Elementary/Junior High Wins State Award for Academic Gains

Clarendon Elementary and Junior High just won recognition from the Texas Education Agency for improving the students' test scores. With the honor comes an award for $63,000 from the State agency.

Elementary/Junior High Principal Mike Word will travel to Austin on July 18 to receive the reward from the Commissioner. Out of 6,097 campuses, only 107 will be honored. Clarendon will be one of those.

Standards for consideration for the award provide that the school must be in the top 10% of its demographic group for overall gain. The school had to show 100% improvement on performance and effort.

This honor is the result of hard work by the students, teachers and principal. It is good for all of Clarendon. Mr. Word and the faculty deserve the congratulations of the entire community.

Clinic Scheduled

The Breast Cancer Screening Program of the Don and Sybill Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital of Amarillo will continue community outreach clinics for early detection of breast cancer.

Early detection of breast cancer is the major goal of cancer control for each woman seen in the clinic. The clinic provided low cost screening which includes a breast exam by a Registered Nurse trained in breast cancer detection, teaching of breast self examination, and a mammogram.

Currently, the most effective method known to win the battle against breast cancer is early detection. Early detection is best done by following the guidelines recommended by the American Cancer Society for breast cancer screening for women who have no signs or symptoms of breast cancer.

A clinic will be held in Clarendon on Friday, July 31, 1992 from 10:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Clarendon Medical Center Clinic HWY 70 N. Exams are done by appointment only. For information about the clinic or to make an appointment, please call the Harrington Cancer Center at our toll free number 1-800-377-HOPE(4673).

Host Families Needed

Host families are needed for Christian from Switzerland and Katrin from Germany who are coming to spend the next school year in Texas. The students are enrolled the Academic Year in America program a non-profit high school/homestay experience sponsored by the AIFS Scholarship Foundation.

The program's local representative, Kathryn Moore of Amarillo, is interviewing families in this area who would be interested in hosting Christian or Katrin. Sixteen year old Christian is a drummer who also enjoys painting, politics, and outdoor sports. He comes from Luzern where his dad is a computer specialist.

Katrin, 17, comes from Duisburg, a harbor town in northern Germany. She is an excellent student with many different interests. She plays the piano and flute, dances ballet, takes fencing lessons and enjoys Church activities. Christian and Katrin arrive in mid-August to begin the fall term with their American classmates.

Plan Ahead For Retirement

It is surprising at how much effort some people put into preparing for their career, but who spend almost no time in preparing for their retirement.

Is it really important to do so? Well, yes. After all, the average person will spend about 20 years in retirement, and a relatively small amount of time planning can make those retirement years much more rewarding.

Social Security employees often participate in pre-retirement seminars sponsored by businesses for their employees, or by civic or community groups for their members.

These seminars usually provide financial advice, health insurance advice, and "lifestyle" advice on how to spend your time in retirement pursuits.

If you have the opportunity to attend one of these pre-retirement seminars, by all means do so.

If you are not in a situation where you will have this opportunity, they you should do a little pre-retirement planning on your own... and Social Security will help you.

At least five years before retiring you should begin to make definitive plans. We offer a Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement that estimates how much monthly income you can expect to get from Social Security when you retire. Just call our toll-free number at 1-800-772-1213, any business day from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., or the nearest Social Security office for assistance.

Do you plan to work part-time after retiring? If you earn over a certain amount, it could affect your Social Security retirement benefit amount.

Do you know what Medicare will provide in the way of health insurance after you retire? What about supplemental insurance to pay the bills that Medicare doesn't. Do you know that there are rules that companies who offer "Medigap" policies must abide by?

These and many other questions about retirement can be answered by calling our toll-free number, or by calling our local office at (806) 376-2241.

Loans Available

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by adverse weather conditions are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office located in Clarendon.

Armstrong, Donley, and Collingsworth counties were recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the adverse weather conditions.

Ms. Morgan said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue a business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest is 4.5 percent.

As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance program will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until February 22, 1993, but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possible over into the new farming season.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work a t and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FmHA office in Clarendon is open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. The supervisor will be at the Claude Courthouse on the first Wednesday of each month from 10:00 to 12:00 noon and in Wellington at the Farmers Home Administration each Wednesday from 9:00am to 4:00pm.

Medicare and Medicaid Compared

What's the difference between Medicare and Medicaid?

These two similar-sounding words are really two very different government health insurance programs—and a surprising number of people may not fully understand those differences.

Medicare is our country's health insurance program for people 65 or older, for certain disabled people under 65, and for people of any age who have permanent kidney failure. It provided basic protection against the cost of health care, but doesn't cover all of your medical expenses. To receive Medicare, you must have worked in Social Security covered jobs—or pay for Medicare insurance.

While the Health Care Financing Administration is in charge of running the Medicare program, we at Social Security are the people who help you enroll in Medicare and who can give you general information about the program.

Medicaid is a State-run program designed primarily to help those with low income and few resources. While the federal government helps pay for Medicaid, each state has its own rules about who is eligible and what is covered under Medicaid. However, States must provide Medicaid coverage to certain groups of people (such as recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children) and must provide certain basic medical services under the Medicaid program (such as inpatient/outpatient hospital services and prenatal care.)

It is also important to know that some aged, blind and/or disabled persons can qualify for both Medicare and Medicaid.

If you would like to know more information about Medicare, call the Amarillo Social Security office at 376-2223. If you would like to know more about Medicaid, contact your local state human services office.

Social Security News

A change in the law effectively expands the time frame for people with disabilities to test their ability to work without losing Social Security benefits.

"People getting disability benefits can work and earn as much as they can without losing benefits for up to nine months," Jim Talbot, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office said today.

"The rule change will allow those nine months of trial work to be a more realistic assessment of their ability to work." The new rule takes effect January 1, 1992, and provides that a trial work period will be exhausted only after the beneficiary works any nine months during a rolling 60-month period—that is, nine months of work during any 60 consecutive months.

"For example," Talbot explained, "if a person works for two months one year, but has to stop and doesn't get back to work again until six years later, the first two months of work won't count towards the trial work period."

"This means that failed work attempts are less likely to count toward the 9 months of trial work and the beneficiary will have more time to establish his or her working ability." Another provision of the law provides a brand new trial work period everytime a person becomes reentitled to a new period of disability.

"For example," Talbot said, "let's take a person who is entitled to disability benefits and uses only three trial work months before benefits end because he or she is no longer disabled. If that same person at some point in the future becomes reentitled to disability benefits, he or she will have a new trial work period on nine months."

Under Social Security rules, any month in which a person earns at least $200 counts as a trial month. During trial work months, the amount of earnings does not effect the amount of the monthly Social Security check—no matter how much is earned. After 9 months of trial work, earnings are reviewed to see if they are "substantial." Average earnings of $500 a month are usually considered substantial.

People who are still medically impaired in spite of their earnings can have their benefits reinstated without an application for any month that earnings drop below the "substantial" level. This "extended period of eligibility" lasts for 39 months.

Antibiotics for Urinary Tract Infections

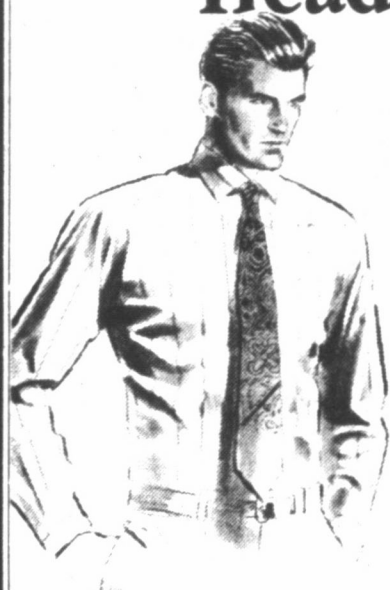

The urinary tract is the name of the system that rids the body of waste materials by way of the urine. The urinary tract is made up of the kidneys, urinary bladder, ureters (tubes connecting kidneys and bladder), and urethra (tube connecting the bladder and outside the body). Since the urinary tract is open to outside the body, bacteria and other organisms can enter the urinary tract and cause infections. Bacteria associated with these infections include E. coli, Proteus, Klebsiella, Pseudomonas, and Staphylococcus.

Symptoms of urinary tract infections include frequent urination and a burning/painful sensation when urinating. Infections of the bladder (cystitis), urethra (urethritis), and kidneys (pyelonephritis) are reported to occur in about 10 percent of the population. One report indicates that 20 percent of all antibiotic prescriptions written are for urinary tract infections.

Prescription medicines which are particularly effective in treating urinary infections include nitrofurantoin, trimethoprim, and the quinolone antibiotics. The quinolones include cinoxacin, ciprofloxacin, ofloxacin, and norfloxacin.

Minding Your Own Business The Lost Sale

The mall was crowded, but the bookstore was almost empty. I was browsing through a stack of discounted books when a customer approached the nearby check-out counter. After waiting a few moments, she interrupted the clerks who were busily engaged in an animated, but private conversation. Finally, one of the clerks turned and offered to help. The customer asked if the store carried a particular book on a business topic. Without moving, the clerk said that she was sorry but they didn't have that book in stock. The clerk offered no additional assistance and returned to her interrupted conversation. The customer murmured her thanks and left the store with a disappointed look.

Ordinarily, I wouldn't have paid any attention to this none-of-my-business conversation. However, on this occasion I had just examined a copy of the book in question-at least I thought I had. With my curiosity aroused, I returned to the business section. Four copies of the exact book the customer requested were on the shelf, available for sale.

The potential customer, however, was gone. The sale was lost.

Everyone lost during this exchange. The customer's want was not satisfied. The owner's profits were not bolstered by the sale. Even the clerk lost. She lost an opportunity to serve a customer and a chance to show her supervisor her value as an employee. Finally, she allowed a potential profit and additional job security to become a competitor's opportunity.

In this case, the loss was preventable. The desired product was in the store and the sale should have been made. This is not always true. However, even if the desired product is not in inventory, you may not lose the sale. There are ways to prevent losses.

First, everyone in the store should know the inventory. I know it is not humanly possible to memorize every one of the thousands of titles on a bookstore's shelves. However, in this case, a quick check on the store's computer would have shown the book in stock.

If there is no computer at your store, encourage your employees to get out from behind the counter in slow times and work the inventory. Straighten up shelves, move merchandise to new locations or create new displays. The more everyone knows about the inventory, the more likely you are to make a sale.

Second, train everyone regularly. Every employee with customer contact should understand the importance of taking care of the customers. Training will reinforce the concept the customer is the only reason any business exists.

With proper training, each clerk in the bookstore would quickly turn to the computer to check on the desired book as a routine service to each customer. Also, a trip to the business section would have made the sale. If the product was not on the shelf, and not in the back room, a knowledgeable clerk might have offered to get the book via special order.

Third, suggest a suitable alternative for an out-of-stock product. Once again, in this case, there were at least four or five other books on the same subject. The customer may have chosen another selection as a satisfactory substitution.

Finally, a trained clerk armed with inventory knowledge and a true desire to help the customer, might have suggested additional items to enhance the sale.

Turning a lost sale into a satisfied customer is a great business building strategy. Grow your business by knowing your inventory, focusing on the customer and using the power of suggestive selling.

Spring Crop Certification

July 15, 1992 is the final date to report your spring seeded crops, ACR, and conserving use.

Even if you do not have crops planted you should report zero to protect your bases.

This year certification will be made by appointment. As soon as possible after you have your crops planted call the Donley County ASCS office for an appointment.

Tolerance rules are very strict; therefore, it is very important that you give an accurate report of acreage.

Tolerance is the larger of 1.0 acre or 5% of the reported acreage no to exceed a maximum of 10.0 acres. Tolerance rules do not apply to crops or land uses when measurement service after planting has been performed.

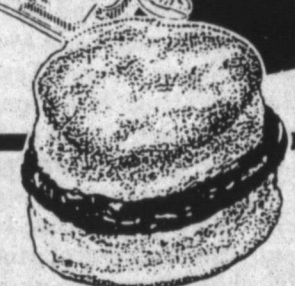

If you are unsure of your acreage, measurement service is available from the Donley County ASCS office for a fee. The request for measurement service must be made by July 15.

Even the prettiest shoe makes a sorry hat.

GUY "SATCH" PUTMAN supervises oat harvesting and helps hold the horses while Ferrol Shelton gets them hooked on to the old time "Satch" came to Clarendon in the early 1900's and was experienced with the use of a buck rake.

The average car in America now gets about 20 miles per gallon.

Museum Receives Donation

Wednesday afternoon, the Saint's Roost Museum, was given some old pictures of Clarendon, by Virginia (Wisdom) Haigh. Virginia and her sister Dorothy (Wisdom) Rowden and her brother in law Naymon Rowden had traveled to Clarendon from Wichita, Kansas, to make this donation. Accepting the donation was Wes Henson, president of Saint's Roost Museum. Mrs Haigh has donated many articles to the museum over the years, some of which were the pewter set, which is setting on the coffee table, as you go in the front door. Also some silverware with the grape pattern, which is displayed in the museum, hand woven rugs, and a lot of masonic items. She has also donated many of the other pictures that are already in the museum.

Charles Harrison Wisdom came to Clarendon around 1908 and was the depot agent for the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad for 25 years, before retiring in 1933.

TIPS ON TRIPS

Be sure never to over-drive when on vacation—not more than 300 miles a day. Fatigue can damage your health, be a safety hazard and detract from your fun. ***

Morrison Reunion Held

Seventy-seven Morrison descendants and several friends met together for a two-day reunion at the Lions Club Building in Clarendon June 19 and 20.

One of the highlights of the reunion was an auction sale. All items were to be hand crafted. An oil painting of a barn that is still standing on the Morrison home place in Gainesville, Texas brought top dollar. There was also a folk-art quilt depicting names of family members.

The historian for the family has done extensive research and documentation of family lives back in the 1700's. She recently uncovered information about John Morrison who served in the Revolutionary War in a South Carolina unit. She has found many funny stories through researching property transactions, tax rolls, probate records, birth, marriage, and death certificates. Each year she shows many new things about the family. Family member have been very cooperative in showing family bibles and photographs. It's great fun learning about one's roots. Those attending were: Gladys Alexander and Helen Yoakum from Albuquerque, New Mexico; Larry, Debby, Cody, and Michelle Morrison, Ted and Dennis Morrison, Ruben, Judy, Mickey and Nikki Perez, Norma Jo Cox, and Mickey and Carolyn Clark all of Amarillo; Delbert Virden from Archer City, Texas; James and Mary Nell Giles from Cali, Colombia South America; E.W. and Vada Morrison of Clarendon, Texas; Donna, Ricky, Travis, Ashlee and Joshua Taylor, D.L. and Jean Morrison, Alice Morrison, and Betty and Hugh Morrison, all of Gainesville, Texas; Ed & Margaret Fry, Mary Virden, Dee Renteria, Saundra and Kyle McNett and Melba Rasor all of Gruver, Texas; Sharon and Lindsey Barker of Holiday, Texas; Jackie and Cheryl Morrison of Lawton, Oklahoma; Judson, Sherry, and Amanda Joplin of McKinney, Texas; Harvey, Barbara and Amanda Morrison and Bob and Ruth Rasor all of Miami, Oklahoma; Herman and Joyce Morrison of Muleshoe, Texas; Frank and Norma Morrison, Albert and Harriett Morrison, Joe, Marsha, Gregg, and Jeff Stevens, Scott, Sharla, Jordan and Hayden Saylor, Dan, Brenda, Jessica and Drew Morrison, Harold, Kid, Tent and Lily Price all of Pampa, Texas; Grant, Calla, Jeremy, Jacob, and Jessica Krah of Valley View, Texas; and Lillian Todd of Wichita Falls, Texas.

Local Preservation

Clarendon is a town with a western culture and history. Your property may qualify for some economic benefits.

Part 3

What Are The Historic Preservation Tax Incentives?

Tax incentives for the preservation and rehabilitation of historic properties are among the most useful tools a local government can use to protect and enhance its historical environment. Some States and local governments provide reductions in property taxes and other State and local taxes to encourage preservation of historic properties, and there are several Federal tax incentives that apply to particular kinds of preservation activities for particular purposes. The two most widely used Federal incentives, however, are the historic rehabilitation tax credit and the charitable contribution deduction.

Historic Rehabilitation Credit

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 permits owners and some lessees of historic buildings to take a 20% income tax credit on the cost of rehabilitating such buildings for industrial, commercial, or retail residential purposes. The law also permits depreciation of such improvements over 27.5 years for a rental residential property and over 31.5 years for non-residential property. The rehabilitated building must be a certified historic structure that is subject to depreciation, and the rehabilitation must be certified as meeting standards established by the National Park Service (NPS).

What is a certified historic structure?

A certified historic structure is:

- * a structure individually listed in the National Register of Historic Places, or
- * a structure certified by NPS as contributing to a registered district. A registered district is one that is listed in the National Register, or designated under a state or local statute which has been certified to contain criteria which will substantially achieve the purpose of preserving and rehabilitating buildings of significance to the district, and which is certified a substantially meeting all of the requirements for listing of districts in the National Register.

What is a certified rehabilitation?

A certified rehabilitation is a rehabilitation certified by NPS as being consistent with the historic character of the property and, where applicable, the district in which it is located.

APOLOGY

This was one of the stupidest things
I've ever said in print, and I apologize to anyone I offended.

NOTICE!

To Donley County Taxpayers

Be aware of decisions facing the Clarendon School Board!

Do Kindergarteners need $125,000 in computers when the School claims it cannot give teachers career ladder promotions?

Are Micro Channel Architecture and
Local Area Network good choices,
or a waste of taxpayers' money?

Are Micro Channel Architecture and
Local Area Network good choices,
or a waste of taxpayers' money?

Are the School Trustees responsive to the voters or someone's "rubber stamps" that do what they are told?

Attend the School Board meeting
July 9th. Ask questions!

To whom it may concern:

KCR Corporation bears no malice toward any member of the Board or anyone else. However, we do feel strongly about the issues raised. We hope that everyone in our community is working toward the common goals of excellence in education and responsible administration.

KCR Corporation 222 Kearney St. Clarendon, Texas 874-2810

These questions need to be answered before our tax dollars are spent.

Thank You

Ain't God good? We are so thankful for the love, concern, phone calls, cards, flowers, balloons, clothes, food, but most of all for your prayers since Minde's recent accident. As most of you probably know, Minde is recovering very well, and we covet your continued prayers. She has done so well, and we know that God is going to continue to bless us with a complete recovery.

We hesitate to name individuals, because we certainly do not intend to leave anyone out, but we are especially grateful to Truett Hall and Don Billrey for getting her out of the car when it was burning, and to Sue Thompson for being so quick to call 911. A special thanks also goes to the rescue squad, the paramedics, the EMT's, the drivers, the fire department, and law enforcement officials who were so quick to respond.

Accept our heartfelt thanks and gratitude for your part in her recovery. May God continue to bless each of you individually as our prayer.

Burl, Carlene, Minde, Monte, Charlotte, and Kenneth Hollar

On behalf of Al Morrah Shrine Club we wish to thank all contributors and all the help that made our 4th of July Bar-B-Que a success once again.

Billy Powell
President

To all who visited, called, sent cards, and flowers, your thoughtfulness and prayers gave us "A Loving Memory" in our loss. Blessings always.

Beatrice, Ellen Rodgers & Zell SoRelle

Thank You,

Thanks to everyone who purchased fireworks, donated time and equipment to make our fireworks stand this 4th of July a success. God bless each of you.
The United Pentecostal Church

Thank You

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the 31 people of Clarendon who donated blood on July 3rd at Chamberlain Motors.

I also want to thank Chamberlain Motor Co., First Bank and Trust of Clarendon and Donley County State Bank for sponsoring the Blood Drive T-shirt give-away which enabled each and every blood donor to receive a "Clarendon Blood Donor" T-shirt.

The fourth of July weekend is one of the highest blood usage weekends of the year and these people helped make sure no one in the Panhandle area went without the lifesaving medicine during that time.
