COOLIDGE APPEARS RE-ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY

PLURALITY MAY BE THE LARGEST EVER BESTOWED

COOLIDGE RUNS FAR IN THE LEAD IN ALL STATES BUT THE "SOLID SOUTH"

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—President Coolidge has been re-elected to the presidency by an indicated plurality which may prove to be the largest ever bestowed by the American people.

Up to midnight, returns coming in from all sections of the country showed Coolidge running far in the lead in most states, except those of the democratic South. The heavy popular vote expected by La Follette had failed to materialize and in some of the sections in which the independent candidate had expected to make a good showing, Coolidge was reported to have received a vote equal to that of his two opponents combined.

On the basis of those returns Coolidge appears certain of 369 electoral votes and may receive more. Davis is practically certain of 117 and La Follette has only his own 13 in Wisconsin as a certainty.

Senator La Follette had no comment to make on the outcome but his campaign manager, John M. Nelson announced that the organization formed by the independent candidate for this campaign would be kept intact for the congressional elections two years hence regardless of the outcome now. Coolidge even led La Follette in early Wisconsin returns. Some 400 precincts from various points about the state gave Coolidge 39,000. Davis had 16,000.

In Nebraska Coolidge led both of his rivals on the basis of returns from half of the counties in the state, La Follette running third with about half the vote received by the president. But, likewise, this is one of the states where the chief strength of the independent state is in the country districts.

Here is the list of the electoral votes which Coolidge has apparently clinched: Arizona 3; California 13; Colorado 6; Connecticut 7; Delaware 3; Idaho 4; Illinois 29; Indiana 15; Iowa 13; Kansas 10; Maine 6; Maryland 8; Massachusetts 18; Michigan 15; New Hampshire 4; New Jersey 14; New Mexico 3; New York 45; Ohio 24; Oregon 5; Pennsylvania 38; Rhode Island 5; Utah 4; Vermont 4; Washington 7; Wyoming 3; total 369.

President Coolidge seems now to become president in his own right. The chair which he came into 15 months ago through the death of Warren G. Harding now becomes his for four years, provided there is no miraculous upset.

After an unusual type of campaign in which he made only a few speech-

NEGRO TO FACE TRIAL THURS.

BE TRIED ON CHARGE OF ATTEMPT TO COMMIT OFFENSE OF RAPE

Willie Hall, negro, who was indicted by a special session of the grand jury here late Monday, will go to trial in the 72nd Judicial District Court Thursday morning on a charge of assault with the intent to commit the offense of rape.

Acting Special Judge Parke N. Dalton, before whom the case will be heard, late Tuesday appointed Attorney Robert Bean, son of Judge George R. Bean, of the law firm of Bean & Klett, and Attorney V. E. Wilson to defend the negro.

The attorneys were unable to state what action they will take in the case late Tuesday, however, they will confer with the defendant today and will be ready for trial when court convenes Thursday morning, Attorney Wilson stated.

This will be the first trial of a negro charged with rape upon a white woman ever held in this court, officials have stated.

The indictment grew out of the attempted assault the negro is alleged to have made upon a white woman in the Acuff community, eight miles east of here, Thursday of last week.

The speedy trial of the negro was promised by the court officials in order to allay mob violence that was threatened.

As a result of the negro's conduct, more than two hundred cotton pickers have been driven out of the east section of Lubbock county, despite the fact that only about sixty per cent of the cotton crop has been gathered.

BIG TIME TO BE GIVEN BUDDIES

"FEED" AND LACK OF FORMALITY TO FEATURE ARMISTICE DAY

Ex-service men will have a rare treat following the Tech celebration of the afternoon of November 11th The committee at work in arranging for the "feed" and program for ex-service men report splendid progress in their efforts to put the affair over. There'll be nothing slow about the celebration and "spice" will be the middle inititat of the whole program.

Some thousand or more ex-service men are expected and all formality, according to the committee, will be dispensed with and the general "jambouree" will be made one of thorough enjoyment.

A good part of the program is not to be published ahead of the event and much will be of an impromptu nature. The steering committee guarantees, however, that no detail will be overlooked in making the affair a continuous round of the unexpected. It is understood that all towns in a rather large radius of Lubbock will be represented by veterans of the late war who are coming fully prepared to share in the "feed" and program being arranged by the local committees.

If you want to hear of the French "poilu," the "40 hommes and 8 chevaux," and how the British "Tommy" drank tea and ate marmalade, don't miss being here. The city auditorium will be the center of activity and all ex-service men are requested to secure tickets of admission from the tents to be placed on the County Court House lawn. No one without ticket will be admitted. No Charge.

A special invitation is given to all ex-service men to be present whether members of the Legion or not. At 11 p. m. the vote stood Pine 107,133; Walton 63,202; Wilson 3,536.

TWO SALESMEN HIT BY TRAIN AT PLAINVIEW

A. GRUECK BELIEVED TO BE FATALLY INJURED; OTHER MAN WILL RECOVER

(Special to The Morning Avalanche.)

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 4.—A. Grueck, traveling representative of Jacobs & Company, of Cincinnati, and E. O. Stevenson, 35, who recently moved here from Lamesa, were seriously injured and the automobile in which they were riding was demolished at 9:35 o'clock this morning when they were hit by the southbound Santa Fe passenger train No. 94.

The accident occurred at the crossing near the R. C. Ayers Grain Company elevator. The train was said by witnesses to be running at a fast rate of speeed, and the car in which the men were riding was also making good time.

Apparently the occupants of the car did not see the approaching train until they were nearly upon the crossing. Witnesses said they first slowed their car down a bit, then speeded it up, evidently believing that they could cross the track ahead o fthe train. It would have been impossible for them to stop their car before it reached the track ahead of the train, and their only chance was to speed up ahead of the train and it failed, witnesses said.

The car was thrown about one hundred feet.

Grueck is suffering of skull fracture and other serious bodily injuries. His condition is critical. Stevenson, however, is believed to have a good chance for recovery. His injuries are minor, the nervous shock that resulted, however, might prove fatal.

TECH JUBILEE BE GALA EVENT

PATHE NEWS TO COVER CELEBRATION FOR PICTURE WORLD

Advices from over various sections of Texas and adjoining states as a result of the widespread publicity given the Technological College cornerstone laying and accompanying program indicate that Lubbock will be host to visitors from a wide territory. The event is regarded as an epochal one in the history of education for the state and the large papers over the state have given generous merited publicity to the Armistice Day event. Staff reporters from the larger dailies have made reservation in some of the local hostelries in order that nothing may be left undone to make of the occasion, one which all Texas will recognize as significant in the progress of the state institution located here. It is understood that the Chamber of Commerce ha. arranged for a representative of the Pathe News to be on hand to cover the occasion for the thousands of theatres over the country where views of the celebration will be shown. Papers on the Plains have given space liberally in their columns in order that the movement towards the crystallization of sentiment over the entire Plains country may be as near one of thorough co-operation as possible.

Anyone visiting the grounds on which the present buildings are being erected and for the many acres surounding will see tractors busily engaged in getting the grounds in condition for handling the enormous crowd expected as well as arrangements for parking the hundreds of cars that will bring people from all over the Plains country to the celebration.

The committee on platform and seating are arranging to seat approximately 7,000 people and an effort will be made to provide standing room for the additional crowd expected in order that the address of Governor Neff and the speakers may be heard to the best advantage.

A plan is being worked out by the general committee to provide eating places for the large crowds that the local resturants and hotels will not be able to accomodate. It

THIRD PARTY TO BE DETERMINED

FIGHT LARGELY BETWEEN CONSERVATIVES AND PROGRESSIVES

BY R. F. DUTCHER

NEW YORK, Nov., 4.—The campaign just ended was largely a fight between the conservative school of Coolidge, and the progressive school of La Follette. The results will be analyzed with a view of determining just what has been the response of the electorate to La Follette's attempt to start a new independent movement.

This analysis will guide politicians of all parties in the coming four years, which will be significant ones in a political history.

Five months ago everyone thought the scandal investigations of the senate had provided the issue of the campaign. John W. Davis, in his speech of acceptance set down honesty in government as the issue of the campaign. Republicans found in La Follette a target for their attack enabling them to avoid discussing the scandal issue which Davis tried to force.

The campaign settled down to a fight between the conservative republicanism of Coolidge, and the progressive school headed by La Follette. It became an uncompromising fight between these two.

President Coolidge opened his campaign with an appeal for a common sense goverament. He has made only a few speeches most of them to delegations calling at the white house or over radio.

No critics served to move Coolidge from his campaign of relative silence and he has never replied to attacks made by his opponents. His campaign has been unique and according to his managers, one of the strongest that could have been made. Throughout his whole campaign, he has never made any effort to placate progressives, or to coax them away from La Follette.

La Folletto has been equally uncompromising in his progressiveism. He gave no quarter and asked none. He rallied his followers in a straight out fight for a new deal. J. W. Davis tried to steer a course somewhere between these two views. He was therefore subjected to a cross-fire of both sides.

In a word, Coolidge stood uncompromisingly for things as they are. La Follette wanted a new deal, and Davis believed the system was all right, but needed more honest, more courageous, and more humanitarian administration.

HAD MAJORITY OF OVER 41,000 NEAR MIDNIGHT

LESS THAN ONE-THIRD OF ESTIMATED BALLOT ACCOUNTED FOR

Jumping into the lead from the beginning, Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, wife of former Governor James E. Ferguson, has been chosen by the people of the Lone Star state as governor, according to tabulation of returns issued by the Texas Election Bureau at midnight Tuesday. At this time Mrs. Ferguson was leading by a majority of over 41,000.

At this time only a little over 200,000 votes had been accounted for out of a possible 700,000 in the state, but in the face of the fact that the bulk of the rural vote which is believed to be the stronghold of Mrs. Ferguson is yet out, it is predicted that her majority will pass the 100,000 mark in complete tabulations.

Although the weather was favorable to a good turnout of votes, indications point to the fact that a very light ballot was cast throughout Texas. According to early returns, many sections of the state cast extremely light votes.

Dr. Butte, the Republican candidate carried a number of counties, and in all probability Lubbock county was one of them. He also carried some of the large cities of the South and eastern parts of the state, and will roll up a considerable vote. It is estimated now that Mrs. Ferguson will lend him in the final count about 100,000 votes, while there is quite a difference of opision, and some believe that majority will not reach 60,000 while others are expecting it to reach 150,000 by the time the votes are all counted.

Returns from 326 out of 700 towns of the state gave Mrs. Ferguson 112,126; and Butte 78,687. Returns from Davis were 105,851; Coolidge 25,250; La Follette 7,294.

Many Enjoyed Hallowe'en Part at Ward School Friday

Spooks held sway at the Southwest Ward school Friday evening when the entire population of that community assembled there for Hallowe'en program that had been arranged by Miss Willie Brashear, teacher in the Southwest Ward school.

The party was given under the auspices of the Sunday School and the literary school, and engaged the co-operation of patrons of both schools who offered every assistance to the teacher in making the entertainment the success it was.

Marvin T. Warlick made a short talk at the outset of the program, commending the splendid community spirit exhibited and urging continued co-operation among the patrons of the school in keeping alive their realization of responsibility for the success or failure of every community project. He complimented the teacher upon the effort put forth in preparation for the entertainment of those gathered for the evening's program, and assured her that her work there is being appreciated.

A short program was then rendered by the school children, a Highland Scott dance by little Misses Gladys Poteet and Leola McCray being delightful feature of the program.

Old time Hallowe'en games, such as potato and peanut races and bobbing apples were then participated in by a large number of those present and were enjoyed by everyone.

A honeymoon trip, in which Joe Caraway and Miss Amos were the principals, created volumes of fun. Miss Amos, however, proved the most alert in adapting herself to the articles of clothing found in the suitcase given her for the trip. As luck would have it their suitcases were mixed before the trip was begun and at the windup Mr. Caraway proved most awkward in his feminine garb.

After the program was ended, refreshments consisting of red apples and old fashioned striped stick candy were served.

A CURE OF SOULS
By May Sinclair

Deformed personalities Fascinate Miss Sinclair. Certainly it is a notable company of mental and moral cripples that limp through the pages of her novels, from Tysons and their associates to Olivers, the Fieldings, John Conway, of Washing the names might almost constitute a list of patients in a psychopathic ward. Canon Chamberlain, in a Cure of Souls, is a new case to add to the lot. The book that tells about him is a study in abnormal self indulgence.

The Canon is not a wicked man, as one ordinarily conceives wickedness. He is well disposed toward everybody, he would like every one to be happy. But most of all he would like to be happy himself. So about his quiet Rectory in Gueningford he builds high walls to shut out the harshness and shrillness of life. Fastidiously, not grossly, he utilates his senses with delights, the golden warmth of the flagged walks in his garden, the air languorous with the perfume of lavender and roses, the comfort of deep cushioned arm chairs, the enchanting peace of an August afternoon as honeyed hour followed honeyed hour, the cool luxury of sleep. Annoyances, however, creep into Paradise. Disregarded duties leave unpleasant little stings. Plain spoken associates invade the Rectors ease. Troublesome curates, sickly parishioners, discordant townsmen, disturb his days. Thus the terms of the situation are defined, the case is set forth, until, through a series of incidents the elucidation is complete.

Perhaps what most impresses the reader in an age that is conventionally called lax, is the prominence of the ethical implication, no violent catastrophe, it is true betokens the judgement passed upon the indolent clergyman, but the judgement is unmistakable. One thinks of the Victorians, Dickens, George Elliot most of all George Elliot. Then one realizes that not even George Elliot so stripped her theme of non essentials, so concentrated upon the relation of conduct to character. It is rather in the morality plays of the Middle Ages, that one may find a like simplification of life shaped by a like purpose. Miss Sinclair's artistry of the moralities. The Characters are so vigorously pared that they are like more than personifications Sloth, Doubt, Luxury, and their fellows. They act their parts in a structure so symmetrically angular as to the delight the heart of a diagram loving school teacher. With the method thus severely geometrical the marvel is that the fundamental humanity of the story is so largely preserved.

In a way, A Cure of Souls undoubtedly exhibits adroit and skillful workmanship. Its range, however, is limited. Its men and women are misleading statie and obvious. Simplicity is gained only by ignoring complexities inherent in human nature.

It is the sort of sketch that should be merely a preliminary to the novel of amplitude and richness that the author can do so well.

The preceding review is reprinted from the Atlantic Monthly and the Librarian submits it of interest to patrons.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The four circles of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Baptist Church met Monday afternoon in the church parlors. A large number were present and an important business session was held.

The meeting closed with prayer.

FEDERATED CLUB NOTES

(Delayed).

In all parts of the district club women are making their final plans and preparations for the State Convention at Amarillo November 11th to 14th inclusive. In Amarillo the work is progressing to its successful culmination and definite arrangements are ready for announcement.

It must be remembered that this is the first time that a State Convention has been held in this section of the State and that it will necessarily be a number of years before it can be expected again. For the above reasons and more particularly because it is the Seventh District's opportunity and pleasure to co-operate with the hostess city of Amarillo in making this convention the success that this part of the State makes all undertakings it is therefore incumbent upon all clubs wherever possible to have a delegate present at this meeting. Not only has a splendid program been prepared and delightful entertainment planned, but it is the definite obligation of our Seventh District clubs and club women to fulfill their duties toward the State Federation. It is the earnest wish of your president, Mrs. Reese Tatum, to have every section of our large district represented at Amarillo.

If your club has not already done so, send in your State dues to Mrs. Walter S. Robertson, State Treasurer, and elect your delegate and alternate, and have your club represented.

Hotel reservations may be made direct or through Mrs. . M. Deizell, Amarillo. The Amarillo Hotel and the Palo Duro Hotel have been specially designated as the convention hotels. Information desks will be maintained at both hotels and at the municipal auditorium. Members of the information committee will be on hand at all times. Official headquarters will be at the Amarillo Hotel.

The State Board of Directors will meet Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the Woman's Club Rooms, municipal auditorium. The Junior Woman's Club will be hostess at luncheon to the Board. On Tuesday evening Fine Arts Evening will be observed. The convention will open for business on Wednesday, November 12th, 9:00 a. m. All delegates are requested to register with the Credentials Committee Wednesday morning at 8:00 o'clock.

Wednesday evening the Southern Dinner wil be given at the Palo Duro Hotel. Following this occasion, President's Evening will be held. On November 13th the annual Pioneer Dinner will be given at the Amarillo Hotel, followed by the District's Evening.

Several delightful events have been planned by the hostess city including luncheons each day, an open house at the Woman's Club Rooms, a tea, and a drive to the West Texas State Teachers' College with luncheon at the college.

Copies of several proposed amendments have ben sent to all clubs in the district, and the State President, Mrs. Redmond, has expressed the wish that all delegates study these amendments before coming to the convention.

Notable speakers will address all sessions of the convention and a number of General Federation officials are expected to be present. It is hoped that Mrs. Thomas G. Winter past-president General Federation and present chairman of International Relations, and Mrs. John Sherman the president of the General Federation, will be the guests of the convention and among the speakers.

It has been announced that the theme of the convention will be Club Women and the American Home. The new president of the General Federation, Mrs. Sherman, is emphasizing the importance of the American Home in her administration. One of her first official acts was to ask our own Mrs. Maggie W. Berry to organize a new department to be known as the Department of the American Home. Mrs. Barry has been at work on this department since early summer, and definite plans have hen made to expedite the work. At the convention, many phases of the work that will naturally fall under this dept. will be discussed, and it is to be expected that the attention of the convention will be concentrated upon this most serious and important question of our modern life.

Activity continues over the district in many departments of work. Fire Prevention Week was observed in a number of towns and clubs. Fire drills were held in the schools, talks were made at many clubs and local organizatons, and in many schools. Questionnaires were issued in many schools, and the pupils were instructed to go over fire hazards in their homes and to check up on conditions. Fire Prevetnion is being taught in a number of schools in the Seventh District, and it is the hope of the State Chairman, Mrs. Meade Griffin, and the District Chairman, Mrs. Lon V. Smith to be able to report a large increase over the present number by thetime of the State Convention.

A large, enthusiastic, and well-attended meeting of the Lubbock County Federation was held Saturday, October 25th at Slaton. Over one hundred and ten women were present with the majority of the clubs in the county represented. A splendid program was rendered, including a number of musical numbers given most artistically. Mrs. Carl Goodman, Plainview, recording secretary, T. F. W. C., spoke on the subject of "The American Home." She explained the purpose of the new department and emphasized its importance and its nearness in interest to all club women.

A delightful luncheon was served by the Slaton clubs, with Mrs. J. W. Wallace a charming toastmistress.

Mr. Eaton, Lubbock County Agent spoke on the Responsibilities of Rural Communities, discussing the problems that confront these communities, and methods of meting them.

Home Demonstration Work was most ably discussed by Miss Mabel Marsh; County Home Demonstration Agent, who gave an excellent report on work done in the past nine months.

New officers were elected at this meeting which closed the administration of the past two years. Mrs. Frank Bledsoe of Berton was elected president; and Mrs. E. T. Daniel, of Idalou, coresponding secretary. It was decided to hold the spring meeting at Shallowater.

The Hale County Federation held its semi-annual meeting at Happy Union, Saturday, October 25th with a splendid attendance. The report and recommendations from the Flower Show were discussed, and resulted in several important changes. The show will be larger and will include more departments in the future, and will partake in several ways of the aspects of a community fair. The election of officers was held at this meeting, resulting in Mrs. Will Price of Hale Center for president; Mrs. Ivy of Hale Center, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. J. B. Scott, Plainview, vice-president. The spring meeting will be held at Hale Center.

BROTHER OF LOCAL MAN DIES TUESDAY IN HAMMOND, LA.

Louis H. Hungate, local official of the Santa Fe railway company, left early this morning for Hammond, La., to attend the funeral of his brother, Attorney H. G. Hungate, who died there suddenly Tuesday morning of acute indigestion.

The deceased is thirty-five years of age, and leaves a widow and three small children, two sisters and three brothers.

Mrs. T. P. Wright, of Littlefield, one of his sisters, in a telephone conversation with Louis Hungate, of Lubbock, said it would be impossible for her to go to Hammond to attend the funeral.

Funeral services will probably be conducted Friday, Mr. Hungate said last night before leaving for Hammond.

es and scarcely left the White House. Coolidge appears to have been swept into office. In Charles G. Dawes, the country acquires a new vice-president who is as noted for his outspoken and picturesque language as the president is for his silence.

Davis appeared to have held little more than the usual southern states though he is running Coolidge a hard race which may carry him over in Tennessee, West Virginia, Missouri and Kentucky.

La Follette's popular count appeared to have reached a country wide total of one million votes at midnight.

At midnight, the extent of the Coolidge landslide seemed so apparent that Judge Olvany, chief of Tammany Hall, issued a statement conceding the election to the president.

"It is a source of keen disappointment and genuine regret to me personally that so splendid a candidate and a brilliant a man as Mr. Davis should go down in defeat," he said. "Returns indicate the election of Coolidge and it is the duty of every loyal American to abide by the election of a majority of our people."

On behalf of Davis, it was said he would issue no statement until later.

In Ohio, the democratic state chairman, E. T. Dye, conceded the state to Coolidge by practically as large a margin as was given Harding in 1920. To this majority was not definite but in Minnesota, for instance, Magnus Johnson, farmer-labor candidate, was facing a formidable republican opposition. Republicans claimed a strong majority for Coolidge in the state.

The Coolidge landslide which was carrying many congressional candidates toward winning majorities, gave promise of electing W. H. McMaster, the republican senator in South Dakota. Senator Warren was leading for re-election in Wyoming, according to early returns, although the progressives had strong hopes of beating him.

In the border states, it appeared that the democrats might improve on the showing they had made in early returns.

L. D. Tyson, democratic candidate in Tennessee, jumped into the lead as the late returns came in.

In Massachusetts the race promised to be closer than expected at first. Heavy democratic vote in Boston bettered the position of David I. Walsh who had been running behind Speaker Gillette in the senatorial contest. It was indicated that the last returns might be necessary to decide the winner.

John W. Davis seems destined to lose even his home state of Virginia to Coolidge. Returns from one fourth of the state of West Virginia gave the president a lead of 10,000 over Davis.

The president's landslide extended even to the Pacific coast, which began to report its figures around midnight. In Oregon, Coolidge was polling as many votes as his opponents combined. Early returns from Washington showed a similar advantage to Coolidge. In California the same story. In the last named state, Coolidge was running two to one ahead of La Follette and Davis was trailing with a half the number of votes that the independent candidate received. Wyoming is showing an even greater margin.

In Wisconsin, however, the La Follette returns are now being counted and they show the independent candidate running considerably ahead of the president.

In Idaho, Coolidge continues to hold the lead with La Follette edging in ahead of Davis.

La Follette Leads Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Nov., 5.—At midnight La Follette, who had been running slightly behind Coolidge, took a substantial lead in Wisconsin. Returns from 562 precincts scattered throughout the state gave Davis 21,067; Coolidge 75,918; La Follette 87,281.

Pennsylvania Goes G. O. P.

CALVIN COOLIDGE

Calvin Coolidge of Vermont became twenty-ninth president of the United States through the death of his predecessor and was nominated in his own right by the Cleveland convention.

His accession to the presidency was the capstone of a long life of public service, that includes the steps of city councillor, clerk of courts, mayor, state representative, state senator, president of state senate, lieutenant governor and vice-president.

All these offices except the last two were held by him in his adopted town of Northampton and in his adopted state of Massachusetts. To him Massachusetts is home, but his heart still turns to the hills of Vermont where he lived as a boy.

Calvin Coolidge, significantly enough to those who read things in terms of omens, was born on Fourth of July morning, 1872, in the tiny mountain hamlet of Plymouth, Vermont.

Behind his cradle stretched generations of a Puritan inheritance on one side and Protestant Irish on the other. The Coolidges trace their descent in the United States from a famliy of Coolidges who settled in Watertown, Mass., in 1630, though the line is not clear between them and John Coolidge, who settled in Plymouth in 1780.

His mother, Victoria Josephine Moor, sprung from that sturdy Irish stock which did much to transform the wildernesses of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine to fertile fields in the late 1600's and early 1700's.

Thus the heritage of Calvin Coolidge was English-Irish. The household into which he was born was of the purest New England type, notable for its frugality, its God-fearing devotion to principles of conduct and religion, sheltered, back in that mountain nook, from the relaxation that tainted the same heritage of families in the more populous Massachusetts lowlands.

The house in which Calvin Coolidge was born was a tiny cottage, the back room of his father's store. The event was unattended by doctors, members of the family officiating. Plymouth, when Calvin was born, was much the same as it is now. In 1872, there were five or six houses, barns, a store and a church, a district school and a cheese factory. Today there is one more house. The village was, and is, twelve miles from the nearest railroad, situated among boulder strewn fields that nestled beneath a line of enternal hills.

The population then as today were engaged in the serious business of wrestling a living from the unpropitious circumstances in which they found themselves. Few pleasures or conveniences were available or desired. Such as they were, however, could have been provided by the boy's father, for he was a man of importance. He had then and since served in both the assembly and senate of his state, been constable, moderator, and held other public offices. Primarily, however, he was a farmer.

IS WAR UNCHRISTIAN

These days we hear a great deal on the subject of war, and while we do not believe that one should rush hastily into war, and into combat with your fellowman, still when a foe attacks we are of the opinion that we have a right to defend ourselves or our home or our country. One of our noted writers says:

"Perhaps it is time to examine into the basis of the conscientious opposition to war voiced so frequently among church people. We have no word of defense for wars conceived in the unrighteous desire to take territory or violate the rights of others; even as we have no defense for the criminals who prey upon society by seizing the property or taking the lives of individuals. The one and the other are examples of infringement upon the rights of nations or of individuals. Is it contrary to Christian principles to resist such infringements?

"It is blandly asserted that war is un-Christian. Doubtless the doctrine of non-resistance to those seeking to do evil arises from the teaching of Jesus in the Sermon on the Mount. Of course, we know that we have not the full text of this sermon. Likewise His general statement would be less impressive upon those reporting the discussion than the illustrations used. The illustrations are: Whosoever smiteth thee on the right cheek turn to him the other also. And whosoever would go to law with thee and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. (We think the Quakers absurd for taking this literally.) And if one compel thee to go with him a mile, go with him two. It seems to be inferred that these statements are of universal application: That Jesus was intending to repeal the law of self-defense universal to all life; to declare that under no circumstances must one resist a physical assault; that one must not only not resist an infringement upon his property rights but that the offender must be rewarded, and that any sort of personal imposition must be received not only without protest but with a reward. Even if Jesus had gone far beyond what is here said and in the broadest language of illustration declared that evil of any sort should never be resisted but should actually be rewarded, it might still be said that very frequently His highly figurative language is not to be taken literally: "If thy right eye cause thee to stumble, pluck it out and cast it from thee."

"Certainly it might be definitely stated that there is no evidence either in the words, the context, or in the life and character of Jesus that these words should be stretched beyond their meaning to express a doctrine of universal submission to evil. Those that contend for this meaning face an utterly impossible situation. If it is wrong for the Christian to resist any encroachment upon his rights, it is equally wrong for him to permit another to resist for him. It is wrong to permit the policeman to guard his property or his person with gun or club. Courts and prisons which punish and restrain evildoers are wrong. One may not lock his doors or hide his property within the protecting walls of the bank for security. Passive resistance to evil is not to be distinguished in moral effect from active resistance. Nay, if we are to make these words of universal application, the tresspasser must be invited to do what he will. While it shocks our sense of the proprieties to say it, those who contend that Jesus here intended to condemn all physical resistance to evil, and even to invite its further continuance, should paraphrase his words: And if one assaulteh thy sister do not resist him, but say, here is my other sister also. The bare statement seems sacrilegious. If the words are so offensive and do such violence to the character of Jesus, let us not endorse the idea. It is time honestly to scan the meaning of this doctrine of non-resistance, and "turning the other cheek."

We must note that the illustrations used by Jesus evidence no intention to declare that one must never resist any sort of evil. Also, He himself did resist commercial corruption in the Temple and with physical violence overturned the tables of the money-changers and with a scourge drove forth the offenders. He did not first try the effect of persuasive speech, but visited their offending with the physical violence of righteous wrath, end explained himself later. The words and actions of Jesus do not justify the inference that he was a personal pacifist.

"It seems simple to interpret this teaching of the Sermon on the Mount. So far back as we can trace customs a blow on the cheek, usually a light one, was the provocation for a challenge to fight. Jesus taught the evil of such fighting for inadequate reasons, mere senseless brawling, which was very common in his day, and only in late jurisprudence has been denounced by law. He taught the folly of going to law about petty infringements upon property rights, or upon personal liberty. Each illustration He uses is of a petty offense calculated indeed to irritate the temper but not justifying the redress which he was condemning. He taught a character superior to petty annoyances. The words used are no foundation for the doctrine of universal non-resistance to evil. Let us then demand a logical statement of reasons from those who assert that war is un-Christian, and not be content with loose words.

THE ELECTION IS OVER

Mrs. Ferguson is elected by an easy majority, and from all indication the Federal Government will continue in the hands of the Republicans for the next four years at least. The lead of Mrs. Ferguson at midnight was around thirty thousand with a little over 200,000 votes accounted for. It seems that the vote was very light, and especially in the west, and the returns came in slowly, but it is conceded that Mrs. Ferguson has succeeded in winning the race, probably by 100,000 majority.

In the Presidential election it was conceded early in the night that President Coolidge is an easy winner, and with Davis, the Democratic candidate, in the second place, La Follette takes a very small vote, and thus winds up a very warm campaign.

The returns were uninteresting to many people in as much as they came from the big centers early in the night and the result was foreseen early so that the interest was not as keen as it might have been if it had been closer.

Texas, of course, went strong for Davis, and all other state candidates, except in the race for governor, but this was sufficient to carry the state and keep it in the Democratic column for one more time at least.

Several counties in the state failed to give Mrs. Ferguson a majority, although a full tabulation has not been received up to the time of going to press.

One difference between sport and politics is that sporting records are made to be broken at any time, but political record is at least expected to last until after the election.

COOLIDGE REMAINS UNRUFFLED THRU ELECTION

By THOMAS L. STOKES.

WASHINGTON, Nov., 4.—When President Coolidge took his place with Mrs. Coolidge and several friends about the white house radio set to hear the election returns, he had that same unruffled calm confidence of victory, that carried him through the critical days, just as if as if it were any day in the year.

It was just another day at the white house, to all appearances.

Some of the messages from various telegraph wires told how the senders were the first to vote for president at their particular polling places, and expressed the hope that they would be the first to congratulate him on it victory.

These telegrams, however, did not beat the president to his office. After an early stroll through the city, and his breakfast, Coolidge went to his office arriving shortly before 9 o'clock and immediately took up routine matters. He was interrupted occasionally by his secretary C. Bascom Slemp as meagre early returns from Massachusetts came over the wires and were laid before him. They were most favorable, and the president smiled as he looked at the results.

The same towns gave the following vote:

U. S. Senator Fredk. H. Gillette, (r) 10,369; Senator David Walsh (d) 4,014.

DRILLING CONTRACT FOR BIG WELL AT TECH IS LET

Contract for the drilling of a large well on the Tech campus has just been let by the Board of Regents according to statement issued by Dr. P. W. Horn, president of the Texas Technological College. This added facility on the College campus will be very instrumental in furnishing the water for all needs of the institution. It will materially aid in irrigating the trees that will be planted over the Tech campus.

AVALANCHE BOARD IS WATCHED BY MANY PEOPLE

About two thousand people congregated about the Avalanche election returns bulletin board at the corner of 13th street and Avenue I last night, about twelve hundred of whom remained about the board as late as twelve o'clock, showing keen interest in all reports as they were received.

The Avalanche has been the center of attraction on the eve of every election day in Lubbock since the present management took charge of the paper more than twenty years ago, and the publication is recognized by thousands throughout the South Plains as being an accurate disseminator of news.

Members of the office force were on the job until three o'clock this morning answering telephone calls from all over the South Plains, this service having also been rendered by the Avalanche on election returns for the past several years.

Never in the history of Lubbock has a general election engaged the interest of so many people as was the case last night, as was evidenced by the increased number of phone calls answered at the Avalanche and by those who stood about the bulletin board until the last reports were received.

TOTAL POLL IN ILLINOIS TO BE NEAR 2,500,000

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—More than one milion votes were cast in Chicago Tuesday, election officials announced, making it almost certain the total Illinois vote would reach 2,500,000.

Coolidge strength was indicated by Chicago's first precinct to report—the 50th in the fourth ward which gave Davis 28; Coolidge 442; La Follette 16. This precinct gave prague democrat 11² and Deenan republican 368 for United States senator.

The fourth ward is known as a republican stronghold.

ELECTIONETTES DURING TUESDAY

PLYMOUTH Vermont—Coleman F. Coolidge, father of the president cast the first vote here. He drove more than a mile to the polls in his buggy, accompanied by his housekeeper and refusing an automobile ride.

SAYRE Pa.—Red Fire wagons went screeching through the streets here with men on board megaphoning appeals to voters to do their duty. Factory whistles aided this din at regular intervals.

MADISON, Wis.—A great victory for feminine emancipation was celebrated when Dean of Women Louise Nardin of Wisconsin University decided that co-eds old enough to vote were old enough to stay up until 12:30 to hear election returns.

EVANSTON, Ills.—An ardent woman poll worker, instructed to get "out the vote" discovered at 10 a. m. Tuesday that General Charles G. Dawes had not voted yet. She hastened to his home to place her automobile at his disposal but was informed that General Dawes would vote at 11 a. m. as he had originally planned.

DES MOINES—Early reports to the United News from 301 precincts in Iowa out of 2,418 precincts gave Coolidge a decided lead over both Davis, democratic candidate and La Follette independent candidate.

The returns gave Coolidge 73,715; Davis 18,888; and La Follette 33,705.

The surprising event of the election probably is the strength shown by Daniel Steck, democratic senatorial candidate. Early returns gave Steck a considerable lead over Brookhart, which diminished as later returns were received. Out of 204 precincts the vote was Steck 28,949; Brookhart 28,542.

INDEPENDENT BLOC HOLDS BALANCE OF POWER

By United News.

NEW YORK, Nov., 5.Wednesday —With congressional candidates riding through on the wave that swept President Coolidge toward an overwhelming victory, the republicans seemed assured of an increased majority in congress although it was doubtful whether this strength would be great enough to wipe out the balance of power held by the independent bloc.

Returns shortly before one o'clock Wednesday morning indicated the battle for seats in the senate and house had resolved itself into a struggle between the republicans and the La Follette followers. The former were hoping to edge the insurgents out of their decisive positions; the latter were trying to maintain their advantage. The democrats appeared to have no hope of improving their position.

Additional returns tended to consolidate the republican power in the representation from the east, the chance of cutting down the La Follette margin depended on returns from the far west. The Coolidge forces had added to their strength in congress and lost nothing.

Indicative of the republican sweep in the east was the situation in Conneticut, where the GOP captured the whole state delegation defeating the one dmocrat who had been incumbent in the old congress.

In Pennsylvania republican leaders claimed they had gained six new seats.

As returns from states which had been believed doubtful began to grow the republicans increased their claims. They declared they were assured of congressional majorities from both Ohio and Indiana.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Elder Liff Sanders occupied the pulpit at both the morning and evening services at the Church of Christ Sunday.

While Elder Sanders has been with us through many services, he seemed at his best Sunday and all members of the congregation realized more completely the volume of his power and the earnestness with which he is working.

In the morning service the elder took for his text Micah. 6:6-8. He took verse eight for his subject, "He hath showed thee, oh, man, what is good. What did the Lord require of thee but to do justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God."

In the discussion Mr. Sanders used many scriptures to prove what God requires of us.

At the evening hour Mr. Sanders preached to a large congregation. His message was enjoyed and appreciated by all present.

"HURRAH" TOURNAMENT OPENS HERE TODAY

"All out for the big Hurrah" is the cry going out from J. O.Smith president of the Municipal Golf Association, which organization is this week sponsoring an event extra ordinary in local golf circles. The "Hurrah Tournament," alive from beginning to end in its nature, will get under way this afternoon at 2 o'clock on the municipal links on the picturesque course in the Yellowhouse Canyon east of the city, and all indications point to one of the most thrilling and sensational melees ever attempted here.

Fearful lest some of the most energetic hounds take undue advantage of the situation by practicing up on some of their most difficult shots in the variety to be offered, the rules of the tournament are being withheld from publication by the management, and same will not be divulged until all participants have made their appearance at the course this afternoon. At 2 o'clock the rules wil be laid down to those wishing to participate, and immediately following the rush will be opened.

The tournament, the nature of which, is a hurrah from beginning to end, will probably not be played in foursomes as was first announced here, but will take a still lighter vein. There is a possibility of some ten or twelve being bunched together for the first flight, followed imediately by nonther "squad" who will let out the "fore" yell immediately on the heels of the last man in the first section.

In other words, formality will be cast to the winds, and every man will be expected to rastle for himself. Ducking and dodging will probably be the pre-eminent feature, as the little rubber pellets will be flying so thick and fast through the air that this will be made necessary for the proper promulgation of the "safety first" habit.

The tired, timid business man, who has a habit of trusting to someone else to watch over him in ordinary play, is cautioned to wear a coat of mail, or some such protective means of like nature, for it is possible that the rules will prevent any form of dual-person protection. This, of course is not to be interpreted to mean that clubs and brickbats will be used on each other, nor will any form of brutality be permitted, but any discourtesy that will not bring personal harm to participants, will be encouraged. Small things that go so far toward throwing the average golfer off his guard, and getting him befuddled, are included in the program of amusements.

If anyone has a good friend on who m'se wishes to take out his spite, he is urged to invite him out this afternoon, then "pour it on him," for nothing will be barred except bodily injury. Polish up the old sticks, or stick, if you don't use but one, supply yourself with a few balls, and hall out at 2 today for the big show.

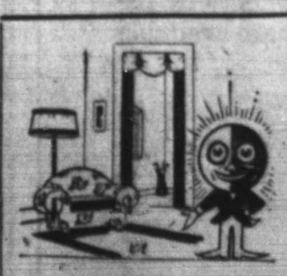

In the meantime, if you have not registered in for the occasion, see J. O. Smith, at Bowen's Drug, and leave your registration fee, or leave it with this office, and same will reach the proper source. It is probable that 75 or 100 will figure in the tournament this afternoon, so it is important that you get your name in as soon as possible, that particulars may be worked out before the gong sounds. But it is also urged that you don't hold back on account of having not registered, but make your appearance at the course this afternoon.

STANFORD-U. S. S. FOOTBALL GAME TO BE PLAYED

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Nov. 4—The Stanford University of Southern California football game, scheduled for November 8 at Los Angeles will not be cancelled as a result of the severance of athletic relations by the two schools effective after this year it was announced here today by H. H. Stonier, executive secretary of the Southern University.

Stonier said that more than 30,000 seats for next Saturday's game had been sold and consequently the game must be played. He said that his school would continue playing with universities that had not broken off relations.

"We are not surprised at all," Secretary Stonier said "there has been so much wrangling and bickering between us and the two Northern California schools that it seems best for us to break relations athleticaly."

THE WEST BEATS THE EAST FOR COURTESY

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Perhaps the east will deny that western football can offer it any kind of a pattern off which its game could be improved. The difference between eastern and western football always has been a subject of debate and even if competent critics do assert that the western game is better, there are easterners who will question the competence of the judgment.

Setting aside for the moment that question of mechanical football there is one sure thing. The west certainly has more football enthusiasm and more real football interest than the east. The west also can give the east a dozen good lessons in the proper way of building stadiums and in taking care of crowds.

There are three great football stadiums in the east that are devoted exclusively to football and track events. The Harvard Stadium, the Yale bowl and the Princeton stadium. They are regarded in the east as the zenith of architectual skill and the minimum of comfort for the spectators.

Those in the east who think that the football structures of the "Big Three" are the last word should take a look at the Ohio State stadium in Columbus, the Illionic memorial stadium in Urbana and the Nebraska stadium in Lincoln.

Compared to these three big structures of the middle-west the best in the east are antiquated and out of date.

For instance, the press box in the Ohio State stadium and the Illinois stadium are glass enclosed and steam heated. The tables are roomy and comfortable and the service is perfect. The same care in providing protection from the weather, in offering room and comfort for the spectators and courteous service is carried out just the same for those who buy tickets as for those who work in the press box.

The "Big Three" has an idea that it is beyond the public and the press. It looks upon the inclination of the "Big Ten" to be nice as a tendency of a west that is radical in politics and radical in sports.

Yale, Harvard and Princeton graciously set aside a section of their stadiums that wouldn't be accepted by anyone else for the press. There is no covering over the press box and there is no shelter for the fans. The "Big Three" cares nothing if the reporters up in the clouds know who is carrying the ball and they apparently figure that the spectators are less concerned in the real happenings of the game. It is enough their attitude is, that thousands are given the courtesy of seeing a "Big Three" team on the field.

As the football management of the big eastern teams could learn many lessons from the west, so also could the eastern railroads have their eyes opened about real service if they went out in the wild and wooly to see how the western roads take care of football crowds.

There were 70,000 fans in the stands at the Illinois-Michigan game in Urbana. Fifty thousand of these fans had to travel three hours or more on a train to the field and back again. Not one of those travellers had the horrors and discomfort of New Yorkers who have to make the annual trip to Princeton or New Haven.

The Illinois Central on every coach train going to Urbana—and there were forty special trains—had a dining car going and a dining car coming back. There was also a buffet lunch car and a sandwich car. The conductors of trains would not pull a train out if there was a passenger without a seat. Those who were standing were asked to get off the train and take the next one. Butches offered for sale—at reasonable prices—everything that a passenger could want. Butches sold playing cards and courteous young men who bore the badge of the company, came through the cars and passed out big cardboard tap tables for those who wanted to while away the time in a game of anything. Young railroad employees tagged—"information" were willing to tell a stranger anything he wanted to know about hotels in Urbana of Champaign, about the best way of getting to the stadium or the best and earliest trains to get back. Several of these young men were seen doing the heretical thing of walking the distance of the car to the water cooler and bringing back a drink of water to a lady.

After having experienced the courtesy of the west and after having been made to feel that a football customer or a football reporter is something more than a doormat, it is going to be very difficult to go back to the eastern way of being independent.

UNIVERSITY TO HAVE A STRONG CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 4—The University of Texas will have another strong cross country team this year. With four of his men showing midseason form in the early try-outs, Coach Roy J. McLean has more than even chances of repeating last year's feat, and placing on the cinder path another conference winning aggregation.

Led by one of the premier aces of the conference, Capt. im Reese of Comanche, the Longhorns will give stiff opposition to the representatives from the other schools at the conference mets. Alvin H. Coale of Orange, Earl Conner of Eastland, and Harry S. Miller of Austin have been making fast time in the early try-outs, and hold promise of developing into a formidable team.

There are over fifteen men out for the Varsity team, and Coach McLean has ben giving each man special attention in the daily workouts that are held. The men will have to be in the best of condition to meet the schedule arranged this season. A and M. College has practically intact the team that ran Texas close for honors last year. Boyer, Gillespie, and Royal, are the outstanding runners from Aggieland, and will give Reese and his long distance runners a hard tussle for honors. The other conference contenders, Southern Methodist University, Texas Christian University and Oklahoma A. and M. are also reported to have fast-time teams.

EIGHTY ABSENTEE VOTES CAST AT ABILENE

ABILENE, Texas, Nov. 4—Eighty votes had been cast up to the closing hour Saturday by voters who expected to be out of the county today, it was stated by County Clerk W. E. Beasley.

The time limit for absentees to cast their vote expired Saturday night.

All of the eighty votes were cast by persons who vote in one of the four Abilene boxes. No votes from the rural boxes were received by the county clerk.

The absentee vote is regarded as extremely heavy for the general letion. The absentee vote was heevier during the primaries in July and August but a number of the voters were on their vacations at that time.

YOUNG WESTERNERS BEAT SECOND TEAM OF SLATON HERE

Coming back in the last few minutes of play, after the Slaton Tigers' second squad had tied the count in the last quarter, the young Westerners, of Lubbock Hi took a hard fought victory from the visitors here Tuesday afternoon 14 to 7.

Unable to break the first line of defense offered by the locals for necessary gains in the pinches, the young Tigers repeatedly took to the aerial route, which at times proved very effective, and several times they threatened the local goal, but ach time were repulsed, at times being held for downs, losing the ball, and other times being downed for heavy losses.

An interecpted pass in the last quarter when a Slaton backfield man romped almost the entire length of the field for a touchdown, together with successful try for extra point proved their only count.

Adkisson broke into a pretty pass from Slaton in the first quarter on about the 30 yard line, and tore across for the first touchdown of the locals. A pretty pass from Wolffarth succeeded in drawing the extra point. Another touchdown was squeezed over by the locals in the last few minutes of play.

AGED VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR AND SISTER VOTED HERE

Mrs. Eliza Bracken was one of the interested participants in the election Tuesday, and was perhaps the oldest lady in the city to exercise her right of suffrage.

Mrs. Bracken, who is eighty-one years of age, expressed some disgust at the lack of interest shown in the election and pointed to the enthusiasm of elections at the close of the civil war as fair examples of the kind of interest that is needed in politics at this time.

"We need good men in office. Men who are eager to serve others more than their own selfish interest, and who place integrity among the greatest of human virtues," the feeble voter said, as she walked deliberately into the ballot room to cast her vote for her favorite party.

Her brother, J. M. Berrymen, who lost his right leg while in active service with the confederate army in the civil war, exhibited the same interest in the election, and said he was proud of the opportunity to vote.

There were three Berrymen brothers in the civil war with the confederacy. The other two were killed in action in the same battle in which the aged voter lost his leg. Mr. Berrymen has cast far more votes than his aged sister, although she has not missed an opportunity to vote since woman suffrage became a reality. He also shared honors with her in being perhaps the oldest among his sex to vote Tuesday.

EX SERVICE MEN HAVE WAY TO ATTEND SUNDAY SCHOOL

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4.—The Rev. Earl A. Blackman, "fighting parson of the 35th division and chaplain of the 110th engineers" believes he has arrived at the solution of the problem of getting the restless ex-service men to attend Sunday school.

After offering other incentives to the vets in a desperate effort to get them to come to church, the Rev. Blackman decided to preach to "his boys" in the Armory where they came each Sunday morning to drill and work out in the gymnasium.

His plan was a success. Rifles were discarded for hymn-books; "civvies" supplanted khaiki and the roll of drums faded into the resonant tones of "Holy, Holy Holy!" The bare walls of the room were hung only with the trappings of the gymnasium, a leather "gym horse" did duty as a pulpit; trapezes and ropes were suspended from the high ceiling while through the windows the morning sunlight streamed.

The fighting parson's boys were dressed anything but conventionally. Some wore boxing trunks, others gym suits, but they listened attentively as the clergyman spoke. When he finished a piano struck up "Lil' Liza Jane" and the scene shifted from a Sunday school meeting to a cantonmena jubilee.

"I'm proud of those boys" said the Reverend Blackman who earned quite a reputation in the army as a boxer. "They'll remember the lesson I just talked about. Yes, they're good boys alright."

"He's a regular guy, the parson is" one of the boxers paused to say. "Yep, we'd do anything for him."

VETERAN CASTS 34TH VOTE IN LUBBOCK COUNTY

W. N. Green, confederate army veteran and a pioneer of Lubbock county, is among the staunch believers in good government and proved his interest in state and national politics by climbing two flights of stairs in the Lubbock county court house to vote Tuesday.

It was the pioneer's thirty-fourth vote in the Lubbock county court house, and he laughed with the heartiness of a child when he recalled the first "shack" as he described it, in which the voters cast their ballots thirty-four years ago.

Mr. Green didn't have to ask any questions about how to cast his ballot as that was his 57th visit to the polls in all. His first vote was cast in Warren county, Tennessee.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR INTERPRETATIVE DANCING CLUB

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—Members of the Interpretative dancing club at the University of Texas have begun their second year under the name of Orchesus, the Greek word meaning " to dance". The club recently elected officers and made plans for the ensuing year. Miss Susie Fisher, instructor in dancing and physical retaining will direct the work of the club.

Officers elected for the coming year are: President, Patti Bailey, of Rockport; Vice President, Emily Stevens of Austin; Secretary, Elizabeth Caviat of Austin; treasurer, Virginia Merriman of San Antonio; and reporter, Rachel Dunnaway of Amarillo. Elizabeth Baker of Austin, a student in the university has been engaged as accompanist. At present the club has 25 members.

New members are selected by competitive try-outs before members of the club or because of their ability and interest shown in the regular dancing clases.

Meetings and practices are held of the womans building. Last year in the club studio in the basement the studio was decorated with soft-toned draperies and lights, which add much to the artistic effect of the work done by the members of the dancing club.

The object of the practices is for the girls to learn to interpret the music and to create their own dance movements.

WHAT IS PERCY HAUGHTON'S SYSTEM?

By United Press

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—For fifteen years this country had been hearing about the Haughton System of coaching a football team, but, on the night of Percy Haughton's sudden death in New York when people asked, "What i sthe Haughton System" the honest answer was, "I'll bite; what is it?" We put the question to a few who confess to some expertness in football matters, too.

Paul Gallico, who used to pull a a sweep in Columbia's 'varsity boats and who took a pretty close interest in Haughton's work at his old school, said it was a system for teaching a whipped and discouraged football team to turn on the other teams and smack them down. This was true enough, for that was precisely what Haughton did at Harvard and Columbia, but it didn't explain the Haughton system.

The Haughton system, it seemed, was a system with a plan and a purpose but not a thing that could be stated and proved like the rules of mathematics.

The Haughton system was Haughton's character. There was nothing original about Haughton's insistence on perfection in the details. Other coaches have had the same high respect for perfection in the little things. But it was Haughton himself who heartened his men to persevere in the drudgery of reaching perfection.

Haughton was a commander, too, but if he hadn't had the indescribable spark in his character which made kids trust him look to him always for a square deal, his commanding manner would have made him nothing better than a bully. A thug can command but it takes a leader to inspire.

Just an hour before he died, Haughton asked one of his assistant coaches to tell the Columbia squad that they had fought a fine game in beating Williams College and that he was proud of them.

This message in its effect on the athletes was life a commander's citation to a regiment. It will be remembered forever by the players because it was Haughton's last word to them.

TWO ACCIDENTS ON CANYON ROAD RECENTLY

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 4—Two automobile accidents, were reported by the police department last night, which resulted in the injury of three persons, John Whitman, W. W. Spiller and H. J. Cavet, all of Tulia. The car in which the three were riding collided with another car on the Canyon road. The three men were picked up by passing automobiles and taken to the Northwest Texas hospital, where they were given medical attention. One of the men was bruised on the head and face. The other two sustained only slight injuries. Reports from the hospital today indicated that their injuries were not serious.

The other accident also occured on the Canyon road about 9 o'clock last night. A roadster in which Pat Johnson and James Gillam, both of Portales, N. M., were riding, went into the ditch and overturned, wrecking the car completely. The men escaped without injury.

This equipment, in connection with his oxy-welding plant and auto repair shop, consists of a South Bend lathe with a 24 inch swing by 16 foot bed and a smaller lathe with 10 inch swing by about 4 feet long a large power drill press; power steel saw, a 24-inch shaper, and a pipe cutter and threader, etc.

Mr. F. N. Conlon, of Houston, an expert in his line has accepted a position as machinist and is now in charge of this department. Also, the best auto mechanics are employed to care for the needs of the autoist. Mr. Gentry who is an expert in the welding business will remain in charge of the oxy-welding department.

Mr. Gentry contemplates the remodeling of his building on North Avenue I, in the near future, and also, the addition of more machinery, making this plant strictly up-to-date.

DEAD DUCKS FOUND STREWN ON LAKE BANKS

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 4—"An appalling number of dead ducks litter the shores of a lake three miles this side of Happy. They are so thick on the banks a person could step from one to another and walk around the shore."

So says Hugh Whitcomb, who yesterday made a personal investigation of the reports that the wild ducks are dying by the thousands near Happy. Mr. Whitcomb brought back one sick duck and it is now at Walter Crossett's office. It has the limber neck and cannot walk.

Water Believed Contaminated

"In one corner of the lake I counted 298 dead ducks—pintails, spoonbills and red-heads," said Mr. Whitcomb, "A conservative estimate is there are at least a thousand dead water fowl on the lake. Besides the dead ones, there are hundreds of them so weak they can do no more than flutter across the top of the water.

"I do not believe the ducks are dying from poison set out by the farmers. I am of the opinion that the water in that particular lake is contaminated. Seven miles east there is said to be another lake covered with dead birds, but the trouble seems to be confined to these two lakes.

Authorities Notified

"I talked to several farmer boys. They said that ducks taken from the lake and given fresh water quickly recovered."

Mr. Whitcomb said he had reported the matter to both the federal and state authorities, and he expected experts here from Washington to make an investigation. A local sportsman this morning suggested that a fund be raised to hire men to patrol the lake, scaring off the healthy birds. He said he was willing to start it with $25.

CONGRESSMAN LANHAM VISITS JOHN TARLETON COLLEGE

STEPHENVILLE, Texas, Nov. 4—Honorable Fritz G. Lanham, of Fort Worth, Congressman from the thirteenth district of Texas was the guest of John Tarleton Agricultural College recently. While here he delivered an address in the college gymnasium to an aduience of about 1200 people. This audience was composed of the faculty and student body of John Tarleton College and Stephenville high school, members of the senior class of Dublin high school and the citizens of Stephenvill and surrounding country.

The subject of Mr. Lanham's address was "Helium Gas and Its Uses" He is probably one of the best informed men in the world on this subject. His is the only congressional district in the United States that is the site of two plants where helium is extracted on a large scale. In fact, that there is only one other such site in the world, and the United States is the only country where it is found in quantities sufficient for ts separaton for commercial purposes. For an hour and a half Mr. Lanham held his audience spell bound while he delivered ihs great lesson. At its close he was given an ovation of several minutes. Finally Dean J. Thomas Davis secured the attention of the audience and assured them that Mr. Lanham would return for another lecture on "Armistice Day." Mr. Lanham is called in the vicinity of the college there "The Friend of Tarleton" and is always sure of an attentative audience when he is in its halls.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN DEBATING AT C. I. A.

DENTON, Texas, Nov. 3—Students of the College of Industrial Arts are manifesting unusual enthusiasm in debate. Oklahoma Woman's College, defeated last year by C. I. A., will offer the first competition of the year. The date has not been definitely decided upon. Preliminaries to decide the C. I. A. representatives will begin shortly and continue until the Christmas holidays.

C. I. A. sent challenges for debate last year to Texas A. and M., the state University, Southern Methodist University, Oklahoma University and Baylor University. All were declined. Officers of the Debate Club at the college are Leone Turner president, Denton; Mary Lee Blackburn vice-president, Burton; Nell Flannery, secretary, Collinsville; Margie McCuestion, treasurer, Paris.

CANYON, Nov. 3.—The first annual meeting of the school trustees teachers, and parents of Deaf Smith County was held in the district court room at Hereford, October 24. Over 300 people were present at this all-day meeting. County Judge Dameron, in stating the purpose of the meeting, plead for more interest in educational and public problems.

Among the outstanding speakers were President and Prof. Phillips of the Teachers College at this place and County Superintendent Laura V. Hamner of Amarillo.

LIQUID AIR WILL BE MANUFACTURED AT UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 4—Liquid air will be manufactured at the University of Texas when the new liquid air machine is installed in the chemical laboratory. It is said that this machine is the first of its kind in this part of the country, and is a distinct addition to the University equipment.

The machine will be installed in about thirty days. It is a high pressure four-taged pump, working under a pressure of 3,000 pounds. It is mounted on a cement block, and a 15-horsepower motor is required for its operation.

Liquid air is used for freezing purposes, and for obtaining very low temperatures for experimental work. With the aid of this machine, experiments will be made at the University which have not been possible heretofore. The use of liquid air is one of the most convenient ways for making low temperatures, it is stated, and is now largely used in chemistry for that purpose. It can be stored very easily in vessels and poured out like water. In fact, it looks like water, but is much colder than ice.

"After this machine is put in operation," stated Dr. . R. Bailey, professor of organic chemistry, "lecturers can be sent to all parts of the country to show liquid air to persons interested. The chemistry department has taken a step forward with this installation."

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 3—The financial value of the physical plant of the A. and M. senior institution, its three branch junior colleges and the sixteen field stations of the experiment stations system is appraised at $7,890,959.82 in the last report of the auditors just placed in the hands of President W. B. Bizzell. This will be incorporated in the report to be made to the legislature when it assembles next spring.

People of Mississippi are lamenting the loss of one of their finest old plantation homes, which wa srecently destroyed by fire. This home, which required three years to build, was started in the year 1858. It contained forty-two rooms and was said to have the most beautiful stairway in the South. "Annandale" as it was called, was of historic value also, beenuse it was one of the few southern mansions which survived the Civil War.

Worst Coughs Yield Quickly to Good Old Pine Tar and Honey

One of the best cough medicines that was ever compounded, according to specialists, is good old pine tar and honey. It often stops a bad cough in 24 hours, and another advantage is that it can be given to young and old alike, as it contains no narcotics or opiates. Doctors say the pine tar quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, also healing soreness, while the honey both soothes irritation and gives a pleasant taste.

The kind that has been used in thousands of families for many years for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, spasmodic croup, etc., is Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey, which was the original compound. It has had many imitators, but still remains the best, as it is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in giving quick relief. If you want the best, get the original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey and no other. Only 35c, at any good druggists.

ATTRACTING INDUSTRIES

Smaller communities have advantages when it comes to attracting new industries. Land is cheaper, taxes lower, overhead expenses less, and living conditions for the workers better.

These are some of the reasons why industries are seeking to get away from large centers of population.

This movement is made possible by improvements in power and light, transportation, communication and thae public utilities services generally.

It is made definite for a given community by the extent and character of these services that are available there.

In this movement to take advantage of opportunities Lubbock i ncooperating with the people here by supplying Light and Power that meets the needs of a growing community that expects to add more and more industries and business.

TRANSFORMING THE PLAINS GOES RAPIDLY ON

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 4—Amarillo saw its first bale of cotton ginned yesterday.

More than three hundred people were at the gin of the Northwestern Cotton Company on East Third tarcet yesterday afternoon and saw the first bale of cotton ever ginned in Amarillo go through the plant and come out ready for shipment.

The cotton was raised by D. J. Muncey of Tascosa, 40 miles northwest of Amarillo and was brought to the city about two weeks ago. Five other bales were at the gin waiting to be baled when operations began.

"This is an epochal day in the history of Amarillo and Potter county" said J. E. Hill, president of the Panhandle Lumber Company, who was the principal speaker on the program that had been arranged by the Amarillo Real Estate Board.

"We have many milestones in the history of the development of our city and country but I am sure that the ginning of the first bale of cotton in Amarillo will become a veritable landmark in the development of this section of the United States.

"There are some things that farmers should remember in growing cotton in this section. That it will here everyone admits and we know that it can be cultivated properly, but farmers must remember to hoe thier cotton every time it needs it. I have seen more crops ruined in the Panhandle from weeds than I have ever seen ruined by drouth or too much rain. Select your seed properly and prepare your seed-bed, till the soil as if it were $100 an acre land and you may rest assured that it will yield more than the average $100 an acre land.

"I am not one of those who advocates converting all of our farms into cotton but I do think that every farmer should grow some cotton and that at least 40 acres would be planted for every 160 acres of wheat.

"The Panhandle country is developing at a marvelous rate. We have seen the passing of the longhorn, the big ranch and all that went with it. We have boasted of our high grade cattle, our fine chickens and other things. We have told of the advantages of our city as a railroad center, boasted about our oil and gas but we have never said half enough about this country as an agricultural center. This is a real farming country and statistics show that it is one of the leading agricultural countries."

J. R. Gaut, presided at the meeting and introduced Mr. Hill. Mr. Hill paid tribute to John Gilvin, O. V. Vernon, E. H. Petty, J. R. Gaut, J. H. Paul and Claude LeNeve for their work in securing the gin for Amarillo.

One of the features of the occasion was the fact that fifty students of the East Side school were present and saw for the first time cotton baled.

The Northwestern Cotton Company has a very complete plant, consisting of a 5-stand, 80 saw gin, with seed and cotton house. The gin is operated by electricity and is of the very latest machinery. The latest type of bollie machinery has been installed. The gin has a capacity of 100 bales a day.

MRS. ROSS MAY BE THE FIRST WOMAN GOVERNOR

CHEYENE, Wyo., Nov. 4—The doings of the three major candidates for President held second place in Wyoming today.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, widow of Wyoming's dead governor and nominee to succeed him, holds the center of the stage.

Cowpunchers and sheepherders from the grassy expanses of the state who heretofore have voted along party lines without much question, have turned to the woman from the South who heads the state's Democratic ticket, and have set themselves either for or against her.

Wyoming was the first state to accept woman suffrage. The people of the state are proud of that fact, and their pride may sweep Mrs. Ross into office.

"Election Day will determine whether Wyoming was sincere when she blazed the way for all other states in granting equal suffrage. I believe Mrs. Ross will gain far more votes than she wil lose through the mere fact that she is a woman," John B. Kendrick, Senator from Wyoming, said.

"If she is elected," Kendrick pointed out, "she will be the first woman governor in the United States. She would take office immediately after election, while 'Ma' Ferguson in Texas would not assume office until later."

Republican political leaders, however, view their election fight against her with comparative confidence. They point out that the state normally has a Republican majority of more than 5,000. Furthermore, Eugene Sullivan, the Republican nominee, has ben conceded even by men of the Democratic party, to be an exceptionally strong candidate.

Mrs. Ross was born in Tennessee and came to Wyoming from St. oseph, Mo., where she married the late Governor Ross.

PAPER ROOMS IN YELLOW AND RED AND SAVE ON YOUR COAL BILLS

By United Press.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 4—If the coal bill seems a bit large this winter paper your living rooms in yellow.

"Yellow, with a touch of warm red is the warmest wall paper you can get," declares Dr. F. A. Woll, professor of hygiene at the College of the City of New York, and a recognized authority on vision.

Lecturing at the New England Optometric Convention here, Dr. Woll asserted that yellow wal paper "wil make the room it covers feel snug and warm."

"No matter what the temperature is," he said, "apartments will feel cold and chilly if papered in blue."

"Of all the colors in the spectrum, red is the most irritating to the nervous system. Dark green is depressing, but yellow is restful and makes for content.

"If the room appears warm and sunny—yellow wil do it—and is well lighted, it will feel warm and sunny, even though the temperature may be low."

The influence of color on women, Dr. Woll said, is very important, and often the wrong colored wall paper may be responsible as much as anything else for the bumpy trip over the road that leads to the divorce court.

"It has been said that the right kind of wall paper may keep a woman out of the divorce court," he remarked.

"Whether that is true or not, it nevertheless is a truth that women are constructed on such a high nervous tension that what the see greatly afects them.

"No woman can meet her husband with a smile when he comes home at night with a grouch on, if she has been forced to spend the whole day in an ill ilghted ghitchen papered in red, green or blue.

"One sunny tempered woman began to scowl at her husband because the wal paper in her room "was laid on the bias."

"I thought it was you!" she carely confessed to her husband when she discovered her mistake."

"Yellow—with a touch of warm red—is the warmest paper you can get," Dr. Woll insisted.

SANTA FE COMPLETES SURVEY AND FINDS WEST TEXAS COTTON ACREAGE WILL BE GREATLY INCREASED IN 1925

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4.—A survey of the Santa Fe railroad shows that a substantial acreage of new cotton land will be brought under cultivation next year in Western and Northwestern Texas, where large cattle ranches are being cut up into small farms, according to a report issued by the company's agricultural development department. Bankers and others place this new cotton area at from 135,000 to 200,000 acres. The Western districts have been raising cotton only a short time, but have progressed rapidly.

"Cotton picking in Texas is about 80 per cent completed," the report says, "and the total yield will be about 4,500,000 bales, generally of good quality. Central, Southern, and Eastern Texas farmers are not showing disposition to increase their cotton acreage, but they are getting ready to increase their acreage in melons, fruit and vegetables. They have been doing remarkably well with these lines in the last few years. Their products now are known, and are in demand.

"Excellent rains recently in the Western sections assure good Fall and winter wheat pasturage. Wheat is in a thriving condition. The acreage is much larger than last year. Broom corn has been harvested. Little has been moved. Sorghum grains are making heavy yields. Generally the financial situation in the state is good. Building activities have shown a sitisfactory increase.

"The outbreak of foot and mouth disease is well under control, having been confined to a limited area. Prompt action by federal and state authorities, kept the trouble from spreading. If no more cases develop quarantine will be raised in the next three weeks."

Truck Farming Wins.

The report contains this paragraph about conditions in Southwestern Louisiana: "In spite of a dry summer, Louisiana reports small to fair yields of its crop. As between Summers are so few and far between farmers are not discouraged. An interesting phase of the development in Southwestern Louisiana is the showing made this year by settlers who do truck farming on the cut-over pine lands. They have done well with their crops, although the drouth has been severe and are preparing for taking care of a very greatly increased acreage next year."

Regarding Oklahoma the report says: "Late estimate place Oklahoma cotton crop at 1,225,575 bales. The crop is safe from frost and picking is well under way. The boll weevil caused damage in a few spots, but the loss was small. Corn matured in good shape, and will make 70,000,000 bushels. From 85 to 90 per cent of the state's wheat crop of 55,000,000 bushels has been marketed, and planting of the 1923 acreage is practically completed. Oklahoma produced this year $28,000,000 worth of grain sorghums, $25,000,000 worth of cottonseed, $15,000,000 worth of oats, $10,000,000 worth of broom corn; $7,000,000 worth of fruits and $7,000,000 worht of potatoes. Hay crops have been immense and pasture—especially new wheat—is good, giving an upturn to the cattle business."

PALESTINE, Nov. 4.—The Rev. G. S. Robinson, 72 years old, died suddenly of heart failure at his home here Monday morning. He was walking in his front yard when stricken. Mr. Robinson is survived by his widow, a daughter, Miss Bessie Robinson, and a son W. B. Robinson, cashier of the Robinson Guaranty State Bank. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon by Dr. J. C. Oehler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

STERLING COUNTY GETS A SHALLOW WELL PRODUCER

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 4.—Claimed to be the shallowest oil well in commercial quantities yet found on the Marathon fold in West Texas, the Chicago-Texas, Oil and Gas Company Sunday drilled three feet into the sand to 1,406 feet its No. 2 well in Sterling County.

The test made two flows over the top of the casing and bailed 40 barrels. When placed on the pump Wednesday or Thursday, it will make 50 barels daily, oil men believe.

The well in on the D. C. Durham ranch, section 18, block 12, Southern Pacific Railway Company survey, only one and one-half miles south and a little west of Sterling City and 40 miles northwest of San Angelo. This is about equal distances between the Reagan and the Mitchell County fields. The well offsets a test in which a good showing was obtained several months ago and which now will be completed as a deep well.

The Sterling oil resembles that produced in Reagan County County and is said to be free of sulphur. This producer will stimulate drilling along the Marathon fold.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT SHOPS AT LUBBOCK

The huge shops building erected by Lubbock county and leased to the State Highway Department for a period of three years at three dollars per year, has been completed on the county park adjoining the city on the east and the full shop equipment and road machinery is being assembled for this division.

Lubbock is one of the headquarters of the State Highway Department and twenty-four counties are served out of this center. The total equipment called for includes forty complete road working outfits, including graders, catipillar tractors, plows, trucks, scrapers and concrete machines. One hundred and fifty men will be employed on the division with twelve expert mechanics in the division shops to keep the equipment in good order.

The cardinal highways of the Plains country are already in the best condition known for the section since the volume of traffic has brought on a highway problem. The Highway Department, although handicapped on account of lack of sufficient equipment, men or permanent shops, has already entirely justified the wisdom of the law creating the department in this section and the engineers of the department are receiving the ful co-operation of the county commissioners of the Plains country.—Texas Commercial News.

O'DONNELL TO GET OIL AND GAS TEST SOON

O'DONNELL, Lynn County, Texas, Nov. 3.—O'Donnell claims to be the fastest growing town on the South Plains. During the last four teen months the city has reached a population of over 1,200 and within the next twelve months, it is expected, it will double itself with more than 3,000 persons.

In addition to this large growth to the town, there have been added eight large rooms to the school building. O'Donnell is the best cotton town on the South Plains.

There will be oil and gas tests made around here within the next six months, there being very good prospect for both oil and gas.

AMARILLO TO GET A PACKING PLANT AT EARLY DATE

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 4—A deal was closed here through which Amarillo is assured of the establishment of a modern packing plant. Positive announcement has been made that W. H. Batchelor of Graham has purchased from W. H. Fuqua the old packing house property together with eight and a half acres of land, and will proceed to rebuild the plant with modern equipment. The old plant has never been operated to any great extent.

The development of the live stock industry, especially of hogs, has created a demand for a local packery, and negotiations have been under way for several months for a packery.

In Glacier National Park, thirty miles from the railroad, is the only post office of its kind on record with the Postmaster-General. The mail is brought from the railroad and is hung in weather-proof bags on the side of a log cabin, whence it is taken by the residents within a radius of five miles, who are permitted to help themselves.
