Former superintendent...

Principal selected from Coleman ISD

Dr. Thomas V. Alvis, superintendent for Coleman ISD the past two years, was employed as a Snyder elementary principal Tuesday.

The 47-year-old Alvis, who holds a doctor of philosophy degree from Texas A&M University, will be assigned to North Elementary, replacing Jim Erwin who has been reassigned to East.

A 1957 graduate of Haskell High School, he earned a bachelor of science degree in 1961 from Texas Tech; his masters degree in education from Texas A&M in 1964; and his doctorate from A&M in 1975.

His career in public education dates to 1961, when he began serving a five-year stint as a vocational ag teacher and principal at the junior high school in Munday.

In all, he has held superintendent's positions for five school districts: the Matton RHSD in Haskell from 1966-67; Three Way ISD in Maple from 1967-69; Old Glory RHSD from 1973-76; Southland ISD from 1976-84; and Coleman ISD from 1984 until the present.

In Coleman, he guided that district through passage of a $5 million bond election for the construction of new buildings.

His other educational positions have included coordinator of learning disabilities for Abilene ISD from 1971-73; as an assistant professor of secondary education and administration at Hardin-Simmons from 1970-71; and as a graduate fellow at Texas A&M's Department of School Administration from 1969-70.

In addition, he is a certified trainer in the Model for Effective Teaching and Supervision (METS) Program, supervising instruction in this method to principals and teachers while in Coleman.

He is married and has three children.

Ask Us

Q. — Is the Snyder school district looking to add any school personnel this year?

A. — While new teachers will be hired due to others leaving, the net effect as far as total teachers is now projected to "even out," according to school officials. One new position to the district is projected due to House Bill 72 mandates, a pre-kindergarten teacher.

New principal assignments revealed

In-district reassignments for the six elementary school principals serving Snyder ISD were revealed Tuesday by Superintendent Bob Hawes.

And while board action was not required, school trustees added their own backing by offering a resolution supporting Hawes' decision.

"I feel like it will be nothing but a good thing," commented Mike Reed, who suggested the supporting resolution.

Hawes expressed his own reasons for the change Wednesday morning.

He noted the idea first surfaced last February as he was counseling with individual principals during their annual self-evaluation process.

"By far the majority of our principals indicated they were ready for a change," Hawes said.

He said the principals received the official word of the change June 24. At that time, they were asked to list their first, second and third choice for a new campus.

He noted three of those to be changed received assignments at their first choice.

Another factor in the decision to change is the new requirement for teacher evaluations placed on the principals.

"By going into a campus new, we see it as a way to insure better objectivity on these evaluations," he said.

"None of the changes reflect any dissatisfaction with what they were doing, it's just that we feel a change will be motivational."

Two of these changes will see principals new to the system assuming responsibility for elementary campuses here.

L.D. Monroe, former principal for grades K-12 at Ira, was named principal for Central Elementary; while Dr. Tom Alvis, newly employed Tuesday (see related story), will head up the North Elementary campus.

Four other principals will be

In Brief

Woman shot

ABILENE, Texas — A manager at a savings and loan was in stable condition after she was shot in the abdomen after handing over the contents of a cash drawer to a robber.

Mary Lapham, manager of the Brookhollow branch of Southwest Savings & Loan Association in Abilene, was in stable condition Tuesday night at Humana Hospital.

Detective Sgt. Dan Spohn said the gunman walked into the savings office about 10:50 a.m. Tuesday. The gunman walked around a counter, pulled a revolver on Mrs. Lapham, and demanded she give him the contents of a cash tray, Spohn said.

The amount of money taken was not disclosed.

Sodomy law

AUSTIN (AP) — Although the U.S. Supreme Court has upheld Texas' anti-sodomy statute, law enforcement officials probably will not actively enforce the ban, says Attorney General Jim Mattox.

He said Tuesday that there never has been a sodomy prosecution under that law.

"I don't think we're going to use the resources of the state in actual prosecution," Mattox said.

The high court on Monday upheld a lower appeals court ruling that kept the anti-sodomy law on the books. The law makes it a misdemeanor offense for persons of the same sex to engage in specified sex acts.

Tot unharmed

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A toddler who was abducted during an early-morning burglary was later found asleep by police in the yard of a north Tyler couple.

A police spokesman said 21-month-old Valencia Williams suffered only a small cut on her forehead and was taken to Medical Center Hospital for further tests Tuesday.

Sesqui event

The Scurry County Library Sesquicentennial event this Thursday will begin at 10 a.m. It is open to all elementary school children and their parents. Dr. Franklin Pruitt, a history instructor at Western Texas College, will talk about the bravest man at the Alamo.

Accent being recalled

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston officials are collecting about 100,000 Accent flavor enhancer containers after a cyanide-tampering threat and are telling consumers not to use Accent purchased since June 25.

Some 3,300 stores in metropolitan Houston began removing the packages Tuesday after officials received an anonymous threat that six 4.5-ounce units had been poisoned, authorities said.

"It comes at a time when we are redesigning the package so that would not be possible," said Les Landes, spokesman for Pet Inc., the St. Louis-based producer. "It is truly ironic."

"All we want to do is get them off the shelves," said Anthony Whitehead, director of the Houston investigations office of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. "Then, we'll try sorting through to see if there's anything to it (the threat)."

No illnesses or tampered Accent packages had been reported late Tuesday as FDA officials began investigating with FBI and state officials, Whitehead said.

The threat was the second product tampering scare in Houston since March. A nationwide removal of Contac cold capsules, Teldrin allergy relief capsules and Dietac appetite suppressant capsules was ordered after authorities found contaminated capsules in Houston and Orlando, Fla. Edward Arlen Marks, 24, was arrested in Los Angeles in late May and charged in connection with the March capsule tampering.

THE END IN SIGHT — Paving crews with the Herzog Construction Company were at work Tuesday morning laying the final layer of new paving on the Lamesa Highway here. The paving — delayed briefly by rainfall the past few weeks — will finish the reworking of U.S. Hwy. 180 as it passes through the center of Snyder. (SDN Staff Photo)

Library cutbacks generate protests

A group of some 17 parents and teachers protesting the cutback in elementary school librarians here were asked to meet with administrative officials in the days ahead and, if all questions are not then answered, to remeet with the Snyder school board at its next meeting.

The group's representative, Deanie Mills, addressed the board Tuesday after an organizational meeting of the parents and teachers Monday.

The appearance was in response to board decisions during budget workshops June 24-26. At that time, the board opted to not replace two librarians who retired at the end of the school year and to reassign a third librarian to another district post, reducing the number of elementary librarians from six to three.

The plan was then to assign each of the remaining three to serve two elementary campuses — operating on an approximate half-day schedule.

Superintendent Bob Hawes noted Wednesday the plan is to keep all elementary libraries open during the school day. A librarian on staff will be cut in approximate half, however.

To these changes, Mills commented Tuesday, "We feel like (library) services will have to suffer."

She pointed to the good school children derive from learning library skills in the school system, noting that otherwise

Western Auto change to be shown Thursday

The former White's Auto Store here will officially receive a new look to accompany a new marketing strategy Thursday, in addition to its new affiliation with Western Auto.

The marketing strategy will make the newly named Western Auto, a "one-stop automotive supermarket," according to store owner Pete Lowrance.

In observance of the change, a ribbon cutting held by the Snyder Gold Coats is scheduled at 11 a.m. Thursday at the store on the east side of the downtown square.

The Snyder market is one of the areas selected for Western Auto's introduction of its new automotive-dominant store concept. The company has been testing the new program with great success in Kansas City, where its national headquarters are located, and in selected other markets.

"Our surveys indicated not only was there a need for this type of store in the area, but that Western Auto, with a reputation built of 75 years of automotive merchandising, is equipped to meet this need," Lowrance said.

Pete and Jeff Lowrance and Western Auto have been on the Snyder scene with an associate store since March, 1980, originally as White's Auto. They began conversion of their store to the new automotive concept several months ago with structural

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Imagine what we could be spared if second thoughts came out first."

At one time we questioned if all the money spent on the restoration of the Statue of Liberty would really be worth it.

Now that the torch has been relighted, and the July 4th observance has passed--those doubts have been fully erased.

It was just what this nation needed, and we're encouraged that folks still get excited about their county. Despite all of its problems, it remains the best--full of freedoms and opportunities.

Snyder again had a fun-filled July 4th observance. It may be our age, but we've concluded that July 4th is the best holiday of all--even better than Christmas.

We noticed that Snyder is among the top on the "safe city" list recently compiled by the Department of Public Safety. Snyder was listed third behind Graham, also in West Texas, and Bunker Hill Village near Houston.

Snyder was cited for its low crime rate--a tribute to the law enforcement officers in both our city and county. It's also a tribute to the citizens who have long appreciated Snyder for its quality of life.

The closing of the post office and Velma Lee's store in Dermott has gained nation-wide attention. The Associated Press distributed the story which was run by newspapers across the U.S.

The Dallas Morning News ran a similar article written by school teacher Marjorie Mathis who lives in the Dermott-Fluvanna area.

Did you hear about the new preacher who had earned the praise of nearly all the members of the congregation. As he was greeting members one Sunday, a woman gushed, "You're simply wonderful. Why, I never knew what sin was before you came to town."

Government bans sulfites from restaurant salad bars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is issuing regulations today banning the use of sulfite preservatives on fresh fruits and vegetables in restaurant salad bars, suspected in at least 13 deaths nationwide.

The regulations, which take effect in 30 days, remove six types of sulfite preservatives from FDA's list of food additives generally recognized as safe.

Adoption of the rules follows nearly two years of debate in Congress and within FDA and the scientific community on the possible dangers from sulfite preservatives, particularly those used on restaurant salad bars.

Sulfites have long been used to make fresh fruits and vegetables look more attractive. Sulfites keep lettuce from wilting, for example, and prevent apple slices from turning brown.

They are harmless for most people — but not to an estimated 500,000 sensitive people, mostly asthmatics, who can suffer an allergic reaction to the substances.

Most reactions are mild, resulting only in nausea, hives, diarrhea or shortness of breath. But severe reactions can send a person into shock and constrict the air passages, causing suffocation.

The National Restaurant Association and the Produce Marketing Association, in endorsing the proposal for a ban last year, said most restaurants have stopped using the preservatives because of the hazard.

"Salad bars have been associated with most of the serious problems, and the idea of posting signs in restaurants when sulfites have been added has not been universally accepted."

Mother chooses death after daughter's murder

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Grief over the shooting death of her 18-year-old daughter led a 50-year-old Arlington woman to kill herself with a prescription drug, according to the woman's son.

"I was expecting it. I wasn't expecting it this soon. To tell the truth, I've been watching my mother die, the deterioration of her personality," said Mercedes Branch's son Claudio, 20.

Mrs. Branch died Saturday from amytriptyline intoxication, an antidepressant drug. Her death was ruled a suicide by the medical examiner.

"It had everything to do with Teresa," her son said.

"My mom didn't have many material possessions," he said. "Teresa was all she had. She was very proud of her. If she couldn't have Teresa, she didn't want to live."

After the slaying, Mrs. Branch would walk around the house crying and saying, "I want Teresa back," he said.

Miss Branch's car broke down on April 19 while she was on her way to her parent's house. She left a classmate in the car and began jogging to the house, a few blocks away.

The friend called police after Miss Branch did not appear for 1½ hours. Miss Branch's body was found in a church parking lot across the street from where she was parked at about 10:30 p.m.

Arlington police believe she was forced into a car, shot and her body was dumped in the lot. No arrests have been made.

"I don't think it would have mattered if they had made an arrest," Branch said. "It would never bring Teresa back."

He said Mrs. Branch seemed to take the news well at first, although she thought about the slaying constantly.

"The paranoia started. She was afraid the same thing was going to happen to her that happened to Teresa," he said.

Dear Abby

Could Roll in the Hay Cure Pain in the Neck?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 50-year-old woman who has never married. I am still a virgin, but I am not obsessed by the fact. (What I've never had, I don't miss.)

In the last 30 years I have been to many psychiatrists, psychologists and several chiropractors. (I got more help from the chiropractors, but the relief was only temporary.)

The problem has been a chronic pain in my neck, and every medical doctor I saw tried to tell me it was all in my head. Last week I went to yet another therapist who told me that the pain in my neck would disappear overnight if I would just hop into bed with a man — any man — regardless of whether I had any kind of feelings for him or not. I protested, saying I could not hop into bed with a man unless I had some loving feelings for him. He said I was being childish, that sex is normal — then he volunteered to be my "first."

I said, "No, I couldn't go to bed with a man unless I loved him. To do otherwise would be immoral, and I pride myself on being a moral person."

Am I wrong? Please answer soon. I want to show your answer to my therapist.

NORMAL IN VIRGINIA

DEAR NORMAL: I agree with you. Show this to your therapist. Suggesting that you hop into bed with just any man is bad enough, but volunteering his services is a violation of professional ethics. Find another therapist. Your therapist needs a therapist.

DEAR ABBY: My problem concerns my nephew who has just graduated from high school and also has a birthday coming soon. I would like to give him a sizable cash gift for both his birthday and graduation, but I know that he is heavily involved in drugs (both using and dealing) and I fear the money will be used for drugs.

I considered opening a savings account for him, but if he found out about it, he would never let his mother rest until she gave him the money.

He has just begun counseling. Perhaps the money should go toward that, but I'm afraid if he found out he'd quit counseling. Material things are out of the question — he says he doesn't want anything!

We are well-off financially; we love him very much and are not ready to give up on him.

CONCERNED AUNT

DEAR CONCERNED: Send cards for his graduation and birthday, and after he has conquered his drug problem, then consider presenting him with a material gift. Do not open a savings account in his name knowing that if he learns of it, he will nag his mother until she hands it over. And do not give him any money. If he receives a sizable cash gift he might be tempted to blow it.

DEAR ABBY: Ever since you printed the letter about the state of Delaware ("Dela-where?") in your column, I have been trying to recall the words to a song I used to know years ago.

It went something like this: "What did Dela wear, boys? What did Dela wear? She wore a New Jersey, she wore a New Jersey," etc.

Can you or any of your readers come up with the rest of the lyrics?

G.L. IN SLIDELL, LA.

DEAR G.L.: I can't. But I'll bet somebody out there will. Watch this space.

Perot to fight any education cuts

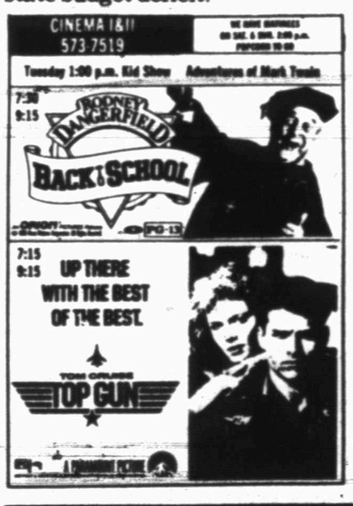

AUSTIN (AP) — Dallas computer magnate H. Ross Perot says he will fight any legislative effort to cut back recent education improvements to lower the state budget deficit.

Perot said Tuesday he will be "working actively" to defend the education improvements when the Legislature meets in special session this summer to explore ways to cut the state's projected $2.3 billion deficit.

He said if lawmakers want to economize in public school funding, they should slice "junk" in athletic programs and vocational education.

"If you've got to cut, then cut in the right places," he told the Dallas Times Herald. "We're throwing money out the window on vocational education. We don't need any more Astroturf. We don't need to pay coaches more than the median salary of teachers.

"We can't get our priorities screwed around," said Perot. "There's a lot of soft stuff they can cut out."

Derailment evacuates thousands

MIAMISBURG, Ohio (AP) — Firefighters poured water and sand today on a burning, derailed tank car that spewed a poison cloud that blanketed parts of three cities, injuring at least 183 people and forcing 17,500 to flee their homes.

Many of the evacuees had returned home late Tuesday, but hundreds remained overnight in makeshift shelters after seven Baltimore & Ohio cars, including one carrying white phosphorus, derailed earlier in this Dayton suburb.

Fire officials said the phosphorus, a component of rat poison and weapons, had stopped burning, and the fire was under control but not out. There was no word on how soon people would be permitted to return home.

Firefighters have to cover the phosphorus with sand or dirt to prevent it from reigniting, said Miamisburg city planner Mike Grauwelman.

White phosphorus burns in contact with air at least 86 degrees Fahrenheit, said Pat Madigan of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency. It was about 90 degrees when the cars derailed.

"I heard the crash," said Ron Hinton, foreman at Karolton Envelope Co., about 200 yards away. "I looked out and saw all the smoke and flames coming out, so I just told everybody to shut their machines down and get out."

At least 183 people were treated at hospitals for symptoms that included shortness of breath, burning eyes and nausea. There were no reports of serious injuries, but hospital officials said at least 11 people were admitted, most of them with breathing problems that were aggravated by the fumes.

About 10,000 people were evacuated from northern Miamisburg, 3,000 from West Carrollton and another 3,500 from Moraine, said city Development Director Ron Parker. About 1,000 people were evacuated from Jefferson Township, said police Officer Walter Hetzel.

An area about three miles long and one-half mile wide was evacuated, said Miami Valley disaster services director Ed Kovar.

Moraine Police Lt. James Atchison said residents were permitted to return home about 10 p.m., but those in other areas were given no indication how long the evacuation would last.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG

Q. — My grandfather always finished furniture with something he called French polishing. I know it had something to do with shellac. Can you tell me anything about it? I asked in several stores and they said they had a French polish that could be applied, but I am sure my grandfather did not use any completely made preparation, just shellac.

A. — French polishing was a method of finishing furniture used by wood finishers many years ago. Some oldtimers still use it. You are correct in saying only shellac was involved. But there are many variations of the technique and it depends on who is telling you about it. The most commonly used method calls for a rubbing pad saturated in shellac (some say it should be dipped first in boiled linseed oil) and then rubbing the furniture in a circular motion, as if you were making the figure eight. Do this until the pad begins to get dry, then dip it in the liquid again and continue the rubbing.

Gothic and Renaissance art viewed

NEW YORK (AP) — "Gothic and Renaissance Art in Nuremberg" celebrates the creative flowering of the city of Nuremberg from the 14th through the first half of the 16th century.

The exhibition, on view at the Metropolitan Museum of Art through June 22, features some 270 works of art in a variety of media, including painting, sculpture, tapestries, metalwork and illuminated manuscripts.

Among them are works by Albrecht Durer and by other important but less familiar artists such as Hans Baldung Grien, Viet Stoss, Adam Kraft, and Peter Vischer the Elder and his family.

Following its stay at the Metropolitan, the exhibition will be shown at the Germanisches National Museum, Nuremberg, July 24-Sept. 28.

People with whom you become friends outside your job will play helpful roles in your career in the year ahead. There is a possibility that you will enter a new field of endeavor.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll be extremely observant today, and this can either work to your advantage or against you. Look for virtues in others, not their faults. Try to patch up a romance. The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, PO Box 1843, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Wide swings are possible today in the management of your resources. Either you'll be far too extravagant or a tad too stingy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Try not to be too restrictive of those in your charge today. Your measures may be well-intentioned, but they will not be well received.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Someone about whom you care a great deal did something recently that hurt your feelings. Air it openly, because no ill will was intended.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be prudently mindful of the types of activities you engage in today. There's a chance you might get in over your head, financially.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you are unwilling to share the limelight with a colleague who has recently helped you achieve something of note, hard feelings are going to result.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) People with whom you associate today will have greater faith in you than you have in yourself. Shake off unreasonable doubts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you enter some type of romantic intrigue today, your secret will soon be detected and become an open topic of conversation among friends.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In career situations today, weak associates will turn out to be obvious liabilities. Do what needs doing on your own.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) People with whom you associate today will have a strong influence on your productivity. If you hang out with idlers, you'll be one as well.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Guard against possessive tendencies today if someone you like starts paying more attention to another than to you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try not to overreact today if a family member doesn't show adequate appreciation for something special you did for him or her.

Boy's homecoming cut short

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Rodrigo Rojas Denegri, a 19-year-old with a passion for photography, returned to Chile last month to seek his roots in the troubled land he left a decade ago to grow up in the United States with his mother.

His search ended abruptly last week in one of the most horrifying deaths in Chile's continuing political strife. Today, he will be buried.

According to witnesses, an army patrol seized Rojas and an 18-year-old woman during an anti-government demonstration, doused them with flammable liquid and set them ablaze.

Rojas died Sunday after four days in a crowded clinic ill-equipped for burn treatment. His death prompted international condemnation and a judicial probe of the army that has kept President Augusto Pinochet in power nearly 13 years.

Hundreds of dissident leaders and activists filed past the youth's closed casket Tuesday at the headquarters of Chile's independent Human Rights Commission.

His mother, Veronica Denegri de Rojas, made her own traumatic homecoming to watch her son die.

During the wake, she raised new questions about the case, charging that doctors under government pressure had blocked her son's transfer to Chile's best burn hospital.

"The doctors and the government make their denials, but nobody believes them," she told reporters.

Ms. Denegri, an active supporter of the leftist government toppled by Pinochet in 1973, fled the country after his secret police held her prisoner without charge for 5½ months during which she said she was tortured.

She is now a government social worker in Rockville, Md.

"He was an intelligent, curious boy, always studying and reading," she said. "He had many things going for him, but he lacked a sense of his roots. That's why he came back."

Rojas got a job as a computer assistant for a University of Chile medical professor, took hundreds of photos around Santiago to try to sell in the United States and contemplated settling in Chile for good.

Hector Salazar, Denegri's lawyer, said several witnesses who were ready to testify agreed on this account:

Army soldiers with blackened faces came upon a student demonstration near downtown Santiago and seized Rojas and an engineering major, Carmen Gloria Quintana. They beat the teen-agers with the butts of their automatic rifles.

"It looked like it was the patrol commander who ordered a soldier to go to their truck to get the gasoline can," said Pedro Martinez, a demonstrator who said he hid in a factory nearby. "They soaked the boy and set him on fire. He screamed and rolled around on the ground. Then he passed out and was left smoking."

Quilicura's civilian mayor brought the attack to light at once. The army quickly issued a statement denying any role. Interior Minister Ricardo Garcia called for a special prosecutor and let Ms. Denegri, one of 3,717 Chileans banned from her homeland, return for 30 days.

Rojas remained conscious long enough last Wednesday to speak to a judge from his bed at the clinic. Miss Quintana, who is still alive, has also testified and the transcripts were turned over to Alberto Echavarria, an appeals court judge named special prosecutor.

Arlington burial for U. S. admiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, a Russian immigrant who served his adopted country by ushering in the age of the nuclear Navy, will be buried at Arlington National Cemetery, the Navy says.

Funeral arrangements were still incomplete late Tuesday, but the Navy said Rickover, known widely as the "father of the nuclear Navy," would be interred at the military cemetery in a private ceremony as requested by his family, probably on Thursday or Friday.

Rickover's death on Tuesday at age 86 prompted an outpouring of condolences and plaudits by officials throughout the government, many of whom had tangled repeatedly with the irascible military man before he stepped down as head of the Navy's nuclear propulsion program four years ago.

"It is a most incredible and remarkable record of American accomplishment for an immigrant, born abroad in the Soviet Union, to become this father not only of the nuclear Navy but also the standards of safe nuclear power," said Navy Secretary John F. Lehman, who played a role in President Reagan's decision to force Rickover into retirement in 1982.

Reagan saluted Rickover as a man of peace and said "it was particularly poignant" that his death followed the celebration of the achievements of immigrants that highlighted the Fourth of July weekend.

Rickover, an electrical engineer by training who was renowned for his autocratic, crusty manner and sharp intellect, died quietly Tuesday at his home in suburban Arlington, Va., with his wife by his side, the Pentagon said.

Breast problem merits an exam

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 40-year-old woman and am wondering what could cause the nipple of my left breast to leak.

DEAR READER — Non-lactating women may develop infections in the breasts or hormonal imbalances that may cause breasts to leak. Make an appointment with a gynecologist to discover the cause of the leaking.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What causes sarcoidosis and what can be done about it?

DEAR READER — Sarcoidosis is a chronic disease of unknown cause. It produces painless lumps in many organs, especially the lungs, spleen, skin and lymph glands. If the condition is discovered accidentally, as it often is, no treatment is necessary. If the disease progresses, therapy with cortisone may be considered. The diagnosis is established by microscopic examination of one of the lumps after it has been removed by biopsy. The lesions of sarcoidosis may disappear of their own accord after months or years. The disease is ordinarily not serious, but requires long-term medical followup.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I know a 7-year-old girl who is never still. She does well in her studies, but she can't sit in her chair during school and always likes to "be on stage." Is this normal?

DEAR READER — You raise a question of attention-getting behavior. Many children, particularly bright ones, seem constantly restless. This may be the way they have learned to gain attention in an adult world that pays little attention to them. If such children are gifted, they may be bored with school or the home situation; the only way they can cope is by being hyperactive.

Of course, some children are labeled hyperactive because of another, different condition called attention deficit disorder. These youngsters show nervous-system disorders resulting from genetic causes, chemical factors or birth injury. They are usually of better-than-average intelligence but show blocks in attention span or emotional stability, as well as in vision, language, memory and motor skills.

Although some degree of restlessness is common in most 6-to-10-year-olds, a persistent or disruptive pattern may indicate the need for a complete pediatric evaluation. A skillful pediatrician can usually determine whether the child's behavior lies inside or outside the normal range.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have a detached retina in one eye and degeneration in the other. I heard that linseed oil is good for the eyes. Is this true? Is there anything else I can do?

DEAR READER — You describe two serious ocular conditions that require the attention of an ophthalmologist. Linseed oil, aside from being ineffectual and causing possible eye damage, is of no benefit and might cause eye damage. In addition, it might delay your getting to a specialist who can help you.

Be informed about prescription drugs. Send for Dr. Gott's new Health Report, CONSUMER TIPS ON MEDICINES. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to mention the title.

Say Oilers' Luck, others...

Rozelle should have consulted players first

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Oiler quarterback Oliver Luck is an off-season third year law student who thinks the NFL Players Association would have a good case if it tests Commissioner Pete Rozelle's drug policy in court.

"I agree with what he's trying to do but if the union decides to take him to court I'd like to be their lawyer because I think they have a good legal case," Luck said.

Oiler players generally agreed that strong action is needed in the wake of the highly publicized cocaine-related deaths of Boston Celtics No. 1 draft pick Len Bias and Cleveland Browns defensive back Don Rogers.

Luck and other Oilers were unhappy, however, that Rozelle implemented his plan for mandatory random drug tests without consulting the players association.

"It would be the same thing if he decided to cut salaries for the benefit of the game," Luck argued. "He could say the teams are losing money so he's doing it for the good of the game."

Luck said management and the players' union had already negotiated a drug program and Rozelle could not unilaterally add to it.

"Since they've already got a comprehensive drug program, any changes have to be negotiated by both the union and management," Luck said.

Oiler noseguard Mike Stensrud said the commissioner should have consulted the players.

"Two guys overdose and I think he's putting a Band-Aid on the problem for the public," Stensrud said. "I've always believed there should be no drugs in sports.

"I believe that if you get caught once, it should be 'adios,' but I wouldn't abandon the programs we have to help the players with problems."

Oiler running back Larry Moriarty said there was a need for strong action.

"I'm not involved with drugs so I'll support whatever they decide," Moriarty said. "There is a need to do something.

"They're just trying to catch it at the top, where the incidents are so visible. If these things had happened to an average person, you'd never hear about it.

"Drugs are happening in other areas of society too."

Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said he expected the independent testing to begin Sunday when veterans report to the team's training facility at Thousand Oaks, Calif. "Any program that helps players with a problem has to be good."

Cowboys linebacker Jesse Penn said it doen't matter if some players think Rozelle's policy as an invasion of privacy.

"He's the commissioner and he makes the rules," Penn said. "If you can't abide by the rules, you need a new occupation. I'm sure it's not the way the Players Association wants to handle it, but I think they'll come to terms, hopefully."

Oiler quarterback Warren Moon said accepting Rozelle's move would weaken the union.

"The players do want a program, but we don't want to lose something without getting something in return," Moon said. "I think any change should be agreed on by both sides."

Oilers Coach Jerry Glanville said he had discussed the issue in a team meeting and never made public what he said in team meetings.

Landry praises 2nd-year player

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif., (AP) - Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry directed both praise and pressure on second-year defensive player Kevin Brooks, who admitted he felt a push to become starting left tackle.

"If Kevin Brooks is a football player, he's got to move in to the starting lineup this year, either at tackle or end, although he'll probably play tackle," Landry said Tuesday.

"If a young guy like Brooks becomes a pass rusher, he may do for us what (Jim) Jeffcoat did two years ago. ...," said Landry.

"It kind of helped me, but it definitely put pressure on me," said Brooks. "Now, it's like if Kevin doesn't start, then what happened to Kevin? Landry made the bed, and I have to lie in it, but it helped me work harder during the off-season."

Landry proclaimed the football season officially under way Tuesday following the first fistfight of training camp.

Brooks, a 276-pound defensive lineman, and Crawford Ker, a 293-pound offensive guard, exchanged a few punches during a pass protection drill in afternoon practice at the Cowboys California Lutheran University training camp.

"It's like the first robin of spring," said Landry, who is in his 27th season as the Cowboys head coach. "When you see players start fighting, it means the off-season is over. It's time for football again.

"It's been six months since they've had a chance to hit somebody and they're eager to go. You don't want your players beating each other up, but there's a lot of intensity out there."

The Cowboys are the only NFL team in training camp this week.

The next team to open is St. Louis on Friday.

Soviet vaulter Bubka soars; controversy dims spotlight

MOSCOW (AP) - Sergei Bubka has raised the world pole vault record once again, this time for motherland and year-old son.

The Soviet Union's two-legged flying machine broke his own world mark Tuesday night at the Goodwill Games, soaring 19 feet, 8¾ inches.

Bubka set the old mark of 19-8¼ at Paris last July 13.

It was the fourth - and by far the biggest - world record set at the games, and marked the first time in six world-record leaps that Bubka had gained the mark on Soviet soil.

"I am happy to set the world record in the motherland and before all my compatriots," he said. "They can be very happy with me in my country."

While he shared the triumph with the rest of Soviet citizenry, Bubka devoted the feat to one person - his son, Vitaly, who celebrates his first birthday today.

Bubka also said he is not through setting records.

"I think I can jump higher," he said. "I can do it."

In one of Tuesday's early events, Soviet cyclist Ericka Salumae chopped .005 seconds off her world mark with an 11.489-second clocking in a qualification run for the women's 200-meter sprint.

Bubka had kind words for the Soviet Union, but some U.S. athletes and officials did not.

They complained that Soviet runners were getting advantageous lane and race assignments. American track coach Harry Groves said it was "international bush league."

Track was the big item on the schedule Tuesday, the fourth day of competition in the multi-sport festival. The Soviets won six gold medals, five in track and field, to run its total to 25. The Americans, who won three track golds on Tuesday, have 23. Overall, the Soviet Union has captured 86 medals, 12 more than the United States.

American national champion Pam Marshall took the women's 200 meters, Johnny Gray of the United States won the men's 800, and the U.S. women's 1,600-meter relay team beat the Soviets in a two-team race.

Japan eliminated the U.S. team from the women's volleyball tournament by scores of 15-13, 18-20, 15-11 and 15-11. Less than two years ago, the United States won a silver medal in the Los Angeles Olympics, but only one member of that team - Paula Weishoff - was in Moscow.

And at Lenin Stadium, where the fans cheered Bubka, U.S. athletes and officials hissed some of the decisions made by the people running the meet.

The men's 1,500 final was split into two sections at the last minute and the top American miler, Steve Scott, was placed in the faster section, where strategy and phsyical contact from other world-class runners made his job more difficult.

He finished second in his group and third overall when a relative unknown, Pavel Yakovlev of the Soviet Union, won the supposedly slower second section in a time sufficient for overall victory.

The runnerup, who beat Scott in the other heat, was Igor Lotorev of the Soviet Union.

Scott's time was 3 minutes, 40.31 seconds, compared with Yakovlev's 3:39.36.

Sports in brief

BASEBALL

CHICAGO (AP) - White Sox owners Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn said if the team's flight from Chicago doesn't end in nearby DuPage County within the next six months, the franchise most likely will move out of state.

The White Sox say they must have a "firm arrangement" to begin building in Addison, where the team owns a 140-acre parcel, within the next six months.

FOOTBALL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The National Football League Players Association announced it has filed a grievance to block Commissioner Pete Rozelle's attempt to mandate random drug tests for players.

Union President Gene Upshaw, who accused NFL Commisioner Pete Rozelle of "making a grandstand play" by mandating random drug tests for players, said the union is "very concerned" about drug use among players but has an obligation to protect the rights of the players and uphold the terms of its collective bargaining agreement with the NFL Management Council.

NEW YORK (AP) - The USFL, in its $1.69 billion antitrust suit against the NFL, hammered at the point in federal court that the NFL held a supplemental draft of USFL players in 1984 an effort to help destroy the younger league.

USFL lawyer Harvey Myerson, during cross-examination of Tex Schramm, the president and general manager of the Dallas Cowboys, pointed out that two former USFL players, Todd Fowler and Maurice Carthon, had signed with NFL clubs while still under USFL contracts and that the Cowboys held conversations with Herschel Walker, the New Jersey Generals running back whose USFL contract expires in 1989. Schramm had testified that that the NFL did not sign any players who were under USFL contract.

GOLF

NEW YORK (AP) - Mac O'Grady, embroiled in a running feud with PGA Commissioner Deane Beman, may go to federal court later this week in an attempt to block a six-event, suspension and a $5,000 fine, the golfer's lawyer said.

The penalties were imposed by Beman for "conduct unbecoming a professional golfer" and upheld by an appeals committee.

Watch For The Signs!

We have installed colorful signs like these at every major highway, road, railroad and river crossing. The signs are there to clearly mark the path of our pipelines. When you see one of these signs, please be careful not to use drilling instruments, backhoes or other equipment which might accidentally puncture or damage the pipeline. If you need to work near one of our pipelines, please call our 24-hour phone number (713) 651-1464. We will be happy to send a representative out to locate the pipeline. If you see someone else working near our pipelines, please call us so we can offer the same assistance to them.

In the event of an emergency....
Pipelines do make good neighbors. They have the best safety record in the transportation industry. We need your help, as our neighbors along the system, to keep it that way.

It is most unlikely that we would ever have a leak in the system near you. But if a leak should occur, one or more of the following symptoms could be detected: ● A strange or unusual odor near the pipeline. ● A hissing or roaring sound caused by escaping gas. ● A dense white cloud or fog. ● A slight mist or frozen area above ground along the pipeline route. ● Flames originating from an opening in the ground.

Should any of these symptoms be detected, please take the following precautions: ● Leave the area immediately. ● Avoid driving into a vapor cloud. ● Avoid contact with any escaping gas. ● Do not create any sparks or heat sources which could ignite escaping gas or liquids. (For example, do not start a car, turn on a light or light a match.) ● As soon as you reach a safe area, notify the pipeline operator. (For our pipeline, call collect to (713) 651-1464. Give your name, the location and a description of the leak. ● Call your sheriff, fire department, local or state police. Advise them of the emergency and its location.

By working together, we can keep pipelines operating safely and quietly for our neighbors along the right-of-way. Thank you.

Snyder LL All-Stars pepper S-K in Area 5 Playoff, 21-3

SPORTS

JAYTON – It was one of those nights when it was either all good or all bad. For Snyder, it was all good. For Stonewall-Kent, it was bad.

Snyder put together good hitting, pitching and fielding, then benefitted from nine Stonewall-Kent errors to win their second-round game of the Area 5 Playoffs 21-3 here Tuesday and advance to Thursday's championship game.

Stonewall-Kent faces Rotan in an elimination game at 7:30 this evening. The winner will advance to play Snyder at 7:30 Thursday. In Tuesday's other contest, Rotan sent Hamlin home with a narrow 11-10 loss.

Snyder put across one run in the first inning, five in the second, another in the third, six in the fourth and eight in the fifth as every player on the team got into the ballgame, and 10 managed at least one basehit. Eric West led off with a three-for-five effort. Richard Morris, Raymond House, Kyle Highfield and David Patrick punched two hits apiece while Marcus Best, Steven Bollinger, Anthony Alvarez, Sam Cain and Matthew Byrom knocked one apiece.

In all, Snyder managed 16 hits, including three for extra bases.

While Snyder was clubbing the ball well - and taking advantage of Stonewall-Kent's errors - the All-Stars' defense was sharp. Pitcher David Patrick led the way by striking out 11 batters and giving up just three hits.

Patrick fanned the first four batters he faced, giving Snyder a strong start in the ballgame. He got into trouble in the fifth when Jim Norris walked and Brad English followed with a home run. Albert Castaneda later reached on a fielder's choice and scored on a passed ball for S-K's final run of the night. Patrick got out of the inning by striking out Paul Morales and Manuel Medina.

Jay Tabor led S-K with two singles.

West, Snyder third baseman, scored the first run of the game. He walked off of S-K starting pitcher Bill Johnson, moved around the bags on an error, and scored on John Conger's routine ground out.

Snyder got all the runs it would need to win the game in the third inning. Four quick errors, followed by singles from House and Bollinger, accounted for three runs. Two more came in on another error later in the inning.

Since the Area 5 Playoffs are double-elimination, Snyder could lose Thursday and remain alive in the tournament. If that happens, the All-Stars would play again Friday at 7:30 p.m.

by The Associated Press

After hitting into two double plays and also striking out with the bases loaded, Buddy Bell had only one thought in mind when he came to bat in the ninth with a man on first and his Cincinnati team down by two runs.

"I was just trying not to hit into a double play," he said.

This time, he sent the ball over the left-field fence for a home run to tie the game and set up a 10th-inning rally capped by Tony Perez's RBI single that gave the Reds a 5-4 victory over the New York Mets Tuesday night.

"I've been in this game a long time," said Bell, who connected for his fifth homer following a leadoff single by Dave Concepcion. "I'll tell you one thing, it was nice to hit that home run."

It was the first time after 47 games this season that the National League East-leading Mets had lost with a lead in the ninth inning. It was also the seventh victory in nine games for the rivitalized Reds.

In other NL games, Houston beat Montreal 4-1; Philadelphia swamped Atlanta 8-2; St. Louis beat Los Angeles 1-0; San Diego whipped Pittsburgh 4-2 and Chicago turned back San Francisco 4-1.

Reds 5, Mets 4

Before hitting his game-tying homer off Mets relief ace Jesse Orosco, Bell had stranded seven runners in his first three plate appearances.

Parker led off the tenth with a ground-rule double on the first pitch from Roger McDowell, 7-2, who relieved to start the inning. Parker moved to third on Eric Davis' tapper and Perez followed with a ground ball past the Mets' drawn-in infield into center field.

John Franco, 3-4 pitched two scoreless innings for the victory, the Reds' second straight over the Mets.

Astros 4, Expos 1

Denny Walling hit a two-run homer off ace Montreal reliever Jeff Reardon in the eighth inning to cap a four-run Houston comeback over the Expos. Jay Tibbs, 4-5, took a 1-0 lead into the eighth, allowing just three hits over the first seven innings, but he tired and Reardon failed to protect the lead.

Winner Nolan Ryan, 5-6, pitched seven innings of five-hit ball before Charlie Kerfeld came in for his third save.

Phillies 8, Braves 2

Mike Schmidt broke out of a slump with a two-run homer and rookie Bruce Ruffin pitched an eight-hitter to lead Philadelphia over Atlanta.

Schmidt was 0-for-22 before hitting his 475th career home run in the fourth, tying Stan Musial and Willie Stargell for 15th place on the all-time list.

Rick Mahler, 10-7, was the loser as the Braves dropped their fifth straight game.

Cardinals 1, Dodgers 0

Tim Conroy and Ricky Horton combined on a five-hitter and Mike Lavalliere broke a scoreless tie with a run-scoring single in the top of the seventh inning to lead St. Louis over Los Angeles.

Conroy, 3-3, whom the Cardinals obtained from the Oakland A's in an off-season deal for Joaquin Andujar, yielded three hits and struck out six in six innings. It was his first start for St. Louis since May 25, the day before he went on the disabled list with a sore left shoulder.

Padres 4, Pirates 2

Tony Gwynn hit a three-run homer to cap a four-run rally in the bottom of the eighth inning, leading San Diego over Pittsburgh.

Gwynn, snapping an 0-for-12 streak, connected on a 2-0 pitch off Pirate left-hander Larry McWilliams, who had just entered the game in relief of Rick Reuschel, 4-10.

San Diego starter LaMarr Hoyt, 4-4, worked eight innings, allowing both Pirate runs and giving up eight hits. Craig Lefferts notched his second save by setting down the Pirates in the ninth.

Cubs 4, Giants 1

Shawon Dunston homered and drove in two runs in support of Dennis Eckersley's six-hit pitching as Chicago defeated San Francisco.

Eckersley, 3-5, walked none and struck out six while posting the 100th complete game of his career and first of the season.

As Texas decks Yankees...

Mason pitches the distance

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - To Ranger manager Bobby Valentine's way of thinking, the mark of a champion is his ability to get off the deck and inflict damage on the opponent.

"The Rangers have done that all year," Valentine said Tuesday night after the Rangers beat the New York Yankees 6-1 behind left-hander Mike Mason's complete-game 5-hitter.

The victory came on the heels of Monday night's 14-3 trouncing at the hands of the Yankees.

"I looked at last night's loss as just another mark in the 'L' column," said Valentine, "and I think the team felt the same way.

"So many times this season, we've taken a pretty good beating and come back the very next game with a big victory."

Mason, 6-2, had his task made easier when the Rangers jumped on Yankee rookie left-hander Alfonso Pulido, 1-1, for three runs in the first and two more in the second.

First baseman Pete O'Brien hit a 2-run homer, his 11th, in the first, and Oddibe McDowell added a 2-run shot in the second, his 13th of the year.

Both are left-handed hitters.

"Pulido has a lot of trouble with left-handed hitters," said New York manager Lou Piniella, who could safely say the same thing about the whole Yankee team.

The Yankees are 10-19 against southpaws this season and 36-19 against right-handers.

"Well, we haven't beaten a left-handed pitcher for quite a while now," added Piniella, whose Yanks dropped to eight games behind Boston in the American League East race. "I'm not sure what I can do. I've tried about every combination possible."

Mason, beating the Yankees for the second time this season, retired the first nine batters he faced before Rickey Henderson's triple and a throwing error gave New York its only run in the fourth.

"Mike Mason was great," said Valentine. "That was almost a perfect performance. First and third and none out in the seventh and he got out of it. That's pretty good pitching."

After working out of mild jams in the middle innings, Mason retired the last nine batters in the game to record his second complete game in 14 outings.

"I was a little keyed up for tonight's game after what happened last night," said Mason. "Any time you lose a game like that, you get motivated to come out and try to do the same thing to them the next day."

A crowd of 23,652 pushed the Rangers' home attendance over the million mark after 44 dates, the earliest the team has topped that mark in its 15 years in Texas.

California posts win over Milwaukee, 14-3

by The Associated Press

John Candelaria arrived in California last Aug. 2 and almost pitched the Angels to the American League West Division title. This time, he has come to the rescue almost a month earlier.

The veteran left-hander was acquired in a six-player trade with Pittsburgh last summer and went 7-3 as the Angels finished one game behind Kansas City. But after a two-inning, four-run stint against Seattle on April 9, he was sidelined with a sore elbow which required surgery and a rehabilitation trip to the minors.

The Candy Man came back Tuesday night and pitched five scoreless innings in California's 14-3 rout of the Milwaukee Brewers, which included George Hendrick's grand slam and home runs by Rick Burleson, Bobby Grich and Wally Joyner.

Catcher Bob Boone said Candelaria looked about the same as he did when he came to the Angels last summer.

"John made some good pitches whenhe had to. He had a good, solid, quality outing. I expected that from him," Boone said.

By winning, the Angels remained one-half game ahead of Texas, which defeated New York 6-1. In other AL games, it was Boston 8, Oakland 7; Baltimore 8, Kansas City 4 in 13 innings; Chicago 6, Cleveland 2; Seattle 8, Toronto 5; Detroit 5, Minnesota 1.

Leading 1-0, the Angels erupted for six runs in the fifth inning against Milwaukee rookie Juan Nieves, who had gone 36 innings without giving up a homer.

Red Sox 8, A's 7

Bill Buckner capped a five-run sixth-inning rally with a three-run double and Rich Gedman and Rey Quinones also had RBI doubles in the inning as Boston beat Oakland and moved eight games ahead of New York in the AL East. Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, 11-6, allowed four runs, two unearned, in six innings before needing help from Bob Stanley and Steve Crawford.

Orioles 8, Royals 4

Two Baltimore runners scored on Kansas City shortstop Greg Pryor's 13th-inning throwing error and Juan Bonilla added a two-run single as the Orioles dealt the floundering world champion Royals their 11th consecutive defeat.

Mariners 8, Blue Jays 5

Seattle's John Moses and Jim Presley had two-run singles in a six-run second inning.

Mississippi site said best for nat'l nuclear depository

SEATTLE (AP) — The U.S. Department of Energy rejected a salt dome in Mississippi as a site candidate for the nation's first permanent repository for high-level nuclear waste even though its own rankings showed that area to be the most suitable place.

The Mississippi site is near Richton, about 100 miles southeast of Jackson, Miss., and 65 miles northwest of Mobile, Ala.

The Seattle Times reported in a copyright story in Tuesday's editions that the Richton site was the best site based on the DOE's analysis and the newspaper's own ranking with 31 criteria.

On May 28 the DOE announced three finalists under consideration for the repository, including the Hanford nuclear reservation in Eastern Washington, which was one of the two least desirable sites in the government's studies, the newspaper said. The other site was in southern Utah.

The others were Yucca Mountain, Nev., and Deaf Smith County, Texas. Eliminated were sites in Mississippi and Utah. The DOE also eliminated plans for a second repository.

A resolution that calls on the Reagan administration to resume the search for a second site or start the search for the first site again from the beginning was passed unanimously Tuesday by Western governors meeting this week in Colorado, said Tim Zenk, a spokesman for Washington Gov. Booth Gardner.

The Seattle Times report showed scientific rankings could not have been the prime consideration in narrowing the list of sites for the first repository to the three chosen. The DOE acknowledges that.

DOE spokesman Roger Gale said the rankings were only a guideline and were "never meant to be the final determiner."

The rankings placed too much emphasis on cost and on the sites that were closest to the nation's nuclear reactors, which are located mainly in the East and South, Gale said.

Critics of the DOE, including Gerald Pollet of the Washington Public Interest Research Group, say the government put too much emphasis on sites that are easy to acquire.

The Texas site is farmland, and Hanford is already owned by the DOE. The government would have to move the town of Richton, population 1,205, to put the dump in Mississippi.

Gale said the department wanted to study three sites made up of three kinds of rock: basalt, volcanic tuff and salt. The sites in Mississippi, Texas and Utah are all salt sites. Hanford is a basalt site, and Nevada is volcanic tuff.

Although the Texas salt site rated as less desirable than Mississippi, it was chosen because it rated average more often than Mississippi. Mississippi had more No. 1 rankings than Texas, but it also ranked lower in some cases and had fewer average rankings, he said.

In the category of possible damage to the environment, Mississippi ranked fourth, and Hanford, which is already considered damaged land, ranked first. Mississippi also ranked after Hanford and Texas in acquirability.

Mississippi ranked high because the salt there is very dry, it would be easy to mine, it would cost less, it would be the safest, and it is nearest to most waste producers and not near hazardous industries, the Times said.

Texas got high marks for cost and for its protection from surface flooding.

In its study, the newspaper assigned five points for first place to one point for fifth and gave fractional points for ties.

The totals were: Mississippi, 104 points; Nevada, 99.75; Texas, 86; Hanford, 73; and Utah, 70.75.

2 bike thefts investigated

Police are investigating two bicycle thefts reported Tuesday.

Nora Salazar of 2806 Ave. J filed the first report at 10:46 a.m.

She told officers that her son's 20-inch BMX bike had been taken from outside the residence sometime between 6:30 p.m. Monday and 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Dorothy Bly of 202 Birch reported the second theft at 9:07 p.m.

A 20-inch BMX bike was taken from her residence sometime prior to 9 p.m. Tuesday.

In other action, city officers logged three misdemeanor arrests including one man charged with driving while intoxicated and driving with a suspended license.

One suspect was arrested for having no driver's license or insurance and another on warrants issued for unpaid Department of Public Safety traffic citations.

Minor fire noted at country club

Units of the Snyder Fire Department doused a minor outside fire at the Snyder Country Club at 7:44 a.m. Wednesday.

According to reports, a newly installed outside light on the west side of the club pool house apparently overheated and ignited.

Damage from the incident was minor.

Snyderites earn degrees

More than 1,700 students at Texas Tech University received degrees in commencement exercises at the conclusion of the 1986 spring semester.

Degree recipients with the degrees they earned included the following from the Snyder area:

Johnny Molina, Route 2, Hermleigh, bachelor of business administration in accounting.

Mona Darlene Robbins, 2304 42nd St., master of education.

Stephen G. Gressett, 2705 28th, bachelor of science in petroleum engineering, cum laude.

Degrees awarded included 1,097 bachelor's degrees, 80 master's degrees, seven doctorates, 70 law degrees and four degrees in dentistry.

Diane Sentell, 2708 28th St. was among those to receive degrees. She received a bachelor of arts degree.

Protest offered to library cuts

many children face "homes without books."

She also pointed out that library skills are included in achievement tests administered to all Texas school students.

As an alternative to cutting the three positions — viewed by the board as a budget reducing measure in the face of a 40 percent loss in the school district tax base — Mills suggested a 1 percent cut in other school budget items.

To poll the opinion of all school district taxpayers, she also mentioned a referendum election to decide the issue.

"In response to this, you're probably thinking that an election would cost as much as keeping the three librarians. In response to this, my suggestion would be to keep the librarians."

Board President Mike Jordan asked the group to now direct their questions to Assistant Superintendent Dr. Tom Scannicchio and, if questions remain, Superintendent Bob Hawes.

If questions remain regarding the decision, they were asked to request time on the agenda at the next board meeting. Hawes said Wednesday the board is next scheduled to meet in early August.

Parked pickup struck Tuesday

A parked pickup was said struck in a single minor traffic accident reported in Snyder Tuesday.

Involved in the 4:05 p.m. mishap in the 2200 Block of Ave. Z was a 1975 Mercury driven by Ruby Price of 1910 Coleman Ave. which struck a parked 1978 GMC pickup owned by Angel Guadarrama of Rt. 1, Snyder.

No injuries resulted from that incident.

City officers also took an accident report Tuesday morning for a mishap which occurred Monday afternoon.

At 4:30 p.m. Monday, a 1957 Ford truck driven by Robert Thurman Allen of E 311 East Highway struck several overhead wires in the 3200 Block of Ave. A.

Listed as damaged in the incident were a Texas Electric transformer, a SCAT cable line, and the electrical service drops to two residences.

ISD principals change campus reassigned.

Jim Erwin at North will go to East Elementary; Gerri Parker at Northeast will go to West Elementary; Bob Travis at East will go to Stanfield Elementary; and Wayne Kennedy at Stanfield will go to Northeast Elementary.

Earlier this summer, Charles Anderson, former principal at Central, was switched to the junior high principalship. The only principal in the district unchanged is Ray Courtney at the high school.

The action came during the regular July meeting for the school board. It was preceded by a one hour executive session during which trustees discussed with their attorneys the pending lawsuit against the district involving single member districts.

No action followed that executive session.

Board members attending Tuesday were Charlene Light, Allen Grimmett, G.A. Parks Jr., Mike Reed and Mike Jordan, who presided. Absent was J.D. Hinton.

In other school-related business, the board voted to:

—Authorize the Texas Association of School Boards to complete a salary study for auxiliary school staffers here to include clerical, secretarial, maintenance and custodial personnel. This will be similar to the salary study of local teachers and administrators conducted by TASB which compared local salaries to districts of similar size and tax base.

—Accept the resignation of two teachers, Alice Gray, a second grade teacher at West; and Randy Ray, a science teacher-coach at junior high.
