The season just concluded will be the last for a zoned district in 3-AAA, since the district's membership will drop from 11 schools to 8 next season. However, the two zones apparently were fairly well balanced the past season, with the south zone holding a slight edge in overall strength, based on the records, especially the playoff between the top two teams in each zone.

Snyder, the second place team in the South Zone managed to play Lubbock Dunbar, first place winner in the North Zone, to a couple of one-point decisions, one coming in the playoffs. Meanwhile, South Zone Winner Lamesa easily sidetracked Levelland, No. 2 team in the North Zone.

Now, all but Lamesa can look ahead to next year. The Tornadoes should waltz down to Austin, most observers believe, and they should be a contender for the state title.

Snyder's lack of height, something that has been missing around here for years, obviously was its biggest obstacle in the past basketball season. For the most part, however, the local lads did an incredible job on the boards.

Although no giants are in sight, the successful 1969-70 season may be the beginning of better things for high school basketball here. The two ninth grade teams were the strongest across the board in many years. Both have unusual physical muscle for ninth graders.

Both Travis and Lamar Junior Highs would have had fantastic seasons, rather than merely the sensational records they actually posted, if they had not played each other. Four encounters between the two resulted in two victories and two losses for each. Two of the Travis-Lamar games were decided by two points each, and another went into over-time.

Local fans hope the ninth grade record against Lamesa ninth grade is a harbinger of things to come.

Travis ninth graders defeated the Lamesa ninth grade team 72-49 here and 58-30 at Lamesa, and then decisioned the Lamesans 44-39 in a tournament at Big Spring. Lamar ninth grade won here over Lamesa ninth grade, 60-30, and then took a 47-35 decision at Lamesa. Local teams have never had more success than that against basketball teams representing Lamesa.

Laird Unveils Plans For Safeguard Missile Expansion

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird unveiled today plans to defend a third U.S. missile base with Safeguard antiballistic missiles and to prepare five other sites for possible later expansion of the system.

The plans lay the groundwork for the administration to build at least two-thirds of a $12-billion system that some members of Congress fear will become even more expensive.

Laird, testifying before the Senate Armed Services Committee, called t "the minimum we can do and must do" to defend against missiles of the Soviet Union and the emerging Red Chinese nuclear threat.

The administration initiated the Safeguard system last year with defenses of two Air Force Minuteman bases at Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana and Grand Forks Air Force Base in North Dakota.

Under the latest expansion, which will involve annual spending at this point of only $920 million because of the early stage, Laird said the administration plans to:

—Deploy an additional Safeguard defense site at Whiteman Air Force Base, another Minuteman complex.

—Begin advanced preparation work on five other sites "without a deployment commitment" in the northeast, northwest, the Washington, D.C., Warren Air Force Base in Wyoming and in the Michigan-Ohio area.

—Deploy additional short range Sprint intercepters in the originally defended missile complexes at Grand Forks and Malmstrom.

The primary aim of the Safeguard system is to protect the U.S. retaliatory force against Soviet missiles.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., in advance of Laird's presentation of the administration's proposals, said he opposes expansion of the Safeguard system until evaluation of the sites in Montana and North Dakota has been made.

School Lunch Bill Proposals Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate focused today on more new proposals to broaden the scope of a school lunch bill after voting to authorize the federal government to pay the full cost of bringing free or reduced-price lunches to needy school children.

Among the series of amendments to be offered during floor debate is one by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., making eligible for school lunches all children from families of four with $4,000 or less annual income.

Javits' amendment provides for equivalent adjustments for different size families. Under the current program, individual school principals determine eligibility by applying widely varying standards.

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., chairman of the special Senate hunger committee, won 38 to 32 approval Monday of the amendment stepping up federal participation in the program.

The 100 per cent financing feature overrode the Senate Agriculture Committee, which had written into the measure authorization for the federal government to pay 80 per cent of the cost.

Other provisions of the McGovern amendment would:

Require each state to submit a plan designed to bring every school district and every eligible child under the national school lunch program.

Require each school to report monthly the number of children eligible for free lunches and the number who actually received them.

Base the allotment of federal funds to each state for free and reduced priced lunches on the number of families in the state with annual incomes of $4,000 or less. The Agriculture Committee had voted to make the income factor $3,000.

No Hitch In Transfer Of Funds

AUSTIN (AP) — The state comptroller's department said today there has been no hitch in the transfer of funds to the Public Welfare Department to avoid announced cuts April 1.

"The transfer is in the process of being made now," said Hugh Edburg, head of the accounting division.

Edburg stressed that the transfer could not, and would not, at any time exceed the $80 million ceiling that voters put on state participation in public welfare benefits, which affect only the scheduled cuts in aid to dependent children payments. The $80 million ceiling does not apply to needed money for medicaid payments, which is a federal-state program originated by congress.

"However, the legislature only appropriated $75 million so that leaves us $5 million more," he said.

The order from Gov. Preston Smith made a transfer within the general revenue fund, from authority to spend money for new medical schools at Lubbock and Houston to the public welfare fund.

Smith said last week that $13.5 million would eventually be transferred, and more might be needed at a later date.

City Awards 3 Contracts

The Snyder City Council awarded three contracts at a special session Monday afternoon.

A proposal submitted by Metalboard Corp. of Lubbock to furnish 100 two-cubic yard dump boxes for the city sanitation department was accepted. The proposal was the lowest of eight received at the council's regular meeting on Feb. 2, but action had been delayed pending an inspection of the firm's products. The 100 boxes will cost $12,470.

Also awarded were contracts to provide water and sewer service to the Ritz-Craft plant. The city accepted the proposal of Clowe and Cowan of Lubbock to furnish 2,900 feet of eight-inch water line and fittings at a cost of $7,167.50, the lowest of five proposals received.

Plains Utility Co. of Lubbock was successful bidder on installation of water and sewer lines to the Ritz-Craft site. It submitted a proposal of $4,625 to install 3,100 feet of water line and 800 feet of sewer line, the lowest of three bids submitted.

Nixon Welcomes Pompidou

By ENDRE MARTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — French President Georges Pompidou arrived for a state visit today and was welcomed by President Nixon as head of the nation which is "our oldest friend and oldest ally in Europe."

Several thousand invited guests joined Nixon in welcoming the French chief of state in ceremonies on the White House lawn, as a helicopter brought him from an overnight stay at Camp David, Nixon's mountain retreat in nearby Maryland.

In two days of talks, Nixon said, he and Pompidou will touch on "the great problems of the world. We will work together for liberty and independence of all people."

A white tie dinner at the White House honors Pompidou Tuesday night, and Nixon will attend a dinner Wednesday at the French Embassy in a special show of courtesy to a visitor who faces possible demonstrations against his country's aid to Arab nations.

At the Capitol, meanwhile, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Pompidou will be treated "with the full courtesy due a visiting head of state and an old ally" when he addresses a joint session of Congress Wednesday.

Campus Gift Is Accepted

The Scurry County Junior College District Board of Trustees last night voted unanimously to accept a free, 160-acre campus, which represents the third major step toward establishing a two-year community college here following creation of the district last November.

The vote was unanimous to accept "site 11" on the list of potential campus sites. This is the site offered as a gift to the college by Jonisue Stiff. It is located just south of Cogdell Center and is on the east side of the Round Top Road.

Board President M. L. Broman said the decision was made following exhaustive studies of 12 sites which had been offered the college for various figures, ranging from outright gifts, such as the one accepted, to prices of several hundred dollars per acre.

However, price of the land alone, or lack of it, was not necessarily the determining factor in selection of the site, it was emphasized. Basically, the process of site selection was attacked from many angles. The board itself was concerned primarily in its appraisal with the "tangible" factors, such as cost of the property, cost of water and sewer lines, cost of development of streets, etc., on the campus. At the same time, the college district's architects were studying factors of a more intangible nature, such as size, shape, topography, trees and vegetation, access, view (both to and from), and adjacent land factors.

The site selected topped all others on the composite score.

The cost of development (streets, water lines, etc.) for the site selected was slightly less than for others, based on current estimates, and the land itself, of course, was offered free of charge.

Broman said one site could have cost as much as $475,000 ultimately, and the cost factors ranged downward from that point.

In making their studies of potential sites, which included soil analysis, architects actually looked at several pieces of property not included in the 12 sites which had been proposed by owners, it was revealed. The site selected last night still ranked highest on the basis of the dozen or so factors considered in evaluating the various pieces of property.

Work is expected to proceed immediately on plans for the first construction work on the site after the property is officially conveyed to the college district, which is expected to take place later this week.

Meanwhile, the college board made plans to set up offices for administrators in the Standard Oil Co. building at Thirty-seventh Street and Avenue S. Broman said Standard had approved a proposal for renting 11 offices to the college for a 15-month period for $750 per month.

The approach of more expenditures associated with launching the college's building project is expected to require a budget of $9,800 for the month of March and this was approved by the board last night. The college district is operating on short-term interim budgets in its planning stages.

The board wound up its session after compiling a list of names of possible members of an occupational committee which will be appointed by the college. People associated with various types of occupations will be on this committee, which will serve the college in an advisory capacity in setting up vocational courses.

The junior college district board plans to meet again on Tuesday, March 3.

30 Feared Dead In Swiss Slide

RECKINGEN, Switzerland (AP) — An avalanche crashed through this sleeping village at dawn today and 30 persons were feared dead.

Seven bodies were recovered, but 10 hours after the slide struck 23 persons were still listed as missing.

Villagers said there is "no hope" for those still buried. Many of the victims were Swiss army officers whose barracks was crushed by the masses of snow which piled up 30-feet high. They were attached to a small antiaircraft unit stationed in the village.

More than 20 persons were dug out alive, but several were badly injured and in a critical condition.

A storekeeper's wife, Mrs. Leo Muller, said "I didn't hear the slide. I was awakened by uproar and shouting in the village—I thought someone had been celebrating. My husband and I rushed outside and saw that the military barracks and seven houses had been razed.

"The soldiers had no chance—two of their bodies were decapitated. There is no hope for the rest still under the snow."

Reckingen is in Valais state about 20 miles northeast of the town of Brig.

One of those rescued was the manager of the small local airport. A helicopter flew him to a hospital, and he was reported badly hurt. His wife and children were missing.

The Swiss Avalanche Institute in Davos has been giving constant warnings of snow slides throughout the Swiss Alps because of varying temperatures and a buildup of huge masses of wet snow.

Thirty-nine persons were killed in a snowslide Feb. 10 at Val d'Isere, in the French Alps more than 100 miles southwest of the site of today's slide.

British Will Not Service Arab Planes

LONDON (AP) — Ground employes of British Overseas Airways Corp. said today they will not service planes for the eight Arab airlines flying into London's Heathrow Airport.

They also said they would not provide the push and start facilities for El Al the Israeli airline.

A spokesman said the ban was imposed because of fears of inadequate security, raised by the explosion that crashed a Swissair jet bound for Israel Saturday. The ban affects Royal Jordanian Airlines, Syrian Arab, Sudan Airways, Saudi Arabian, Kuwait Airways, Iraqi Airways, Middle East Airlines and United Arab

Parents—your teen-agers aren't infants

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am nearly 15 years old and my parents are all the time giving me big long lectures on what to do and what not to do with my boyfriend. Well, I know enough not to get into any trouble, but what bugs me is when my mother says I shouldn't give a boy a "serious kiss" because it's unsanitary!

I say, "How about you and Dad? YOU kiss, don't you?" Then she says, "Yes, but we are IMMUNE to each other."

Well, they haven't always been immune, have they?

Please answer this in your column. My Mom thinks I am a dumb kid. NOT SO DUMB

DEAR NOT: There are better reasons for avoiding the "mouth-to-mouth resuscitation-type" kiss at your age. I think your Mom is giving you a kindergarten lecture when a baccalaureate sermon would be more appropriate.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure this will sound like one of your more strange letters, but it's true. I wish my husband and his girl friend would make up!

Something evidently happened between them and now he is so miserable, he's practically sick. In turn, he is making me and our children miserable, as well.

When my husband is happy with her, he is happy at home and is so much easier to get along with. I suppose he treats me and the children better out of a guilty conscience, but at least we're treated with consideration and generosity, so it doesn't matter why.

Don't get me wrong. I most certainly do not approve of my husband's having a girl friend, but after all these years, there is nothing I can do about it, and I do not intend to give up all we have accumulated together and let her reap the rewards.

I love him in spite of her. He is all I've ever had and ever want, but somehow he must need her, too. I don't know what's in store for all of us, her husband included, the poor boob. He can't seem to put a stop to it either.

In the meantime, Abby, it's silly, isn't it? Wanting your husband to make up with his girl friend. What can I do?

UNDERSTANDING WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It strikes me that perhaps you're being a little too "understanding." But you know your husband better than I do, so if you are willing to settle for half a loaf, then bide your time, pray for the breaks, and wait for the weather to change. And lotsa luck.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to the home of a relative for supper. Just before leaving our house, she called and asked if we would please stop at the store and pick up a "few items."

We said we would be glad to, and we did. The items cost us $7.00. All we had was $11 to last us until payday, which was a week away, and that person knew we were short on funds when she asked us.

We didn't want to embarrass anybody, so we didn't say anything. How would you have handled the situation?

BROKE

DEAR BROKE: Simple. As I handed over the "items," I would have presented the receipt, with a request for my money.

DEAR ABBY: Re "hippies." My son was a hippie. He would not wash, shave, or have a haircut. If allowed, he would wear his clothes until they fell off him. He performed natural functions in public that are best done in private. If thwarted, he demonstrated with behavior most obnoxious until his wishes were partly met or some other recompense was made.

I say, "was" because since his first birthday he has been giving up these bad habits. W. J. P.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Texas Has More Soupy Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Soupy weather persisted across Texas today, and it seemed like early spring instead of waning winter.

For a third straight day there was light rain or drizzle this morning in all sections except the Panhandle-Plains, where the moisture took the form of fog.

Temperatures sagged to the upper 30s in the Panhandle and High Plains but ranged from the 40s into the 60s elsewhere before dawn.

Forecasts called for the rainfall to start ending gradually from the west, but it was expected to last into Wednesday in the south central and eastern parts of the state.

Looking ahead a bit, long range predictions for the rest of the week held out prospects for a disturbance moving eastward through Arizona to bring snow in the Davis and Guadalupe Mountains east of El Paso by Thursday night.

Cooling was forecast in all sections by the weekend, with the added possibility of showers about Friday in South Central and Southeast Texas.

Rainfall measurements Monday included Laredo .98 inch, Austin .93, Corpus Christi .80, San Antonio .78, Victoria .64, Alice .58 and Fort Worth .50.

Temperatures early today ranged down to 38 degrees at Dalhart and 39 at Amarillo while it was still 62 at Corpus Christi and 66 at Brownsville.

Martin Dies Testifies

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. was among those subpoenaed to testify before a federal grand jury today, U. S. attorney disclosed.

Dies was one of eight witnesses called by the grand jury as it resumed its probe of a North Texas legislative race.

U.S. Atty. Seagal Wheatley said the others subpoenaed included Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service; Houston banker Walter Mischer; Childress publisher Morris Higley, and Memphis, Tex., insurance man A. L. Gailey.

Also, Quanah Chamber of Commerce president Clark Burkett; Sam Russell, manager of the West Texas Utilities Co. in Quanah; and Bill Sayles, a registered lobbyist for the West Texas Utilities Co.

Dies was ordered to bring all records of political contributions to Rep. W. S. Heatly of Paducah and State Treasurer Jesse James "or committes operating on their behalf in all political races for the last eight years," Wheatly said.

Seven men and one woman testified two weeks ago as the grand jury bgan investigating alleged pressure involving the race for the Texas House seat that Rep. Heatly holds.

GM Lays Off 2,200 Workers

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. says it will lay off 2,200 workers indefinitely March 19 at assembly plants in Baltimore, Md., Kansas City, Mo., and Fremont, Calif.

The nation's largest automaker also announced Monday brief layoffs at numerous plants in the next month. GM said the closings are being made to bring auto production in line with sales.

Search Extended For Sisters

BUTLER, Ala. (AP) — A search for two small sisters kidnaped by two young men was extended nationwide today, the FBI said. Officers said a stepbrother of the mother of the children is sought for questioning.

Fletcher Thompson, Mobile FBI agent, said an investigation is being made to determine if the case involves a violation of the federal kidnap law.

Choctaw County Sheriff Leon Clark said the girls—3-year-old Tina Cain and 2-year-old Tiffany—were taken at gunpoint Monday by two long-haired men who tied up the girls' aunt in her trailer home.

The sheriff quoted the men as saying the father, Alan Cain, owed a $4,000 gambling debt. Cain commented later, "That's a lot of bunk."

Cain and his wife, Debra Cheyrl Cain, have been separated for a year and she was last reported in Tucson, Ariz.

Clark said Mrs. Cain telephoned the aunt, Mrs. G. W. Rozzell, from Tucson Monday and said she had heard a radio news report of the kidnaping. The sheriff said the mother asked about the circumstances.

Officers said Mrs. Cain's stepbrother, Donald Bradford Lee Jones, 24, of Jacksboro, Tex., was sought for questioning. They said no charges have been filed against him.

Cain, an employe of an oil exploration firm, was working at Laurel, Miss., when the girls were taken.

Houston Men Face Car Theft Charges

Two Houston men who allegedly stole a car here last week are being sought on warrants issued by City Judge Gene Dulaney. The warrants were sent to Houston and City Police there were notified of the charges, officers said.

The suspects are Larry Quillen and Fred Turner, who said they were hired to re-possess a 1968 Model Ford.

Authorities here said the repossession was illegal.

Riot Trial Defendants Get Haircuts

CHICAGO (AP) — Six of the seven defendants in the recent Chicago riot trial have been given haircuts to conform with standards at Cook County Jail.

Warden Winston E. Moore said their hair was clipped to "a reasonable length" for sanitary reasons Monday.

David T. Dellinger, at 54 the oldest of the group, is balding and conforms to jail standards, Moore said.

Dellinger, Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis, 29; Thomas E. Hayden, 30; Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, 31, and Jerry C. Rubin, 31, were convicted last week of crossing state lines with the intent to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

They were sentenced to five years in prison and fined $5,000 each, plus the cost of prosecution.

The U.S. District Court jury acquitted John R. Froines, 31, and Lee Weiner, 31, but they and the other five had been sentenced earlier by Judge Julius J. Hoffman to varying terms in prison for contempt of court.

Abbie Hoffman, quipped, "You're ruining my movie career," when another inmate began applying the shears and clippers.

Lawyers for the seven have asked the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to let their clients out on bond pending appeal of the sentences.

American Medicine Topic Of Altrurian Daughters

Dr. Harry Ward was guest speaker at a meeting of the Altrurian Daughters Study Club, addressing the group on the subject, "What's New in American Medicine."

He began by noting that the United States is 13th in infant mortality. He said the nation needs to take a serious look at the mother-child situation and perhaps eliminate some major difficulties which have been great causes of mental deficiency.

The result depends on the amount of care that gets to the patient and the need is great for education to get patients to come to the care, Dr. Ward said. Many people, especially those in city ghettos, do not realize they need help, he said.

Dr. Ward said rapid transition must be made in the psychiatric field for both young and old. In older people, physically well, but with minds deteriorating, there has been a loss rather than a gain, he said. Psychiatrists and their manpower shortage and changing situations are not prepared for this. More doctors are needed, especially those interested in people, he declared.

It was pointed out that there are only two medical schools in Texas and the need seems much greater, since it takes many years to turn out a practicing doctor.

Last year, Dr. Ward said, six billion dollars was spent on legal drugs, and there is no way to estimate how much was spent on illegal drugs.

He said there is a loss of interest in all sciences resulting in a loss of personnel to delve into scientific problems as related to medical science per se. Students apparently are losing interest in research but prefer to deal with people.

Pharmacology and biochemistry have provided the necessary knowledge to make new and more patent drugs, but no one has been able to provide the necessary safeguards, Dr. Ward said.

Mrs. Ross Carroll Jr. presided at the meeting and led the group in the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Sixteen members and one guest, Mrs. Marcia Leake, attended.

Facts About Eggs

1. Medium eggs are the best quality and the best priced. Jumbo eggs break easily and aren't as tasty.

2. Eggs with blood spots in them should be thrown out. It doesn't mean the egg has been fertilized, but that the hen dropped a speck of blood while laying it.

3. "Fresh" means eggs are anywhere from three to 30 days old.

4. "Storage" eggs have been kept in a cold temperature from 30 days to a year.

5. An egg which comes with a crack in it should not necessarily be thrown out unless it looks yellowish. If it wasn't properly sanitized, it could contain food poisoning.

6. Brown eggs are laid by heavy breeders. Some people feel they have a stronger tast. They are very popular in New England and in farm country, though New Yorkers prefer white eggs, The brown egg has a better quality shell.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q.—Our doorbell stopped ringing recently. I am fairly handy around the house, but I never fool around with electricity. However, I remember reading that there is an easy way to tell if the pushbutton is out of order and requires a replacement. Can you tell me how?

A.—The voltage necessary to operate a doorbell is so little as to be virtually harmless. Even under the worst conditions, the most you would get would be a tiny, almost imperceptible vibration. Under normal conditions, you will feel nothing.

To test whether a pushbutton is at fault, disconnect it from the outside wall by taking out the two screws. Two wires will be attached to two screws inside the button mechanism. If one of them is loose, there's your trouble. Reconnect it and the bell will work. But if both wires are securely attached, place the metal part of a screwdriver across the two screw terminals. If the bell rings, then the pushbutton is the culprit. Clean the contact points with emery cloth or sandpaper. If the bell doesn't ring when the wires are attached and you push the button, buy a new pushbutton, attach it and the trouble will be over.

When, during your original inspection, the bell fails to ring when you make the screwdrier test, the problem is with the bell itself, the dry-cell batteries (some doorbells still use them), the wiring or, very infrequently, the transformer. When a bell rings constantly and doesn't stop, two uninsulated wires are touching, causing a short circuit, in which case you have to trace the wires and find the break.

Q.—This isn't a question, but I thought some of your readers might be interested in a little trick I've learned. After applying a varnish remover, I wait until it softens the old varnish or paint. I then cover the entire surface with wood shavings. I then wipe the whole thing with a dry cloth. The old finish comes off with the wood shavings, which absorb the usual goo that results when you use a scraper.

A.—We'll try it out on our next varnish-removing job. Thanks.

Religious Creations On A Man And His God

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Presbyterian Church has started the World Arts Foundation, a nonsectarian, but religion-oriented, patron of the arts.

Purpose is "to foster the creation of works of art which enable man to better understand his relationship to himself and to his God."

Money will be used primarily to commission works from individual artists and to disseminate the works as widely as possible. For example, the first project will be to commission 20 to 25 established artists from various countries to do lithographs. Graham Grove, president of the World Arts Foundation, says, "We hope to road show those around to churches and then take them abroad. We hope to have them out by Christmas."

Richard Gilbert, chairman of the United Presbyterian Church's Division of Mass Media, says, "Our over-all theme is man's ultimate concerns—his relationship to God and to his fellow man. That is the umbrella. The artist is free to choose under that. The beauty of our foundation is that its scope is as wide as any man's search for truth. Its focus can be as humanistic or as explicitly Biblical as anyone wants to make ot.

"We are not going to ask artists to wheedle propaganda or follow any line. If there are shocks, that is fine.

"Artists know you don't sell ideas, you have experiences, and from those come a whole spectrum of ideas. We're asking artists for insights not to be theologians."

Gilbert is the man who became enthusiastic about Grove's idea for a foundation and got the United Presbyterian Church behind it.

The foundation would like to commission a rock opera, perhaps produce its premiere at a big festival—it invisions annual festivals—and then tour it to rock palaces and "squarer" halls and distribute recordings of it.

Grove says, "We're going to set up a distribution outfit for circulating records through churches so that the over-30 generation would be exposed, too.

"Kids are so much into the search for meaning in their lives too. We're against further polarization of generations."

The World Arts Foundation also wants to commission films, paintings, drama, dance, books, architecture, television shows, sculpture, hymns, etc.

One project to be done by the Dallas Repertory Theater, will be the production of children's films, with the general subject of creativity. First recording to be distributed will be Duke Ellington's sacred concert. The foundation hopes to distribute to churches scores and librettos for Benjamin Britten's one-act religious operas and new music for church choirs and organists.

What the foundation won't get into that many foundations do is giving money to performing arts groups, like theater repertory or dance companies.

First, of course, money is needed. Gilbert says, "We're going down millionaire's row and hoping to combine their interest in art and their interest in their church. They are parallel in most of their minds. For many, the man of God and the man who searches for reality are one.

Grove says, "We're aiming at an endowment of $5 million, with a minimum of $1.5 million to spend every year. We're interested in setting up projects which will be self-supporting, like the record and film distribution."

Gilbert says that artists have "no hesitation about working in the precincts of the church. Most major artists have accepted commissions on specific themes, like Dali and Chagall. I would hope we could commission Leonard Bernstein to go beyond his 'Chichester Psalms.'

"And the rock writers are religious more so than your average priest and minister, if you define religion as the search for God and the celebration of life."

Today there are 450 cheeses of 18 major varieties, but many are merely named after different towns and differ only in shape or the method of packing.

SOME CHOICE!

THEY NEED MONEY VERY BADLY

Broker Houses Going Public

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some time during the year, as early as this spring perhaps, investors will be telling their Wall Street brokerage houses a thing or two, and the brokers are going to have to take it in public.

It could be embarassing. These are the people, you know, who have been telling the world all about other companies. But seldom have thy solicited other opinions on how to manage their own affairs.

For many years they operated as partnerships, and partners might fight among each other but they keep their mutual secrets, it being in the interest of their common goals, whch part, nership implies.

Now they need money—very badly. And so, Homburg in hand, they will be coming to the public in search of it. They will be, in the language of their business, going public. This is the year of the Wall Street cotillion; at least 12 firms are expected to "come out" public capital.

When a company goes public it offers its shares to outsiders. It invites those outsiders to put up their money, and with any investment there always comes an opinion, unsolicited or not.

For example, there is a thing called the price-earnings ratio.

A young, aggressive company in a growing industry might have a ratio as high as 60 or more, because people believe its future is good. IBM, Polaroid, Xerox, and Control Data have had them.

An older company with a stodgy image won't do nearly as well. General Motors, which is the world's mightiest corporation, has a P-E of only 11.

What kind of a P-E will investors put on the brokerage houses that now intend to go public?

Last year, when there was widespread speculation as to what sort of an opinion the public would have, some analysts talked about P-E ratios of 20 or 30 to 1. That was last year.

Since then brokerage firms have reported their profits—or more correctly in some cases, their losses.

Some brokers, in fact, might just as well forget an ideas of going public for the moment. In order to sell shares you have to give the public information, and the less said about the past of some firms the better.

Managment? Good management, so many brokers have told investors, is the clearest indication of a company's future. "Look at the men at the helm," they said, "and we'll tell you its direction."

The question before the Street now is how well its own managment will stand up to the criterion it taught millions of investors. How, for example, will investors evaluate the record-keeping mess in the back offices?

Still other fascinating questions:

Assuming they go public, what will Merrill Lynch think of Paine Weber, and how highly, or lowly, will duPont rate Bache? Will they be able to recommend each other? Or, for the sake of good taste, must they remain silent.

How will partners who for years listened to nothing but their inner voices take to the notion of stockholders telling them what to do?

Despite these imponderables, and Wall Street traditionally has prided itself on being able to make up its mind—right or wrong—brokers must go before the public and undergo public scrutiny. No more big secrets.

The simple fact is that firms need additional permanent capital to finance long-range programs that require millions of dollars for people, computers and automation—and even to rectify errors of the past.

Junior Editors Quiz on ILLINOIS

QUESTION: Why was Illinois nicknamed "The Sucker State"?

• • •

ANSWER: As shown in the picture, Illinois lies directly below the Great Lakes, which are enormous areas of fresh water. Lake Michigan extends a finger down to touch the north eastern part of Illinois; and here lies huge Chicago, the hub of U.S. manufacturing power. Iron for steel and coal for power lie close by. The Great Lakes serve as a water highway to the world. Illinois has been nicknamed The Prairie State because its vast level grasslands form part of the huge range of fertile lands in the midwest which help feed America. It is also called The Land of Lincoln, because this great president lived from 1837 to 1861 in Springfield, now capital of the state. Why, then, is this rich and glorious state also called The Sucker State? Because the swarms of miners, who used to come to the lead and zinc mines of Galena in the spring and leave when the snow began to fly, reminded the year-round settlers of the sucker fish. This primitive toothless fish always swims up the Illinois creeks in the spring and returns to deep waters in the fall.

Checkup On Your Status

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—In a civilization where prestige is almost everything, it pays to make a periodic checkup of how your own is faring.

For example, your status is still probably on the upgrade if—

When a neighbor comes over to borrow a cup of gin, he stays respectfully outside the back door for fear of tracking dirt on your new kitchen rug.

In contributing to an office collection, you reach for your billfold instead of scrounging through the coins in your side pocket.

If you go to the funeral of a prominent man, your name is printed as being one of the mourners.

When ordering a foreign wine at a restaurant, you can pronounce it without the waiter either looking mystified or smirking up his sleeve.

If the executive vice president of your firm gets nw draperies in his office this month, you know that next month you'll get some too—and without having to ask.

Instead of having to depend on the stenographic pool, you have two secretaries for your very own self—one to look at, one to do the work.

Your wife still feels she is entitled to call you by your nickname when the two of you are alone, but in public she invariably refers to you as "Mister——".

Before starting to repair the potholes along you block, a foreman from the street department phones to apologize for the noise his work gang will make.

No longer is your wallet stuffed with dozens of credit cards. You carry a single credit card rated so highly it will buy you anything except passage through St. Peter's gate.

You don't have coffee breaks. They are for the white collar peasants. What you have twice a day are "broker breaks," when your stockbroker phones to give you his latest inside tips.

When you start to tell a joke at the office water cooler, the faces of the hangers-on there begin to twitch prematurely—so they'll be sure to be ready to chuckle or laugh appreciatively when you reach the punchline.

The robins don't sing outside your bedroom windows until noon on Saturdays and Sundays because they don't want to disturb your weekend slumbers.

Kilgore Winner Of Cleanest City Award

KILGORE, Tex. (AP) — The city of Kilgore won the award for the "highest degree of accomplishment shown by a city under 25,000 population" in the national cleanup contest today.

This is the third time Kilgore has won the award sponsored by the National Congress of Beautification.

Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Tex., said he was "immensely proud" of Kilgore.

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce were on hand to accept the award.

McAllen Man Killed In One-Car Accident

McALLEN, Tex. (AP) — A 40-year-old McAllen man died Monday in a one-car accident near this South Texas city.

Dead on arrival at a local hospital was Alfonso Soto.

Officers reported that Soto's car apparently ran off the road and slammed broadside into a palm tree. It was raining at the time.

Man Pays Old Doctor Bill

DALLAS (AP) — Employes estimated a man who appeared at offices of the Dallas County Medical Society was in his 70s.

Obviously feeble, he was trying to find a doctor who sent him a $10 bill, never paid, for treatment given in 1934.

He was so disturbed at being told there was no record of the physician that the employes made another search. They found the doctor died in 1954.

To ease the former patient's distress, someone suggested he might donate the $10 to a hospital in memory of the late doctor.

Later in the day the man reappeared. He carried a letter stating $20 had been given to Children's Medical Center, explaining he wanted this information "in the doctor's record."

NCAA Bids Are In The Offing

By MIKE GUCHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Highly rated St. Bonaventure, Jacksonville and New Mexico State are ready to snatch up NCAA basketball tournament bids today with the National Invitation Tournament likely to get a better than usual crop of leftovers.

The NCAA selection committee is expected to announce its field of three teams from Kansas City starting at 9:30 a.m. EST, for the tournament which begins with the regionals March 7.

St. Bonaventure, ranked third in the Associated Press weekly major college basketball poll, is marked for one of three East at-large berths and New Mexico St., No. 5, should be one of two West selections.

However Jacksonville, No. 6, could be picked for either the East or one of two teams in the Mideast.

With Utah State, No. 20, appearing to be the other West selection, that leaves six more teams to be picked for at-large berths.

Marquette, No. 8, Notre Dame, No. 13 and Houston, No. 15, are certain to be selected, with Villanova, Duquesne, and Dayton strong possibilities and Georgetown, D.C., Holy Cross and Creighton still in the running.

The rest of the 25-team field comes from conference champions with Western Kentucky winner of the Mid-American Conference, and No. 1 Kentucky, tops in the Southeastern Conference, already in.

Niagara, with All-American Calvin Murphy, also might get a bid, although the Eagles have expressed a desire to play in the NIT, which can make selections for its 16-team field two hours after the NCAA opens its doors.

The NIT is certain to take Pete Maravich-led Louisiana State, runnerup to Kentucky in the Southeastern. With Maravich and Murphy, the NIT would have two of the most colorful players in the country.

Other independent teams headed for the NIT, which offers the attraction of playing in New York's Madison Square Garden starting March 13, appear to be St. John's and Manhattan, Army and Georgia Tech.

Three more selections could come from those teams passed over by the NCAA—among Villanova, Duquesne, Dayton, Georgetown, Holy Cross and Creighton.

The NIT lost either Columbia or Pennsylvania, the runnerup in the Ivy League, when the Ivy let more than one team go to a post-season tournament—the NCAA.

But the NIT can get also-rans from the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Missouri Valley Conference, the Western Athletic Conference and the West Coast Athletic Conference along with the Southeastern.

From the ACC, the NIT is expected to offer two bids to runnersup from among South Carolina, No. 4, North Carolina State, No. 14, and North Carolina, No. 19.

Either Drake or Louisville and possibly Cincinnati could go from the MVC, Texas—El Paso or Utah is a possibility from the WAC along with either Santa Clara or Pacific from the WCA.

Conference winners look to be UCLA, No. 2, in the Pacific 8; Iowa, No. 9, in the Big Ten; Rice in the Southwest; Kansas State, No. 17, in the Big Eight; Ohio U. in the Mid American, and Weber State in the Big Sky.

The middle Atlantic, Atlantic Coast and Southern conference winners are determined by a postseason tournament.

Minnesota's Williams Arena is the largest college-owned basketball facility in the world. It seats 18,025 but held 20,176 for a 1955 game with Iowa.

Jr. Girls Break Even

BIG SPRING — The Snyder Junior High volleyball teams broke even in several matches here yesterday.

Lamar 9th beat Big Spring 15-13, 1-5 and 15-9; Lamar 8th A team lost to Goliad 12-15, 14-16 and Lamar 8th B team won over Goliad 15-11, 15-7.

Travis took on Runnels and the 9th grade lost 4-15, 3-15, but the 8th grade A team won 15-11, 15-12. Paula Smith scored four points for the 9th graders while Sheryl Asberry and Sue Jane Sullivar tallied 11 and 10 points respectively for the 8th grade A team. The 8th grade B team was beaten decisively.

Friday, the 9th grade Lamar bunch visits Colorado City for a 5 p.m. clash while the 8th and 9th grade Travis teams tangle with the "B" team at SHS at 4 p.m. Thursday.

The varsity girls will be at Colorado City Friday for matches that follow the Jr. High tussles.

Bulls Bump Rockets, Slip Into Third

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Chicago Bulls have departed their home-away-from-home in the 1970 pro basketball season in a much happier frame of mind than they started.

The Bulls edged the San Diego Rockets 127-125 here Monday night in the only professional game scheduled.

It was Chicago's last of eight appearances in Municipal Auditorium this season, and gave them an even split in their games here.

"It was nice to wind up here like that," Coach Dick Motta said. "We didn't have a very pleasant debut here."

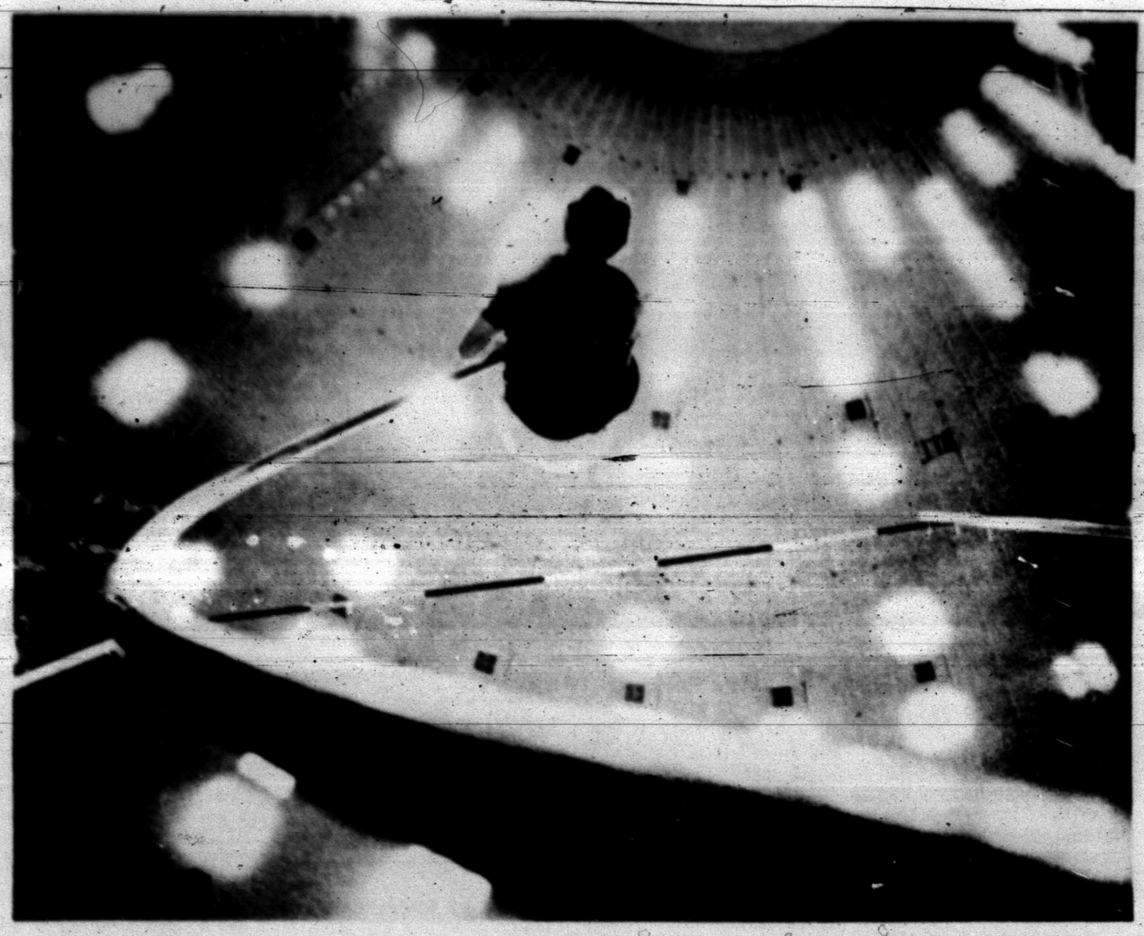

The Bulls lost to Detroit and Baltimore in their first two tests here and Motta said at the time that playing in Kansas City was just like playing eight more games on the road for the Bulls.

"I guess we sort of got used to it being our second home," he said Monday after the Bulls had taken their fourth victory in their last six games here.

The triumph enabled the Bulls to slip into third place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division a half-game ahead of the Phoenix Suns.

Shaler Halimon led a late Chicago charge that pulled it out after San Diego led 99-95 early in the fourth quarter. Halimon scored nine of his 19 points in the final five minutes as the Bulls were pulling away from a 110-110 tie.

Bob Love topped the Bulls with 28 points, while Jim Barnett and Stu Lantz each got 22 for the Rockets.

Glitter Of Gold Doesn't Blind Amateur Golf Champ

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — Young Steve Melnyk, the U.S. amateur champion, doesn't feel a bit awed—or envious—when he is exposed to the gold-plated stars of the pro golf tour.

"They can have it—I don't want any part of it," said the 240-pound husky from Jacksonville, Fla., who has decided not to follow the sun in pursuit of the $7 million tournament purses.

"It's not that I don't like money. I've never had much, so I won't know what I'm missing. It's just that I don't like golf all that much.

"I talked to Dan Sikes about it—you know he's from Jacksonville, too—and Dan told me that to go on a tour a man has to love golf. He has to be willing to work and sacrifice and play the year 'round.

"Not me. I like to turn it on and off when I want to. I like football games. When I get tired of golf, I want to be able to ditch it—take off for two or three months and do what I want to—usually nothing."

Melnyk, born 22 years ago in Brunswick, Ga., son of an accountant, sat on the dais at the Metropolitan Golf Writers dinner Monday night honoring the great and near great of the game.

There was Arnold Palmer, athlete of the decade. There was Dave Hill, the Vardon Trophy winner in a mod green double-breasted suit; PGA champion Ray Floyd, with long sideburns, a forest green suit and white shoes, and Roberto de Vicenzo, the Argentine who signed away the Masters. And Orville Moody, the ex-GI who won the Open.

"After I won the amateur last year at Oakmont (Pa.), I felt I could lick any golfer in the world," Melnyk said. "Then I thought about it a lot and I decided the pro tour is not for me.

"I took a job in the executive management training program with Gulf Life Insurance Company in Jacksonville. It's a good job. I may not become a millionaire overnight but I will be doing what I want. That's the important thing."

Few amateur champions in recent years have been able to resist the lure of instant riches on the PGA circuit.

"After I won the amateur, I decided I'd had enough golf, so I took off," he explained. "I ballooned up to 260 pounds. Now I'm on a crash diet, trying to get down to 220. I'll play at Orlando and Jacksonville and then the Masters for the first time.

The former University of Florida athlete was among those honored by the Metropolitan Golf Writers.

Comedian Bob Hope received the Gold Tee Award for his contributions to the game. King Hussan II of Morocco was given a gold putter with his consul-general, Abdeslam Jaidi, representing the monarch.

Other awards went to Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, the Richardson Trophy for sportsmanship; blind Joe Lazaro, the Ben Hogan Award given to a player who overcame a handicap; the Bostwick Family, golf's Family of the Year; Donna Caponi, Women's Open winner; Grier Jones and Jane Blalock, rookies of the year.

Issel, Kentucky Rip Tide 98-89

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stars fell on Alabama Monday night. One of them was Dan Issel, and another, Tom Parker.

Issel jammed in 47 points and Parker scooped off 15 rebounds to lead top-ranked Kentucky to a 98-89 victory over Alabama in college basketball.

Coach Adolph Rupp, whose Wildcats won the Southeastern Conference championship for the 25th time, praised Issel's performance. "He carried us all night."

Then basketball's winningest coach was characteristically critical of his squad, which earned an 18th appearance in the NCAA playoffs.

He said Kentucky "never did get going. I'm glad this game wasn't televised. They looked bad. They were tired."

How did he feel about winning another title and another tournament berth?

"There's always room for another trophy at our school and always room for another trip to the tournament," said Rupp, his voice tinted with pleasure. "That's 25... that isn't bad."

The Wildcat's victory highlighted a predictable night for Top Ten teams. Fourth-ranked South Carolina shelled Wake Forest 67-51; No. 5 New Mexico State clouted Boise State 105-79; and No. 8 Marquette stymied Xavier of Ohio 81-73.

In the Second Ten, Western Kentucky ripped Dayton 76-63; Austin Carr scored 50 points to lead 13th-ranked Notre Dame over Butler 121-114; and No. 2 Utah State nipped Air Force 80-78.

Tennessee spilled Louisiana State 88-87, holding the nation's leading scorer, Pete Maravich, to 30 points, about 17 under his average.

Issel scored 24 points in the first half to pull Kentucky into a 46-37 lead, but the Wildcats kept looking over their shoulders at fast-charging Alabama.

The Crimson Tide cut the advantage to 54-50 early in the second half. Then Issel and Parker combined to stretch the Kentucky lead to 70-66 with about 10 minutes remaining.

Wake Forest played South Carolina tough until John Roche put in a field goal with 11 minutes left to give the Gamecocks a lead they never relinquished. Roche wound up with a game-high 24 points.

The victory gave South Carolina, regular season winner of the Atlantic Coast Conference, a 22-2 over-all record.

New Mexico State led throughout the game as Jimmy Collins put in 25 points. The Aggies held a 62-54 rebound advantage. Boise State's Bill Ottey topped all scorers with 27.

Jeff Sewell hit 68 per cent of his field goals and converted two key free throws as Marquette beat back late rallies by Xavier. Sewell led all scorers with 29 points.

Jim McDaniels had 24 points and 14 rebounds in the Western Kentucky cause; Collis Jones added 40 points to Carr's 50 in the Notre Dame triumph and Nate Williams scored 22 points for Utah State.

Rudy Kinard's 20-foot jump shot at the buzzer lifted Tennessee over LSU. Maravich had put the Tigers ahead with a 15-foot jumper, 87-86, with 20 seconds remaining.

Virginia beat Duke 61-57; Loyola of Chicago dropped Bowling Green 91-71; Creighton turned back Providence 68-64 and Springfield whipped Boston University 87-81 in other games.

Colonels Rule Again After Bruins' Demise

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky is back atop the college basketball heap for the first time in eight weeks, which is just fine with Adolph Rupp—until the next four weeks go by.

"Naturally, we're delighted to be there," the Baron said Monday night after his Wildcats deposed UCLA by a whisker as the nation's No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll. "We just hope we're up there when March 20 comes along."

Rupp's target date happens to be the night of the NCAA championship game, which could pit the Wildcats against the defending champion Bruins.

UCLA's stunning 78-65 loss to Oregon last Saturday night, which snapped the Bruins' unbeaten streak at 25 games several hours after Kentucky outgunned Louisiana State and Pistol Pete Maravich 121-105, helped put the 'Cats on top for the first time since Dec. 29.

Kentucky received 14 first-place votes to 11 for UCLA, and outpointed the Bruins 534-532 in the weekly ballot of a panel of 29 sportswriters and sportscasters. The Wildcats, who won twice last week, and the Bruins each took 21-1 records into this week's play.

St. Bonaventure, 19-1 through last weekend's games, remained in third place, followed by South Carolina, New Mexico State, Jacksonville, Pennsylvania, Marquette, Iowa and Florida State, in that order. South Carolina received three first-place ballots and Jacksonville got the other.

Kentucky was No. 1 until the poll of Jan. 5, when UCLA moved up following a 105-77 romp over high-ranked Notre Dame. The Wildcats had nipped the Irish 102-100 six days earlier. UCA held the top spot until Monday, tightening its grip after Kentucky was upset by Vanderbilt 89-81 on Jan. 31.

Until they bowed at Eugene, Ore., the Bruins were the only unbeaten major power.

Except for the flip-flop at the top, the order of the first seven teams was the same as last week. Florida State, beaten 85-81 by Jacksonville, dropped from the No. 8 spot to 10th. Marquette and Iowa moved up from 10th and 11th, respectively, and Davidson dipped from No. 7 to No. 11.

Completing the Second Ten, in order, are Western Kentucky, Notre Dame, North Carolina State, Houston, Drake, Kansas State, Columbia, North Carolina and Utah State.

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points awarded for first 15 places, based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-etc.:

1.	Kentucky (14)	534
2.	UCLA (11)	532
3.	St. Bonaventure	420
4.	South Carolina (3)	376
5.	New Mexico State	336
6.	Jacksonville (1)	314
7.	Pennsylvania	244
8.	Marquette	182
9.	Iowa	151
10.	Florida State	112
11.	Davidson	106
12.	Western Kentucky	85
13.	Notre Dame	82
14.	North Carolina State	81
15.	Houston	63

Guards Hold Key To Tech-Rice Tilt

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Both Bob Bass of Texas Tech and Gene Knodel of Rice agree that the guards hold the key to tonight's crucial Southwest Conference battle in Lubbock in which the Owls attempt to nail down at least a tie for the title.

"We've got to slow down (Gary) Reist and (Tom) Myer," Bass said. "Their guards have been getting 45 to 50 points per game. Those boys have the green light to shoot it and they do a pretty good job of it."

Rice coach Don Knodel said, "The key to our game is to slow down both (Greg) Lowery and (Gene) Knolle. I realize Knolle is a forward but he might as well be listed as a guard the way he can drive for that basket."

The Owls are 9-2—two lengths ahead of Texas Tech and Texas A&M, both 7-4.

The Aggies entertain Arkansas tonight.

Rice has two games remaining after the Tech battle. The Owls host Texas Christian Saturday night and travel to College Station to collide with Texas A&M next Tuesday night.

Knodel said he had no "master plan" for the remaining three games.

"We're just going to continue the things we have been doing," he said. "Any changes just might confuse everybody. We're doing a decent job. I would like for us to be more consistent. It's certainly our turn to win. It's been a long time and we need to excite our fans."

Rice hasn't won a SWC title in 16 years.

In other games tonight, Baylor is at Texas and Southern Methodist is at Texas Christian.

Some 9,000 fans are expected to be on hand in Lubbock.

Knodel said "It's a nice place to play a basketball game. They have a good facility. There are worse places to play. Our boys just can't let the crowd bug 'em. If they do, we're going to have problems."

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice of Proposed Compromise to Consumers of Certain Broad Spectrum Antibiotics

There are pending in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York ("the Court") a number of class actions (the "actions") against Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., American Cyanamid Company, Bristol-Myers Company, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, Squibb Beech-Nut, Inc. and The Upjohn Company, alleging that those companies violated the antitrust laws in the sale of certain of their broad spectrum antibiotic products. It is further alleged that as a result purchasers of such products have paid prices higher than they otherwise would have paid. Early last year, the defendants, while denying liability, offered $100 million in settlement of all claims by three groups of purchasers, one group including individual consumers.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a hearing will be held before the Court beginning on March 24, 1970, at 10 o'clock in the morning in Room 110 of the United States Court House, Foley Square, New York, New York. The purpose of the hearing is to determine whether a proposed compromise and settlement of all the actions should be approved by the Court under Rule 23(e) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. If so approved, all the settled actions will be dismissed on the merits as against all defendants with prejudice.

The terms of the proposed compromise and settlement are contained (1) in a proposal of the defendants (dated February 6, 1969, as modified May 9, 1969); (2) in a "proposed Plan of Allocation" filed by the State of Alabama and many other states (the "Alabama Plan"; submitted to the Court in chambers and to defendants in August 1969, and filed with the Clerk, certain pages having been substituted, on January 20, 1970); (3) in an "Escrow Agreement" approved by order of the Court (filed on October 20, 1969); (4) in a document entitled "Election by Defendants to Proceed with a Modified Plan of Allocation" (filed on October 20, 1969); and (5) in an "Addendum" (filed on January 20, 1970) to the "Election" document just described. Copies of those five papers are on file with the Court and copies are available for examination in Room 508 of the Court House, Room 508 being a part of the Clerk's office. Plans of allocation were also filed by the State of Connecticut and others, by the County of Los Angeles, by the City of Philadelphia and others, by the City and County of San Francisco, by the Committee of Counsel in the consolidated wholesaler-retailer class action, and by the State of Vermont. Copies of these plans are also available for examination in Room 508 of the Court House.

The payments in compromise of the actions, as set forth in Exhibit B to "Election by Defendants to Proceed with a Modified Plan of Allocation" (the paper described in clause (4) in the paragraph next above), are subject to reduction for further administrative expenses and for fees and expenses (as later allowed by the Court) of counsel for plaintiffs in the actions. These amounts must be divided with the Court's approval among all the claims represented in the actions including those of individual consumers.

According to notices already given with the Court's approval, each state and other governmental entity participating in the settlement is authorized to use for the benefit of its citizens in such manner as directed by the Court whatever money is recovered on account of claims of consumers represented in its action who failed to file an individual claim by August 16, 1969.

At the hearing on March 24, 1970, any member of any class represented in the actions may appear and present any proper argument and evidence, but no person not a named party will be heard and no papers will be received unless notice of intention to appear and copies of such papers are filed with the Clerk of the Court on or before March 19, 1970.

Andy Returning To Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — "I need to be employed at my profession," said Andy Griffith.

It is as simple as that. He is on his way back to television.

Andy Griffith turned his front-running CBS series over to Ken Berry after eight years of playing a small-town sheriff. He was going to make movies when the spirit or a story moved him. He was going to spend a lot of time with his wife and kids. He was going to look at sunrises over the bay in front of his retreat at Manteo, N.C.

"I thought it was going to be a big chance to discover myself and to play things I'd never had a chance to play before," said the big, soft-voiced performer.

"Well, I made one picture at Universal, 'Angel in His Pocket.' We shot it in six weeks and I worked hard and it was good: maybe one of the best B pictures of the year."

But . . .

"They are always complaining that there are no more family motion pictures and saying that families like go go to the movies together. Well, I made a family movie and I tell you that that's not so!

"Anyway, I had a picture contract and I asked Universal to let me out of it and they did, except for one picture a year. That's all right, they are having trouble finding the right scripts.

"I'm lucky to be able to go back to television-I see an awful lot of very good actors, including very big stars, hanging around not working because they can't find good enough material."

At any rate, Richard O. Linke, who has been Griffith's manager and partner for 17 years, talked to CBS. The result was a seven-figure deal and, come September, there will be a new Andy Griffith series in the network schedule.

That is just about all that is definite. Griffith's old associate, Aaron Ruben, has been brought into the picture as produce and together they are working up a premise and an initial script—which may or may not be used—under the working title of "Headmaster."

"I expect I'll be playing the headmaster of a small private school, not a snob school, but a private school like Oakwood in Los Angeles where both my kids go."

"Sure, I know there is 'Room 222' about teachers but that doesn't really matter. Schools are a problem area today and we want to do real stories about today. I can play drama and Aaron is great on comedy."

All this is still in the pencil stage, and Griffith is still looking for just the right actress to play his wife. The only other member of the cast who is firm at this writing is Jerry Van Dyke, Dick's younger brother.

"Nobody has ever found the right format for Jerry's talents," Griffith said. "He has an interesting quality—stronger than a Peck's bad boy type but not so carefree that he seems like a bum. Anyway, he'll play the school athletic director—and it may be that he will emerge as a great second man in a series instead of playing the lead."

Tampering With Genes May Prove Dangerous To Man

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Tampering with genes—the basic elements of heredity—may be more dangerous to mankind than the atomic bomb unless proper controls are created, a scientist says.

Dr. Max Tishler, who aided in the development of sulfa drugs, cortisone and the commercial synthesis of vitamins, said Monday that science may be on the verge of a breakthrough in genetics which would bring new benefits to man but also staggering problems.

"There are those—including many in the scientific community—who fear the consequences that may follow in a world unprepared when those scientists engaged in the chemistry of the genes finally learn how to manipulate them," Tishler told an American Chemical Society dinner audience.

Tishler spoke after receiving the Priestley medal, the highest honor accorded scientists by the society. Tishler, of Westfield, N. J., is a vice president of Merck & Co., Inc., in charge of research.

Genetic engineering, Tishler said, could prevent illnesses such as juvenile diabetes, mongolism and sickle cell anemia. Such knowledge, he said, could perhaps also conquer cancer, which some believe results from gene mutations caused by a virus.

Tishler said, however, that some scientists fear that genetics, "once in the hands of imperfect humans might prove dangerous and less controllable than the power of the atom."

Advances by science, he said, have lowered the death rate, transformed oil into useful energy and split the atom, but uncontrolled use of this new knowledge has led to overpopulation, air pollution and creation of nuclear missiles.

"One of our most extreme critics claims that we are replacing nature as the prime enemy of mankind," he said.

"It is not knowledge, but man himself who is the weak link in the continuum from the discovery of knowledge to its first use. Knowledge itself is not evil, but man can be."

Tishler said the danger of new knowledge, in such areas as genetics, will lead to demands for controls. He said men of science must develop leadership in these controls or "we may soon wake up to find not only that technology has been crudely shackled, but that fundamental scientific inquiry itself is in jeopardy."

Fisherman Shoots Game Warden

GONZALES, Tex. (AP) — One man was fatally shot and a game warden and another man were wounded Monday night at the H-4 Lake dam west of here on the Guadalupe River.

Ed Henry of Victoria, district supervisor for the Parks and Wildlife Commission, said gunfire broke out after warden John Gary Collins, 22, surprised two men illegally netting fish below the dam near Belmont.

The body of Glenn Nelson, 23, was found later in the river. Sheriff Donald Brzozowski said Nelson apparently was shot during a struggle in which the other two men were wounded.

Henry quoted Collins as saying his pistol was taken from him during a struggle in the water and, after being wounded in a shoulder and arm, the warden grabbed the gun back and fired.

Attendants reported Collins was in serious condition at a Seguin hospital.

Officers placed under guard a man in his 40s who appeared for treatment at a Gonzales hospital soon after the gun play.

Nearly two dozen peace officers and game wardens took part in a manhunt after Collins was wounded.

Phone Rates Costly In Nassau Bay

HOUSTON (AP) — Some 80 residents of Nassau Bay, a community near the Manned Spacecraft Center, say they have costly, inefficient telephone service.

An astronaut's wife testified at a hearing Monday that her telephone bill is ridiculous.

An intersection near the Manned Spacecraft Center splits up telephone service among three companies—Southwestern Bell, General Telephone and the Nassau Bay Telephone Co.

Mrs. Russell Schweickart, wife of the Apollo 9 astronaut, was among those testifying at the hearing conducted by Rep. Bob Eckhardt, a Houston Democrat.

Nassau Bay residents can make toll free calls only within the sub-division and the space center and Clear Lake City, another unincorporated sub-division near by.

"My phone bill is between $35 and $40 a month," Mrs. Schweickart said. "If my child gets sick at school down the street she has to call me long distance to come and get her."

Scientist astronaut Philip Kenyon Chapman, a civilian, said Southwestern Bell offers service to Nassau Bay residents at $25 a month but requires that each customer also be a Nassau Bay subscriber.

"The Nassau Bay Telephone Co. would be out of business in a month if Southwestern Bell did not make this requirement," Chapman said.

L. W. Warzecha, general manager for General Electric Co. Apollo systems offices in Nassau Bay said the division must subscribe to both Nassau Bay and Southwestern Bell and the services cost $200,000 a year. He said the cost would be less than half if the offices were across the street in the Southwestern Bell Territory.

Nordheim Bank Robbed Again

NORDHEIM, Tex. (AP) — For the second time in less than 18 months, armed bandits Monday held up the first National Bank in this small South Central Texas town.

Police said a pair of armed men entered the bank around 1 p.m. and robbed a teller of $3,000 then fled on foot.

State police and DeWitt County sheriff's deputies set up roadblocks on four highways leaving the town but the robbers were not caught.

The men were described as stocky in build, and one was wearing an aluminum hat similar to those worn by construction workers.

The bank was robbed of over $24,640 in December 1968. The bandits were never caught.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

• • •

Q — If IRS has mailed you estimated tax forms, does that mean you are required to file one of these forms?

A — You do not have to file an estimated tax declaration for 1970 unless you meet the requirements that came with the estimated forms.

Estimated tax forms have been sent to every taxpayer who filed an estimated return for 1969 as well as to those taxpayers who may have been liable for one because they had a balance due of $40 or more when they filed their 1968 return. The forms are identified with the taxpayer's name, address and Social Security number just as they appear in IRS files.

Read the instructions carefully and if you are required to file an estimated tax declaration, be sure to use the forms sent you. It will assure that your estimated tax payments are properly credited to your account.

Q — I just sent in my tax return. What records should I keep?

A — Keep the records you need to substantiate the income and deductions reported on your returns. Cancelled checks, paid bills, Forms W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement) and 1099 (U. S. Information Return for Calendar Year), bank books and similar records in addition to a copy of the return, will be helpful.

Q — Will the amount my daughter receives from a college scholarship affect my dependency claim for her?

A — No, amounts received from a scholarship for study at an educational institution do not have to be included in total support in determining whether the support test for dependents has been met.

MALE NURSE

Q — "Where can I find some information about becoming a male nurse?"

A — The National League for Nursing (10 Columbus Circle, New York, N.Y. 10019) has a 16-page booklet on this career. It's called "Nurse — Husband/Father/Humanitarian/Specialist," and costs 25 cents.

This publication describes the basics of training and opportunities and says that the "Nursing also serves as an excellent springboard to many other careers — hospital administrator, surgical supply salesman, consultant to a drug company, nursing home director, and health field writer-editor."

Altimeter Was Faulty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The captain of a jet airliner which struck a tree and two power poles on an approach to Harlingen, Jan. 11 said his altimeter was reading 725 to 750 feet.

The National Transportation Safety Board said in its preliminary report on the incident that the Texas International airliner's flight-recorder taps showed an altitude of 787 feet when the plane landed at Houston Intercontinental airport, which is 98 feet above sea level. The tape also showed that just before taking off from McAllen airport, which is 106 feet above sea level, the instrument recorded an altitude of 670 feet.

Capt. Jerry Eugene Capps, 40, said the approach to Harlingen was made in fog and the landing attempt was abandoned when the crew felt a bump.

The board reporting Monday, said the plane pulled up and flew on to Houston airport where it landed without injury to its passengers or four crew members.

On landing at Houston the plane was found to have fragments of tree limbs, telephone poles and copper wiring embeded in its winds and fuselage.

Auto Sales Falling 16.6 Behind 1969

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's top three automakers report their new car sales for this year are running 16.6 per cent behind 1969.

Ford Motor Co. also announced a drop in profits for 1969.

Chrysler Corp., Ford and General Motors Corp. said their sales for the new year through Feb. 20 were 853,416 compared with 1,023,042 in the same period a year ago.

The Big Three automakers said they sold 185,871 new cars in the Feb. 11-20 period, an 18.8 per cent decline from 229,029 a year ago. Nine selling days were in the period both years.

American Motors Corp. did not release its new car sales figures Monday for the mid-February period.

Meanwhile, Ford reported net earnings fell 12.8 per cent during 1969.

Ford said its profits for the year totalled $547 million or $5.03 a share, compared with $627 million, or $5.73 a share in 1968.

Sales in 1969 reached a record $14.8 billion, however, a spokesman said Monday. Fourth quarter sales also hit a record, $4.1 billion, but earnings were down by 12.2 per cent for the final three months.

"The decline in earnings on a higher sales base resulted primarily from higher labor and material costs," Ford said.

GM earlier reported its profits fell 1.2 per cent last year. Chrysler said its net earnings fell by 69.41 per cent.

Hearings Open On Hospital Rates

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A family doctor from North Carolina testified today that about 30 per cent of the people admitted to hospitals don't need to be.

"These patients could receive as good, or perhaps better—certainly less expensive—health and medical care by means other than by lying horizontal in a hospital bed," said Dr. Amos Johnson of Garland, N.C., a former president of the American Academy of General Practice.

Johnson's testimony was prepared for the Senate antitrust subcommittee, opening hearings on the high cost of hospitalization.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., the chairman, said he hoped to find ways in which more competition could bring down hospital prices, or at least prevent further increases.

Johnson blamed unnecessary hospital admissions on the health insurance system—and also on physicians who "find it much more convenient, time-saving and financially rewarding to see patients on an in-hospital basis."

He said medical education has for 20 to 30 years conditioned students to believe that the highest quality of care can be propided only if a patient is hospitalized.

"Well trained family physicians can comfortably and effectively care for 85 per cent of the usual ordinary illnesses that beset mankind," Johnson said. "And they can largely do this in the office, in the clinic, in the home or in the out-patient department, and at a cost most patients can afford."

But Johnson said only 15 per cent of medical school graduates now are trained as general practitioners, with the other 85 per cent becoming specialists. He said the ratio should be reversed.

Dr. Paul Patterson of Albany, N.Y., Medical College said genetic diseases are responsible for 25 per cent of admissions to hospitals and institutions for the handicapped—often at a "home destroying cost."

Patterson said until a system of health insurance "is finally adopted nationally," the states should help provide care for such chronically ill persons.

More Cars Passing Kentucky's Inspection

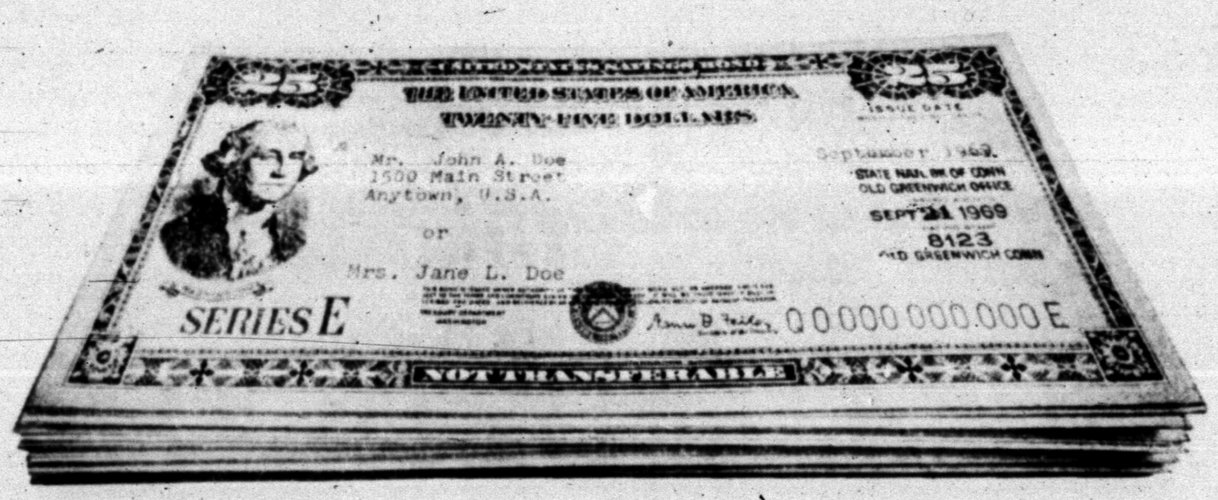

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The number of cars which flunk Kentucky's motor vehicle inspection has dropped to 17 per cent in 1969, the second year of the program, and fewer motorists are complaining.

Motorist complaints against service stations or mechanics giving the inspections have fallen to about 12 to 30 a month, considerably fewer than last year, the state reports. In 1968, 25 per cent of the vhicles failed to pass inspection on the first try.

Now all your U.S. Savings Bonds pay higher interest.

Now it's official.

Now one of the safest investments in the world brings you new and higher returns.

Now your U.S. Savings Bonds pay the highest interest in history: a full 5 per cent when held to maturity of 5 years and 10 months. (4% the first year; 5.20% thereafter to maturity.) Previously, these Bonds earned you only 4¼% if you held them for seven years.

The new interest began June 1, 1969. So all of the Bonds you own, no matter when you bought them, have been collecting higher interest since that time.

Those Bonds are still replaced if lost, stolen or burned.

You can still buy them through Payroll Savings or the Bond-a-Month plan.

Regardless of your other investments, can you think of any easier, better, or safer way to build a nest egg for yourself?

It's nice to know that you are doing a little something for Uncle Sam, too. The $52 billion in U.S. Savings Bonds now outstanding in the hands of millions of Americans go a long way toward keeping your country financially strong.

There never was a better time to take stock in America.

There's a man at the place where you work who can start you on the Payroll Savings Plan right now.

UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.
