$25,000 JUNKET? — Maj. Gen. Ross Ayers, commander of the Texas National Guard, was accused by syndicated columnist Jack Anderson of having a military refueling plane redone so he and his wife could fly to Europe. The remodeling was supposedly done to the General's wife's specifications. The trip cost the taxpayers $25,000.

MONEY, SEX More Tales Of Torture, Killings

TOKYO (AP) — More tales of torture and killing came Saturday from the mountain area where police have unearthed the bodies of five young Japanese radicals.

It was believed the death toll might rise to 10 or more in the search for victims of what authorities described as splits among the leaders of a far left radical faction. The disputes were said to involve ideological differences, money and sex.

The fifth body, identified as that of a 21-year-old former university student, was found Saturday buried in a crude mountain grave about 80 miles northwest of Tokyo. The other four bodies, two of them young women, were found in the nearby area of forests and mountains last week. Police said one of the women was seven to eight months pregnant when she was killed.

Authorities have said the slayings involved members of the United Red Army. Questioning of other members of the organization, police said, has brought accounts of kangaroo court-type justice in which the victims were stripped, tied outdoors in subfreezing cold and left for days until they died.

Others were said to have been beaten and stabbed with picks and knives. One man was reported to have committed suicide by biting off his tongue.

Reviewing the . . .

. . . with Joe Pickle

Newcomers ask: "Is Spring here?" Oldtimers answer: "Well, yes, no, and maybe." The signs are all there with temperatures passing the 90-degree mark twice during the week, and a "cold snap" that hardly cooled things. Mrs. C. O. Hitt says that she has spotted a mesquite bush putting out. There's always possibility of a freeze for another month but each day puts nearer the safe zone. Meanwhile, nearly all fruit trees have erupted in a mass of blooms, and trees and shrubs are showing that lush green.

There are signs of the building industry picking up a bit of steam. For the first two months the permit total was $348,000 — not a record setter to be sure, but showing more life than usual. A $150,000 nursing home (McDonnell's venture at Virginia and Loop 700) was launched, but this caused Cox Convalescent Centers to back off a zone request for one near Goliad and Loop 700. Adding to the tempo will be Coahoma's new school project with 12 classrooms, offices, girls gym, and administration building, up for a letting March 21.

Just to show it is an area trend, Lamesa Country Club started its new home, replacing a 25-year-old structure. It will cost about $100,000 for 8,000 square feet plus. But voters decided — quite convincingly — they didn't want in on the activities. They defeated, for a second time, a school bond proposal — which probably kills it for good.

Young men and women from senior classes in Lamesa, Colorado City, Stanton, Sands, Forsan, Coahoma and Big Spring who are nominees for the Zale's-Herald Youth Achievement award are in for a treat. It's official now: Roger Stauch, the Dallas Cowboy quarterback, will be the speaker for the April 26 banquet. So, why not nominate

WHITE HOUSE CONTENDERS STRUGGLE FOR SECOND PLACE

Wallace Favorite In Race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Democratic rivals in Florida's presidential primary free-for-all hunted votes at picnics, rallies and shopping centers Saturday, with Sen. Edmund S. Muskie declaring that a victory for favored Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace would be a message that "this is the state where the New South died."

The embattled Muskie, campaigning for a good showing in Tuesday's primary to prove himself as the front runner in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he doesn't believe Florida wants to send the rest of the nation that kind of message.

"I don't believe Florida wants to hear the party of John Kennedy speaking with the voice of George Wallace," he told some 200 people after a picnic in a South Miami park.

RIDES BANDWAGON
Nonetheless, the major White House contenders are struggling for second place Tuesday while Wallace rides his antiques bandwagon as the favorite in an 11-way race.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, meanwhile, was telling a mock convention of high school students from around the state that as president he would create a cabinet rank office of youth affairs. He promised "the full involvement of youth in solving America's problems."

SENIOR CITIZENS
He then moved on to an apartment house for senior citizens, and told about 150 people there that he sponsored Medicare, housing for the elderly, Social Security increases and an assortment of other programs for the aging.

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota was in Orlando, where he told the families of American prisoners in North Vietnam, that as president he would announce an immediate withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina within 90 days, and support of the current Saigon government, and then press for release of the POWs.

He said those steps would put the United States in position to insist upon compliance with the Geneva Convention on prisoners of war, providing for repatriation without delay after the end of hostilities.

DON'T RUN
"This is not a proposed negotiating position," McGovern said. "It is a planned course of action which I fully intend to carry out."

In Miami, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York renewed his demand that the candidates meet in debate.

"The people of Florida must serve notice on Wallace, Humphrey and Muskie that a man who won't debate will not get their votes," Lindsay said.

"Floridians must say that a candidate who runs from a fight cannot run the nation."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, shaking hands at a shopping center in a black section of Miami, had a good natured encounter with Humphrey, who was about the same task.

It was learned, meanwhile, that the Muskie campaign is now trying to figure out a graceful way to change position

HAMMERING
McGovern has disclosed the donors who contributed $1.2 million to finance the first year of his campaign. Lindsay has made public the names of donors to his campaign since last fall, and Humphrey has said he will make such a disclosure Monday. Muskie strategists believe the issue, which McGovern has been hammering at since making his debut on Feb. 29, is hurting his bid.

Woman Hijacks Jet To Munich

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A middle-aged woman armed with a pistol and claiming she had a bomb in her purse hijacked an Alitalia jetliner from Italy to Munich Saturday night. She gave herself up to authorities after freeing the 31 other passengers and five crew members.

LOADED PISTOL
The woman, identified as Attilia Lazzeri, 55, of Rome, said she commandeered the plane to protest her sister's commitment to a mental hospital.

The pilot, Giacomo Mancuso, was allowed to get off the Caravelle jet with the others, but returned wearing a bulletproof vest and carrying a loaded pistol. Police said he talked the hijacker into surrendering.

The woman hijacked the plane about 20 minutes after it left Rome on a flight to Milan. When the jet landed in Munich, police surrounded it and the runway was illuminated by spotlights.

The woman was taken to the Bavarian state police headquarters on Munich for questioning, officers said.

Augusto Bertoni, the co-pilot, praised the conduct of the passengers, who he said remained calm throughout the incident.

The passengers were told en route to Munich that they would be released. The plane touched down here at 8:35 p.m. German time.

After exiting, the passengers and crew were taken to an airport customs building where they were questioned by authorities.

The only previous Italian hijack was in 1970. It was carried out by an Italian, Gianluca Stellino on a flight between Genoa and Rome. The Alitalia DC9 refueled at Naples and finally landed at Cairo, where Stellino sought political asylum.

DA Candidate Hit With Murder Rap In El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — District attorney candidate Jack P. Thompson, 36, an El Paso lawyer, was arrested Friday and charged with murder in connection with the shooting death of Paul Marvin Griffin.

Griffin, 49, a businessman, had recently been freed on $10,000 bond after being charged with two counts of federal liquor tax violations and two counts of federal firearms violations.

SON OF POLICE CHIEF GUN VICTIM

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — The young son of Canadian Police Chief R. L. McFarland died Saturday in an Amarillo hospital of a gunshot wound in the head.

Police said Gregory McFarland, 9, and his father were practicing target shooting north of Canadian at the time of the accident. The father was hospitalized in a Canadian hospital for shock.

Why Should GOP Object To Probe Of ITT Affair?

By The Associated Press

Democratic primary candidates journeyed to the Texas Gulf Coast Saturday to woo their party's younger set.

Several hopefuls turned out for the Young Democrats' convention in Galveston.

Barefoot Sanders, a U.S. Senate candidate said Republicans shouldn't object to the congressional investigation of the ITT affair.

"Instead of high officials sitting down and finding out what went on, they started yelling foul," Sanders said. "Why should the Republicans object? If there's a possibility of anything being wrong, it seems that they should have a strong interest in finding out."

A senate committee is probing columnist Jack Anderson's report that the Justice Department settled an antitrust case against International Telephone and Telegraph after the firm contributed $400,000 for the GOP convention in San Diego.

Agriculture Commissioner John White urged the Young Democrats to concentrate their new voting strength on party rules reforms and precinct politics to turn control of the party "away from the power brokers and back to the people."

He said proposed Democratic Party rules drafted by William R. Anderson of Corpus Christi "open the doors of our party wider than ever before and provide the means for everyone who wants to do so to make his influence felt in party affairs."

The State Democratic Executive Committee is expected to decide Monday whether to adopt the Anderson rules or the more restrictive rules favored by party chairman Roy Orr.

Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso, a candidate for Lieutenant governor, said he favors giving 18-year-olds full rights as adults, including the right to serve on juries.

Personalities In Mutscher Trial

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — The judge in the bribery conspiracy trial of Speaker Gus Mutscher has a facial resemblance to the Grinch who stole Christmas.

And, like that character in the Dr. Seuss children's story, J. Neil Daniel, 55, has played the opening scenes in the trial as a forbidding presence.

Faced with running the biggest trial in his life, he was so determined to avoid error or any hint of impropriety he rejected a request by a television crew to film outside the courtroom.

DECISION REVERSED
Every time Daniel walks into the courtroom from his chambers, he passes a cartoon taped to one of his bookshelves. The cartoon, perhaps, reveals something of the man.

It shows a judge leaning over with a pistol and shooting the defendant standing in front of his bench.

One bystander in the cartoon says to another, "Judge Rollins has yet to have a decision reversed."

But Daniel has loosened up some. Now and then he smiles.

The trial, in which Mutscher and two colleagues are accused of conspiring to accept a bribe, may have reached its halfway point. The state has indicated it possibly will rest its case Monday morning.

District Attorney Bob Smith of Austin dropped the biggest bomb this past week when he said outside the hearing of the jury, that Gov. Preston A. Smith would be shown to be "a co-conspirator in the case."

Other highlights of the week included testimony by state banking commissioner Robert E. Stewart that two banking bills wanted by Houston promoter Farnk Sharp in 1969 were inadequate to do the job they supposedly were designed to do.

VERY CLEAR
Sam O. Kimberlin Jr., executive vice president of the Texas Bankers Association, testified that the bills were dangerous and would give "a very clear competitive advantage" to state banks—such as Sharp's—over national banks.

The former president of the bank, Joe Novotny, testified that Sharp personally ordered unsecured loans from his bank to the defendants for investment in a Sharp-controlled insurance company.

The state contends these were not really loans, but bribes. The defendant and the governor all made huge profits on the stocks two days after the banking bills won legislative approval.

Here are sketches of the principal lawyers and the defendants:

—Chief Prosecutor Smith, 49, sits motionless in the court room most of the time, his mouth set tight in a slightly puckered position. Suddenly something a defense lawyer says brings him out of his chair and he objects with obvious anger.

'GET IT
Smith conceals a first-rate

mind behind country pronunciations like "Cain't" and "git" and phrases like "it don't prove nothing."

—Smith's assistant Harold Jaquet, 29, moves his chair around occasionally, not yet having developed the iron-pants endurance of older lawyers. A short man, with a sailor's gait, Jaquet has coarse brown hair and looks as if he forgot about it when he got out of bed. He shifts his eyes without moving his head and sometimes has a little-boy, naughty expression on his face.

—Frank Maloney, 44, of Austin, one of Mutscher's lawyers, is bald except for a fringe that he keeps shaved, giving him a cue-ball look that somehow is heightened by the thick eye glass over his one good eye. A land-mine explosion in Korea cost Maloney the sight of one eye and most of the sight in the other. His unusual appearance and Prussian demeanor have earned for him the nickname

Colonel Clink after the television actor in 'Hogan's Heroes.' He has the broad vowel speech of his native Massachusetts. He has taught at the University of Texas law school and has a scholar's approach to the law.

'RACE-HORSE'
—Richard "Racehorse" Haynes, 42, of Houston, another of Mutscher's lawyers, got his nickname from a football coach who criticized his running from sideline to sideline like a race-horse, instead of cutting up field.

A short solid man with razor-cut black hair, Haynes has a boyish charm and a deliciously wicked grin. A massive gold watch dangles from a loose band on his wrist as he extends his hand and holds it out firmly but not tensely to emphasize a point he is making in a sing-song voice.

He has an athlete's body control as he moves from the counsel table to the bench or witness stand and back, still gesturing with hands whose middle and ring fingers are of almost equal length.

THICK LIPS
—Mutscher, 39, a 6-footer with a high part in his straight, dark-brown hair, has thick lips and glasses. His expression is mask-like, concealing emotion. He seems to look at you from afar. He keeps his coat buttoned.

—Mutscher's wife, Donna, Miss America of 1964, has attended every session of court and occasionally snipes at newsmen.

She tells the bailiff whenever she sees a reporter violating court rules by reading a newspaper. She once overheard a reporter talking about a state official who "issues 10 press releases a day," and she interjected: "You guys in the press room must like that because it saves you a lot of time (by not) making them up."

Black Convention Delegates Debating 'Hot' Resolutions

GARY, Ind. (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson brought an estimated 2,000 delegates to the National Black Political Convention here to their feet Saturday when he called for creation of a black political party and a series of black agencies to oversee education, justice and economic development.

"Without the option of a black political party we are doomed to remain in the hip pocket of the Democratic party and the rumble seat of the Republican party," said the 30-year-old head of Operation PUSH—People United to Save Humanity.

Jackson suggested to the opening plenary session of the convention that the new group

First Degree Murder Charge

TIPP CITY, Ohio (AP) — Charles Cummings, 25, of Texarkana, Tex., was charged with first degree murder Friday after police found the body of a woman in a creek bed.

Lois Ann Joiner, 41, of Centerville, Ind., was shot once in the head at about 10 p.m., police said. A pistol was reported found.

Mrs. Joiner was here on business. Cummings worked here, police said.

Voters won't lack for a choice when they go to the polls to select two city councilmen April 4. M. K. Carson was a late entry, making seven seeking the offices. Incidentally, this being a month prior to the first primaries, you have only until then to register to qualify as a May 4 voter. So far, we're about 2,000 off the pace of two years ago. Surely you have registered.

Big Spring schools got the word from Cong. Omar Burleson of approval for $368,403 entitlement from the Office of Education for federally impacted funds. However, the $184,216 certified for immediate payment is all the district can safely count on, although another 25 per cent might come later if funds go around. The total entitlement figure is about what the district anticipated, but it had budgeted in hopes of $300,000 payment.

Members of our three bands came back from UIL regional contests with 100 medals, half of them for Division I (the top) ratings. Twenty-six young players qualified for the state contests. The Meistersingers from the choir took one of only two top spots in the San Angelo meet.

The base-community council took a look at rentals and rental offerings last week and came up with the observation that quality was lacking in many instances, but not a stiff price tag. The council figured there was a shortage of good and reasonable units — but the problem is in getting investors to gamble on making price and quality acceptable.

The Jaycees totaled up ex-

Archie Myers finished his basketball career at Howard County Junior College with 2,199 points, which, it turns out, is not only a HCJC record, but is also a new national junior college career record which edged that of 2,191 set by Robert Burrow 19 years ago.

A week ago a jury in Alpine assessed the death penalty in the case of Whitmer Jean Ballard for the murder of Steve Currie; it somehow seemed almost matter of fact. Last week, however, a jury in Odessa assessed the same penalty to Bobby Bell of Big Spring for the fatal stabbing of an Odessa woman storekeeper, and then it hit home, and for several of our own—personally.

Three Slain, 10 Wounded In Gun Fight

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Three persons were killed and 10 were seriously wounded early Saturday in a gun battle at the Monterrey Railroad Workers Union Hall. Police arrested 69 persons.

The federal attorney general's office said followers of former union leader Demetrio Vallejo seized the union hall several weeks ago. Another group tried to enter the building and were turned back with gunfire, the attorney general's office said.

The battle lasted almost half an hour. Later, when police arrived, tear gas was used to chase out those men still inside the building. Once police entered they found a large supply of weapons and explosives, the attorney general's office said.

Vallejo, recently released from a prison term for subversion, claims the current union leadership is corrupt and should be replaced.

Texas Traffic Deaths Top 500

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Department of Public Safety reported Saturday that 510 persons have died in Texas traffic accidents this year, eight more than at this time in 1971.

The department said there have been 433 fatal traffic accidents in the state this year, compared with 427 a year ago.

TOMORROW

—CARROL RIGHTER

SUNDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: The day is splendid for attending the service, lectures, meetings of your choice and for combining some very unusual and New Age ideas with those beliefs that have long been found to be satisfactory, but which need a more up-to-date interpretation. Joining with friends in p.m. brings good results if you avoid arguments.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Some unexpected happenings occur in a.m., but these are only opportunities for you to get ahead faster. Do not argue with others. A higher-up is very cooperative and this helps you greatly. Get to bed early tonight.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You can enhance your position with outsiders by doing something of a humanitarian nature early, but take no chances with the public later in the day. A higher-up has a fine idea you should listen to. Take it easy in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can get the data you need today that can help you put that new aim across that is dear to your heart. Avoid those who are antagonistic in p.m. Once your problem is solved, delve into something new, else.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have an opportunity to get responsibilities behind you quickly, so do not buntle them by procrastinating. Listen to the ideas which motivate those that are excellent. Enjoy own fireside in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Finding out what aspects of your life are not working is easy on this day away from regular duties. Try to cooperate more instead of wanting your own way exclusively. Pick up that civic work you left undone and get it completed, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have much work to do so start on it instead of relying on co-workers. Plan a schedule of rest and exercise that can do the same with the personal side as well now. Keep up these efforts to improve your health. Get some fresh air. Handle that business matter early that was hard during busy week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Something interesting happens at home today in a quiet fashion. Go out and enjoy tonight and have a delightful time, but be home before midnight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are able to get out to meetings where there is a high-minded and inspiring atmosphere. Study ideas you get in p.m. Start working on that new program, give it the most interesting turn out the wrinkles in it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can handle that situation today that will get the right response from the right person, but be sure to be in the early evening. Put that plan across that brings you more income today. Read some before you get to bed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Someone brings you a fine benefit now — be sure to show your appreciation. Social events can then be very enjoyable. Try to avoid use those who are gregarious qualities you possess. Learn that you are a true humanitarian.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You feel will be helpful to you in the future and get the right results quickly. Stop thinking you can make it alone. Seek divine help and all is fine.

MONDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning could bring problems and troubles as a result of having made drastic changes. During the afternoon and evening you are likely to have a chip on your shoulder. Be sure to make every effort to keep promises you have made.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) If you steer clear of one who is acting in an erratic fashion, you can avoid taking your ire out on good friends. Attend to tasks around your home. Relax this evening.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Do nothing that will jeopardize the fine reputation you now enjoy or you may lose valuable friends. Make out checks for bills that are due. Spend quiet evening at home.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't permit anyone to take you away from whatever important today or you could be disappointed. Don't listen to those who are likely to suggest. Remain loyal to friends.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Making your payee or have a wise. Pay no attention to mate who is now in a negative mood. Keep busy in whatever you enjoy doing for best results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you come through with promises you have made, you can clear up a misunderstanding with an associate. Avoid one who is a formidable opponent. Show that you are confident.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have much work to do so start on it instead of relying on co-workers. Plan a schedule of rest and exercise that can do the same with the personal side as well now. Keep up these efforts to improve your health. Get some fresh air. Handle that business matter early that was hard during busy week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) The morning is the best time to do your work properly. Avoid taking risks of any sort. Remove something of today that is outdated. Don't lose your temper with me.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure to walk or travel with extra care. Do not leave your valuable property within easy reach of strangers. Show that you want to cooperate with associates.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Do not spend more than you can afford. Be more sure of your willpower so that you do not get into a situation where important property matters are concerned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You could feel depressed in the morning. The advice of experts instead of acting like you know it all. Do what you can to help those who are in need. Show that you are a true humanitarian.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Follow the advice of experts instead of acting like you know it all. Do what you can to help those who are in need. Show that you are a true humanitarian.

Garrison Doesn't Believe In Accepting Retirement

By MYRNA McFADIN

I write this column with the sincere desire that I might touch your heart as mine has been touched by the out-going warmth and strength of people in our city. Being a newcomer to Big Spring, I have had so many refreshing experiences meeting people whom, I suppose, most of you have known since childhood. I am thoroughly impressed, and I intend to share with you my impressions. This column is dedicated to the many faithful workers in our local churches, so often the unsung heroes of our community. These are the ones who really care.

JOHN W. GARRISON

JOHNNY GARRISON, a member of the Wesley United Methodist Church, is a man who does not believe in retirement. Having officially retired from Texas Electric five years ago, Johnny is now busier than ever. He spends most of his mornings with his pastor visiting newcomers in the city and visitors to the church. Each afternoon he patrols the high school parking lot, and evenings he visits the sick.

Johnny has been the "official coffee maker" at his church for the past 22 years, traditionally having coffee ready for members each and every Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrison are charter members of the church's XYZ Club, a club for people over 60 years of age, and have just recently stepped down as president and secretary. Johnny worked with the Boy Scouts for 15 years, and still has his old dutch oven and coffee pot he carried on camping trips. He loves children, and has strong faith in the youth of today. Johnny Garrison is a man who shares his faith with everyone.

FRANK MULLICAN dedicates most of his time to bed patients at the Veteran's Hospital. A member of the 14th and Main Church of Christ, Frank is, in the words of his minister, a real "specialty." He was a Nursing Escort at the hospital until 1966, when he suffered a severe heart attack. He now spends over two hours each day running errands for the patients, keeping them company, and adding brightness to their days.

Mr. Mulligan is a World War Veteran, and has been chaplain of the WWI Barracks Organization No. 1474 for seven years. He is faithful in all areas of his church service, and spends many additional hours visiting the sick in other hospitals.

Frank says that the joys of his service far outnumber anything he has ever done. Frank retired from Sinclair Oil Co. in 1959, and hasn't known an unfilled moment since. He recently received his 1,000-hour certificate of service from the Veteran's Hospital. Frank Mulligan is known and loved by all for his kind work.

The youth of our community are of special importance to INEZ SALAZAR. Miss Salazar has dedicated most of the past five years to working with young adults at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Inez is in charge of the Youth Choir, teaches Confraternity of Christian Doctrine each Thursday, and works with the Catholic Youth Organization. Under her direction, the youth of the church have worked to purchase a new organ and are now working for funds to build a new church.

To obtain these funds, Inez works with the youth organizing cake sales, tamale suppers, variety shows, car washes, fall festivals, and a queen's contest. The young people really love Inez Salazar, and that love is greatly returned. A full-time nurse for Dr. J. H. Fish, Inez lives a busy life — one that effects our community in many ways.

At Grace Baptist Church, ORVILLE WARD has started a new bus route, and we wish him all the success in the world. The time of morning worship at Wesley United Methodist Church has been changed to 10:50 a.m. so they can dismiss at 11:45 a.m. and have a time of fellowship for the members.

The Singing Wills Family, from Arlington, Texas, will be singing in the 10 a.m. morning worship at Trinity Baptist Church today. This is a sensational gospel group. You'll really enjoy them.

Saturday afternoon Confession time has been changed to 5-5:30 p.m. at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church.

World-renowned Capital recording artist WANDA JACKSON will be singing in the Revival beginning this evening at Baptist Temple Church.

Mercury Due To Dip A Bit In West Texas

By The Associated Press

Texans were given a variety of Springlike weather Saturday. Southerly breezes brought moist air in from the Gulf of Mexico causing clouds in the eastern two thirds of the state and showers to fall in South Texas.

At one point rain showers fell in an area extending from near Corpus Christi to just east of San Antonio.

The forecasters said cloudy skies would remain over much of Texas through Sunday morning with scattered rainfall occurring in the southern half of the state Saturday and in North Texas Sunday.

The thermometers are expected to climb in the 70s and 80s but some cooling is expected in the Panhandle as a cold front makes its way through New Mexico and North Texas Sunday morning.

By Sunday evening the front should extend from Marfa in far West Texas to Fort Smith, Ark.

Near-Complete Ban On Mercury

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency is expected to announce soon a near-complete ban on pesticides containing mercury. Such a ban would affect not only agricultural uses, but also such diverse industries as paper-making, plastics, rubber and paint. Some of the mercury compounds under challenge are widely used in the manufacture of such products to inhibit mold, mildew, rot and such degenerative processes.

EPA has had under review for the past seven months a staff report recommending an almost total ban.

That review is nearly completed, said David D. Dominick, EPA director of categorical programs, in an interview Friday.

He said EPA would announce its decisions "within a week or so."

Dominick did not say directly what the EPA action would be, but conceded that "the general conclusions (of the staff report) are not in question."

His responses to this and other questions appeared to indicate clearly that EPA will follow the report's advice to ban all mercury pesticide uses, with the possible exceptions of treatment of wheat and barley seeds.

Patman Tells Nixon To Reshape Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., has told President Nixon to shake up the wage-price stabilization program, or it will be investigated by the House Banking Committee.

Patman, chairman of the committee, wrote Nixon that he is receiving many complaints reflecting "a widespread belief that the program is being administered unfairly and that in several important respects the law has been completely ignored by those designated to carry out the responsibilities of the act. I am inclined to agree with this conclusion."

Turning to specifics, Patman wrote:

—Price regulations are so complex that "consumers cannot know what their rights are. . . it is impossible for them to police illegal price increases."

—Rents have been raised as much as 9 per cent. "The tenants are very perplexed . . . because the landlords cite as justification . . . Phase 2 guidelines. As one member of Congress told me, 'This is preposterous.' I agree."

—By providing that the working poor should be exempt from the ban on pay raises, Congress intended to set the line at family incomes of $6,900. The Cost of Living Council has set a standard of $1.90 an hour, or less than $4,000 a year. "This is far from what Congress had in mind."

—Congress contemplated that, if interest rates were not to be controlled, there should be a formal and documented finding that controls were not needed. The Cost of Living Council finding that no controls were needed "blatantly ignored" the requirements.

—The stabilization law called for public hearings by the congress, but only two have been held.

Patman declined an invitation to testify at a Price Commission hearing March 28, saying his appearance would be inappropriate in view of his letter to Nixon.

"Unless there is prompt assurance of actions to conform to the intent of the law," he wrote, "this committee will not hesitate to convene hearings to see that act is used in accordance with the intent of Congress."

DIES — The Duke of Marlborough, second cousin to the late Winston Churchill and head of the historic influential Marlborough family, died in a London hospital Saturday. He was 74.

Open House In Schools Has Vigorous Response

Open house activities commemorating Texas Education Week, which were held by local elementary and secondary schools last week, received vigorous response from the public, according to Ernie Boyd, Park Hill Elementary School principal.

Several service clubs in town based their week's programs on Texas Education week. According to Boyd at least one more service club will have its program on the subject this next week.

Goliad Junior High School was the only junior high to have open house, and Boyd reported the turnout at the school was good. That open house was held last Monday night.

Most of the local elementary schools had open house activities Tuesday night of last week. "There was also good response to the elementary school open house activities, and some rooms reported over 50 per cent of their children's parents had registered," Boyd said.

Boyd is the chairman of the teacher's committee helping to conduct the activities. Harold Bentley, Runnels Junior High principal, was the co-chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements and publicity.

The activity was an annual event in Big Spring observing Texas Education Week, and is usually sponsored by the Masonic Lodge. It has also been a state-wide observance by declaration of the governor, according to Boyd.

The next activity involving the local Teachers' Association will be the Texas State Teachers' Convention to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this next week. Boyd said the local Teachers' Association will have four delegates, plus a number of other members attending the convention, and it has been estimated there will be over 10,000 at the convention.

U.S. Bombers Rake North Vietnam Base

TAY NINH, Vietnam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers wrecked a North Vietnamese base in eastern Cambodia, caving in reinforced concrete bunkers, destroying supplies and foods and killing a number of enemy troops, military authorities said Saturday.

The raids were carried out in support of a 5,000-man South Vietnamese ground thrust spearheaded by more than 100 armored vehicles that was launched Friday in an area ranging 75 to 100 miles northwest of Saigon.

MANGLED BODIES
Authorities said the bombers ripped up 30 to 40 bunkers, each 30-feet long, 20-feet wide, and 15-feet deep. They reported large stores of supplies and five tons of rice were destroyed.

Aerial observers spotted at least three mangled enemy bodies in one of the bunkers, authorities added.

The raids were carried out about 12 miles inside Cambodia in an enemy base area known on military maps as 354. This is northwest of Tay Ninh.

Two government task forces are pushing northward from Highways 1 and 13 through eastern Cambodia in a dry season offensive. Senior officers say it is aimed at disrupting the Communist command's supply system into South Vietnam's 3rd military region. The region includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces.

SAPPERS KILLED
There has been no major fighting, but 21 enemy sappers were reported killed and one captured in a parallel operation on the Vietnamese side of the border southwest of Tay Ninh.

South Vietnamese forces said they captured two rocket launchers, 40 rounds of ammunition, six AK47 assault rifles and nearly 500 pounds of TNT. One South Vietnamese soldier was reported killed and three wounded.

The sappers were said to be from a battalion of about 120 troops. The South Vietnamese rushed in reinforcements to surround the area. About 1,000 government troops are sweeping the region.

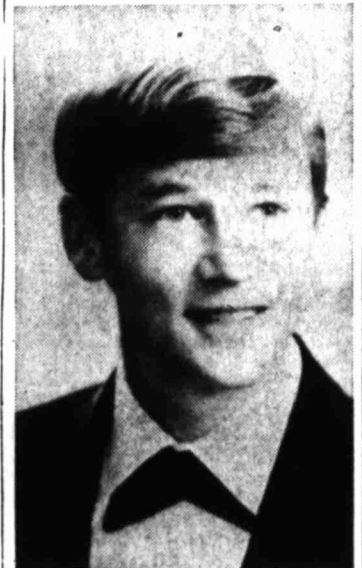

South Vietnamese officers speculated the sapper battalion may have been preparing to attack the Tay Ninh base, the forward headquarters of the Cambodian operation.

South Vietnamese field commanders said they had 20,000 troops operating on the Vietnamese side of the border to secure the flanks of the strike force and to cut off enemy reinforcements and resupply into the 3rd region.

"This is our dry season campaign," said one senior South Vietnamese field commander. "I cannot say when it will end."

Elsewhere across South Vietnam, the Saigon command reported 25 enemy-initiated incidents during the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. Saturday, including several heavy rocket and mortar attacks.

SKUNK GRABS CLASSROOM

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — A skunk took over a classroom for a day at Rinedale Elementary School.

The portable classroom had to be evacuated after teachers and pupils noticed an unpleasant odor rising through the floorboards.

Workmen could not remove the skunk so the pupils were moved to the school library for classes.

Fundamental Truths Of Christianity

THE CHURCH AS AN ORGANIZATION

New Testament scriptures reveal that the church of Christ is a divine institution, organized by the apostles under the direction of the Holy Spirit, and is God's means of saving the world. Since its establishment on the day of Pentecost, no soul has ever been saved or shall ever be saved outside of this body which Christ purchased with his own blood.

Regarding its organization: first, as to its name, the Scriptures show that Christians were called in their collective capacity, "the church," "the church of the Lord," "the church of God," "churches of Christ"; but no human name was to it ever applied. In their individual capacity, while some times referred to as "disciples," "brethren," "saints," etc., the only name they ever wore was that of "Christians."

Each congregation was a separate unit answerable only to God in matters of doctrine and authority. Its only officers were elders (sometimes called bishops) and deacons appointed over each congregation. The elders or bishops were to oversee the church and labor for its spiritual welfare — to settle its difficulties, strengthen the weak and lift up the fallen. The deacons were to superintend the temporal welfare of the congregation, caring for the needy and providing for the material necessities of the church. There were "evangelists" who served as preachers of the gospel, but they had no official capacity in the congregation. The word "minister," which really means "servant," is variously applied to evangelists, apostles, and any other servant in the church. The word "reverend," used only once in the Bible, is applied to God and never to a gospel preacher. The word "pastor" is used to refer to the elders who are the spiritual "feeders of the flock." Each congregation had a plurality of elders, but never in God's word is a record where one elder had authority over a plurality of churches.

In the study of the Bible as its great truths pass before our minds, we are impressed by what one has called "the majesty of simplicity." The foregoing is the simple arrangement of the organization of the church of the Lord. There are no higher officers than those we have named and, if we are to be scriptural in church organization, these and only these are the names, the offices and the principles which we may use.

Eight-Hour Rail Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Southern Pacific said its train service was back to normal Saturday in seven Western states after an eight-hour strike.

About 8,000 station employees struck over elimination of 20 switchmen's jobs. And 12,000 other members of the United Transportation Union honored picket lines—halting most Southern Pacific operations west of El Paso.

UTU members complied with a back-to-work order the SP won in federal court eight hours after the strike began.

Some of SP's 806 freight trains were backed up but the railroad said all crews were reporting to work with no problems.

Long-haul AMTRAK passenger trains moved normally Saturday including those carrying 3,000 commuters into San Francisco.

The railroad estimated employees' payroll losses at nearly $1 million and said it was impossible to compute the railroad loss because of freight delays.

Empty House For 'The Godfather' At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "The Godfather" opens here at two movie theaters March 22, but it may play to an empty house on one.

Spokesmen for the Italian-American Unification Council of Greater Kansas City said their organization has bought all the tickets for the opening at the Empire Theater. The cost was estimated at $2,500.

Marion Trozzolo, an IAU spokesman, said his group also tried to buy out the Glenwood Theater for the same night, but the tickets had been sold to another group.

Trozzolo said no demonstrations are planned. "We aren't even suggesting people not see it," he said. "We'll see it ourselves sometime."

"All we are saying to the public is, 'When you leave the theater, be sensitive. Your Italian-American friends don't live the way these people are portrayed in the picture as living.'"

Registration To Begin For Roundup March 24

By BRIAN PEAY

Marchers are marking time, beauties are primping, hunters are getting ready and watchers are getting scared about this time of year, as the Big Spring Jaycees prepare for the tenth annual Rattlesnake Roundup to be held March 24-25-26.

The roundup will feature parades, beauty pageants, dances, displays, demonstrations, guided hunting tours and gobs of fried rattlesnake. Local Jaycees say there will be activity for everyone in the family, during the lively weekend.

Roundup headquarters will be at the National Guard Armory just off FM 700 this year. In previous years the show has been held at the Howard County Show Barns.

Activities begin March 23 with Miss Diamond Back competition. Several local beauties already have signed up for competition and Steve Kotera, pageant chairman, is presently looking for more participants.

20 CENTS POUND
The morning of March 24, hunter registration will begin and all hunters turning in snakes will get 20 cents per pound of snake. Hunter registration will begin at 8 a.m. through 5 p.m. every day of the roundup, according to Don Worhan, roundup chairman. Each man participating in hunting will receive a red silk hunter's ribbon and a hunter's license to distinguish him from the other participants, and all Jaycees working in the roundup will have blue Chief-Rattler ribbons, and bravery certificate.

Also on March 24, during the afternoon, a parade will be staged in the downtown area with many of the local and area bands, riding clubs, car clubs, dignitaries, and Miss Diamond Back contestants participating.

Following that, on Saturday morning, hunter registration will begin again at 8 a.m., followed by handling demonstrations and guided hunt tours, beginning at 10 a.m. through 5 p.m.

A dance will be held at the Cosden Country Club Saturday night, with the Versatones providing the music. Admission will be $5 per couple, and there will be free beverages and set ups, provided by the Big Spring Jaycees. Also Miss Diamond Back 1972 will be crowned during the dance.

TOURS
Then on March 26 hunter registration will begin again with demonstrations and guided tours at 10 a.m. And to top off the event, awards, prizes and trophies will be given hunters Sunday afternoon.

First prize for total pounds will be $35 plus a trophy, second prize for total pounds will be $25 plus a trophy, and third prize for total pounds will be $15 plus a trophy. Also a trophy and award money of $1 per rattle will go to the hunter bringing in the snake with the most rattles.

And $5 per foot cash prize will go to the hunter with the longest snake.

Admission prices during the roundup will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children 12 or under.

Space Shuttle Rumors Flying

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Manned Spacecraft Center denied Saturday published reports that the final configuration for the space shuttle has been determined and labeled reports that there would be major transfer of personnel as "completely erroneous."

A spokesman said that both reusable and disposable rocket booster systems are still under consideration by space officials.

Another source did indicate, however, that space center officials personally favor a liquid-fueled rocket booster system; that would be discarded in the ocean after launch.

The original idea for the shuttle included a reusable orbiting spacecraft which could be landed like an airplane and boosted into orbit by a rocket craft which could also be landed and reused.

This original concept was modified because of budgetary considerations to the use of a booster system which could be parachuted into the ocean, fished out and reused.

The space center officials favor an even cheaper proposal which would use discardable liquid rockets.

An official said a request for proposals from contractors on one design or the other will be made soon but the exact nature of that design has not been finally decided upon.

The spokesman, however, categorically denied that there would be a massive transfer of personnel from the Marshall Spaceflight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

"That will not happen," the spokesman said. "Marshall will continue to play a key role regardless of the shuttle configuration chosen."

Longview Mayor Selected Texas Mother Of Year

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — The Longview mayor, Mrs. Lois Jackson, has been named Texas Mother of the Year for 1972 by the Texas Mother of the Year Association.

Mrs. John L. Dodson of Del Rio, state association chairman, officially made the announcement Saturday.

Mrs. Jackson will be eligible for the National Mother of the Year title to be awarded in May in New York City.

Mrs. Jackson, a widow, reared three sons alone and taught Sunday School in the First Baptist Church in Longview.

Her sons are Dr. Frank R. Jackson of Longview; Jere Jackson, a teacher in Nacogdoches; and Andrew Jackson, an insurance agent and realtor in Longview.

Mrs. Jackson, who also reared a niece, served several terms as a city councilwoman and is presently a candidate for the Texas Senate.

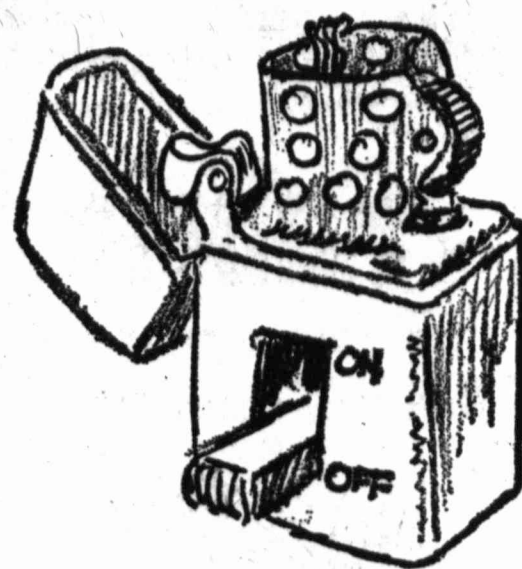

Dawson Council To Meet Monday

LAMESA — Eight items are scheduled on the Dawson County Commissioners Court agenda for Monday.

Dawson County dads will act on request of General Telephone Company of the Southwest to install underground lines in county right-of-way property.

Also county commissioners will set dates for the equalization board meetings, and draw names of persons to serve on a grievance committee.

Other general items on the agenda include open bids for petroleum products for county use, act on request of the local Little League, approve all reports and approve accounts payable.

HIDING ALIENS King Ranch Foreman's Son Hit With Charge

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Lavoyger Durham, the son of a King Ranch foreman, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of conspiring to hide aliens from the U.S. Border Patrol.

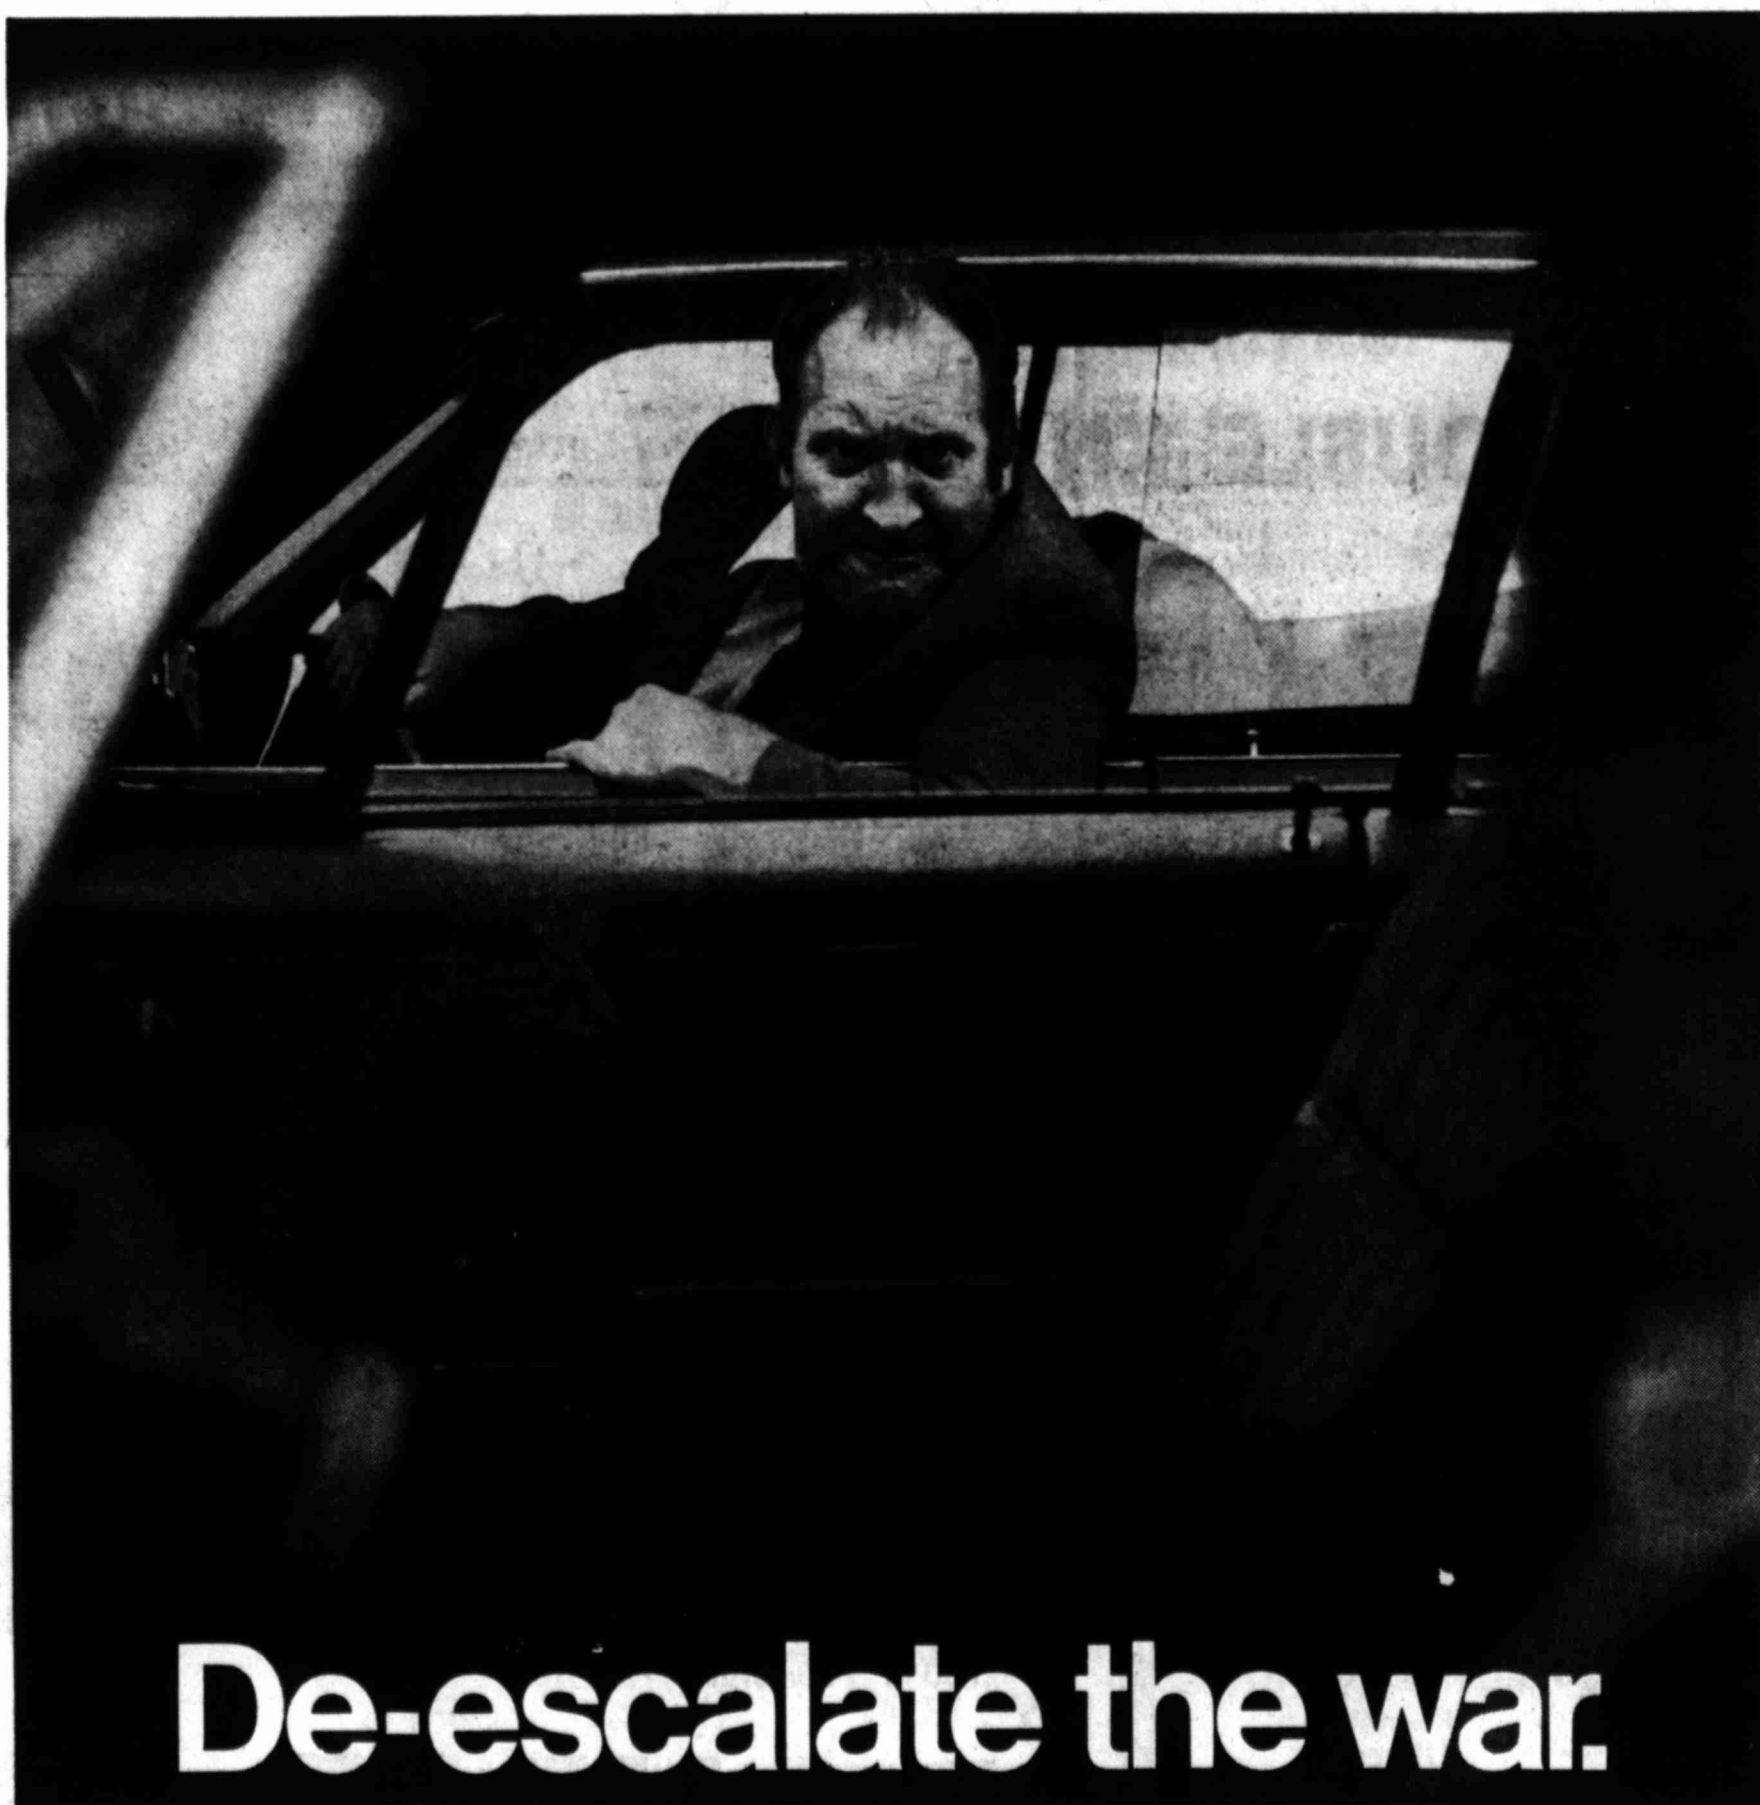

Durham was named late Friday in a 25-count indictment which charged that he and others unknown to the grand jury warned illegal Mexican aliens employed on the Norias Division of the King Ranch near Sarita each time Border Patrol agents were approaching the ranch.

Sarita is about 20 miles south of Kingsville, headquarters for the main ranch.

The first count alleges that Durham conspired to warn the illegal aliens on Jan. 11, Jan. 18 and Jan. 30 of this year. The other 24 counts name the 24 Mexican nationals arrested by the Border Patrol on the ranch Feb. 10.

The indictment alleges that whenever the Border Patrol agents would arrive at the gatehouse of the ranch for an inspection, someone would call the laborers time to hide.

If convicted, Durham faces a possible $2,000 fine and five-year prison sentence on each of the 25 counts.

De-escalate the war.

Believe it or not, highway hostility is not one of the necessities of life. It doesn't even have to be a fact of life.

Just because the other guy has an axe to grind doesn't mean you have to grind it with him. When another driver temporarily loses his head, don't lose yours. Don't honk back. Don't shout back. Don't drive aggressively to hold your ground.

The war of nerves and bad tempers doesn't have to go on. Your new car dealer would like to see the war end. He would like to see more peaceful, safer streets for all Americans.

So the next time the other guy tries to take out some highway hostility on you, do the one thing that will prevent an accident and might make him come to his senses. Keep your cool. Courtesy on the road can put out a lot of fires.

There is an alternative to War... Peace.

COMMISSION FINDS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A commission created by Congress to study the population problem reported Saturday that there's no sound reason for continued population growth.

The first part of a 3-part report outlines the problem and its implication for the future, later parts will offer specific recommendations.

"We have found no convincing argument for continued national population growth," the report says. "On the contrary, the pluses seem to be on the side of slowing growth and eventually stopping it altogether."

"Neither the health of our economy nor the welfare of individual businesses depend on continued population growth. In fact, the average person will be markedly better off in terms of traditional economic values if population growth slows down than if it resumes the pace of growth experienced in the recent past."

The 24-member commission, headed by John D. Rockefeller III, was charged to examine the growth trend to the end of the century, to assess its impact on government services, the economy, resources and environment and to make recommendations on how the nation can best cope with the impact.

"Slower population growth can contribute to the nation's ability to solve its problems in these areas by providing an opportunity to devote resources to the quality of life rather than its quantity," the commission says.

BIG CITIES

The commission brings out familiar figures: the U.S. population increased from 76 million in 1900 to 205 million in 1970; if families have only two children on the average and immigration continues at current levels, the population will grow to 271 million by the year 2,000. If families average three children, the figure would be 322 million; in 100 years, the 2-child family would result in a population of about 350 million the 3-child family would result in a population of nearly one billion.

Airman Gets 20 In Prison

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Airman First Class Maurice Williams, 22, of Austin, stationed at Dyess Air Force Base, Saturday was sentenced to 20 years at hard labor after conviction of murder in the slaying of Sgt. Alfred L. Lincoln.

Lincoln, 23, was a resident of Tyler, Tex.

The jury deliberated about two hours on Williams' punishment after taking about four hours Friday of unpremeditated murder. He had been charged with premeditated murder. Lincoln was shot to death at the NCO Club parking lot at Dyess on Aug. 29, 1971.

Carpenters' Wage Hike Approved

Washington's Construction Industry Stabilization Committee has approved raises in the hourly pay scale of the Big Spring Carpenters, the Lubbock Bricklayers and the Abilene Carpenters, according to information received from Washington.

Among raises held up by the CISC include the El Paso Asbestos Workers and Electricians (50 cent raises); San Antonio Elevator Constructors (57 cents from the present scale of $6.06); and Victoria Plumbers (a 65 cent punch that would push the scale up to $8.26 if approved.)

Back In Custody

Gomesindo Diaz Jr., 20, Odessa, was returned Saturday to Howard County jail from Odessa on a charge of burglary. He remains in custody in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Diaz was originally arrested on the charge in September, 1971, and the bond was set by an Odessa municipal judge on the Big Spring charge. The original warrant charging Diaz with burglary was issued Aug. 27, 1971. He was re-arrested Saturday when his bondsman went off his bond.

Plans To Change Image Of Women

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The League of United Latin American Citizens, LULAC, announced formation Saturday of a women's affairs committee that plans to place women on the boards, committees and commissions of the country.

Mrs. Julia Zozaya of Phoenix, named chairman of the committee at a meeting of the national supreme council of LULAC here, said the image of the Spanish-American woman would be changed from that of a housewife who hides behind the door, to one who is active in community service and political life.

The group will promote creation of day-care centers to permit Spanish-American women to take job opportunities in the "full range of employment," Mrs. Zozaya added.

The committee, she indicated, will become a training ground for development of leadership in women 18 and older, so they can take their place in community leadership.

Her group does not believe in militancy, Mrs. Zozaya said, but persuasion, demonstration and other means within the system to reach its goals.

Ex-Resident Dies In Tucson, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Jenkins, 1705 Settles, were to leave today for Tucson, Ariz., to attend the funeral of Lewis Wimberly, 56, former resident of Big Spring.

Services for Mr. Wimberly are pending.

Mr. Wimberly is the husband of Jenkins' sister, and Mrs. Wimberly is also the sister of Mrs. Willard Miller, Big Spring. Mr. Wimberly moved to Tucson from Big Spring approximately five years ago.

Drilling Slump Noted In Area

A decrease in active drilling rigs in the Permian Basin Empire has been seen for the second consecutive week as reported by G. W. Murphy Industries' weekly survey.

The count dropped to 147, down 13 from last week's 160, making hole in the two-state area, and seven less than were in operation in the same area a year ago.

Lea County, N.M., continued to be the leader, with 24 rigs, off one from last week, followed by Ward County in Texas Railroad Commission District 8 (Midland), with 19, down two, and Pecos County with 18, also down two.

County-by-county tabulation (March 10, 1972, compared to March 3, 1972): Andrews 4-2; Cochran 1-0; Coke 8-1; Concho 1-1; Crane 4-5; Crockett 1-2; Dawson 2-1; Ector 5-5; El Paso 5-7; El Paso 1-1; Gaines 4-2; Garza 2-1; Hockley 3-4; Howard 1-1; Irion 1-3; Kent 1-1; Lea 24-2; Loving 1-2; Martin 8-5; Midland 3-4; Nolan 2-1; Pecos 18-20; Reagan 8-8; Reeves 3-4; Roosevelt 1-1; Runnels 2-2; Schleicher 2-1; Scurry 1-2; Stonewall 8-1; Sutton 6-6; Terrell 1-1; Terry 2-3; Tom Green 1-1; Upton 1-2; Vol Verde 1-1; Ward 19-21; Winkler 4-6; Ysotom 3-3; Total 147-160.

Thief Nails Back Dances He Lifted

Second thoughts caused a thief to use the services Friday of the U.S. Post Office to return stolen drugs.

Friday, a package of 200 blood pressure pills and 500 tranquilizers was taken from a car belonging to Bennett Brooke, owner of Bennett's Pharmacy. The pills were taken while the car was parked on W. 2nd at the Permian Building. Brooke reported the theft to police at 5:06 p.m. Friday.

Brooke reported Saturday that a postman had returned the package to him. Brooke told police that the thief apparently dropped the package bearing the pharmacy's address in a mailbox, bringing about the return of the stolen pills.

Tax Break To Counties With Munitions Plants

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Counties with government-owned munitions plants received a tax break Saturday from the State Board of Education.

The board voted 10-5 after an hour's discussion to eliminate the output of such plants from its calculations of a county's taxpaying ability.

Board members Doyle Corley of New Boston and Herbert O. Wilborn of Amarillo, whose districts contain ordnance plants, led the fight.

Carson County, northeast of Amarillo, and Bowie County (Texarkana) faced increases in the share of basic educational costs to be paid by local taxpayers because of rising output of their munitions plants in the 1967-68 period.

Bowie County's economic index—a measure of taxpaying capacity used by the board—jumped 56 per cent over last year, and Carson County's increased 23 per cent.

Local school districts, as a group, pay 20 per cent of the overall cost of the minimum foundation school program. Each district's portion of this "local fund assignment," which will total $265.7 million next school year, is determined by multiplying the total by its county's economic index.

Asst. Education Commissioner Leon Graham said Bowie County's 56 per cent increase was the largest since the economic index went into use in 1949.

CREDITS DUE Corley said the increase added $500,000 to the burden of Bowie County school taxpayers, but Graham said credits due the county would reduce that to $88,000.

"I am trying to appeal to a sense of fairness and equity. It (the increase) just puts us out of business as far as the schools of Bowie County are concerned," Corley said.

Wilborn and Corley said the ordnance plants are owned by the federal government—making them non-taxable—and are operated by private contractors.

Graham said the state attorney general's office had ruled that the output of the plants had to be included in the economic index.

Hill County was hit with a big increase in its local fund assignment several years ago because of a cattle feedlot. It took an act of the legislature to remove feed lots from the economic index.

Wilborn said 80 per cent of the Carson County munitions plant's employees live in Amarillo.

"If anybody ought to get an increase, my own school district probably ought to get it," he said.

SAMPLING Corley said U.S. Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana checked out the U.S. Department of Commerce figures on the value of the munitions plant's output and found they were "estimates based on sampling."

"Gentlemen, we are being crucified by estimates based on sampling," he said.

Board member James E. Weeks of Abilene opposed what he called "single-shot changes in the economic index" to help the counties with ordnance

DEATHS

Mrs. A. B. Smith, Rites Monday

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Monday at Wheeler Mortuary, Portales, N.M., for Mrs. Alex B. Smith, 79, who died at 8:20 p.m. Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur (Virginia) Partain, 2603 Lynn.

Burial for Mrs. Smith will be in Portales Cemetery. Mrs. Smith's body will be in state through this afternoon at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Smith came to Big Spring from Fresno, Calif., in February of this year to reside with her daughter.

Mrs. Smith was born Dec. 26, 1892, in Streeter, Ill. She had been a resident of Fresno since 1954 where she was a member of the Baptist Church.

Aug. 25, 1907, Mrs. Smith married Alex B. Smith at Wheeler, Tex. Mr. Smith died March 27, 1952.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Partain, Big Spring; three sons, Oscar Smith, William Smith, both of Portales, N.M. and Owen Smith, Fresno, Calif.; one brother, J. L. Powers, Victorville, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Alvia Anderson, Fresno, Calif.; nine grandchildren; 17 great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Shirley Lee, Ex-Phone Employee

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home for Mrs. Shirley Lee, Coahoma. Mrs. Lee died Saturday in a Lubbock hospital following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Lee was a former employee of the Coahoma Telephone Co., and she was a member of the First Baptist Church of Coahoma.

Survivors include her husband, Donald, of the home; three daughters, Mrs. Sherri Lepard, and Patti Lee and Janna Lee, of the home; and two sisters.

Buck Payne, Rites Monday

Graveside rites will be at 9:30 a.m. Monday at Mt. Olive Cemetery for Buck Payne, 67, who was found dead Friday in his room at the Wyoming Hotel. Peace Justice Walter Grice ruled death by natural causes.

Major Donald Nelson, commander of the local Salvation Army unit, will officiate at the services. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Curtis E. Green, Breckenridge, Mrs. Josie Ballero, Odessa, and Mrs. Mary Pryor, Galena Park; two sons, Harvey Payne, Stephenville, and Darvey Payne, Lamesa; one half-brother, Perry Payne, Crystal City; one half-sister, Mrs. Josie Hale, Big Spring; a step-mother, Mrs. H. W. Payne, Crystal City; and 10 grandchildren.

V. W. Schaad, Rites Pending

Vernon William Schaad, 67, Fort Worth, brother-in-law of Harvey Hooser, local attorney, died suddenly Saturday while undergoing examination at Cowper Clinic & Hospital. Funeral arrangements are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Schaad had formerly worked in a tax office with Hooser. Mr. Schaad married the former Ethyle Hooser, now of Fort Worth.

Survivors include his wife, of the home; one son, William C. Schaad, Los Angeles, Calif.; and one daughter, Mrs. Sybil Stuting, Fort Worth.

Mrs. Howell, Rites Monday

Graveside rites for Mrs. Maxine Howell, 80, will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Big Spring State Hospital Cemetery with Chaplain Les Butler officiating. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Howell died at 9:30 p.m. Friday at the state hospital. She is survived by one niece, Mrs. A. H. Torran, Dallas.

W. E. Bates, Rites Tuesday

Services will be at 10 a.m. Rosewood Chapel for Willie Eddie Bates, 79, Colorado City, who died at 1:15 p.m. Saturday in the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Bates was born Dec. 6,

1892, in Conway County, Ark. He married Audrey Hannaford in Abilene Sept. 24, 1927, and moved to Big Spring the day after his marriage.

He worked as a cable tool-driller, and moved to Colorado City in 1956. Mr. Bates retired in 1959. He was a member of the Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A., Inc., Barracks No. 1582.

Survivors include his wife, of the home; one daughter, Mrs. A. C. Reinhardt, Houston; a sister, Mrs. F. F. Stafford, Somerton, Ariz.; one brother, C. E. Bates, Salinas, Calif.; and one granddaughter.

Long Council Meeting Due

The record for lengthy city commission meetings could well be broken Tuesday night, as city fathers sit down at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday to an agenda with 30 items for discussion and action.

And most of the items are routine, with the exception of several.

First reading of an amendment to the city's mobile home ordinance will be conducted in the meeting. The amendment calls for inspection fees to be assessed all mobile home owners in the city.

Also recommendations from the planning and zoning board of the city will be reviewed by city commissioners. One recommendation concerns a public hearing on a request for rezoning of land to establish a new facility for River-Welch Funeral Home.

City dads will have the third and final readings on the Medical Center Memorial and Malone and Hogan requests for zone changes on property to allow expansion of the two structures.

Also city fathers will discuss the cancellation of a lease with the Salvation Army.

Hearing Test Booth Added At College

BROWNWOOD — Howard Payne College's speech and hearing center has added equipment enabling industries in Brownwood and surrounding areas to comply with safety legislation regarding the hearing of their employees.

According to Frank Brister, head of the center, special industrial equipment for testing hearing of workers is being installed in the clinic, located in Coggin Memorial Theater on a campus of Howard Payne.

The equipment consists of an automatic industrial audiometer, the same as is used by Selective Service testing centers, and an industrial acoustic hearing test booth. The booth should be installed by March 15.

"Some industries in Brownwood are measuring the noise levels in their plants already," said Brister. "They are lowering the noise levels where possible and providing personal ear protection for their employees if they must remain in areas of excessive noise levels for long periods."

"For those industries which do not have the equipment to institute a hearing conservation program and desire to do so, our new equipment has the capacity to measure noise levels, test the hearing of their employees and then provide samples of personal ear protection."

Brister pointed out the new equipment also enables the center to determine whether workers who have suffered hearing loss can have their injuries corrected or whether they are permanent.

Realtor Lectures Start April 9

Men and women pursuing real estate careers in Abilene, Big Spring, Lubbock, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa and Wichita Falls are eligible to participate in the Texas Realtors Institute, Course 1, lectures in Abilene April 9-15, said Wallace A. Coincidentally the two 17-year-olds say they like being twins, although their identities are often mistaken at the restaurant.

DeMolay Week Begins Across Nation Today

Today begins DeMolay Week, honoring members of more than 2,500 chapters across the United States. DeMolay membership is comprised of young men between the ages of 14 and 21, and the order is sponsored by the Masons.

Order of DeMolay is named for Jacques DeMolay, the last Grand Master of the Medieval Knights Templar, who was burned at the stake March 18, 1314, for failure to surrender ideals of loyalty and tradition. King Phillip of France ordered the execution.

On the 600th anniversary of the martyrdom of Jacques DeMolay, Frank S. Land, organized in 1919, in Kansas City, Mo., nine boys into a civic group which was to base its standards and high ideas on those for which DeMolay died. Although the now national order is under the sponsorship of the Masons, young men wishing to join need not be related to a Mason. The International Supreme Council comprised of 200 outstanding Masons governs DeMolay. Each jurisdiction which is usually based on state boundaries, is governed by an adult volunteer known as the executive director. Individual chapters are supervised by an adult advisory council, and all adult leaders are volunteers except members of the order's professional staff.

at its headquarters at Kansas City, Mo. Officers and advisors of the Big Spring Chapter of DeMolay are Matthew T. Mooney, 1600 Lark, chapter dad; David Yater, 1516 Vine, chairman of the advisory board; Floyd Moss, 1207 Ridgeroad, district governor; and Mrs. O. C. Shapland, 2701 Cactus Club president mother.

Youthful leaders of the local chapter are Maxey Brashears, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brashears, master counselor; Ken Morphis, son of Frank Morphis, senior counselor; and Bob Shapland, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Shapland, junior counselor.

BLIND, CRIPPLED, BEDFAST

No Longer Lonely Thanks To Special Radio Network

MINERAL WELLS, Tex. (AP) — The sun is shining brighter for Olin Chancellors of Mineral Wells. This is because he is a member of a special radio net for the handicapped. No longer is he lonely and cut off from contacts.

Chancellor has seen many dark days in the past six years but now he is well up on world affairs and has many special friends—few of which he has seen.

SEVERE STROKE Chancellor suffered a severe stroke six years ago which left him speechless and which paralyzed his right side.

After a stay in a veterans' hospital, he was brought home to what would appear a life of loneliness. But a few people thought differently.

Although Chancellor could not speak, nothing was wrong with his hearing. So the group interested him in an amateur radio arrangement by which they could talk to him.

After many months of effort, states staff writer Carol Canterbury in a recent edition of the Mineral Wells Index, Chancellor began to talk slowly into a microphone. The patience shown by his friends encouraged him to keep trying. He even became a member and officer of a local club.

Then followed much study and hard work and Chancellor passed his ham radio license test.

OUTSIDE WORLD — Thus he now is a member of the unusual association—the Handicapped Information Net of more than 80 members.

The net was organized and is directed by a group of handicapped amateurs. One of its aims is to help handicapped persons to obtain a license which will connect them with the outside world. The net, however, contains some amateurs who are not handicapped. These are vital to the operation, since they maintain the equipment, install antennas and provide instruction.

The net includes some members who are blind, others crippled, and some bedfast. Simple conversation with people they can never hope to meet is what gives the members the desire to keep going and gives the lonely ones the lift they need to want to live and be a part of something, the Index reporter relates.

If a member misses two days of roll call, the group sends one of the non-handicapped to find out what is wrong. Or one of the members will telephone long distance to make sure the member is all right.

The net offers the handicapped physical as well as spiritual help, for someone is listening on the net at all times and is ready to seek help in case of trouble. The net got its beginning Feb. 12, 1969, with the first roll call receiving five replies. Today there are 80 to 85 replies at the three roll calls each week-day.

Managing, and one of the first members, is Ralph "Buddy" Boyd of Conroe. He operates his radio with a self-tuning rod between his teeth. He had a swimming accident at the age of 15 and is bedfast.

Otto Huggins of Whittett is assistant manager and the man who calls the roll. Velma Lee Rudel serves as secretary. She has assisted in the care of Boyd for 19 years.

Trouble shooter is Bob Johnson of Houston. He has a respiratory problem and is confined to his home. His duties are to listen for anyone with radio trouble and to get help to them.

There are many members who are not handicapped and these are the ones Johnson calls on to assist with repairs.

One of the most active members is Philip Rosestein of Corpus Christi. He travels hundreds of miles each year to set up radios, antennas and to teach beginners, John Beach and John Kendrick are among those who set up Chancellor's radio.

FIRST NAMES Members from Fort Worth who came to Mineral Wells and installed Chancellor's Antenna were Nat Davis, Noah Pritchett and Paul Spock.

Paul R. Hopkins of Mineral Wells also aided in arranging Chancellor's installation. Some of the members are known on the net largely by first names.

One is Dianne, a 14-year-old sightless girl who obtained her license in the past year.

Tax Consultants Come Up With Different Results

By TOM WELLS
Associated Press Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Six tax consultants here came up with six different results when asked for help in filling out a federal income tax return.

The maximum difference was $454. One consultant said the taxpayer owed $77. Another said a refund of $377 was due.

An Associated Press writer and his wife went to the consultants for advice on filling out their joint return with itemized deductions. The couple pretended to know little about possible deductions but gave the same information to each consultant when asked for it.

ALIMONY PAYMENTS Some of the consultants found legitimate deductions, such as damage to the family car that was not covered by collision insurance.

Others listed deductions such as ordinary sunglasses, which the Internal Revenue Service says are only deductible if worn on jobs where they are an absolute necessity.

Some of the consultants say in their advertising that they will appear with the taxpayer if he has to go to court over his return.

David Kestler, chief tax auditor for the IRS office here, noted in an interview that "the person who signs the return is responsible for everything that's in it."

One consultant failed to suggest many legitimate deductions that the couple was entitled to.

BROKEN LEG Only one of the consultants went beyond the usual question about doctor bills and medicine costs to discover that the taxpayer was entitled to a deduction for the cost of crutches and special shoe supports needed because of a broken leg.

The deductions and the final figures weren't the only places where the tax experts differed. The fees ranged from $27 to $50.

One firm of a national chain charged $50, while another office of the same chain a mile away charged $35.

One IRS consultant was stumped by a question of whether the newsman's education expenses to better qualify him for his job were deductible. "Gee," said the consultant. "That's a tough one. Let me ask someone else."

After 14 minutes of reading the IRS instructions and much debate among three consultants, it was decided that the education expenses might be deductible.

APOLOGIZED The newsman was sent to see the IRS' Kestler, who apologized because he would have to take time to consult with another auditor before giving an answer the next day.

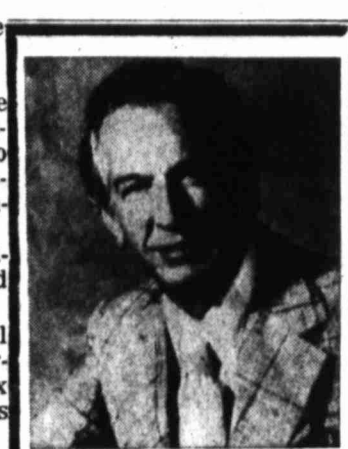

Kestler later said the education expenses probably would be deductible.

He went on to say that illegal deductions weren't the only errors committed by some tax consultants. Sometimes there is just plain poor arithmetic.

None of the six consultants figuring the taxes for the newsman and his wife came up with the same figure on capital gains from stock sales.

And one consultant, instead of subtracting the full 100 per cent of the income from stocks held less than six months, figured only 50 per cent. The 50 per cent figure is legally used only for long-term stocks or those held more than six months.

At last report, the couple who took their returns to the six were still figuring their own taxes and had made it to line 50, which requires use of schedule X, Y or Z, or alternative schedule D, or schedule G or

Cancer-Virus Link Likely

HOUSTON (AP) — A prominent New York cancer researcher says recent experiments with mice have yielded more evidence supporting the long-held theory that viruses cause human cancer.

However, Dr. Sol Spiegelman added that the mouse injection experiments aren't likely to establish conclusive proof linking viruses with the killer disease in humans because of what he termed the "unthinkable" logical next step.

That said Spiegelman, would involve injecting healthy humans with virus particles that possibly cause cancers.

But Spiegelman said it is "worthwhile for all of us to try to find cures for these mouse cancers because they may apply to curing malignancies in man." Spiegelman is director of the Institute of Cancer Research at the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University.

RESEMBLANCE He reported a year ago that he had found evidence that human breast cancer resembled viral cancer found in mice.

On Friday, during the 25th annual Symposium on Fundamental Cancer Research here, he disclosed that a similar relationship has been found to exist between mouse growths stimulated by virus injections and humans affected with Hodgkin's disease, a cancer of the lymph gland.

Speaking at the final session of the symposium, Spiegelman reported on his group's pioneering discoveries that demonstrate similarities of genetic information between cancer-causing mouse viruses and particles found in several kinds of human cancers.

Because researchers cannot perform the "unthinkable" logical next step of injecting healthy humans with virus particles that possibly cause cancers, Dr. Spiegelman said the really conclusive proof about the long-held theory that viruses cause human cancer cannot be firmly established.

In an interview, Spiegelman talked about his first finding that showed conclusive evidence indicating human breast cancer resembled that found in mice.

His research indicated that virus particles from the breast milk of women with extremely high risks for developing breast cancer contained the same unique characteristics of the virus known to cause breast cancer in mice.

So far, none of the human virus particles have been definitely isolated, he said.

Dr. Spiegelman said the viral footprints he has seen in humans with leukemia, sarcomas and lymphomas are similar to each other and absolutely comparable to the properties of the same malignancies in mice.

NEXT STEP "The next steps at the laboratory level are very complex and may take a long time to mean something which can be applied to humans," he said.

Meanwhile, Dr. Spiegelman said he is concerned about any erroneous implications which may have been given to humans as a result of his animal findings.

In some cases, he said, warnings have been issued about women not nursing their babies for fear of passing along breast cancer. He said as yet there is no evidence this would occur, except possibly in women with family histories of the malignancy.

"I probably would advise a close relative or friend with a history of breast cancer in her family not to nurse her children because of the possibility — and that's all it is at this point — that her children could be predisposed to cancer," he said.

Dr. Spiegelman said his group is cooperating in a new Los Angeles area study of the breast milk of 10,000 young married women with the hope of eventually applying the findings to his research.

The basic study will take 10 years. Another 20 years will be needed before offspring of the first group can be surveyed to determine if increased breast cancer may have been related in any way to breast feeding.

"In other words, what I'm saying is that the general public shouldn't be too optimistic that we will find a lot of definitive causes and quick cures in a short period of time."

"Unfortunately," he said, "cancer is not an engineering problem, such as going to the moon was ... and despite all of our knowledge we cannot chart an exact road to take to reach our ultimate goal of curing cancer."

Interviewing Inmates
Ban Faces Court Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post Co. has filed suit challenging a government ban preventing newsmen from interviewing inmates at federal penitentiaries, the newspaper reported Saturday.

The company and Ben Bagdikian, an assistant managing editor, filed the suit in U.S. District Court here Friday, the Post said.

Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and Norman A. Carlson, director of the federal Bureau of Prisons, were named defendants.

The suit asks that newsmen be permitted to conduct unsupervised interviews with prisoners at the Danbury, Conn., and Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiaries.

The Post said the suit stemmed from Bagdikian's efforts to question inmates about reports of peaceful work stoppages at the two institutions.

Carlson on March 2 denied the newsmen's request for permission to conduct such interviews, the newspaper said.

Polish Police Face Same
Problems As U. S. Cops

By NICK LILLITOS
WARSAW (AP) — The lumbering Police Warszawa patrol car had just turned into Ulica Chmielna, a dimly-lit street in downtown Warsaw, when a blast of Western jazz music filled the car.

Seconds later, an irritated voice crackled over the Warszawa's monitoring system: "Whoever it is, turn that damn radio off."

Driver Sgt. Ryszard Zurawski and his partner, Witold Jarosz, threw their heads back in a gust of laughter.

"Some idiot must have a music program going on his transistor," said Witold.

With the permission of the Communist authorities, this correspondent was in a Polish police car doing a late night patrol of the capital.

QUIET NIGHT

It turned out to be a quiet night. A five-hour cruise produced four youths heatedly arguing with a taxi driver, a girl who claimed she was abducted from another city, and a drunken foreigner.

Such an uneventful ride is probably representative of Warsaw on most nights of the week. The main streets in this city of 1,274,000 are practically empty by 10 o'clock.

My police companions are family men, friendly and talkative. They've both been in the force 11 years and earn $160 a month, high when compared with the average national monthly wage of $109.

It's 11 o'clock and after three hours still quiet. We drive through Miodowa Street, past the palace residence of Polish Prime Minister Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński.

Sgt. Zurawski offers round a pack of cigarettes. He's 41 and a father of two children. His wife does not work.

"The most common incidents we come across are home brawling and drunken street disorders," he says. "Hooliganism is a major problem here. It really is bad."

It's 11:30 p.m. A call from militia headquarters tells us to head for a hotel in the center of town to assist the manager with a "problem."

Inside the manager's office sits a fat Iraqi, drunk, his eyes streaming with tears. A bow tie hangs loosely from one end of his collar.

He sobbingly complains in broken English: "How they do this to me? Me tourist. In Berlin I own sex bar, have any girl I want."

It seemed the $2 he had offered a prostitute — the going rate is $20 a night — did not impress her very much. When he tried to push his advances, he got a shot of pepper in the eyes.

$14 A MONTH
Statements taken, and back on the road again. The subject moves to police living conditions in Poland. A man with 30 years' service behind him can retire on full salary and there is also a loan available for laying a deposit on a flat.

Jaros has a small two-room apartment and Zurawski a three-room affair, in addition to bathroom and kitchen. It's centrally heated and his rent works out at $14 a month.

Shortly before 1 a.m., we get a call to go to Centralna railway station. Waiting there is a young girl who claims she was kidnapped earlier in the day from the ancient royal city of Krakow, 190 miles away. Her details are vague and after making a statement she is taken to the hospital for examination.

How do the wives of Jarosz and Zurawski feel about their work? Said Zurawski: "I always calm her by saying when something bad happens to me, they'll let her know."

Said Jarosz, 34, and a father of two: "My wife is like his. But really it's so rare that a policeman dies on duty."

According to official figures, only one policeman has died in Warsaw over the past 10 years. The capital's murder rate, including manslaughter cases, for 1970, amounted to 26 deaths.

In U.S. cities of comparable or smaller population, figures for 1969 show there were 549 murders in Detroit, 325 in Houston and 349 in Washington.

Arrest Doctor
Kills Student

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A Fort Worth physician, Dr. W. E. Raburn, has been arrested on a murder indictment in connection with the death of an 18-year-old University of Texas student believed to have been killed by an overdose of methadone.

Dr. Raburn was arrested late Friday night by Tarrant County sheriff's deputies. He was released after posting $2,500 bond.

Officers said that the dead youth, James Andrew Knox, reportedly obtained prescriptions for methadone — a drug used to treat heroin addicts. It has been called a "heroin substitute."

The clinic was known until 1971 as a place where drug addicts could receive methadone. New state regulations concerning methadone forced the clinic to stop its methadone distribution last December.

An Austin municipal judge rendered a coroner's verdict of homicide in Knox's death. The coroner's report said an investigation showed that the youth was not a heroin addict.

Nixon's Economic Policies Blasted

HOUSTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., says the country needs a new economic direction.

Albert criticized President Nixon's economic policies Friday night while praising Rep. Bob Casey, Houston Democrat.

Albert spoke at a fund raising dinner for Casey. Albert headed a delegation of eight U.S. representatives attending the $100-a-plate affair. About 800 Casey supporters were on hand.

Albert said Casey is "a congressman who believes in the principles of America, is strong enough to support them and is progressive enough to recognize the changing winds of our times."

He said Congress has been trying to give new impetus to solving the economic difficulties that have plagued the nation for the past three years.

"We have industry running at only 75 per cent capacity and six per cent unemployment," he said.

Congress, he said, has passed unemployment bills and job training legislation and has given President Nixon authority to control wages and prices.

Casey, seeking his eighth term in the House, received the heartiest applause when he criticized draft dodgers and deserters.

"I am not about to see those who sat it out in Sweden and Canada be free to come home after someone else has done the work for them," he said.

Other congressmen attending the dinner were Olin Teague, Omar Burleson, Jack Brooks, John Young and Jake Pickle of Texas; Daniel J. Flood of Pennsylvania, and John Murphy of New York.

Metric System
Cost Estimated

CHICAGO (AP) — The cost for national conversion to the metric system of measurement would probably be between $6.2 billion and $14.3 billion, the director of the National Bureau of Standards says.

Dr. Lewis Branscomb told businessmen the change is inevitable—the only question is when and how.

Branscomb said 90 per cent of the world uses the metric system, and its use in this country is rising steadily.

Fat People Kick
Smoking Habit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The fatter people are, the less they smoke, says a weight specialist at the University of California, who studied smoking habits of more than 1,000 fat people.

"The study indicates that apparently the more people eat the less they are inclined to smoke," says Dr. Rudolph Noble, a director of the obesity clinic at the medical center.

Of 1,026 overweight persons interviewed, Noble said, those in the slightly obese group smoked an average eight cigarettes a day, the moderately obese averaged 6.9 cigarettes, and the extremely obese averaged 4.3 cigarettes.

Marquette Is Winner, 73-49

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Seventh-ranked Marquette out-classed Ohio University 73-49 and Florida State nipped Eastern Kentucky 83-81 Saturday to advance to the semifinals of the NCAA Mid-East basketball playoffs.

Marquette, now 25-2, advanced to the NCAA Mid-East semifinals at Dayton, Ohio, where the Warriors will meet Kentucky, co-champion of the Southeastern Conference, March 16.

Florida State, now 24-5, will play Big Ten titlist Minnesota.

Scoring a sizzling 68 per cent of its first half floor shots, Marquette settled the issue in the opening 10 minutes of the game when the Warriors jumped to a 21-10 lead.

The hapless Ohio Bobcats, Mid-American Conference champions, went five and a-half minutes at one stretch of the first half without scoring. During this period, Marquette stretched its lead from 15-10 to 23-10 and for all practical purposes settled the issue.

Larry McNeill led Marquette with 22 points, followed by Bob Lackey with 20. George Frazier got 15 for the Warriors.

A three-point play by Ronnie King with the score tied 79-77 and 1:37 left gave Florida State, ranked No. 14, its triumph over Eastern Kentucky, the Ohio Valley Conference champion.

Dan Argabright scored on a layup to close the margin to 82-81 with 1:25 left. Then Eastern Kentucky's Daryl Dunagan, with 20 seconds left, missed a pair of foul shots that could have put his team ahead.

King, fouled by Argabright, made good the figures, with Otto Petty leading the pack with charity toss with six seconds remaining for his team's two-point victory margin.

Four Florida State players shot in double figures with Otto Petty leading the pack with 15 points.

Montreal Triumphs Over Rangers, 5-3

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ted Williams' Ranger pitching gave up only four hits but allowed 11 walks here Saturday as the Montreal Expos snapped a two-game victory streak 5-3.

After spotting the Rangers a 3-0 first-inning lead, the Expos coupled four walks with doubles by John Boccacella and Jim Cox for four runs in the third inning.

The Expos scored again in the seventh on two walks and a ground out.

Roy Foster hit a home run with two men on base to account for the Rangers' early lead.

Houston Outlasts Minnesota, 1-0

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy Stewart slammed a home run in the bottom of the 12th inning Saturday to give the Houston Astros a 1-0 exhibition baseball victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Stewart's one-out homer, which came off Bill Campbell, tagged the Twins with their second consecutive 1-0 defeat.

Rookie Ed Mims, who worked the last two innings, was the winning pitcher. Houston starter Don Wilson permitted just one hit in three innings. Jim Ray and Skip Guinn pitched two runless innings each.

Minnesota out-hit Houston nine to eight and Stewart's homer was the only extra base hit.

Dick Woodson, Jim Hughes and Billy McCool also saw mound action for Minnesota.

Allison Seeks Carolina Win

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Bobby Allison, hoping to give Chevrolet its first 500-mile victory since 1962, is the overwhelming favorite in Sunday's $103,000 Carolina 500 Grand National stock car race.

Allison, who won 11 races last year including eight major ones, switched to Junior Johnson's Chevy when his 1971 Mercury owned by Ralph Moody was dropped from competition. He has been a strong contender since the season opener Jan. 23.

The oldest of two driving brothers from Hueytown, Ala., qualified the Coca Cola Chevrolet at 137,590 miles per hour. It was more than three miles faster than his front row mate Richard Petty—and he appeared to have solved the deeply banked turns of the North Carolina Motor Speedway. The oval measures 1.017 miles around.

Petty appeared to be pole-sitter Allison's strongest challenger. Petty, stock car racing's first $1 million career winner, looking for his 143rd triumph in the elite division of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) qualified his STP Plymouth at 134,452 mph.

Dodge drivers Bobby Isaac, who posted 134,176, and Buddy Baker, at 133,921 mph, earned the second row spots. Lining up behind these two will be Benny Parsons, who owns the only strong Mercury in the field and old pro Buck Baker in a Chevrolet.

Under NASCAR's two abreast system this allows the 53-year-old Buck Baker the spot immediately to the rear of his son, Buddy, 31.

The lineup for the noon start comprises the 40 fastest cars picked during three days of time trial.

Also in the field are Lee Roy Yarborough, a $200,000 winner in 1960 but inactive much of last year, and Britisher Jackie Oliver, the international Grand Prix star who will race a stock car for only the third time. The two will be in Fords.

Monterey Tips Steers Twice, 2-1 And 8-6

Lubbock Monterey used fine pitching by Donnie Moore and a strong comeback effort to defeat Big Spring in both ends of a baseball doubleheader here Saturday, 21 and 8-6.

In the afterpiece, the Steers jumped out to a 6-0 advantage but errors betrayed from late in the contest.

Moore won his fourth straight mound decision, beating David Carter in a fine mound duel. Each pitcher allowed five hits. A run in the final inning gave the win to the Plainsmen.

Larry Horn, Steve Hart and Moore teamed up to pitch for Monterey in the second go. Glenn Yarborough clubbed a home run for the visitors.

Both teams boast 6-2 records. The Steers were unbeaten going into the first contest.

Each team collected 10 safeties in the second contest.

Earl Reynolds started the second contest for Big Spring and deserved a better fate. He was relieved by David Newman in the seventh inning.

Newman will probably charge the hill again Tuesday, when the Steers play a return contest with Brownfield.

BREAKS COURSE RECORD — David Graham, from Sidney, Australia, concentrates as his ball lifts from a bunker on the fifth hole. Graham scrambled for his par on this hole Friday and finished with a course record breaker of 63, nine-under-par, during this second round of the Florida Citrus Invitational golf tournament. The 63 gave Graham a six-under-par total of 138 for the two rounds.

Jerry Heard Registers 70 To Tie For First Place

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Jerry Heard came from four strokes off the pace Saturday with a scrambling 70 and tied faltering Chris Blocker for the third-round lead in the $150,000 Florida Citrus Open Golf Tournament.

The husky, hard-hitting Blocker, who held a four-stroke lead starting play on the cool and cloudy day, could manage only a 74 and was tied with Heard with a three-round total of 207.

Lee Trevino bolted into contention with a 69—three under par on the 6,877-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course—and was just one stroke away at 208. Jimmy Jamieson, one of the first to get away, used a brand new putter to bolt out of the pack with a stunning 63, nine under par and matching the course record set just the day before.

He was alone at 209. Sam Adams, a rookie left-hander, and Leonard Thompson, each with a 67, were at 210, leaving six players within three strokes of each other going in the final 18 holes.

Sam Snead, the 50-year-old marvel of another golfing age, had a shot at the whole thing until he finished bogey-bogey for a 73 and 212.

Australian rookie David Graham, the man who set the course standard with his 63 in Friday's second round, knocked himself out of it with a fat 41 on the front side. He finished with a 75-213.

Jack Nicklaus had a 70 for 212, four strokes off the pace. Gary Player of South Africa took a 71-215. Arnold Palmer missed the cut for the final two rounds when he had a 75 in Friday's play.

"It was an up and down round," said the 24-year-old

Heard, one of the young lions moving into a dominant position on the tour.

"I hate to say it, but I was hitting the ball from Tee to green just awful. But I let a tournament get away from me a few weeks ago when I was hitting it as good as I can and wasn't scoring."

He had a couple of three-putts, hit a root one time, made birds from a bunker and generally scrambled through the 14 holes and was level with par with three birds and as many bogeys.

King Takes Directorship After 10 Years As Mentor

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Bob King, head basketball coach at the University of New Mexico for the past 10 years, was named UNM assistant athletic director Thursday night. King's assistant, Norm Ellinger, was chosen as head basketball coach. King will work with assistant athletic director John Dolzelli, who will retire July 1, 1968.

King arrived in New Mexico in 1962 and took over a basketball program that had dragged through eight straight losing seasons. In his 10 years at UNM, King compiled a 172-89 record. New Mexico has won the NIT title three times, and appeared in the NCAA Western regionals in 1968.

Hindsight

By JOE HINDS

Baseball is the big spring sport in Big Spring. At least that's what the latest Hindsight sports poll indicated. Over 51 per cent of 200 people picked baseball as Big Spring's number one spring sport.

This week the poll takers canvassed votes by asking questions in shopping centers and over telephones.

Thank you all for your cooperation. I now have some idea as to which spring sports are more popular in Big Spring.

The questions and answers were:

(1) What do you think is Big Spring's number one spring sport?

Baseball was the most popular spring sport named by the 200 people who were asked the question. Baseball gathered 103 votes; golf had 31 votes; rodeos placed third with 19 votes; tennis ranked fourth with 12 votes; motorcycle races came in fifth with nine votes; track collected seven votes; swimming had four votes; four people said that they hadn't been here long enough to vote; softball, car races, fishing, and hunting all got two votes apiece; flying got one vote; dog shows got one vote; and boxing got one vote.

(2) What do you think is America's number one spring sport?

Baseball was the unanimous choice as over 75 per cent of the people polled voted for it. Baseball pulled in 151 votes; golf was second with 25; track and car racing tied for third, both with six votes; fishing gathered three votes; tennis also had three votes; rodeos garnered two votes; and swimming, softball, motorcycle races, and hunting all got one vote.

(3) Which spring sport do you participate in the most?

Surprisingly, only 10 citizens said that they didn't participate in any sport. But it wasn't a surprise when baseball again gathered the most votes. Baseball captured only about 25 per cent of the votes on this question. The spring sport's king gathered 51 votes; golf wasn't far behind with 36 votes; tennis placed a strong third with 25 votes; swimming was popular with 19 votes; softball garnered 17 votes; track finished with 11 votes; 10 citizens weren't active in spring sports; fishing got six votes; motorcycle races, croquet, and hunting finished with five votes apiece; badminton got four votes; rodeos captured three votes; and car races, archery, and gymnastics all got one vote.

(4) Which spring sport do you like to read about in the newspaper?

Baseball again was the most popular spring sport, this time gathering 53 per cent of the votes cast with 106 votes. Other spring sports which interested readers were: golf with 37 votes; tennis with 15 votes; rodeos with 10 votes; fishing with seven votes; motorcycle races with six votes; softball with five votes; car races and hunting with four votes each; track with three votes; swimming with two votes; and horse racing with one vote.

Big Spring citizens were very interested in spring sports, and many were strongly in favor of one sport over the others.

Julian (J. T.) Baird said, "Baseball is my favorite spring sport. I grew up during a time when baseball was the national sport and even though football is replacing it in that category, baseball is still the king of spring sports. I follow the standings of all the professional teams in the paper. I would like to see more news printed about both the Houston Astros and the Texas Rangers."

Danny Lee Ballard also voted for baseball. He said, "There's not much written about baseball. The Herald should have a larger sports section and devote more space to baseball. I played baseball in the pee-wee league, and I've been following the sport ever since."

Lyle Bird said, "Baseball is the number one spring sport, but it's a boring game for me to watch. Softball is a faster game. Everything happens faster with shorter base paths. A softball game rarely lasts over an hour-and-a-half, but baseball games usually last over two hours."

MORE WEBB

Cal Lowery thought that more articles about Webb's sport activities would be interesting. He said, "If The Herald printed more articles about the base personnel, it would attract more readers. There are a lot of active sports enthusiasts out at the base. I think feature stories about base personnel would attract readers, and people in the community would also be interested. I'd also like to see more coverage of girls' sports."

Ricky Ballard, a sophomore at Big Spring High School, said, "I would like to see more coverage of the Steer baseball team with action pictures of team members in your paper."

Mrs. Ronald Stevens said, "I love to play tennis and would enjoy reading more about national and area tennis. It's a difficult game. I'm following the Dallas women's tennis tournament now and enjoy reading those articles."

Mrs. E. J. Holt said, "I like baseball. I'm interested in the Big Spring Steer baseball games and like to read about them on the sports page."

Valerie Bowen likes swimming. She said, "Baseball is too slow and isn't interesting. I like to swim during the spring."

Donald Bailey said, "I'd like to see more coverage on dog shows. The public is not aware of the number of champion dogs in town. I suppose the best place for the shows would be on the sports page. I think you'd be surprised at the number of people interested in dog shows."

Mrs. Frankie Evans said, "I enjoy reading track articles. I would read your track articles even if my sons didn't participate."

Cal Lowery Jr. said, "I enjoy the hitting in the game of baseball. The game is slow when compared with football, but I think it's exciting. Several of my friends play on the Steer team, and I enjoy reading about them."

UNDERSTANDS BASEBALL

Mrs. E. F. Baldock answered, "I like baseball because I understand it better. I enjoy the pitching more than the hitting because I had two sons who were pitchers."

Joe Hinojos enjoys boxing. He said, "I took up boxing when I was in the Army. It is a clean way to defend yourself. That's why I'd like to see more about it in the sports page."

Vera Baha'i said, "I think baseball is an exciting game. It's not too slow. I don't mind if it's a no-hitter, then I enjoy the pitching. And if it's a high-scoring game, then I enjoy the hitting."

Susan Polk picked the rodeo. She said, "My husband (Rusty) is planning to enter the calf roping event in the Big Spring rodeo. I like bull riding. It is the most exciting event. I think your paper should have more articles about rodeos in general and should keep up with current local rodeo happenings."

Gene Zsigray said, "Hunting is the most relaxing spring sport. It's good to get outdoors and get some fresh air. It's the best way to get away from it all. Hunting isn't publicized much around here. There are plenty of animals to hunt: quail, duck, javalina pig, cotton tail rabbit, and white tail and mule deer." He thought a second and then concluded, "And, of course, rattlesnakes."

when Shaffer unloaded, benefited from the Steers' eight-hit assault. Rick went all the way on the mound to achieve his second win of the season, compared to no losses. Steen also had a big hand in the offensive fireworks. He drove out four hits in as many tries and powered home three runs. Earl Reynolds drove in three team mates. His only hit of the day was a resounding triple. The Steers took the lead to stay in the second round, when they counted three runs. They scored in every inning but the sixth and had plenty of chances then. Coronado also had eight hits but couldn't bunch them as effectively as did Big Spring.

ONE MORE TIME — Workmen climb the steel screen behind home plate at Municipal Stadium to prepare for the home opening baseball game of the Kansas City Royals against California April 11. Mileti Is Trying To Buy Cleveland Indians Team

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Sports promoter Nick Mileti reportedly will have to raise his group's immediate cash equity from $1.4 to $4 million and eliminate his planned 1973 public stock sale to be awarded the Cleveland Indians' baseball franchise.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said it learned that American League President Joe Cronin will outline the two conditions to Mileti today. He is to comply by March 22.

Mileti planned a public stock sale of $5 million in 1973 from the total purchase proposal of nearly $10 million.

Mileti made his original presentation to league owners Wednesday at Sarasota, Fla. It was turned down, but the March 22 date was set for him to make a new proposal.

"There is no doubt in my mind that Mileti will be enthusiastically accepted by everyone in the league if he can come up with more money and will do so without going public in the sale of stock," the newspaper today quoted a source from the owners' group as saying.

White Sox Have Desire To Move

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox went from dead last to third place in their first season under Manager Chuck Tanner.

They sliced 23 games from their losing total of 106 games in 1970 and added it to their winning total of 79 games last season.

"If we could make that much more improvement this year, where would it put us?" asks Tanner.

It would give the Sox a 102-60 record and probably land them in first place in the American League West for the 1972 season. But improving another 23 games will not be that easy.

Under Tanner, the Sox have the desire. They also have the power with acquisition of Dick Allen to go along with Bill Melton, who led the American League with 33 home runs, and Carlos May, the league's No. 7 hitter with a .294 average.

And they'll not be lacking on the mound with a staff which includes 22-game winning Wilbur Wood and Tom Bradley, a 15-game winner in his first season with Chicago.

In addition, they added Stan Bahnsen, a solid performer acquired from the New York Yankees, and for the fourth man there's Bart Johnson who made his mark last season by coming out of the bullpen throwing smoke.

But, alas, the Sox for a change could be in trouble defensively.

Their big problems down to the end of the 1971 season were up the middle defensively. They started out with Mike Andrews at second and rookie Bee Bee Richard at shortstop. Neither was at either position when the season ended.

In centerfield, everyone got a shot at the job. At one time or another Rich Reichardt, Ed Stroud, Lee Maye, Pat Kelly and Jay Johnstone played the key outfield spot with Johnstone finishing the season there.

The Sox went into the winter deals determined to strengthen the middle but their big swap came in the acquisition of Allen, who prefers to be called Dick instead of Richie.

Although Allen agreed to a contract of $125,000, making him the highest paid player in Chicago history, he still hasn't been heard from at camp. "I'm not worried, he'll show up," vowed Tanner. "And I know when he gets here he'll be in shape."

When Allen shows up he'll be stationed at first base with Melton at third. Once again, the Sox will have to go with the second-base combination of Richard and Andrews. Their hopes are that Andrews has overcome a sore arm which prevented him from completing double plays and that Richard can do the job with a year of experience under him.

Berry Named HSU Mentor

ABILENE — Russell Berry, 31, has been named head basketball coach and athletic director at Hardin-Simmons University.

He succeeds the late Glen Whittis, who was killed in a traffic accident Feb. 24. Berry had been assistant coach and assistant athletic director since he and Whittis came to HSU from Howard Payne College at Brownwood in the summer of 1970.

Berry announced that Preston Vice would be promoted from second assistant to first assistant coach.

Berry is a native of Seagraves, Tex., and is a 1958 graduate of Abbott (Texas) High School, where he lettered four years in basketball and three years each in football, track and baseball. He played basketball for four years under Whittis at Howard Payne, then coached in high schools at Comanche, Floydada and Lubbock before returning to Howard Payne as a physical education professor and assistant coach in 1968.

He was chairman of the Howard Payne Physical Education Department when he moved to HSU.

Berry served as head coach through two games after Whittis was killed, losing to Centenary in overtime and beating Pan American by one point. HSU's record this season was 14-12.

HSU will continue to play an NCAA University Division schedule. The opening game next season is with the University of Southern California.

Bratkowski Is Bear Assistant

CHICAGO (AP) — Zeke Bratkowski, who made a career of being Bart Starr's backup quarterback at Green Bay, has joined the Chicago Bears' coaching staff.

Head Coach Abe Giron announced Wednesday the signing of Bratkowski, who will "handle the passing game" and will be in charge of quarterbacks and receivers.

Bratkowski, 40, is a native of Danville, Ill., and former Georgia star. He was the Bears' No. 2 draft choice in 1953 and played five seasons with Chicago. Since 1963 he has been with Green Bay.

Captains Picked For Oklahomans

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Co-captains for the 1972 Oklahoma State baseball team were announced Wednesday by Coach Chet Bryant.

They're junior catcher Frank Thompson of Norman, Okla., who led the Cowboys with a .352 batting average last season, and junior shortstop Mike Cross of Midland, Tex. Both are two year starters.

Ed Foote Hurls Perfect Game

ODESSA — Ed Foote, senior right-hander, pitched a perfect game for Odessa Permian as the Panthers mauled El Paso Bowie, 13-0, here Friday.

Foote ordinarily plays third base for the Panthers. The win was the fifth in six starts for Permian.

Only two balls were hit out of the infield by Bowie batters. He threw only 58 pitches.

GOOLAGONG IN GOOD FORM — Evonne Goolagong of Australia shows how she defeated Wendy Overton, Chevy Chase, Maryland, in the third round of the Maureen Connolly Brinker International Ladies Tennis Tournament in Dallas, Tex., Friday. Evonne made several good net smashes as she defeated her opponent in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1.

Buckeyes Turn Down NIT Bid After Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Indiana, Missouri and Lafayette said yes, but Ohio State said no.

The Buckeyes turned down an invitation to the National Invitation Basketball Tournament Wednesday after the other three teams had accepted.

Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor said only that he had taken a vote of his players, and that it was negative. "The Buckeyes currently are second in the Big Ten race while Indiana is fourth."

The addition of the three teams Wednesday brought the field to 11 and left five open berths in the 3-year-old postseason tournament, which starts March 17 at Madison Square Garden.

A few of the spots no doubt will be saved for teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference, which now is holding a playoff, and for the winner of the Missouri Valley Conference playoff game between Louisville and Memphis State Saturday.

Indiana and Missouri will be making their first appearances in the nation's oldest post-season tournament. Lafayette will be in for the third time.

Indiana has a 16-7 record and winds up the regular season Saturday against Purdue.

Missouri, the Big Eight runner-up, has a 20-5 record with a game remaining against Oklahoma Saturday night. Coach Norm Stewart's club is led by 6-7 John Brown.

Lafayette, a member of the Middle Atlantic Conference, last attended the NIT in 1956. In their first year under Coach Tom Davis, the Leopards won 20 of 25 games.

Spencer Haywood Ends Season With Knee Injury

Robinson Gets Player Of Year In All-SWC

DALLAS (AP) — Sensational Texas sophomore Larry Robinson swept Sophomore of the Year and Player of the Year honors in The Associated Press' 1972 All-Southwest Conference balloting by the league's coaches.

Robinson, who averaged 21 points per game, was a unanimous choice to the All-SWC team as was Texas Christian's Simpson DeGrate. Texas Tech's Greg Lowery, who led the conference in scoring with an average of 24.4 points per game, was only one vote shy of being a unanimous selection.

Other members of the first team include Arkansas junior guard Martin Terry and Southern Methodist's inside scoring and rebounding threat Ruben Triplett.

Couach Bob Prewitt, who guided SMU into a co-championship with the University of Texas, was named Coach of the Year by his fellow SWC mentors. Texas Coach Leon Black and Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf also received votes.

Robinson, of Hobbs, N.M., scored 30 points playing with a sprained ankle Tuesday night as Texas defeated SMU 91-89 in overtime to earn the right to advance to the first round of the NCAA playoffs.

Lowery, DeGrate and Terry also received Player of the Year support.

The 6-foot-4 DeGrate of Marlin, Tex., was the only Texan on the first all-black SWC team in the poll's history.

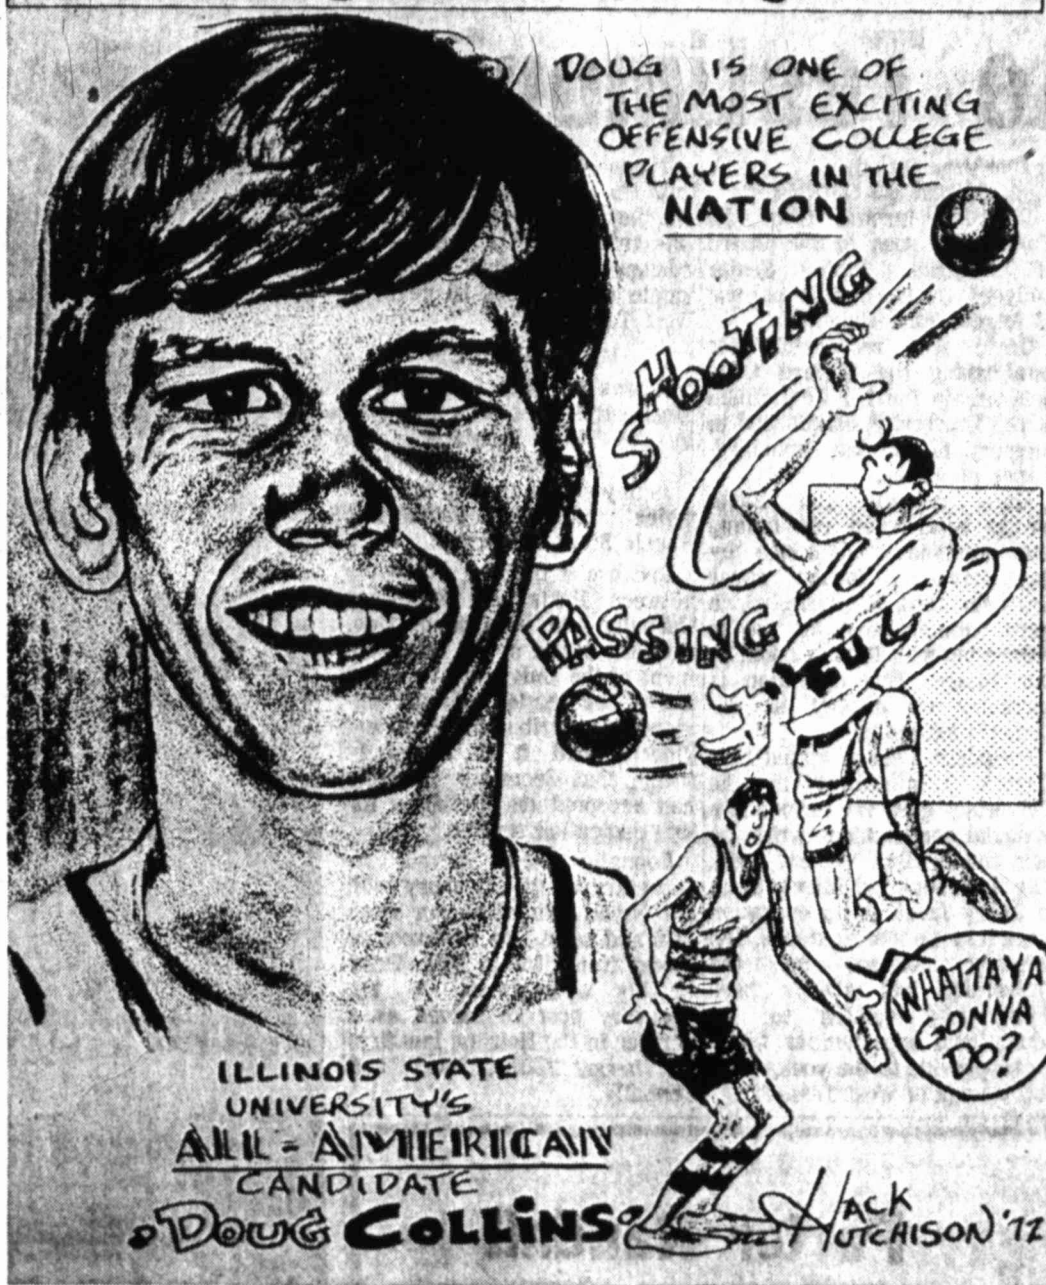

Jim Ferguson of Texas Christian, Roy Thomas of Baylor, Zach Thiel of Southern Methodist, Jeff Overhouse of Texas A&M and Ralph Palomar of Texas Tech were named to the second team.

Older Dodgers Make Solid Bid For Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The kids have matured and the Los Angeles Dodgers should make a solid bid for the National League baseball championship this summer.

They finished just a game behind San Francisco in the torrid Western Division battle a year ago.

This time they have added Frank Robinson for hitting power and Tommy John in the pitching department for perhaps baseball's best left-handed hurling array.

Manager Walt Alston, embarks on his 19th season at the helm of the Dodgers and he points to such maturing players as Bill Buckner, Bill Russell, Bill Grabarkewitz, Bob Valentine, Steve Garvey and Willie Crawford, the latter an outfielder who's been around a long time but came into his own last season.

John joins a left-handed crew of starters including Al Downing and Claude Osteen.

In 1971, Downing posted a 20-9 record and Osteen the past three seasons has been 20-15, 16-14, 14-11. Add a healthy Bill Singer and Don Sutton pitching from the right side and you have a solid group of starters.

For the bullpen, the Dodgers added Pete Richert who renews old acquaintances in Los Angeles, and they'll have that rocking chair escapee Hoyt Wilhelm who aided in the 1971 stretch drive.

Jim Brewer and Pete Mikkelsen also returned to the bullpen and the Dodgers must take a long look at rookie Ted Gilje.

Alston's big problem in the infield is what to do with whom. He has Golden Glove Wes Parker at first base and a battle at second with Grabarkewitz, Russell and Jim LeFebvre. Maury Wills, with a $100,000 contract, owns shortstop except that Russell stands out as the heir apparent.

At third there is the ever-recurrent questionmark. Garvey, Bill Sudakis, Grabarkewitz, and perhaps Russell could handle the job.

Valentine can play second, third or shortstop and could start at any one of the spots.

Duke Sims, who finally found left fielder in a battle with Buckner, Manny Mota and Larry Hise.

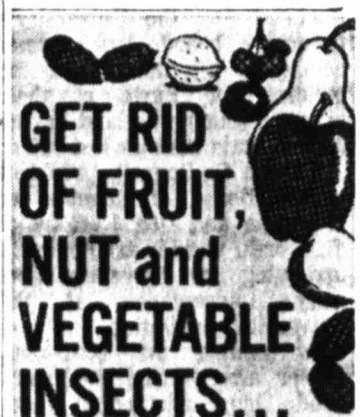

Robinson from the world champion Orioles rates as the power hitter in the outfield although his line drives may be much more instrumental as timely base hits than home runs in spacious Dodger Stadium.

Willie Davis is the centerfielder and hit .309 a year ago. Willie Crawford should be the

World Tournament Set For Women

HOUSTON (AP) — Bud Erickson never was one to criticize hot pants on the Ladies PGA tour and he's actively campaigning for other innovations that will add sparkle to the growing organization.

Here for the $25,000 Lady Eve Open which started a 54-hole run today, the executive director of the LPGA outlined a new format for the $85,000 Sears Women's World Classic March 24-26 at Port St. Lucie, Fla.

The tournament will include the top 64 money winners of 1971 in two days of match play to cut the field to 16. On the final day, the top 16 will compete for a $12,000 first prize in one round of medal play.

"Actually, they'll be playing for over $50,000 in that one day," said Erickson, a former pro football executive who took charge of the women's tour two years ago.

Erickson said the new format had not met with approval by all the touring proies but they're willing to go along with what the sponsor wants.

Marlene Hagge, who won the Burdine's Invitational in January and a favorite in the Lady Eve tournament, isn't too concerned about the innovative format.

"If they're going to play for $85,000, they can do whatever they want to," said Mrs. Hagge, who ranks sixth on the all-time women's money list.

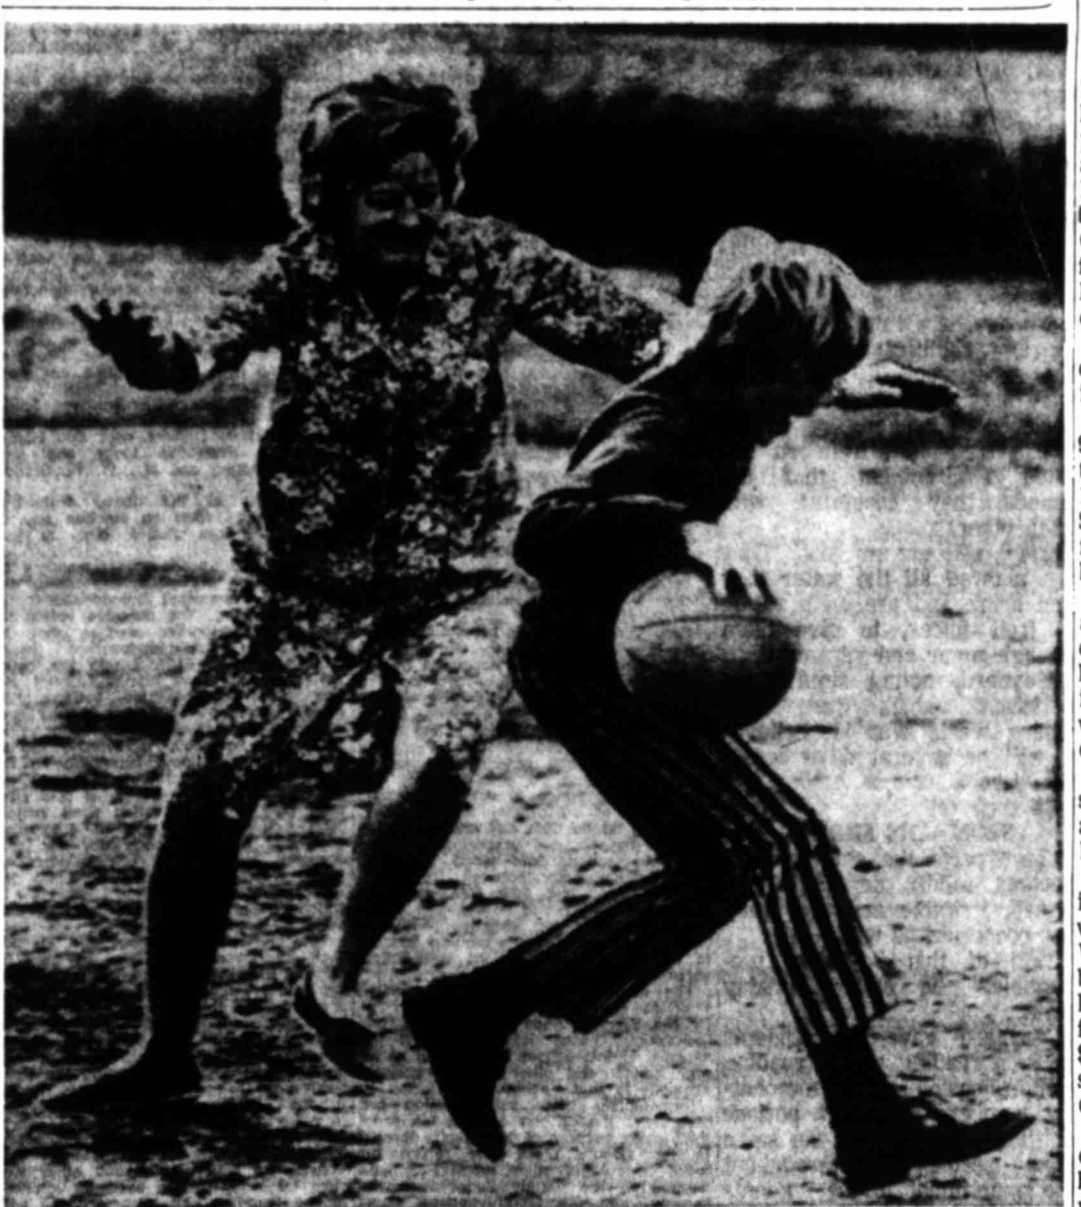

Mrs. Hagge said the weather would play a big part in the outcome of the meet here, being played over the 6,407 yard par 73 Memorial Park course. She said winds would cause trouble because of lack of protection.

A team headed by Debbie Leans Saint running back Hoyte

Austin and including New Or-Granger, won Thursday's $2,000 pro am with a 58 total.

"It combines the best of two worlds," Erickson explained. "A man can come out and watch his favorite sport of golf and combine it with his second favorite sport of girl-watching."

Connally Will Speak At Harte Testimonial

SAN ANGELO — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally has accepted the invitation of Angelo State University to be the principal speaker for the dedication of the Houston Harte University Center April 14.

The dedication ceremonies will be in honor of Houston Harte, prominent West Texas publishing executive for whom the building was named. The Board of Regents, State Senior Colleges, the University's governing board, took formal action on the naming of the building for Harte at their meeting which was held on the Angelo State campus last fall.

William C. Donnell, president of the Board of Regents, of Marathon and Dee J. Kelly of Ft. Worth, were instrumental in arranging for Secretary Connally's acceptance of the University's invitation.

In naming the University Center after Harte, the board cited his outstanding contributions to Angelo State University. In June of 1968, Mr. and Mrs. Harte made a $250,000 gift to create the Angelo State University Foundation, including $100,000 in corporate stocks and $150,000 to be provided to the Foundation over a five year period.

BENEFITS SCHOOL

Dividend income from the Foundation goes to the Board of Regents, State Senior Colleges, for the benefit and use of Angelo State University.

Harte was responsible for establishing the Millard Cope Scholarship Fund in Journalism at the University, established in memory of the late Standard Times publisher.

More recently the Harte family contributed the unique and outstanding paintings by Guy Rowe, a former cover artist for Time Magazine, which were commissioned for use in connection with Harte's book, "Our Image." This collection is currently on display in the Center's art gallery.

President Vincent stated that Harte's commitment to the University goes far beyond the material contributions which he has made. Dr. Vincent said, "He has supported Angelo State in every facet of its operation since it came into existence. His primary concern for the University has always been directly related to the educational opportunities which it can provide to the young men and women of West Texas."

Harte played an important role in the establishment of Angelo State in 1963 which he has referred to on several occasions as the most important single event in his 50 years in West Texas.

BILL APPROVED

It was on May 8, 1963, that Senate Bill No. 2 was approved by the Texas legislature, and on May 17, 1963, Governor John Connally signed the bill into law which officially established Angelo State University.

Because of the long friendship between Harte and Secretary Connally and because of Gov. Connally's role in the establishment of the University to which Harte has made such an outstanding contribution, President Vincent said it is especially fitting that Secretary Connally has accepted the invitation for this dedication service.

Connally has served as Secretary of the Treasury with the Nixon administration since 1970 and served as Governor of Texas from 1962 to 1968. Prior to his appointment to the Treasury post he served as a partner in the Houston law firm of Vinson, Elkins, Searls and Connally.

'OPERATION H-A-T-E' Students Learning What It's Like To Go Hungry

MIAMI, Okla. (AP) — Eight northeastern Oklahoma A&M College students who wanted to experience hunger began a five-day experiment of not eating Thursday.

The students gave up half their spring vacation to learn what it's like to go hungry. Rufus Maynard, a psychology instructor who is helping sociologist Al Moffat direct the experiment, said the eight sophomore men and women went into "isolation" — the locked gymnasium — about noon Thursday, and gave them a battery of tests.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Maynard said the idea developed in Moffat's class on social problems when the students started discussing hunger in lower class American families and its effects on a person's life.

No one here thinks there will be any significant findings in the experiment. It was set up just to give the students the experience of hunger.

The students are in an isolated environment that demands they cooperate with each other.

They will eat no food. They are allowed all the water they can drink and are on a ration of fruit juices, to give them enough sugar and vitamin C.

Maynard, noting similar experiments which were done during World War II, believes it will be several days before the results of not eating will take their toll.

STOMACHS SHRINK

He expects the students will become mildly depressed, fatigued, irritable and they may not cooperate as well.

"All of this is fairly predictable," he said Thursday night.

Maynard gave the students tests in reading speed, reading comprehension and remembering numbers for short periods of time. He will give the same tests periodically throughout the experiment to the students can see how hunger affects their reading and memory abilities.

The students have dubbed the experiment "Operation H-A-T-E," which means "Hunger and Tension Exercises."

The volunteers have been cutting down on their food intake all week in preparation for the ordeal.

Maynard said when "their stomachs begin to shrink I expect they will get irritable. Some will probably want to withdraw from others in the group."

As they worked at preparing separate rooms to be used for sleeping quarters, there was some light-hearted but anxious conversation about food.

Turnout Is Urged

Cubmasters, den mothers and others who work with Cub Scouts are urged by Bill Brooks, district training chairman, to turn out for the basic training session at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Room 216 VA Hospital. There are almost a dozen and a half cubmasters who have not had basic training, which he said "will make easier to run a pack and increase the quality of the program for the boys."

CROP REPORT Moisture Is Needed In Far West Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The north and west portions of Texas stayed dry this past week, and the west Coastal Plains and East Texas got more rainfall.

Planting of cotton, corn and grain sorghum made good progress in southern areas and gardening took on an active note over much of the state, said Dr. John E. Hutchinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Land preparation for spring planting is taking a good share of the farmers' time. Fertilizers and herbicides are being put in the soil, and there is some preplant irrigation in western areas.

WATERMELON

Hutchinson said small grains, pastures and ranges continued to suffer from a lack of surface moisture in many areas. Irrigated wheat is providing good grazing in the Panhandle and western areas. Stocker cattle are being moved off small grain pastures.

Peach, plum, pear and apricot trees are blooming due to extended periods of warm weather. Cantaloups and watermelons are making good progress in the Rio Grande Valley. Harvesting of cabbage, lettuce and carrots is active.

Reports from district agricultural agents show the following conditions in their areas:

PANHANDLE: Moisture is generally short over the district. Small grains are making some progress but need moisture. Livestock is in good condition. Onion planting is starting.

SOUTH PLAINS: Land preparation and herbicide and fertilizer application are in full swing.

LEGAL NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS, COUNTY OF GLASSCOCK.

On this 13th day of January, 1972, the Board of Trustees of Glasscock County, Texas, consisting of the following members: J. C. Newell, President, Mark Schaefer, Vice President, Mark Schaefer, Secretary, George Schwartz, Ervin Woolter, Hubert Frerich and Jesse Overton, and the following voted NO: None.

SIGNED: J. C. NEWELL, President, Board of Trustees.

swing. Mild weather is boosting small grain growth but lack of surface moisture is limiting progress. Some wheat pastures are being irrigated. Livestock is in good condition as supplemental feeding continues.

TREES BLOOMING

ROLLING PLAINS: Small grains and ranges need moisture. Some spraying is underway to control greenbugs and winter grain mites on small grains. Cotton stalk destruction and land preparation continues. Fruit trees are blooming. As grazing decreases, stocker cattle are moving to market.

FAR WEST: Moisture is needed for ranges, dryland crops and land preparation. Preplant irrigation is underway. Livestock feeding continues as calves and lambs need an extra feed supply. Irrigated small grains are making excellent growth. Predators continue to attack sheep.

JUST PEACHY

WEST CENTRAL: Lack of moisture is becoming a severe problem. Topsoil is drying out rapidly as land preparation continues for grain sorghum planting. Peach trees are in bloom. Ranges and pastures need moisture. Livestock remain in good condition. Farmers and ranchers are busy with calving, lambing and kidding.

SOUTHWEST: Moisture remains short throughout the district. Oats, wheat and flax are making good growth in some areas. Pastures are beginning to green up.

LEGAL NOTICE

to green up. Peaches and wild plums are blooming and the strawberry harvest will start soon. Some spring crops are being planted and cantaloups and watermelons are going in the Winter Garden. Cabbage carrots and spinach continue to be harvested.

SOUTH: Parts of the district need moisture but along the Coastal Bend it's a different story. Scattered showers fell again where a week earlier heavy rains damaged cotton and grain sorghum and delayed planting operations. Planting of cotton and grain sorghum is about 90 per cent complete in the Rio Grande Valley, estimated James Selman of Weslaco. Cantaloups and watermelons are making good progress and the onion harvest is beginning.

Steer clear of debt.

There are two ways to save money on a car. Don't pay a lot to buy it. Don't pay a lot to run it. Which brings us directly to the Datsun 1200 Sedan. Low initial cost. Around 30 miles per gallon. Best of all, you don't have to give up a lot in the bargain. All-vinyl upholstered interior, whitewalls, and other niceties are included. Need a great way to spend a little money? Drive a Datsun... then decide.

Griffin Files For Council

Four candidates are running for three positions on the Coahoma City commission this election, and Stan Griffin is the latest to announce his candidacy.

Griffin is an employee of Cosden Oil and Chemical Company.

The three other candidates are Charles Parrish, incumbent who is employed at Webb AFB; Joe Barren, employed by the Big Spring Post Office; and J. F. Gibson, also an employee at Cosden.

Other commissioners, whose terms expire this year, are Sid Johnston and Tommy McFarland. Neither of the men filed for a second term in office.

Three other of the commissioners will continue in their posts for another year. They are Jack Caudle, mayor, C. C. Harrison, and Tom Abernethy.

The election will be held April 4 at the central fire station in Coahoma. Mrs. Ray Echols will be the election judge.

Horseman Club Is Second At Angelo

The Howard County Youth Horsemen Club placed second in the Youth Division at the San Angelo Stock Show Parade.

Eleven riders participated in the parade, along with Ruthie Slape, junior queen and Rene Slape, senior queen. This is the first time in the history of the club, two sisters have been named queens in the same year.

This was the second consecutive year the Youth Horsemen have placed in the San Angelo parade. They finished third last year. The San Angelo parade is one of the larger parades in the area.

The monthly meeting of the Youth Horsemen will be Monday, 7:30 p.m. at First Federal Savings and Loan.

Poll Has Ben Barnes Out Front In Race

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll

Among the 10 candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas, Ben Barnes today is by far the most popular figure with the voters, a new Texas Poll shows. Governor Preston Smith, seeking a third term, ranks second, virtually in a tie with Dolph Briscoe.

Frances Farenthold, the only woman in the race, is well liked by those who know her, but her problem is that relatively few are familiar with her, the results indicate. She ranks a poor fourth in popular support.

The survey, an intensive study of voters' likes and dislikes about the individual candidates, was started shortly after the filing deadline early in February and was completed towards the end of the month. Of the 1,000 adults personally interviewed, 510 were qualified as Democratic "likely voters" through a series of preliminary questions. It is on these 510 that the analysis reported here is based.

A measurement of voter awareness showed that only Smith and Lieutenant Governor Barnes are nearly universally known across the state. Voters were shown a list of the candidates and asked which ones they had never "heard or read anything about," with these results:

Percentage Aware:
Preston Smith 97
Ben Barnes 92
Dolph Briscoe 65
Frances Farenthold 28
William H. Posey 16
George Clark 13

(All others less than 10 per cent each)

Next the respondents were asked to express an opinion on each person they were familiar with, based on a six-point scale ranging from very high to very low. These are the total "like" and "dislike" ratings given, the percentages figured on all 510 respondents in each case to preserve a uniform base:

Dislike Like
Smith 45 45
Barnes 60 24
Briscoe 43 9
Farenthold 16 7
Posey 6 2
(All others "liked" by less than 5 per cent each)

Thus Barnes began his race with the greatest reservoir of good will, six out of 10 among the Democrats who will likely go to the polls in the May primary. But he has also accumulated considerable enmity, about a fourth of this electorate. Smith's position as a candidate, on the other hand, is considerably weaker, for those unfriendly to him at this time equal those friendly — a condition seldom found in a measurement such as this.

In a sense Uvalde rancher Briscoe, running his second race for the governorship, is in a better position than Smith, for he is liked by virtually the same number of voters as the governor, yet he is disliked by only 9 per cent.

A voter who expresses liking for a candidate now will not necessarily vote for him on election day; he may like another candidate better, or he may be influenced by the campaigns now unfolding. The candidate's chances, however, may be gauged by examining the breakdown of the "like" and "dislike" responses he receives in the survey, as shown here for the top three aspirants of the highest office in the state:

Preston Smith:
Like strongly 11
Like some 16
Like a little 18
Total liking 45
Dislike a little 10
Dislike some 7
Dislike strongly 28
Total disliking 45

Ben Barnes:
Like strongly 21
Like some 19
Like a little 20
Total liking 60
Dislike a little 7
Dislike some 4
Dislike strongly 13
Total disliking 24

Dolph Briscoe:
Like strongly 12
Like some 12
Like a little 19
Total liking 43
Dislike a little 2
Dislike some 2
Dislike strongly 9
Total disliking 13

What the above dissection of each man's pro and con attitudes reveal, first, is that the governor has developed a good deal of hard-core antipathy — the 28 per cent who strongly dislike him is the largest percentage in all of the breakdowns, and the hardest to budge toward supporting him.

Barnes, on the other hand, has maintained a better pattern of opinion on the positive side of his ledger, with a relatively large proportion of strong supporters sticking with him. The 13 per cent who dislike him strongly, however, indicates that he, too, has antagonized a good number of voters whom he can hardly expect to change.

Briscoe, as a non-officeholder in the race, has not been faced with the events and controversies of public life that erode into a man's following. But his support, the analysis shows, is not strong at this stage: note that there are considerably more voters (19 per cent) who like him only a little than like him some or strongly (12 per cent respectively).

The Texas Poll is an independent survey sponsored by 25 Texas daily newspapers, which has been measuring state public opinion trends since 1940.

Crop Production Meeting Called

COLORADO CITY — A crop production meeting will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Lone Wolf Electric Coop Medallion Room here according to Bobby Lemons, Mitchell County agricultural agent. The program, planned by the crops sub-committee of the Mitchell County program building committee, is being conducted to assist producers in making wise management decisions.

Dr. Bob Metzger, extension area cotton specialist, will discuss several production practices including: quality cotton, herbicides and getting a good stand from poor quality seed. A slide and tape presentation on fall diapause control of the boll weevil should be of interest to many area farmers, said Lemons. Dr. James Supak, extension area agronomist, will discuss grain sorghum varieties and herbicides for grain sorghum.

Marvin Sartin, Extension area economist, will discuss forward contracting of cotton. The meeting will conclude with a film by Cotton, Inc. on the field stacking of cotton.

The public is invited to participate in The Herald's Public Forum series through our Letters to the Editor columns.

Stations Here Air Programs

AUSTIN — A rapidly growing phenomenon — in-home shopping — will be the subject under discussion on next week's broadcast of "Texas Business Review," beginning Monday.

The weekly radio series is prepared by The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research and is carried on 57 stations in Texas and Louisiana.

Appearing on the program will be Dr. William H. Cunningham, UT Austin assistant professor of marketing administration, and his wife, who teaches business administration at St. Edward's University in Austin.

The moderator is Robert Lockwood of the Bureau of Business Research staff.

Dr. and Mrs. Cunningham report on a study of in-home shopping activities and attitudes which they carried out in Michigan.

Their study excluded door-to-door buying and selling but included telephone and mail purchasing through department store catalogues and other outlets. The study revealed differences in background and attitude between individuals who shop regularly at home and those who do not.

In-home shoppers, according to the researchers, form a significant segment of the consumer market because the absolute size of that market, in terms of sales, is growing more rapidly than any other.

Two local stations carrying the program include: KBST and KEHM.

Matthews Speaker At Gail Revival

GAIL — Evangelist Caddo P. Matthews will be the guest speaker during the March 17-18-19 three-day revival services to be held at the Gail Baptist Church.

Aaron B. Crawford will be conducting the song services. The services will be held each night at 7 p.m. and at the 11 a.m. hour Sunday morning. Rev. Matthews is a resident of the Colorado City area where he has been pastor of the Plainview Baptist Church the past 11 years.

Crawford is from Lubbock, and formerly of Ira. He is song leader of the Antioch Baptist Church of Lubbock.

Mrs. Van Kountz will be at the piano.

SBA Man To Visit Here Next Week

A field representative of the Small Business Administration's Lubbock District Office will be available to interview and counsel small businessmen at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

Any small businessman interested in obtaining information about the Small Business Administration's loan programs, SCORE, management assistance or other programs may call for an appointment at 263-7641 at the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Applicants may also obtain information about Economic Opportunity Loans which may be made to assist in the establishment, preservation and strengthening of small businesses. These loans are available under Title IV of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended. Interested parties should bring with them personal financial statements, current business balance sheets and profit and loss statements for the last two years, if available.

The Public Forum

Public Forum, in which topics relevant to Big Spring and West Texas will be presented before responsible and involved persons, is a feature which has become a part of The Herald. The Herald, of course, will welcome ideas which can be introduced for discussion, which will provoke a variety of a unanimity of opinion.

A question surrounding the present condition of a city facility has been raised, which could have controversial overtones, according to city officials.

The question concerns the 1.5 million gallon water tank near the IS 20 by-pass owned by the city, and its needed repairs, which, according to city construction experts, could run in the vicinity of $40,000.

In a recent meeting of the City Commission, one commissioner initiated the claim that a construction contract for painting the interior of the tank was not fulfilled to specification. The questions below are initiated in an attempt to clarify questions raised by interested parties.

A survey has been made by a water tank service firm as to what the tank now requires in repairs. Firm officials suggested the tank be sand blasted, repainted and repaired.

Also inspectors from the firm revealed that there were only three coats of paint on the interior of the tank. Under contract terms, upon completion of the tank there was to have been five coats of paint, eight millimeters thick for each layer.

Inspections allegedly showed that the layers of paint presently on the interior are only five to seven millimeters in thickness.

City Manager Harry Nagel and members of his staff supplied the answers to the following questions.

Q. The tank in question is located where? When was it built? Who was the contractor? What purpose does it serve?

A. IS 20 North Service Road opposite N. Scurry St. Starting date was Jan. 18, 1962. Chicago Bridge and Iron Co. was the general contractor. Overhead Storage for 1.5 million gal. water.

Q. What are the problems surrounding the tank? What is its purpose in relation to the city?

A. The problems surrounding the tank are, as I understand it, failure of the interior coating and paint to stand up.

Q. When was the last refurbishing work done on the tank?

A. There has been no other work done on this tank since its completion.

Q. Was the work inspected after the job was completed? If so, what was the nature of the report turned in by the inspection team? Was that report forthcoming immediately or was it made upon request?

A. Inspection was made in 1970 by outside inspection team.

Q. Is it the considered opinion by the city manager or by a majority of the city commission that there was a breach of contract? Did anyone in an official capacity have second thoughts about this?

A. Lab tests are now being run. No opinion could be expected until such tests are reported.

Q. What steps could be taken by the city to rectify the problem, in event the majority of the commission and/or the city manager expressed dissatisfaction with the completed job?

A. City attorney is checking on possible course of action.

Q. Are more repairs on the tank planned by the council? If so, how much expense will be involved? (No comment offered. Ed.)

Q. Was the work on the tank contracted to the low bidder? How many bids were submitted? What circumstances would dictate that such a job be given to a company not submitting the lowest bid? (No comment offered. Ed.)

Q. Will any measures be taken in the future to see that such contracts are completed to the satisfaction of city officials? (No comment offered. Ed.)

City commissioner Jack Watkins was asked his opinion of the issue concerning the inspection made of the present tower facilities and the findings of the inspection team.

"After reading the report of the inspection team, it is apparent that there are several questions that remain unanswered as to the fulfillment of the contract," Watkins stated.

"If the information contained in the report is accurate, then it would appear that the specifications were not followed by the construction company at the time of the erection of the facility," he concluded.

Two other members of the city commission were quizzed as to their opinion of the issue.

Mayor J. Arnold Marshall: "I have no comment to make, in that any comment on my part at the present would be purely speculation, due to a lack of information surrounding the issue."

UTPB BOOK DRIVE

By JO BRIGHT

As a resident of the Permian Basin you have an opportunity to participate in the foundation of a great new university and library.

In September, 1973, the University of Texas of the Permian Basin will open to more than 1,000 students and give to the entire Permian Basin area educational programs in the humanities, the social sciences, the physical and life sciences, education, management and engineering.

Thomas Carlyle said, "The true university is a collection of books."

A university of UTPB's planned quality and scope must have an excellent collection of books in its library to meet its varied needs. This is where you can become part of the university's foundation and at the same time make an historical contribution to the future.

The Founders Library of The University of Texas of the Permian Basin will be established during March, 1972. Membership in the Founders Library is open until March 31 and will be given to all who place one or many books in the university library.

The Founders Library provides this unique opportunity for all people of the Permian Basin, young and old, of great means or small, to become part of history. Contribution of a single book by even a child is a permanent endowment, and as the years, decades and centuries go by, founders books will continue to occupy a permanent place in the collection and to memorialize their donors.

Further, these books are investments in the future, and their value will be magnified by association with others of the same subjects or eras. Books taken singly are important, but when properly collected they are history, lending comprehension to one another.

As a member of the Founders Library you will receive a letter of recognition and a membership card. A permanent record of your participation in the Founders Library will be made in the Founders Book which will carry the name of every person or organization who places a volume or volumes in the library.

Those persons or organizations that place 25 or more books will receive certificates and media recognition according to the following categories: 25 books, Sponsor; 50 books, Patron; 250 books, Benefactor; and 500 books, Founder.

Since permanence is an essential feature of the Founders Library, paperback books, unbound magazines or other publications designed for temporary use are not desired or requested. Old, rare, or especially valuable books will be suitably recognized.

In the event that you would like to make cash donations to the library, the monies will be used to buy books and not for administrative expense. Comparable recognition will be made as follows: $100, Sponsor; $200, Patron; $500, Benefactor; and $1,000, Founder.

The Big Spring Daily Herald is serving as a depository for books donated to UTPB. Persons bringing books to The Herald office may register the gift and sign a bookplate to be placed inside the volume. Books may also be deposited at KWAB-TV on the Howard County Junior College campus.

AMONG THE FIRST — R. H. Weaver, president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and a graduate of the University of Texas Law School, was among the first to give books for the Founders Library at UTPB. Accepting the donation is Mrs. Robert Knight, chairman of the chamber's Cultural Affairs committee.

DIRECTS DRIVE — Mrs. Roy Cederberg, director of the local book drive, shows a certificate which is awarded for 25 or more books, while Bob Crowell holds a poster to publicize the special event.

GIVE YOUR OLD BOOKS!

The greatest need is for out-of-print books (those published before 1955). These books are almost impossible to acquire through regular library channels, and may be very expensive, although used book dealers pay very little for such books. The UTPB is expected to be the leading research library in the Permian Basin and has been designated as the state's first Regional Historical Depository. If UTPB is to receive maximum enhancement from its library, it is essential that out-of-print books be obtained.

CHAMBER EFFORT

Mrs. Roy Cederberg, vice president of Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, and director of its "Better Big Spring" division, is spearheading the local drive for books for UTPB. Workers are from the cultural affairs committee of the chamber, with Mrs. Robert Knight as chairman.

The book drive will continue locally for the remainder of March.

Now is the time to become a part of West Texas history. Why should Big Spring give books to a university in Odessa? Remember, UTPB will serve students from every town in the Basin, and the library will be available for use by every Basin resident.

Now is the time to share. Give the extra books you have in your home — children's, texts, novels, culture, nature, history, non-fiction, biography, travel, etc. If making cash donations, make checks payable to UTPB Founders Library, UTPB, Odessa, Texas, 79760.

'HI AND BYE' AT VA — Mr. and Mrs. James Ralph Johnson, left, newcomers to the VA Hospital group, say farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Pierce who are leaving for Chicago, Ill., where he has been assigned to the VA Westside Hospital.

Tea Held For New VA Staff

Employees of the Veterans Administration Hospital took time out from their jobs briefly Wednesday afternoon to say farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Pierce and to get acquainted with several new employees and their families.

During a tea, held on the second floor of the hospital, Jack D. Powell, director, welcomed the new group and expressed appreciation and best wishes to the Pierces.

The refreshment table was laid with a cloth printed with yellow daisies and centered with a milk glass basket holding yellow jonquills. Punch was served from a silver service, and other appointments were crystal. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Bill M. Sheppard, Mrs. John Stalcup, Mrs. Elmer Seitzler and Mrs. Jan Player. Other tables were centered with bud vases holding spring flowers.

The staff members were introduced, along with their wives and husbands.

Among those honored were: William L. Willis, D.D.S., who resides with his wife, Carol, and son, Mark and David, at 2303 Cindy Lane. He attended the University of Oklahoma and the University of Nebraska, serving as a dentist in the U.S. Navy for two years. He is a member of the American Dental Association, Oklahoma State Dental Association and the Oklahoma County Dental Association.

Joe H. Rountree, M.D., served at the Wichita Falls State Hospital as psychiatrist prior to coming to Big Spring. He and his wife, Beverly, have one son, Joe Harold. Dr. Rountree attended West Texas State University and the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, serving his internship at Scott and White, Temple, and his residency at the Austin State Hospital.

Keith R. Thompson, D.D.S., chief of dental service, resides with his wife, Mary, and their children at 609 Highland. The children are Stephen, Elizabeth and Coleman. Dr. Thompson, who was a staff dentist here before accepting the new position, graduated from the University of Minnesota School of Dentistry and served in the U.S. Army Air Force. He is a member of the American Dental Association and the North Dakota State Medical Association.

James Ralph Johnson is the new chief of business services. A graduate of the University of Colorado, he served in the U.S. Navy and previously was assigned to the VA Regional Office, Montgomery, Ala., and the VA Hospital at Birmingham, Ala. He came here from Tucson, Ariz., where he was the VA fiscal officer. His wife's name is Lillian, and their children are Constance and William.

Nick Martinez, pulmonary function technician, and his wife, Christel, are the parents of five sons, Ronald, Brian, Kevin, Kenneth and Kirk. Mrs. Martinez is a native of Germany. Martinez, who earned a BS and MS at Creighton University in Nebraska, served in the U.S. Army. He is a member of the Society of Nuclear Medicine, American Institute for Biological Science, Tissue Culture Association and American Association for Advancement of Science. He works with the Boy Scouts.

Mrs. Lisetta S. Brickman comes to Big Spring from the VA Hospital at Danville, Ill., and has the position of chief of dietetic service. Her husband, Jacob Brickman, is a native of Rosachi, Russia, and they have two sons, Paul and John. In the past, she worked for the publicity director of M-G-M Studios, Encino, California; University Hospital, Iowa City, Iowa; VA Hospital, Fayetteville, Ark.; and the Dallas City County Health District. Mrs. Brickman was graduated from the University of Wisconsin and the University of Iowa.

Ladies Of The Press Honor West Texans

LUBBOCK — Four West Texas women, representing media in Lubbock, Abilene, Quanah and Floydada, were honored Saturday for their contributions through careers in journalism and communication.

Headliner Award winners named by Theta Sigma Phi were: Audre Lipscomb, continuity director of KCBQ-TV, Lubbock; Kathryn Duff, assistant editor and columnist of the Abilene Reporter News; Carroll Koch, publisher of the Quanah Tribune-Chief; and Alma Holmes, the recently retired owner-manager of radio station KFLD in Floydada.

The awards were made at a Ladies of the Press Luncheon in Lubbock sponsored by the Texas Tech University student chapter and the Lubbock professional chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national fraternity for women in journalism and communications.

Featured speaker at the luncheon was Sarah McClendon, owner of a news bureau and news service in Washington, D.C., and familiar to newspaper readers, radio listeners and television viewers throughout America for her pointed questions and in-depth coverage of the White House, Congress and virtually all major national news.

The 1972 award winners were selected on the basis of long term, devoted service to the highest principles of journalism and communications.

Mrs. Lipscomb joined KCBQ-TV in September, 1964, 18 months after the station opened and is continuity director. She is the co-author of a college level textbook, "Radio and Television Continuity Writing."

Miss Duff's column appears on page one of the Abilene Reporter News each morning. She joined the staff of that daily newspaper in 1943 and prior to that time was a teacher. She has been awarded honors by the Associated Press and holds the national award. She received the Thomas L. Stokes award for the best writing in the field of conservation. She is the author of two books, a biography and a history of Abilene.

Mrs. Koch publishes the Quanah weekly and prints several other newspapers on her company's offset presses in Quanah. She also has a publishing company in Wichita Falls and is an avid conservationist.

Mrs. Holmes retired from her pioneer radio career two months ago. That career began when the station opened in 1951, and when her husband died in 1954, Mrs. Holmes took over the management alone.

RETROTHED — The engagement and approaching marriage of Judy Kay Maxwell to George Carroll Hagle, is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Maxwell Jr., Sterling City Route. Hagle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hagle, Route 1, Big Spring. The couple plans a June 2 ceremony at Berea Baptist Church, with the Rev. Gary Hicks officiating.

TELLS PLANS — Mrs. Patsy Shugard of Lubbock announces the engagement of her daughter, Barbara Ann, to Jimmie Don Hollandsworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hollandsworth, 2107 Carl, Big Spring. A May 26 wedding is planned.

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kimzey, 606 Steakley, announce the engagement of their daughter, Terri Lyn, to Bruce Wayne Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichols of Knott. The couple will marry June 24 at Birdwell Lane Baptist Church.

FUTURE BRIDE — Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ball, Lansing, Mich., formerly of Big Spring, announce the engagement of their daughter, Wanda L., to Darwin D. Shunk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max D. Shunk of Lansing. The wedding is set for June 24 in Lansing.

Helen Corbitt Cooking School Starts Monday

The selection and preparation of food specialties for "A French Picnic," "Eat for your Heart's Sake, a la Greenhouse," and a "Continental Dinner" will highlight the Helen Corbitt Cooking School sponsored by the Junior Group of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra League. The Cooking School to be held Monday through Wednesday, March 13-15, benefits the Dallas Symphony Orchestra. The three-day school will be held in the Zodiac Room downtown Neiman Marcus at 9 a.m. each day. Each session is priced at $6 per person, however, the three can be purchased as a package for $15.

Miss Corbitt will actually demonstrate the preparation of her recipes and the dishes will be passed for everyone to have a taste. Coffee will be served. Recipe sheets will be given to each ticket holder. Miss Corbitt and Neiman Marcus donated their talents and services so that the Orchestra receives the entire benefit from this presentation.

Tickets may be obtained through Neiman Marcus or by calling 239-5720, Mrs. George Dutler.

British Wives Meet Thursday

Mrs. Herman Stanley hosted a meeting of British Wives Club Thursday in her home at 136-A Dow. Mrs. Donald Martin won the attendance prize.

The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of red roses. Silver appointments were used. Refreshments will be served to patients at Veterans Administration Hospital, April 7 by Mrs. Bill Johnson and Mrs. Robert Bauer.

Mrs. Margaret Payne of London, England, was a guest. The women will meet at 7:30 p.m., March 23 in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Daubney, 2502 Cheyenne, for a make-up demonstration. Anyone interested in joining the club may contact Mrs. Bauer at 267-2140.

AUDITIONS SET FOR MARCH 18

Symphony, Singers Will Join To Present Requiem Mass

For its final concert of the 1971-72 season, April 17 and 18, the Midland-Odessa Symphony Orchestra will join forces with the Midland-Odessa Chorale and the Odessa College A Cappella Choir (Maurice Alfred, director) for a presentation of The Requiem Mass in D minor by W. A. Mozart.

Commenting on the composition of the requiem, Philip Spurgeon, music director of the symphony and chorale, who will be on the podium for these concerts, had this to say:

"This great work was begun in 1791 and proved to be the master's final composition. In fact, Mozart lived to complete only 12 of the sections of the mass. Death came to him as he worked on the orchestration of the 'Lacrimosa' section of the requiem. His pupil, Franz Xavier Sussmayr, filled in some of the instrumentation for some of the 12 completed sections and provided music for the final three parts. The work is an overwhelmingly emotional portrayal of the tormented soul of the young composer (35) in the throes of his final earthly agony. It is an intensely personal statement by Mozart, yet cast in the traditional formal structure of the Catholic Requiem Mass for the dead."

The work requires soprano, alto, tenor and bass soloists. Spurgeon and Gene Kennedy, director of the Midland-Odessa Chorale, will audition prospectively soloists on Saturday, March 18, from 1 to 4 p.m. at Rodenhiser Hall, Terminal.

Any interested singer is urged to audition for these solo parts. Each soloist is asked to prepare a composition of his own choice and will be asked to perform sections from the solo passages of the requiem. Copies of the requiem are available by calling the symphony office at 563-0921.

An accompanist will be present at the auditions, but any singer wishing to provide his own accompanist is welcome to do so.

Singers are asked to phone Mrs. Caroline Ater at the symphony office to arrange a definite appointment on March 18. It is stressed that no auditions can be heard after 4 p.m. on the 18th.

Style Show Scheduled At Lamesa

LAMESA — The '48 Delphian Club benefit style show, "Under the Big Top," is set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Lamesa High School Auditorium.

Cochairmen for the show are Mrs. Donnell Echols, Mrs. Bob Brown and Mrs. Ed Fulbright.

This year's annual fashion show will develop a circus-carnival atmosphere complete with clowns and surprises. Tickets are priced at $1.50 and are available from any Delphian club member or at the door. Proceeds will be used for the club's annual college scholarships and other community projects.

Committees and chairmen for the event include: decorations, cochairmen Carter Schildknecht and Kay Freeman; entertainment, cochairmen, Rene Bray and Ima Dee Daffern; gifts, Ann Middleton and Reya Freeman; house, Diane Wright and Donna Boldin; models, Katherine Southall and Barbara Barkowsky; publicity, posters, Beth Cohorn; newspaper, Jeanne Bryant and Leta Bogle; radio, Sharon Hegi; tickets, Fon Cope; programs, Charlotte Henderson; acknowledgements, Martha Gerber, and script, Elna Mays.

Stay-On Buttons

You will find that four-eyelid buttons stay on children's clothing longer if the thread is sewn through two eyelids first and then fastened, before sewing through the other two.

'Our Culture Makes Child Feel Inferior'

"Our children are too often made to feel inferior by our present culture — and parents — if they do not excel," said Bill Dawes to Big Spring City Council Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

"As a result, only through defiance of law and order can many children feel some degree of power and accomplishment," continued Dawes, who is principal of Marcy Elementary School.

In his program, "Human Relations," Dawes said more emphasis must be placed on teaching methods designed to produce positive attitudes and responsible behavior.

"It has finally been recognized that small children are not designed to sit still and push pencils all day long," said Dawes. "Publishers of some textbooks began a program last year entitled, 'Move, Learn and Grow' which uses learning activities to illustrate to children that they must work together or all will fail." Dawes said the children are taught to sense participation and needs of others in group activities.

BECOME AWARE

Dawes said he sat in on classes which started two or three years ago in Las Cruces, N.M., called "Methods In Human Development." He said the program is making "marvelous strides" in making children aware of the effect their behavior has on others around them. The basic tool of the class is the "magic circle," where all participants sit close together in a circle with the instructor. Each child is encouraged to express ideas and thoughts without criticism. Dawes said the fifth grade class he observed soon began acting courteous and with freedom of movement that produced purposeful confusion. The teacher was happy with individual changes in the students and with their ability and willingness to share and work together.

Dawes said the program has 11 levels of rating which are graded at six-week intervals. Rating levels are awareness of self, consideration, eagerness, effectiveness, flexibility, interpersonal comprehension, self-confidence, sensitivity to others, spontaneity, stability and tolerance.

Interior Influences School Dropouts

A recent study of potential dropouts in an underprivileged area demonstrated what effects interior space can have. The research showed that when the dropouts were transferred to a model school interior designed for comfort and conducive to study, their destructive tendencies disappeared and, in many instances, a "protective" instinct developed.

Boys Speak To PTA On Scouting Activities

Members of Boy Scout Troop No. 11 spoke about area scouting activities for members of the Buffalo Trail Council of which Big Spring is a part, was outlined by John Cline. Mrs. Bobby Moore presided, and the first grade class of Mrs. Thel Watts won room attendance count. Mrs. Watts led many Scouts and leaders attend each year. The organization and purpose of the Buffalo Trail Council of which Big Spring troops are a part, was outlined by John Cline.

Principal Says Teach Child 'No'

"Children need to be taught what the word 'no' means," said C. L. Carlie, principal of Airport Elementary School, at the Parent-Teacher Association meeting Thursday in the school cafeteria.

"If they haven't learned the meaning of 'no' by age four, it takes four years in school to get it across to them," continued Carlie. He said the four important words to remember are firmness, fairness, fondness and frankness.

Members accepted the task of acquiring carpeting for the school library as a project. A nominating committee was named to present a new slate of officers at the next meeting, 7:30 p.m., April 13 at the school.

Mrs. Bob Smith was recognized for her work in organizing a bake sale which provided funds for trophies and necklaces for members of Grey Y "Stars" basketball team and cheerleaders.

Mrs. Roger Coffman presided, and devotion was by the Rev. James Puckett.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

Every day there is another colorful addition to the spring bouquet that is filling our outdoors. There was a timid beginning of white apricots, then pears, plums and finally, the peaches added their blooms to the pink and white arrangement. Now there are brilliant reds and various shades of blue as well as the flowering peach adding to the display that nature has spread for us. Most oldtimers are a little dubious as to whether the blooms will make it by that 'Easter spell' but we can enjoy the sweet-smelling, good-to-look-at Springtime special while we may... and it may not freeze again.

CAPT. and MRS. JERRY McMAHEN and their daughter, Melissa, and Mrs. McMahon's sister, Jenny Lawrence, are here to visit his parents, MR. and MRS. RAY McMAHEN, and his sister and her family, the WHITNEY REYNOLDSSES. No, they're not back again, the first trip got scrubbed and they had to stay in Wichita, Kan., where Capt. McMahon is stationed with the Air Force. Miss Lawrence lives in England and she plans to return there soon after spending several months with the McMahrens.

MR. and MRS. T. C. ROGERS of Kingsland have been the guests of their daughter, MRS. JOHNNY STEWART for the past several days. Mrs. Stewart's sister, MRS. NELL FLYNT, of Carlsbad, N.M., was also a guest from Friday until Wednesday.

MR. and MRS. LONNIE COKER are hoping to spend several days this week at their Ruidoso, N.M., place. Her brother-in-law and sister, MR. and MRS. WAYNE SMITH of Lamesa, will accompany them.

The BILL McILVAINS have another grandchild. It's a grandson, CORY DEE, who was born on Feb. 24 in Twin Falls, Ida., on a day when there were 11 inches of snow on the ground. The parents are MR. and MRS. BILLY G. McILVAIN. Their little girl, Mitzi Lea, is three.

A recent guest from Dallas was MISS MARGIE NEWMAN who visited her mother, MRS. FAY NEWMAN.

The PETE WARRENS were in Austin until the middle of the past week.

We made a quick trip to Austin last weekend to visit son Gary, and also had visits with our David who was in Austin for a journalism conference from Baylor, and with CONG. J. J. PICKLE who was in Austin for a short time.

We're checking bases with son, Tom, this weekend in Dallas between times of attending the Associated Press Managing Editors meeting.

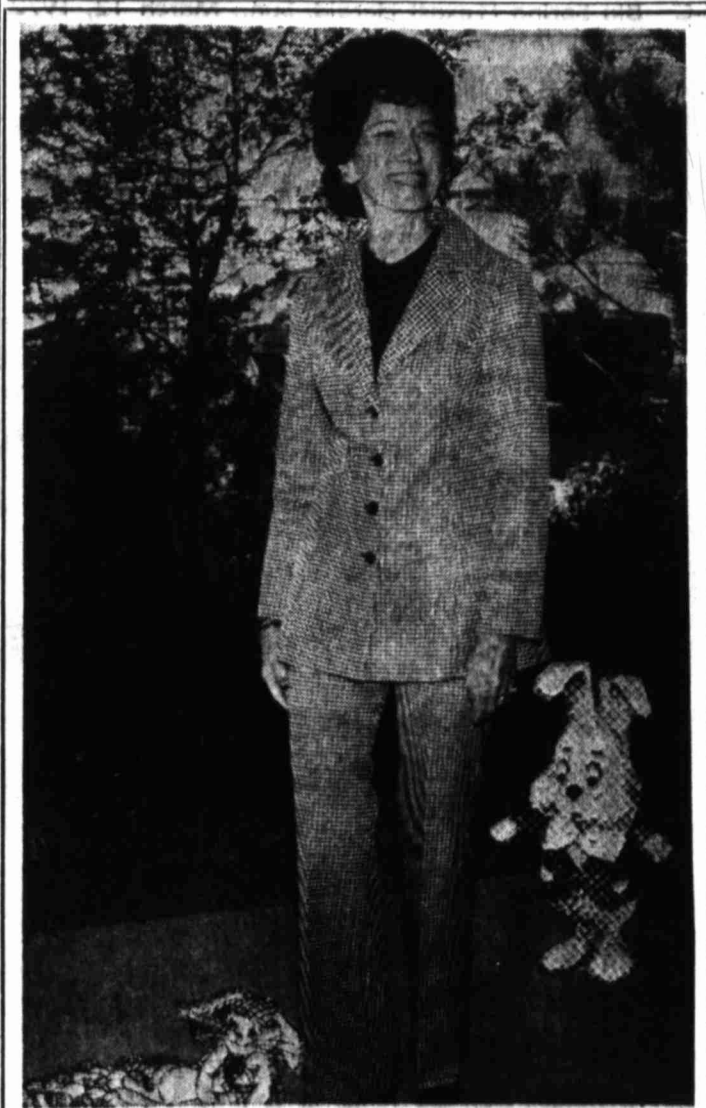

FRED BECKHAM who was flown to Dallas last week for emergency medical treatment is greatly improved according to reports received from Mrs. Beckham by family members here. Mr. Beckham is in Room 603, St. Paul's Hospital, Dallas.

MRS. CHESTER MATHENY and MRS. MAURICE ALLEN were to depart by plane at Midland today for a trip to Las Vegas, Nev. They plan to return here Thursday.

Attorney Advises Women On How To Write Wills

Subjects studied by county home demonstration clubs during the past week ranged from crochet to the importance of making a will. Roger Brown, a local attorney, was the only guest speaker featured at the meetings.

FAIRVIEW CLUB

Mrs. Glen Earhart demonstrated how to make draped figurines, using detergent bottles for foundations, for Fairview Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. J. F. Skalicky, 1623 E. 17th.

The figurines were draped with pieces of cloth which were dipped in a solution of starch and glue, then shaped to form bodies and heads of the dolls.

Mrs. B. N. Burroughs was a guest at the all-day workshop, and Mrs. Mary Riddle won the attendance prize. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., March 21 in the home of Mrs. J. M. Smith, 1905 Runnels.

COLLEGE PARK CLUB

The art of making crocheted rings was shown to members of College Park Home Demonstration Club by Mrs. J. C. Williams, Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Douglas Bartosh. It was announced that the HD arts and crafts exhibit, originally slated April 5, has been changed to April 12 at Highland Center Mall. The club donated $5 to cooking classes at Big Spring State Hospital.

A St. Patrick's Day theme was used in decorations for the salad luncheon. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., March 21 in the home of Mrs. Charles Mussman, 2600 Lynn.

CITY CLUB

Roger Brown, a local attorney, discussed the importance of making a will and showed members of City Home Demonstration Club how to write a will Friday in the home of Mrs. Carl Gum, 1509 Tucson.

"A will is nothing more than a statement of what you want to do with your estate or personal belongings at your death," Brown said. The two types of wills are holographic (hand written), and formal. A formal will is a legal document signed by two witnesses and a notary public.

Each member wrote a will, with Brown assisting with proper terminology. A discussion period followed.

Mrs. Ross Callihan presided. There will be a food leaders training meeting at 2 p.m., March 20 in the HD agent's office.

Gardeners View Types Of Patios

Cost, maintenance and materials for various types of patios and terraces were discussed by Mrs. Dale Smith for Oasis Garden Club members Wednesday in her home at 2705 Crestline.

Mrs. Smith showed pictures of several outdoor yard areas. She said bricks and cement blocks are popular patio materials because they give a comfortable and natural atmosphere to a yard. Also, they are easier to move or change, and they reflect less heat than other construction materials.

The importance of landscaping with native plants was stressed by Mrs. Smith, because they require less care and water. She said birds should be encouraged to a yard to eliminate harmful insects.

Members toured the Smith's yard.

Mrs. Joe Horton announced she, Mrs. Paschal Odum, Mrs. Jim Skalicky and Mrs. M. C. Stulting helped special education children pot small plants recently, which the children will care for at home.

Mrs. Alton Marwitz presided, and Mrs. Smith announced the Pride Committee of Big Spring will present citations in April for well-kept yards.

Games will be conducted for residents at Big Spring Nursing Inn Wednesday, by Mrs. Alton Underwood, Mrs. J. P. Gordon and Mrs. Gum.

Devotion was by Mrs. E. R. Moran, and Mrs. Underwood introduced Brown. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., March 24 in the home of Mrs. M. F. Hodnett, 1001 E. 18th.

LUTHER CLUB

The Luther Home Demonstration Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. J. M. Wilson with Mrs. Frances Zant presiding.

The president announced that the District Two spring meeting will be held March 28 in Plainview. Locally, the 4-H stock show will be held March 16-18 at the county barn, and a senior citizens' luncheon will be held March 15 at the Boys' Club. Club members will assist at both events.

Mrs. Zant, who presented a program on motor vehicle laws, also won the hostess gift.

The next meeting will be March 23 in the home of Mrs. John Couch.

AIRPORT CLUB

Mrs. Vern Vigar discussed regulations for Airport Home automobile safe driving Demonstration Club, Tuesday at the home of Mrs. S. A. Wilson.

Mrs. B. A. Bunn presided and Mrs. J. L. Wright announced a district meeting is scheduled March 28 in Plainview. The county arts and crafts exhibit was announced for April 12.

Members donated $5 to Big Spring State Hospital to assist with expenses incurred in cooking classes. Several members will help with arts and crafts classes Monday at Big Spring Nursing Inn.

Mrs. Bunn won the attendance prize. The next meeting is at 1:30 p.m., March 21 in her home at 507 E. 15th.

LEARNING TO UNDERSTAND — Discovering the world of the blind has led Junior Troop 209, Kentwood School, in exciting directions. Working on their Action 70 requirements, the Scouts visit Mrs. Charlie Boland and "Susy" who are helping them gain an understanding of the blind and their role in society. The girls are, from left, Sandy Kuykendall, Susan Harris, Amy Kruse and, on the floor, Michele Willett.

Girl Scout Leaders Need Insight, Values

Requirements for being a Girl Scout Leader are few: an appreciation and understanding of children, a sense of values that parallel those of the Girl Scout Promise and Laws, desire to contribute time and effort now to insure a better future and a willingness to learn about the adult role in Scouting.

The training program for adults is essential to a dedicated involvement in Girl Scouting. Local training sessions emphasize the basics of the program and the necessity of constantly updating

Girl Scouts Starting Birthday Celebration

Four million Girl Scouts and their adult leaders will celebrate the 60th birthday of the movement throughout the week of March 12-18. Local troops will join their sister troops around the world in a host of activities designed to "tell the Girl Scout story."

The Scouting program dates back to March 12, 1912, when Juliette Low founded the first troop in Savannah, Ga. For girls seven through 17, its purpose is "to inspire girls with the highest qualities of character, conduct, patriotism and service that they may become happy, resourceful citizens."

Activities for the annual week of celebration get under way today when Scouts will attend church in uniform to reaffirm their "... promise to do my duty to God ..." as expressed in the Girl Scout Promise. The First United Methodist Church will pay special tribute to all the Scouts in Service Unit 33, Scouts at Webb Air Force Base will attend services as a group at the base chapel.

Girl Scout fathers will be honored at special banquets held throughout the week:

Wednesday, 7 p.m., high school cafeteria, Service Unit 33. Girls will put on the program emphasizing the seven days of service.

Thursday, 6:30 p.m., Officer's Club, Webb Scouts. Program will highlight "Scouting in West Texas."

Thursday, 6:30 p.m., high school cafeteria, Service Unit 34. Program by the troops.

Thursday, 7 p.m., Coahoma Elementary School cafeteria, Coahoma Scouts. Family box supper to be followed by troop program.

Girl Scouting is a community project. Troops look to the community for meeting places, leadership, program resources and financial support. The 36 troops in the Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan area meet in a variety of churches, schools, homes and military buildings.

Leadership of the 17 Brownie 14 Junior, 4 Cadette and 1 Senior Troops come from all parts of the towns. Young mothers-to-be, single career women, fathers and the faithful busy housewives and mothers have all found a place in the Girl Scout movement.

Community organizations, too, have found a valuable way to become involved in the program — by sponsoring a troop. Sponsorship of a Girl Scout troop is many things: providing

Historical Unit Plans Meeting

The Howard County Historical Survey Committee will hold an opening meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Howard County Library. All area residents are invited to attend and are urged to bring artifacts, fossils or anything having to do with the early history of the county. Efforts will be made to identify and classify any articles which are brought to the meeting.

Tom Adams, an amateur archeologist, and Burrell Cramer, former state park superintendent, will be at the meeting to assist with identification. Any resident who has knowledge of such early-day items is invited to attend the meeting and participate in the program.

Patriotic Colors Are Spring Trend

The look is a natural for spring's leading color scheme — navy, red and white. White sailor collars trimmed in red or navy are designed for dresses and blouses in the third hue, nautical separates mix and shades and prints are in the tri-color motif.

Dr. Quadri Describes Pakistani Traditions

Religious and social customs in Pakistan were described by Dr. Rasheed Ullah Quadri for Altrusa Club, Thursday at Coker's Restaurant.

Dr. Quadri, a physical therapist and graduate of the University of Karachi, Pakistan, is on the staff at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. He said customs concerning marriage are extremely different in Pakistan. Mates are selected by parents, based on character, financial status and compatibility. The couple does not meet prior to the marriage. Dr. Quadri is betrothed to a woman his parents selected, and will return in November to marry her.

Dr. Quadri said both families often go in debt when planning a marriage ceremony. They can cost as much as $5,000. The bride's family tries to provide everything the couple will need for at least two years, including furniture. The couple is not expected to make their own home, but rather live with the bridegroom's parents. A man cannot marry, however, until he is self-supporting, and a bride must be at least 18.

When Dr. Quadri marries, he plans to return to the U.S. until about 1980, when he feels an obligation to return to Pakistan to live with and support his parents, because they supported him for 26 years.

The religion in Pakistan is Islam, and its followers are Moslems. They believe in one God, Allah, and in Mohammed as His greatest prophet. Moslems must pray five times daily, facing Mecca, and must fast from sunrise to sunset for 30 days each year. This prohibits eating, drinking and smoking during that period, and its purpose is to help people understand how the hungry feel so they can better help them. If financially able, Moslems are to make one pilgrimage to Mecca during their lifetime.

Dr. Quadri said Pakistan is an agricultural country with wheat, jute, rice and cotton as its main crops. Many wool and leather handcraft items are

Party Held For Hospital Patients

The women of St. Paul Presbyterian Church entertained patients at Big Spring State Hospital last week by hosting a ward party and serving refreshments. Mrs. L. B. Edwards served as chairman.

According to Mrs. Larson Lloyd, volunteer coordinator, the hospital's therapy department is in need of fabric scraps. Patients make the scraps into stuffed animals which are sold in the hospital gift shop. Those wishing to donate fabric are asked to call Mrs. Lloyd at 267-8216, Ext. 308.

DEBRA BUCHANAN

Miss Buchanan Is Scholarship Winner

COLLEGE STATION — game in which there are no losers. Working toward a double major in foods and nutrition and home economics / education, Miss Buchanan made the Dean's Honor Roll for the fall semester of 1971-72. She holds membership in Texas Tech's chapter of the American Home Economics Association. She also serves as freshman council representative and belongs to the advisory dorm council.

Mrs. Florence W. Low, assistant director for home economics with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, College Station, made the announcement.

Miss Buchanan, a freshman at Texas Tech University, won the scholarship for her personal development, leadership and accomplishments in 4-H projects and activities.

The 4-H'er has completed projects in leadership, clothing, foods and nutrition, sheep, horses, beef, electricity, recreation and citizenship during her 10 years as a club member.

Last year Miss Buchanan served as a member of the State 4-H Council. She won the Howard County Gold Star Award in 1969 for her outstanding leadership, achievement and contribution to county 4-H work. She has won numerous blue ribbons at county and district dress revues. In 1963 a lamb she showed at the State Fair of Texas won first place.

Other honors include being chosen to attend the 1971 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Ill., serving as vice chairman of her district 4-H Council and winning county leadership and achievement awards. She has also served as president of her local club.

"I'd like to promote 4-H so that others may experience the many wonderful opportunities that I have," Miss Buchanan said. "I can truthfully say that I'm a better person for having been in 4-H. I think 4-H is a

The Diamond M. Museum, in cooperation with the Texas Art Gallery of Dallas, is having an autograph party and exhibition of the paintings and drawings of Tom Ryan, noted Western artist, between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. Friday at the Scurry County Coliseum. Ryan, who hardly needs any introduction to fans of art of the Southwest, is the subject of a recent book — "Tom Ryan — A Painter in 6666 Country" — by Dean Kralak, managing director of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame. Many of the paintings on exhibit will be from Ryan's paintings of the 6666 Ranch. The Diamond M. Museum hours are 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Another showing in the area begins this weekend. It is at the Baker Gallery, 13th and Avenue L, Lubbock, and features Ronaly Thomason, painter, and Una Hanbury, sculptor. Thomason has been called "one of the Southwest's leading realists." He started his career as a youth at the Art Center in Fort Worth, studied in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and won the National Academy of Design's Original award for top watercolor. Miss Hanbury is famed for her many bronze works, such as busts of writer, Rachel Carson, and artist, Georgia O'Keeffe. Particularly famous are her portraits in bronze of great horses; among those, Tonto Bars Hank, the renowned quarterhorse. Hours are 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. today, and 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday and to 12 noon Saturday.

Traffic continued at a steady pace at the Heritage Museum with several groups listed in addition to individuals. Mrs. Betty Birdwell brought a section of the Head Start children through. On Tuesday, the 1955 Hyperion Club viewed the Pioneer Women exhibit. Mrs. Harry Heppner brought her Den 3, Pack 29 Cubs through, as did Mrs. Anne Neel her Runnels Junior High history class. During the week, Mrs. Martha Moody spent a lot of time identifying personalities in a group picture taken here in 1912 — and the job is almost complete. An "out-of-town" visitor was Rich Anderson, who has been one of the supporters of the Borden County Museum.

The Midland Community theatre has booked Neil Simon's "Plaza Suite" to open March 17. Hilarious events in the lives of different couples are linked through a certain suite in Manhattan's most elegant hotel.

Mary Breckenridge Dirks, freshman from Big Spring, has been named to the stage ensemble in the Texas Tech University Music Theatre production of Giuseppe Verdi's grand opera, "La Traviata." Performances are scheduled March 16-17 and 18 in Moody Auditorium on the campus of Lubbock Christian College. She is a graduate of Big Spring High School and was in the BSHS production, "The Sound of Music." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Dirks Jr., 1735 Purdue.

Those with a yen to travel may be interested in opening of the tour season on the lower Mississippi, particularly the Natchez Pilgrimage. The event is highlighted by full bloom of the camellias, azaleas and dogwood — now nearing their best. Information may be had from Rosedown, Drawer M, St. Francisville, La. 70775.

Antimations being installed in the Arctic Ocean section of Seven Seas at Arlington are due to be activated by March 18. This new ride has been installed at a cost of $300,000.

A reminder: "Dallas Holiday," sponsored by the Dallas Theatre Center's Women's committee, has scheduled its tours for April 5-6-7 — a package which includes visiting fashionable homes and gardens of prominent Dallasites, viewing outstanding collections of paintings, sculpture and objects d'art, and luncheon at Texas Stadium as well as a concert by the Dallas Symphony Orchestra. Reservations may be at 3636 Turtle Creek Road, Dallas 75219.

Mary Bondurant Warren, nationally known geological authority from Danielsville, Ga., will conduct a day-long seminar April 8 in Municipal Garden & Arts Center, 4215 University, in Lubbock. The event begins at 8:30 a.m. and continues to 4 p.m. Information may be had from Mrs. J. F. Chapman, 1504 47th, Lubbock 79412.

TO MARRY — The engagement of Miss Frances Deavenport to Ricky Doyle Parris is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob D. Deavenport, Stanton. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Parris of Abilene. The couple, both of whom are students at McMurry College, will be married June 17 at First United Methodist Church, Stanton.

Devotion was by Mrs. W. D. McDonald, and Mrs. Jim Terry gave closing prayer. Guests were the Rev. Elra Phillips, who gave the invocation, Mrs. Caroline Hogan of Pasadena, Calif., and Mrs. Lina Flewellen. The next meeting is at noon, April 13 in the tea room.

Traffic Control Devices Undergo Radical Changes

AUSTIN — The Texas Highway Commission has approved sweeping new changes in traffic control devices — signs, signals and highway markings.

The changes are in the Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices approved by the Commission. The manual incorporates changes prepared by the Federal Highway Administration based on recommendations by a national committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

The new philosophy in signing recommended by the manual involves the changeover from words to symbols and pictures as part of an international move toward greater uniformity and clarity in road signs throughout the nation.

In Europe, the system of symbols and shapes has been used effectively for the past 20 years among multi-language countries where uniformity is necessary for efficient traffic control.

UNDERSTUDY

The new signs and other traffic control devices have been under study in this country since 1964. One of the primary reasons for the new system of symbols and shapes is that they will enable people of different national and cultural backgrounds to easily identify traffic signs while driving.

Panels explaining the new symbols will be placed under the signs so motorists won't be confused. Traffic engineers hope that the public will become familiar with the new symbols and shapes in about five years so the panels can be removed.

In Texas, the changeover will be gradual, with new signs going up on a replacement basis initially. The manual will become effective June 1, 1972.

Although there will be new symbols, shapes and colors, the majority of the existing signs will remain unchanged.

The new yield right-of-way sign will have a wide red border and white interior and will retain the word "YIELD" in red inside the border.

The new prohibitive signs will all have a red circle with a slash cutting diagonally through the center which will mean "DO NOT" or "NO." The symbol inside the circle will show what is prohibited. For example, a sign showing a left turn arrow which is surrounded by a red circle and a slash means "NO LEFT TURN."

NEW SYMBOLS

The yellow diamond-shaped signs will still stand for a warning, but some of the symbols showing hazards ahead will be new. For example, the message, "MERGING TRAFFIC," on a yellow diamond-shaped sign will be replaced by a black arrow being joined by a smaller black line. It is hoped this will minimize confusion as to which stream carries the merging traffic.

There is a major change in Public Can Visit Barns March 26

Sunday, March 26, an open house will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. of the newly renovated Howard County Fair Barns at the Rodeo Bowl to allow the public to view the improvements that have been made.

According to County Judge A. G. Mitchell, work on the barns, including landscaping the grounds around them, should be completed by the middle of next week.

The public is cordially invited to attend the open house to view the remodeled facilities which are available to all Howard County youths with particular emphasis on use by Future Farmers of America, 4-H Clubs and similar youth agricultural groups.

ENERGY SPEAKER — John J. McKetta, chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee (NEPC) will speak Tuesday at Texas Tech. His topic is "The Dismal Energy Situation in the United States," and the free lecture will be in Room 112 in the Tech chemistry building. McKetta has served as dean of engineering and vice chancellor at the University of Texas.

Student Deputies Strive To Enfranchise Voters

By BEN JOHNSON III

In an effort to make it easier for the newly enfranchised voters to register, student deputies are active on both the Howard County Junior College and high school campuses.

At the college, Steve McMillian and John Tidwell operate in the foyer of the Student Union building with voter registration forms. In the three week period they have been deputies, they have signed up about 30 voters.

"By making it easier for them to register, we are taking away one excuse they have for not voting," says Tidwell. He also commented that despite the assumption that youth are more political than the adults, the next generation is going to be more apathetic than its predecessor. "But actually, voting is such a little thing, might as well do it."

McMillian said the basic obstacle facing the voters is lack of information, and that special sessions should be established to acquaint the voters with issues and facts.

McMillian believes the young voters will be courted by city politicians. "They will be able to swing the vote either way in an election."

According to Zerah L. Bednar, county tax assessor collector, approximately 400 18-21 year olds have registered.

This was the first year that Mrs. Bednar was allowed to deputize local citizens to receive voter applications.

She deputized between 35 to 40 adults and youth, but she noted that most of the people had not registered even one voter. "The project was not too successful," she said.

Mrs. Bednar also revealed that total number of registered voters is below the amount in 1968, even with the addition of youth.

"Percentage-wise, the youth will have a better record than their parents the first year. After that, it will level off and be the same as our parents," said Sam Chappell, student body president of Big Spring High School.

In line with the Texas Student Council project, the senior members of the BSHS council were deputized. Chappell has to date, registered about 100. He has gone to the English classes to sign up voters, and sometimes sets up a table in the foyer of the school. "Many students were not sure of the procedure, and yere, glad we came to them."

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Browsing Thru Big Spring

By MYRNA McFADIN

If I had never before met an excited man, I have now. He's Lane Hinton, manager of White's Auto Store. Since their recent move to their new location on Gregg, Lane hasn't come down off of cloud nine. Lane says the move has made an unbelievable difference in their business. The increase has far exceeded their wildest expectations. "I'm speechless. Positively ecstatic," says Lane. "I don't think you could put it any plainer."

Big Spring Savings Association is quite pleased with Judy Wortham, one of their bookkeepers. A member of Big Spring's Outsiders Volleyball Team, Judy brought home a consolation trophy from the March 24 Odessa Tournament. Sixteen teams vied for honors. She'll be going to the State Tournament in Abilene April 9-9. Judy is also a member of the Suzettes (Shrine Motor Patrol Wives), the Jayceettes, and is treasurer of the West Texas Comptrollers.

Mr. & Mrs. R. E. (Bob) Hickson of Hemphill-Wells Co. were among more than 70 Texas retailers and their wives attending the Annual Spring Board of Directors meeting of Texas Retail Federation March 9-10 in Laredo.

TOP AWARD

James Hopper of Jimmy Hopper Toyota has been named a winner of the Toyota National Customer Service Award. This award symbolizes the highest achievement attainable in dealer-customer relations. The purpose of the award is to give recognition to Toyota dealers across the nation who have excelled in after-sale service and who have developed an outstanding reputation in their customer relations programs.

Lorene Minnick, assistant treasurer at First Federal Savings and Loan Association, has just completed a course in advanced accounting — with highest ratings. Lorene has been with First Federal since 1958. She handles all reports to the Federal Home Loan Bank, and is Supervisor of Teller Operations. Lorene, a member of the Society of Comptrollers attends the Westside Baptist Church.

NEW STORE

A new 7-Eleven Food Store, featuring self-service gasoline, is being planned for Big Spring. The new store will be located at 1801 Gregg, replacing the old store at that site. Extra parking space will be provided. Thelma Fannin will be the store manager. Lynda Passmore will be assistant store manager, and Tom Passmore will be store supervisor.

An always-present source of encouragement for the young Big Spring businesswoman is First National Bank's Reba Barker. Reba is now in her 52nd year at the bank. For you newcomers, Reba started in the bookkeeping department of the bank in 1919, worked her way up through the tellers, and has been vice-president of the bank for the past 15 years. Reba started working for the First National upon her graduation from Big Spring High School. She is a member of the Credit Women's Club, and several years ago was named Big Spring's Woman of the Year.

No Evidence Any Cancer Infectious

HOUSTON (AP) — A Wisconsin scientist says there is "absolutely no evidence that any kind of human cancer is infectious."

Dr. Howard M. Temin said a lot of complicated laboratory work remains to be done before scientists can really understand the origin of human malignant diseases.

Temin commented at a news conference following an appearance at the 25th annual Symposium on Fundamental Cancer Research. The symposium was sponsored by the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute.

Temin, 37, one of the youngest major virology contributors in the world, is head of the viral oncology at the University of Wisconsin's McArdle Memorial Laboratory in Madison.

He said no one should expect virology research to offer hope of any improved cancer treatments.

"Virus research is primarily in the etiology (cause of disease) area... and the results of our research may not lead to treatment at all," he said.

Temin was presented the symposium's 1972 Bertner Foundation award for accomplishments in cancer research.

Three To Speak Monday Night

Three speakers will appear on the program arranged for Management Appreciation Night for the Big Spring Chapter of Credit Unions, which starts at 6:30 p.m., Monday in Furr's Cafeteria.

Those appearing before the group will be Harry Nagel, Big Spring City Manager; Duke Baker, manager, Teacher's Credit Union; and Joe Pickle, editor of the Big Spring Herald. Dan Conley is president of the Big Spring Chapter of Credit Unions.

Water Quality Vital

The Texas Senate is probing in profitable areas of state law that obviously need attention.

An interim committee on environment listened recently to unsupportable conflicts between the responsibilities of the Parks and Wildlife Commission and the Texas Railroad Commission. It is the Legislature's job, quite clearly, to reconcile the conflicts.

James U. Cross, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Commission, said he knew personally of at least 100 instances in which the Railroad Commission allowed brine to be dumped into fresh-water streams over the objections of the parks staff.

The conflict: the law requires the Parks and Wildlife Commission to protect marine life in the streams; but the law also gives the Railroad Commission exclusive control over brine dumping.

The Railroad Commission witness, Fred Young, confirmed Cross' charges, though he said he was surprised by the number of times Cross said he had objected. In other words, Young seems unperturbed.

It is the Legislature's business to put into law what it expects to be done. That is the purpose of the committee inquiry, one would suppose, but it's not all that simple.

The Legislature is caught in political crossfire

'Industry' Due Harvesting

Travel Log, publication of the Texas Highway Department, reports that more than 1.36 million motorists visited the department's 11 tourist bureaus last year, a 16 per cent increase over the previous year. The center at the state capital had 39 per cent more visitors. Preliminary figures from the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service show 746,763 tourists came out of Mexico into Texas, up 28.5 per cent.

and it doesn't always do what the public thinks it is doing — and sometimes even the legislators don't know what is happening. The time has come for responsible legislation that will reduce conflicts to a minimum.

Water quality is an issue of vital public concern. It will become increasingly more so as time passes.

This simply says that Texas is getting more and more tourist traffic, thanks to many factors, especially the department's travel and information division.

And this ought to say to every community in Texas, ours included, that there is a great harvest to be reaped for those alert and ingenious to reap it. This is the best "industry" money any town or state can have.

Silence Gimmick

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

Generally speaking, I don't see how a full-fledged politician running for office in one political party can find it in his conscience to criticize the other. They're both peculiar, redundant and obsequious.

If small talk was outlawed, things would be much quieter.

Tommy Jordan, you know him, suggests: "If you want a gift that keeps on giving, try rabbits."

Myron Scarborough, Indianapolis, friend of Paste-Pot men, writes: "Please don't send any money for the contributions I mail you. There's a Helga R. Scarborough going around cashing checks in my name."

In all the furor over Silent Duane Thomas, it is obvious that he has hit upon the most successful public relations gimmick of them all: The silent treatment.

One word on television after the Super Bowl had the newsmen rolling in the aisles.

If he plays his words right, he could be the new Calvin Coolidge — with cool talent.

You may remember Coolidge returned from church one Sunday and had the following dialogue with his wife:

She: How was church?
He: Fine.

She: Was the sermon good?
He: Yes.

She: What did he preach about?
He: Sin.

She: Was he for it or against it?
He: He was agin it!

All Thomas said was "Evidently," and today he's the new Will Rogers — almost.

Prediction: Edmund S. Muskie will oppose President Nixon next November, and George Wallace will run on a third party ticket.

The winner: Let's wait first to see if that's right.

My landlord, A. G. Hall Jr., bouncing back after an operation to remove a blood clot in his leg, says Big Spring is a very honest town. "You can leave your leaves out all winter and nobody will take them," he reports.

Meanwhile, Roger Beard, my wild catin' neighbor, reports one-fourth of all your bones are in your feet — 54 out of 206.

Somehow I would have bet the biggest conglomeration was in my head.

Occasionally I am a captive audience of Dean Martin's show and I'm sorry to say I dislike it.

The material consists of what we, as kids, used to whisper to each other behind our hands. That's adolescence, however, and excusable, in a way, as a stage one goes through.

What irritates me is that it isn't really funny. And he has the writers to produce hilarious material.

Cowboy Country
Love It Or Leave It

My Answer

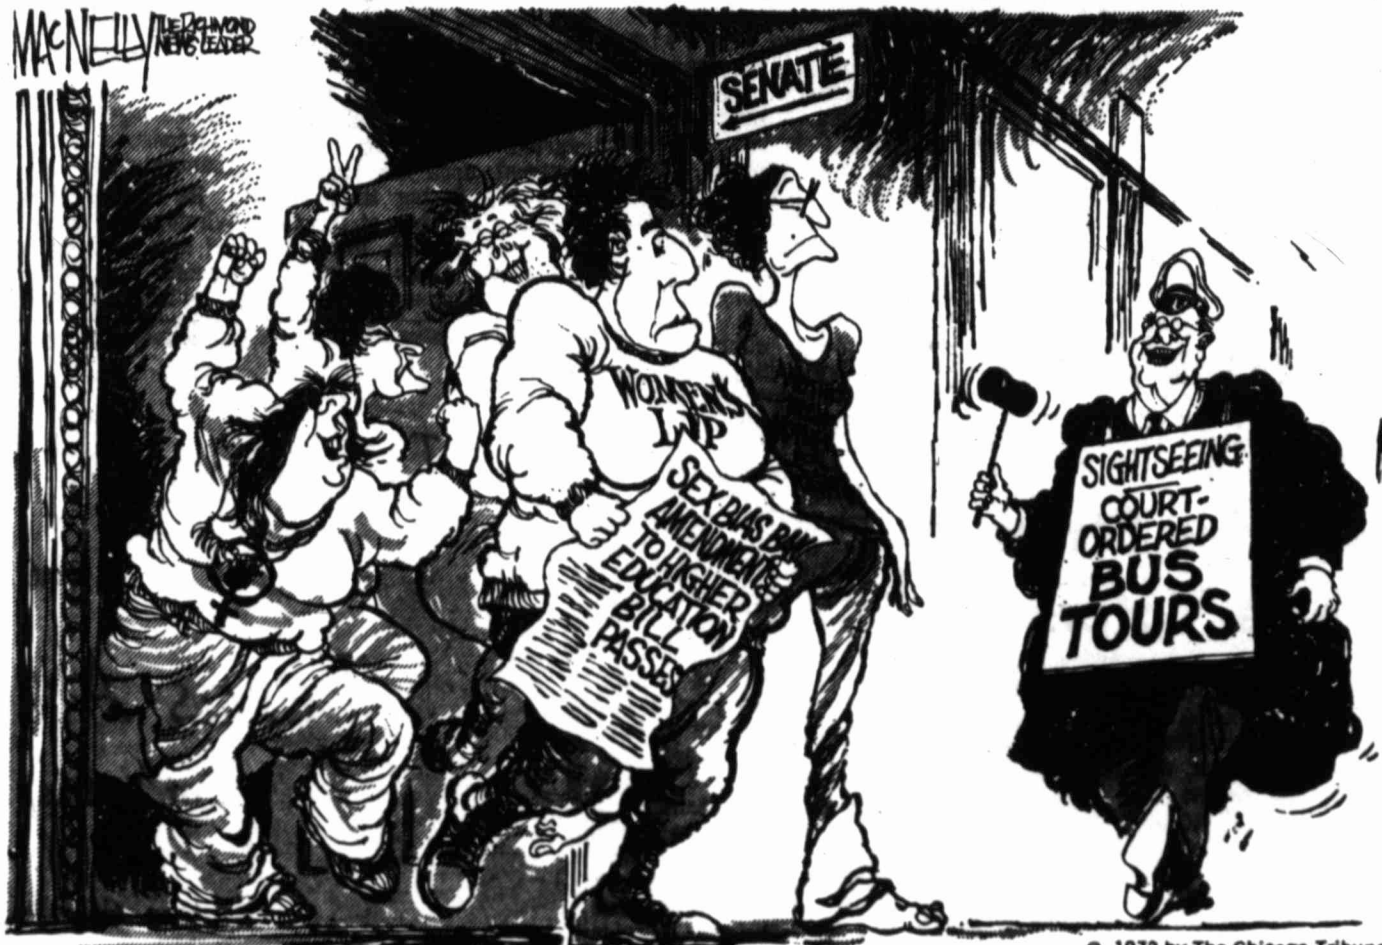

By BILLY GRAHAM

I heard a discussion on the morals of our country on television. The closing comment was that no one knows the answer. Is there no answer to the moral problems of our country? V.G.

I believe that we are wandering through the moral jungle of permissivism in this country because we have forsaken the Biblical concept of moral absolutes. It is like an airplane pilot throwing out his compass and chart, and saying, "I can navigate without these aids." The human heart is so designed that it cannot navigate, morally and spiritually, without guidelines. Just as a pilot, due to physical limitations, cannot orient himself in the air without mechanical instruments, (he doesn't know if he is upside down or right side up when he can't see the ground), we cannot maintain our moral equilibrium without moral absolutes.

If there was no law there would be chaos in the world. There are so many ideas about what is right and what is wrong, the state of the world would be one of chaos and confusion. God in His wisdom, has given the world moral guidelines in the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount. They are simple, they are fair, and they are reasonable. Anyone can see where our philosophy or moral relativism and permissivism is leading us. The answer is for all of us to honor God's laws.

ITT Is Very Much In News

NEW YORK (AP) — Senate hearings continued this past week into the controversy over settlement of a Justice Department antitrust case against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., the country's eighth biggest manufacturer.

An aide to columnist Jack Anderson said ITT lobbyist Mrs. Dita Beard related to him a conversation with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell in which Mitchell said President Nixon had told Mitchell to go easy in the ITT suit.

Mitchell denied the report from Anderson aide Brit Hume, saying the President had "never, repeat never, made any request to me directly or indirectly concerning the settlement of the ITT case and I took no part in that settlement."

The ITT controversy emerged earlier this month when Anderson published a purported memo by Mrs. Beard linking the out-of-court settlement of the antitrust suit to a pledge that ITT's Sheraton Hotel subsidiary would contribute money to the 1972 Republican National Convention.

Another columnist, political writer Victor Zorza, put ITT into the news this past week. Zorza said in a copyrighted column Wednesday that ITT had been secretly negotiating a trade deal with the Soviet Union.

After the column appeared, ITT denied there was a secret trade deal in the works, but disclosed that it was sending a delegation to the Soviet Union next month to describe its products and services.

The wholesale price index climbed an over-all ninth-tenth of 1 per cent last month for its sharpest advance in a year, the Labor Department reported. The index rose 0.7 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis. The department blamed the large increase on a sharp rise in the prices of farm products, processed foods and feeds.

Dr. Herbert Stein, President

Nixon's chief economic adviser, said moves may be made to exempt some areas of the economy from wage and price controls this year but added that he doesn't see a "very large part of the economy by volume" decontrolled.

In other news, the government reported that business plans this year to invest $89.8 billion in new plant and equipment, nearly $1 billion more than projected in a survey three months ago. If spending reaches the projected new level, it would be an increase of 10 1/2 per cent over 1971, when business investment climbed by only 1.9 per cent.

Steady Increase In Income Shown By Rural Borrowers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government study of farmers who borrowed from the Farmers Home Administration to help pay operating expenses shows a steady increase in their net income and share of investment or net worth.

The study, published today, was based on surveys of 2,039 FHA operating loan borrowers covering a five-year span, 1966 through 1970.

A profile of the average borrowers shows him to be 44 years old, married and with a five-member household. In 1970 he borrowed $21,960 from FHA for operating expenses, compared with $16,310 in 1966.

In 1970 his cash receipts from all sources was $19,570 compared with a gross of $11,910 in 1966. Net income was up to $8,550 from $5,330 earlier.

But nearly one-third, $2,580, was from a non-farm job. In 1966 moonlighting brought in $1,980. In 1970 the typical borrower, according to the study, owned $40,570 worth of property including: real estate $24,740; livestock $9,400; machinery and equipment $9,870; and personal property $5,560.

That compared with a total of $30,070 for all categories in 1966, which included real estate $14,910; livestock $4,970; machinery and equipment $8,310; and personal property $3,890.

Total debts in 1970 of $29,420 left the average borrower with a net worth of $20,150 compared with 1966 debts of $17,860 and a net of $12,220.

The surveys also showed a boost in quality of living for farm families involved in the FFA program. During 1966-70 nearly one-fifth of them moved from "dilapidated or deteriorating homes" to new or improved housing, the report said.

Chili Lovers

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Some like it hot — or even with hot peppers. Some true fans only want it home-made. A lot of people spread it over hot dogs or eggs and some want it with beer.

Whatever their individual demands, these people are part of almost an American sub-culture known as chili eaters.

For 60 years William Harvey "Ike" Johnson has operated a chili parlor in Tulsa and his business keeps rolling on — and growing. When he had a survey made concerning expansion he found out how loyal chili fans can be.

For instance, he was advised that loyal fans, from varied income levels, say they are motivated to buy according to the ingredients and that the cost of the product isn't the most important thing.

In fact, the cheapest brands were not listed in the top volume group, the survey said. "In this day and age, that almost suggests they're fanatic," Johnson said.

Men eat chili on an average of 25 times a year and women 14 times a year, Johnson said. "Men like it hotter, too."

"We are pleased to learn that most of our customers don't consider chili a Mexican dish. Many of them learned to eat it at home and think of it as American."

Johnson was told his biggest competition was to be found in the home.

"Our survey showed that a lot of people like to spread chili on their hot dogs and over scrambled eggs and they can indulge themselves this way in the privacy of their own homes," Johnson said.

More than one-third of the chili eaters prefer it with beans and about a fourth call for it "straight."

Merhige's Decision

William F. Buckley Jr.

I have here, sent to me by an outraged attorney, the Resolution of the School Board of Chesterfield County, dated Feb. 5, the provenance of which is a civic horror story.

ON JAN. 10, 1972, Judge Robert R. Merhige, the United States District Judge for Richmond, Va., decided that in the interest of racial balance in the schools, he should suspend geographical-political frontiers. First things first. If the adjacent county has a preponderance of whites, and this county has a preponderance of blacks, then, says the judge, forget the county lines: merge the school districts. This is quite revolutionary thinking, as everyone has acknowledged, and of course the judge's idiosyncratic ruling has been appealed, on a number of principles, not the least of them being that it is hardly the business of the court to start gerrymandering for its own sociological purpose.

But during the awful period until the higher court strikes down Judge Merhige or, failing that, invites the Congress to initiate a Constitutional Amendment to put an end to judicial effronteries on this issue, Judge Merhige's decision is the law of the land. And it required ("mandated," as they like to say) that the School Board of Chesterfield County petition the State Board of Education to merge its school district with those of adjacent counties in Henrico and Richmond.

HERE WAS an extraordinary situation, where elected officials of a community are instructed to do: a) what they don't want to do, b) what the people who elected them don't want them to do, c) something that has nothing to do with the granting of rights previously denied to members of their own community, and which d) calls for a merger with communities altogether separate and distinct, as established by the laws of the state of Virginia, way back before the destabilization of America was a gleam in the eye of Earl Warren. Nevertheless, having been advised by counsel that they had to do what the judge told them to do or go to jail, the board members drew up the resolution. Here is a representative passage:

"WHEREAS, IF the members of this Board remained free to vote in accord with their independent and collective judgment and will, they would unanimously refuse to request the State Board of Education to create a single division to be composed of the Counties of Chesterfield and Henrico and the City of Richmond; . . .

"Now, therefore, acting under the duress, coercion, and compulsion of the penalties consequent upon doing otherwise, and acting contrary to our individual and collective judgment and wills, and under the compulsion of the Order aforesaid, we do adopt and vote for the following . . . This resolution is limited to such time, only, as the Order of Jan. 10, 1972, shall not be stayed or reversed by the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit or by the Supreme Court of the United States."

THERE IS fanaticism abroad, and the integrationists-at-any-price are prophets, disdaining such considerations of prudence and organic growth which have historically distinguished English from continental politics. One likes to believe that this time the abstractionists have gone too far, but as one who thought they had gone too far when they outlawed common prayer in the public schools, I don't know. Life magazine has obligingly collected the sentiments of the presidential candidates on the subject, and one notes that it is only the candidates who seek above all things the approval of the militant left who stand by busing. Nixon of course opposes it, as do Muskie, Humphrey, Jackson, Mills and Hartke. John Lindsay tells us that "Busing is one of the tools necessary to achieve school desegregation," — which of course is correct.

SEN. McGOVERN, who although rumored to have flirted with an anti-busing position, finally decided not to ruin his perfect record of taking the wrong position on every subject. And Eugene McCarthy finds busing "quite defensible as a general principle."

Spoilers' Year

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — New Hampshire 1968 and New Hampshire 1972 are worlds apart. Four years ago Eugene McCarthy could take a clear-cut line opposing the war in Vietnam that Lyndon Johnson had escalated to a point where more than a half-million American ground troops were engaged. Vietnamization having brought the number down to 119,600, the issue this time is far from being the simple, "Are you for the war or are you against it?"

SO COMPLEX, so spun around with the Nixon rhetoric and the Nixon premises, the Vietnam issue baffled the Democratic challengers. The Administration is vulnerable and, above all, vulnerable on the fundamental point of negotiation. The President's eight-point proposal offers no real basis for ending the war at the conference table.

If only because of the call for a cease-fire Hanoi was bound to reject it. A cease-fire, as defined in the President's proposal, would have put the Communists in the areas they hold at the mercy of the South Vietnamese forces. Built-in specifications long since unacceptable to the North Vietnamese mean there is no negotiating position and no likelihood in the near future of negotiation. But even George McGovern, a serious antiwar candidate, could not get a grip on it.

THE MEDIA has a lot to answer for in the New Hampshire dust-up. The jokers — Sam Yorty, the wandering mayor of Los Angeles as the No. 1 example — are treated as though they were serious candidates with a real chance for the nomination. They are looking merely for exposure on the tube and in the news columns.

This has handicapped the serious candidates, and conspicuously Sen. Edmund Muskie. As the front runner with a wide range of endorsements up to the New Hampshire primary, the goal of one and all was to cut him down. McGovern can rally the minorities essential to the election of a Democrat. It is a splintering process certain to open the way to a bruising, self-defeating battle royal at the Miami Beach convention.

Pants Decision

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — One of the biggest clichés of American politics is that politicians are no different from anybody else. "They put on their pants one leg at a time." Everyone has accepted this without question, and while I hate to destroy another myth I can now reveal after some very difficult research that politicians are different from other people, at least when it comes to putting on their pants.

THE FIRST clue I had to this was when I read a book about Lyndon Johnson and how he dressed when he was President. Mr. Johnson had two Secret Service men hold his pants as he sat on his bed, and he put both legs into them at the same time.

President Nixon, for example, has his valet lay his pants on the bed, and then the valet leaves the room so the President can make his decision in private. He keeps a yellow legal pad by his bedside where he writes out all the alternatives. Will it be better to put his right leg into his pants first, or will it be better to put his left leg? What will be the political repercussions if Jack Anderson finds out how he puts his pants on? Will the electorate think less of him if he puts his pants on like everybody else? What would happen if he didn't put on his pants at all?

OCCASIONALLY HE might ask

Henry Kissinger's opinion or call up John Mitchell wondering how he should do it, but the final decision has to be Mr. Nixon's. It is probably the loneliest decision that any President of the United States has to make.

When it comes to putting on his pants, no one agonizes more about it than Sen. Edmund Muskie. Since he doesn't want to offend either the left or the right he usually sticks his foot into the center of his pants, this, of course, causes complications as it takes him over an hour to put them on and makes him late for his appointments all day long. Sometimes Sen. Muskie gets angry when he tries to put on his pants. His staff hopes to have a solution to the problem before the July convention.

SEN. GEORGE McGOVERN has a different problem. He has only one pair of pants and he has to be very careful when he puts them on so that he doesn't tear them. Before becoming a presidential candidate he always put on his shoes first. But when Frank Mankiewicz took over as campaign manager he persuaded McGovern to put on his pants first and then his shoes. This changed McGovern's image overnight and he has lost his serious demeanor.

We Salute The DeMolays On 53 Years Of Service

What Is DeMolay?

The Order is dedicated to the principles of building better citizens of teenage boys. DeMolay chapters are sponsored by a Masonic body. Each chapter is supervised in all of its functions by an adult advisory council. One man is designated as the official "chapter dad" to handle the supervision of chapter meetings and to counsel the members.

DeMolay does not attempt to take the place of the home or church but rather supplement them. The organization's purpose is to offer the teenage boy of today (1) a wholesome occupation for his spare time; (2) worthwhile associates; (3) the best of environment; and (4) an interesting and complete program of all-around youth development.

By meeting these goals, DeMolay leaders believe that the youths learn to be better citizens and leaders, thereby providing a better world tomorrow.

Who May Join DeMolay?

DeMolay membership is open to any boy of good character who is between the ages of 14 and 21. Although DeMolay chapters are sponsored only by Masonic bodies or individual Masons, it is not necessary that a boy be a son or relative of a Mason to belong to DeMolay. For further information, contact Matthew T. Mooney at 263-4092, Ext. 61 or David Yater at 263-3182. Meetings each Tuesday at 21st and Lancaster.

A DeMOLAY'S ETHICS

- A DeMolay serves God
- A DeMolay honors all womanhood
- A DeMolay loves and honors his parents
- A DeMolay is honest
- A DeMolay is loyal to ideas and friends

Tasteless Talk

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Gloria, was recently married at a lovely church wedding. A reception at our club followed immediately after the ceremony.

The mother of a young man named Bill, with whom Gloria had been quite serious, came through the receiving line. She greeted him with a warm smile and firm handshake, and said, "We certainly wish Gloria every happiness, but if things don't work out, maybe one day our Billy will have a chance on her second time around!"

Abby, what do you think of a person who would make such a tasteless remark at our daughter's wedding?

DEAR APPALLED: Not much. But she obviously said exactly what she was thinking. (She may also have hit the punch bowl first.)

DEAR ABBY: Larry (not his real name) and I have been married for three years. I am 28 and this is my first marriage. Larry is 39, and he was married once before and has two children whom he adores. (They live with his ex-wife.)

I wanted a child from the start, but we were unsuccessful. Now several doctors have told me that I will never become pregnant!

I want to adopt, but Larry is just lukewarm on the idea. I'll be honest with you, Abby, one of the reasons I want a child is to hold our marriage together. Larry spends as much time as he possibly can with his own children, which makes me very jealous and resentful. I know it's wrong to feel this way, but I can't help it. I feel that if he has that much time and love to give to children, why can't they be OURS?

I don't have to work outside the home, and I know I would make a very good mother. What do you think?

WANTS A CHILD

DEAR WANTS: Of all the reasons for wanting a child, "holding a marriage together" is the worst. It would only compound your problems. If yours is a troubled marriage, and it's unfair to the child. Before considering a family, you need to resolve your feelings of resentment and jealousy. It's to Larry's credit that he's a good father.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 17 years, have two wonderful teenagers and a darling 6-year-old. When I found out that my husband was having an affair with his secretary, I nearly had a nervous breakdown.

He admitted everything, begged for forgiveness, said he stills loves me, and wants to keep our family together. He

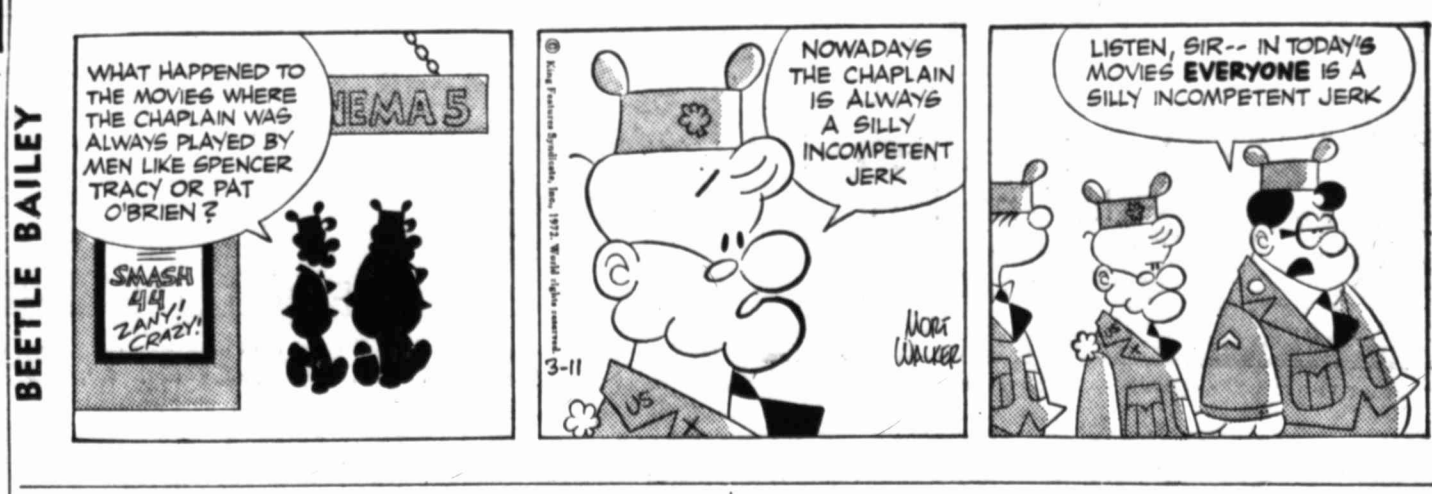

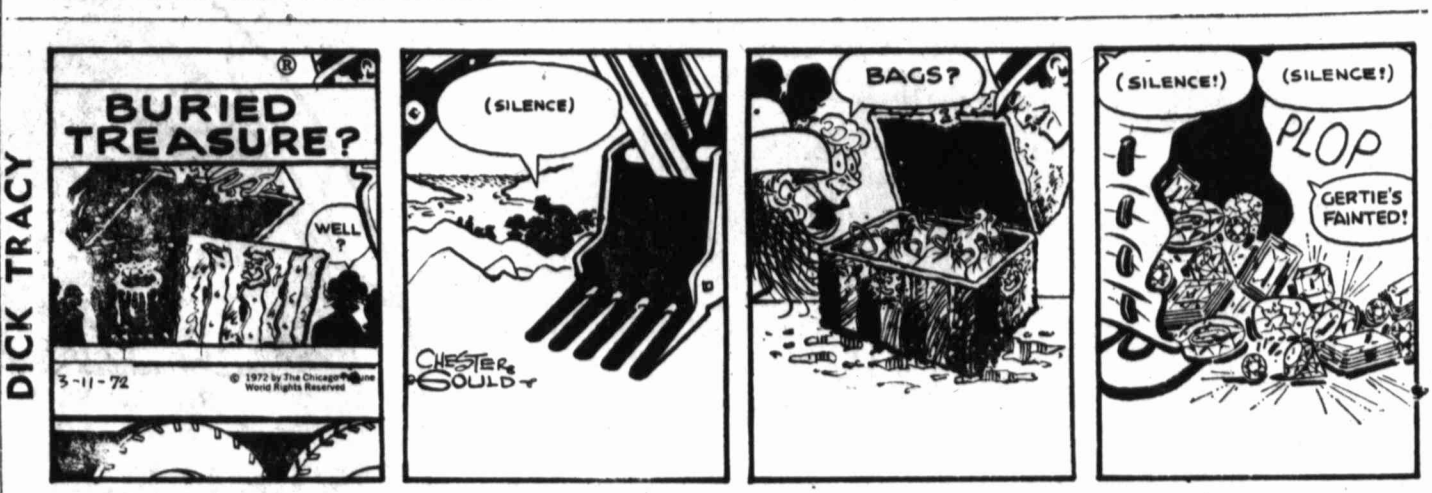

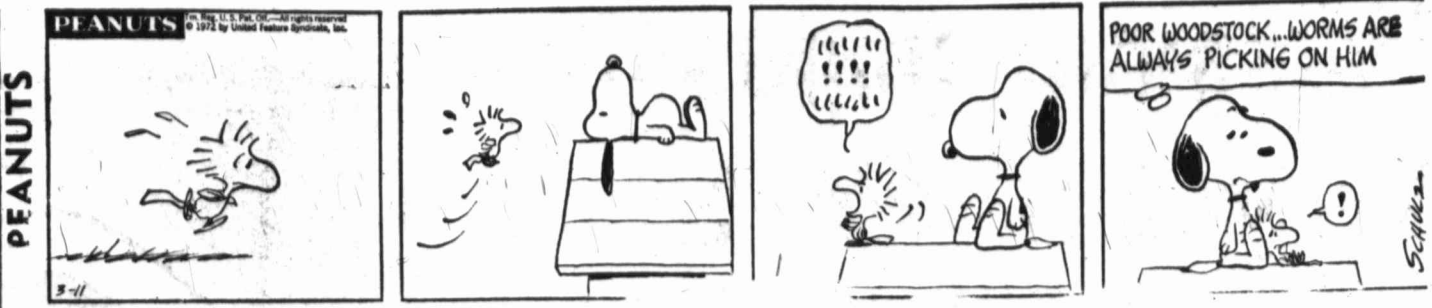

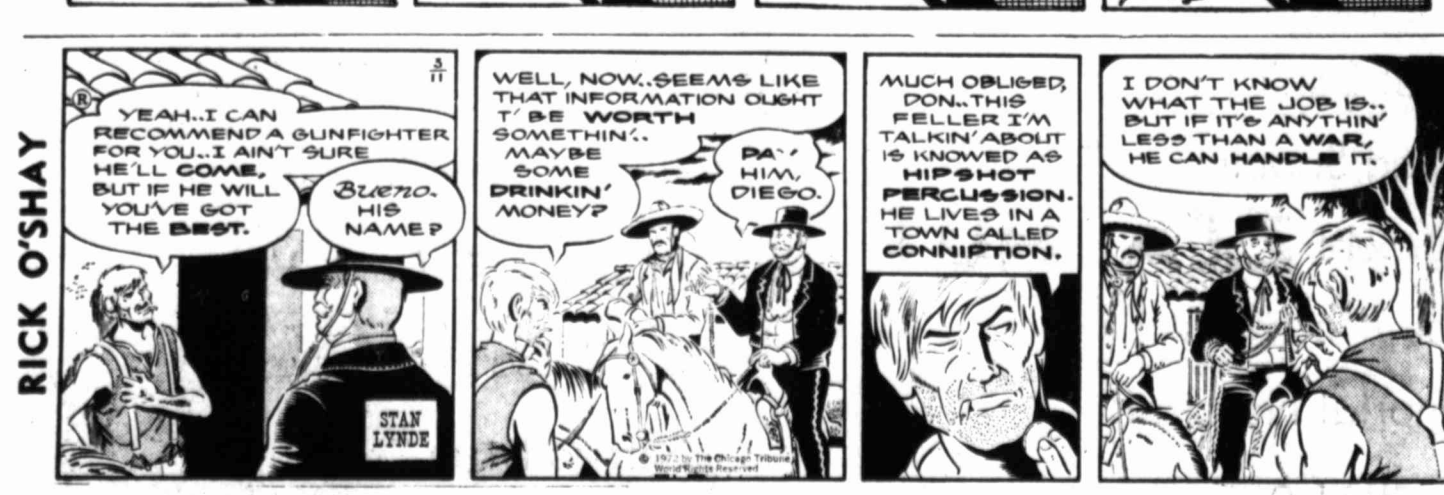

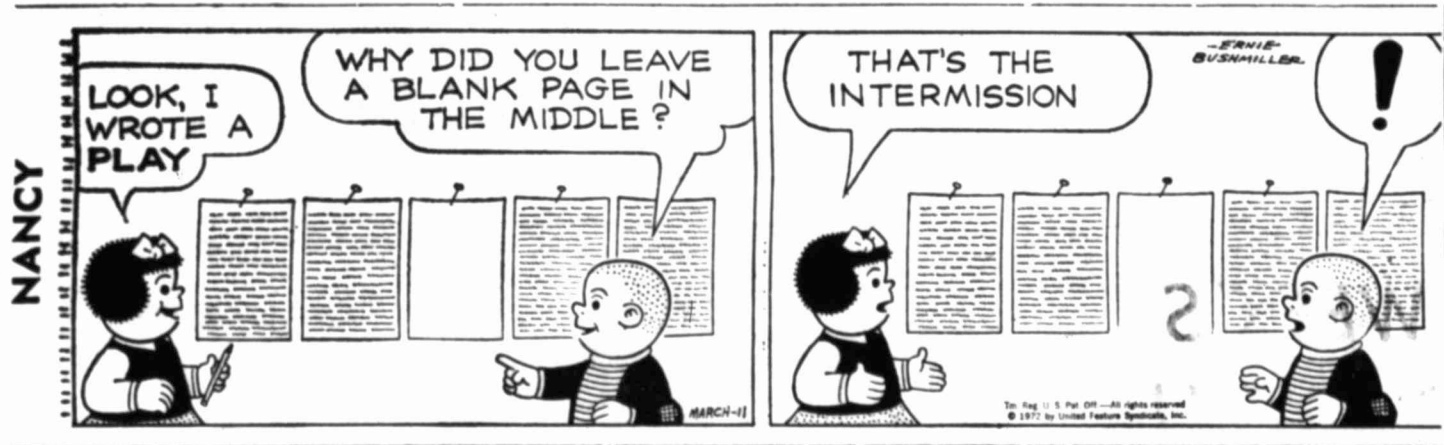

Dropped Pistol Kills Drummer

DALLAS (AP) — Investigators said a pistol in a dropped purse discharged and the bullet killed a musician at a South Dallas night club early today.

Police gave these details:

A woman rising from a table to dance handed her purse containing the gun to another woman and it fell to the floor. This caused the weapon to fire, and the shot struck Claude House, 53, in the head.

House, a drummer in the club's band, was killed instantly.

Maybe No Virus

Your Good Health.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Doctor: I am confused. I have heard for years of the 24-hour or 12-hour virus. I heard recently where a government doctor said there is no such thing as this and that people who thought they had them in reality had some form of poisoning.

Please explain. — L.A.

This is most likely correct. The chances are that any intestinal tract disorder of such brief duration is not the result of a virus. A virus infection would probably not run its course for at least 48 hours or more.

In many reported cases of the so-called "12-hour virus," the culprit is usually some slightly tainted food or an allergic reaction to a food or other substance.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: It seems to me that you evaded a direct answer. The woman who wrote, and millions of others, including myself, would like to know why illicit lovemaking causes venereal disease and why legal lovemaking does not. In other words, how did V.D. get started in the first place? — Married Woman.

No, I don't think I evaded the question. I said V.D. was caused by germs — just as smallpox, colds, flu and a lot of other diseases are caused by germs, and nobody knows where the first germs originated.

They multiply in a diseased person's body, and he (or she) passes some germs, and the diseases, on to somebody else. And as to your statement that illicit lovemaking causes V.D. and legal love does not — well, you're all mixed up. Which is why I've been writing about V.D.: there's so much ignorance about it.

A married person with V.D. can pass V.D. on. But somebody without V.D. cannot — no matter how illicit the lovemaking.

However, the illicit love makers usually tend to play around with more people, hence have more chance of encountering V.D.

If you want to get rid of your false notions, I think you'd better send for my booklet, "Venereal Disease." Send 35 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to The Herald for it — and then read it carefully.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our son, 7, consumes a large amount of water the year round, more than any of the children he plays with. His teacher even called to tell me he drinks a lot of water at school.

Could this be a symptom of any kind which should be checked into? — Mrs. I.V.A.

This can be a symptom of diabetes, so yes, the boy should be checked. Keep in mind that

'Mission: Impossible' Very Durable Series

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Jim Phelps, head of CBS "Mission: Impossible" team, cleaned up the worst of organized crime in the United States during the past few months and was on a well-earned holiday.

Disguised, but not too effectively, as Peter Graves, actor, the tall, handsome and white-haired television star recently wound up a cross-country promotion tour talking up his show.

Graves, younger brother of "Gunsmoke's" Marshall Matt Dillon, James Arness, has found television almost as hospitable to his talents as Jim has. Big Jim reached Hollywood first and was finding enough acting work to be comfortable. Peter had been interested in acting in high school and college and even spent a summer in stock.

"Jim gave me the courage to try Hollywood," he said, recalling he went there straight from the University of Minnesota. He, too, found some acting roles and promptly married his best girl in college, Joan Endress.

Born Peter Aurness — brother James merely dropped the "u" or theatrical purposes — the young actor chose a family name, Graves, for his acting.

Film and television roles followed. He put in six seasons in the series "Fury," whose title role was played by a horse, and a year in Australia in an action series, "Whiplash." But the big hit for the Minneapolis-born actor came in 1967 with "Mission: Impossible."

The series had started the season before, with Steven Hill playing the team leader. Hill departed after one season and Graves replaced him. Essentially, though, the format of the series remained the same including the program's hallmark — the recording at the opening which gives the team its weekly assignment and then "self-destructs."

Greg Morris and Peter Lupus have been with the series from the outset, but in the years that have followed there have been all sorts of cast changes.

Graves takes change rather casually.

"The show requires a suspension of belief on the part of the viewers," he said. "This season the producers decided to move into the area of organized crime in this country."

Graves is a gentle, quiet-spoken man with a pleasant sense of humor. His hair, which photographs dramatically, is almost white — "I started to get gray in my 20s and don't do anything about it although a lot of women ask me to tell them how I manage to get the shade."

SING ALONG WITH WHOM?? Hoffman's new hit starts today at the Jet Drive-In

'Who Is Harry Kellerman', Another Hit For Hoffman

Cinema Center Films' "Who Is Harry Kellerman And Why Is He Saying Those Terrible Things About Me?" stars Dustin Hoffman (in his first motion picture since his internationally acclaimed triumph in "Little Big Man") as a successful composer of rock music in conflict with himself... a man who is standing on that thin border line that distinguishes truth from one's own fantasy.

Cue Magazine calls National General Pictures' release of "Who Is Harry Kellerman And Why Is He Saying Those Terrible Things About Me?" which opens today at the Jet Drive-In Theatre, "a beautiful, profound and exciting motion picture." Judith Crist in New York Magazine says it is a "thrilling creation."

Hoffman, whose performances in such pictures as "The Graduate" and "Midnight Cowboy" (both of which earned him Academy Award nominations as Best Actor) have established him as one of our most gifted young actors, feels that the character he portrays

ALI MACGRAW

Once Model, Now Rising Screen Star

All MacGraw, starring with Ryan O'Neal in Paramount Pictures' "Love Story," opening in color Wednesday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre, was born and raised in Westchester County, N.Y. She attended Wellesley College, where she studied art history and dramatics and acted in several Shakespearean productions.

By coincidence, Miss MacGraw knew "Love Story" author Erich Segal when she was a student at Wellesley and he was studying at Harvard. They had appeared on stage together in a performance of "Much Ado About Nothing."

Furthermore, she was responsible for the art work while he composed the music for the production.

A successful fashion model appearing on the covers of Mademoiselle, Harper's Bazaar and Glamour, Miss MacGraw chose to forsake this career when director Larry Peerce and producer Stanley R. Jaffe selected her for the role of Brenda Patimkin in Paramount's film version of the Philip Roth novella "Goodbye Columbus."

Joel Grey Says 'Cabaret' Was His First Good Film

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Joel Grey has appeared in a total of four movies, but he prefers to think of his latest, "Cabaret," as his first.

"The others were all bad," says Grey, an engaging man who is quick to show a visitor pictures of his two young children.

"One of those first three films keeps showing up on television," Grey continues. "Since they insist on showing it at 4 a.m. I feel safe, but wouldn't you know that that's the night my friends get insomnia and stay up watching TV."

Becoming more serious as he discusses "Cabaret," Grey, a slender 39-year-old casually clad in white sports shirt and brown suede trousers, says he regards his part as the "Master of Ceremonies" as his first major film role.

Grey won the 1967 Tony award for "Best Supporting Actor" in a Broadway musical for his depiction of the M.C. in "Cabaret," which takes a fictional look at what went on in Germany in the early 1930s. Two years later he was nominated for "Best Star Actor" for his lead performance in "George M!," a musical about George M. Cohan.

Although he has played the part of the M.C. many times, Grey points out that "the role has never bored me. Maybe it's because the M.C. is so highly energized. When he performs, it's like the last time each time. He's a desperate second-rate performer who is trying to make himself feel alive."

Ritz Film Views North Country Life

"North Country," is an outdoor, color, action-adventure motion picture about the exploits of modern-day Alaskan trapper, Jeff Graham. The movie starts Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre.

This exciting film, shot entirely on location, follows woodsman Graham through one year of his life as he camps in the frozen wilds of the far north country trapping beaver, fox and muskrat. In this true-to-life feature, Graham pans gold and serves as a backcountry guide over some of Alaska's roughest terrain to earn just enough to pay for what little he needs from civilization. Otherwise, he lives off the land, hunting only out of necessity.

None of the characters in "North Country" are actors. These are all real Alaskans portraying their real lives.

Crime Caper Movies Are Not Art, Says Director

NEW YORK (AP) — The caper, the daring, often madcap robbery, has been commonplace film fare since "The Great Train Robbery" itself. There's been "Rififi," "The Day They Robbed the Bank of England," "Topkapi" and "Robbery," to name a few of the category.

Category? Genre? Don't say that in front of director Peter Yates, who objects to classifying them at all — and reveals a displeasure with much of the critical snubbing of the caper, often derided as an "audience" film or a "minor" genre.

"Minor!?" questions Yates. "Most of the Bogart films were capers. And so is 'The French Connection.' Anyway, why cubbyhole everything into a genre?"

Yates is the displaced English director, now living in New York, who jumped near the top of the movie popularity pole — if there is one for directors — with "Bullitt" in 1968. And it came about because Steve McQueen liked his work in "Robbery" — a caper film. Since then, the 43-year-old Yates has done "John and Mary," with Dustin Hoffman and Mia Farrow — "I'd rather do a film on two people and their effect on each other than an action film" — and "Murphy's War," with Peter O'Toole — "It's a mystery to me why it wasn't successful."

His current endeavor is "The Hot Rock," an attempt to do the caper film four better with a quartet of plots in the over-all one-of-a-kind-diamonds-is-missing tale, told in a light-fingered manner.

"The proof that it works," he feels, "is if the public enjoys it. It's a comedy and a caper. I'm satisfied it works. The audience comes out of it with a high feeling, a feeling of enjoyment."

"Something we're so short of at the moment is the entertainment film. Not the 'proper intellectual,' those pseudo-intellectuals."

"It's an audience film; you can feel the audience going with it every moment," he says of "The Hot Rock."

"I look upon myself as a commercial director, unfortunately," he adds. "By 'commercial,' I mean capable of producing a really well-made film with very much my own signature, but not one you necessarily feel is 'written' by the director."

Yates has a basically theatrical background, beginning with training at England's Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts, then as actor, director and stage manager in repertory theaters. He was a fanatic filmgoer when young. "I had terrible rows with my parents. They wanted to restrict me to seeing two films a week; I wanted to see five."

He got into films as an assistant director, working with such director-tutors as Jack Cardiff and Tony Richardson.

His first film was "Summer Holiday," made in 1963.

Yates would love to go back to the theater — "someplace like the American Place Theatre rather than Broadway" — but he keeps that as a desire, "something like someday owning a boat; it's what you haven't got."

For now, film plans come up against a red light. "I'm going to stop. I'm not going to do anything for six or seven months; purely read."

Aunt Alice, How Grows The Garden?

"What Ever Happened To Aunt Alice?" is the question asked by Robert Aldrich in the Palomar Pictures International presentation of an Associates and Aldrich production. The color film opens Wednesday at the R-70 Theatre and stars Geraldine Page, Academy Award winner Ruth Gordon, Rosemary Forsyth, and features Robert Fuller and Mildred Dunnock. Released by Cinerama Releasing Corporation, "Aunt Alice" is in the same gothic horror genre as Aldrich's highly successful "What Ever Happened To Baby Jane?"

Based on the best-selling novel "The Forbidden Garden," by Ursula Curtiss, and adapted for the screen by Theodore Epstein, "Aunt Alice" unites for the first time two leading actresses of today, Geraldine Page and Ruth Gordon.

Geraldine Page plays a very polite and well bred murderess whose drastic get-rich-quick system results in a series of strange disappearances in the garden... all of them her housekeepers. The role is quite different from the delicate Southern heroine which brought stardom to Miss Page on stage and screen.

Memoirs Of Chief Red Fox Assailed

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Chief William Red Fox, the Sioux Indian who claims to be 101 years old, said Friday he paid $100 for information figuring in a plagiarism suit and "I have done nothing wrong."

Interviewed at his austerly furnished ground floor apartment here, Red Fox said: "I want the people of Corpus Christi to know I have done nothing wrong. I don't know why they're picking on me."

The New York Times reported that "The Memoirs of Chief Red Fox," which has gone through seven printings and sold about 100,000 copies, has had its authenticity questioned by leading American Indian experts and persons familiar with the places and events mentioned.

The Times also said the author has been accused in a lawsuit of plagiarizing 12,000 words from a book published in 1940 by James McGregor and entitled "The Wounded Knee Massacre" from the viewpoint of the Sioux.

Red Fox's memoirs were published by McGraw-Hill Inc., the same firm which paid $750,000 for what two grand juries have called "a bogus autobiography" of billionaire Howard Hughes.

Red Fox wrote his book with the help of Cash Asher, a Corpus Christi author. Asher was not available for comment Friday.

Red Fox admitted paying $100 for eight or nine handwritten pages of notes about the classic Indian fight at Wounded Knee, which he obtained from a printer in Minneapolis. He said he also received two pairs of moccasins, some beaded cuffs and an armband.

"I bought the material in the presence of Alfred Standing Bear and Martin Red Bear, two Sioux Indians," the old man said. "I was up that way and it was cold weather. I was going to Pine Ridge (an Indian reservation in South Dakota) to talk to some of my friends and get some historical information. But I ran into this printer, who said the material I was looking for that he had, had never been published."
