A FORT WORTH MAN was seriously injured when the above 1988 Iroc II, overturned two, possibly three times about 12:40 a.m. Friday, 13 miles west of Colorado City on IH 20.

Man injured in 1-car roll-over

A Fort Worth man received serious injuries early Friday morning, about 12:40 a.m., in a one-car roll-over about 13 miles west of Colorado City on IH 20.

Investigating officer Highway Patrolman Todd Nichols said the 1988 Iroc II rolled over two, possibly three times.

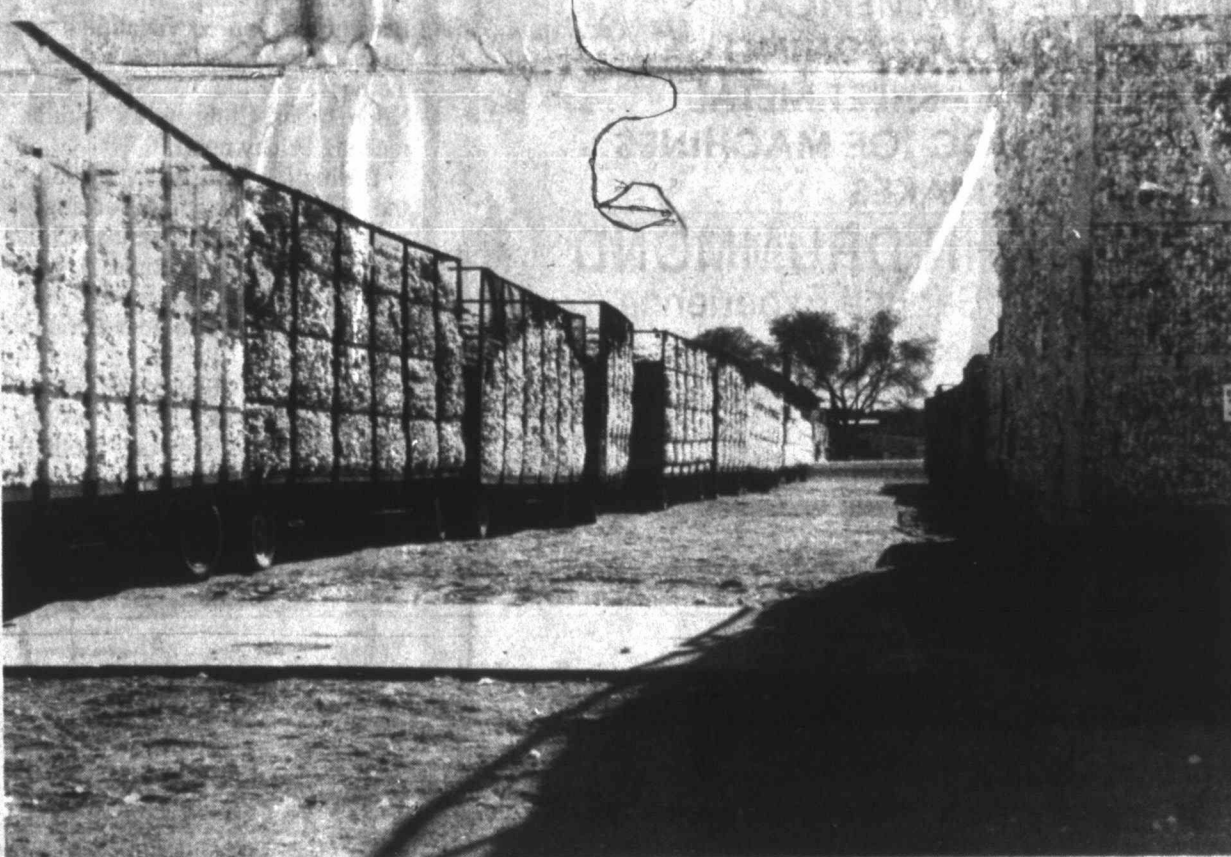

The driver, Johnny Leroy Baldwin, the only occupant, was thrown out of the car and was found about 30 yards from where the car stopped. He apparently was not wearing a seatbelt.

He was taken by ambulance to Mitchell County Hospital for treatment of broken pelvis, ribs, collar bone, and other injuries.

The new car was listed as a total loss and was brought into Colorado City by Dossey Wreck-er Service.

WAITING TO BE GINNED - Gin yards in Mitchell County are beginning to fill up as cotton producers gather one of the best crops in recent years. By Friday afternoon, more than 12,000 bales had already been ginned by the six county gins.

For The Record...

by M. Gene Dow, GM

FROM THE SCRIPTURES—"A straight forward answer is as good as a kiss of friendship." Proverbs 24:26

Have you ever wondered where the parlor game "Post Office" came from? The enjoyable "kissing" game had its origin back in the Civil War days. Troops were not issued the comforts such as soap, stationery and other personal necessities. President Lincoln approved the United States Sanitary Commission on June 13, 1861, with the purpose of dealing with the health and general comfort of Union troops. The work of the Commission was to be supported by public contributions.

"Sanitary Fairs" were organized to raise funds for the Sanitary Commission. These fairs are similar to church sales and bazaars that are held today. One of the booths at a Fair was a Post Office. A personable young lady, known as the "Postmistress," was on duty. A gentleman in the crowd was told that mail was waiting for him at the Post Office. It was the task of the postmistress to get as much money out of the young man as possible. The young lady would deliver a blank envelope for a donation, and then would state that there was also a "postage due" charge. Upon payment of the additional fee, she would kiss the gentleman, to the cheers of the watching crowd.

The Post Office proved so popular, that "Sanitary Fair Stamps" were issued. Although these "stamps" were not valid for postal service, much like today's Christmas Seals, they were sold at the fair "Post Office", with the approval of the local postmaster. Sanitary Fair Stamps were applied to letters along with other stamps that actually paid for the postage. Many of those letters that were postmarked at these Fairs are worth several thousand dollars today.

THE LONE WOLF SAYS, "There is no medicine like hope, no incentive so great, and no tonic so powerful as expectation of something better tomorrow."

I enjoyed watching the Denver vs Chicago game last Monday night more than any pro game since the "culls" played. Even though it went on until 11:40 p.m. I managed to stay awake. Some even get the game later. Like the two Texas ranchers who were trading one-upmanship boasts about their spreads, when one checked his watch and announced it was about time for Monday Night Football on TV.

The other man shrugged, "Shucks," he drawled, "my place is so big I don't get Monday Night Football till Thursday."

DID YOU KNOW? There are 28 known cemeteries in Mitchell County.

Rev. Jack Ward to speak at First Baptist Church

Rev. Jack Ward, pastor of the First Christian Church, will deliver the message for the annual community Thanksgiving service set Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Ward is a graduate of Eden Seminary and has served congregations in North Carolina, Missouri, Kansas and Texas. Before entering the ministry 12 years ago, he served for many years as a police officer. His wife, Rebecca, also is ordained. Their daughter, Leigh, is a senior at Colorado High School.

The service is sponsored by the Mitchell County Ministerial Alliance. Other participants in the service include the bell choirs from First Baptist Church directed by David Shelton and Connie Penland. Rev. Rick Alkire, First Baptist Church Loraine, will lead the singing.

Rev. Julius Early, First Methodist Church, Rev. Roy Byrd, First Presbyterian Church, Rev. John Taylor, Plainview Baptist Church, Rev. Ernest Bailey, Oak Street Baptist Church, and Rev. Travis Monday, Calvary Baptist Church, also will participate.

Mrs. June Kimmel will serve

Rev. Jack Ward ...to deliver message as organist and Mrs. Connie Penland will be pianist. Both are members of the First Baptist Church.

The Mount Zion Baptist Church choir will provide special music.

Two persons indicted by grand jury

Four indictments, including 2 sealed, were handed down after investigation by the Mitchell County 32nd District Court grand jury Friday.

The two indictments released were against:

Isael Benites, who is accused of driving while intoxicated on Oct. 22.

John Wedel Schug, who was accused of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, taken on October 27.

The two seal indictments will be released later, when the ac-

West Texas CofC agrees to merger

By an overwhelming vote of 285 to 22, members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce approved a merger with the South Texas Chamber of Commerce to form the new Texas Chamber of Commerce.

F. L. (Steve) Stephens, WTCC president, announced the results at a special meeting of WTCC members Friday, November 6, at the Embassy Suites Hotel in Abilene.

Established in December, 1918, the WTCC was the original regional chamber in Texas representing 132 counties or 60% of the geographical landmass of the state.

The merger plan calls for a central office in Austin and the retention of staff specialists in the former regions to carry on programs that are unique to the regions, he added. The WTCC offices are located at 155 Hickory in Abilene, the ETCC in Longview and the STCC recently moved its headquarters to Austin from San Antonio.

Each region will retain its volunteer member input into the state organization with a 20-person board of directors to be called councils beginning January 1, 1989.

Loraine First Baptist sets youth-led service

The First Baptist Church of Loraine will host a youth-led service Sunday, Nov. 22, at 6 p.m. Young people will be in charge of prayers, taking the offering, testimonies, etc. This is the first of these kind of services this church has had in many years. Preaching in the service will be Phillip Vestal from Midland. He is a senior at Lee High School and serves as chaplain there as well. His father is Dan Vestal, pastor of First Baptist Church in Midland. Phillip surrendered to preach in 1986. At the present time he is serving as a part-time evangelist in area churches. Alex Hawkins will be in charge of the music for the evening. He is a freshman at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene majoring in music. He works frequently in worship services with Phillip Vestal, being from the Midland-Odessa area himself. A fellowship will be held for all young people, sixth grade through 12th grade with games, refreshments, etc.

Tree makes good windbreak

Eastern red cedar is a native evergreen to the Great Plains region and one of the windbreak trees available from the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District. The Eastern red cedar is a very hardy tree and is adapted to a wide range of soils and moisture conditions. Under ideal conditions, Eastern red cedar will average 1½ feet a year and could reach a height of 30-35 feet. It is highly recommended as a windbreak tree because of its distinct pyramid shape. It is able to withstand extremes in temperature and moisture conditions. Because of its dense, compact foliage and branching near the ground, it is effective even as a single row windbreak. Many species of wildlife feed on the berries and use the foliage as cover. Recommended spacing between trees planted as a windbreak is 12 feet. For more information on this or other conservation trees, contact the Mitchell SWCD at 728-3473.

Some East Texas school kids received a few extra days of unexpected vacation this past week when a killer tornado destroyed one elementary school and damaged one other last Sunday afternoon in Palestine.

My brother, Jerry, is the principal of a middle school in the town of about 16,000 residents. Although his school was not even damaged by the storm, he and the other administrators were trying to decide early Monday morning what to do with about 900 students who have no school to go to.

I've never been in a tornado - I hope I never am. I have, however, been in plenty of warnings. Still, I tend not to worry about storms or storm warnings for that matter, much to the distress of my wife. My wife tends to get worried during storms, especially when we look out the window and see our neighbors going to a storm cellar somewhere and we stay at home monitoring the police on the scanner.

Of course, storms have never really bothered me. When I was in junior high, my mother would drag my brother and me to the storm cellar whenever the fire whistle blew signaling the threat of a tornado.

I've never liked like small, cramped places and getting me to a storm cellar was no easy task.

Once, I remember my mother frantically knocking on the bathroom door, yelling at me to get out of the bathtub because the siren was blowing. I wasn't in the tub to get away from the storm, I was in the tub taking a bath and I wasn't about to be rushed. By the time I got out of the tub and we got to the neighbor's storm cellar, the all-clear siren sounded - to my delight.

The storm cellar we used was in the backyard of Buster and Sybil Stevens when they lived on Walnut Street. Actually, the storm cellar was kind of a neighborhood gathering place when the sirens sounded. Bim and Ray Anne Carlock and their sons Tom and Jim would be there along with Jim and Odessa Woods. Sometimes, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Feaster who owned the Lazy Day Drive-In, but lived on Elm Street behind the Stevens, would close the popular teen hang-out and they and the carhops would be down in the cellar with us waiting for the storm to pass.

Probably there were more neighbors who used the cellar, but since we were usually the last to get there, I'm not sure who all was in the darkened space.

Of course, my mother never had any problem getting me to other neighborhood get-togethers which were usually in the Carlock's backyard. During the summer, the neighbors would get together with each family bringing either homemade ice cream or cake or both. Everyone would bring their lawn chairs and sit and eat and talk and let the kids play games until way after dark. Now, those were the good old days!

It's a shame they didn't serve ice cream and cake in the storm cellar. Perhaps if they had, I wouldn't have been so reluctant to go.

All I've ever really wanted is enough money to live comfortably on for the rest of my life. A castle, a Porsche or two, a couple of swimming pools, things like that.

I'd like to have a few bucks left over to travel around the world, and I'd like to be able to step off the planet at life's end by leaving a respectable nest egg for the young ones to blow.

Having said all that, I realize a person can also reach the point of too much wealth. You learn these things by watching "Dynasty" or "Dallas" or one of several other primetime soaps about blue noses.

Rich people rarely have privacy, if you'll notice. Oh, Blake and Crystal occasionally retire to the bedroom with the raging fireplace where they sip wine and worry about kidnappers. But it's not like having the run of the house.

I've been known to run from one end of the house to the other with nothing but the radio on. It's just hard to imagine the Carringtons doing something like that.

You'd have to get rid of all the servants first. Even then, you'd have to worry about the snipers hiding out in the trees waiting to get even for some raw deal they got from you as you worked your way toward wealth.

If you're going to be assassinated, at the very least you want to be wearing respectable underwear when they find your body.

I've lost track of how many times Blake's kids have been kidnapped, and while these soaps may occasionally exaggerate the problem, kidnapping really is a legitimate concern of the very wealthy.

If somebody kidnapped my kid, he'd wind up paying his bus fare home, just to get rid of him.

If somebody's not kidnapping one Carrington kid, another is disappearing for some other reason.

Frequently, it's the amnesia thing, caused by driving the Porsche off a 1,000-foot cliff and suffering a knot on the head. But sometimes it's just a disagreement with the ol' man, who, as rich ol' men are prone to do, is always butting in on his children's love lives.

Those kids will stay gone for a season or two, and when they finally return, it's only after a subsequent explosion has given them another knot on the noggin. This usually cures the amnesia but blasts the skin off their respective faces, prompting a plastic surgeon in Norway or Peking to have to build them new faces.

It then becomes difficult for parents to recognize their own offspring, which can be embarrassing.

If a person is strapped for cash, this doesn't happen. When his kids leave, it's usually to go out and make a living so they can have the things the ol' man was never quite willing put on his Visa card.

Poor fathers aren't so bad about butting into their children's love lives, either. When the young ones (that's anybody under 50 who's still hanging around the house) throw fits and storm out, it's usually just to get drunk for a day or two. If one happens to get into a fight with a girl or a guy, and if that fight causes his facial structure to be rearranged in a crude manner, the parent is likely to say you got what you deserved, now live with it.

No, give me a few hundred grand, maybe a million or two to silence my creditors, and get me to Spain for a vacation.

Blake and J.R. can have the rest.

Letters to Editor...

Oversight

To the parents of high school students:

TO THE EDITOR: Please forgive the oversight in last Thursday's letter when it was not made clear that the high school students are included in the PTSO Membership Drive contest. Once again, we will keep a tally of second period and although we cannot give the winning rooms a Coke party (rules), we will decide upon a reward that will be both fun for the students and within regulations.

The film on AIDS is very informative, considering your children are entering into adulthood.

We owe it to our children - young adults - to be totally informed and aware of what they are encountering.

See you at the PTSO meeting Monday night at 7 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Thanksgiving - A Time To Count Blessings!

Blessed is the man who fears the Lord, who finds great delight in His commands. His children will be mighty in the land; each generation of the upright will be blessed. Wealth and riches are in his house, and his righteousness endures forever. Even in darkness light dawns for the upright, for the gracious and compassionate and righteous man. Good will come to him who is generous and lends freely, who conducts his affairs with justice. Surely he will never be shaken; a righteous man will be remembered forever. He will have no fear of bad news; his heart is steadfast, trusting in the Lord. His heart is secure, he will have no fear; in the end he will look in triumph on his foes. He has scattered abroad his gifts to the poor, his righteousness endures forever; his horn will be lifted high in honor.

Blessed are all who fear the Lord, who walk in His ways. Their reward shall be prosperity and happiness. Your wife shall be contented in your home. And look at all those children! There they sit around the dinner table as vigorous and healthy as young olive trees. That is God's reward to those who reverence and trust Him.

I have been young and now I am old. And in all my years I have never seen the Lord forsake a man who loves Him; nor have I seen the children of the godly go hungry. Instead, the godly are able to be generous with their gifts and loan to others, and their children are a blessing.

Morris hosts Fairview club

The Fairview Extension Homemakers met Thursday, Nov. 12, in the home of D'Dee Morris. Mrs. Morris, president, presided. The prayer was led by Sherry Autry. Roll call was answered with "What you are thankful for" and "what you enjoy" by 11 members and 5 guests. Peggy Faulkenberry gave the secretary-treasurer's report and read a thank-you note from local 4-H members thanking the club for donating jelly for the 4-H omlette supper. The upcoming Christmas program Tuesday at the C.C. Thompson Room to be presented by the county extension agent was discussed. Sherry Autry gave an update on the annual Christmas luncheon and food assignments were made. The annual Christmas supper will be Dec. 14 in the home of Versie McMillan. Christmas carols will be sung and gifts exchanged. Following the meeting, members and guests baked breads and decorated baskets to be filled with bread and toiletries and to be distributed in December. New members joining Thursday were Donna Bell and Lona Cook.

Elliott hosts club meeting

Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott hosted the Self Culture Club Friday, Nov. 13, at 3 p.m. Lil Brown said the prayer and led the pledge to the U.S. flag. Jewell Tiller gave a report on "Gratitude Is Essential to Happiness". She noted that the Pilgrims are credited with shaping much of our heritage. Although our forefathers gave thanks for our blessings on the first Thanksgiving, the holy day has been changed to a holiday. She said when the harvest came, the dominant idea in the Pilgrims' minds was to give thanks to God for what they had. Mrs. Elliott gave the legislative report. Eddie Barclay read correspondence from the General Federation on rapists. Cards were mailed to the club's shut-ins. Those present were Fannie Beeman, Lil Brown, Jewell Tiller, Eddie Barclay, Pearl Watson, Linnie Williams and the hostess, Mrs. Elliott.

Farm-City Week being observed

Farm-City Week is being observed now through Nov. 26 throughout the country to focus attention on the teamwork of farm and city people in growing, processing, marketing and consuming food and fiber. In an effort to create better understanding between rural and urban dwellers numerous organizations are joining in Farm-City Week observances that will bring them together to discuss their concerns and jointly develop ideas about agricultural and industrial issues. Nationally, one of every five jobs in private enterprises is aligned with agriculture. The theme of the Week is "Farm and City: Partners in Progress." Among some of the special observances planned are salutes to agricultural leaders through agricultural achievement award ceremonies; tours of various kinds, with farmers as guests for industrial site tours; special activities for youth, including possible agricultural career days, exhibits in city mall areas, and other such activities. American today spend far less of their take-home pay on food than people in most other countries. In the U. S., that averages about 15 cents of each dollar of disposable income.

Employment

Employment: The Guard is comprised of citizen soldiers, there's nothing civilian about its defenses. The Guard has the same capabilities as the world's most powerful army - the U.S. Army. We are combat engineers. Engineers - sometimes, the greatest opposition the army faces doesn't come from another army, but from the block roads, deep rivers and shallow fortifications. That's why this construction and demolition branch has the key task of keeping the guard moving. Be part of the team, join the Texas Army National Guard. For more information, call Sergeant Salazar or Sergeant Portis at 915-573-0411 in Snyder, Texas.

Course is conducted

A critical care course was recently conducted at Big Spring Veterans Administration Medical Center according to director Conrad Alexander. Mx. Judy Burnette, R.N., M.S. and Ms.
Karen Moser, R.N., M.S., both clinical specialists at the Dallas Veterans Administration Medical Center, were the instructors for the seven-day course.

A sample of topics included are cardiovascular assessment; cardiac abnormalities; emergency drugs; shock, renal and respiratory physiology; pacemakers; mechanical ventilation; and oxygen delivery devices. The course was designed to prepare VA nurses to function in an intensive care setting. Nine VA nurses attended.

The participants offered many positive comments regarding this type of special training.

Paperwork proves confusing

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I got two mailings from the Texas Employment Commission today on a former employee. One says he is not disqualified because he was not guilty of misconduct and the other one says he is ineligible because he has not been released for work by his doctor. Would you please explain these contradictory decisions and tell me what I am supposed to do?

-C.P.
Beaumont, Texas

Dear C.P.: I know multiple determinations are confusing for many employers. Let me give you a few basic rules.

1. The ruling on the work separation is the critical determination. If it is not in your favor and you disagree with it, APPEAL IT. The work separation determination will usually speak in terms of misconduct or good cause and disqualification or non-disqualification.

2. The ruling on a claimant's ineligibility for benefits has nothing to do with his separation from your job. It has to do with his present availability for full-time work. An ineligibility assessment is usually only temporary and may be closed at any time. Typical grounds for ineligibility are illness, lack of adequate child care or transportation, failure to make a proper work search, etc.

3. DO NOT RELY on an ineligibility assessment to protect your interests as an employer.
Again, the critical determination for you is the one dealing with the work separation.

4. Call your nearest local TEC office or my office for clarification on any determination you find confusing.

Dear Commissioner Nabers:
As the president of a small non-profit corporation, I am quite upset about a recent claim filed against our company by an ex-employee. The person worked for us over a year ago and was fired for theft. We filed charges, he was convicted and given a probated sentence. Evidently he then went to work somewhere else, got fired, and filed a claim for unemployment. Now the TEC is telling me that my company must pay over $3,000 towards this man's unemployment benefits! I have explained these circumstances over and over to people in the local office and they just keep telling me I have no rights because I am a "reimbursing" employer. Surely something can be done. This is an absolute travesty.

-A.E.

Dear A.E.: I hope all the reimbursing employers in the state are paying attention. The situation you are currently enduring is the price you pay for reimbursing status. Your non-profit corporation ELECTED to reimburse its share of any benefits paid to former

Luera All-District

Colorado High School junior Victor Luera, who was the leading tackler for the Colorado City Wolves, was named to the 1987 SAAA All-District football team.

Luera, who made 112 tackles to lead a Wolves defense that allowed the fewest points in district play, received Honorable Mention recognition on the All-District defensive squad.

Luera was not available for the picture of Colorado City All-District selections that appeared in Thursday's Record. Luera, a linebacker, also recorded a sack, a fumble recovery and an interception for the Wolves.

Handicapped get tax exemption

The main benefit Texas provides orthopedically handicapped motorists, or those who drive the handicapped regularly, is a sales tax exemption. To qualify:

The vehicle must be driven by or for an orthopedically handicapped person;

The vehicle must have modified foot brakes, accelerator or steering wheel if the driver is handicapped.

The sales tax exemption can be obtained at the county tax assessor-collector's office with either a restricted Texas Driver's license or an invoice from the installer of the special equipment.

Art Gallery sets drive

The San Angelo Art Club, Inc. invites area people to visit the Kendall Art Gallery in San Angelo where, through Dec. 13, there will be a membership show featuring award winning paintings by San Angelo and area artists.

The gallery, located at 119 West First Street, is open Wednesday from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday from 1-4 p.m. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

The Kendall Art Gallery is owned and operated by the San Angelo Art Club, Inc., a voluntary non-profit organization organized in 1928 and incorporated in 1949.

The purpose of the club since its inception has been the promotion of the fine arts by means of lectures, demonstrations, classes and workshops, many of which are conducted by college and university instructors and other qualified persons. Also regular classes are taught in the Bengé Studio by art teachers.

A program of service is carried on through exhibits covering a wide range of current creative art forms in all media such as painting, sculpture, wood carving, pottery, photography, batik and stitchery. A new exhibit is on view monthly.

The organization has grown over the years through endeavors of many art club members. For more information, call club president M'Lu McDaniel at 655-4597 or the Kendall Art Gallery, 653-4405.

THE DANGER OF MAIL ORDER PRESCRIPTIONS

Often, over the years, the danger of mail order prescriptions have been cited in many medical journals. Here is one example --

"The dangers of mail order prescriptions include delays encountered in obtaining the medication, the absence of the physician-pharmacist relationship, the difficulties of checking the prescription files for strength and dosage, and the possibilities that prescriptions will be filled by non-professional personnel. All physicians should cooperate by keeping their patients informed relative to the dangers of these schemes." (End of Quote)

The Medicine Place is dedicated to your better health. They would like to be your pharmacy. They are committed to keeping your prescription costs as low as possible. They will not knowingly be undersold on any prescription. That's the Medicine Place's Pledge to you.

Obituaries

Gross

BIG SPRING - Ted Gross, 62, died Tuesday in Albuquerque, N.M.

Funeral services were at 10 a.m. Saturday at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel with Rev. Bobby Fuller officiating. Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park.

Born in Loraine, he moved to Big Spring in 1935, Lake Buchanan in 1972 and returned to Big Spring in 1986.

He worked for Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. for 19 years and was a U.S. Navy veteran of World War II.

He served as a golf pro at Highland Lakes Golf Course.

Survivors include a son, Larry Gross of Abilene; two daughters, Sandra Phillips of Loraine and Karen Koteris of Austin; two brothers, J.C. Gross of Big Spring and Gene Gross of Killen; and give grandchildren.

Walker

BIG SPRING - Delton Walker, 57, of Big Spring died Thursday in a Big Spring hospital following a sudden illness.

Funeral services were Friday at 4 p.m. at Myer's and Smith Funeral Chapel with Rev. Lee R. Jones, pastor of Cashion Baptist Church of Burkburnett, officiating. Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Walker was born Feb. 5, 1930. He married Wilma Wolf Aug. 12, 1950 in Big Spring. He was a Baptist and had been a resident of Big Spring for 27 years. He was a supervisor for Kent Oil Co. 15 years before retiring.

He was preceded in death by a sister, Charlene Jones, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.G. Walker.

Survivors include his wife, Wilma Walker of Big Spring; two daughters, Charlotte Dalton of Big Spring and Phyllis Franks of Stanton; three brothers, Ordis Walker of Big Spring, Wallace Walker and Billy Walker, both of Lamesa; a sister, Mrs. L.R. (Frances) Gerald Jones of Lamesa; and two grandsons and two granddaughters.

Pallbearers were Glenn Jones, Noble Rogers, Bill Smith, Nathan Dalton, Jeffery Dalton and Alfred Franks.

Jones named outstanding young man

David Jones of Colorado City has been selected for inclusion in the 1987 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

The program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young men between the ages of 21 and 36 who have distinguished themselves in many fields of endeavor, such as service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation.

Jones was selected after 150,000 nominations were received from political leaders, university and college officials, clergymen, business leaders, as well as from various civic groups and community organizations.

Insurance caution is urged

The State Board of Insurance urges older Texans to think carefully before buying more than one Medicare Supplement policy.

Some Texas seniors have been persuaded to purchase more policies than they need - sometimes as many as six or seven.

In reality, most people are better off buying just one Medicare Supplement policy - the most comprehensive one they can afford.

Duplicating coverage generally is a waste of money.

One reason for this is that the price of each policy includes company expenses and overhead. A consumer who buys just one policy pays for these expenses only once. Diminishing returns quickly set in with additional policies, however, and the consumer is better off keeping the money in his or her bank account than spending it on additional Medicare Supplement policies.

Moreover, it is a felony under federal law for an agent to knowingly sell a Medicare Supplement policy that substantially duplicates health benefits to which an individual already is entitled.

Federal law provides penalties of up to five years in prison and a $25,000 fine for agents convicted of this practice. An agent convicted of a felony also may lose his or her license to sell insurance in Texas.

Consumers with insurance questions are encouraged to call the board's toll-free hotline, 1-800-252-3439.

To receive a formal investigation, a complaint must be submitted in writing to the Complaints Division, State Board of Insurance, 1110 San Jacinto, Austin, Tex. 78701-1998.

A time to give Thanks

To Our Friends,

At this happy Thanksgiving season, It is a pleasure to pause and express our sincerest appreciation for the wonderful gift of your friendship and goodwill.

Thank you for the pleasant association we have enjoyed during the year. We are deeply grateful for your trust and confidence in the future.

We wish you a warm and happy Thanksgiving. May you and those you love always enjoy a bountiful harvest of all the good things in life.

Sincerely,
