Ike Asks Rule By Cabinet On Disability

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower proposed today that the Cabinet be authorized to decide whether a president is temporarily disabled, so that the vice president can take over.

Under Eisenhower's plan that action would be taken if the chief executive himself is unable or unwilling to make the decision himself.

Eisenhower's suggestion that the Cabinet decide by a majority vote ran into opposition immediately at an Eisenhower conference with congressional leaders of both parties."

Some of the leaders told newsmen they feel there is no need whatever for a constitutional amendment such as Eisenhower proposed.

Others took the position that the situation can be dealt with through a simple law, without resort to a change in the constitution.

Eisenhower called today's meeting with Democratic and Republican leaders in an effort to resolve uncertainty left by the Constitution in its present form, as to procedure in the case of disability of a president.

An administration study of the matter the last three months was prompted largely by the President's own two major illnesses since September, 1955. But White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference today that the constitutional amendment Eisenhower favors would in all likelihood not be applicable to Eisenhower personally.

There had been some expectation ahead of the conference that the administration plan might cover only the power of the president himself to decide when to step down. Several of the Congress representatives were known in advance to feel that other contingencies also should be covered.

Both Rep. Celler (D-NY) and Rep. Keating (R-NY) said in preconference interviews they would make this point.

Celler is chairman and Keating is senior Republican member of both the Judiciary Committee and a special subcommittee which has done most of the recent congressional spadework on presidential disability legislation.

Eisenhower said in calling in the congressional leaders that he wants "to see if there are any more suggestions" before he sends to Congress his recommendations based on a study by Atty. Gen. Brownell.

A vice president never has taken over the presidential duties except after the death of the President. The Constitution provides also that he may do so when the President is disabled, but does not specify his status during that period, who determines disability, and other details.

Grand Jury Indicts Neels As 'Repeaters'

Thirty-one indictments, including three which charge the defendants with being habitual criminals and three which allege "repeater" offenses, were returned by the Howard County Grand Jury in its report to the 118th District Court Thursday afternoon.

Thirty-two cases were considered by the jurors. In only one of the matters submitted to it, did the jury decline to vote an indictment. The jurors began their work on Wednesday morning and submitted their report to Judge Charlie Sullivan at 3:30 p. m. Thursday.

Guilford Jones, district attorney, said that under Texas law, conviction of a defendant for habitual criminal indictment automatically carries a life sentence in the state prison. In the repeater offense indictments voted by the grand jury, if the district court jury rules the defendants guilty as charged, these offenses can also carry sentences up to life in prison.

Indicted as habitual criminals with two or more convictions for felonies against their record prior to the new accusation made against them here were Pablo Florez, charged with narcotics possession; Millard Hassell, charged with two counts of forgery and Hugh Alexander Currie, accused of attempted burglary.

The state contends that Flores was previously tried and convicted on a count of car theft and on a second count of burglary in Ector County. His bond in the indictment here was fixed at $7,500.

Hassell, the grand jurors were told, was found guilty of theft over $50 in Rockwall County in 1939; of a similar charge in Ector County some years later. His bond was fixed at $7,500.

Iran Kidnap Victim May Be Headed For Slave Market

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iranian authorities say they believe a 35-year-old American woman kidnaped by a bandit gang may be hidden away in a desolate mountain cave.

An intensive search was pressed again today in the Tangeorkheh Desert area of southeast Iran for the outlaw band that seized Mrs. Anita Carroll of Issaquah, Wash., after slaying her husband, another American and two Iranians Sunday night.

Interior Minister Assadollah Alam declared "there is more than a 60 per cent chance" that she will be found alive.

Officials based their belief that Mrs. Carroll has not been killed on the theory that she would bring a high price on the slave market.

Army men wise in the ways of the semicivilized Tangeorkheh Desert tribesmen said it is likely Mrs. Carroll is being hidden by the gang until it can smuggle her to the coast and send her to Arabia or Pakistan.

Police and camel-borne troops — 1,200 strong — were pursuing the kidnap band, believed led by a notorious badman named Dadshah. The only trace of Mrs. Carroll was a paper trail found in the desert and believed dropped by Mrs. Carroll as she was carried away.

The bodies of Mrs. Carroll's husband Kevin, 37, a Point Four area development adviser for Kerman province; Brewster A Wilson, 35, Portland, Ore., a regional specialist for the Near East Foundation, and the two Iranians were brought to Tehran by U.S. Air Force plane. They were received at Mehrabad Airport with military honors.

The Shah has ordered the death penalty for the kidnapers to be executed promptly. If they are caught, they will be tried on the spot and shot immediately if convicted.

Brownlee Quits Insurance Board

AUSTIN (AP)—Insurance Commissioner Morris Brownlee of Houston announced his resignation last night and said he was going home.

"If he is definite in his decision to resign I'll name his successor at the earliest possible moment," said Gov. Price Daniel. "I appreciate his staying on as long as he could."

He said there was "no particular reason" for his resignation.

"My term expired on Feb. 10 and the governor said he would like for me to stay over temporarily," Brownlee said. "I took that to mean two or three weeks until he could appoint a replacement. On March 11 when he had not appointed a successor I wrote him a letter and I have talked to him since then.

"He didn't indicate he was near naming a replacement so I just said I'm going home."

TOTAL RESOURCES	30,226,617.94	31,122,242.20	(895,624.26)

Loans were up but other figures were off, according to combined statement of Big Spring banks in response to the latest call from the U. S. Comptroller of Currency and the State Banking Commissioner.

The call was for condition of business as of the close of business on March 14. Usually the call is for the end of March or is well up in April.

Loans and discounts totalled $10,390,565, an increase of $1,312,969, over the comparable call (April 10, 1956) a year ago.

Deposits stood at $27,855,125.90, which was $1,153,090.17 less than for the comparable call in 1956.

Cash amounted to $8,592,490.46, which was $3,047,359 down from a year ago.

Total resources were pegged at $30,226,617, which was off $895,624.26 from last year' totals.

While cash was down, the banks' holdings on bonds were up sharply. On March 14 they had $7,397,570.98 in United States bonds and $2,867,517.19 in county and municipal issues, a total of $10,265,088.17. A year ago the grand total of all bonds had been $8,192,834.22.

Not included in the loan totals were $608,167.95 in cotton producers notes and $14,241.16 in cotton acceptances.

The call came a few days late for one bank, which would have shown $2 million more in deposits and few days early for another, which picked up half a million in deposits since the call date.

Figures by individual banks showed:

FIRST NATIONAL Loans and discounts $6,627,789.45; deposits $16,646,420.03; cash $5,235,819.60; total resources $17,926,748.57. In addition the bank had $4,825,221.60 in U. S. bonds and $1,056,325.86 in other bonds. It also had $14,241.16 in cotton producers notes.

Beck Suspended, Union Calls Probe

Hoffa, Lawyer Plead Innocent On Bribe Count

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. (Jimmy) Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teasters Union, and Hyman I. Fischbach entered pleas of innocent today to charges of conspiring and bribing to get secrets of the Senate rackets probers. Their trial was set for May 27.

The pleas were entered before U.S. Dist. Judge Richmond B. Keech.

The bouncy Hoffa responded, "Not guilty, your honor," when asked to plead to the indictment.

Fischbach, a Miami attorney who at times has served as counsel to congressional investigating committees, replied simply "Not guilty."

Edward P. Troxell, principal U.S. attorney, suggested that both defendants be processed, but Edward Bennett Williams, Hoffa's attorney, noted that Hoffa had gone through these formalities.

Judge Keech continued Hoffa under a $25,000 bond posted through a professional bondsman at the time of his arrest.

Fischbach was required to post a new bond in lieu of the $10,000 bond he posted in Florida where he had been arrested.

Williams asked a "reasonable time" to file motions in the case, saying there were "some very complex legal questions" that will be raised. He suggested 30 days. The judge, however, allowed only three weeks.

Attorney Daniel B. Maher appeared with Fischbach. Maher suggested that Fischbach's bond be transferred from Florida.

Judge Keech said, however, that there would have to be a local bond posted.

When the judge fixed May 27 as the trial date, Williams said he had other engagements and suggested that the first week of June be set.

Keech replied that he would let the May 27 date stand, but that Williams could take up the matter with the court's assignment office.

Hoffa and Fischbach were indicted by a grand jury on March 19.

Rancher Mulls Compromise

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Defiant old John Prather was back on his New Mexico ranch today, thinking over a general's offer of a compromise.

The 82-year-old cattleman met with Maj. Gen. Robert Wood, commanding officer of Ft. Bliss, for an hour yesterday. They talked over Prather's stubborn refusal to move from land the Army wants as part of a guided missile range.

The pioneer rancher shook hands warmly with the general when he left and said he would return to his ranch to mull over the offer.

"The general has given me lots of time," he said. "I'll get out by myself, punch cattle and think it over." Neither man would say how much time Prather has to consider the offer.

The Army wants Prather's rich grazing land as part of its new McGregor missile range in south-central New Mexico. Prather has said he would shoot any "brass" that tried to evict him. The government ordered Prather and other ranchers in the area off the land by March 30. Prather said he wanted to die on the place he spent more than 50 years building.

The decision was left to Wood. Yesterday, when Prather entered the commander's office and was introduced, he said simply, "So this is the general."

Then another officer observed that whether the old rancher realized it or not, he has "a lot of friends here in the military who like you and admire you."

Prather chuckled and replied, "Looks like I need a lot of friends these days."

Wood made this offer: The government will take what land of Prather's it sought, but the old rancher will be allowed to live in his ranch home the rest of his life. All his cattle will be moved off, and, with the exception of the cattleman's home, all the land will be fenced as government property. Upon Prather's death, the land on which his home stands also will become federal property.

The government has offered more than $200,000 for Prather's land and the property of his housekeeper, Miss Mary Toy.

Leads Revolt

Teamster Union member Robert Miller, Portland, Ore., truck driver, talks intently into telephone to Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of Senate committee investigating labor racketeering charges. Miller, heading rank-and-file revolt against union leaders, asked McClellan to make records available to him, was assured they would be. Goal is to remove officers "we think no longer fit for office."

Portland's Mayor Held For Perjury

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Terry Schrunk, mayor of this city torn by vice accusations, was arrested last night on charges of perjury and accepting a bribe.

Dist. Atty. William Langley, a city police officer and a Portland gambler also were indicted by the Multnomah County (Portland) grand jury, which has been investigating charges of vice and corruption.

Langley, chief legal officer of the county, was accused of corruption and malfeasance for not upholding the gambling laws, of conspiring to obstruct justice by permitting gambling, and of accepting a bribe from persons "unknown." He was released on $3,000 bail.

Both Langley and Schrunk were key witnesses recently at the Portland phase of the Senate labor racketeering hearings.

Langley cited the Fifth Amendment to protect himself from possible self-incrimination when asked about charges that he had conspired with certain Teamsters Union officials and others to expand vice activities in this city of 400,000.

Schrunk denied accusations that he had accepted a bribe and he offered to take a lie detector test. Later, though, he walked out on the test, conducted by the Secret Service, contending that the questions put to him were a "fishing expedition."

Star witness at the hearing was Portland gambler Big Jim Elkins. His grand jury testimony, corroborated by others, is the basis for the charges against Schrunk, Patrolman Richard A. Sutter and gambler Clifford O. Bennett.

Elkins said at the hearing that Bennett told him that he placed a $500 bribe in an envelope near his club in September 1955, when Schrunk, who then was sheriff, was conducting a raid. He said that Schrunk had picked up the envelope.

Sutter and two other police officers said they had witnessed this. But later Sutter changed his story and said he could not be sure it was Schrunk who had picked up the package. Sutter posted $1,000 bail on his perjury indictment and was released.

Bennett also was indicted on a perjury charge in connection with the bribe accusation. His bail was set at $3,000.

U. S., Allies Talk Over Egypt's Suez Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) —The United States has started consultations with Britain, France and several other friendly governments on Egyptian proposals for operating the Suez Canal.

Top officials who have been studying the Egyptian plan say privately they do not like it, but that they see no prospect now of winning Egyptian agreement to any counter-proposal.

However, it is yet to be decided whether the plan will be accepted or rejected, or whether some modifications will be sought to make it more palatable to Western shipping nations.

The Egyptian proposal, which has not yet been made public officially, is understood to call for collection of tolls by the Egyptian Canal Authority.

Egypt would set aside 25 per cent of the tolls for maintenance and operation and 5 per cent to compensate stockholders of the old Suez Canal Co.

Egypt also would reaffirm its commitment to an 1888 treaty guaranteeing free canal passage for all ships. Some provision is reported for appeals and arbitration procedures for any country which thought its shipping was being unfairly treated.

AFL-CIO Head George Meany Reveals Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council today suspended Teamsters' President Dave Beck as an AFL-CIO officer and ordered an inquiry into the entire Teamsters' Union.

Beck's suspension as an AFL-CIO vice president and Council member is effective immediately, and until the outcome of charges being brought against him by the Executive Council.

The actions were announced by George Meany, AFL-CIO president, after a two-hour council meeting.

Meany said Beck's suspension is effective immediately while the Council considers charges against the Teamsters' chief based on what he termed Beck's "actions in bringing the labor movement into disrepute" and his failing to explain "the many charges against him" concerning use of Teamster Union funds before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

Beck pleaded his constitutional rights, invoking the Fifth Amendment, when questioned by the senators Tuesday and Wednesday. The amendment protects a witness against being required to give evidence that might be self-incriminating.

The committee told Beck the evidence it had collected indicated he had diverted some $320,000 of union funds to his personal use.

The AFL-CIO Council directed that the labor organization's five-member Ethical Practices Committee investigate the Teamsters' Union "to determine whether or not the Teamsters' International Union is substantially dominated or controlled by corrupt influences."

This latter investigation — separate from the investigation of Beck—could lead to ouster of the Teamsters from the federation unless the union moves to rid itself of alleged corrupt leadership.

The Council's actions are probably the most drastic ever taken by organized labor in America against a union leader of so high a position.

It gave substance to the AFL-CIO assertions in recent months that it is ready to work with congressional committees and other public bodies to clean every semblance of corruption from the 15-million member AFL-CIO.

Earlier this year, the Council had expelled a Philadelphia union official, Charles Naddio, and had temporarily suspended three small unions.

These unions were the Distillery Workers, Laundry Workers and Allied Industrial Workers. They were suspended until they demonstrate a clean-up of conditions in their ranks.

In addition, Meany has suspended Paul Dorfman, head of a Chicago Waste Handlers local union, pending a union trial on corruption charges.

Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, told newsmen as he went into the Executive Council meeting that he was confident "we will do what is necessary to protect the good name of the American labor movement."

"My interpretation of the AFL-CIO constitution—and I have com—is that the Council has power to suspend (Beck) pending a trial," he said.

Reuther said he meant suspension botb as an AFL-CIO vice president and an Executive Council member.

The Council has no authority to remive Beck as Teamsters' president but could direct his union to do so.

Reuther, asked if he would move in the Council for Beck's suspension, said reporters could "draw your own conclusions" from his previous remarks.

There were 22 Council members on hand when the session began.

Beck, himself a member of the powerful, 29-man Executive Council, stayed at his home in Seattle.

He flew there yesterday after spending two days here invoking the Fifth Amendment to avoid answering questions by Senate rackets investigators who said he converted to his personal use $320,000 of union funds.

Meany called the special council meeting Tuesday within minutes of learning that Beck had claimed the Fifth Amendment's constitutional privilege against self-incrimination.

A new AFL-CIO policy says union officers have the right to invoke the Fifth Amendment but when they do so in connection with inquiries into their handling of union affairs, they forfeit the right to serve as union officials.

Talented Piano Quartet Earns Three Encores In Concert Here

The First Piano Quartet will be happy to return to Big Spring for another concert in future years. The music masters of the keyboard earned three encores Thursday evening — something of a record for Big Spring.

Individually, members of the Quartet are talented and polished, but they managed, as usual, to bring off one of the most difficult feats in music. If an orchestra consisting of many different instruments fails to mesh with an almost inhuman exactness, the difference is not usually noticeable. But when two or more pianists attempt variations on the same piece of music, even when the players are professionals, the result often is pure murder.

Pianos were not designed to be played en masse, but the excellent coordination of the First Piano Quartet brought about the impossible, and they made what in other hands would have been discordance into music. There were very few of the discords that result when two players fail to mesh their fingers properly upon the keys, and every note was blended into a whole by their practiced mastery.

The program, presented by the Big Spring Concert Association and Howard County Junior College at City Auditorium, was almost all classical. "Variations on the Caprice in A Minor" by Paganini, well known as the Quartet's radio theme music, opened the selections. Following in the first portion of the program were "Prelude and Fugue in C Minor" by Bach; the Rondo from "Haffner Serenade" by Mozart; "Trout Variations" by Schubert; and "La Campanella" by Liszt.

The ever-popular "Blue Danube" by Strauss, following the first intermission, gave the audience its first opportunity to distinguish the variations possible by four pianos on a well-known melody. There followed three etudes and two mazurkas by Chopin, in between which numbers the customary applause was supposed to be omitted, but the audience could not restrain its enthusiasm. Rounding out the second portion of the program were the Magic Fire Music from "Die Walkuere" by Wagner; and the "Second Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt.

There were quite a few in the audience who were moved by the Hugarian theme, with the recent bloody revolution no doubt in in mind. This rhapsody is, like most other Hugarian music, a mixture of tragedy and happiness.

It is perhaps because of prejudice that I voted "Malaguena" by Lecuona and "Claire Du Lune" by Debussy the best on the program, the two numbers which opened the third and final portion. The two numbers put me in mind of a day, some fifteen years ago, when a girl over whom I was in a ridiculous state of puppy love played those same two pieces in school assembly at McCamey.

"Polichinelle" by Villa - Lobos followed, along with Prokofieff's March from "Love For Three Oranges." The Polka from "The Golden Age" by Shostakovitch produced some amusement on the part of the audience. Shostakovitch is to music just about what Dali is to painting.

"La Danza," a Tarantella by Rossini and Liszt, ended the program. It was then that the audience's enthusiasm brought out the Quartet for three encores, which included Braham's "Lullaby," "Ragtime Bass" by Virgil Thompson, and "Fiddle Faddle" by Leroy Anderson.

Members of the First Piano Quartet are Edward Hausman, Adam Garner, Edward Edson and Frank Mittler. Their concert ends the season for the Big Spring Concert Association.

'Conflict' Lies Within Reader, Dr. Speake Says

There are two books in which every word is true — the book of nature and the Holy Bible, George Speake, scientist and evangelist, told the Big Spring Kiwanis Club Thursday noon.

What conflict there may appear to be between these two books is not in the books but in the reader's inability to properly understand what he reads, Speake said.

The speaker is in Big Spring conducting a series of lectures titled "Sermons from Science." He is sponsored by the Big Spring Pastors Association. The Rev. Jack Ware introduced Speake to the Kiwanians.

Speake briefly reviewed a number of passages from the Bible and applied them to modern day understanding of science and nature as proof of his contention that there is no conflict between science and religion.

Jack Alexander presided in the absence of Horace Reagan, president, who is ill.

Carpets Keep New Look

With proper care wall to wall carpeting will retain the new look.

Correct cleaning methods have seemingly been a mystery and controversial even to carpet manufacturers. After much research a product is on the market that cleans and fluffs up beat down carpet paths plus removal of spots thereby maintaining the new look. The textile engineer of a large carpet mill says—"It's the best we've found."

The product is Blue Lustre. It is easily applied with a long handle brush. One half gallon of Blue Lustre concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Banker, Almost Lost In Storm, Cuts Interest Rates

CLAYTON, N.M. (AP)—A banker who did some deep thinking when he almost became a blizzard victim a few days ago has cut interest rates to help his rancher neighbors restock.

"There will be ways and means for practically all of these people to go on," said F. H. Chilcote, president of the Farmers & Stockmen's Bank of Clayton.

He committed about $100,000 in loans yesterday to replace lost cattle.

Chilcote and his son-in-law Eldean Reeves, vice president of the bank, were out almost 24 hours in the height of the storm, which devastated the northeast corner of New Mexico. Loss estimates range up to 5,000 cattle.

Chilcote's hands and feet were frostbitten, and he recalled:

"We were so close to death I began to review my past life to see if I could think of anything good enough to tell that Man up there. I couldn't think of a thing."

He and Reeves were out in a jeep in the storm looking for their own cattle from about noon Saturday to about noon Sunday. They had to abandon the jeep as drifts piled up in the 80-mile-an-hour wind.

They stumbled along a fence so they could keep their direction and finally came to a ranch home.

"The wind blew us down time and again," Chilcote said. "It blew us into the fence, and sometimes our clothes got caught, but we got loose. It was quite an ordeal."

As for his efforts to help his neighbors, Chilcote says:

"I don't know just how far we can go, but we're going to do the best we can. We're going to try to see that they get a square deal."

Cypriots Celebrate Cleric's Release

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Greek-Cypriot residents throughout Cyprus cut loose again today with noisy celebrations hailing the freeing of Archbishop Makarios in the Seychelle Islands.

Britain released the Greek Orthodox Church leader yesterday after he called conditionally for the underground organization EOKA to halt its campaign of violence against British rule. Britain also made a sweeping amnesty offer to EOKA members.

The announcement said Makarios could leave the Seychelles, in the Indian Ocean, immediately and go anywhere except Cyprus. It was thought he probably would go to Greece, where EOKA's drive to join Cyprus with Greece is actively supported.

He served as editor in chief of the 1937 and 1939 editions of "Bartlett's Quotations," a standard literary source book.

Amnesia Victim

Mrs. Frances Hamilton Kleinmann of Long Beach, Calif., embraces a mystery patient at Brighton Marine Hospital, Boston, after she identified him as her brother, James William Hamilton. The man, an amnesia patient at the hospital for 12 years, was known only as "Mr. X" and received considerable publicity on television and in a national magazine. Mrs. Kleinmann said her brother was a British World War I hero and merchant seaman whom she hadn't seen in 36 years. She said they grew up together in Windlestone, England. Hospital authorities said the man showed no sign of recognition of Mrs. Kleinmann.

Hearing Slated In Cop Beating Case

EDINBURG (AP) — Frank Lee Roberts, a convicted forger who claims he was beaten by South Texas officials, was to be cross-examined today in a habeas corpus hearing requested for him by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Roberts testified yesterday he entered a guilty plea because he was afraid of getting "beat to death."

He said a Corpus Christi officer hit him in the head with a child's baseball bat and another officer kicked him in an attempt to get him to sign a statement.

Roberts said he was repeatedly beaten and was taken back and forth between Corpus Christi and Edinburg.

He testified that Dist. Atty. Jim Bates hit him in the mouth and knocked him halfway down a flight of stairs. Roberts also said special investigator Dick Bales knocked him out of a chair.

Bates testified yesterday that he had never hit Roberts and had never seen him mistreated. He said Roberts never appeared to be in pain and made no complaints while he was in the Hidalgo County jail.

The hearing was called after Roberts, a blond, 200-pounder, filed a long, handwritten petition, claiming he was beaten, that he pleaded guilty to the forgery charge here in 1955 under duress and that secret hearings were held in his case.

The hearing was delayed about a month while attorneys tried to find Jacquelin Verity, who also was convicted of forgery in 1955 and recently was released from jail. Attorneys said they could not find her.

Roberts testified that Miss Verity was his common-law wife. He said Bates promised to let her go free if he entered a guilty plea to the forgery charges.

Roberts was brought here from the state prison in Huntsville for the hearing.

Girls Riot Over Elvis

CHICAGO (AP) — Elvis Presley, wearing a $2,500 gold leaf suit and $100 golden slippers, sang 16 songs in less than an hour before some 12,000 shrieking teen-agers last night at the International Amphitheatre.

Thirteen girls, many wailing "We want Elvis!" were carried to the first aid station during the rock 'n' roll singer's one-night Chicago program.

When he came on the stage, nearly two hours after the program started, his young fans stormed the stage. One girl swung her purse at a policeman, missed him and hit Tony Carvatta, 18, an usher. He suffered head injuries and was taken to a hospital.

The fans stood on chairs, in the aisles, and wailed as Elvis swayed and strummed his guitar. They paid $2.50 to $3 a seat. Elvis reportedly got $10,000.

Beck Changes Tune Following Hearing

SEATTLE (AP)—Dave Beck talked for half an hour last night, never once mentioned the Fifth or any other amendment and said it was "preposterous" to suggest he may have stolen any Teamsters Union funds.

It was not, however, in the presence of a Senate committee — just a crowd of curious newsmen and onlookers who greeted him here upon his return from two days questioning in Washington by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

The reception was much quieter than a Teamsters meeting at Yakima, 130 miles to the east, where 700 angry members wrangled with Beck-appointed officers, then hanged and burned Beck in effigy.

In Seattle, the president of the nation's biggest union said he had no complaint on the treatment he received while reluctantly testifying before the Senate committee.

But, he said, such hearings are a "one-way street" without the protection afforded a man in a court of law.

Asked about a statement by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), head of the Senate committee, that the word "theft" might apply if Beck used union funds without union consent and without repayment in full, Beck snorted:

"It is preposterous and without basis in fact. It is easy for a man in his post to make accusations. In my opinion such language is totally irresponsible."

He said he had repaid the money he had borrowed from the union — and before he was aware his affairs were being investigated.

Sen. McClellan's parting remarks that Beck had been "in utter contempt" of the Senate committee drew the remark:

"Not in the slightest degree. I have the highest respect for their offices but they cannot intimidate me."

Executives of the international union, he told the interviewers, will launch a million-dollar public relations campaign in behalf of the union. The money, he said, will come from the union's 30-million-dollar treasury and "not by any subscription campaign."

(In Washington, however, Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) introduced a bill in the House to prohibit unions from paying defense expenses for union officers accused of illegal acts outside the performance of their duties.

(Exceptions would permit defense of performance of official union duties or when a majority vote of the union authorizes payment of the fees or charges.)

It was this problem which accounted in part for the uproar in the Yakima local's meeting. Members reported they had voted "almost unanimously" that no money from the local's general fund is to be used for Beck's defense if he should be brought to trial.

They also challenged Fred Wehde, a trustee appointed by Beck in 1954 to take over the union's affairs, and other officials of the union, angrily accusing Wehde and the others of letting down the rank-and-file members.

This meeting wound up with the hanging and burning of an effigy bearing a placard saying:

"Majority members of Local 524 strongly in favor Senate investigating committee."

Educator Urges Women To Take Better School Jobs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Some of education's best paid jobs open to women are going begging because of a lack of people trained to fill them, M. Eunice Hilton, president of the National Assn. of Women Deans and Counselors, declared today.

"There never has been a time in the history of education when women administrators of intelligence, wisdom and skill were needed more in our schools and colleges," Miss Hilton said in her president's address opening the 37th annual convention of the NAWDC.

She is director of the graduate training program in student personnel at Syracuse.

"The role we should play in relation to women in education was never more important than it is now, when women's role in society is undergoing dramatic changes and education of women again is on trial," she said.

"Once it could truly be said that the average woman's career ended when she married and began to raise a family.

"That is no longer true. The average pattern today — forced primarily by economic pressure — is that the woman works when she finishes school, marries, starts to raise her family and then when they are able to help themselves returns to work.

"The increase of married women returning to work in the last 10 years has been the fastest growing phenomenon in American social life."

Since it is the pattern that more and more women must work it is important that they be trained to use their full capacity, and that they have sufficient education that they can hold positions commensurate with those of their husbands, she added.

Quiz Winner Mystified That Others Can't Recall Everything

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the most fascinating minds which the current television quiz program fad has brought to light is that of Theodore Nadler of St. Louis, who thus far has won $120,000 on The $64,000 Challenge (CBS-TV).

On Sunday he will return to the program to compete against Mrs. Lowell Thomas Jr. on the subject of geography for $16,000 more. For nine weeks Nadler has been competing against experts in a great variety of fields of knowledge. Who is he?

Well, he's a small, dark-haired, tense man of 47, with a wife and three children, who until recently was working as a civilian for the Army at the St. Louis Area Support Center for take-home pay of $67 a week. Although he was highly esteemed as a clerical employe, his job rating (he says) was that of a laborer.

Although he has only a grammar school education, he has surpassed and confounded an amazing array of experts in such diverse fields as history, baseball, music and geography. One obvious question is why a man with so retentive and agile a mind has been willing to remain in such a poorly paid job.

"You don't understand what it is to be very poor," Nadler said. "My mother was an invalid and my father could only work part time. I grew up partly in an orphanage. My brothers and sisters and I all had to go to work early. I never even thought of going to high school. My parents were good people, but there was no one to guide me. They didn't think of things like education, such as are thought of in even an average American family. Nobody ever evaluated anything."

Nadler read everything he could find. He discovered, without surprise, that he remembered what he read. It did not seem unusual to him; he presumed that everyone remembered. He is still somewhat mystified that they don't.

After questioning Nadler almost to the point of our mutual exhaustion, I believe he has one of the most extraordinary minds I've ever met. He has almost total recall and an amazingly free association of ideas.

This is a quite different type of mentality from one that recalls simply the words of a printed page. It is typical of many of the world's best minds. It is similar, for example, to the way that the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes once described the working of his phenomenal memory.

What is Theodore Nadler going to do with the great gift of his mind? Apparently not much. He won't take another regular job this year. He'd like a better job in the field of statistics, but he hasn't been offered one in St. Louis — his native city which he refuses to leave. He's bought a new home and his family is living better than it ever has.

About two thirds of his winnings will go in taxes — a subject that troubles him greatly. The remainder he plans to put in a savings account and draw interest. He replied that that would only result in more income which the government would tax.

Has he any theories as to why his abilities weren't better recognized as a civil service employe?

"I was known as capable and dependable," he said, "but that doesn't necessarily help you get ahead. To get ahead you have to play politics and I don't know how to do it."

A modest man with simple tastes, all the public attention troubles him. "I wouldn't like to live under this tension all the time," he said. "I'm grateful to everybody, but when it's all over I hope they all forget about it."

Ethics, Lobby Bills In Thorough Airing

AUSTIN (AP) — Two proposals aimed at reenforcing the honesty of Texas legislators got a thorough airing yesterday by House members but final action was put off until at least Monday.

Both measures—the proposed code of ethics (HB 3) and the lobbyist registration act (HB 10)—were engrossed and will be up for third and final readings Monday morning.

Final approval was given to the first segregation bill to be acted on by the Legislature—a bill (HB 32) banning the employment of NAACP members by the state or any of its subdivisions. The vote was 75-49.

The House recessed until 10:30 a.m. Monday after an afternoon session that lasted until about 4:30 p.m.

The Senate quit until 10:30 a.m. Monday after a morning session. The influential Finance Committee approved the Senate appropriations bill and floor debate on it was set for next Wednesday.

The code of ethics measure, by Rep. Ben Glusing of Kingsville, passed to engrossment by a 111-17 vote. However, it faied to get the necessary four-fifths majority required to obtain an immediate final ballot.

The code would set up standards of conduct for officials and employes of all state agencies and the Legislature—generally prohibiting any outside interests or connections that would affect a person's responsibility to his state job.

All offered amendments were defeated, after considerable debate. The principal action came on a proposed amendment by Rep. Dixon Holman of Fort Worth to require an oath of compliance. It was defeated 81-50.

An amendment offered by Rep. Jerry Sadler of Percilla to require that officials and legislators file sworn statements of income was downed 70-59. The original bill requires sworn statements only from those who own a controlling interest in a firm or corporation which would be affected by pending legislation.

Rep. Obie Jones of Austin offered an amendment providing that attorneys on retainer could not serve in the Legislature but the proposal was ruled not germane to the bill. Jones argued that the code cut off outside income for other legislators yet attorneys could keep on getting retainers.

"Let's just starve together," he said.

Holman said the code, with his amendment, was needed because "the people of Texas feel they have been betrayed by us."

"Why don't we just pass a resolution and send it back to our home folks saying they sent a bunch of damn crooks up here?" said Rep. Carlton Moore of Houston.

"Would you accept an amendment to put a bug (microphone) in every representative's office so we can have a little tape recording of everything he does?" Moore asked Glusing. "And we might as well have another amendment requiring that he sleep with the shades up with someone holding a flashlight in his eyes all night."

There was very little argument on the proposed lobbyist registration bill, which was sponsored by Rep. J. C. Zbranek of Daisetta.

"The present lobbying laws consider lobbying illegal," he said. "This bill recognizes lobbying as an important part of law making but puts controls on it."

Specifically it would require that paid lobbyists or anyone who spends more than $25 to influence legislation must register and declare his employer and financial arrangements.

The bill was engrossed by a voice vote but failed by a 96-27 vote to get the four-fifths majority to suspend the rules for final action.

The anti-NAACP bill was presented by Rep. Reagan Huffman of Marshall.

Webb Officers To Speak At Graduations

Three men who have made good in the Air Force will be homeward bound during April and May to speak at their hometown high school commencement exercises.

They will be participants of "Operation Hometown", an Air Force program.

Two Texans and one Pennsylvanian from Webb AFB have been selected by Headquarters, USAF, to participate in the program.

The Pennsylvanian is Maj. Malcolm L. Nurnberg, and he will journey to Upper Darby, Pa., to address the graduates of Upper Darby High School April 26.

Maj. Martin E. Lindemann, one of the Texans, is to give a pre-commencement address to the corps of Cadets of Allen Academy, Bryan, April 28.

Lt. Col. Alvin R. Holman, Paint Rock, will return to his hometown high school to deliver the commencement address May 21.

Maj. Nurnberg completed high school in 1938, and graduated from Blue Ridge College, New Windsor, Md., in 1941 with his BS degree in Psychology. In 1956, the major led a dramatic expedition into Ecuadorian jungles in an effort to rescue five missionaries slain by savage Indians. The story of the rescue expedition, was featured in periodicals in the United States and abroad. He was on his second Air Force assignment to Ecuador at the time of the expedition. He is presently assigned to Webb as commander of the 3560th Field Maintenance Squadron.

Maj. Lindemann, Class of '30, Allen Academy at Bryan, entered the service in 1941 and has served continuously since that date. He has more than four years of overseas duty, in the China-Burma-India Theatre and the Panama Canal Zone.

His duties and varied assignments include that of commanding officer of a recruiting detachment, of an Air Force school squadron; as commandant of students at the South Plains Glider School, Lubbock; in 1942, he was appointed commanding officer, College Training Detachment, Austin College, Sherman. After a tour as squadron commander, at Barksdale AFB, Shreveport, La., he was assigned as assistant professor of air science, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge.

From 1950 through 1953, he was stationed in Washington, D. C., in the directorate of military personnel office.

Just before coming to Webb, he spent three years in the Canal Zone, Panama, as adjutant, 1806th Airways and Communications Service Group.

Col. Holman, a graduate of the Class of '35, was particularly active in football, basketball, tennis and track while attending Paint Rock High School. After completing high school, he attended Hardin - Simmons University at Abilene for three years. He entered the Air Force aviation cadet program in September of 1941, and completed flying training in 1942. He is presently assigned as wing inspector of Webb AFB.

The association purchased the timing equipment for $1,674.

Dice Tilt Ends With Robbery

A gambling debt led to an armed robbery on the northside Thursday.

As a result, a Negro was arrested and held for investigation of robbery by assault.

The incident occurred in the 500 block of NW Third Thursday night. The Negro who was arrested told police that he felt he was being cheated in a dice game and he asked the dice partner for his money back.

When the second Negro refused, the arrested man pulled a knife, he said, and the two scuffled. He got $37 and left. The other Negro then called police and the robber was arrested in less than 30 minutes.

No charges had been filed this morning, officers said.

New Regulations On Farm Housing Please Dawsonites

LAMESA—Bill White and Fred Rainey, Lamesa, who were present with bracero employers from all over the nation at a meeting last month with the USDA in Washington, today expressed satisfaction with the modified housing regulations for braceros released on Thursday.

White, who is manager of the Mocking Bird Hill Labor association, said that the labor department officials "put quite a bit of common sense into the housing standard regulations announced Thursday." They are just about back where they were last year, he asserted.

White estimated that the committee, of which he and Rainey were members, attained from 75 to 80 per cent of the things they requested in their conference with officials in Washington on the problem.

Charges Filed

Charges of burglary have been filed in the court of Walter Grice, justice of the peace, against David Marquez. Similar charges have also been filed against Laurel Anderson and Floyd Lewis Turner Jr.

Clean-Up Campaign, Survey Of Fire Hazards Are Planned

The annual city-wide clean-up campaign was scheduled for the week of May 6 and plans were made for an intensive fire hazard survey April 24-25 when city and Chamber of Commerce officials and fire insurance agents met this morning.

The fire hazard studies will be made during "fire inspection field days" to be staged by representatives of fire insurance companies. The inspectors will be assisted by city firemen and Boy Scouts.

The Chamber of Commerce Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Committee has charge of the clean-up campaign. Webb Air Force Base will cooperate on both projects.

About 80 insurance company inspectors will come here for the fire insurance surveys. They will check all public buildings and most business places in their search for potential fire starters.

The group will be divided into teams of five, each team including two inspectors, one city fireman and two Boys Scouts. They wil request permission to inspect all business places. All fire hazards discovered will be "red tagged" and owners of the establishments will be told how they can eliminate the dangers. A few days later, city firemen will re-visit the places to determine how many of the defects have been corrected.

Home inspections will be made by elementary school pupils. Blanks will be distributed to the students, who will check their own homes.

Prizes will be given to the elementary schools reporting the highest percentage of inspections. First price will be $25, second $15 and third $10.

A poster contest is to be conducted in the schools in connection with clean-up week. A prize of $10 will be given to the student with the best poster in each grade.

JURY

was convicted in Lea County, N. M., in 1945 of car theft and again in 1951 in El Paso County of transporting a stolen car. His bond as set at $7,500.

"Repeater" indictments were returned against the two Neel brothers — Kenneth Gerald and Harmon Harold — who created a local sensation early this month by breaking out of the Howard County jail.

The Neels, the state asserts, were previously tried and convicted of robbery by assault — the same charge for which they are indicted here. They are accused in the present case with having taken $34 and other personnel property off the person of Joe Pierce, county jailer, as a part of their jail-break activity on March 11. Bonds for the men are set at $10,000 each.

Another "repeater" indictment was lodged against Andrew Garcia Perez, charged in the complaint here with burglary. Perez was granted bail in the sum of $2,000.

Two indictments charging murder with malice were reported by the grand jury.

Pablo Sapata and Felix Sapata are named in the two bills. They are accused of having knifed Geromino Calderon to death on Feb. 17. Their bonds were set at $5,000 each.

Other indictments returned by the jurors:

Santos Mendoza, possession of narcotics; bond $3,500; Steve Jones, possession of narcotics, $3,500.

Gus Elqueseva, possession of narcotics; bond $3,500; Thomas Rodriguez, possession of narcotics, bond $3,500; Raymon Chavez, possession of narcotics, bond $3,500.

Troy Jones, robbery by assault, $5,000 bond.

Clifford B. Dawson, robbery by assault, bond $5,000.

Moses Viera, burglary, two indictments, bonds $2,000 in each case.

Daniel F. Clevenger, burglary, bond $2,000.

Richard Calvin Mitchell, car burglary, bond $2,000.

Frances Williams, forgery, bond $2,000.

Harold Neil Wilson, forgery, two indictments, bonds $2,000 in each case.

Bobby Doshier, defrauding by worthless check, bond $2,000.

Grant B. Williams, forgery and passing, bond $2,000.

Eddie Lee Long, DWI second offense, bond $2,000.

Pete Vasquez, DWI second offense, bond $2,000.

Otis Homer Petty, DWI second offense, bond $2,000.

Apelinar Olquin, DWI second offense, two indictments, bond $2,000 in each case.

Julian Douglas Rasco, DWI second offense, bond $2,000.

Lawrence Lewis Rollwitz, DWI second offense, bond $2,000.

It is probable many of these cases will be set for trial at a criminal jury docket set for April 15.

Some of the defendants are expected to enter pleas of guilty when these will be presented, if such developments arise, was uncertain Thursday morning.

Judge Sullivan has scheduled a jury civil docket to open in 118th District Court on Monday morning.

Grandfather To Decide On Charges Against Youth, 14

Shorty Long, juvenile officer, said he is waiting word from San Angelo on what disposition is to be made of a 14-year-old boy arrested in Midland and returned to Howard County last night.

The boy is alleged to have taken his grandfather's car and his billfold without consent of the latter.

Two other youths, one 16 and the other 17, were with the San Angelo boy when he was apprehended. They will probably be released, Long said, since there is no evidence they had any knowledge the car had been taken without the owner's permission.

Long said he understood San Angelo has a complaint against the younger boy. The juvenile officer reported that the grandfather does not intend to press charges against his grandson in Big Spring.

Two other youngsters, 16 and 17, are being held while word from Oklahoma on their record is awaited. The two were picked up last night by city police. They were without money, it was said.

Bracero Housing Code Is Amended By Labor Dept.

The United States Department of Labor today announced that the minimum acceptable standards for housing Mexican agricultural workers employed in this country under the Migrant Labor Agreement with Mexico, have been amended and reissued.

The modified regulations are effective immediately and replace those issued on Jan. 7, 1957.

Wm. J. T. Robertson, field representative for the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security here, said the changes were made on the basis of (1) operating experience in the field and (2) consultations with the two committees which advise the Labor Department on farm labor policies and programs. These committees are the Special Farm Labor Committee, composed of agricultural representatives from each state, and the Labor Advisory Committee on Farm Labor made up of representatives of organized labor.

"The changes in the minimum standards include the addition of appeals procedures for employers and spell out in more detail than before the kind of housing and sanitary facilities that must be provided by employers for the Mexican workers they contract and employ under the terms of the Migrant Agreement," Robertson said.

"The amended standards cover adequacy of shelter, adequacy of space per worker, water supply, cleanliness, sanitation, ventilation, heating, and facilities for eating and laundry."

Regional Director Ed McDonald of the Bureau of Employment Security in Dallas is mailing a copy of the amended standards to all approved employers and associations of employers of Mexican National workers. Copies are available at the field office here or at the regional office in Dallas.

Exclusion from the standards is provided for bracero ranch hands while they are away from ranch headquarters. In such cases living conditions on the range comparable to those under which domestic workers live are acceptable.

The source materials used in the development of the amended standards include the provisions of the Migrant Labor Agreement, state agricultural camp codes, and the suggested language for regulations of agricultural labor camps issued by the President's Committee on Migratory Labor.

Mrs. Sloan's Services Set

Mrs. Abbie Vaughn Sloan, 71, wife of James B. Sloan, died suddenly of heart attack here Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Sloan, who had suffered with a heart condition for a number of years, was stricken at her home at 200 Austin. She slumped to the floor and was rushed to the hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the First Methodist Church where she and Mr. Sloan had been members since coming here in 1911. The pastor, Dr. Jordan Grooms, will officiate. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of River Funeral Home.

Mrs. Sloan leaves her husband, a well-known businessman; one daughter, Mrs. W. H. Gray, Big Spring; five brothers, Sam Butman, Will Butman, Ford Butman, Ben Butman and Louis Butman; and four sisters, Miss Lottie Butman, Mrs. Joe Swinney, Mrs. Tom Russon, and Mrs. Euel Ray, all of Merkel.

Pallbearers will be John L. Dibrell, Clarence Shive, Clyde Waits Jr., S. P. Jones, Howard Stephens and Robert Stripling.

Two Fires Result In Slight Damage

Two small fires occurred Thursday, but only slight damage resulted.

A cigarette pitched on the awning at Master's Drive-In at 2011 Gregg started a fire Thursday afternoon, but firemen from the 18th and main sub-station extinguished it before much damage was done.

No damage came from a fire at Mrs. Smith's Fabric Shop, 119 E. 3rd. It developed from a short circuit in an electric switch.

Automobile Hits Power Line Pole

A motorist hit a power pole Thursday in one of four accidents occurring here.

Paul Whirley, 210 Jones, hit a Texas Electric pole at the corner of Third and Brown Thursday night.

At 17th and Main, Lewis Burns, 1600 E. 17th, and Ernest Abbitt, 307 Bell, were in collision. A Nalley - Pickle ambulance was called, but no one was injured.

Alvah Minnick, 1107 Mulberry, and Virgie Broughton, Rt. 1, were drivers of cars colliding at N. 11th and Lamesa. Gerald Huff, 3002 Cherokee, and Bruce Dobbs, 1403 Shepherd, collided at Eighth and Runnels.

Battery Stolen From Automobile

A battery was taken from a car Thursday.

Alfred Collins, 431 Edwards, told police that the car was parked in the alley of the 200 block between Runnels and Johnson. The theft occurred between 7:30 a.m. and 10:30.

Demonstration On Electricity Slated Tonight

Another large crowd turned out Thursday evening to hear Dr. George Speake, lecturer for the Moody Institute of Science, in his "Sermons from Science" series.

Dr. Speake concludes the programs at 7:30 p.m. and prospects are that there will be a capacity crowd on hand. There is no admission charge.

One of his most interesting demonstrations today will deal with electricity. By law 2,000 volts are allowed for use in electrocuting criminals; it's enough to do the job. But Dr. Speake will have more than one million volts of high frequency electricity sent through his body, blazing from his finger tips. Of course, he fully intends to live to complete his lecture.

The celebrated tenor Enrico Caruso, once shattered a glass goblet by hitting a high note. Speake will explain that the trick is an easy one. All a person must have is a voice like Caruso's or equipment similar to the $20,000 display Speake uses in connection with his demonstration. As though such scientific legerdemain were not enough to carry his point, Speake will literally juggle the theoretical limits of the universe: more than one million earths could be dropped in the sun and rattle around. It will take 200 million years for our planet earth to circle our own galaxy. These are some of the random facts which Speake expertly refashions into a lecture education in nature, but surprisingly entertaining and enlightening.

Summers Rites To Be Saturday

Brief commital rites will be held at the graveside here Saturday for Burke T. Summers Jr., 28, former Big Spring resident.

Mr. Summers, who was reared here and who graduated from Big Spring High School, will be laid to rest beside the grave of his mother who died when he was a small child.

He died at 7:30 p.m.Wednesday in the Fitzsimmons General Hospital at Denver, Colo., and the remains were returned to his home in San Angelo. Services are to be held there at 10 a.m. and the remains will be brought here immediately afterwards.

After graduation from Texas A&M in 1948, he worked for William Cameron Company and later for station KGKL in San Angelo. He entered service in 1952 and while serving in Japan was stricken with a kidney ailment from which he never recovered.

Surviving are his wife, the former Betty Todd, San Angelo; his father, Burke T. Summers Sr., who for many years was manager of the Barrow Furniture Company here and later served as state representative from the old 91st District; his step-mother and three step-brothers.

Gray-Y Unit May Be Formed

Organization of a Gray-Y unit — which derives its title from grade school and YMCA — will be accomplished Saturday at the Y building.

The affair will start at 9 a. m. with a songfest, said Everette Taylor, program director. At 9:45 a. m. there will be group meetings with leadership discussions, followed half an hour later by entertainment which includes Ben Hall and his Circle 4 Ramblers, plus a movie. The meeting closes at 11:30 a. m. with more songs, a devotion, and a friendship circle.

Boys in the fifth and sixth grades of Washington Place, College Heights, Airport, East Ward, West Ward and North Ward Schools are eligible.

Bogus Check Suspect Held

A man identified as Jack Israel, wanted here in connection with a bogus payroll check for $184.16 cashed at a food store, has been arrested in Carlsbad, N. M., Miller Harris, sheriff, said this morning.

Israel and a woman companion are being detained in Carlsbad.

Jack Shaffer, chief deputy who is investigating the case, said that the check was written on a payroll form of the Conner Construction Company, Odessa. This establishment was burglarized by thieves Sunday night who took a book of payroll checks and the company check writer.

Whether the suspect will be returned here or to Odessa was not known Friday morning. However, in view of the graver charge, it was believed that he would be surrendered to Ector County authorities and that local officials would place a hold order against him.

Billfold Is Lost

Calvin Bordofske, 705 W. 15th, told the police department today that he lost a billfold Thursday night, but it contained no money. He said that the brown wallet was lost in the vicinity of Master's Drive-In, in the 2000 block of Gregg.

Borden Gets Webb Contract

Webb Air Force Base has let contract for $32,431 worth of ice cream and $72,295 worth of milk, according to Capt. Walter M. Bullock, purchasing and contracting officer.

The contract is with the Borden Company and the dairy products are for use in mess halls and for resale at the base commissary, over a six-month period.

Although the new contract overlaps the expected date for a transition to contract feeding here, it does not affect the contract in any way. The civilian contractor will still requisition food and supplies in the same manner that mess sergeants do at present.

Rites Held For Bratcher Infants

Graveside services were held Friday at 9:30 a.m. for the infant twin daughters of Lt. and Mrs. Wayne Bratcher. The babies, Mary and Ann, died soon after birth at a hospital here Thursday morning.

Uncle Ray:

Magnetic Lines May Guide Bird Migration

By RAMON COFFMAN

An interesting question about bird migration is this one:

Q. How do birds know when the time comes to migrate?

A. Two factors appear to be of importance. One is growing coldness in whatever place they may be using as a home. In the North Temperate Zone, instinct tells them that they must fly southward to enjoy warmer weather.

There are times, however, when migrations start during mild weather. This probably is due to changes in the light in the sky. When the days become shorter, the birds seem to know that it is time to start a migration.

Q. How do birds know their way?

A. One theory is that they remember the hills and valleys which they passed while flying southward. When they return, they may scan the horizon and follow the same route.

Birds have sharp sight, and the valley is the Mississippi River provides an excellent guide. On the other hand we must remember the many birds which migrate at night. It is doubtful that they can follow landmarks very well after sunset, even if the moon comes into the sky. In cloudy weather the trouble in seeing the way would be greatly increased.

Prevailing winds are mentioned in another theory. Such winds would be helpful over certain periods of time, but there are too many changes to supply a true explanation of how birds find their way — northward or southward. Instead of blowing northward or southward, some prevailing winds blow eastward or westward.

A highly interesting theory concerns the "lines of magnetic force" which exist around the earth. Birds may have an "extra sense" which puts them in touch with these lines, and leads them to fly toward one or the other of the magnetic poles of the earth.

A plover about to take off and an Arctic tern in flight.

Even if magnetic lines have something to do with migration, it is likely that the sense of sight is employed during the later parts of each trip.

Traffic Death Tally Drops

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council said today that for the first time in two years there has been a drop in traffic deaths in two consecutive months.

The over all traffic death toll for January and February was 5,400—a decrease of 5 per cent. February deaths dropped 7 per cent — 2,540 as compared with 2,730 in February last year. The January toll was down 3 per cent.

The last time there was a reduction in two consecutive months was in January and February 1955, the council said.

It said it felt "the tremendous activity" generated by its "Back the Attack" campaign and a similar campaign by the Governors Conference were distinct helps.

In February, 430 of the 576 reporting cities had perfect records. The three largest are Denver (415,800), Toledo (303,600) and Syracuse, N. Y. (220,600). For the two-month period, 362 cities had perfect records. Syracuse was joined by Norfolk, Va., (213,500) and Salt Lake City (182,100) in this category.

Senate Candidates File Into Big Cities

By JERRY MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

The score of candidates filed into the big cities Friday for a final weekend bid for votes in the Senate election Tuesday.

Several were stumping the Houston area, the state's largest voting strength.

Rep. Martin Dies won the endorsement of two more Texas newspapers Thursday. His campaign manager said a survey showed he was leading in the race.

Republican Thad Hutcheson said Ralph Yarborough doesn't really want to go to the Senate. Yarborough stumped along the Gulf Coast.

Voters will select one of the 22 candidates whose names will appear on the ballot to serve the remainder of Gov. Price Daniel's Senate term.

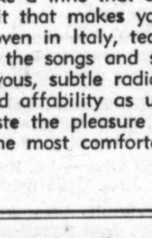

The Longview Journal and Longview Daily News endorsed Dies in front page editorials. The newspapers said a split among the Democratic vote would be the surest way to insure a Republican victory. The result, the newspapers said, would be to remove Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn from their influential posts in Congress.

Hugh Prather, Dies' campaign coordinator, said a poll shows Dies is leading in the race with 34 per cent of those questioned. He said Yarborough trails with 28.5 per cent followed by Hutcheson with 20 per cent.

Hutcheson, whose endorsement by President Eisenhower may help him in a state the President has carried twice, was back in his hometown of Houston.

"It is obvious the Ralph Yarborough campaign has stumbled because he hasn't found anybody to run against and he can't get up the crusading spirit running for senator," Hutcheson said Thursday. "His followers don't really want to send him to the Senate and he doesn't really want to go there."

THAD SAYS . . .

Thad Hutcheson

"In 1952 and again in 1956, we Texans endorsed President Eisenhower and his policies by landslide majorities. His leadership, I believe, has been good for Texas and the entire country.

"The President's task has not been made easier by a Congress controlled by the opposition party. Legislation he has asked for has often been delayed or thrown out altogether. An unfriendly committee recently cut 26 million dollars from the drouth relief appropriation he asked for. My election would provide the President the friendly Senate he should have to hasten and complete his programs. Thad Hutcheson is the only candidate for the Senate who has been endorsed by the President. I urge you to send me to Washington to work with Mr. Eisenhower."

Reward For 'Salesmanship'

Sgt. Raymond McKee, mess steward for the local National Guard unit, receives a watch from the unit commander, Capt. T. A. Harris. The watch was McKee's reward for being the outstanding salesman of the unit for the February project in which the Guard gave away a boat, motor and trailer. Sgt. McKee has been a member of the Guard battery for more than six years. He has been mess steward for five years and his section has received a superior rating from Regular Army officials each year.

National Guard Battery Sets Summer Camp At Fort Hood

Fort Hood will be the place of assignment for summer camp training of the Big Spring unit of the National Guard, according to Capt. Thomas A. Harris Jr., battery commander.

Eighty-eight men, including officers, are planning to attend, he said. The camp training period begins July 7 and will continue through July 21. There will be no special practice meanwhile prior to departure, according to Capt. Harris.

Two phases will mark the camp period. The first week will be devoted to individual training, but as a unit. This will include the howitzer section and communications sections, wire and radio. Participating also will be the maintenance section, consisting of drivers and mechanics; survey personnel section; FDC (fire direction center) section; FO (forward observer) section and the mess section.

Forward observer section members are those who determine distances to targets, which data are broken down by FDC section members. Together the sections cited make up the personnel of Battery B, 132nd Field Artillery Battalion, Big Spring unit of the National Guard.

Capt. Harris is associated with Cosden Petroleum Corporation.

* * *

Enlistments in Battery B during February were better than those in the same period for at least seven previous years, Warrant Officer Billie L. Eggleston said Friday.

March enlistments also have been good, but neither of these facts, Eggleston explained, is attributable to the new active duty training plan.

Good enlistments here have always marked this season, Eggleston said, the season ordinarily beginning in January and lasting until the end of April. This year however, the local unit did not begin enlistments until February, and officials believe it will continue until May.

Anyone in the age bracket from 17 to 18½ entering the Guard after April 1 and through Sept. 30, Eggleston said, may enlist and serve 11 weeks of active duty. Anyone over 18½ through age 35 must serve six months. Men joining prior to April 1, who participate satisfactorily in guard activity, are draft deferred, he said.

Eggleston has served in the local unit for more than seven years.

75 Invited To Join New 'Posse'

Invitations to join the new Big Spring Sheriff's Posse have been mailed to some 75 persons, and the organization is asking for replies prior to April 5.

Organization of the posse started this week, and leaders hope to have the group formed in time to participate in the Midland rodeo parade early in June. R. V. Middleton is temporary chairman of the posse. He said a meeting of the group will be called soon after April 5.

Supply, Demand Really Work On Food Prices

By JESS BLAIR

The housewife who wants to save on the budget might try serving eggs for breakfast, fried chicken for lunch and maybe turnips and green beans for dinner.

These foods are in plentiful supply with prices lower than usual, according to several Big Spring grocers.

Chicken is the only meat that has dropped. It is down from two to three cents per pound, due to the over supply of broilers in Texas. Eggs are always cheap in the spring, and this is no exception. The cheapest are the ones trucked in from other areas and sold in plain cartons.

Beef products have not risen much, but grocers predict increased prices soon. The recent rains throughout the Southwest have caused ranchers to hold onto yearlings, and also fat cattle are almost gone in many areas. One grocer who has been paying 35 to 36 cents for fat carcasses said he now had to pay three cents more.

"We've tried to hold the prices down," he said, "but they will probably will go up in the next few days."

The biggest fluctuation in price is found on the vegetable racks. They depend altogether upon supply and demand. One grocer said his tomatoes were coming from Mexico and were costing $5 a lug. Within a few weeks he may be buying them for $2.

Some of the new vegetables coming in now are green beans, green onions, lettuce, radishes and the leafier vegetables. It's a dull time of year for most fruits. One grocer said baskets of strawberries now selling for 49 cents per basket will be down below 30 cents once the East Texas crop starts this way.

Everything in a grocery store is priced according to supply and demand, said one grocer. Perishable products fluctuate much more than staple goods. The weather is a big factor in determining the price of fruits and vegetables.

For instance, a recent wet spell in California caused the oranges to be watery and faded. Storms on the Gulf Coast slowed up fishing, and as a result not many fresh fish have been brought to Big Spring lately.

Rains in South Texas and Florida cut down on vegetable shipments and caused prices on remaining supplies to rise. These conditions are only temporary, however, and the flow of products soon become normal again.

Vegetable growers seem to have an unwritten agreement on when to plant and market their products. Right now cantaloupes are being brought in from Mexico. The next harvesting site will be Presidio, then Pecos and then the Texas Panhandle. After that the Rocky Ford harvest will start and be followed by the Imperial Valley of California. Any area contemplating the growing of cantaloupes must get its crop in between some of these harvest dates or meet stiff competition.

There is some difference in the methods of pricing groceries. One manager says he tries to keep about the same margin of profit, raising and lowering prices according to the wholesale price. Another grocer says he pays little attention to a rise or fall of a few cents.

"Here is why," he said. "If things drop three cents a pound, nobody seems to notice it, but if they go up even one cent I hear some unpleasant remarks. So we try to change prices as seldom as possible. Sometimes we gain; sometimes we lose. But over a 12-months period we make about the same profit."

Some housewives wonder why groceries keep inching upward month after month.

"Every time anything goes up, it affects everything else," said one owner. When rail freight rates increased seven and a half per cent, everything they haul, including groceries, was marked up. When gasoline rises a cent a gallon, the grocery truckers raise prices to offset the increased price of hauling. If a food company raises wages or a paper mill starts charging more, then things go up all down the line.

"No matter where the price raise occurs, it is John Q. Citizen and his missus who actually foot the bill."

2 Newspapermen Indicted On Charge Of Criminal Libel

CONROE (AP)—A grand jury indicted two newspaper officials yesterday on three counts of criminal libel.

Rigby Owen, publisher, and Ed Watson, editor, of the Conroe Daily Courier were named in the indictments concerning a series of editorials on the precinct of Commissioner P. J. Peel.

Watson said, "I feel that the freedom of the press is being jeopardized. Everything we have written is based on sworn affidavits by citizens of Montgomery County and other information that has been verified by large numbers of citizens of Precinct 4."

The charges allege the editorials contain a "malicious written statement affecting the reputation" of Peel.

Good Idea, But Who Says When

Under our Constitution when a President dies the office and all its responsibilities devolve up his second in command, the vice president. Actually, of course, "second in command" is inaccurate and misleading; for the normal function of a vice president is to preside as president of the U. S. Senate. Beyond a few ceremonial duties, and under specific grants of authority by the Congress, the vice president cannot exercise any of the functions of the chief executive.

As it has off and on ever since the foundation of the Republic, the question of what to do when a President becomes incapacitated is under discussion and study. After his heart attack in '55 Mr. Eisenhower became concerned with the problem, and he still thinks something should be done about it. Attorney General Brownell has suggested an amendment to the Constitution at the earliest practicable time, and indeed the need for action of some sort is almost universally recognized.

The trouble is in deciding how to go about it. Who is to decide when a President becomes incapacitated? Mr. Brownell himself thinks the President can declare his inability to serve any further, but this seems hardly to meet the problem. A President might not recognize or acknowledge his own incapacity. President Garfield, for instance, lay in a virtual coma from July 2, 1881, when an assassin's bullet felled him, until he died the following Sept. 19. He signed only one official paper in all that time. Woodrow Wilson spent 17 months in office after his stroke, not in full possession of his mental powers, and certainly bereft of most of his physical strength.

Some have suggested the question of declaring a President incapacitated be delegated, by a constitutional amendment, to (variously) the Cabinet, the President himself, the vice president, the Supreme Court, the chief justice and so on.

In the end, if changed at all, the responsibility may rest with the chief justice, the speaker, the president protem of the Senate and the majority and minority leaders of both parties in House and Senate, acting on competent medical opinion. Most surely the vice president, as an interested party, should be excluded from such a group.

While a great many congressional and political leaders agree something should be done about it, it doesn't necessarily follow that anything will be done in the foreseeable future. The problem has more political angles than a barrel full of earthworms.

Salute To The P-TA

Big Spring is proud to be host to the annual meeting of District No. 16 of the Parent Teachers Association. The type of individuals who have maintained a constructive and helpful attitude toward our schools are the kind of people who do us real honor by accepting our hospitality.

Over the years there has arisen a number of standing jokes about the P-TA. The vast majority of these are in fun, but even where a touch of derisiveness creeps in, it is a tribute to the persistence and the tenacity of P-TA that it gets talked about.

There are ample reasons for talking about P-TA, too, for this has, by the very nature of its name, been the best point of contact between the home and school. All of us should take a closer interest in schools and visit them more frequently, but were it not for P-TA, most of us would almost never get around to seeing the schools or the people who make them tick.

Here, and we are sure that the same is true elsewhere, innumerable improvements in the school facilities may be traced to the generosity of the P-TA units. Virtually every unit about which we know anything has a project, and not infrequently this project takes the nature of filling some need in a particular school. The interest of P-TA groups has gone beyond the physical, for it also has been responsible for such things as improvement in teacher working conditions, curriculum advance, etc.

Finally, the P-TA has made and is making a singular contribution to good citizenship. Sometimes we think the programs settle into a pattern — but invariable the pattern is for more enlightened and responsible attitudes in homes toward schools and toward obligations of the individual in a democracy.

She Fits Right In

Around The Rim

Are All Crashes Accidental?

I begin to wonder just how many of our fatal highway accidents are really accidents.

In the news in the last year or so, people with overwhelming (but, at times, publicly known) troubles have been highway fatalities. Suicide usually is not ruled in such cases, since in only one such incident was there a suicide note — and it is difficult if not impossible to separate the real accidents from what may have been suicides.

The rate of suicides by other means is alarmingly high, but in view of the basic schizophrenia of the American people, some psychologists are puzzled that the overall rate is not higher. It could be that the missing portion in our suicide rate may have been lost in the wreckage on the highway, wreckage from which it is often impossible to deduce the cause.

A little reasoning would support the highway suicide theory. A person with deep emotional troubles often "goes for a little drive," just as our grandfathers went for a walk, or rode the mare out to the south forty — to work off tensions and think problems out. But going out onto the highway gives a potential suicide the opportunity to end it all in a quick and simple manner.

A person on the verge of suicide has largely lost the sense of reason, and without help, is likely to drive himself nearer to taking his own life.

This could be dangerous if such a person should, while driving, think himself into a suicidal state. Dangerous to others as well as himself. That car approaching on the highway is, to him, not a machine filled with living human beings, but a machine specially built to end his problems forever. When he turns his car into the oncoming vehicle, he doesn't hear the screams of the innocent people he has killed, and is probably unaware he has killed them. And, later, the Highway Patrol is unable to decide what made one car veer into the other.

Suicide by auto is an easy way out — it requires no other effort than a turning of the wheel. And turning a wheel does not carry the finality or realism of a gun, or the terrifying scene from a tall building.

It might pay the National Safety Council to sponsor research into the suicide angle in traffic deaths. After all, in such cases, it is as much murder as suicide.

A news item relates that whereas Texans boast of eating beef every day, Argentinians eat more than three times as much beef as we do.

This brings to mind that cowboys of the Old West got less beef, generally, than the people the cows were sold to. Seems the ranchers figured slaughtering any of the cows would cost them money, and it cost less to furnish beans, bacon, potatoes and flour for hardtack biscuits.

The cowboys were bowlegged, but not from riding — from lack of vitamins C and D. Vitamin C may be had mainly from fruits; vitamin D is found in meat, milk and especially the liver. The cowboys were generally lean, not from hard work, but from deficiency in protein. Argentine gauchos practically live off beef— they run to the lean side, too, but have always been more muscular.

There was once a comedian who came up with a new set of puns called Fractured French. Such phrases as "Je t' adore," which means "I love you," but in Fractured French it is translated: "Shut the door."

Filling In The 'Veep' Blank

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may someday be unable to carry out his duties. That's a possibility facing every president. But the Constitution is blank on how the vice president takes over in such a case.

Eisenhower and members of Congress are anxious to fill in this blank. He called in congressional leaders today to get their views before submitting his own recommendations to the lawmakers.

This hole in the Constitution has existed since the beginning of the Republic. But, because there are so many differences of opinion on what to do about it, and how, it may not be done this year either.

The Constitution — Article II, Section 1 — says:

"In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president. . ."

It's clear that the vice president steps in if the President is removed from office, dies or resigns. But fog swirls around the question of "disability."

Who decides when a president is unable to carry out his duties and that therefore the vice president should take over? The President himself or the vice president or the Cabinet or Congress or a medical commission?

The President could do it, if he were conscious and wanted to. But suppose, although unable to function, he didn't want to yield anything to his vice president. Who decides then?

Imagine another situation: The President, through illness or some calamity, is unable to declare his own disability in order to let the vice president take over. What then?

And once a vice president did take over, would it be only temporarily? Suppose the President recovered but the vice president argued that he now was the president.

Should the vice president decide on a president's disability and step into the job of the Presidency: That might split the country wide open if there were suspicion the vice president was trying to usurp the top office.

All these questions have been raised about this problem. Various answers have been offered: Let the President decide on his own disability, a solution which ignores a situation in which a president couldn't decide; let the Cabinet decide; let Congress do it.

Strange But True

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Junior Samuel F. Adam, of New Canaan, Conn., doubted a statement in his political science class at Temple University that some persons of voting age in Philadelphia didn't know the names of important political leaders.

Adam was assigned to research the statement as a term project and found:

Only 60 per cent could name the mayor as Richardson Dilworth; only 39 per cent could name the junior senator from Pennsylvania as Joseph Clark, although Clark had just completed a four-year term as mayor; seven per cent didn't know the President's name.

One person guessed the President was "Ike Hoover."

Save That Cup

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—An American institution of long and cherished standing has been dealt a terrible blow here. Because of public complaints, Safety Director Charles Ruddock has told his six-man street department:

1. No more coffee breaks until they've been on the job at least two hours. 2. If they take any coffee breaks at all, it'll have to be in the city garage.

And to put teeth in his order, Ruddock laid down these penalties: A week's suspension for the first offense; permanent dismissal for the second.

Deadeye

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—It appears that Specialist 3C. David E. Orr, Second Engineer Combat Battalion, really does need target practice.

Orr, 21-year-old resident of Paola, Kan., went target shooting at a range near here. As he reached to pull his revolver from a holster, he shot himself in the leg. He was not hurt seriously.

Good Question

MILWAUKEE (AP) — After two days of testimony, Civil Judge Robert C. Cannon informed the jury that attorneys had reached a settlement in the damage suit.

One juror raised his hand and inquired if it would be all right to ask a question.

"Certainly," replied Judge Cannon.

"Can you tell us who won, judge?" asked the juror.

No New Feet

CHICKASHA, Okla. (AP)—A visitor noticed 2-year-old Linda Lou Cargills and remarked:

"Why Linda Lou, I haven't seen you in so long. You've grown a foot."

The child calmly pressed down her skirt in front and bent over to look, then answered:

"Why, I still just have two."

The Delights Of Irish Coffee

Happy the traveler who has drunk Irish coffee at Shannon Airport, Eire, as he waited for his plane to refuel. He has feasted on manna. If a passenger is a real coffee aficionado, he may experience a little difficulty in identifying his plane at takeoff time. Or he may even take off on his own power.

By and large, Irish coffee is a noble drink, which has been prominent in the news ever since one of its devotees, Robert Briscoe, Lord Mayor of Dublin, arrived in the United States recently on a semi-officials visit.

When I met Briscoe a few days ago, I did not waste time in idle palaver.

"In memory of my grandmother, the one who came from County Kerry, could you give me the recipe for Irish coffee as it's served at Shannon Airport?" I asked.

"Ah, it's a grand county, one of the grandest," said the Lord Mayor in tribute to grandma's good taste. "And it's a grand drink. And you've come to the right man for the true recipe. First, you pour a drop of Irish whiskey into a glass."

"And how much is a drop?" I asked, feeling either the Lord Mayor was cautious or else the hand at Shannon is prone to slip.

Briscoe looked around the room until he spotted a guest with a glass into which a jigger of the dew of Killarney had just been poured.

"Now there's the right amount exactly," he said. "A drop of Irish whiskey to begin with, as I said, and after that add two spoonsful of sugar. Then you must stir them both together vigorously, and as you mix, you must talk the while. A little blarney as you stir is a great help and adds flavor.

"Now you have the base" continued the Lord Mayor, a handsome figure in formal morning clothes, adorned with the great gold chain of his office. I was interested in noticing that the wide chain reaches not only below His Honor's waist in front, but also in back. That's a lot of gold.

And how the English (if he will pardon the expression) language comes trippingly from his tongue, with the lilt and cadence of music! I do believe he could make the alphabet sound like purest iambic pentameter. But back to the recipe, which came out like a sonnet.

"And to the base of whiskey and sugar, well stirred, you add a short cup of coffee, and mind that it's scalding hot," the Lord Mayor went on. "Then you must stir and stir again as if you meant it. And don't forget the talk. The blarney is great for flavoring.

"Wehn you've stirred and stirred, you rest a bit and let the contents settle in the glass. Once it's settled, you take Irish cream, rich and thick, and you pour it slowly, slowly out of a tablespoon so the cream rests on top of the brew without mingling.

"Now it's ready to be drunk, blarney and all. So there you have it, the true recipe for Irish nectar.

"Serve your husband one of these," the Lord Mayor added, "and he'll ask for another and kiss you, lass, in the bargain."

Dave Beck And The Fifth Amendment

WASHINGTON—Dave Beck, head of the Teamsters Union, has a legal right to avoid giving testimony that could be used against him in a future trial, but in the court of public opinion he is bound by a moral obligation to make full disclosure of what he has done with the funds entrusted to him by his labor-union members.

The question of whether the Fifth Amendment implies guilt and whether, since it is a constitutional right, anyone should be condemned for invoking it has stirred up a lot of controversy in recent years, largely because so many Communists or persons suspected of Communist affiliations have refused to testify before Congress about such matters. They plead the Fifth Amendment because it gives the the privilege of remaining silent lest what they say be used against them in some future court preceedings.

The so-called "liberals" have been consistently defending the use of the Fifth Amendment as something that should not be deprecated when it is invoked. Their argument is that a man might or might not be guilty of the things which are suspected. He may plead the Fifth Amendment, for instance, because he is really guilty or he may plead it because he doesn't want to be hauled into court and forced to expose himself to the adverse publicity of a trial.

What seems to have been overlooked in the Communist cases is that an American citizen owes an obligation to help his fellow men deal with the menace of subversion and espionage involving the safety of the republic. If he puts his own convenience above the welfare of the country itself and refuses to tell about other persons who are guilty—even though he himself isn't—he is not fulfilling the highest purposes of his citizenship.

There is, of course, no question here involving Communism in the case before the Senate committee investigating labor-union rackets.

Dave Beck has long occupied a position of trust in his union. He has been allowed to handle many hundreds of thousands of dollars of the funds of his members, checked off their wages each week. When he insists that there is adequate machinery inside his own union to render judgment on what he has done with various sums about which the senators asked him, he is passing the buck to fellow union officers who are under his control or influence.

A labor union is a quasi-public institution. It acts for many citizens who have a right to expect the most scrupulous care in handling their money. Many union leaders who recognize this principle are today openly denouncing the attitude of Dave Beck. It is likely that the executive board of the AFL-CIO, of which Beck is a member, now will suspend him from that post as long as he refuses to make complete disclosure and fails to answer to the public the queries that have been directed to him about what heppened to the funds placed in his care.

Dave Beck, as an individual, of course, will find considerable comfort in a book about the Fifth Amendment written in 1955 by Dean E. N. Griswold of the Harvard Law School and widely espoused by the "liberals." Dean Griswold says:

"A person may fear and honestly fear the risk of persecution even though he knows he has committed no crime. He is entitled to claim the benefit of the privilege in such a case, and an inference that he has committed a crime is simply wrong. . ."

Most union leaders feel that Dave Beck has given the whole labor movement a bad name, and they naturally resent his secretiveness. The Fifth Amendment may protect Beck as an individual from possible legal involvements, but it cannot protect him from the adverse criticism and harsh judgments that will come his way from the labor-union chiefs as well as from the rank and file of the American labor-union movement.

For, whether it is business or labor or any other institution, the few who misbehave tend to besmirch the many who are innocent of wrongdoing and who take seriously the trust bestwoed upon them. To argue merely that wrongful practices have also occurred in some corporations is to condone the situation that has been uncovered in one of the biggest labor unions in the country. Two wrongs can't make a single right.

He's No Mystery Man

NEW YORK (AP) — Multimillionaire Axel Wenner-Gren. "The Swedish Sphinx," says it is a mystery to him why he is sometimes called "the mystery man of international finance."

"If I spent all my time talking about what I was doing, I wouldn't have time left to do all the things I still want to," he said.

"I am no mystery man. I have tried to keep out of the spotlight, but sometimes you have to throw a little light on what you are attempting to do."

And in his 76th year, Wenner-Gren feels he is now embarked on the biggest project of his life. It is the opening up of a 40,000-square-mile frontier tract in British Columbia, a wilderness area of Canada almost as large as England and Wales combined.

Wenner - Gren has deposited half a million dollars with British Columbia provincial authorities as a guarantee he will build a 400-mile monorail in the area by 1960. But before then he expects to spend five million dollars to inventory its mineral, hydroelectric and timber resources.

"This is the most important thing I have ever tried," he said, "because it will mean more to more people."

His company has agreed to provide hospitals and schools in the area as it develops, and his own share of any profits have been pledged to philanthropies. His associates estimate that if the territory proves as rich in resources as they expect, more than a billion dollars of development capital will eventually be required.

Associates have estimated he has given from 25 million to 50 million dollars to various scientific and health foundations he has established here and in Sweden. He doesn't like to discuss his private philanthropies.

Wenner-Gren is an organization genius, and is now reported to have active business interests in 20 countries. He founded his fortune on vacuum cleaners and home refrigerators, but today his scores of corporations make everything from diet pills to railroad trains.

What Happened To By-Pass Of Suez?

WASHINGTON — How little has actually been changed by the Anglo-American conference in Bermuda is become evident as a new Egyptian-Israeli crisis, nearly as serious as that over the proposal to apply sanctions to Israel, is in the making.

In Bermuda the American and British delegations were in agreement that the United Nations Emergency Force should be stationed on the Israeli as well as the Egyptian side of the disputed Gaza Strip.

This may be right and just. But when President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt makes it a pre-condition of any agreement and when the United Nations Secretary General, Dag Hammarskjold, seems to agree that it should be a pre-condition, then the trouble is certain to flare up again.

Given the situation in Israel, a compound of fear and fanaticism, Prime Minister David Ben Gurion probably would find it impossible to accept such a pre-condition. Overlooked too often in the West is Israel's fear of extinction. This tiny enclave so vulnerable to every kind of attack has been in an almost constant stage of seige for months, if not for years.

In the previous crisis the Eisenhower Administration was prepared to go through with support for sanctions in the United Nations. But both Republican and Democratic leaders in Congress strongly opposed any such move. The result was the appearance, at least, of paralysis, with American policy caught somewhere between two positions, each one of which might in itself be valid.

Should Ben-Gurion now refuse to accept a United Nations patrol as a pre-condition — that is without concessions simultaneously from Nasser — he can expect the same support from political leaders in this capitol.

If the inquiry into America's Middle East policy, as approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is to mean anything, then, in the view of observers here, the reasons for the larger failure should be explored.

Specifically in this connection, the inquiry should focus on why the original plan that John Foster Dulles brought back from London last summer for getting around the Suez Canal was abandoned. That plan, as Dulles reported it when he returned from the first conference of the canal users following Nasser's nationalization of Suez, seemed to make a lot of sense.

Dulles talked about it eloquently — the need to help Western Europe meet the costs of going around Africa with larger tankers, the construction of alternate pipelines, in short, making the canal a dry ditch. Whatever it might cost, the Secretary told a half dozen groups, it will be less than the cost of a war.

How very right he was. The cost of the short-term operation, say for the first year, Dulles at the time put at $500,000,000. The long-term financing of pipelines would have been done through private capital with perhaps some government help or government guarantees. The cost of the little war in Suez, with the blocking of the canal, has been estimated at $2,000,000,000.

Why was this plan not carried through? Was it because the British and French were offered loans which they felt they could not take on in view of lessening dollar-gold reserves? Was it because Britain and France believed they could trol of the canal? Was it because of the approaching American election which made any talk of additional cost or trouble a damper on the Administration claim of peace and prosperity?

Long Interval

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—Rep. Marvin J. Howard of Londonderry is serving his second term in the Vermont legislature this year! After a lengthy interval. He served the first one 47 years ago.

Howard, a Republican, was a member of the House in 1910. He says his business—undertaking—kept him away from the capital for nearly half a century.

"No special rush in undertaking," the 78-year-old Republican says, "but business enough so I couldn't leave to go to legislature."

Confined to a wheelchair since 1944 when he was stricken by polio at the age of 30, Clark operates radio receivers and microphones as senior police dispatcher. Squad car men say he combines a photographic memory and "an acute sixth sense" in directing them to set up roadblocks, pursue wrongdoers, or watch for trouble.

District Parents - Teachers Have First General Session Thursday

"To be successful at anything you must love all people," Mayor G. W. Dabney told the first general session of the 10th annual Sixteenth District Parent - Teachers Association conference.

The 70 delegates, six state officers and 18 district officers convened Thursday afternoon at the First Methodist Church. District president, Mrs. Elmer Payne, Sweetwater, and Mrs. Chesley McDonald, Sterling City, presided.

The introduction of the conference theme, "Opportunity with Responsibility for Every Youth," was presented by Mrs. J. W. Forrester.

Mrs. Forrester said that "the child is the sacred opportunity of all people; the home, the parents; the school; the church and the community." "They must know the whole truth, and through our actions we can demonstrate our three R's; rights, respect and responsibility," Mrs. Forrester said.

Policies and procedure of the P-TA were discussed by Mrs. W. S. Pickett, state vice president. "The P-TA is a direct outgrowth of the National Congress of Mothers, organized in Washington, D.C., in 1897. The organization soon realized that fathers and teachers were interested in activities too; thus the coordination of all concerned for a wholesome outcome," Mrs. Pickett said.

Special music was presented during the afternoon by the Junior High School girls' choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Bill Griese.

Serving as pages during the sessions have been Mrs. Grady McCrary and Mrs. W. L. Vaughan, co-chairmen, and Mrs. W. S. Goodlett Jr., Mrs. Vern Vigar, Mrs. J. T. Grantham, Mrs. L. J. Jeter, Mrs. Robert H. Long, Mrs. Ernest Miller, Mrs. H. V. Crocker, Mrs. W. A. Cobb, Mrs. A. McNary, Mrs. A. J. Hoover, Mrs. F. A. Gibbs, Mrs. C. W. Kesterson, Mrs. Garland Johns, Mrs. Joe Nixon, Mrs. M. J. O'Brien, Mrs. T. M. Lawson, Mrs. W. E. Blanchard, Mrs. W. C. Ward and Mrs. O. R. Olmstead.

Hostesses for coffee breaks during the conference were Mrs. George Peacock, Mrs. Fred Kasch, Mrs. V. A. Whittington, Mrs. Ralph Gossett, Mrs. E. L. Whatley, Mrs. K. R. Gruesen, Mrs. L. R. Saunders, Mrs. G. F. Cook, Mrs. James Vines, Mrs. John Knox, Mrs. E. L. Fannin, Mrs. R. J. Leighty, Mrs. Leon Mitchell and Mrs. B. J. Hutcheison.

BANQUET

Dr, C. L. Yarbrough passed out bouquets to school officials and parents interested in the future of the nation Thursday night.

FLOYD PARSONS

DR. CECIL YARBROUGH

Dr. Yarbrough, school superintendent at Snyder, was the speaker at a banquet honoring superintendents, principals, local unit presidents, and life members of the P-TA's 16th District. The program was held at the First Methodist Church.

Before Dr. Yarbrough's address, Mrs. Ralph Richards of Bronte and Mrs. Chesley McDonald of Sterling City were presented life membership awards for their P-TA work.

Dr. Yarbrough asked the question why citizens and school instructors take the time to enter Parent - Teachers Association work; then he proceeded to answer his question.

He said that the workers wanted to emphasize the good things, the "string of pearls" which we have, but many times overlook.

"We tend to overlook the greatness of our community, looking at these pearls of our schools, churches, homes and families as ordinary rather than seeing them as the beautiful things that they are," he said.

"Parents and teachers also work because they realize the tremendous problems facing education. Among these problems are lack of classroom teachers, financial difficulties, and extreme pressures from small groups desiring their wishes enlarged in the school systems.

"The school students are required to know more than any previous generation. Therefore progress is necessary. But to progress, we must fight these problems, in the case of financial troubles, on every level from the local to the national. When it costs more to build a bomber than the entire school plant at Snyder, something is out of line."

Dr. Yarbrough said that it was from a sense of dedication that citizens worked through the P-TA to promote education. "It is faith in the United States and its future that draws people into the work."

He mentioned that the nation had gone through dark periods but it is now the job of dedicated citizens to make the nation count for something. And he felt that the battle would be won by classroom teachers if they felt they should "be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for mankind," the last words, he said, of Horace Mann, the father of public education.

Mrs. Elmer Payne presided over the meeting, and Floyd Parsons, Big Spring school superintendent, was master of ceremonies. Before the program, a group of junior high girls, Jean Hammond, Madilyn Dick, Delores Howard, Bobbie Newman, Sherry Lurting, Malinda Crocker, Judy Casson, Mary Catherine Wyatt, Layla Ann Glaser, and Joyce Chandler, provided music.

Their director was Mrs. Forrest Gambill.

Wayne Smith, Chamber of Commerce manager, welcomed the visitors to Big Spring, and Mrs. W. S. Pickett greeted the group.

Mrs. Stanley Erskine pronounced the benediction.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

It's well known that in the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love, and it well may be that young parakeets have the same thoughts. And it just may be those thoughts that have caused such wanderlust in Randy, the pretty blue parakeet that belongs to MRS. A. J. HILBUN.

Last week Randy took off and landed on the head of Nat Shick who reported him, and the bird was returned to his owner. Tuesday Mrs. Hilbun's daughter, Mrs. T. B. Clifton, went out the door and out went Randy atop her head and away he flew. Mrs. Hilbun, who is 95, was desolate over his second disappearance and felt sure he was gone for good when he hadn't been heard from late Wednesday evening.

Radio station KBST made an announcement about the bird's departure and sure enough, a call came through about 7:15 Wednesday evening. Women at St. Mary's Espiscopal Church had called to say a blue parakeet was sitting in a tree in the parish house yard. Mrs. Clifton was notified, and they brought the bird back home. He immediately took up where he had left off, flew to his favorite perch on the dresser mirror and then into his cage for a good round meal.

Remember your first train ride?

There's something about getting on those great big cars, pulled by such big engines, that gives a thrill to the little folk like nothing else can.

Tuesday afternoon seven little ones, none older than six, in charge of MRS. FLOYD PARSONS and MRS. OMAR JONES traveled to Stanton. . .and if it had been New York they were going to, they couldn't have been more thrilled. In the party were BENJIE and KITTY PIERSON, JOHN TAYLOR JONES, PAUL PARSONS, TOMMY TANNER, DIANE CAMPBELL and DAVID PICKLE. Mrs. Charles Campbell and I met the train and after a picnic at the park we drove back home. . . which wasn't nearly as exciting. Barbara Campbell accompanied her mother.

MR. AND MRS. W. L. PALMER, Sue, Ray and Linda, of Anton have returned to their home after visiting in the home of their daughter and sister, MRS. JERRY WILLIAMSON, and Mr. Williamson.

There was more than snow and sand in the air Sunday and some gallant men on hand to retrieve the ladies' losses.

When MRS. MARIE CARTER and JOHN KELLY left the Settles Hotel Sunday morning en route to church, they had to leave the building by the west entrance as the north door wouldn't open against the wind. As they started across the street to the car, Mrs. Carter raised her foot to take a step and off flew her slipper and up into the air it went. It landed across the street under a truck that held some lumber. It was just out of Mr. Kelly's reach, so Mrs. Carter had to hand him some of the lumber to drag it out again.

Losing her shoe was the climax to a morning that had its ups and downs anyway. Her sister, MRS. PAT TOM, and a friend, MRS. AUDREY ROBERTSON, both from Corpus Christi, were here visiting and were staying at the hotel on the 11th floor. Mrs. Carter's room is on the third. When a power failure stopped elevator service and her guests couldn't be reached by telephone, Mrs. Carter walked eight floors up to contact them and then eight floors back to her rooms.

When the Corpus women saw a cloud bank in the north Tuesday morning, they were loath to leave because, as Mrs. Tom said, they had seen everything else and if there was going to be a tornado they certainly didn't want to miss it.

MRS. LONNIE COKER, thinking she had everything either pinned, snapped or supported Sunday, had a firm grip on her hat as she left a local drug store. Before she knew what was happening, her Sunday hat was swirling high into the air over Third Street, took one dip down and the last she saw of it the topper was skimming over the court house lawn. She had given it up as a casualty of the storm and had gone home for lunch when the telephone rang; she was informed that her somewhat battered hat had been returned to the drug store. Some unidentified man had seen it blow off and had chased it down in his car. It was minus a few feathers, but her hat, just the same.

When MRS. RAY ABEL and her friend, MRS. FLORENCE BLACK, came out Friday from Fort Worth to visit Mrs. Abel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith, they planned to return Sunday. They spent Saturday and Sunday looking out the windows at the storm and extended their visit until Monday morning.

MRS. ROBERT CURRIE prolonged her visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Edwards in San Angelo due to the storm.

GILBERT GIBBS and GEORGE WEEKS are brave souls who left here Sunday in the teeth of the storm to keep an appointment in Lubbock. Not only did they have a rough trip, they had a flat tire. They were only an hour late at that.

MR. AND MRS. FRED BECKHAM and their son had spent the weekend in Carlsbad and had planned to visit friends in Pecos and Odessa on their return trip Sunday. When they were caught in the storm, they were grateful to get home without any side visits.

WOMEN MILITARY CHIEFS

Ex - Policewoman Boss Of Coast Guard Girls

Editor's Note: This is the last in a series of five thumbnail sketches on the chiefs of U.S. women's military services.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cmdr. Beatrice V. Ball is senior officer of the Coast Guard Women Reserves (SPAR), which has only a small nucleus of active duty members now keeping the corps ready to serve in an emergency.

Cmdr. Ball, a native of Garden Valley, Ida., joined the WAVE — the women's branch of the Navy, in World War II and then shifted over to the SPAR when the first company was formed in 1942.

She was the first SPAR officer assigned to the Office of Intelligence in the Coast Guard. With a law degree from Columbus University in Washington, D.C., she also was the first woman to attend the university's school of criminology for police officers.

Motherly-looking, gray-haired with blue eyes, Cmdr. Ball is 5 feet 10 inches tall and says she grew up devouring magazine stories about the Coast Guard.

It is the only branch of service, she says, which has as one of its main missions the protection of life and property rather than its destruction.

The Last Judgment

CHRIST TELLS FOUR PARABLES OF WARNING AND PROPHESIES

Scripture—Matthew 24—25.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS LESSON is a long one, containing many incidents, and may be somewhat difficult for the younger classes. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests that they would be interested in suggestions for preparations for events in their own lives. For instance, they must be prepared for promotions from grade to grade, for graduation from grammar school, high school or college. Also for taking journeys with their parents, about our own lovely country or abroad, or for any other event that would be interesting and exciting.

In our lesson Jesus makes a prophecy, answers a question asked by His disciples and tells four parables, all designed to help His followers to live well and wisely, and to be prepared for the last judgment.

There are portions of our lesson that might frighten the smaller children, so the teacher should prepare the lesson in such a manner that they will get the portions related to Christian behavior and leave the others to be discussed by the older classes.

We are introduced to the lesson by Christ and His disciples viewing the buildings of the great temple, and Jesus prophesying the complete destruction of the temple—which actually occurred some years later.

Then, seated on the Mount of Olives, the disciples asked Him when these things would be—the destruction and the end of the world? He said no one on earth or heaven knew about the Day of Judgment, only God His Father.

He warned of false prophets claiming to be the Christ, but they should repudiate such. "Now learn a parable of the fig tree," He said. "When his branch is yet tender, and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is nigh: So likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things (which He had been telling them), know that it is near."

They should be ready Jesus said, being faithful to their tasks —faithful, wise servants, not evil in their doings.

Ten virgins, said Jesus, took lamps and went forth to meet a bridegroom. Five—the wise ones —took oil in their lamps; the others failed to do so. When a sudden message told them that the bridegroom was coming, the five unwise ones asked those who had oil to give them some, but they needed it themselves.

So the five with oil for their lamps met and escorted the bridegroom to his marriage, but the others, after going to buy oil, came too late. They knocked on the door and cried, "Open to us," but they were shut out.

Then Christ told the parable of the talents, each talent representing a large sum of money. First, As a man was about to begin a journey, he gave his most able servant five talents; to the next capable he gave two, and to the last one.

The one with five talents doubled them before the master returned; so did the one with two. But the man with only one, fearful of losing it and thinking his master would punish him, buried his one in the ground.

The master returned and the two who had the most money, proudly told of doubling their trust, but the one with but one, confessed he had hidden his, knowing the master was a hard man, so the master took away the one talent and gave it to the others, leaving him with nothing.

When the Day of Judgment comes, says Christ, the King will say, "Come ye blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you." When He was hungry, he would say, they had fed Him; thirsty, they gave him drink; when He was a stranger they took Him in; when He was sick they visited Him, and in prison they came to Him.

When did we all those things? they asked, and His answer would be:

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these My brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

Our good deeds on earth—loving kindness, consideration for others and moral conduct, are not lost. We will win our reward.

WHY I BECAME A MINISTER

Wanted To Help Spread Of Truth

By F. F. CONLEY

F. F. CONLEY
Minister, Church of Christ,
Eleventh and Birdwell

Jesus magnified preaching. He himself came preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God: "From that time Jesus began to preach, and to say, repent: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." (Matt. 4:17)

Paul was thankful that the Lord had put him into the ministry, "And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry." (1 Tim. 1:12) Paul charged Timothy to preach, "I charge thee therefore before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom; preach the word." (1 Tim. 4:1-2) Preaching the gospel is a solemn responsibility entrusted to the care of men.

I became a minister because I am interested in myself. I want to go to heaven when I die. It may sound selfish for one to say that he became a preacher because he is interested in self. There is scripture to back that up. Paul said to the young preacher, Timothy, "Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee." (1 Tim. 4:16)

I am not interested only in myself. I am sincerely interested in others. It is a tragedy to see one complete his life here without coming into vital, constant relationship with the Heavenly Father. I became a preacher so that I can help people mold and shape their lives according to the divine plan.

People everywhere, in every walk of life, need to see the truth of God. They need to be brought face to face with their sins, to be convicted of the consequences of sin, and to see the exceeding sinfulness of sin. When this has been done, every "honest and good heart" will be brought to obedience.

I became a preacher because error needs to be exposed and truth exhalted. John warns, "Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world" (1 John 4:1).

Paul adds his testimony to the fact that false prophets are in the world in order to deceive people: "For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel: for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works." (2 Cor. 11:11-15) False prophets and their doctrines must be exposed, so that the truth of God may be seen, desired and embraced.

The preacher of the gospel will never be materially rich. If he has any desires along that line he must choose another field. The preacher has his rewards, and they are numerous. They are not all material. "We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal." (2 Cor. 4:18) Paul said, "We are laborers together with God." (2 Cor. 6:1).

What great companionship then we have! To be conscious of the fact that one has turned a soul from the way of condemnation toward one of redemption, from darkness unto light, from Satan to Christ, is a thrill to which nothing else can be compared.

I became a preacher because I want to have a part, a vital part, in carrying the truth into all the world. The great commission is a colossial command! "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit." (Matt. 28:19) Where is there to be found another task that can challenge the mind and heart of man with such a sense of divine responsibility?

Yarborough Suit Is Filed

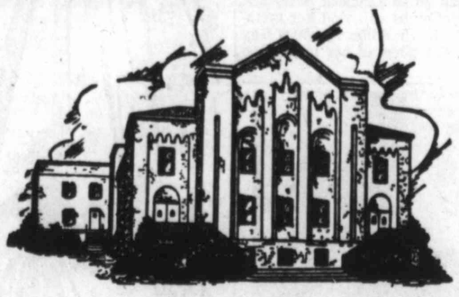

AUSTIN (AP)—A suit seeking to collect a $6,500 promissory note was filed here today in district court against Ralph Yarborough, U.S. senatorial candidate, by a man Yarborough said was a former president of a bankrupt Abilene printing firm.

Yarborough immediately filed an answer saying he was "ready, willing and able" to pay the note, which matured March 14, but wanted to be sure he did not have to make payment twice because of a federal bankruptcy suit. The firm went bankrupt more than six months ago.

The Abilene firm, Chronicle Publishing Co., formerly printed a magazine for the Church of Christ. It is not connected in any way with firms with similar names.

THE ANSWER IS GOD!

WORSHIP HIM IN CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY . . . AT HOME EVERY DAY . . .

Scenes like this are as commonplace as the moonbeams that play on the nursery wall. Little Gail doesn't know it . . . but Daddy and Mummy "look in" on her every night.

But what of the hours when parents sleep? What of the busy playtime when Daddy's at work, and Mummy's in the kitchen, and Gail is out walking her doll? Who will "look in" then?

Centuries ago the Hebrew pilgrims went up to Jerusalem for the great feasts, lifting their eyes to the hills, singing the song of "The Divine Vigil."

He that keepeth thee will not slumber rang the voice of the leader. He that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep answered the chorus.

Even the loving care of parents is no substitute for the faithfulness of God. When you worship in church next Sunday you'll be expressing the ageless conviction: My help cometh from the Lord.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Odds Long On Herd In District Track

Little consideration is being given Big Spring in the battle for first place in the District 2-AAAA track and field meet, which will be held in San Angelo Saturday.

However, the impact the Steers make in the track carnival will, no doubt, determine the winner.

Preliminaries in the big show get under way at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow. Finals are scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

Abilene is a slight favorite to cop the team trophy, adding to the awards it has already won in football and basketball. San Angelo and Odessa figure to give the Eagles the most competition. Midland will also be on hand but the Bulldogs will be lucky to finish out of last place, according to some observers.

Johnny Janak and Mike Smith lead the Steer team to the banks of the Concho. Janak will be one of the favorites in both the 100 and 220. Smith appears to be as good as the best in both the pole vault and high jump.

Donnie Anderson should also pick up some points for the locals in the hurdles. Frank Powell should add to the Steer aggregate in the pole vault.

Abilene appears strongest in the hurdles, the mile, half mile and shot put. Odessa's Jack Tayrien should easily win the discus throw.

San Angelo will have the best relay teams on hand. The Bobcats will also be tough in the broad jump and the sprints.

Olin Davis is Midland's best bet. He's a pole vaulter but his form will have to improve over last week, at which time he finished fourth in the West Texas Relays. High winds probably bothered him, however.

Bobby Barrett, a miler, is another Midland boy who could win it all in his events.

Goose Russell, a miler; Billy Bob Satterwhite, 880-yard runner; Buddy Barnes, quarter miler and relay man; and Bunky Grimes, weight tosser, are some of the other Longhorns who will be seeking points for Big Spring.

Only five points will be given for the winner of each event, regardless of whether they come in the relay races or the other events. Scoring will be done on a 5-3-2-1 basis.

Bob Harrell, San Angelo athletic director, will serve as director of the meet.

First three finishers in each event become eligible to take part in the Regional Meet.

The Battery Is Charging

Milwaukee Braves pitcher Warren Spahn, left, and Bob Roselli, Braves catcher, almost trample Cincinnati's Hal Bevan at first base as they charge after a bad throw in an exhibition game at Tampa. Bevan hit to short right field and Milwaukee's Joe Adcock dropped the ball for an error. Bevan went to second on the play.

Dupas Insists He Is White

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Lightweight contender Ralph Dupas, confronted by allegations that he is a Negro, fought back today with outraged statement that "I'm white and don't know why I have to prove it."

The Louisiana State Athletic Commission held a three-hour executive session last night on charges by a number of persons that the 21-year-old, sixth-ranked challenger from New Orleans was born of Negro parents.

The commission continued the hearing until Tuesday after Sam Monk Zelden, attorney for Dupas, protested that he had no time to prepare a case.

Dupas' biggest payday in his long career is at stake. He is scheduled to meet fourth-ranked welterweight contender Vince Martinez April 8. Promoter Heard Ragas predicts a $50,000 gate.

The Louisiana Legislature passed a law last year banning athletic events between Negroes and whites.

Dupas said he couldn't understand "why anybody would want to do this to me."

Mrs. Lucretia Gravolet, elderly schoolteacher from Plaquemines Parish, La., where she said Dupas was born of Negro parents, shouted at the young fighter:

"You are a Negro. I know you are a Negro. Now put me in jail if you don't like it."

Bigger Racing Program Set

Upwards to 100 vehicles are scheduled to compete in the Sunday afternoon program of the Big Spring Timing Association, which will take place on the quarter-mile drag strip located at the western end of Webb Air Force Base.

Good weather may bring out a crowd equalling or bettering the 3,000 paid which saw the last such event staged by the BSTA, held several months ago.

Trophies valued at more than $300 for 26 classes of cars will be awarded at the conclusion of the show.

The most coveted award will be the Top Eliminator trophy, two feet tall and valued at more than $50. Drivers with the four best times in the meet will be allowed to compete against each other for the award.

About 15 out-of-city entries have already registered for the meet, including Maurice Babbs of Abilene, who will drive a composition coupe; and a Hale Center driver, who will be at the wheel of a Buick power dragster.

In addition, a number of specially-built motorcycles are due here from Fort Worth.

It appears now that the field will include 36 to 37 cars registered locally, most of them stock machines.

In the last such show, the entry list included 77 vehicles. From all indication, this will be a much bigger program.

Gates at the drag strip will open at 12:30 p. m. and time trials will start immediately thereafter. Admission prices have been pegged at $1 per person.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Ever hear the baseball story told by J. Taylor Spink about the group of rookies who were cut off the Wichita, Kan., roster just before opening game?

The players made inquiries for jobs around the country via wire, then gathered at a pool hall to talk shop and sympathize with each other.

In walked the least talented of the baseballers, who declared he already had received two replies to his telegrams.

"I got one wire from the Keokuk club," remarked he. "It said: 'Don't come we can't use you.' Then pretty soon I got another wire from Keokuk and it said: 'Don't forget.' "

Trotline Fishermen Have Success At Lake Thomas

Fishing news from Lake J. B. Thomas was largely relegated to trotlines — and it took three or four days for the story to crop out.

The unlamented but vicious blizzard expressed itself largely in winds with some snow and dust, but it kept boat and bank fishermen safe at home. It was a good thing, too, for 60 m.p.h. winds churned up some of the most punishing winds in this history of the lake. Breakers were at least four feet high and waves were breaking 20 feet or more over the tops of oil well mounds in the upper basin.

Naturally, there was some damage to boat houses and to boats, but Hiram Reid, patrolman, said that the loss was surprisingly small. One of the greatest difficulties was in barrel floats for docks, rafts and boat houses being shaken loose. The boathouse of Ben Morgan and others of Odessa had about 20 barrels shelled out from under it. As a consequence, the sprayrail of one of the big in board boats was damaged extensively.

But back to the fish stories. When the storm finally subsided late Monday and early Tuesday, several fisherman began to run lines they had baited four days before.

Largest catfish was 22½-pound boated by Marvin Dupre of Vincent. Just to prove it was no fluke, he also had 10½ and 10-pound fish on his line.

Melvin Anderson, Jim Caughey and Virgil Little of Luther were out late Tuesday after crappie and reported good luck.

Another trotline fisherman had six good sized channel cats on his line Tuesday morning. This was another instance of collecting dividends on hooks baited before the storm.

Five Seniors In Last Game

Five seniors play their final home game when the Big Spring High School girls' volleyballers oppose Sweetwater in a 7:30 o'clock engagement here this evening.

B teams of the two schools clash at 6:30 p. m.

Seniors on the local club include Frances Davee, Freda Donica, Barbara Hale, Pat Henson and Elaine Russell.

The Steerettes have won 25 of 30 starts. The B team owns an 18-4 won-lost record.

Sweetwater should prove a big hurdle for the local team. The Mustang Queens defeated Lamesa in the final 20 seconds of play last night, 27-23, to win district honors in a game played at Sweetwater.

Big Spring has beaten Sweetwater once this season.

Local Netters Set To Launch District Play

Boy and girl tennis teams representing Big Spring High School are in San Angelo today, where play gets under way in the 2-AAAA meet.

The local boys' contingent, coached by Sam Bell, is composed of Robert Stripling, who will play singles; and Allen Glaser and Jesse McElreath, doubles combination.

Stripling opposes the Midland entry, John Gottschall, at 4 p.m. today. McElreath and Glaser don't see action until 10 a.m. Saturday, at which time they try Bennie Wooley and Robert Talley, San Angelo.

Dale Melbourne, the favorite from Odessa, drew a first round bye and clashes with the winner of the Stripling-Gottschall team at 9 a.m. Saturday.

San Angelo's Allen Anderson and Bobby Thompson, Abilene, vie in the other first round singles test at 9 a.m. tomorrow. Championship finals are down for 12 noon Saturday.

Midland's Rober Buck and Eddy Hopper are favorites in boys' doubles. They play the winner of the Odessa (Ronnie Wright and Bill Gilliam) and Abilene (Bobby Conway and Robert Evans) engagement Saturday. Odessa and Midland play at 4:00 today.

Big Spring's Janice Downing and Glenda Wilson take on Sharon Christie and Barbara Neilon, Abilene, in first round girls' doubles competition at 4 p.m. today, the winner to meet Carol Chaney and Nancy Goldberg at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Midland's Marcia Queen and Laura Lee Smith try Suellis Smith and Brenda Belcher of Odessa in the other first round doubles match at 10 a.m. Saturday. Girls' doubles finals are at 1 p.m.

Virginia Johnson, Big Spring, squares off with Abilene's Sherry Pebworth at 4 p.m. in first singles play today.

Favorite in the girls' division is Flo Marvin, Odessa.

* * *

Big Spring Junior High girl tennists won two of three matches and split another in competition with San Jacinto JH players in Midland Thursday.

In doubles, Betty Ellison and Layla Ann Glaser, Big Spring, turned back Janie Seifert and Sue Dickinson, 6-1, 6-2.

In singles, Shirley Killough, Big Spring, won over Barbara Hill, 6-2, 6-2, but Joan Bratcher, Big Spring, was nudged by Ann Brazzill, 6-3, 6-3.

Maxine Roberts, Big Spring, and Pat Busby played to a 3-6, 6-3 tie. The match was called due to darkness.

Jayhawk Track Team To Cisco

Coach Red Lewis takes his HCJC track and field team to Cisco tomorrow for the annual Big Dam Relays.

The meet was to have been held last week but was set back due to a wet track.

Cisco is favored to win the meet. HCJC hasn't enough overall strength to match the Wranglers but will field strong entries in Freddy Stuart and Tommy Black.

Stuart will run the sprints and the low hurdles, as well as on the Hawk relay teams. Black will be one of the favorites in the pole vault.

Bobby Fuller, who pulled a surprise in running and winning both the 880 and the mile in the recent ABC Relays, will also give the Hawks good representation, along with Charley Dobbs, Billy McIlvain and Julian Lopez.

Dow Finsterwald Is Man To Catch

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Dow Finsterwald, riding one of golf's hottest money winning streaks, was the man to catch today as he carried a three-stroke lead into the second round of the $12,500 Azalea Open Tournament.

He came up with a sizzling finish in the first round, bagging three birdies on the last four holes for a 34-32—66 that was good for the edge over Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N.Y., last year's winner, and E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of St. Louis, 47 years old today.

Coahoma Wins Five-Way Track And Field Meet

Don White, a powerhouse on skates, led the Coahoma Bulldogs to victory in a five-way track and field meet here Thursday, scoring 14¼ of the 63½ points his team rolled up.

The Roby Lions had been favored to prevail in the meet, a sort of preview of the District 6-A meet, which will be held in Snyder a week from yesterday. Only Merkel of 6-A failed to participate in the meet.

Roby finished second with 45¼ points, followed by Roscoe, with 20¾; Stanton with 17½; and Rotan, with 7.

Rodney DeNoon scored 11½ points for Coach Bowden Cooks' Stanton team.

White won the 100 and 220, anchored the winning sprint relay team and placed second to Roscoe's Dugan Daley in the discus throw.

DeNoon proved superior in the high jump, pole vault, finished fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles and tied for fourth in the 180-yard lows.

In one of the most exciting events of the afternoon, Coahoma came from behind to run a dead heat with Roby in the mile relay, thanks to a great stretch run by Ricky Phinney. Phinney trailed the Lions' anchor man, Jimmy Hale, the entire lap until the final few yards. The two teams were clocked in 3:38.2.

Phinney was timed in 20.3 seconds in the 180-yard low hurdles, considered very good time. He had a slight wind behind him.

Coahoma scored in every event and picked up ten points in the high hurdles, running first, second and third. In that event, Bobby Myrick turned in a surprise win over Phinney, who had been favored.

In the broad jump, less than two inches separated the second, third and fourth place finishers.

Roby's Leon Donham won the mile event in 4:59.5, a very respectable clocking, considering the breeze. He showed a tremendous kick.

Coahoma won first places in both hurdles, the 100-yard dash, the sprint relay, the 220, the broad jump and tied for first in the mile relay.

TO SNYDER, 7-3

Steers Lose 1st Game In 4 Starts

The Big Spring Steers ran into a buzzsaw in the form of Snyder here Thursday and were decked, 7-3.

The defeat was the first of the season for Big Spring, ending a winning skein that had extended through three games. The Tigers, who now have a 4-4 won-lost record, wasted little time in ending the Steers' string of scoreless innings, picking up an unearned tally in the opening canto.

The two nines tangle again Saturday in Snyder in a double header.

Billy Bluhm came out of a sick bay to start on the mound for Big Spring and obviously wasn't up to the challenge. He surrendered all the Bengals' runs before giving way to Lefty Chubby Moser in the fourth.

Although he was tagged for eight hits, Bluhm deserved a better fate. His mates committed six bobbles behind him and Moser and three of the Bengals' tallies were unearned.

Joe Reaves doubled in the first inning for Snyder and sprinted across when Tommy Prichard's ground ball scooted through Preston Daniels' legs.

Snyder picked up four tallies in the second and all were legitimate. Singles by Neil Boyd, Tom Falls and Reaves and a double by Prichard combined with a sacrifice fly by Gary Vice produced the runs.

Ricky Terry broke the ice for Big Spring by banging out a second inning four-master, a solo blast.

After Snyder got two more tainted counters in the third, Wilson Bell hit what amounted to a two-run homer for Big Spring in the lower half of the frame to end the scoring for the afternoon. Jerry Fleming made a stab at Bell's fly ball after a long run but succeeded only in deflecting it and Bell was able to complete the tour. Jerry McMahen was on base at the time.

James Patterson started on the mound for Snyder but was derricked in the third for Lefty Tim Roberts, who did an excellent job of containing the Big Spring power.

Reaves and Falls each clubbed three hits for Snyder. Terry had a double in addition to his round tripper as the Big Spring leader.

Ackerly Eagles Favored In 120-B Meet Saturday

The Ackerly Eagles rule as favorites in the District 120-B track and field meet, which will be staged on the Memorial Stadium cinders here Saturday, starting at 9 a. m.

Flower Grove, Klondike, Gail and Dawson will be the other competing teams. First three finishers in each event are eligible to go to Odessa April 13 for the Regional Meet.

Coach Cliff Prather of Ackerly will bring 16 boys to the meet. They include Phil Wallace, who'll run the 100, 220 and 440; Pat Grigg, quarter miler; Bryan Adams, Larry Peterson and Stanley Minnix, 880 men; Benny Kunkel, Keith Rudeseal and Floyd Huse, miler; Pat Grigg, Buster Grigg, Royale Lewis and Donald Gibson, hurdlers; Jimmy Bristow, relay man, broad jumper and pole vaulter; and Joe Cook and James Savell, weight tosser.

Klondike, Dawson and Gail may all give Ackerly trouble.

Jerry Caughman, Flower Grove, looms the favorite in the 100. Pat Grigg and Wallace appear to be the top quarter milers in the district. Wolf of Dawson is back to try and defend his laurels in the 880 but he's been beaten once this year by Ackerly's Bryan Adams. Adams finished third in the district race last year.

Darrell Froman, Flower Grove, appears to have the mile run sewed up. Wolf may be the best high hurdler in the conference and could win the high jumping event, too.

Flower Grove's Barkowski is the favorite in the shot put while last year's winner in the pole vault, Dawson's Boyer, is back and should repeat.

In the broad jump, Phil Wallace of Ackerly is the favorite but faces tough competition from such individuals as Lillard of Flower Grove and Schneider, Klondike.

In the sprint relay, Flower Grove's combination of Froman, Webb, Lillard and Caughman should win. In the low hurdles, it should be a torrid fight between Pat Grigg, Ackerly; Robert Webb, Flower Grove; and Quenton Airhart, Klondike. Grigg won narrowly over the others in a previous meet this year.

Ackerly won team honors last year, scoring 43 points to 42 for Gail. At that time, the Eagles qualified nine plus two relay teams for the Regional Meet. In all, the War Birds won four first places in district.

A junior meet will be held in conjunction with the senior show.

Here are the records at which the entries will shoot Saturday, all of which were set in 1956:

100—Dubb Grigg, Ackerly 10.6.
220—Dub Grigg, Ackerly, 24.2.
440—Phil Wallace, Ackerly, 56.7.
880—Wolf, Dawson, 2:22.1.
Mile—Darrell Froman, Flower Grove, 5:18.3.
Sprint Relay—Gail, 48.5.
Mile Relay—Gail, 4:08.0.
High Hurdles—Adams, Gail, 19.5.
Low Hurdles—Franklin, Gail, 23.3.
Discus—Walters, Loop, 112.6"
Shot put—Barkowski, Flower Grove, 43'11".
Pole Vault—Boyer, Dawson, 9'6".
High Jump—Cave, Flower Grove, 5'5".
Broad jump—Cates, Ackerly, 17'11".

20-1 Shot Wins Grand National

AINTREE, England (AP)—Sundew a 20-1 shot, took an early lead and stood off all challenges today to win the 111th running of the Grand National Steeplechase.

Wyndburgh, the youngest horse in the race, was second and Tiberetta was third.

E.S.B., winner of the four-mile 856-yard test in 1956, made a strong finishing spurt but failed.

Sundew won by eight lengths before a crowd of 150,000, including the royal family and U.S. Ambassador John Jay Whitney.

Logart, Turner Clash Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Flashy Isaac (Kid) Logart of Cuba risks his chances for a welterweight title fight tonight by taking on dangerous Gil Turner of Philadelphia again in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Logart, 23, racked up a unanimous but close decision over the aggressive Turner in a bristling battle in the Garden 17 months ago and is a 2-1 choice to repeat.

"I thought I beat Logart the first time," said the 26-year-old Turner. "Now I'll prove I was right."

Logart is ranked second to former champion Tony DeMarco in the contenders' list and his manager, Eddie Mafuz, has offered $50,000 to welterweight champion Carmen Basilio for a championship contest.

Jayhawks Seek First Victory In San Angelo

HCJC's Jayhawks invade San Angelo for a baseball joust with the Rams today, seeking their initial win of the 1957 season. The Hawks have lost twice to the strong Texas Tech Picadors.

Game time is 2:30 p.m. and it is down for nine innings. The game will be played on the Goodfellow Field diamond.

Pitching chores of the Hawks will again be shared by Mike Powell and Don Isham.

Stan Williams will be behind the plate for HC, with Ralph Murphree at first base, Jackie Morrison at second, Powell at short stop, Truett Newell at third, Jerry Choate in left, Ronnie Wooten in center and Buddy Colvin in right.

Like the HCJC lineup, San Angelo's team is composed partly of basketball players and they only recently returned from Hutchinson, Kan., where they won the National Juco title.

Albert Miranda will be at short for the Rams. Phil Addison will be at first base and Rex Rarden has joined the mound staff. All played basketball until last week.

The Rams are also winless, having yielded two decisons to Goodfellow Field and one to Odessa Junior College.

Milton Rathbone, former San Angelo grid star, is masterminding the Rams afield. Harold Davis, of course, is the local skipper.

Rathbone has indicated he would pitch either Lowell Balentine or Peyton Scott against the Hawks.

The teams play a return game in Big Spring next Tuesday, starting at 2:30 p.m.

Some 36 contestants have been entered by the University of Texas, a favorite for the team trophy in the university division.

WTCC To Elect Officers Today

ABILENE (AP)—New officers will be elected today and a site for the 1958 convention will be selected as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce winds up its 39th annual meeting.

Delegates also will hear a forum on current congressional matters. Four West Texas congressmen will take part, including Reps. Omar Burleson, George Mahon, Frank Ikard and Jim Wright.

Dr. Walker K. Kerr, a Tyler minister and national vice chairman of the White Conference on Youth, told delegates last night five national constitutional amendments should be passed "in finding the way back to states rights."

Dr. Kerr listed the amendments that would: Require a balanced budget; limit income taxes to 25 per cent; change the electoral college system to place state presidential vote on the basis of congressional districts rather than the present system; make it possible for two-thirds of the states to amend the national Constitution without intervention of Congress and the Bricker Amendment which limits treaty power.

Election Set On Gay Hill School Expansion Saturday

Gay Hill voters will ballot Saturday on whether to issue $100,000 in bonds to finance a major addition to their school.

Involved are three classrooms, one of them capable of being divided into a fourth, plus six auxiliary rooms.

Balloting will be at the school house from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. with O. R. Crow as election judge. Assisting will be Mrs. O. R. Crow and Mrs. W. E. Hansen. Qualified voters who have rendered property in the district for school taxes may cast ballots.

The bond vote was called in response to a petition signed by 34 patrons of the district. Those circulating the petitions said none of those contacted was less than pleased to sign.

Tentative plans call for a north and south wing to be added to the existing main plant. On the extreme south side would be two large classrooms, flanked across the corridor by a health room (which also will serve as a teachers lounge), a storage room and a restroom. The north wing will contain an extra large classroom with an accordion type door converting it into two classrooms. At the west end of the large room will be a stage so that with the accordion door open, the room may be used as an auditorium. Normally it will serve as a music room. Across the corridor from the big room will be an office, a restroom and a work room.
