Pacific Hop Is Said Uneventful

Landing at Los Angeles to keep a dinner engagement with a friend, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith landed his Lady Southern Cross, "The best airplane in the world," after an uneventful 2,408-mile hop across the Pacific from Honolulu. The flyer and his navigator, Capt. P. G. Taylor, left Brisbane, Australia, Oct. 29, and landed at Suva, 1,760 miles away next day. He hopped 3,197 miles from Suva to Honolulu. He was two hours ahead of schedule when he landed in California.

141 NEW PUPILS ENROLL IN SCHOOL

Reports from the various schools of the city to the office of the superintendent show that 141 new pupils enrolled in the schools during the month of October. These are distributed as follows: In the high school, 10; in the junior high school, 14; in the north elementary, 11; in the south elementary, 8; in the Mexican school, 18; in the negro school, 80.

The total enrollment in all the schools, as shown in the Sunday edition of "The Reporter-Telegram" was 1,282, which is an increase of 133 over the comparative enrollment of last year.

Thirty-seven tardies were reported during the month. These were distributed as follows: In the high school, none; in the junior high school, 4; in the north elementary, 13; in the south elementary, 13; in the Mexican school, 8; in the negro school, 8.

Eighteen rooms showed records of attendance above 98 per cent. These rooms making the highest average in attendance for the month are as follows:

Miss Jones's room 99.55 per cent, Mr. Henderson's room 99.47 per cent, Miss Leonard's room 99.39 per cent, Miss Heiner's room 99.00 per cent, Miss Zant's room 98.78 per cent, Mrs. Phillip's room 98.78 per cent, Mr. Bearden's room 98.75 per cent, Miss Green's room 98.68 per cent, Mr. Barne's room, 98.62 per cent, Miss Klapproth's room, 98.50 per cent, Mrs. Tolbert's room 98.49 per cent, Miss Pratt's room 98.32 per cent, Miss Cartwright's room, 98.40 per cent, Mrs. Goloday's room 98.38 per cent, Miss Crowley's room 98.35 per cent, Miss Luhnham's room, 98.21 per cent, Miss Burrus's room 98.14 per cent, and Miss Welner's room 98.08 per cent.

SAYS SACRIFICES BY ROADS NEEDED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 5. (UP)—Joseph B. Eastman, coordinator of the highway industry, is to urge the joint use of terminal facilities, pooling cars and traffic, the joint use of shops, and the establishment of a clearing house for inter-company accounts.

Skaters Will Have Their Opportunity

Midland skaters will have the opportunity of doing their stuff tomorrow night when the Dixie Amusement Co. opens a rink at the corner of West Texas and Matienfeld at 7:30 o'clock.

Ladies will be admitted free the opening night. Good music, good seats, and good order will be so long as the rink operates here, according to H. L. Speer, owner.

The rink came here from Big Spring, where it operated for three months. It is the largest portable skating rink in the Southwest.

21 Baptized in Sunday Service

Baptismal rites were administered to 21 persons Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church.

The Rev. W. C. Harrison of Odessa and the Rev. Winston F. Borum officiated.

Those baptized included 12 candidates from Midland, one from Valley View, and eight from Odessa.

PHILIP V DECREE FOUND

BARCELONA, Spain. (UP)—The original document signed by Philip V on Jan. 16, 1716, decreeing the end of the autonomous liberties of Catalonia, was discovered in a supreme provincial court's archives here.

WOMEN LOYAL TO PRETTY BOY; KEPT HIS SECRETS UNTIL HE WAS KILLED

This is the second of three stories on the life of "Pretty Boy" Floyd, written by Vivian Brown of the Oklahoma News, the only person who interviewed the outlaw during his crime career. Reared in the Cookson hills, which were his refuge, Miss Brown knows the background of Floyd's life as few writers could.

BY VIVIAN BROWN (Written for NEA Service)

Ruby Handgraves was the first woman in "Pretty Boy" Floyd's life. He married her when he was 18 and she was 16.

The second woman in the outlaw's life was Beulah Ash, whom he met after he walked out of Missouri state prison on Aug. 24, 1929, with a liberal education in the wiles of criminals.

And there was always his mother, who kept her faith in him to the end. When Floyd went free from prison he gravitated naturally to the Kansas City home of "Mother" Sadie Ash, a strong-jawed ex-Sunday school teacher who had "gone underworld."

Men evading the law used her rooming house as a "cooking off" place when they got "too hot." Her sons, Wallace and William Ash, were known as police informers.

There Floyd met Beulah and her fresh beauty appealed to him.

Beulah brought in the beer from the kitchen that night and sitting beside him said cheerily:

"Hello, pretty boy, where did you come from?"

The apple-cheeked Floyd thus was permanently labeled in the first words of greeting from the girl who played a major role in his life.

Enemies Found Slain

He picked up with William (Bill) the Killer Miller, and the two became intimates. Beulah and Rose Ash, wives of the stool pigeons, Enmy between the men increased, and Floyd suspected he was being trapped.

The bodies of the Ash brothers, riddled with bullets, were found on a highway near Kansas City, Kan. March 27, 1931. Floyd and Miller vanished. Coincidentally, the widows disappeared.

Floyd fled to Ohio, where the year before he had broken his handcuffs in a train washroom, leaped through the window and made a miraculous escape while being taken to the Columbus prison to serve 15 years for bank robbery.

At Bowling Green, O., Patrolman Ralph Casner walked up to a car in which sat the wivus of the two murdered Kansas City men.

Escapes in Gun Duel

Floyd and Miller, the Toledo gangster, emerged from a drug store. Casner and Miller were killed in the ensuing gun battle, but Floyd sped out of town, abandoned the women, and escaped.

In Kansas City, July 31, 1931, Curtis Burke and Joe Anderson, prohibition agents, laid a trap for Floyd.

Floyd was in a place which was wholesaling liquor. He was completely taken by surprise when the agents came in.

That followed, Burke was killed, Anderson seriously wounded, and Floyd escaped.

Again, after the Kouawa, Okla., bank robbery, Floyd and George Birdwell, his new companion, escaped from officers on Feb. 10, 1932, and the rest of that year the trail was hot.

Burning Hate Roused

Mrs. Floyd and Jackie were taken to Tulsa police station. Ruby denied any knowledge of Floyd.

Stanton Resident, 88, Is Interred Sunday

Funeral rites for W. D. Smith, 88, pioneer West Texan and resident of Stanton, who died early Sunday morning were read at 9 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Methodist church at Stanton.

The Rev. A. C. Sharp, pastor of the Methodist church of Stanton, the Reverend Young of the Synod Methodist church, and members of the Masonic lodge officiated. Escorts were members of the Masonic order and honorary escorts were stewards of the Methodist church of which Mr. Smith had been a member for 67 years and which he had served as steward for 64 years.

Interment was in the Stanton cemetery.

Born in Harrison county, Texas, in 1846, Mr. Smith came to West Texas in 1890, settling at Merkel, in Taylor county. Afterward he moved to Andrews county where he engaged in ranching. He also lived in Odessa for some time.

In 1911 he moved to Stanton, where he made his home until his death.

In 1866 he married Miss Narcissa Amanda Hale and to the couple were born six children of whom five survive. Mrs. Smith died June 20, 1934.

Surviving are: one daughter, Mrs. E. E. Elland of Stanton; four sons, O. A. Smith of Trent, T. M. Smith, and B. F. Smith of Stanton; 14 grandchildren, including Troy N. Elland and Miss Kathleen Elland of Midland; and 16 great-grandchildren.

GRAVE CHARGES AGAINST JAPAN LODGED TODAY

Fortifications for the South Seas Are Given Airing

GENEVA, Nov. 5. (UP)—Charges that Japan is fortifying the South Sea islands which she holds as a mandate under the League of Nations were aired at a meeting of the permanent mandates commission of the league.

It is said that the Japanese "plan" program in the islands, which are in a strategic position between Hawaii and the Philippines, are really fortifications.

INSULL SHOUTS WHILE ON STAND

CHICAGO, Nov. 5. (UP)—Samuel Insull, weary from three days' cross-examination, left the witness stand in federal court, after shouting denials that he manipulated a $14,000,000 mail fraud.

San Howard trustee, in bankruptcy for the Corporation Securities company, was called to the stand.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (UP)—Acting Captain William F. Warm, skipper of the Morro Castle, pleaded not guilty to charges of negligence at his trial before inspectors of the United States bureau of navigation and inspection.

Brevities

Stores plan to close Monday in observance of Armistice day, according to a preliminary report made this morning to the chamber of commerce.

Armistice this year falls on Sunday, but employers wish to give employees a holiday.

Several Midland girls attended, including Misses Eleanor Merle Zimmerman, Jeanette Thornton, Eleanor Houston, Dorothy Hamilton, Dorothy Lee, and Georgeine Bullock and Louise Whitson.

Several Midland girls and athletes of both the Midland and the cross grid teams danced and played games.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hafer are moving to Tahoka, their transfer being made for employees of the West Texas Gas company in its "Five Year Plan."

Mr. and Mrs. Hafer have lived at Stanton for several years when the South Plains Pipe Line company and the West Texas Gas company were consolidated. They lived at the border station two miles north of the city.

Other changes over the system: V. McBride of Canyon replaces Hafer; R. E. Bird of the Lamesa district replaces Littlefield; J. Jordan of Littlefield goes to Plainview; and Moody Lackey, brother of Clint Lackey, Midland district manager, goes from Plainview to Canyon.

The quarterly social gathering of the intermediate department of the Baptist Sunday school was held at 7 p. m. Saturday at the Sunday school annex, announced H. A. Palmer, superintendent. Mrs. M. D. Cox and Miss Lura Kuyper were in charge of entertainment and games; Mrs. H. B. Dunagan is chairman of the refreshment committee. Approximately 90 are expected.

Tom Hunter, unsuccessful candidate for democratic gubernatorial nominee, was in Midland Saturday. He went to Big Spring, where he has oil interests. He said he was against proposed constitutional amendment No. 3.

The Midland county health board will meet at 7:30 this evening in the commissioners court room. All members are expected, and the public is invited.

The Midland Geologists Luncheon club will meet Thursday noon at Hotel Scharbauer, it was announced today. Membership has exceeded last year's peak.

The quarterly report of the Midland county treasury, from August 1 to October 31, shows the budget to be on a solid financial basis, Mrs. Mary L. Quinn, county treasurer said.

R. N. Watts, who has been visiting his sons El and Ed Watts, left last night for Pasadena, California.

Zack T. Martin, of Martin, Bloomquist and Lee, Schussler city, is in Midland. Martin, who has been a regular purchaser of stock here for years, will possibly take home with him a string of steer calves.

Ed Smith of Lubbock and Art Shafer of Tucson, Arizona, are also here buying cattle for California shipment. They have bought Ed Cole's string of steers which will be delivered the last of the week.

For Release After Tuesday Election

Voters Are Apathetic as General Election Nears

With the general election of Nov. 6 one day away, the usual apathy in such balloting is being indicated on the part of Texas voters, despite the fact that eight constitutional amendments, several of them important, are to be decided upon.

It is conceded, of course, that the democratic nominees will be elected, which explains the lack of interest in most November elections; but in this particular election the vote on the amendments makes it far different.

Three of the amendments in particular are subjects of considerable argument and propaganda, pro and con, the one which provides for classification of property for taxation, the one which puts a $25.50 biennial per capita limit on state tax revenue and the one which would permit school districts to tax university lands for school purposes.

The others, while not so much talked about, are also of importance. Two deal with county government, providing for the consolidation of counties with compensation of officials by salaries, greater powers to commissioners, consolidation of offices, and re-organization of city and county official duties, if desired. Two affect home rule cities, allowing charters of resolutions passed in the spring of 1933 in the regular session of the 43rd Legislature. The amendments are discussed in the order in which they appear on the ballot.

Provisions: The first amendment proposes a change in Article VIII, section 1 of the existing constitution, providing for (a) uniformity of taxation on real property; (b) for a reasonable classification of all property other than real property, and the imposition of different rates on these different classes; (c) exemption of household and kitchen furniture belonging to a family in the sum of $25.

Changes: Under the existing constitutional provisions all property is classified either as real or personal property and is taxed uniformly according to its value, being the source of the ad valorem tax. The proposed amendment authorizes the classification of all property except "real estate" into groups or classes and the imposition of different rates by the Legislature on these respective classes. It restricts the limitation of uniformity of taxation of real estate. The provisions of exempting $250 worth of household and kitchen furniture is new.

Effect: This amendment authorizes the taxation of intangibles, such as notes, bonds and debentures, and the imposition of a registration fee and is regarded as laying a constitutional predicate for the levy of a sales or other tax on different classes of personal property.

Its proponents contend that it opens up new sources of revenue for state purposes, while the opponents of the amendment allege that it obliterates any restrictions on equality of taxation and gives the Legislature too much freedom in arbitrarily taxing all forms of personal property.

Changes County Government

The next amendment proposes a change in the existing system of county government as an amendment to article IX of the existing constitution. The proposal provides for (a) vesting of the management

HUEY MUST FACE A $500,000 SUIT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 5. (UP)—Huey Long has been ordered by the supreme court to face a half-million dollar libel suit brought by Samuel T. Ansell, former senate elections committee investigator in the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

The court said that Long's presence in the capital attack conference did not exempt him from the civil proceeding.

MIDLAND EXAMPLE FOR HEALTH UNITS

Midland county was the cited example in the district conference on child welfare held at Sweetwater last Saturday, according to those who attended the meeting.

Mrs. H. N. Phillips, chairman of the Midland county child welfare board, said that our county relief administrator, O. M. Taggart should be given credit for this because of his splendid cooperation with the health nurse and welfare workers, it was explained.

Midland county's report of the county survey made last summer was analyzed by J. L. McGarity, state supervisor, in his talk on how the findings in the child welfare surveys may be used. He said the reason for using Midland county was the promptness with which the reports came in. Out of the 157 counties which have completed their surveys, Midland was among the first. There are 33 counties in the state which have never started the survey.

"The central theme of the conference was the cooperation and coordination of all social and civic organizations in the community for the lasting benefit of our children," said Mrs. Phillips. "One of the speakers emphasized the responsibility of the tax-payers and the citizens of the community to take care of the dependent, neglected, illegitimate, delinquent, and handicapped child."

George Roessler, playground and recreation supervisor of San Angelo, said that the idea of the average citizen in regard to recreation is lapsed. We have tennis courts, golf courses, and baseball diamonds for grown up recreation in most every town of any size; yet there is no place for the child. Quoting Jane Adams he said "The boy without a playground becomes the father of the man without a job."

Those attending the meeting from Midland were Mrs. Iris N. Bounds, Miss Janice Wilkes, Miss Edna Marie Jones, Miss M. Elizabeth Wilson, Mrs. R. E. McWilliams, and Mrs. H. N. Phillips.

Food Prices Hike Forecast Hiked

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (UP)—The bureau of agricultural economics confirmed Roosevelt's warning to housewives that food prices are to go higher. The high prices are to last until next year's crops begin to come on the market.

OHIO GUARDS KILL ONE AND WOUND 4 MORE

Fifteen Convicts in Attempt to Gain Freedom

ANGORA, La., Nov. 5. (UP)—Prison guards shot and killed one convict and wounded four others in an attempted break from camp "E" of the state penitentiary, Caldwat, Harrison, La., today.

The slain man was James C. Bird, 28, sentenced for assault and robbery in New Orleans.

Fifteen convicts took part in the attempt.

DEER HUNTING RULES ISSUED

Just so the deer hunter won't have to pay the state a fine for his mounted antlers this season, he might let these special rules serve as a caution to his trigger-finger.

Following are open season dates and geographical regulations, as taken from a digest of the game, fish and oyster laws of the state of Texas published Sept. 1, by the Game Fish and Oyster commission and supplied by Fred Hopson, game warden.

Open season on white-tail deer and black-tail or mule deer east of the Pecos river, is Nov. 16 to Dec. 31. On mule deer west of the Pecos river, the season extends only from Nov. 16 to Nov. 30.

Bag limit is two bucks a season, except mule deer west of the Pecos, on which the limit is one.

Counties having no open season are Anderson, Bastrop, Bowie, Brown, Burnet (north of Colorado river), Callahan, Camp, Cass, Coleman, Coryell, Eastland, Erath, Freestone, Galveston, Hamilton, Harrison, Haskell, Hemphill, Henderson, Hutchinson, Jasper, Jones, Lamar, Lampasas, Leon, Limestone, Marion, Morris, Navarro, Newton, Palo Pinto, Panola, Parker, Red River, Roberts, Sabine, San Augustine, Shackelford, Stephens, Throckmorton, Titus, Upshur and Wood.

One dog may be used to hunt wounded deer in the following counties: Atascosa, Bandera, Baylor, Bexar, Blanco, Brewster, Burnet (south of Colorado river), Caldwell, Cameron, Comal, Concho, Crockett, Denton, DeWitt, Dimmit, Edwards, Frio, Gillespie, Gonzales, Guadalupe, Hardin, Hill, Hinds, Jack, Jackson, Karnes, Kaufman, Kendall, Kerr, Kimble, Liberty, Llano, Mason, Medina, Polk, Real, San Jacinto, San Saba, Schleicher, Sutton, Tom Green, Uvalde, Wharton, Wilson and Zavala.

As many dogs as you please may be used to hunt open season to hunt deer in Matamoros, Orange and Fort Bend counties.

HOUSING DRIVE IS INITIATED TODAY

The federal housing drive in Midland got under way most successfully this morning, according to F. P. Elkin, general chairman.

Elkin and A. Harry Anderson will alternate on being in the council room of the city hall from 8 to 12 o'clock each morning to assist those working in the campaign, together with giving information to home owners.

Pool Purchase Renewal Okeyed

DALLAS, Nov. 5. (UP)—W. B. Rew, chairman of the state marketing committee of the petroleum code, announced that Washington oil administration officials had approved renewal of pool purchase of distillate gasoline in East Texas. The ruling will be put into effect as soon as possible. Rew says that gasoline prices will be stabilized at 16-18-20.

A TIP ON REVOLUTIONS

A number of well-meaning Americans have grown fond of talking about revolution. People who haven't the slightest desire to mount any barricades or face any firing squads will say, glibly, "We need a revolution in this country"—as if a revolution were a pleasant little step in social evolution which could be shut off painlessly before it really hurt anybody.

Such people might profitably listen to Emma Goldman.

This revolutionary lady describes, in a recent issue of "The Nation," the sad plight of the old-time Russian revolutionaries. She tells how they suffered and fought and endured dire punishment to bring about the overthrow of the czar's government, and how they hailed the 1917 overthrow as a new dawn.

Now they dare not enter Russia. The revolution ran right out from under them. They have found that Russia simply swapped one tyranny for another.

Once a revolution starts, it is very apt to get out of all control and to head in a direction which those who worked for it never remotely desired. The wishful talkers in this country might meditate briefly on that fact.

While President Roosevelt is conferring with the captains of industry, he might find out which of them intend to be good soldiers and get into step with the government.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir: On Nov. 6th, you will have an opportunity to vote for H. J. R. No. 30 which amendment appears last on the ballot.

This amendment in short is to give school districts the right to collect a tax for school purposes from university lands located within their districts and will not hurt the university or any other school in the state and will not add additional burden to the tax payers by reason of the fact that this tax does not come from general revenue of the state but comes from an available university fund which has accumulated millions of dollars from oil royalties and leases from the 2,000,000 acres of university lands located in these 28 school districts.

Oil and gas royalties and leases paid into the university funds for the year of 1933 and 1934 amount to $6,820,369.14. The total amount of this tax asked for by these districts in H. J. R. No. 30 to be voted on in the general election Nov. 6 is estimated to be only $12,333.75. Aside from these university lands of West Texas there are 42,400,556.1 acres of school lands, a large percent of which is also in these same school districts and is producing millions of dollars into the school treasury for schools in other sections of the state.

On August 31st, 1930 the people who owned these school lands still owed an unpaid principal on them of $32,026,297.25. Since most of these school districts which have university lands do not have any oil, therefore they do not collect taxes from these valuable oil and gas leases and since grazing lands have a very low value, and if a school district has a hundred thousand or more acres of tax free lands located in it, it works a hardship on that district to maintain its schools.

We are glad that we have good state schools and proud that we can say that we have the richest state university in the world; and we feel that our state institutions out here in West Texas rank with first of our important assets. But we also believe that it is only fair that these 9,000 children living in these 28 school districts located in the counties where the great wealth of our great university and state schools came from have equal opportunity to prepare themselves for university training with other children from other sections of the state.

Now friends this is only a corrective measure to an amendment voted No. 4, 1930 by the people of Texas which gave the counties the right to collect a tax for county purposes from these lands and the voters of the state thought that school also would participate in this law, but due to the fact that schools were ruled out of the enactment the legislature is asking the people to correct the amendment adopted by the 41st legislature and the vote of 1930.

This is a good, fair and just law and will not cost you one penny and I urge you as a friend to the welfare of the school children of Texas to vote for the last amendment on the ballot.

—Hal Burnett.

WHOA NOW! GAINESVILLE (UP)—A trap had a snake and a mouse had a tale and thereby hangs a tale. It was a motley catch that Joe Cook found dangling from a nail on the wall of his kitchen.

The night before Cooke had placed several traps around his farm house and, in one of them, a mouse was caught. Then along came a snake and swallowed the mouse.

That complicated matters, for the snake overlooked the trap and it remained hanging from the reptile's mouth. Apparently the snake, in trying to get out of the kitchen, crawled in some manner up the wall and entangled the trap with a nail, suspending itself neatly in the air.

The flag on the White House in Washington, D. C., does not fly when the president is away from the city.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything with taking a stand on anything).

All that glitters is not gold—just as all that looks like chocolate is not chocolate, as the printer's devil learned when he was given several cubes that came in the mails Saturday.

The idea of a Monday night Armistice day football game might not be so bad, provided the school authorities feel inclined to give the public a break. The stores will close their doors and the public will get in each other's hair trying to find something to do.

O'Neal Denny, attorney, tells his clients to "dial" his telephone number. Presumably, he's trying to get someone arrested on a drunken or on an insanity charge. How could a fellow feel to be caught trying to dial a Midland telephone?

Here's a little ditty which might be entitled "Fifty Years Makes a Lot of Difference." What a difference fifty years:

Mary Newman Sings Special Number For Naomis

Mary Elizabeth Newman sang "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," accompanied by Mrs. J. S. Schow, as a special number at the meeting of the Naomis class Sunday morning. Miss Maria Spencer read the devotional and Mrs. T. A. Cole read the scripture selection. "Christian Growth" was the subject of the lesson taught by Mrs. J. M. White. A business meeting will be held at 7:30 Thursday evening at the class room. The meeting is an important one and all members are urged to be present. Mrs. R. J. Walker said.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Nothing is lovelier for a funeral spray in the autumn than a cluster of huge white chrysanthemums.

We note that a church survey in Dallas has led to the conclusion that married men are happier than married women in that city. Quite naturally. The men don't have to worry over husbands as the women do.

Even the great ones of the earth seem to have their little peculiarities of taste. M. Paul Chateaubain knows many of them for he has had the task of seeing that many of the famous got just what they wanted to eat.

The Prince of Wales, used to start off his dinner with little wheat cakes served with sour cream and caviar and a glass of vodka. Next there would come pheasant and its fixings, and a special dessert including baked Alaska.

W. K. Vanderbilt must have his dinner plates almost red hot and the food so hot that he has to wait for it to cool.

Fix the poor cooks! Maybe the average housewife who won't cook chocolate cake because her husband doesn't like it is not so unfortunate after all. Fagey being cook to Vanderbilt.

Home Brewed

BY R. C. HANKINS

While this end of the district is agog over Odessa's holding of Wink to a 12-6 win Saturday afternoon and the likelihood (taking that game as a norm) of Pecos' subjugation of the Wildcats at Pecos on Nov. 19, grave misgivings exist for a three-corner tie of Midland, Pecos and Wink.

For be it understood that Wink was sorely put to it to get across the winning touchdown, going so only in the last two minutes. A long pass accomplished it, reports inform. We had understood Saturday afternoon it was a long, desperate drive. Furthermore, we understand the first downs were decidedly in favor of Odessa. If that is true, Midland and Odessa may play the sort of game that used to be traditional between the two schools. They meet on the Thanksgiving spot. Stanton comes here Friday night for the Armistice fireworks.

While we're discussing chances of going into the district, it might be well to point out that, far from the fanfare and publicity, a team coached by Clyde Parks at Fort Stockton is proving the class of the other end of the district. It stands at the top with only one tie game marked against its record, and that several weeks ago with Wink. Reports seem to be justified that Stockton is the team that will meet the winner of this northern end of the district for the championship.

Parks always had salty teams when he was head mentor at McCamey. When he quit that school and moved his trunk and toothbrush to Stockton they all wondered—particularly since he had little to work with the first year. But he was given more money and assurance he had some juniors coming up. Those junior players are the rampaging eleven creating all the din and havoc this season.

"Barefoot Boy" Kelton continues to get the lime glare for his showing in the Midland-Pecos game. Flashy, fast, graceful and game, he was; but he was not the fellow who beat Midland. Seay, Davis, Stool, Crum and several others rate with the barefoot marvel. Some writers might be inclined to say they rated the goal line and Crum kicked two goals. But Kelton, back there with the bare feet and the tape, was a continual threat, and that had plenty to do with the completion of passes. The defense secondary has to keep close enough to back up plays made at line, and it would have been suicidal to have watched the barefoot lad. You've got to give him no more credit than other Pecos plays, however.

Jack Hawkins, editor of The Pecos Enterprise, supplies scores over years one of our correspondents failed to dig up several days ago, but we take the liberty of cutting Midland down one point in one of the 1921 games, raising Midland one point and lowering Pecos one point in the 1932 game, and to insert four games not carried in the Pecos writer's report. The clubs used to play round robin schedules, and two game a year were played several years. As a result of the collaboration, we find the high schools have played 18 games, Midland winning 10, Pecos seven and one ending in a tie. Midland during that period, beginning in 1920, scored a total of 221 points, Pecos 138. Back a bit further, Midland college and Pecos played, Midland college winning the first four games, beginning in 1915, Pecos the last two. The college scored a total of 245 points, Pecos 46.

The complete record, with apologies to Hawkins for the slight variation, follows:

Year	Pecos	Mid. Col.
1915	0	53
1916	0	37
1917	0	37
1918	0	67
1919	14	0
1920	20	12
1921	6	12
1922	13	13
1923	12	7
1924	6	18
1925	0	18
1926	6	0
1927	0	0
1929	13	14
1930	6	26
1931	6	18
No game—Midland entered Class A
1932	6	34
1933	20	6
1934	20	13

Thus the grand total for Midland against Pecos shows: Midland 466, Pecos 184. Naturally, that is not a fair way to list the figures, inasmuch as the college ran up a little more than half the points.

in the county for such purposes. This amendment to article IX of the constitution is not an alteration of existing conditions but adds a new section to article IX.

The Tax Limit Proposal
The resolution proposing the amendment to article VIII, section 3 of the Texas constitution provides for a limitation on the total amount of revenue which the state shall be authorized to collect during each two-year period from taxes, licenses, permits and fees to the sum of $22.50 per capita; and limits the expenditures to a similar sum, that is, to a sum equal to the product obtained by multiplying the number of inhabitants of the state by $22.50. The provisions have a schedule, increasing these amounts in accordance with the increase in population.

Changes: The existing article VIII, section 3 reads:

"Taxes shall be levied and collected by general laws and for public purposes only."
Effect: The amendments will be in effect for the biennium 1936-37. According to the population schedule this would provide a limit of $148,000,000 as the total revenue to be derived from sources named in the amendment.

The amendment to article XVI of the constitution which is the fourth in order of appearance on the ballot provides for the compensation of all district officers in the state, and of all county officers in counties of 20,000 population or more, on a salary basis. The commissioners' court shall determine whether the precinct officers are to be compensated on a salary or fee basis, and in counties of under 20,000 population the commissioners' court is to determine whether county officers are to be compensated on a salary or fee basis.

Effect: The proposed amendment is in effect a method of abolishing the fee system in compensating district and county officers. If read in conjunction with the amendment to article IX, it substitutes or authorizes the substitution of salaries for the fee method of compensation.

Would Consolidate Counties
The amendment to article IX, section 1, authorizes the Legislature to (1) create new counties; (2) combine existing counties; and (3) change county boundaries at will, subject to the limitation that no new county shall have an area of less than 900 square miles, unless the resulting or remaining county has a population of over 50,000.

Changes and effect: This provision authorizes the consolidation and the combination of two or more existing counties so that the combined counties contain only one. Since there are only three counties in Texas with areas less than 900 square miles and population of over 50,000 the amendment will make it practically impossible to create a greater number of counties; whereas, it authorizes the reduction of government units, by abolition and consolidation of counties.

The amendment to article XI, section 5, provides that home rule cities may alter, amend or repeal their charters every 12 months. Under the existing constitution such charters may only be changed, altered, amended or repealed every two years.

Permits Charter Changes
The amendment to article XVI, section 30, authorizes home rule cities to amend their charters so as to provide that officers may hold office for four years, instead of two years as at present.

The final amendment, which affects article VIII, section 6, provides that school districts as well as counties may tax University lands and that the values fixed for school district purposes on such lands shall not exceed the values fixed by the Board of Control for county purposes on the same land. The effect of this is to allow the school districts the same taxation now levied by counties as provided by an amendment four years ago, and to equalize the valuations placed on such property by counties and school districts.
