Thousands participate in annual celebration

Scurry Countians put on their red, white and blue and made their way to Towle Park, enjoying a sun-up to sundown Independence Day celebration.

Kids ran and bicycled from place to place, craftsmen touted their wares at the armory and barn, politicians took the opportunity to do some campaigning and celebration-goers in general took advantage of every shady spot they could find — some relief from the 99-degree heat.

Those attending the festival were promised a wide array of food and they found it. Everything from ice cream to barbecue was available, and judging from the long lines at some booths — vendors were doing a steady business.

The more athletically inclined entered a volleyball tournament while others swam in the pool, tossed horse shoes or washers, or just took in the sights from the comfort of a strategically placed lawn chair.

Several hundred people participated in the parade. The VFW/ American Legion and Ladies Auxiliaries' float was voted most patriotic. The firecracker bomb was chosen most original, and the best all-around float was entered by Denise Beck, Democratic candidate for county clerk.

Cassie Gunset was the top winner in the kids' 5 and under bicycle decorating contest. Melanie and Kendra Kariainen were second and Rustin Webb was third. Gabrielle Ivey placed first in the 6-8 division, with April Boyd second and Austin Owens third.

In the 9-11 division, Matt Carter placed first, followed by Jeffrey Garner and Blake Robertson. And in the 12 and up division, Eric Estrada was first, Josh Elkins second and Justin Cline third.

Prizes were donated by the Westerner Golfland, Cinema I & II and the city. Bicycle judges were Dan and Dee Chasteen.

Float judges were June McGlaun, Gaynel Cline and Cleo Wolf.

About 300 people shared in the Prayer Breakfast program, which opened festivities at the park with songs of praise.

More than 2,500 were on hand for the annual fireworks display, which closed with a special white buffalo finale.

As most celebration-goers began to make their way home, some stayed around awhile longer for the street dance or the carnival.

Those who missed the carnival have a couple more chances. The rides and shows will remain in the park through Saturday night.

Suspect in deadly fireworks blaze faces arraignment

SCOTTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A man accused of starting a fire that killed eight people in a fireworks store was once charged with hitting his father and was known for walking into neighbors' homes uninvited.

Hall, 24, would ride his bicycle onto people's lawns and go into homes asking for money or gasoline, neighbors in this southern Ohio town said.

A prosecutor said Hall had suffered a head injury when he was younger, which neighbors said appeared to leave him with the mental capacity of a 12-year-old.

Court records show Hall was charged in 1994 with domestic violence against his father. The charge was dismissed after his father indicated his son was "incompetent," according to the records.

A criminal trespassing charge also is pending against Hall, although he has yet to be served with the complaint.

Hall was to be arraigned today on eight counts of involuntary manslaughter. If convicted he could get up to 25 years in prison on each count.

A fireworks expert said Wednesday's blaze could lead to changes in federal standards that regulate how people buy fireworks.

Hall is accused of starting the blaze by lighting a box of firecrackers while 40 people shopped for the Fourth of July inside Ohio River Fireworks, a cinderblock building 'about the size of a double-wide trailer.

The fire killed eight people, including two children, and injured 12 as firecrackers and bottle rockets exploded in every direction. The dead were found packed on top of each other just a few feet from the front door.

"In 15 seconds, it was all over," Freddie Burcham, assistant fire chief in Windsor Township, said Thursday. "It was awful."

Hall, of Proctorville, was egged on by two friends, Lawrence County sheriff's officials said. No one else has been charged.

Prosecutor J.B. Collier Jr. said Hall suffered a head injury a number of years ago that may have contributed to his odd behavior.

"I understand he has some problems," Collier said. He would not elaborate, but said Hall would have a psychological evaluation.

A friend of the family who answered the door Thursday night at the home Hall shares with his father said relatives would not comment.

Think More Rain!

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

We noticed where our big-city neighbors in Abilene have editorialized against a proposal by Sen. Tom Haywood of Wichita Falls to share the profit of the state lottery with local communities.

We think Sen. Haywood's idea is a good one, rebating five percent of lottery sales back to the community where the sales were made.

We're not surprised that Abilene, with its big-city predator attitude, would not want smaller towns to enjoy prosperity. Abilene receives a sales tax earmarked for economic development, much of the funds derived from citizens of Abilene-area towns who buy there. Yet, big-city leaders use those funds to try and undermine the development efforts of smaller communities.

Abilene's business philosophy is reflected not only in the editorial, but also in basic day-to-day news judgments.

When Snyder was working on the prison project, Abilene's coverage suggested that a prison was a terrible idea. Once the economic advantages became obvious, Abilene leaders wanted everyone to believe that they invented the concept. A couple of years ago, Abilene tried to pull the rug out from under local efforts to obtain a distribution center.

But there's more proof of Abilene's lack of interest in residents of area towns. If someone dies who lives outside of Abilene, an obituary listing personal information, including survivors, is run only if someone is willing to pay.

We happen to be from the old school which taught that running obituaries is a basic obligation of the newspaper's franchise in the service area.

That's one big-city editorial decision that this small-town newsman likes. It once again proves that the only publication which cares anything about Snyder is the Snyder Daily News.

Think More Rain!

It's happening all over.

The Sweetwater newspaper reports that the city council is looking at having to replace its 40-year-old wastewater treatment facility.

Snyder went through the process recently as the state regulatory body requires an engineering study once a facility reaches 75 percent of capacity.

Sweetwater is already using the Snyder landfill, and residents there will also likely have to look at its water plant before long. The results will be the same as Snyder — state mandates mean higher monthly utility bills.

Yeltsin accepts congratulations

MOSCOW (AP) — Boris Yeltsin set to work in the Kremlin today on fulfilling campaign promises, two days after his re-election, as top government officials squabbled over the division of power in his new administration.

Retired Gen. Alexander Lebed, Russia's assertive new security chief, said he had given Yeltsin a list of proposed candidates for Cabinet positions and other top government jobs, Izvestia newspaper said.

Lebed was quoted as telling Izvestia he put forward his choices for defense minister and director of the Federal Security Service, the KGB successor, among others. Lebed did not identify his candidates, but said draft decrees on their appointment were on Yeltsin's desk.

The former general appeared to be on a collision course with Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin, whom Yeltsin asked to form a government after winning re-election Wednesday.

Lebed has been seeking broader powers since being appointed security chief after placing third in the first round of voting for president in June. Chernomyrdin has said he won't give up any of his powers, and has rebuffed Lebed's boldest demand that the vice president's job be re-created for him. Under current law, Chernomyrdin takes over if Yeltsin dies.

Yeltsin received congratulations today on his victory over Communist challenger Gennady Zyuganov from Russia's Communist-dominated parliament and President Clinton, and he issued a flurry of instructions to top ministers aimed at meeting campaign promises.

Clinton telephoned Yeltsin and the two spoke for about 25 minutes. "'He sort of took the 'Comeback Kid' label away from me," Clinton said.

Yeltsin's spokesman, Sergei Medvedev, told the Interfax news agency the president was working in the Kremlin on fulfilling campaign promises such as paying back wages to state workers and debts to industry.

He also ordered his prime minister and chief of staff to find out why presidential orders aren't being fulfilled; and he telephoned his security chiefs and foreign minister to "set out tasks." He also ordered supplies of fuel and other goods promptly delivered to the armed forces.

All the activity came amid continued concern over Yeltsin's health, but Clinton said the Russian leader sounded fine.

"I didn't have to ask him about his health because he sounded so good," Clinton told reporters. "He sounded quite good."

A senior White House official, speaking on the condition of anonymity, said that Yeltsin sounded animated and energetic in the conversation with Clinton although his voice was a little weak and he "did talk about the fatigue from the campaign."

Wrecks, dehydration send 3 to area hospitals

Snyder DPS units worked two accidents over the last two days which sent two people to hospitals, including one person who was air-lifted to University Medical Center in Lubbock.

A month-old child was also air-lifted to Lubbock after suffering sunburn and dehydration at Towle Park during the annual Fourth of July Celebration.

DPS troopers responded to a report of a motor vehicle accident at 10:14 p.m. Wednesday near 12934 CR 3132.

Robert Roe, 65, of 10514 CR 6, Ira, was transported by Snyder EMS to Cogdell Hospital where he was later transferred by Flight for Life to UMC. His condition was listed as serious this morning in the hospital's surgical intensive care unit.

At 11:20 p.m. Thursday, DPS troopers were called to a one-vehicle accident near Huffman Avenue on U.S. Highway 84.

Randall Stephens, 33, of 1550 Briarwood in Abilene, was transported by Snyder EMS to Cogdell Hospital where his condition was listed as fair this morning in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Snyder EMS was called to Towle Park last night at 10:23 p.m. in reference to a month-old baby being dehydrated.

The infant was transported to Cogdell Hospital and later air-lifted to University Medical Center where his condition was listed as serious this morning in the hospital's pediatric intensive care unit. He is being treated for sunburn and dehydration, according to hospital officials.

He is the son of Paula Becerro of Snyder.

Thousands celebrate as new U.S. citizens

EL PASO (AP) — In China, Hao-Zhong Dai's wife, Bao-hua, was required to walk in front of him and open the door. But Betty, as Bao-hua now calls herself, won't be doing that as an American citizen.

"Harry's going to have to learn to open the door himself," Bao-hua says, referring to her husband by his new American name.

In other naturalization ceremonies Thursday, 713 immigrants in Detroit, 569 in Seattle and more than 60 in Lincoln, Neb., were welcomed as citizens.

The Seattle ceremony involved immigrants from 64 countries, including Van Phan from Vietnam, who had no trouble explaining why she wanted to become a U.S. citizen.

"I like United States because they have freedom," said Phan, a 36-year-old refugee. "I don't like the Communists. I want to come here. I like the freedom. My country is not free."

Bao-hua and Hao-Zhong were among more than 4,000 people sworn in Wednesday at a naturalization ceremony at the University of Texas at El Paso. About 12,000 people attended that ceremony; 53 nationalities were represented.

Hao-Zhong, 57, a former English professor at the University of Shanghai, says he knows why he's celebrating the Fourth of July: his nine months in solitary confinement during China's Cultural Revolution of the 1960s.

"I was placed in a room, by myself," he said. "I had to publicly confess all my so-called sins to the Communist Party before they would let me go."

Hao-Zhong continued teaching in China after the 1976 death of Mao Zedong, and came to the United States about 10 years ago as an exchange professor. He taught at Rice University until a year ago, when he and his wife moved to western Texas and opened a Chinese restaurant.

Bao-hua is a businesswoman in her own right: She has 10 years of banking experience — six at the Bank of China in Shanghai and four as a bank teller in Houston.

The couple said they look forward to voting, something they never could do in China.

Another group of 4,000 new citizens will be administered the oath next month.

The unbelievable happened

Let's end the week with two deals that, despite what you might think, actually happened as described. But first a question: When and where was the first weekly television show on bridge broadcast?

To my knowledge, the right answer is in England in 1936 — on what is now known as BBC1.

This deal was included in one of these shows. A leading player of that time, Harry Ingram, included it in his 'reminiscensies' — a word that he couldn't spell.

The presenter of the show, Hubert Phillips, had prepared an analysis of the bidding when he was told that East, Ingram, had opened with an incredible psychic three spades. He had only one spade, three first-round controls and lots of red-suit winners — and was vulnerable too!

South had the right answer: a penalty double. (No one used takeout doubles of pre-empts in those days.) Not that South was totally innocent, but the interpretation of the auction was lost on North. Over five diamonds, he should have jumped to six spades. (North was Norman Bach, who later moved to Bermuda and organized the first Bermuda Bowl world team championship in 1950.)

In their excellent book "Famous Bidding Decisions" (Gollancz; $15.95 p.p. from The Bridge World, 39 West 94th Street, New York, NY 10025-7124), Terence Reese and David Bird ask if this is the only time a pair has gone five down in a 6-1 fit when laydown for a slam in a 6-5 fit.

As you can imagine, the viewers with a sense of humor loved it.

Bomb kills two

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — A bomb that exploded in a garbage can in a downtown office district killed two people and injured three.

Police said they were trying to determine whether the two men killed were passersby or if they had planted the bomb, which exploded Thursday night.

Media reports said the injured included child beggars who had been sifting through garbage cans for food.

RCN radio quoted police sources as saying the bomb was made up of 44 pounds of dynamite.

Dr. Gott

By Peter Gott, M.D.

Is alternative therapy useful?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've just returned from a hospital in Tijuana. They treat cancer patients from all over the world for about $400 a day. Practically every patient is there because conventional medicine has failed him. It sickens me to see people like you stand on the sidelines and sneer at people like these patients, some of whom are far more intelligent, talented, and likable than you! I agree that some Mexican doctors are as bad as some U.S. doctors, but this in no way justifies your blanket condemnation.

DEAR READER: I have never sneered at nor deprecated patients with cancer. But I do issue a blanket condemnation of scientifically unproved methods for treating malignancies.

Cancer is a dreadful disease that crosses ethnic and racial boundaries, and pays no attention to age, intelligence, talent, or personality. It is also an unpredictable affliction: Some people are cured by therapy that makes others more ill; on occasion, a cancer may disappear, without treatment, for no known reason.

Nonetheless, the diagnosis of cancer is a fearsome burden to bear and I can certainly understand why patients, who have not responded to modern anti-cancer therapy, try — as a last, desperate hope — to find salvation and good health in Third World cancer clinics.

But the results speak for themselves. No matter how hard cancer patients try to get well in Mexican facilities, studies show that they still die at the same rate — some authorities say even sooner — as patients who undergo traditional treatment.

I have been told that there is one stunning difference between American and Mexican clinics. Aside from being much less expensive, the Mexican facilities are far more humane: People are treated as people, not as numbers as they may be in U.S. hospitals. This is a positive aspect.

Conventional medicine is far from perfect, but alternative anti-cancer therapy is not much of an improvement, especially if you examine the mortality statistics. In addition, it is a terrible shame that people risk early death trying unproved remedies, in place of standard X-ray or chemotherapy.

In judging the effectiveness of any therapy, you have to examine the data that are published in scientific journals. Based on this criterion, I'm afraid that the Mexican methods fall woefully short.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Viruses and Cancer." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 55-year-old brother is terrified of doctors and lives in relative seclusion. His eyes are very sensitive to light, he squints, and his eyes water when exposed to daylight. Is there an over-the-counter medication to help him?

DEAR READER: I'm sorry that your brother fears doctors. This probably stems from an unpleasant past experience he had with a pediatrician. It's in childhood that these fears first develop.

Remember when parents used to threaten their children? "You behave or I'll take you to the doctor for a shot!" This thoughtless statement caused more harm than anyone will ever know.

Actually, doctors aren't such a bad sort — well, some anyway.

Unfortunately, we often have to tell people bad news. The various ways that we meet this daunting challenge may not always be appropriate, leading to poor public relations at best, permanently frightened patients at worst.

Whoops! I think that I got diverted from your question. Sorry.

Light sensitivity commonly accompanies a variety of eye disorders, including cataracts and glaucoma. Because this symptom may reflect a serious eye disease that could eventually affect vision, your brother really should attend to it.

Ideally, he should be examined by an ophthalmologist (M.D.), but you might be able to get him to an optometrist, who is not an M.D. but who can perform the necessary basic testing (vision, eye pressure and so forth), all of which is painless and without risk. If the optometrist is sensitive — and many are — he may be able to refer your brother to a physician for a much-needed general examination.

I hesitate recommending an over-the-counter product without knowing the cause of your brother's light sensitivity. He really needs an exam.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been treated by dermatologists for some time for a skin condition called intertrigo, but it just keeps spreading. Why?

DEAR READER: Intertrigo is a resistant skin infection that is common in obese persons. Areas where the skin touches — for example, under breasts and in deep skin folds — remain moist, dark, and warm, an ideal environment for bacteria and yeasts to grow.

Intertrigo can often be helped by periodic dusting with corn starch or talc. But, in my experience, the only sure-fire cure is to slim down. So, if you're too stout, get on a diet and shed some pounds.

Also, obtain a blood test for diabetes, because this disease frequently worsens intertrigo.

To give you more information on weight reduction, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Winning the Battle of the Bulge." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

Judge dismisses Cliburn lawsuit

FORT WORTH (AP) — A judge has dismissed a multimillion-dollar palimony suit filed against Van Cliburn by a man who claims the pianist exposed him to the AIDS virus during a 17-year sexual relationship.

District Judge Fred Davis said he agreed with Cliburn's lawyers that no part of the arrangement between Thomas E. Zaremba, a 48-year-old mortician, and Cliburn was in writing and that therefore nothing was binding.

When the suit was filed in April, Zaremba's attorney said that his client does not have the AIDS virus and that there was no reason to believe that Cliburn has HIV. But he accused the pianist of having sex with other people who were HIV-positive during his relationship with Zaremba.

Cliburn, 61, said he has not been tested for HIV and does not have AIDS.

He vaulted to fame in 1958 when he won the Tchaikovsky International Music Competition in Moscow.

Frequent flier points to be used

NEW YORK (AP) — Put away your wallet.

Sotheby's is not taking greenbacks in its latest auction; it will take your frequent flier miles, however.

The auction house is teaming up with Northwest Airlines to let bidders use frequent flier points to buy uncommon travel packages.

The proceeds from the Sept. 27 event will go to Habitat for Humanity, a charitable group that builds affordable housing.

Among the items to be auctioned (airfare included):

—Perform on stage with the Beach Boys at a concert of your choice.

—Pilot a jet simulator in Minneapolis under the guidance of Chuck Yeager, who 49 years ago broke the sound barrier in a rocket research plane; tour the Air and Space Museum in Washington; take an astronaut-guided tour of the Space Station Houston; and attend a space shuttle launch at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

—Work side-by-side with former President Carter and his wife, Rosalynn, building a home in the Appalachians for Habitat for Humanity.

—Meet B.B. King and attend the band's sound check.

It isn't the first time an airline has used a frequent flier point auction for charity, but it is the first time it has been a live, public auction, a Sotheby's spokeswoman said.

To let the little guy in, no minimum bid is required and Sotheby's is waiving its usual charge of between 10 percent to 15 percent per item.

Bidders can use Northwest frequent flier points from an existing account, or they can be purchased for 5 cents a mile.

Rules for Living Keep You On the Straight and Narrow

DEAR READERS: Recently I was asked about President James A. Garfield's "Rules for Living." When I confessed I had not seen them, many of you were kind enough to send them to me.

They were evidently given to a young James A. Garfield by an elderly friend, and Garfield cherished them to the end of his life. So for "A Moment in History," who asked for them, and for all of my readers who will surely enjoy them, here are President James A. Garfield's cherished personal principles:

— Never be idle.
— Make few promises.
— Always speak the truth.
— Live within your income.
— Never speak evil of anyone.
— Keep good company or none.
— Live up to your engagements.
— Never play games of chance.
— Drink no intoxicating drinks.
— Good character is above everything else.
— Keep your own secrets if you have any.
— Never borrow if you can possibly help it.
— Do not marry until you are able to support a wife.
— When you speak to a person, look into his eyes.
— Save when you are young to spend when you are old.
— Never run into debt unless you see a way out again.
— Good company and good conversation are the sinews of virtue.
— Your character cannot be essentially injured except by your own acts.
— If anybody speaks evil of you, let your life be so that no one believes him.
— When you retire at night, think over what you have done during the day.
— If your hands cannot be employed usefully, attend to the culture of your mind.
— Read the above carefully and thoughtfully at least once a week.

DEAR ABBY: We recently moved to a new city, and our new telephone number once belonged to a doctor's office. (The doctor has moved to the other side of town.) We frequently find phone messages on our answering machine from people attempting to contact this doctor. One man left a message in minute detail about which vertebrae his wife injured while she was dancing. Another individual left three messages in two hours. He was obviously in extreme pain, begging the doctor to call him.

Our new number is also very close to that of a "Jason." Although the greeting on our machine clearly states that Kraig and Lisa live at this number, we often get messages for him, too. His bank called about his savings account; a car dealer called about a new model he thought Jason might like; a few of his friends were in town for the weekend and called about getting together.

We are often tempted to call these people back and tell them they reached the wrong number, but we remind ourselves that we are not someone else's answering service.

For a while, we had a hilarious message — obviously not that of a doctor's office. Finally, in desperation, we changed our greeting to: "Kraig and Lisa cannot come to the phone right now. Please leave a message after the tone. And by the way, this is not a doctor's office and Jason doesn't live here." That seemed to do the trick!

KRAIG AND LISA,
CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA

DEAR KRAIG AND LISA: Thanks for your letter. As more and more people use telephone answering machines, it is important for callers to listen to the machine's "greeting" to be certain they have reached the right number before leaving a message. Callers could be leaving a message for someone who will never receive it if they have dialed the wrong number. (Press the star key if you comprehend this message.)

DEAR READERS: This moving piece has become something of a Fourth of July tradition:

YOUR FLAG

Hello. Remember me? Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Star-Spangled Banner, but whatever they call me, I am your flag, the flag of the United States of America.

Something has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you — because it is about you and me.

I remember some time ago, people would line up on both sides of the street to watch the parade, and naturally I was leading every one, proudly waving in the breeze.

When your daddy saw me coming, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder so that his hand was directly over his heart — remember?

And you, I remember, were standing there, straight as a soldier. You didn't have a hat, but you were giving the right salute. Remember your little sister? Not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you with her right hand over her heart — remember?

What happened? I'm still the same old flag. Oh, I've added a few more stars since you were a boy, and a lot more blood has been shed since those parades of long ago.

But now, somehow I don't feel as proud as I used to feel. When I come down your street, you just stand there with your hands in your pickets. You may give me a small glance, and then you look away. I see children running around you shouting; they don't seem to know who I am.

I saw one man take his hat off, then he looked around, and when he didn't see anybody else take off his hat, he quickly put his on again.

Is it a sin to be patriotic today? Have you forgotten what I stand for and where I have been? Anzio, Guadalcanal, Korea and Vietnam!

Take a look at the memorial honor rolls and see the names of those patriotic Americans who gave their lives to keep this republic free. When you salute me, you are actually saluting them.

Well, it won't be long until I'll be coming down your street again. So when you see me, please stand straight and place your hand over your heart, and I'll know that you remembered. I'll salute you by waving back!

PAUL C. GRAHAM

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A while back, you answered a woman who wanted to know when it is appropriate to fly the American flag. I thought you would like to see the list from "Flag Code, Directions for Use" that was published by the U.S. Army in 1918:

Feb. 12 . . . Lincoln's Birthday
Feb. 22 . . . Washington's Birthday
April 19 . . Battle of Lexington
June 14 . . . Flag Day
July 4 . . . . Independence Day
Oct. 17 . . . Saratoga Day
Oct. 19 . . . Yorktown Surrender
Nov. 25 . . Evacuation of Yorktown

And long may it wave!

ELLEN SUE TURNER,
SAN ANTONI

DEAR ELLEN SUE: Thank you for a fascinating bit of history. Since I published in January the "modern list" of dates for flying the flag, readers have pointed out that Martin Luther King Jr. Day and Father's Day were missing — so I'm adding them now. Happy Fourth of July, everyone.

Snyder knocks Rotan out of L.L. tourney

ROTAN — With their backs to the wall, the Snyder 11 & 12-year-old all-stars put away Rotan for the second time this week, 11-0, Wednesday in Rotan.

A loss by Snyder would have eliminated the local all-stars from the Area 4, District 5 Little League tournament.

Ralph Ramon and Nathan Smith opened the game with back-to-back singles. Ryan Braziel got an RBI single, scoreing Ramon for what turned out to be the winning run.

Shae Franks knocked a single up the middle for the fourth hit of the inning. Smith and Braziel both scored in the opening frame.

Brandon McGuire hit the first pitch of the third inning over the right-center field fence for a solo homer to make the score 4-0. Braziel followed up with a double and later scored.

Snyder came up with four more runs in the fifth. Tate Thompson started the stanza with a single. Before the inning was over, Diego Hernandez, Wade Pinson, Brooks Nunley and Ramon would all single and score.

In the sixth, Snyder added two more. McGuire got on with a walk and Chance Greenwood doubled. Thompson then hit a two RBI - singled to left, scoring McGuire and Greenwood.

Snyder came up with 11 runs on 14 hits and did not commit any errors.

McGuire was the winning pitcher, allowing no runs on three hits, struck out 13 and walked three.

Snyder will now face Sweetwater at 7:30 tonight in Rotan in an elimination game. The Snyder-Sweetwater winner will play Colorado City at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

13-year-old all-stars take win over Clyde

ABILENE — After receiving a first-round bye, the 13-year-old all-stars opened play here Wednesday with a 14-7 victory over Clyde in the District 5 Junior Little League tournament.

Snyder got on the scoreboard first in the top of the second. R.J. Hernandez doubled and would later score run number one. Davison Burnett reached first on a walk and would eventually score the second run. Marcus Diaz also got a base hit in the inning.

Clyde came back in the bottom of the second to take the lead with three runs on three hits.

Snyder regained the lead in the third when they sent 10 batters to the plate. The local all-stars came up with five runs on five hits. Heath Pinkerton led off with a single and would score. Hernandez doubled and scored. Paddy Vantine reached first on an error and would score. Burnett and Diaz both singled and scored and Jessie Haines reached first before the inning was over.

Diaz, who finished the game three for five, got his third single to open up the fifth. Diaz would score on Josh Arizmendi's double. Arizmendi would do the same on Matthew Grimmett's double.

Snyder led 10-3 going into the bottom of the fifth.

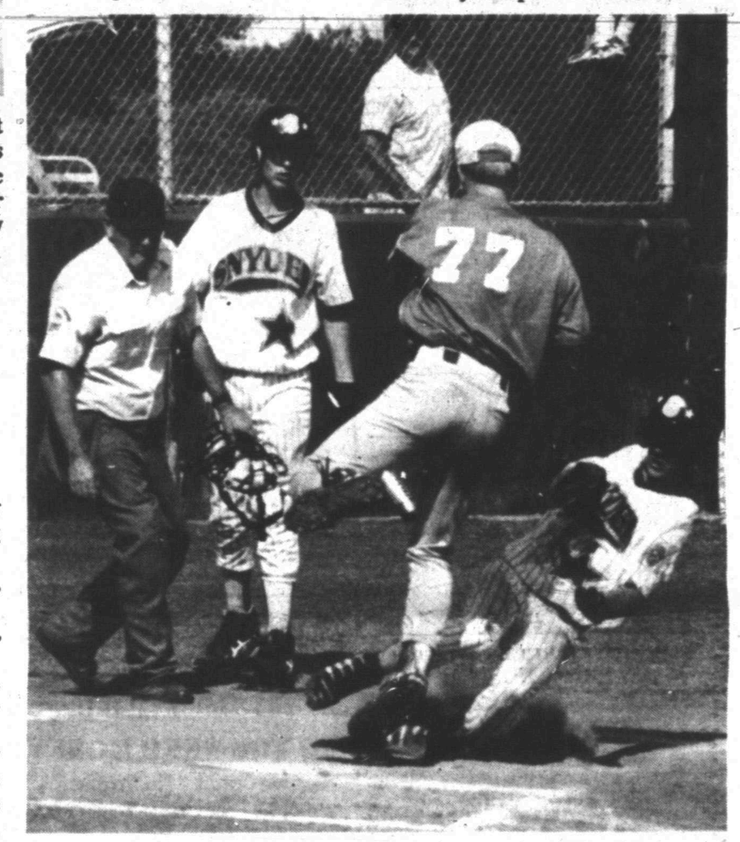
Clyde rallied in the sixth with four runs to cut the Snyder lead to 10-7, but the 13-year-old all-stars were able to put out the fire.

Snyder came up with four insurance runs in the top of the seventh. Arizmendi and Grimmett each singled and scored. Daniel Highfield walked and scored as did Mark Medley.

For the game, Snyder came up with 14 runs on 15 hits. Clyde had seven runs on seven hits.

Arizmendi picked up the win on the mound, allowing seven runs on seven hits. Diaz finished the game with two strike outs.

Snyder will not play again until Tuesday at 6 p.m. in Abilene.



SAFE AT HOME - Snyder's Brad Roemisch slides under the tag of Coleman's pitcher Jeremy Smith during play Thursday in the Senior Little League Tourney in Albany. Snyder won 17-4 and will face the Abilene senior all-stars Monday at 8:30 p.m. (SDN Staff Photo)

Senior Little League continues to roll with blowout of Coleman

ALBANY - Snyder's Senior Little League All-Stars won their second game by the 10-run rule in the Albany tournament by defeating Coleman Thursday afternoon, 17-4.

Snyder managed the lop-sided victory despite getting only six hits, all singles, in the four-and-a-half inning game.

Clint Hook pounded two hits while Sonny Cumbie, Tyler Warren, Jacob Smith and Sam Bedell all singled.

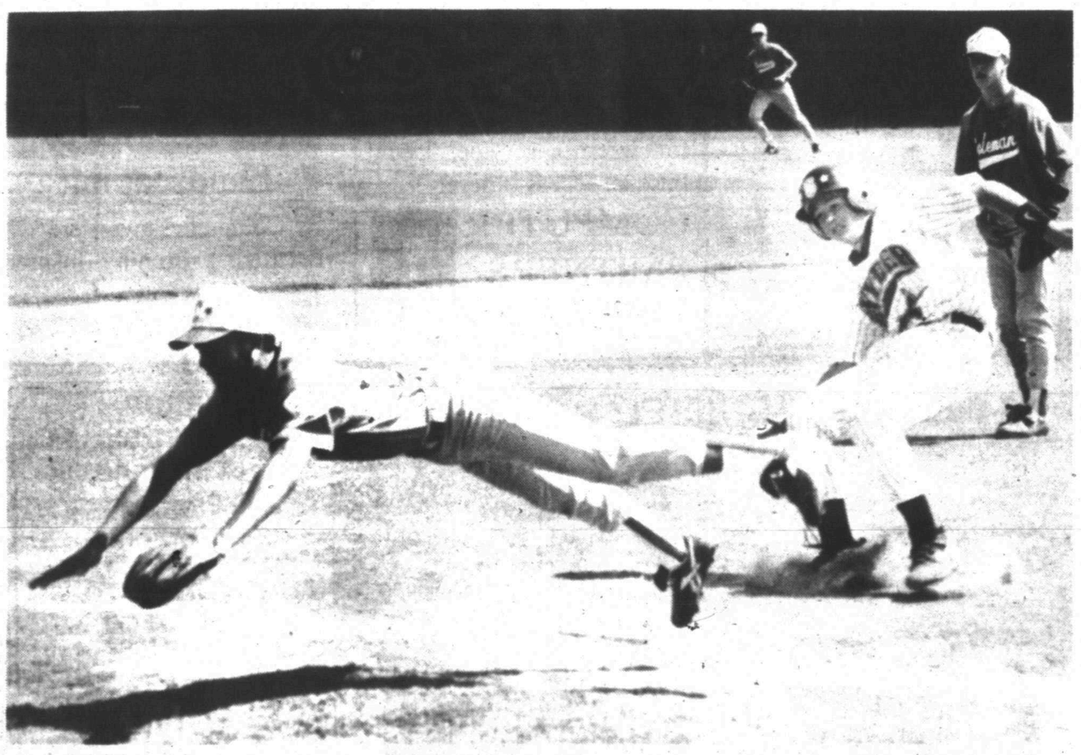
Snyder will play the Abilene Senior All-Stars Monday at 8:30 p.m. in their third game of the tourney. Abilene edged Colorado City Thursday night, 9-8.

Snyder got on the scoreboard first following a walk by Cory Mandrell in the first inning. Mandrell scored the first of his three runs on an error by the Coleman infield. Coleman took a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the first inning as they got two of their five hits for the tilt.

Snyder came back with four runs in its half of the second inning before turning loose the bats in the big third inning.

Scoring for Snyder were Johnny Pena, Mandrell (3), Clint Hook, Banks Alexander, Eric Gard (2), Cumbie, Josh Ward, Smith (2), James Allen Shields (2), Bedell (2) and Brad Roemisch.

Gard started on the mound for Snyder and was replaced with Smith in the bottom of the first inning. Smith recorded the win.



ACTION AT THIRD - Snyder's Cory Mandrell slides into third base as Coleman's Ruben Rosales attemps to catch an errant throw during play Thursday afternoon in the Senior Little League Tournament in Albany. Snyder broke a close game open in the third inning by scoring eight runs to win 17-4 in a game shortened by the 10-run rule. (SDN Staff Photo)

Graf advances to finals at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Steffi Graf advanced to her eighth Wimbledon final today when she completed a three-set victory over Japan's Kimiko Date.

The six-time champion defeated the 12th-seeded Date 6-2, 2-6, 6-3. The match had been suspended by darkness Thursday after two sets.

Graf had dropped six straight games to lose the second set and looked in danger of elimination. But she came out refreshed today and needed only 26 minutes to take the third set in bright sunshine.

"I wonder how much longer she could have kept up at that level," Graf said. "All things were favoring her a little bit. At least I felt like I was serving much better than I was yesterday, so I didn't worry too much."

In Saturday's final, the defending champion will meet fourth-seeded Arantxa Sanchez Vicario in a replay of last year's championship match.

Sanchez Vicario cruised into the final Thursday by beating Meredith McGrath 6-2, 6-1 in 61 minutes.

THE ANCIENT SCRIBES!

SCRIBES WERE WRITERS WHO WERE EMPLOYED, PUBLICLY, TO WRITE UNDER DICTATION AND TO DRAW UP LEGAL DOCUMENTS (JER.36:32) (JER.32:12) A DESCRIPTION OF AN ANCIENT SCRIBE IS GIVEN IN EZEKIEL 9:2 BUT MUCH OF OUR KNOWLEDGE OF SCRIBES IS OBTAINED FROM STATUES AND CARVED BAS-RELIEFS LEFT BY THE ANCIENTS! FROM THE EGYPTIAN DYNASTY IV HAVE BEEN PRESERVED PICTURES OF SEATED SCRIBES WITH THEIR SHARPENED RUSH PENS AND PALETTES. AT ANCIENT NINEVEH, CARVINGS SHOW SCRIBES LISTING THE LOOT AND THE CAPTIVES FROM A TOWN CAPTURED BY SENNACHERIB! IT WAS ONLY THROUGH THE WORK OF SCRIBES THAT THE SCRIPTURES WERE TRANSMITTED FOR CENTURIES---IT WAS ARDUOUS AND FATIGUING WORK AND IN A.D. 301 EMPEROR DIOCLETIAN SET THE WAGES OF SCRIBES AT 25 DENARII PER 100 LINES, FOR WRITING OF THE FIRST QUALITY, AND AT 20 DENARII FOR THAT OF SECOND QUALITY! AMONG THE ISRAELITES, LEVITES WERE EMPLOYED AS SCRIBES FOR THE BUSINESS OF REPAIRING THE TEMPLE (II CHRON. 34:13)

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

U.S. unemployment falls to 5.3 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate fell to 5.3 percent, the lowest level in six years, as the economy continued to expand at a surprisingly robust rate last month. Wall Street went into an immediate swoon, fearing the rapid growth makes rising interest rates inevitable.

The Labor Department said today that businesses added 239,000 workers to their payrolls in June, a sharply higher figure than had been expected. The unemployment rate had been 5.6 percent in May and many analysts had been expecting it to remain basically unchanged.

President Clinton, up for re-election, lost no time commenting on the strong employment report, saying it showed the success of his economic program.

"We have the most solid American economy in a generation. It is good news when Americans can have high job growth, strong investment and low inflation," President Clinton told reporters in the White House briefing room.

The Dow Jones industrial average lost 86 points in the first 30 minutes of trading as stocks followed bonds down.

GM settlement brings closure to lawsuits

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. agreed to settle lawsuits involving pickup trucks to end the matter, not because the trucks are unsafe, the automaker said.

"We feel it is time to bring this issue to a close ... because it is the fair thing to do for our customers who have heard and read so much misleading, erroneous information about these trucks for several years," GM lawyer Lee Schutzman said Thursday.

Critics contend the side-mounted gas tanks on GM's 1973-86 C-K trucks and 1987-91 R-V trucks are fire hazards in side-impact crashes. Most trucks' tanks are mounted in the middle of the frame to protect them.

A Louisiana judge on Wednesday tentatively approved the deal, which would settle several national class-action lawsuits and others in Louisiana and Texas. He scheduled a Nov. 6 hearing about granting final approval. Final approval is not expected until January, at the earliest.

The settlement would require GM to give truck owners $1,000 certificates toward the purchase of any new GM car or truck, except Saturns.

Plaintiff lawyers estimate 5 million truck owners would benefit, making the settlement worth $5 billion.

GM spokesman Ed Lechtzin disputed the number, saying it wasn't clear how many of the certificates would actually be used. GM does agree that at least 5 million of the pickups are still on the road, he said.

"It is a figure someone yanked out of the air. How many of these (certificates) will actually be used? You can't say how much it's going to cost GM. We don't have any cost out of our pocket," he said.

"If this is someone who buys a vehicle who normally otherwise would not have bought a new vehicle, then that's a plus sale for us," Lechtzin said, adding that the company is not setting aside a special fund for the settlement.

The settlement, which would not affect lawsuits involving injuries that might have occurred as a result of the gas tanks, also requires GM to contribute $4.1 million to a national research project on vehicle fires. None of that research will involve the GM pickups covered by the new settlement, the Detroit Free Press reported today.

GM still faces more than 40 product liability lawsuits filed by owners of the older GM pickups who were injured in crashes, the newspaper said.

The U.S. Transportation Department said in 1994 that the pickups contained a safety defect, although that finding was later voided as part of a settlement between GM and the government.

GM agreed to spend $51 million on safety programs and research. Auto safety groups accuse the company of holding back on the spending.

Routier baby now with Lubbock grandparents

LUBBOCK (AP) — The baby brother of two boys stabbed to death in Rowlett is home with his paternal grandparents after a judge awarded them temporary custody at a Dallas hearing.

Colorful streamers, balloons and banners adorned Sarilda and Leonard Routier's Lubbock house when the couple arrived Thursday with 8-month-old Drake Routier.

"It's been a long drive, but we're going to feel wonderful," Sarilda Routier said. "We're really glad we got him."

The baby had been in foster care since shortly after his mother, Darlie Routier, 26, was charged with capital murder in connection with the deaths of her sons, Damon, 5, and Devon, 6. The boys were stabbed in the early morning hours of June 6 in their Rowlett home.

Darlie Routier was slashed across the neck and arms in what she says was an intruder's attack on the trio, asleep in the downstairs living room. Her husband, Darin, and Drake were not injured.

The court order gives Darin Routier visitation rights but requires supervision by one of Darin's parents. If Darlie Routier is released from a Dallas jail, she cannot have contact with Drake.

She was being held at Lew Sterrett Justice Center on $1 million bond.

"The whole idea was not to get Drake away from Darin, but to get him out of Dallas," Sarilda Routier said. "No one (close to the situation) there can have a normal life."

Rare HIV now found in nation

ATLANTA (AP) — Health officials have found the first person in the United States to carry a rare form of HIV, and they said today that new AIDS tests should be ready within a year to better detect the rare strain.

The woman, who lives in Los Angeles County, is infected with a strain of HIV known as Group O, although she tested negative for the virus that causes AIDS, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said.

Current HIV screening tests detect the unusual strain in about four of five cases, a CDC study determined.

Officials at the Atlanta-based CDC and the Food and Drug Administration, which licenses HIV tests, said Group O poses little threat to the nation's blood supply. Reconfiguring blood tests to screen for Group O will take about a year, said Jay Epstein, director of the FDA's blood research program.

"The blood supply is no less safe today than it was yesterday because of one report of one case," Epstein said.

Dr. Patrick Sullivan, a member of the CDC's HIV tracking team, said: "There's every indication, based on AIDS surveillance evidence, that this is an exceedingly rare condition in the United States. In fact, this is the only case that we're aware of."
