Schedule for Parade Entries Is Announced

The big opening parade will come onto the court house square at 11:00 a.m. Friday, September 10, signaling the opening of the 16th annual Collingsworth County Fair.

All the favorite divisions will be included and this week Mr. and Mrs. Edd Henard, parade chairmen, announced the order in which the entries will be seen.

There will be two new divisions, an adult bicycle brigade, and the motorcycles.

Also in the parade will be the new ambulance, just received by the Collingsworth County Volunteer Ambulance Service. It will definitely be in the parade. —See #8, page 2A

Rockets Open Season At Hollis Friday Night

Wellington Skyrockets open their 1973 season against the Hollis Tigers in a game played there Friday, September 7. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

After showing marked improvement in their second scrimmage, against Paducah, the team will take the field in their first scheduled game, under an all-new coaching staff, headed by Coach James Williams.

But the thing that he, with Coaches Robert Hicks, Carroll Nunnelley and Philip Bailey feel the best about, is the spirit of the boys.

"I could not ask for better effort and attitude in learning the plays and in wanting to win," declared Williams.

This is hardly surprising to Nunnelley, who coached most of these boys in Junior High before he moved to the high school coaching staff.

"They improved so much from the first scrimmage to the second, I'm looking for them to really get after it in this

The Wellington line this year will average about 165 to 170 pounds while the backfield is around 160.

Golfers Play for City Titles This Week End

City golf champions in both men's and women's divisions will be determined in the tournament to be played at Marian Airpark course Saturday and Sunday, September 8 and 9.

Women will compete for the title in their division Saturday. Men will play Sunday, after qualifying during the labor day week end, Henry Sullivan, chairman, announced.

Tee-off time both days is 1:30 p.m. The tournament is sponsored annually by Green Acres Golf Club.

Defending champions are Mrs. Harold Watkins and L.B. Bratten. There is no qualifying play in the women's division and Mr. Sullivan said that all women living in the county are eligible to compete.

In the women's division also, playing will be in flights of four, 18 holes, for medal score. In case of a tie, there will be a sudden death play-off. —See #4, page 2A

Rotary to Serve Barbecue at Park

Wellington Rotary Club will stage another of its famous Chicken Barbecues on the opening day of the Fair, Friday, September 7.

Henry Sullivan is barbecue chairman, and all members of the club are working with him.

This year, the barbecue will be held at Ellison Park, and serving will be between 11:30 a.m. and 1:00 p.m.

In case of rain, it will be moved back to the American Legion Hall.

Tickets are available from Mrs. Barney Glenn at the Wellington State Bank or Billy Mosley at City State Bank, or those attending may buy tickets when they come to the park.

Plates will be prepared to take out on order, for the purchaser to pick up, according to the chairman.

Mr. Sullivan said the menu will include barbecued chicken, corn on the cob, western style beans, Idaho mustard potato salad, watermelon and tea or coffee.

The public is urged to come out and eat Rotary style chicken, all the members say.

Wellington Voters to Determine Sales, Use Tax Levy on Saturday

Wellington voters will ballot Saturday, September 8, to determine if a one per-cent sales and use tax will be levied within the city.

Absentee voting has been light, with only votes cast shortly before the period ended Tuesday, September 4 at 5:00 p.m., according to Mrs. Lorene Jenkins, city secretary.

The election will be held in the City Council Room of Bura Handley Community Center, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Any registered voter living within the city limits can vote in this election.

Earl Hunter will be the presiding officer and Jack Neeley will be the alternate presiding officer. Clerks will be Mrs. Cicero Gulley and Mrs. J.C. Emmert.

The wording on the ballots will read For (or Against) adoption of a one percent (1%) local sales and use tax within the city.

Mayor Hatch and members of the City Council have urged that all registered voters come out and express their choice in the election Saturday.

As a reminder, a non-partisan telephone campaign will be conducted by members of the Business and Professional Women's Club and Wellington Young Homemakers Friday and Saturday, September 7 and 8.

If the election carries, the City Council has voted to lower the property tax rate from $1.30 per $100 valuation to $1.05. This will enable the city to collect approximately $21,000 in additional taxes which will meet the current needs.

The election was called when it became apparent that more funds were necessary if the city's essential services were to be continued, Mayor Bill Hatch has explained.

Several factors were involved. The cost of everything the city has to buy is rising, the mayor pointed out. Also, under the constitutional amendments approved last year, persons over 65 years of age and certain disabled veterans may be exempt from paying ad valorem taxes on homesteads. This will lower the city's revenue from property taxes by several thousand dollars.

The City Council has conducted an extensive educational campaign since the election was called.

It has been brought out that the City Sales Tax is the fairest of taxes, as everyone pays in accordance to the amount of purchases he makes within the city.

The city sales tax will apply only to those sales now taxed under the State Sales & Use Act. Certain items are excluded, including groceries, drugs, automobiles and gasoline. Sales taxes may be deducted on the federal income tax return.

The city sales tax does not apply to wholesale sales.

It is also pointed out that persons living outside the city limits will pay the sales tax on purchases made within the city. In return, he enjoys the city's street facilities, police protection, and other services offered by the city.

It is the only local tax that non-property owning citizens will pay. The levying of a one per cent sales tax will bring in enough additional revenue so that it will not be necessary to raise property valuations for taxing purposes.

Sixteenth County Fair Opens Friday Morning

The 16th Annual Collingsworth County Fair, with some of the best entries in its history, opens Friday morning, September 7, and will continue a full schedule until 5:00 p.m. September.

Fair Week opened Monday, with the arrival of Jest Amusement Co., Carnival to continue through Saturday evening.

Final plans were announced by Dwane Scott, overall fair chairman, and by heads of the various divisions.

Some sections, notably the agricultural products, will be outstanding in quality, due to abundant moisture through much of the growing season. The same rains that have made crops so productive have brought bumper crops of vegetables for both community exhibits and for the women's canned foods division.

"Everything about the fair points to one of the best the county has ever had," declared Mr. Scott.

Locations of Fair events were announced.

There has been one major change. The Rotary Club Barbecue has been moved to Ellison Park unless it rains, and in that case it will be in the American Legion Hall.

All exhibits will be housed in Bura Handley Community Center. The Old Settlers Reunion will be at the County Library and American Legion Hall.

The Youth Steer Show Saturday will be at Salt Fork Soil Conservation District Show Barn behind the SCS office.

Also on Saturday, the terpin race will be in the street on the south side of the court house, and the fiddlers contest will be on the north court house lawn.

Most events will follow the plan of last year's highly successful County Fair.

PARADE

The colorful parade, big and beautiful will roll onto the square at 11:00 a.m. to open the Collingsworth County Fair. Leading it will be That Skyrocket Band in uniform and the color guard.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Henard, parade chairmen, emphasize that all entries who wish to be judged must register at the Chamber of Commerce Office, 914 West Avenue, by 10:00 a.m. to receive a number. This number. —See #2, page 5A

Speakers Named for Alcohol Abuse Meet

The latest weapons in the fight on alcohol abuse -- information, education and referral programs -- will be launched in Wellington Thursday, September 6.

The meeting time is 8:00 p.m. in the County Court Room.

This is a public meeting to inform the public on the problems of alcoholism in Collingsworth and other area counties, said County Judge Zook Thomas, who will be the moderator.

Three other meetings will follow on Thursdays September 13, 20 and 27, all in Bura Handley Community Center.

Two speakers, both with a broad working background in the field of alcohol education, will speak at the September 6 meeting.

John H. Raef, executive director of the Amarillo Council on Alcoholism, will have local figures on alcoholism as it affects the community. He. —See #7, page 5A

RSVP Keeps Retirees Active in Community

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program, aimed at keeping retired men and women in the mainstream of community life through volunteer service, has been approved jointly for Collingsworth and Wheeler Counties, with program headquarters in Wellington.

Announcement came from County Judge Zook Thomas.

At the same time, he said that Mrs. Haskell Manuel has been hired as program director. The office is now open at 915 West Avenue, on the west side of the square.

Best known as RSVP, the program is funded by the federal ACTION agency, which was not affected by the OEO cutback.

"This thing is real new, and we will have to develop it as we go," said Judge Thomas. "The program is actually set up to use the talents of senior citizens who have retired to keep them active."

"They have had more experience, they're sharp, and they have all the ability in the world. We have a vast amount of these qualities in these people to help make this a better place to live."

Judge Thomas foresees RSVP as a co-ordinating body, where those with abilities and a desire to help can meet those who need specific assistance. One example, he said, would be a retired business man explaining to a new widow without business experience what she might need to do about certain of her affairs. The judge emphasized, however, that this would not in any way go into legal counseling.

On the other hand, retired teachers might help children. —See #6, page 2A

Hodges Heads New Skyrocket Boosters

An organizational meeting for Skyrocket Booster Club was held Tuesday night, August 28, in the Heritage Room.

Call to order was by the temporary president, Raymond Hodges. During the business session Mr. Hodges was elected president; Glenn Thomas, vice-president; Billy Mac Sims, secretary-treasurer. These will serve for the 1973-74 school year. Also elected were these four directors: Dick Pendleton and Richard Nall for two-year terms; Neil Davis and Mike Smith for one-year terms.

This new organization's members plan to promote all sports in Wellington High School. The sale of season tickets for both football and basketball games is encouraged.

Hail Damage Heavy in Strip Through County

Hail which started in the Dozier area Tuesday around 4:30 p.m., swept south across the county and to Buck Creek in Childress County, in some areas wiping out crops completely. Others reported severe damage to both cotton and grain sorghum.

Heavy rain accompanied the hail, measuring up to four inches in some areas.

Heaviest of the hail appears to have been in the area of the Barjenbruch farm and other farms of the Houselog community, where crops were wiped out and plants stripped of leaves.

Barjenbruch said his loss was complete, and feels that would apply to the area east to Highway 83, south to the county line, and west several miles. Two inches of rain was measured.

Mr. Barjenbruch said hail fell for about 30 minutes, some of the stones large, others small. He said his farm on Salt Fork north of town received only a good rain, but traveling south the Lillie FM road appeared to be about the center of the strip.

West of Wellington, J.C. Hartman reported four inches of rain and heavy hail damage. Pete Hartman had heavy loss for the second time this year, and also for the second consecutive year.

Bobby McAlister, at Buck Creek reported damage.

Farther North in the Cross Roads and Lillie Area, Elmer Feemster reported damage, and hail loss was reported to crops on the Dan Guthrie and Dudley Phipps places.

Shelton Nunnelley said he considered his crop almost wiped out. He added that he may be able to salvage a little cotton, but it will be of low grade. Because this was June cotton the bolls are not mature enough to go on and open.

Crop damage was reported as far south as Frank Campbell and John Wolf, south of Loco.

Rain measured from one to four inches in that part of the county where hail damage was heaviest, and Barjenbruch reported exceptionally high winds during the storm.

That Rocket Band Leads Big Parade

High spirited and high stepping, with the red and white of their snappy uniforms flashing, That Skyrocket Band will make the first appearance of the school year as it leads the Collingsworth County Fair Parade onto the court house square Friday, September 7.

Keith Wood will direct the band, and parade time is 11:00 a.m.

After the parade, there will be a giant pep rally on the court house lawn, with the band playing lively marches and popular tunes.

The whole town is invited to come out. "We'd like to have a big crowd," declared Mr. Wood. Setting the pace for That Skyrocket Band will be Drum Major Lennie Morgan and twirlers Pattie McAlister and Angie Mitchell.

Cheer leaders Edi Watkins, Debra Long, Karen Jeffrey, Renee Mitchell, Karen Goforth and Lucy Sullivan will perform new routines learned only a few weeks ago at the SMU cheer leading school.

More than half the band is made up of upper classmen, although it also includes about half a dozen talented eighth graders.

Playing and marching Friday will be Larry Adams, Terry Anderson, Betty Burba, William Bias, Freddie Chambers, Lenord Chambers, Kim Cannon, Suzy Castleberry, Judy Chandler, Kay Coffee, Linda Coffee, Tim Cummings, Beth Derryberry, Steve Emmert, Kim Goforth, Evelyn Gragson, Steve Hartman, Karen Jeffrey, Rhonda Hernandez, Leigh Jeffrey, Dickie Johnson, Kathy Kersten, Lana Lacy, Debra Long, Tamie Lovell, Pattie McAlister, Angie Mitchell, Renee Mitchell, Lennie Morgan, Penny Morgan, Geney Morrow, Allen Murdock, Stacey Neeley, Jean Ann Owens, Suzie Patrick, Sharon Pippins, Jimmy Saied, Gary Scott, Sonya Scott, Leigh Ann Sessions, Della Shumate, Pam Shumate, Randall Sims, Richard Sims, Debbie Stallings,

"We don't have senior citizen recreation -- this can be set up," said the judge.

Volunteers could provide transportation for other senior citizens without it, assist such organizations as Chamber of Commerce, Community Action the Red Cross Bloodmobile and many others.

This program is for all retired citizens -- whites, blacks and chicanos, the judge emphasized.

It will not be limited to Wellington and Shamrock, but it will go out into the rural areas to develop activities at the smaller communities.

"Some of our retirees are already involved, some are not. This program is to keep involved all those who want to keep their abilities active in the community," declared judge Thomas, as he invited anyone with suggestions on the operation of the program to contact him.

Funding for the two-county program is $27,949 for the period September 1, 1973 through July 31, 1974. The total for the 5-year period through August 1, 1978, is $68,232.

Mrs. Manuel, the new director, lives in the Lillie community where her husband farms.

She is presently chairmen of the women's division of the Collingsworth County Fair.

Active in Home Demonstration Club work, she has been a member since 1947 and is a past county council chairman and served three terms as county THDA chairman. She has been

Flags to Fly on Fair Opening

American flags will fly in Wellington Friday, September 7, opening day of the Fair.

Dan Hiett, chamber of commerce president, announced that the Kiwanis Club is adding this day to those holidays on which it puts out flags in front of Wellington business houses.

Members of Wellington FFA chapter do the work. "The flags and the bunting, flying together on the opening Fair day, is going to be most impressive," said Mr. Hiett. "We believe it will be unique in this part of the Panhandle."

Mrs. Bob McAlister will be at the sound truck to give a description of each float and other parade entry as it reaches the square.

Leading off the whole event will be the City of Wellington Police car, driven by police officer Michael Gilmore. Immediately behind it will be the new ambulance, and third will be the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department Truck, with Chief David Peters at the wheel.

The color guard, with Sheriff John Rainey and Jim Henard carrying the flags, and behind them will be That Skyrocket Band, under the direction of Keith Wood.

First of the entries to be judged will be the youngsters on their bicycles. Mrs. Ralph Owens is chairman of this division.

Hunting Predators From Air Approved

Coyotes, bobcats, red foxes and coyote/dog hybrids in 155 Texas counties from Brazos to El Paso may now be hunted from aircraft following action by the Parks and Wildlife Commission Aug. 17, announces the department's executive director Clayton T. Garrison.

Senate Bill 44 as approved by the 63rd Texas Legislature authorized the Parks and Wildlife Department to issue permits for predator animal control by the use of aircraft to limit the economic losses inflicted by such animals on livestock and game species.

The $5 permits, which are valid for one year, specifically prohibit the killing of any bird of prey or game animal.

Application for the permit will include information on the kind and number of predators to be taken and a description of the area on which the permit will be used.

If the application involves land not owned by the applicant, an affidavit from the property owner must be included.

Home Management

By Mrs. Arla Felts

The rate at which sales of knits has skyrocketed has been unprecedented. Even sales of wash and wear clothing took a longer time to gain. Today over one-third of all garments are knit. In the south and on the west coasts knits are even more popular. Between 82 to 95 per cent of stock is usually knits in these areas.

Basic rules should be considered when buying knits. Just as carpet is not always the answer for home decorating, neither are knits the answer to every clothing need.

One of the pluses of knitwear is easy care and cleaning. However, caution should be used. Knits should not be subjected to long or hot wash cycles. High agitation and fast spin should be avoided. High temperatures drying, over-drying, and excessively long tumbling can ruin knits.

Washable knits retain their shape better if they are dry cleaned every fifth or sixth time of cleaning.

The major minus for knits is the fact that they snag badly. Many women cut off snags. This should never be done. It can cause holes to form. Pull the snag to the other side of the fabric. This can easily be done with a needle threader.

We have several free folders or pamphlets on sewing with knits available free by writing or calling the County Extension Office. Ask for L-1001 Knit Looks All Sewn Up, L-879 Knits Versatile and Stylish.

Museum Support by City Gets Approval

Support for the work of the Collingsworth County Museum came from the Wellington City Council Monday evening, September 3, as members agreed to include $25 per month for its benefit in the upcoming city budget.

Earl Hunter, Collingsworth County Museum officer, appeared before the council to report on the work accomplished since it was established, and to outline the need for funding so that work can go more rapidly and the museum can be opened to the public.

Much of the remainder of the meeting was taken up with dogs and a horse that are causing problems.

Mayor Bill Hatch said he has received numerous complaints of stray dogs and tagged dogs running loose and creating problems. Some complaints have come from those who walk or bicycle in the evenings.

Three persons have been bitten recently, he added.

The council approved untagged dogs being picked up and destroyed by City Policeman Michael Gilmore.

The horse complained of is causing an odor problem, the council was told. City Manager Lyman Daniel is to investigate the situation.

The council also took action to become a member of the new regional Mental Health, Mental Retardation regional program.

Mayor Bill Hatch announced that the B&PW Club and Wellington Young Homemakers will call all voters Friday and Saturday asking that they vote in the sales tax election Saturday.

He said the Fire Department will have a float in the Fair Parade Saturday.

Councilmen approved the purchase of handcuffs and police type flashlight for Chief Mike Gilmore, and voted to amend the plumbing ordinance so that plastic pipe can be used on gas and water lines within the city.

City Manager Daniel explained the new laws covering closed meetings by governing bodies, and pointed out the limited scope of business which may be covered in these.

A council meeting will have to be opened in the usual manner then declared closed. The business at hand may be discussed, but the vote itself will come after the meeting is open again, Mr. Daniel explained.

Notice of Council meetings must be posted 72 hours before they are held, except that a two-hour notice of an emergency meeting is legal.

The minutes of that meeting must state that it is an emergency and what the emergency is.

Under new laws, a quorum of members cannot meet, for example over coffee, and make decisions which are then voted on in a regular meeting.

Violation of the open meeting law is punishable by fines up to $500, the council was told.

Havard's fish was 14 feet 5 inches long and had a girth of 6 feet 1 inch. It was caught on a 130-pound line baited with a Jack Crevalle.

Havard battled the shark 2 hours and 10 minutes before landing it.

The parade will form south of the Post Office on West Avenue, travel to the southwest corner of the square, circle the square, returning to the southwest corner. tend. It has been a matter of concern for several years that the number of people who attend this show is so small, although the quality of the calves is some of the best in the Panhandle. Invariably, the same calves that are shown here go on to rank high in major state shows.

The show will begin at 9:00 a.m. and animals will remain until released by the show superintendent. This will depend largely on the weather Saturday.

TERRAPIN RACE

The terrapin race will begin at 1:00 p.m. on the south side of the court house. It is sponsored by Wellington Lions Club, which will have terrapins for sale. The winning terrapin will receive an award.

It will be held on the north side of the court house square and begin at 1:30 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Bill King of Dozier are the co-chairmen. Some of the top fiddlers of the country are due in Wellington to compete for the $250 in money.

FUN EVENTS

The carnival includes a number of rides for both adults and children, and is the same one that was so popular at last year's fair. It carries along with it a number of game booths.

The Chamber of Commerce also will sponsor a game booth, under the direction of Charles Floyd, and several organizations are due to have food or fun booths at the fair.

Anyone wishing to have a booth is urged to contact Mrs. Vines as early as possible.

The beef calf show will be in the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District show barn, which may be reached from 8th Street back of Ace Hardware, or from 9th Street, behind the SCS office.

There will not be a swine show.

will cover the fact that the alcoholic directly adversely affects 6 other people and indirectly affects 20 others. He will bring out the social aspects of alcoholism as well as the financial.

Fred Ready, Area Coordinator for the Combined Alcoholism Programs, Amarillo Hospital District, will be the second speaker.

His area of work covers 25 Panhandle counties, including Collingsworth.

While in Wellington late last week, Mr. Ready said that he is reasonably certain the Eastern Panhandle will soon have a full-time alcoholism counselor, possibly stationed in Wellington.

"There are many pending programs designed to treat alcoholism and to rehabilitate the alcoholic, which will be of direct benefit to Collingsworth County," he said.

He has worked since August 1972 with the Amarillo Hospital District, and his work consists of program development, public relations and education.

Mr. Ready attended the University of Georgetown, Washington, D.C., and West Texas State University, and attended special classes at the University of Texas sponsored by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

Mr. Raef has been executive director of the Amarillo Council on Alcoholism since July, 1963. He has served on staff at the State level and for area programming in the field of Alcohol/Alcoholism Education.

He has been interested in the field of alcoholism and alcohol education since 1957. His broad background in this field includes four summer sessions on Alcohol Studies at the University of Texas, where he has been certified in the specialty as Industrial Consultant for Programming in Industry. He also has attended summer conferences on Alcoholism at Texas Tech, and special training institutes for executive directors of councils on alcoholism conducted by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism in Austin.

He holds membership in the North American Association of Alcoholism Programs, the Alcoholism Foundation of British Columbia, and Amarillo Chapter of Texas United Community Services.

Crow Hunting Practically Legal

AUSTIN — Is it still legal to shoot crows in Texas?

Yes, according to Parks and Wildlife Department wildlife officials, the crow may be shot if it is committing depredation or about to commit depredation on ornamental or shade trees, agricultural crops, livestock or wildlife.

The use of crow calls or recordings is still legal in the state.

All the controversy on crow shooting started about a year ago when the U.S. signed a treaty with the Republic of Mexico placing the family corvidae, which includes crows, under federal protection.

Actually, the intent of the agreement was to protect other members of the family which are found in Mexico, but the raucous, common American crow found himself enjoying the unusual leisure of federal protection.

Recent federal guidelines received by the Parks and Wildlife Department give Texas two options on crow hunting.

One provides for a season which treats the crow as a game bird. Such a season would be for a maximum of 120 days and prohibits the hunting of crows during the peak nesting season.

The second option permits the hunting of depredating crows the year round.

Texas is bound to the second option.

To set a season on crows as outlined in option one would call for legislative action making the crow a game bird.

Look to the Brighter Side, Rotarians Told

District Rotary Governor Marshall Fromby of Plainview, in his annual visit to the Wellington Rotary Club, told the members at Noon Tuesday that it is time Americans quit looking at the gloomy side of everything and took a look at the brighter side.

"About all that we hear today is how bad things are going and how tough it is in this country," Formby said, "I think it is time we took a look at how well things are going, and give thanks for what we enjoy in this nation."

He pointed out that America today is the most affluent nation since the dawn of civilization and that we are surrounded by luxuries available to the poorest person that were once beyond the dreams of even the very richest people.

Formby, who serves on the college and University Coordinating Board for Texas, pointed out that some young people today have a flaw in their education which causes them to be ashamed of their country, their parents, and the economic system that has put America in the lap of luxury.

"I want the kids of today to know where the money comes from and to learn that it is not sinful to make a profit on a business transaction," he declared.

Formby complimented the local club for their Rotary activities and urged the continued support and enthusiasm of its members towards the projects of the Club for the coming year.

Questions People Ask About the Catholic Church

Q. What is the alternative to abortion?

A. Adoption is one. People all over the world, who can't have children, are crying out to adopt them. But the selfishness of a young mother, who won't have her baby, and won't let anyone else have it, stands in their way. An old philosopher said it is better to have lived than not to have experienced life at all. So for a change, let's give the baby the benefit of the doubt. Let him live. He can't defend himself, and therefore we must defend him. Jesus said; Let the little children come unto Me, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven.

Q. Is Communism still an evil force in this world? A. Any system which shuts out God completely is evil. We should not look for Communists as the root of all our evils; that's too much like a witch-hunt, and too easy a solution. Many of our evils are caused by our own ignorance and neglect. But Communism continues to be the #1 foe of both Catholic and Protestant churches. All you have to do is ask Rev. Ted Savage, my good friend from the Baptist church, of his encounters with this Godless force.

Public Awareness Key To Conservation Aims

AUSTIN — An increase in public awareness of Texas resources will be sought through a new statewide information and education program of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

In announcing the establishment of 11 district offices of the department's Information and Education Division, executive director Clayton T. Garrison explained, "We are taking our message of good conservation practices directly to the citizens of the state, by placing I&E officers in the larger cities and metropolitan areas.

"Our game wardens, park officers and biologists meet the public out in the recreation areas. What we are seeking now is a stronger influence on the public attitude where Texans live, watch TV, listen to the radio, read the newspapers and attend meetings."

Most of the district offices will be located in facilities already occupied by the department's Law Enforcement Division. Houston, Dallas, El Paso, San Antonio, Lubbock, Beaumont, Wichita Falls, Tyler, Rockport (Corpus Christi), the Rio Grand Valley and Austin will be headquarters for the new district structure.

"We look forward to this special effort as a means of educating the public before they set out to hunt, fish, camp or go boating," said Tom Browning, director of Law Enforcement. "We'd rather people know about the regulations beforehand, instead of breaking laws."

Seven of the district officers being assigned are I&E veterans, said Richard McCune, director of Information and Education Division, and the others will be drawn first from the ranks of the department and then from applicants with conservation communications experience.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

THE RAINS Tuesday brought much needed moisture to the area. But the storm also brought destruction to some fields as a result of hail and rain. It is one of the hazards that confront the farmer each year. Some of the crops were insured; but unfortunately others were not.

IN THE midst of potential agricultural prosperity, there is the dire threat of export controls. For years the United States Department of Agriculture, the Farm Bureau and other organizations have been working steadily in an effort to improve our export of agricultural products.

THE United States stands alone in the efficiency and ability of its farmers and ranchers to produce food and fiber. It is also excellent that it may be the means of restoring the U.S. dollar to something of its former buying power. If the government pushes the panic button now in a futile effort to try to appease the consumer, twenty years work in trying to build better export markets for agricultural products will be lost.

AGRICULTURAL conditions look mighty good: but there is great uneasiness underneath the hopeful optimism. So many things can happen in a very short time.

COTTON is higher in price than it has been since the Civil War. Alonzo Cartwright has a chart which shows cotton was $1.90 a pound in 1864. It was $1.20 in 1965 and 52¢ in 1866.

THE Hereford Brand published a Diamond Jubilee Edition. It is an excellent historical edition. Jimmie Gillentine returned to writing his old column "Hereford Bull" for this special issue. He devoted the column to the growth of Hereford since 1937 which was the year he moved there from Wellington. The population of the city was 2,328 at that time.

JIMMIE recalls many interesting stories of the old timers and the men and women who helped Hereford grow. Outside of a modest mention of The Brand winning a national prize, somehow he forgot to mention the work of James M. Gillentine in the development of modern day Hereford. His contribution was as great as that of any man now living.

THIS is Fair Week. Take time off to see what the people here have been doing. The exhibits should be wonderful this year. The difficulty will not be in trying to find something to show which is the case some years. It will be in trying to decide what is best.

coach James Williams, he introduced each of the members of his coaching staff, Robert Hicks, Carroll Nunnelley and Phil Bailey. Then films of both the junior varsity and the varsity teams' scrimmage with Lefors were shown.

All the chairs were filled for this first meeting. The attendance included several women and it is hoped that there will be even more at the next meeting which will be Tuesday, September 4 in the Heritage Room. Those interested in promoting all sports in the Wellington Schools are urged to attend.

Membership cards were first available during the scrimmage with Paducah. They are now available from either the president or secretary of the booster club.

Skyrocket Booster Club now has approximately 80 members at this time.

Rockets Show Spirit In First Scrimmage

BY COLQUITT NASH

After several disappointing seasons, there seems to be a flicker of hope for the 1973 version of the Fighting Skyrockets as was evidenced last Friday night as Wellington began to show its wares in a scrimmage against Paducah. A good crowd of Rocket supporters braved a storm-threatening night to watch the play and most went away making optimistic comments. Coach James Williams had said that his boys were ready to play which seemed a rather correct analysis of his team's attitude as the two sides lined up on the ball. Wellington began on defense and soon settled down to the business at hand by throwing Paducah for a loss on the first play. After several unsuccessful attempts to gain ground yardage Paducah hit the Wellington defense from the air and promptly moved the ball forty yards on the baffled secondary. Next a screen pass netted a score for the visiting team. Now a bit suspicious of a pass, the Wellington defense loosened up and allowed some yardage on the ground but not without making Paducah fight for each yard.

Wellington's offensive series began much like Paducah's, not well on the ground. However, a quickie pass gained seven yards which softened Paducah for an end sweep which ram-bled fifteen yards behind some good running and blocking. But as this series moved along, the Rockets began to slow their attack. The Wellington defense again held the Paducah offense except for a seventy yard pass from the halfback as he threw from his option. Then Wellington took control again. This round the Rockets launched an attack which dazzled Paducah's defense and the crowd in the stands. Moving the ball from the first play, Wellington marched the seventy yards to pay-dirt in only seven plays, scoring from the one yard line. Bringing the ball back to the 30, Wellington continued to threaten until their number of plays ran out.

Although not quite as polished as the gem Coach Williams and the fans want to see as evidenced by several bad passes from center and some bad timing, there is still much to be praised of this year's team. The defensive line was charging, sometimes getting a little deep but still they got to the middle of the play quickly with a lot of good pursuit. The offensive line although not as big as they might need to be make up for weight by a deep desire to play.

Coach Williams, reflecting on the night's activities, said that his team needed a little work on the defensive secondary (in regard of the yardage given up by the aerial route) but that his team was ready to meet the (Hollis) Tigers. A good deal of respect is due James Williams, Phillip Bailey, Robert Hicks, and Carroll Nunnelley for their time put in to put together a good strategy for offense and defense, but much of that respect and praise goes to the guys who are on the field every week making those plans work. It promises to be a great year for the fighting Skyrockets so let's show them that we're behind them by supporting them in every way we can.

Mr. and Mrs. L.L. Hammons had as week end guest, their son, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hammons and their granddaughter, Leslie, and Lanny. Mr. and Mrs. Hammons and their granddaughter, Leslie went to the Elk City Rodeo while they were here.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Williams were her sister, Miss Lola Richerson from Littlefield, and a friend Mrs. Allie Richey, from Plainview.

Visiting with Mrs. Waddell Bailey and Henry McClure, is a cousin, Mrs. Amelia Gallo-way, from Calif.

Fifteen Calves Slated in Show

Approximately 15 fat calves will be judged in the 1973 steer show Saturday morning, September 8, Don Reeves, county extension agent, has announced.

Judging the show will be Richard Guggisberg, associate county extension agent from Gray County.

Judging will begin at 9:00 a.m., and the steers are due to remain in place until about noon, when they will be released if the weather is hot.

Four-H and Future Farmers participating will be exhibiting Herefords, Angus, Shorthorn crosses, Charolais crosses, and Angus-Hereford Crosses, Reeves said.

When all entries are in, they will be broken into three equal weight groups and judged from there.

A Grand Champion and Reserve Champion will be selected.

Mr. Reeves points out that these calves are not fitted for fall shows, and they will not look as well or have the size and finish of calves that are selected for fall shows.

For the Collingsworth calves,

While attending school here, he lived with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim L. Harris, 905 Graham St. He enlisted in the Army before graduating and received his high school diploma while in service.

Harris was stationed at Ft. Polk, La., then had a tour of duty in England and Wales, and finished his enlistment in Germany. He stayed with an aunt Mr. and Mrs. Austin Christoph in Arlington and worked for a time before entering the University of Texas.

He is the son of Jimmy Harris of Amarillo. His mother lives in Pampa.

Waterfowl Season and Limits Are Announced

A second year of split seasons for ducks, coots, geese and brant, and the hunting dates for sandhill (little brown) cranes has been announced by Clayton Garrison, executive director for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

The season and bag limits include:

- Ducks and coots: in the High Plains Mallard Management Unit, October 25 to November 25, and December 8 to January 20, 1974. The High Plains Management Unit includes that part of Texas, West of a line from Del Rio northward through San Angelo to Abilene, Albany and Vernon. Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The system for determining bag and possession limits of ducks remains in effect this year with some changes: 100 point ducks, canvasbacks and redhead; 70 point ducks - mallard hens, wood ducks and hooded mergansers.

10 point ducks - blue-winged teal, cinnamon teal, widgeons, scaups and mergansers except hooded.

20 point ducks - all other legal species.

The season is closed on black-bellied, fulvous tree ducks and New Mexican ducks.

The daily bag limit will be reached when the point value of any bird taken reaches or exceeds 100 points. Possession limit is the maximum number of birds of species and sex which could legally have been taken in two days.

Bag and possession limit on coots is 15 and 30 respectively. - Geese and brant: Oct. 29-Nov. 25, 1973, and Dec. 8, 1973-Jan. 20, 1974. Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The bag and possession limit of geese and brant is increased to five this year.

In Texas west of U.S. 81, the daily bag and possession limit may include not more than one Ross' goose, and in the alternative, one white-fronted goose and one Canada goose, or two Canada geese.

Sandhill cranes are also fair game Dec. 1, 1973-Jan. 27, 1974, in that portion of Texas west of a line from San Angelo along U.S. 277 to Abilene, then along State Highway 351 from Abilene to Albany and U.S. 283 from Albany to Vernon; easterly along U.S. 183 to the state line in Wilbarger County; and east of a line from San Angelo along U.S. 87 excluding all of Howard and Lynn Counties, to the junction of Highways 87 and 287 at Dumas, and along U.S. 287 from Dumas to the state line in Dallam County.

Hunting hours for sandhill cranes are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset in both portions of the state, daily bag limit of three and possession limit of six.

Lions Club Needs Terrapins for Race Saturday

The Wellington Lions Club urgently needs some terrapins if they are to stage their annual County Fair terrapin race Saturday, September 8. Starting time is 1:00 p.m.

"Earlier, there was a terrapin everywhere you looked, but now they seem to be scarce," said Dan Langford, race chairman.

"We would appreciate it if our friends would bring us some terrapins before Saturday morning."

Stray Dogs to Be Picked Up By City Police

Mayor Bill Hatch has announced that anyone within the City who is bothered by stray dogs can notify the police, and if the dogs are not licensed and tagged, they will be picked up and disposed of.

This action by the City Council came after numerous complaints from city residents.

Some of the dogs complained of are strays and without owners, he added.

Many of the complaints have come from people who walk for exercise or ride bicycles in the evening, it was explained.

The complaints will be received by Police Officer Mike Gilmore, or may be called to the City Hall.

First Christian Plans Hospitality Center

First Christian Church will sponsor a hospitality center in Bura Handley Community Center throughout the two-day Fair, Friday and Saturday, September 7 and 8.

Fair visitors are invited to stop and rest, enjoy a glass of tea or cold drinks, or cup of coffee, for which there is no charge.

Reading material of a religious nature will be available.

Members of the church will be at the center at all times.

Educational Booths Due in Exhibit Hall

One of the attractive sections in the County Fair exhibit building will be the commercial and educational booths.

Several organizations have said they will have entries, and others are expected to have plans completed Thursday, according to Mrs. Margaret Vines, Chamber of Commerce manager.

Salt Fork Soil and Water Conservation District will have an educational booth, Tommy Powell, SCS unit supervisor, said.

City State Bank has taken space for a combination commercial and educational booth.

Work of those enrolled in the Satellite Training and Work Center will be exhibited in a double space, Mrs. Vines has been notified.

First Christian Church will set up its traditional hospitality center, providing a place to rest and a refreshing hot or cold drink for those visiting the Fair Exhibits.

Baseball Suits To Be Returned

Boys who played in the summer baseball program and who have not returned their suits are asked to do so as early as possible, Charles Darter, chairman, announced.

This includes all players from peewees through 18-year-olds.

The suits may be left at Mr. Darter's law office, 906 West Avenue, or at the Darter home, 1201 East Avenue.

Bicycles Must Be Listed for Parade

Boys and girls who ride bicycles in the Fair Parade must register their names and receive a number by Thursday night, September 6.

They may register with Mrs. Ralph Owens, youth bicycle chairman, or at the Chamber of Commerce Office.

Also they must be lined up in the parade by 10:30 a.m. Friday, September 7, Mrs. Owens said.

"We must have these names by Thursday night so the judges can have the name and number together during the parade," she explained.

Mrs. Owens will attach the numbers to the bicycles during line-up time.

Youngsters who do not register their bicycles are welcome in the parade, but they will not be judged for a prize, it was pointed out.

The first prize in the youth bicycle division will be a trophy and second and third prizes will be ribbons.

Youngsters are urged to decorate their bicycles in any way they wish, and youngsters from all over the county are invited to participate. Pre-schoolers as well as school children -- anyone big enough to ride in the parade -- may take part.

The bicycle division will be placed just behind That Skyrocket Band, which will lead the parade.

Those registering may contact Mrs. Owens by phoning her home 447-2834, or by calling Owens Farm Supply, 447-2152, or by coming in or calling the Chamber of Commerce, 447-5848.

Under the stipulations of the policy recently approved by the Parks and Wildlife Commission, deputy wardens will have one year to meet minimum educational requirements as outlined under the Commission of Law Enforcement Standards.

Deputy Game Wardens Due

The Parks and Wildlife Commission has approved a program to commission deputy game wardens to enforce game and fish laws without pay as authorized by the 63rd Texas Legislature.

Such deputy game wardens will have only the authority necessary for them to enforce game and fish laws. They will be qualified as reserve officers under the Commission on Law Enforcement Officers Standards and Education but will not have full peace officer authority.

The candidates will receive 80 hours of reserve officer train-

Drivers Warned of School Bus Lights

Sheriff John Rainey has issued a warning to all motorists to be alert for school buses, and also to slow down while driving in the school zone.

Flashing red lights on the school buses indicate they are going to stop, or that they are stopped for children to get on or off.

The speed limit in the school zone, and that is between the two amber flashers, is 20 miles an hour, the sheriff warned.

One of these is located just west of Wellington Clinic on 15th Street and the other about a block west of Elementary School on 15th.

The amber lights are flashing about an hour in the morning when children are coming to school, a little more than an hour during noon, and also at the time school is dismissed, Mr. Rainey said.

When these flashers are not in operation, motorists on 15th Street may drive at normal speed.

County and city law enforcement officers have been working the school area and only warning tickets have been given so far. From now on, citations will be issued, according to Sheriff Rainey.

'Mayday' Worldwide Distress Signal

AUSTIN — Mayday! Adrenaline flows at the sound of the word.

Mayday is the international voice radio code used by vessels and aircraft in distress to draw attention to an emergency plea for aid, according to water safety officials with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"Distress" and "emergency" are the key words.

Routing calls for assistance—mechanical breakdowns or fuel shortages, for instance—are by law not permitted to contain the mayday expression.

A death could be caused elsewhere if a hoax or exaggerated call is received.

The most powerful distress signal comes from a good radio equipped with 2182 kHz or a 156.8 MHz emergency frequencies.

These emergency channels are continuously monitored.

Unfortunately, they have become the nautical equivalent of the gossip fence.

Unnecessary use of these frequencies, especially on more powerful transmitters or close to shore, can block out weak signals and a distress signal could be missed.

Parks and Wildlife Department officials think the following format is a good standard for calling mayday:

— Clearly declare "Mayday" three times to clear the airways and draw attention. Follow it with your vessel's name and call sign given three times for clarity. Give a description of the emergency: fire, sinking, or serious injury.

— State your position in relation to a well-known landmark or point of land. Use major points because local names are confusing. Give details of the exact nature of the distress and what kind of assistance you require.

— Indicate how many people are on board and what kind of emergency equipment you have.

— Give some indication of the boat's seaworthiness, its length, type and structure and any other information which would aid rescuers in locating you.

— If anything changes for the better or worse, contact the Coast Guard or rescue unit.

A mayday call is serious business. By using common sense before leaving the dock, 99 percent of the potential emergencies can be avoided.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reminds boaters that additional information is available from the Office of Boating Safety, Eighth Coast Guard District, Customhouse, New Orleans, La. 70130.

Resurrection Flower

According to Christian legend, the resurrection flower sprang up wherever the Holy Family rested in their flight to Egypt. It is fabled to have blossomed at the Savior's birth, closed at the Crucifixion and opened again at Easter, whence its name Resurrection Flower.

Grain Growers Warned Against Unknown Buyers

AUSTIN — Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White warns Northern Low Plains farmers to beware of unscrupulous buyers of grain sorghum this harvest season. Make sure you know your buyer," he cautioned.

"Unfortunately, every year we get reports of a few buyers making shady deals with farmers that can lead to a complete loss of profit for the farmer," Commissioner White said.

"Farmers who are going to sell their crop at the turn-row from unknown buyers should demand cash, or should make careful inquiry to see that the buyer's check will be honored," Commissioner White said.

With prices at good levels, it is imperative that farmers this year more than ever before, make certain they know the buyer of their grain sorghum, or take the time to make sure that what seems to be a legitimate deal is just that, White urges.

"It won't take but a few minutes to investigate the buyer, and that time can mean the difference between a good profit or no money at all from your grain sorghum crop this year," White said. "These men move with the harvest and reports are that they are moving throughout the state now."

Alcohol is still the nation's number one drug problem, according to Veterans Administration doctors.

ACT Entrance Tests Slated During 1973-4

Students at Wellington, Quail and Samnorwood who are planning to attend college will have five opportunities to take the ACT assessment during the 1973-74 school year.

First of the 5 national testing dates on which the national examination will be offered is Saturday morning, October 20, in Shamrock.

Students planning to take the 5-part ACT on that date must have registered for it not later than October 1, Don Van Pelt, school counselor, announced.

He also said the other dates on which the ACT is scheduled are:

— December 8, with the registration period to be September 24 to November 12.

— February 23, 1974, with registration to be November 5 to January 28.

— April 27, 1974, with registration to be January 21 to April 1.

— June 15, 1974, the final test date, with registration slated March 25 to May 20.

The cost to students for the ACT, which takes about three and one-half hours to complete, is $6.50. Resulting information reports are of valuable use to students and counselors in pre-college planning. Mr. Van Pelt pointed out. Last year, approximately one million boys and girls took the 5-part questionnaire, which is required or recommended for applicants at more than 2,000 colleges.

The ACT includes a series of tests designed to Assess the general educational development. It is recommended that the students take the ACT assessment as early as possible in the senior year of high school.

Only the first test will be offered at Shamrock, however all tests will be given at Clarendon College.

Over 85,000 Watch "Texas" In 8th Season

CANYON - Tonight the great metal triangles rang, closing the eighth season of the musical drama "Texas" which plays in the Palo Duro Canyon. More the 85,000 people attended the 58 performances, raising the total attendance in the eight years to 585,000. The final un-audited count for 1973 is: 86,262.

There were two rain-outs this season, eleven in eight years. On five other evenings this summer the audience waited patiently for short rains to stop, and the show was able to proceed except for one occasion when only the first act was presented.

The production is still drawing people from great distances. In a survey taken on August 2, which is representative of the figures for this season, 36% of the audience lived over 500 miles away, 37% of the audience lived in the panhandle and the rest traveled from one hundred miles to 500 miles each way to come.

After the final performance of the summer, the cast changes to work clothes and puts every-

Lovely Island Once Wartime Fortress

Summer brought a former Wellington schoolgirl a trip to one of the few remaining paradise islands of Pacific -- Ponape. She is Frances Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Louise Taylor of Brownfield and Buel Taylor of Lubbock. She was the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Minor Pounds.

After moving from here, Fran a junior in West Texas State, and Mrs. Pounds -- the former Stacey Taylor -- have returned often to visit their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Taylor.

Here is her story as told by newsmen Dave Cushman.

It sounded a little more interesting than the usual tourist place, like Hawaii so Frances packed up her things and flew into an adventure which can never be matched in a lifetime.

To acquaint the readers with a little background, Ponape (pronounced PON'A-PAY) is one of an archipelago consisting of forth-eight small islands. Located between the Philippines and the Marshall Islands, Ponape is one of the larger pieces of land being almost one-third the size of Rhode Island. This group, along with several other groups, is known the world over as Micronesia and the giant steps of progress have yet to reach out and spoil the natural beauty of its tropical splendor. Here, the Micronesians live as did their ancestors complete to grass huts and if they have their way, their islands will never be spoiled by man or nature.

The islands were first discovered by the Portuguese in 1527, then annexed by the Spaniards until 1899 when it was purchased by Germany. After the end of World War I, it was placed under Japanese mandate. It proved to be one of the most important seaports for the Japanese during World War II and it, along with the island of Truk, was heavily fortified by the Japanese. After the war, it was placed in trusteeship to the United Nations, who in turn, made the United States Administrator of the Trust Territory. Thus, today government is the big business on Ponape and Frances' brother-in-law is stationed there as district attorney.

According to Frances, the ravages of war are still present with many sunken war ships in the harbor, rusted and beached landing barges along the shoreline and a great number of burned out tanks. However, this does not detract in any way from the beauty of the island. "In fact", Frances said, "it sort of adds to the beauty because of its contrast.

When asked if the language was similar to Hawaii, Frances told this writer that it definitely was not. "It is flecked with four old cultures plus Polynesian and English and comes out as the Micronesian tongue which is both beautiful and colorful! While there Frances took a course in the language and can speak it off quite well. Of course, this is all done with a Texas drawl.

In getting back to the beginning of this story about the dog meat, Frances got quite excited in telling about some of the odd customs on the island. One of them concerns funerals, which instead of being sad and morbid, is actually a great feast lasting about seven days. During this feasting, roast pig and dog are served. She had very little trouble in eating the pig, but the dog, laying here in roasted repose was a little too much for this Texas miss.

IN ISLAND COSTUME

Frances Taylor, formerly of Wellington, poses in a native costume, with a crown of tropical flowers and grass skirt, which she brought to her home at Brownfield from the island of Ponape in the West Pacific.

She then told about a sacred drink which the natives make from Sakau root. It seems the gathered roots are placed on huge flat rocks and then ground by beating with small rocks. The mush is then mixed with water until a thin paste is formed. This paste is then placed in strands of the Hibiscus plants and twisted until the liquid is all withdrawn. The resulting drink is quite potent, being similar to a drug. Frances said that the natives really seem to get high with this concoction.

The native dress, consisting of lava-lavas for the man and sarongs or grass skirts for the women, is still worn and even though the women go topless as did their ancestors, one pays no attention after the first few days.

Because the natives have always lived and made their living from the sea they are accomplished at spearing fish, even going so far as to catch sting rays in this manner. Stingray is quite a delicacy as well as lobster which is eaten shell and all.

"When it comes to dating, Frances said, it is considered quite rude and ignorant for a boy to ask a girl's parents for permission to take her out. Rather, the custom is for a boy and girl to make their own date and go where they please."

The oddest thing Frances said she saw was one guard watching over a group of prisoners while they worked with huge machetes. The guard was unarmed.

In addition to sightseeing, dancing and simply enjoying the tropical lushness of Ponape, Frances said she learned to water ski even though the natives thought Americans were crazy to do such things. Their explanation for this was the large number of coral reefs surrounding the island are quite dangerous. A cut or scratch from the fire coral could quite often prove fatal because of the poison.

"Tropical flowers, especially orchids, seem to grow everywhere," Frances told this writer, "and waterfalls dot the island." This is perhaps because of the heavy rainfall which is prevalent in this part of the world.

For all of its closeness to the past, the island of Ponape boasts a beautiful hospital staffed by native doctors and a community college.

Main diet of the people is rice, fish, coconut and breadfruit.

She has been fortunate indeed to have been able to visit a bit of the unspoiled world. And, when she laughingly bids each guest goodbye with a tongue-twisting "KASELEHLIA," you realize, with a touch of envy, that Frances Taylor has seen something which almost every one of us has dreamed about at one time or another.

Vote Your Belief in the City Sales Tax Election Saturday

Wellington voters will determine Saturday, September 8, if they are going to assess themselves a sales tax to help pay for the city services they receive.

We have gone far longer without a sales tax than any other town in the area, and the point has been reached where the city must have more money for its operation.

Revenue from property taxes is being lowered from two sources. Under Constitutional Amendments approved by the people of Texas last year, persons over 65 years may be exempt from property taxes on their homesteads. Certain disabled veterans are also exempt.

If the sales tax passes, the city can lower its present property tax rate, so that those now paying taxes will pay less.

On the other hand, everyone will pay the one per cent sales tax, each according to the money he spends here during the year. Those who spend a considerable amount will pay more tax than those who buy less. Yet no one will pay enough to feel it burdensome.

The non-property owner will pay some tax. So will those from other towns who come here, just as we pay sales taxes when we visit any of our neighboring towns.

Whatever your feeling on the sales tax is, the important thing is that you vote your belief in the election Saturday.

AUSTIN, Tex. -- The Texas Constitutional Revision Commission made key decisions last week on finance and legislative sections of the state's basic laws.

It will formulate recommendations September 6-8 on judiciary and education provisions. Sections on local government and general provisions will be reviewed September 13-15.

Final action of the 37-member body, which is studying changes needed in the state's basic laws, is scheduled September 27-29.

Meanwhile, a legislative planning committee for the January-May 1974 constitutional convention of lawmakers is moving ahead with preparations for the historic gathering.

The planners have voted to spent $33,938 on new chairs and desks to place in the House of Representatives chamber during the convention. Chairs, costing $165 apiece, will be replicas of those used by delegates to the 1876 constitutional convention. The desks, considerably more economical, will be made by state prison system inmate at a cost of $22.50 each.

The revision commission practiced some economies (of language) in shortening the recommended general legislative tax power section of the constitution from the present lengthy statement of limits and exemptions to the following:

"Taxes shall be levied and collected by general law for public purposes only, and shall be equal and uniform."

The 181 legislators who will be delegates to the convention will convene here December 6-8 for a briefing on details of the commission's recommendations. The convention will open January 8.

ENED -- The State Board of Public Welfare is tightening requirements for licensing child-care institutions and has named former State Rep. Randy Pendleton of Andrews as temporary head of a licensing division.

Pendleton said the new division will shift role of the Welfare Department from urging facilities to comply with the law to active enforcement of the law and policing of facilities.

The Board also named a new six-member advisory council (with three alternate members) on child care administration to assist in checking credentials of personnel at child care facilities. The legislature this year required administrators to be licensed by January 1.

Texas cattle on feed total 2.3 million, said White, about 700,000 more than the second-ranking state, Iowa, and an increase of nine per cent over last year. White said cattle producers marketed more cattle during June and July than they did a year ago. Proving that they are not holding back because of the price freeze on beef.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where another big threat to our complicated society right now is a paper shortage.

We have been traumatized lately by a beef shortage, a gasoline shortage, and a horse sense shortage in Washington, but we won't know what real trouble is until we run out of paper.

Life just won't be the same without newspapers, pay checks, monthly bills, facial and other tissues, congressmen's newsletters, income tax forms, parking tickets and artificial money.

D.E. SCOTT

Armored Division of the Texas ANG was announced at Camp Mabry headquarters here recently. The "Lone Star" armored division will have three brigades strategically located over the state -- the First in Dallas, the Second in Fort Worth and the Third in San Antonio. In addition, the 36th Airborne Brigade at Houston will become a part of an active Army airborne division in event of mobilization.

The 49th Division will contain 21 battalions. Summer training will be at Fort Hood, largest armor training camp.

INSURANCE DEALS TARGETED -- New Insurance Board rules aim to halt rate discrimination and unfair competition in property and casualty insurance.

Board Chairman Joe Christie said some non-rate-regulated companies, including Lloyds and reciprocals, offer unrealistically low rates to prime risks with the intention of having ultimate liability assumed by a rate-regulated company.

Christie said the "brother-in-law" deals can result only in higher rates for the majority of policyholders.

Worldwide, People Read About Texas

Texans like to read books about Texas — but so do people all over the world, regardless of when those books were published.

This was brought out by the owner of one of North Texas' long-established book stores, Mrs. Brian A. Perkins, while she was visiting in the county recently.

The former LaRue Brown who spent part of her childhood at Plymouth, she was here to visit an uncle, Nolan Brown, and also to buy books.

She and her husband own Barber's Book Store, founded in Ft. Worth many years ago by Bert Barber. The present owners are the third in its long history.

While the store is completely stocked in all its departments, including a large technical section, Mrs. Perkins limited this discussion to one section — used or out of print rare Texas and Southwestern books for which presently there is great demand.

"Texas books go up to fabulous prices," she pointed out.

"The most expensive in the group are the original manuscripts, which dealt with the opening of the west and overland journeys of pioneers. Some first editions and original land grants are in this category.

"I don't know who has the money to buy these except institutions," said Mrs. Perkins. "People who have them are aware of their value. Things like that are not just sitting around."

Many out of print Texas books are far less expensive, but still more costly than the average reader buys.

"Some books increase in value the minute they go out of print, which means they are no longer available at will," she explained.

"It seems to me that all over the world, people are interested in Texas and the West. There is a market for information on Texas and all western subjects.

"The thing that establishes the market value is the desirability, how good the book was to begin with, and the information it contained in the first place. Some books have information that is found in no other place," she said.

Many books in that classification were printed in very small numbers.

"If you couple that with the fact that the information is interesting and unique and you have the subject matter that is of interest to a great many people, you get into a book that is valuable, just by its desirability," she continued.

Mrs. Perkins spoke of books their store has handled.

A set of Paddock, a publisher who wrote about Texas, entitled "Fort Worth and Texas Northwest" sold for $100. Even more valuable is a two-volume set of Wooten's "History of Texas" which will sell for around $300.

"That assumes those books are in excellent condition," said Mrs. Perkins.

Their store keeps records of all rare books bought, and should a book that is bought prove to be more valuable than at first thought, the seller is contacted and paid accordingly.

Mrs. Perkins is quick to point out that not all old books are valuable. The age of a book does not establish its price. "You do a disservice if you do not make people aware that what they have may be an ordinary book," she added.

Editions of Shakespeare have been published every year since he lived. There are books — even Texas books — on obscure points

Sunken Treasure Prepared for Lab

AUSTIN, (Spl.) — Sunken treasures retrieved this summer from a 16th Century Spanish shipwreck in the Gulf of Mexico are now being cleaned and preserved in the Texas Archeological Research Laboratory at the University of Texas.

More than two years may be required to extricate the encrusted anchors, cannons, breech blocks, coins and other items, and prepare them for scientific and historical study.

Recovery of the artifacts is a project of the Texas Antiquities Committee, assisted by several UT units including the Institute of Marine Science whose research vessel, the Longhorn, was used to bring the treasures to the surface.
