Bankers Would Force Cotton Acreage Cut

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

"In my seven years as county judge I have never had a Boy Scout brought before me for violation of the law," said H. R. Debenport in today's Herald.

It is a well-known fact throughout the country that boys who seriously work at scouting are never delinquent, that they are assets to their communities and that they reach majority with brighter prospects for usefulness to themselves and others than would have been the case had they not had this instruction.

The Boy Scouts, with the Salvation Army and Red Cross, will be supported by the Community Chest, which will be filled with the $10,000 needed in a drive here Thursday and Friday.

It is our firm belief that this goal will be reached easily in two days.

Many compliments are being accorded city officials for their action in buying the old express building and providing there a shelter for unemployed men. A farmer here Monday said people of his community had taken special pains to compliment this thing. Many local people have chimed in.

It looks as if this highway bond campaign is lagging badly. If enough interest is taken in it the issue will be approved. If not, it will lose.

The people have a right to know the facts and we believe they will be given them.

We understand the Coahoma people want to know a few things about the route No. 1 would take if paved from proceeds of the bond issue. They ought to know and we drop this hint; we believe they will be informed about that very thing before many days.

Literature designed to answer most all important questions concerning the bond issue is being prepared. The Herald intends publishing all the reliable information obtainable. It is our desire to do all we can to inform the entire populace so that every man and woman may vote intelligently.

If every voter studies the matter seriously and with an open mind we are not one bit fearful that the issue will be voted down.

Let's begin talking about this election. Let's find out all we can about the bond issue, how it will be spent etc.

We must have those roads, that's all.

Policeman Shot, Robber Wounded In Pistol-Fray

CHANDLER, Okla., Dec. 1 (AP)—William Taylor, policeman, was shot twice and a robber was believed to have been wounded in a gun fight here last night. The officer surprised the robber as he came out of a drug store after stealing $80 and $90 from J. D. Nikle the proprietor.

Taylor was shot in the leg and arm. It was thought he would recover. The robber escaped. He staggered and fell as he was getting into an automobile in which an accomplice was seated.

Death Claims Mother Jones, Labor Leader

Woman Reaches Age Of 100 Years: Near-Saint To Labor Cause

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Mary "Mother" Jones is no more. The staunch little defender of the working man last night closed her eyes on a hundred years of throbbing life.

It was her body that failed under pressure of time, for the spirit which had carried her through the battles of union labor was militant still. Only one friend was with her in the still hour of midnight when her heart ceased its feeble beat.

She stirred slightly on her beds and then lay still. Mrs. Walter Burgess, who had harbored and tended her in retirement of the final years, bent over and saw it was the end. From her little country cottage on the outskirts of the capitol, word went out that brought sorrow to the thousands upon thousands who have surrounded the little Irish woman with a halo of near-sainthood.

Many times the end had been expected during the past year as she gradually ceased to be able to take nourishment. Last May 1 she celebrated her one hundredth birthday. It was a quiet occasion but it marked the ending of a long hostility between her and the almost as ancient John D. Rockefeller who once had her put in jail.

Irish Born

Mary Jones was born in Cork, Ireland. Her father brought her to the United States and then went to Canada. She returned to Michigan to teach school in Monroe. Then she married, only to lose her husband and four children in the yellow fever epidemic of 1867.

She went to Chicago, only to lose what she had made in a second start when the great fire of 1871 destroyed her little dress shop. But her real career was on then, agitating constantly for the laboring men in strikes and troubles of all sorts.

In Jail

From place to place she went, in and out of jail, deported from states, but never quitting. In her there was no compromise.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor said of her death:

"The loss sustained cannot be measured and the service she

Seventy-First Congress Convenes Final Session

Capitol Police And Crowd Tangle As Congress Convenes; Communists Pay Calls Demanding Legislation

Sterling Road Bond Plan Due Before Solons

BY RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Dec. 1.—The Sterling highway bond plan will be reoffered in the legislature in January.

It will be sponsored by Senator Walter F. Woodul, Houston, one of the supporters of the successful political campaign of Gov.-Elect Ross S. Sterling.

Senator Woodul announced he will propose the submission of the statewide highway bond issue plan, and declared its failure to be submitted two years ago was on political grounds of opposition to Mr. Sterling as a candidate.

He declared the bond plan had survived as a campaign issue this year, and that practically all candidates agreed that taxation on farms and homes for road work should be stopped, and that counties should be repaid what they have been forced to contribute to building state highways.

FEDERAL ROAD BILL.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Authorization for $500,000,000 to be expended in two years in federal highway aid was proposed today i na bill by Representative Browne, Republican, Wisconsin.

The measure would provide that the federal government contribute 80 per cent toward the cost and the states the remainder.

At present, the government provides $125,000,000 annually in highway aid, on a 50-50 basis.

The measure would provide for half of the total to be spent on truck roads over which farmers haul their produce.

These two factors and the issuance of state bonds for construction he declared, embrace the whole subject.

His plan will propose to repay $5,000,000 a year to counties to absorb their bond issues for state highway work, and to finance the road bonds wholly out of gasoline taxes.

"It is my intention to introduce and urge adoption by the legislature of the Sterling bond amendment," Senator Woodul said in a statement at Austin.

"The opponents of this plan do not trust the voters to pass upon it. Thirty-four or 35 states have already adopted the proposed measure.

Without the bond plan, the state can build only 350 miles of permanent road a year, Senator Woodul said, if it does the "fair thing" of reimbursing counties and discontinuing the plan of requiring them to contribute to state road projects.

"I am going to give the legislature a chance to pass up to the people all three elements of the Sterling plan," he said. "I shall vote for each and all of them, and hope all the members do likewise. We will assuredly carry elements one and two—reimbursing counties and discontinuing levy upon them—unless a lot of politicians get afraid of their horses. Even if we do not pass element three—the bond issue—the people will let highway progress stagnate for about about two years, and then you will see Texas fall in step with 34 or 35 other progressive, forward-looking states and adopt the plan."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—A crowd of several hundred persons, some calling themselves communists, gathered in front of the capitol today carrying placards which were quickly torn down by the police.

Police did not interfere until the placards were displayed. Some of these called for "release all political prisoners" and "down with finger printing and registration."

Members of the regular capitol police squad then tore into the crowd, snatching the placards and jostling some of the demonstrators.

There was sporadic fighting, but this was quickly stopped.

Preparing for their call, the communists formed two committees to call on the house and senate with demands for legislation. Herbert Newton, Atlanta negro, who communist spokesmen said was on bond in connection with trouble at Atlanta, headed the committee.

The senate callers were headed by Ella R. Bloor, described as a labor leader in North Dakota.

Other members were J. Lewis Engdahl, national secretary of the Institute for Labor Defense of New York; Emery Valliant, Hungarian writer; and M. T. Nastas, editor of the Ukranian Daily News published in this country.

One of the two score policemen released a tear gas bomb which, however, appeared to cause more tears among the spectators than the demonstrators.

Under the guidance of police, the demonstrators headed toward the house side of the capitol plaza and finally straggled out in a long line around the south end of the building.

Some fist fighting continued, with a few women being jostled in the melee.

The crowd carried their shouts and jeers at police through the capitol grounds to the Garfield monument where they milled around and were again dispersed amid explosion of tear bombs and fisticuffs.

Several women with tears streaming down their cheeks shouted to other women companions "don't wipe your eyes, let the [illegible]."

Reserves were called out while the mob was still milling at the monument and gathering in adjacent streets.

Sirens of reserve police patrols were heard and a rush was made to form into a compact group. Police had arrested two men and released them after cropping the

Many Bills Start On Hard Road To Passage

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The final session of the Seventy-first congress convened today with much handclasping among the legislators within the capitol and fist-fighting between communists and police on the outside.

Neither the senate nor house met for long. Opening prayers, the calling of the roll and appointment of committees to notify the president congress was ready to do business constituted the only business.

Six demonstrators were arrested in disorders which followed a foray by police into bannerbearing communists who were headed for the senate and house galleries. The demonstrators were dispersed with the aid of tear gas.

A possible passage of words in the senate on the seating of Senator-Elect Davis, who today retired as secretary of labor, was averted when he failed to appear.

Chairman Nye of the senate campaign investigators had announced he would ask Davis to step aside, pending further study of expenditures on behalf of his ticket in Pennsylvania.

Numerous bills of many sorts were introduced in both the senate and house.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Seventy-first congress convened at noon today in final session—but not to work long.

The day was one for brief formalities, as usual, with a political truce between the leaders momentarily hiding the controversies to be faced before March 4. Republicans and democrats alike have placed the first emphasis on legislation to alleviate unemployment and to help farmers who suffered by the drought.

Friends of the legislators, visitors from distant states, and nations crowded both the senate and house galleries as Vice President Curtis and Speaker Longworth were welcomed back to the presiding positions.

The first business was seating of new members. The rest of the program was confined to each branch notifying the other it had met and the sending of a committee so to notify President Hoover.

At Noon

Promptly at twelve o'clock, Vice President Curtis rapped for order in the senate and announced the Rev. Z. B. Phillips, chaplain, who offered prayer. The opening roll call was then ordered and the senate members, reunited for the first time since the close of the arduous days of a long term and special session last July, mingled to shake hands.

Condolences were mixed, for seven members failed of reelection and more than half a dozen others did not run.

Nevertheless, it seemed to be a happy membership—the senators laughing and joking almost like schoolboys. Thomas Gore, blind senator-elect from Oklahoma, received an enthusiastic welcome from his democratic colleagues. However, he does not succeed Senator Pine, republican, until next term.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth held her customary chair in the speaker's gallery. She was accompanied by a group of fashionably dressed friends.

Woman Member

Representative [illegible] of Arkansas escorted Mrs. Pearl Oldfield Wingo, elected to succeed her late husband, Otis Wingo, from Arkansas, to the democratic side of the chamber. Both were [illegible] as did Representative Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida, who, however wore a bouquet of orchids on her left shoulder.

Rapping for silence, Speaker Longworth gave way to the house chaplain, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, who delivered the opening prayer.

For the first time, talking motion pictures were taken of the proceedings. Huge flood lights played on the scene.

The senate roll call showed 88 of the 96 members present. Vice President Curtis presented the certificates of elections of the members elected in November to fill unexpired terms. The following new members then were sworn:

New Ones

Robert J. Bulkley, democrat, of Ohio, succeeding Roscoe C. McCulloch, republican, for the unexpired term of the late Theodore Burton.

George McGill, democrat, Kansas, succeeding Henry J. Allen, republican, for the unexpired term of Charles Curtis.

Robert D. Carey, republican, Wyoming, succeeding Patrick J. Sullivan for the unexpired term of the late Francis Warren.

Ben Williamson, democrat, Kentucky, succeeding John M. Robsion, republican, for the unexpir-

Chest Force Meets Tuesday

County Judge Adds His Support To City-Wide Drive

Every man and woman who has been designated by a member of the general committe of 12 to solicit subscriptions to the Community Chest fund of $10,000 in the drive scheduled for Thursday and Friday of this week is again urged to attend a meeting at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in mezzanine floor, Settles hotel, for a final mobilization of the campaign.

All details of the work have been looked into and preparations made that will enable the workers to lose no time in soliciting subscriptions.

By H. R. DEBENPORT
County Judge

The Community Chest drive to my mind is based upon the proposition that the strong should aid the weak.

When I first went into office, as county judge, more than seven years ago, we only had about 4,000 people in Big Spring, and the matter of charity was a very small thing and practically no attention was given it by the county, or city or the community. We had very few calls for aid. But conditions have changed both in number of people and in the financial world as well.

Heretofore, the county has taken care of what suffering there was in the rural districts and the county and city together have in a small measure taken care of the needs of the poor within our city limits, aided in a great measure, by the churches, and various lodges.

This is a very poor method, because it scatters the work so badly that none seems to take it upon himself as his business to look after this special work. In the Salvation Army we have found an in-

Settles Obtains Maine's 15-Piece Dance Orchestra

Leonard Maine, one of the real veterans among dance orchestra and stage band leaders, will open an engagement at the Settles hotel here Saturday evening with his 15-piece organization.

Mr. Maine, who motored here Sunday with Mrs. Maine from Sweetwater, where a dance date was kept Saturday night by the band, completed negotiations with the hotel management for a stay of several weks in the Settles.

He will bring one of the most complete dance organizations in the country. In the personnel are two active piano men, two drummers and two basses. Equipment is unusually complete.

Sammy Williams, whose orchestra had played at the Settles since its opening, has gone to the Hilton in El Paso for an extended engagement.

Leonard Maine has been in show business many years, practically all of his time having been spent on the west coast. He has been playing the Hilton in Lubbock for the past nine weeks.

The Kansas police said the girl would not give her name or any details as to her identity. Her legs bore marks indicating they had been bound and her throat was sore, leading officers to believe she might have ben choked.

Sheriff Johnston said he was advised the girl was about the same age as Miss Marriott and about the same size.

Contracts On 148.3 Miles Of Roads Studied

Tom Green, Lubbock And Runnels Projects Included

AUSTIN, Dec. 1 (AP)—Contracts for improvement of 148.3 miles of state highways in 16 counties, were to be awarded today by the state highway commission at the conclusion of its combined November and December meeting. Estimated cost of the projects was $1,250,000 but indicated close bidding was expected to reduce the actual cost to approximately $1,000,000.

Highway officials said the work would aid materially in reducing unemployment, since most of it was of the type that demanded a high percentage of manual labor. The total mileage included 128.5 miles of grading and construction of grading structures and 19.8 miles of surface improvement. Bids also were asked on two bridges and one culvert.

Contracts were to be awarded for work in Van Zandt, McLennan, Henderson, Lubbock, Wheeler, Runnels and Coleman, Gillespie, Jack, Morris and Bowie, Brazoria, Live Oak, Fayette and Tom Green counties.

The bridges and culvert contract was to be awarded in Tarrant county and surface improvement contracts in Fayette and Tom Green county. Work in other counties will be grading and construction of drainage structures.

Lancaster On Witness Stand In Rail Hearing

DALLAS, Dec. 1 (AP)—J. L. Lancaster, president of the Texas and Pacific Railroad, and J. R. Kunz of St. Louis, vice president of the St. Louis and San Francisco, today told why their roads opposed purchase of the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) by the Southern Pacific.

They were witnesses at the resumption of the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing. Kassell C. Davis, examiner for the ICC presided.

Lancaster said the Gould-Huntington agreement of 1881 stipulated perpetual operation of the Texas and Pacific route east of El Paso and the Southern Pacific route west of that city. He stated his road feared the El Paso gateway would be closed if the Southern Pacific were given the Cotton Belt outlet to the east.

Kunz also said he feared "maintenance of existing gateways will not be a continuous process" notwithstanding assurances of Southern Pacific officials. He pointed out that administrations frequently changed.

He also referred to the "possible domination" of the Southern Pacific mentioning that it extended into the Pacific northwest as far as Portland, Ore., and that it reached the Atlantic seaboard through its water connections.

The Cotton Belt logically should be allocated to the Rock Island-Frisco group, Kunz maintained. "It should be given to a group which has been instrumental in building up the southwest, he argued.

Clarence Martin, negro porter at a local hotel was back in the self-characterized "stout house" today, with Christmas creeping up on him.

Martin, who celebrates his holidays, told Judge H. R. Debenport he was in jail "June Teenth," and the Fourth of July.

"Have a heart, Judge," he implored. The judge did.

He sentenced the negro to twenty days in jail and $20 fine for stealing two blankets, three bedspreads, pillow cases and sheets from the Crawford Hotel.

"It was going to get cold," he explained, "and I needed some."

He waived examining trial and his bond was set at $500 in each of the three cases.

Texan Leads Proposal To Refuse Loans

25 Per Cent Reduction Goal: Meeting Held In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 1 (AP)—The proposal to withhold bank loans to force reduction of cotton acreage in the south met virtually unanimous approval here today by the conference of the Southern Cotton Reduction Association.

The proposal provides for a reduction of at least 25 per cent each year for the next five years as a means of bringing the price of cotton back to a profitable basis, estimated by the speakers at between 18 and 20 cents a pound.

The only dissenter was William L. Glover, of Orangeburg, S. C., who said he favored the plan but "couldn't see how it could be enforced except with a shotgun."

The plan was submitted by J. E. Garrett, of Corpus Christi, Texas, who explained it was generally favored in Texas. Country banks, he said, would refuse plans of any kind for farming purposes to any farmer who refused to reduce his 1930 cotton acreage by at least 25 per cent and not to exceed 50 per cent of the farmers' total cultivable area.

John H. Drakefield, president of the Alabama Bankers' Association, R. E. Golden, cashier of the Bank of Erath, Erath, La., Carter Stirling of Jackson, Miss., and other financiers directly connected with the cotton business, spoke in favor of the plan.

Arthur B. Lacour, field agent of the Federal Farm Board in charge of cotton reduction in Louisiana, and W. H. Machado, president of the Louisiana Bankers' Association were present as observers.

The sponsors explained that before the plan could be put into operation it would have to be submitted for ratification to the local groups of the Cotton Reduction Association scattered over the cotton belt.

Grand Jury Is Organized

Judge Smith Convenes December Term of District Court

The December term of district court opened at 10 p. m. today with Judge Fritz R. Smith presiding.

The grand jury was impaneled shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, with L. E. Lomax as foreman.

Members of the body are Frank Hodgett, Temp S. Currie, W. Holiday Wise, Bruce Frazier, F. O. Chortes, Louis Ford, R. L. Warren, Otis Chalk, Arthur Woodall, Norman H. Read and L. S. Patterson.

Judge Smith, in charging the grand jury, urged the body to return as many indictments as possible by Tuesday noon. He insisted that cases against men now held in the Howard County jail be probed at once, in order that the men may be tried the second week of court.

He urged the grand jury to probe thoroughly violations of the prohibition laws, and return indictments when they thought it necessary. He also urged that some consideration be given misdemeanor cases.

"I want you," he declared, "to especially pay attention to cases brought before you where one is charged with carrying a pistol. I have found that this violation contributes largely to crime, because in most all instances it is found that someone had a pistol."

He asked the body to review carefully evidence in a murder case, which is to come before the court.

The petit jury for the week was excused until 1 p. m. today after being sworn. Four of the veniremen were excused for various reasons.

Judge Smith called the docket in an effort to clear old cases. Trial of civil suits will start this after-

Carnera Given Decision Over Spanish Pride

Uzcudun and Primo Fight Ten Rounds to Settle War

BARCELONA, Spain, Dec. 1 (AP)—It took an English referee, Moss Deyong, to settle the boxing war between Italy and Spain in which Primo Carnera and Paulino Uzcudun were the gladiators, casting the deciding vote in favor of Carnera yesterday and raised the excitement of the crowd of 90,000 to its highest pitch.

The two judges disagreed after 10 rounds of close battling and they stuck to their opinions today. The Spanish judge, Casanovas, said that he believed Paulino should have been given decision by very slight margin, while the Italian judge, Mazzia, gave his opinion not only that Carnera had won but that he should be matched with Young Stribling, Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling as foremost contender for the world's heavyweight championship. Deyong said he saw a future world's champion in Carnera.

Although Paulino appeared somewhat battered at the end of the 10 rounds, neither boxer suffered serious damage and both were able to attend various entertainments afterward. Paulino was bleeding freely at the end after taking severe punishment in the closing rounds. His best rounds were in the middle of the fight, when he staged a fine rally. The Associated Press score sheet credited Paulino with winning the fourth, fifth and sixth rounds and scored the third as even. The rest were given to Carnera. The Italian weighed 239 3-4 pounds, Paulino 206 3-4.

The crowd paid about 1,000,000 pesetas, about $110,000 to see the struggle and although a few of the spectators tried to settle their disputes with fist fights after the bout in the ring was over, a police detail of 1,000 had little trouble in keeping order.

The cases were set in the 98th district court and will be heard by Judge J. D. Moore. They will be prosecuted by District Attorney Henry Brooks who said he would begin a study of the case soon.

THE WATER BUCKET

The boys are at it again. Two of the outstanding Oilbelt scribes have jumped into the fore and have named their all district selection. Unless the make-up man is consoling himself about his Sunday golf to such an extent that he garbles things up in general the selections will be found elsewhere on this page. Each of the selections run true to form, with few changes. It will be noticed that Frexy Anderson, Abilene Reporter-News, not only failed to pick Scrap Iron Grimes, San Angelo's tackle pride, for the first string, but ignored him entirely. Which is absurd. It is problematical if Grimes IS good enough this year to rate the first all-district rating, but there is no question as to whether he wins a second, and a close second at that. The San Angelo scribe is now so enthused in the matter that he is hailing Grimes as all Southwestern Conference tackle, and before the Yuletide the Great One will be wearing an all-American emblem. It will be noticed that House selected Grimes as the all-district tackle. It is presumed by this department that the Ranger scribe overlooked Barber. Although Anderson selected Barber as the first team tackle, House accepted him for neither the first nor the second. That is the way it goes. We presumed it behooves us to get the boys right on this matter, and settle things once, and perhaps for all.

Incidentally, the Angelo sports chronicler declares "it is plain cussedness" that keeps this department from placing Grimes, which we have indicated we have not. He does not explain whether it is this department's cussedness or Grimes'. We suspect the former.

They say it will be a gala day in Cisco Tuesday. Their spirit gone up like bread during a famine, the Loboes are primed to tear apart the green wave that is rolling their way from Stephens County on the north. It has even reached such a great height that House of Ranger declares the Loboes are favored to win the fray and the Bucaroos are the underdogs. He places such a statement on the foundation of psychology. It is true that the Loboes are prancing around their home lot like a bunch of fire horses at a fire. They may be hard to stop. In fact they may not be stopped. It has been given to the world that Breckenridge and Boone Magness can be stopped—and dead to the pin at that. The Loboes are working on the theory that what Ranger can do, the Loboes can do, and more of it. The Loboes defeated Ranger with Ranger's Dangerous Daniel McCarty, and the latter combination was the one that sent the Breck outfit down in their first defeat in two years. Whatever happens down at Cisco Tuesday afternoon the score will be nothing to compare with the one rung up by the Green Wave the first time the two teams came together. The Loboes have the advantage of playing on Chesley Field. They have the advantage of taking on a bewildered eleven—a team that expected anything else but what did happen at Ranger. Upon the game hinges the championship. Cisco has nothing, absolutely nothing, to lose. Breckenridge has everything. And in these cases, the one having nothing usually becomes reckless, and reckless playing, gambling in football, has been known to fear the team on the crest of victory. The Loboes are not beaten yet, not by a long shot.

It will be noticed that Captain Dalton Rogers [illegible] the all-district elevens selected. He was placed as the third team fullback by Anderson [illegible] mention by House. He is the only Steer to be given recognition. Playing on a disorganized, weak, consigned to the cellar team, is responsible for this. Had Rogers, or Bill Flowers, or Hanshaw or Pardue, been playing on a winning contingent, each would have been in the running. Pardue is a good center, but he gets hurt too often in too many games to gain much notoriety.

The loopers will get off on their 1930-31 season this afternoon when Bill Stevens gathers around him the short pants ands them upon the hard wood. As stated before, Stevens has a nice collection of court material. The work of the quintet may, to a certain extent, enable the fans to forget about the disastrous eleven of the season just ended. It would be better.

Spanish War Vets Will Meet Dec. 6

ARMY AND NAVY SIGN TRUCE FOR CHARITY GAME

Differences of three years' standing between the naval academy and West Point have been waived for the time being and they will meet in a post-season football game in New York, December 13, for the benefit of the unemployed. The game will pit the Army's ground-gaining halfbacks, Ray Stecker and Ed Herb, against such Navy favorites as J. W. Byng, end, and Johnny [illegible]non, a slashing back.

Pool Takes Oath As Board Member

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 29 (AP)—Taking his oath of office before Judge F. L. Hawkins of the criminal appeals court in John Sealy hospital, Adrian Pool of El Paso became the newest member of the state board of control today.

Judge Hawkins, who is recovering from an operation, is an old friend of Mr. Pool and the new board of control member came here to take his oath before the judge "due to sentimental reasons."

Mr. Pool disclosed that his chief wish will be to further medical treatment of crippled and deformed children throughout the state, saying it should be obligatory upon all deformed children to receive treatment at the expense of the state if necessary. "These children should not be allowed to grow up under a handicap," he said.

Inspections of the University of Texas Medical College and John Sealy Hospital were made by Mr. Pool.

ACREAGE SOLD

HENDERSON, Texas, Nov. 29 (AP)—C. M. Joiner, pioneer oil operator and discoverer of the Rusk county field, announced today the sale of a 4,080-acre lease to H. L. Hunt, Arkansas independent oil operator, for $1,500,000.

Joiner worked nearly four years before bringing in the Rusk county field, and lately a number of law suits were filed against him. In spite of litigation he will emerge a millionaire, his East Texas friends said.

Hunt has operated in Arkansas and Louisiana nearly 10 years and is said to own nearly 200 producing wells. He had already drilled an off-set well to the Joiner discovery well and recently set casing in it.

New Congregation Grows Rapidly

West Side Baptist Church, the newest church of Big Spring, has had one to five additions every Sunday since organization with sixteen members on October 5. The present membership is 42.

Regular services are held each Sunday with Sunday School at 10:00, B.Y.P.U.'s at 6:30. The preaching services are held at 11 and 7:30 and the Wednesday night meeting is held at 7:30.

The Sunday School attendance yesterday reached 97 almost two and one half times the membership of the church. The B.Y.P.U. attendance was 78 almost twice the membership total. Attendance at the preaching services following these meetings was larger.

Forty one of the forty two members are residents of Jones Valley. The church has yet to lose a member by withdrawal.

Notre Dame Clashes With Trojan Aggregation Saturday For Title Of National Gridiron Champions

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—A football "natural," with the mythical national championship at stake, brings together Notre Dame's Rough Riders and Southern California's Trojans at Los Angeles on Saturday as the grand climax of a spectacular season.

If Rockne's brigade can check the Trojans the national title will be theirs with few, if any, dissenting votes. Already the Rough Riders have crushed Southern Methodist of the Southwest Conference, Navy, Pitt, Carnegie, Penn and the Army in the East, Indiana and Northwestern of the Big Ten, and Drake of the Missouri Valley conference.

On the other hand, a victory for Southern California will leave the situation in a tangle with several unbeaten elevens ready to advance their claims. Among these might be Alabama and Washington State, both unbeaten and untied, who will clash in the annual Rose Bowl game on the coast New Year's day.

Southern California has been beaten once this year, losing a 7-6 decision to Washington State. Notre Dame's winning streak was seriously endangered by the Army Saturday but the Rough Riders crashed through to block a try for point after touchdown and won, 7-6.

There are close to a dozen other games on Saturday's schedule. In the East Navy clashes with Penn at Philadelphia; New York University attempts to stop Colgate's high-powered eleven in New York; Carnegie and Washington & Jefferson put on their postponed duel at Pittsburgh, and Western Maryland, only Eastern team unbeaten takes on Maryland at Baltimore.

In the Southern Conference, Georgia and Georgia Tech meet in their annual battle at Atlanta; Florida and Tennessee are matched at Jacksonville; and Duke plays North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Loyola of New Orleans, a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, faces the University of Detroit at New Orleans.

In the Southwest, Tulsa's unbeaten and untied eleven clashes with the Haskell Indians at Tulsa and Iowa State travels to Houston, Texas, to take on Rice of the Southwest Conference.

Bids To Be Opened December 29 For Oceanic Air Mail

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Regular air mail from New York to Europe in only a few more hours than it took Lindbergh to fly the Atlantic was predicted by post office officials today in announcing that bids for a transatlantic air mail service would be opened Dec. 29.

Eugene R. White, director of the international postal service, said the average mail service of a fast liner was five days and that the air mail service would beat that by 2 1-2 days or more. Lindbergh's time across the ocean was 33 1-2 hours.

The contract is to run for 10 years, beginning June 1, 1931. Until July 1, 1932, the service would extend only as far as Bermuda. After that, however, Europe and return is to be the destination of each plane that leaves New York and the round trip is to be made at least weekly.

The bids, to be opened at noon in the office of Assistant Postmaster General Glover, called for an air mail route from New York by Norfolk, Va., or Charleston, S. C., then across to Hamilton in the British owned Bermudas, on to the Azores and to London, Paris, or perhaps Berlin. Leeway is given contractors who think they can very the route slightly and do better.

Three hundred pounds of mail is the specified load for each plane. The maximum rate allowed is $2 a mile for the 300 pounds and $1 per pound for each 1,000 miles is charged for excess weight. Just what the government will charge for postage has not been decided.

Seven air mail lines now are operating to every Central and South American country and they have done so well the department has started plans for the transatlantic service.

Prisoner And Two Policemen Slain

MACOMB, Ill., Dec. 1 (UP)—An alleged petty burglar, docile appearing in his actions, suddenly turned into a desperate gunman yesterday, killing two policemen and wounding two others before he himself was slain by one of his victims. He was identified as Edwin Veril, 28, of Canton, Ill.

Veril, arrested on a loitering charge, in front of a battery station, began firing from an automatic pistol he had secreted in his sleeve, just as the automobile in which he was being taken to jail, arrived in front of the police station. Policeman Edward Whitlesly, 60, was the first to die. He was shot through the head as he stepped from the machine.

Turning quickly, the gunman sent a bullet into the abdomen of Policeman Ernest Bowman, 36, fatally wounding him, and then switched the fire of his gun on Alfred Links, driver of the car, wounding him critically. At this point Luther Jackson, another policeman, already suffering from a wound received from a fight with burglars three weeks ago, ran from the police station and was hit in one of his wrists in an exchange of shots with Veril, who by this time had taken the wheel of the car in an effort to escape.

Veril, however, got no farther than a block from the station, before the dying Bowman mustered enough strength to rise from his prostrate position in the car and empty the cartridges of his pistol into Veril's back.

The whole fight occupied less than three minutes.

Police apparently were taken by complete surprise, as Veril when accosted by them near the battery station, willingly submitted to a search, which revealed nothing but a short piece of steel. He entered the automobile without protest, and there was no reason to suspect that he would attempt escape.

New York Clergy Ponders Lindsey Marriage Talk

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (UP)—The great question before today's meeting of the New York Churchmen's Association, as described by the New York Times, was whether or not to listen to Ben Lindsey of Denver lecture on marriage.

After requests by Bishop William T. Manning that an invitation be withdrawn, Dr. Charles K. Gilbert, the president, decided to put the question to a vote of the members.

Lindsey agreed to attend the meeting and await the outcome of the vote.

The association is composed of Episcopal clergymen.

The invitation was extended by a committee. When Bishop Manning received a mailed notice he wrote the Rev. Elliott White of Grace Church, chairman of the committee, asking cancellation. As a substitute for the lecture the bishop offered to read from Lindsey's book on companionate marriage.

Dr. White informed Dr. Gilbert, suffragan bishop, that the committee had no right to withdraw the invitation. Dr. Gilbert then conferred with the bishop and a vote was arranged.

Sailor Man Loses Leg In Own Burglar Trap

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (UP)—Capt. Peter Lenderscarn, 63, and a sailor man, is minus a leg today because he stepped into his own burglar's trap.

Angered by the ransacking of his Midland Beach bungalow, the skipper of the good barge Landslide, set a nambush for the next trespasser. He rigged up a loaded shot gun inside the door with one end of a fishing line attached to the trigger and the other to the doorknob. Then he closed the place for the winter and forgot about it.

Yesterday, the captain went to the cottage. As he opened the door, there was a blast and he received the charge below the left knee.

Surgeons at Staten Island hospital were forced to amputate the leg and administer two blood transfusions. He is expected to live.

Pennsylvania Senate Fight Again Looms

James J. Davis, Former Labor Secretary To Meet Contest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (UP)—The four-year-old Pennsylvania senatorial primary controversy was alive again today as the time approached for James J. Davis to offer his credentials for the seat which was denied William S. Vare.

Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, head of the senate campaign funds investigating committe, announced last night he would seek to bar the retiring labor department secretary for one or two days pending inquiry into reports that expenditures in behalf of the Davis-Brown ticket reached over a half million dollars. Francis Shunk Brown was the unsuccessful Republican gubernatorial primary candidate.

A special meeting of the Nye committee was called today to inquire into the new reports. Davis was undecided whether he would ask to be sworn in today. He disclaimed knowledge of excessive spending in his behalf.

Cost $368,962

Senator Nye determined only yesterday to ask that Davis be denied his seat temporarily. A preliminary report he had expected to submit to the senate now listed $368,962 as the cost of the Davis-Brown races, with $10,747 coming from the Hoover cabinet officer's own pocket.

However, a report from special investigators sent to Harrisburg, yesterday indicated an additional expenditure of perhaps $150,000 over the original figure of $129,693 reported by Samuel Vauclain, head of the Davis-Brown campaign committee.

Nye thought his committee could complete the study in two days at the most. Should the supplemental reports prove correct, the campaign investigator said he would let the senate decide how much of the money went for Davis and what action should be taken. He was not prepared to say he would ask permanent rejection of Davis.

He emphasized, however, that the testimony taken by his committee had indicated the biggest fight in the Pennsylvania Republican primary was over the governorship. Gifford Pinchot defeated Brown while Davis won over Senator Grundy.

The latter was appointed to the senate by Governor Fisher after Vare was denied a seat on the ground that more than $700,000 was spent in his behalf in the 1926 primary. Except for the brief service of Grundy, Pennsylvania has had only one senator since that year.

Hope Abandoned For Woman Flyer

HAVANA, Dec. 1 (UP)—All hope having been abandoned here for the safety of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, President Machado today was planning to send messages of condolence to the mayor of Pittsburgh and the British government.

Mrs. Keith-Miller who made a flight from Pittsburgh to Havana disappeared Friday on a return flight from Havana to Miami, Florida.

It became known today that the missing aviatrix had been planning to attain American citizenship. She had been in the United States two and one-half years on renewal of her six month's visitor's permit. The American consulate here had almost refused her permission to reenter the United States on her landing here, but she declared she was most anxious to return to acquire citizenship.

Father Charged With Kidnaping His Young Son

AUSTIN, Dec. 1 (UP)—Reward of $100 was offered by the state today for the apprehension of Merlin C. "Jack" Abbott, charged yesterday with kidnaping his three year old son, Payton Osborne Abbott.

County officers led the search for the man and boy today. Abbott did not report for work today. Since he had no automobile, and there was no trace of him at the railway and bus stations and the city airport, officers were inclined to believe he was still in Austin.

Under a divorce decree, Abbott was allowed possession of his son three days out of every month, but yesterday was one of the three days. The boy was turned over to Abbott yesterday morning, however, and was not returned at the time agreed upon.

Mrs. Abbott's father signed the kidnaping complaint.

A State of Mind

ONE of those perennial stunts designed to get a laugh takes the form of a paper towel on which is printed "Crying Towel." Turning over to the other side, one finds the admonition: "The next time a man comes to you weeping, 'Business Is Bad,' hand him 'this cry towel.'"

The Dallas News observes editorially that: "The nation has been at the mourner's bench now for over a year, waiting for something to turn up. Financial crises rarely last many months, and ours by this time must be near death . . . The nation . . . should cast aside its dismal garments, turn away from the wailing wall and get to work, seeing that the dawn of a new day has come."

We are all familiar with the person who "enjoys poor health." He talks about it continually, laying bare his symptoms, telling what this doctor said and that doctor recommended, and nursing along his indisposition with all the tender care a mother bestows on her first born.

Well, we have been "enjoying poor business" just about long enough. Everybody is fed up on hearing us complain. No doubt some of the long-suffering auditors feel like telling us to go where most of us say business has gone.

The national depression is made up of several factors, and the greatest of these factors is a severe case of what the cowman calls limbertail.

Talking about rotten business won't make business any better. If all the family and friends gathered around the bed of a sick person and talked about how bad off he was he'd have little chance to get well.

Prosperity is a state of mind. So is business depression.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Facts and Figures for Texans

Austin American:

TEXAS has eight distinct oil producing areas, whose daily average output exceeds [illegible] barrels in spite of artificial reductions; West Texas fields produce almost a third of the total and the coastal field is next in production.

Texas produced [illegible] pounds of copper in 1919 and 447,792 pounds in 1928; it produced 12,131 pounds of lead in 1919 and 695,570 pounds in 1928, according to figures from the United States bureau of mines.

Texas has two major navigation projects before it: one the intracostal canal extending from Sabine Lake to Corpus Christi is proceeding; the other canalization of the Trinity from Fort Worth and Dallas to the Gulf of Mexico has behind it the testimony of engineers as to its feasibility and the enthusiastic support of the citizens of a dozen or more counties as to its importance.

Texas is one of the few states showing a further gain in electrical output in comparisons with the totals for 1929; the United States as a whole showed a decrease of 6 per cent for August and 4 per cent for September, according to the report of the United States geological survey; Texas in contrast showed gains of 3 per cent for August and one per cent for September; that in the West South Central geographical division, comprising Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, the only states showing gains for both months was Texas.

To take the lead among American gas producing states, as it did on the basis of 1929 totals, Texas had to produce 464 billions, 928 million cubic feet, over 100 billion cubic feet more than Oklahoma in second place. California stood third with 324 billions, Louisiana fourth with 261 billions and West Virginia fifth with 167 billions.

The reputation of Texas grapefruit is spreading abroad; more than 20 inquiries from foreign lands have been received by the United States department of commerce at Houston regarding the possibilities of securing shipments the coming season — England, France, Germany, Norway, Denmark, Sweden and the Netherlands being included in the list of inquirers.

Emergency aid in the unaccustomed unemployment situation is being planned in many Texas communities. Wichita Falls is campaigning for $1,000,000 building program. McLennan county will spend $100,000 on grading its unpaved roads, practically all the expenditure being for labor; pipe line construction from the Panhandle gas field is providing employment for hundreds of workers; ditto in the South and East Texas fields; Victoria has started work on $250,000 worth of paving; Sweetwater will spend $50,000 on street improvements, mostly for labor; Austin has a huge public improvement program and will spend thousands of dollars for labor during the winter months; campaigns for new buildings, repairs and public works are on in many Texas towns and cities with public and private business leaders cooperating in the effort to provide employment for those out of work.

Keep the ball a-rolling. Provide jobs for the jobless. Men who are able and willing to work are men worth while and those who furnish employment to the bread winner worth while are men of vision and realize that a wage is better than a goal and that a job makes a man independent and self-reliant and a law-abiding citizen.

Seventy-Year-Old Woman Benefitted By Argotane

SWEETWATER WOMAN GREATLY BENEFITTED WITH ARGOTANE—FEELS LIKE A YOUNG WOMAN AGAIN

"I am now seventy years of age, but since taking Argotane, I don't feel that old by a good many years," said Mrs. V. R. Horn, who conducts a hotel and boarding house at 203 Bowie St., Sweetwater, Texas.

"I feel it my duty," she continued, "to tell all the suffering people I can about what Argotane has done for me. About two years ago I lost my appetite, and my stomach went back on me and I would have indigestion after every meal almost. What I ate seemed to sour almost as soon as I would eat it, and caused a slight case of indigestion. I was in a general rundown weak condition and my whole nervous system seemed to go to pieces and any noise out of the ordinary would almost make me jump with fright.

"I had taken a great many different things and still suffered but, lucky for me, I heard of many being benefitted so much from the use of Argotane, that I decided to give it a trial. By the time I had taken it a week or so I noticed the indigestion pains were disappearing and this much relief made me feel very hopeful. I kept on with the treatment and my appetite has come back to me, and when I go to my meals now I enjoy every mouthful and can eat anything I want without suffering the least bit from it. My nerves are much better and stronger in every way and I have more strength and vitality every day. I keep on taking Argotane. It is a pleasure for me to tell you about this medicine."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at Collins Bros. Drug Store.—adv.

How Is Your HEALTH?

DELAY IS DANGEROUS

In medicine, as in legal contracts, time is the essense of the thing. The right thing done at the right time, no matter how insignificant it may appear to be, is often enough to stave off development of a serious illness.

A puncture wound for example, thoroughly cleaned out and flooded with an antiseptic will heal in a day or two. Neglected, it may lead to a serious infection.

A child with a fever, put to bed and isolated, may readily overcome a beginning infection. On the other hand, if allowed to roam about and to waste precious energy, it may contract other infections on top of the first.

In this connection a heavy responsibility rests upon mothers—for the family, children in particular, look to her for guidance and supervision in health matters. Even the adult males are dependent upon her in this.

In fulfilling this obligation to her family, it is not at all necessary that the mother should have even a "working" knowledge of medicine.

It is not essential that she should be able to tell what is wrong. She needs only to recognize the signs and symptoms indicating that something is wrong. This is a fairly simple task.

It is not difficult to tell when a child is ill. Fever is common, although not invariably present at the beginning of illness.

Headache, backache, unaccounted for fatigue, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, cough, "running" nose and eyes are the common signs and symptoms of illness.

Skin rashes are associated with a number of children's diseases and their presence should always arouse suspicion.

An ailing child should be put to bed, and should be isolated from the other children in the house. It should not be "dosed" unless its condition is definitely known and the remedy is simple and safe.

HOLLYWOOD—Movie musings: What is so rare as a movie dancing starlet who did not "get her start in 'Good News'?"

[illegible]

Or a movie recruit from the stage who didn't come to Hollywood "just for a vacation only to have it spoiled by a movie offer?"

There used to be a gag about a theater manager who phoned his exchange frantically that the last two reels of his picture hadn't been delivered. And the reply was "Don't worry, nobody'll know the difference. It's a So-and-Such company picture."

But this, I am reliably told, really happened:

A manager in a nearby town called on a studio about a picture his theater was running. "I don't know what's the matter," he said. "It seems to be a nice little picture, and they seem to like it, but they leave the thater unsatisfied."

So the studio official went out and had a look. The operator was showing the first, second, fourth, sixth and fifth reels in the order named—with reel three for the grand windup!

SHARING HONORS

The recent Academy awards for the past year were largely shared by families. Norma Shearer, who won the actress' prize, saw her brother, Douglas Shearer, awarded the honor for best sound effects in a picture.

Carl Laemmle, as head of his company, accepted the prize for the best picture, while Carl jr. took a bow as its producer. Frances Marion's story of "The Big House" won first place, and the picture was directed by her husband, George Hill.

SUBTLE DISCIPLINE

Clara Bow's penchant for headlines has caused her studio on more than one occasion to call her to task and elicit promises to keep quiet, but Clara is by no means the only star who feels the whip of studio discipline, which is sometimes subtle, as for instance:

Maureen O'Sullivan owes her recent good opportunities in part to the quarrel Janet Gaynor had with Fox. When Janet walked out on parts selected for her, the studio began casting Maureen opposite Charlie Farrell and giving her every chance to supplant Janet as their star. Janet came back, but Maureen is still in solidly.

Then there was the starlet, with a 40-week contract, who objected to a certain minor role. Her contract provided a 12-week vacation, without pay, every year. When she howled about the part, the studio immediately started her "vacation."

Tyson, Logsdon Given Sentence

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Dec. 1. (AP)—Judge William Hawley Atwell today sentenced John G. Tyson and William R. Logsdon, former federal prohibition agents, to 13 months imprisonment at Leavenworth, Kas., and fined each $5,00. in United States district court.

The men were found guilty by a jury last Wednesday of bribery and conspiracy to defeat the ends of justice.

It was alleged in the indictments that Tyson and Logsdon accepted $500 from Pleasant R. Hill to keep him from serving a jail sentence imposed after the trial of a liquor charge at Abilene three years ago.

Judge Atwell sentenced the men without comment.

WILD BEAUTY

by MATEEL HOWE FARNHAM

SYNOPSIS: When David Frost runs away and marries Fanny Freiburg, daughter of a poor German music teacher, his mother is furious. The Frosts and Brownbecks are the aristocrats of the little town of Cloughbarre, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Frost, old-fashioned and austere, is the recognized leader of the clan. David brings back his pretty, vivacious bride to the ancestral home, and Fanny at once is made to feel her mother-in-law's active dislike. Mrs. Frost blames Fanny when David announces his plan to take his bride to a cottage of their own, and persuades David's uncle, Judson Brownbeck, to refuse him an expected raise in salary at the bank. Undaunted, David throws up his job and persists in his intention to move.

Chapter 4
AN OCCASION

ONE frosty morning in late November Fanny wakened early with the happy certainty that something momentous and very beautiful had happened or was about to happen.

Oh, she remembered now; she and David had been married six months today and he loved her far, far better than he had in the beginning. She would have liked to write and tell her father so, but he was in Germany—at least she hoped he was in Germany—and she did not know where to write. He had been angry at her marriage.

A month earlier, Fanny's father had sent her $50 and instructions to meet him in New York. Fanny had gone a little reluctantly, but her father not only greeted her tenderly but continued to make much of her during the two days they were together. He explained that he was on his way home. His country, Germany, was now at war; he was going home to fight.

Fanny had never seen her father so gay. To her surprise he seemed to have no end of money. Herr Freiburg took Fanny to the theatres and concerts and the opera, ordered for her delectation a succession of delicious exotic foods. Instead of disappointing him she now seemed for some strange reason to delight him.

He admitted, what Fanny had long suspecter, that he was an ex-officer in the German army. On account of the blockade he was going back disguised as a sailor on a Norwegian ship. He showed her his rough sailors' clothes and was like a boy, excited, happy altogether changed. They laughed together for the first time in their lives. He did not question her about David nor about her new life, and did not seem to want to be told.

"Father, tell me about my mother," she had urged.

His eyes brooded upon her.

"She was very beautiful," he said, "more beautiful than you. You have her walk—like Aurora. I cannot . . . after I am dead Lena will tell you." Lena had been their housekeeper.

David had found work as a timekeeper in a brick factory, at $18 a week, and had to be at the factory at seven o'clock—and walk to save carfare. In the summer months they had both rather enjoyed the early rising, the fragrant morning freshness. Getting up in the cold and wrestling with unruly fires was another matter. But on this anniversary morning Fanny had the house warm and the breakfast well under way before David wakened.

"Dearest girl, you shouldn't."

"But I like to, darling. I adore doing things for you! You really ought to make me get up first."

"A fat chance! But come here and kiss me."

"David, are you glad to be here alone with me?"

"Of course, goose. Where would I rather be?"

"At your mother's you wouldn't have to get up at half-past five and make fires."

"Well, I'd rather be here."

Fanny did not remind David what day it was, but she spent most of the morning happily cracking and picking hickory nuts for his favorite cake, and the afternoon in making ready a special feast.

David ate an enormous dinner and praised every bite until Fanny glowed with pride. They had their coffee in the living room, both wedged into the big Morris chair David had had at college.

"David—do you think you'll ever get tired of me?"

"No, goose."

"Not in years and years?"

"Not in a million years."

"But, David, I'm serious. What would you do?"

"I'd marry a young and beautiful chorus lady."

"Do you like young and beautiful chorus ladies?"

"My child, when you have lived as long as I have you will know that the young and beautiful ladies of the chorus make a specialty of millionaires. So far I haven't had a ghost's chance to find out whether I like them or not."

"So you have to put up with me?"

"So I have to put up with you," said David and kissed her.

"David, if I should die first, before we're awfully old, would you marry again?"

David placed his two hands around Fanny's throat and squeezed it gently. "You'll take a ride to the cemetery, young lady, far sooner than you expect, if you don't stop your cheery evening's entertainment. What are you trying to do—make me cry?"

"No, darling, of course I'm not. Only I can't help thinking about it."

"About what?"

"That we can't always be together."

"Who says we can't?"

"But if we should live to be 90 years old we'll have to part some time. Oh, David, promise you won't ever ever die first."

"Stop it," commanded David roughly. "Talk about something else or I'll howl."

This wasn't quite fair of Fanny, not quite sporting, David thought, knowing how frightened he had been these last weeks since it seemed certain they were going to have a baby. Fanny was pleased—not at all frightened; all her life she had had so little to love.

Like all lovers David was never entirely unconscious of the menace of the final parting but unlike Fanny he could not talk about it.

If anything happened to Fanny. . . .

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Asheville, N. C.

How do you account for so many gifted people uncertainly questioning the existence of a spiritual universe in which the departed survive? This matter has greatly troubled me, for I have lost a beloved child.

Darwin had his doubts, nevertheless he called the human instinct for immortality "the grand instinct." That instinct gradually developed out of skeptism into assurance. Aboriginal man felt that this life was the only life. Then his earlier descendants glimpsed the possibility of a future existence but dreaded it. The Jewish prophets took a bold forward step and asserted the right of the righteous soul to perpetuation. By this long road the race has climbed from the pit of despair to the rock of faith.

The modern mind of unfaith is so deeply immersed in matter that it cannot conceive any existence apart from it. Such a mind is neither extensive in its outlook nor enabling in its conclusions. Do not be influenced by its opinions. Your conviction that God is the God of the living, not of the dead, should move you to co-operate with Him. Maintain that conviction and you shall rejoin your child in the eternal life of blessedness and growth which the Father bestows on all who seek it in sincerity and truth.

Can a religious person in view of the commandment "Thou shalt not kill," take up a military career? In a recent article published by the "Revue des deux Mondes" General Mordacq suggests that Marshall Foch, influenced by religious scruples, put an end to the war by signing the Armistice. Unless I am in error, and if so I should like to be corrected, the Quakers refuse military service on the grounds stated above.

I honor Marshal Foch as a Christian gentleman, and I think it greatly to his credit that he signed the Armistice when he did. I also agree with you that war has no place in God's program for humanity. Jesus outlawed it two thousand years ago. He decreed that those who take to the sword shall perish by the sword. He also allotted the earth's ultimate inheritance to the gentle, considerate and humble souls who are flocked and despised by the truculent and the selfish.

But we must define our terms in a severely controverted matter. What is war? Is it not that state of armed aggression which seeks to gain unwarrantable ends by means of physical violence? If this definition is conceded, it is not a question of physical force, but the motives inspiring it and the objects it seeks. There is a legitimate use of such force, as evidenced in the policing of our cities for their safety and protection. There is an illegitimate use of it as evidenced in the needless wars which are a stench in the nostrils of thinking men.

When one's home and country are wantonly invaded one has the right and is also obligated, in my judgment, to defend them. The bloodless campaign we need to wage is against the spurious and bigoted nationalism, religious hate and separatism, commercial greed and exploitation and chaotic internationalism which have well nigh hamstrung civilization.

The Friends, as you call the Quakers, have indeed given Christendom the stimulus of an impressive exampel of peace, and their convictions have been respected by Great Britain and the United States. Yet even their members found it difficult to maintain the practice of their profession when their sense of right and justice was outraged by the militaristic madness of the World War. Strike at the sins I have named and you wound the roots of armed conflict.

Are the God of Israel, the Father of the Trinity, the Allah of Islam and the Central Figure of all other major religions worshipped by their respective followers as the Father of all Mankind? Or is such Fatherhood a principle of Judaism and Christianity only?

What you call "the Central Figure" of the major religions is conceived of by them as the Creator. But not all these religions portray Him as the universal Father in the Judaic or Christian sense of that title. The characteristics of an ideal human father enable us to better understand the Biblical doctrine of God's Fatherhood. Such an earthly father is more than his children's parent and provider. He loves and sacrifices for them, covets their confidence, shares their hopes and fears, desires them for himself, and gives himself to them.

Heighten these traits to the utmost bounds of your imagination, make them universally significant, apply them to the unlovable and the vile as well as the lovable and the pure, and you get a faint idea of what Jesus meant when He told us to pray to God as "Our Father." This glorious ideal of the Supreme Being is the fountain of the world's betterment. It dawns in the prophets of Israel, comes to its meridian in Jesus, will yet heal the want and woe of the race, and restores it to its divine purpose.

Allen Charges Freight Truck Hurts Railway

Declares M.K.T. Revenues Cut 20 Per Cent In Three Years

DALLAS, Dec. 1. (AP)—Harvey Allen, general freight agent for the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad today testified before Leo Flynn, examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission, that motor trucks cut freight haul revenues of his railroad 20 per cent between 1926 and 1929.

The hearing before the examiner, called for the purpose of investigating co-ordination of motor transportation of freight and passengers on public highways, adjourned until Wednesday, when it will be reopened at New Orleans.

Allen said unregulated trucks were hurting the railroads because they could change their routes and rate scales at will.

"We are willing to meet competition of regulated trucks, those required to charge the same rates as railroads," he said.

He said cotton tonnage to the ports of Houston, Galveston and Texas City, comprising approximately 12 per cent of the gross revenues of his railroad in Texas, had been taken from the railroads by trucks. He estimated that between Aug. 1 and Nov. 21 trucks handled 25 per cent of the cotton shipped into those ports. He testified that trucks now are handling 80 per cent of the cotton seed from gins to cotton seed oil mills.

Hefner Convicted Of Pampa Slaying

PAMPA, Texas, Dec. 1. (AP)—A jury tonight found Carl Hefner guilty of murder in the slaying of Homer Crabtree and assessed his punishment at 99 years in the penitentiary. Crabtree, was expressionless as the verdict was read. The jury had deliberated five hours. He had denied in testimony he killed Crabtree but declared Emmett Thompson, his companion, struck Crabtree with an iron rod. Thompson was indicted jointly with Hefner for murder but severance of the cases was granted.

Railway Asks To Sell Shares

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—The Gulf and West Texas Railroad today applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to sell 3,000 shares of common stock.

The stock is to be sold at par value of $100 to finance a survey, location and construction of a proposed line of new railroad from Fredericksburg to San Angelo, Texas.

The stock is to be sold to the Southern Pacific Railroad. The estimated cost of the new line is [illegible].

rendered will never be surpassed or excelled. The hearts of the men and women of labor are very sad."

MT. OLIVE, Ill., Dec. 1 (AP)—Mother Jones will rest in death where she fought in life—beside her "boys."

The centenarian labor crusader willed that she be buried in the Mt. Olive Union Miners cemetery, the necropolis dedicated to the strikers killed in the Virden mine riot of 1898. Her grave faces the memorial.

To certify this burial provision in Mother Jones' will, her wish was reported three years ago in the Macoupin county courthouse.

Green Hills slope down to the cemetery—hills reminiscent of county Cork, in Ireland, where Mother Jones was born Mary Harris more than a century ago.

On one of these slopes one October da yin 1898, the striking miners marching to the Virden mine in protest against importation of negro strike-breakers, were halted by guards outside a stockade. In the ensuing fighting, eight strikers were shot to death.

"General" Alexander Bradley led the Protestants. He is buried in the Union cemetery, across the main driveway from the shrubbed plot reserved for Mother Jones.

Five of those killed in the Virden riot—whom labor calls "martyrs to unionism"—sleep in the Mt. Olive memorial. To their graves Mother Jones often came. They were her "brave boys." In Mt. Olive she rested from many of her arduous campaigns for the betterment of labor conditions.

Tombstone Mourns Passing Of Owner Of Historic Show

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Dec. 1. (AP)—The old tombstone of the blood-thunder 80s, now a quiet little town beside the deserted mines today mourned the death of Charles L. Cummings, once its mayor and owner of the widely known Bird Cage theatre. Cummings died last night in his seventy-sixth year.

A native of Oxford, N. Y., he came to Tombstone in 1880 before the iron horse replaced the piebald nag on the trail to the mining camp. He brushed elbows with the characters of the Old West, the bad men who drifted in on the scent of quick riches, and became a pillar of the community, aiding in the bringing of law and order.

The most picturesque of his many business enterprises was the Bird Cage theatre, where the hits of Broadway played to full houses, and where Lotta Crabtree and other old time favorites presented such plays as "Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

The Bird Cage stands on Allen street, the main thoroughfare within a stone's throw of the O. K. corral, where the Clanton-Earp feud blazed to a climax. Cummings was reputed to have heard the shots which killed three men with their boots on at the corral—the shots that signalized the advent of the law.

Cummings was banker, cattleman and miner and contributed much toward the development of Arizona. A few years after the Earps and Doc Halliday won the Clanton fight a quieter Tombstone elected Cummings mayor.

In 1895 it sent him to the eighteenth territorial assembly.

After Tombstone passed its prime Cummings dealt in real estate in other parts of Arizona and in California, but he did not leave the town. He collected native Indian handiwork and left one of the most extensive collections of Indian baskets in the Southwest.

Whether Cummings will be buried on Boot Hill, where many of his contemporaries rest, was not determined immediately.

ed term of Frederic M. Sackett, ambassador to Germany.

Vice President Curtis appointed Senators Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, and Robinson, of Arkansas, democratic leader, as the committee to inform President Hoover the senate was in session. Adjournment was taken there at 12:20 p. m.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Hardly had congress come together today before senators and representatives alike began sending numerous and varied legislative proposals down that long and difficult path which but few survive.

There was one that seemed assured of success, however, a bill by Senator Robinson, democratic leader for $60,000,000 to be advanced as loans for seed and feed to drought suffering farmers. A democrat also will sponsor it in the house, and republican cooperation for enactment is practically a certainty.

A permanent commission "dealing exclusively with the problem of maintaining the best conditions in industry and keeping working men permanently employed," was called for in a bill by Representative Ludlow, democrat, Indiana.

An international celebration in Los Angeles upon completion of the Boulder canyon project in 1937 was proposed in a resolution by Representative Swing, republican, California.

street marking the capitol grounds.

After the refusal of the crowd to disperse, more arrests were made. Among these, one was a woman who gave her name as Helen Robinson. She was accompanied in the same patrol wagon by a man who gave his name as F. [illegible]. Small groups carried their taunts against the police down the streets leading from Garfield monument and slowly the avenues surrounding the capitol were cleared.

Almost deserted, the capitol plaza, where the demonstration was started, was littered with torn and trampled placards.

Six of the demonstrators were held on charges of disorderly conduct and in some cases assault. Among them was John Zillic, 41, a blacksmith of McKeesport, Pa., who was taken to a casualty hospital for treatment after a fight. Rose Markle, 31, a New York dressmaker, and Taudelis Kisldin, a woodworker of Detroit, were charged with disorderly conduct.

VALUE OF BOY SCOUTING

THE SCOUT OATH

Every boy upon becoming a scout pledges himself to practice in his daily life the principles of the scout oath and law. He does this voluntarily and with a full understanding of what it means.

On my honor I will do my best:

1. To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the scout law.
2. To help other people at all times;
3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

THE SCOUT LAW

1. A scout is trustworthy—A scout's honor is to be trusted. If he were to violate his honor by telling a lie, or by cheating, or by not doing exactly a given task when trusted on his honor, he might be directed to hand over his scout badge.

2. A scout is loyal—He is loyal to all to whom loyalty is due; his scout law, his home, his parents, and country.

3. A scout is helpful—He must be prepared at any time to save life, help injured persons, and share the home duties. He must do at least one good turn to somebody every day.

4. A scout is friendly—He is a friend to all and a brother to every other scout.

5. A scout is courteous—He is polite to all, especially to women, children, old people, and the weak and helpless. He must not take pay for being helpful or courteous.

6. A scout is kind—He is a friend to animals. He will not kill nor hurt any living creature needlessly but will strive to save and protect all harmless life.

7. A scout is obedient—He obeys his parents, scoutmaster, patrol leader, and all other duly constituted authorities.

8. A scout is cheerful—He smiles whenever he can. His obedience to orders is prompt and cheery.

9. A scout is thrifty—He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing, and makes the best of his opportunities. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way, be generous to those in need and helpful to worthy objects. He may work for pay but must not receive tips for courtesies or good turns.

10. A scout is brave—He has the courage to face danger in spite of fear, and to stand up for the right against the coaxings of friends or the jeers or threats of enemies, and defeat does not down him.

11. A scout is clean—He keeps clean in body and thought, stands for clean speech, clean sports, clean habits, and travels with a clean crowd.

12. A scout is reverent—He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of customs and religion.

Are these the things you want your boy to know and be? They are the things he learns to do and be as a scout. Let your boy learn to follow scout law and when he becomes a man he will respect the law of democracy and be a better man and a better citizen.

Make your boy a scout!

ernment which performs the service in a manner which is entirely satisfactory to the county. I would recommend them to the people as being efficient in the handling of charitable work and the people should support them, not only with finances but give encouragement as well in many other ways.

I understand that part of the fund is raised for the Boy Scout work. In my seven years as county judge there has never been a Boy Scout brought before me for violation of the law and I have had many before me for various and sundry violations and many of them have gone to the reformatory but not one Boy Scout.

My observation and experience have been that the American youth is going to do something and it is up to the citizenship as well as the parents to guide their activities in the proper channels and I do not believe that there is any one single factor which will aid the boys more than the Boy Scout work. I recommend it to the people in general and endorse the drive for money to finance this work.

BOSTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Trading in wool is very light but a feeling of hopefulness that the volume of business may increase in the near future is being displayed by members of the wool trade as a result of more numerous receipts recently, of sample lots. During the week ending November 29, receipts of domestic wools amounted to 209,900 pounds as compared with 1,585,100 pounds during previous week.

Negro Porter Stops Robbery

Pampa Theatre Employe Wounds One, Causes Two Arrests

PAMPA, Texas, Dec. 1 (AP)—Frank Long, negro porter, using a shot gun laid aside by the burglars, today wounded one of four men and caused the arrest of two of the band, which attempted to rob a safe of the Rex theatre.

The negro who also acts as night watchman at the theatre heard muffled blows as the men worked at the safe and attempted to fire his pistol at them, but it snapped. He picked up a shotgun laid to one side at the entrance to the theatre and as one of the men started to crawl through a window he fired both barrels at him.

A trail of blood indicated the man was wounded seriously. The wounded man and one other escaped, but two others attempting to get away over the roofs of adjoining buildings were arrested by Bud Cotterell, policeman, who was attracted by the shots.

The men left behind a full set of safe-cracking tools.

Orphan Home Represented Here In Song Program

One of the largest crowds that has ever gathered in the Church of Christ, Fourteenth and Main streets, heard a program of songs and readings given Sunday evening by a score of children from the Boles Orphan Home, Greenville.

A liberal offering for the home was taken. Monday morning the children sang at high school assembly.

In charge of Superintendent Barber the party is visiting a number of West Texas congregations of this church. It was announced a freight car would be started soon from El Paso and routed to Greenville with stops en route at points where provisions, groceries and other things needed at the home will be placed in it.

Announcement will be made here of the date of the car's arrival in Big Spring.

The Boles home was established through gift of more than 400 acres of fine land near Greenville by Mr. and Mrs. Boles. An accredited elementary school is conducted, Bible is taught in the curriculum, a modern farm is operated and a generally well-balanced education given the orphan children.

Visit To Rawls' San Jacinto Ranch In Big Bend Convinces One Of Texas' True Magnitude

Meet Tom Rawls and [illegible] Big Bend county [illegible] the San Jacinto ranch!

"Texans, talk Texas" you've been admonished.

It Texans attempted to travel through every county of their state the better to be able to talk Texas they'd finish traveling in the latter days of life.

Snug at home beside a steaming radiator listening to your radio you do not realize that down there in the Big Bend men still live the colorful ranch life most of us have come to believe long ago faded out.

Tom Rawls is a veteran of the ranges and mesas of the Big Bend. Thirty-three years ago he, his mamma and that "whiteheaded boy" this son and partner, Jack, came to the country between Marfa and Presidio down there where the Rio Grande [illegible] a border between Texas and Mexico.

"Down there" we say but it really is "up there." The San Jacinto ranch house is [illegible] feet and the summit of San Jacinto peak above 6,000 feet above sea level. The other day your reporter lodged hours over and up, down and around the [illegible] canyons that slice the sides of Old San Jacinto. And, although the folks up home in Big Spring went about that day quite comfortably without top coats what we would call a blizzard was whizzing there, several inches of snow falling in a few hours.

From Marfa

Leaving Marfa, clean, breezy city of fine homes to which ranchmen repair when the work is done on the range, you drive past Fort D. A. Russell, where the First Cavalry is garrisoned.

Thirty miles down the road you get quite a surprise. The country has become increasingly rough and you've begun to look toward the horizon of higher and more jagged peaks. Suddenly you run smack into "a railroad section house."

It is a flag stop on the Santa Fe's new line from Alpine to Presidio, which connects Kansas City and San Antonio with the border and Chihuahua and Mexico City.

Crossing the railroad you leave this new sign of "advancing civilization." Do not get the idea civilization doesn't reach to the San Jacinto. In a sense it is more genuine, less complex, more cordial and wholesome than that existing in urban communities.

Casa Piedras

A few minutes more and you come to a fork in the road with a sign "Casa [illegible] three miles" to the right. Take the left, drive five miles or so, and suddenly you clear a rise and you're right at the San Jacinto ranch house.

It is rounding up time. "The work" is on at the ranch. Jose the Mexican cook, with the chuck wagon (now a chuck truck) standing nearby, is squatting over an open fire beside the [illegible] behind the roomy adobe ranch house.

He's getting dinner ready for the cow hands, who are approaching through the cactus five or six miles from the ranch house with the herd.

They arrive. The herd is brought to a stand outside the corral. Part of thirty hands [illegible] for chow. All of them are Mexicans except Tom and Jack Rawls and the two [illegible] boys from Marfa, high school athletes, born and bred to ranch life. They're working a year or so before entering Sul Ross Teachers College at Alpine. One of them is going to stay over at Mr. Rawls' lower ranch, the Sorrel Horse, during the winter. He'll be alone, 20 miles from any one else. He'll ride the fence and generally take care of things—alone. But he doesn't care. He likes it.

Louis Adams

Until this winter Louis Adams, grizzed cowhand who, he says, has been punching 'em in this country since he was old enough to ride, is laying off this winter. Last year he was found lying up in the Sorrel House ranch house alone, and suffering. A horse had thrown him. The injury bothers him. He's going to lay off. Going up to Marfa and lay up, he says.

Louis will bet you any amount he can carry you where you'll at least get a shot at deer. He'll offer to furnish grub, bedding, horses and everything but the guns and ammunition for a daily sum. But he declared, if you don't get a shot at deer it will cost you nothing.

Yessir! Even folks out here in what we are pleased to call West Texas would be terribly surprised if they visited Tom Rawls. He's the ideal and the typical host of the ranch country. His friends are legion. He knows the ropes down there. He has carved a kingdom of his own from what appears to be a more-or-less barren country.

Tom started down there working for a ranchman. He had come from the San Antonio country where he was a dealer in horses. He's a native of old Kentucky.

[illegible] worked for the other [illegible] a few years and then bought a ranch. Now he's got a nice little cow pasture of [illegible] sections.

Up The Trail

He's been up the old cattle trail to the Kansas shipping towns in the [illegible] early days. He's had to shoot it out with Mexican [illegible]. He knows those hombres and how to deal with them. [illegible]

Tom was well acquainted with the late Pancho Villa. He knows [illegible]

Yessir! Texas is an empire.

Go down there. Stand beside Tom's house and watch the sun rise from behind the mountains floating above the boundless ranges. Watch his rays snatch the purple shadows from the broad shoulders of Old San Jacinto peak. Pull the mountain air into your lungs. Just stand there and look, all around you. It is a quiet, big, forbidding country.

Like the strange figures of a dream from the Arabian Nights, vegetation grotesque but all the more interesting covers the earth. Cacti of a thousand kinds, small and tall are there.

[illegible] of Tom's saddle ponies. They're used to the Big Bend [illegible]

San Jacinto Peak

[illegible] in jumbled majesty hundreds of feet above.

It is a staunch, indomitable, unspoiled country.

And so are its men.

When you feel the firmly clasped hand of one of the men who have wreaked from this country not only a living but a fortune, you can tell yourself you've found a friend who'll go through hell for you. If instead he tells you to go to hell don't be surprised. There's none of the hypocrisy of the average city in that country. You live and die standing on your own feet. If you deal straight with Tom Rawls you're O. K. If you don't you'll be told how the cow ate the cabbage.

[illegible] to Tom Rawls. [illegible]

German Miner, Buried 72 Hours By Gallery Takes Food

DORTMUND, Germany, Dec. 1 (AP)—Deep underground in a cavity of a coal mine near Kastrop lies a miner buried 72 hours in a collapse of a gallery, but still alive and being fed through an air tube.

The gallery caved in Friday noon, engulfing two men who were given up for lost until after 36 hours when one of them was able to communicate through an air tube that he was not hurt.

Milk and beef tea are being administered to him by means of compressed air, he being able to catch the food in his shoe. It is believed he can be saved but his companion is thought to be dead.

Train Robber Slain By Cop

Man With Long Record Of Crimes Tries To Escape

OAKLAND, Cal., Dec. 1 (AP)—A man with a long criminal record, identified by police as leader of the gang that robbed a Southern Pacific train of $56,000 at Nobel Nov. 9 was trapped by ten officers in his Oakland home yesterday and shot to death when he tried to escape.

The asserted bandit chieftain was Frank E. Smith, alias Frank Ellis, alias W. A. Harris, alias William Z. Smith. Police said the Nobel robbery was one of a long series of holdups engineered by Smith from Vancouver, B. C., to Fresno, Cal.

As the officers surrounded the home, the other four members of the train robbery gang fled from their hideouts in this vicinity, police said.

Smith was arrested as he stepped from his bath in his home here. Officers said if they had come a few minutes later they probably would have had to shoot it out as the house was a veritable arsenal with loaded weapons at strategic points in all of the rooms.

Smith's wife, known as Evelyn Ellis, who was arrested with him, was identified as the "attractive blonde" who piloted the bandit automobiles in two robberies attributed to the gang.

As the police automobiles drew up in front of the post office where Smith was to be grilled, he attempted to wrest a pistol from an officer and leaped from the machine. As he fled, police inspector Garrett shot him through the back. The bullet penetrated Smith's heart. He had not been handcuffed because he pleaded he was ill.

Seek Relief For Families Of 15 Miners

LUTIE, Okla., Dec. 1. (AP)—Measures for relief of the distressed families of 15 miners, victims of a blast at the No. 5 mine of the [illegible] Coal company here Saturday, occupied the attention of Red Cross workers today.

"Some arrangements for the families must be made; most of them are destitute," Mrs. J. M. Harris, Wilburton, chairman of the Latimer county Red Cross organization said.

Mrs. C. V. Shuman, St. Louis, representing the western division of the American Red Cross, arrived in Wilburton late yesterday.

All except three of the dead miners left families.

Louis Pate and Louis McMahan, only survivors of the 17 men in the entry where the explosion, as yet unexplained, occurred, were reported recovering in the Hartshorne hospital.

Thirteen men were killed outright, two dying later at the hospital at Hartshorne. Thirty-eight escaped without injury from other parts of the mine.

Capone Eludes Net Of Police

Five Raids Fail To Bring Chief Gangster To Chicago Jail

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Alfonse Capone, No. 1 on Chicago's list of "public enemies" was still free today after apparently playing a game of hide-and-go-seek with the authorities in which they believed they were only one or two jumps behind him.

The gangster was sought in raids on five places, all supposed to be his secret hide-outs, but was not found, although the raiders, led by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle and Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, found evidence that their quarry was not far ahead of them.

In the apartment of Willie Heeney, a Capone henchman, the raiders found silk pajamas bearing Capone's initials and a meal cooking on a stove, leading them to believe that Capone had been preparing to dine just before the officers called. More clothing with Capone's initials was found a few blocks away in the home of Mrs. Ernestine Caru. Here they also discovered a wooden box with a solid gold plate on which was inscribed:

"Best wishes—from Al."

Mrs. Caru's husband, Ernest, however, was missing as was Joseph Cook, whose home was also among the five raided. Roche said he believed Caru and Cook had accompanied Capone on his flight and that he expected to get further information during the week. He was hopeful, he added, of better results next time. Yesterday's raids were made on a tip received last Friday that Capone would be found in one of the five places visited.

Judge Lyle topped off his day's activities by appearing for an address at a church in Evanston, where he said that Capone had a political power in Chicago that must be checked. He also assailed the police for failure to arrest him.

"With 100 men, Pat Roche could get him," he said. "I could do it with 500 men. Yet Commissioner Alcock, with 5,000 men is unable to find him."

Socialists Get In Bremen Body

BREMEN, Germany, Dec. 1 (AP)—German Fascism stuck another feather in its political hat Sunday when the National Socialists captured 30 seats in the free state of Bremen's senate election. The Fascists had none at all after the elections of three years ago.

The Social Democrats still remain the largest party in the senate with 39 seats as against 41 in 1927. The Communists increased their mandates to 12 as compared with 10 in 1927. The day passed quietly except for a bill-posting brawl in which a social Democratic partisan was wounded, allegedly by a Reichswehr sergeant.
