Pecos Flow Is Heaviest Since Flood of 1941

Pecos River levels at Artesia this week reached the highest point since the floods of 1941. Official U. S. geological survey figures showed the river reached a peak of 12.2 feet and held the peak for 12 hours.

High river levels came in the wake of a disastrous flood at Roswell which did an estimated $1 million in damage and left 750 homeless.

Pecos river levels at Artesia rose from 3.86 feet at 9 p. m. Tuesday to 9.9 feet at 1 a. m. Wednesday, a four-hour span, Emil P. Bach, recorder for the USGS, said the increase was due to Roswell flood waters. Further rise of the river to its 12.2 feet peak was due to flooding of Sal-creek north of Roswell, Bach said.

The river's flood did little or no damage, Bach told the Artesia Advocate.

Bach, who also warns the Carlsbad irrigation district of heavy swells of water in the Pecos, said he was informed by the Carlsbad district it would seek to impound 10,000 acre feet of water in Lake Avalon and Lake McMillan.

At its peak flow, the river was passing 5000 second-feet of water, the equivalent of 4 billion gallons in 24 hours.

The river began its swell at 9 p. m. Tuesday night, Bach said, when the gauge recorded 3.86 feet. By 1 a. m. gauges were at 9.9 feet. Water took 21 hours to travel from the Roswell flood area down the Pecos to the Artesia measuring station.

The river reached its peak at 7 p. m. Wednesday at 12.2 feet, then held the peak for 12 hours until 7 a. m. Thursday.

State Patrolman Arnold J. Smith said the river began a slow decline Thursday morning, dropping a half foot in the morning.

The water spread out on the Pecos in the Artesia area to 1 1/2 miles at its widest point as the river went out of its banks, Bach said.

Water spread out among salt cedars in the river area near Artesia, but did little damage, Bach said.

It was the highest river record since the heavy rains of 1941, when the river reached a peak of 13.8 feet and held that level for 24 hours in September 1941.

The river bridge east of Artesia, built since the 1941 floods, showed no damage.

Bach said the river flow as the first flood waters began coming in was solid for hours with debris carried away from the Roswell area by flood waters.

While Carlsbad irrigation officials were anxious to impound flood waters for later irrigation, Bach was unofficially told, the storage capacity of Lake McMillan could not be used to its full extent.

Construction is now underway in the reservoir behind the dam to repair sections of the dam which have leaked.

In January this year .03 inches of rain were recorded Jan. 20. There was no rain in February and March. It rained five separate days in April for .83 inches, and three days so far in May for .67 inches.

Phone Crews, Local Family Busied By Flood

Floods at Roswell and tornadoes at Lovington affected some Artesia people directly this week.

Phone crews were rushed from Artesia to replace 22 poles west of Lovington and between Dexter and Roswell, Mgr. Wayne Dougherty said.

Artesia National Guardsmen were alerted for relief work in Roswell, but were not called.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Bloodworth of Roswell called their son, Bill Bloodworth of Artesia, for assistance. The home was knee-deep in water, the furniture ruined.

Artesia people donated an overflow supply of clothing and bedding when a call was issued for assistance.

Day-Old Calf Forges Flooded Pecos Draw

Flood waters hitting the Pecos river area near Artesia posed a problem for Emil Bach's cattle, who wanted to pass from one side of a flooded inlet to the other.

It was especially difficult for the mother of a day-old calf. Doing whatever cows do to get up courage, the cow nudged the day-old calf into the inlet and mother and daughter swam the 100 feet or so of four-foot water.

After spending the night on the other side, the feat was repeated Thursday morning.

What makes cancer MAN'S CRUELEST ENEMY?

SOME diseases kill us mercilessly. NOT CANCER. Yet, if nothing is done, 23 million living Americans are destined to die of cancer... 230,000 of them this year.

SOME diseases reveal their beginnings by pain or fever or shock. Not cancer. It starts silently, secretly, and too often spreads rapidly.

AND SOME diseases spare us our young people. Not cancer! It strikes men, women, children, old and young. If nothing is done, one American in five will be stricken with cancer.

SOMETHING CAN BE DONE. You can strike back with a generous gift to the American Cancer Society. Your money is urgently needed—for research, for education, for clinics and facilities. Please make it a really BIG gift!

NuMexers Return Tonight Against Broncs, In Battle for Second Place

Artesia's fighting NuMexers, battling it out with Midland for second place and seeking to cut Roswell's first place lead, return tonight at 7:30 in NuMexer Park, Artesia.

The two clubs met in Artesia for the first in a two-game series last night.

Following tonight's game, the club plays at Midland Saturday and Sunday, then return home to face Sweetwater Monday and Tuesday nights.

Two NuMexer games were rained out this week, including the second game in a doubleheader slated with Odessa Monday night, and a game at Big Spring Tuesday night.

Wednesday, the NuMexers downed Big Spring 8-4 behind the eight hit pitching of Rookie Scott Robinson, who went all the way for Artesia.

Wire reports said three timely double plays aided in the Artesia conquest of Big Spring.

Artesia scored three in the second and fifth, one apiece in the fourth and seventh.

NuMexers hit two Bronc hurlers for 12 hits. Big Spring piled up six errors in the game, Artesia one.

Monday's game against Odessa found Artesia unable to break into a winning batting display, although the NuMexers attempted rallies at several points.

Odessa piled up five runs in the third inning, setting a 6-0 lead by end of the third inning.

Artesia managed a run in the fifth and three in the seventh, but was unable to break Odessa's head start.

Mr. Jimmy Adair used three Artesia pitchers in an attempt to break the Odessa spell. Gill Johnson took the loss for the NuMexers.

Line scores:
Monday Night
Odessa 105 000 1-7 8 2
Artesia 000 010 3-4 9 4

Southwestern Public Service Sets Safety Mark

One-million consecutive man-hours worked without a lost-time accident is the safety record achieved this week by the 1850 employees of Southwestern Public Service Co. It is the longest continuous accident-free accomplishment in the company's history.

"This safety accomplishment, and we regard it as only our first goal, is of vital importance to our customers. It is safety which makes it possible for us to offer dependable, economical service to our customers. Accidents are expensive in time and money, and we are best serving our customers when we reduce them to the minimum. Our employees have continued to work for this goal in the face of several setbacks, and now that they have reached their mark, you can be sure they will continue their efforts to add another million," A. R. Watson, executive vice president and general manager, said.

The accident-free period started Jan. 30 this year, and remains uninterrupted at the moment, with as Watson points out, 2 million man-hours the next goal of the electric light and power company employees.

The 1 million man-hour goal was first set in 1953. Last year the employees worked one 910,000 man-hour period without an accident. Time ran out on them before it was again possible to amass a million before the year's end. The goal was re-established for 1954, and after a temporary setback Jan. 29, the string of consecutive accident-free days, it takes nearly 3½ months for the 1850 employees to work a million hours, reached the mark this week.

To more dramatically portray the magnitude of this accomplishment it can be pointed out that it would take one man working 2000 hours a year—that's 50 forty hour weeks, 500 years without an accident to work one million accident-free hours.

Southwestern Public Service Co. safety record is one of the most outstanding in the electric light and power industry. Last year, the industry averaged 11.50 lost-time accidents for every million man-hours. The 1954 figure for the company is now down to 1.56 lost-time accidents for every million man-hours.

WHEN will we find a real CURE for CANCER?

ONE BY ONE, most of man's natural enemies have become only bitter memories.

HOW ABOUT CANCER—? THE TRUTH is that this terrible disease can already be completely cured in about half of the cases . . . if caught in time.

THE OTHER HALF can be helped. They cannot yet—be saved.

RESEARCH aimed at a final, complete solution to the cancer problem is proceeding as fast as available funds permit. Last year, with the help of $5 million allocated by the American Cancer Society from donations made by Americans everywhere, encouraging progress was made.

BUT "ENCOURAGING PROGRESS" is not enough. More money is needed. After all, $5 million is less than four cents per American per year. When your American Cancer Society Volunteer calls on you, this year, won't you please try to manage a really generous contribution? A big check, if you please . . . it's really needed!

Style Show Tops Cottonwood School Social

In a hilarious hat show, held at Cottonwood school gymnasium Tuesday evening, seven Cottonwood men paraded as women.

The event was put on as the aftermath of a box supper. Proceeds of the supper, an annual affair are used to send Cottonwood 4-Hers to 4-H summer camp.

The seven gentlemen-ladies of fashion were introduced and described by Mrs. Jess Funk. Doe McNeil wore a percolator top and a long blue dress; LeRoy Jacobs, band director, stole the show with his ballarina costume and egg crate hat creation. Mr. King was dressed for the evening in a blue bathrobe, topped by onion sack hat, a plastic bag containing three onions. James Thigpen was dressed in a sun dress with a fly sprayer that guaranteed to please the little squirts.

Kermit Southard wore a block of wood to top his two-tone dress. V. E. Hodges, principal of the school, wore a lamp shade to light up his red skirt and white blouse. W. E. Brown finished the show in style with an alarm clock hat topping his formal alluring dress of red and black.

Comical hats were also made by ladies and children upon arrival. The articles were used consisted of paper plates, cups and crepe paper.

Square dancing was enjoyed by the 4-Hers at intermission.

Marvel Millam to Direct Girl Scout Camp Mary White

Through the efforts of Mrs. Norton, the state highway department did a very fine job of re-grading the road from Bear Canyon store to the camp. The committee hopes this will improve conditions somewhat but as an extra safeguard, it has been decided to secure a team and wagon to bring the girls in from the store if the road is impassable.

Staff hired to date by the camp committee for the coming summer include:

Carol McKee, unit assistant, El Paso; Thomas Beene, handyman, Anson, Texas; Patsy Coady, program specialist, El Paso; Mrs. Andy Dixon, cook, Hamlin, Texas; Jane Ann Snell, unit assistant,

Walker's 33rd Fighter Wing Had F-51's, F-84's While Here in '47, '48

Time was (and not too long ago) when the swoosh of fighters in the skies above Walker was as common as a B-29 landing.

Now the "youngsters" may not remember it, but the people of Roswell—and the old timers at Walker, too—looked with awe and wonder at the wave of Thunderbolts zoomed low and prepared to land at their new home—Walker Air Force Base.

The 33rd Fighter Wing was real happy about their new acquisitions. They had been flying F-51's for a long time. The jet jockeys (and maintenance crews and 33rd ground-pounders) lost no time in "hangar-flying" the new jets all around the bomber boys. In the Officers' club, the NCO club, the Service club and Roswell's refreshment emporiums the yak-yak raged.

It was a grim day for the 33rd October 13, 1948—as they prepared to move out. Falmouth, Mass. (Otis Air Force Base) was to become the new home of the 33rd Fighter Wing. The new pastures might have been greener but they would have no one with whom to argue the merits—or demerits—of their aircraft. Tongue in cheek, the 33rd waved you fellows want to hear some farewell.

Maybe it wasn't that bad, but, if tall, tall tales catch up with some of the boys who were here in '47 and '48. Then relax and listen, but—just listen. Maybe you'll be lucky enough to find some one who was here the day the 33rd was activated at Walker—September 23, 1947.

In observing the tenth anniversary of Walker Air Force Base, we salute the 33rd Fighter Wing. Col. G. Atkinson commanding.

Pre-'52 Veterans Get Last Chance At GI Bill

Summer school, starting within the next few weeks, will provide the last chance for thousands of post-Korean veterans to start training under the Korean GI Bill. Veterans Administration said today.

The veterans who must act in a hurry, if they want GI schooling, are those who were discharged or separated from service before Aug.

20, 1952, and who have not yet taken advantage of the GI training benefit.

Under the law, they must enroll in, and actually begin, an approved program of training before this coming Aug. 20 in order to continue afterwards. For veterans who fail to act in time, the chance to train will be gone for good.

The problem facing school-going veterans is that few summer schools will be in session on the Aug. 20 deadline date, VA explained.

For that reason, these veterans will find that summer classes, getting under way shortly, will be the last classes in which they can start training before the cut-off date.

For veterans planning GI on-the-job training, the need for action is just as important, if not so immediate. Job training programs also must be started by Aug. 20, but arrangements for beginning training are not tied down to the beginning of a term, as in the case with schools.

The Aug. 20 deadline for starting applies only to post-Korean veterans who left the service on or before Aug. 20, 1952. VA emphasized. All veterans separated after that date will have two years from the time of their release to begin.

To be eligible for training under the Korean GI Bill, a veteran must meet all three of these require-

Radio Programs To Be Launched

Senior high school audio-visual department has completed a project of producing a series of radio programs which will be presented during June, July and August.

Entitled "Report from Your Schools," the programs are a part of a continuous plan of public relations for the school system.

A summarization of topics, such as student council, driver education, educational leaders in the community, building needs, elementary school activities, and high school athletics will be presented.

Tentative plans call for radio station KSVP to broadcast two programs a week starting the second week in June. Daily broadcast time will be announced at the end of May, according to Robert Kite, directors of A-V education.

The programs were produced under the supervision of Kite with the cooperation of Dave Barton, manager radio station KSVP.

HAGERMAN NEWS

Mrs. Byron Oglesby, Editor

THE STORY OF HAGERMAN—

Large Influx of People Into Pecos Valley After First World War Causes New School

By G. V. FAIR

Part 7
The close of the First World War and the large influx of people into the Pecos Valley, the town of Hagerman was forced to enlarge their school. A $45,000 bond issue was voted Dec. 20, 1920. The present building occupied by the high school was completed in 1921.

With the aid of the federal government, the new highway connecting Hagerman with Dexter and Roswell was completed. This has been talked of for some time by local merchants but no definite action was taken until a few days ago when every business house in the city signed a petition circulated by local ministers.

The Hagerman Messenger continued its campaign for an electric lighting system which would assure the town of lights 24 hours each day instead of usual 5 hours of service which a local plant was furnishing. The interest manifested by the editor must have been shared with a few other progressive citizens, because the town board granted a franchise to the public utility company when their representative was through Hagerman in 1925.

THOUGH THE untiring efforts of Supt. E. A. White, Hagerman high school was admitted to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in time for the 1924-25 term to be completed under its supervision. The board of trustees sponsored the election of a $13,000 bond issue in 1925 for the purpose of constructing a gymnasium and additional classrooms for the school. The vote was 164 for and 88 against. The efforts had been to no avail, because there was no covered an error in the procedure used in selling the bonds; therefore, the construction of the building was delayed for another year.

All things were not dark in Hagerman, though, for the trustees ordered the paving of 10 blocks in the main part of town. Hagerman had its first chamber of commerce organized in 1925, and it sponsored the Fourth of July celebration, which must have been a success. For the Messenger stated that 500 cars were seen at the rodeo. The Women's club presented the school with a flag and a flagpole on Armistice Day.

The men were not to be outdone, so the second cotton gin for Hagerman was constructed by the Farmer's Co-op, reported in The Messenger Nov. 11, 1925.

WITH THE exception of the firing of the water superintendent during 1925, all had gone well with the board of trustees, and they were all returned to office in the spring of 1926. The trustees contracted with the public service company to install new street lights for the town. The lights were to burn from 30 minutes before sundown until 30 minutes before sunrise.

DR. BROWN, the mayor, was ill most of the late summer and fall of 1927. The board of trustees, in his absence, declared that the week of Oct. 17 to Oct. 22 was clean-up week, and every resident was urged to clean up their property. The board of trustees, in his absence, declared that the week of Oct. 17 to Oct. 22 was clean-up week, and every resident

Miss Ruth Evans' Engagement to V. Brown Told

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey V. Evans were hosts to an afternoon tea on Sunday to announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ruth, to Louis Vedder Brown, son of Mrs. J. Vedder Brown of Hagerman and the late Mr. Brown.

Receiving the guests at the door was Mrs. Evans, who wore a blue nylon dress with rhinestone trim, assisted by her daughter, Ruth, and Vedder Brown. Miss Evans wore a pink polished cotton crinoline frock, fashioned with a very full skirt. Her corsage was of white roses.

Miss Priscilla Brown presided at the guest book from 2:30 until 3:30, and Jean Elaine Evans presided during the second hour.

The long serving table was covered with an exquisite lace cloth, and centered with an arrangement of white and yellow daisies and greenery, on which lay a wide white satin ribbon with the inscription, "Ruth and Vedder—June 15, 1954." Other bouquets of seasonal flowers were used in decoration throughout the rooms of the house.

Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl placed at one end of the table. Individual cakes, iced in white and topped with small yellow rosebuds and green leaves, were served with assorted mints and nuts. Miniature announcement scrolls tied with narrow white satin ribbon were placed on each plate. Coffee was also served.

Those who assisted with the serving and pouring were Mrs. J. Vedder Brown and Mrs. O. E. Stuart, the first hour, and Miss Shirley Newsom and Miss Beth Ballard, the second hour. All members of the house party wore corsages appropriate to their frocks.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. J. C. Wyman, Jr., of Loving, N. M.; Mrs. O. E. Stuart of Lubbock, Texas; and Miss Lois Evans of Texas Tech at Lubbock, all of whom are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Evans.

A large number of guests called during the afternoon. Americans now drink nearly a pound of tea a year but this is far below the British who average 15 pounds a year.

NEW HOPE in the battle against CANCER

THE FIGHT against man's cruellest enemy is far from won. If present rates continue, 23 million living Americans will die of cancer—230,000 this year. And thousands of these will die needlessly—through cancer that could have been cured if treated in time.

ALL THE SAME, there have been victories. Thousands who once would have died are being saved—thanks, in part, to your donations to the American Cancer Society.

AND, LAST YEAR, the Society was able to allocate $5,000,000 at your donations to research aimed at finding the ultimate cure for all cancer. That's more money than ever before.

MUCH MORE, of course, remains to be done. So please make this year's gift a really generous one!

Manis Urged Take Part in Activities

World war is going on now, under present conditions we speak up to the declared W. M. A. speaker at the Kiwanis night at the club on May 13.

ning the concession stands at the baseball games beginning Friday night, May 14. "Nearly all of us say we want nothing to do with politics—politics is government," said Siegenthaler, who cited recent city and primary elections where 24 per cent of the voters actually voted. This pointed out the disinterest of the people in our state, he said.

"How can we condemn any office holder when we are not interested in our government? Our government nationally is off on a tangent, since they are highlighting the McCarthy-Army squabble. This is certainly not complimentary," he declared. "Every civic club, everyone, including the ladies, must get mixed up in politics if we are going to straighten things out," he declared. "National political figures have very little prestige today, because of 'we, the people'—are we going to wake up too late?" Guests of the club were Mr. and Mrs. Siegenthaler, Mr. and

Mrs. Bill Sanders, Misses Ruth Bigler and Kay Erskine.

"Circus Daze," will feature the finest talent and will have clowns, animal trainers, a ring master and all characters that make up a circus from the barbers to the wild man from Borneo. The entire production will be under the direction of Barney Elmore, well known Hollywood director. The production has four changes of scenery and over 200 costumes sent from Geller Studio in Hollywood. The queen contest, another feature of the water carnival, is underway. Candidates will be vying for the honor of reigning as "Water Carnival Queen," and the lucky young lady who wins this honor will get a trip to Hollywood. She will appear on the "Queen for a Day" radio program and will visit Paramount and Fox studios, where she will have the opportunity of seeing many famous movie stars. For the queen planning to enter college, she may take the equivalent in cash. Second and third prizes will be awarded. Faulty Marking of Ballots Cost Votes

MANY EDDY county voters who used ballots rather than voting machines in the recent primary election were deprived of their vote through faulty marking of their ballots.

The illegal markings, in fact, cost Ira Garner the county commission election when it came to a recount in certain boxes.

It was agreed before start of the recount that only legally marked ballots would be counted. Those illegally marked would be thrown out.

As it developed, enough ballots to elect Garner were improperly marked, and were thrown out.

According to attorney-general's ruling, the only proper marking of ballots under New Mexico law is a cross. Many voters in the primary voted for their candidate by using a check mark or other improper marks.

Because of spreading use of voting machines, especially in Eddy county, the proper marking of ballots was probably not adequately stressed by those in a position to do so.

Voters in smaller divisions where voting machines are not used should remember that only a cross in the circle or box is an acceptable mark. Any other mark disenfranchises the voter.

Hot Rodders Club

REPORTS THAT the younger generation in the motoring public is moving fast to set up a hot rodders club in Artesia come as welcome news to us.

Through channeling youthful enthusiasm in automobiles and the things that can be done with cars into constructive channels, the zest for seeing what a car can do may be expressed in ways more acceptable than unorganized practices.

The general public's list of charges against unorganized hot rodders is a lengthy one, arising out of the preoccupation of youth with its own pleasures and to heck with what anyone thinks.

As the hot rodders move to organize that their activities may be along more acceptable and less disruptive lines, several developments are being considered.

Initial plans call for building a shop equipped with necessary tools in which cars can be worked on. Until the club is well enough financed to buy its own tools, members of the club who own needed tools are to loan them.

Mechanics, bodymen, and others skilled in automotive matters will meet with the club to discuss everything from increasing motor power to restyling body lines according to the latest fad.

Another important aspect will be development of a drag race course, in which the abilities of a car owner and his car will be demonstrated through supervised races.

The club's organizers are also studying the role the club may play in developing good motoring on the highways and streets.

Possibilities are tremendous, and we want to lend our moral support to such a movement.

We sincerely hope there are enough adults understanding of the background for such an organization and the ability to meet the interest of these fellows at their own high level to encourage them.

No Pocket Safe

K NIFE AND FORK club members got the word some nights ago from a professional pickpocket that no pocket is safe from one bent on looting valuables.

The skilled pickpocket can lift anything from any pocket. Knife and Forkers were told. Furthermore, looting a woman's pocket carried on her arm at the elbow is a cinch.

We haven't had too much trouble here with pickpockets, but on special occasions where large groups gather, or in larger cities, the possibility is always present.

It's a good idea to avoid carrying large sums of money in cash on one's persons, and to be highly careful in the way we handle pocketbooks. We've also been warned that flashing large amounts of money at any time is like any other advertising—it pays, for the pickpocket.

Ministers to Leave

ARTESIA WILL lose four valued members of the community over the next month as pastors of local churches accept or are appointed to other positions.

They are Rev. R. L. Willingham, pastor of First Methodist church; Rev. William McMahon, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene; Rev. R. L. O'Dell, pastor of First Presbyterian church; and Rev. V. E. Boyd, Pecos Valley Baptist missionary.

The contributions of such pastors are manifold to the community. Each in his own way has contributed heavily to the development of Christian living in this day of growing spiritualism.

We wish them individually continued professional growth to be still more effective in their chosen fields.

Program Planning

ONE RESULT of the recent Program Planning Institute sponsored by Artesia Public Library was lifted eyebrows among certain civic clubs over the suggestion they may be playing a role in adult education.

From the viewpoint of the library and its program planning, however, organized groups of adults, whether for gardening or for eating and doing civic good, offer tremendous possibilities in adult education.

The program of a club, whether it be a sorority, church group, or men's civic organization, gives that group the potential of either boring its members stiff or creating enthusiasm for the club and its work.

Too often we have heard club leaders exhorting the membership that "either we make a go of this or this club will fold and be the laughing stock of the community."

When a club has to operate on that level, things are mighty rough, indeed. Something is wrong if its members' interest must be so attracted.

There is no excuse for a club program which allows membership interest to fall to a level where it must be so drastically demanded.

Maintaining a high level of programs through sound planning as recommended by the library Program Planning Institute constantly re-creates member interest in the organization as a valuable pursuit which indeed contributes something to him personally in return for the time and money he expends.

The soundness of that argument is seen in the deep success of Toastmasters club, which probably has among the best programs.

Every member of the organization has a keen enthusiasm for the group.

Other clubs would do well to counsel with the library in bucking up its programs, which are the heart of a club's existence.

NEW MEXICO EDITORS ARE SAYING—

Stockton Fought Victory Over Administration To Win Primary, Aided By Young GOP Clique

PRIMARY ELECTION

The upset of the state-wide primaries was the victory of former Speaker of the House, Alvin Stockton, over Holm O. Bursum, for the Republican nomination for Governor.

The Colfax county rancher was pitted against the Republican state administration and organization picked candidate and his victory was due chiefly to the younger element in the party, and the Republican legislators in the House, most of whom were working actively for their fellow member.

The Democratic primary lacked the lustre of a contest for Governor, the old political crowd having put over John F. Simms, Jr., in the pre-primary convention as the sole designee for the nomination. Neither were there any contests for the senatorial or House nominees, the present Congressional nominees being unopposed.

The Democratic ticket lacks much of being as well-balanced as the Republican geographically. The top nominations continue to fall to Albuquerque and Santa Fe. The candidate for Governor, the senatorial candidate, Clinton P. Anderson, up for re-election, are both from Albuquerque, which also has the other senator. The two Congressional candidates running for re-election are from Santa Fe.

The East Side and Southern counties which roll up the heavy Democratic majorities, and have long sought more major representation on the tickets, remain as the Democratic "colonies."

It was these counties, and Bernalillo (Albuquerque) which were principally responsible for the upset four years ago and which put Republican Mechem in the governor's office after 20 years of Democratic executive administration, and for re-electing him.

The big question in the November election, with the same old Democratic political crowd firmly in the saddle, is whether these counties can be swung back in the old party ways of voting. — Albuquerque Journal.

A REALISTIC POLICY

It's encouraging to learn that both candidates for the governor's office, Republican Alvin Stockton and Democrat John Simms have agreed to a policy of full and free information regarding state government in event they are elected in November.

Such a policy will be in contrast to the muddled and unfortunate methods employed by Governor Mechem. Time after time, Big Ed has had poor advice regarding the release of information to the public. The situation eventually became so bad that New Mexico newspapermen had to force a showdown some time ago.

They are reported finding "signs for stability and improvement" in the checkbook department for drought-plagued ranchers and farmers in the months to come. They note that despite collapse of the cattle market and record drought, deposits in many banks have remained steady—even rising in some. Irrigation and oil have helped contribute to maintaining economic balance, the bankers said.

POLITICAL MATTERS

TO CONSIDER

With the approach of another primary election, May 4, it is time for voters to review the political picture and the problems thereto in Valencia county.

County Democrats will decide only two primary contests, for sheriff and tax assessor. Republicans none.

The custom of letting party leaders pick the candidates prevails again. The people have little to say, except in the two races ahead. Republicans don't have a single county contest. It was all ironed out at the recent GOP convention. At least three men wanted to run for sheriff. Two were talked out of it. The same condition prevailed in all other Democratic offices.

When New Mexico gets around to tossing out nominating conventions for state offices and establish a runoff primary, we will find "boss" control of the primaries a thing of the past.

Another important item to consider when electing a public official is this: Does the candidate propose to devote his or her time to the office he seeks? We have had too much "office by proxy" in this county. A candidate who seeks a full-time job should expect to devote his full time to that job. His private business should become a "sideline," not the public office. Such a rule does not apply to part-time positions such as County Commission, State Legislature, etc.

Approaching elections also should cause the County Commission to give serious thought to our election facilities. Is Valencia county doing the right thing in not at least installing voting machines in some precincts on a trial basis? The long-range costs might be less than hiring such a large staff each time as is now required. —Belen News-Bulletin.

THOUGHTS IN PRINT—

Chief Delegate at Geneva Parley For Red Chinese Is 'Round Man'

RED CHINA'S chief delegate to the Geneva conference is a "round" man. Chang Kuo-Tao explains in the New York Sunday Times magazine:

The Chinese often characterize a man either as "round," meaning smooth; or as "square," meaning one with strict principles and set ways. Premier Foreign Minister Chou En-lai, who is the direct chief of Communist China's delegation to the Geneva conference, is definitely a "round" man. He belongs in this category as one who is smooth in his dealings with society, who is good at making friends, who never goes to extremes and who always adapts himself to the existing situation.

Chou En-lai is a man of such tremendous energy that idleness throws him completely off balance. He is efficient, meticulous and adept in dealing with manifold tasks; he has a good knowledge of modern affairs; he is endowed with a sharp analytical mind, a strong memory and the ability to express himself lucidly; he has good looks, a robust physique and works best under pressure.

Moreover, he is an artful diplomat who is skilled in shifting ground and a great actor who can weep, shout or simulate modesty as the occasion requires.

Throughout his career he has been untouched by personal scandal. He always has led a regular and methodical life. He is a good drinker, but is not addicted to liquor; he does not smoke.

SOME THINGS we never knew about wallpaper as recorded by Norman and Madelyn Carlisle in Coronet:

Wallpaper was once a luxury even for the rich. To the Chinese goes credit for inventing it. Two thousand years ago they commemorated the death of a relative by hanging up a strip of paper covered with delicate hand-painted designs. Later they evolved the idea of using papers purely for decorative effect, and European traders of the 16th century brought back some samples of this "India Paper."

In America, the first wall-papers were made in 1739. Their designs were simple, but there was a wide choice of colors. This early wallpaper was a luxury because of the way it was printed—from blocks on which the design was carved. The printing was done by pressing the blocks, which had been dipped in paint, into place by hand.

Not until 1849 with the advent of the printing machine, did English printers come up with the idea of using cylinders to print the design, and wallpaper at last became a decorative medium almost anybody could afford.

I AM SORRY for the man who seeks to make personal capital out of the passions of his fellow men. He has lost the touch and ideal of America. For America was created to unite mankind by those passions which lift and not by the passions which separate and debase. — Woodrow Wilson.

MELANCHOLY NOTE on the living theater in the United States as sounded by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch:

Can a nation's theater be culturally rich if it is economically insolvent? How nearly insolvent the American theater is, in the composite, a study by a professor of economics at Yale university has just shown. O. Glenn Saxon found that theater attendance in New York City dropped from 11,500,000 in 1944 to 8,500,000 in 1952, just eight years later. The last composite profit shown by the Broadway theater was in the 1948-49 season. The loss amounted to almost 3 million dollars in each of the last two seasons. Throughout the country last season the average income of all professional actors from the living theater was $300.

Cole Gains Statewide Reputation For Unopposed Elections to Office

THIS FRED COLE of Artesia is gaining a state-wide reputation as one of New Mexico's smoothest politicians.

His modest claim for the title is based on solid fact. Consider the developments:

—Cole was unopposed by Democrats and Republicans alike in seeking the Demo nomination as one of Eddy county's two state representatives in the legislature. Cole in fact, polled more votes in Artesia, although unopposed, than anyone else, including U. S. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson.

—Cole's organization set-up in Albuquerque at the recent bankers' convention and smoothly proceeded to have its man nominated for the association's vice-presidency by acclamation. Opposition was reported to have developed prior to the convention, but the Cole steamroller displaced it. As a result, Cole automatically will become president in 1955.

Certainly a politician who wins a contested election is due certain respect for his ability. But Cole, a newcomer to politics, has developed the technique of smothering opposition before the ballots are cast.

EVERY TIME we publish a story concerning juveniles, as appeared in Tuesday's Artesia Advocate, the question arises as to why names were not printed.

There is a good case for printing the names of juveniles involved.

But state law on the subject is explicit: The names of juveniles are not to be printed in juvenile court proceedings. Names of juveniles can be used only if the case in which the juvenile is involved is taken through district, rather than juvenile, court.

A state press association committee has studied the matter and come up with nothing concrete in the nature of recommendation.

EMIL P. BACH, who the Pecos river along with dry or in flood, is understandably perturbed about juveniles living with his equipment.

Some youngsters think no more fun than to release trolley Bach rides over the river. When released, the trolley down its wire to the river.

Most often Bach can retrieve by wading out into the river his hip boots. But when the runs high as it did this time, there's little possibility of retrieving it.

Fortunately, the trolley high and dry this week when Pecos hit a 12 to 13-foot peak it had been let loose, there have been no measurements of the water.

Bach rides the trolley over river to take water samples three positions for the geological survey.

COUNCILMAN TOM JOHNSON is reported to have received parking ticket on his car other day while downtown morning coffee.

Johnson walked up as the officer completed writing the ticket. He argued briefly, but as got no farther than anyone. Johnson nonchalantly murmured something to the effect, "guess there's no raises for the police department this month."

As the officer stiffened, son turned and walked concealing a broad smile. "boys are on the ball," he quoted as saying. "They care who they give tickets to that's just the way we want

FROM YOUR CONGRESSMAN

Deterioration of U. S. Foreign Policy Looks Rapid Under Dulles

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY
Congressman from New Mexico

Deterioration of America's foreign policy, as evidenced by the events of the past week both at home and abroad, has brought to the point of near-collapse. The lack of unity among our own administration leaders as well as among our cold war allies as well as given the Communist nations their widest margin of advantage. The era of double-talk, filled with contradictory statements by a half-dozen administration officials which have confused our own citizens and weakened our world influence almost to the point of impotency, must be terminated by prompt and decisive action. The first step should be adoption of a true bipartisan foreign affairs relationship in and with the congress.

The debacle in Indo-China and the fiasco at Geneva are paving the way for even greater reverses for our leadership of the free nations. What about Indo-China? Last August, the president said loss of Indo-China would mean Thailand and Burma would be indefensible and India would be outflanked. On April 7 he told a White House press conference that Indo-China was one of a row of dominoes. If one is knocked over all would fall. He referred to Burma, Thailand, Indonesia and other Southwest Asia nations.

Then on May 11 Secretary Dulles made statements which indicated that we regarded Indo-China as lost. He said also that the falling domino example cited by the president is no longer applicable and that the loss of Indo-China did not mean the other countries around it would be indefensible. The president was obliged to reassure the French that Mr. Dulles did not intend to say that we regard Indo-China as lost.

But the events in Indo-China and the conflict in policy statements by our leaders helped to bring the Laniel government in France within two votes of its downfall. It still is tottering. Borough elections in England and Wales resulted in a severe setback for the Churchill Conservative government and are regarded as rather definite proof it is weakening. Even though France and Britain have not stood firmly with us at Geneva the overturn of those governments would still add to the distrust in the free world that the Communists are seeking to build up to breaking point.

Our plans to build an alliance like NATO in Southeast Asia have been hard hit by the turn of recent events. Burma, Indonesia and India are definitely not enthusiastic about it. Others can be said to be only lukewarm. Indo-China, with its back to the wall, now doubts our sincerity of purpose as the State Department endeavors to have the billion-dollar appropriation for aid to Indo-China earmarked for other purposes. France is seeking an Indo-China showdown with us, but we seemingly have not decided what to do. While we have been talking too often at cross-purposes find that the Communist have been acting. Red have been shifting from Korea to Indo-China with reserve held ready to fill the gap. Korea is necessary. The Red holding us off-balance as well as Korea is concerned and tend to keep us that way. Korea is in a resentful Secretary Dulles' talk about retribution flat flat. He has characterized it as a and have continued to call it brute force.

If we are to bring order to our foreign policy chaos it is to us to unite behind a program — about which the complete understanding, at home and abroad—and add it. This cannot be a Republican or a Democratic program. It must be a United States program. Only by a way can we hope to retain initiative from the Communists.

THE NEW MEXICO congressional delegation is waging uphill battle against odds for approval for the state's part in the Colorado river development program. It is being posed by majority members of the congress despite the fact New Mexico is being deprived the use of three-quarters of water to which it is entitled under the Colorado river compact.

Our government has done on the other hand, to spend a billion dollars for a "TV" project on a foreign river, which will cost an estimated $600 million.

Part of the public funds Colorado river development would be reimbursable and Mexico would be given security protection against desert drought and water shortage. None of the money spent on foreign project will ever be paid. New Mexico taxpayers both ways.

A survey conducted of 97 trial firms showed that only 10 percent of the men first lost jobs because they were technically incompetent, while 90 percent lost their jobs because they couldn't be responsible.
