priced cars. His ability and training and thorough knowledge of Dodge Brothers policies make him particularly well fitted to direct the marketing of their product.

Mr. Bloomer, chairman of the board of directors, was for many years the close personal friend and legal advisor of both John and Horace Dodge. He has been a member of the board of directors since the reorganization which followed the death of John F. Dodge last January. He is a prominent Detroit attorney.

Shortly before Horace Dodge's death, John Ballantyne was elected to the board of directors. Mr. Ballantyne is president of the Merchants National Bank of Detroit and is widely known and accepted as an authority on financial matters, which makes his presence on the board a distinct asset to the intitution. For a great many years he has been a close personal friend and confidential advisor to Horace Dodge.

To every one interested in the affairs of Dodge Brothers, it is gratifying to know that the executives now in charge of the business are all seasoned men. By reason of their long and thorough training in the policies on which John and Horace Dodge built and developed their business, they have come to know and believe implicitly in these policies. It is absolutely certain that they will continue to apply these same principles to the future of their great organization which the two Dodge Brothers left as a monument to their genius.

Proper Method Of Inventories For Tax Purpose

Repeated inquiries have been made of the tax information department of the National Automobile Dealers' association with reference to the proper method of preparing an inventory by an automobile dealer in order to give required information for taxation purposes and in the hope of assisting dealers. With that idea in view the following information has been prepared by the tax department of the association for the benefit of the public generally:

"There are no changes in the rulings which are applicable to the methods of determining the value of furniture, fixtures, tools and equipment, open accounts, notes, real estate or any of those other general items which it has been necessary to include for some years past, and with regard to which the public is generally informed. For the purpose of the motor car business we are attempting to treat only those things especially incident to the business and known as stock in trade, that is automobiles and their parts and accessories.

"The automobiles may be generally divided into two classes, used and new. Under section 847 of regulations 45, the used cars must be carried for the purpose of the inventory at the value fixed upon them at the time they were taken in exchange. This does not necessarily mean the amount allowed the purchaser, but does mean that when an automobile is taken in exchange, the value set up for it then in the books must be continued, without charging off depreciation, etc., until that particular car is disposed of, when the profit or loss on the transaction should be taken as of the year in which such disposition is made. This particular point with reference to used cars was fully covered in the association's bulletin No. 40, October, 1920, when similar information was furnished to the Intermountain Automotive Dealers' association of Salt Lake, Utah.

New Car Valuation.

"New automobiles regardless as to whether or not the model is current, or has become obsolete or undesirable for any reason, should be taken on one of two basis: (a) "cost" or (b) "cost or market, whichever is lower." The regulations formerly contemplated that one method should be established by the first return made by the taxpayer and that that method should be consistently adhered to in future years. The latter method is generally the more desirable but in order to relieve such taxpayers from excessive tax, treasury decision 3108, was published on December 30, 1920. It provides that whichever basis (a) or (b) is adopted, that basis must be consistently applied to the whole inventory but that a taxpayer regardless of his part practice of making inventories on the "cost" basis, may adopt the basis of "cost or market, which ever is lower" for his 1920 return, providing a disclosure of that fact and that it represents a change is disclosed in the return. After the 1920 return, the 1920 basis must be followed in subsequent returns and changes can only be made after permission has been secured from the commissioner. It is recommended that except in unusual cases, the "cost or market, whichever is lower" method of inventory be adopted. This method will most truly reflect the real worth of the assets. It is easily seen, however, that this is more of a business question than a tax question and that fluctuations in prices at another increase the tax.

Two Market Values.

There are two market values, "buying" and "selling," but the actual value of the article to be inventoried is the true test. "Selling market value" may or may not include a profit to the taxpayer and "buying market value," which means replacement cost, may exceed the selling value. The burden of proof rests upon the taxpayer in each case to satisfy the commissioner of the correctness of the values adopted, but generally, if the current bid price or current selling price is adopted for the articles, there will be no difficulty.

Automobile parts, accessories and supplies, whether old or new, unless taken in exchange, should be inventoried as set out for new cars and in this connection, it should be borne out that unless a used car is taken in exchange, it is not necessary to inventory it other than by the same method stated for new cars, so that if a used car be bought it can be carried either at "cost or market, whichever is lower," instead of at the price fixed when taken in exchange. The taxpayer will understand that in limiting the information as we have, the purpose is not to avoid assisting the trade but merely to explain the special points with regard to inventory concerning which there has been the most inquiry."

SHOES CHASE SKIRTS IN GOING UP RACE

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Colored boots are the latest novelty in women's wear.

In one model evolved by one of the chief makers, though the foot is cased in varnished black leather, this is punched out in a floral design and the taps, which reach half way up the calf, are of bright blue satin.

Thief Explains Kind of Ford For Easy Sale

In Chicago the other day a man was arrested for stealing a Ford car. He had been caught red-handed taking the car from the owner's garage.

The police were interested especially in him because he had entered the garage to get the car when there was another Ford car standing in the street in the same block. In fact, the other car was not more than a hundred feet from the entrance to the garage where the man was apprehended.

"Why, I was stealing that car for such a foolish things as to go into that garage after the car when you could have taken the car that was out in the street?" asked the police.

"It wasn't such a foolish thing," replied the thug.

"How do you mean, it wasn't foolish?"

"Why, I was stealing that car for the money I could get out of it. I have to sell the cars I get. And the extra risk in getting that car from the garage was worth while, for I could sell it much easier!"

He was asked to explain why.

"Well, the big reason is that it was fitted up right, like the buyer wants. It had a good set of shock absorbers on it. And you know that is a big thing in these flivvers. I never have any trouble at all selling a car with these Hassler shock absorbers on it."

Robert H. Hassler, president of Robert H. Hassler, Inc., Indianapolis, manufacturer of the above shock absorbers, enjoys telling this story. In a meeting the other day with several other executives of the motor car industry he told this story in competition with the other men and was awarded the first place unanimously.

The American farmer is considered the keenest buyer of automobiles.

HORSES MOVE OBJECT AUTOS COULDN'T BUDGE

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Feb. 24.— The truck horse may be obsolete in the east, but Grand Junction city officials claim the real old-fashioned "horse-power" has proved more efficient than any tractor or automobile horse-power to be found locally.

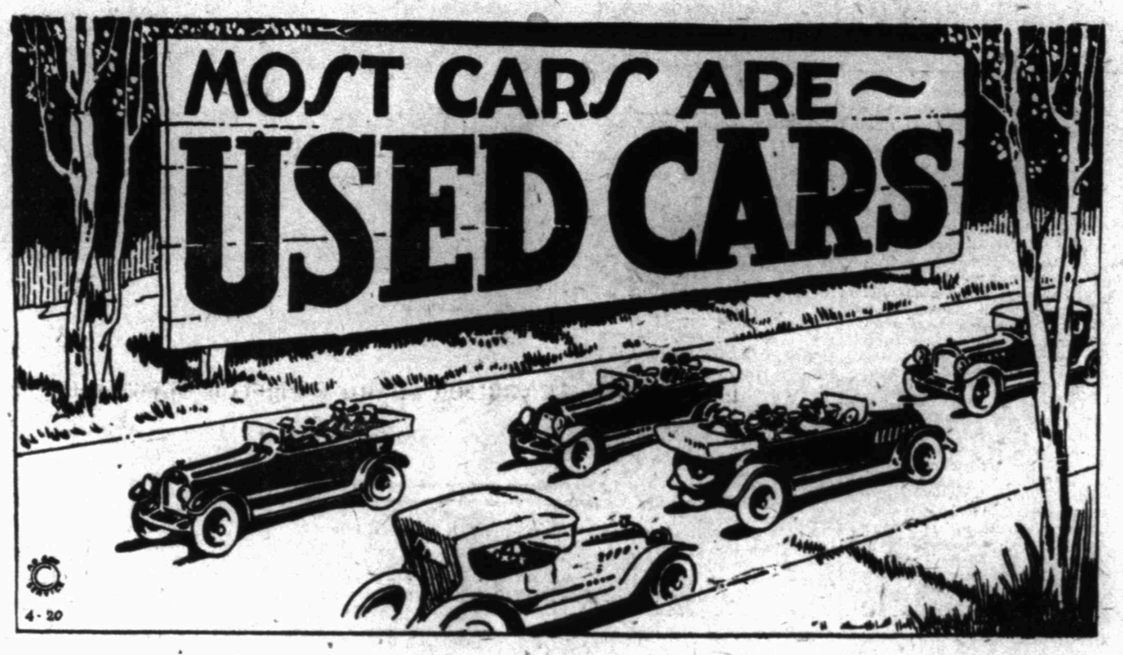

The city wanted to move its five-ton rock crusher from the river bed to a location across town and had to use skids to sled the machine. A forty horse-power tractor, aided by several automobiles, was unable to budge the heavy crusher, but six powerful horses were attached to the crusher and snaked it through the streets, although the asphalt was melted in spots under the great weight.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW

To Be Held in Wichita Falls

MARCH 11th AND 12th.

EVERY MAKE CAR SOLD IN NORTHWEST TEXAS WILL BE ON DISPLAY, TO SAY NOTHING OF THE MOST VARIED LINE OF AUTOMOBILE ACCESSORIES EVER ASSEMBLED. EACH MOTOR CAR DISPLAY WILL HAVE AN ABLE REPRESENTATIVE PRESENT AT ALL TIMES TO GO INTO THE SMALLEST DETAIL WITH YOU RELATIVE TO HIS MACHINE, AND IT WILL BE A PLEASURE TO DISCUSS THE MANY ADVANTAGEOUS POINTS TO BE FOUND IN THIS YEAR'S MOTOR CARS.

The location of our show building is the best to be found anywhere, it being an entirely new fireproof construction, centrally located and with ample facilities for handling all guests, so do not hesitate to avail yourself of this wonderful opportunity to view some of America's finest made motors.

The automobile show is in connection with the Spring Style Show, both opening on the same date, which will permit our out-of-town friends to attend all festivities with the expense of one trip.

ONE AUTO TO EACH ELEVEN INDIVIDUALS

Statistics recently compiled of automobile use in the United States during 1920 tell a story of more than ordinary interest in respect to the value and utility of the motor car in this country. Figures just compiled by the American Automobile Association indicate that there were 9,180,316 passenger and commercial motor vehicles registered in the United States during 1920, of which 8,234,490 were for passenger use and 945,826 were commercially employed. During the same period 271,230 motorcycles were also registered. The total receipts from registrations amounted to $99,131,097.

In two states, California and New York, the figures cover only the first 11 months of the registration year ending Feb. 28, 1921. The total registrations for the year will doubtless exceed 9,300,000 cars and receipts will probably reach $100,000,000.

It thus appears that there is now one motor vehicle for about every 11 persons, and that receipts from registrations and licenses amount to more than one-fifth of the total annual expenditure for all roads and bridges in the United States. The gain in registrations over 1919 amounts to 2,114,870, which is the greatest increase ever recorded in a single year. This expansion is considered remarkable in view of the adverse business conditions during the latter part of the year.

Receipts from registrations and licenses showed a gain of $34,443,842, or 53 per cent, over 1919, the greatest increase ever recorded in a single year. The registrations include in a few cases, notably in Maryland and the District of Columbia, duplicate registrations, but these do not materially affect the grand total.

New York, which for many years has led all the other states in the number of automobiles owned within its boundaries, maintains its motor supremacy with a total of 683,919 vehicles, of which 559,521 were passenger cars and 124,393 commercial vehicles. In motor truck use New York is also in the lead. Ohio and Pennsylvania were strong competitors for second place, Ohio leading with 620,000 cars and Pennsylvania coming third with 570,164. Ohio with 82,600 trucks is also second in the commercial list. Illinois takes fourth place with 568,914 cars, very close to Pennsylvania, but in the use of commercial cars both Illinois and Massachusetts exceed Pennsylvania, Illinois having 64,674, Massachusetts 51,386, while Pennsylvania's number is 48,329.

California is the fifth state in motor use with a total of 568,892 cars, Iowa sixth, 437,090; Texas seventh, 427,693; Michigan eighth, 412,717. As California figures are for eleven months the chances are that the total for the year will equal or exceed that for Illinois and possibly of Pennsylvania.

In receipts from registrations New York state leads with $8,817,109. Pennsylvania comes second with $8,090,878; Iowa third, $7,487,830; Ohio fourth, $6,400,000; Illinois fifth, $5,780,612; California sixth, $5,554,265; Michigan seventh, $5,494,486.

Annual automobile statistics compiled through different agencies show motor variations. The list recently compiled, for instance, by Automotive Industries gave a total for all automobiles of 8,887,572, while the B. F. Goodrich company's figures gave 9,296,252.

"The difficulty of obtaining accurate registration figures," says Automotive Industries, "has been commented upon in previous years. Not only codes every state law differ from that of every other state, but many states make wholly inadequate provision for administering effectively the laws that they have. The only final remedy for the confusion which now exists, of course, is a uniform national registration law."

These motor discrepancies are not of material importance, and no one will be accused of a serious error in placing the automobile use throughout the United States at fully 9,000,000 cars for 1920.

Armored Truck Foils Gang of Payroll Bandits

Sporadic cases of lives lost and pay rolls stolen in the ambush of bandits of armed, but, nevertheless, practically defenseless messengers in a number of cities in recent weeks, have kindled a new interest in the lead taken in New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Cleveland by banks, public utilities and other companies having constant need to transfer money and other valuables. The lead they have taken lies in the direction of greater security and enhanced service, less loss of life and money, in the transportation of large sums through the thoroughfares of congested cities.

Seeing an opportunity to render real service to industrial concerns, merchants and others by making a specialty of offering them safety and service in the transfer of pay rolls and money, while protecting their own transactions by means of the same conveyance, more and more banks are purchasing armored motor trucks.

Two White trucks, with armored bodies, transfer thousands of dollars daily for two big banks in down town New York. One truck—a two-ton unit—carries a body of quarter-inch steel. In addition to the driver, two guards generally man the truck on its trips. The guards, heavily armed, ride on the inside. The keys to the only door (in the side of the body) are held in the branch banks or in the possession of the guards riding inside the truck. In no case can the driver open the door. In event of the truck being fired upon, the steel walls of the body are of sufficient strength to flatten ordinary lead bullets, while, from their protected position in the interior of the "fortress" the guards can return the fire of bandits through "portholes" arranged for such an emergency.

"Auto Bank" in Philadelphia.

Day and night the "auto bank" owned by the Quaker City Cab company of Philadelphia, answers calls. Its chief responsibility is the safe collection of funds from theaters, tradesmen, fraternal orders, building and loan companies and other organizations which customarily receive large sums of money after the closing hours of banks.

A small rear platform makes it possible to use the truck as a pay car. The truck is often used to carry payrolls to outlying sections.

The body of the "auto bank" is of bullet-proof steel. Should the truck be attacked, the cashier could, merely by touching a button, drop steel curtains over all windows. The windows are further protected by steel bars. The door has a double combination lock. Tampering with locks on either door or windows would set in operation a standard burglar alarm system, connected with a large gong in the roof of the truck. If accident should befall the driver, the cashier could cut off the gasoline supply and stop the truck by pressing a button iside the body.

Mobile Pay-Off System.

In Chicago, the surface lines carry the pay envelopes of their thousands of employes to car barns and other widely scattered pay-off places in a truck, all windows in which are protected by iron bars and an alarm system. In some cases the truck merely carries paymasters and money from one car barn to another while in others it goes into the country to pay off linemen, trackmen and workers engaged in special construction. The Cincinnati, Ohio, Traction company also depends upon a two-ton truck for the safe transfer of pay-roll money to outlying car barns.

In the collection of money from its many telephone pay stations, the Bell Telephone company of Philadelphia uses an armored truck. Other users of armored White trucks are the Felerad Reserve banks at Boston, Chicago and Cleveland, the Cleveland Trust company, the Citizens' Savings & Trust Co., and the Garfield Savings Bank company in Cleveland, the First National bank and the National Shawmut bank in Boston.

Briefly the work which these trucks do is the same formerly done, only less efficiently, less promptly and with more danger to human life, by trusted messengers. They transport money between main banks and their branches, banks and railroad stations, post offices and express offices; distribute payrolls; collect deposits from stores which do a daily cash business; collect money from scattered pay stations of public utilities; call for jewels, silverware and other valuables to be placed in safety deposit vaults, and in general furnish a swift and sure special service to concerns having need for such service.

Many Autoists Enroute South Visit Capitol

More than 10,000 automobile tourist parties passed through Washington during the last five months in the annual migration to the sunny south and 'land of palms and sunshine." This is the estimate made by the A. A. A. touring bureau, which bases the number not only on reports from branch bureaus along the route and counts made at important bridges on the main lines of travel, but particularly on the large number of inquiries made at Washington headquarters.

The procession of cars started during the latter part of September and continued in increasing numbers during the fall and until early winter, when unseasonable weather began to injure the roads in Virginia and the Carolinas. A few stragglers are still determined to reach the warmer climate, and hardly a day passes but that a half dozen or more tourists make inquiry at local headquarters regarding present conditions.

After Facts for Tourists

Within another month those who have already reached Florida and are now enjoying the many delightful drives in that state, will begin wending their way homeward to enjoy the cooler and more agreeable summer.

In order that the most accurate kind of information might be furnished to the throngs of pleasure seekers who will very shortly retrace their journey, a second up-to-the-minute mapping and inspection trip has just been made by A. G. Seiler, manager of the A. A. A. touring bureau, with Harry Lollesgard of the Blue Book company.

The pathfinders made the run from Washington to Jacksonville in just 73 hours, and would have completed the trip in less time had it not been that heavy snow was encountered in southern Virginia and North Carolina, necessitating continuous grind in low gear for many miles at a time. It was rather unusual to find such condition in the Carolina clime, when it was learned later that there had been no snow either in Washington or New York and temperature at both places had not been below freezing.

The natives declared that very little snow had ever been seen as far south as Rockingham, N. C., and it was evident that their statements were nearly correct, for no preparation had been made for snow removal nor did car owners make any attempt to brave the drifts, as do motorists in the states further north. As soon as the hot sun put in appearance the following day the snow quick disappeared and it was possible to travel along with the use of chains at some of the muddy stretches.

Much Road Repairing

On reaching Cheraw, S. C., and all along the main line to Camden and Columbia to Augusta state highway men were at work grading and making heavy fills, which offered considerable difficulty because what had been snow farther north was substituted by rain in the warmer states, and frequently the pathfinders would meet other travelers who were unfortunate enough to become deeply mired. At one place in particular, just 10 miles below Camden, a large limousine bearing a New York state tag required the assistance of a pick and shovel crew and teams to get back on the road, after having been carelessly driven into a ditch.

One of the most difficult links on the route was found between Waycross and Jacksonville, where the roadway consists of a kind of heavy sand which is converted to a peculiar black mud after heavy rains. To make conditions worse, it so happened that the men were plowing and grading this place and it was necessary to use chains and detour in several places back through the boggy pine woods.

The foreman in charge of some of the work advised that the new road would be ready in another year or so, in order to provide at least one very good entrance into the state.

At the toll bridge over St. Mary's river, which forms the boundary line between Georgia and Florida, the man in charge stated that during the month of November alone he collected $2,600 in tolls, which means that 5,200 cars went over the bridge, each paying a 50-cent fee. This census of motorists includes the numbers who followed the Atlantic highway and, in addition, many who succeeded in getting over the Dixie way across Kentucky and Tennessee.

Roads Depend on Weather

The A. A. A. has always refrained from sending broadcast information which would give the impression that roads leading into the southland are of the boulevard type. The average motorist wants to know the exact conditions before making an extended journey, and it is for this reason that personal surveys to secure the very latest data are made by road officials.

The question of road conditions depends entirely on the kind of weather which is encountered at the time of making the run, and those who experience the least difficulty are the ones who begin the trip during the fall months and before the extreme winter weather injures the gravel and sand-clay surfaces, especially in Virginia and North Carolina.

CLEANING BRASS CASTINGS.

Brass castings may be cleaned in a moment by dipping them into a solution of three parts sulphuric acid to three parts nitric acid, to which after they have been mixed is added a quart of common salt, the whole being stirred until the salt has been dissolved. If this is placed in an earthenware vessel the brass castings can be dipped in it, removed immediately and rinsed in clear water. The castings can be made as bright as new by this method and there is little trouble involved.

AUTOMOBILE SHOWS GUIDE CAR BUYERS

Every Wichita Falls automobile dealer who has returned from the Chicago Auto Show brings home reports of better sales at the exposition than had been expected, and a growing feeling of optimism in the entire motor car industry. In connection with these reports, the following article from Automobile Topics is particularly interesting:

"The curve of sales has been inclinging steadily upward during the last five weeks. During the last week, especially, it made a sharp turn upward, so that the men on whose shoulders rests the decision of resuming production are generally encouraged. It had been thought that after the New York show there would be a temporary downward re-action. In some lines this was felt, but in others, and seemingly in a significant percentage of instances, no such reaction was felt. The conclusion, at least, of those whose experience since the New Yorw show has been favorable, is, therefore, that the revival is permanent in character.

That the Cleveland, Milwaukee and other shows held since the close of the New York affair have resulted in a surprising amount of business in several of the better established lines is generally understood. The number of retail sales made fairly astonished the trade, not by reason of actual quantity, however, as much as relative amount. In one case, for example, sales at one of these shows were found to run abead of sales for the corresponding show in 1919, though not quite up to the figures of 1920.

Production Figure Varies

"The actual production situation varies greatly. Quite a number of the automobile manufacturers are resuming with minor forces, as planned some weeks ago at the time of the general shutdown. One concern in the southeri part of the industrial belt was ordered into full production immediately after the New York show and is now running 100 per cent. For the most part however, operations are being resumed rather tentatively, in recognition of the fast that time is required to get going again, and that consequently, to prevent a spring shortage, production should be gradually resumed in advance of a very substantial demand.

"Of course, in a time such as this, more dependence must be placed on prospect lists than ever before, and here the fruits of the work done during the New York show and the local shows subsequently held are beginning to be apparent. Making reasonable allowances for fulfillment of expectations, the manufacturers, having reports from their dealers before them, can totalize their spring prospects, compare the total with last year's experience and that of years previous, and then compare the expected rate of absorption thus developed with the number of cars that are now on hand.

"On this basis a number of manufacturers forsee the need of early resumption, though most of them are disposed to await the actual movement of cars at retail before committing themselves to the risk of accumulating a surplus of manufactured product.

"Policies vary, of course, in this, as in other matters. One idea is to wait until the cars move in considerable quantities before starting anything like real production. Another is to maintain a constant supply of cars in dealers' hands, thus practically letting the rate of sales from week to week determine the degree of activity at the factory.

"A third idea is to put it strictly up to the dealers to dispose of present stocks before even discussing the question of further production. Such a method, of course, can apply only to an organization having a first-class manufacturing organization, one which is in position to make a quick start when the time comes.

"The parts makers, on the other hand, report in a number of instances withdrawals of materials which have been held up for weeks on indefinite instructions. The quantities so released in most instances do not appear to be large, but they are sufficient to be accepted as indications looking toward a resumption of activity. In some instances the parts people have resumed production on a fairly substantial scale. In quite a number of instances, also, it is found that parts and materials prices have been reduced.

"In this, as in other directions, however, generalizations are difficult to draw. Where prices an some parts have been reduced, therefore, or perhaps more properly speaking, where prices have been reduced by some manufacturers of some parts, other manufacturers of similar parts and manufacturers of other parts have not come down.

"As a matter of fact, the general feeling in the parts and materials field is that prices at the present time are in no sense indicative of what they are going to be. Everything depends on resumption of manufacture as a preliminary to new cost determinations. When these have been worked out, price adjustments will be made where they can be logically and safely worked out. Much, of course, depends on the trend of steel, which is still indeterminate."

REPAIRING BALL BEARINGS

The fact that ball bearings have become worn does not necessarily mean that they are a complete loss. Instead of installing a complete new set of balls, have the races trued up and put in a new set of oversize balls of the size needed.

Constant Care Necessary in Battery Upkeep

The arrival of freezing weather brings to mind things that the motorist must remember and take care of if he wishes to avoid trouble and keep his car going without undue expense, says the service department of the national automobile chamber of commerce.

The danger of freezing the water in the cooling system, cracking the cylinders or causing the radiator to leak is so well understood that the precautions are scarcely needed that anti-freeze should be put in the water or that a hood or radiator cover should be provided to retain the heat.

Some persons forget that even the radiator cover will not keep the water warm indefinitely. This will be effective only so long as sufficinet heat is retained to keep the water temperature above 32 degrees, which will depend on the exposure of the car and the severity of the weather. In any event not more than two or three hours' protection should be expected of a radiator cover, in the coldest weather, and if the car must be left for a longer time without anti-freeze in the raditor, the engine should be run for a few minutes at intervals of two or three hours. Much less trouble, of course, results from putting alcohol and sodium chloride or some such solution in the radiator.

The things which most need watching, however, in the winter are the engine's lubrication and the storage battery.

Many persons do not realise that a lighter grade of oil is necessary in most engines in the winter, the heavier oils tending to flow so slowly that the bearings may be burned before the viscous oil gets into circulation. To be on the safe side one should put in the lighter oil that the car manufacturer recommends for winter before the cold weather sets in.

Watch the Batteries.

Another thing to be borne in mind is that the storage battery is a relatively expensive piece of equipment and if reasonable care is used, preventing its coming to an untimely end it is worth while taking the trouble to keep watch of the gravity of the electrolite.

If it gets too low, as indicated by a test with the hydrometer, have the battery removed and charged, but the chances are that the external charging will not be necessary if the battery is not run down.

These cold mornings cars are a little hard to start, but instead of standing on the button and keeping the motor turning over, it is much better to change the position of the choke or the spark or gas levers, then crank again, remembering that the engine will not start with too much gas any better than with too little. Several attempts at starting of a few seconds duration each do not so seriously drain the battery as cranking for a long period continuously.

Removing Battery.

If it does become necessary to take the battery out of the car be sure that another battery is put in its place or else that the proper thing is done to keep the generator from being burned out. Your instruction book gives the proper directions for grounding or short-circuiting the brushes so that damage will not result to the generator. Failure to do this will almost certainly be followed by burning out the windings of the armature or field or even both. The safest course is never to drive the car without a battery on the line from the generator.

Whatever happens that indicates something unusual about the car, if you cannot understand it yourself, drop into a service station. "A stich in time saves nine" and large repair bills are avoided by early attention to small signs of trouble.

Ivory White Speedster Is Car of Beauty

What is said to be one of the most beautiful cars on display at the automobile show this year is the 1921 Haynes Special Speedster, presented in a striking and unusual color combination, that is certain to win the approval of the thousands of show visitors.

This handsome two-passenger Haynes creation is painted an ivory white color with black running gear. Six nickeled disteel wheels, two of which are carried on either side at the front, lend a high tone of distinctiveness to the car. All fittings, such as door handles, locks and other metallic parts, as well as the radiator, are also nickeled. The one-man speedster top is made of black, waterproof material, in pleasing contrast to the ivory of the body.

Many who have already seen this Haynes Special Speedster declare it to be the most beautiful automobile that has ever been produced by an American motor car manufacturer.

AVERAGE GAS CONSUMPTION 452 GALLONS

The American Petroleum Institute has compiled figures showing the quantity of gasoline consumed in 1920 by 12 states where such information is available. These figures, taken in conjunction with automobile registrations, indicate a total United States consumption of gasoline by motor vehicles of 4,018,000,000 gallons in 1920. The states reporting account for a gasoline consumption totaling 889,524,944 gallons.

Without attempting to make any allowance for consumption by other agencies, and without including in the compilation consumption by motor cycles and motor boats, the figures shown indicate an average annual consumption of gasoline per car, both passenger cars and motors trucks, in the states given, of 452.1 gallons on the basis of 1920 automobile registration figures.

The total registration of passenger cars and motor trucks as of December 31, 1920, was 8, 887,572 cars. On the basis of an average consumption of 452.1 gallons per car, the indicated gasoline consumption by motor vehicles in the United States in 1920 was approximately 4,016,000,000 gallons. The gasoline output of the United States refineries in 1920 was about 4,870,000,000 gallons.

FIRST PLANE SHOT DOWN IN WORLD WAR WAS BY GERMAN SOLDIER

PARIS, Feb. 24.—The first German airplane shot down in the world war was shot down by a young German soldier, who thought it a good joke to fire on one of his own airplanes. This fact developed during an inquiry made by a French newspaper. A German infantryman fired on one of his own planes at Sarre-Union, Alsace, on August 15, 1914. The bullet struck the pilot's hand; he lost control of the machine and crashed.

Automobiles in Wisconsin represent an investment of $136,831,000.

BUICK

Emblem of Satisfaction

POWER and dependability—Buick principles—characterize the new Buick Nineteen Twenty One Series as they have distinguished Buick cars for two decades.

Added to the service value of the new Buick models is a distinctive beauty of body lines and appointments. Among professional men, the new Buick Large Four Passenger Coupe is especially popular because of its everyday usefulness for business and leisure hours.

Reinforcing Buick reliability is Authorized Buick Service, nation-wide in extent.

MASTERS OF TEXAS ROADS

TEXAS—The state of achievement. Men, big of brain and body—broad shouldered, two-fisted, clear-eyed, do-it-now men—forge the destines of this great commonwealth. Their work is in the open.

Their motor cars are their chief aid. Humming back and forth over Texas highways go their cars and trucks charged with the more important transportation problems of oil, agriculture and commerce.

If Texas roads are rough and stony, if they are spotted with mudholes and washouts which are all but impassable, it is not because the men of Texas do not appreciate good highways. They are busy. Everything can not be done now. The big job of the hour claims their minds and hands.

They take the roads as they find them.

The brunt of the burden falls on the TIRES.

FIRESTONE TIRES—the only successful pneumatic tires, alone are masters of Texas roads. In Wichita County the grinding wear of strips of clearing called roads, holds no terror for Firestone Tires. They carry the burdens of the oil operator so efficiently they are forgotten except in smiles of satisfaction.

Likewise, on the wide, fertile plains where farming and livestock are doing their part in Texas' upbuilding, Firestone Tires meet every road condition unfailingly.

NEW MODELS TO INCREASE TRAILER USE

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—New truck models for 1921 to be put out by a number of manufacturers embody changes that will adapt the trucks for drawing trailers. These include additional speed changes—four, five or six—heavier rear-end construction, coupling devices for trailers and increased braking surfaces.

This is a recognition by the manufacturers of the growing public demand for trucks that can pull trailers satisfactorily and give the maximum of service. The business world is demanding the increased capacity and cheaper hauling costs that result from the use of trailers.

Standard Couplings Wanted.

It is highly desirable, while making these changes, that the truck manufacturer adopt standardized trailer hitches as regular equipment, so that any make of trailer can be used with any make of truck. The Society of Automotive Engineers last year approved the recommendations of a joint committee of its truck standards division and the Trailer Manufacturing association for standardizing trailer hitches.

Large corporations operating fleets of more than one make of truck often find, after buying a number of trailers, that the trailers can not be used with all of the trucks without making expensive changes in some of the couplings.

Interchangeability of trucks and trailers is growing in importance to motor express operators, as indicated by the following case: An operator running 30 to 40 trucks on a schedule over a route of more than 100 miles has been figuring on buying trailers to be used like box cars behind his trucks. In case the goods in the trailer were consigned to points 75 to 125 miles beyond the end of his own route, he planned to turn such trailers over to operators of connecting or adjoining routes to be hauled by their trucks the remaining distance. It was found, however, that the coupler bars on the trailers would hitch on to only about one-third of the pintle hooks on the trucks operated by any of the companies.

Trailer Business to Expand.

There is no doubt that if this situation is remedied there will be a considerable development along the foregoing lines, trailers being transferred from one motor express line to another just as freight cars are switched from one railroad to another for long hauls.

Another factor to be considered is that destructive effects on improved roads are caused by concentration of weight on single wheels combined with high speed. Damage to the highway is correspondingly less when the weight of vehicle and load is distributed over six of eight wheels as when semi-trailers of four-wheel trailers are used with the trucks to carry part of the load. When a five-ton load is carried on a semi-trailer the total weight on the drive wheels of the truck is no greater than when a two and one-half ton load is carried on the truck alone.

Ten tons can be carried on a truck and trailer without imposing any more weight on one axle or wheel than when five tons is hauled on a truck.

Weight Limitations Interpreted.

State legislatures have sought to save the roads by limiting the total weight of a truck and its load. In some states the limit is 10 tons, in other 12½ and in still others 13 or 14 tons.

Motor vehicle and highway authorities in some states construe the laws to mean that the gross weight limitation applies to the six-wheel combination the same as to a four-wheel vehicle. This tends to encourage use of large trucks instead of distributing the weight of heavy loads over six wheels. It is cheaper to haul five to seven tons on six wheels than on four, but the combined weight of such a load often exceeds the limit allowed by law, so the hauler is forced to use a single vehicle and concentrate the weight on the two drive wheels.

The attorney general of Maryland, who has recently made a study of this matter, holds that the weight limit of 10 tons in the Maryland law applies only to one vehicle and that portion of the load that it actually carries or supports on its own wheels. Thus the wheels of a semi-trailer may carry additional weight provided the weight does not exceed the further restriction of the law to 650 pounds per inch width of tire on any wheel.

NEW HAND BOOK OF AUTOMOBILES JUST OUT

The hand book of automobiles, 18th annual edition, has just been issued by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, 366 Madison avenue, New York. The book is a ready guide to the general appearance, cost and specifications of the principal models of automobiles and motor trucks being produced this year by the leading manufacturers in the United States who are members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The gasoline passenger car section shows 142 models and illustrations, while the gasoline commercial section includes 72 and the electric vehicle section only five.

This hand book of the automobile industry in America has become a standard of reference among domestic and foreign dealers, export houses, American consuls, state secretaries, dealers associations and clubs. Copies may be obtained from the chamber at a nominal cost in order to partially cover the expenses of printing and mailing.

The three principal exports of Canada are wheat, flour, and lumber.

Tractor Trade Needs Big Men Banker Asserts

For some remarks made by a speaker at the implement manufacturers' convention, the real tractor dealers of the country should be grateful. The speaker was Joseph Hirsch of Corpus Christi, Texas, chairman of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers' association. His address dealt with the problems of financing the needs of farmers and naturally he included therein some references to financing purchasing of power farming equipment. Mr. Hirsch, by the way, believes in power farming.

His address disclosed an intimate knowledge of conditions in the power equipment trade. It contained many good suggestions, one of which we think should bring salute from every real tractor dealer was this: "It seems to me that there are too many irresponsible agents, 'curbstone dealers,' handling trucks, tractors and power farming machinery generally."

This remark means a great deal more than a superficial reading of it reveals. In the first place it means that manufacturers, whose eagerness to be represented in every township leads them to hook up with cursbtone agencies for the sale of their machines, are themselves doing much to prevent the proper financing of power farming equipment purchases. For, as Mr. Hirsch went on to show, not only do bankers look with suspicion on a business that resorts to such agencies, but they know from observation that most of the farmers whose orders are obtained by irresponsible agents are themselves irresponsible. "If this machinery," said Mr. Hirsch, "were being sold by concerns of established worth a far greater amount of machinery paper could be financed by local banks."

Still another point emphasized by the speaker was that many of the purchasers secured through irresponsible agencies are farmers whose operations are not sufficiently large to warrant the purchase of tractors. These observations led him to make the following statement at the conclusion of his remarks on this subject: "I believe that a large amount of the distrust with which rural bankers view paper of this kind has been occasioned by the indiscriminate sale of trucks, tractors and other machines by irresponsible agents." Here is something worthy careful consideration.

But there is also a suggestion for certain dealers in the remarks of Mr. Hirsch. It is for those responsible implement dealers who have not yet given the power farming equipment business the big place it deserves in their activities. Their attitude is one of encouragement to curbstone business. Of course, we know that a universal response from the responsible trade in the handling of power farming equipment in the most approved way would not entirely prevent the establishment of irresponsible, irregular agencies; but it would reduce the number to the minimum and their business to almost nothing. It would in time eradicate such agencies.

We do not know how extensive have been the operations of the irresponsible agents. Apparently the evil is of sufficient proportions to affect the financing of the business to a serious extent. This is shown by the remarks of this live-wire banker, who has sought and obtained facts on which to base his statements and suggestions. The manufacturers could wipe out the evil with one blow. Will they deliver it?

Auto Owners Pay Millions In Annual Tax

Passenger car and motor truck owners of the United States last year paid the huge sum of $98,720,852 in license fees to the various states. Approximately 90 per cent of this amount, or about $88,850,000 goes into the construction of good roads, highway authorities say. In other words, about 3,000 miles of high-grade hard-surfaced highways could be built with the amount paid by the country's motorists.

The 1920 total exceeds that of 1919 by more than 33 1-3 per cent, the tota lin 1919 having been only $65,522,259. This large difference is accounted for by the larger number of machines in use and also by the fact that many states have laid a heavier burden on the car owner by increasing the yearly fees.

Striking an average for the entire country, each motorist paid in number of machines as shown by the 1920 registrations having been 9,295,252. In 1919, when 7,604,016 cars were registered, the average was less than $9.

The largest amount paid to any one state was paid by New York motorists, the total being $8,818,103. Iowa had the second largest total, $7,487,830. Pennesylvania was third with $6,634,941. Ohio fourth with $6,500,000, and California fifth with $5,529,119.

Twenty-four states or just half of the total number, showed totals of $1,000,000 or more. Nevada received from her 10,464 motorists only $103,307, hardly enough to pay for more than three miles of improved highway. Delaware, which ranks second from the bottom in the number of cars owned, received $329,697.

It is interesting to note that practically all the southern states showed large increases in the amount of fees received. This forecasts extensive progress in good road work in that section during the next few years. Many states in the south are supplementing the money received from license fees with substantial bond issues, thereby making even greater progress possible.

Comparison of the total license fees of the various states with the number of machines which they have registered shows a lack of uniformity in the license laws. Iowa, for instance, which ranked second in the amount of license fees, ranks sixth in the number of cars owned. It has only two-thirds the number of cars of Ohio or Pennsylvania and 100,000 less than California. Florida received only half as much as Alabama, although it has 4,000 more machines, the totals being $554,695 and $1,041,225 respectively. Connecticut, with 119,037 cars, received $1,327,431, while Colorado, with 128,940 received only $818,774. These figures were compiled by the B. F. Goodrich Rubber company's news bureau.

An excess of 22 billion miles per year is the estimated total motor car mileage in the United States.

Oklahoma City May Hold Auto Show in April

The Oklahoma City Motor Car Dealers' Association has been reorganized and the club has been put on a strong foundation. The club initiation fee has been increased from $50 to $150, and the dues from $20 a year to $15 per month. Twenty Oklahoma City motor car dealers have paid their increased fees and their dues for the month of February. Several other have stated they would continue in the club, and under the present arrangements the Oklahoma City Motor Car Dealers' Association is organizing on a strong financial and co-operative basis.

At a recent meeting considerable discussion was given the prospects of holding an automobile show the early part of April.

The automobile dealers are enthusiastic over the recent tour, and are now contemplating an automobile tour to take in the entire western half of Oklahoma. In case an automobile show is held, the tour to the west side of Oklahoma will be made prior to the show. This will enable the automobile dealers to more extensively advertise the show.

San Antonio Auto Show Beneficial

Automobile men of San Antonio set a high mark in the third annual Automobile, Truck, Tractor and Accessory Show, which was held by the San Antonio Automobile Trades association from January 15 to 24 at the plant of the Lone Star Motor Truck and Tractor association. The attendance for the first day was over 18,000 and over 100,000 persons visited the exhibits during the show. Forty-one different makes of cars were shown, with 95 models in all. The show led to a large number of sales, with a long list of prospects being secured for spring follow-up work.

The decorations produced an effect of fairyland. The exhibit spaces were separated by white trellises and above each booth was an arched trellis, with a cluster of lights, entwined with similax, Spanish moss and peonies. With this background of beauty, the models were shown to wonderful advantage.

The Franklin, with its new hood, was shown for the first time, drawing much attention by its foreign distive look. The Packard single six was also an interesting exhibit The Studebaker light six, the Moon, Scripps-Booth and other cars which were new to San Antonio motorists also attracted considerable comment. Oakland and Nash displayed illuminated chasses.

W. A. Williamson, vice-president of the Texas Automotive Dealers' association, managed the show. J. A. Hagan, of the Guarantee Motors company, is president of the San Antonio association.

The original recipe for the famous perfume, eau-de-Cologne, was discovered by an Italian living in Cologne in 1709.

ARRIETTAS DENY CONNECTION WITH REBEL MOVEMENT

Record News Staff Bureau.

DURANGO, Mexico, Feb. 26—The rumors of a serious uprising in the small villages west of this city, which was beginning to assume the proportion of a real revolution, headed by the famous Arrieta brothers, has simmered down to very little importance. The Arrieta brothers disclaim any connection whatsoever with the move which was made by about 70 men who divided in three small bands with the idea of robbery. The only place taken by them was a small town, San Andreas de la Sierra, from where they were soon unseated by federal forces, which arrived from Tepehuanes.

One band of six or eight men set fire to several small railroad bridges between Guatimape and Santiago Papasquairo, interferring with railroad traffic for several days.

Another small band was dispersed by some freighters which they attempted to hold up and rob.

The report from the military authorities on the situation is having a quieting effect on the public, which had begun to grow alarmed over the exaggerated accounts coming from the remote districts in the mountains west of here.

UNIFORM TRAFFIC CODE SUPPORTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Reports from practically every state in the union indicate almost unanimous support for the proposed uniform traffic code, which will be presented in most of the various state legislatures during the present term, according to advices received locally by Lieut. Dan Sylvester, president of the International Traffic Officers' Association, and by C. De Witt De Mar, one of the other prominent leaders in the fight for the uniform code.

The proposed code, if adopted, will make it possible for a motorist to travel from one end of the country to the other without worry or embarrassment as a result of constantly changing local laws and regulations. One of its most important provisions is that requiring a system of illuminated license plates in every state.

TRANSPORTATION IS CHEAP IN HAVANA, CUBA

Havana, Cuba, claims the distinction of having solved the problem of cheap transportation more satisfactorily than any other city.

Operating within a territory whose radius is little greater than a mile, 8,000 Ford automobiles carry one or two persons between any two points in the circle for 20 cents. Under no speed limitations, the drivers are left to their own fate.

Draw Your Own Conclusions

When a motor car is runsing 15 miles per hour and is brought to an abrut stop the impact is equal to that of a body striking the earth from a height of 13 feet. When a car is running 50 miles per hour and is stopped in its tracks the impact is equal to that of a 120-foot fall.

SOLDIERS WERE IN HURRY.

EL PASO, Feb. 26.—If you get a puncture it is not safe to borrow a tire from another man's automobile, no matter how anxious you are to resume your journey. This was the advice the justice of the peace gave Harry S. Redfern and George Lee, soldiers, who told the justice that they were borrowing a tire so that they could hurry to Fort Bliss before their passes expired. They were ordered held to answer charges of theft of automobile accessories.

CHAINS PREVENT WEAR.

Many motorists seem to believe that tire chains induce year. Not if they are properly used. Without tire chains the drive wheels tend to spin around more or less on slipper surfaces. Sharp pieces of stone, cinders and other similar material in the road cut the rubber and scrape it deeply, a condition that does not arise when the chains are in place.

COMPRESS

Two blocks of hard wood about six inches square, held together with two small bots with wing nuts, make a useful clamp to compress a dough patch in an inner tube. These have often proved invaluable in emergencies on the road.

PACKARD

NO man need hesitate to buy a Packard Single-Six Car through fear that later in the spring his investment will be depreciated by a reduction in price. The present low figure at which the car is sold discounts every decrease in cost of manufacture discernible for some time ahead, and assures the purchaser the largest possible measure of permanent value. This value is additionally safeguarded by a specific guarantee against price reduction. If you contemplate owning a Packard Single-Six, it is neither wise nor profitable to defer its purchase, since delay means only denying yourself the fine kind of service this car is waiting to give.

DYER ACT EFFECTIVE IN DALLAS

According to a report received by the Auto Theft bureau of Dallas, there were 272 arrests and 159 convictions under the Dyer law during the first year of its operation. The Dyer law, which is the national motor vehicle antitheft act, was introduced by Representative L. C. Dyer of St. Louis, and through the support of the Auto Theft bureau and the National Automobile Dealers' Association, was passed and became effective October 28, 1919.

Sentences aggregating 213 years were imposed and fines totaling $9,050 were assessed under this law, which makes the transporting of a stolen motor vehicle out of the state in which it has been stolen a federal fofense.

Many Arrests Made

The courts with the best records in Dyer law prosecutions are those of New York City, where 24 arrests were made, with 18 convictions; Cincinnati, with 40 arrests and 29 convictions; Cleveland with 15 arrests and 10 convictions; Portland, Ore., with 16 arrests and 16 convictions; Los Angeles, with 18 arrests and nine convictions; Detroit, with 30 arrests and 29 convictions, and Dallas, with five arrests and three convictions.

Of the effective working of the law the United States district attorney at Detroit said: "In these prosecutions we have broken up some well organized gangs of automobile thieves, where they had a complete system of grinding off numbers on stolen cars and replacing them with other numbers and completely disguising the car, so that identification was impossible."

"The most noted case is one which is still partly undisposed of, involving a conspiracy to violate the Dyer act by stealing automobiles at Detroit, transporting them to an eastern seaport and then shipping them to Norway. A large business had been done in this line before the matter was uncovered. The entire gang has been arrested and some have already pleaded guilty, and others are to stand trial.

System Is Explained

"The system in operation in the well organized gangs of automobile thieves is to completely disguise the car immediately after the theft has been committed. This is done by using an electric motor, connected with an ordinary electric socket, which runs an emery wheel used to grind off the numbers from the car. Then, by use of dies and hammer, the thieves will put new numbers on, which completely breaks the identification. They also have number plates where necessary, and also get a line on the keys needed to lock and unlock the cars. This is the reason why a gang operating as automobile thieves will, as a rule, only steal and handle one particular line of cars."

The United States district attorney at Seattle, Wash., in explaining that only one Dyer prosecuthion had been made there, said the defendant had entered a plea of sanity. "That is the only rational explanation of an automobile thief," he said.

The record shows that of the five arrests made under this act in Texas there were three convictions, aggregating 12 years in prison.

U. S. Builds 16,000 Miles of Paved Highway

During 1920 the United States probably built 16,000 to 18,000 miles of hard-surfaced road — that is, roads built of macadam, cement, brick and gravel stone. It is probably not too much to predict that within the next 10 years the building of real hard-surfaced roads will rise to 20,000 miles per annum and then 25,000, and perhaps 30,000 miles, says Paul Clay, in Forbes Magazine, New York.

To the motor truck this means just what the substitution of 100-pound alloy steel fails for wooden stringers has already meant to the railroad. This improvement in the roadbed increased the trainload by about 40,000 per cent. Just so the time will come when a two-ton truck in almost any one of about 40 states of the union will be able to do as much work as is now done by a five-ton truck. As to distances for passenger automobiles, they can be divided in most states by two or three, or in some cases by 10. Already the 400-mile run from New York to Buffalo has been made shorter than many a run of 200 or 100 miles, or even 50 miles, in some of the interior and southern sections.

Automobiles were largely instrumental in creating the demand for good roads, and now the roads are creating a further demand for automobiles.

In 1909 we had in this country only about two cars for every mile of hard-surfaced roads, but now we have 25 cars per mile, there being about 8,000,000 cars and 316,000 miles of hard-surfaced road.

One might say that every mile of new road makes a market for 25 additional cars. This is not literally true, because so many other factors, such as earnings and incomes, enter in; but it is true that the number of cars in use has grown much faster than the mileage of good roads, and that it will probably continue to grow somewhat faster for many years. Hence it is not unreasonable to expect that in the long run the additional cars registered will be equivalent to at least 25 for each additional mile of good road.

Let us notice how this applies to the case. The 12,600 miles of road built in 1919 made room, so to speak, for 315,000 cars and trucks; and the 25,000 miles of road per annum which we shall soon be building will make way at this ratio for 500,000 additional motor vehicles yearly.

Motor Transport Becomes Part of College Courses

Automotive transportation has been added to the regular course in industrial engineering at New York university, beginning with the February term, according to an announcement made by Dean Charles H. Snow of the University School of Applied Sciences.

The new study is the direct result of a series of lectures given to the engineering students of the university last year by F. Van Z. Lane, formerly chief transportation engineer of the Packard Motor Car company and now general maintenance manager of Hare's Motors, the most recently organized large automotive combination.

The course will have more to do with the application of the motor truck than the mechanics of it, according to Mr. Lane. "The motor truck is part of the mechanical equipment of every industry and engineers entering any industry must become more familiar with its application," he says. "The course in motor transportation will deal solely with the application of the truck as a transportation unit in industry and is not to be confused with motor truck design.

"It has been proved, under the most trying circumstances, that the motor truck is mechanically dependable and that by applying it correctly it is an economical means of transport and that to get most efficient service from their equipment those in industry should understand how it can be used with the greatest effectiveness. New York, which is the largest user of motor trucks in the country, is a high laboratory for this work."

Mr. Lane is a graduate of New York university, which conferred upon him the degree of C. E. for traffic work accomplished.

He was engineer in charge of traffic on the Brooklyn and other East River bridges, and later held a similar position in the department of public works, Borough of Manhattan, where he had charge of gathering statistics relative to the widening of a number of important streets. He was the first traffic engineer employed by New York city and laid out some of the most recent routes for the operators of motor busses there and in Chicago. He was executive engineer on the Bayonne Marine Terminal and as engineer to the Chamber of Commerce of Jersey City, was instrumental in promoting the vehicular tunnel now under construction between that city and New York. He has served various city plan commissions, municipalities, civic organizations and industries as transportation engineer and has studied the subject abroad.

This course is the first of its kind to be given by any university in connection with industrial study and will include the following lectures: "The Future of the Motor Truck," "Motor Truck Operating Costs," "Motor Trucks vs. Horses," "Motor Trucks vs. Railroads," "Trailers and Semi-Trailers," "Special Bodies," "Loading and Unloading Devices," "Scheduling, Routing and Dispatching," "Maintenance and Garaging, Hiring, Training and Retaining Drivers."

Auto Association Has Accomplished Much for Members

In review of the work accomplished by the Automobile Association of South Texas, at the meeting held at the Bender hotel in Houston, Thursday night, W. G. Jones, secretary-manager, said that a great deal had been accomplished of value to the membership. Through co-operation with the city, traffic ordinances that are fair to all have been adopted, especially as regards parking of cars, the rent car situation has been simplified, efforts have been and are still being made to abolish the grade crossing on South Main of the San Antonio and Arkansas Pass railroad and more than 4,000 calls for road information have been answered during the year, the secretary said.

Daily Road Report

The association receives a daily report of road conditions from various points throughout the state and acting in co-operation with the auto theft bureau of Dallas, much has been accomplished looking to the suppression of auto thefts. The association has gone on record as favoring the repeal of the suspended sentence law, as advocated by Governor Neff. The continuation of this law on the statute books is regarded as a menace to law and order.

Mention was made of co-operating with The Post touring party, of the improvement in road conditions generally where bad conditions existed, of the work done in obtaining a proper camp for auto tourists at Hermann park, in which the active assistance of the Young Men's Business League was obtained.

Proper Road Signs

It is the intention of the association to pay particular attention to the proper placing of road signs at important junctions around the city in order that auto touring parties, strangers here, may be able to see if they are on the right road. A sample sign, properly marked, and containing the insignia of the association, was on exhibition.

Owing to so much of the time at the meeting being taken up with a discussion of North Side road conditions, other important matters were put off until the next meeting.

"Melting Pot" Fails to Melt Says Lecturer

Record News Staff Bureau.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The "melting pot" fails to melt, according to Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, former president of Cornell university. Speaking at Columbia university under the auspices of the Society of Arts and Sciences, he warned the American people that they must protect themselves from the perils of denationalization by hordes of foreigners difficult to assimilate. He proposed a limit on immigrants to the number and kinds who could be absorbed into American social and economic life.

Discussing the peril of denationalisation, Dr. Schurman added:

"The conclusion is obvious. Either we can never become a homogeneous American people, either unassimilated masses of European nationalities must share our domain with us, or we must set limits to the tide of immigration so that a unified national life and consciousness may remain possible for us."

Dr. Schurman said that he favored the Welty bill permitting immigration of a maximum of 10 per cent of the representatives of any race now domiciled here who had become naturalized and their native born children. He thought it necessary to modify the bill, particularly with respect to unskilled labor.

He gave these figures on the present foreign population:

"We now have in the United States of all the Jews in the world 24 per cent; of all the Scandinavians, 17 per cent; of all the Germans, 13 per cent; of all the Slovaks, of all the Poles and of all the Finns, 8 per cent each; of all the Italians, 7 per cent; of all the Dutch and of all the Lithanians, 5 per cent each; of all the Greeks and of all the French, 3 per cent each."

MANY FAST CARS ENTERED FOR LOS ANGELES RACES

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 26.—Reports of the entry of at least two and possible three fast cars which had not been expected for the five races on Feb. 22 at the Los Angeles Speedway have been going the rounds the last week, but are not confirmed. Two of the cars are said to be Louis Chevrolet's creations, which have been worked over at Indianapolis and are said to be faster than a streak.

Meanwhile the fast time that has been made by Ralph DePalma in practice with his little Ballot has resulted in his being installed as favorite for he races, even hough the entry lists are not open as yet. Just what time Ralph has really made has never been officially given out, but, whatever it was, it was fast enough to create a feeling of apprehension among the other drivers.

The prediction is being freely made that all world's records for 183 cubic inch racers will be annihilated in the course of the quintet of events on Washington's birthday. The drivers have had two full months in which they have completely overhauled and worked on their little cars, until they have tuned them up in concert pitch, and it would not be surprising to the experts to see the average in the neighborhood of 105 miles an hour, possibly more.

GREAT GAIN IS SHOWN.

Officials of the Franklin Automobile company of Syracuse announces that during the last quarter of 1920 the company advanced from 19th to seventh place in value of sales among American automobile manufacturers and from 22nd to tenth place in number of cars produced. All automobile companies, including Ford, were taken into consideration in this calculation.

CRACKED CYLINDER.

For the car owner who likes to do his own repair work here is an interesting way to repair a cracked cylinder. Drill a small hole at each end of the crack and tap it for a copper plug. Scrape the surface near the crack until the metal is bright. Cover the crack with soft copper filings and melt them in with a blow torch. Use a flux rosin dissolved in alcohol.

Good Prospects Are Reflected At Recent Show

"It would appear from indications brought out at the important automobile shows held so far this year, that the tide has turned." F. D. Keim, local Studebaker distributor, said.

"I am citing this merely to illustrate my point and incidently I might add that this was the greatest number of Nash automobiles ever sold at retail during a Chicago show and the record there follows closely similar successful weeks at the New York, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Milwaukee shows. Other leading manufacturers also reported excellent success in New York, Chicago and at the other large expositions held so far this year.

"This does not necessarily mean that the country may face a general shortage of automobiles this coming spring, nor does it mean that business in one bound has come back to normal. It does indicate, however, that conditions throughout the country are showing improvement and that when spring rolls around there will be a very healthy automobile market.

"In the past the annual automobile shows have proved an excellent barometer and the facts presented this year are therefore extremely encouraging. Not only were sales equal to figures of last year and in some instances even better than last year, but attendance records of the various shows point out that the public visited these expositions in larger numbers than ever before.

"In view of these things I believe it is safe to assume that a gradual return to a healthy business condition is distinctly apparent."

LEGS OF ASSASSINATED PRES. GAMBETTA MISSING

Record News Staff Bureau.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—The question of what has become of the legs of President Gambetta has just been raised by a French weekly, following the ceremony when more than a million persons saw the heart of the assassinated French president conveyed in an urn to the Pantheon, where it is to rest forever.

One of the Gambetta's eyes is in the possession of a doctor. His brain and his intestine, perforated by a bullet, are the property of the faculty of medicine, but none of the doctors who assisted at the autopsy and dissection of the body can remember what became of the legs.

Alaska Wants Better Market For Reindeer

Record News Staff Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—"Reindeer steak for two."

That is an order likely soon to be heard in many restaurants throughout the country.

Marketing reindeer meat in the United States is one of the newest problems that has been put up to the beaureau of markets of the department of agriculture for solution. Alaska has approximately 200,000 reindeer, a number that leaves a considerable surplus over what is needed for home consumption. Specialists estimate that Alaska is ready to market 5,000 carcasses at present. The fact that the herds have increased from 10,000 head in 1905 to 200,000 in 1920, indicates how soon the marketing of reindeer will be a real problem.

During the last few years exports of this meat have increased rapidly. In 1914 only 75 carcasses were shipped out of Alaska; in 1920 about 1,600 dressed reindeer carcasses were shipped into the United States. It is thought that within the next 15 years there may be between four and five million reindeer, with an annual surplus of 1,000,000 carcasses that must reach a market somewhere outside the Territory. At present prices, this surplus would be worth $60,000,000.

It is reported that a company with its headquarters in Nome has already established cold storage plants for handling 12,000 carcasses each year. The meat will be held for shipment to the United States.

Distribution costs are high, but production costs are low. At present rates it costs about $110 a ton to transport reindeer meat from Nome to Minneapolis. The Eskimos own 70 per cent of the herds and the only item of production cost is that of herding the animals. Alaskan reindeer weigh about 150 pounds to the dressed carcass, but the average weight can be increased to 300 pounds by cross-breeding the reindeer with the caribou, which is a larger and heavier animal.

Money takes its name from the goddess Moneta, in whose temple in Rome the coinage was made.

Valuable Fur Sold for Song

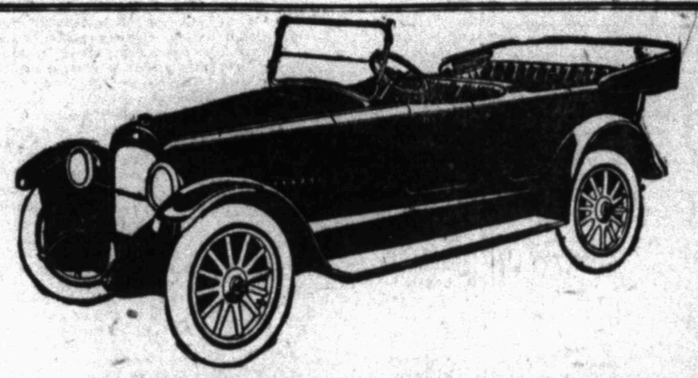

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 26. A genuine Vicuna fur, six feet square in size, that most any furrier would have paid as high as $200 for, has been sold in San Francisco for a mere song.

Walter Ayarca appeared on the streets with the fur for sale and when asked his price quoted $50. It was sold to almost the first person to ask its price.

According to Ayarca the Vicuna fur sold came from Bolivia, South America, from his brother and he sold it in an effort to raise funds on which to return to Bolivia, which is his native country. The Vicuna, he claimed, is a sheep-like animal and exists only in high mountainous country, such as 12,000 feet.

The fur was as soft as a piece of silk and the skin had been tanned and was as smooth as a chamois.

ITALY'S KING PLOWS FURROW WITH TRACTOR

ROME, Feb. 26.—The king of Italy, following the traditions of his predecessors, takes a very keen interest in agriculture. He has repeatedly affirmed, when opening parliament, that the economic salvation of the country could only be found in its agricultural resurrection. The neglect and decay of agriculture, chiefly owing to the civil wars, greatly contributed to the decline and fall of the Roman empire. When the supplies from Sicily and Egypt "the granaries of Italy," were cut off the latter found herself in "a parlous state."

King Victor Emmanuel owns a large estate on the seaboard, about 18 miles from Rome, Castel Progiano, which he farms himself with excellent results. Recently the royal family, including the queen, crown prince and princesses, went down to the farm in order to personally test the merits of a motor plow of Italian make, a Pavesi R.-4, just bought by the king, who wishes to encourage home industries, especially in view of the ruinously high rate of exchange on the dollar.

King Plows Furrow.

His majesty, who understands all about these machines, took command of the steam plow and plowed a very deep and straight furrow extending over the whole field. He then shook hands with the inventor, Engineer Pavesi, and gave him a commission for several more plows of the same type for his other estate of San Rossore, near Pisa. Hitherto all steam plows used in Italy were of American make and this is the first successful experiment with machines of Italian make.

American business men had better realize that the present rate of exchange, artificially upheld, will very likely turn to their disadvantage in the end, because they risk losing some of their best customers, such as the Italians, who will shift for themselves.

COBBLER HEIR TO BIG SHARE OF BILLIONS

Record News Staff Bureau.

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—James Barnard, 68-year-old cobler, is an heir to a billion-dollar estate.

If he gets enough out of his claim to buy himself a good supper he will be satisfied.

It is not that the good-natured cobbler is so poor that he cannot buy a good meal, for he is comparatively well off. He sets the supper as a limit of his possibility of getting any of the wealth to be distributed because he admits that the ability to enjoy a real meal is one of the best gifts of God. He has the gift, he says.

"My family appears to have the record for large family and long living," he says. "That is why there are at least 3,000 claimants for the big estate."

Mr. Barnard is a true philopher. His small shoe repairing store at Quincy Point is a regular club room and meeting place of a score or more men, attracted there by the good fellowship and wit of the genial cobbler.

"Wouldn't be such a bad idea if I could get about $10,000 of that billion and use it to enlarge my store by putting in a reading room and clubroom. The bunch could have shower baths in the basement and a cardroom and poolroom upstairs," said Mr. Barnard.

Force as Large As Army to Stop Hootch Running

Record News Staff Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Let 'em shut the whiskey warehouses. That's the answer of the "wet" boys, the king-pins of the bootleg "rings."

You don't need to go far from your own bailiwick to hear that answer. It's a familiar one, here, there and everywhere.

The "wet guys" as they are termed on the street curb or in the clubs, wherever "booze talk" is heard, now place their chief reliance upon the inability of the government enforcement machine to cope with smuggling.

Smugglers are bringing millions of gallons of whiskey, wines and other choice liquors. And they are doing it with ease. They are doing it with the full knowledge of the government. And the government's enforcement branch is utterly impotent in the face of it.

Commissioner Kramer and his chief assistants readily admit smuggling is now the chief obstacle to prohibition success. The domestic supply can be entirely cut off, they say, but if smuggling at the present rate continues, there will be whiskey in abundance for years to come.

Stop it? How are we going to do it? Kramer is quick to ask. "One dry agent to every hundred thousand people and most of these concentrated in the big cities," Kramer says.

The border and coasts are virtually unprotected against whiskey runners. It will be so for some time, unless congress votes enough money to hire a force as large as the United States army. And congress won't do that for some time to come.

The Woman's International Chamber of Commerce, founded by Mrs. Catherine Clemons Gould, now has branches in China, Turkey, India and Mexico.

SOUTH KEMP-MUNGER-ALLEN SECTION CENTER OF RENEWED INTEREST DURING PAST WEEK

Interest is again attracted to the South Kemp-Munger-Allen section through the accidental opening up of a 1,600-foot sand in the Dee and Bellport test in the Mangold subdivision, in Archer county and a mile from production. Though only showing for a small producer at present, it is flowing, reports state, and gives indication that the sand at this depth can be developed into a nice pay.

The circumstances under which this sand was opened up in the Dee and Bellport test are very similar to those in discovery of the 1,500-foot sand in block 20, to the north, the casing being shot at this depth, preparatory to pulling the pipe to abandon. The shot tore the casing loose and started a flow.

Good Initial Production.

In the block 20 well, the Universal No. 1, the initial production of this shallower sand amounted to more than 150 barrels. The Dee and Bellport test is reported flowing about 20 barrels at present, with the hole not yet plugged off, this being an indication sufficiently encouraging to insure that the testing of the sand will be watched carefully.

There are no definite developments reported from the several tests still under way in block 20. The Universal's No. 2 is reported swabbing some oil and more water, from the 1,500-foot sand and the No. 4 is reported drilling near 1,500 feet.

The second test of W. M. Priddy on the D. G. Jackson, west of block 20, is reported drilling below 500 feet. The No. 1 drilled when the K.-M.-A pool was first being developed, failed to get production.

Gulf to Shoot.

In block 23, and a short distance north of the Universal producers, and tests, the Gulf Production company has finally completed a test of the 1,800-foot sand, which developed salt water. This test will probably shoot the casing at 1,500 feet, in the hopes of finding the shallower sand productive, as did the neighbors to the south.

The block 40 test, the No. 1 Kemp & Kempner, of Jones & Vaughn, is being watched with considerable interest and is now reported drilling around 1,450 feet. This is the first test to be drilled in block 40, since the Boger-Ard-Maer No. 1 in block 41 opened up the South K.-M.-A. pool last summer. The first test, in the northeast part of the block, was a producer. The experiences of other parts of the district, earlier thought to be dry, and later proven producing, has led to a revival of interest in this block.

Electra Gets Extension

A quarter of a mile extension of the Electra 970-foot sand in section 15, H. & G. N. east of the Gladiolus pool, was afforded on Wednesday by the completion of a hundred-barrel well for Fisher & Gilliland on their No. 1 Fisher.

This was originally intended for a test for the 1,400-foot sand, but the shallower sand showed up such good production that it was decided to complete at this depth. Other 970-foot wells will be put down in the next new weeks with a star machine and another 1,400-foot test is also planned, it is understood.

The Gladiolus Oil company's No. 16 Burnett is reported on the 1,400 foot sand, preparing to complete, the No. 17 being completed last week, with a production of 75 barrels from the 970-foot sand. The No. 18 is reported drilling around 300 feet and the No. 19 rigging up to drill.

Cable Tool Test

A cable tool test is scheduled for this South Electra shallow pool, a location for a tool test being reported on the Throckmorton, in the Torrey survey, to the south of the shallow producers, to be drilled by the Oil Issues company.

Last week's heavy snowfall, and the consequent impassable condition of the roads continues to show it's general effect on operations.

The bad weather and casing troubles has held up the testing of the Gulf Production company's No. 13 Burnett A, on the 1,400-foot sand and the W. B. Larkin No. 1 Parker Williams, north of the Gulf's discovery well of this pool, is due for drilling in the last of the week, allowing a week for the cement to set. This latter is also on the 1,400-foot sand.

The Hammond & Haddix No. 1 Burnett, to the southwest of the Gulf's now wells, has been delayed by boiler trouble, according to reports and is now down only about 1,200 feet.

Harris Testing Out.

The W. R. Harris No. 1 Burnett is reported testing the sand at 1,430 feet. The No. 2 Burnett et al of Roy Carter is reported drilling around 700 feet. The Barr Davis Oil company's No. 11 Burnett et al is reported drilling around 750 feet. The Madison Oil & Gas Co.'s No. 4 Burnett is reported drilling around 1,000 feet.

The Churchill Trust company's No. 1 Burnett is reported drilling around 700 feet and the No. 2 same lease is reported a derrick.

The Hub Oil company's No. 6 J. A. Fisher is reported drilling around 800 feet. The No. 1 Burnett of Daniel et al is rported drilling around 1,400 feet.

The Planet Petroleum company's No. 10 Burnett is reported drilling around 900 feet.

Texas Chief to Drill.

In section 1 of the H. & T. B.(the Texas Chief Oil company is reported to have the derrick up for it's No. 1 Burnett, to be drilled with a rotary. This lease is in the section joining the Gulf's Burnett A lease on the west.

On the Edgerly tract, southwest of Burk station, the Iowa Park Land & Leasing Co.'s No. 3 is reported drilling below 1,600 feet, the 1,400-foot sand being broken and failing to show for a producer, according to reports. On this same tract the No. 1 Shepherd et al is reported drilling around 675 feet.

A new derrick is reported up in section 2, H. & T. B. survey, the Iowa Park Producing & Refining Co.'s No. Burnett.

Sunshine Hill District.

The 1918 Oil company's No. 7 M A. Eads is reported drilling around a thousand feet. The No. 2 Ward & Todd of the Mentex Oil company is reported down around 1,200 feet, planning a deep test. The Browning & Browning No.. 1 Ward & Todd is reported drilling around 800 feet. The No. 2 Ward & Todd of the Griswold Oil company is reported drilling around the thousand-foot level.

Of the K. T. Goetz farm, east of Sunshine Hill, the Texas Producers & Shippers No. 3 Goetz is reported shut down on the thousand-foot sand and the No. 1 Goetz of the Texas Triple Oil company is reported down around 500 feet, with the No. 2 a star rig.

New Well in Texhoma.

The E. M. F. Oil company's No. 3 Roller, lease B, completed some time ago as a producer in the 1,000-foot sand, has been deepened to the regular 1,200-foot Texhoma sand, with a resulting production of 75 barrels, according to reports from the field.

The Texhoma Oil & Refining Co. has several new wells drilling in this pool but developments here as in other pools have felt the effect of the cut in oil and the customary slackening of operations for the winter season and new operations are rather scarce.

Old Burkett.

On the G. W. Chapman, south of the town of Clara, the No. 1 Palmer & Chenault is reported to be drilling around 1,500 feet. An oil sand around 750 feet, with a fair showing, is reported to have been encountered, but passed up without testing.

The Hull Tex Oil company's No. 1. C. J. Ferguson, to the east of Clara, is reported to have set a liner in prapartions to test the 1,700 foot sand.

The Magnolia Petroleum company operations in the old Burkburnett field continue to lead in number, but no new developments of importance

Shamrock Corporation's No. 5 Graham Flowing 100 Barrels

The Shamrock Oil corporation's No. 5 Graham, which got an oil sand at 1,885 feet the first of the week, is now flowing at the rate of 100 barrels a day, through 50 feet of casing, according to the latest reports from Graham. The hole is to be cleaned out and cased so that an immediate test can be made, it is understood. This shows the best production yet secured from the 1,900-foot sand in the South Bend district and is the only new development reported from this district for the week.

The Hall & Rutherford No. 1 Stovall, which came in as a gasser last week, is now drilling deeper into the sand, with prospects of making an oil well, according to latest reports. Tankage was being erected on Friday and other necessary preparations for drilling in. The gas sand was drilled into at 2,1600 feet. This well is about two miles northeast of the McCluskey production of the Panhandle Refining company.

Well Increases Flow.

The Panhandle Refining company No. 2 McCluskey, originally a 50,000,000-foot gasser, later bringing itself in a flowing well, has been gradually increasing in production, according to reports from the field, and is now flowing at the rate of 650 barrels a day. The total Panhandle production on this McCluskey lease is between 2,200 and 2,300 barrels daily.

Reports from Graham the latter part of the week showed no new developments in the immediate producing ares, on the Graham and McCluskey on either side of the river and but few changes in the status of tests drilling in outside territory.

Keller Test at 2,600.

The Gulf Production company's No. 1 M. V. Keller is reported drilling below 2,600 feet, with the 2,500-feet sand salt water. This does not give a very promising outlook to the southeast for either the 1,900, 2,100 or 2,500-foot sand. Showings were reported at these various depths in the Keller, but no production was developed.

The Panhandle's Scott well is still waiting on completion, according to the latest information from the field. Bad weather joined with the lack of pipe line connections is delaying the drilling in of this well. Last reports had on the production showed a flow of about 60 barrels from a depth of eight inches in the sand.

The North American-Roxana No. 1 Scott, Ruidoso survey, not far from the Panhandle Scott well, is reported resetting a string of eight-inch casting to relieve the water pressure. The same, 3,100 feet, is to be shot as soon as is possible.

The North American No. 1 Braddock, south of the No. 2 Braddock, which was completed a few weeks ago for 700 barrels in the 2,100-foot sand ,is reported setting casing at 2,500 feet to test the sand.

North American Sand.

The North American's No. 3 Donnell is reported to have the sand at 1,832 feet, 16 feet higher than in No. 1, which made a 50-barrel producer. The casing is now being set and preparations made to complete. When the sand was struck the oil flowed for a short time through a ten-inch hole and is expected to make a better producer than either the No. 1 Donnell, or the No. 1 Pratt, also producing from the shallower sands.

The North American's No. 1 Ford is reported drilling on cap rock at 3,100 feet and expecting to go into the 3,200-foot sand in the next week.

The Beamore & Hivick No. 1 M. B. Dooley, to the southwest of the McCluskey-Graham pool, is reported drilling around 700 feet.

The Konowa Oil company's No. 1 B. C. Stovall in the north part of the pool, is reported drilling around 1,000 feet.

The Panhandle is being held up in it's drilling of Nos. 7 and 8 McCluskey for a permit from the railroad commission. These locations are on the river bank and drilling has been held up because of objections to the proximity of the Seaboard Oil & Gas No. 1 State Lands, drilled in the river bed, on which the company had a lease from the state.

The Godley Oil company's No. 4 M. K. Graham is reported drilling around 2,100 feet and the No. 5 reported drilling around 500 feet.

The Oklahoma Petroleum & Gasoline Co. is reported drilling around 1,500 feet in it's No. 1 M. V. Keller, with the No. 2 a location. This company's No. 4 Graham is reported a rig and the No. 2 McCluskey a location.

The W. R. Shankle test on the M. B. Dooley to the southwest of the producing pool along the river, on the Graham and McCluskey tracts, is reported drilling around 1,850 feet.

Some Things That Saving Implies.

Saving may mean self-denial, but it doesn't mean skimping. It doesn't mean not spending; it means spending wisely, and spending less than you earn. It means putting money aside for the time of need; it means letting your money earn more for you; it means forming a habit that is worth more than the money involved.
