FRAMEWORK GOING UP--By Tuesday morning, construction workers were swarming all over the site of the new Dent Farm Supply building on West Highway 84 near the west city limits of Muleshoe. Most of the framework for the new structure was in place, as the workers were taking advantage of beautiful springtime weather, unhampered by weekend rain that dropped more than an inch of moisture in some nearby locations.

Rain, Hail, Wind Hit On Sunday

On Sunday, a very slow drizzle greeted early risers, and continued to fall until shortly after noon when a brief shower, deposited almost a quarter inch of moisture on Muleshoe.

In the afternoon, brief sunshine made its way through the heavy cloud cover, before the sky again darkened shortly before 7 p.m. and a storm moved across Muleshoe.

In the 7 p.m. storm, high wind accompanied pea to marble-sized hail and a downpour that left up to one-half inch of rain in middle Muleshoe.

Residents of west Muleshoe reported seeing the storm to the east as it moved across town, and residents of the northeast part of town failed to receive more than a shower, and very little hail.

Officially, at the National Weather Service reporting station at KMUL Radio on West Eighth Street, .44 was measured.

At Progress, up to one and one half inches of rain was recorded, and approximately that amount fell, along with hail, north of Muleshoe in Parmer County.

Rainfall amounts varied widely over the county, and in the area, with up to nearly two inches reported in isolated locations.

By Monday, the sky was clear and at presstime, the weather continued to be bright and clear.

Soil Conservation Service Celebrating 50th Birthday

Saturday, March 27, marked the Golden Anniversary of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service -- a milestone in a voluntary conservation movement that has involved more than two million farmers, ranchers, and other landowners and operators.

"SCS can be proud of what it has done," said Billy C. Griffin, State Conservationist for SCS in Temple. "It has helped to reduce soil erosion, conserve water, reduce flooding, improve rangeland, and protect other natural resources."

"In Texas, about 200,000 landowners and operators voluntarily apply conservation measures with SCS assistance," Griffin continued. "They have built more than 220,000 miles of terraces, applied conservation tillage on 2.9 million acres of cropland, and are using planned grazing systems - with regular rest periods - on 13 million acres of grassland."

Griffin said SCS technical assistance is available through 201 locally run soil and water conservation districts.

SCS efforts in promoting conservation tillage and planned grazing systems today parallel the agency's early efforts in convincing farmers to use contour stripcropping, terraces, crop rotations, and other practices that returned eroded fields to productive cropland and pasture. Along the way, SCS has achieved an international reputation in the field of soil and water conservation.

What has been accomplished in 50 years is the result of Federal and State agencies and local groups working together to solve the Nation's soil and water problems along with the leadership and investments of farmers and ranchers. These accomplishments also needed

Bailey County Judge Gordon H. Green said today that "the state has found a way to get through the legislative session in Austin without raising any state taxes, but the way they have decided to do it means that the property taxes will probably have to be raised at the county level or some services cut."

Judge Green indicated that the cost of state programs such as the administration of justice, including increased local costs of the judicial system and costs of incarcerating state prisoners, and even the cost of driver education in the public schools, may be financed out of county and district fees if pending legislation is passed.

"The way this works," Judge Green said, "is that the state increases its share of fees that the county collects in order to raise revenue for state programs. This could decrease the Members of the Muleshoe Athletic Booster Club said the annual athletic banquet will be held Monday, May 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria and tickets are available now from any member of the Athletic Booster Club or at the high school office.

the support of conservation districts and professional organizations and the dedication of people from all walks of life who feel a sincere sense of stewardship for the land, added Griffin.

Everyone in the United States has benefited from the protection of soil productivity and a cleaner environment.

"It's time for celebration as

future amount of money that the county gets to retain from the fees. The county could be forced to take up the slack by increasing property taxes just to stay even."

The judge said that counties only have four sources of revenue: property tax, fines, fees, and federal revenue sharing. He said that revenue sharing "has been going down for several years, and that the administration proposes to eliminate it by October 31, 1986. Revenue sharing averaged 16 percent of county budgets statewide in 1977 but in 1982, it amounted to only 11 percent. It's dropped even more since 1982 and will be gone entirely by late 1986," the judge added.

"Taxes have to be increased even more by the county if inflation causes increased costs. And, while the state is taking more of historical county revenue, legislators are devising ways to have the county take on more and more responsibility that normally would be handled by the state. The more responsibility they give us, the more property taxpayers have to pay."

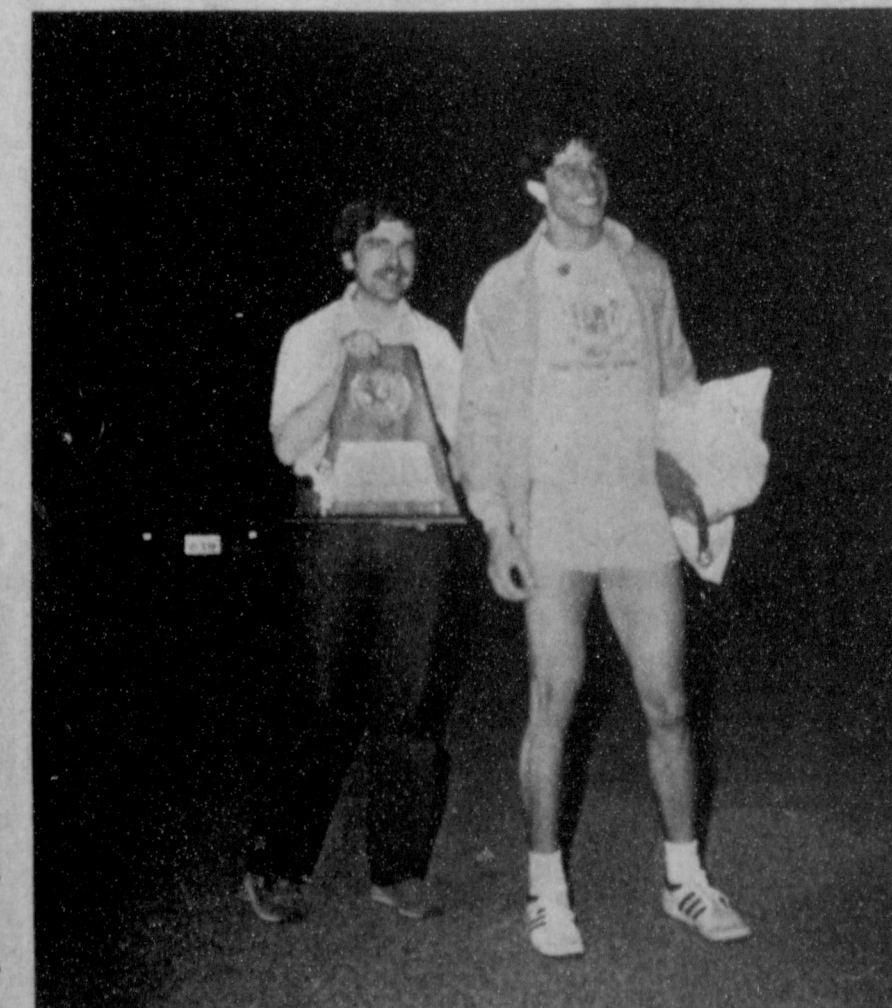

"What this means," the judge concluded, "is that the federal government is passing costs to the state, the state is passing costs to the counties and they are both telling everyone that they aren't raising taxes. They're not. Local government has to do it for them."

Summer School Is Scheduled For Pre-Schoolers

'Pretty Is As Pretty Does'

Mother of vain little girls used to remind them that "pretty is as pretty does." But food that looks good often seems to taste especially good. The real challenge is to make sure that food that's "good for you" looks tempting.

It's simple enough to remember to choose the plate that fits the food you are serving. And it's not hard to remember that hot food needs to be served hot and cold food cold. It's even easy to plan your menu with color in mind.

During the summer, vegetable and fruit garnishes and fresh herbs are readily available to add color and appeal to each meal. For a touch of red, think of tomatoes, red peppers, radishes, beets, cherries, apples, strawberries and raspberries.

In the yellow-orange family are carrots, banana peppers, oranges, lemons and melons plus squash and yams in the fall. Other fruits and vegetables fall into the green, white and violet/black sections of the color wheel. You can use their colors to tempt picky eaters. Balanced eating for adults includes four servings from the Bread Group each day, two from the Meat Group, two from the Milk Group and four from the Fruit and Vegetable Group.

An assortment of red, white, orange/yellow and green vegetables served with a dip of yogurt and cottage cheese is a colorful salad or snack. Season the dip with a powdered salad dressing mix. Yogurt is an excellent calcium source, and the vegetables can be counted on for other minerals, vitamins and fiber.

Milk, cornerstone of a well-balanced diet, can be served in a bright mug or striped glass. More colorful members of the coating of Gouda and the red paprika coating on Muenster to add color contrast on a cheese tray. Cheese and fruit make a delicious and nutritious dessert and one that is easy on the eyes.

Guarding Against Salmonella

With the recent outbreak of salmonella poisoning in the midwest, consumers are concerned about the safety of food they buy at the store.

But they should be equally concerned about food safety at home, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutrition specialist.

Salmonella is a common bacteria found in the gastrointestinal tracts of animals and dairy group are the cheeses, which range from Blue (white with blue veins) through yellows and oranges. Use the red wax man, says Marilyn Haggard.

It most usually affects high protein foods such as meat, poultry, fish and eggs. However, any food that becomes contaminated and is then held at improper temperatures can cause salmonella, she explains.

According to the specialist, contamination of cooked foods is often caused by contact with surfaces or utensils that are not properly washed after use with raw meats.

Insufficient cooking of food that has been contaminated can also cause food borne illness. Salmonella are destroyed at cooking temperatures above 165 degrees F, Haggard notes.

She advises following a few simple guidelines to reduce the possibility of salmonella poisoning:

*Wash your cutting board thoroughly after each use—especially if you have been cutting raw meat on it.

*Wash your hands carefully before handling food.

*Wash raw foods well.

*Heat foods to at least 165 degrees F before serving.

*Refrigerate or freeze leftovers immediately after a meal.

*Keep pet feeding dishes and toys out of the kitchen.

The barbeque and picnic season brings special food poisoning hazards with it, Haggard cautions. "It's especially important to make sure protein foods like deviled eggs, hamburgers and hot dogs and other picnic fare, are cooked thoroughly and kept at the proper temperature," she says.

"Any food borne illness we get from improper handling of food at home may not receive the publicity of a major outbreak from a commercial manufacturing source," Haggard remarks. "But the symptoms and seriousness of the illness are the same."

Library News

BY ANNE CAMP

National Library week in Muleshoe was great! We had special programs for the Senior Citizens, and for the very young--many people visited; and the Book sale went very well--with about $400.00 going to the Friends of the Library for Library improvements.

I want to take this time to thank everyone who helped to make this week a success: First, the NEWS MEDIA, the Muleshoe Journal; Radio KMUL; and TV Channel 6 for the excellent coverage of announcements before and during the week...they really did a lot to inform the public of every event. Thanks Magann for filming our "Library Family of the Year" and Cleta for making pictures for the Journal.; the Muleshoe Study Club who worked hard preparing and holding the Book Sale, and the gift for our Library family; Members of the FOL who assisted at the book-sale; Rhonda Meyers and Kay Graves who also put posters out over town.; the AAUW for the nice donation; to the many who brought books for sale; and all those who came and bought books...and to my staff, Linda and Shorty who had to work harder during this time--You all have my deep appreciation...I couldn't have done it without your help.

We are now making plans and getting ready for our Summer Reading Club program for 1985...It will be called "Awesome Adventures Reading Club" and will take the children on an imaginary adventure trip around the World! In connection with this if any young person has a collection of Trains, ships or planes or shells we would like to use them in the display case..Please call the library 272-4707 if you have or know of anyone who has any of these things that they would like to display.

Needmore Club Hosts Party At Nursing Home

Although there wasn't any birthdays celebrated during the month of April at the Muleshoe Nursing Home, the Needmore Community Club hosted a party for the residents Thursday afternoon, April 25.

The fourth Thursday of each month finds the members of the club hosting a party for the residents of the nursing home, along with all of their other activities. According to Janie Marraw the club has been hosting the parties for approximately six years.

At the present time the club has 13 members, with Mrs. Marraw being the only charter member. This year's officers includes: Ruby Adkins, president; Jennette Fine, vice president; and Sylvia Warren, secretary/treasurer.

Mrs. Marraw told the Journal that the club was organized around 1950-51, in her home. The first officers elected were: Dana Arnold, president; Zeffa Shafer, vice president; and Janie Marraw, secretary/treasurer. Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Marraw met and compiled the by-laws for the Needmore Community Club.

The club's main project was repair and remodeling the Community Building. "We had to put an end in the north end to stop the north wind" said Mrs. Marraw. "Also put up sheet-rock and put in a bathroom."

This building is used for the annual co-op gin dinner and annual Thanksgiving supper. It is also used for showers, community singing (first, third, and fifth Mondays of the month), and to prepare and serve meals when there has been a death in the community.

December is a busy month for the Needmore Community Club. The club has a Christmas party with an exchange of gifts and a luncheon. Also during the month of December they make boxes for the elderly, shut-ins and needy in the community. This community includes the Baileyboro and Circleback area as well as Needmore.

At the present time the club is working on a queen size quilt to be sold for the benefit of the community.

The District 2T2 Lions Convention will be held in Plainview on Friday and Saturday, May 3-4.

Registration will be held in the Nunn Building on the campus of Wayland Baptist University, and all convention activities will be held on the campus, with the golf tournament to be held at the Plainview Country Club.

One of the teachers explained that Special Olympics does not receive state appropriations from the legislature, nor does it receive any grants. Texas Special Olympics depends upon the support of concerned citizens, businesses, and organizations, she explained. The Muleshoe Lions Club is sponsoring the Muleshoe Special Olympics again this year as they have in the past. They are purchasing T-shirts and they will read, "Special Olympics Mules."

They are also purchasing hats and other needed items. School nurses Imogene Tiller Cole and Betty Jo Davis have taken care of required physical examinations for the participants. Students, teachers, principals and other personnel in the Muleshoe schools have all joined together in a cooperative effort in helping to make this event a very special one, added the teacher.

She explained that Special Olympics is composed of competitive games designed for children with special needs, mental and/or physical. The mission of Special Olympics is to provide sports training and athletic competition in a variety of Olympic-type sports, giving the participants continuing opportunities to develop physical fitness, express courage, experience joy, and participate in a sharing of gifts, skills, and friendship with their families, other special olympians, and the community. The goal of Special Olympics is not to win, but to try; to experience, not to conquer.

Everyone has a chance to win since competition is grouped not only by age and sex division, but also by ability. The courage, determination and sportsmanship.

District events will be from 9:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Special Olympics Mules will travel to Lubbock by bus at 7 a.m. on May 4. The support and backing from the citizens in the community and the Lions Club, combined with the efforts of school personnel and interested parents, will all help to make this a very special time in the lives of these young people, she concluded.

Celebration For Life Has Senior 'Vote' For Graduation Night

High school graduation is a time for celebration, decision making and growth for young people. Unfortunately, many young people decide to celebrate graduation by drinking alcohol or using other mind-altering chemicals. Too often, this decision has produced disastrous results.

Young people, with the help and encouragement of others, can break this 'tradition.' There is now a statewide Project Graduation campaign in Texas designed to help youth, parents, schools and communities help themselves.

Muleshoe High School's 1985 graduating class has voted to have a "Celebration for Life" party after graduation. After graduation, the seniors, along with their guest, will load on chartered buses to go to the Texas Tech Recreation Center. The center will provide students with swimming, racketball, movies, volleyball, basketball, skating and various other activities.

To get Project Graduation going, seniors need to ask the support of this community. "We need the support of parents, churches, business and organizations," said a senior class spokesman. "We need funds from donations, we need chap-erones, food and drinks."

Contact Linda Marr, Barbara Finney or Frankie Lunsford for information. Send or bring donations to Project Graduation, %MISD, 514 West Ave. G, Muleshoe, TX 79347.

Group To Allow Sesquicentennial Souvenir Sales

On Tuesday, April 16, the Muleshoe/Bailey County Sesquicentennial Committee met in the city hall to make several decisions. The committee voted to turn all sales of souvenirs for the Sesquicentennial over to the various local clubs, organizations, or businesses in Muleshoe as money making projects.

It was decided that the committee's only function is to organize activities for the celebration, as they do not need or want to raise money. The only cost the committee has is postage, a few stationery supplies, and telephone calls.

If a club, organization or business would like to see the items offered for sale, they can go by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture office and look through the catalogs.

Any group deciding on an item can have that item exclusively, as no other group can choose that particular item to sell. There will be no duplication of souvenir items allowed by the committee.

The only requirement is that the club or organizations help the community with expenses, through a small percentage of your sales.

The only way to get true Sesquicentennial souvenirs is to place your order through the local Sesquicentennial Committee.

If your group is interested, go by city hall and visit the Chamber office before all the 'good' items have been chosen by other groups.

Know Appliance
Warranty Rights

Consumers compare the features and prices of different brands before buying an appliance but may neglect to compare the warranties. As a consumer we need to become aware of warranties. A warranty has to meet certain standards for either "full" or "limited" warranty. Knowing the difference between the two can save money and aggravation if the appliance must be repaired later.

A full warranty promises that a defective product will be repaired or replaced free, including removal and reinstallation, when necessary. However, a full warranty does not have to apply to the entire appliance. For example, a microwave oven may carry a full warranty on the cabinet, fan, and magnetron tube, but only a limited warranty on the touchmatic control.

Under a limited warranty consumers may have to pay for labor, reinstallation, or other charges. They may also be required to return or take a product to a service location and receive a pro rata refund or credit. The term "limited warranty" should alert consumers to the fact that only part of the product may be covered, that it includes just the cost of repair parts, or that it lasts only for a certain period of time. A limited warranty does not imply the appliance is inferior or will not work as promised. In fact, it may contribute to a lower initial cost for a particular brand.

Consumers should read warranty information carefully to decide whether they want to pay more for a full warranty. Service Contracts

Contracts for service are sometimes offered when you buy a new appliance. To decide whether to buy a service contract, weigh the cost of the contract against these factors:

1. Did you receive a warranty with the appliance? Does the warranty already cover the repairs you would get under the service contract?
2. Is the product likely to need repairs and how much would the repairs cost?
3. What length of time does

By Spencer Tanksley County Extension Agent

The Laredo Civic Center will be the site of the 1985 International Ranchers Roundup, to be held July 29-August 2, according to Spencer Tanksley, Bailey Extension Agent.

"The Basics of Successful Ranching" will be the theme of the fifth annual IRR, Tanksley said. This year's program will include keynote luncheon speakers, and in-depth sessions on cow/calf production, stocker cattle operations, wildlife management, range management, the ranch family, ranch business management, and water, a critical ranch resource. Concurrent tours of progressive ranches will be held in Texas and Mexico on Friday, August 2.

"This program has received excellent input from ranchers, county agricultural Extension agents and others from the South Texas area, in addition to the comments from past participants," Tanksley explained.

Social activities during the week-long activity will include a free hospitality hour on Monday, July 29; a "Night in Mexico" on Tuesday, July 30; and a banquet and western dance on Wednesday, July 31.

Tour participants must pre-register by July 1 so meals and tour buses can be arranged. Tour stops in Southwest Texas will include the Callaghan Ranch, north of Laredo; Zachry Ranch, south of Laredo; and Espuela Beefmasters, south of Laredo.

The Mexico ranch tour will include the Rancho Las Mujeres, Rancho Chavarría, and the Rancho La Herradura.

In order to pre-register for the tour and the program, and receive the $60 discount, interested persons may contact their local county Extension office, Tanksley said.

Firefighter's Report

by Wayne Peterson

The Muleshoe Fire Department had eight firemen attending the 37th annual fire fighting school in Lubbock during the month. Attending the school in the capacity of instructors were Chief Jack Dunham, Assistant Chief Donald Harrison, J.O. Parker, H.E. Reeder and Wayne Wauson. Firemen attending classes to further their qualifications were Eugene Maxwell, Donald Phelps and Scott Churchman. The hours were increased for certification as a firefighter. Seemingly the more advanced we become in technology, the more knowledge we must have to control the fires brought about by this technology.

Larry Rasco, Mark Tutt, Rich Magby and Billy Balderas have attended the 1985 Jaws of Life school in New Braunfels where new technology in this field has advanced a long way since Muleshoe pulled together to obtain one of the first Jaws of Life in the area.

Something a lot of people have been waiting to hear has finally arrived—the date of the Fireman's Ball. Saturday, June 1 is the date, and then the entertainment and music will be supplied by the "Panhandle" band of Clovis, N.M. Tickets may be purchased from firemen for $5 per couple.

The fight for acceptance in "society" is a good one to stay out of.

Education is not to be confused with going to college—note these days.

4. What is the reputation of the company selling the product?

You could decide to wait until your warranty period expires to buy a service contract. Then you will have owned the product long enough to decide whether a contract would be worthwhile. Do not be misled by the misnomer "extended warranties". Service contracts are not warranties.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
