Second meltdown thought possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence agencies now believe that a second Soviet nuclear reactor at the Chernobyl complex either has already experienced, or is experiencing, a meltdown, administration sources said today.

The sources, who agreed to discuss the matter only if not identified, also disclosed that the first reactor to be destroyed in the disaster apparently began experiencing a "major problem" last Friday.

By Saturday, the problem had evolved into a meltdown of the reactor core, and by Sunday, apparently while trying to deal with the meltdown, a chemical explosion was touched off that ripped the reactor building apart.

The sources refused to detail how the U.S. intelligence agencies had reached their conclusions that a second reactor at the site was experiencing problems.

One official noted that there were four nuclear reactors at the complex and that the four were "twinned" in pairs in terms of their operation and link-up to large generator halls.

The official stressed that the United States had not been able to verify a second meltdown as yet, but repeatedly maintained there were "other indications" beyond just the close proximity of the two reactor buildings to suggest the second reactor was in serious trouble.

Offering the most detailed account yet of the findings by U.S. intelligence officials, the sources said it was clear that the disaster was continuing.

A fire at the first reactor is still burning, venting smoke, vapors and radiation, one source said.

There are a small number of Soviets at the site, apparently trying to contain that fire, the source continued. All four reactors at the complex are definitely shut down, the source said.

Intelligence officials have now determined "that there was probably a problem, a major problem, at this plant on Friday," the source said.

"They may have been able to evacuate people at that time. On Saturday, it developed into a meltdown. It may be that in trying to deal with that, to contain it, they touched off a chemical explosion, probably hydrogen.

Fallout might be detected in the United States by the weekend, but the amounts would be too small to be dangerous, U.S. specialists said. Because of shifting wind patterns, there were forecasts the radiation could show up on both coasts.

The radioactive cloud looped back toward Central Europe and the Soviet Union from Scandinavia on Tuesday, and weathermen around the world tried to track the fallout.

Reports drew a picture of seeming unconcern in Kiev.

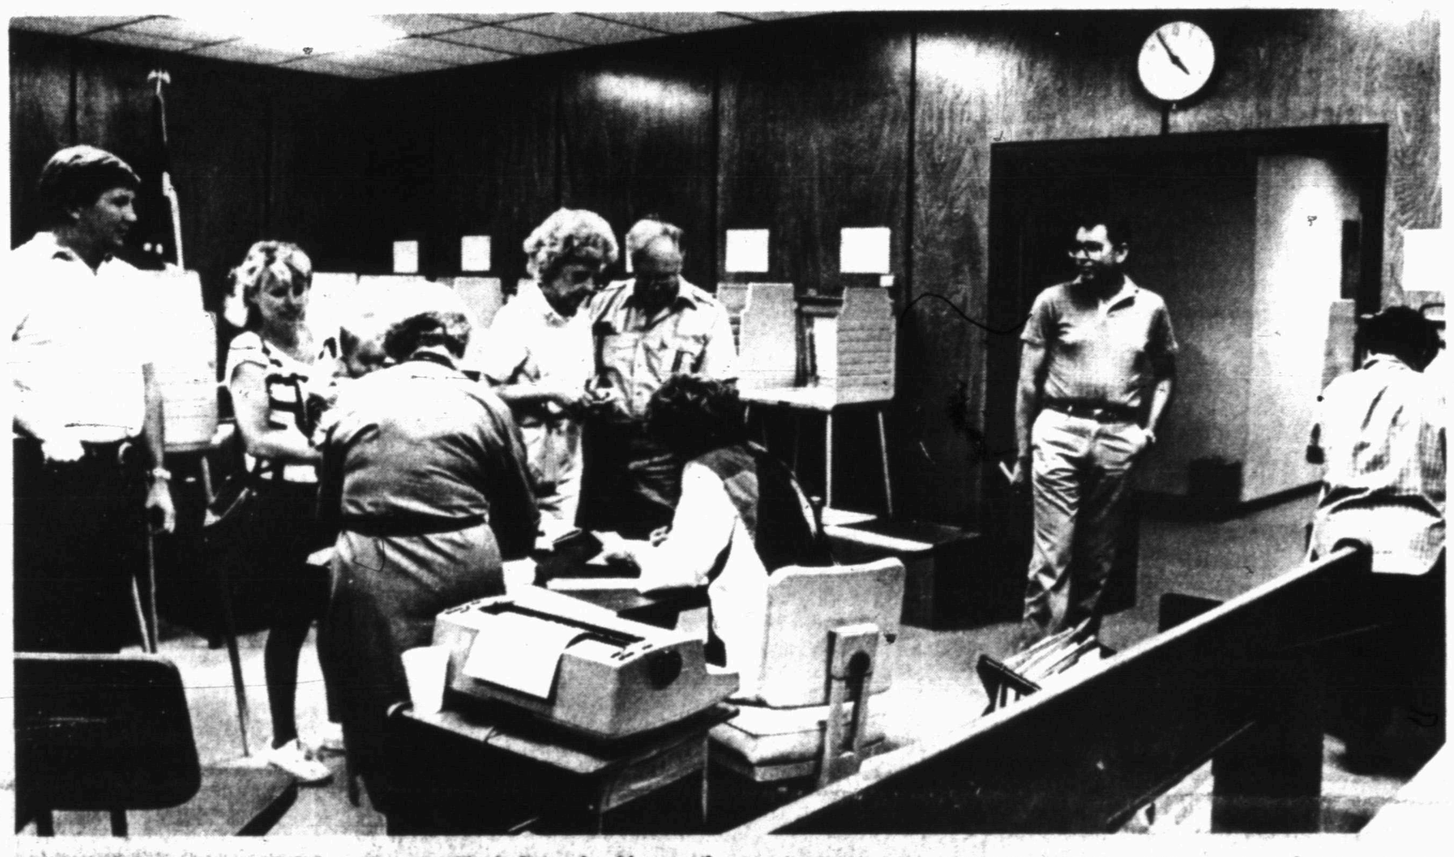

U. S. reports mishap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American government, making use of its spy satellites, is telling the world through leaks and intelligence briefings what the Soviet Union won't tell its own people: One of history's worst nuclear power disasters could be a million times worse than Three Mile Island.

The U.S. government is laying out a picture of a reactor building blown apart, a gigantic raging fire and deadly radiation still thrown into the air four days after the still unexplained mishap at Chernobyl, 60 miles north of Kiev in the Soviet Union's breadbasket, the Ukraine.

Emerging from a closed-door briefing Tuesday by the Central Intelligence Agency, Sen. Malcolm Wallop, R-Wyo., said, "One would have to assume that

ABSENTEE VOTING ENDS — County Clerk Beverly Ainsworth reported increased activity Tuesday afternoon as absentee voting for the May 3 Democratic and Republican primaries came to a close. The ballot ended with the highest Republican count ever for the the county. Democrats still voted in numbers 3 to 1 greater, however. (SDN Staff Photo)

Retirement slated by two principals

The retirement announcement for two longtime Snyder school principals will be considered at the next regularly scheduled session of the school board.

Announcing their intent to retire at the end of this school year is James (Dutch) Stehley, principal at junior high; and Frank Miller, principal at West Elementary.

Miller was the first to join the system, beginning in the fall of 1952. Stehley followed in 1956 — giving the two a combined service of 63 years at Snyder ISD.

After teaching two years as a math teacher at Bronte, Miller accepted a post here as a math and industrial arts teacher at Snyder High School.

He later helped establish the industrial arts program at Travis Junior High, then returned to SHS as coordinator and teacher of the program there.

He moved into administration in 1964, appointed principal of North Elementary. In 1969, he moved to West as principal.

He is a graduate of Sul Ross University, receiving a BS degree in education; and of Texas A&M, where he received his master of education.

Stehley came to Snyder from Kansas, first hired as an assistant football coach and head track coach.

His administrative duties began in 1966 when he was named assistant principal at Travis Junior High. Travis and Lamar Junior High were later combined into one campus and Stehley

GOP absentee count on rise

As absentee voting ended Tuesday for local party primaries, an average turnout for Democrats was noted while the Republican numbers were considerably higher than figures counted two years ago.

Three Republican opponents in the state governor's race plus at least one contested race for a local Republican nomination were pointed to as the cause.

Even with the surge in Republican absentee voting, county Democrats were still counted in almost 3 to 1 numbers.

The total as of 5 p.m. Tuesday was 392 absentee ballots cast by Democrats and 135 cast by Republicans. For comparison, some 40 Republicans voted absentee two years ago during primaries that featured a presidential election.

This year's local races feature a record number of Republican candidates with five running in all. There are 18 Democratic candidates seeking political office here.

In the state governor's race, three Republicans are seeking to face incumbent Gov. Mark White next November.

Dormitory student injured in fall

A resident of the Western Texas College dormitory is undergoing treatment in Cogdell Memorial Hospital for injuries sustained when he fell from a third floor stairwell at the dorm Tuesday night.

Carl Chappell of Sweetwater was admitted to Cogdell shortly after 10:30 p.m. Tuesday for treatment of injuries described as damaged ligaments, cuts and possible back injuries.

He was undergoing treatment Wednesday morning but a hospital spokesmen said his condition was not critical.

WTC dorm director David Harr said information he gathered after the fact indicated Chappell fell from the third floor exterior stair landing during a water fight which involved several students.

According to Harr, he was attempting to pour water over the side of the stairwell and apparently lost his balance.

Chappell reportedly managed to grab the railing as he fell but slipped before other students could pull him back to the third floor.

Harr said witnesses indicated Chappell landed on the ground in a sitting position.

Conventions due following ballot

Representatives from both political parties in Scurry County will elect delegates to their respective county conventions following the close of the polls Saturday night.

Only these delegates will be eligible to vote at the county gathering for delegates to attend the state convention for both Democrats and Republicans.

Conventions for local Democrats will be conducted at each of the 15 polling locations in the county. These will begin at 7:15 p.m. Saturday.

Republicans will convene at 7:30 p.m. for a precinct convention at their West Elementary polling site.

The convention sites for Democrats — listed by voting precincts — will include: Pct. 5 (Fluvanna), Fluvanna Community Center; Pct. 6 (Union), Union Community Center; Pct. 7 (Knapp) Knapp Community Center; Pct. 8, the school administration building; Pct. 9 (Ira), Ira Community Center; Pct. 10 (Dunn), Dunn Community Center; Pct. 11, Senior Citizens Center; Pct. 12 (SE Snyder), southside of the coliseum; Pct. 13 (Hermleigh), Hermleigh Community Center; Pct. 14 (Lloyd Mountain), Northeast Community Center; Pct. 15 (NE Snyder) northside of coliseum; Pct. 16, county health unit; Pct. 17 (NW Snyder), city hall; Pct. 18, national guard armory; and Pct. 19, Towle Park barn.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "You're famous if your name appears everywhere except in the phone book."

If a candidate wants to be a sure winner, he could campaign and fullfill the promise to make it rain–at just the right time and without wind and hail.

Candidates could also get some support by raising the issue over Daylight Savings Time. Some folks like it and some don't–and we have devised a typical political solution designed to appeal to everyone.

It seems that the majority of folks like the extra hours of daylight at the end of the day. As we grow older, we find the morning adjustment to DST more and more difficult.

Our solution may not be simple, but it does have appeal. Rather than change DST twice yearly, change it twice daily when no one will notice the difference.

If the time is adjusted twice daily, we can still wake up with plenty of daylight, and then have an extra hour added at the end of the day.

Employers may not go for the idea, but it sure beats having the secretary fall asleep at the typewriter. Also it would be good for the economy–at least the clock industry–as that many changes would speed up wear and tear on clocks, resulting in increased sales.

Leon Autry said he saw two families come in late Sunday morning–the first day of the time change. Autry said their late entrance may have been planned–they only had to listen to seven minutes of the sermon.

Bill and Martha Schiebel were anything but late Sunday. Bill stayed in Snyder Saturday while wife Martha attended a seminar in Lubbock.

Bill went to bed early Saturday and set the clocks up one hour. Bill was already asleep when Martha came in. Not wanting to disturb her sleeping husband, she quietly set the clocks up another hour.

While some were an hour late Sunday, the Schiebels were a full hour ahead of everyone else.

Court rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, in a victory for pro-choice forces, today refused to reinstate an Illinois law regulating abortions.

By a 9-0 vote, the court dismissed for procedural reasons an attempt to revive the law.

The justices threw out an appeal by a pediatrician who objects to abortion on moral grounds. The court said only the state has legal standing to seek reinstatement of invalidated abortion regulations.

Girl gives up masquerade because she 'got bored'

AUSTIN (AP) — A 15-year-old girl who ran away from her Tennessee home and fooled authorities for six months with tales of an international white slavery ring says she finally gave up the masquerade because she was bored.

Of all the agencies that investigated and examined her — the Collin County Sheriff's Office, Wichita Falls State Hospital, the FBI, the Immigration and Naturalization Service, the Drug Enforcement Administration and Interpol — none could find flaws in her story.

In countless repetitions, she never made a mistake.

All the information Texas law officers needed to blow a bazooka-sized holes in the story of "Countess Constance Anna Maria Tanya Mitchell" was available. But a computer glitch kept investigators in the dark.

"It was getting long and drawn out, and I didn't want to handle it anymore," said Tanya Thompson, alias "Constance," in a telephone interview Tuesday from her parents' home in Shelbyville, Tenn.

It all started when the girl appeared Sept. 18 on a Collin County road north of Dallas. She was wearing a fur coat and an evening dress and was carrying about $700 cash.

She told authorities that she lived with "masters" for six months at a time all over the world from the age of 11.

She said she had served as an escort and courier for these men, whose names she never knew, relaying briefcases with unknown contents.

But no agency ever discovered the missing persons report issued the day after Tanya ran away from home.

The teletype on the missing girl was issued through the Bedford County, Tenn., Sheriff's Office but did not turn up when Collin County mental health officer Rick Trevino put Tanya's real name in it, Trevino said. He said she gave him and one psychiatrist her real name.

Wichita Falls psychiatrists examined the girl for 11 days and returned her to Trevino with no finding of mental illness.

Trevino helped the girl find a temporary home through a Dallas refugee agency. A woman took her in and kept her for seven months until she left.

Interpol had agreed to issue a bulletin to its 138 member-countries seeking the identity of the young, dark-haired beauty who told stories of white slavery.

Accident showing influence

By The Associated Press

Wheat and corn futures prices soared on commodities exchanges amid beliefs that the Soviet nuclear accident might damage that nation's crop prospects, and U.S. utilities stocks fell as the tragedy renewed fears about nuclear safety.

Among the stocks most affected by concern over delays in U.S. nuclear construction was Long Island Lighting Co., whose stock fell 50 cents a share on the New York Stock Exchange to close Tuesday at $12.12½.

The company has encountered stiff opposition to its Shoreham nuclear power plant on New York's Long Island because of concerns over an evacuation plan.

The commodities futures soared Tuesday at the Chicago Board of Trade and Chicago Mercantile Exchange as investors gambled that damage to the Soviet crop from radiation at the Chenobyl plant near Kiev would lead to increased sales of U.S. grain.

Blood Test Is the Piece To Solve Paternity Puzzle

DEAR ABBY: I have a beautiful 1-year-old baby girl and I am not sure who her father is. There are only two possibilities of paternity. One I am engaged to. He is willing to cooperate in finding out who my daughter's father is. The other man is around, and says he will cooperate only if it is absolutely necessary, for he is now married.

I have heard that there is a blood test that can positively determine paternity. If so, please tell me where these men would have to go to take this test, who else would have to participate, and how much it costs.

WAITING TO HEAR

DEAR WAITING: According to the Long Beach (Calif.) Memorial Hospital (Paternity Lab), the test is called HLA, and it involves the mother, the possible fathers and the child. It must be ordered by a physician, and the approximate cost is $150.

It is 99.9 percent accurate. (No test claims to be 100 percent accurate, so this comes closest.)

Have your fiance take the test. If he is found to be the child's father, the other man is off the hook. However, if your fiance is not the father, that means the other man is, in which case he may want to take the test because of the legal implications.

DEAR ABBY: You often publish complaints from folks who are miffed because their gifts were not appropriately acknowledged. But you've never given equal space to the other side.

My shelves and closets are overflowing with an accumulation of neckties, watches, cuff links, silly T-shirts I'll never wear, books I'll never read and gadgets I'll never use. And if I get one more pewter ashtray, I'm going to give it to my dog and ask him to bury it. One day some archeologist will probably dig it up and write a dissertation on the rituals and artifacts of primitive homo yuppians.

A cousin of mine and I have an ideal arrangement. Every year he sends me two $20 bills for Christmas, and I send him the same. Then we both write a note saying, "Thank you for the most thoughtful gift I have ever received. I'll never have to wash it, repair it, feed it, wind it or frame it." Sign me ...

ENOUGH ALREADY

DEAR ENOUGH: Nice arrangement you have with your cousin, but there is no excuse for failing to acknowledge a gift — however useless. How about giving those white elephants away? One man's leftovers are another man's banquet.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished reading the letter from the woman who was helping her mother-in-law clean out her attic when they came across some souvenirs her father-in-law (now deceased) had brought home from World War II. One was a hand grenade — still intact.

She asked if it would be safe to keep around since after 40 years it had not exploded. You were right to tell her to call the police immediately and have the bomb squad come and remove it.

We live on some land that was formerly a military training center during World War II. This area was used for target practice. Not long ago, three children were playing behind their home when they found an unexploded shell. Not recognizing its danger, they used the sharp point for digging. The shell exploded, killing two children and seriously wounding the third.

The military now inspects this area regularly, and they keep finding live ammunition. We have learned that due to erosion and soil movement, shells and grenades surface even after the most careful search. We've also learned that unexploded shells are not less dangerous as the years pass, but more dangerous because they can explode with changes in atmospheric pressure, temperature or subtle movement.

I pray that your reader follows your advice. Old munitions are not safe anywhere. Just because they haven't exploded yet doesn't mean they never will.

Computers learning to talk

NEW YORK (AP) — A surgeon, hands busy with the many tasks of the operating room, notes his findings simply by talking as he works. A computer listens and logs the information.

A jet fighter pilot checks his fuel level by asking how much gas is left. The on-board computer checks and gives him an answer.

A child asks her toy panda, "Would you like to play?"

"Yes," it replies. "That sounds fine."

Such images are not so far-fetched, experts say, and not so far away.

Teddy bears, operating rooms and fighter bombers are being fitted out with the latest twist in computers, simulation and understanding of human speech, and dozens of companies are looking for ways to use it.

One measure of interest in the still-tiny field is that industry giants International Business Machines Corp. and American Telephone & Telegraph Co. are making their first appearances this week at Speech Tech '86, an annual trade show in New York.

IBM is working on a system that converts speech into text — a kind of voice-operated typewriter — while AT&T's system lets people make transactions and get information from a computer by speaking into an ordinary telephone.

"Speech is a very easy idea to sell because it's such a natural," Richard Wiggins, the show's program chairman, said Tuesday. He directs speech-recognition research at Texas Instruments Inc. in Dallas.

General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. are both using speech-recognition devices from Intel Corp. that allow autoworkers to keep their hands and eyes free while noting defects in a car on the assembly line.

Wiggins said the Defense Department is pouring money into speech research for possible use in aircraft and Audec Corp. of Saddle Brook, N.J., plans to introduce its talking toy panda in September.

The toy recognizes five phrases and makes responses, he said.

Fire proof spray

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — A new aerosol product claims to make any surface fireproof.

The fire-prevention spray remains in the material of the treated surface until heat or flame is applied. Then, it mixes with the combustible gases and tars and converts them to carbon char, nitrogen and carbon dioxide, thus removing the fuel necessary for a fire to start.

Marketers say consumers concerned with fire safety at home can use the spray on drapes, chairs, carpets and other potential ignition sources.

Defense scores a bull's-eye

The Danish newspaper Politiken, 100 years old in 1984, continued its anniversary celebration into 1985 by having a "Bridge Hand of the Month" contest. In the winning hand shown today, Danish player Nis Gravlund is featured in the West position for a series of fine defensive plays. His play, though well reasoned, would be missed by many expert players.

West made the opening lead of the ace of hearts for a good reason: to take a look at dummy. There was certainly a danger that the diamond suit would provide discards for declarer, so best to take defensive side-suit tricks quickly. When his partner played a discouraging card and declarer unblocked with the heart king, West had no difficulty switching to spades, playing the ace and then the queen. When East allowed the queen of spades to hold the trick, it seemed that he held an entry that would let him quickly cash the spade king. (Without such an entry, East would no doubt have overtaken the queen and played a third spade, since West should not be playing the queen if he held a small spade.) Where could that entry be, except in clubs?

So now West led a club to East's ace, which blotted out North's singleton queen. Next came the king of spades, followed by West's ruff of the fourth spade. Since East's guarded club jack had to score a trick eventually, precise defense had exacted the maximum penalty — down three for 300 to the stalwart Danish defenders.

Mishap sends shock waves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Chernobyl catastrophe in the Soviet Union, which may be the worst nuclear energy accident in history, is producing a new dose of political fallout for a U.S. atomic program already reeling from cost overruns, plant cancellations, safety concerns and fears about radioactive wastes.

Stocks of American utilities with heavy investments in atomic power plants plummeted Tuesday as news about the severity of the accident at the four-reactor Chernobyl plant 60 miles north of Kiev began filtering to the United States.

Nuclear industry officials braced themselves for a repeat of the political and public furor that stalled the U.S. program for two full years immediately after the 1979 accident at the Three Mile Island plant in Pennsylvania.

However, citing the more stringent government regulation of nuclear power here than in the Soviet Union, particularly since the TMI accident, officials and energy experts said the long-term effect of the Chernobyl accident on the U.S. atomic activities will be minimal.

Ed Davis, president of the American Nuclear Energy Council, the industry's lobbying arm, said the Soviet accident "doesn't help us, but I'm optimistic we'll weather the storm."

Documents report Deaver wined, dined high officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House aide Michael K. Deaver and employees of his lobbying firm contacted high-level officials on behalf of foreign clients, whom they entertained at top restaurants and traveled abroad, government documents show.

Among the people Deaver has hired are William Sittmann and Pamela Bailey, former White House officials, and Lee Verstandig, former chief of staff to first lady Nancy Reagan.

Deaver, 48, an intimate of President Reagan and his wife, is under investigation for allegations he violated conflict-of-interest laws after leaving the White House.

A glimpse into the operations of Michael K. Deaver and Associates — established last May by the onetime White House deputy chief of staff — is revealed in documents filed with the Justice Department under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

The Registration Act requires firms to describe activities on behalf of a foreign client, but they do not specify which employee performed which function and they do not cover domestic clients.

Deaver's firm, according to documents filed with the Justice Department for the six months ending March 18, lists as clients the Daewoo Corp., a South Korean steel-maker which allegedly violated U.S. import restrictions; the CBI Sugar Group Inc., a consortium of Latin American and Caribbean sugar producers based in Panama City, Panama; the Royal Embassy of Saudi Arabia; Mexico's Ministry of Commerce and Industrial Development; and the International Cultural Society of Korea.

Three clients — the Korea Broadcasting Advertising Corp., and the governments of Singapore and South Korea — terminated their relationships with Deaver in early 1986, the forms showed.

Tentative settlement reached for pipeline

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox says "we got exactly what we asked for" in a tentative settlement that would stop construction of a crude oil pipeline over the Edwards Aquifer by All American Pipeline Co.

The settlement would halt construction of the pipeline east of McCamey until an environmental impact study is completed and approved.

U.S. Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, state Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos of Austin, Travis County Judge Mike Renfro and Mattox held a news conference Tuesday to announce the tentative settlement.

Mattox said the settlement, signed by the state and All American, awaits final approval by the federal Bureau of Land Management and U.S. District Judge James Nowlin.

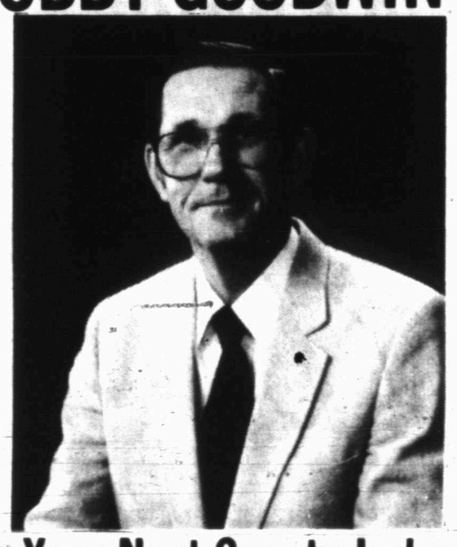

Arnold awarded scholarship

A $200 scholarship has been awarded to Diane Arnold yearbook - journalism instructor and publications advisor at Snyder High, by the Texas Association of Journalism Educators.

Arnold and four other Texas journalism instructors with less than three years' teaching experience were selected for the scholarships which are to be applied to a summer workshop. This was the first year that TAJE awarded the scholarships.

Arnold plans to attend the All American Publications Workshop in Garland in July, which will be offering advisor sessions with advanced academic training credit or graduate credit. Several publications students from SHS also plan to attend the same workshop which offers a variety of newspaper, yearbook and photography sessions led by award-winning journalism instructors from across the country.

Future price shocks possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The drop in world oil prices means good news for American farmers pinched by high costs and low crop prices, but Agriculture Department economists say there may be some bumps farther down the road.

Overall, farm fuel prices could average 20 percent to 30 percent below last year, indicating a savings of $1 billion to $2 billion to producers. In addition, lower crude oil prices will have an indirect effect on fertilizer, pesticides and electricity.

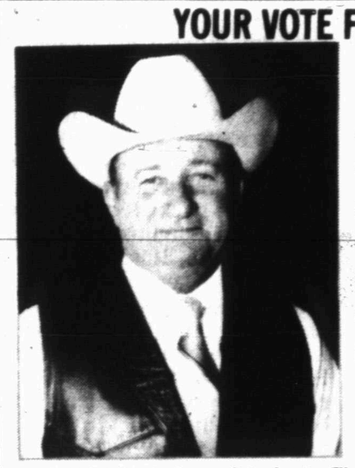

"Among crops, cotton and rice require the most fuel per acre because of the large number of chemical applications made each season," says Herb Moses of the department's Economic Research Service.

"A rice producer may see 1986 fuel costs decline about $10 per acre. Wheat and soybeans require less intensive cultural practices, and growers of those commodities may save about 2 per acre."

But Moses, writing in a new outlook report, cautioned that lower oil prices will have other indirect effects on U.S. agriculture, including a reduction in oil exploration and production, a decline in the development of alternative energy sources, and rising consumer purchases of energy-consuming products.

"Lower prices also encourage oil producing countries that are not in OPEC to cooperate to reduce production and raise prices," he said. "All of these factors increase the risk of future oil price shocks like those of the 1970s."

Mayor wins council control

CHICAGO (AP) — Exactly three years after his inauguration, Mayor Harold Washington won control of the strife-torn City Council for the first time with victories by two of his allies in special aldermanic run-off elections.

"We will try to restore sanity to the City Council," said Washington, who has had key initiatives repeatedly thwarted by a council majority bloc in what have been called "Council Wars."

Tuesday's elections give allies of the city's first black mayor and his arch-rival, Alderman Edward R. Vrdolyak, a 25-25 deadlock in the council.

"The council is now in the safe hands of 25 people and a doting mayor," said Washington, who holds the tie-breaking vote.

The aldermanic elections were won by Luis Gutierrez in the heavily Hispanic 26th Ward on the Northwest Side and Marlene C. Carter in the Southwest Side's 15th Ward, which is 74 percent black.

With 41 of 44 precincts reporting in the 26th Ward, unofficial returns showed Gutierrez with 6,861 votes to 5,893 for Manuel Torres, a Vrdolyak ally. An estimated 1,000 votes remained to be reported from three of the ward's precincts, where no vote tallies were released Tuesday night.

Stick Andrews 10-0...

Tigers whip Mustangs; earn playoff berth

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

Snyder's Tigers needed the win to grab an early playoff spot and they wasted no time in getting there Tuesday night as they defeated Andrews 10-0 at Moffett Field.

The Tigers rapped home three first-inning runs, added two in the second, one in the third and four more in the sixth as they shutout the Mustangs for the second time this season - this one via the 10-run rule. The end came when relief pitcher Danny Neighbors - the Mustangs' fourth pitcher of the game - walked Ricky Hunter with the bases loaded.

With the win, Snyder improves to 16-8 overall and 7-1 in District 2-4A play. Andrews fell to 13-8 and 4-4 and has been eliminated from playoff consideration.

Decidedly, it was a big win for the Tigers, who had failed to make the playoffs last season for the first time in nine years.

"This was the goal of the kids since we started off-season in November, to get back into the playoffs again," said Coach Albert Lewis. "I think maybe Snyder had been spoiled and we had been spoiled, too. The kids have overcome a lot of adversity to get back on top."

Snyder unloaded on Andrews pitching for a dozen hits, led by Justin Webb's three-for-three effort, which included two home runs and three RBI. Chris Fryar was two-for-two and Steve Parker and Brad Holcomb were both two-for-four from the plate.

While Snyder was having a field day offensively, its defense was stellar.

Jimmy Velasquez went the distance on the mound and allowed just four hits. He walked two and struck out three in earning his eighth win of the season.

He was backed by errorless defense, highlighted once again by the play of Holcomb at short stop. The Tiger senior made a crowd-pleasing double play to prevent a run in the sixth inning. Earlier, he had robbed Munday Hernandez of a basehit when he raced to his right to stop a ground ball, then threw back left to first baseman Steve Parker just in time to make the out.

Webb got the Tigers' first run of the game when he singled home pinch runner Brad Gartman from third base. Gartman had come aboard after Ricky Hunter punched Andrews' starter Hernandez for a basehit that rolled to the centerfield fence.

Velasquez singled to move Webb around, and he scored on Snyder's third hit of the inning - a single by Holcomb. Hernandez continued to struggle. He walked Fryar to load the bases, then gave Mike McWilliams a free pass which sent Webb in with another run. The Mustangs opted to put Mitch Day on the mound and he responded by getting Andrews out of the top half of the inning without further damage.

It was only temporary, however. In the second, Hunter reached on an error and Webb was hit by a pitch to set up a two-run double by Parker. Then in the third, Webb got his long-ball act going with the first of two home runs. This one defied a gusting wind, flew over at the 346 mark and clipped the bottom of the fence at the girl's softball field across the way.

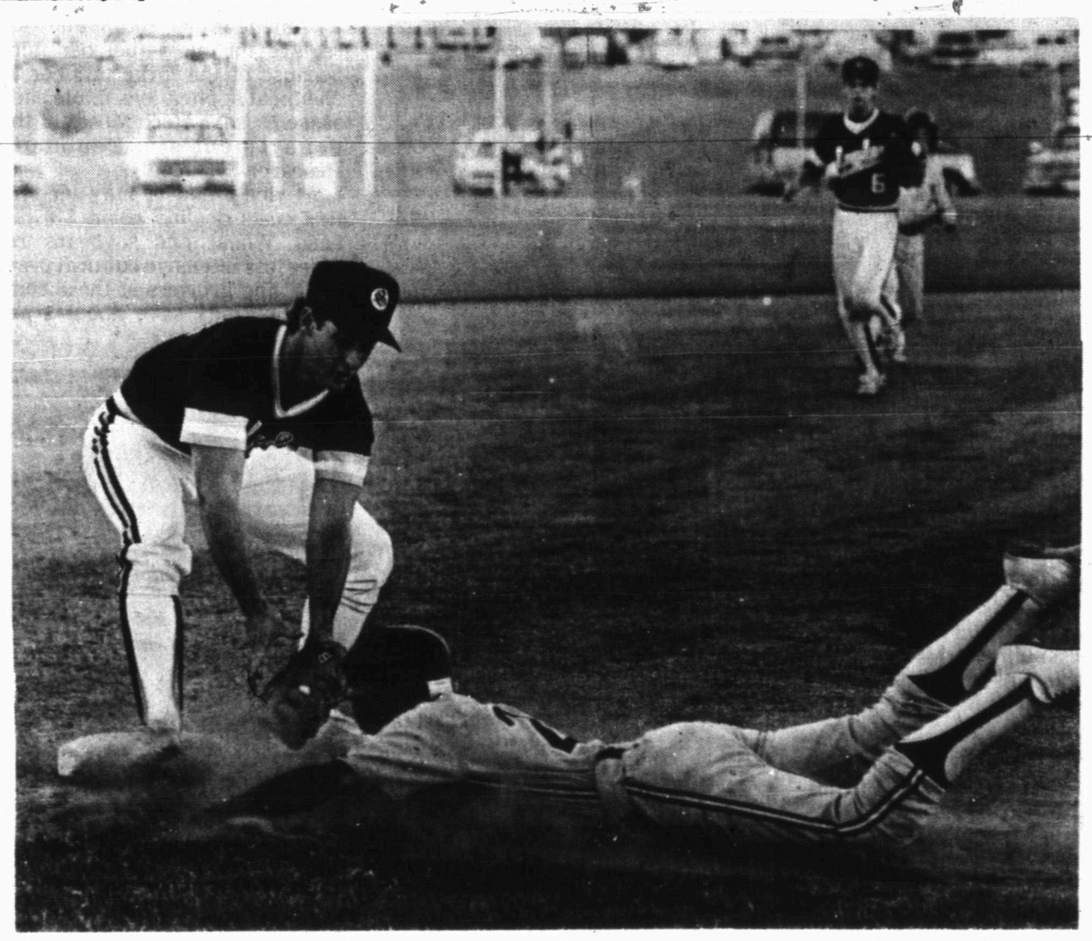

Snyder kept the bats in idle then until the sixth, when Webb put it in gear for his second homer of the night.

"It (the first home run) was a breaking pitch that didn't break, I guess," said Webb, whose home run total bulged to 10 on the season. Ironically, Tuesday's were his first two home runs in district play.

"I went to the batting cage (at Golfland) just about every night the past week. I've been working really hard. We all have," said Webb. "I felt real good tonight. We wanted this one real bad."

Webb's shot fired up the rest of the squad and Parker, Holcomb, Fryar and McWilliams all responded with a single apiece. Parker's hit chased Day from the mound and brought in Felix Marquez. Holcomb and McWilliams got RBIs eight and nine and put a quick end to the new pitcher. He was replaced by Neighbors, who fared no better.

Neighbors walked Scott Lanier to load the bases. One out later, he issued a base on balls to Hunter, bringing in the game-ending run.

HE'S OUT -- Justin Webb tags out an Andrews baserunner when an attempted hit-and-run didn't work. Webb got the toss from catcher Ricky Hunter. It was Andrews' only serious threat of the game as Snyder blanked the Mustangs 10-0 and earned a trip to the playoffs. (SDN Staff Photo)

Clemens fans 20 in 3-1 win

by The Associated Press

If setting the major-league record for strikeouts in a game is any measure of a career, Boston right-hander Roger Clemens is heading for the Hall of Fame.

Clemens fanned 20 Seattle batters Tuesday night en route to a 3-1 victory over the Seattle Mariners at Fenway Park. He allowed three hits and did not walk a batter in gaining his fourth victory without a loss.

Clemens broke the record of 19 accomplished in a nine-inning game by the St. Louis Cardinals' Steve Carlton in 1969; Tom Seaver of the New York Mets in 1970; and Nolan Ryan pitching for the California Angels in 1974.

Washington's Tom Cheney struck out 21 in 16 innings against Baltimore in 1962.

Seaver, Ryan and Carlton - all still active - have combined for 865 victories and 11,606 strikeouts.

'I watched Nolan Ryan and Tom Seaver when I was growing up," Clemens said. "They were unbelievable, spectacular."

Elsewhere in the American League it was, New York 14, Minnesota 11; Detroit 2, Kansas City 1; California 4, Toronto 3; Baltimore 8, Chicago 1; Cleveland 6, Texas 5; and Milwaukee 5, Oakland 4.

Angels 4, Blue Jays 3

At Toronto, Rick Burleson scored from second on a fielder's choice ground out in the ninth inning to give California a victory over the Blue Jays.

With one out, Burleson singled to center and moved to second when Ruppert Jones was awarded first base on catcher's interference. Wally Joyner then bounced into what appeared to be an inning-ending double play, but was ruled safe at first after pitcher Mark Eichhorn had taken the relay throw.

While Eichhorn stared in disbelief at umpire Al Clark's call, Burleson raced home and Eichhorn's late throw sailed over the catcher's head.

Risenhoover and Rodriguez...

Snyder duo third at region

BROWNWOOD -- Snyder's Michael Risenhoover and Michael Rodriguez won't be going to state this year, but future opponents had better beware - they'll both be back for next season.

Risenhoover, a junior, and Rodriguez, a freshman, took third place at the Region I Tennis Tournament here Tuesday. After winning their first two matches Monday, they fell to Conner and Lewis of Waco Midway on Tuesday morning, 6-2, 6-3. They then rallied to take third place by defeating Lamb and Roach of Canyon, 6-3, 7-5.

"They played real good tennis," said Coach Charlie Chrane. "They got the best experience they could have gotten anywhere."

The Tiger duo opened the tournament by defeating Fletcher and Filipek of Crowley, 7-5, 7-6. They reached the semifinals by knocking off second-seeded Loper and Spears of Levelland, 6-7, 7-6, 6-3.

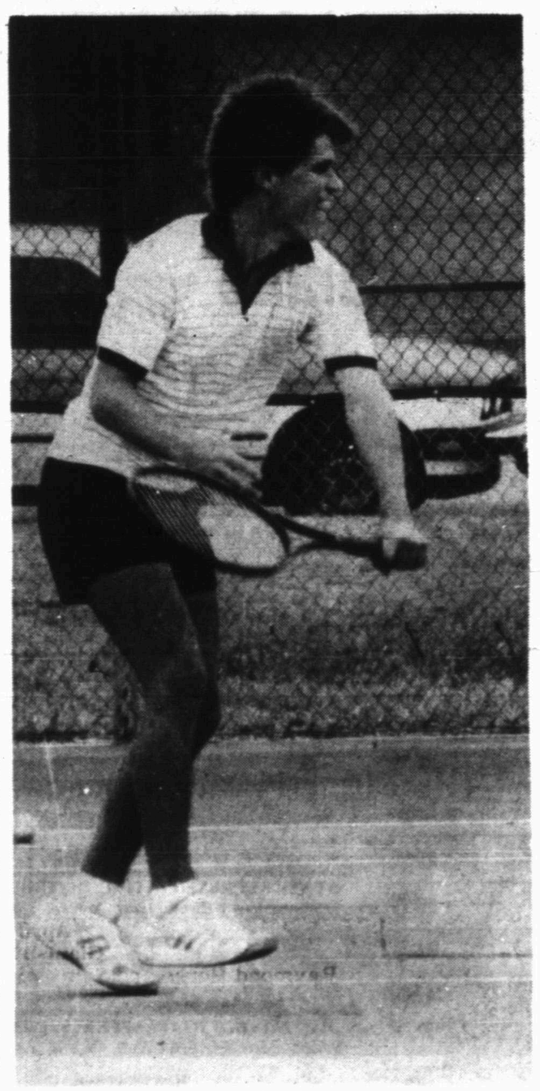

"They beat a good team from Crowley and an even better team from Levelland. Waco Midway was the best team they've faced," the coach said. "I thought they had an exceptional tournament. These guys had one win and six losses in our district round-robin and they have really come a long way. They began playing real good tennis at the San Angelo Tournament, a week before district and have been playing well ever since."

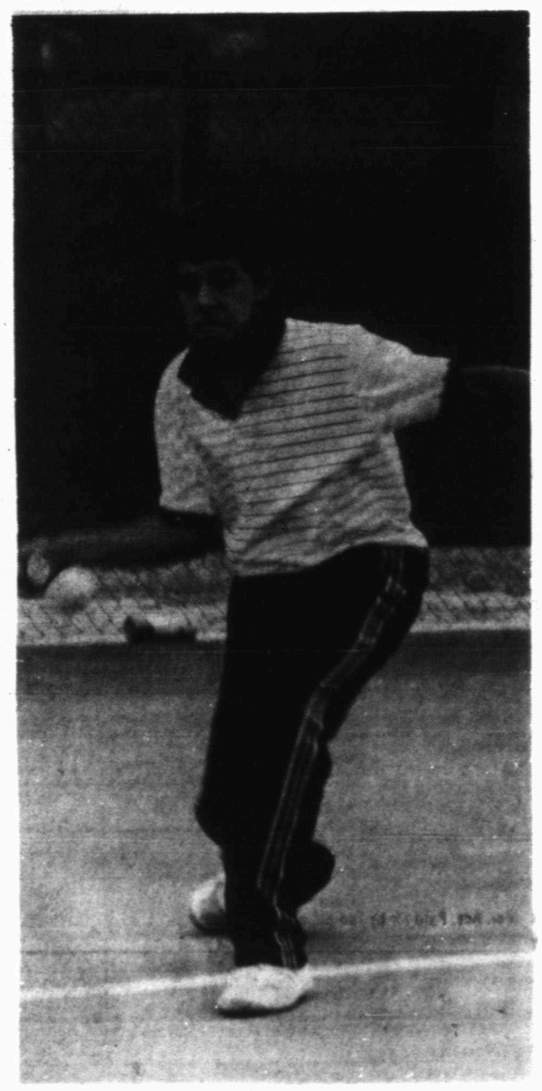

The team from Westlake went on to win the boy's doubles division, 6-3, 6-2 over Conner and Lewis.

District 2-4A's only representatives to the Class 4A State Tournament came in girl's doubles where Andrews clashed with Lake View in the title match. Barrera and Kiffen of Andrews defeated Manda and Janda Lopez of Lake View 7-5, 6-3 to win the championship. Both will advance to state.

Westlake captured the boy's singles and girl's singles titles. Jon Hackberg won boy's singles by defeating Michael King of Canyon, 6-3, 6-3. From District 2-4A, Chris Harris of Sweetwater was eliminated by Hackberg in the semis, 6-0, 6-0. Mike Hinson of Fort Stockton lost in the first round to King.

In girl's singles, Terri White of Westlake won by defeating Georgetown's Lori Hardage 6-4, 6-1. Sweetwater's Debbie Marlett lost to Hardage in the semis, 6-4, 6-0, then defeated Michelle King of Canyon, 6-4, 6-2, to take third place.

THIRD AT REGION -- Snyder's Michael Risenhoover, left, and Michael Rodriguez placed third at the Region I-4A Tennis Tournament, held Monday and Tuesday in Brownwood. Coach Charlie Chrane had plenty of praise for the duo, who will be back to battle again next year. (Photos by Tammy Ritchey)

Girls ready to tee off at Brownwood

BROWNWOOD -- Snyder's Lady Tigers were to tee off at 11:22 this morning in the Region I-4A Girl's Golf Tournament.

The two-day, 36-hole tournament sends its winner and runnerup to the Class 4A State Golf Tournament in Austin.

The tournament here is expected to be closely contested with co-regional champions Andrews and Belton having returned their full squads. Snyder, fourth here last season, also returns its full staff. Pampa was fifth last year and is also back and seventh-place Georgetown is also making the trip for a second straight year.

Belton's No. 1 team did not come back intact, but it also had a No. 2 team here last year, and together, five girls who played at the regional tournament return.

"I guess you would have to say Andrews and Snyder and Belton are the favorites," said Snyder Coach Jan Kruse. "We had an excellent practice round yesterday."

Belton shot a 368 and a 365 for a 733 a year ago while Andrews got its 733 with a 374 and a 359.

"The girls want to shoot a 355 but we're really aiming for about a 365," said Coach Kruse.

Playing for Snyder will be two-time District 2-4A medalist Leslie Light, Xalyn Harris, Lea Ann Thompson, Angie Lay and Michelle Holder. Camille Reed will be the alternate.

Each school enters five girls and the low four scores are used to comprise a team total.

In addition to Snyder, Andrews and Belton, other teams here are Pampa, Dumas, Joshua, Stephenville, Georgetown and Austin Westlake.

76ers rally for victory; Rockets, Celtics up 2-0

by The Associated Press

The Philadelphia 76ers have seen too much in the NBA playoffs to fold up when they face an 18-point deficit on the opposition's home court.

"We felt that we had to play hard to get back in the game," said Maurice Cheeks, who scored 13 of his 27 points in the third quarter when the 76ers wiped out most of an 83-65 deficit and went on to defeat the Milwaukee Bucks 118-112 in their second-round opener Tuesday night. "We just never gave up. The shots started falling and we were able to increase the defensive pressure and cause some turnovers."

Just 11 days before, playing Washington at the Philadelphia Spectrum, the 76ers blew a 17-point lead in just 3½ minutes as the Bullets scored the game's last 18 points. With 1½ quarters still to play in Milwaukee on Tuesday night, the 18-point deficit must have looked small by comparison.

Philadelphia outscored the Bucks 32-13 to take a 97-96 lead with nine minutes left in the game. After the lead seesawed in the final minutes, a 16-7 streak gave the 76ers the lead for good.

In Tuesday's other playoffs, Boston and Houston both took 2-0 leads in their best-of-seven second-round series. The Rockets beat Denver 119-101 and the Celtics defeated Atlanta 119-108.

Tonight, the Los Angeles Lakers, leading 1-0, play host to Dallas.

Rockets 119, Nuggets 101

Houston again used the third quarter as the turning point of the game, just as it did in the first meeting with Denver.

The Rockets led 53-43 lead at halftime, then outscored the Nuggets 8-0 to start the third quarter. Calvin Natt scored the Nuggets' first points 2:35 into the period.

Lewis Lloyd scored 13 of his 23 points in the third period as Houston opened an 88-71 advantage. Ralph Sampson led the Rockets with 27 points.

Houston continued to add to the lead in the fourth quarter, but three Denver three-pointers in the closing minutes made the final outcome closer.

Rookie Blair Rasmussen scored 14 of his 18 points in the second half to lead the Nuggets scoring, while Lafayette Lever added 16.

Celtics 119, Hawks 108

Atlanta also had a furious second-half rally from an 18-point deficit, but it fell short when Boston scored the last 10 points of the game.

Larry Bird scored 36 points, including eight of those last 10 after the Hawks cut an 87-69 lead to 109-108.

Boston, which now has won 35 straight home games, appeared to be on the way to an easy victory when a tussle between Celtics guard Danny Ainge and Atlanta's Scott Hastings ignited the Hawks in the third period.

Ainge was ejected with 3:54 remaining in the quarter and a Dennis Johnson basket that would have made it 89-69 was nullified.

Kevin McHale had 22 points for Boston, while Kevin Willis led the Hawks with 23. Randy Wittman had 21 and NBA scoring champion Dominique Wilkins 19 for Atlanta.

Dupard picked by Pats

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Reggie Dupard expected to go somewhere around the middle of the first round of Tuesday's National Football League draft, and he was starting to get a bit anxious as team after team passed him by.

Then, on the second-to-last pick of the opening round, New England called his name - the second Southwest Conference player picked, immediately after the Tampa Bay Buccaneers had selected Southern Methodist defensive back Roderick Jones.

Three picks later, the second pick of Round 2, LSU's Garry James - a schoolboy rival of Dupard's in New Orleans - went to Detroit.

"I guess you can hear my family," the former SMU running back said as whoops almost drowned out his telephone conversation.

"After about the 18th pick, I started wondering where I would go,' Dupard said. I thought I would go much higher."

"How about two bits in HUMANITARIAN AID?"

Housing depletes FHA funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Housing Administration has stopped taking applications for new government-insured mortgages because the home-sales boom exhausted the FHA's credit authority for the first time in its history.

Homebuyers who do not already have commitments for the low down payment mortgages will have to wait until Congress completes action on legislation to raise the agency's $57.4 billion credit ceiling or find other financing, acting FHA chief Silvio DeBartolomeis said Tuesday.

"The game's over, we're out of business," DeBartolomeis said after directing FHA offices and lenders to stop processing new applications. "This means that the public will have to rely on the private sector" for mortgage insurance until FHA is revived by Congress.

The Senate passed emergency legislation on a voice vote Tuesday evening that would raise FHA's credit ceiling to $74.4 billion, but the bill must be reconciled with a House version passed last week.

The measure also extends FHA's ega authority to insure mortages, which expired at midnight Tuesday.

Bill Adkinson, a spokesman for the National Association of Realtors, said Tuesday's developments will affect "a lot of FHA applications in the pipeline where the buyers think they are going the FHA route."

These buyers, who don't have money for a large down payment, made deals thinking they would get FHA-backed financing. "All of a sudden that's not available," he said.

FHA will have to turn away 10,000 new applications a day, said Warren Lasko, executive vice president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

Lasko predicted conventional mortgage rates will increase slightly from the current 10 percent because of the shift in demand away from FHA.

The sharp drop in mortage interest rates to nearly an eight-year low has fueled a home-buying spree and a rush by homeowners to refinance high-rate mortgages at more favorable terms.

POLITICAL HATCHET JOB: Why did the Chief Justice "bristle" (UPI News, Mar. 5, 1986) when Judge Howell asked the Texas Supreme Court to let the governor appoint a special bi-partisan court to decide the Throw-Judge-Howell-Off-The-Ballot case? When one of the incumbent Democrat judges filed suit to remove his Republican opponent from the ballot, how could the Republican, Judge Howell, receive a fair hearing before this all-Democrat court?

BAR POLL LEADER: Don't be misled. There has been only one State-wide poll concerning the 1986 Supreme Court election. Judge Howell was, by far the leading Republican candidate Among all five Republicans. Judge Howell led by margins up to 4 to 1.

Palsy may not be the problem

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My 70-year-old husband had a six-month bout with double vision in his left eye. The doctor did many tests, which showed nothing. It went away, but is now back in his right eye, and his speech is slightly slurred. I think he had a stroke, but the doctors say it's a palsy in a nerve. They say he's healthy, but they put him on Visken, Berocca and Maxzide. I am very puzzled by all of this.

DEAR READER — So am I. A nerve palsy or weakness will usually affect just the eyes. When speech is impaired, the prudent physician would consider some sort of stroke or brain disorder that involves an area larger than a single nerve. I think your husband should see a neurologist before permanent damage results.

DEAR DR. GOTT — How does one tell if coffee has been "naturally" decaffeinated? What are some of the key words to look for on labels?

DEAR READER — Look for the words "naturally decaffeinated" or "water- process decaffeinated." To my knowledge, the Nestle company is the only manufacturer of decaffeinated coffee that uses a patented method, devoid of additives, to process its product. However, all modern decaffeinating procedures are said to be safe.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 15 and don't know if I've had my period yet. In April and in June I got what I thought was my period, except it was brown. I'm underweight, don't get much sleep and eat a lot of sweets. Is something wrong with my period?

DEAR READER — Brown staining may reflect the beginning of your menstrual periods. When a girl starts menstruating, the flow can be slight. I suggest you get more sleep, fatten up a bit, take better care of yourself and wait another six months to see what happens. If normal periods haven't begun by then, see a gynecologist.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Recently I learned that I have diverticulosis. Two doctor friends say there are two schools of thought concerning diet. One says "eat roughage" and one says "eat a bland diet." What do you recommend?

DEAR READER — The correct word is ... roughage. Bland diets used to be "in," but experts now recommend roughage as a bowel stimulant to help diverticulosis. To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report on diverticulosis and diverticular disease. Other readers interested in receiving a copy should send 75 cents plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on DIVERTICULAR DISEASE.

FarmAid II concert set

AUSTIN (AP) — Country music star Willie Nelson says "all the folks on my side of the music field" will turn out July 4 for FarmAid II in Memorial Stadium on the University of Texas campus.

"We have no goals money-wise — $100 billion would be nice but we'll take anything up to that," Nelson said Monday.

FarmAid I, with 58 musical acts, was held Sept. 22 on the University of Illinois campus at Champaign, Ill., and raised approximately $9 million for farmers and ranchers.

Nelson said a crowd of nearly 90,000 is expected for the Austin concert and all the acts from FarmAid I have been invited to return. Also, he said Don Johnson of the television series "Miami Vice" was getting a band together and would appear.

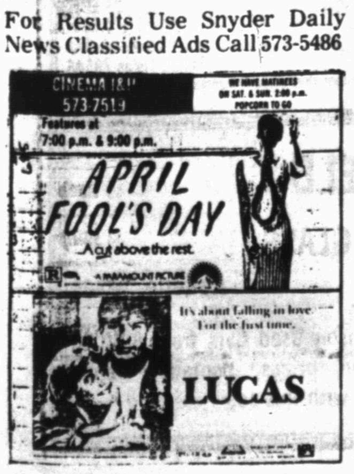

Nelson joined Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower at a Tuesday news conference at Memorial Stadium to publicize FarmAid II.

Hightower said Nelson "is not only a superstar in the music world but the last couple of years we have found him to be a true friend of the family farmers and ranchers of this country."

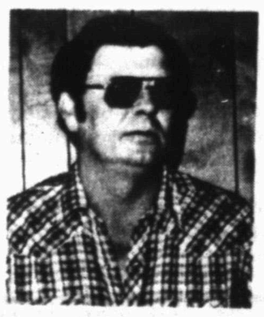

"Fortunately, the FarmAid concept is a long-term commitment and not just a 'one-shot' deal for Willie Nelson," Hightower said.

Hightower said University of Texas regents and legal officials had agreed in principle to allow use of the stadium, and the state agriculture department would be the official state sponsor of the program.

Inferno still rages

MOSCOW (AP) — An inferno raging in the devastated Ukrainian atomic power plant spewed more radiation into the atmosphere today, and several European nations warned their people about the danger from what could be the world's worst nuclear disaster.

The Soviet Union acknowledged two people dead in the Chernobyl plant accident 60 miles north of Kiev, but unconfirmed reports reaching the West indicated a much higher toll.

Radiation spread more than 1,000 miles over much of Europe and prompted Sweden to warn against drinking contaminated rainwater and Austria to advise parents to keep infants indoors. Children lined up at health centers in Poland for medication against possible radiation poison.

Several European leaders angrily demanded that Moscow explain why it had not quickly alerted the world to the disaster, which was first detected in Scandinavia on Sunday but not confirmed by the Soviet Union until Monday. West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Gensher urged the Soviets to shut down all power plants similar to the Chernobyl facility.

The Soviet government issued a terse statement Tuesday saying two people were killed and four communities evacuated because of the disaster. A Soviet official visiting Washington said less than a hundred people were injured.

Wrecks reported in city Tuesday

Two minor traffic mishaps were reported in Snyder Tuesday.

Involved in the first — at 3:21 p.m. at the intersection of Ave. R and O'Neil Ave. — were a 1983 Chevrolet driven by Travis Edward Rinehart of Snyder and a 1970 Chevrolet driven by Shirley Witte Leatherwood of Rt. 3, Snyder.

The 300 Block of 35th St. was the scene of a hit-and-run mishap reported at 8:06 p.m.

A parked 1984 Chevrolet pickup owned by Yale E. Key of Midland was apparently struck by a vehicle which fled the scene.

Theft reported involving bike

Police are investigating a bicycle theft reported Tuesday.

Carol Iglehart of 2311 40th St. reported the theft at 10:55 p.m. Missing was a Huffy brand 20-inch BMX type bicycle said stolen from outside her residence sometime earlier in the day.

No value was estimated for the missing bike.

In other action, officers jailed one man on warrants issued for unpaid Department of Public Safety traffic citations originally issued in Corpus Christi.

assumed the principal's role in 1975.

He received his undergraduate degree from Kansas State University and his masters from Sul Ross University.

The two men's wives are teachers also. Miller's wife Carol is a diagnostician-counselor for the district. They have a son, G.G. Miller, now serving his medical residency in Gainsville, Fla.

Stehley's wife Donna is a fourth grade teacher at West. They have two daughters, Jacque of New York and Jamie, a local teacher.

there is contamination flowing everywhere within that 30-kilometer (19 miles) radius," a reported evacuation zone.

Radiation is "100,000 to 200,000 to perhaps a million times greater than anything that was contemplated at the worst point in the appraisal of Three Mile Island," Wallop said. He said that assessment came from his briefers.

"There are extensive levels of radiation, some of which are high enough to cause instantaneous death, some of which will cause death in days or weeks," Wallop said.

Despite the apparent severity of the accident, presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said there appeared to be no threat to the United States.

In a rare gesture, the United States offered help to the Soviet Union, but there was no word that the offer was accepted by Moscow.
