HASKELL INDIANS "BITE THE DUST"

Henry Bauch Scored Touchdowns Second and Fourth Quarters For Come From Behind Victory

By D. W. UNDERWOOD

HASKELL TEXAS—Shocked by a quick first quarter touchdown, the Burkburnett Bulldogs rallied forces and scored a come from behind 15-6 victory over the speedy and deceptive Haskell Indians here Friday night, with hard charging Henry Bauch scoring two touchdowns.

The lightning fast Indians left no doubt as to their intentions moving the opening kickoff 81 yards in six plays. The big play of the series was a 59 yard pass and run play from big quarterback, James Davis, to end Joe Josselet, which set them up on the Burk eight yard stripe. Davis then found Josselet in the end zone for the go ahead strike. A high snap on the kicking attempt cost the Indians the conversion and the score remained 6-0.

It was midway in the second quarter before the Bulldogs could get a real threat started. Moving mostly on the ground, the Bulldogs waded down to the Indian one, where Bauch smashed over for the counter. A penalty on the extra point attempt had Johnny Koller kicking from the 15, but the left footed kickers aim was true and the Bulldogs led 7-6.

Just as the half ended, Koller attempted a field goal from the 43 yard line, which had plenty of height and distance but was wide by about a foot.

The third quarter was defense again, with Haskell's passing looking sharp and Burk's ground game displaying pure power. Both teams also exchanged several punts in the period. John Nyby, the Bulldog quarterback got away the "beaut" of the night, a booming 52 yarder.

Late in the fourth quarter on a fourth and five situation on Haskell's 48, the Bulldogs chose a gamble and Nyby tossed an 18 yard aerial to Johnny Koller for a first down. On the next play, Nyby hit Koller again for 11 yards and another first. Then Nyby handed off to the workhorse, Bauch, who galloped 19 yards around left end for the nights final touchdown. Electing to go for two points the Bulldogs once again called on Bauch, who powered over left guard for the conversion. That made the score 15-6.

Neither team threatened again in the remaining time and when the gun went off, the Bulldogs had copped their second straight victory without a loss. The loss was Haskell's first against two victories.

On defense, four men stood out, Johnny Koller, Jackie Cornelius, Jerry Bingham and Larry Rariden, but nothing can be taken away from the defensive line of Barry Davey, Chuck Keathley, Pete Glover and Sonny Bentley, who all but stifled the Haskell ground game in the second half. Bingham, Rariden, and Cornelius each had an interception. Defensive back, Rusty Kinnett, received an injury of undetermined extent late in the game.

Mike Bland and Davis led the Indians on defense.

Next week, Saturday 28th the Bulldogs roll into Midwestern Stadium at Wichita Falls to meet Joe Bob Tyler's Rider Raiders at 8 p. m.

CORNERS

If paraphernalia piled by your children in their room corners is reaching alarming proportions, remodeling may provide a unique solution to the problem.

The Southern Pine Association suggests the construction of wood cabinets that fit the corners and span them diagonally. First set a simple triangular framework of lumber to the desired dimensions with shelves at appropriate levels. Wood paneling provides attractive covering.

Mobile Storage Tank Fire At Williams Petroleum Leaves Two Badly Burned, $50,000.00 Damage

Explosions and fire at Williams Petroleum storage tanks on Thursday night resulted in two men seriously burned and $50,000.00 in damage.

Seven North Texas area men received jeweled service emblems for their combined total of 220 years service with Mobil Oil.

They were: C. E. Jones, Burkburnett, 40 years; W. K. Guldage, Albany, 35 years; R. M. Covington, Albany, 30 years; Ed Kiser, Electra, 30 years; C. A. Bell, Burkburnett 30 years; T. N. Patterson, Gainesville, 30 years; and C. D. Gee, Burkburnett, 25 years.

Presentation of the service emblems was made by A. J. Monzingo, Mobil's production supervisor, during a luncheon held in Wichita Falls at the Country House Restaurant.

J. M. McLaughlin, producing superintendent; W. A. Prater, accounting and office manager; W. H. McQuaid, drilling supervisor; and W. L. Lenamon, production engineering supervisor, were present to help the men commemorate their enviable record.

Two men were burned, one critically, in a spectacular series of explosions and fire which leveled the gasoline storage facilities of the Williams Oil Co. in Burkburnett Thursday.

An estimated 50,000 gallons of 100-octane gasoline thwarted efforts of firemen from Burkburnett and Sheppard Air Force Base to extinguish it for more than two hours in a blaze which left more than $50,000 damage in its wake.

Jimmy Riddle, one of the co-owners of the oil company, was in Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls where his condition was believed critical. He suffered first, second and third degree burns over most of his body.

Witnesses at the spectacular fire Thursday said Riddle was attempting to repair a leaking pipeline valve when the storage facility suddenly went up in flames.

Second Victim

Another employe of the firm, Leo Foster, suffered first and second degree burns over much of his body and was taken to Wichita General Hospital where his condition was described as serious.

The first explosion, which rocked most of Burkburnett, was about 11:00 a. m. Thursday. The oil company's gasoline storage facilities are about one-half mile from the center of town.

A fire truck from Burkburnett's volunteer fire department arrived at the scene just before a second explosion which sent a portion of one of the storage tanks sailing several hundred feet and into the front of the fire truck, crushing it.

None of the fire fighters were injured in the blast.

Several outbuildings and storage sheds on the company's grounds were destroyed by the flames. For more than an hour, only firemen from Sheppard AFB — clad in special heat reflecting clothing — were able to get within several hundred feet of the flames.

Crash Truck

Air Force crash trucks equipped with special foam throwing equipment, surrounded the family area and pumped thousands of gallons of foam on the burning tanks and surrounding equipment.

Shortly after the series of explosions, flames could be seen from 12 miles away and the towering column of heavy, black smoke was reported sighted from almost 50 miles away.

Officials of the oil company were not certain just what caused the initial explosion, although it was felt that a spark from a metal valve blowing out could have been responsible.

Thursday's fire was one of the worst in Burkburnett history.

A small home, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanley, was destroyed by the flames. The home was directly adjacent to the company grounds. The Stanleys fled to the home of neighbors and reported the fire, but Stanley went back to the burning house to rescue his dog and had just gotten clear when a gasoline tank exploded.

BOIL LINE, NOT TEMPER

If you are the excitable, type reeling a new monofil line out of its spool and onto your reel is likely to exercise your boil-line point. Don't make the only boiling thing a pot of water on the stove. Soak the full monofil spool in it before you reel. Hot line will pay out smoothly.

Oddfellows and Rebekahs and their families are invited to attend a Family Night at the lodge hall Thursday night, September 26th. Supper will be served at 7:00 p. m. Lodge members are requested to bring extra food if they bring guests.

Just A Few Facts

How important is the role of the railroads in this nation's incredibly complex life? A few facts, sans editorializing, help to answer that question.

The railroads have 215,000 miles of right-of-way, linking virtually all cities, and move 43 percent of the nation's intercity traffic.

They employ 700,000 people, and last year's payroll was $4.7 billion—an average of $6,659 per employee, as against $5,700 for general manufacturing workers.

Their purchases run to some $2.1 billion annually, including thousands of items, great and small, produced by workers in plants in every section of the country.

Their tax payments are in the $905 million bracket, supporting schools, fire and police departments, and all the other local and federal government services.

Their investment, after allowance for depreciation, is $26 billion, and represents invested savings of over 925,000 stockholders and thousands of bond owners.

So it goes. And this vast railroad plant works at a top level of efficiency. There are push-button controls at terminals and along the line. Some 45 automatic classification yards have been built, complete with remote controlled switching, car retarders, television and radar.

This very brief summary gives an idea of the railroads' importance. Here is an absolutely basic industry, on whose services all of us depend, directly or indirectly, in one fashion or another.

RIGHTS FROM WRONGS

by Vant Neff

Mob violence, rioting in the streets and wide-spread defiance of law and order are no novelties, certainly, in today's topsy-turvy world. We almost accept them as routine in such places as the Far East, say, or Africa.

But now, suddenly, we're confronted with an ugly new rash of civil disorder that's disturbingly different. This time, it's not happening 10,000 miles away. It's happening right here. In our country—the good old U.S.A.

What we're talking about is the things that are going in the civil-rights crisis. The Negro, in his struggle for equality, has lost patience with the courts. Now he's taking his problems out into the streets and mob action is a dangerous substitute for peaceful appeal.

We're very much in sympathy with the Negro's cause. And so are most thoughtful people. But, we're terribly afraid that these new tactics might change much of this friendly support into resentment. And friendly support from the whites is something the Negro needs to achieve his goals.

It seems pretty obvious that the Negro has good reason to be dissatisfied. Simply because his skin happens to be black, he comes out a poor second in housing, jobs, and schools. And not just in the South, but all over the country.

Imagine for a few seconds that you are a Negro. If you're hungry, you'd better think twice about where you go for a sandwich. A lot of lunch counters won't serve you — no matter how many medals you won during the war.

Need a haircut? You can run into trouble there, too.

And you can be sure that you'll get the same treatment from hotel desk clerks, employment agencies and transportation ticket salesmen.

The phrase "second-class citizen" isn't empty rhetoric. It's an accurate statement of what it's like to be a Negro.

Unquestionably, the Negro has a right to demand that these injustices be corrected.

Abuse of the right to picket is an example. When pickets block roadways and building entrances, they violate the rights of others to free passage. Moreover, they violate the law. Lawlessness breeds lawlessness, and the eventual result is violence and anarchy.

Responsible Negro leaders are aware of these dangers. Roy Wilkins, Executive Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of

WHICH ONE WOULD WIN YOUR SUPPORT?

Colored People, had this to say to a southern Negro audience: "We are not fighting white people. We are fighting for an idea . . . the idea of freedom. You don't have to be discourteous, or rude, or militant, or even stubborn. When we have won the fight for freedom, we must be prepared to live with white people."

Other leaders, however, are less wise and more impatient. They want results — and right now! How? By "direct action." That includes mass sit-down demonstrations, a nation-wide campaign of civil disobedience, and even threats of violence.

One direct action advocate put it this way: "Until now the Negro has been discriminated against. The time has come for discrimination in favor of the Negro."

merchandise on the market."

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, MINN., JOURNAL: "There are 44 sponsors of Senate Bill No. 1 which calls for the expenditure of $400 million over a four year period for the relief of distressed areas. The project seems well on its way to early realization. The money would be spent to set up three $100 million revolving funds and authorize $75 million grants to help build new industrial plants and public facilities in areas of chronic unemployment. But it does not get to the real heart of the matter, which is the cause and cure of such conditions in various communities across the country."

CHEWELAH, WN., INDEPENDENT: "Senator Mansfield, Democrat from Montana and the majority leader in the U. S. Senate suggests that a law should be passed providing for one million dollars to each of the two majority parties to be spent during the presidential campaign, stipulating that the money be given only to the Democrats and the Republicans, would on the face of it be unconstitutional, as it is then a discriminatory law. To be legal, we believe that every party which has a presidential candidate could demand an equal contribution—including the Socialists."

New Dry Spray Lubricant Makes Zippers, Windows Slide Easier

While summertime means relaxing around the green lawns of your home, it's also the season when the green thumb is busiest with lawn care and gardening. To make these outside chores as easy as possible, the wise gardener keeps garden tools clean and serviceable at all times.

A new dry spray lubricant, called Elmer's Slide-All, keeps dirt and grass clippings from sticking to lawnmowers, shovels, rakes, hoes, and grass clippers.

It lubricates and retards rusting of tools and light machinery, repels dirt, dust, oil and water. It is non-flammable, odorless, colorless, will not stain clothing and is fast drying. Packaged in a new type aerosol can, the lubricant can be sprayed from any position, making it easy to get at hard to reach areas.

It is also effective on bicycle chains and sprockets, roller skates, fishing reels and lines, and guns. It has numerous uses inside the home as well—on sticking doors, windows, drawers and screens. The home handyman will find it a valuable aid in eliminating many minor but annoying squeaks in car doors, fan belts, trunk lids and door locks.

Its versatility makes it equally effective on all types of surfaces—metal, wood, paint, rubber, glass, plastic, leather and fabrics. The spray can has a safety valve designed to prevent the user from accidentally pointing the can towards himself when spraying. When applying, shake the can and spray a light film. The surface should be clean and dry. Where the object is stuck, work back and forth and respray.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

CONGRESSMAN Passman tells us the nations that have been receiving foreign aid are beginning to believe, "That the United States is morally, and as a matter of principle and duty, responsible for bringing the world up to our standard of living and freedom." It is a well known principle of aiding others, whether they be individuals or nations, that after one has done it for a time, that the individual or nation being helped, comes to believe that his benefactor owes it to him and his attitude becomes increasingly demanding. We have long since reached that point in our dealings with many countries that we have been trying to help.

Moreover, as Congressman Passman points out, "While we are bleeding our own citizens with burdensome taxation in order to give to others, the majority of the aid recipient countries do not and will not tax their own people at rates even remotely close to the United States rates, to assist in bringing about the improved standards which we say we are trying to help them attain." In other words, refusing to help themselves, they come increasingly to depend upon the American taxpayers for support. Thus, we are destroying self-reliance and creating dependent people and countries.

Effort in these countries is, no doubt, declining as dependence on foreign aid becomes increasingly a habit. We are, therefore, not only bankrupting ourselves, but injuring those whom we are attempting to aid. In this process, we have already piled up our own indebtedness higher and higher until now we owe a sum that is $23 billion in excess of the national debt of all the countries of the world. This does not make sense.

We are becoming the laughing stock of the world for our irresponsible fiscal policies. Moreover, our national indebtedness is now rising at a rate much faster than in any of the previous peacetime years of our history.

Howard Kershner's Commentaries, Inc., New York 19, N. Y.

A Balanced Highway Program

Seven years have passed since the start of the accelerated national road-building program authorized by Congress in the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1956.

The Act provides that the revenue from certain Federal taxes on highway users (principally the 46-per-gallon gasoline tax) is set aside in a Highway Trust Fund, and used only for the Federal share of the Federal-State highway program. The Act also provides a long-range schedule of authorizations for the completion of the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways and a "balanced" program of capital improvements on the other Federal-aid systems — primary, secondary and urban.

This long-range plan calls for the substantial completion of the Interstate System by October 1, 1972. Highway planners recognize that this 41,000-mile system of express highways connecting the major centers of population and industry cannot perform its intended function with full efficiency unless it is woven into the total highway system—and this means bringing the feeders, distributors and connectors up to standard.

Within the next year, several thousand miles of Interstate System will be opened to traffic. Since 1964 is the halfway point of the program, State and Federal highway officials have set themselves the goal of opening half of the Interstate mileage by the end of that year. What may be of even more interest to the traveling public is the fact that the highway officials also are concentrating on opening long, connected stretches of Interstate highway so as to provide maximum benefits at the earliest possible date.

As the links of the Interstate System are connected up, the benefits derived by motorists will multiply. Driving time and driving tensions will be reduced, and accident costs will be cut dramatically. (On completion, the Interstate System will save upwards of 5,000 lives annually.)

Traffic congestion on parallel primary and secondary routes will be reduced, but traffic on routes interchanging with the Interstate System generally will increase. As traffic patterns change, highway administrators are making provision for improving the highways which are to bear the heavier traffic loads. Necessarily, the Interstate System construction schedule is coordinated carefully with the schedule of highway improvements on other roads.

The balanced highway program recognizes that each road, heavily traveled or not, has a part to play in the functioning of the highway network and that funds available for construction must be distributed accordingly.

At the end of the first seven years of the accelerated program, about 36 percent of the Interstate System (14,829 miles) was open to traffic. Another 41 percent was "in progress," i.e., engineers were designing the highway, right-of-way was being acquired, or actual construction was underway.

HOME in inner or outer space by ALICE CARTER

Automobile manufacturers, enthused at what promises to be the greatest year in history for automotive sales, are keeping a wary eye on the women. "Reasons for this are obvious," claims one industry spokesman. "Take a good look at any of the 80 million cars on the nation's highways this Fall and you'll see what we mean."

According to Bill MacDonald, manager of Polymer Corporation of Rhode Island, "Design engineers in the industry are making a special effort to cater to the likes of the ladies. Cars," he continues, "are more colorful than ever this year — both inside and out — and they'll be even more colorful in 1964."

Polymer manufactures vinyl floor mats for automobiles packaged under the brand names Riviera and Vinyl-Flex. Company officials are quick to admit they have tailored their efforts to keep pace with prevailing feminine tastes.

"It's a matter of fact that women make the final choice of a good majority of the cars purchased yearly in this country," he explains. "Since this is true, it was necessary for us to do all we could to make available a line of vinyl mats harmonizing the popular automobile color combinations.

"Our vinyl mats are available this year in a wide variety of colors including red, green, brown, light blue, dark blue, black, turquoise, gold and white.

"For the time being," MacDonald continues, "these vinyl mats are perfect as complementary items in any automobile. Further, because of tremendous wear provided by vinyl, these mats stand up under the tough treatment of a woman's stiletto heel. Vinyl mats are really durable."

At least one businessman concerned with the automotive industry is satisfied, then, that his company is moving ahead to keep pace with the times.

How To Make Patio Blocks

Outdoor living has become an American way of life and patios are the order of the day. They're being constructed all over the country in various shapes and sizes and of a wide variety of materials. Patio blocks, made of concrete are popular because they're easy to make, stay in place, do not deteriorate, form a smooth floor and are easy to clean. Millions of patio blocks have been made by the method covered in the following paragraphs.

1. Make patio block forms from 2 x 2 dressed lumber. Notch so that sides fit together, yet come apart easily for re-use. Suggested inside dimension 2' x 2'. You can add interest to your patio with half blocks (1' x 2') which you can make by dividing the form.
2. Grease inside surface of form and set form on tar paper. Pour concrete mix into form. A good material to use for this is Sakrete Concrete Mix. It's available in 90# sacks and requires only the addition of water. It's handy because you can start and stop any time. Level the mix with a straight edged board. 3. Smooth the surface with a wood float. Move float over the surface with light pressure in a half arc motion. 4. Round off edges with an edging tool. Finish patio blocks with steel trowel after concrete has set for about one hour. (Use wood float if rough finish is wanted.) As trowel is moved over surface, hold the leading edge up slightly. For best results, concrete must be moist cured for one week. Forms can be removed in a day or two. For added enjoyment you can record important family events by making design impressions in concrete patio blocks.

Cut designs from heavy roofing paper. After troweling and when water sheen disappears, place cut-outs on concrete, trowel over to set them flush with surface. Be careful not to get too much concrete over the top. Remove the roofing paper, and you will have a neat impression.

Redwood Design Contest Announced

Ideas like these and many others for redwood projects are contained in a new 32-page Redwood Idea Book published by Simpson Timber Company to help contestants interested in submitting entries for Simpson's $1,000 redwood design idea contest. The idea book, which normally costs 25 cents, is available free until the contest closes September 30. For further details please see the story below.

Do-it-yourselfers who fancy working with and designing projects of redwood now have an opportunity to win cash for their design talents.

"As a salute to the ingenuity of people who like to build with wood, Simpson Timber Company will award $1,000 for most distinctive use of redwood as a contribution to better living.

The award will not be contingent upon the amount of redwood used in the project entered in the competition. It could be anything from the use of redwood as siding, paneling, a car port, in the patio, for fences, planter boxes, garden furniture, tables, benches or even a doghouse.

Entries will be judged by a panel appointed and supervised by The Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation. Named to the panel are internationally famous designer, Paul László, A.S.I.D.,

People who make babies their business say that with a few simple precautions an auto trip with infants can be easy — and even enjoyable.

According to Bauer & Black, makers of Curity baby products, modern technology has solved the two main problems of infant travel — feeding and laundry.

"For short trips, plastic bottles with overcaps are ideal," said W. O. Elson, medical research director for Bauer & Black. "Mothers can sterilize bottles, nipples, and formula by the 'terminal' method before they leave. A small ice chest will keep the formula safe, and the overcap guarantees that the contents remain sterile."

For longer trips, Elson recommends that mothers rely on bottles of sterile nursery water, plus six-ounce cans of evaporated milk. Each time the baby is fed, open a can of milk, pour into a bottle the proper amount of milk, sweetening and water, and discard the rest of the milk. "Before a trip of any length," he cautions, "consult your baby's doctor."

Disposable diapers and diaper liners — which today are comfortable and effective as gauze variety — eliminate laundry worries while on the road. "Each time the baby changed," suggests Elson, "the disposable diaper in a separate paper or plastic bag, get rid of it next time you stop."

Other hints on how to make your trip pleasant and easy are: Stick to your baby's schedule. Aim at 250 to 300 miles a day. Stop driving by 5:00 p.m. Make motel reservations in advance at motels with baby beds if possible. Check weather forecasts. Plan your route through or near population centers. Use safety locks on doors, and never leave a child alone in a locked car. And remember that even on a highway your child needs a regular daily amount of cuddling and playing.

To aid you in packing your next trip with an infant, clip and save the accompanying checklist of articles needed.

SAFETY TIPS
From The
American Medical Association
Smoking and Sports

the coach told him to cut out smoking.
"It cuts the wind," the coach said. Usually we believed him and avoided smoking.
Now science can prove that smoking really does "cut the wind" — that is, cause a marked decrease in breathing capacity.
The Committee on Medical

Aspects of Sports of the American Medical Association and the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations in a recent joint comment on smoking and sports point out that the ability to produce maximum effort and to build endurance for sports is related to the capacity of the athlete to take in and utilize oxygen.

After reviewing reports on scientific studies of breathing capacity, the AMA Committee recommends that athletes should be strongly advised against smoking. In fact, ten inhalations of cigarette smoke have been shown to materially reduce airway conductance to the lungs. The decrease is as much as 50 per cent and lasts for as long as an hour. One effect of smoking on breathing is to slow down the rate at which stale air can be expelled from the lungs. The heavy smoker has trouble in breathing quickly and easily under heavy exertion.

There comes a time in most team and individual sports when an absolute maximum effort is required for a brief moment. It may be a hard sprint in football, a leap for a rebound in basketball, a fast run to try to beat a throw to first base in baseball, a quick jump to reach for a high tennis ball, a hard finish sprint in swimming.

The smoker, even though he may be a fine natural athlete, highly trained and skilled, may find that his capacity for that all-important finish print or leap is slightly less than it might have been if he laid off tobacco.

In a close finish between well-matched athletes, the non-smoker has the edge.

SAME OLD STORY!

A boy and girl... he carries her books to school... they share stories and laughter... yes, it's the same old story, but it's all new to them. Even though we have seen it many times before, we receive joy in seeing their joy.

From the beginning of man's time on earth, God has revealed himself to man, and man has told others about God, and how much God has done for man. Through centuries the story has not changed, but there are many who have not heard the story. Invite someone to church this Sunday. It may be their first opportunity to hear of God's great love.

"For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."
John 3:16

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

W. Babson Weekly Report

most of them moving up the education ladder. Practically every state in the union is spending more and more money on public schooling, trying desperately to keep up with the enormous increase in the total of young citizens. Think what these unending expenditures mean to dealers in cement, stone, bricks, steel, glass, gravel, tile, lumber, and a wealth of additional items involved in building, furnishing, and operating schools.

At this season, department, discount, variety, and chain stores are crammed with mothers and their youngsters buying a vast variety of back-to-school essentials: Pencils, notebooks, typewriters, shoes, raincoat, dresses, suits, sportswear and many more. In fact back-to-school buying is the largest merchandising event for such store — exceeded only by Christmas and Easter sales. This year, purchases in the field are topping those of last year by approximately 5%, reflecting the climb in consumer spendable income. My studies of population trends show that there will be no letdown in school building or in the purchase of school supplies for many years to come.

Ripples Widening Out
As a matter of fact, I look for the climb in school costs to have a steadily more powerful effect on business in general over the years ahead. One line that has been radically changed by the swift growth of school-agers is textbooks. This used to be a relatively conservative business, but now the textbook companies have to run full tilt all the time to keep up with the need not only for more books but for new books with a modern slant. Educational processes have been changed greatly, and new teaching approaches are generally employed. This means a great boom for textbook houses, and they expect sales for the current fiscal year to top last year's by 10%-20%.

TEXAS HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT EXPANDS ANTI-LITTER CAMPAIGN

The Texas Highway Department has added two new methods to its continuing anti-litter campaign: a cartoon character printed on its Official Highway Travel Map and revised highway signs reminding drivers they can be fined from $10 to $200 for littering. The cartoon character, "The Litter Longhorn," pleads with the public to "Help Stop Out Litter." The sign emphasizes that it is against the state law to litter. In 1962 the Highway Department had to spend $1.4 million to pick up litter, an increase of about a hundred thousand dollars over 1961.

Recent reports show that schoolroom furniture has become a tremendously important business as a result of the big splurge in school construction. Definite figures are hard to come by, but best estimates indicate that companies which make school chairs, desks, tables, etc., are selling about $100,000,000 worth annually. Special emphasis is placed upon movable furniture, since the trend today is toward classes of varying sizes and special groups for different categories of study.

So wide are the needs of the nation's school system that a tremendous number of products are absorbed, either directly or indirectly. So I advise my readers who manufacture goods to look into the possibility of selling them to those constructing, furnishing, or running schools. Many services may also find markets in this important field.

What About the Years Ahead
More billions are going to be spent in the years just ahead, and those on the inside track will get the largest slices of this pie. It will be worthwhile in many instances to watch for school building intentions. Also get to know your municipal officials and the contractors most likely to land the job of putting up new school buildings. If you are too shy to do this, you will simply watch others walk away with the markets that you might easily have shared.

Powerful Rowdies Clip Burk J. V.

The Burkburnett Jr. Varsity fell victim to the power laden Wichita Falls Rowdies here Thursday night, coming up with the short-end of a 36-14 count. However, the local lads didn't play dead, as they went down fighting awesome odds. The Rowdies are compared to most A and AA varsity teams, in fact, beating several area schools of that calibre in the last few years. Rowdy fullback David Augustus, a 165 pound bulldozer, and quarterback Jimmy Cole paced Wichita with two touchdowns each and halfback Billy Johnston added another.

All of the Duggies scoring came in the second quarter, with fullback Danny Warren lugging the pigskin over from the one. A running attempt for the conversion failed.

The second tally came as a shock to the Rowdies, as well as all the fans, as the Rowdies kicked off following Augustus' second score. Gary Koenig fumbled the ball on the 15, picked it up, found a gaping hole up the center of the field, and turned on the speed to outdistance all defenders for an 85-yard score. Quarterback Wally Robinson passed to left half Charlie Herring for the two point conversion.

The final summation, though, is that a terrific weight disadvantage was the downfall of the little battlers of Burkburnett.

Score by Quarters
Burk 0 14 0 0—14
WF Rowdies 14 14 0 8—36

Puff, Puff, Up A Hill

Unless you've found the Fountain of Youth you may be bothered with shortness of breath when your hunting takes you up and down steep banks. Try this tip to keep puffing to a minimum. Inhale at the end of every two steps; exhale at the end of the next. Two and inhale: one and exhale. Strike a slow steady pace. Rapid oxygen intake and exhaust helps handle your body's extra requirement. SPECIAL NOTE: If you DON'T get shortness of breath climbing steep things, please send your secret in fast!

Today I say to you be glad you are not in an egotistical way—but in a positive affirmative way. By using one of your greatest gifts the power of choice—you may choose and follow through to be or give whatever you so desire strongly enough. Be natural. Be yourself, and "Be Glad You Are You."

Sawtimber from the South's "tree farms" frequently reappear in the form of wood components for farm buildings. Among the most useful are permit maximum space utilization in machinery sheds and other structures around the farm. Farmers can make them with standard tools. Southern Pine—chief product of the region's "tree farms"—is well suited for this use because of its high strength and all-purpose grading.
