Rhodesia Election Plan Backed

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)-Moderate black nationalists gave qualified support today to Prime Minister Ian Smith's dramatic offer to steer Rhodesia to black majority rule in one-man, one-vote elections.

A spokesman for one moderate black leader, the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole, called Smith's offer a "decisive move ... which paves the way for black and white Rhodesians to sit down together and work out a blueprint for Zimbabwe which will bring peace and prosperity to our land."

Zimbabwe is the African name for Rhodesia. Sithole heads a faction of the African National Council.

Smith did not mention a date for elections. Jeremiah Chirau, leader of the moderate black Zimbabwe United Peoples Organization, said Smith's acceptance of majority rule could mean the end of guerrilla fighting. He appealed to black nationalist guerrillas to "come home peacefully," calling them "misguided young men who think that the path of violence can lead to anything constructive."

The independent Rhodesia Herald, reflecting white middle-of-the road thinking, called Smith's surprise support for universal adult suffrage "a dramatic start" to bring peace to Rhodesia.

Both moderate black leaders operate from within Rhodesia. There was no immediate word from black nationalist guerrilla leaders operating from Zambia and Mozambique.

Claiming the British-American peace plan has failed, Smith told a news conference Thursday he believed an internal agreement between his white minority government and moderate black leaders would end Rhodesia's bloody five-year-old guerrilla war.

"It is time we got on in Rhodesia and came to some finalities so that we can bring to an end the kind of madness which exists today where Rhodesians are killing Rhodesians at a pretty fair pace," Smith said.

Chirau, who leaves Saturday for a trip to the United States and Britain to boost international support for his organization, told a group of white farmers in the town of Marandellas, about 50 miles south of Salisbury, that whites would not enjoy privileged status in a black majority-ruled Rhodesia.

"Most of Zimbabwe's people are black so you must understand that there can be no question of the continuation of the privileged position which he has enjoyed for so long," he said.

However, Chirau said existing Rhodesian security forces should be retained, white-led but including about four-fifth blacks in the lower ranks. The suggestion was an apparent reference to Smith's insistence on a secure future for the white minority.

"With all parties inside the country agreeing to come together to discuss a future constitution based on majority rule, the terrorist war should cease, Chirau said.

Fear 34 Dead

BEZIERS, France (AP)-A French military plane carrying 30 French sailors and four crewmen plunged into a wooded hillside in southern France early today, apparently killing all aboard, police said.

Firemen who groped through heavy fog to reach the area said they had found only broken bodies and no survivors.

Residents of a village about 25 miles northwest of Beziers said they heard the plane flying low and that fire lighted the sky after an explosion.

The sailors were returning to their base after taking part in a military-sponsored radio program at Mont de Marsan on the Atlantic coast.

They were bound for Hyeres, near Marseille, on the Nord Atlas plane which was built as a troop and cargo carrier.

Strike Gains Support

SACRAMENTO (AP)-Two Texans promoting a national farmers' strike next month say they've received some support in California.

But Fred Heringer, president of the California Farm Bureau Federation, says few California farmers would back such a strike.

The Sacramento Bee said Thursday that Oran Watson of Tulia, Tex., and Gerald McCathern of Hereford, Tex., report having won favorable reaction at meetings with California growers.

Watson and McCathern are leaders of a group that is asking farmers to refuse to sell any products or buy equipment or supplies after Dec. 14. The group is demanding an average increase in the prices for farm products of about 50 percent, which would raise consumer food costs about 20 percent, the story said.

Major national agricultural organizations have denounced the plan, however.

Holiday Toll Mounts

Traffic accidents had claimed more than 170 lives on the nation's streets and highways by midmorning today, with more than half of a four-day Thanksgiving weekend still ahead.

The Athens Review credited this to the Knight news bureau in Washington, reporting on a case to be argued before the Supreme Court in which it said the issued boiled down to this: "When people flush their toilets in one state and the product winds up in another, is that interstate commerce?"

If the legal issue really does boil down to that, it seems that we have become the overly litigious society that some complain of. On the other hand, if we are so litigious, the Supreme Court probably needs a case or two every now and then that in presentation, at least, provokes a flush of laughter.

Farmland News reports that the first milk cow toy produced by an American manufacturer is being marketed this fall. Called "Milky the Marvelous Milking Cow," the toy cow drinks water from a trough, and when ready to be milked raises her head and "moos." She's equipped with udder and gives non-toxic play milk.

According to Farmland News, the maker thinks the toy cow will "go a long way toward educating urban youngsters about how milk reaches their tables.

They are not going to get a complete picture of how it was on a family farm, however, unless they can mat a few cockleburrs in her tail, dampen and freeze them and let the tail thus armed swat the milker in the face a few times on a cold morning.

SMU Supplies "Cleaned" Out

DALLAS (AP) - The theft of toilet paper, light bulbs and other janitorial supplies from Southern Methodist could reach the $50,000 to $100,000 level, according to an attorney handling a defendant in the case.

Mark Donald said he understood the "shortages were tremendous."

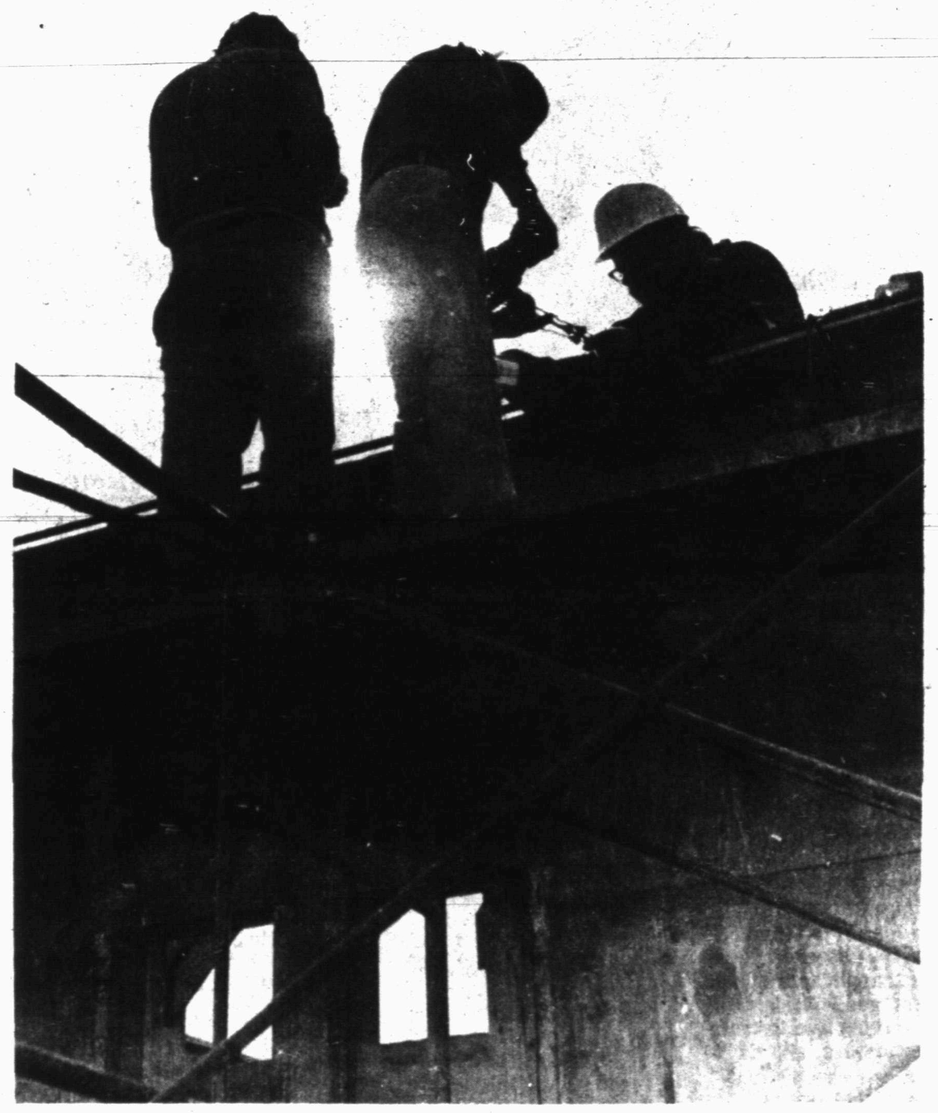

Although the director of security at SMU, Bill E. Caffee, refused to estimate the losses, he said they are significant.

Caffee said the losses were first noticed after a June 1976 inventory. Two inventories have been taken since then, he said, including an unscheduled one in February.

Items taken included cases of light bulbs, paper towels, toilet paper, mops and other janitorial supplies, an SMU official said. The supplies were then apparently being sold to businessmen, he said, who probably were told they came from an inventory of a cleaning company that was going out of business.

Donald's defendant has reached an agreement with the district attorney that recommends three-year probated sentences in each of three misdemeanor charges. Also, the defendant must pay $206 for items that were stolen.

A second employee at the university has been indicted but has not been caught.

Activity Turns To Christmas

With Thanksgiving Day already gone, things were beginning to focus on the Christmas season today in Snyder.

It was a rather quiet Thanksgiving, as most Snyderites observed the general holiday.

City hall and county courthouse employees were back on the job this morning, and retail business firms were open again 100 per cent. Still closed were the public schools and Western Texas College, where the holidays will continue until Monday morning.

The downtown Christmas decorations have been erected and work was proceeding today to hook them up for lighting. It had been hoped that the lights could be turned on by Thanksgiving, but some delays were encountered.

Prospects were that the Christmas lights around the square would go on tonight.

Except for activity in retail business firms, there was little going on in town this morning. However, the tempo was expected to pick up later today as fans from Seagraves and Haskell arrived for their Class A bi-district football game. The two teams were to meet at 7:30 p.m. in Tiger Stadium.

Ribbon-Cutting Ceremony Set

Snyder Gold Coaters are scheduled to be on hand at 10 a.m. Saturday for a ribbon-cutting ceremony at Hastings Book and Record Store in Varsity Square.

The store has been open for business for a couple of weeks, but has scheduled its grand opening ceremonies for tomorrow.

Nader Rates Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) - Here are the 1977 ratings members of Congress received from Public Citizen, a Ralph Nader-affiliated group which says it is pro-consumer.

The ratings are based on 40 roll calls on such issues as consumer protection, oil and gas policy, atomic power, tax revision, ecology, government subsidies and government revisions.

For instance, a rating of 90 percent means the member voted with the group's own views on 36 of the 40 votes.

Here are ratings for House members:

GALVESTON (AP) - A rare pygmy sperm whale was kept alive with antibiotics today at the Sea-Arama Marine World after washing ashore Thursday afternoon.

The sperm whale, nicknamed "Pilgrim," was found on the beach at the eastern end of Galveston Island Thursday afternoon.

Tractorcade Continues Toward Plains Rally

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) - Farmers demanding higher produce prices ordered an army of tractors escorted by crop-dusting airplanes toward President Carter's hometown today for a rally.

The president was more than 650 miles away. But a shopkeeper who is also a state senator and Carter's cousin announced plans to watch and added: "We're glad to have them."

Thousands of farmers spent Thanksgiving night at meeting points near this southwestern Georgia hamlet, preparing to drive their tractors into Plains for the rally.

The farmers want Congress to set a floor price on agricultural products that would ensure that they will get back their production costs and at least a small profit when they sell their harvest.

Unless Congress takes action on the farmers' demands, farmers across the country have vowed to go on strike starting Dec. 14.

As the farmers prepared their demonstration, Carter was at the presidential retreat in Camp David, Md. His mother, Miss Lillian, was home in Plains, but it was not known whether she or the president's brother, Billy, planned to watch the "tractorcade."

State Sen. Hugh Carter, the president's cousin, said he had not been invited to the rally but he planned to be in his antique store on Plains' main street, a good vantage point for watching almost anything in the tiny downtown area.

"All I know is they will be here," he said. "I'm sure they are welcome here and we're glad to have them."

Directors of the Georgia Agriculture Aviation Association voted unanimously late last week to hold a "fly-over" of 25 to 40 crop-dusting planes during the rally to show their support for the farmers' cause.

Tom Kersey, the Unadilla, Ga., farmer who helped organize the farm protest movement in the Southeast, had said he expected 10,000 tractors at the rally. He said at least 1,000 tractors stayed overnight in Americus on Thursday.

Strangler Gets 11th Victim

LOS ANGELES (AP)-An aspiring actress-model became the 11th victim in a series of murders of young females whose partially clothed or nude bodies have been turning up under bushes and shrubs in northern suburbs for more than a month.

An autopsy Thursday on the body of Jane Evelyn King, 28, found near a freeway in Griffith Park, showed she had been strangled, as had all but two of the other victims.

It was not immediately known whether Miss King had been sexually assaulted as some of the other victims were. County Coroner Thomas Noguchi said further tests were being performed.

The West Los Angeles woman, last seen Nov. 9 by friends as she left the Church of Scientology Celebrity Center in Hollywood, "was known to accept hitchhiking rides," police Lt. Dan Cooke said.

Miss King, who had been dead several days when her body was found Wednesday, was identified through dental charts and fingerprints, Cooke said.

Another victim, Lissa Kastin, 21, also was last seen in Hollywood as she left her job as a waitress. Her strangled and sexually assaulted body was discovered Nov. 6 in a Glendale ravine.

no rest in politics

Looking ahead to the ninth decennium of the 20th century may appear to be premature. In some respects, yes. In politics, however, there is no such thing as a vacation. While one Presidential election is current history plans are being made for the one which will occur four years later.

The next so-called off-year campaign, which means one between Presidential elections, will take place next year. It is now only a matter of weeks when 1978 calendars will be in use. Here in Texas we have party primaries the first Saturday in May. Candidates are already active. The campaign will be in high gear in another few weeks.

On the national scene we shall be electing a President in 1980. But practical politicians whose business is to look ahead are thinking in terms of districts from which members of Congress and state legislatures will be chosen.

State legislators elected in 1980 will have the responsibility of apportioning seats in Congress and both branches of state legislatures. Usual procedure, prior to Supreme Court decisions which mandated equality of population in districts from which lawmakers are elected, was to pay little attention to equal distribution of population and draw district lines so as to favor the party in power and personal interests of influential members of Congress and state legislatures.

For years the late Sam Rayburn, who served as Speaker of the National House of Representatives longer than any predecessor, had a compact district which never had more than 200,000 population.

It was next door to Dallas County which for years had only one Representative in Congress and a population of more than 800,000. Sam Rayburn was an institution in Texas for more than 30 years. The Legislature made certain he had a district where opposition would be unlikely and cost of campaigning would be negligible in any event.

Even now one Texas Congressional district includes portions of Tarrant, Dallas and Parker Counties and a narrow strip of territory extending south to include Brazos County, which reaches to within 50 miles of Houston.

Politics being the name of the game, outlook for Republicans in the 1980-90 decennium is not good. Democrats have influence that belongs to members of Congress and control of the great majority of state legislatures.

dog and purse act

Sometimes the most fascinating stories in the news are the shortest ones.

A wire dispatch, all of 15 lines long, told the tale of a purse-snatching bulldog in Cincinnati the other day.

Seems the animal jumped on a bus at a stop, darted to the rear and grabbed a passenger's purse. Other riders yanked it away from the beast, whereupon it seized another purse. When this, too, was retrieved, the dog ran from the bus and disappeared in a nearby yard. End of story.

Was this just one of those crazy things that happen? Or does there lurk somewhere in Cincinnati a sinister canine-coaching Fagin who schools innocent pups in the crafts of thievery?

We'll probably never know - not unless the bested bulldog strikes again.

police recruit cb power

An on-the-spot observer of the Fort Worth, Tex., Police Monitoring Service reports that in its year-and-a-half existence it has become a way of life for motorists in the area.

The program has been so successful that there was an increase of 64.13 percent in Channel 9 calls in the nine months period ending this month over the same period of its first year.

The Community Services Division of the Fort Worth Police Department decided some time ago that CB was too important, offered so many additional eyes and ears, to go overlooked. They turned the project — "figure out a way of utilizing this medium for the benefit of Fort Worth" — over to Officer Tom Atterbury. Thus was born the 24-hour monitoring service in the area and the "Observe and Report" program. It became active on March 12 of last year.

In its first year 59,552 calls were handled. Nine months into the second year there have been 65,583 calls booked. Five robberies have been halted in progress, innumerable highway problems have been acted upon speedily and traffic in general has improved on the interstates surrounding the city.

"We have a population of about 400,000 and CB-equipped cars are estimated at one in ten," Atterbury said. "CB is growing every day and CBers are the greatest helpers a police department ever had."

How did it get organized, develop into an institution so quickly?

"Well, when the project was turned over to me, I knew that staffing for 24-hour monitoring would be prohibitive if the department had to pay all the salaries," he explained. "So, using newspapers, radio and television stations, I asked for volunteers. In the first three days, we had over 300 applications."

The Fort Worth program requires that a volunteer have 20 hours of classroom instruction and 10 hours in a police car, learning procedures and understanding guidelines, to qualify for duty in the Channel 9 control center. Each volunteer works a four-hour shift. There are 1,100 names on the the roll at this writing, with about 180 active participants. Periodic orientation meetings are held so that the left hand always knows what the right is doing. And it works!

"I'm the only paid employe," Atterbury explained. "But our volunteers are as committed, as dedicated to the mission as any paid personnel could possibly be. We operate in a small suite of offices, use three telephones for contact with the special console at police headquarters, and maintain a minute-to-minute log of our activities. It is really great."

The volunteers in the Fort Worth control center are approximately 23 percent women.

The success of the Channel 9 watch has begun to spread through the great state of Texas. Garland, Grand Prairie and Van Zandt have already started operations patterned after the Fort Worth program. Austin, the state capital, is presently considering it and has had observers in Fort Worth watching it function. Even the governor's office has taken note, according to Atterbury, and there has been talk that all Texas cities may be encouraged to install something comparable.

It's really good news that CB continue to grow in use and further utilize its fantastic ability to communicate.

old papers valuable

NEW YORK (AP)-There is a surging demand for yesterday's newspaper, to wrap the house in.

Or, to put it in the words of executive of what is sometimes called the waste paper industry, "there has been a dramatic demand for news in the past few months."

News to this executive is not the news that is printed on the paper, but the paper on which the news is printed. The paper stock, in other words.

The home insulation industry wants it, the very newspaper you are reading, to be recycled as insulation, and they are willing to pay premium prices for it, about 50 per cent more than last year's figures.

Wholesalers in some areas are selling to newsprint consumption mills at $65 to $70 a ton, and sometimes more, with the buyer paying the freight, according to "Official Board Markets," sometimes called "The Yellow Sheet" of the industry. Those are the latest prices quoted for what is called No. 1 News in the Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Detroit markets.

In California, prices are about $37 to $42; in the Southeast, $55 to $60 and in the Northeast, from $23, the Boston low, to $50, the Philadelphia high.

Why so high in the Midwest? That's where the insulation makers are situated.

While these are not the quotations your Boy Scout or Girl Scout troop can expect, industry officials say that generally speaking such local collectors, who then sell to wholesalers, are also earning 50 per cent more than they did a year ago; in some instances up to $50 a ton.

The actual price received in community paper drives depends not only on the needs of the local dealer but also on quality.

No. 1 News means used or unused newspapers, stacked and tied or baled, with no contaminants. As a spokesman for Recycling Industries put it:

"No magazines, dirt or wire." Just pure newsprint.

Robert Kilburg, president of the Paper Stock Institute of America, explains "The unprecedented demand is due to the pressure now being placed on news supplies by the insulation industry to meet homeowner needs."

Millions of Americans, he noted, are insulating their homes to minimize fuel costs, "encouraged by pending passage of a tax rebate for home insulation in the emerging energy bill."

The technology of grinding used newsprint and processing it with fire-retardant chemicals to make cellulose insulation is at least 50 years old, but the demand for the product wasn't nearly as great as it is now.

Many insulation manufacturers will use only newsprint rather than various forms of papers because of its ability to absorb chemicals added in the processing and because it has other special qualities.

The end product of the manufacturing process is sold to dealers and directly to homeowners to be blown into existing or new structures, or poured from bags between and over attic joists.

JOB INTERVIEWS

Representatives of a major electrical appliance manufacturer will interview for prospective employees at three separate locations next week. The proposed plant will initially hire about 150 and increase 400 in the future.

The majority of positions can ideally be filled by women and jobs will also be available for men. No specific skills are required, but applicants should possess good work skills and be receptive to training techniques.

All interested persons must apply in person at one of the following locations:

Roby, Monday, Nov. 28; 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Midwest Electric Co-op, West Highway 180.

Colorado City, Nov. 29; 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Civic Center, 157 West 2nd.

Snyder, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Nov. 30, Dec. 1-2; 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Chamber of Commerce-BCD office, 2302 Avenue R.

BE THERE

The firm, one of the nation's largest and most respected, will only locate in Snyder if enough people are available and interested in working at the prospective plant.

Corporate officials are asking all interested persons to apply in person to give officials an opportunity to speak with and answer questions of prospective employees.

This is the best chance Snyder has had in many years to land a major industry, and the decision now rests with labor availabiltiy. The company has satisfied all other requirements. If enough workers are found, the company plans to begin operation in early 1978 at the Wickes Building.

Anyone needing further information should call the Snyder Chamber of Commerce office.

PLAY-OFF GAME

Tonight, we will host the regional play-off football game between Seagraves and Haskell. Seagraves is the state's No. 1-ranked Class A football team with an 11-0 mark. Haskell stumbled early, but is expected to provide the top-ranked Eagles a struggle to maintain its undefeated mark.

Next week's play-off possibilities hinge on the outcome of the Childress-Littlefield and Kermit-Tahoka clashes. This is the only contest which could geographically fit into our play-off picture. Last year, as you remember, Childress took on Ozona in a Quarter Final Contest here.

CANYON REEF BASKETBALL

Tournament chairman Mal Donelson expects Canyon Reef Basketball Tournament tickets to go on sale at the Chamber Office and various other local establishments Monday for the 16-team event to be held Dec. 8-10 at Scurry County Coliseum.

Tourney tickets, good for all 25 contests, will be $7.50 for adults and $4 for students. Session tickets will be $3 for adults and $1 for students.

Snyder's Tigers, undefeated going into the Abilene Tournament with wins over three 5-AAAA teams, including pre-season favorite Odessa Permian, are expected to be in the thick of the championship battle.

This is the only 16-team tournament west of Fort Worth and an effort to return the Canyon Reef Basketball Tournament to its former lofty stature.

Police Follow Pigeon Tracks

SAN LUIS, OBISPO, Calif. (AP)-Police are tracking yellow-footed pigeons to try to find out who crammed 30 of the birds into a patrol car.

Investigators painted the surviving pigeons' feet yellow and were tracked them back to their pigeonholes, hoping it would lead to pranksters who stashed the birds in a squad car parked in the police lot Tuesday night.

A passing janitor spotted two of the birds peering out a rear window at 6 a.m. He found 30 of the birds inside. Eleven were already dead, and the inside of the car was covered with pigeon droppings.

The car, a radar traffic-control unit, had apparently been burglarized by vandals using a wire to pop the lock. "I guess somebody didn't like the ticket they got," a police lieutenant said.

Opening lead — Q ♥

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The optimist wastes no time finding a way to get himself set. He wins the heart lead, enters dummy with the club and loses the trump finesse.

Meanwhile, East has played his queen on the first club lead, so West cashes one heart and leads a second club to set up a trick in that suit for his partner. South winds up losing four tricks.

The man who isn't really interested in overtricks finds a more complicated way to go down. He sees that he doesn't need the spade finesse to make his contract. He leads his ace of spades at trick two and continues the suit.

West is unkind enough to duck and our hero is in trouble. If he leads a third spade West takes his king and leads hearts. South will run out of trumps before he has time to set up the diamonds. So South abandons spades and leads a diamond. Provided East holds off once with his ace, West will get a diamond ruff.

The pessimist leads a low spade at trick two. He plays dummy's 10, leads a spade back and ducks once more. Now, nothing can hurt him and he wins the rubber.

NEA Food Editor

Feeling rushed during the holidays and at wit's end for a quickie meal? Try a variation on turnovers. This version is ideal for using up leftover ham and goes with prepared biscuits. The rich topping is cream of celery soup but you may want to serve turnovers with mushroom or creamy cheese soup topping. Serve with peas, hash browns or just a simple fruit salad.

ZIPBY HAM TURNOVERS

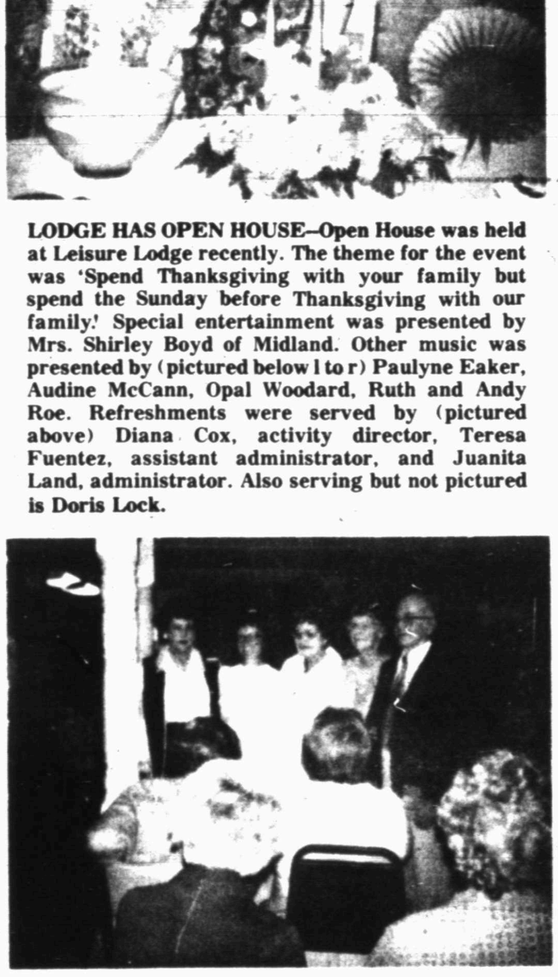

- 1 cup (8 oz.) finely chopped, cooked ham
- 2 tablespoons cream
- 2 teaspoons instant minced onion
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- Pepper to taste
- 1 can (10 biscuits) refrigerated buttermilk or country style biscuits
- 1 10 ¾-oz. can condensed cream of celery soup
- ½ cup milk or cream

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Combine first five ingredients. Separate biscuit dough into 10 biscuits. Press two biscuits together. Then press or roll each to a 7-inch circle. Spoon about 3 tablespoons of ham mixture onto center of each biscuit. Fold enough dough in half over filling. Press edges with fork to seal. Prick tops. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet 8 to 12 minutes until golden brown. While turnovers are baking, combine soup and milk: heat until smooth. Serve over hot turnovers. (Refrigerate leftovers.) Makes 5 turnovers.

Relieve Cold Miseries

COLLEGE STATION--Man is still trying to cure or, better, to prevent the common cold---and we have uncovered some COLD hard facts that at least can help prevent or relieve its miseries, reports Carla Shearer, health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

More than 100 different viruses cause colds. Colds are most often spread by coughs and sneezes, kissing or by the common use of drinking glasses and other objects which have been contaminated, Miss Shearer says.

Since the cold is caused by a virus, antibiotics (which are effective against bacteria) do not work in the case of the common cold, she adds.

A doctor may prescribe these drugs, not for the cold itself, but rather to combat bacterial infections which may also be present, the specialist explains.

"Although a cold will probably never prove fatal, life would be much more enjoyable without it.

"Everyone can take precautions that help avoid at least some colds," she advises.

—Protect your health by getting plenty of rest, and eat balanced meals.

—Keep your distance from those who have colds --especially when they cough or sneeze.

—Don't use articles which may have been contaminated by a person with a cold.

But when you do come down with a cold, these steps may help to relieve some of the aches and pains:

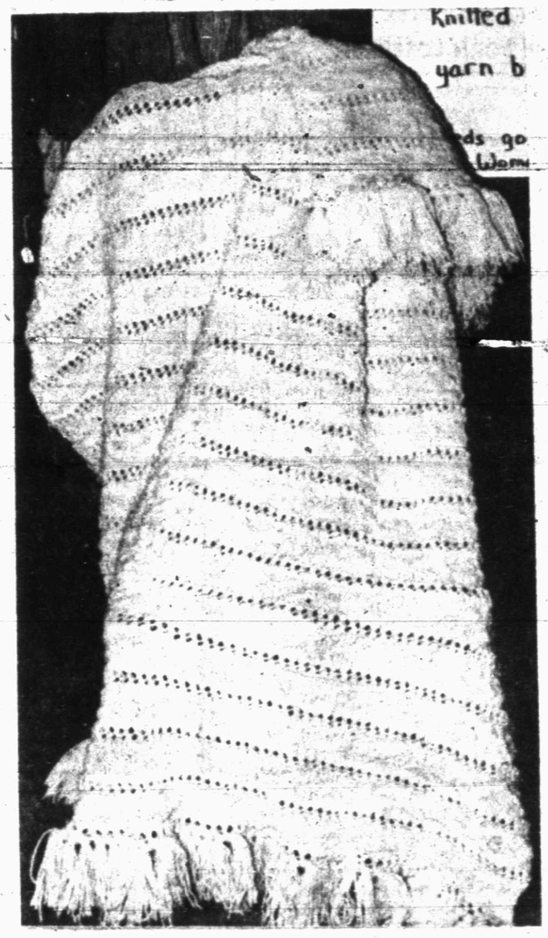

—Drink plenty of liquids.

—The usual dose of aspirin helps to relieve headache and general aching.

—Blow your nose gently to prevent forcing the infection into sinuses and ear canals.

—See a doctor if signs of complications appear, such as high fever, severe headaches, chest pains, hard coughing spells and rusty-looking sputum.

To stretch a package of frozen sweetened strawberries for a fruit dessert, serve the berries over rings of unsweetened canned pineapple drained. The leftover juice from the pineapple, combined with ginger ale, makes a refreshing cold drink.

HAND MADE AFGHAN--The Altrurian Daughters Club will give away the pictured afghan at the Martha Ann Woman's Club bazaar on Dec. 2. The afghan was knitted by Virginia Sleeper, club president, from Brunswick wool donated by Dorothy Dennis, owner of The Needle Point. It is ecru in color, non-allergenic, washable, and moth proof. It is currently on display at The Needle Point.

Snake Dancer Fails Bar Exam

NEW ORLEANS (AP)- Ava Jones claims she got a failing grade on her bar exam because Louisiana Bar Association officials don't want to share their profession with a snake dancer.

EVERY WOMAN would like to find a fur under her Christmas tree. This fun fur is in green and beige chevron-patterned dyed Norwegian fox. It has full styling, blouson sleeves and deep hood. Designed for the American Fur Industry collection by Jan Originals for about $5,995.

Miss Jones, who worked her way through Loyola University Law School by dancing with Iansan, a 6-foot boa constrictor, has filed a $250,000 suit in federal court here.

The suit claims she was "arbitrarily and capriciously failed."

Miss Jones wants the bar admissions committee to explain why she should not be admitted to the practice of law.

Teacher Learns English

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)- A British school teacher participating in an exchange program in this country says he's learned a few things about English-or at least what Americans call English.

After a quarter at Hellgate High School here, John Brown, a teacher from Cheltenham, has learned that if he wants potato crisps with his soft drink, he has to ask for potato chips.

If he wants potato chips with his hamburger, he has to request French fries. And while his British students queue up on the pavement, American students are lining up on the sidewalk.

Brown has traded places with Hellgate High English teacher Kenneth Ballinger for a year.

Ballinger "is in England doing my job, living in my house and driving my car," Brown says, hastening to add, "but he's with his own wife."

Of all of Thomas Alva Edison's inventions, the phonograph was the one that first brought him international fame.

Carter Stalling On Tax Reform Promise

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)- Maybe the income tax system isn't such a disgrace after all.

The crowds used to cheer when Jimmy Carter vowed a complete overhaul of the tax code. "It is a disgrace to the human race," he'd say, and they would cheer some more.

But attacking the tax laws and rewriting them are vastly different undertakings.

"All my life I have heard promises about tax reform, but it never quite happens," Carter said in accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

"With your help we are finally going to make it happen. And you can depend on it."

But not now and not soon.

The prospect now is that Carter will recommend that Congress enact tax reductions in the $15 billion to $20 billion dollar range in 1978, but that he won't propose any major overhaul until later.

His package apparently will include some minor changes the administration can call a first installment on the promised reform effort.

When he was campaigning, Carter said it would take him at least a year in office to put together a detailed, comprehensive tax reform plan. He said he wasn't going to try to do it one piece at a time because that way, interest groups could concentrate their forces to block action on their favorite tax preferences.

Through most of the campaign season, he avoided specifics, saying only that he wanted to overhaul, simplify and reform the whole 40,000-page tax code, and would do it in such a way as to decrease taxes on the average man.

Setting his administration's agenda, Carter had said that he would come up with tax recommendations early this fall. The draftsmen have been at work for months. Their proposals are expected to be ready for Carter sometime next week, and for Congress after it reconvenes in mid-January.

As the timetable slipped, the proposals have become less ambitious, and Secretary of the Treasury W. Michael Blumenthal now says the legislation sent to the election-year Congress will be relatively simple.

Campaigning, Carter was firm and specific on one feature of his tax plan: he always said he would seek to end the tax preference for capital gains. He said all income should be treated alike, so that profits on the sale of stock, real estate or other assets would be taxed at the same rate as other income.

All indications are that the president will not be recommending that change, at least not now.

Under present law, there's a tax break for gains on the sale of assets held for at least nine months. The period increases to 12 months effective Jan. 1. Fifty per cent of such capital gains are exempt from income taxes.

Or the taxpaper can elect to pay a lower-than-ordinary rate on the full capital gain, an alternative which is to the advantage of some people in high tax brackets.

"I intend to take on myself, as a president's responsibility, at one time a complete and comprehensive tax reform effort," Carter said in a campaign interview. "I would move to treat all income the same and remove the sharp distinction now drawn depending on where the income is derived."

But Blumenthal, in a Wall Street speech on Monday, virtually ruled out a proposal to eliminate the capital gains tax break. "We fully understand the important role that preferential tax rates for capital gains have played in encouraging capital formation especially for venture capital and new businesses," he said. "We will, of course, take this into account in designing reforms to reduce or eliminate unjustified tax preferences."

The changing outlook on Carter tax proposals stems from competing priorities and political realities. Congress is likely to do a lot more tax cutting than reforming in the 1978 election year, no matter what the White House recommends.

At 7 percent, unemployment is still a major problem for the administration, particularly as it enters a congressional campaign year. So, as he was a year ago in planning for a new administration, Carter is looking at measures to stimulate the economy, including a tax cut to put more money into the hands of business and consumers. The problem is compounded this time by the fact that Social Security and energy tax increases will work in the opposite direction.

So that campaign promise to overhaul the whole tax code will have to wait, probably until 1979.

Prince Explains Picture

LONDON (AP)-When one is a prince, one never can tell whom one is kissing.

It now turns out that an Australian beauty Prince Charles of England kissed publicly in Adelaide on Nov. 9 apparently was a part-time actress in blue movies.

Pictures of Charles, 29, kissing Sylvia Cresnar, 28, on the lips while he was on a tour of Australia appeared in newspapers around the world.

The woman initially was identified as a shop assistant.

But Charles told 900 guests at a charity banquet Thursday night: "I understand she was a part-time actress in blue movies."

He cautioned the banquet guests not to believe everything they read in newspapers.

"They claimed I grabbed a lady in the crowd in Australia and planted a smacking kiss on her," he said. "In fact, it was the other way around. These things are inevitable and one must relax and enjoy oneself."

Aspirin: 'amazingly safe'

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB – I'd appreciate knowing about the habitual use of aspirin – its possible side effects and benefits or health hazards. I take two Excedrin tablets twice a day for dull headaches, caused for the most part by sinus trouble and muscle tension. I've taken aspirin on a daily basis like this for five years now, and I suspect I'm psychologically addicted to this pattern.

I also get a lift from the caffeine in the tablets. I don't drink coffee or tea. I would be interested in the effects of the daily use of caffeine.

Could I be physically addicted to the Excedrin tablets because the aspirin consumption has become such a long term affair? Should I be alarmed by my habit? I am in good health otherwise, and am 30 years old.

I am sure I ask these questions on behalf of many other people as I have friends who admit to similar daily patterns of aspirin consumption to relieve tensions and stress. As you know, arthritis patients use large quantities of aspirin on a long term basis, too.

DEAR READER – While you may have established a habit pattern you are not addicted to Excedrin or aspirin or caffeine. You may have developed a psychological dependence on taking medicine, but I wouldn't call it an addiction, psychologically or physically.

Aspirin is an amazingly safe medicine, considering all the different uses of it. I would doubt that you will have any problems with aspirin in as much as you have taken it for five years without trouble. Some people do not tolerate it, but most people do.

You should take the aspirin with meals to protect your stomach from having small granules of it settle against your stomach and possibly irritate it. Otherwise, your should take the aspirin with some milk or something to dilute it in the stomach.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 8-8, Aspirin and Related Medicines. It will give you far more details about these medicines. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. As the issue points out, Excedrin contains 195 mg of aspirin and 65 mg of caffeine.

The caffeine in one tablet is about two-thirds as much as you would get in an average cup of brewed coffee. So you are getting the equivalent of about three cups of coffee a day in terms of caffeine. And that amount may be enough to keep your motor running, but you won't be addicted to it. If you had any indigestion, I would recommend you not take Excedrin or aspirin, because of both their aspirin content and the caffeine.

I do want to caution all readers that they should not use a single aspirin or any of the numerous medicines containing aspirin – many are listed in The Health Letter – for at least a week before any surgery. It may cause problems in controlling bleeding. For the same reason, a pregnant woman should not take aspirin or any such preparations for at least a week before delivery, and I am not so sure it is a good idea during pregnancy anyway.

The anti-clotting action of aspirin may prove useful in helping to prevent heart attacks and strokes. A national study is under way to find out.

Battle Seen On Liquid Protein

WASHINGTON (AP)- Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., wants the Food and Drug Administration to prohibit the sale of liquid protein, but the agency says it may face lengthy legal problems if it tries to do so.

A spokesman for Percy said the senator's staff has been told by the FDA that the agency plans to propose a regulation on Monday declaring the diet aids unsafe and ordering them off the market.

The FDA has not confirmed such plans. But an agency spokesman said the FDA has not ruled out a ban on the product sometime in the future.

The legal battle would revolve around the question of whether liquid protein, the fast diet food substitute which officials say may be linked to at least 10 deaths, is actually a food, a drug, or food additive.

If it is a food, as claimed by some of its supporters, the Food and Drug Administration would have little to say if it is accurately labeled and free of contamination.

If it would be found a food additive or a drug, the agency would be allowed to require manufacturers to prove that the product is safe and effective in treating the medical problem for which it is intended.

Recently the FDA ordered that liquid protein - sold over the counter under many different brand names - include a warning label that its use might be dangerous. That requirements is expected to go into effect within two months, agency officials said.

But Percy, the ranking Republican on the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs, said Thursday the warning is not enough and that the product should be banned.

The FDA said liquid protein may be linked to at least 10 deaths, although the agency said the official cause for those deaths remains heart irregularities.

Scientists who have analyzed the dark syrupy liquids say they contain low-quality, partially digested protein derived from cattle hides and tendons. Artificial flavor and saccharin are added to disguise the otherwise horrid taste.

Texas Votes Certified

AUSTIN (AP)-The State Canvassing Board today certified official vote totals in the Nov. 8 election at which voters adopted five new constitutional amendments and rejected two propositions.

Board members are Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Secretary of State Steve Oaks and Mrs. Blake Sparenberg of Austin.

The canvass showed the voters rejected the amendment allowing agricultural organizations, by referendum, to impose mandatory assessments on members, 299,060 to 231,164.

The proposition allowing banks to install electronic fund transfer systems (EFTS) at such places as shopping centers without violating the constitutional prohibition against branch banking failed, 344,483 to 208,264.

Votes by which the successful constitutional changes passed were:

—Increasing Texas Court of Criminal Appeals from five to nine judges, 410,170 to 150,862.

—Authorizing another $200 million in veterans land bonds, 329,417 to 225,-919.

—Denial of bail to two-time losers, gun-toting criminals and those accused of committing a felony while already free on bond, 472,948 to 92, 568.

—Allowing tax relief for historic, culturally significant or natural history sites, 306,102 to 244,477.

—Strengthening the state's power to remove judges and changing the name of the Judicial Qualifications Commission to the State Commission on Judicial Conduct, 354,275 to 180,837.

Thanksgiving Day Is Marked In Many Ways

By The Associated Press

After savoring the mixed blessings of home-cooked turkey, family reunions, holiday traffic and indigestion, the nation awoke today to a month-long shopping season, with stores full of gifts, and elbowing crowds full of Christmas cheer and grim determination.

Looking back at history, a group of Indians said Thanksgiving was a day for mourning, not gratefulness.

And on Thursday black comedian Dick Gregory ended Thanksgiving in jail the South African embassy.

Meanwhile, farmers upset about prices readied a parade on President Carter's hometown, Plains, Ga.

But Carter himself spent a peaceful day at the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md., eating cornbread-stuffed turkey, giblet gravy, candied sweet potatoes, green beans, waldorf salad, rolls and butter, cranberries and pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale, staying in Washington, said he let his wife sleep while he fixed his family's turkey himself, giving his Navy stewards the day off.

In his Thanksgiving proclamation, Carter recalled the first such national message in 1777, and said Americans "can look to the future with hope and confidence" because "we have tamed a continent, established institutions dedicated to protecting our liberties, and secured a place of leadership among nations. But we have never lost sight of the principles upon which our nation was founded."

Fanciful Thanksgiving parades by arch-rival department stores were held in New York, by Macy's and in Philadelphia, by Gimbels.

Meanwhile, in Plymouth, Mass., some 20 Indians held a vigil. Russell Peters, president of the Mashpee Wampanoag Indian Tribal Council, which is feuding with Mashpee, Mass., over the land rights, said: "For Indians, Thanksgiving is now a day of fasting and mourning."

With his wife Lillian and Massachusetts state Sen. William Owens, Gregory was arrested and accused of demonstrating within 500 feet of the South African embassy. The three refused release without bail and said they would wait in jail until arraignment today.

Outside Plains, Ga., thousands of farmers on tractors and escorted by crop-dusting airplanes prepared a rally today to voice their demand that Congress set a floor price on agricultural products to ensure that they will get back production costs and a small profit. Otherwise, farmers say they will go on strike starting Dec. 14.

For many Americans, Thanksgiving also meant the hazards of travel.

By early today, more than 140 people had died on the highways.

A twin-engine private airplane crashed in Beckley, W. Va., killing six people from an Illinois family who were apparently on their way to a Thanksgiving gathering.

And 800 Amtrak passengers were delayed up to seven hours between Seattle and Los Angeles because a freight train had derailed near Dunsmuir, Calif., and the passengers had to be bused around the site.

Melting Snow Causing Flooding In Oregon

By The Associated Press

As new snow fell in areas from the Rockies to the Midwest, melting old snow was causing some flooding in Oregon today.

Locally heavy snow was expected through portions of the northern and western mountains of Wyoming, and travelers' advisories were in effect in parts of Idaho, Washington state, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana Michigan.

A heavy snow watch was in effect for southern Wisconsin, and winter storm watches were posted over parts of Ohio. For tonight, the watches reached western New York and northeastern Pennsylvania.

In Minnesota, one to three inches of snow fell Thursday night, leading to the death of David Lynn Cannedy, 23, of Amarillo, Texas, in a two-car collision.

Nebraska has snow flurries, and one to four inches was expected in Illinois - the first significant snow there this season.

In Colorado, where light snow fell Thursday, ski business was booming but high winds were buffeting the front range of the Rockies.

In Oregon, rain melted a blanket of snow in the state's western region, and the National Weather Service said coastal streams would overlow their banks locally, with major flooding on the Coquille River of southwestern Oregon. More rain was expected today.

A cold front extended from the Atlantic across extreme north Florida to the Florida panhandle, then along the Gulf Coast to south Texas. With it came variable cloudiness and patchy dense fog over parts of Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida, with showers over Florida.

Arizona and the southern half of California were sunny and warm.

The National Weather Service forecast snow from the upper half of the Mississippi Valley to the Great Lakes region and the upper Ohio Valley today.

Dick Gregorys Are Arrested

WASHINGTON (AP)-comedian-activist Dick Gregory, his wife, Lillian, and a Massachusetts state senator have been arrested for demonstrating within 500 feet of the South African embassy.

The Gregorys and state Sen. William Owens were arrested Thursday and were offered their release on personal recognizance.

However, Officer C.E. Reed of the District of Columbia police department said they insisted on remaining in jail until their arraignment today.

Sentencing Of Wyatt Is Due Monday

Dwayne O'Neal Wyatt, a 25-year-old defendant in a rape trial, was found guilty Wednesday evening. The jurors in the case, who had deliberated one hour in finding him guilty, are scheduled to reconvene Monday morning to assess the punishment.

Rape by force, the offense Wyatt was charged with, is a second degree felony which carries a two to 20 year jail term that can also be probated.

The charge stems from a Sept. 20 incident in which Wyatt is reported to have raped a 20-year-old woman at an apartment in North Snyder.

A related charge in the case, that of burglary with intent to commit rape, is still pending against the defendant. Wyatt was indicted Nov. 1.

Burned Cardinal Makes Miami Delicacy

By TOM CANAVAN
AP Sports Writer

Bob Griese missed his Thanksgiving turkey, so he feasted on the next best entree: St. Louis Cardinal.

Griese ripped an injury-riddled St. Louis secondary with six touchdown passes, including three to wide receiver Nat Moore, and directed Miami to a 55-14 rout of the Cardinals Thursday to keep the Dolphins' National Football League playoff hopes alive.

"I didn't think it was going to be this easy," Griese said after coming within one touchdown pass of equalling the NFL one-game record. "The line was blocking well and it was just a matter of hitting the open man."

Griese's six touchdown passes established a Miami club record and was the most productive game for a quarterback since Joe Namath threw the same number against the Baltimore Colts in 1972. Miami's point total also established a team record.

In the other Thanksgiving Day game, Chicago overcame a 7-0 halftime deficit and defeated Detroit 31-14.

Griese marched the Dolphins, 8-3, to touchdowns on their first two possessions against the Cardinals, 7-4, who were playing without safety Mike Sensibaugh and cornerback Lee Nelson.

He culminated the first drive with a 4-yard pass to Moore and climaxed to second with a 7-yard pitch to Duriel Harris.

"They had a situation injuries and we had an opportunity. We could run and we could pass."

Griese chose mostly to pass, completing 15 of 23 for 227 yards. He closed his first-half aerial barrage with touchdowns of 9 and 28 yards to Moore and hit Gary Davis and Andre Tillman with strikes of 17 and 37 yards in the second half.

The defeat snapped a six-game Cardinals winning streak. It also was the most points surrendered by St. Louis in their 58-year NFL history.

Cardinals Coach Don Coryell had a simple analysis after the game:

"We just got the holy heck kicked out of us by a team that is far superior to us," Coryell said.

Bears 31, Lions 14

Walter Payton scored two touchdowns, one on a 75-yard pass from Bob Avellini, and Chicago exploded for 31 points in the second half to defeat Detroit.

Avellini also threw a 45-yard touchdown pass to Bo Rather and scored on a one-yard plunge as the Bears moved within one-half game of the Minnesota Vikings in the National Football Conference's Central Division.

"We were lucky to stay close in the first half with all the mistakes we made. But we hung in there and didn't collapse," Bears Coach Jack Pardee said. "In the second half we executed better and took the game to them."

Detroit scored on a 52-fumble return by Ed O'Neil and a 16-yard touchdown pass from Greg Landry to David Hill.

Duckworth Makes Sure Of That...

Arkansas Unspoiled For Orange Bowl

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP)- Earlier this year, freshman Bobby Duckworth dropped a certain touchdown pass in a junior varsity game between Arkansas and Texas Tech in Jones Stadium.

Duckworth attoned for the gaffe and then some Thanksgiving Day with a 59-yard grab-and-run touchdown pass from quarterback Ron Calcagni, much to the ever-loving relief of sixth-ranked Arkansas and a sweating Orange Bowl committee.

The clutch reception by the 6-foot-3, 195-pound youngster from Helmburg, Ark., gave Arkansas a 17-14 nationally televised Southwest Conference victory over battling Texas Tech, which was out to prove it deserved a Tangerine Bowl bid after the Red Raiders were spanked 45-7 by Houston last week.

"I thought about the ball I had dropped when I got off the bus today," said Duckworth. "I wasn't about to drop this one."

Duckworth, using his sprinter speed to blaze behind the Tech secondary, caught the bomb with only 6:18 left in a physical game which gave Arkansas a 10-1 regular season, best for the Razorbacks since 1965.

The Razorbacks trailed 14-3 at halftime until Calcagni went to work with an 11-yard third period scoring pass to Donny Bobo.

Then came the fourth-quarter play that Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz had inserted into the offense for the first time this year.

"The play to Duckworth was put in this week and we thought it was the appropiate time to use it," said Holtz. "He's only a freshman but he's going to be a great one."

Holtz visited the Tech dressing room after the game, telling the Red Raiders "you're a helluva team and it took everything we had to win the game. I guarantee you have every right to be proud of the game."

The Holtz bounced into the Arkansas dressing room where Orange Bowl committee members Bob Lafferty and Joe Subers were waiting.

"I promised you we would be 10-1," said Holtz, who then quipped, "only I didn't promise you we'd run them out of the stadium."

The Orange Bowl opted for Arkansas last Saturday when most observers believed Penn State, which still has Pittsburgh on its schedule Nov. 26, would get the bid. The gamble was, of course, that the Razorbacks would whip Tangerine Bowl-bound Tech.

Things looked dark for the Razorbacks after the Rodney Allison-led Red Raiders scored two first half touchdowns on one-yard plunges by Billy Taylor. Arkansas only had a 50-yard field goal by Steve Little and three first downs to show for the first 30 minutes of play.

"At halftime I told our players 14 points would not win the game," said Holtz. "I felt if we could shut out Tech in the second half, we could win."

Tech lost field goal kicker Blade Adams with a knee injury in the first half and his replacement, linebacker Mike Moch, had a 31-yard attempt blocked by Patrick Martin in the third quarter. That seemed to give the Razorbacks life.

"It was an even game until we lost Blade, then we had to change our offensive thinking," said Sloan. "And we had a mix-up on a third-and-two play deep in their territory. We were supposed to run but we passed. That happens.

"Arkansas has a great team and deserves to be in the Orange Bowl, but we deserve to be in the Tangerine, too. I told the Tangerine people that when we have all of our people well we feel we are as good as anybody. We have a very competitive football team."

Injuries were so bad to the Tech offensive line going into the game that Sloan called them "the Swiss cheese seven."

But he had nothing but praise for his patchwork lineup and added, "The Rodney Allison you saw out there wasn't even 90 percent because of his earlier injury. If he had been 90 percent, he would have scored three times."

Allison, Tech's senior quarterback, missed a month of the season with a small broken bone in his leg and runs with a limp.

Tech, who meets Florida State in the Tangerine Bowl Dec. 23, finished the regular season 7-4.

Arkansas finished its SWC campaign at 7-1 and stands a chance of a co-championship if Texas A&M upsets No. 1-ranked Texas Saturday. Defending co-champion Tech was 4-4 in league play.

Hours after the game, Sloan, whose family is ill with the flu, was pouring over the statistical sheets of the game. He looked up and said, "I'm getting too old for this but our players are excited about going to the Tangerine Bowl and we should have most of our people well."

USC Smells Bluebonnets; But UCLA Wants Roses

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

They started it when Howard Jones was coaching at Southern Cal and Bill Spaulding at UCLA almost a half-century ago.

After the Trojans won the first game 76-0 in 1929, and then the second 52-0 in 1930, they decided that the Bruins weren't quite ready for big-league competition.

It wasn't until 1936 that the Southern Cal-UCLA series was resumed, and that year it resulted in a 7-7 tie, proving that the Bruins at last belonged in the same league with their red-hot intracity rivals.

It's been that way since, and one of the nation's most legendary college football rivalries continues tonight with the usual clash of cymbals and the normally-present high stakes.

This time, however, the roles will be reversed: Southern Cal is cast in the part of spoiler, for a change. The Trojans, who in past years have made the Rose Bowl almost a permanent home, will be trying to knock UCLA out of it and at the same time, make a dash for the Bluebonnet Bowl.

A victory over the 17th-ranked Bruins will get Southern Cal that consolation prize and allow 14th-ranked Washington to sneak into the Rose Bowl on Jan. 2 for the first time since 1962.

Before the Trojans and Bruins meet tonight, two other bowl pictures will be cleared up. The winner of the Oklahoma-Nebraska game earlier in the day claims the Big Eight championship and a rip to the Orange Bowl against Arkansas Jan. 2. The loser's consolation prize will be a Dec. 19 date at the Liberty Bowl to play North Carolina.

Third-ranked Oklahoma needs a victory or a tie in the big game while No. 11 Nebraska must win to get a shot at the Razorbacks in the Orange Bowl.

The Razorbacks enhanced their Orange Bowl role with a comeback 17-14 victory over scrappy Texas Tech Thursday. The Red Raiders, a Tangerine Bowl entrant, held a 14-3 lead at halftime of the Thanksgiving Day game before the sixth-ranked Razorbacks scored twice on touchdown passes by Ron Calcagni.

In other Thanksgiving Day games, Larry Fortner's 10-yard touchdown pass to Paul Warth in the final period sparked Miami of Ohio over Cincinnati 12-7 and Ricky Patton ran 85 yards for a TD in the fourth period, leading Jackson State over Alcorn State 23-16.

Meanwhile, several other traditional rivals will be waiting in the wings for Saturday's competition.

Among them will be Pitt and Penn State, both bowl-bound. The Nittany Lions are heading for the Dec. 25 Fiesta Bowl and Arizona State hopes to be waiting for them. The Sun Devils need a victory over Arizona tonight to clinch a piece of the Western Athletic Conference crown. Pitt will play Clemson Dec. 30 in the Gator Bowl.

Second-ranked Alabama, prepping for a Jan. 2 Sugar Bowl date against Ohio State, plays Auburn. Louisiana State, which plays Stanford in the Dec. 31 Sun Bowl, goes against Wyoming. Georgia faces Georgia Tech, Florida plays at Miami, Fla., Vanderbilt meets Tennessee, Texas Christian faces Baylor, Houston takes on Rice and Utah plays New Mexico in some of the major ones.

Western Texas College Successful In First-Round Wool Bowl Action

ROSWELL, N.M.--Western Texas College eeked into second round play here Thursday by defeating Oklahoma City Southwest Junior College in a late-minute thriller, 74-72.

WTC will face favorite Odessa College, 90-75 winners over Navajo Community College (Ariz.) at 10 p.m. CST, as the annual Wool Bowl continues.

The Westerners blew a 56-40 lead early in the second half as OCS surged ahead on a sleeping defense. Oklahoma edged in front by a couple of points, but WTC's Adam Beadle pushed the Snyder-based junior college back in front on a three-point play in the waning seconds.

"It wasn't very artistic, but we were glad for the win," noted Westerner Coach Nolan Richardson. "We'll have to play a more steady game against Odessa tonight."

Odessa played a nip and tuck contest with Navajo Community College yesterday until three minutes to go, when they hit the final 14 straight points.

In meeting Odessa tonight, WTC will have to cope with Donny Johnson, who led his team in scoring with 22 individual points. WTC's Adam Beadle was the top Westerner yesterday, hitting 10 of 12 field goals and 4 of 4 free throws for 24 points.

The Westerners managed a team effort of 68 percent from the floor, or 34 of 50 baskets.

Other first-round winners of the annual Wool Bowl basketball tournament were New Mexico Military, 104-61 over Wayland Baptist College (Plainview); and Ranger Junior College, 76-73 over New Mexico Junior College (Hobbs, N.M.).

Winner of tonight's WTC-Odessa game will meet the Ranger-NMMI victor in the finals Saturday at 3 p.m.

Eagles Sail Past Tigers In Tourney

ABILENE--The Abilene High Eagles, playing the host role in this year's Key City Tournament, drubbed previously unbeaten Snyder here this morning, 90-66.

Snyder, out of the championship field, will meet the Waxahachie-Abilene Cooper loser Saturday at 9 a.m. in the consolation bracket.

The class 4A Eagles, yet to chalk a loss this season themsleves, utilized the 6' 6" power of David Little to out-basket, out-rebound the 3A Tigers. Little slapped up 27 points for the Eagles, backed by teammate Byron Roberts' 23 and Cisco Smith's 16.

The Eagles, who are to meet Wichita Falls Rider tonight at 9 o'clock, roared out to an early 28-14 first-quarter lead, then continued to pace the action 24-19 in the second period and 20-14 in the third. Snyder posted 19 points to AHS's 18 in the final stanza; the only period in which it outscored the Eagles.

Randy Courtney led the Snyder charge with 19 points. Tony Cobb and Richard Crayton - who was 8 for 8 from the charity line - drilled a dozen points each.

TREASURED THOUGHTS

Robert Louis Stevenson lived in Samoa for a number of years. The natives loved him so they built a road up the mountainside to his lovely home.

They named the road, "The Road of the Loving Heart."

When I was a child I read his little book, A Child's Garden of Verses, and through it, Robert Louis Stevenson built a "Road of the Loving Heart" straight to the door of my life. Remember, "I have a little shadow that goes in and out with me?" How could any of us ever forget?

In a sense, that is what God does for every man. He builds a road to the very door of your life and He walks it every day. He brings love and mercy and personal concern for your welfare. He is a shadow who "goes in and out with you."

It is the road of the loving heart and you can walk toward Him as He walks to you. It is a two-way path to peace and power and strength, built by God to the very threshold of your life.

Sadat, Begin Refer To Their Family Ties

By George W. Cornell
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)-Legend says they're ancestral cousins, those two edgy rivals who had been breathing fury and distrust at each other until they sat down at a table together, the Arab and the Jews.

They're both Semitic peoples and according to Scriptural accounts accepted by both Moslems and Jews, they're blood cousins. It might seem odd that they've been such bitter foes.

"But families are always having arguments," says Biblical historian Shaye Cohen of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. "Family arguments always are the most ferocious."

There were hints of that sort of thing, both the entrenched antagonism and also the latent, somewhat surprised consanguinity, when Egypt's President Anwar Sadat and Israel's Prime Minister Menahem Begin met together.

"We liked each other," Begin put it, incredulous but pleased. "May peace be with us all, God willing," said Sadat.

Both referred to their shared roots, Sadat to the Biblical patriarch Abraham, "forefather of Arabs and Jews," and Begin to the "racial kinship and ancient bonds" between Arab and Jewish people.

Their family ties go back to the sons of Abraham: Ishmael, born of Hagar, Egyptian maid of Abraham's wife Sarah, who had urged the affair so her aging husband could get a son, and Isaac, born later to the aging Sarah, amazed to laughter that she finally could bear a child herself.

Ishmael's offspring are considered the Arabs, as affirmed by the founder of Islam, Mohammed. Isaac born the Jewish line. The fathers of the two lines were half-brothers, the uncles and the descendant cousins.

After Ishmael and Isaac became toddlers, Sarah on seeing them playing happily together, urged Abraham to throw out the servant woman and her son for he "shall not be heir with my son, Isaac."

This annoyed Abraham because Ishmael was a son, too; but with divine prompting Abraham did as Sarah wished, since Abraham's descendants would be named through Isaac, although Ishmael also would sire a nation.

A "great nation," says Genesis 21:18. The boy grew up in the wilderness, becoming an expert bowman. He took an Egyptian wife. His descendants would be so many "they cannot be numbered for multitude" was the Biblical promise of him in Genesis 16.

Isaac married Rebekah, the parents of the Jewish patriarch Jacob.

President Sadat, citing the ancestral ties between Jews, quoted from the Koran:

"We believe in God and what has been revealed to us and what was revealed to Abraham, Ishmael, Isaac, Jacob and the 13 Jewish tribes. And in the books given to Moses and Jesus and the prophets from their Lord, who made no distinction between them."

"So we agree," Sadat said.

"Shalom aleikum-peace be upon you."

Your Birthday

Nov. 26, 1977

One of the things that makes this coming your unique is that you will look for partners instead of continuing to play a lone hand. Some alliances will be both profitable and enjoyable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Someone you know may present a proposal that you dismiss because of that person's past record. Reflection may prove it to be a very sound plan. Find out to whom you're romantically suited to by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each a a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Whether you succeed today depends largely on the ante. If the stakes are high enough, your fears and doubts will almost magically dissolve.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There's a chance today that you may be uneasy about participating in activities with strangers. This is a mistake. You could meet a valuable ally.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Initially today you may go after prestige instead of pesos. Have a good talk with yourself, then take the cash and let the credit go.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Doubts may arise as to whether a person with whom you have a close relationship really appreciates you. His actions overcome your fears.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Part of you is opting to get something for nothing, while the nobler part wants to strive hard for rewards. Your noble nature wins.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) While you are not easily dissuaded, it would be wise to avoid associates who tend to vacillate. The exposure could weaken you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your secret today is to try to make things you have to do fun. Obligatory functions will quickly turn you off.

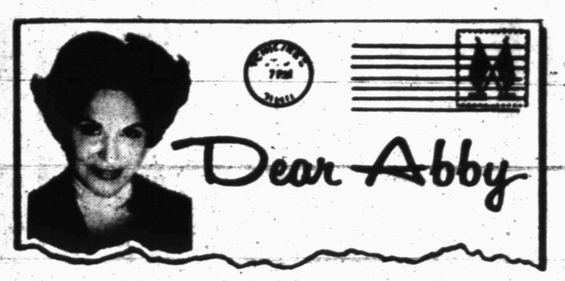

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) People are your books today. Study them. You'll find they're no better or worse than you, but have different experiences you can learn from.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Intangibles tend to confuse you today. You can't quite grasp them. Something you can get a handle on you can parlay into dollars and cents.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You dwell somewhere between the worlds of reality and dreams today, but your real success lies in reality.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The joke is on you if you think you can receive without giving today. Extend yourself. You'll be compensated beyond what you expect.

Don't Let Loser Win You Over

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y.News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old single woman. Four months ago I met a man about my age and we hit it off beautifully. He has his own business, is active in politics, and plans to run for public office. He lives about 300 miles away, but he phones me every night and flies over to see me every other weekend.

I really fell for him, and the feeling is mutual. We even discussed marriage.

Last weekend he said he had something important to tell me. Then he said he was married and had two children! He said, "I didn't tell you sooner because I knew I was falling in love with you and I was afraid you'd tell me to get lost. I didn't want to lose you." Then he started to cry.

Abby, I am so in love with him it's like I'm in a trance. He said he respects his wife but he doesn't love her. He does love his kids. Also, because of his political ambitions, he can't get a divorce right now. But if I'm patient, eventually we'll be married.

What should I do? We can't help it if we met too late.

DEEPLY IN LOVE

DEAR DEEPLY: If you're wise you will tell him you never want to see him or hear from him again. It will hurt less if you break it off immediately. There is no way you can win with this loser.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents who instruct their young children to "go give so-and-so a big kiss"?

I have a relative who has trained her children to kiss on command. She always sends her little toddlers around the room to kiss everyone goodnight—some are strangers the children have never seen before.

What are your feelings about this?

NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: Unless a kiss is spontaneous, voluntary and sincere, it's counterfeit. So I would urge parents (and others) not to instruct youngsters to bestow their kisses indiscriminately.

DEAR ABBY: I need your advice on how to tell a friend that she is welcome in my home but her dog is not.

Every time she brings her poodle here, he piddles on my carpet. After she left last time, I had to shampoo both my bedroom and living room carpets.

I invited her here again last Sunday. When I phoned her in advance, I told her not to get mad, but to please not bring her dog when she comes. Well, she came and brought her dog. She said she tried to leave him but he cried so much she couldn't. My living room got it again!

What can I do? She never misses your column. Please print this!

OUT OF SHAMPOO

DEAR OUT: Your problem is not the poddle. It's YOU and your inability to convince your friend that you do NOT want her piddling poodle to make a puddle on your carpet. TELL her if she can't leave her dog home, you will miss her. And if she comes and brings her dog, tell her you're sorry, but she can't bring him in the house. If you lose her friendship, you haven't lost much.

If you feel left out and lonely, or wish you knew how to get people to like you, my new booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old," is for you. Send $1 along with a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Connors Tops List

SAN DIEGO (AP)-Tennis star Jimmy Connors tops Man Watchers Inc.'s Thanksgiving Day "turkey list" because he has "deplorably bad manners" on the court.

The list is made up of men the group says women do not like to watch.

Actor McLean Stevenson made it because of his "bawdy body and bathroom humor on talk shows."

Others were stuntman Evel Knievel "for the terrible putdowns of women" on television; actor Robert Blake "for his icy manners and treatment of his co-workers, especially women;" President Carter's brother, Billy, "for his leisure suits and beer belly."

Former federal budget director Bert Lance was named, but there was "no comment" on why he made the list.

Former U.S. Attorney General Richard Kleindienst was listed "for his quarter-million-dollar legal fee for helping place Teamster insurance business," and television commercial character Mr. Whipple was singled out "for having nothing better to do with his time than squeeze toilet tissue."

Amarasian Kids Losing Citizenship

By DENIS D. GRAY
Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)-About 4,000 children of American-Thai parents are in the process of losing their Thai citizenship through a decree designed to safeguard Thailand's national security.

The children were abandoned by their fathers or are simply the product of casual unions during the Indochinese war years when the United States kept upwards of 50,000 military personnel in Thailand.

Interior Ministry officials say a 1972 decree aimed at preventing children of Vietnamese refugees from obtaining Thai citizenship now is being applied to the "Amerasians," as they are known here.

The decree reflects Thai suspicion of the tens of thousands of Vietnamese who fled to Thailand in the 1950s after the French war in Vietnam.

Successive Thai governments have said some of the Vietnamese were Communist agents or at least easy targets for conversion to Communism.

Thailand has been flooded by Vietnamese refugees who escaped their homeland after the Communist takeover in 1975, and the Thai government is constantly tightening restrictions against them.

Loss of Thai nationality will deprive the children of the right to vote or participate in the Thai government when they grow up. Officials say they also may have trouble getting government jobs and could face travel restrictions.

Robert M. Hearn, head of the Pearl S. Buck Foundation in Thailand, an international child relief agency, said the children might, through a complicated process, be eligible for U.S. citizenship. But Hearn said this "would be meaningless."

The children "live in Thai homes, with Thais. They're not going anywhere. Maybe one in a thousand would be interested in becoming an American," Hearn told the Associated Press in an interview.

The foundation sponsors 1,227 "Amerasian" children, taking care of their welfare and schooling, providing counseling services and other help through funds from American donors.

Dockers To Vote Monday

NEW YORK (AP)-If local issues can be settled at several key ports, the 50,000-member International Longshoremen's Association expects to vote on a proposed three-year contract Monday.

Union president Thomas W. Gleason indicated Thursday that voting probably would begin at 7 a.m. Monday on a contract for dockworkers at 34 Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico ports. The balloting could take several days.

Unresolved local contract issues in Baltimore, Philadelphia and Mobile were to be discussed today.

Gleason contended interport rivalries, in which shipping associations are seeking a competitive were the only obstacles to full accords at the two East Coast points and along the eastern portion of the Gulf coast.

Gleason expressed confidence the dockworkers would accept a 32 percent package increase which, by the proposed contract's final year, would raise the current hourly pay of $8 to $10.40 and hourly benefits to $3.75 while providing income for longshoremen idled by automation.

A vote to accept the contracts would end an eight-week shipping tie-up that has cost the jobs of tens of thousands of workers in many industries and hurt the national economy with several billion dollars in lost production.

The strike remained selective and confined to "automated" shipping except in Baltimore, where a general strike by 4,000 longshoremen against everything began Wednesday with Gleason's blessing.

Cattle Birth Rate In Peril

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)-A freeway mishap involving a Greyhound bus almost led to an instant decline in this area's cattle birth rate.

Four metal containers carrying 6,400 doses of frozen cattle sperm fell from the bus' unlatched baggage compartment Tuesday as the bus was driving onto the freeway.

Police received reports of obstructions in the freeway entrance and initially took great care approaching the scene because they feared the containers might be dangerous, said a police spokesman.

It was finally established that the containers, shipped from Plain City, Okla., held a month's supply of sperm for All West Select Sires in Burlington.

All West's assistant manager said about two-thirds to three-fourths of the $10,000 shipment is still usuable.

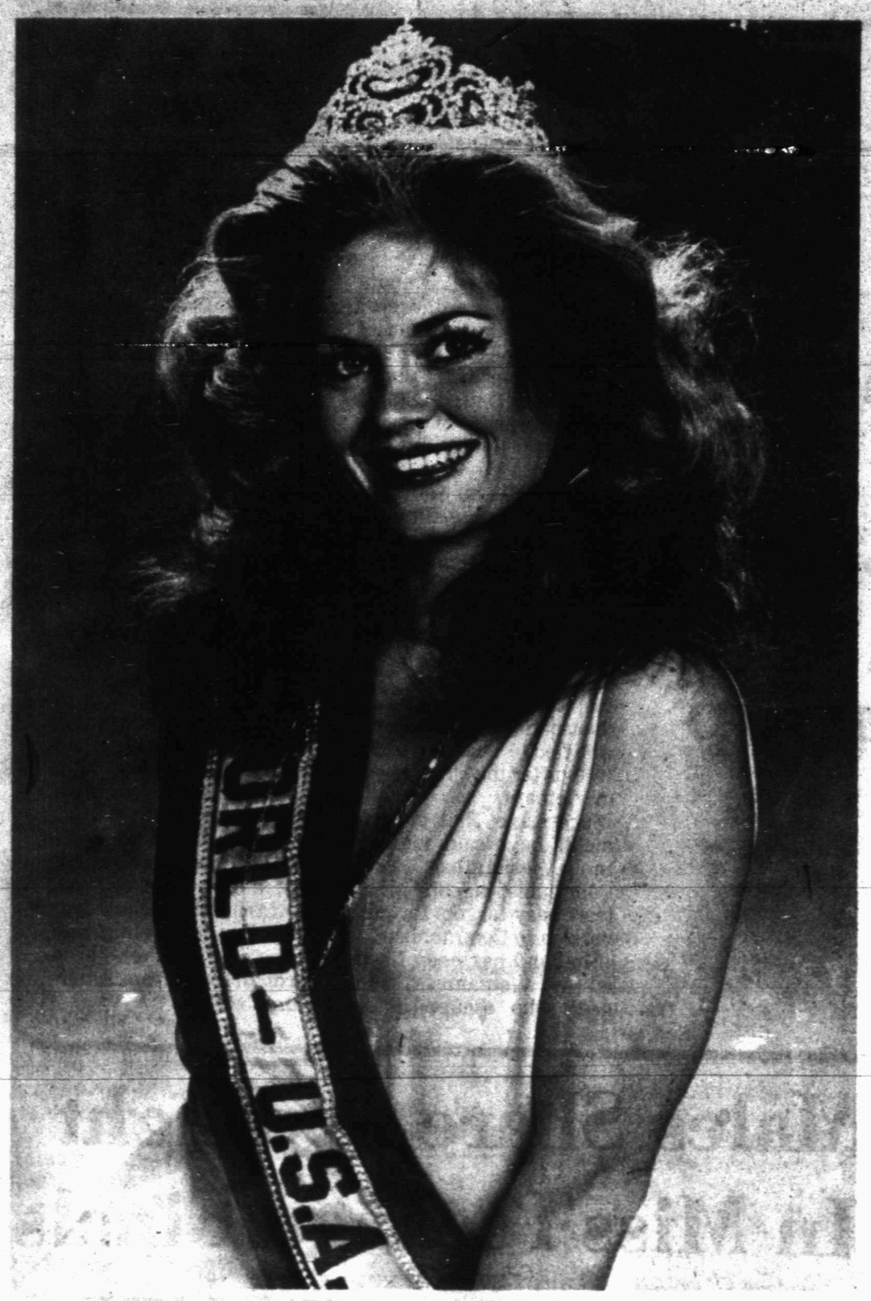

At the beginning of 1977 there were an estimated 183 million people in the United States with some form of private health insurance, according to the Health Insurance Institute.

Marcos Honors Graham

(AP)-President Ferdinand Marcos gave evangelist Billy Graham a Thanksgiving night state dinner.

Graham said he has dined five times with Queen Elizabeth II and many times with presidents of the United States and chancellors of West Germany, but he never before had been honored with a state dinner in his more than 30 years as a minister.

"While this hall has celebrated the passing of kings and prime ministers and presidents, it is honored to celebrate with a man like us, a man of common clay," Marcos said in a champagne toast.

The dinner at the presidential palace, which lasted until 1 a.m. Friday, followed the second of five sessions of the "Metro Manila Billy Graham Crusade '77."

An estimated 100,000 persons attended Graham's first evangelical session Wednesday night in this heavily Roman Catholic country. Thursday night's crowd was estimated at 45,000.

As Wheat Prices Decline Decline

Bread Prices Edge Up

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-The retail price of bread has edged up this year and may average close to the record of 36 cents a loaf set in 1975 when farmers were getting more than twice as much for the wheat used to make it.

According to Agriculture Department figures, the average price of a one-pound loaf of white bread through the first nine months of this year was about 35.5 cents. Experts say that some further increases can be expected.

The latest figures show that a loaf of bread sold in stores nationally in September at an average price of 35.7 cents, up from 35.3 cents last January. For all of 1976, the average bread price was 35.3 cents a loaf.

On the heels of soaring wheat prices and other costs, bread rose to a record average of 36 cents a loaf in 1975 from about 34.5 cents in 1974.

But wheat prices at the farm have since tumbled sharply. They rose to a record average at the farm of $5.52 a bushel in early 1974, when large exports drained U.S. wheat reserves to a 25-yer low. Since then, however, huge harvests have rebuilt the stockpile to its highest level since 1963.

Last month, the department reported that on Oct. 15 the farm price of wheat was $2.26 a bushel.

The most recent analysis on where the consumer bread dollar goes is for September, when a one-pound loaf averaged 35.7 cents.

Translated into the "farm value" of wheat used to make the flour that goes into bread, the September loaf included 2.6 cents worth of wheat. Counting other farm products such as vegetable shortening and milk products, the total value of farm products was 3.2 cents in each loaf.

Middleman charges for flour milling, transportation, baking, merchandizing and other costs of getting bread to consumers make up the remainder of the retail bread price.

Using the September figures against annual bread prices and the farmer's share of what consumers pay for a loaf, it shapes up this way:

-In 1974, with bread costing slightly less than 34.5 cents a loaf, the farm value of wheat used to make it was almost 5.5 cents. Counting the other ingredients, the value of all farm products was more than 7.9 cents a loaf.

-The record average retail price of 36 cents a loaf included 4.5 cents worth of wheat, valued at the farm. Counting other farm ingredients, the share was 6.8 cents.

Thus, using those figures against the September break-down, the farm value of wheat has declined 2.9 cents in each loaf-more than 50 percent-since 1974. Meanwhile, the September retail price of bread was up 1.2 cents.

The farm price of wheat has edged slightly higher in recent months from its four-year low last summer, when the farm value of wheat in a loaf of bread dropped to 2.2 cents.

A current report on the wheat situation says "the recent rise in wheat prices could lead to some increases in bread prices or result in a narrowing of the farm-retail spread" or middleman charges.

"In any event," the report says, "the impact will be less than a half-cent a loaf. Thus, bread prices should exhibit only a slight change over the next several months."

Abortion Suit Leads To Altar

AKRON, Ohio (AP)-Two months ago Jame Priebe went to court to stop an abortion his girlfriend planned. Now, they're going to the altar and are looking forward to the birth of Cathy Wyman's fourth child.

"Things have really changed," said Priebe, 24, whose wedding today to Mrs. Wyman, 19, was planned for an undisclosed location.

Priebe filed suit in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court against Mrs. Wyman last September when she planned to terminate a pregnancy for which he claimed responsibility. For an undisclosed reason, the suit was dismissed before going to trial.

Shortly after the dismissal, Mrs. Wyman abandoned her plans for an abortion. She has since divorced and gained custody of her children, aged 1, 2, and 3.

"Sometimes people have to go through some sad things to end up with what they want," Priebe said. "Now I'm about one of the happiest fellas on earth.

"She's taking a different outlook on life and so am I, and now that we have a lot of headaches out of the way, such as her divorce and custody of her three other kids, we can sit back and say things aren't as bad as we thought they were."

Mrs. Wyman had said earlier that raising three children on welfare payments was difficult. But Priebe, a truck driver, said he is buying a house and has purchased a new car.

"After feeling the baby move and hearing its heartbeat, it would be hard to get rid of," said Mrs. Wyman, whose baby is due in January. "One more isn't going to make any difference."

"She really did realize she loved me a lot and let her feelings go, and is no longer feeling she might be bringing me down with her problems," Priebe said. "I've just loved her all along."

He said the $1,500 for the court case was money well spent. "I really won the case," he said.

Workshops Set On Pest Management

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Agriculture Department has set up three workshops in the coming months to discuss plans for integrated pest management, a concept aimed at using a variety of methods to control insects and other enemies of farmers' crops and livestock.

Officials said the first session will be Dec. 13-15 in Kansas City, Mo.; followed by a second Feb. 28-March 3 in Gainesville, Fla; and a third March 7-9 in Reno, Nev.

The sessions will be conducted by the federal-state cooperative extension services in those states.

Officials said the meetings "will be of interest to entomologists, plant pathologists, nematologists and specialists in farm management, weeds and crops."

Under integrated pest management, procedures are developed using cultural methods, the vulnerabilities of pests, resistant types of crops, biological controls and pesticides to control the pests.

One idea is to reduce the amount of chemicals pesticides needed by farmers to control pests.

The Kansas City workshop will cover corn, soybeans, wheat, grain sorghum, forage, alfalfa and sunflowers.
