Dismal Wheat Field Condition Found In Perryton Area by Crop Reporter

Quick Rains May Bring 7 Bushel Crop

A very gloomy report on the condition of wheat in the Perryton area was made by noted crop reporter A. W. Erickson, following a visit to the fields in this area. During his swing over the Panhandle wheat area, he covered 3 1/2 million acres of wheat and found 2 1/2 million killed by greenbugs, red spider mites and drought.

The balance of the wheat may make 7 bushels per acre, if rain is received immediately, Erickson said.

The insect destruction has been terrific all through the wheat belt of the nation, Erickson says. "It is difficult to visualize the crop destruction wrought by these small insects," he said in his late crop bulletin. "Last December White Deer was in the core of a deep moisture area with beautiful stands. The same deep moisture area placed Booker in the center to the northeast of White Deer. My check in these areas was well over 100 per cent. The moisture is still in the ground but the wheat is either dead or so covered with insects that it looks hopeless. Farmers are now beginning to plow under some fields."

At Perryton, Erickson inspected 34 fields, found 26 of them either abandoned or should be, and the condition of the wheat

Daily Mail Schedule Changed This Week

Several changes have been made in the outgoing and incoming mail schedule at the local postoffice, postmaster Irvin Hergert has announced. Postal Receipts Show 9 Per Cent Gain at Perryton Office

Postal receipts at the Perryton office for the first quarter of 1950 show a 9 per cent increase over 1949, and virtually assure Perryton of a first class post office this year. Receipts for January, February and March total $9,264.85 compared with a total of $8,426.41 last year. To qualify as a first class post office, receipts must total $40,000 during the calendar year. During the past 12 months, from March 31 to March 31, receipts total $49,400.51. If receipts stay the same for the next nine months as in 1949, the first class status will be reached, postmaster Irvin Hergert stated. Money order sales and fees showed a sharp increase over last year, rising from $43,268.27 in 1949 to $49,748.56 this year. Postal savings, inaugurated on February 1 at the local office, now total $8,160.00 on deposit. New post office boxes will be here by the latter part of the month, Hergert said. There will be 590 new boxes compared with 514 now being used.

There will be four large collection boxes received in the near future to aid in outside mail collection, Hergert stated. These boxes, which are large enough to take packages and large envelopes, will be placed in various sections of town.

Ochiltree Grassland Burns

OCHILTREE GRASSLAND BURNS—This picture shows the path of the grass fire that destroyed approximately 520 acres of good Ochiltree county grassland on Wednesday, March 29. The fire started in the Martin McCarter pasture, apparently from the sun's rays focusing through a bottle, and spread southeast to the Travis Flowers pasture. About 200 acres of grass on the McCarter land and 32 acres on the Flowers land burned before the fire was headed into a plowed field and stopped. About 50 neighbors assisted in fighting the fire.

SURFERS ARE RISKING LIVES DOWN UNDER

LIFE SAVERS are kept busy rescuing surf riders off Australia beaches.

By BARBARA GORMLEY
Newsfeatures

SYDNEY—Every summer Sunday—from November to March—down here—about 50,000 Sydneysiders risk life and limb for fun.

Only a few think about it. To the rest, there is nothing at all hazardous about going for a surf. A few of us sat on the beach the other day and talked about it. We had just come out of the rolling Pacific. To listen to our talk, you would think surfing was dangerous.

First we discussed sharks. Nearly daily during the summer, newspapers carry warnings to the unwary about the shark menace. Sunday after Sunday, surfers come charging out of the water at the sound of a shark alarm. They stand on the beach while life-savers take out their boats and chase the shark out to sea. Then they scramble back into the waves.

One of the most nerve racking experiences you can have is to hear the alarm, then see the shark between you and dry land. However, there are amazingly few shark fatalities; about one a year on Sydney beaches. After sharks we brooded on the chances of being swept out to sea in a strong current. This is usually the fate of those who can't swim too well. Out they go to the first line of breakers, in they go with a current, and out they go to sea.

Then you can break your neck in a dumper, but somehow or other you don't. A dumper is a curly wave. After breaking, instead of the wave head sliding down itself, to surfers. But this year, two life-savers were drowned when sea weed fouled their rescue lines and dragged them under.

We thought seriously about it all for a good two minutes. Then we had another surf. We'll be there again next Sunday. It curls out and under. Get caught up in one of these and you don't know if you're coming or going.

After dumpers, we got on the subject of blue bottles—another hazard of surfing. These bright blue, bottle-shaped sea creatures have thin cotton-like tails—yards long. The tails give you the sting of all stings. The pain lasts only a few hours, but while it's on you wish a shark got you.

Sea weed usually is just a smelly, unpleasant nuisance

Gentle Burglars Miss Cash

FREDERICK, Md.—(AP)—Burglars who broke into the Maurice Eklar company here astonished police by the considerate way in which they went about not finding cash. They rifled desks and filing cabinets but took pains to protect new leather upholstered office chairs. The robbers padded the seats with paper to avoid scratching them as they piled desk drawers on top.

Disappointed, they made for the safe. But possibly they hoped to blast it open without injuring the strong box, police chuckled, because they just set fire to a stick of dynamite in front of the safe, instead of exploding it with a percussion cap. Net gain for the gentle robbers: Zero.

Black Market in Privileges

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Indian tribes of the north British Columbia coast now have a black market in privileges says Dr. Ronald L. Olson, professor of anthropology at the University of California says.

In these tribes, he says, the highly prized things of life are ceremonial titles or names. They carry the right to perform certain dances, to sing certain songs to erect totem poles and to give feasts. These titles used to be controlled by a noble cast and were handed down in families.

Now, however, the white man's civilization and diseases has reduced the tribes to a fraction of their former numbers. Some of the old titles have been inherited by commoners who used to share in them only as poor relations. Some of the commoners think more of what the titles will bring on the market than of the privileges. Therefore they sell the legends and songs which validate the privileges such as deeds, copyrights and patents validate ownership in the white man's society.

Doing Up Earth Gardener's Job

ANTHIA LOWRY
Features Writer

The gardener dreams of the soil to go into any corner and pick up a rich handful of soil. He is undoubtedly happy, but as work year after year goes by, the soil is becoming poorer and poorer. For the fortunate gardener, the productive loam of the soil is becoming poorer and poorer. For the fortunate gardener, the productive loam of the soil is becoming poorer and poorer.

CONSTANT CARE is needed to keep soil enriched with organic material.

What Soil Does
Most enough to know a handy way of growing. It provides a place for plants to grow and spread. It holds them in place. It gives them a steady supply of water. It gives them a steady supply of water.

To remedy a too-sandy condition, the gardener has the job of supplying matter to bind the soil. The best materials for this purpose are well-rotted stable manures, compost, leafmold or peatmoss. Sowing sandy soil with a cover crop of rye, buckwheat or cowpeas—and then digging the crop into the soil, is a wonderful soil conditioner.

The Sand Problem
Soil which is too sandy fails to perform its functions. It dries out and permits water to drain off, thus providing no gripping place for the roots. A constant supply of water is needed to permit the roots to hold water. That air doesn't reach the roots and—when dry bakes to a hard crust. Obviously ideal soil is somewhere between the two. Good garden soil contains sand, clay and—very important—the organic matter which is the food itself.

Where the soil is too firm, because of an over-supply of clay, addition of coarse sand will lighten it. Oddly enough, such soil also will be improved by the addition of organic matter.

Bids Asked for Paving Work On Main Street

Sealed bids for constructing 2.439 miles of pavement widening and hot mix asphalt topping on Perryton streets will be received at the Highway Department in Austin until April 19, according to L. K. Cantrell, senior resident engineer at Canadian.

Construction of the new pavement is expected to start within a few weeks after the letting of the contract.

The new paving will cost over $100,000, Cantrell said. It will vary from 61 to 92 feet, and will cover both highways 83 and 117 through Perryton.

New curb and gutter has been installed along north and south Main street and Brillhart avenue, for the widening of the pavement.

Main street and Brillhart avenue will be covered with two inches of hot mix asphalt from city limits to city limits.

Anthony Rural Progress Group To Meet Friday

Anthony Rural Progress chairman and their cooperators will hold their next regular meeting at Anthony Friday evening, April 7.

A short business meeting is scheduled followed by an evening of entertainment. Several representatives from the Gate community will be present to explain the advantages and describe the progress made by the Gate community during the two years in which they have carried out their community project.

Every family cooperator in the Rural Progress program is urged to attend the meeting, and visitors are welcome.

The Water Problem
Good garden soil—or lawn soil—is a fairly delicate balance. How it handles water is vitally important. Unhappily, we depend almost entirely on rainfall to feed plants. Water which soil particles can't hold is useless to most plants. The idea is to create soil which holds a film of water around each particle of soil. This film—known as capillary water—rises from permanent ground water and is used either by the plant or lost by evaporation.

What all of us want in the way of growing soil can be easily identified. Scoop up a damp—not wet—handful and squeeze the soil into a ball. If it holds this form when released by the hand, yet crumbles apart when touched lightly, chances are it's the consistency seeds and plants will like.

Census Estimate Places Perryton In Top Group Of Plains Cities; 5,250 Is Guess

What will the 1950 census show Perryton's population to be?

One guess is about as good as any, and the prevailing one seems to be that Perryton now has over 5,000 persons in the city limits.

David Rasco, writing in the Amarillo Globe-News, giving a current round-up of census estimates, places Perryton among the nine Plains cities with over 5,000 population.

In 1940, there were only four cities in this class—Tucumcari, Portales, Plainview, and Childress. Ten years later, while these four cities advanced to the 10,000 class, there are estimated to be nine cities in the 5,000-10,000 class, including Guymon, Perryton, Dalhart, Dumas, Phillips, Hereford, Wellington, Memphis, and Littlefield.

Rasco's estimates, gathered from Chamber of Commerce officials and others, place these nine as follows:

Dumas	9,153
Littlefield	8,015
Guymon	7,200
Dalhart	7,100
Hereford	7,000
Phillips	6,900
Perryton	5,250
Memphis	5,200
Wellington	5,000

Baseball Club Plans to Enter Two Leagues

Officers and players of the Perryton Baseball Club met at the VFW hall Monday night to make plans for the coming season. Henry Richardson was elected manager of the club for the coming season.

Three new directors were added, including Lee Little, Lawrence Good and Mason Anderson. Carl Ellis was re-elected president of the club; Harold Hudson, secretary; treasurer, Van Stewart, Clyde Cofer and Sam Hergert were re-elected to the board of directors.

Perryton has withdrawn from the NPAA league, and arrangements are being made to join the Texas-Oklahoma league with Booker, Follett, Darroutzet, Beaver, Balco and Gate, Okla. Perryton and possibly another team will be added to this league, which plays on Sunday.

In addition, a four team night league composed of Perryton, Texoma, Hooker and Liberal may be formed.

Workouts for the club will start this week, getting ready for the season which will open in two weeks. Most of the players from last year will return, plus youngsters up from the junior team. Milton Deason, University of Texas pitcher, will join the club in June.

Players who will report this year include Dave Deal, Porky Holland, Irvin Hergert, Dudley Hargrove, Bill Richardson, Wilbert Hart, Melvin Williams, John Dieball, Ira Campbell, Wayne Gyger, Billy Ray Chase, and Bob Gibson.

They Collect Mormon Folk Lore

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Hundreds of Mormon folk songs have been unearthed by Dr. Austin E. Fife of Occidental College, America's leading collector of Mormon folk lore. For 15 years Dr. Fife and his wife have spent their spare time touring "Mormonia" (chiefly Utah) asking youngsters and oldsters to talk or sing into their recording microphone.

Some Mormons, Dr. Fife says, are unwilling to use his recorder for fear church officials may disapprove. But most are flattered to be asked. As a result the Fifes have added more than 300 transcriptions of Mormon folk songs and tales to the Archive of American Folk Songs, Library of Congress. Other fruits of their hobby are the more than 13 volumes of notes on hundreds of interviews, letters, private journals and obscure publications.

Some days it's just plain work gathering folk lore, says the Fifes. But sometimes there's a windfall, too. Like the day recently when Mrs. Effie Marquess Carmack, of Atascadero, Calif., recorded 63 songs. And they were only part of her repertoire of 200.

Most Montana Farms Electrified

BOZEMAN, Mont.—(AP)—Nearly two-thirds of Montana's farms now receive electricity. Rural Electrification Administration data here show 23,462, or 62.2 per cent, of the state's rural homesteads now are electrified.

This compares with a national average of about 75 per cent while 11 states can boast 95 per cent rural electrification, the REA said.

Building Funds Solicited From VFW Members

The local VFW post has started a drive to get a contribution from every member of the post for the Veterans Memorial Building Fund. Plans for the solicitation drive within the post membership was made at the regular Tuesday night meeting.

There are approximately 150 members of the post and most of them have previously contributed to the new building. Since construction has been halted because of lack of funds, the VFW members voted to start renewed work on the fund drive among themselves.

The money raised from the members will be turned over to the building committee on April 18.

Breathes Danger from Atomic Workers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A breath of air so slight you could hardly detect it even by holding up a wet finger wafers radioactive dust particles away from workers in atomic-energy laboratories.

The controlled air movement over the special desks of such workers must be "marvelously precise," explained James S. Locke of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company. "It must be strong enough to draw off fumes and dust, but not strong enough to draw into the exhaust mechanism any of the material being tested." An electronic instrument achieves this balance through super-sensitive thermostats that control dampers in the ventilating system. The thermostats create and control a breeze that is about as strong as the upward curling of smoke from a cigarette in an ash tray.

Funeral Services at Liberal For 'No Man's Land' Pioneer

DOMBEY — Funeral services for Mrs. Tillie Schollenberger Neill, pioneer resident of "No Man's Land" in Oklahoma, were held March 29 at the Methodist church in Liberal with the Rev. Harold Duryea officiating, assisted by the Rev. W. E. Cooksey.

Pall bearers were John Campbell, Claud Miller, John King, Ellis Kite, C. W. Law, and Eugene Doggett.

Mrs. J. M. Calvert and Mrs. Harry Sawyer sang, "Ivory Palace" and "Going Home." A choir from the Baptist church at Adams, Oklahoma sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Never Grow Old" accompanied by Mrs. Morris Atkinson.

The Turpin Rebekah Lodge attended the funeral services as a group, and the Liberal Rebekahs were in charge of services at the grave.

OBITUARY

Tillie Schollenberger, daughter of Samuel and Mahija Schollenberger, was born August 19, 1880 at Segourney, Iowa and died at Epworth hospital in Liberal on March 26, 1950 at the age of 69 years.

In 1887 she came to "No Man's Land" with her parents, three brothers, and two sisters to establish a home near Boyd, Oklahoma. She knew all the hardships of early pioneer life. She was united in marriage to Frank P. Neill March 31, 1900 at Beaver City, Okla. To this union seven children were born.

The family made its home on a ranch until 1917 when they moved to their present home 21 miles south of Liberal. In April 1921, Mr. Neill became postmaster at Dombey and held this position until his death in August 1938. He was succeeded in the post office by Mrs. Neill who was postmistress until her retirement in February, 1950.

She was a charter member of the Dombey Farm Women's Club and the Turpin Rebekah Lodge. She held office in the latter organization since its founding three years ago.

Mrs. Neill received her early schooling at Boyd, Oklahoma, and later attended school one year at Concordia, Kansas. She attended normal school at Beaver City, Oklahoma, and later taught one year at the Hackberry school in the Range neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Neill were each life members of the No Man's Land Historical Society of Goodwell, Oklahoma.

She is survived by two sons, Ed of Dodge City and Perry of Dombey; three daughters, Emma of Adams, Okla., Mae of Los Angeles, Calif. and Lois of Dombey; two brothers, Lee Schollenberger of Beaver and Joe Schollenberger of Perryton; and a sister, Mrs. Jessie George of Boyd, Oklahoma. She is also survived by eight grandchildren.

Complicated Love Angle Featured In Baiko Drama

By GERALDINE PUGH

If you are a young man and single, what would you do if you fell in love with five girls at the same time, and knew that all five were in love with you?

If you are a young lady, what would you do if you fell in love with a handsome, wealthy young man, and then suddenly discovered that your four sisters were all in love with him too? You would probably try to find out which one he loved.

But it would be almost unbearable to discover that he loved you all equally as well, wouldn't it? These are some of the things that happen in "He Couldn't Marry Five," which is the title of the funny three-act play to be given by the Senior Class in the Baiko Auditorium on the evening of April 11. Here is a play that is based on a very human problem—something that is sure to appeal to young and old alike.

Members of the cast are Wanda Nichols, Leroy Penner, Geraldine Pugh, Elvena Morris, Marolyn McGlamery, Ouida Saunders, Florence Muyr, Marie Thomason, Mary Ann Penner, Galen Sargent.

The time is 8 p. m., April 11.

Today's Easter Customs Had Religious Origins

The traditional Easter Parade of feminine finery was begun by Emperor Constantine of Rome. Early in the Fourth Century he was converted to Christianity. To honor the Feast of Christ's Resurrection, he decreed elaborate ceremonies at which his entire court appeared in new robes.

Almost all of today's colorful Easter traditions, from gaily-hued Easter eggs to cheery Easter greeting cards, similarly stem from centuries-old religious customs and practices.

Easter falls on April 9 this year. Officially, Easter is the Sunday following the first full moon of Springtime—a formula dating back to the Old Testament.

When the Israelites were in bondage in Egypt, Moses led them forth by the light of Springtime's first full moon. This became the Jewish Passover Season. Jesus was celebrating the Passover when he was seized and crucified. So the early Christians established Easter—as a "moveable feast" like the Passover, calculated on the same lunar calendar to ensure that the two holy days would always occur only a few days apart.

In medieval Europe it was the custom to put out all household fires on Easter Eve. On Easter Morning, in the church courtyard, a new fire was struck from consecrated flint. Parishioners took home blazing torches to re-light their hearth fires, symbolizing the beginning of new life. Keeping these "holy fires" going was considered protection against storms, droughts, famines and plague.

In France and Belgium, church bells bestow more Easter eggs than the famed Easter Bunny. When the bells are silenced during Holy Week, parents explain they have flown off to get the Pope's blessing. The youngsters tumble outdoors before dawn on Easter to watch the bells "fly back from Rome" with Easter gifts. As the children scan the skies, parents secretly scatter bon-bons and colored eggs in the grass.

For centuries, from Moscow to the Rhine, decorated eggs were the traditional Easter gift among devout Christians. Mailed to distant friends, however, these fragile Easter greetings often arrived shattered. About 1850, the practical folk of Northern Germany began sending drawings of Easter eggs instead. Holy Land scenes were substituted a few years later.

Easter cards were introduced into the U. S. about 1880. Religious themes, popular at first, gave up their lead to playful chicks, bunnies and lambs about 1900.

While whimsical designs are still in heavy demand, popular taste in the post-war years has been swinging back steadily to reverent Easter cards, thus paying tribute to Easter's ancient tradition as the greatest feast day in the church year.

New Business and Residential Buildings Going Up in Booker

By GLEN LENON

BOOKER—Several new buildings and houses are being erected in Booker at this time.

Business additions include a 40x25 tile addition to the Booker Hardware. This new addition will extend the store to the alley with a complete length of 140 ft.

The addition is being built at a contract cost of $3,750 by John Watson, local brick layer. Plans are also underway to remodel the entire front of the present building and make a showroom and display room for fixtures and supplies. Harry Mountcastle, owner of the firm, moved into the present building in 1946.

Another addition is a gunset type machine shed being built by Mac Quarles, which will be leased for the use of Lemons Equipment Co., International Harvester Dealers for the Booker area. The building is 40x10 and will house equipment for the IHC. It is being erected at an approximate cost of $1800.

The Lemon Brothers moved to Booker from Panhandle, Texas and took over management of the IHC on February 1, from Mr. Quarles. Mr. Quarles is now living in Amarillo.

White House Properties in Booker are also in the process of building. They have started a new 100x20 ft. warehouse. The building is of tile and stucco construction with a galvanized steel roof. It will have a three foot loading dock which will extend the full 100 feet along the west side. It will also contain four 8x8 sliding doors for loading-out purposes. John Watson is also laying the tile for this building.

Several new homes are being erected in Booker, also.

Among these are a new two-bedroom home being built by N. J. Hutchinson, two blocks west of the First State Bank.

The fifth of a series of houses is being built in the R. M. Lemon addition in east Booker. The house will have two bedrooms PLANNING PLANT—It's best to know before you grow, say these two damsels studying a book on latest models. A garden is a highly personal thing, says the experts, as much a part of its owner as its handwriting. That's why some of us don't have a garden—it's too revealing.

Rate Increase of North Plains Electric Co-Op Set May 1

A rate increase for members of the North Plains Electric Co-op will go into effect on May 1. Purpose of the rate increase is to cover the cost of constructing a 69,000 volt transmission line from the Southwestern Public Service transmission line in Hansford county to a point six miles north of Lipscomb, a distance of 66 miles.

The cost of this line, and the necessary substations, will amount to approximately $285,000 according to Earl Waide, NPEC manager.

When the coop was organized and the rates fixed, no provisions were made for constructing transmission lines.

With the completion on February 25 of the new "F" section, adding 429 miles of line to the coop territory, the total miles now being served reached 1,260 miles, and all of the eastern area was without adequate power.

Low voltage has been common, and at peak loads in the early evening, voltage has been extremely low. There are 225 members still without service and unless an additional power source can be made available, these members cannot be served.

The rate increase has been approved by vote of the members. The new rates, which go into effect May 1, are:

First 50 KWH	10

Immigrants' Goods Tariff-Free in Israel

TEL AVIV (AP)—Immigrants to Israel can now bring into the country just about everything they want without paying any customs duties.

A ministry of finance order said immigrants' belongings were hitherto exempt from customs only if they were second-hand. Now the exemption is extended to the new household goods and furniture of immigrants, with the exception of electrical appliances.

The average annual cotton crop of Texas is so large that its value approaches the total value of the production of gold, silver, zinc, lead and copper mines in the United States.

Crater Lake, Oregon, which is an unusual sapphire blue, lies in what was once a gigantic volcano and is 2,000 feet deep.

and it will have an east front. It is located one block east and one-half block north of the First Christian Church.

Roy Cook is constructing a new home, one block east and one-half north of the Bell Hotel.

WHAT IT MEANS: Wire Tapping

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON — Telephone wire tapping has received so much publicity lately that you might like to know how the tappers operate. Suppose you're an FBI agent and you know that a spy has taken a room in a hotel and that he is likely to be telephoning an accomplice. If you want to listen in, you first must decide whether to ask the hotel management to cooperate.

It will be a lot easier if you get the manager's help. But maybe you don't want to take a chance on the manager or his employees. They might talk. So you go on your own. You take a room near the spy's room. You "case the joint" to find out where the telephone wires run. Perhaps there's a terminal box in the hall. How to find out which wire is his? You send a fellow agent to the spy's room. He enters with a skeleton key while the spy is out and "puts a tone" on the spy's phone. That means he lifts the receiver and holds a device in front of the mouthpiece which makes a constant sound that you would recognize. Then, with a portable phone you try one wire after another in the box until you find the one making the tone.

You can tap the wire in one of two ways: By making a direct connection—scrapping off the insulation and touching the bare wire with the wire from your headset or by wrapping a coil around the insulated wire and drawing off the current by electrical induction.

After you've found your wire, you make a permanent connection by either of these two methods. Then you lead your wire discretely from the box, tucking it under the tapestry, behind palms, under rugs, etc., until it stretches into your room.

Then all you have to do is keep your headpiece to your ear and wait. If you get sleepy you can rig up a little device which will make a clicking sound and wake you up whenever the spy is using his phone.

If you can't find a terminal box or other place where you can get at the spy's line, you might dope out which direction his line runs. Then take a room where his line passes through your walls. You can find out where his wire is by holding an induction coil against the plaster. Work it slowly up and down back and forth, until you can hear your colleague "putting a tone" on the phone. After you've located the line, you can make a hole in the wall and connect with the wire.

Can the spy detect whether his line is being tapped? Only if he has a highly technical instrument which can register a slight loss in the volume of sound. However, he'd have to have tested his wire before it was tapped to see what the normal sound volume was.

Some tapping involves an awful lot of work. A Post Office Department inspector working on a mail fraud case once had a policeman tap a wire for weeks, making thousands of mechanical recordings.

The FBI says it is now tapping about 170 telephones in internal security cases. This is only a small percentage of the total number of cases on which the FBI is at work, but it is still a lot of tapping.

Israel-Romania Business Good

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israel is doing a rushing business with Romania. The ministry of trade and industry announced Israeli exports to the Soviet satellite during recent weeks were valued at nearly $560,000.

Exports included oils, pharmaceutical products, artificial teeth, razor blades and citrus by-products. Romania sent Israel timber, livestock, fodder, chemicals and salt.

Thailand Watches Border

BANGKOK (AP)—To forestall possible Chinese Communist infiltration from Indo-China Thailand has banned border crossings by Chinese except by visa. Thailand formerly had reciprocal agreements with Burma and Indo-China to permit border crossings for trading purposes.

Utah Liquor Sales Increase

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Sale of liquor by the state yielded $3,333,065 net profits in Utah last year. The amount was $27,690 larger than in 1948. Sale is permitted only by package through stores by the state liquor control commission or in stores selected by the commission as its agencies.

Of the profits, $2,333,065 went to the state general fund and $1,000,000 to municipalities and counties.

County Behind LaMaster In Congress Race

Perryton and Ochiltree county residents are getting behind LeRoy "Pete" LaMaster in the race for Congress, the movement gaining momentum this week after the date for the election was set for May 6 by Gov. Allen Shivers.

A "LaMaster for Congress" club has been organized, and plans are being made for a tour of the district on a campaign to boost Pete's chances for election. Campaign literature, including placards and car stickers, have been printed and distributed.

Several thousand postal cards, for personal vote solicitation to friends in other counties have been printed and distributed.

Pete has been pledged the support of the civic clubs, and practically every club is making plans to assist in the advertising campaign.

Meanwhile, Pete is on the road every day, visiting all over the district. He plans to contact voters in every town and every county in the 18th District before the election date, and has probably covered more ground in his "hand shaking" tour than any other candidate thus far in the race.

The postal cards and other campaign literature are being held at the W. B. LaMaster Realty Co. office and may be had for the asking.

was estimated at 6 per cent, using 20 bushels per acre as 100 per cent. This would mean a 1.2 bushel per acre yield in those fields.

At Farnsworth, where 25 fields were inspected, 18 were abandoned, and the crop condition was estimated at 8 per cent, or 1.6 bushels per acre. The Booker area was a little better, with 15 fields abandoned of the 23 inspected, and the condition was estimated at 10 per cent or 2 bushels per acre.

Erickson found good moisture in all the fields, but also found plenty of greenbugs and red spider mites.

The bugs worked all winter because it was mild enough, Erickson said. When spring growth should have started, the wheat plants began to turn pale, wither and die.

When judging the value of rainfall over greenbug damaged areas, one should remember that a drought dwarfed and damaged plant without bugs will revive and begin to grow, Erickson reported. Rain or no rain, a greenbug damaged plant dies, he added.

It is about too late for the lady bug and parasitical wasps to do any good with the greenbugs, he found. He saw a few lady bug larvae, but it is still too cool for the wasps to come out and he did not see lady bugs in sufficient numbers to stop the greenbugs.

Following is a partial view of his field notes made March 31 and April 1 (per cent column is based on 20 bushels per acre) youth program planned by the Ranger Club is progressing nicely, according to Mason Anderson, vice-president of the club. Arrangements are being made to have softball and baseball games at the lighted fairgrounds park four nights each week. In addition to the American Legion junior baseball program, there will be a softball league for younger boys, sponsored by the churches.

These junior games will be in addition to the regular games of the Perryton baseball club.

At the April 20 meeting, a membership drive will be launched and the year-around youth program fully explained. The club plans to organize, encourage and support all athletics in the Perryton schools, and supplement the school program with summer athletic activities.

It is hoped to enlist 500 members in the Ranger Club. Minimum dues have been set at $2.

April 30 Deadline For Redeeming '49 Wheat Loans

All 1949 wheat loans and purchases agreements mature on April 30, PMA secretary Elliott Lee reminds county wheat producers. Loans must be redeemed by that date or the Commodity Credit Corp. will take over the wheat automatically.

Warehouse receipts for wheat covered under purchase agreement must be delivered to the county PMA office by April 30 if the producer wants to redeem the grain, Lee said. After delivering the warehouse receipt, delivery instructions must be issued before wheat may be moved out of the bin, if stored on the farm.

Farm storage wheat will probably have to be held on the farm another year, if not redeemed, Lee said.

Dr. Cornette Is B&PW Speaker

Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State College at Canyon, will be principal speaker at the annual public affairs banquet of the Perryton Business and Professional Women's Club.

The banquet will be held on Thursday night, April 20, in the Hotel Coffee Shop.

Dr. Cornette's subject will be "The 20th Century In Eternity." Tickets have been placed on sale by the B & PW club and may be purchased from any member.

Governor Sets May 6 as Date For Congressional Election

Gov. Allan Shivers has set May 6 as the date for a special election to fill the congressional post vacated by Rep. Gene Worley, who resigned as representative of the 18th District following his appointment to the U. S. Court of Claims and Patent Appeals.

This special election has a lot of people confused, especially the county judges of the 26 counties who must handle the election. According to word from the secretary of state's office in Austin, county judges are supposed to take over, set a filing deadline,

Pagan Customs Survive in Christian Festival

...atures

... cluttered spring day.
... you put on your new

... are perpetuating one
... oldest traditions of
... — the donning of
... by the newly bap-

ped with kitchens and drinking utensils. Some of these ultimately became taverns, while many more were retained for what is now the normal church life of the church community."
However, the strength of the church is illustrated in its adjustment to many other springtime capers that people confused with Easter. One is the Easter Fire. This was lighted on top of a mountain, and according to pagan practice, it had to be kindled from new fire—drawn from wood by friction. The fire signiprise each other is purely an ancient church tradition. Before the 10th century in France, when a canon was absent in the choir for the first psalms of the morning, the others would take the processional cross and the holy water, march to the absentee's house and finding him in bed, they'd sprinkle him with water to wake him. Then he was led to church. In punishment he was compelled to provide breakfast for the others.

Switching in Bed

The bishops eventually put a stop to that, but the custom survived among the people. In many parts of Europe parents and children tried to surprise each other on Easter morning.
Instead of using holy water to wake sleepers, they used
"health-giving" pagan switches.
Today this early rising is perpetuated with Easter dawn services, popularized by many of the Protestant churches in outdoor settings, such as natural amphitheatres, and mountain-sides. And although thoroughly Christian, these services stem directly from pagan sun dance ceremonies of greeting the spring sun from a hilltop.

How Paganism Perseveres

"A great many pagan customs, celebrating the return of spring, gravitated to Easter," admit the historians. And some of these customs are odd, indeed.

On Easter Monday, for instance, women are supposed to have a right to strike their husbands—on Tuesday the men may strike their wives.

In northern parts of England, men can parade the streets on Easter Sunday and claim the privilege of lifting every woman three times from the ground. In payment for such feats of male strength they get a kiss or a silver sixpence. The next day the women are permitted to try the same trick on the men.

On Easter Monday wives
may smite their husbands!

On Easter Tuesday
it's vice versa!

fied the victory of spring over winter.

At first the bishops issued severe edicts against these "sacrilegious Easter fires." But all over Europe people insisted on starting them. So, the Catholic Encyclopedia observes, "the Church adopted the observance into the Easter ceremonies."

Easter Egg's Origin

But of course, the Easter egg remains the most universal symbol of the day. It seems to have had its origin in the fact that eggs were forbidden during Lent.
When they were brought to the festive table on Easter Day they were colored red to represent Easter joy.

There is a church in London that carries on the practice of giving each member of the Easter congregation an egg bearing the words "My Redeemer."

And this habit of getting up early to find eggs and to sur-

Czechs Get Rationless Meals

PRAGUE—AP — For the first time in ten years Czechs can walk into some restaurants these days, order a steak and a bottle of Pilsner beer and walk out without plunking down ration coupons. But only a few Czechs can take advantage of this new freedom because "off ration meals" usually cost from 50 to 100 per cent more than those paid for with the little blue stamps.

The price for a rationless meal, including soup, beer, a meat course and dessert is a minimum of 100 crowns ($2). Few Czechs can afford such prices more than once a week.

"DOG MAN" TRAINS HIS HOUNDS—Jim Nichols, who trains the bloodhounds at the Gatesville School for boys, watches a couple of puppies he is training run after a boy. Nichols, who says he's "just a dog man," says he has no elaborate course for training a bloodhound, but starts by letting four-month-old puppies play with the boys, then has the boys go hide and lets the dogs find them. "We jest keep that up, sending the boys a little farther away and a little farther away," he says. "And that's all there is to it." (P) Photo

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 9.
The Golden Text is: "In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof is no death" (Proverbs 12:28).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour" (Matt. 8:13).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christ, as the spiritual or true idea of God, comes now as of old, preaching the gospel to the poor, healing the sick, and casting out evils" (page 347).

tion of freight rates, the development of our natural resources, enlargement of our Veteran's hospital, and other worthwhile projects that will aid the industrial and agricultural development of our district. Projects like the proposed Canadian River dam and Red River survey are investments which add to the strength and security of the country.

6. I am opposed to the U. S. government's competing, at the expense of the taxpayers, with private business, and believe the government should not enter any business field except where and when private industry is unable or has failed to supply at fair and reasonable costs the actual need in such field, and then such entry should be made only on a sound financial basis. I am opposed to socialized medicine or any legislation under which our government becomes socialized and will control and direct our personal lives.

7. I have always been friendly to labor. I favor the principle of settling differences between labor and business through orderly collective bargaining. Since national labor legislation has proved to be necessary, and until improved legislation can be enacted that will effectively protect the laboring man, the business man, and the public against selfish and unscrupulous leaders of either labor or business, I favor retention of our existing labor-management laws. I will carefully and fairly consider any amendments that may be proposed.

I consider the welfare of labor, business, and agriculture inseparable in our national economy, and I shall work faithfully for and with each of the three for our country's welfare.

The cubs were born January 17 and got their first trip to the big outdoors when they were taken from their cage for this picture last week. (UPI Photo)

Dust Storms In West Texas Are 15,000 Feet Above Surface

LUBBOCK — Recent dust storms in West Texas have reached a height of 15,000 feet and covered an estimated 85,520 square miles during the early stages, reports on a research project at Texas Technological college indicated.

During a prolonged storm late in March which lasted three days the barometric pressure reached a record low of 25.06 in Lubbock. The winds evidently started whipping up dust in southwestern New Mexico as they blew toward a large low pressure area in Nevada. As the low pressure area moved eastward the dust-laden winds invaded Texas.

Students of G. Frederick Warn, associate professor of geology, reported dust particles 25 of a millimeter were found 65 feet above the surface. Particles from New Mexico and Colorado were mixed in with local dust. About one per cent of the particles were organic matter such as leaves, straw or grass.

Remarkably low humidity has aided the dust storms, Warn said. A record low humidity was recorded in the late March storm. The last rainfall of note fell in the South Plains on Sept. 21. Recent winds have had a drying effect which is further reducing the moisture content of the soil, Warn said.

Ordinarily, a wind of 40 miles per hour will carry the dust as long if the gusts are sustained. However, gusts of 20 or 25 miles per hour can start storms rolling, and velocities during some dust-ers have reached 70 miles per hour. Wind turbulence and air moisture, as well as the speed of the wind, help determine the amount of dust that will rise.

Four out of five recent storms have entered the South Plains from a westerly direction, and one has come directly from the south. The most intense recent storm entered Texas from the West.

Tech students Billy Cox and Dewain Cox, both of Monahans, and Jack Pales, Lawton, Okla., are working under William C. Irwin and Warn's supervision in compiling data on the dusts.

Ash Cans Alone Won't Do It

Six civic clubs of Perryton have made an attempt to keep Main street clean by providing the latest thing in street ash cans for paper and debris. Representing a considerable investment, these cans will be placed on each block on Main street, and if used, will go a long way toward keeping trash out of the gutters.

That's the main point—if used, the ash cans will do the job. It will take a little trouble to walk over to the ash can to deposit cigarette packs, popcorn boxes, etc., rather than throwing them on the sidewalk, as we all do now, but the results will be worth it from an appearance standpoint.

The city will have to be diligent in emptying the ash cans, too, if they are to serve their purpose.

Placing the ash cans is only half the job of cleaning up Main street. Individual cooperation will furnish the other half of the job.

Not the Other Guy's Job

WHEN IT COMES to cleaning up a town, there's nobody like the other guy to see that the job gets done.

Talk to city police officers, to the city health officer, or to those who receive kicks about everything in a city that can be classified as a menace to community health, and nearly always it's the other guy who's to blame.

IT'S THE OTHER GUY, the family who lives across the street, or next door, who fails to clean up a vacant lot or burn off a pile of trash, two or three years old which has been the happy home of hundreds of rats.

The open garbage can which harbors millions of flies belongs to the other guy.

The chap that lets his papers blow over the neighbor's yard or piles trash on a vacant lot to avoid burning it... he's the other guy.

SOME PEOPLE think the other guy ought to keep the neighborhood weeds cut and grass mowed. Disguised as Uncle Sam, Dr. I. Q. of the State Department of Health or the local cop with a big shiny badge hired by the city... the other guy ought to clean up the open toilets, disinfect the filthy garbage cans and spray the whole darn town with DDT.

ANYBODY WHO knows a thing about germs and cleanliness, and why people suffer and sometimes die of contagious disease realize that the best way in the world to have a dirty community is to leave it up to the other guy.

All over the Valley towns are being urged to clean up before polo and dysentery attack babies by the dozens.

If we wait for the other guy to do the job, it will never be done.

Gene Worley Thanks People of 18th Congressional District

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EIGHTEENTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

I wish I could write each and every one of you an individual letter but since that is impossible, I am taking this means, through the kindness of the editor of your paper, to extend to you my thanks for your excellent cooperation and for the most generous support you have accorded me in the past.

Formerly ten years I have been honored by election as your Representative to the United States Congress. No one could be prouder of that honor than I am now and have always been. You have been more than generous to me through the years and I have done my dead level best to make you a good congressman. I hope I have succeeded.

You have no idea how really proud I am of the people in my District. I would not trade my own District for any in the United States. As I turn to new fields of endeavor, I will carry with me the recollections of my always pleasant associations with you. I wish for each and every one of you the very best of everything for all the years to come.

Sincerely,
GENE WORLEY

Wolf Creek Philosopher

Wants Insurance for Non-Mule Owners

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher won't get anywhere with the insurance idea he advocates in his letter this week, but you can't blame him for trying.)

Dear editor:

With spring comin on pretty fast now, in spite of the dry weather, I was out in my pasture the other afternoon wonderin why the experts don't invent a stalk of wheat as self-reliant as say a pecan or peach tree, one that would last a man a lifetime, come out every spring without havin to be planted, don't create no erosion problem, ain't subject to acreage control... why there ain't no way to calculate how much time man has consumed since the dawn of history nursin a crop durin the spring, goin out and looking at it, worryin about greenbugs, etc., only to have to plow the stubble up in the fall and start all over again.

I guess though if the problem was eliminated it'd throw a lot of tractor salesmen and dealers out of work and bring on another government relief program, although understand I ain't opposed to government relief and believe I'd heap rather sit in the shade and watch my crops come out like pecan trees than to go round and round the field all fall just to keep the tractor salesmen from goin hungry. They must have done something before we had tractors.

But what I started out to say was that I been readin about that Texas farmer who got sued because somebody else's mule got out on the highway and caused a wreck and when the Supreme Court made him pay off, I got to thinkin. There ain't no end to this sort of suing. Lots of mules still left in the country, though there ain't many of them around here, and lots of folks who don't own em, ain't got one myself, and if they're liable to be sued every time there's a automobile wreck, it puts us muleless folks in a serious predicament.

In fact, I am writin to Washington now to see if Congress can't take out a blanket public liability insurance policy on everybody who don't own a mule, and if you think it's a good idea will appreciate you swingin your influence to bear on it. If you look close, you ought to be able to find some influence some where around your office.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

It's an Old Story in Making Has Been Tried for 10,000 Years

ERN RAIN MAKING—Wing tip of plane at right, shown cumulus clouds to be seeded with dry ice.

ERSATZ LIGHTNING was tried in the 1880s when balloons sparked off showers.

SNAKES ALIVE were used by the Hopi Indians in their ritual dances for rain.

SHERRY BOWEN Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—Attempts to make something New York is to begin in hopes of filling reservoirs—have been going on for at least 10,000 years. Of it's new to spend $50,000 to seed clouds with dry ice and quench a city's thirst. But man's dream of rain making is an old story. Primitive man tried to make rain as soon as he had crops to plant. He tried magic. The best rain maker of a tribe often became chief. It was a good job, except when he failed to bring rain he often was killed.

Wierd Rites Tried

That of the rites hinged on sprinkling or pouring out water. The Omaha Indians, for instance dumped water and then sucked up the mud and blew it from their mouths to imitate spray. But in Java, Australia and other places they beat each other until blood flowed to imitate rain. Or the rain maker might take a bath. The Arabs used to toss their holy man into a pool when they wanted rain. In South Africa grass and leaf-clad women sang ribald songs while they cleaned the wells. The rites of the Hopi Indians in which they dance with rattlesnakes in their mouths are known to most Americans. That, too, is a rain making ceremony. Twins, frogs, black animals, were among the things some people thought helped bring rain. These became the center of the rites. Or they might call up on their dead. Orinoco Indians scattered the ashes of relatives a year after death as a rain charm. Men also appealed to their gods. Zeus in Greece was a rain God, among other things, as was Jupiter in Rome. Or they might become angry at their gods after a long drought. As late as 1895 in Sicily, images of saints were struck to the wall, stripped thrown into pools and otherwise abused. Smoke Clouds Prescribed South American Indians also burned grass in a drought, thinking the smoke would rise and form clouds. Very early men believed that battles caused rain. This was supposed to be due to the noise or to the blood and sweat evaporating and forming clouds. Or the gods were supposed to want to clean the battle field. When guns came to be used, the smoke and concussion was supposed to bring rain. This was taken seriously even in the United States. Between 1890 and 1893 Congress spent $19,000 trying to make rain by sending up balloons and kites with explosives. Some of the experiments were near Washington, but most of them were in Texas. A series of dry years started in the United States in 1891. This set off a wave of rain makers with secret formulas. Frank Melbourne, supposed to be an Australian, gained repute as a rain maker near Canton, Ohio. Then Goodland, Kansas, called him. He set up a two-story building and let fumes of his secret formula escape through a vent in the roof. It rained and he collected.

In Australia in 1903 zinc was put in sulphuric acid. Hydrogen was thus generated in an attempt to make rain. "Mystery Chemicals" Used In 1905 Charles Hatfield collected $1,000 for making rain in Southern California. He released mystery chemicals from a tower. He operated all over western United States and is even said to have gone to Alaska. Another rain making surge came in the early 1920's. This time it was thought rain could be made by seeding clouds with electrified sand. In one test Army planes seeded clouds over McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio. They are said to have produced a small shower. Since dry ice has worked, all that seems necessary now is enough clouds of the right kind and enough ice.

Humans Zoo Animals

BARCELONA (AP)—Cruelty is causing this city's zoo. Latest victims of the public are a leopard, an eagle and Pip, the 20-year-old, two and a half ton hipopotamus. Auptopsies after death in all three cases showed they were due to unnatural causes. Pip died from stomach perforations caused by large quantities of tacks, nails, lead weights and even metal toys. The eagle and the leopard were found to have died from severe blows from heavy stones and air rifles. Now zoo officials have warned visitors of heavy fines and prison sentences awaiting anyone found molesting the animals.

Veteran Forum

Q Last year I was awarded compensation from VA, but I renounced my payments. If I decide that I would like to receive compensation payments at some future date, will they be resumed?

A Compensation will be resumed if the service-connected condition is shown by medical evidence to exist to a compensable degree at the time you file a new application for such benefits. Compensation, if approved, will not be made retroactive.

Q I had a disability before I entered service during World War II, but the disability has increased considerably since then. Is compensation payable for the increase in severity occurring during enlistment?

A Existing legislation provides compensation for disabilities aggravated during and as the result of active service.

Q What are the compensation rates payable for World War II veterans for service-connected disabilities?

A The rates range from $15 a month for 10 percent disability to $150 a month for 100 percent or total disability. Statutory awards for loss of leg, arm, etc., plus additional compensation for dependents of a totally disabled veteran may run the total payment to $451 a month.

Q My late husband, a World War II veteran, died of a non-service-connected disability. Am I entitled to a pension?

A As his widow, you may be entitled to a pension if your husband's service meets the requirements and your income does not exceed $1,000 per year if without a minor child, or $2,500 if with minor child or children.

Blacksmiths Have Safety Record

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Workers in a railroad blacksmith shop in Ogden are proud of a safety record dating back to 1923. About a dozen men work in the Southern Pacific shop. Their equipment includes heavy forging machinery. The products forged range from a horseshoe to an equalizer bar weighing more than a ton. Although the shop operates seven days a week and there have been minor injuries, John H. Hadley, lead workman, says the smiths haven't had a serious accident since 1923. A sign in the shop tells of the record and warns: "Don't be the one to break it."

Four-fifths of the water this country uses comes from streams and lakes. Wells provide the other 20 percent.

'Lady Takes A Sailor' Stars Morgan, Wyman

"The Lady Takes a Sailor," new romantic comedy, comes to the Ellis on Sun. Mon., April 9-10, starring Academy Award winner Jane Wyman and Dennis Morgan. The picture is a romantic yarn that begins at the ocean's bottom and winds up in the sea of matrimony.

In the role of Jennifer Smith, president of a National Research Institute, whose integrity is questioned when she returns from a deep-sea adventure with a man who says he's Davy Jones and an octopus who traps them in a weird undersea tractor, Miss Wyman clinches her position as one of Hollywood's most versatile actresses.

Dennis Morgan is the inventor who can prove Jennifer's story, but refuses because in doing so, he must disclose a military secret. Eve Arden is Jennifer's long-suffering chum, ever in search of a man. Lina Romay appears as a Latin nightclub beauty whose eyes and hips have a strange interest for Dennis Morgan. Robert Douglas, Allison Joslyn and private detective Tom Tully figure prominently in the hilarious proceedings.

Wacky Joan Davis Sells Soap In Film

Joan Davis, radio's Queen of Screams, is headed for the wide open spaces in her latest screen opus, as a traveling saleswoman who cleans up the West—selling soap. With her, playing her romantic interest, is gravel-voiced Andy Devine.

The picture comes to the Ellis on Fri-Sat., April 7-8.

"The Traveling Saleswoman" opens with Joan becoming a traveling saleswoman in the Wild West in order to save her father's declining soap business with Andy, her roly-poly fiance, she sets out to clean up the badlands—with soap—and runs into one hilarious situation after another. The sales resistance that she meets out West is like nothing encountered by an Eastern tenderfoot back home; her uproarious bout with Demon Rum; her merry encounter and conquest of Indians and her emission of soap bubbles every time she speaks are some of the comical high spots of "The Traveling Saleswoman."

Miss Davis, mistress of the "pratfall" which is always good for many rumbing bellylaughs, never had a better opportunity to display her talents to better advantage than in her latest comedy. With Andy Devine as her heart throb, there never was a romance like this. And Andy is on the receiving end of luscious Adele Jergens' wiles, for plot purposes, of course, but it should be something to see the calculating Miss Jergens in full pursuit of coy Andy. Joe Sawyer and Dean Riesner make a couple of amiable villains.

CHAIN LIGHTNING—Eleanor Parks feigns disinterest as Humphrey Bogart receives instructions for testing the jet plane in "Chain Lightning," the new action drama which comes to the Ellis on Tues.-Thurs., April 11-13.

Humphrey Bogart Is Jet Pilot In New Film, "Chain Lightning"

A powerful tale using jet-propelled planes as a background, "Chain Lightning" shows Humphrey Bogart as a test pilot for the hot jobs and marks the first feature picture of such proportions to let the public in on the latest thing in aviation.

The picture comes to the Ellis on Tues.-Thurs., April 11-13.

Providing the love interest is the beautiful Eleanor Parker who made such a hit in "The Voice of the Turtle" two years ago.

Miss Parker early in the story plays a Red Cross girl in England who meets the intrepid Army pilot played by Bogart. When after the war his talents are needed to test the fastest type of fighter plane devised by man, it is she who brings Bogey back to his first love—and how he flies them provides for some of the greatest film action ever

Many Germans Leave Churches

HANOVER (AP)—The number of Germans withdrawing from church membership has increased nearly 500 per cent since 1947 in the state of Lower Saxony, a state official disclosed. In 1949, he said, 13,453 withdrew from the church, compared with 6,037 withdrawals in 1948 and 2,496 in 1947.

The official said most of the withdrawals were due to "material" reasons—indicating reluctance or inability to pay the church taxes required of church members. In Germany, if a person declares himself a member of any church, his church taxes are collected by state tax collectors along with his governmental taxes. Lower Saxony is seen, according to advance reports.

In such a story, the talents of Humphrey Bogart whose fans know him as a rough (but they love it) handler of women as well as men or machines, are ready-made and "Chain Lightning" has been spared nothing by Warner Bros. to make it one of the top action stories of the year.

Christmas, 1948, 10 days after the final scene of the picture "Prince of Peace," depicting his pageant, was finished. The "Prince of Peace" was produced by Hallmark Productions, Inc., of Wilmington, Ohio. The local Pageant Association receives a definite sum from every engagement of the picture throughout the world. All funds the non-profit religious group receives are being soundly invested in bonds to provide adequate financing for perpetuating the "American Oberammergau."

More than 3,000 Lawton and Southern Oklahoma people play biblical roles in the pageant each Easter morn. Millard Coody, local bank teller, portrays the role of Christ, which for many years was played by Rev. Wallock himself.

LAWTON, OKLA.—Easter Sunday, April 9th, will see the presentation of the great Easter Pageant, The Prince of Peace, for the 26th consecutive year by the Wichita Mountain Easter Sunrise Service Association of this city. This non-profit and non-sectarian religious organization stages its annual pageant on the slopes of the Wichita Mountains near here on government-built stages of native rock.

The Rev. Mark A. Wallock, who originated the annual pageant and produced and directed it for many years, did not live to see his dream of filming the Life of Christ for all the world to see come true. Rev. Wallock died on April 25, 1948, at his home in Lawton, Oklahoma. He was 64 years of age. Fifteen of them are women.

Grass Fires Cause Serious Damage Later

LUBBOCK — Sweeping grass fires that have scorched portions of West Texas may not cause serious soil damage immediately, but continued dryness may have a more harmful effect because organic matter has been destroyed.

Earl Burnett, assistant professor of agronomy at Texas Technological college, said burned areas may "green up" later this spring, but the soil will be depleted by the loss of organic matter. Dry stubble left on the soil helps control wind erosion.

Burnett also pointed out that the intentional burning of lawns or fields is not a good practice since fires are extremely hard to control.

Burnett and other Tech agriculture division faculty members who warn against grass fires can speak from experience. A portion of the college's experimental acreage west of the main campus was recently scorched through an accidental fire.

Pampa Gives Rogers Boost For Congress

PAMPA — Pampa and Gray county were getting set this week to give their fellow townsmen an "all out" push in his race for congress.

He is Walter Rogers, former city attorney, district attorney for 2 terms and who has been an active leader in civic and community affairs during his 15 year's residence in Pampa.

First official event in the campaign is a barbecue in Pampa for Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock with Sheriff Skinner Kyle as host and with peace officers of the district as special guests.

Pampa business men in a series of meetings have organized into a city-wide "Rogers for Congress" club, and plan a tour of the entire district on a campaign to "sell" the Pampa candidate as the best qualified entrant in the race.

In groups of 4 to the car, the Pampa workers plan to visit every town and community in the district and pass out literature, distribute placards and tell the voters of the other counties about the Gray county candidate.

Mr. Rogers, who enjoys a large law practice, has arranged his affairs so that he can devote all of his time to the campaign. He plans a whirl-wind trip over the district and will speak in all towns.

Stressing stability for agriculture, economy in government and the need for curtailing federal encroachment in local affairs, Mr. Rogers plans to outline his views to the voters of the area. He is opposed to federal aid to education, saying if Texas retains its tide-lands it has no need for federal school aid, and is outspoken against socialized medicine. He believes that capital and labor should settle their own disputes with the government in the role only of arbiter.

In planning the kick-off barbecue, Sheriff Kyle said this event "is to be my treat." As a peace officer when Mr. Rogers was district attorney, Sheriff Kyle is an ardent admirer of the congressional candidate.

"I've seen him on the job, know what he can do," said the sheriff. "Only 3 acquittals during two terms as district attorney is something in my books; I want the other peace officers to know Walter Rogers. That's why I'm giving the barbecue as his campaign opening."

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were married in 1936, shortly after he moved to Pampa from East Texas. They have 6 children, 3 of whom are in the Scouts. Mr. Rogers is 41 years old.

Junior Hi Band Members Banquet In Circus Setting Friday Night

The school cafeteria was transformed into a veritable circus tent Friday evening when members of the Junior high school band were entertained at a banquet.

The circus theme was carried out in the decorations. The centerpiece represented a three ring circus tent with a circus parade leading to the tent. Leading the parade down the center of the table was the band, followed by the clowns, bare-back riders, lions, tigers, elephants, and other circus animals. Side shows were situated throughout the cafeteria. A monkey cage adorned the piano, and monkeys were hanging from the ceiling. Red, white, and blue crepe paper decorated the banquet room and colored balloons were suspended from the ceiling.

A circus band composed of J. D. Davis, Clifton Bell, Fred Osborne, Coke Harlow, and Dr. Roy Sanford led the parade into the circus tent. Plastic circus animals marked each place at the table, and each person found a paper hat and a hissing snake to add to his amusement.

The menu (animal fare) consisted of: bird mystery (fried chicken), clown pills (baked beans) parrot's delight (stuffed eggs), monkey grins (olives), giraffe necks (celery), leopard spots (hot rolls), tiger tonic (lemonade), polar bear growls (ice cream), and alligator snout (cherry pie).

Ringmaster Kenneth Precise introduced the program which consisted of piano selections by Coke Harlow, a tap dance by Jean Sultor, and selections from the Tune Twisters, J. D. Davis, Dr. Roy Sanford, Clifton Bell, and Fred Osborne with Coke Harlow as accompanist.

The sixty members of the band were dressed in circus costumes as were the mothers who served the food.

As each spectator left the circus, he passed the souvenir booth and was given a souvenir cane.

The committee in charge of the banquet was Mesdames Clifford Beck, Jerome Woods, Virgil Castle, Dean McLarty, Ivan Lovett, B. C. Jones, Alton Witt, Aldon Bell, C. H. Williams, Lonnie Sultor, E. N. Flathers, and Manse Wood.

Feller Points For Good Year

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON, Ariz.—Bob Feller of the famed fireball believes he will pitch the Cleveland Indians to 20 victories this year.

It's true he had his lowest winning percentage in his 14 years with the Tribe in 1949. "I'm not throwing in the sponge, far from it," he says.

Feller believes two factors which have now been rectified caused his difficulties last year (1) a shoulder injury, (2) weak hitting on the part of his teammates.

"I hurt my back in San Francisco during a spring training exhibition," Feller explained. "It wasn't right at the start of the season and I lost six of the first seven games in which I pitched. "I should have quit for a while and given it a chance to heal. Instead I kept on throwing, and kept on having trouble."

Finally Feller did take a rest. When he returned to the lineup and started winning games some fans believed he had changed his style of throwing. "There was no change," Feller said. "I pitched the same kind of ball I had always pitched. I threw with everything I had all the time."

Feller isn't alibiing when he mentions Cleveland hitting. "There were times when I was hit hard and runs couldn't have helped me," he pointed out. "But I lost five games when we didn't score a run and five more when we only scored one. That isn't going to happen so frequently this year. Our hitting is going to be much better."

Feller scoffs at those who think his renowned fast ball is a thing of the past. "Certainly I'm not throwing as fast as I was 15 years ago," he says, but I still throw a fast ball. I think I throw as fast as any other man in the league."

Some men who know baseball feel Feller cut short his major league career by post-season barnstorming trips. Feller doesn't.

"Barnstorming hasn't cut my time in the majors by a single day," he says. "Post season ball doesn't hurt anyone if they keep in shape I did. I may have pitched almost every day, but only for a few innings at a time."

"When I was in the service I pitched winter and summer and sometimes twice on Sundays. I never felt better."

Former Tribe president Bill Veeck looks for Feller to win 23 or 24 games this year. Feller agrees. "I think I am going to have a good year. I only hope I don't have any arm trouble."

"I think Cleveland has an excellent chance to win the pen-

Whistles Blow For Both Fives

NEW YORK—In the first 363 games played on home courts in the National Basketball Association this season, an average of 27.3 fouls were called against the home teams and 27.8 against the visitors.

This near balance of whistle blowing was revealed by the league office to refute statements about "homers" working the games. More fouls were called on the home team in nine of the 17 cities—Baltimore, Chicago, Denver, Fort Wayne, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, Tri-Cities, Washington, and Waterloo.

Toughest on offenders are officials in Tri-Cities. The Black Hawks have been caught an average of 33.6 times per contest at home, while opponents have been called 33.2 times per game.

However, home teams have won 67.5 per cent of the games.

R.A.F. Plans Jungle Rescues

SINGAPORE (AP)—The Royal Air Force has formed a rescue team which will strike through jungle to rescue crews and passengers of aircraft which crash during anti-terrorist operations.

Members of the first team of 25 are men of R. A. F. ground crews. The task calls for a high degree of physical fitness, determination to overcome obstacles, disregard for danger, ability to read maps. The unit carries its own self-defense weapons and hatchets to cut through jungle. It carries a radio and always maintains a headquarters.

Eight states in the area produce virtually all the popcorn.

CHISELING INCREASES THESE and CUTS PLOWING TIME & COST 1/2

It's a fact: when you use a Jeffroy Chisel Plow properly you can actually double your crop yield and at the same time cut plowing cost and time as much as one-half! Chiseling breaks up the "plow sole" and lets rain soak down deep into the subsoil where it stays! until plant roots need it. Chiseling also kills unwanted vegetation and leaves it on top of the soil to shade the ground and rot and fertilize the soil. Because a Jeffroy has such a light draft, it covers the ground faster and cheaper than other types of plows. The Jeffroy Chisel plow is the basic plow for every crop and soil. When used properly, the Jeffroy will help any farmer raised productive and profitable crops.

Kiner's Homer Mark Hopes Rest on Fast Start

BOB MYERS
 KINER—The slugger Ralph Kiner is hoping to make a fast start in his new home at Perryton, Texas. Kiner, who was traded from the Cincinnati Reds to the Pittsburgh Pirates, is expected to make his debut in the first National League game on Friday, April 7. Kiner, who is 30 years old, is a right-handed batter and a right-handed pitcher. He is 6 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. Kiner has a batting average of .300 and has hit 100 home runs in his career. Kiner is expected to be a key player for the Pirates this season.

Here's the swing that may bring Ralph Kiner a new home run mark.

he collected in the first three and a half months of the campaign. Kiner was able to hit only two home runs in the first 16 games, and he only had 11 after almost six weeks of play. At the mid season point he had 27 and few believed he'd wind up with anywhere near the total he accumulated. Kiner, pinned down, will point out that it is harder for a right-hand hitter to connect for the circuit than for left handers. The reason is elemental—"In most major league parks, the left field fences are further away than right field fences." As a matter of fact, Cincinnati is the lone exception to the left and right field measurements. Kiner, despite his power hitting, doubts that he's hit more than a half dozen homers over the right field fences in all his major league career. Kiner also points out that the bulk of his circuit smashes came off right hand pitching, instead of the expected southpaw offering generally deemed more favorable for righthand hitters. Again, the answer is simple—he batted against a lot more righthand pitchers than lefties. "We seldom saw any left-handers," he explains, adding that most of the Pirate power is right handed. There's still another vital factor in the Kiner hitting. Thus far

BOWLING

The second half in the bowling league is getting close to the finish, as the teams enter the home stretch each with two more scheduled matches to roll. The current standings:

In some cases there is little difference in the standings and the winners are yet to be decided.

The final match for the regular season will be bowled Tuesday, April 18. Already several bowlers are starting plans to inaugurate new league competition to follow the close of the present schedule. There is talk also of forming a woman's league. The young people of the Methodist church held a bowling party last Friday; on Tuesday a boys Sunday school class from the Methodist church held a bowling party, followed by a hamburger supper. There have been bowling groups this week from Booker and Hardesty. Present league nights are Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, the other nights being for open bowling. The alleys will not be open on Easter Sunday.

Typical self-made, successful citizen. Born in Texarkana, Ark., July 19, 1908—41 years old. Attended elementary schools McKinney, Texas. Worked on farm while attending Austin College, Sherman. Worked way through University of Texas law school, employed in state comptroller's office. Graduated with high honors, now licensed to practice before United States Supreme court and all courts of our state. Moved to Pampa in 1935, began practice of law. Opened own law office 1937, which he has maintained since, except for 4 years when he served as District attorney. Made outstanding record as district attorney, refers voters to any member of grand jury or law enforcement officer in district he served. Has built large practice among his neighbors, friends and acquaintances. Represented many clients before highest courts of land, Railroad, Banking and other state commissions. Member Gray County and State Bar Associations. Served as first War Bond chairman Gray County. Married Jean Daly of Pampa in November, 1936. They have family of 6 children, ranging in age from 18 months to 11 years. Two sons and daughter are Scouts. Former member of Jaycees. Past president Pampa Rotary club. Active in all civic and community affairs. Life-long member Protestant Episcopal Church.

HE BELIEVES

Walter Rogers believes future of our country depends upon the homes and small communities. Believes in home rule and home responsibility. Believes encroachments have been made upon individual rights which must be checked or rights will be lost to the people. Believes a balanced economy must depend upon private competitive enterprise, free of Government control except for adjustment of wrongs brought about by bad faith. Believes capital and labor should settle own disputes with government only in role as arbiter. Believes economy of this region based primarily on agriculture, believes farmers of this section capable, sound-thinking Americans; favors stabilized farm economy but believes many features of farm program should be at option of the farmer and not at the whim or caprice of Bureaucrats. Problem can not be solved overnight, but is being solved and that farmer's suggestions and advice should be followed and used. Pledges full assistance to Canadian Dam and all other water conservation projects in district; sees such projects as sound investment and essential to economy of district and also vital to national defense. Believes federal aid to education is double taxation; believes if government will attend to own affairs, leave our tidelands alone and conduct itself in accordance with Constitution, Texas won't have to worry about federal aid to our schools. Believes Civil Rights is a mis-nomer, is purely political and will not aid any of the peoples involved; if Constitution is followed there is no necessity for a Civil Rights program by Congress. Constitution provides that program fairly and honestly. Believes the old people are not getting their just dues, too much of

Walter Rogers has as much at stake in the future of this country as any of the rest of us. Here is the Rogers family. Standing, left to right, are John, Walter and Tommy. Dyer Blasts Critics; Figures Cards 1-2-3

By FRANK ECK
Newsfeatures Sports Editor
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Don't try to second guess Eddie Dyer! If you do you'll be embarrassed. He'll come up with the right answers.

Several people have claimed that the Cardinals had too many starting pitchers available and that overabundance of starters cost St. Louis the National League pennant during that hectic drive the final week of the 1944 season.

"Humbus," says Dyer in effect, only using much stronger words.

In an exclusive interview for Newsfeatures, Dyer was asked why he hadn't started his 20-game winner, Howie Pollet, more than once during the final two weeks and why he waited until the final game when the on May 8. On June 2 he gave one hit in four innings as the Cards got three runs in the 14th—two on Stan Musial's triple—and on July 5 he hurled four innings of runless relief pitching as the Red Birds topped Chicago, 2-1, in 10 innings.

"I used Howie in relief three times during the final two weeks. Any of those games we could have won. I couldn't pitch him against Chicago with nine right handed batters in the lineup. And against Pittsburgh, well you know how tough the Pirates are against southpaws in Pittsburgh."

During the final week the Cards won only two of their six games. They lost four straight. After Harry Brecheen beat the Cubs, 6-1, the Pirates beat George Munger, 6-4 and topped Gerry Staley 7-2. Max Lanier lost to Chicago 6-5 and Brecheen bowled to the Cubs, 3-1. Trailing Brooklyn by a full game on the final day, Pollet beat the Cubs, 13-3, but it was too late.

"Our worst losing streak was three in a row but the last week we lost four straight," points out the always popular Houstonite. "We just ran out of gas. Remember the consensus picked us fourth. I think we did very well to make such a fight of it and finish second especially since a lot of fellows were picking Brooklyn, the Braves and the Pirates to finish ahead of us."

"It was the first time the writer ever saw the usually placid Dyer steaming at the girls. We might add that he had every right to froth since he always has done a fine job with the Cardinals and never once has anybody ever heard a complaint from the players.

As for this season, Dyer sees the Cards in a 1-2-3 finish. Improvements have been made all along the line with the possible exception of the infield. Dyer points out, "Our infield is the danger spot," declares Eddie.

Marty Marion and Red Schoendienst, one of baseball's top double play combinations when healthy, have a habit of getting hurt. Eddie Kazak, a Purple Heart Veteran, might not be able to play a full season at third base. At first base Dyer has to pick between long ball hitting Steve Bilko and Nippy Jones. Despite what you hear about Bilko's weight he got down to 247 pounds in the first 10 days in camp and hopes to scale the same 235 as in '49 when he belted 34 homers and hit .314 for Rochester.

budget. The special session made up this and then some by boosting the omnibus tax 10 per cent for 18 months, and by adding a penny sales tax to cigarettes, but it didn't tackle the bigger deficit problem.

There's that little fellow, sales tax, again.
Most Texans have been pretty smug in believing they didn't have a sales tax, say, like Louisiana. They don't now, like Louisiana. But Texas of course has a sales tax on gasoline, cigarettes, cosmetics, automobiles, radios,
beer and other commodities.

There will be a big drive during the next session to extend these into a general sales tax.
There will be proposals for a state income tax, for increases in the tax on natural gas and crude oil, and probably for more taxes on the growing chemical industry.

Announcement of a plan for any one of those, including the sales tax, will bring on a finish fight at Austin.

So while you're asking your prospective legislators or candidates for lieutenant governor embarrassing questions, you might as well include these:

1. If you favor cutting expenditures, where will you start, on funds for education, welfare or roads? (That's where 90 per cent of the state money goes).
2. If you're not going to trim, where are you going to get the money? General sales tax? Increase in the tax on natural gas or oil? Chemical tax? Income tax?

Final tip to the voter: Get it in University Cuts Building Costs With New Beams

AUSTIN, Texas—University of Texas research on construction methods is cutting southwestern building costs.

A joistile beam has been developed by University engineers.
The beam is used in making roof and floor systems for concrete-tile structures, popular in this section of the nation.

Such construction is being used more and more in rural areas for farm buildings because it is fireproof, ratproof, and economical. Joistile has added to the economy advantage.

Made in a "U" shape from reinforced concrete and precast tile, joistile is used in making

"T" beams for floor and roof systems.

The beams may be installed by unskilled labor because no centering or form work, required in ordinary concrete building, is needed.

"In the Austin area, joistile costs 10 to 20 cents less per square foot than corresponding wood construction, and 40 to 50 cents less than solid concrete,"
Research Director J. Neils
Thompson said.

Over five years of load tests and structure analyses are behind the joistile development.
The work was done in Civil Engineering Laboratories on the University's main campus and at its Off-campus Research Center near Austin.

Planes Relieve Whooping Cough

PRAGUE (AP)—Planes of the Czechoslovak Airlines are engaged in a growing operation at Frague airport called "whoops-a-boosies." It is said to be curing children of whooping cough by flight. Statistics by health authorities indicate it is working well.

Reducing of air pressure has been found to give children relief. So batches of youngsters are taken aloft with their parents in daily flights to heights of 9,000 feet for one hour.

Fires, Drought Cut Coffee Crop

SAO PAULO (AP)—Furthest fires and a long drought are ruining next year's coffee crop, Silvio Pacheco, of the farmers' association, reported after a tour of the interior areas of Sao Paulo.
There are forest fires almost everywhere he said, and the continued heat has killed flowering coffee plants.

He said it has not rained in two months. If by next moon it does not rain, farmers told him, prospects for next year's crop will be none. Sao Paulo is the greatest coffee producer in Brazil. A reported crop of seven and a half million bags has been estimated now at only five.

Water meters were introduced

THE TEXAS POLL Texans Very Conservative On State Population Estimates

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll

AUSTIN, Texas—Not all Texans are bragging, at least not about how many people live in this state. On the population score, one out of every six appears to be ten years or more behind the times.

In a statewide survey, The Texas Poll finds that while most adults tend to over estimate the population, 16 per cent think the current census will show a total count of only 6,000,000 or less. As a matter of fact, the 1940 census showed more than 6,400,000 in Texas.

Trained interviewers conducting this survey put this question to a representative cross section of 1,000 men and women:

"How many people would you guess now live in Texas?"
Here are the guesses: By:
Six million or less 16%
About seven million 20
About eight million 25
About nine million 24
Ten million or more 6

That Better Mousetrap -- 1950 Version

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Newsfeatures Writer

One day John Smith, a business man, was rummaging in the attic of the old home place, where he was spending a rainy week-end. Suddenly he came across an old, dusty mousetrap. "Goodness," said John Smith, "this is a mousetrap."

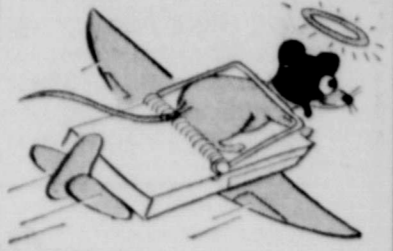

"Yes," said his old mother, "that was supposed to be a better mousetrap when your father invented it, but nothing ever came of it—except we used it here on the farm."

"We shall see, we shall see," said Smith, who was very smart. He took the better mousetrap back to his city office with him. First he called in an engineer, who told him the better mousetrap was structurally good. Then he hired a designer, who added chrome and special antiseptic paint. Finally, he hired an advertising company to do something about the mousetrap. Then he rented a factory and set up special machines to make the better mousetrap.

Suddenly, all over America, newspapers and magazines burst forth with large advertisements telling about the better mousetrap, how it used less cheese, how it wouldn't snap at anything but mice and how owning a better mousetrap made even the ugliest home more attractive. Pretty soon, a radio program was reporting on ways in which a better mousetrap had salvaged an unhappy marriage. A dress manufacturer put out a better mousetrap dress, which had a cute design of cheese, mice and traps on it.

Meanwhile John Smith was very happy, because people all over the country were buying better mousetraps like crazy, and the sales curve on the graph in his private office, which had pine-paneled walls, was shooting up and up.

But John Smith was not completely happy. He hired a firm of interrogators which reported back to him that less than one half of the families in the nation owned a better mousetrap. It was Smith's ambition to put two better mousetraps in every building in the nation.

Smith then hired a firm of public relations consultants. Within a few weeks, the nation was celebrating Better Mousetrap Week. A pretty young woman, usually seen only in a bathing suit but who was said to be in the movies, had been named the Better Mousetrap Queen. Newspapers of the land were flooded with pictures of the Better Mousetrap Queen.

THE SCENE FROM THE CROSS—"Crucifixion", a modern painting by J. William Kennedy, member of the art faculty at the University of Illinois, shows the scene as Christ may have viewed it, looking down from the cross on his tormentors and friends. The time portrayed is the split second before the agony was ended by the centurion's spear. The artist says he tried to put himself in each person's place when he created the facial expressions and gestures. To do this, he looked into an overhead mirror. This is believed to be the only painting with this point of view.

in a bathing suit, showing how safe a better mousetrap was and how well it caught mice.

But Smith still wasn't satisfied. He bought an over-age airplane, christened it the Better Mousetrap and flew around the world twice, non-stop, to make a world record. When he left the plane, he announced that the metal used to produce the plane which made the non-stop flight was the same metal used to manufacture Better Mousetraps.

Then it happened. The sales curve on the graph in his office started to drop precipitately. He called in his sales force. They said no one would buy. He called in his interrogators. They were able to report that there were two Better Mousetraps in every building in the nation.

John Smith called in his engineers. They put some more chrome on the mousetrap, and they changed the color from white to green, and they changed the shape from octagonal to a streamlined tear-drop.

They experimented and found it caught 2.13 per cent more mice per year than the old one.

John Smith called it the Best Mousetrap and soon the curve of sales on the graph was shooting skyward again. He was very happy, and so was his old mother, who had the farm remodel-

News From ANTHONY

By Mrs. Carl Carter

Several persons from the Anthony community attended the final meeting this term of the Beaver Parent-Teachers Association held Monday evening at the Leaver Grade School.

Entertainment included several musical selections. Featured on the program was a quartet which includes Clarence and Vincent Engleman, formerly of Perryton, and Jessie Cunningham and Bob Wilmoth.

The Beaver P. T. A. has attained a membership of over 200 in the one year since they were organized.

Carl Carter visited in both the O. E. and Oliver Carter homes Wednesday.

Attending the annual council meeting of the Northwestern, Oklahoma district of home demonstration women at Woodward Wednesday were Mrs. Ralph Bobbitt, Mrs. Leon Morris, and Mrs. Carl Carter.

Twenty-three women represented Beaver at the all-day meeting and 85 club women attended from the twenty-one counties of the district.

A good representation of Anthony women attended the Beaver County fine arts festival Thursday and Friday in Beaver. In attending such activities, we learn to appreciate what our public school teachers are doing for our children. Many superior ratings were given along with many "and excellent" and "good" ratings. A great deal of talent was shown by each of the schools in the county.

Week-end visitors in the Carl Carter home were Mrs. Carter's sister, Mrs. Estelle Phares and daughter Sybil of Perryton, Mr. and Mrs. Blum Morris and children and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Davis and Sue drove to Guyton Sunday to visit with friends.

Rate Royal High

NORMAN, Okla. (P) — Oklahoma fans claim that Darrell Royal, who was drafted for 1950 by Coach Red Strader's New York Bulldogs, does more things well than any other back in football. As the Sooners' 1949 Split-T quarterback, he ran, passed and punted, played a vital defensive role, set an Oklahoma punt return runback record of 32.8 yards a trip, scored 30 points as a junior, held the ball for conversion attempts—and found time to be a good father to his two kids.

New Nerve Disease is Puzzle

SAN FRANCISCO (P) — A strange nerve disease which seldom makes anyone ill but which holds plenty of mystery for medical researchers is reported by Dr. Robert Wartenberg, neurologist of the University of California medical school. This ailment causes certain areas of the skin to have less than normal sensitivity to pain or a dulling of the sense of touch. It often appears after infections such as grippe or flu. It may affect just one small area of the body or many. It may disappear in some areas and reappear in others.

The significant thing about it, says Dr. Wartenberg in the Journal of the American Medical Association, is that it is a definite disease, but nobody knows what causes it or exactly how to treat it. It is probably, says Dr. Wartenberg, that nearly everyone gets it at one time or another.

OAKLAND, Calif. (P) — Herman, 40, hopes to comeback with the Oakland in the Pacific Coast League spring. The ex-Pittsburgher was out of the league last year.

Also on the Oakland roster is Gene Galan who finished second with the Philadelphia Athletics. Other 1949 major league players in the coast league are Schoolboy Rowe, Charley Barrett and Clyde Stratton.

Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Spearman visited during the week-end in the home of their son Paul Loftin.

PLUMBABLE PLAN for use with or without basement, this is design 5R-47 by Elmer Gylleck, Architect, 250 Grove Ave., Elgin, Ill. It can be used for two or three bedrooms, an expandable feature that allows excess attic construction. Without basement, the house comprises 16,600 cubic feet, including a basement brings this up to 19,500. Local builders know the average cost per cubic foot for a house. The architect suggests an exterior of wood siding and stone dressing with a roof of wood asphalt shingles.

IN THE BAG: Your Garden's Success Depends on Fertilizer

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 Newsfeatures Writer

A HEAVY LOAD, this woman is carrying the soil rich.

as well as flowers and vegetables. Wood ashes, bonemeal, superphosphate—all these are fertilizers, too, to be used where and as needed in the job of giving plant food to sterile earth or replenishing the supplies absorbed by growing things. But none of them should be used thoughtlessly or even too often. You'd never dig in wood-ashes around acid loving plants or scatter it on lawns, for instance. Lime is a soil conditioner—good for sandy soil as well as clay—and is an important tool of the gardener. It will sweeten sour soil, make a too-rich soil better, but it is rare earth, indeed which requires an annual dosage. Commercial fertilizers are the ones with the numerical legends traced on the bags, 5-10-5, 2-6-4 and such. These magic figures merely represent the proportions of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash contained in the compound. They are necessary adjuncts to every garden—but they are supplementary aids. They are safe and easy to use but they are more like shots-in-the-arm, not long term soil improvers. Peat moss, like lime, is not a fertilizer. There's no plant food in it, but it's a wonderful soil ingredient to lighten and aerate heavy soil. Bonemeal is a wonderful plant food. It's expensive—when compared to lime, for instance—but its advantage when mixed into the garden is that it dissolves slowly and does a long-term enriching job.

Bunnies Boot Humans Off Easter Cards

You'll be sending your gay Eastertime wishes via Animal Kingdom messengers this year. Human beings have almost been edged off the 1950 Easter cards. Gamboling lambs, twittering robins, and ambling bear cubs express the nation's traditional salute to Spring.

Most popular Easter card emissary, of course, is the wisecracking Easter Bunny. Surrounded by eggs and paintpots, he's "Just DYEING to wish you Happy Easter!" Naturally, he hopes you'll enjoy "A Hop-HOPPY DAY!"

One Easter card explains why the fun-loving bunny delivers his toothsome Easter baskets so stealthily—

Rabbits hop about their business
Like they didn't have a sorrow
Even though they may suspect
They're HARE today and COAT tomorrow!

Zany styles are predicted for the annual Easter Parade on April 9. A few humans are permitted on the cards as models. But they're strictly stooges.

Live bunnies cavort atop gigantic women's hats. Sneaking up behind one Miss, a hungry lamb nibbles the daisies off her bonnet. And a perky chick displays the ideal hat for "My Darling Wife." A revolving dial brings optional decorations into view—a basketful of wax fruit, a small tulip bed, colored eggs, and a bunny-and-carrot statue.

Daddy Duck unveils the style keynote for men—polka dot straw hat and bright red toupee! A human father wins a place on one Easter card—staggering out of the garage laden with spade, rake, garden fork, hedge-clippers, seed, and garden hose.

Exquisite floral designs, in a rainbow of Springtime hues, are enhanced with perfumed satin puffs and tiny plastic butterflies. One undecorated greeting apologizes—

I would've had some Easter flowers
To send you with this card—
Except there was a FENCE BETWEEN
And a BULLDOG in th' YARD!

Romance is a frequent theme, of course. A smitten swain lolls on the meadow grass, composing love thymes. One greeting even announces with a Brooklyn accent—

Now is the time for Bunnies and Boids—
For Easter Eggs and PRETTY WORDS!

In addition to Easter cards for sweethearts, there are special verses saluting Mother, Dad, the relatives, and the neighbors. Large cut-out bunnies, lambs, and chicks that stand by themselves will delight the youngsters on Easter morning.

Emphasizing the nation's growing religious feeling, recent Easter cards are more popular than at any time since the early 1900's. Favorite Biblical scenes are the Angel at the Tomb, and the Risen Christ watching over lambs on a flower strewn hillside.

The favorite religious verses this year are from famous Easter hymns and orations and from the Song of Solomon, with its lyric portrayal of a Biblical

Burk Ready For Election

E. T. Burk, Amarillo businessman who is a candidate for Congress in the 18th district, says he is glad the special election was set for May 6.

"I think a month of campaigning is about all the voters can stand," he said. "With the census enumerators out counting noses and candidates seeking votes, the people of this district will have a lot of callers and hear a lot of pleas. This shows who is really important — the people."

Burk said he would press his campaign to the limit, visiting every community possible.

"The response to my campaign has been tremendous," he said. "I have never seen so many letters. I believe people like the idea of common, practical horse sense, and scores and scores of them have told me they like the idea of a man paying his own expenses and not permitting himself to be shackled. I am convinced that we have no government problem that can't be solved by common sense."

Moving Tree Ends Career

ZION, Ill. (AP)—Passers-by saw a man sawing away at a big popular tree. It meant nothing to them. But it meant a lot to Mrs. Ella Scrafeld.

She planted the tree 44 years ago. She moved four times. Each time she brought the tree along and transplanted it. But recently, because of decay, it had to be cut down and hauled away.

Court Says Cops Know Bookies

IPOH, Malaya (AP)—Bookmaking is neither an art nor a science and therefore expert testimony is not required to prove that betting slips are betting slips, insists the public prosecutor of Perak States.

Defense counsel contended police weren't experts enough to testify as to just what is bookmaking. The higher court decided they are.
