Western Art Work On Display

Three members of the Western Artist Guild will have their work exhibited Dec. 19-24 at Olton State Bank.

Tom Warren, Jack Thompson and Rodney Watson will exhibit oils, pencils, water colors and bronze sculptures.

Warren, following in the footsteps of his father and grandfather, was a working cowboy during the Dust Bowl days of the 1930's.

Inspired by an era of the West of which he was a part, Warren chooses to preserve life of those times in four mediums - steel and bronze sculputre, oils and water colors.

Self taught artist, he represented Texas during the week of culture at the National Bicentennial Celebration in Philadelphia. He has shown in New York City, Chicago, Phoenix, Los Angeles and other cities.

Charter member of Texas Cowboy Artist Association, he currently is serving as president of Western Artist Guild.

Thompson, a native of Atlanta, resides in Plainview. Son of a Northeast Texas rancher, he has studied under noted western artists as Warren and Paul Wylie.

Thompson was commissioned in 1976 by the Department of Interior to paint a large mural for the National Park Service.

He was invited to show his work last summer at the Fourth Annual International Cowboy Campfire Cookoff and Western Art Show in Old Abilene Town (Abilene, Texas).

Although Thompson paints cowboys, his bronzes are mainly influenced by the Indians. He has studied extensively the history and culture of the Kiowa Indians.

Watson, too, is a native of Plainview. He has had a love for the cowboy since he was "old enough to point a finger and holler bang!"

According to his parents, no one, with the exception maybe of John Wayne, has gone through more holsters and guns than Rodney.

From a long line of pioneers, Watson's grandfather came to the area in a covered wagon.

Fast becoming known for his pencils, oils and bronze sculptures, his art work reflects his sense of humor as he captures the cowboy in odd and humorous situations.

Superintendent's Contract Renewed

School board members, meeting Monday evening, voted to give students an extra day of Christmas vacation. Previously set up for school to resume Monday, Jan. 2, 1978, the calendar was altered to call for classes to resume Tuesday, Jan. 3.

Other changes made in the school calendar were to cancel the teachers' workday scheduled for Jan. 13. No classes were to have been held that day but the revision now calls for a regular school day.

The Jan. 13 workday for teachers was replaced with a May 26 session.

Board members accepted bids on two school buses from Landmark Baptist Church of San Antonio. The two brought $1,582.31 and $1,571.24.

In other action, approval was given for the school to go one-half the cost with the Band Boosters for carpeting the band hall.

An okay was given for the sale of lots three, four and five in block 30 for $500 to the Church of God of the First Born.

Superintendent Joe Turner was given a three-year renewal on his contract with a raise of $250. The superintendent's travel allowance was increased from 16 to 18 cents per mile.

Turner reported that attendance was about the same as last report and the school lunch room was "holding its own."

Radar System In Use

Operation of the new radar system has led to some misconceptions concerning speed limits in the city.

Speed limits within the city limits in residential areas is 30 miles per hour unless otherwise posted.

Radar enforcement of speed limits has resulted in a number of persons being stopped because of speeding. Chief of Police Gayle Morgan reminds all persons to observe speed limits.

School zone limits are 15 miles per hour.

Chief Morgan also issues a reminder to residents to take proper precautions in preventing burglaries of Christmas parcels from cars and homes.

"While in town shopping," he says, "keep your packages locked in the trunk of your car - not inside the car where they will tempt shoplifters or thieves."

"Don't leave your car unattended too long at one time," Morgan adds.

"At home, keep gifts out of sight till just before Christmas. Keep shades drawn when gone from home."

Morgan also advised residents not to leave Christms lights burning.

"If you're going to be gone for a period of time, let some neighbor know. Have them watch the house for you, advise them if you expect to have persons come to the house."

Persons are advised to be observant of descriptions of strange persons or vehicles in the area. License numbers of suspicious vehicles should be noted.

"We want everyone to have a happy and safe Christmas," Morgan announced.

Olton Community Clinic Providing Health Care

Olton Community Clinic is once again providing Oltonites with the services of a doctor. Dr. Betty Johanson of Lubbock is on duty in the clinic each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Wauline Lilley of Plainview, registered nurse, is on duty five days each week, Mondays through Fridays. She can provide first aid service, check blood pressure, administer physician ordered injections, change medical dressings and other general services.

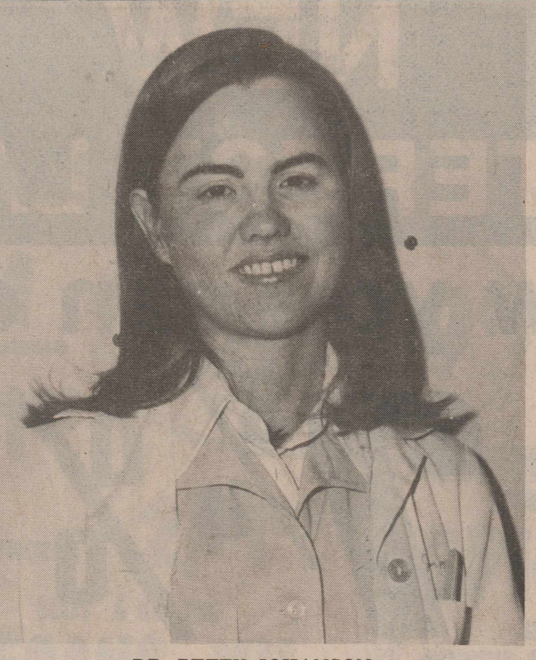

"She can offer general advice and make recommendations for persons who need to check with a physician," said Dr. Johanson.

Also on duty at the clinic each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon are Sherry Hughes of Plainview, medical technologist, and Kathy Allen of Lubbock, registered nurse and Family Nurse Practitioner student.

Ms. Allen is planning for the provision of a well baby clinic.

The clinic is a full-pay clinic. Medicare and Medicaid are accepted. Tina Williams of Littlefield is secretary for the clinic and is on duty each Tuesday and Thursday.

Phone number for the clinic is 285-2916. Residents are requested to record this number in their phone directories.

Mustang Roundballers Grab Runner-Up Win In Tourney

Mustang roundballers finished in the runner-up spot last weekend in competition in the Ralls Basketball Tournament. The OHS Fillies finished third.

"We had a fine tournament," said Coach Don Ledbetter of his boys' second place finish. "We should, however, have had first place but due to turnovers and missed lay-ups we came out second. The boys played very hard the entire tournament and we are very proud of our trophy and our 5-5 record."

"Coach Larry Ledbetter and I would like to invite all Olton fans to come and watch their teams play. We have a fine season going and feel with backing from our fans, it will get even better."

The Mustangs won an exciting 47-45 opener over Tahoka. Olton led just two points at the end of the first and second time periods but held a four point lead at the end of the third.

Brad Allcorn scored 22 to lead the Mustangs. Mike Landrum picked up 12; Kelly Cox, five and Roy Craig, four. Cox got eight rebounds; Michael Pyle, five; Jeff Neinast, four and Allcorn, three.

Friday night found the Mustangs stopping Ralls 59-47. Allcorn scored 23 and captured 10 rebounds. Cox was 15 and nine. Landrum scored 11 with Neinast and Mike Sifuentes getting four each.

Cox got nine rebounds; Sifuentes, eight, and Neinast, five.

Littlefield played the spoiler in the championship tilt, taking a 48-42 win over the Ponies. Sifuentes led the scoring with ten; Cox, nine and Allcorn and Landrum, eight each.

Cox and Sifuentes got eight rebounds each; Neinast and Allcorn had four apiece.

Dusty Kinnison was named to the Girls All Tournament Team, averaging 18 points per game.

"She did an excellent job of running the offense," said Coach Larry Ledbetter.

"The girls played well throughout the tournament. We beat Tahoka 63-24 and came back and lost a close one, 54-55, to Ralls Friday night."

In action Saturday with Littlefield, Melanie Witten scored 20 points. Miss Kinnison had 16, picked up three rebounds and one steal.

Nancy Britton and Jan Spain scored seven and six points, respectively.

Leading rebounders were Janet Huguley and Donice Quigley with eight each. Miss Quigley had one steal. Sherri Hutson got three rebounds and one steal.

Both teams were in competition this weekend in their own tournament.

Certificates Available For Olton History Book

Stuck for an imaginative Christmas gift for a friend, husband or wife, a relative? How about a history book? This beautiful, hard bound leatherette collector's edition of the history of the Olton Area is being offered by the Olton Historic Preservation Society on a pre-sale basis for $23, plus sales tax. The limited copies of this book contain the history of the Olton Area: its beginnings, its struggles, its growth, and its people -- your neighbors.

The holiday season reminds us of the need to be thinking about appropriate gifts for special people. A copy of the Olton Area History Book would be an ideal gift for that "hard to shop for" persons as well as anyone on a gift list.

These days it is hard to find an original and valuable gift. The Olton Area History Book promises to be both. So get your gift certificates today by contacting the Olton Historic Preservation Society, 285-2604.

Olton Reaches Goal In United Way Fund

Area residents turned Olton's United Way goal into a reality as funds reached the $9,000 mark. Several volunteer workers have yet to report so the fund is expected ensure Olton's contributions to American Cancer Society, American Heart Association, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, Easter Seals, American Red Cross, Salvation Army, Kids Incorporated, Caprock Council of Girl Scouts and South Plains Council of Boy Scouts.

Campaign chairman, Mrs. Fred Thompson, this week expressed appreciation to the more than 60 persons who generously gave of their time for the door-to-door canvass.

Local businesses and area people gave generously in support of the second annual drive, an "all-in-one" fund campaign.

"Everyone deserves a pat on the back," Mrs. Thompson says. "Our final report should be available soon."

Bonus Day Winners Told

Christmas Bonus Days dollars were won Saturday by six lucky persons with the recipients taking home certificates valued at $290.

Betty Eby was winner of the top money for the week, $75. Other winners were Jill Green, $60; JoAnn Gonzales, $50; Kathy Lopez, $45; Mildred Roberts, $35 and Nadine Weaver, $25.

Firecrackers In City Limits

Popping firecrackers and bursting rockets are okay but not inside the city limits!

Chief of Police Gayle Morgan reports that the fireworks ordinance, adopted many years ago, will be enforced this year because of repeated requests from city residents.

"We've already had numerous complaints of last year and folks asking us to stop it," he said. "If we catch them, all violators will be prosecuted."

The ordinance provides for fines ranging from $5 to $100.

Morgan stated the ordinance also prohibits the sale of fireworks within the city limits.

City Judge Resigns Effective Dec. 31

City council met Tuesday night for a regular business session.

Council voted unanimously to charge residents $25 to exchange water meters, unless the original meter was defective. Several requests for exchange of meters prompted the action. Also approved was a charge of $2.50 for additional meter readings, unless the reading proved to be erroneous.

In other action, council approved a 10 cents an hour raise for all sanitation department workers, and purchased a typewriter for the Police Department from Wayne's Printing.

Baptist Youth To Sell Drinks At Drawing

Youth of Victory Baptist Church will be selling hot coffee, hot chocolate, Cokes and other refreshments during the afternoon hours Saturday, near the site of the Christmas Bonus Days drawing.

The concessions stand will operate from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

The youthful organization has also made plans for a hay ride and caroling Dec. 21. Drawn by a tractor furnished by Olton Equipment, provision has been made for ample room. All interested persons are welcome to accompany them.

Open House At Olton Bank

As an expression of sincere good wishes to patrons and friends, Olton State Bank will serve wassail and Christmas goodies in the bank lobby during business hours, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Thursday and Friday, Dec. 22-23.

Bank officials extend a cordial invitation to area people to drop by for a moment of relaxation with friends.

Band Concert Set Monday

Olton Bands will present a Christmas Concert Monday evening, Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the school auditorium. Plans also include a showing of the film of the marching contest.

Featured in the concert will be the Jazz Ensemble, Junior High Band and High School Band. Christmas music and popular songs will be presented.

Admission is $1 for adults; 50 cents for students and may be purchased at the door.

Olton Lions Have Dinner

Christmas arrangements featuring red votive cup candles and greenery decorated the head table. Other tables were centered with red candles encircled with greenery and pine cones. Small 1978 calendars were placed at each plate.

Mrs. George Redinger presented the program featuring scripture and the classic poem, "The Christmas Guest." Everyone joined in singing Christmas carols to the accompaniment of Miss Cynthia Sorley who also presented dinner music.

Meeting in regular session Tuesday noon, Lions were entertained with second grade music students of Mrs. Vickie LaFrance.

Decorating Contest Open

It isn't too late to decorate homes or businesses for competition in the decoration contest being sponsored by Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. Out of town judges will determine the business with the most authentic "old fashioned" Christmas decor and the "prettiest" residential decorations.

Judging is Tuesday, Dec. 20 with businesses graded from 5 to 6 p.m. and residences reviewed from 7 to 9 p.m.

First prizes in each category are hams. Second and third place prizes are turkeys and fruit cakes, respectively.

COW POKES — By Ace Reid

"Yeah, Jake . . .I had a husband one time but his wife come and got him!"

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

By Mozelle Trotter

Recollections of Christmases past have brought me a new awareness. I was a rich little poor girl!

'Tis true. By the present scale, in my childhood days, I was one -- among countless others -- who would today be placed in the proverty class. I never realized it though and though my parents had to have worried over the next meal or the next pair of shoes, they didn't bear scars from that era.

I remember Christmases as happy times. Santa somehow found it possible to leave one, or maybe two gifts, beside the coal heater in the front room that also served as master bedroom and childrens' bedroom. My cotton stocking (that lovely piece of "intimate apparel" which was necessary to prevent pneumonia!) also filled up that night with an orange, apple, some nuts and candy and - generally - the traditionl package (singular) of sparklers and fire crackers.

One Christmas stands out in my memory for there was a second gift from Santa Claus - a beautiful pink celluloid dresser set and suddenly I became a young lady instead of a little girl.

Today when 'most everyone has a Christmas tree, it's a bit hard to realize that our first was long after I realized there was some truth in that ugly story I heard on the school bus -- there is no Santa Claus.

Yes, I was a poor child if that is one whose parents have only the meager money found in pocket or purse. But I was the ichest kid in the country.

I had a mother who made two kinds of candy or sometimes three. Such riches for that special time of the year!

And I had a Daddy who could make up the most wonderful stories -- and tell us about when he was a little boy.

I had love and, after all, that was far better than gold.

VISITS CHILDREN

Mrs. Hazle Creed of Albuquerque, N.M., is here presently with her sons and families, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Creek, Lonnie and Tammy and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Creek, Stella and J.T. She is also a guest of her daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Benton and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lockeby, Johnnie and Robbie.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Silcott:

Thank you very much, on behalf of Mrs. Carter for your recent letter concerning the possibility of participation by gay rights groups in the Carter campaign.

We appreciate your interest but are unable categorically to confirm or deny that advocates of the gay rights movement participated in the campaign, and we are unaware of the photograph which you mentioned. We can let you know, however, that Margaret Costanza, Assistant to the President, has met with representatives of the gay movement in order to give gay people an opportunity to outline their grievances with the federal government. Her action has been in keeping with the President's commitment that access by given to all groups. As she has said:

I receive both support and criticism for holding these meetings. I am grateful for the support I receive. I will never apologize for providing any groups, gay or otherwise, with the opportunity to participate in their government.

President Carter is committed to doing his best to serve all American people rather than any special interest group. He welcomes the advice of his fellow citizens and applauds the spirit of participation which you have demonstrated by your letter. Thank you again for writing.

Sincerely,
Rhonda Bush
Director of Correspondence
for Mrs. Carter

Dear Editor:

The one and only thing that I ask Santa to bring me is the opportunity to get my kids back that were taken away from me because I did not have a home and a job.

My husband was killed in April and one day after his funeral, the baby was born.

Please help me get a job.

Olton Study Club Hosts Christmas Dinner

With gaiety of the Yuletide, Olton Study Club hosted its annual Christmas Dinner Monday, Dec. 12, in Woman's Club House. Turkey and all the trimmings were served along with assorted cuts of pies as dessert.

The buffet arrangement of foods featured an all white centerpiece, white poinsettias, angels and candle, posed upon a red cloth. Small serving tables were centered with arrangements of Christmas greenery surrounding red votive candles. The red and white theme was carried out in place cards, table mints and napkins.

With the thought "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, today and forever" Mrs. E.R. Spain shared devotional thoughts and prayer.

Following the meal Christmas carols were presented at piano by Dean Carson. An early day Christmas in West Texas was the section shared by Mardema Ogletree from the book "Walnut Grove" written by Jane Gilmore Rushing, of Lubbock.

An exchange of Christmas gifts was directed by Mmes. Inez Yates and Susie Aikman.

In attendance were members and guests Messrs. and Mmes. J.L. Carson Jr., H.B. Carson, Frank Cornelius, Bailey Hair, Carl Hooper, Barton Prestridge, Glenn Singleterry, and E.R. Spain.

Lessons From The Bible

Evidence From John #1

At the beginning of the ministry of Jesus, John records the first of the seven miracles that prove Jesus to be the Son of God (John 2:1-11). Here Jesus had been invited to the wedding and at the feast, the need arose for more wine. Jesus had the servants fill the pots with water and as soon as they had filled them they began to draw out wine that was the best that had been served. In this miracle Jesus shows that he is the master over quality by changing water to wine, the best wine.

This shows what Jesus can do today with us. He can take the most wretched sinner and cleanse every stain and make them justified before God. That is truly a Master over Quality.

WEEKEND GUESTS

Family Outings Are Favorites

Family outings are among Vandra Milloy's "favorite things." She loves the family fun times, enjoys fishing and is an avid enthusiast of snow skiing.

Vandra and Randy are fairly new members of the West Texas-New Mexico Paint Horse Club and Randy enjoys roping.

Inside the home, Vandra likes to do needlepoint.

The Milloys have a three-year-old son, Randy Van, and one-year-old daughter, Micah Nacole. Vandra's little poodle, Banjo, considers himself a member of the family.

Vandra was born in Olton, the daughter of Sandra and Huck Nichols, and spent quite a bit of her growing up in Olton, visiting with her grandparents, the Jack Straws, and the Bill Nicholses.

Randy grew up in Friona but lived for a time in California. He is a "new farmer" beginning that career when they moved here in December, 1975.

Vandra is a member of First United Methodist Church and Alpha Rho Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

FRENCH BREAD

5½-6½ c flour
2 pkgs yeast
1 T sugar
2 T shortening
1 T salt
2¼ c very hot water

Combine 2 c. flour, yeast, sugar, salt in bowl. Add shortening then hot tap water. Beat on high speed.

Knead on board until smooth, with remaining flour. Cover with plastic wrap and let warm cloth cover plastic. Let rise 20 min. Make into 2 long loaves.

Brush will oil if you want tender top or brush with water for a tough top. Slash with knife and refrigerate. Will keep 24 hours or you can cook immediately on greased cookie sheet. Cook 400° for 30-40 min.

CHRISTMAS COOKIES

6 c pecans
½ lb red pineapple
½ lb green pineapple
½ lb red cherries
½ lb green cherries

Cut in chunks.

Cream 1 c. brown sugar and ½ c. oleo. Add 4 eggs, 4 c. sifted flour. Use 1 c. flour over nuts and fruit. To 3 c. flour add 1 t. soda, allspice, cinnamon, nutmeg and pinch of salt. Also ⅓ c. of wine and 3 T. milk. Bake at 350° for 12 minutes.

PEACH TORTE

1⅓ c flour
1½ t baking powder
½ c Crisco
1½ c sugar
4 eggs
½ t almond flavoring
½ c milk
½ t cream of tartar
1 qt sliced fresh peaches

Sift flour and measure, add baking powder to flour. Set aside.

Cream Crisco, gradually add ½ c. sugar. Cream together until fluffy. Separate eggs. Add yolks to mixture one at a time beating well after each addition. Add flour mixture alternately with milk ⅓ contents at a time stirring after each addition only enough to blend.

Cover 9" pan with wax paper and spread mixture in pan, slightly higher toward the edges.

Beat egg whites until frothy. Add cream of tartar and beat until just stiff but not dry. Slowly beat in remaining sugar 2 T. at a time. Beating after each addition until very smooth and glossy. Spread evenly over batter layer. Bake in moderate oven 325° for 40 min. Cool 1½ hr. Serve topped with sliced peaches and whipped cream.

John E. Lewis Retires, After 22 Years

By Felicia Duncan

"He walks soft and sweet, with no jealousy in his heart," observed evangelist Boyce Evans of his host pastor, the Rev. John E. Lewis, in a revival service last spring. And this description struck the chord of truth to those assembled in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church of Olton.

Lewis and his wife, Cathryn, are being honored today in an official "Lewis Day" celebration - a day of special recognition of 22 years of faithful and loving service to the First Baptist Church and the Olton community - a day that will usher in a time of new beginnings for both the Lewises and the local congregation.

Retiring from active ministry, Lewis will preach his final sermon Sunday, Dec. 18, one of the 4,350 sermons he has delivered in his lifetime.

A community-wide covered dish luncheon at the school cafeteria will follow the morning worship service. Those unable to attend the noon meal are invited to come at their convenience for the program and fellowship.

In a recent "Lewis Line" column from the weekly church bulletin - and he estimates he's penned or "typed up" at least 1,000 such columns, Lewis wrote, "Retirement is supposed to be a pleasant time of life, and I think it will be, nevertheless, breaking old ties, habits, customs, and leavng old friends is not as simple as it sounds. We have had 22 wonderfully enriching years at Olton and we pray that future ones will be as rewarding."

Their retirement plans include establishing residence in Waco, chosen because they have a fondness for the Central Texas area where they have previously lived and it is geographically convenient for reunions with their children and grandchildren.

Nov. 20, 1955, Lewis preached his first sermon as minister of the First Baptist Church. In 1956 Mrs. Lewis began her teaching career in Olton Junior High School, a career that would continue through the 1976-77 school year.

There are innumerable poignant memories involved in the span of years that Lewis has walked among the people of Olton. He has traveled through many of life's experiences with members of his congregation - from birth to death - through momentous events such as baptisms, ordinations, weddings and graduations.

Whatever the situation, whether joyful or sad, Lewis is acclaimed as "one of the best" special occasion speakers. Invariably after one of his speeches or sermons, comments are unanimous that he "always says just the right things in just the right way."

As dean of ministers in the Baptist Staked Plains Association, chalking up more years with one church than any of the 36 pastors, Lewis has seen a dozen music directors come and go. In the main these directors have been Wayland College students, as the Olton church has utilized their services in a relationship of mutual benefit.

When the Lewises moved to Olton from Seymour their family included Joanna, Elaine and Johnny, ages 11, 9 and 4, respectively. They now are married and have added six grandchildren to the Lewis clan.

Lewis enjoys football, especially the Baylor Bears and Olton Mustangs, and he and Mrs. Lewis have been faithful fans, seated in their top row spots of Memorial Stadium. With typical parental pride, they especially enjoyed the years Johnny starred with the Mustangs.

Golf is another interest that Lewis anticipates enjoying in his retirement years.

There's little doubt that a minister and his family holds a unique position in a community. Regarding the most difficult aspect of being a minister, Lewis confessed that "It's living in the 'fish bowl' and at the same time, it's the loneliness attached to a preacher's life."

"But the most rewarding," he continued, "is in seeing people saved and in helping people in their troubles and sorrows."

Their children took being "P.K's" (preacher's kids) in stride and, according to Lewis "apparently were never embarrassed about it. Now I think they are proud of it."

Regarding the changing circumstances of a ministerial family in the community today as compared to 30 or so years ago, he feels that churches provide better for their needs and that there are seemingly less demands made on a pastor's wife.

Another marked change he noted is that there is now so much competition within a community that demands the attention of the people, thus affecting church loyalty.

Asked if there were another career he would liked to have pursued had God not called him to the ministry, Lewis confessed, "I had a dream about becoming a pharmacist."

His sense of humor is an endearing trait and doubtless helps lighten the load and smooth the path of a pastor's life. He enjoys a bit of lighthearted teasing and is not reluctant to poke fun at some of his own foibles, such as his aversion of yardwork, though gardening he enjoys, the irony of being able to recall the name of a new acquaintance and yet drawing a blank at a familiar face, the absentmindedness of crawling into the backseat of his own car after making a pastoral site.

In a pastor's line of duty disconcerning and amusing incidents occur, especially at weddings. He recalls a time when he asked a couple to join hands and the nervous bridegroom shot his hand straight up as if taking an oath.

Sauntering to the post office for the daily mail, whistling softly through the halls of the church, singing in the Bicentennial Quartet, closing his weekly column with "See you at the sermon" . . . . all will be part of the memories Lewis's church members will recall in years to come.

Lewis surrendered to preach in the spring of 1937 under the ministry of Dr. A. Hope Owen in the First Baptist Church at Quanah. He preached his first sermon on Mother's Day of that year in his home church.

Born in Waco, the son of a Baptist minister, he graduated from Quanah High School and entered Baylor University during the depression years, later graduating in 1943. He and Cathryn Ferguson, daughter of a Fort Worth grain broker, were married in 1938 while students at Baylor. A graduate of Central High School in Fort Worth, she attended Texas Wesleyan before transferring to Baylor. They moved in 1939 to Lewis's first pastorate at Friendship near Altus, Okla. Their studies were resumed at Baylor when he was called to the pastorate at Oglesby. He later pastored at Rogers while studying at Southwestern Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. Following completion of seminary studies, he accepted the pastorate at Henrietta where he served four years before moving to Seymour as pastor of First Baptist Church in that city.

When the Olton church called Lewis in 1955 as its pastor, he brought to the church a deep commitment to shepherd the congregation with a steady and patient hand. He expressed his faith in his initial service that "the future can be filled with victories if we rely on the Lord to lead us."

Some highlights of the past 22 years include the construction of a spacious brick parsonage in 1957. In 1959 two houses were purchased and located on acquired property north of the church building to be used as youth classrooms. A home for the music and youth director was provided in 1973 and is known as the "Musilage." The sanctuary was redecorated in 1967 and this year the fellowship hall and kitchen have been carpeted and refurbished.

Brother Roberto Salinas was called to pastor the Trinity Mission this year and a new educational building is being completed. Trinity Mission was moved to its present location in 1958.

Churches that have been assisted financially by the Olton church are Broadway Baptist and Pantanio Baptist Chapel, both in Tucson, Ariz.; Raven Oaks Baptist Church, Omaha, Neb.; and Alameda Hill Baptist Church, Denver, Colo. Wayland Baptist College is included in the church budget, a budget that has more than doubled in the past two decades to the figure of $92,872 for 1977-78.

A total of $580,000 has been given by the Olton church for missions - home, state, and foreign during the period 1956-77.

Twelve men have been ordained as deacons and 716 persons have been baptized. Lewis estimates he had baptized 225 prior to his Olton ministry.

He has assisted with several out-of-state revival crusades; namely the Wisconsin-Minnesota area in 1958, Dayton, Ohio in 1967, the California Crusade for Christ in 1968, and a Washington-Oregon crusade in Bremerton, Wash., in 1974.

During his 38-year ministry Lewis has performed 490 weddings, conducted 387 funeral services, been involved in 115 revivals either as evangelist or host pastor, and has participated in 34 vacation Bible Schools, the latter being one of his favorite activities.

Some milestones in the history of the past two decades are a ten-week "Put Your Heart In It" attendance campaign in 1956 that resulted in the establishment of two new Sunday School departments; a "Forward Program" church finance undertaking in 1958; a "Prove the Tithe Day" that resulted in an overall increase in church offerings; and a Lay Witness week in 1962.

Lewis has held numerous offices in the Staked Plains Association. Also, he has been a member of the State Missions Commission of the Texas Baptist Convention; chairman of Trustees, Plains Baptist Assembly; member of Caprock Plains Area Board; and member of Buckner Forum.

In the churches her husband has pastored Mrs. Lewis worked with youth for approximately 30 years, serving as Sunday School and Training Union director and teacher; has been Girl's Auxiliary and Y.W.A. leader and associate youth director of District II. She also has taught a class of Young Married Women, worked in the Toddlers Department, and has taught the L.E.L. Sunday class since last summer.

Her professional affiliations have included the Texas State Teachers Association, the N.E.A., Lamb County Teachers Association, Delta Kappa Gamma, and Texas Education Associates.

W. S. Meadows

Services were held recently in Tapp Funeral Home for William Stanley Meadows, 82, of Winnsboro, father of Otis Meadows and a former resident of Olton.

Officiating were the Rev. Ray Nichols and the Rev. Ira Davidson. Burial was in Shirley Cemetery.

A retired farmer and carpenter, Meadows died Sunday evening in a Pittsburg hospital. He was a Baptist. He was born Dec. 17, 1894 in Hopkins County, the son of Sam and Lizzie Crowell Meadows.

Other survivors include his wife; a stepson, Billy Keener of Diboll; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Margie Sparks of Scroggins and Mrs. Margaret Wisdom of Sulphur Springs; a brother, Hubert Meadows of Como; a half-brother, Buck Tillery of Como; a sister, Mrs. Florence Barker of Cumby; two half-sisters, Gladys Russell of Emory and Mrs. Willie Myers of Winnsboro; three grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren; one great-great-grandchild and a host of step-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Kennith Wisdom, A.L. Brown, Matthew Parr, Johnny McElyea, Sidney Sparks, William Potts, Sammy Potts and Tommy Sanderson.

Fred Daugherty

Fred R. Daugherty, 63, of Clovis, N.M. died Saturday of an apparent heart attack. Born in Olton he was brother of Mrs. Raymon Carson and B.C. and Frank (Curley) Daugherty.

Services were at 2 p.m. Monday in First United Methodist Church of Clovis with the Rev. Richard Payne and the Rev. W.E. "Bill" King officiating. Graveside rites were by Clovis Masonic Lodge no. 40 in Lawnhouse Cemetery. Arrangements were by Steed-Todd Funeral Home, Clovis.

Daugherty moved to Clovis in 1941. He was a rancher, member of the National and State Cattlemen's Association, a member of the United Methodist Church, Masonic Lodge, Clovis Mounted Patrol and the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

He is survived by his wife Ruth L.; one daughter, Mrs. J.M. Simms of Amarillo; one other sister, Mrs. Lyda Reinkemeyer of El Paso; one other brother, Tim of Dublin and three grandchildren.

J. B. Smith

Funeral services for Julian Bassett (Red) Smith, 72, were held 11 a.m. Tuesday in Lemons Memorial Chapel with Dr. Carlos McLeod, pastor of First Baptist Church of Plainview and the Rev. Hardy Clemons, pastor of Second Baptist Church of Lubbock officiating. Burial was in Plainview Memorial Park. Smith died Saturday in Central Plains General Hospital. He was a cousin of Mrs. A.W. Kersh.

Born in Plainview Smith grew up in the Halfway Community and was a graduate of Plainview High School. He farmed in the Halfway and Cousins communities and was commissioner three terms of Hale County Precinct 4. He was member of Plainview First Baptist Church. Smith was president of Hale County Farm Bureau two terms and was active in Plainview Rodeo Association.

Survivors are his wife Clara, a daughter, Mrs. Carol McGilvery, Hereford; two sons, J. Bassett Smith, Plainview, and Nelson Smith, San Angelo; a brother, Winford Smith, Halfway; a sister, Mrs. Kathleen Clemons of Lubbock and six grandchildren.

SUE BROADERSON AND DWIGHT JOINER

Oltonites' Kin Writes Book For Music

Dwight Joiner, Dimmitt Middle School music teacher is author of a 70 page book, "A Pentatonic Travelogue Through Holidays, Moods and Seasons." Sue Broaderson, Dimmitt High School Art teacher, did the illustrations of the book.

Joiner is husband of the former Beth Stansell. He wrote the book to provide material to be used with the Orff system which was introduced into the Dimmitt schools during the 1976-77 school year. Joiner attended a four week study course of the Orff system at Stephen F. Austin University, Nacogdoches and gained certification in level one. One of Dwight's goals is to reach level three which requires nine weeks of study at the Orff clinic in Salzburg, Austria.

Joiner explains "Movement, rhythm, singing, playing and creating are the five elements of the Orff system. Improved coordination, memory sequencing and memory control are some of the side benefits of the program."

Joiner adds "Students use rhythm games, rhythmic speech verses and body movements such as stamping, patting, snapping and clapping as well as pitch percussion instruments, namely, metallaphones, glockenspiels, xylophones and non-pitch percussion instruments. The students start out making music, then later learn principles behind it."

The Orff system is based on the peritatonic or five-tone scale because there are no disonances in that scale.

This fall Joiner has composed twelve songs and five speech verses included in his second book "Sage Brush Sagas". Within the last few weeks he has written the operetta "A Night For Miracles" which was presented Dec. 13 and 14 in Middle School auditorium. All choirs of Dimmitt school system was presented. Joiner wrote the overture with its music typical of Biblical times, words and music of the vocal numbers and music for the instrumental accompaniments including piano, flute and Orff instruments. Soloist was Ruby Moultrie, Dimmitt elementary music teacher and Doug Henry, music instructor in Dimmitt junior high and high school, directed all school choirs. Joiner played harpsichord accompaniment.

Born at Leonard, Joiner finished Pilot Point High School, earned his bachelor's degree at North Texas State University, Denton and is presently doing graduate work at West Texas State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Joiner have two sons, Cory, 5, and Brandon, 2. Mrs. Joiner is a fifth grade teacher at Dimmitt.

Texas Historic Marker To Be Near Fieldton

An Official Texas Historical Marker for MacKenzie Trail will be erected Jan. 27, 1978, 0.5 miles south of Fieldton, on FM 1072, according to V.M. Peterman chairman of the county historical commission.

Made of cast aluminum with Swedish steel effect, the marker measures 18x28 inches and is sponsored by Lamb County Historical Commission. The inscription on the marker reads: ONE OF THE TRAILS OF COL. RANALD S. MACKENZIE

Col. Ranald S. MacKenzie of the United States Army was ordered in the 1870s to conquer Indians on Texas frontiers. He led 240 enlisted men and eight officers in an expedition along the draw here. Heading toward New Mexico, he hoped to break up a ring of traders paying Indians to steal cattle and horses. He marched past this point about Aug. 1, 1872, in a swift, secret move against the traders. The path beaten out by his men was serviceable later to scouts and settlers. Its traces are still known as MacKenzie's Trail.

Marking of local historic sites and landmarks is part of Texas Historical Commission's program of preservation activities. These include archeological investigations, history museum consultation, and administering the National Historic Preservation Act in Texas. As of 1976 the commission had erected more than 7,200 official markers.

The name and location of the present marker will appear in the next edition of the Guide to Official Texas Historical Markers in order to stimulate tourist travel in this area, to arouse interest in historical tours, and to acquaint the people of this locale with their unique heritage.

Dedication plans will be announced in the near future.
