Memorial Day Services Will Be Impressive

Decoration of Graves of War Veterans Part of Ceremony

Plans for the Memorial Day services of the Burt M. Fleming Post of the American Legion have been worked out by a committee in charge and a program has been arranged, according to Mr. Jim Carpenter, commander of the local post.

The program calls for the raising of the flag at six o'clock in the morning of May 30th. A speaker from San Antonio will be secured and a firing squad will also be obtained if possible. The parade starts at 1:30 and forms at the Highland Chevrolet Company and proceeds to Schreiner Park.

Music will be furnished by the Kimble County Chamber of Commerce Band. The assembly of all citizens will be at the park at 2 p. m. for the ceremony honoring all departed soldiers. The invocation will be led by the Rev. G. W. Crabb, who is chaplain of the local post.

From 2 until 3:30 p. m. will be devoted to addresses by various speakers of note. A band concert will follow the speaking. The pilgrimage to the cemetery will start at 4 p. m. where the graves of the war veterans will be decorated. Plans have been adopted to symbolize the decoration of the graves of all war veterans in the county. Services at the grave of "The Unknown Soldier" will be held at the cemetery.

Those on the committee in charge of the program are Messrs. Jim Carpenter, Capt. H. W. Rieck, Guy Wynne, G. W. Crabb, John Munn, Walter Buck, W. H. Baker and V. P. Emmons. A committee composed of Messrs. K. G. Durst and H. I. Taylor was appointed to locate all the unmarked graves of war veterans in the county.

Lions Attend District Meeting At San Saba

Next Group Gathering Will Be At Mason On June 11

Representatives from the Junction Lions Club attended the district group meeting in San Saba Tuesday, April 22. Those from the local club attending were President G. H. Delano, B. F. Smith, E. O. Lowgren, Walter Buck, Alton Mason and Clay Secrest.

The next district meeting will be held in Mason on June 11, and the Mason Lions are planning on showing the visiting Lions a good time.

The banquet and program given by the San Saba club was splendid, and everyone praised the hospitality of the San Saba club. Every club in the district was represented with the exception of Coleman and Eden.

MASON WINS RETURN GAME FROM JUNCTION

The Mason Fire Department Baseball team won their return game with the Junction Firemen by the score of 7 to 5 Sunday. Junction stepped into the lead in the first inning, and a home run by Ray Salter in the fifth inning tied the score after Mason stepped ahead.

It was a hard game for Junction to lose, but the firemen are accustomed to it.

Junction will not play a game Sunday but will play Brady in Brady Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Farmer attended the annual meeting of the Rotary Club of this district in Corpus Christi last week. They returned home Saturday.

4-H BABY BEEVES TO BE AUCTIONED

One of the features of the livestock judging meet tomorrow and Saturday will be the auctioning off of three fat baby beefs which have been the demonstrations of Woodrow Kothmann and Neal Lambert. The auction sale will be held from the Schreiner Park bandstand pavilion at 4 p. m. Friday. County Agent R. E. Hermann will be the auctioneer. The three baby beefs average 845 pounds. They are not show cattle but are good feeder stock and are in excellent condition.

Next year several more 4-H cub boys will choose as their demonstration the feeding of baby beefs.

Miniature Golf Course Under Construction

Kimble Courts Course Will Be Opened to the Public

Captain H. W. Rieck and A. S. Rieck have just returned from an extended trip covering a large part of the State, devoting themselves to a study of entertaining features, with an idea of applying them to Junction. It is realized that visitors require a diversion of entertainment aside from the enjoyment of rustic attractions, and that they are not content to rest all of the time.

Kimble Courts has sensed the need of providing these diversions.

Among other things to be announced soon, they have decided to bring to Kimble Courts the best Miniature Golf Course in the country. The engineering of the course embraces the best features of some twenty inspected courses.

This project, soon to be completed, is the last note of modern entertainment, and offers for those who have never held a club in their hands, clean outdoor sport.

Captain Rieck announces that the course will be open to the public.

Coronation Of Queen Will Be Held Saturday

May Pole and Folk Dances Will Also Be Staged With Coronation

Final plans for the May Fete and coronation of the queen which will be held at the high school campus Saturday evening.

A Mexican supper will be served on the school grounds at 6 p. m. At 6:30 the May Pole dances will begin, and at 7:30 the folk dances will be given. The entire campus will be well lighted.

The climax of the evening will come at 10 o'clock with the coronation of the queen which will be a student of the high school. Each class has a candidate running and the votes will be counted at 8 p. m. Saturday evening and the winner will be the queen. The four candidates are Tempie Boone, Margaret Hubbell, Jewel Riley and Lucille Taylor.

Mrs. Conde Hardeman has charge of the queen's court and the program that accompanies the coronation.

Many rural schools over the county will have booths on the grounds and several local organizations will also maintain booths. Members of the Junction Fire Department will have charge of the concessions.

Lions To Send Delegates To State Meeting

Large Crowd Attends The Regular Luncheon Wednesday

With twenty-one members and fourteen guests present, the Junction Lions Club held its regular meeting at the club room at the First Baptist Church Wednesday noon.

After luncheon, the club decided to have a ladies' night Wednesday, May 21. This meeting is the regular date for the election of new officers, and is also the date of the first anniversary of the founding of the Junction club of Lions International. The affair will start at 8 p. m. and will be held at the Baptist Church.

The club decided that representatives from the Junction Club would attend the Lions District meeting at Fredericksburg Saturday evening, and also that representatives would attend the State convention of Lions Clubs which will be held in Austin May 19, 20 and 21.

The Lions will aid the Rotarians in entertaining the 4H Club boys and girls of the county Friday evening, during the livestock judging meet which will be held at Schreiner Park Friday and Saturday. A committee composed of R. E. Hermann and Alton Childers was appointed to look after these arrangements.

The winners of the prize history contest conducted by the Lions Club were announced at the meeting. Coke R. Stevenson, Jr., won first prize and Miss Merle Milsap won second place.

The visitors at the luncheon were Messrs. Joe Bisset, U. D. Kindrick, Ross Brison, G. W. Crabb, Roy Reynolds, J. N. Hodges, Irvin Jarvis, N. C. Patterson, John Fleming, Marvin Blackburn, Coke R. Stevenson, Jr., and Misses Merle Milsap, Kaleta Taylor and Ruby Davis.

Local Readers Give Dramatic Recital

Mrs. Forrest Weldon and Miss Mary Ellis Blackburn were presented in a dramatic recital last Friday evening at the high school auditorium by Mrs. Conde Hardeman. Every number on the program was enjoyed. V. P. Emmons and Walter Buck also proved their ability on the stage.

The program was made up of plays in miniature, stories, modern poetry, and humor, musical readings, and lyrics from standard and popular writers. Mrs. Weldon and V. P. Emmons gave Alice C. D. Riley's one-act play, "Taxi," and Miss Mary Ellis Blackburn and Walter Buck presented Conan Doyle's, "Confession." Singers who appeared on the program were Mrs. Guy Wynne, Mrs. C. W. McCarroll and Mr. K. G. Durst.

Kimble County History Is Written By School Student

As a result of the decision made by Messrs. J. A. Brown, N. C. Patterson and John Fleming, Coke R. Stevenson, Jr., was awarded the prize for writing the best history of Kimble County, a contest sponsored by the Junction Lions Club.

Every member of the Senior class of Junction High School were eligible to participate in the contest, and the five best histories were selected and given to the judges to select the best. The five best were written by Coke R. Stevenson, Jr., Marvin Blackburn, Kaleta Taylor, Merle Milsap and Ruby Davis. The history written by

Exhibits Are In Good Shape for Livestock Meet

Two Day Program Will Attract Throngs To Junction

When the gates of Schreiner Park open to the general public next Saturday morning the 4H Club boys and girls of the county and the F. F. T. S. of the local high school will reveal some accomplishments in better methods of feeding and range management. Record keeping is the primary objective in keeping a project or conducting a demonstration and we feel that the boys and girls that have kept close tab on production costs can measure results that will be profitable.

While the display of livestock and poultry will be small this year the agent is not greatly discouraged for he feels that the boys and girls have demonstrated of quality.

A class of eight registered Rambouillet buck lambs in the twelve months wool and averaging 150 and more pounds in weight will no doubt attract quite a bit of attention.

Mr. S. S. Bundy bred these lambs and is awarding two registered ewe lambs to the winners in the class. Mr. Bundy is greatly pleased with the showing the boys have made with these lambs and is making this award as an added inducement to the club boys for years to come. The winner of these ewes under a continued program should grow into an outstanding registered sheep breeder.

Proper growth and development of breeding animals that have been carefully selected will be another attraction.

The Invitation Livestock Judging Contest starting at 9:30 a. m. Saturday morning will be conducted under the supervision

JUNCTION WILL PLAY ROCKSPRINGS SUNDAY

The Junction Fire Department baseball team will meet Rocksprings Sunday on the local field at 3 p. m. Junction and Rocksprings have met each other twice this year and Junction has lost both games. The local firemen will put forth every effort to win Sunday and a large crowd should turn out to see the game.

Commissioners A. B. Hodges and J. F. Ragsdale returned Tuesday from an inspection trip through several counties where they made a study of court house furniture. The entire commissioners' court is putting forth every effort to give Kimble County the most for their money in the new court house now under construction. The court plans at an early date to buy new furniture for the court house.

Kimble County History Is Written By School Student

Merle Milsap was judged second best by the judges.

These five students were invited to the luncheon of the club which was held at the Baptist Church Wednesday noon. The prize winner was announced at the luncheon and the prize history was read by its author, Coke R. Stevenson, Jr.

The students who worked to gather and write this information accomplished a work that should have been done several years ago. The Lions Club should be congratulated in sponsoring a movement that will preserve a correct history of Kimble County.

CHAMBER COMMERCE WANTS MAILING LIST

Ten thousand two-color folders will soon be received from the printer by the Kimble County Chamber of Commerce for free distribution. It is the desire of the local organization that these folders reach people who are interested in a vacation and who might be interested in coming to Kimble County. Every one who has friends elsewhere who are planning on taking a vacation are requested to hand or mail the secretary of the Kimble County Chamber of Commerce the names of their friends with their correct addresses.

Firemen Will Attend H. C. F. Meet Tuesday

Junction Will Play Mason In Baseball Game in Brady Tuesday

A large representation from Junction will attend the quarterly meeting of the Hill Country Firemen's Association which will be held in Brady on Tuesday, May 13.

The Junction delegation is going strong to try to bring the August meeting to Junction. Plans have been made whereby a free barbecue will be served the firemen should the association vote to come to Junction for the next meeting.

The program for the day is as follows:

- 10 a. m.—Business meeting.
- 12 to 1—Dinner.
- 1 to 3 p. m.—Entertainments.
- 3 to 5—Baseball, Junction vs. Mason.
- 5 to 7—Recess.
- 7 to 8—Water exhibitions.
- 8 p. m.—Banquet.

The mothers and wives of the firemen are invited to attend the meeting and the Brady department is prepared to entertain them while there.

Those on the entertainment committee are Messrs. E. Mc Murray, A. N. Awall and J. B. Leddy.

Junction will enter a team in the water exhibitions.

Representatives from the local department will also attend the state convention of Firemen which will be held in San Angelo on the second Tuesday in June.

LONDON HIGH SCHOOL ENDS TERM MAY 30TH

The London High School will end its regular term of school on May 30th when diplomas will be granted. Judge Weaver H. Baker has accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement address. The London school has had a successful term this year.

Mr. Rankin Kothmann, who was principal of the Tea Cup school this year, has been elected superintendent of the London school for the coming year. Mr. Kothmann was successful at Tea Cup and will give London a good school next year.

CEMETERY AID MEETS

Mrs. John Allen was hostess to the Junction Cemetery Aid Association last Thursday. Eleven members of the association were present. A resolution was passed thanking the Rotary Club and Lions club for the money received from the ball game played recently by these two clubs.

Mrs. Lucy Motley, reporter for the club, announces that the association will serve a down town dinner on Saturday, July 26, the same being the primary election day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Heyman are spending the week at their place near Carrizo Springs.

Big Barbecue Will be Given June 17 and 18

Special Attention Will Be Given To Out-of-Town Visitors

Kimble County Chamber of Commerce announces another old-time jubilee for June 17 and 18, featuring a free public barbecue on June 18 in Schreiner Park. Their plans are now in the making to entertain a larger crowd than ever has been here before, and to provide especially for out-of-county visitors.

Coming when it does, this barbecue will be the first major entertainment for resort friends and tourists. It is calculated to impress the visitors with the cordiality of Kimble County folk, and more, our people are enthusiastic supporters of community programs.

The Chamber of Commerce will publish the date soon on which bids will be received for concessions on the grounds.

Since it is desirable to keep money circulating at home the Chamber of Commerce encourages local parties to make their bids and advance the business activity of our country.

New Bandstand Is Dedicated Tuesday Night

Band Concert Is Well Received By Large Crowd

Dedication of the new bandstand in Schreiner Park Tuesday evening attracted a large crowd, and the concert rendered by the Kimble County Chamber of Commerce band was appreciated by those attending.

Aside from the musical program, Judge Weaver H. Baker, who was master of ceremonies, called for a speech from County Judge J. B. Randolph, and Mrs. Conde Hardeman gave a reading and little Marche Burt and Edwina Lowgren each gave readings that were well received. Judge Baker also made an address.

The musical program consisted of marches, overtures, serenades, and closed with the Star Spangled Banner.

It is stated by the managers of the band that since the public seems to appreciate and enjoy these concerts, they will be given at intervals.

The bandstand is attractive and the Commissioners' Court is to be congratulated for providing this asset to the city.

SHEEP AND GOATMEN TO MEET IN SONORA

Hon. Coke R. Stevenson and Judge Weaver H. Baker were Sonora visitors Thursday to attend an executive meeting of Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association held there to make plans for the regular annual meeting of the association which will be held there soon.

Judges Baker and Stevenson are both on the executive board of the association. Plans for a program for the meeting are being worked out at the meeting today.

I. O. O. F. MEETS TONIGHT

Several visiting Odd Fellows from Menard are expected tonight to assist in the re-organization of the local lodge. For some time the organization has not been active in Junction, but local members believe that after the meeting tonight the Junction I. O. O. F. will take its place among the active organizations of the city.

The meeting will be held in the hall over the Wahl Bros. and Schraub store on the southwest corner of the square.

ELISE MARTIN HONORS P. A. L. CLUB FRIDAY

Miss Elsie Martin entertained the members of the P. A. L. Club with a bridge party Friday evening at her home.

The color scheme of green and white was carried out in plate favors, tallies and napkins.

A jar of green and white bath salts was won by Miss Mae Delle Lowry who made high score, and the booby, a novelty pin, was won by Miss Marguerite King, the guest.

Pimiento sandwiches, potato chips and iced tea were served to Lucille Williams, Grace Johnson, Mae Delle Lowry, Marguerite King, Kathryn Hodges, Nan-cie Duderstadt, Juanita Cowser, Marie Sheppard and the hostess.

The plate favors were small baskets filled with candies.

HARD TO CATCH

A Belgian student was relating his attempts to learn to speak the English language. "When I discovered that if I was quick I was fast, and that if I was fast I was quick, and that not to eat was to fast, I was discouraged. But when I came across one sentence, 'The first one won one one-dollar prize,' I gave up trying to learn English."

A Frenchman said he had a similar experience. He was watching a card game and trying to understand it.

"What's the score?" asked someone.

"Two to two."

"We are two to two, too," said a man at the next table. "To spik ze English," he exclaimed, "it is to blow ze French horn."—Selected.

LONDON LOCALS

Mr. Walton Kothmann was very unfortunate the first of last week in getting his leg broken. Mr. Kothmann roped a goat, jumped from his horse to tie it, landing on a turned ankle, simply crushing it. He was doing well the last account.

Mr. Rawleigh Kothmann has returned from Temple much improved.

Schrader & Zech of Mason were here last week looking after the live stock interests with a view of purchase. They were asking about cattle and muttons. We learn the price mentioned for muttons was around $3.00. Did not hear any price stated for cattle.

Miss Pearl Massey of Streeter was visiting relatives here last week, also introducing herself to the skating rink.

The Maypole exercises at Saline school May 1st was attended by several of our people. All pronounced it a success.

Mr. Dick Weaver dressed up with a view of attending the Maypole exercises at Saline May 1st, and many of us thought him a new drummer come to town. One neighbor in particular saw him loitering about the Weaver home and called to inform him that the man of the house was not at home.

Mr. Perry Fitzgerald of Sheffield was here on business last week.

Prof. Evans, principal of Long Mountain school, was in our town Friday evening. We had the pleasure of listening to Mr. Evans and Mr. Rankin D. Kothmann of Tea Cup school discuss means and methods for the coming year and the future in general of Long Mountain and London schools. Mr. Kothmann will be superintendent of London school next year. It was inspiring to hear these young men discuss the future of their intended work in their schools and outline their hoped-for accomplishments. It is evident that their school work and the progress of their respective schools hold a stronger tie than the salary they will draw. This is right, and worthy of praise.

Mr. McKay and Mr. Griffith of Junction were among our visitors last week. Mr. McKay is a candidate for sheriff and tax collector and was giving the boys the right hand of fellowship with considerable pep. Mr. Griffith is a Kimble County bee man.

Doug. Jarvis and S. T. Hunter of the road gang south of the river were spinning yarns with the boys in town Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Horn were showing some very strange specimen of rock on the street Monday. They had brought them up from near Fredonia. Mr. Horn intends to build a small fish pond in his yard and will decorate it with these strange rock. Some day, not far in the future, Mr. and Mrs. Horn will have a beautiful home and grounds and the rest of us will wonder how and why. But it will be nothing to wonder about, because they are putting forth the effort that will accomplish the result.

Good crowds attended the services at the Christian Church Sunday.

Our travels Sunday took us over a considerable part of the county and we noted with joy the farm and ranch condition. Everything looks fine. Spring was long time coming but it is here now, dressed out in a robe of lovely green. Who could be so constituted that they cannot enjoy the beauties of spring, summer, autumn and winter, each presenting and wearing its robe of beauty. All this with every other perfect point of nature is the work of your God and my God, the creator of all.

LITTLE SALINE SAYINGS

Good rains fell over this section the past week-end.

Mr. T. J. D'Spain, Walter Jackson, John Adams, Nell Doran and Mrs. Dock D'Spain went to Menard Tuesday on business.

The school children have a pretty garden here. Everything is looking pretty. The farmers are busy at work in their fields.

Miss Nell Doran of Junction is spending this week with Mrs. Dock D'Spain.

Mr. Alvin Ripple of Eola spent Sunday, Monday and Tuesday with Miss Alice Hight. Miss Virgie Parker who got her collar-bone cracked is improving.

Miss Lorene Pool, Mr. Leslie D'Spain, Viola Deck and Jessie D'Spain spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Jake Otte.

Miss Lorene Pool is leaving us and going to San Angelo to visit her sister, Mrs. Robena Blackmon.

The trustees of the school here went to Menard Tuesday morning on business. Messrs. Hugo Reichman, George Pearl and Carl Brown are the trustees.

ROOSEVELT ROUND-UPS

Miss Eunice Goodall was over from Salt Gap Sunday to see her mother.

The Fisher family were visitors to San Angelo Saturday.

Misses Roberts and Mr. Davis went to Sonora Sunday.

Mr. Buck Joy has returned from a visit to Noxville relatives.

Mr. Otho Dickerson, an artist of Shreveport, is doing some painting in our section.

Messrs. Frank and Cromorns have opened their store and camp at Buck Hollow.

PUNCH BOARD SKIN GAME IS WORKED ON SWEETWATER STORES

Sweetwater, May 5.—A new twist to the punch board game has been discovered in Sweetwater—with the result that a man and his wife were ordered out of town by Chief of Police John Reed.

According to the chief, the gang operating here "worked" small grocery stores and filling stations in the edge of town for large sums before they were caught. The plot worked as follows:

A car would drive up to the filling station and sell the proprietor a punch board for 90 cents. Certain numbers, they would say, would pay small sums of cash, others nothing. A few hours later another car would follow, this time a man and his wife. After drinking a soda water they wanted to try the punch board. Invariably they found the "pay" numbers and in a short time would have $15 to $20 in their pockets.

Investigation connected the two cars together with the result that the man and his wife were arrested and quizzed by police. No charges were filed against them, since buying the punch board is also a violation of the law.

MOTHER'S DAY AT 8-MILE

Rev. N. H. Skaggs announces that Mother's Day will be observed at the Eight Mile School house on the North Llano Sunday, May 11. Services will be held at 11 o'clock in the morning and a basket lunch will be served on the grounds. Services will also be held in the afternoon.

A cordial invitation is extended everyone to attend any or all of these services. Come in the afternoon if you cannot be present at the 11 o'clock services.

Here is something better for the home builder who insists upon high value at moderate cost

Concrete tile units have made it possible for the man of average income to enjoy the benefits of fine masonry construction. The units may be exposed in the wall surfaces, giving textures of great beauty and charm; or they may form the backing for portland cement stucco.

Every man who plans a home for his family wishes he could build a fireproof house. Concrete tile masonry makes it possible to realize this universal desire—and at moderate cost.

Free information is available to you—just fill out and mail the coupon below, or write and tell us what you are planning. It will help us to serve you intelligently!

Barbecue dinner committee: Table arrangement committee, to build tables and serve dinner: Walter Buck, C. W. McCarroll, A. B. Hodges, Luther Hill; Meat Committee, to secure wood and arrange pits for barbecue, have meat prepared and sell surplus: H. W. Bierschwald, J. L. Wright, Joe Bissett; Food committee, to secure and prepare for serving the bread, coffee, tea, pickles, plates, cups, etc.: Clay Secrest, J. O. Wright, R. R. King.

Grounds committee, to arrange for lighting, decorating, cleaning, policing, directing traffic and parking cars, and having water available: H. O. Denman, J. J. McWright, V. P. Emmons, Frank Patterson.

Advertising committee, to prepare and circulate newspaper advertisements, circulars, car stickers, street banners, and to gain other publicity: Edgar McLendon, K. G. Durst, V. P. Emmons.

Finance committee, to circulate subscription list and receive donations, to receive cost estimates from other committees, to sell all concessions, to secure meat for barbecue and to arrange for all finances, J. S. Farmer, Dr. H. E. Wright, E. V. Stewart.

The president and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce acting ex-officio, shortly will call a meeting of each of these committees for the purpose of making full preparation for the Jubilee program. The intention is to make this the largest celebration of the kind held in Kimble County.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Thursday afternoon little Myrtle House, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. House, entertained a number of friends at the Schreiner Park in honor of her birthday.

A program of readings followed by a series of games were enjoyed by the little folk.

The pretty birthday cake, iced in pink and bearing five pink candles, was cut and served with lemonade.

About twenty-five guests were present.

Mr. R. E. Edwards killed a big bull snake Monday afternoon and as proof of the kill, the snake may be seen at the local Taxidermist shop on east Main street. After wounding the big snake with a rock, Mr. Edwards stuck an ice pick thru its head.

BIBLE CLASS HAS FISH FRY FRIDAY NIGHT

Friday afternoon and night the members of the Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church had a fishing party and fish fry on the Llano River on Mr. Roy Skaggs' farm east of Junction. Judge Weaver H. Baker, who is teacher of the class, gave the fish fry.

Several of the number went early Friday afternoon to catch the fish for the supper. They caught about forty big sun perch. Besides having plenty fish, Mr. C. E. Reid donated a goat which was barbecued for the supper.

Those attending were Dr. D. S. Stone, Messrs, Dan St. Clair, Charlie St. Clair, Joe Warren, Roy Skaggs, N. H. Skaggs, Hayden Lawler, Grady Kendrick, Charlie McCarroll, Jim Carpenter, G. W. Crabb, Verlan Skaggs, Leroy Skaggs and the host, Weaver H. Baker.

Everyone present had a good time and enjoyed Judge Baker's hospitality.

Messrs. W. A. Stephenson, W. H. Stephenson and Buck Frasier returned last week from a fishing trip to the Rio Grande. They caught several fish weighing from twelve to twenty pounds.

Mr. L. Wright, representative of the Portland Cement Association, was a business visitor in Junction Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McLendon ran into deep water near Eden Sunday and remained in their car for more than two hours. No damage was done. They were pulled out by a team of mules. The Eden country had a heavy rain Sunday morning.

A "CITY CONVENIENCE" FOR COUNTRY HOMES

KEEP FOOD COLD
Freeze Ice Cubes
With Oil Heat!

SUPERFEX generates its own frigid cold by burning a few cents worth of kerosene daily. This dependable new refrigerator keeps butter firm, milk sweet, meats fresh and tasty—right in the kitchen in the warmest weather. It makes sparkling ice cubes for cooling beverages and delicious frozen desserts. Better and cheaper than ice; far safer than refrigeration makeshifts.

Superfex has no moving parts; nothing to get out of order. Just light it and leave it. In about an hour and a half the burners generate 24 to 36 hours' food-preserving cold—then go out automatically. Sturdily made; white-porcelain lined; ample shelf-room. A great boon to country homes.

Health Insurance—the Electrical Refrigerator

WORLD-RECOGNIZED food authorities and Government research chemists have found that foods kept at higher temperatures than 30 degrees Fahrenheit are extremely dangerous to human health.

For that reason, many of the most famous scientists and home economists are recommending the unfailing efficiency of the Electric Refrigerator. A Refrigerator in your kitchen is an assurance of Food Safety. The New Hydrator will not only preserve fruits and vegetables in a fresh-from-the-garden condition, but will actually revive them when they are wilted and unusable. The other sections of the Refrigerator give you that Dry Cold necessary to the safe and economical preservation of your foods.

You cannot afford to be without this Modern Kitchen Necessity. The issues at stake are far too great to be content with less than the best.

FIRST INSTALLMENT

Exactly how and when the experience began, Eve could not afterward explain. It is possible that there had been a blank interval of twenty minutes, perhaps of half an hour—before she became conscious that anything was wrong. When the knowledge struck her, however, it struck like a blow. She realized with a terrifying certainty not only that she did not know where she was, but that she did not even know who she was.

Her eyes took in her immediate surroundings. She was obviously on a wide street or avenue of a large city, for crowds of men and women hurried past her, and all around there were imposing buildings and shops with flaunting window displays. The street held nothing she could recognize; yet she had a frantic feeling that she really knew it very well. Occasionally she caught words uttered in the throng, and these carried their meaning to her; but no one spoke to her and no one looked at her closely.

Something, she knew well enough, was done to persons in a situation like hers. They were asked questions—taken somewhere—perhaps surrounded by a curious crowd. Every instinct warned her to avoid such a development. She must be so natural in her actions that others would continue to ignore her.

She then became conscious that she was standing still on the sidewalk. She straightened, and, walking to the extreme edge of the curb, looked up and down the street as if waiting for a cab or an omnibus.

But the road had no trolley tracks, and the omnibuses—there were omnibuses, and she felt an odd relief at sight of the familiar unwieldy objects—did not stop for passengers in the middle of the block. She read their signs, but they gave her no help, though they led to a deepening of the frantic sense that she knew all about these places if only she could remember what she knew.

Her first impulse was to take the next omnibus, to go as far as it would carry her, and thus gain time to pull herself together. But she rejected this. She might be herself again—any minute, and then she would be on familiar ground; whereas, if she wandered from it, who could tell how far she might go, or where? There was a chance, too, that she had a companion who had temporarily lost sight of her, or who was in one of those near-by shops and had asked her to wait. No, she must remain where she was, or near there, for a time at least.

A passing stranger gave her a quick and curious glance. Why? She quickened her pace till she reached the corner; standing there, close to the curb, she looked up and down, as if waiting for a bus.

Looking down at her hands, she had discovered that she was carrying a small bag. In it, surely, there would be cards, or a note-book or letter or some other clue to her identity.

She drew farther away from the waiting group and with trembling fingers opened the bag. Like most of the bags women carry, it was divided into two compartments—a center one, closed, for bank-notes and coins, and the remaining space for miscellaneous possessions. She snapped open the center compartment and saw, reassuring display of bank-notes and silver, which she did not take time to examine. She closed it with a throb of thankfulness (at least she was not destitute) and pulled out the other articles in the purse.

There were only three—a handkerchief without initials, still in the folds the laundress had ironed in it, a small pair of nose-glasses in a silk case, marked with the name of a Paris maker, a vanity-box, containing a mirror, a chamois powder-pad, and a cream face powder. She glanced into the mirror, and the inspection gave her no shock of surprise. She looked like that, whoever she was. But it was appalling to find nothing helpful in the handbag.

Her pockets? Of course she had none. The day was a warm one in early September, and she was wearing a one-piece reseda-green silk gown, with no coat. She looked into the mirror again. It reflected the face of a girl about twenty-two or twenty-three, with bronze-colored hair, bobbed and waved, good features, wide, frightened gray-green eyes, and an unnatural pallor. As she returned the mirror to the bag she discovered that she was carrying a wrist-watch, also of Paris make, on a gold-ribbon band. She took it off and examined it carefully. It bore no individual marking of any kind.

Again she became conscious of curious glances. Before she had time to pull herself together she heard a voice, speaking in accents of authority.

"Anything wrong, miss?" it asked; and she found herself looking up into the eyes of a big policeman.

Her heart stood still, then dropped.

"No," she said quickly. "No, of course not."

"Oh, all right," he said easily, but with steady eyes on her face. "Thought you mighta lost somethin' from that purse."

She had a feeling that she was in deadly peril. Another moment, and he would leading her away, to be asked questions she couldn't answer. She must keep steady.

Clearly, it would not do to linger there much longer, and when another omnibus had come and gone she turned away choosing a cross-street on an impulse to get from under the officer's eyes.

She had walked half a block before she dared to glance back to see if the policeman had followed her. He had not, but some one else had; and even as she turned the pursuer spoke.

"Pardon me. But can I help you in any way?" he asked.

She stared at him with an onrush of anger. Must she be hounded by the inquisitive, or driven mad by some street lizard? But the voice was an agreeable one, and the face at which she looked matched it. It was the tanned, smooth-shaven face of a young man in the middle twenties, with thick brown hair, good features, and unusually heavy eyebrows. She had seen him among those near her while she waited for the omnibus.

"Pardon me," he repeated, and she saw that he held his straw hat in his hand. "You seem to be in some kind of trouble." Seeing the panic in her eyes, he added hastily: "As we're guests at the same hotel, I thought you might let me help you out."

Notwithstanding his tact and his casual tone, the young man was rather overwhelmed by the way the girl's white face seemed to flash into flame as she heard his words. He had been right, then. Something was wrong with her, and it was no trifle, either.

"Oh," she gasped, "you know me?"

He controlled his surprise at the strangeness of question and manner, telling himself he must get to the bottom of this. The girl was up against something and was frightened out of her wits.

"I don't," he regretfully admitted, except by sight. But I've seen you at the table next to mine in the hotel dining-room these last three nights, and that makes me feel that I know you. Perhaps it gives me the right to offer help, if you need any."

He stopped, and for a moment steadily met what was, he afterwards told himself, the strangest look he had ever seen in a girl's eyes. It held many things, of which the chief was fear, with suspicion added, as well as hesitation, and a dawning, indescribably pathetic hope.

A little farther down the block a public stand, surrounded by a small park whose outstanding features were a fountain, a few trees, and half a dozen benches. He indicated it with a nod.

"We can't stand here. Let's go into that park," he suggested, in the tone of an older brother. "Then you can tell me what's wrong."

He moved forward as he spoke, assuming that she would go with him, and she went, in silence. That much chance, she told herself, she could take—that much and no more.

He walked on with strides adapted to her shorter steps and she kept close beside him, realizing even in the chaos of the moment that she was beginning to trust him. If he had suddenly left her she would have felt that her last hope had gone, too—that he had broken her only tie with the living world around her. She was like a lost and terrified child to whom a kind stranger has helped out a guiding hand.

He found seats on a bench so close to the fountain that its flying spray came almost to their feet. Any girl, she told herself, could trust that nice, tanned, clean-cut, typical American face. Nevertheless, she hesitated to speak.

"What hotel," she asked at last, "were you speaking of just now?"

He warned himself not to show surprise at anything she said.

"Why, the Garland," he told her. "The hotel where you're stopping. I happen to be there, too."

"I'm wondering if you can be mistaken," she faltered. "I don't remember seeing you."

"You wouldn't," he cheerfully admitted, answering the second remark first. "You've never ever looked my way. But I'm not mistaken. And I saw you sitting in front of me last night, enjoying 'The Wild Rose.' It's one of the best of the musical comedies, isn't it?"

She drew a quick breath. Something far down within her had responded to that, as if a touched cord had strongly vibrated. She called on her courage and it rallied.

"I'm going to trust you," she said, with a decision that made her voice almost harsh.

"Please do." Again his tone was that of an older brother, and again she met the quiet regard of those dependable brown eyes. They held no suspicion, no curiosity, not even a too obtrusive sympathy.

"If you are right about the hotel," she said, "I can go back there and look at the register. Then I can get in touch with my family and friends, if I have any. I suppose I must have some . . . don't you think so?"

"Of course you have," he told her. "But you may be all over this before you get downtown."

He saw her lips relax in something that was almost a smile.

"Thank you so much. I'm trying to keep steady," she said, rising as she spoke; "but I want to get to that hotel as soon as I can, and look myself up. Isn't it weird situation?" she added, with something that was half a laugh and half a strangled sob. "Where is the Garland?"

He told her. "I'll get a taxi-cab for you," he added.

As they waited together at the curb he asked impulsively: "Will you let me go with you? I might be of some use. But of course that's for you to decide."

An empty cab approached and stopped at his signal. He helped her into it, repeated the address to the driver, and stepped back from the curb, bare-headed, accepting her silence as dismissal.

"No, no!" she cried. "Get in, please. I'd rather have you with me."

"I'm glad of that," he said as he took his place beside her. "But I think your troubles will soon be over."

She was becoming more hopeful, too. She had the feeling of one who, from the bottom of a black pit into which he has fallen, sees a glimpse of light at its mouth. Yet . . . suppose this Good Samaritan was mistaken?

"The Garland's a nice old hotel," she heard him say, with the matter-of-factness that was so cheery. "To my mind it's the best of the hotels of its type—the kind that used to be fashionable before the city moved away from them."

He saw that she was not listening, and he decided to risk a small experiment.

"Do you know what city you're in?" he asked her.

"No, not even that."

"That is New York."

"Oh . . . New York!" She raised a lighted face to him.

"That means something to you, doesn't it?"

"Yes." Her face shadowed again and puckered like a frightened child's. "But I don't know just what it means—whether I've been here, or whether I've just read about it."

"You were on Fifth Avenue when you waited for the bus."

"Fifth Avenue." She repeated the words, but vaguely. He went on talking, pointing out the city's landmarks, hoping that one of them would "ring a bell," as he mentally expressed it; but again she hardly listened. She was following her own reflections, and now he learned what they were.

"I have a horror of becoming 'a case,'" she said in a shaking voice. "Is there any way of learning who I am without letting others know what's wrong—without really asking at the desk, I mean."

J. H. C. We feel very glad to think that our efforts have brought success. The J. H. C. has accomplished many worthwhile things. In all of the meetings we have been taught to observe parliamentary rules, which will help us all through life. The J. H. C. has made a beautiful scrap book in history and politics. In all of our social events, we have been successful. Our weekly meetings have been very successful and educational. Led on by our wonderful sponsor, Mrs. Margaret Dutton, we have accomplished these worthwhile things. Therefore we think that the J. H. C. has been very successful.

TYPICAL J. H. C. MEETING

(by Opal Proter)
Setting—J. H. C. room.
President—Harry Witt.
Mr. President—"The house will please come to order. Is there any old business to be brought before the house?"
Mrs. Dutton—"Mr. President."
Mr. President—"Mrs. Dutton."
Mrs. Dutton—"I make a motion that a fine of one cent be assessed on anyone who fails to address the chair before speaking."
Mr. President—"A motion has been made that a fine of one cent be assessed on anyone who fails to address the chair before speaking. Is there a second to the motion?"
Miss Cabler—"I second the motion."
Mr. Schneider (getting hurriedly from his chair)—"She forgot to address the chair before speaking."
Miss Couey—"Mr. President, Mr. Schneider failed to address the chair also."
Mr. Schneider (looking as if he might have heart failure) takes his seat, and Miss Cabler goes ahead.
Miss Cabler—"Mr. President, I second the motion."
Mr. President—"A motion has been made and seconded. All in favor of this motion, let it be known by raising his right hand. All opposed to this motion, let it be known by the same sign. The motion carries. Is there any other business to be brought before the house? We will now have a discussion of the current events."
Mr. President—"Miss Hubbell."
Miss Hubbell—"This topic about prohibition."
Miss King—"Mr. President, Miss Hubbell failed to address the chair."
Miss Hubbell—"Mr. President, (after Miss Hubbell finished the discussion of her topic the President with pencil poised over a sheet of paper and a dreamy, far-away look in his eyes, asks if there is to be any further discussion of the topic."
Mrs. Dutton—"Mr. President."
Mr. President—"In a soft, low voice" "Mrs. Dutton."
Mrs. Dutton—"I make a motion that the president desist from writing poetry during club meetings."
Mr. President—"with ears turning a beautiful, bright red" "A motion—er—has been made that the president desist from writing poetry during club meeting. Is there a second to this motion?"
Miss Dechert—"Mr. President, I second the motion."
Mr. President—"The motion has been made and seconded. All in favor of the motion let it be known by raising his right hand. All opposed let it be known by the same sign. The motion carries."
(Mr. President, very deliberately picking up a comb and running it through hair)—"Miss Hensley, will you discuss your tonic now, please?"
Miss Hensley—"Mr. President."
Mr. President—"Miss Hensley."
(After everyone discussed his current topic, the meeting is adjourned by the president).

have gained many and very profitable things. I have learned how to use parliamentary rules. In learning this, we have learned also how to face an audience without getting nervous. This not only helps us at school, but will help us in life, after we have finished school. If we have to talk before a club, then we won't have to be asked to address the chair before speaking. I also have learned the historical events of the day. This also helps in years to come. It shows how the world is progressing on the different occurrences of the past.

CLUB POEM

(by Ella Simon)
The J. H. C. has been a blessing
To its members, I am sure.
We have all just been confessing
That each one has been a doer
In this work.
It was organized in September,
Nineteen hundred twenty-nine
As you all will now remember.
It has been progressing fine
Ever since.

In our meetings we discuss events
Of the past and of the future,
Religious and political contents
Of cause discussion by the teacher
As seems fit.

A party now, a picnic then
Have we had throughout the year.
Donations in the form of money
When
To the club we must add cheer
By the way.

Papers, magazines, pictures,
bust,
Have been purchased with the coin.
And such useful things "Have we must,"
Or mayhap, we won't do fine
As before.

Using this means, we wish to thank all
Those who helped us with our work
And we know that we won't ever fall
If we are supported—Hark! To this.

Now we hope that we will always be True, upright, loyal, faithful,
To our God, our friends and our country
For we have striven to be careful
All the time.

HISTORY OF SCRAP-BOOK

(by Emma Hensley)
In the beginning, our Scrap book was nothing more nor less than a tailor's book. However, when one combines a tailor's book, some newspapers and a great deal of energy and ambition, one can pretty soon make something.
The tailor's book was furnished by Muriel Warren. Stella Bissett volunteered to get part of the paint. The colors were blue and gold, but Stella happened to have some very good yellow, so the club decided yellow would do as well. Mrs. Dutton furnished the blue paint, and she also painted the book. She dropped it a few times and it had to be painted over, but nothing could daunt the spirit of Mrs. Dutton. She repeated the painting act every time.
When at last the book was painted and ready to receive all the information that the club members were intending to give it, the work was begun in earnest. Prizes were offered to the pupils bringing the most current events and helping put them in the book, by the sponsor, Mrs. Dutton. Several of the pupils and Mrs. Dutton stayed at the school building after school every evening they possibly could and worked on the book.

Among the current events of most importance were discussions on Prohibition, The London Naval Conference, William H. Taft and Foreign Matters. The current events were arranged in order.
At last their part of the work on the scrap-book is almost finished. It is up to their successors to do the rest, and as the result of their labor they find that their work was not in vain.

APRON PARTY

The Junior Historical Club gave an Apron Party with great success Monday night, May 5, 1930. Miss Ella Simon had charge of the invitations. She must be complimented on the ideal way in which she carried on the invitation scheme. One invitation was put into each pocket of the small aprons. On the outside were the words: J-erh H-ere Carefully. The first letters standing for Junior Historical Club. The invitations were put into the form of clever verses, made up by Ella Simon. Mr. Harry Witt, Mr. Raymon Schneider and Miss Marjorie Montgomery acted as measuring committee at the door. The entertainment was carried out by Miss Lorena Couey, Miss Emma Hensley and Miss Margaret Hubbell. Miss Lucille Motley and Miss Exa McElrath attended to the refreshments.
Some new games were played, but it seemed the guests liked the old games best. Many laughs were had over the games such as "Clap In, Clap Out," "Wink um," and "Smile if You Love Me." It must be said that one or two girls were not allowed to be winked out of their partner's chair.
Miss Pairalee Linn honored the guests with two readings. Miss Exa McElrath read a selection. Miss Vernelle Tinsley gave a reading which everyone enjoyed. Refreshments were then served after which Mr. Harry Witt, president of the club, gave a welcome and farewell address.

Among those present (signed here as they signed themselves) with the smallest first, were, Guy C. Moses, Mrs. O. R. Oxford, L. Pepper, Ross H. Brison, Earl Bowers, Gay Munn, Mrs. Lucy Motley, J. F. Cabler, Mrs. Anna M. Dechert, Lela McDonald, Marie Dechert, Willie Mae Adams, Wynona Cabler, Veola Wahl, Raymon Schneider, Opal Porter, Ralph Meadors, Russell La Velle, Marjorie Montgomery, Pairalee O'Lynn, Stella Bissett, Benita Barnes, Harry Witt, Exa McElrath, Squirt Newby, Lorena Couey, Catherine Randolph, Lucille Motley, Mrs. R. H. Brison, Flora Louise Brison, Emma Hensley, Margaret Dutton, Queen Margaret Hubbell, Queen Temple Boone and Vernelle Tinsley.

CLUB ROSTER

Raymon—confirmed bachelor.
Harry—bashful boy.
Ralph—villain.
Emma—poor student.
Louise—water shy.
Stella—heavy weight.
Lorena—bewitching blonde.
Lucille—back number.
Opal—terrible cook.
Catherine—hooky player.
Margaret—unpopularity.
Marjorie—man hater.
Ella—dumb bell.
Marie—a flirt.
Exa—stage fright.
Wynona—foreward.
Mrs. Dutton—poor sport.
Lois—a stout Junior.

INTRODUCTORY

This is the Junior Historical Club issue of the "Eagle Screams." Each article in this issue has been written by some member of the J. H. C.

MOTHER

(Written by Carleton Massie and dedicated to the mothers of the Sixth Grade Boys for Mother's Day.)

Mother, Mother, my best friend
Will stay with me till the end;
She is always happy in every way,
And ready to help me every day.

When you are sad,
Downhearted and blue,
She is the only one
To tell your troubles to.

If your friends fail,
And with you won't stay;
Just tell it to mother,
And for you she'll pray.

She is always ready,
To turn your sorrow to joy,
She never will fail you
Because you are her boy.

J. H. C. BUYS PICTURES

The members of the J. H. C. decided several weeks ago to order two pictures, one of General Robert E. Lee and one of "Stonewall" Jackson, to present to the school in remembrance of their study of American History. Each member of the club is going to donate thirty cents to pay for the pictures. The pictures have been ordered from the Miller Paint Company of San Angelo, and their arrival is expected soon. Mr. R. H. Brison has consented to frame them. The pictures will be presented to the school by the president of the club, Mr. Harry Witt, at the close of school.
The members of the club surely appreciate Mr. Brison's attitude in helping the club.

"CURRENT EVENTS"

(by Wynona Cabler)
The most common thing that happens on Fridays between 10:30 and 11:15 o'clock is to see about two-thirds of the members of the Junior Historical Club running about the study hall in search of a current event.
One member will go to one of the other members and say, "Do you have a current event that I could have; if it isn't real short I don't want it."
"Well, I have several but they aren't real short; if you are on my side I will let you have one. You could leave out the biggest part of this one and just tell the most important part."
About five minutes before the period is over everyone has found a current event and is studying hard to have it well prepared.

VISITORS WHO HAVE HONORED THE J. H. C.

(by Marjorie Montgomery)
The J. H. C. was honored by having many visitors. The president gave a hearty welcome to each one. Mrs. Crabb gave a very interesting talk on Taft which was enjoyed by all. Gay Munn, Leonard Dunbar and Blake Chenault also honored the club with a visit. The members of the N. G. L. C. visited the club and a very interesting talk was made by their president. The members of this club were Betty Kroppf, Shreves Goodwin, Blackie and Brownie Motley, Ella Annis Henderson, Eleanor Highsmith, Katherine Johnson, Vernelle Tinsley, Marie and Sloan Davis, Sarah Schneider, Veola Wahl, Maud Boone and Bonita Barnes. The club was even honored by some of the dignified Seniors as visitors. These were Tommie Boone, Ruby Davis, Junior Stevenson and Carleton Wright.
As the visitors called again, they doubtless enjoyed their visit. It is hoped that they enjoyed their visit as much as the club did.

CLUB HISTORY

(by Lorena Couey)
The tenth grade history class met for the first time Friday October 11, 1929, for the purpose of organizing a club. The club was named the Junior Historical Club, and it was decided that the club would meet every Friday. At this meeting Mr. Harry Witt was elected president, Miss Lucille Motley vice president, and Miss Ella Simon reporter. It was also decided at this meeting for the members of the club to make a scrap book and put all of the important current events in it.

The next meeting was held Friday, October 18, 1929. At this meeting Miss Simon offered her resignation as reporter and it was accepted. Miss Lorena Couey was elected secretary and treasurer. It was decided that she should act as reporter also. Due to the fact that Mrs. Dutton, the sponsor of the club, was ill, Mrs. Walter Tinsley sponsored the club. Blue and gold were selected for the club colors, and the chrysanthemum for the club flower.

At the next meeting "Onward and Upward" was selected for the club motto. The members of the club subscribed for the Literary Digest. It was decided that the most important topics in the Digest be discussed each Friday. On account of Mrs. Dutton being absent three weeks, very little work was done on the scrap book the first part of the year.

After the subscription for the Literary Digest expired it was decided that every member of the club should get some current events of interest from a newspaper for discussion. In order to arouse a greater interest in bringing current events for the scrap book, Mrs. Dutton offered a prize to the one who has brought the most current events at the end of the year.

After mid-term new officers were elected. The president, Harry Witt, offered his resignation, but it was not accepted. Miss Lucille Motley, vice president, and Miss Lorena Couey, secretary-treasurer and reporter offered their resignation, and they were accepted. Mr. Ralph Meador was elected vice president and Mr. Devers McElrath secretary-treasurer and reporter.

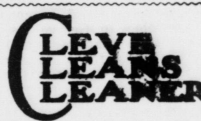

The work progressed splendidly and a great deal of work was accomplished on the scrap book until Mr. Devers McElrath moved away. Miss Exa McElrath was then elected secretary-treasurer and reporter.

The club regrets the loss of two of their members, Mr. Devers McElrath and Miss Muriel Warren, who have both moved from Junction.

Junction Trade Notes

(By G. G. Co.)

This community is vitally interested in the "Eat More Lamb" campaign sponsored by Sheep & Goat Raisers' Ass'n and which has gained headway in other States. Kimble County owes its supremacy to the sheep and goat industry. . . . Junction markets should set aside at least one day each week and feature a "Lamb and Kid Day." . . . "Serve Lamb and Save Money" would be a good motto for Kimble County at this time. . . . In future issues the Junction Eagle will feature recipes for serving lamb, and it is worth while that all of us enter into the movement.

In stock this week: Seed June corn, Red Top cane, new crop Alfalfa hay. Gann Grocery Company.

The new census will show a material increase in Junction's population, and such growth will be manifest throughout the community of which Junction is the center. Junction's progress is apparent to visitors and newcomers, and "old-timers" marvel at the advancement when they undertake to walk Holekamp Ave. on a shopping errand. . . . This year seems to be one of abnormalcy insofar as the weather is concerned—excess rain and storm in some sections and drouth in other sections. In Alabama drouth has hindered farming, where plantings have failed to come up, according to George Ashwander, Alabamian, who is in Kimble County for a vacation and to look after property interests here.

Health specialist says that greens are nature's true spring tonic, blood builder and purifier, constituting a blood tonic for rosy cheeks and good rich blood. On sale this week: Home-grown spinach and mustard. Gann Grocery Company. Kimble County home-grown, home-canned Elberta peaches, taste like the fresh fruit: $2.15 a dozen.

Spring shearing of wool is well under way in Kimble County and Junction wool warehouse is receiving clips daily. The spring accumulation of wool at the local warehouse will likely exceed a half million pounds. . . . Bonton dispatch May 6 stated that worsted mills have reached an agreement with dealers as to values, and sales for future delivery have been closed on Ohio Delaines, at 30c grease basis. . . . Everyone should co-operate in the "Eat More Lamb" movement.

Local Calendar: Friday and Saturday, May 9-10, 4H Clubs poultry and livestock show. . . . May Fete on Hi School campus Saturday evening, Mexican supper on campus at 6, Maypole dance 6:30, Folk dance 7:30. . . . You are invited to have a cup of coffee with us any hour of the day on Saturday, demonstrating a new product, "Woman's Club" coffee.

TAXIDERMIST

Mr. Gilbert H. Jones, Artist-Taxidermist, has opened an office and shop in the building across the street from the Safety First Filling Station. He has had six years experience and is prepared to turn out excellent work. He asks those interested in having fish and game mounted to call and see him. He also has a curio shop where you may obtain armadillo baskets, rugs, etc.

Messrs. John S. Munn, Gay Munn and Dennis Wallace attended the State Track Meet in Austin last Saturday. Junction had no entries, but they were delighted with the fact that San Angelo, coached by Bill Bissett, won second place.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Borden returned Saturday from Corpus Christi where they attended the annual meeting of the Rotary Club of this district. They enjoyed the meeting. Mr. Borden was recently elected president of the local Rotary Club.

Mr. A. G. Farmer was a bus-visitor in San Antonio the first of the week.

EXHIBITS IN GOOD SHAPE

(Continued from page 1) of the various agents and vocational teachers present and will last well up into the day. Results will be of interest to all contestants.

Possibly the newest and most interesting feature of the entire show will be the auction sale of three fat steer calves which have been fed by Woodrow Kothmann and Neal Lambert of the London club.

These boys have been on the job with their feeding demonstrations and have done well with their calves considering the many disadvantages that they have had to overcome. The boys had a late start and have had to buy most of the feed and still it is considered a worthwhile undertaking. The boys have learned the value of feeding balanced rations, systematic and periodic feeding, selection of the right kinds of individuals and have had an opportunity to study individual animals as feeders in the feed lot.

Judge Weaver H. Baker will make the address of welcome to all boys and girls present at their barbecue Saturday noon. Mr. Wallace Dameron of the Experiment Station at Sonora will have charge of the judging work while agents and teachers from Del Rio, Sonora, Rocksprings, Menard, Brady, Mason, Llano, Fredericksburg, Paint Rock, Eden, San Angelo and Kerrville will assist in making the program what we want it to be.

Those club members who have carried on demonstrations and projects will be entitled to the privileges of the show. Club members enrolled and not carrying on a demonstration, and adults will be requested to purchase tickets to the barbecue and picture show Saturday.

Your county agent is interested in your boy and girl and desires you to come and take part in the program in order that you may see the value of agricultural training in the field.

ROOSEVELT SCHOOL NEWS

The Roosevelt school will close May the 16th. On Thursday night, May 15, a program will be presented by the pupils consisting of several one-act plays, songs and readings. On Friday night, May 16, a play, entitled "Path Across the Hill," will be presented. The cast of characters are as follows:

Samuel Crawford. . . . Grandpa Roy Winkle. . . . Robert Post Bennie Simon. . . . A visitor Walton Conrad. Ruth's brother John Lewis Weaver. . . . Dr. Jimmie Reed, with ambition Mr. W. O. Dickerson. . . . Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones. . . . Zuzu choice Estes Smith. . . . Mrs. Davis Miss Alice Roberts. . . . Grandma Ruth Conrad. . . . Nicknamed Bobbie Miss Ethel Roberts. . . . Flo Gray Vina Taylor. . . . Ruth's cousin Rachel Simon. . . . Lutie, a neighbor Edith Suber. . . . Zuzu, the cook

The public is cordially invited to attend both programs which will begin promptly at 8 o'clock p. m. There will be no entrance fee charged.

When in need of a new tire or a set of tires, remember we have yours—The GOODYEAR. Loeffler Motor Co.

HEALTH EXAMINATIONS

At a recent meeting of the Junction P. T. A. it was decided to give a free physical examination to all children who will enter school next year. Mothers having children who will enter school for the first time in September are requested and urged to bring their children to the school building next Tuesday, May 13, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. and they will receive free physical examination.

THE STATE OF TEXAS, County of Kimble.

Notice is hereby given. That by virtue of a certain Execution issued out of the Honorable District Court of Kimble County, on the 8th day of April, 1930, by U. D. Kindrick, District Clerk of said Kimble County, for sum of Three Thousand, Three Hundred Fifty-nine Dollars and costs of suit, under a Judgment, in favor of The Citizens State Bank of Gorin, in a certain cause in said Court, No. 724 and styled The Citizens State Bank of Gorin vs. Frank Baker, placed in my hands for service, I, Frank Patterson, as Sheriff of Kimble County, Texas, did, on the 5th day of May, 1930, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Kimble County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

Lots 2 and 7, in Block 8 West. In the town of Junction, now the city of Junction. All of the interest of Frank Baker, as described in the plots of the town of Junction, Book 22, Page 121, and levied upon as the property of Frank Baker and that on the first Tuesday in June, 1930, the same being the 3rd day of said month, at the Court House door, of Kimble County, in the town of Junction, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said order of sale. I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said Frank Baker.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Junction Eagle, a newspaper published in Kimble County.

Witness my hand, this 8th day of May, 1930.

Frank Patterson, Sheriff Kimble County, Texas.

Eat More Mutton and Chevron

Ranchmen are receiving good prices for cattle and we urge them to encourage local consumption of more Mutton and Chevron and to sell on the markets their beef cattle. Kimble County people could not render a better service at this time than to eat more lamb and kid. Recent rains have improved ranges and sheep and goats are again coming into their own. Let's eat them.

Plant more feed now and fatten your own stock this winter instead of shipping away for the northern feed growers to feed. It is not too late to plant feed. "Less cotton and more food and feed" should be the motto of every farmer and ranchman.

Every director of this bank is vitally interested in the development of Kimble County. Come in and talk over your financial problems with our officers.
