

THE BEGINNING OF THE END for the old city hall building on west Twenty-sixth Street started last week as city employees began salvaging materials from an unused office at the east end of the building. That portion served as the water department when the building was built, and in the back of the office was this water well and pump which served the entire city of Snyder. In later years this area was the police station. City employee Bill Cooper is shown removing the back door to the room during the salvage operation.

Bidding On EOC Here Climaxes Long Study

A local project which has been many months in the making will move to the threshold of maturity Thursday night when bids are opened on a city fire-pole station and Civil Defense Emergency Operating Center (EOC).

Although largely a city project, the EOC represents a joint venture by the city, county and Civil Defense.

It came about through a series of circumstances.

The need for an emergency operating center had been under discussion for some time. The Office of Civil Defense is interested in such projects because they provide a center of operations for city and county governments during times of emergency.

Moreover, Civil Defense has indicated that it prefers to have such centers closely affiliated with an agency that functions day by day.

Such practice helps assure that equipment will be kept in good condition, and that people involved in emergency operations will be familiar with the facilities.

Meanwhile, the City of Snyder was considering several possibilities for providing better facilities for the central fire station and the city police station. Both of these agencies would be prominent in the operation of an EOC during times of emergency.

So, after exhaustive studies it was agreed that an EOC in conjunction with a fire and police station here would efficiently serve the interests of Civil Defense and the city itself.

The county became involved automatically since it is an integral part of the local Civil Defense organization and the new EOC would provide facilities for the commissioners court and other vital county agencies during any emergency that might arise.

Financing of the project involves a formula approved by Civil Defense.

The project is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $200,000. The Office of Civil Defense is committed for $20,000, the county $100,000 and the city $50,000.

The formula is this: The Office of Civil Defense will pay half the cost of the portion of the building allotted exclusively for EOC purposes. The city and county together will pay the other half, or one-fourth each. Based on the pre-contract estimate, that would be $20,000 for CD, $100,000 each for the city and county.

Beyond that, the city proposed additional facilities of its own for the fire and police departments. These are expected to cost an additional $40,000 or so.

The two city departments will actually be using the EOC portion of the building for certain purposes during their day-to-day operation, which is exactly what the Office of Civil Defense desires.

In preparation for a possible contract, the city accepted a bid of $17,500 for the old city hall and police station property. The new structure is planned for the south side of the same block, fronting Twenty-sixth Street.

Funds derived from the sale of the old property will be applied to the city's portion of the new construction costs. That, along with budgeted capital improvement funds and some from a prior bond issue will enable the city to fulfill its obligation to the new construction without any new bond issue and without any adjustment in tax rate.

Equipment and furnishings for the new building will be covered in future contracts.

The EOC portion of the new building will be a basement, constructed to Civil Defense specifications. An upper, or ground floor, will be the city's own portion for the fire and police station facilities.

Hurricane Flora Weakens Over Cuban Mountains Turns Back To Caribbean

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Flora began to weaken today over the mountains of Cuba and gave signs of turning southwestward back into the Caribbean Sea. Hurricane warnings were lowered in the Bahamas Islands.

This unexpected turn in what forecasters called the "most unpredictable storm in many years" also lessened the danger to Florida.

At Nassau, forecasters Arthur Pike said the hurricane, which had battered eastern Cuba for 25 hours, might turn as far south as Grand Cayman Island, 200 miles south of Cuba, in the Caribbean.

At the national hurricane center in Miami, Chief Forecaster Gordon Dunn said it remains "very, very uncertain, with the lack of a definite steering pattern, as to what Flora will do."

At least 43 lives have been claimed so far by Flora, most savage hurricane to come out of the tropical Atlantic in two years.

Dr. Gerald Philppeau, Haitian minister of health, reported today by telephone from Port-au-Prince that Haiti was devastated by the hurricane.

"Entire cities have been destroyed and bodies are floating in the streets," Philppeau told the Miami News after telephone communications with Haiti was re-established for the first time since Flora struck.

It will be a long time, he said, before the full story of death and destruction can be told.

Flora, which had been a Category 4 hurricane, was downgraded to a Category 3 hurricane by the National Hurricane Center.

During September, sales amounted to 322,906,518 gallons, an increase of 28.06 per cent over the same month a year ago. The gain through the first nine months is 3.20 per cent, largely due to the addition in July of Sun Oil Company waterflood project which required about 80 million gallons a month.

The member cities used 640,647,040 gallons in September, or 30.5 per cent more than for September of 1962. Odessa drew 343,133,740 gallons up 32.48 per cent. Big Spring 219,801 and up 13.83 per cent, and Snyder 77,602,300 gallons or up 101.09 per cent.

Snyder's increase in part is due to furnishing Rotan treated water.

The six oilfield projects required 292,086,514 gallons, a gain of 22.94 per cent over last year. Without the Sun project, this would have shown a decrease.

The peak wind reported in the Bahamas was 70 miles an hour over the ragged keys, 75 miles north of the Cuban coast.

Hurricane warnings were changed to gale warnings for some of the Bahamas Islands.

At 11 a.m., the hurricane center had been stalled for six hours at latitude 20.7 north, longitude 77.0 west, about 75 miles south-east of Camaguey, Cuba. A slow westward drift was expected to start within the next six to 12 hours, taking the storm along the south Cuban coast.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is almost certain to top the 10 billion gallon mark in year in deliveries to its customers.

A booming September production pushed sales this year to 8,198,357,182 gallons for the first nine months of the year. Even normal deliveries for the remaining three months will push deliveries well past the 10 billion figure.

YOUNGSTERS TAKE EXCITING RIDE—An exciting ride by a 10-year-old driver and a friend came to an abrupt halt Saturday morning when this 1957 Buick smashed through a fence in the alley in the 600 block between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Streets. The vehicle had hit a parked pickup truck on Thirty-fourth and then hit a gas meter, utility pole, crashed through the fence and knocked down a clothes line. Police estimated damage to the car at about $600 and to property at about $120. The pickup truck was not damaged. Neither the driver nor his passenger was injured.

Original El Greco Art Discovered In School

AUSTIN (AP)—A teacher at St. Edward's High School has identified a painting which has hung for several years in the school's main building as an original work by El Greco.

Brother Victor McGee, long a student of the 16th Century artist, said he found the painter's signature, written in Greek, under layers of varnish in the upper left corner.

St. Edward's acquired the painting from Dale Francis, who brought it to Austin when he became the school's development director. He gave the painting to the school.

Over 600 Due To Attend Banquet

Over 600 persons are due to attend the annual businessmen's banquet here Tuesday night.

The banquet, sponsored by the merchants committee of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the high school cafeteria and auditorium.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Charles W. Jarvis, San Marcos dentist and well-known humorist and public speaker.

The banquet meal will be served in the cafeteria and the program will follow in the auditorium.

A new feature of the banquet this year will be recognition of teachers in the local school system who have earned advanced degrees during the past year.

Of the 231 professional personnel associated with the Snyder Public Schools, 93 now have masters degrees and one holds a doctorate.

Eight have earned masters degrees during the past year. They include Roy Carter, high school; Robert J. Bracken, high school; Travis Junior High; Mrs. Dorothy Kysner, West Elementary; Mrs. Mary L. Scott and Troy Scott, Northeast Elementary; Mrs. Nellie J. Edwards and Mrs. Elizabeth Grandison, Lincoln.

Ten others now associated with the schools here have received advanced degrees during the past five years. Robert L. Clinton, high school principal, received the doctor of education degree. Recipient masters degrees from the high school during the past five years were Mrs. Dorothy Rossen, James M. Shelby and Ned Underwood; from Travis Junior High; Jack Gorman and Joyce McDowell; from Lamar Junior High; Jimmy Lynch and Robert O'Day; from North Elementary; Robert Womack; from East Elementary; Mrs. Billie Bracken.

SNYDER AREA OIL

Locations have been reported for five wildcat projects in the Snyder area.

Two are in Kent County, two miles southeast of Girard and 1,800 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 85, block 1, H&GN survey.

Brusco Corporation of Fort Worth No. 1 George Gabriel is slated as a 6,300-foot Canyon reef wildcat in Kent County, 19 miles northwest of Claiborne.

The location is 1,800 feet from north and east lines of section 41, block 2, H&GN survey and 4 1/2 miles northwest of the SMS (Canyon sand) pool.

John L. Cox of Midland No. 1 Clayton had reached a total depth of 3,130 feet and was preparing to run seven inch casing in an 8,300 foot well line wildcat 11 miles north of Vealmore and one location northwest of the depleted operator of the North Gail (Spraberry) field in Borden County.

The location is 1,813 feet from west and 2,187 feet from south line of section 9, block 32, T-4N, T-4E survey.

Drilliste is also 1 1/2 miles southeast of Pennsylvania reef line production in the depleted Luck-Pot pool.

Texas, Inc. No. 36 M. A. Fuller is scheduled as a Corazon (San Andres) prospect 16 miles northwest of Snyder in Scurry County. Location is 793 feet from south and 1,06 feet from west lines of section 57, block 37, H&GN survey. Contract depth is 2,660 feet.

To M. B. Medders of Wichita Falls will drill No. 2 H. T. Lovett, a 5,000-foot Mississippi exploration 15 miles northeast of Aspermont in Northeast Stonewall County. It is 1 1/2 miles west of the Katz multipay area and 1 1/2 miles northwest of the same operator's No. 1 Lorentzen, a 5,813-foot failure.

Location is 4,300 feet from north and 3,200 feet from west lines of Manuelle Cordova survey. K. K. Amiri of Midland completed No. 2 J. S. Boren as a Post-Glorieta field pumper in Garza County five miles northeast of Justiceburg.

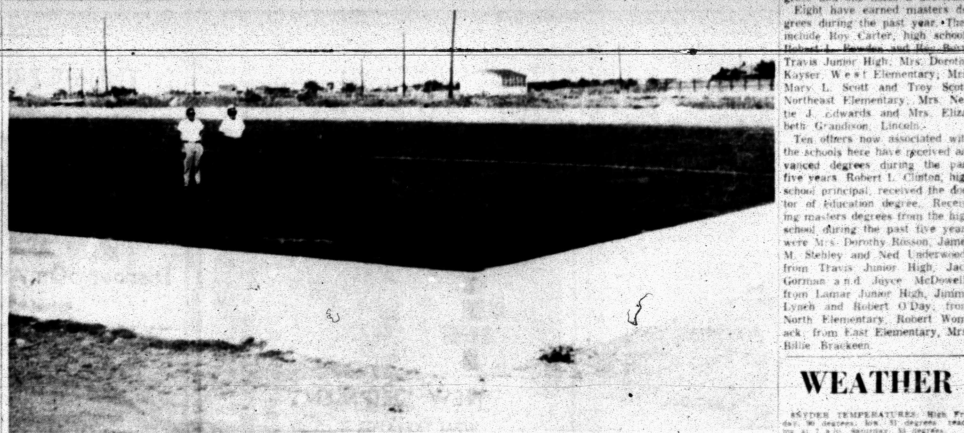

On the potential test it pumped 28 barrels of 37-gravity oil plus 35 per cent water through perforations at 2,563.98 feet. It was fractured with 50,000 gallons.

Location is 330 feet from south and 1,491 feet from west lines of section 130, block 5, H&GN survey.

T. D. Humphrey, Jr., of Dallas No. 1 F. W. F. Martin has completed a 1 1/2-mile extension and the second upper Strawn sand producer in the Davan multipay field of Stonewall County.

It flowed 167 barrels of 41-grav.

NEARLY AN ACRE OF RENT-FREE LAND is ready and waiting for prairie dog families in Towle Park. Jack Farren, foreman, and Jay Ramsey, park superintendent are shown inspecting the stand of grass which has been planted to provide food for the animals. The prairie dogs to stock the "town" will come from the prairie dog town in Lubbock, but they cannot be trapped until their natural food there is gone and they start feeding them late in the winter, probably about February. Forty-two inches of wire mesh are sunk in the ground below the low wall to keep the prairie dogs in their compound.

Location is 990 feet from south and 2,257 feet from east lines of section 4, block U, T&P survey, 12 miles southwest of Aspermont. James H. Bellamy will attempt to seal the second producer to the Hattaway (Strawn) pool in Scurry County, seven miles south of Fluvanna, at No. 1 Liedtke 38, Ltd., S.C.N. Ainsworth.

It is 330 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 226, block 97, HATC survey and is a re-entry of the former Liedtke and Pembroke No. 1 Ainsworth, a dry hole at total depth of 8,313 feet, which was abandoned in July, 1961.

Exploratory ventures in three counties have been abandoned after failing to develop production. These are:

Scurry County, Apco Oil Corporation No. 5 Holiday, outcrop, total depth 7,606 feet, 20 miles southwest of Snyder, 1,650 feet from north and 2,860 feet from east lines of section 25, block 20, Lavaca Navigation Survey.

Stonewall County, J. W. Hastings No. 1 Oscar, Vanderhoof, offset to discovery total depth 5,044 feet, three miles northwest of Old Glory 1,000 feet from north and 2,520 feet from east lines of section 12, BBAC survey.

land, the more it would weaken. A chance would remain, however, that it would regenerate when it moves back over the Caribbean, forecasters said.

Land friction over Cuba and a large high-pressure area to the north were reported to have been the cause of Florida's slowdown. At 8 a.m. the storm center stood almost stationary 70 miles southeast of Camaguey in southeastern Cuba.

South Florida interests were warned to keep in close touch with future hurricane bulletins. But Forecaster Paul Moore said the high pressure probably will hold the storm away from states farther north.

Breathless Calm Now In Honduras

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—An uneasy calm prevailed over Honduras today as the armed forces chief assumed supreme powers, following Thursday's bloody military coup.

With the last pockets of resistance apparently crushed, Col. Oswaldo Lopez-Arellano proclaimed himself provisional president Friday. He faced a new problem immediately in the suspension of economic and military aid from the United States.

Although the country remained under martial law and a night-time curfew, other restrictions were eased after the sharp fighting in which the death toll was officially put at 21.

Stores in this Central American republic of 1.8 million persons reopened and telephone and plane service was restored.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk expressed concern over this latest Latin American military coup—the fourth this year—and announced the withdrawal of U.S. military and economic aid mission from Honduras and the Dominican Republic.

The Honduras-revolt—ousting President Ramon Villeda Morales—was remarkably similar to the Dominican coup 10 days ago ending the regime of President Juan Bosch. They were the first democratically elected chiefs of state in either country in a generation.

In his decree assuming the presidency, Lopez, an affable career officer, said the revolt was necessary to end Communist infiltration, administrative chaos and political unrest. The Dominican military leaders also cited a Communist menace in their country.

From his exile in neighboring Costa Rica, the deposed Villeda Morales said "reactionary elements" had used the army to overthrow him as he neared the end of his six-year term. He said they wanted to prevent the election of Modesto Rodas Alvarado as president in the Oct. 13 elections.

Rodas Alvarado, who appeared a certain winner, has long opposed the Honduran army's almost autonomous status. It is subject to little civilian control.

The withdrawal of military and economic assistance was accompanied by a severing of diplomatic relations. Charles R. Burrows, the U.S. ambassador in Tegucigalpa, was expected to return to Washington.

Officials said the cancellation of aid would affect about $7 million under an $18 million commitment begun July 1, 1961. The order does not affect distribution of U.S. surplus food through private channels.

The U.S. State Department indicated it favored a meeting of the foreign ministers of the Western Hemisphere.

Personnel Swaps Seen In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The CIA chief in South Viet Nam is reportedly being called home in what may be the first step of a shakeup of American personnel in Saigon.

John H. Richardson is officially being recalled to Washington for consultations. But reliable sources indicate ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge wants to replace him as head of the Central Intelligence Agency mission in South Viet Nam.

The report of Richardson's recall came only three days after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, completed an inspection trip in Viet Nam and reported to President Kennedy.

Richardson has been one of the key architects of U.S. effort to help President Ngo Dinh Diem's government out Communist guerrillas. State Department sources give him good marks in this respect.

But there have been persistent reports of differences between Lodge and the CIA mission and other agencies operating under Lodge's general direction in attempting to straighten out U.S.-Vietnamese relations.

Richardson, it is reliably reported, won't return to South Viet Nam.

It has been expected that Lodge would shake up the U.S. mission at Saigon.

Dear Abby...

By ASIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What good are laws? I'll tell you. They are good for the lawyers. The judge says a divorced man must pay so much alimony and child support. The man doesn't do it, so the woman has to go back to her lawyer and pay him to try to get her money for her. The divorced man says, "Okay, put me in jail and you'll get your share whether he likes it or not. If this relief falls, let the man test his bluff in jail on a charge of non-support. I'll bet he won't repeat."

DEAR BITTER: In some circumstances the law permits a garnish of wages, which means you get your share whether he likes it or not. If this relief falls, let the man test his bluff in jail on a charge of non-support. I'll bet he won't repeat.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young woman. I have been told I am very attractive. I recently took a job running an elevator in what is supposed to be a high class office building. I would rather not go into detail, but I would like to know if it is really against the law to hit a man with glasses.

Changes Due In Policies Says Nixon

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says there are pressures inside and outside the Kennedy administration for a nonaggression pact—and that such a pact could permanently enslave 97 million Eastern Europeans.

"I believe the time has come for a complete change of direction and emphasis in American foreign policy toward Eastern Europe," Nixon said in an article in the current Saturday Evening Post.

Nixon said Soviet Premier Khrushchev was sitting on a powder keg of possible revolt by the peoples of Eastern satellites against their Communist governments "if they thought they had a chance to succeed."

"It is not surprising, therefore, that Khrushchev's main foreign policy objectives at this time is to keep the lid on this Pandora's box of troubles for the Communist empire," Nixon said.

Today Khrushchev hopes to do this by negotiating a nonaggression pact between the NATO nations and the Communist Warsaw Pact group.

"This would give him exactly what he wants—recognition by the West of the legality and permanence of his Eastern European Communist regimes," Nixon said.

Nixon, who traveled to Eastern Europe last summer, said: "Because there are strong pressures from within as well as from outside the Kennedy administration to make such a deal, I believe that only the mobilization of an aroused and informed public opinion will prevent the sellout of the right of 97 million enslaved people in Eastern Europe to be free."

Nixon held that the United States' goal must be a free Cuba, a free Eastern Europe, a free Russia and a free China.

"And every policy must be directed to reach that goal through peaceful means," he said.

At Midland Island in the mid-Pacific, a 20-foot stone light-house is inscribed "Amelia Earhart Light, 1937." It was built in memory of Amelia Earhart, on the island which was her intended destination on her last flight in 1937.

Texas Again Needing Rain Says Agricultural Service

COLLEGE STATION, (AP)—The state needs rain, says John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The last general rains, now drying fast, did little to relieve the widespread shortage of moisture. Cool, dry days were perfect for harvest but seed need moisture and warmth to begin their growth, he said. Ranges are a little improved and some livestock still are short of stock water.

Moisture in the Panhandle is short. About 85 per cent of the wheat is planted and under attack by army worms. Some sorghum is being harvested. Ranges are in fair to good condition.

All but a few southern counties of the South Plains have adequate moisture. About 85 per cent of the sorghum is harvested. Cold nights have delayed maturing of cotton. About 80 per cent of the wheat crop is planted. Ranges are average.

Cotton is being harvested on the Rolling Plains. Moisture is needed in all but six counties. Grain planting is active.

North Central Texas is suffering from a general drought. Some light rains fell but most wheat seed beds are awaiting moisture. Some wheat is being dusted in and needs rain to germinate. Some dairy counties have severe shortages of oats, hoping to get some early grazing. The cotton harvest is about complete. The hay crop is short. Dairy and beef cattle producers and crop growers are suffering.

The wheat and oat crop in Northeast Texas is partially planted, though moisture is very short. Cotton, corn and sorghum are being harvested. The hay harvest is light. Pecans are maturing. Pastures are below average and army worm damage is heavy. Some livestock feeding has begun. In far West Texas the cotton harvest is increasing. Lamb shipments are about over and rail shipments are beginning. Irrigated small grain is growing fast. Moisture in West Central Texas ranges from adequate to very short. Heavy rains are needed for pastures and stock water and for planting grain. Oats provide some grazing. The Ballinger area.

Reminder Issued On Ira Reservations

IRA — Persons who plan to attend the barbecue in connection with the Ira Homecoming on Oct. 19, have been urged to make their reservations as soon as possible. Those who are arranging for the barbecue must know the number planning to attend by Friday, Oct. 11, it was emphasized. Reservations may be made by calling HI 3-7670 or HI 3-4088.

Ira Post Office Adds New Service

IRA — The Post Office of Ira has added a new service for the people of this area. The Ira Post Office now has mail leaving here at 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, making three dispatches each day. These include a 9:45 a.m. dispatch to Snyder, a 12 noon dispatch to Colorado City and the new 3:30 p.m. dispatch to Snyder.

Pennsylvania law requires that for highway safety all buggies — an Amish family's only transport — must be equipped with headlights, taillights and turn signals.

Scientists Cast Doubts On 'Seeing Is Believing'

"Seeing is believing?" Not necessarily, say some of the scientists connected with the nation's Manned Spacecraft Center.

Apparently, the experts were shocked by a report from Astronaut Gordon Cooper that he saw such things as a train, a truck, a boat and houses from his space capsule while flying through space more than 100 miles above the earth.

Cooper's account of such sightings caused considerable comment shortly after his flight, and his final report on his 22-orbit trip included the same information. The experts say they do not doubt that Cooper "saw" these objects, but they are reluctant to concede that he saw them plainly enough to identify them. They think he saw dust moving along a road and that he automatically assumed that it was a truck, and thereby "saw" a truck "in context."

Those who have seen Gordon Cooper, along with other experienced astronauts, and have heard their first-hand comments, either in person or via television, probably have a tendency to believe that Cooper did see a train, a boat, a truck and houses, just as he would during a flight in a conventional airplane.

The astronauts "saw" other objects which scientists were unable to explain or identify, but these were positively confirmed by repeated sightings during subsequent trips through space.

In fact, all of the astronauts brought back information that was previously unknown, even to the most learned scientists. Perhaps the view of the earth from over 100 miles up was another.

We will string along with Gordon Cooper and concede that he did indeed see a train, a boat, a truck and houses. After all, he was there and we were not. And neither were the scientists.

Looking Back

From The Scurry County Times, Oct. 6, 1948

Many dollars worth of premiums are being offered to club boys and girls who compete in the Scurry County Products Show here Oct. 16 and 17.

A check-up by Mrs. Ray Stokes, official greeter of the "Welcome to Snyder" Association reveals that 171 new families or single persons have been welcomed (during the past year). This trend, not nearly matched by persons who have left the city, indicates that the population is slowly but surely moving upward.

Dear Willard and Jack, I would like to have space in your valuable paper to express my appreciation for the splendid work done by your chamber of commerce, the city dads of Snyder and the commissioners court in moving the job tabernacle to the present site and in doing such a thorough job of rebuilding the tabernacle and those splendid stalls. I want to say that Snyder has eclipsed herself in providing a suitable and a well located place for a country fair.

Tactics That 'Won West' Don't Serve In Viet Nam

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO (AP) — The strategic hamlets of South Viet Nam are based on a military principle that the Americans West, fortify a point and fight off marauders to gain time for final victory.

Yet the plan has run into difficulties in the long war against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, looking at the strategic hamlet program when they flew to Saigon to look for an answer to the multimillion-dollar riddle: "What is wrong with U.S. aid programs in Viet Nam?"

The United States is concerned because the U.S. aid mission, which spends about $100 million a year in Viet Nam, and the U.S. military assistance program, costing about $300 million annually, both are investing time, money and supplies in the strategic hamlet program.

The U.S. aid mission is headed by Joseph Brent, a ruddy-faced, amiable American Foreign Service representative, he has 13 years of experience heading missions in Thailand, Formosa, Morocco and South Viet Nam.

The professed father of the strategic hamlet idea is Ngo Dinh Nhu, closest adviser of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Considered by high Vietnamese and U.S. officials at the foundation for a successful war against the guerrillas, the strategic hamlet program was begun last year and is well under way.

The program calls for building 12,000 strategic hamlets, fortified and locally garrisoned. About $300 have been built, although not all these have finished the moats and barbed wire enclosures to keep off Viet Cong attackers and infiltrating guerrilla sympathizers.

U.S. military aid for the hamlets ranges from barbed wire through small arms down to flashlights and even to the weapons. The people in a hamlet select their own chief. Villages are organized, and each province has a

Action Urged To Prevent More Clashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Force base commanders are under orders to take firm action to prevent further incidents such as the recent clashes—one of them at Dyess Air Force Base, Abilene, Tex.—which resulted in injury to airmen.

The orders were issued by Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, who was understood to be particularly disturbed by two incidents which occurred in August.

His order was not made public but its substance was disclosed in response to inquiries.

LeMay was understood to have told his commanders it is imperative to review their policies and procedures "with respect to the maintenance of a wholesome atmosphere and proper decorum" and to maintain the "highest disciplinary standards."

In the Aug. 25 incident at Dyess Air Force Base, 30-40 persons interfered with the arrest of an unruly Airman outside a noncommissioned officers' club. One Air Policeman drew his gun and shot an Airman in the stomach.

At Sculthorpe, England, harsh words between Negro and white Airmen led to a fight at a club where 150 Airmen were holding a dance attended by 20 British women on Aug. 29. Outside the club, and other wounds resulted.

Joe Chapman Member Of A&M Council

By TOM ROGGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States plans to continue contacts with Soviet and British U.N. delegates to try to achieve more than the token agreement reached by the Big Three foreign ministers at their meetings.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson was expected to keep in close touch with the representatives of the other two negotiations to try to extend positive negotiations into the host of unresolved questions.

The Big Three foreign ministers wound up a week of talks here Thursday.

The only accord reached by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was an agreement in principle to bar orbiting of nuclear-armed satellites. U.S. sources said such weapons would have little military value anyway.

The three ministers were said to have shown a desire to reach some accord. But they encountered snags on almost every proposal.

Chapman serves as the representative of the Texas A&M Corps Council. A senior, he is majoring in accounting.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Chapman of 4101 Avondale, Snyder.

He is an active member of several campus organizations in addition to duties as a member of the Corps of Cadets staff.

Wants More Than Token Agreements

CUERO (AP) — Five Negro youths from Cuero died early Saturday after a two-car collision about 3 miles south of this South Texas city.

Dead on arrival at a Cuero hospital were Elmo Rydolph, Lura Palms, Elizabeth Jenkins, and Stella Johnson. Kelly L. Richardson died a short while later in a Cuero hospital.

All of the dead were high school students returning from a Friday night football game.

The driver of the second car, Ruben Wagner of Cuero, was listed in critical condition. The accident occurred on U.S. 87.

Wheat Sale Inquiries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Friday there have been approaches from the governments of Communist Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria for the purchase of American wheat.

Press officer Robert McCloskey said it is his understanding that "no specifics have been discussed as to the amounts or payments for the wheat."

Soviets Selling Gold

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union, needing still more Western currencies to pay for its huge wheat imports, has started a third major selling wave of its gold in Western European markets, the Times reported Friday night.

The newspaper estimated that transactions during the past 24 hours boosted Soviet gold sales to well over 200 tons within the last month.

Effort Made To Discredit Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two senior members of the Senate subcommittee investigating organized crime have fired back at criticism about the testimony of mobster Joseph Valachi, the hearing's star witness.

"There seems to be an organized effort to discredit Valachi's testimony," said Sen. Karl E. Mundt, ranking Republican on the panel. "Is there a determined effort by somebody to discredit it?"

Valachi is stomping on somebody's toes with his testimony," the South Dakota senator told a reporter Friday. "And what he is telling apparently is beginning to hurt where it counts to hurt."

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the investigations subcommittee, expressed deep puzzlement.

He recalled a previous crime investigation by the old Senate rackets investigating subcommittee in which scores of racketeers and hoodlums appeared but divulged little more than their names.

"I recall no criticism when we had a lot of Fifth Amendment witnesses in those hearings," said McClellan in a telephone interview from Arkansas. "Now, when we have found one who will talk, I don't know why this criticism has developed."

Some police officials and editorial writers have questioned whether the televised investigation, with Valachi testifying about the workings and murders of a crime organization he calls La Cosa Nostra, has actually produced any new information of merit. Some have called it merely a headline-grabbing show.

Oil And Gas Studied By House Group

AUSTIN (AP) — A legislative committee assigned to study problems of Texas' oil and gas industries voted Friday to ask the Texas Railroad Commissioners to testify.

The House Interim Oil and Gas Committee also heard a request from its members that studies be made of oil field waterflood practices and the state's production restrictions.

The action came at the committee's first meeting since the close of the legislative session in May. The committee plans to meet again Nov. 1.

Rep. Maurice D. Wicks of Wichita Falls asked for a study of the oil production system. He said the restrictive production patterns in the last several years have thwarted exploration in the North Central Texas area. Rep. J. Collier Adams of Lubbock said the same situation applies in West Texas.

Gen. George Hinson of Mineola said an urgent need exists for relief of present waterflood practices. Hinson said the problem is more serious than slant-hole well drilling and is resulting in oil being driven from beneath some operators' leases.

Lady And 35 Felines All Are Disposed

NEW YORK (AP) — The neighbors all purred when the lady moved from her Queens, apartment. It meant the loss of 35 other "tenants"—all cats.

Hein Auld, 53, a school teacher, occupied a second-floor, 21-room flat in the 53-family apartment house. In it she kept those almost three-dozen felines.

Miss Auld, served with a dispossession order, left Friday. Agents of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals—

Awards Earned By Standard District

Employees of the Standard of Texas SACROC District attended a luncheon Friday at the Union Community Center honoring them for their safety record.

Company executives from Midland were present to make two safety awards to the local district.

Jim Graham, Western Division Superintendent, Jack Lawton, Western Division Engineer, and Bryan Dixon, formerly of Snyder and presently lead engineer in the Midland office were present at the meeting.

Accepting the awards on behalf of the entire group was M. L. Broman, SACROC District superintendent.

One of the awards presented was given by the American Petroleum Institute. The award was made on the occasion of the division's passing the 500,000-hour mark without a time-lost accident. The award was made on the day when the total hours stood at 502,272. As of Friday, the man-hours worked without a time-lost accident by the SACROC workers stood at almost 557,000, according to Broman.

The second award presented to the division, as a whole was a National Safety Council award which is given on a yearly basis. The award presented Friday was a seven-year award.

JFK Includes Texas In 4 State Tour

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — On the heels of his return from a one-day visit to Arkansas, President Kennedy has announced he will visit four other states this fall, including two key Southern battlegrounds—Texas and Florida.

Texas in particular figures to play an important part in next year's presidential election, especially if Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the Republican nominee.

Strong Goldwater sentiment in Texas was admitted Friday by Texas Gov. John Connally, after a visit with Kennedy at the White House. But he said the President still holds a substantial margin in Texas.

Texas' electoral vote total of 25 is the sixth highest in the nation and the largest number among the 11 Southern states.

Kennedy's visit to Texas Nov. 21 and 22, an admittedly political venture, is set for three days after two scheduled appearances for the chief executive appearances in Florida.

In the afternoon of Nov. 18, he is to address the State Chamber of Commerce at Tampa and in the evening he speaks to the Inter-American Press Association at Miami.

The Florida trip is labeled non-political. But it will give Kennedy exposure in a state that he lost by 46,776 votes in 1960 to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Kennedy's other trips announced Friday include two visits to his home state of Massachusetts and one to New York.

On Oct. 19 the President is scheduled to speak at a Democratic fundraising dinner in Boston. On Oct. 26 he will receive an honorary degree and participate in ceremonies for a Robert Frost memorial library at Amherst College in Amherst, Mass.

Kennedy's other scheduled trip is a Nov. 8 visit to New York City where he will be honored at a testimonial dinner by the city's Pro-Social Council.

Both Massachusetts and New York gave hefty majorities to Kennedy in 1960 and are being counted on for 1964 by Democratic strategists.

Judge Delays Slant-Hole Civil Suit

AUSTIN (AP) — Dist. Judge Herman Jones delayed Friday the trial of a slant-hole civil penalty suit against former Gregg County Judge Earl Sharp.

Jones set the suit for Oct. 21. The suit, filed June 21, 1962, asked $1.8 million in penalties for alleged slant-hole oil well drilling. Sharp was indicted on theft charges by the Gregg and Wood County grand juries. The Travis County grand jury indicted him for contempt of the legislature.

He also is named in two other state penalty suits. Another slant-hole suit set for trial Monday will be passed by agreement of both sides, Jones said. The state seeks penalties of $1,143,000 from G. M. Jordan of Kilgore in that case.

A third slant-hole case is set for Monday, naming H. J. Russell, F. C. Deutsch, W. A. Hewell, W. C. Deutsch, Max Clark, George Joseph and E. W. Scates. The state seeks penalties of $125,000. The penalty suits are among the many filed by the state in the aftermath of the investigation last year into slant-hole drilling in East Texas.

An individual award was given to A. W. (Boots) Meynig in recognition of 20 years of accident-free work. The award, entitled the James A. Holmes Award, is given for 20, 30, and 40 year accident-free work. The award is named after the first director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, and is limited to workers in mines and allied industries.

The general purpose of awards such as those given Friday was stated by Broman to be "to provide recognition for good safety performance, and to encourage progress for the reduction and elimination of work injuries."

In telegrams to Graham and Broman, L. A. Swanson, president of Standard of Texas, and V. L. Taylor, production vice president said, "SACROC record of seven years without a lost time accident certainly ranks as one of the most significant safety achievements in SOTEX history. We know a great deal of thought and effort is behind this kind of record, and we want everyone in SACROC to know we are extremely proud of this fine achievement. We extend congratulations to the SACROC District for its API award and also to Mr. Meynig for his Joseph A. Holmes award. We earnestly hope that both will go on to enjoy many more years free of injury."

The second award presented to the division, as a whole was a National Safety Council award which is given on a yearly basis. The award presented Friday was a seven-year award.

BELIEVED TO BE THE ONLY MAN in the Western Division of Standard of Texas who has received the James A. Holmes award for 20 years of work without an injury is A. W. (Boots) Meynig, center. The award was presented at a luncheon Friday. Presenting the award is Glen Emerick, production foreman and Meynig's present supervisor. Watching the presentation is Jimmy Thompson, production foreman and supervisor under whom Meynig compiled many of his accident-free years.

PROUDLY DISPLAYING SAFETY AWARDS which were presented Friday to SACROC Division employees are Jack Lawton, division engineer from Midland; Jim Graham, western division superintendent from Midland; Jim Mathis, district safety engineer from Snyder; M. L. Broman, SACROC district superintendent; and Bryan Dixon, engineer from the Midland office. The awards were presented for a half-million hours and for seven years of operation with no time-lost accident.

Fall Armyworms Causing Damage

Fall armyworms are appearing in damaging numbers in areas of Scurry County. Small grain fields should be watched carefully to prevent damage, said county agent Billy Roach.

The fall grown worm may be identified by the presence of a prominent white inverted "Y" on the front of the head. On the back, three yellowish-white hair lines run the length of the body. On each side is a wider dark stripe and next to it is an equally wide, somewhat wavy stripe tinted with red.

These worms are not noticed until they become rather large. When whitish patches appear in small grain fields or in grasses, this is one of the first indications that young worms will not consume the entire leaf but will skeletonize them, leaving the veins and the ribs exposed. This causes the whitish areas to appear in the fields. In very extensive damage, complete fields of small grains have been destroyed.

DDT at 1/4 to 1 gallon per acre, Toxaphene at 3 pints to 2 quarts per acre, Toxaphene and DDT at 3 pints to 2 quarts per acre, and Endrin at 1 1/2 pints per acre are recommended for the control of fall armyworms in small grain fields. Producers are cautioned not to feed DDT or Toxaphene treated forage to dairy animals or animals being finished for slaughter. Do not apply DDT after heads start to form.

For infestations in pasture grasses Parathion at 1 1/2 to 2 pints per acre, Toxaphene at 1 1/2 to 2 quarts per acre, and Sevin at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 quarts per acre are recommended. The restrictions on pasture grasses are as follows: Do not graze dairy animals on Toxaphene treated pastures; do not apply to forage to be sold commercially or shipped interstate; do not graze animals being finished for slaughter for 90 days following treatment; 15 days should elapse from the application of Parathion before harvesting or grazing is permitted; no restriction on grazing when Sevin is used on pasture grass. Sevin has not been approved by the FDA for use on small grain.

Home owners should be warned to watch for armyworms in lawns. Since armyworms can severely damage yards and lawns. For control on yards and lawns, DDT, Chlordane, Sevin or Toxaphene can be used, but be sure and follow the directions on the label when using any insecticide.

Jury Grants Killer's Wish

HOUSTON (AP)—A jury gave Paul Russell Crain what he had asked—death in the electric chair. After being convicted of the murder of his 11-month-old son, Crain said:

"This jury has given me death and I guess if I'd been on the jury, I would have voted for the death penalty myself."

"That's the way I want it and I'll be as calm up there the night they pull the switch as I am right now."

"I'm being punished more by being alive than I will be by going to the chair. Even the prisoners here in the jail hate me. Some of them beat me up the first night I was here."

The jury deliberated more than two hours. Crain's lawyers said they would file an appeal despite their client's wish to accept the death penalty.

Crain, 29, a longshoreman, was convicted of strangling his son, Warren Russell, June 3.

Luxury Yacht Heading For Istanbul

By FRANCES LEWINE
ATHENS (AP) — First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy headed for Turkey aboard the luxury yacht Christina today after a second in-state shipboard party.

A spokesman at the U.S. embassy confirmed the 30-foot craft was heading for Istanbul, but said the arrival time was uncertain. The yacht is capable of sailing 400 miles to Istanbul in 24 hours if no stops are made at the picturesque islands that dot the Aegean Sea.

The destination of the yacht was at first shrouded in secrecy and the first hint that it would call in Turkey was made by Theodore Garofalides, brother-in-law of Aristotle Onassis, Greek shipping magnate who owns the vessel. He said the yacht was heading for the Turkish city of the Bosporus.

Turkish President Cemal Gursel has offered Mrs. Kennedy use of his villa on the Marmara Sea a few miles southeast of Istanbul. But it was not certain whether she would accept the offer.

Mrs. Kennedy's two-week visit to Greece has been described as strictly private. Strains of continental dance music from an orchestra were heard ashore during the midnight party.

Garofalides said the First Lady, in short formal evening dress, was "very happy, very charming and very conversational" at the party.

Among the guests on the cruise, which started under a moonlit sky, were U.S. Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and his wife, Roosevelt arrived in Athens Friday to discuss trade matters with U.S. embassy officials in Athens and possibly Greek officials.

Other aboard included Onassis, Mrs. Kennedy's brother-in-law and sister, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill; two of Onassis' married sisters, Russian Princess Irina Galitsky and Alexis Minola, husband of actress Katina Paxinou.

Denver City Rites For Mrs. Coleman

Funeral services were held in Denver City on Wednesday for Mrs. Myrtle Mae Coleman.

Mrs. Coleman, 71, died in Denver City on Sunday.

She is survived by her husband of Denver City; a daughter, Mrs. Joan Brake of Snyder; two sons, Lonnie Coleman of Snyder and Bobby Coleman of Midland; 11 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Environment, Inspiration Are Important To Students

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second in a series of articles dealing with the educational process at Snyder High School. The articles, prepared by staff and faculty members at SHS are designed to acquaint the public with the philosophy, objectives and methods of education at the school.)

This past summer at Austin a conference was held by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and the Texas Study of Secondary Education. At one of the meetings, a panel of professors from Texas University discussed the topic, "What the colleges expect of High School Students." One of the most provocative discussions was held by the admissions officer for the University.

He was asked, "How do you pick your students from the many thousands that apply for admission to the college?" His first answer was what you might expect. First, they look at the over-all record of the student — his transcript, his grades, the achievement scores on all aptitude tests, and his score of the College Board Exam. To emphasize how difficult it is now to be admitted to the University, the admissions officer stated that in 1956 the cut-off point for the College Board Exam was around 400. Today the student must score something over 1000 to be accepted.

All of these statements would probably hold true in most of our larger colleges. What was surprising was his next statement. "What the colleges are looking for most of all in their students are intellectual curiosity and the ability of a student to work on his own."

Intellectual curiosity and initiative are actually what each person needs to make a contribution to our society. The world needs people that are curious. Is it not true that every employer wants employees who are willing to work on their own without strict supervision? This type of individual is not developed over a night. Where and how is "intellectual curiosity" achieved? No one knows for sure, but people who work with children each day have a good idea. We know that to a great extent it is developed early in life, maybe before the child starts to school. Children that come from homes where parents read extensively and discuss important topics as a family, usually show a greater interest and agility in academic work within the classroom.

Many educators feel that our modern entertainment media stifle the curious mind. Certainly, children now receive a great benefit from television, movies, etc. They show a greater increase in vocabulary than a generation ago. At the same time, children must learn early the joys of discovery for themselves. Someone has said, "An educated man is one who can entertain a new idea, entertain another person, and entertain himself."

These attributes take a lifetime to develop. Qualities such as these are largely a matter of habit. I am sure students and parents feel teachers are more concerned with subject matter than anything else. This is far from the truth. At Snyder High School we are more concerned with proper attitudes, a sense of responsibility, denis receive a real satisfaction from study. We certainly do not promise that everything about school will be fun. Real fun is a by-product — not an end in itself. Learning is hard work, even for the brilliant student.

Students need more than just encouragement from home. They need parents concerned enough to see that the proper atmosphere for study is available. Certain times each evening should be set aside for study. At least one parent should be home each evening to see this carried out. Above all, parents need to be well read. Good books, magazines, and newspapers should be within the home, to stimulate reading and discussion. This type of cooperation will aid greatly while the schools are attempting to do for our children.

Snyder Tigers Overwhelm Kermit 21-8

Wilson Passes For Two TD's

The Snyder Tigers, showing a superb defense and an effective offense featuring the passing of Jimmy Wilson, ground down the Kermit Yellow Jackets 21-8 Friday night. Playing before a home crowd of approximately 4000 persons, the fighting Tigers out-classed the Yellow Jackets in every department, leading them in first downs 15-8; in passing, 129 yards to 88; and in rushing, 141 to 32.

So devastating was the Tiger defense of only 24 yards and one first down, which was gained on a penalty. In fact, the farthest the Yellow Jackets could advance the first two quarters was to their own 33 yardline. Meanwhile Snyder had racked up a touchdown to lead at halftime 14-0.

The contest was not as close as the score might indicate. Kermit's one touchdown came with less than five minutes left in the game, after Snyder had scored its 21 points. Also, the Tigers threatened on numerous occasions. During the first half they advanced to the Jack 25, 12, and 19 yardlines without scoring. And as the game ended the Bengals were down to the Kermit 23. The closest the Yellow Jackets could come to the Snyder goal line, other than their one touchdown drive, was to the Tiger 29 early in the third quarter.

It was a team victory all the way for Snyder. While on defense several Tigers were in on nearly every tackle. The ground game, gaining for the Tigers was fairly evenly distributed among five different ball carriers.

Snyder Threatens
Snyder threatened early in the game, but had to give up the ball after a field goal attempt was unsuccessful. The Bengals had taken the opening kickoff, with Jay Wilson, who seemed to be on a roll, running it back 20 yards to his own 43.

Unable to go, Snyder was forced to punt. Kermit had to return the favor four downs later, and the Tigers started a drive on their own 36. A penalty set them back to the 31, but after a pair of running plays had netted six, a pass from Jimmy Wilson to Leslie Brown was good for 18 yards and a first down.

The drive was kept going by another completed pass, this one of 15 yards to Wilson, for 13 yards. However, two penalties, each for five yards, halted the Tigers on the Kermit 24. Then came the field goal try by Brown, which was blocked. The two teams then exchanged punts after neither one could make much yardage. Snyder's punt was a 47-yard quick kick off the foot of Brown that could have been much better had it not gone over the goal line.

Fernandez Must Share Spotlight

BOSTON (AP)—Jarring Florentino Fernandez, owner of a first straight knockout in his comeback as a middleweight contender but he had to share the television spotlight with a spectacular brawl. Fernandez floored Joe DeNucci of Newton, Mass., with his left hand at 2:30 of the fourth round Friday night at Boston Arena.

Referee Jimmy McCarron had reached the count of six when several Cubans climbed into the ring waving flags and a banner, quickly followed by a wave of pursuers.

Fists flew, a knife was drawn and men tumbled over the press row for a short while the turmoil which started in the ring spread into the aisles.

When order was restored, DeNucci was still a victim of his first knockdown and knockout in 44 pro fights. Fernandez, whose 130½ weight was 5½ pounds less than DeNucci's, had his 26th knockout.

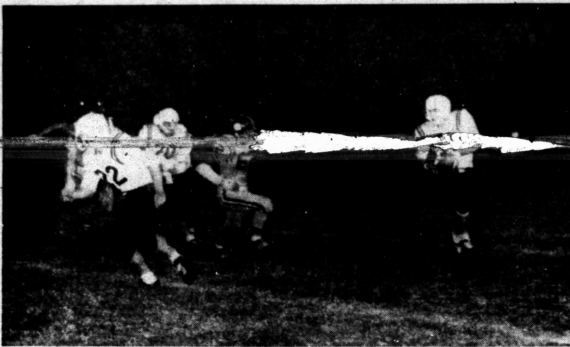

A knee from the start it was only a matter of time, the mustached Cuban referee said after the fight. DeNucci agreed with the analysis.

East Texas State Ties SE Louisiana

HAMMOND, La. (AP)—East Texas State College came to life midway in a football game with Southeastern Louisiana Friday night and gained a 12-12 tie.

The Texans were trailing 13-0 in the second quarter when Glen Robinson took the kickoff and 93 yards to a touchdown. Early in the third quarter, John Jones went over from the one-yard line for another touchdown and Darrell Cox kicked the extra point to tie the score.

Southeastern Louisiana scored in the first half on a pass from Dick Catzara to Robbie Brabham and Brent Russell kicked the extra point. Russell kicked two field goals in the second quarter for the 12-0 lead.

FIELD GOAL TRY—Leslie Brown is shown trying a field goal from the Kermit 31 yardline in the first quarter of the game played Friday night. The attempt was unsuccessful, but the Tigers went on to win the contest 21-8.

Club Owners Help Colts And Mets

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—National League club owners took a positive step to help the tattered New York Yankees and Houston Colt .45s today by making available a list of 32 players at $30,000 each.

Each of the eight other clubs would make a list of four players who were on the roster as of Aug. 31. The selling price is obligated to give up only one of these men at the $30,000 price.

British Cup Team Makes Preparations

ATLANTA (AP)—The British Ryder Cup team was due here today to begin preparations for next week's Ryder Cup golf competition at East Lake Country Club.

Never in the history of the biennial matches have the British been able to defeat the Americans on a U.S. course, but the Britons are loaded with talent and confidence this year and are expected to offer a strong challenge.

Members of the team are Peter Alliss, Neil Colles, Tom Haliburton, Brian Huggett, Bernard Hunt, Geoffrey Hunt, Christy O'Connor, Dave Thomas, Harry Veelman and George Will.

Competition begins with four-ball matches with the field Saturday and singles competitions will conclude play Sunday.

All of the matches will be 18 holes, with the first round starting at 10 a.m. with the final round starting at 10 a.m. on Sunday.

Arnold Palmer of the U.S. and John Faldo of the British are the favorites to win the individual matches.

The British team is managed by Peter Alliss, who is also a member of the team. He is a former professional golfer and has won several tournaments.

Hobbs Wins Over Central Catholic

HOBBES—Quarterback Ruben Mijares led the way as Hobbs came from behind to beat Central Catholic of Abilene 44-29 Friday night. Mijares ran for four touchdowns and passed for two others as the Panthers overcame Central's 27-12 halftime lead.

Hobbs showed a well-balanced offense that racked up 262 yards rushing and 170 yards passing, completing 9 of 14 attempts. The Panther defense held Central to 33 yards on the ground, but did give up 230 yards in the air.

Mijares scored on runs of 18, 45, 80, and 10 yards. The 80-yarder came on a kickoff return and the others were scored from scrimmage. He threw touchdowns to Tommy Lay for 70 yards and Donald Hull for 30 yards. The other Hobbs touchdowns came on a two-yard run by Hodges, Mijares kicked for the extra points after the last marker to bring his point total for the game to 28.

Seldom does the Horse of the Year honor go to a 3-year-old but it will be hard to overlook this great champion this season. His string of brilliant performances and his consistency on the track outshine the efforts of such fine older horses as Duke Rodney and Su Mac Lad.

His victories were effortless and Baldwin never once touched him with the whip as he came home "a long length in front of the Adren Homestead Stable's Florin in the first heat and a length in front of the latter in the second.

Speedy Scot wasn't pushed in the first heat as he came home in 1:37 1/5. This compared with the old Futurity mark of 1:38 1/5 set in 1961 by Calico. He bounced right back in the second and did the finish in 1:37 2/5.

Corpus Christi U. Gets Narrow Victory
MEXICO CITY (AP)—The University of Corpus Christi had to stage a second quarter comeback here Friday to eke out a narrow 14-13 football victory over the University of Mexico.

The encounter is the first of a series of football games the Texans will play against Mexican teams.

The Mexican team took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter. Then Corpus Christi bounced back in the second on a 3-yard touchdown plunge by Albert Bledsoe and quarterback Jerry Vandergriff passed 17 yards to Harvey Cervantes to another tally. Charles Hancock kicked both extra points.

The Texans added another seven points in the third quarter but the Texans managed to hold their one-point lead to the final list.

Undefeated Bears May Be In For Interesting Afternoon

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Chicago Bears, boiling along unbeaten and leading the Western Conference of the National Football League, just might be in for an interesting afternoon Sunday.

It's all up to Johnny Unitas. The Baltimore quarterback helped along by the return of receiver Lenny Moore, has demonstrated a return to the form that helped the Colts to league championships in 1955 and 1956 and could be primed to turn on his old tormentors.

The game, the first of the regular season on the Bears' home field, is one of six scheduled in the NFL Sunday afternoon. The others have St. Louis at Minnesota, San Francisco at Detroit, Jimmy Orr is doubtful with a knee injury and Ray Berry is out indefinitely. The Colts are 1-2, while Chicago could do no worse than tie in a share of first.

The Cardinals and the Vikings match 2-1 records and a couple of the league's best young quarterbacks.

In the American Football League—Houston is at Kansas City and San Diego at Denver. Unitas, one of the most feared passers in the league, has thrown more often, 107 times, completed more, 61, for more yardage, 774, than any other passer in the league. He had a big day in a losing effort at Green Bay last weekend, completing 19 of 30 for 267 yards.

On the other side of the ledger is the Chicago defense, which has allowed only 31 points in three games and leads the league in pass interceptions with 10. The Bears have beaten the Colts four straight in regular season play.

And, while Moore has recovered from an appendectomy, receiver Jimmy Orr is doubtful with a knee injury and Ray Berry is out indefinitely. The Colts are 1-2, while Chicago could do no worse than tie in a share of first.

The Cardinals and the Vikings match 2-1 records and a couple of the league's best young quarterbacks.

Speedy Scot Contends For Year Honors
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Speedy Scot, winner of the $50,000 Kentucky Futurity, must be considered a leading contender for Harbinger Horse of the Year honors.

The 3-year-old colt captured the Futurity Friday with ease and became the second horse in history to win trotting's Triple Crown. The only other horse to match the feat was Scott Frost in 1955.

Seldom does the Horse of the Year honor go to a 3-year-old but it will be hard to overlook this great champion this season. His string of brilliant performances and his consistency on the track outshine the efforts of such fine older horses as Duke Rodney and Su Mac Lad.

The Cardinals and the Vikings match 2-1 records and a couple of the league's best young quarterbacks.

In the American Football League—Houston is at Kansas City and San Diego at Denver. Unitas, one of the most feared passers in the league, has thrown more often, 107 times, completed more, 61, for more yardage, 774, than any other passer in the league. He had a big day in a losing effort at Green Bay last weekend, completing 19 of 30 for 267 yards.

On the other side of the ledger is the Chicago defense, which has allowed only 31 points in three games and leads the league in pass interceptions with 10. The Bears have beaten the Colts four straight in regular season play.

And, while Moore has recovered from an appendectomy, receiver Jimmy Orr is doubtful with a knee injury and Ray Berry is out indefinitely. The Colts are 1-2, while Chicago could do no worse than tie in a share of first.

Speedy Scot Contends For Year Honors
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Speedy Scot, winner of the $50,000 Kentucky Futurity, must be considered a leading contender for Harbinger Horse of the Year honors.

The 3-year-old colt captured the Futurity Friday with ease and became the second horse in history to win trotting's Triple Crown. The only other horse to match the feat was Scott Frost in 1955.

Seldom does the Horse of the Year honor go to a 3-year-old but it will be hard to overlook this great champion this season. His string of brilliant performances and his consistency on the track outshine the efforts of such fine older horses as Duke Rodney and Su Mac Lad.

Speedy Scot, with Ralph Baldwin in the sulky, acted like he was out for his afternoon stroll when he raced a field of seven others in record time in the Futurity.

His victories were effortless and Baldwin never once touched him with the whip as he came home "a long length in front of the Adren Homestead Stable's Florin in the first heat and a length in front of the latter in the second.

Speedy Scot wasn't pushed in the first heat as he came home in 1:37 1/5. This compared with the old Futurity mark of 1:38 1/5 set in 1961 by Calico. He bounced right back in the second and did the finish in 1:37 2/5.

C-C Event Is Slated
Contestants will draw for partners at 1 p.m. Sunday for mixed best-ball foursome event at the Snyder Country Club.

There also will be a putting contest held in connection with the event. Handicaps will be in effect for the main event in the third quarter. Immediately following the meet, the contestants will gather for a hamburger supper at the club.

Corpus Christi U. Gets Narrow Victory
MEXICO CITY (AP)—The University of Corpus Christi had to stage a second quarter comeback here Friday to eke out a narrow 14-13 football victory over the University of Mexico.

The encounter is the first of a series of football games the Texans will play against Mexican teams.

The Mexican team took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter. Then Corpus Christi bounced back in the second on a 3-yard touchdown plunge by Albert Bledsoe and quarterback Jerry Vandergriff passed 17 yards to Harvey Cervantes to another tally. Charles Hancock kicked both extra points.

The Texans added another seven points in the third quarter but the Texans managed to hold their one-point lead to the final list.

The Chicago Bears, boiling along unbeaten and leading the Western Conference of the National Football League, just might be in for an interesting afternoon Sunday.

It's all up to Johnny Unitas. The Baltimore quarterback helped along by the return of receiver Lenny Moore, has demonstrated a return to the form that helped the Colts to league championships in 1955 and 1956 and could be primed to turn on his old tormentors.

The game, the first of the regular season on the Bears' home field, is one of six scheduled in the NFL Sunday afternoon. The others have St. Louis at Minnesota, San Francisco at Detroit, Jimmy Orr is doubtful with a knee injury and Ray Berry is out indefinitely. The Colts are 1-2, while Chicago could do no worse than tie in a share of first.

Dorothy Parker, At 70, Is Surprise To Young And Old

By SAUL PETT
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Are you married, my dear?
"Yes, I am."
"Then you won't mind zipping me up," Dorothy Parker turned to face her interviewer and the world. She wore a polka dot dress and pearls and, characteristically, her black hair in bangs, her mouth in a small, girl smile, her big, round, brown eyes in a look of startled innocence.

Zipped up and now slipping her scotch seal, she confirmed an ugly rumor that seems to surprise both young and old: Dorothy Parker has turned 70.

"You mean she's still alive?" ask the irreverent. "Not 70 already!" exclaim the rest of us, who remember Dorothy Parker as a bitter-sweet voice of our youth—story writer, poet, critic, cynic, devastating wit. She combined, in her time, tear drops, rose petals and cyanide pellets in a talent that was alternately poignant and deadly.

A blend of Little Nell and Lady Macbeth, said Alexander Woolcott, himself a flamboyant contemporary.

"Alex was wrong," said Miss Parker the other day. "I was neither as appealing as the one nor as smart as the other."

It was the first of several pictures she was to crack during the interview—pictures of herself and her time, of Woolcott, Robert Benchley, Heywood Brown, Deems Taylor, Edna Ferber, Harold Ross, Franklin P. Adams, Robert Sherwood and others of the Twenties and Thirties. Legend has placed them in a geysir of intellectual fireworks and soaring wit erupted daily at the Round Table of the Hotel Algonquin in New York.

Miss Parker received us in the living room of her white bungalow, much like the other bungalows along the street. The room reflected the disarray of recent transition, from long marriage to widowhood, from Hollywood slavery to impending liberation in her beloved New York.

Miss Parker admitted her age without visible struggle. "I should have started living a long time ago. Now it's too late. I'm 70 and feel 90. If I had any decency I'd be dead. Most of my friends are."

On a hot day of among in Los Angeles, Dorothy Parker, turned 70 this last August, reminisced. "There was," she said evenly, "nothing more fun than a man. Alan and I had 29 great years together."

Her eyes invited a change of subject, away from the fact that Alan Campbell, screen writer, collaborator and husband of Dorothy Parker, had died last June. They had no children.

Miss Parker took a broad swipe at the level of American wit today. "There just aren't any humorists today. I don't know why. I don't suppose there is much demand for humor although there ought to be. S. J. Perelman is about the only one working at it and he's rewriting himself."

As the book reviewer for the New Yorker magazine who signed herself "Constant Reader," Miss Parker pulverized one of A. A. Milne's sugary works with the remark, "At this point Tootsie-Wootsie forward up."

She did write the couplet: "Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses." And, said Miss Parker, she has fresh young poets come up definitely and demand I say something funny and nasty. I was prepared to do it with selected groups but with others, I'd sink away."

"Here's why," she explained, raising a pair of reading glasses from a stack of books. "This reputation for homicidal humor," she said, "used to make me feel like a fool. At parties, I was around all night waiting for her to unseat the dagger of her wit. She never did. The man finally apologized saying, 'You're not at all like a fool. I thought you'd be.'"

"That's all right," said Miss Parker. "But do me one favor. When you get home, throw your mother a bone."

While she admired some of its members individually, Miss Parker did not think much of the Round Table collectively as a fountain of intellect and wit.

"People romanticize it," she said. "This was no Marmalade Tavern. There were no giants. Think of us as being in those days—Lardner, Fitzgerald, Faulkner and Hemingway. Those were the real giants. The Round Table was just a lot of people telling jokes and telling each other how good they were."

"At first I was in awe of them because they were being published. But then I came to realize I wasn't hearing anything very stimulating. I remember hearing Woolcott say, reading Frost, like lying in someone else's dirty bath water. And then he'd go on to ecstasy about something called 'Valiant is the Word for Carrie,' and I knew I had enough of the Round Table."

Heywood Brown, the columnist, she said, was the only member of real stature because he knew and cared about the world beyond the Algonquin. Benchley was "very funny and wonderful," Franklin P. Adams, the columnist, was a "lovely man, disagreeable, rude, but lovely."

Harold Ross, founder and editor of the New Yorker, was almost illiterate, wild and rough, never read anything, didn't know anything but he had a great gift as an editor and was awfully nice to the people who worked for him."

Miss Parker sighed in her review. "I don't read the New Yorker much these days. It always seems to be the same old story about somebody's childhood in Pakistan."

Among the writers Miss Parker admires today are James Baldwin, Edward Albee, Faulkner, John Osborne and Alan Sillitoe.

She plans to return to New York, write a book review column for Esquire magazine and hopes soon to come out with another collection of short stories.

"I want," she said, "to be taken seriously as a short story writer and, by God, I hope to make it."

7:00 CBS "Ed Sullivan." Englishman Peter Cook, Jonathan Miller and John Bird satirize the news in a collection of comedy sketches. Other guests include heavyweight boxer Sonny Liston demonstrating his rope skipping ability, singer Dick Dale and guitarist Alan Gale, the Angels, the comedy team of Jerry Stiller and Anne Meara and Page Cavanaugh's instrumental sextet.

7:30 NBC "Grindl." The owner of a lonely hearts club introduces Grindl to a Frenchman who woos her in a whirlwind courtship. Opal Edwards and John Van Dreelen are featured.

8:00 NBC "Bonanza." Stubborn pride keeps a father from accepting Cartwright assistance for his ailing daughter. John Anderson and Eileen O'Brien are seen in "Rain from Heaven." COLOR.

9:00 NBC "A Man Named Mays." A sixty-minute chronicle of the life of Willie Mays, whom many baseball men have termed the greatest all-around player in the history of the game.

Patrick, 24, Duke's No. 2 son, is a big booster of Michael Wayne the producer.

Says the actor-son: "It's the first picture I've ever made where I got third billing. It's the best part I've ever had, too."

To which Mike said to Pat: "I told you to stick with me and I'd make you a star."

Peter Lorre Should Have Been Comic

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Peter Lorre should have been a comic. On the set of "Comedy of Terrors" in which he costars with Boris Karloff and Vincent Price, Lorre entertains the crew like a Jerry Lewis.

The other day he was telling a story about his old buddy, Joe E. Lewis, the Socrates of the saloon circuit.

"A couple of years ago, Joe E. got real sick and had half his stomach removed. He would have died if I hadn't stood guard outside his hospital door."

"Every bookie, race track tout and jockey in town showed up. I scared them all away—and he got better."

"So one day I find him sitting up in bed licking stamps on envelopes like crazy—there must have been about 50 of them."

"I asked him why he was licking those stamps so frantically. He said that the price of stamps was due to go from three cents to four the next day—he wanted to have the money then."

"Then he picked up a phone and called for 'room service.' Surprisingly, he got it. An orderly came up and Joe E. asked him to mail the letters for him."

"He was so happy that he had saved 50 cents in stamps that he gave the orderly a $5 tip for mailing them."

Coming in to Mazatlan looked like something an artist has canvassed in bright colors. A green, dripping, countryside. Chocolate clouds with a big gap in the west where the last of the sun bronzed across the Pacific Ocean and made the rain golden.

Somewhere inland a perfect rainbow ended in a stretch of jungle. I thought about driving over to the end to pick up the pot of gold. But I saw the end of a rainbow once and as I recall, it kept moving away as I tried to close in.

To make a short story short, no gold. Not even a pot.

Mazatlan has pushed up from a dusty little seashore town to a plush resort city. A haunting and stylish center with Statewide models stretched along the wide boulevard that rims the Pacific.

CLIFF ROBERTSON will be seen as Lt. John F. Kennedy in "PT 109" which is coming to the Canyon Drive In Theater here Oct. 16.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MAZATLAN, Mexico — Rolled the little Hertz automobile in here this afternoon through a golden rain. The reason for Lorre's blissful mood: being that I arrived at the center of an intersection in Mexico City at the precise moment another fellow got there. And my vehicle is undergoing some surgery—a mechanical hospital.

I must say the Hertz people had one ready for me in 10 minutes. They claimed they would mail which type of beast appeared on the management possible depicted the mice and snakes to the hilt where they could work out things for themselves.

You get some of the finest fishing on Mexico's west coast here. And the man to look up is Bill Heinzel who operates the Star Fleet of fishing boats.

He takes you out for anything from martin to the little ones that kick up a terrible fuss when they get hooked.

A big part was dredged out and ships come in from all over. And behind the harbor the big brewery looms like a shaggy skyscraper.

The afternoon activity is heavy with the old horse carriages—arnas (means "spiders")—which will clip clip along the avenues for about 50 cents U. S. per hour. This is the great adventure for tourists. They charter a horse buggy and wave to each other along the wide boulevard in the sunset.

Bicycles have moved in commercially now, too. You can rent them next door to the Hotel Belmar or sit in the shade and watch the lady tourists in shorts pedaling past to keep trim.

The shopping area is along Avenue Miguel Aleman which is a block behind the Freeman Hotel.

An elegant town from all directions and spreading toward the future. My present interest, however, is in the past. There are no mice around but I want to know what happened to the boys.

Miss Gronemeyer, Mr. Carrell Wed In Illinois Church

Miss Patricia Lynn Gronemeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Gronemeyer of 1915 So. Trumbull Ave., Evergreen Park, Illinois, and Mr. John Craig Carrell, Jr., of Austin, Texas, son of Mrs. Edna Carrell of Snyder, Texas, were united in holy matrimony Saturday, August 31, in Holy Redeemer Church of Evergreen Park. The double ring ceremony, which took place at 3:30 p.m., was performed by Father McGinnity.

The bride wore a silk pol-de-soie gown with a chapel length train trimmed with reembridged Alencon lace. The bodice had a bateau neckline and long pointed sleeves, while the skirt was a bell silhouette. The ensemble was set off by a complimentary pillow with a fingertip silk illusion veil. Her bouquet was a cascade of three orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Carole Kreuz was matron of honor. Mrs. Sara Guth and Miss Helen Carrell were bridesmaids. Little Teresa Edelman, seven as flower girl. They all wore long bell-shaped yarn dyed taffeta dresses of aqua mist, and carried royal blue and orchid tulle mums.

Best man was James Kobs. Bates Hoffer and Bill Dalton served as groomsmen. Twins Robert and Richard Gronemeyer were ushers.

Color For Your Winter Garden

The annuals that are dwarfed because they are growing close to other plants, the seedlings that began to grow later than the others and therefore still are undersized, all are glad to the mill of the gardener who has a sunny window sill. For these little annuals will furnish color for a good part of the winter.

Potted now, before cold weather comes, so that they can become acclimated to their new root restrictions while still outdoors, many annuals will adapt, then, to being house plants.

The two annuals that will bloom all winter long, with at least one flower on a plant almost every day, are browallia and eximia. Both have blue flowers, though of different shades and shapes. Neither is well known.

Small-flowered marigolds that grow in bush form, ageratum, which also is bushy, little plants of coleus, calendulas, petunias, dwarf asters and other low-growing annuals, all may be used.

Watered well one evening, lifted with plenty of soil around the roots, placed into a pot large enough for the root system, watered again, and set in a shady place the annuals should recover soon.

Within two weeks they should be ready to move indoors. It is best to place them in a sunny window before heat is turned on in the

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

YOUR BABY'S FOOT — Dr. John T. Sherry, Chairman, Committee on Children and Youth Fitness, American Podiatry Association.

It has been estimated that the average individual walks some 10,000 miles during this lifetime. This journey must be accomplished on but one pair of feet. Whether or not the trip will be plagued by one of the many foot ailments to which we fall prey may be determined largely by the care which the foot receives during the formative years of infancy and childhood. It is, therefore, important that the parent know something about the development and care of the foot during this vital period.

The infant's foot is soft and quite flexible. It is composed largely of gristly material called "cartilage" which is not so rigid as the bone which will replace it at a later age.

Because of its softness, the foot of infancy is readily deformed by pressure. Various foot coverings — even sleeping garments with feet in them — may often place enough stress on baby's foot to produce deformity. Actually, the foot need not be shod at all until the child begins to stand.

The absolute essential for normal foot development in infancy is complete freedom of motion. As your infant grows in size, he also grows in activity. See how often he flexes and kicks his feet and legs. All this activity is nature's way of developing the structures which must later support the body and propel it forward. Remember: anything which restricts movement of the extremity also restricts its development.

One final word about the baby's feet and legs. It has been recognized in recent years that constant "belly sleeping" in infancy, with the lower extremities in one position, will often cause awkward gait when the child begins to walk. The deformity called "pigeon-toe" is an example of this. It is, therefore, advisable to change baby's position from time to time during the period of early infancy, when he's unable to roll over and alter position by himself.

To scrub cane or rattan furniture, use a fairly stiff brush dipped into thick soap or detergent suds. Only after each piece is thoroughly dry should you apply a fresh finish — using oil, wax, or polish according to the manufacturer's directions or your own preference.

house. Given plenty of water and a place near the window, they will continue to flower just as if they still were in the outdoor garden.

"The Family Story" Whose Concern, Yours or Ours? will be theme of the annual workshop for District 18 of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers in Abilene Thursday, Oct. 10. The session will begin at 8:30 a.m. and adjourn at 2:30 p.m. and will be held at the Woman's Club Building at 3425 Fourteenth Street.

Dr. Clifford S. Knappe, psychologist, is guest speaker and will summarize and evaluate panel discussions and skills presented in connection with the theme. He is connected with the Veterans' Administration Hospital, Waco Guidance Center as consulting psychologist and is on the state board of Texas Association for Mental Health and is president of the Texas Rehabilitation Association.

The day's workshop will consist of circle talks, a panel, film and skit. The panel is composed of Ed Wishcamper, moderator, Mrs. Sallie Hilley, teacher, Floyd Clifton, banker, Dr. Sol B. Estes, doctor, and Mrs. Allan Andrus, parent. They will discuss "Family Concerns."

Following a luncheon, a film entitled "Who Shall Decide?" will cover areas of parental authority. At 1:30 p.m. a skit with Randall Jackson as moderator, Billy Earlen as Father, Mrs. Joyce Lindsey as Mother, W. D. Lawson as son and Mrs. Rae Phillips as daughter will depict "The Family in Decisions, Who Shall Make Them?" Mrs. D. W. Boren, district president, urges everyone to attend the workshop.

The Gardeners Corner

BY EARL ARONSON AP Newsfeatures

THE NORTH AMERICAN Gladiolus Council and the British Gladiolus Society have done a hands-across-the-sea bit to further interest in the flower they espouse.

The NAGC gave the Britishers space in its Bulletin to advertise their new glads and the British will do likewise. Both groups also will exchange articles from their publications and research information.

The first items from the British deal with a new-style publication for glad fans, including items about little publicized aspects of gladioli.

One article reports experiments with fragrant gladioli, begun in 1949, by Prof. T. T. Barnard, who used South African species only and reportedly has produced a new race of perfumed flowers with unusual color combinations.

The Royal Horticulture Society and New Gardens are reported to have sent expeditions to the Near East to collect new plants, primarily in Persia and Turkey. Eighteen new glads brought back include completely frost-resistant varieties.

A glad that may become the first true blue, another article relates, may stem from systematic crossing experiments coupled with pigment analysis at Cambridge and X-ray bombardment at Harwell.

One British firm reports a new race of glads arising from a mutation of the primulinus group. The characteristic feature is the three-pointed star shape of the unopened bud.

FLOWER ARRANGEMENT TIPS Place your elbow in the table in front of your flower arrangement and clench your fist, his is a way to determine how tall to make an arrangement for the center of the table. The flowers should be no higher than your fist to permit comfortable conversation across the table.

Some safe flower color combinations, from the book of the Society of American Florists:

Combine pink with lavender, white, lime, or blue; blue with white, dark green, shrimp or yellow. Green goes well with any flower, color because most flowers have green foliage.

Deep shades of any color look well with light shades of any directly contrasting color—such as deep blue with pale green.

Vary the popular central flower arrangement on a buffet, console or chest. Flank a mirror or wall picture with a pair of candy dishes or other containers filled with flowers. Or center a silver coffee service between silver nut dishes with low dainty flower arrangements in one or more colors.

To dramatize picture windows group large green plants in the center or at one side. Instead of stringing the plants out, group them according to height, leaf shape and color.

Put him in the red this fall—in deep red sportswear, that is, right down to maroon colored socks. Fashion forecasts for men play up washable sports shirts and pants, and socks are expected to complete the color scheme. Caution: be sure to snuff all reds alone for the first few washings until color-bleeding stops.

TO WED—Mr. and Mrs. Talmage Wiman of Roscoe are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patty, to Bob Compere, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Compere of Florence, Mississippi. Miss Wiman is a graduate of Roscoe High School, Wayland College, Golden Gate Baptist Seminary, Mill Valley, Calif., and is now employed at Colonial Hill Baptist Church. Mr. Compere, a graduate of Mississippi College and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, is pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Ogden, Utah. The wedding will be solemnized December 27 at Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

Oatmeal Cookies

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup drained crushed pineapple
- 1 cup finely chopped dates
- 1 cup finely chopped nuts
- 2 cups quick-cooking rolled oats

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder, cinnamon and baking soda. Beat together shortening, brown sugar and eggs until blended; add sifted dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients. Drop by table-spoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes. Remove from cookie sheets immediately; cool on wire rack. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Great Confections Make Perfect Party

A combination of wonderful flavor consistency and looks achieve this subtly blended cookie which is certain to please your party guests.

SNOW-TOPPED CHIP KISSES
 2 c. chopped pecans
 2 egg whites (room temperature)
 2 c. sugar
 1/2 c. crisp corn flakes
 1 c. potato chips crushed
 1 tsp. vanilla

Cut brown wrapping paper to fit baking sheet. Do not grease. 10 minutes before baking start oven at 300 degrees. Beat egg whites with rotary beater until stiff enough to hold peaks. Add sugar in four parts, beating after each addition until shiny peaks form. With fork fold in nuts gently, then corn flakes and potato chips until distributed thru mixture. Do not beat again. Drop heaped forkfuls on prepared baking sheet placing mixture about 2" apart. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown and holding shape. Remove from paper to cake rack to cool at once. Best when eaten fresh.

Certain confections bring on an appreciative response on the mere hearing of their names, because of the delightful association with childhood memories. Brownies are in this class. Here is an unusual variation of this dessert which will please grownups and children alike.

DE LUXE CHIP BROWNIES
 1/2 c. butter
 3 sq. unsweetened chocolate
 1/2 c. flour
 1/4 tsp. baking powder
 2 eggs, beaten fluffy and thick
 1 c. sugar
 1/4 tsp. vanilla
 1/2 c. chopped walnuts
 1/2 c. potato chips crushed

Ten minutes before baking, start oven at 350 degrees. Melt butter and chocolate in double boiler over hot water (not boiling). Stir when melted and cool.

Sift flour, measure and resift with baking powder. Add sugar to well beaten eggs in 3 parts, beating after each addition. Then beat in cooled chocolate and vanilla. With wooden spoon stir in flour mixture then nuts and potato chips.

William Faulkner's Brother Affectionately Looks Back

MY BROTHER BILL By John Faulkner.

The personality of William Faulkner is the subject of this book, written as an "affectionate reminiscence" by his brother, John, four years his junior.

But there is almost as much material about the Faulkner family's environment — Oxford, Miss., in the early years of this century — as there is about the Nobel Prize winner.

The brother assumes the reader is familiar with the contents of William's books, and with the salient facts of his biography. He has attempted no literary analyses. John makes a leisurely climb through the family tree, examines in minute detail the school patterns, childhood games, pranks and social customs of their small town life, and recalls innumerable small anecdotes.

He tells you about the family's Negro servants; he recalls how the father kept changing businesses; he gives details about such events as William's broken nose (as a high school quarterback he tackled a stupid fellow player who was running the wrong way with an intercepted pass).

As for William's adult life, the brother cites specific instances of the stubborn insistence on privacy; recalls William's early interest in airplanes and his late interest in riding horses; his toying with farming; mentions his early conviction that shocking stories would sell, and his later, purely monetary, interest in Hollywood; and catalogs many a mild idiosyncrasy.

Ida Stokes Hostess To Sorority Meeting

The Gamma Upsilon Chapter of ESA met Thursday night in the home of Ida Stokes.

The meeting was called to order by Charlie Robertson, president, and the correspondence was read from International. The sorority received an invitation from Fort Stockton to attend the District meeting Oct. 20.

The group voted to hold a rummage sale on Saturday, Oct. 19, with each member participating. Tommy Connors introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Hugh Ellidge, who presented an interesting display of flower arrangements.

Each member revealed her secret sister with a gift and then drew names for the new year. Members attending were Dean Blankenship, Norma Book, Tommy Connors, Wanda Eicke, Rosie Floyd, Carmen Ivison, Lucille Kiker, Jackie Norris, Charlie Robertson, Annabell Schattel, Charlene Sims, Adrianna Sparks, Norma Thompson and the hostess, Ida Stokes.

MANY A FAMOUS quip about food was created because the author was at the mercy of a poor cook. Take the one which goes "no matter how thin you slice it, it's still bologna."

Marvelous Bologna Recipe

Then remove bologna with two large spatulas to larger platter or board. Insert skewer as pictured. Reheat sauce and let guests serve themselves. Arrange a few slices of bologna on platter to start.

That one would never have been born if the author had tasted bologna prepared this imaginative way. Try it and see for yourself.

BOLOGNA BARBECUE

1 67 lb. wide bologna (for 20-24 servings; buy less for smaller party)

8 oz. cheddar cheese, sliced

1 can prepared barbecue sauce package of potato chips

About 1 1/2 hours before serving, remove casing from bologna; make 6 or 7 diagonal cuts, each about 4" long, and 1" deep across top. Lay bologna, diagonally on two large cookie sheets, placed end to end. Preheat oven to 350 degrees, about 10 minutes before cooking.

In saucepan, heat barbecue sauce to boiling point. Brush top and sides of bologna with sauce. Bake 1 hour or until tester inserted through meat feels warm, basting meat occasionally with sauce.

When bologna is ready, place 1 slice of cheese folded over 1 large

WILLIE'S WORLD was a city street. Ken Heyman saw him in a doorway and came back again and again to photograph the 4-year-old youngster. The pictures turned into a book, "Willie", an excerpt from which is seen in the Photography Annual 1964. One of the pictures is shown above.

Dr. Morrison Lets His Secret Out

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—For four years Dr. Robert J. Morrison has had a secret.

"I never told a soul," he said the other day.

What is this dark mystery that a respectable, happily married, 32-year-old Harrisburg, Pa., optometrist wouldn't talk about?

"I've been sending contact lenses to needy people around the world who are suffering from diseases that can be helped by them. I have sent in the hundreds. I thought it would have greater personal meaning if I never told anyone but now I feel it could be a lot bigger if other doctors helped."

He added quickly: "I'm not asking for money. I have the technicians who can make the lenses. It's just that many doctors travel abroad and could take fittings for me. I'd send the lenses free."

Morrison, who says, "I'm not really interested in contact lenses for the cosmetic effect," wants to establish a real doctor-to-people program to be called CITE—Conservation and Improvement of the Eye.

A small, dark-haired man with warm brown eyes, Morrison bared his secret before leaving on a two-month, 19-country trip to give lectures, hold clinic sessions and fit needy patients. He was accompanied by Dr. Seymour S. Sweet of Tulsa, Okla., also a contact lens specialist and a former student of Morrison's.

His first got the idea for the project, he said, on a trip four years ago.

In this issue I particularly like ed Ken Heyman's series of "Willie". This 4-year-old youngster's various moods and adventures were all photographed in Willie's little world of one block on Manhattan's lower West Side. Another bright spot was the portfolio of "Water Sprites" by Don Ormiz—a colorful collection of glamour in a splashy medium.

List among my frustrations the very grainy double-page spread of empty park benches and a lamp post. The title "Snowstorm" didn't help. Maybe I would have liked it better with a more appropriate title like "G Rainstorm."

Conservative Demos Likely To Hold Texas Leadership

(Editor's note: A large number of conservative Texas Democrats will do is tied up with a handful of other questions, such as: Will the possible death of the in 1964? Republican? Some have some will stay in the Democratic fold. The loyal leaders don't fore-see enough conservatives leaving to permit a liberal takeover of the Democratic party machinery in Texas.)

By JERRY PILLARD
Associated Press Staff Writer
Conservative leaders of the Democratic party say they believe members are not finding a new love with Texas Republicans in spite of some big names turning to the GOP.

They do find their fellow conservatives disagree strongly with the Democratic administration in Washington.

Whether this disagreement is strong enough to radically affect Texas politics depends on a number of things.

Most important probably is whether Sen. Barry Goldwater, the conservative Republican from Arizona, wins the nomination for president. A liberal GOP nominee would leave Texas Democratic conservatives no choice except to stay with the Democrats. (One Texas leader's solution to the conservatives' troubles: Dump Kennedy.)

The vast and complex question of what unhappy conservatives will do is tied up with a handful of other questions, such as: Will the possible death of the in 1964? Republican? Some have some will stay in the Democratic fold. The loyal leaders don't fore-see enough conservatives leaving to permit a liberal takeover of the Democratic party machinery in Texas.)

Have Kennedy's actions on civil rights and the test ban treaty showed conservative-thinking Democrats into the arms of the GOP—which most consider the conservative party?

What will happen if the GOP nominates New York's liberal Gov. Nelson Rockefeller instead of Goldwater, the conservatives choose?

One of those sticking by the Democratic party is Tom Griffin of Waco, president of the new Old Texas politics depends on a number of things.

Ne Win Is In Hurry To Get Things Done

By DON HUTH
RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Ne Win is a man in a hurry to get things done.

The general's effort to make Burma a neutralist-socialist state is going to succeed—or fail on its face worse than any attempts to achieve parliamentary democracy that the strategic nation has seen since it won independence. You can get bets on either side in Rangoon.

The Texas-size nation of 20 million is getting a taste of strong leadership. Ne Win, 52, is a sharp contrast to deposed Prime Minister U Nu, whose indecision triggered an armed forces coup in March 1962.

No was easy-going and lax about controlling graft and corruption. Ne Win has a close eye on his subordinates and cracks down hard on offenders.

For better or worse, Ne Win is plunging headlong into a type of socialism he believes will raise standards of living which are among the lowest in Asia.

A revolutionary council, composed of military men turned politicians, is calling the shots under the direct guidance of Ne Win.

Through a vaguely defined "Burmesese way to socialism" program, it has in 17 months systematically set its sights on these targets:

1. Control the nation's wealth, which is topped by rice production, through nationalization of natural resources to insure a fair share for all.

2. Establish a strong national government free from graft and corruption.

3. Improve the lot of the Burmese, especially peasants who make up nearly 75 per cent of the labor supply.

4. Restore internal peace through negotiations with insurgent groups.

The bitterest critics of Ne Win's government do not question the sincerity of the general and his council, but they charge him with charges of things going from bad to worse.

"They don't stop to think things through," one opposition source says. "They plunge ahead with a new decree but give no thought to its implementation and the effect it might have."

Ne Win is quick to silence opposition. He has the police and the army at his disposal and has had their chance and made a mess of things. He has kept the popular Nu in custody. He cracked down on more political leaders in August and took them into custody on charges of obstructing his government.

"I think Goldwater would get more votes in the South than Rockefeller, but there is no mass movement," Sandin said.

Locke agrees, but adds: "Rockefeller would get the Teamsters and other liberals Goldwater couldn't attract."

Sandin said Texas voters are "10 per cent on the left fringe, 30 per cent on the right fringe, 60 per cent who will consider the candidates and the issues and then vote."

Sandin says the poll tax repeal will have little influence on party structure.

"If people are going to vote, they will vote whether it costs $1.50 or 25 cents. It's a question of whether an individual believes that his vote counts enough to qualify himself to vote."

Griffin agrees that poll tax repeal will not change party control.

"Liberal takers have been tried before," Griffin said. "They have been successful sometimes, but at the local level only."

Junior Editors Quiz on GYROSCOPES

QUESTION: How does a gyroscope compass work?

ANSWER: A gyroscope has a metal wheel which can be spun very rapidly. The wheel is mounted with its axle set into a ring, which in turn is set into other rings (A). When the wheel is spinning, it obeys a famous law discovered by Sir Isaac Newton, that a body in space has "inertia" or tends to keep the same position or direction, unless outside force is applied to it. In (B) you see the spinning wheel of the gyroscope keeping its first position even when the stand is turned over. Enough rings may be added so that no matter how you turn the stand, the wheel will keep its first position. This makes it extremely useful as a compass.

In (C) you see the axes of gyroscopes pointing North even if the ships containing them are on different courses. A gyro on a ship, kept spinning by electric power, will not be affected by the ship's motion (D) or attracted by the metal in the ship, as an ordinary compass is. Ships frequently carry spinning gyros below deck and have their direction carried up to a "repeater" on the bridge (E). This enables the officer to know exactly where true North is and steer his course accordingly.

FOR YOU TO DO: Have you a toy gyroscope? If not, borrow one and experiment with it. They will do many amazing tricks. Notice how they keep on trying to hold their first position.

HOSTESSES who serve new dips with potato chips become increasingly popular.

Man Tries To Leave Himself

SECONDS. By David Ely.
A chilling shudder can be a vivid commentary on the psychology and sociology of modern life. Ely has created such a shudder in deft, calmly tempered words.

The situation is this: A fifty-ish New York banker discovers there is a secret organization offering an unique service to wealthy, frustrated men who have come to a dead end so far as their business and family connections are concerned. It gives them a new personality, a second chance in life. For a steep price, of course.

So this banker, given a new outward appearance by plastic surgery and an entirely different identity through expertly forged credentials, becomes a painter named Tony Wilson, and takes up his new life of freedom in California. Despite the careful preparations, Wilson finds there are some difficult, basic adjustments to be made. The new outer man and the old inner man are at odds. Wilson is tempted to look back. He also

Variety In Chip Dips

Here, for instance, are 3 dips which have widely different and delicious tastes.

Spicy Jade Chip Dip

Blend:
1 tsp. horseradish
1 tsp. dill pickle, finely chopped
1 tsp. blanched almonds, finely chopped

1 tsp. parsley, finely chopped
1 tsp. chives, chopped fine with discovers that other men nearby, who also have been reconstructed by the mysterious organization, are watching him nervously.

Wilson learns that he can't go back and he can't go forward. Having cut himself off from the old life, he finds himself at the mercy of the strange, anonymous organization that converted him. There is a rather macabre ending in which Wilson's fate is typical of the ghastly dilemma in which the organization and its clients find themselves.

The story is imaginative, bordering just a little on the fantasies of science fiction. It is so fanciful that the reader must suspend his disbelief in order to go along with the story. But having done so, he is apt to find some flashing insights into the question of personal identity and personal integrity. Ely has written a start-

1 c. sour cream
3 oz. cream cheese, well creamed

Sea Queen Chip Dip

Blend well 3 oz. cream cheese with 2 tsp. cream, anchovy paste and chopped watercress.

Cucumber Crunch Dip

Blend:
2 c. thick sour cream
1 c. cucumber (peeled and chopped)

1 c. chopped chives
1 c. parsley, chopped
1 c. thinly sliced radishes
Salt and pepper to taste

How To Be Popular

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

When the time comes to go away to school, a girl's heart is likely to flip with fear.

There's a lot of security in that old crowd she takes for granted, in family and pets.

Will I find friends? Will the girls like me?

These are questions that are unanswerable in her mind as school days draw near.

If you're one of those leaving home for the first time, take it from girls who've been through the early, terrible days of uncertainty before you are accepted by anybody. The key to popularity is being yourself.

That way you will attract girls who like your type because it's their type too. And you will attract girls who admire you because you are so different from them.

Sooner or later every girl finds a companion, even if you just gravitate toward each other because you are lonesome.

Perhaps you have certain rough edges that friends and family have become accustomed to. There is no time like the present to polish off these little spots, before your new friends consider you hard to take.

Here's a check list of major irritants in friendships:

IMMATURE HABITS. These include twirling hair, biting fingernails, sucking teeth, tapping fingers, sniffing, clearing your throat, and resorting to baby talk to prove a point.

COMPULSIVE BORROWING. Most girls do not mind lending something in an emergency. But there are girls who thrive on borrowing. They don't even put into their own wardrobe an article that they can borrow easily.

SPONGING. Friends might treat you twice, waiting for you to reciprocate, but after that, they'll avoid you. If you can't afford to treat, don't accept the second invitation.

YARN SPINNING. Good storytellers often have the habit of embellishing their tall tales. But they don't confuse fact and fiction. If you recount stories about friends putting them in a more unfavorable light than they deserve, people will mistrust your stories in the future.

SELFISHNESS. The girl who is always holding out to do what she prefers — movies, watching television or even just taking her walk — can't maintain her popularity for long. More considerate types will wait for the consensus of opinion and hope it favors their choice.

RASPING VOICE. True young girls have to be noticed in the soda parlor or at a dance. But attracting attention with a raucous voice is not the way to do it. Loud-mouthed girls send boys scurrying in the other direction.

Creamy Coconut Frosting

1 cup butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 pound confectioners sugar, sifted
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons (about) milk or light cream

2/3 cup flaked coconut
Beat butter until soft; add salt. Gradually beat in part of the sugar.

Beat in thoroughly the egg yolks and vanilla. Beat in remaining sugar alternately with milk until smooth and of spreading consistency. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Spread over top and sides of chocolate cake baked in a 13 by 9 by 2 inch pan; sprinkle with coconut.

Nibbles And Nuts

1/2 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons seasoning salt
6 cups bite-size shredded rice biscuits

1/2 cup grated Romano cheese
Paprika
1 cup salted peanuts

Melt butter in a metal pan (about 7 by 11 by 2 inches) remove from heat; stir in salts. Add rice biscuits and mix with seasoned butter. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until top layer is lightly browned — about 5 minutes.

Turn over biscuits with a pancake turner and bake another 5 minutes, or until browned. Sprinkle with cheese and paprika and turn over biscuits as you do so.

Turn out in a single layer on waxed paper to cool. Mix with peanuts. Store in tightly covered container.

Homer Gannaway, Bob Nachlinger and Jack Nachlinger spent the weekend visiting R. Lee Gannaway in Hico.

Hermleigh will hold its annual homecoming Saturday Oct. 12 with registration starting at 2 p.m. A barbecue supper at the cost of $1.50 per plate will be served from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. The football game between Hermleigh and Sands will start at 8 p.m.

Be careful not to plant evergreens and other shrubs too close to a building. Three feet of space is recommended to prevent overheating of the plants by sunlight reflected from bright walls. The danger is greatest in southern or southwestern exposures, where more watering is required. Most susceptible to heat and light are yew and rhododendrons. Azaleas are more resistant.
