Local Chamber of Commerce To Assist In NRA Program

The local chamber of commerce has been asked by Hugh S. Johnson, administrator for the National Recovery Act in Lamesa and Dawson County. The local chamber officials, telegraphed Mr. Johnson acceptance Tuesday and proceeded to make the set-up which will be announced later.

The officials of the local organization under the leadership of S. L. Forrest, chairman of the merchants division of the chamber of commerce, and Louis B. Reed, president of the Chamber, are busy making appointments of executive board, which will make a set-up of three important committees, namely, Publicity, Speakers and Educational, and Solicitors, to function during this campaign which lasts until the 31st of December.

The complete set-up is expected to be announced as soon as literature and complete plans are received from Washington. The chamber officials are anxious that all who are called on to help will respond readily and give of their services as in any patriotic cause.

Dawson County Farmers Plowing Under Cotton

Farmers of Dawson county who contracted to plow up a part of their cotton crop in order to reduce the acreage in this county in cooperation with the movement over the entire South to reduce the cotton acreage, have been busy the past week plowing up cotton, with 95 per cent plowed up on Wednesday of this week. By the end of the week it is thought that the entire 13,014 acres contracted in the county will be plowed up.

Most of the farmers are putting this cotton land into feed, others are planting food stuffs that can be used at home. Farmers will not be allowed to sell the feed that is produced on this land which was formerly planted in cotton, but it will be just as valuable as feed to livestock.

Senator Duggan, who has just returned from a trip to Washington in the interest of the farmers of the South Plains, has held a prominent place in the affairs of this section for a number of years, and his record made in the 43rd Session of the Texas Legislature is an impressive one, doing much for the counties he so ably represented.

Three New Novels Received At the Public Library

Three new novels were put on the library shelves this week. They are "Flowering Wilderness" by John Galsworthy; "Hurdy Gurdy," by Margaret Bell Houston and "Ma Cinderella," by Harold Bell Wright.

The heroine of Mr. Galsworthy's novel considered the world well lost for the love she cherished. She and many other characters in "Flowering Wilderness" first appeared in "Maid in Waiting." As always, Mr. Galsworthy skillfully depicts a social background and its influence upon the destinies of individual men and women.

If you want sheer entertainment and if you enjoy a story that moves easily from the first page to the last and if you like things romantic and want to chuckle over shrewd and quiet humor, "Hurdy Gurdy" is the novel you've been looking for. Its heroine is a modern girl who couldn't quite settle down to marriage. Derry Carewe had just graduated from a Texas college, her mother was dead, and her father away on his travels. As it happened Derry had a little money and no responsibilities, and why should she be fettered by marriage. She wanted new places, new faces, and the ever-looming prospect of adventure. But Derry fell in love and what happened then is the rest of this delightful story.

In "Ma Cinderella," we have the long-awaited Ozark novel, at last a real Harold Bell Wright novel, in the "lovely setting of his early stories, "The Shepherd of the Hills," and the "Calling of Dan Matthews." In "Ma Cinderella" you find those same qualities, the interplay of human passions, the vein of inspiring spiritual longing and the touch of mystery that gave those early Ozark tales their enormous popularity. The story centers on an attractive youth whom Ma has educated as her son. He comes home from college in search of his mother to find the mysterious Ma. We soon feel that the boy is not her son, rightly or wrongly, but Ma's own early romances flare up, making the situation one of extreme danger for her and what she loves most of all, Ma is compelled to take the youth and go to the city she hates in order to save him. Here in a beautiful mansion Harold Bell Wright has worked out the Cinderella theme of the story for Ma with pathos and quiet humor. You will especially enjoy the love story of Ma's "son" and the city bred girl.

Mr. Ben McCulloch made an addition to our collection of religious books this week by donating "The Country Preacher," by Jeff D. Ray. Our shelves of non-fiction are the pride of our library. If you do not like novels come into the library and find what you like. If you like fiction we are sure we have something you will enjoy reading. Let your library help make your summer at home enjoyable and profitable.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Barkhurst and children of Los Angeles Calif., are here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barkhurst.

Merchants Are Coop- erating With N R A Program 100 Per Cent

According to information received at the local chamber of commerce office this week, all stores and merchants agreeing to cooperate in the National Recovery Act Program are expected to do all within their power to increase wages and shorten hours of work. The sign they are displaying in their windows mean simply that. All prices will be raised in line with this move, and it will be only fair if the merchants and business men increase the number of employees and shorten hours to benefit from increase in prices.

On the other hand the public has a duty in carrying out of this program. They are to cooperate and trade only at places that have signed up and have the NRA sign displayed. Prices will be higher, but it means that all the public has to sell will be higher also, and after all, the whole program is to get us out of the depression and ALL SHOULD CO-OPERATE to the fullest extent.

No one should take advantage of this program in any way to unduly profit individually, but all should look to the good of the entire program and all concerned: It is our patriotic duty to cooperate, and all Lamesa business men are doing so.

All drygoods, notion, and hardware store have agreed to open their places of business at 8 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. on all days except Saturdays and Sundays. On Saturdays they will open at 8 a. m. and close at 9 p. m.

Grocery stores have agreed to open at 7 a. m. and close at the same hours as dry goods stores. The drug stores are working now on opening and closing hours. So are the filling station operators.

Boy Scout Troop 22 Goes To Defend Its Championship, Mon.

Boy Scouts of troop 22 will go to Lubbock Monday, August 7th to compete against Troop 4 of that city in a field meet to determine the championship of the entire South Plains Area Council. Last year these two teams met in Lamesa for the championship and the Lamesa troop was victorious, and Monday 22 will be defending the title won at that time. The boys will leave here in the morning in time to arrive in Lubbock before noon. The meet will begin at 2:30 Monday afternoon. After the meet they will remain over for the council-wide swimming meet to be held in the city pool in Lubbock at 7:30 that night. The troops will be divided into junior and senior groups for the swimming meet and the senior team will be composed of Herman Harold Heffernan, Joe McAllister, Kenneth King, C. L. Schmidt, Elton Roberts, Jack Keisling, and Harold Lambeth. The junior team has not been determined.

The events for the field meet will be: Grand entry; Signaling; (A) Semaphore; (B) General Service; Fire building; (A) Flint and steel; (B), with bowdrill; Knot tying; Flag Shuttle Relay; First Aid; Wall Scaling. Boys from Lamesa who will participate in the field meet are: Kenneth King, Edwin Speck, Elton Roberts, Frank Veasey, Dixie Kilgore, C. L. Schmidt, Verrill Miller, Harold Lambeth, Thomas and Edgar Crow, Richard Crawley, Durward Schmidt, Victor Crawley, Willard McSpadden, Dwight Morris, Herman Heffernan, Joe McAllister and Edwin Easterwood.

Mrs. Joe Burleson visited her husband in Abilene last week.

GAINES, DAWSON, BORDEN, SCURRY, CO-OPERATING

Four counties, including Gaines, Dawson, Borden and Scurry, on Highway 83 have lined up to guarantee right-of-ways to the State Highway Department for a hard surfaced road along this route and a brief, stating the facts concerning the need for work in these counties, as well as a need for the highway, is being compiled by Wm. A. Wilson, secretary of the Dal-Paso Cavern Highway Association, which will be presented together with certified copies of the Court Orders to the State Highway Department, asking for work on this road as soon as possible.

Borden county passed the order Wednesday morning when delegations from Gaines, Dawson and Scurry counties attended the commissioners session by invitation there. The order was passed unanimously by the Borden County Court.

Those attending from Lamesa were: M. C. Lindsey, Carl Rountree, Elmer Barron, S. L. Forrest, Sam Hodge, Louis B. Reed, V. Z. Rogers and Wm. A. Wilson.

It will be remembered that Lamesa and Dawson County have always been favorable to highway 83. It will mean more to this section directly than No. 9, but the State Highway Department believes that number Nine is the more important to the State System and of course, we have cooperated to build No. 9 first. Now that we are going to build No. 9, we are bending all efforts toward getting Highway 83 built. We have the assurance of the State Highway Commission, at least Judge W. R. Ely of the Commission is favorable toward building this road when the state has the money.

He has promised us to do this. So, the step just taken by these four counties is a wise one.

It will place us in line for any construction the Highway Department is able to give us at any time.

We believe the Highway department will see the dire need in these counties at this time of placing construction in these counties on account of our dire need of work. The State government or some other agency is going to have a big job taking care of quite a number of good citizens if this work is not granted. We think the best way is to let us WORK for the help we get. That is what the citizenship of these four counties want to do.

Only 1183 Citizens To Vote In Coming August Election

Although the fate of our amendments to the State Constitution and of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution is to be determined so far as Texas is concerned, on August 26, less than half of the men and women of Dawson County will be qualified to vote on that date.

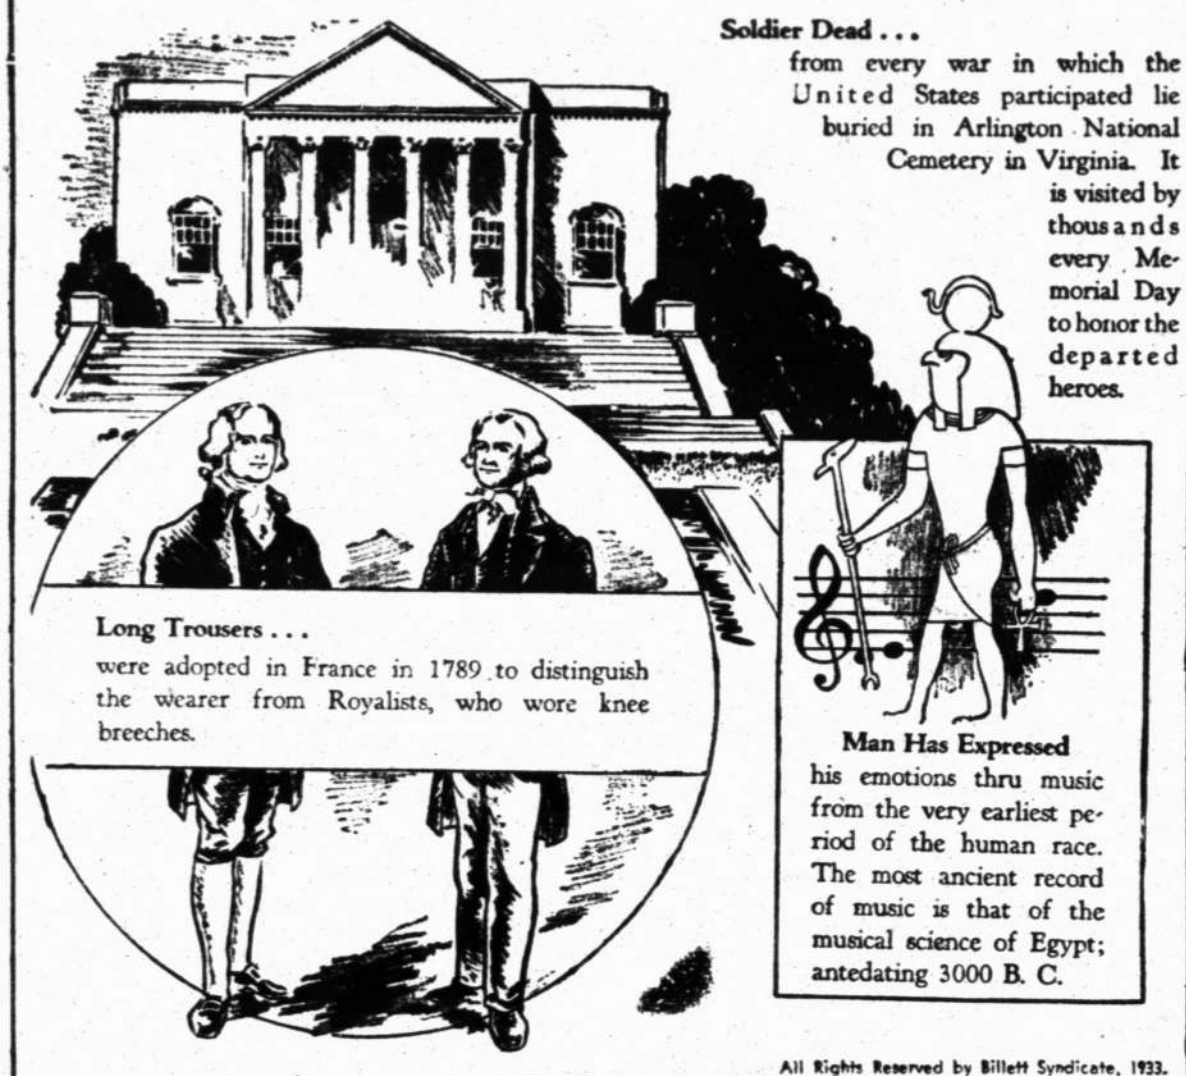

Only 1185 poll tax receipts have been issued in Dawson County this year. Last year there were 2339 poll tax receipts issued and in previous years more than 3,000 have paid poll taxes.

Poll tax receipts according to precincts are as follows:

FD's Postmaster Plan Draws Fire of Congress

Washington, July, 13.—President Roosevelt's move to place all postmasters under civil service fell with a thud today on Democrats in Congress who realized suddenly that about 15,000 jobs thus would be taken out of the political patronage category.

Senator McKellar of Tennessee, chairman of the postoffice committee and ranking democrat on the civil service committee, predicted that Congress would reject a bill such as the President recommended to require all first, second and third class postmasters be under civil service.

These appointments are now and have been for years appointed by the President on recommendation of senators and representatives. Only fourth class postmasters are at present required to stand civil service examination.

Pending submission of the bill at the next session, the president ordered all future applicants for postmastership now filled by political appointment to take examinations unless they are already qualified under civil service or regularly commissioned postmasters.

$1,500,000 Federal Funds Flowing Into Texas Each Month

Austin, Texas, August 3.—Federal funds to feed the destitute of Texas are flowing into the state at an average of about $1,500,000 a month, according to a report issued by Colonel Lawrence Westbrook, State Relief Administrator. The total since March, when the funds became available, to the first of August was $7,380,170. The same report shows that 1,270,000 persons are now being fed wholly by this Federal money and no other funds for their subsistence are available from any source.

The report shows that in March the State received $1,382,955; April, $1,472,405; May, $1,626,663; June, $885,234; July $2,042,920.

In May the legislature was hesitant about submitting the proposed amendment authorizing the issue of State bonds for relief and the Federal Relief Administrator immediately suspended payments to Texas. This brought the June disbursements down to about half the normal amount. After the proposed amendment was submitted by the legislature the payments were resumed on the assumption that this amendment will be adopted. Notice has been served on Texas that if the vote is against the amendment the flow of federal funds will again and permanently be stopped.

At the election on August 26, the people do not actually vote on the bonds. They merely vote to amend the constitution to allow the legislature, during the next two years, to issue bonds to match federal aid. Under the present constitution the legislature is powerless to appropriate any public funds for relief purposes, regardless of how many people might be starving.

FIVE SENSES

By Helen Keller

I, who am blind, can give one hint to those who see: Use your eyes as if tomorrow you would be stricken blind. And the same method can be applied to the other senses. Hear the music of voices, the song of a bird, the mighty strains of an orchestra, as if you would be stricken deaf tomorrow. Touch each object as if tomorrow your tactile sense would fail. Smell the perfume of flowers, taste with relish each morsel, as if tomorrow you would never smell and taste again. Make the most of every sense; glory in all of the facets of pleasure and beauty which the world reveals to you through the several means of contact which nature provides. But of all senses, I am sure that sight must be the most delightful.—From The Atlantic.

TEXAS, A BIG STATE

Texas is so large that Texarkana is nearer to the state capitals of 15 other states and to Chicago, Ill., than it is to the city of El Paso, in its own state. The other fifteen states are: Oklahoma, Arkansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Florida, Indiana, and Kansas.

This geography was worked out by Representative George Moffet of Chillicothe, in his contention that Texas is so big and diversified that population should not be used as the sole basis for representative redistricting.

FOUR IMPORTANT STEPS AHEAD OF COTTON FARMERS SAYS O. B. MARTIN

Warning cotton farmers against plunging their cotton acres retired in the acreage reduction campaign into new and unusual summer and fall crops, O. B. Martin, director of the Texas Extension Service, outlines a general four-fold plan for revamping farm systems to fit the new situation acreage reduction has forced upon Texas.

"The safest, surest, and most profitable uses for this land have been demonstrated over and over again in almost every community in Texas," he says. "The Extension Department offers nothing startling and magical as a general guide to farmers at this time, but the same plan that has brought success to many farmers in the past and which is now a logical necessity.

"The first part of the next step ahead for Texas cotton farmers is using 25 acres of land more or less, and with proper livestock and equipment making most of the family food and feed requirements at home. This is what saved us in the last three years and its continuation will make us money in the better years ahead. The immediate need in Texas is for quick feed and pasture crops.

"The second part of the step ahead is closely linked with the first. Living at home these last few years naturally gave surpluses of farm and home manufacture for sale. It meant extra farm income and it will continue to give extra income. The home pot sort of boiled over with surpluses of hams, and bacons and cheese and syrup and the like, which could be sold.

"The third part of the step is to farm the remaining acres in cash and other crops for all they are worth. Good yields always pay better than poor ones and they always will. I believe the immediate future will see a premium paid for better use of land and more efficient farming.

"Finally, with home requirements taken care of, surplus acres offer the opportunity for feed production to sell through livestock. Texas has always needed a livestock balance to its cotton farming and the chance is now here to get it."

TWENTY MILES OF CHINESE ELMS PLANTED

The Lubbock Station's introduction of the Chinese elm in 1919 and its extensive propagation and distribution of this tree throughout west Texas since that time has resulted in the planting of thousands of these trees in this region every year. This past spring, through cooperative efforts between the civic leaders in Lubbock, the State Highway Department and the Experiment Station, plans were worked out for planting an avenue of Chinese elms for two miles on each side of the five main highways leading out of the city.

TEXAS LAW TO REGULATE MANUFACTURE, SALE, OF BEER GIVEN APPROVAL

Austin, July 24. —A Texas law that would regulate the manufacture, and sale of beer, passed by the 43rd legislature to apply in event the voters at a special election on August 26, legalize 3.2 per cent brew, was approved as constitutional by the state attorney general's department.

Under the terms of the law, effective on September 15, as to regulatory features only in event a constitutional amendment is sanctioned by the voters, local option elections in political subdivisions dry when the state voted prohibition in 1919 may be held at any time after July 1.

Several counties had ordered a vote on local option for the same day the constitutional amendment is submitted to the electorate. The question whether the law could make such authorization before it had been determined whether beer could be sold anywhere in the state, was submitted to the attorney general by Mac Taylor, Jr., civil district attorney of Dallas County.

Elbert Hooper, first assistant attorney general upheld the law in every respect.

Texas will vote on the same day whether this state favors repeal of national prohibition.

SUMMER SANTA CLAUS

When the cotton farmers get their cotton money it will be the first time they have ever been visited by a summer Santa Claus. The role is such a new one for Uncle Sam to take toward the cotton farmer one can hardly believe it to be true. However, here is a thought: Uncle Sam has played Santa Claus many a year to many people, notably numerous Eastern manufacturers. It has been called a tariff instead of a processing tax, but it worked the same way. The only change is in the recipient and the name, but thank FDR for both changes.

Uncle Sam has been playing Santa Claus for a long time, only the inland farmer didn't know it.

SCIENCE HELPS SUMMER COOK IN ROASTING MEAT

The latest information on meat cooking is that the roasts are much more tasty and attractive if cooked in a slow oven. This information is greeted heartily by housewives on these warm days.

Roasts may be cooked in a slow oven during the entire cooking process, or the temperature may be increased either at the beginning or end of the cooking so that the roast may be nicely browned. This depends on personal preference, and is not necessary. It affects only the appearance and flavor of the outer slices.

To roast beef, pork, or lamb to the best advantage, place the meat on a rack in an open roasting pan in such a way that the fat covering is on top. Do not add water and do not cover. If the fat covering is very thin you may put slices of bacon over the top. Place the roast in a slow oven, (300 degrees F.) and roast until the desired degree of doneness is reached. For beef, allow 16 minutes per pound for a rare roast, 22 minutes per pound for a medium done roast and 30 minutes per pound for a well done roast. For lamb, allow about 35 minutes per pound. For pork, 25 minutes is required.

It is a good idea to roast a larger piece of meat than is needed for one meal, for then the next meal may be prepared in only a few minutes. Cold roast meat may be sliced for sandwiches, or it may be combined with many of the summer vegetables. Inez S. Wilson, home economist, suggests her favorite way of combining roast pork with celery.

PORK AND CELERY Au GRATIN
2 cup cold roast pork
1 1/2 cups white sauce
1 cup celery diced
1/2 cup bread crumbs
4 tbsp. butter
Paprika, green pepper and salt and pepper.

Dice the cold roast pork, combine it with the white sauce. Add diced celery, season with paprika, and salt and pepper, and put in a baking dish. Cover with buttered bread crumbs, and decorate with strips of green pepper. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) until the bread crumbs are nicely browned.

Mrs. O. B. Norman and daughters, Helen and Thelma Lee and Mrs. W. B. Collins and children, Edith Mae and Dick are spending the week in Ruidoso, New Mexico.

W. B. Collins and Walter Harold Collins spent Sunday in Brownfield.

Dr. Turner, dentist, of Lubbock spent Sunday in Lamesa.

Miss Katherine Anderson has returned from a three weeks visit in Bir Spring and Kent.

These trees, which were planted on well prepared ground and are cultivated and watered by the Highway Department, are making a nice start this year, according to D. L. Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock Substation. This roadside planting of Chinese elms equals a single row twenty miles in length and required about 4,000 trees, 1,000 of which were furnished by the station for further trials and demonstration of this tree for roadside planting in West Texas.

Hester Returns With Buttercup's Successor

E. W. Hester, who accompanied his famous herd bull, Buttercup, to the Longview Farms at Lee's Summit, Mo., returned Saturday afternoon, bringing home the six-months old bull calf, who will succeed to Buttercup's place. Mr. Hester decided to take this animal in the trade rather than the one mentioned last week, and feels that he bettered himself by the change.

The calf, whose pedigree will be here within the next few days, comes from the longest line of Jersey aristocracy, especially in the production line and is also lineally descended from some of the most famous show animals in the world.

His sire is Raleigh's Dairylike Majesty, who won more junior championships than any other bull his age in the United States in 1927, and was also first prize bull calf at the National Dairy Show in 1927. His dam is Raleigh's Dairylike Sweet, who won a number of prizes as a two-year-old. She has the Register of Merit record as a matured cow of an average production of 708.26 pounds of butter fat, averaging 5.62 per cent. He is also the double grandson of Dairylike Ceres 513416, and the great grandson on his sire's side of the greatest bull of all time, the gold medal sire Flora's Queen's Raleigh. He is the grandson of the same sire on his dam's side. This gives him a pedigree of 37 1/2 per cent of the blood of Flora's Queen's Raleigh, 50 per cent of the blood of Dairylike Ceres, with 12 1/2 per cent of the blood of Carnation's Glorious May 290836, who held, at the age of eleven years and seven months, the register of Merit record of 626.92 pounds of butter-fat. An average of the production shows that his line averages 778 two-third pounds of butter-fat. For generations back, each cow has been distinguished for production, with a number of honors to the credit of each.

Both Mr. Hester and Harvey Jordan, whose truck transported both animals in the trade, are enthusiastic over their trip to one of the greatest farms in the world, and they can spend hours describing the many interesting features of the various departments at Longview.

THE BARN GREW

A farmer near Eldorado, Ill., says Elmer Kessler, has a novel experience. A few years ago he built a new barn using green willow posts at the corners and along the sides.

Nothing unusual was noticed for some time, but the following year the floor which had been laid on the ground was three feet above it. He discovered the willow posts were alive and growing.

Last year the barn was on stilts nine feet high and he put in a new floor and surrounded the posts with siding and now he has a two-story barn. Last week there was seven inches between the new floor and the ground. In a few more years he can add another story and the barn will have three stories.

And the farmer has a cow. The cow became used to jumping into the barn door every day while the barn was growing up. She now jumps into the second floor to a stall and he expects that when the barn is a full three stories high she will be able to make the third story.—Camp Point Journal.

While brutes grew coats of mail in OKLAHOMA

Today the drills of Sinclair oil men have bitten deep into the soil of Oklahoma and tapped that treasure trove of the ages, the Cambro-Ordovician oil pool—the pool that was already old when the age of dinosaurs came upon the world. Piped into the great Sinclair refineries and carefully refined and blended, this oldest of Mid-continent crudes becomes Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil, a product averaging more than 80 million years of Nature's priceless mellowing and filtering. In process of manufacture, Sinclair Opaline is de-waxed and freed from non-lubricating petroleum jelly at as low as 60° F. below zero. DIABETES OFTEN FATAL TO OLDER PERSONS

Austin, Texas, July 20.—Among the prominent causes of death in the middle-aged group and older is the malady known as diabetes. Like many other diseases, its power as a cause of death can be traced to the lack of early diagnosis, or in other words, to the carelessness of its victims. In Texas about five hundred citizens die of this disease each year and the number is steadily mounting.

The periodic physical examination will disclose the unsuspected facts at a time when diabetes is most susceptible to scientific attack. Why should one refuse to use this great weapon of proven power against diabetes and other diseases is difficult to understand. The three first noticeable symptoms are thirst, hunger and excessive elimination of the urine. These are accompanied by loss of vitality, strength and weight. In middle aged persons boils and carbuncles are quite common.

The immediate cause of diabetes is a lack of a secretion of the pancreas, known as insulin. The main thing is to guard against the disease.

Three simple rules, if reasonably applied, will go far toward that end:

1. If over weight, one should reduce by restricting the diet and by exercise, though both should be under the direction of a physician.
2. Infections of tonsils, teeth and other organs should receive professional attention.
3. Make the health examination a habit, annually.

The reason the death rate from diabetes is rising is due to the fact that more people are living to middle age and beyond than has been true in the past and it is a disease of middle life. It is not contagious and it can be controlled by diet and insulin, along with common sense and exercise.

THE JOB AHEAD OF TEXANS

"The job immediately ahead of all Texans, whether they be producers or consumers," remarks the Oak Cliff Tribune in an editorial headed, "Texans, Let's Know Texas," "is to do their own thinking and their own investigating about whether or not Texas made things are as good or better than things from elsewhere."

Texas manufacturers today are producing articles that find ready sale throughout the United States, some of them, indeed, throughout the world, on a purely competitive basis, and yet there are Texans, suffering from an industrial inferiority complex, who believe that only from a distance can come the best of things and that the farther they are shipped the better they are.

Progressive Texans, Inc., seeks to build no brick wall about Texas. It merely seeks to aid in the development of the industries of the state on a simple basis of quality, price and service, and it believes that where price, quality and service are equal, the Texan is unwise to his own advancement who fails to give consideration to Texas-made wares.

The list of first class Texas-made articles that find ready acceptance in other sections is proof of their quality. Texas manufacturers are furnishing markets for scores of Texas raw materials; they would furnish more if there were a general recognition on the part of Texans of the fact that the future advancement of their state is indissolubly bound up in its development along industrial lines.

DRUGGIST COULD GUARANTEE IT

"Of course," said the lady to the druggist, as she asked for something for her husband's back, "it may be perfectly harmless, just as you say. But you know there have been so many exposures of such preparations that I—"

"My dear madam," interrupted the druggist. "I beg to assure you in the strongest terms that you need not apprehend any—"

"I know, but I had read in one article where lots of people had acquired the drink and drug habits thru using such remedies, and I don't want to put any temptation in my husband's way."

"Impossible in this case. Why you can see for yourself that—"

"Will you give me your word of honor that it contains no alcohol and no habit forming drugs?"

"I would swear it on a stack of Bibles," answered the druggist. "Then, I'll take it," said the woman, and the druggist wrapped up the porous plaster for her.

It is estimated that there are now close to five million people on the public payroll, all units of government, federal, state and local included. Computing the number of dependents to four to the employee, we find that there are about twenty million people supported by taxation. This is about one-sixth of our population. For every private citizen, men, women and children included, there is on to be supported out of the public purse.

This situation is alarming enough from the standpoint of the tax burden, but there is another phase of it which is more ominous. A much lesser number than twenty million people, duly organized, can control elections. The balance of power lies in the hands of those who are supported by taxation. —Missouri Magazine.

Texas Wheat Figures Show Short Crop

Austin, July 13.—Texas faces the prospect of having its shortest wheat crop since 1925, when the 962,000 acres harvested yielded only an average of 6.5 bushels per acre, the United States Department of Agriculture reported Thursday.

Indications on July 1 were that the 1,716,000 acres would yield approximately 12,012,000 bushels. Production in 1932 was 29,580,000, while the five-year-average is 32,599,000 bushels.

The 16 per cent increase in acreage planted to cotton was credited with causing a reduction in acreage planted to other crops.

Compared with 1932, the corn acreage has decreased 7 per cent, wheat 42 per cent, oats, 40 per cent, rice 24 per cent, Irish potatoes 10 per cent, sweet potatoes 20 per cent, and all tame hay 5 per cent. Peanuts and wild hay held at the same acreage, as were harvested last year and present indications were for about a 5 per cent increase in all sorghum acreage.

Unfavorable weather conditions have affected adversely the small grain crops throughout practically the entire season, and much of the decrease in acreage of these crops may be attributed to these conditions.

The oat acreage this year is the smallest since 1914 and the yield per acre the lowest since 1925, when it was only 14 bushels per acre. Barley acreage and yield are also the smallest since 1925 when 116,000 acres were harvested with an average yield of eight bushels an acre. Other crops, with the exception of rice which suffered severe storm damage last August, also show lower than average yields.

June rains were beneficial to the Texas citrus crop.

Texas farm prices generally showed improvement from May 15, to June 15. Grain, sorghums, wool, lambs, corn and cotton led the upward movement with increases of 17, 16.4, 13, 9, and 6 per cent respectively over last month while only veal calves, hay, butter fat, and eggs showed declines. Other commodities showed some improvement or remained at last month's level. Prices of all items with the exception of chickens and milk cows are above the reported prices at this time last year. Wool is reported 328.5 per cent of last mid-June price, to show the greatest price increase, and is followed by oats, wheat, cotton and barley, which showed increases of 100, 97, 89 and 60 per cent respectively. Other items show increases ranging to 47 per cent for corn.

LET'S RID LAMESA OF FLIES!

SWAT THE FLY! Whether or not we want to, we folks in Lamesa are well familiar with the common house fly. Never saw as many flies in Lamesa before at this time of the year.

We suggest some sort of fly campaign. We need to clean up. We need garbage cans with tops, and we need to keep them closed. We need fly traps. We need our cow and hog lots cleaned out and the refuse removed and taken to a safe distance from the city.

If we do not do something to get rid of these flies we may have something more serious to deal with. A fly campaign is a little trouble, but it would be more concern to have to follow some of our loved ones to the city of the dead just because of a little house fly. Already some cases of typhoid have been reported. Better act now—a stitch in time!

If our civic clubs, the chamber of commerce, the women's clubs, and all citizens interested and all should be—would get together with our City Dads, this fly business could be controlled. LET'S DO IT NOW!

Directions Given For Artificial Respiration For Drowned

Austin, Texas, August 3.—This is the height of the season for water sports and many are foolhardy enough to venture too far and tax their strength beyond endurance, or run unnecessary risks on or in the water. It is tragedy enough to have a drowning accident, but far greater tragedy if no one present knows anything about saving life by artificial respiration.

Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer states that the "Prone Pressure Method" is the accepted method for restoring life from drowning. It includes the following steps:

Place the patient stomach down, one arm stretched above, the other bent, with face resting on it.

Rescue measures should begin at once and continue rhythmically until natural breathing is established. This may take four hours or more.

The procedure is: 1. Kneel and straddle the patient below the hips, placing hands on small of the back with fingers over the lowest rib, tips of fingers just out of sight.

2. With arms straight, while counting one, two, swing forward bearing weight on body firmly, but not violently.

3. Swing backwards while counting one, straightening up and thus relieving pressure—this allows air to be drawn into the lungs.

4. Rest in this position for two counts.

5. Repeat these movements rhythmically, forward and backwards, without interruption, about twelve to fifteen a minute until natural breathing is restored.

6. Meanwhile if assistance is at hand, a physician should be sent for, patient's tight clothing should be loosened at neck, wrist or waist, and patient should be kept warm.

Patient should not be moved from this spot until he is breathing naturally and then should be carried in a lying position to a place where he can be kept warm and receive expert medical attention.

Mrs. Jim Alexander of Abilene spent last Friday here visiting friends.
