House Downs State Liquor Control Move

First Ballot Directed At 18th Amendment Since Its Passage Is Taken Monday Before Crowded Galleries

Both Sides Pleased

Vote Is 227 To 187 With Big Number Not Voting; Wets Pleased With Gain While Drys Are Confident

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The house today refused by a 227 to 187 vote to consider a state-control prohibition amendment.

This decision was made before crowded galleries in the first ballot directed at the 18th amendment since the Volstead act was passed in July, 1919, with 100 negative votes.

Ninety-seven Republicans and ninety Democrats, drawn chiefly from large industrial states and cities, joined in the unsuccessful effort to bring up the home-rule amendment sponsored by organized wets of both parties. Four of the six women members were in this group.

Kvale Joins Drys

Their defeat was accomplished by a combination of 114 Democrats, 112 Republicans and Representative Kvale of Minnesota, the lone Farmer-Laborite.

Speaker Garner, prominent as a Democratic presidential possibility, presided over the session which attracted more members and greater crowds than any since he took the chair. However, he did not vary the customary practice of voting only when there is a tie.

Representative Rainey, Democratic leader and prohibitionist, voted for the discharge petition. Representative Snell, Republican leader, voted against it.

Both Sides Applauded

When results of the vote were announced by Garner, anti-prohibitionists in both parties arose and applauded.

Representative Linthicum of Maryland, leader of the Democratic wet bloc, hailed the vote as "a trend of the times toward a sane system."

"The fight is all but won," Linthicum said in an interview. "All we need is one more election."

Representative Beck of Pennsylvania, leader of Republican wets, said in a statement:

"No one can be blind to the fact that the result was a moral victory for the wet cause. When congress meets next December in short session, we can again submit the question of repeal, if not in its present form, then as a straight repeal of the 18th amendment.

Significant To Republicans

"It is significant that a majority of the affirmative votes were members of the Republican party.

"Today's vote makes it plain that if the Republican party adopts a dry platform in June it will court disaster at the polls."

Representative Cooper, Ohio Republican and prohibitionist, said:

"The wets seem to have made considerable gain since last year. They may get some encouragement from today's vote but it is a long way from the two-thirds majority."

HOW THEY VOTED

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—Here is how the house voted on the motion to consider submission of a state-control prohibition amendment:

Democrats voting for: 90; Republicans voting for: 97; total voting for consideration: 187; Democrats voting against: 114; Republicans voting against: 112; Farmer-Labor voting against: 1; total voting against consideration: 227; not voting: Speaker Garner: 1; Democrats: 14; Republicans: 4; total not voting 19; vacancies: 2; total house membership: 435.

Tribute Paid To Memory Of The Cowboy As Dancers Trip To Old Time Tunes In Trailers 'Shindig'

"Then quaff with me a bumper of water, clear and pure
To the memory of the cowboy whose fame must e'er endure—
From the Llano Estacado to Dakota's distant sands,
Where were herded countless thousands in the days of fenceless lands:
Let us rear for him an altar in the Temple of the Brave,
And weave of Texas grasses a garland for his grave;
And offer him a guerdon for the work that he has done,
With cattle, cattle, cattle and sage and sand and sun."

THE scene might well have been laid in one of the palatial ranch homes of the late '90's—in one far corner, drawn to standstill a covered chuck wagon stood as silent sentinel to the throng of merrymakers, the stain of mud encasing its mammoth wheels and the harness of a mighty team thrown carelessly across the backboard.

Members of the Trailers club last night were guests of Ross Edwards and his orchestra at an old-time dance, staged at the Uptown Dance palace. More than 200 local and out of town persons attended the affair, which started early and lasted until——.

Barely a sign of present-day dress could be seen in the colorful crowd which thronged the dance floor. The men were dressed in the garb of the early range, five and ten gallon hats, boots, corduroys and here and there slung across a hip could be seen a six-shooter, ranging in size from a wee .32 to the powerful .45. And women, they were

Lubbock Co-Op Office Ranks Second In Texas In Number Of Bales Handled In Season

Only Waco Outstrips District Office Here In Total Of 1931 Crop; 95,000 Bales Are Received Here

With approximately 95,000 bales of cotton handled by the Lubbock district office of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association out of the 1931 cotton crop, the district is leading the north and northwestern sections of the state and ranks second only to Waco in total bales handled, says N. H. Payne, field representative.

The Lubbock office handled so far approximately 17,000 bales, more than the Wellington office, which was first last year.

Branch offices still open are: Lubbock, Ralls, Littlefield, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Wellington and Memphis.

The increase for the 1931 crop over the 1930 crop is approximately 15,000 bales. There is still some cotton coming in as farmers are selling their holdovers.

There were nearly a score of branch offices in the district this year. Besides Lubbock, they were located at: Plainview, Ralls, Shamrock, Wheeler, Mobeetie, Childress, Vernon, Chillicothe, Paducah, Wellington, Littlefield, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Levelland, Tahoka, Brownfield, Memphis, Quanah, Amherst and Anton.

Frank Berg, Involved In Attempted Kidnaping Of Eatontown, N. J., Manufacturer, To Be Questioned

Case Still Cloudy

No New Developments Seen In Activities Monday Although "Go-Betweens" Say Child Is Alive, Safe

(By The Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., March 14.—Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf announced tonight that Frank Berg, who police said was involved in the attempted kidnaping several years ago of Max Phillips, Eatontown, N. J., manufacturer, had been located and arrangements made to question him tomorrow in the Lindbergh investigation.

"It was reported in a previous bulletin," said Schwarzkopf "that the police were looking for Frank Berg, who was involved in the attempted kidnaping of Max Phillips of Eatontown, N. J. Frank Berg has been located by police and arrangements are being made to question him tomorrow."

Col. Schwarzkopf was asked to clarify statements regarding inquiry into Denver, Colo., gangsters and the subsequent exoneration of Roma and associates.

No Fingerprints Found

"Investigation of Roma and associates," he reiterated, "to date has not disclosed any connection with this case. "No sets of fingerprints were found in the nursery and as repeatedly stated before no fingerprints of the criminals have been discovered.

"Many articles of baby clothing in all kinds of condition have been reported to the police. In each instance these have been very carefully investigated and none has been found to be, in any way, connected with this case.

"It has been repeatedly stated that the "Lindbergh" dog was in the kitchen and the servants dining room at various times during the evening (of the kidnaping) but that most of the time he was in the kitchen and servants' quarters and he was in the usual places on the evening of the kidnaping.

Cut Ordered In Gas Rates

State Railroad Commission Rules Borger Levy Must Be Reduced To 40 Cents; First Case Acted Upon

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 14.—A 20 per cent cut in the rate charges domestic and commercial in Borger was ordered by the Texas railroad commission today.

The city commission had passed an ordinance arbitrarily ordering a reduction in the rate charged by the Panhandle Power and Light company. The company appealed to the railroad commission and after it posted a bond the commission ordered the ordinance suspended pending determination of the case. The bond was to insure rebate to consumers in event the commission found the existing rate too high.

This decision is the first of several pending on appeals before the commission.

The Borger rate was ordered reduced from 50 cents for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas to 40 cents. Consumers will be entitled to rebates on all bills paid since last June, when the city acted to cut gas charges.

Son Of Late St. Louis Millionaire Must Make Another Try For Fortune

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Vincent Kerens will have to make another try for the $2,000,000 prize which depends upon convincing a court he has been sober and behaved himself for five years.

The supreme court today refused to review the decision of a circuit court of appeals that the son of the late Richard C. Kerens, St. Louis millionaire and former ambassador to Austria-Hungary, had not conducted himself properly for five years.

The father had tried to reform his son during his life time and these efforts failing he left a provision in his will which said Vincent should get his $2,000,000 share in the estate if he could convince the trustee he had passed five consecutive years of continued sobriety and good behavior."

He finally succeeded in convincing the trustee, the St. Louis Union Trust company, that he had been good from 1923 to 1928 but his sisters, Mrs. Gladys Kerens Colket and Mrs. Madeline Kerens Kenna, were not convinced. The appellate court later said it was evident the trustee had made no attempt to investigate charges against Kerens and had not taken into account attempts he made to deceive the trustee to get his money in the past.

Kodak King Leaves Note Saying His Work Is Done

(By The Associated Press)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 14.—George Eastman shot and killed himself at 12:50 p. m., today, leaving this simple note for his friends:

"My work is done. Why wait?"

He was a multimillionaire of diversified interests, long recognized as developer and head of one of the world's greatest industries and celebrated for philanthropy that reached the staggering total of more than $75,000,000.

Asked Attendants To Leave

Lately in failing health, he had been confined to his bed in his Rochester home on East Avenue. There today he asked attendants to leave his side.

A moment later they heard the shot that destroyed him. Among them was his personal physician, Dr. Audley D. Stewart, who announced the suicide nearly two hours later.

Mr. Eastman was a bachelor in his 78th year. He had few, if any relatives.

Stock Depressed

With report of his death, the stock of the Eastman Kodak company was depressed $8 on the New York exchange. It recovered partially. Mr. Eastman's simple note, which was addressed "to my friends," was left at his bedside.

Several friends, most of them connected with the Eastman company, held a sick-room conference with him earlier in the day. He seemed cheerful, they said, and the business of the company was not discussed. They signed a codicil to his will as witnesses, but failed to suspect his plan.

Contents Not Divulged

Before sending the attendants from his room he dictated a letter to a private secretary. Its contents were not divulged. The suicide note he wrote in his own hand.

Bankers familiar with Eastman affairs were convinced his act was

Highway 137 Contract Will Be Let April 5

Tentative Schedule Is Given For County Contract; Road To Be Of Caliche-Asphalt Construction

Letting of a contract for the surfacing of highway 137 in Lubbock county between the junction with No. 24 west of Texas Tech and the Hockley county line west of Wolfforth, is tentatively scheduled for the next letting at Austin on April 5, according to Guy R. Johnston, resident engineer here. Distance to be paved is approximately 13 miles and the sufrace will be caliche base with an asphalt top, the same as on highway No. 7 northwest of town.

The letting of 12 miles in Cochran county from Whiteface to Morton is tentatively set for the same days. This is the first unit of work for the county and the surfacing will be caliche base with an asphalt top. Later it is planned to complete highway 24 west to the state line west of Morton.

As far as is known here these are the only contracts on the tentative list for the April letting.

Much Of Work Completed On Highway 7

Sixty-eight per cent of the caliche base work on Highway No. 7 northwest of Lubbock has been completed by the contractors.

A section north and west of Shallowater has been completed and is open to the public. Winter weather the past week has delayed the spreading of caliche to some extent.

Hindenberg To Oppose Hitler

Grand Old Man Of Germany Polls Seven Million Vote Margin Over Nearest Opponent In Elections

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, March 14.—President Von Hindenberg, still first in the hearts of the reich, agreed today to the formality of running again for re-election and the opposition parties began dickering for advantage on the second vote April 10.

Awakened to hear the result, the venerable former field marshal expressed deep satisfaction over the seven million vote margin he rolled up in Sunday's election over Adolf Hitler, his nearest competitor, and informed a delegation he would continue to stand as a candidate in the compulsory run-off.

While his re-election is considered certain, the maneuvering of political leaders indicated that he would fight his major battle with Hitler, head of the national socialists (fascists) who has already announced he would run again in an effort to increase his eleven million votes.

The president failed by only 169,752 votes to get a majority over all opponents but on the next ballot he will need only a simple plurality.

Texas Couple And Little Niece Are Victims Of Gas-Filled Tourist Cabin In Kansas; Inquest To Be Held

(By The Associated Press)

NEWTON, Kansas, March. 14—A tourist camp proprietor late today broke in the door of one of his cabins near here and found the bodies of L. B. Laatz, his wife and her niece Norma Jean Gage, two of Spearman, Tex., grouped about a burning gas stove. The stove had no flue.

Dr. M. C. Martin, Harvey county coroner, expressed belief the three had died of axphyxiation but was undecided as to whether an inquest would be necessary.

Jess Gage, Marseilles, Ill., father of Mrs. Laatz, notified police tonight he would arrive here tomorrow. He said the three were on their way back to Spearman after visiting relatives in Marseilles. Laatz was about 29 years old and his wife 25.

H. A. Fisher, the tourist camp proprietor, said the couple rented the cabin late Sunday night and that he became alarmed tody when he noticed no signs of activity.

Seven Positions Open In Federal Building Staff Here

The custodian force at the new federal building here will comprise seven persons, it was revealed in announcements of examinations for that number of places Monday. Applications will be taken to the close of April 2.

The examinations are for junior steam engineman, stationary boiler fireman, four laborers and a charwoman. Information as to the examinations may be had at the postoffice. In filling the vacancies, preference will be given to eligibles residing in this locality, it was said.

Strength Of Candidates To Be Determined

Roosevelt And Murray Will Fight It Out In North Dakota Primaries; Hoover's Power To Get Test Too

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14.— The middle west tomorrow will furnish its first evidence of how presidential winds may be blowing there with the polls of North Dakota providing tests of strength for prominent contenders.

Governor Roosevelt of New York and Governor Murray of Oklahoma will fight it out for the state's delegates to the Democratic national convention. Hoover strength will be gauged too, for there are two sets of prospective Republican delegates in the field, one pledged to the chief executive and the other uninstructed but regarded as anti-Hoover.

Roosevelt Enters More

Roosevelt today reached out for new states to conquer, with a formal bid for the support of Florida, West Virginia and California. He signed certificates of candidacy entering his name in the primaries to be held in those states within the next few months.

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith today said if the Massachusetts delegation is pledged to him, it will be free to vote for another candidate if it becomes evident he had been eliminated from consideration of the convention. He would not name any one candidate to whom he would prefer the votes go.

A heavy ballot was predicted for the North Dakota primaries, as an issue of much local interest—a proposal that the state capital be transferred from Bismark to Jamestown—also is to be settled.

Jones Boys Will Bring Stock Here

Believed to hold the record as the county coming the longest distance to exhibit at the Panhandle South Plains Fat Calf-Pig-Cured Meat show, to be held here March 24 and 25, Jones county, located approximately half way between Lubbock and Fort Worth, has announced that contestants will be here.

C. C. Jobson, county agent, states that Four-H club boys of his county will enter 25 calves and 12 pigs in the livestock division. Mr. Jobson did not indicate how many boys would be here but, according to rules of the show, no one boy may enter more than two calves and two pigs.

Despite the fact that Fort Worth has a show similar to the one to be in Lubbock, Jones county chose to enter its exhibits here.

State Leader Declares Oath To Stand Pat

Senator Thomas B. Love And Others Question Right Of State Committee To Put Loyalty In So Strict

Not To Reconsider

Carr P. Collins, Member Of Committee Says He Believes Group Erred In Setting Restriction

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, March 14. —The party loyalty pledge required of Texas Democrats will stand against assaults of its enemies, it became reasonably apparent today, unless, of course, the courts should invalidate it.

W. O. Huggins, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, announced that barring a request from a majority of the committee he would not call that body to meet again and reconsider its decision to require precinct convention voters to pledge support to the party's presidential and vice presidential nominees, as well as its electors. The prospects for such a request, it was conceded, would be slight.

Stated Stand In Letter

Mr. Huggins took his stand in a letter to Thomas B. Love of Dallas, former state senator, who had insisted to the chairman the committee should reconsider.

Carr P. Collins of Dallas and Ed H. Sterley of Fort Worth, both committee members, issued statements during the day on the matter, Mr. Collins saying the committee's action had been a "mistake," which should be rescinded and Mr. Sterley expressing the opinion the pledge would be altered or modified if it were found to offer the menace of a serious division within the ranks.

Dallas Committeeman Says Act Should Be Revoked

DALLAS, March 14. (AP)—Carr P. Collins of Dallas, member of the Democratic state executive committee, said today he believed the committee made a mistake last week in voting to require a loyalty pledge of voters at precinct conventions and that the resolution should be rescinded.

"It seems to me the matter is 'res adjudicata,' as a lawyer would say," he explained. "The matter of a pledge was decided in the Love case in 1928 by the supreme court. To require a pledge again would be simply to rehash the same fight.

Should Rescind Resolution

"I did not vote for the pledge resolution at the meeting last week in Fort Worth and am opposed to it. I think the committee should have another meeting soon and rescind the resolution."

Former State Senator Thomas B. Love, leader of the "ultra dry" faction which bolted the Democratic party in 1928 and voted for Herbert Hoover, made public yesterday an open letter to W. O. Huggins of Houston, chairman of the state executive committee, protesting against adoption of the pledge and requesting that the committee reconsider its action.

Cites Court Decision

Love cited the supreme court's decision against the pledge in 1928, when he obtained a writ of mandamus compelling the committee to place his name on the ballot as a candidate for governor, in spite of the fact he would not pledge support of party nominees, due to his

Part Of Japan's Expeditionary Army Ordered Back Home; Probe Is Started

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, March 14.—Part of Japan's expeditionary force to China—numbering about 12,000 men—has been ordered to leave Shanghai for home "in view of the steady improvement in the situation," the war office announced today.

After obtaining the approval of Emperor Hirohito it was decided to withdraw the 11th division of Lieutenant General Kenkichi Uyeda's forces, one brigade of the twelfth division and some auxiliary units.

General Uyeda's expedition was dispatched to Shanghai about a month ago after bluejackets from the fleet regularly stationed in Chinese waters had been unable to drive the defending Chinese army from their positions in Chapei, Kiangwan and Woosung. It was subsequently augmented by reinforcements and General Uyeda was replaced in command by General Yoshinori Shirakawa.

Lubbock Women Turn Interest To Church Society Meetings Monday

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

ACCOMPANIED by Susie the Steno, this angler is going South for a few weeks and will write in about whatever adventures are presented. We are even leaving on the thirteenth of the month so the adventures may appear, although there is no particular anticipation at this writing.

The time is to be spent in some plain and fancy loafing. However, if Susie and I can find anything happening down on the coast we shall be glad to report it for such readers as this column has. Also, if we find it warm and balmy, notes will be sent in for you to enjoy during the spring sandstorms. Then, next summer while we are sitting around here watching the sidewalks fry, you can send us postcards from mountain resorts to make us envious.

EASTER SALAD

SINCE Easter is near and eggs are cheap, here is an attractive salad to prepare from eggs. Hard boil the eggs and separate the whites and yolks. Arrange crisp lettuce leaves in individual portions, make a nest of chopped egg whites in each and in the center place a hard cooked egg yolk.

CHARMING CUSTOM

THIS talk of loafing is a reminder of something that occurred at the last City Federation meeting. Miss Lallah Boone, in talking about France, remarked that she found the French custom of having breakfast in bed one of the most charming of the country. To which the federation president, Mrs. A. T. Biggers, remarked that she, too, found it charming, except that it is necessary for her to crawl out and cook breakfast before getting back into bed to eat it.

NOT RESPONSIBLE

SOMEONE has telephoned in to remind me that I am responsible for all of this cold weather. Just because of that prediction during the sunny weather, too.

Of course, it is gratifying to have one's predictions come true, but that was a thousand-to-one chance. Pessimism entered in but it was grounded in experience.

THE conversation recently turned to society and a newcomer's remark was that Lubbock has little real sicety. She mentioned the lack of big parties.

During this spring there have been fewer large parties than during other seasons, to be sure, but here is a thing that you may have noticed. Parent-teacher associations are engaged all of the time. Study clubs continue to function and occassionally a new one is formed. Church gatherings continue to draw several hundred women each week.

While the entertaining may be done on a smaller scale, interest in cultural things is growing. Charity work continues by many people and missionary work has the same patronage that it has enjoyed other seasons.

Growing In Beauty

THAT West Texas is growing in beauty is evidenced in the number of garden clubs that are being organized over the section. Ralls and Crosbyton have each recently formed clubs and are planning extensive beautification programs in the towns. Lubbock's garden club is expanding in membership and projects this year and is drawing outside interest in civic enterprises.

Over in Ralls they are following a five-year plan of beautification, which is a commendable thing for a new club to do. Trees, flowers and shrubs usually help in beautifying a place if they are planted without any sort of plan. The effect is much more beautiful, however, if a plan is followed. And this organization is to work in co-operation with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in a general program of beautification for this section.

These prairies out here have a peculiar beauty that few of us would have marred with tall trees. However, where there are improvements, there is additional beauty in trees, flowers and other growing things. West Texas towns can become practical oases when they are filled with growing things.

Seven Church Societies Hold Gatherings During Afternoon

Law Enforcement, Tithing And Bible Study Are Subjects For Discussion; Attendance Is Unusually Large

Scores of Lubbock women attended church gatherings Monday afternoon in observance of the weekly church society day in the city. For the First Presbyterian church, it was the last meeting in the old church year and an installation service for new officers was conducted. Programs on tithing, law enforcement and mission and Bible study were heard at several meetings.

Baptist Society Has Program On Missions

Mission programs were conducted at meetings of the First Baptist W. M. S. in units in the homes of various members. Mrs. J. K. Miller, 1910 Avenue H, entertained for members of Circle 3. Mrs. A. S. Eads conducted the devotional lesson. There were five women present.

Ten woman attended a program on tithing for members of Circle 6 at the home of Mrs. O. D. Carter, 2022 15th street. Mrs. J. A. Fortenberry led the devotional lesson. Others making talks were Mesdames Tom Pearce, C. A. Paulger, S. J. Glaze, J. D. Carnett and Carter. Mrs. Carter sang a vocal selection.

Mrs. J. E. Alexander was elected personal service chairman to succeed Mrs. J. C. Freeman, resigned, at a meeting of Circle 9 with Mrs. J. T. Bullock, 2318 8th street. Mrs. W. A. Stahl, chairman, presided during the business session. Mrs. J. M. Ford was elected Margaret Mother for the unit.

A mission program on financing missions was presented by Mesdames Willie Macha, W. D. Haney, J. W. Thompson, Stahl and Alexander. Mrs. W. M. Lowrimore led a devotional lesson. There were 10 present.

Mrs. Raymond Levy was received as a new member in Circle 8 when the unit met with Mrs. T. C. Lamb, 711 Avenue Q. Mrs. J. B. Vickery was a visitor and eight members were present. A missionary program was heard. The circle will meet next with Mrs. Roy McCravey, 1637 8th street.

Mrs. C. N. James presided for a short business session at a meeting of Circle 5 with Mrs. F. B. Malone, 1917 10th street. There were ten women in attendance. Missions were studied. Those taking parts were Mesdames I. S. Doak, F. P. Clark, John L. King and Malone. Mrs. J. I. Noah led the devotional lesson.

Mrs. Fred Litton taught a Bible lesson when members of Circle 1 met with Mrs. W. H. Trice, 1921 16th street. Mrs. Fern Gunn was elected chairman to succeed Mrs. G. M. Pearson, who moved to San Antonio to make her home.

The devotional was led by Mrs. R. W. Washington at a meeting of Circle 11 with Mrs. W. A. Lyles, 2105 27th street. Talks were made by Mesdames A. E. Jones, J. D. Casey, W. A. Lyles and L. R. Johnston. Others present were Mesdames D. Williford and H. G. Smith.

Christians Are In Circle Meetings

Bible study and special music featured meetings of the First Christian society in units Monday afternoon.

Mesdames J. A. Hodges and C. D. Shaw entertained for Circle 1 in the home of the former hostess at 1320 14th street.

Mrs. W. R. Blake was program chairman. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. W. R. McCarroll and following this songs of rivers were sung. These included "Wabash," "Sewannee River," "Where the River Shannon Flows" and "On Jordan's Stormy Banks."

Four reports on welfare work were given during a business session.

Those present were Mesdames Felix Kelly, J. O. Jones, James Eubank, H. W. Moore, McCarroll, Paul Morgan, J. F. Gregory, S. J. McFarland, F. R. Mays, O. A. Terry, J. C. Dean T. Teal, Blake, and W. P. Jennings.

Mrs. W. T. Milam led the devotional lesson and Mrs. G. E. Dawson read the scripture lesson when Circle 4 met with Mrs. R. L. Howell with Mrs. R. D. Allen as joint hostess.

Reports were madek of 132 sic calls and 35 chapters read in the Bible since the last meeting.

Those present were Mesdames Grady Ashley, A. T. Biggers, Joe Coursey, Roscoe Cowart, G. E. Dawson, C. O. Marquart, Milam, J. D. Walker, R. W. Walker, E. C. Young, La Verne Kershner, and W. L. Harbison. Mrs. R. L. Allston was a visitor.

How to Escape FLU and Grippe

1 Avoid so far as possible the places where germs are most likely to be spread; overcrowded cars and public meeting places; overheated, stuffy rooms.

2 Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose, get fresh air, but avoid drafts or chilling.

3 Gets lots of rest. Drink plenty of water. Keep the bowels open. Take extra precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have normal resistance against germs.

4 Try, particularly, to avoid catching cold. Colds lower your resistance to disease germs. At the first sign of any cold, take Bayer Aspirin; remain indoors if possible until your cold is gone. And if you have a sore throat, dissolve some Bayer Aspirin tablets in water and gargle; this relieves the soreness, and it usually reduces the inflammation.

5 If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor at once.

WHY SHE DIDN'T MARRY — by ALBERT DORNE

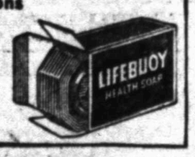

Face the truth about "B.O." (Body Odor)

NO ONE IS SAFE! Even though we seem to perspire scarcely at all, pores give off a quart of odor-causing waste daily. Others are quick to notice even a hint of body odor about us. Play safe—use Lifebuoy! Its creamy, abundant, penetrating lather purifies and deodorizes pores—ends all "B.O." worries. Helps protect health by removing germs from hands. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent vanishes as you rinse.

Aids complexions

Massage the face thoroughly every night with Lifebuoy's pure, bland lather. Then rinse. Lifebuoy is kind to the skin—helps keep complexions fresh, youthful, radiant.

Two Infields Changed By Big Trade

Dodgers And Reds Involved When Trades Made

(By The Associated Press)

TAMPA, Fla., March. 14. — The trade winds, wafting rumors through the camps of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds for the past few weeks, blew up a sudden gale today that lifted Babe Herman, Ernesto Lomberdi, and Wally Gilbert into the ranks of the Reds, and carried Joe Stripp, Tony Cuccinello, and Clyde Sukeforth over to the Dodgers.

It was by far the biggest trade of the year and it completely reorganized the infields of the two National League clubs. In addition the Reds acquired in Herman one of the most colorful outfielders in the game, a tremendous drawing card in Brooklyn for the past six years, a .393 clouter in 1930 who fell off to .313 last season.

The trade was fostered by club difficulties with at least three of the six players involved over contracts for the coming season.

To make up for the loss of Herman, at times an indifferent fielder but always a slugger, the Robins have gained two of the finest young infielders in the league. Stripp, at third base, hit .306 and .324 in his last two years with the Reds while Cuccinello, only 25 years old and a brilliant second baseman has averaged .312 and .315 in two years of major league play.

To replace Stripp at third base, the Reds now have Gilbert, a steady fielder, who came up to the Dodgers in 1928 from Atlanta and has batted an average of .281 over four seasons. He reached his high in 1929 when he hit .304, but he slipped to .294 in 1930 and .266 last season. The Reds gained Lombardi, with Oakland in the Pacific Coast league last year, a long distance hitter, a bit slow, but a fine prospect. He hit .297 in brief periods of action last season, while Sukeforth, on the Reds catching staff for the past five years, averaged only .256 in the 1931 campaign. Sukeforth's major league average over the five year is .277, with a high of .354 for 84 games in 1929.

Sukeforth's future prospects were further endangered by a hunting accident last fall when a gunshot wound in the head almost cost his his sight.

Marshall College Cagers Out Of School; No Title Playoff

TERRELL, March. 14. (AP)—Officials of the College of Marshall today notified Texas Military college that because several members of their basketball team have withdrawn from school, they will be unable to play a scheduled series of three games to decide the "all junior college" championship of Texas.

The challenge was accepted Saturday and Texas Military had agreed to ply all of the games in Marshall.

Changes Made In Highway Offices

Hugh A. Wallace, maintenance superintendent of the state highway department for the Lubbock division, is being transferred to a new division at Brownwood, where he will be warehouse superintendent The division is one of seven created recently by the highway department in a reorganization of its work over the state.

John Hymes, bookkeeper here, has been transferred to Brownwood as bookkeeper there. The changes are effective March 16.

The two offices here, one formerly in the Cotton Exchange building and the other on the third floor of the Myrick building have been moved to the sixth floor of that building in larger and more convenient quarters. Office is in room 615.

Joe H. Caldwell is remaining as maintenance engineer and Guy R. Johnston as resident engineer in charge of construction.

Little Change In Lineup But More Strength

Former Wichita Falls Infield Expected To Be Stronger In 1932 American League Fight Is Manager's Belief

(By The Associated Press)

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 14.—Without making any notable shifts in the cast of St. Louis Browns that finished fifth last year Manager Bill Killefer looks for more speed, aggressiveness and consistent punch to make his club a factor in this season's American League race.

After long negotiations Fred Schulte and Goose Goslin have signed contracts but Ralph Kress, slated for the other outfield berth, is still unsigned.

"Kress will play better ball if not shifted around so much," said Killefer. "He will assure us plenty of outfield punch."

The club has at least five .300 clouters, with Rick Ferrell, catcher, and Oscar Melillo, a second baseman, able to wield the stick in support of the outfield trio. Ferrell also has been a stubborn holdout.

To take advantage of these hitting prospects, Killefer has drilled his men in base running to a greater extent than any other manager in Florida. The Browns' sliding pit is almost a novelty in the grapefruit belt where the world champion Cardinals make up the only other club making the most of old fashioned stealing tactics.

Stewart Is Needed

The Browns' pitching staff won't look natural until Walter (Lefty) Stewart, one of the league's best southpaws, gets into shape after his annual holdout session. Stewart has had better years than 1931 but he still represents about 35 per cent of the club's pitching strength.

To support him, Killefer counts on much improved work by Sam Gray, the veteran right hander, and Dick Coffman, who apparently has hit his real stride late last year when he scored a rare shutout triumph over Robert Moses Grove. George Blaeholder and Wally Hebert, 22-year old southpaw, will get the other starting jobs. Chad Kimsey, Americo Polli and Bob Cooney all will be kept, unless Rip Collins signs in time to make himself more useful than one of these men.

Former Spudders Counted

The infield will stand or fall on the showing of the erstwhile Wichita Falls stars, Burns, Levey and Storti, who have had a year's testing and figure to show improvement. Burns at first, is the most promising. Levy has promised to avoid the "bright lights." Storti has a rival at third in Jimmy McLaughlin, former Sacramento star.

Behind the bat, the veteran Benny Bengough is supplying his customary pepper, pending arrival of Ferrell, and will get a share of regular work.

Babe Ruth And Colonel Ruppert Still Unable To Make Terms; Hafey Holds

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 14. (AP)—Babe Ruth, baseball's most famous holdout, remained deadlocked today with Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, over salary terms for 1932.

After a half hour's conference they apparently were not much nearer agreement than they were two months ago when the Babe turned down a $70,000 contract, representing a $10,000 "cut."

The Colonel and the Babe insisted they stood on their original terms, the owner repeating his offer of $70,000 for one year only and the slugger countering with a demand for $80,000 again or, if he takes the cut, a two-year contract.

HAFEY'S ULTIMATUM GIVEN ST. LOUIS NEWSPAPER

ST. LOUIS, March 14. —(AP)—Chick Hafey, holdout slugger of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, has asked the club for a one-year contract at $17,000, after failing in a bigger demand.

"Club offers $13,000 and refuses to negotiate further," Hafey wired the St. Louis Post-Dispatch from his home at Berkeley, Calif. "Have asked $17,500 for two years. Submitting new proposition, $17,000 for one year. Working out regularly. In good condition. Ready to play. Refuse to leave California until terms agreed upon."

Hafey held out last spring after receiving $9,000 in 1930. He was signed late at $12,500 but was paid only $10,500 because of time lost. He led National League batters with an average of .3448.

HOUSTON, March 14. —(AP) — Branch Rickey, vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals, here to witness the Houston, Columbus and Rochester clubs of the Cardinal chain system in spring training, had no comment to make this afternoon on the reported demands of Charles "Chick" Hafey, Cardinal holdout outfielder, for $17,000 and a one year contract. The Cardinals are said to have offered Havey $13,000.

IT'S COSTING SIX BEAUMONT REGULARS TO AVOID CAMP

SAN ANTONIO, March 14. (AP)—When Manager Claude Robertson counted the Indian noses for the first workout for the complete squad this afternoon there were six regulars still missing.

Among these were Catcher Art Bradbury and infielders Ray Flaskamper, Captain C. F. Crossley and Charlie Gooch, all of whom have had orders to report.

President Homer Hammond announced that for every day these players are absent they will each be docked a day's pay.

Of the squad of 40 Robbie had about 30 on the field.

TIMELY HITTING GIVES BUFFS WIN OVER REDWINGS

HOUSTON, March 14. —(AP)—The timely base hitting of Mike Ryba, Hal Funk and Eddie Hock today carried Joe Schultz' Buffs to a 7-5 win over Billy Southworth's Rochester Red Wings, minor league champions. Ryba drove over three tallies, while Funk and Hock each sent two mates across. The victory gave Houston the lead in the round robin among the Buffs, Red Wings and Columbus Red Birds.

RADCLIFF AND JONES SIGN AND WORK WITH DALLAS

DALLAS, March 14. (AP)—Manager Happ Morse sent his Dallas Steers through two practice sessions today. Previous to the morning workout, Cowboy Jones and Rip Radcliff, outfielders, signed contracts. Radcliff led the Texas League in hitting last season. George Loepp, Henry Bonura and Tom Nash are still unsigned.

Morse is preparing his cohorts for an exhibition game Saturday against the St. Paul Saints.

BROWNS HOLDOUTS CAN SIGN OR PICK FRUIT ALL SUMMER

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 14.(AP)—Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns indicated today he has no intention of carrying on protracted negotiations with the three salary holdouts—Red Kress, Walter Stewart and Rick Ferrell.

"They'll either sign at what we've offered or they can pick fruit all summer," Ball said as he boarded a train for St. Louis.

Preliminaries For Lubbock County Playground Ball And Tennis Begin At Slaton And Lubbock On Saturday

Preliminaries in county playground baseball and tennis for schools in Lubbock county as the first step toward the Texas Interscholastic league tournament will be held at Slaton and Lubbock Saturday of this week, County Athletic Director Paul W. Wright announced yesterday.

Each school in the county desirous of entering a playground baseball team in the meet should file entry at once with Coach Wright at Slaton. First games will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and it is necessary that entries be in by Friday at the latest, Coach Wright urges that all entry lists be in his hands by Thursday.

Each ball team will be expected to bring at least one ball and one bat.

Tennis will be under the direction of Jimmie Gammill, and all entry lists should be filed immediately with him. He will receive the at the Canyon school. The preliminary tennis rounds will be held on the Texas Tech courts Saturday, starting at 9 o'clock.

Both playground ball and tennis survivors will meet here on March 19 in the county finals.

Dempsey is scheduled to box in exhibition there Wednesday night.

Limited Number Of Recruits To Be Taken By Army Here

Sergt. M. J. Miner, in charge of the Lubbock recruiting office, said Monday that a limited number of new men will be accepted here for enlistment in the United States army. The local station had been closed to new men's enlistments since Dec. 20.

Men accepted would be for service in the medical department at William Beaumont general hospital, veterinary service at Fort Bliss or Fort D. A. Russell, quartermaster corps at the same forts, or ordinance department at Fort Bliss. "Only young men who are not married, are in the best of health, and have at least completed the seventh grade in school will be accepted," Miner said.

Tigresses May Go Tomorrow To Celeste Go

Lubbock County Feminine Cage Champions Need Few Dollars To Insure Trip; Celeste Is Scene Of Meet On Thursday

SLATON, March. 14.—(Special) — Hopes were high here today that the Slaton High school Tigresses, basketball champions of Lubbock county in the girls division, would be entered in the state A. A. U. tournament which is to be held at Celeste, beginning Thursday of this week.

Slaton citizens responded to a call for finances with good grace, Coach Wilhite said today, and the members of the team themselves have agreed to meet part of their own expenses. It was hoped that final arrangements for sending two automobiles full of feminine basketball players to Celeste early Wednesday would be completed tomorrow.

Several dollars are still needed, however, and fans and friends in Slaton or Lubbock who would have a hand in sending the county champions to the state tournament will be given the opportunity. Communication should be made with Coach Wilhite or with the sports department of the Avalanche-Journal at Lubbock.

It is thought that Plainview and Dimmitt plan to send teams to the A. A. U. tournament. The Celeste girls won the 1931 tournament at Plainview. Teams from nearly ever section of the state were present at the Plainview tournament last year.

Seeded Netters Advance In National Tournament

American Stars Are Unsteady, Though Victorious

NEW YORK, March. 14.(AP) — Seeded stars of America and France continued to streak through the national indoor tennis tournament today as third round matches were completed, but hopes of an American victory in the final Saturday were not enhanced by the showing of two of this country's leading players. Frank Shields and George Lott, jr.,

Both won, along with 11 other seeded entrants, but they were far from impressive. Lott, No. 1 on the American list, turned back Young S. Ellsworth Davenport, 3rd. New York, 6-1, 11-9, while Shields silenced Lieut. Richard Watt, jr., Brooklyn navy yard, 6-4, 11-9.

Other favorites came through their third round matches with ease. Jean Borotra of France leading the way with a 6-0, 6-0, victory Over Merritt Cutler, New York.

Gregory Mangin, Newark, deefated E. Ramey, Donovan, Fordham University, 6-1, 6-1; Sidney Wood, jr., New York, eliminated Julius Tavelin, St. John's college, 6-3, 6-3. Christian Boussus, France, defeated Stanley Harte, New York University, 6-3, 6-4; Berkeley Bell, New York, recovered after an unsteady first set to down Frank Salichs, New York, 9-7, 6-1, and Eddie Jacobs, Baltimore, won from Morris Adelsberg, Cornell University, 6-2, 6-4.

Other survivors were: Julius Seligson, Eugene McCauliff, Edward Jenkins, jr., Harold Gerkin, Frank Bowden, and Lincoln Balberstadt, all of New York; Ernest Koslan of Hamilton, N. Y., and Antonie Gentien, third member of the French team.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

DES MOINES, March 14. (AP)—The executive committee of the Drake University board of trustees today accepted the resignation of Ossie Solem as athletic director and football coach, clearing his path of acceptance of the University of Iowa football mentor ship.

The resignation becomes effective May 1.

A MATTER OF BUSINESS

Agriculture is still America's biggest business! This fact—in a great industrial nation—means only one thing: that American prosperity still depends upon the farmer.

National "growing pains" have brought some problems to agriculture that demand specialized study and treatment. But, in the main, the farmer's business problems are those of all other business. Today, above all, he needs the advantages that come from a strong and worthwhile banking connection. Doing business with these strong banks which has served agriculture in this section for 32 years should be a major feature of every farmer's business program.

Why Japan Is Condemned

WHEN the material spirit grips a country as it has gripped Japan, all rules of logic that govern the thought of a people at peace seem instantly to be suspended. Otherwise Japan would hardly express the surprise it does at the world's reaction to its present course in China.

How can the world feel other than as it feels toward Tokio, particularly when it bears in mind those appalling conditions in interior China which Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh touched on in her radio plea for flood relief, and which David A. Brown, chairman of the American committee, discussed in larger detail?

The flood which swept the Yangtse basin last fall is the greatest natural disaster in recorded history—the greatest in number of lives destroyed, in property wiped from existence, in human beings pauperized, subjected to starvation, exposed to disease and thrown into abject wretchedness. Roughly, two-fifths of the huge population of China has been affected in greater or less degree by the catastrophe. Three hundred districts in 17 provinces were obliterated for weeks beneath the water. It was as if the Mississippi, between St. Paul and the Gulf, were suddenly to break its barriers and roam unchecked for leagues on either side, destroying the property and killing or endangering the lives of almost twice the population of the United States. The number of Chinese thus affected is given at 180,000,000.

Only now is the Chinese government, with such aid as it receives from without, beginning to get the aftermath of the calamity in hand. Through the fall and early winter its problem has been the preservation of life among millions of homeless, starving sufferers. Now it is faced with the problem of restoring these people to their land from which the water has receded, and supplying them with seed and facilities to plant their holdings. No other government today is faced or has even been faced, with so tremendous and urgent a task, and no one is subjected to the distractions which keep all authority in China on the verge of dissolution.

Japan, selecting such a moment to become an international hoodlum and turn its savagery loose on a stricken people, commends itself to the profound abhorrence of the civilized world. Japan, to whom the world rallied with quick, abundant sympathy when an earthquake struck its capital not many years ago, need not complain now that it is misunderstood when, instead of lending the solicitude and practical aid that flow from any well-disposed people to a neighbor in times of stress, it seeks to dismember a country already shattered in resources and morale by forces quite outside its own control.

MAN: BRAGGART

Man is an inconsistent animal at best. And he is a large bundle of boasting at all times. Associating the two traits men boast in one breath and call their fellows braggarts in the next. Though our dual standard of human appraisal will not permit of self-praise, the tradesman, the manufacturer and the auctioneer boast of the superiority of their wares and are not charged with complacency even by their competitors in business. Self-praise in individuals is not pardonable even of such individuals who can prove their boastful claims. The business man is never charged with braggadocio but he must make good his claims or bear the indelible stamp of the cheat and fraud. The boasts of men will always find them out.

Continuing the analysis this duality of boasting may be carried to communities, nations, fraternal orders, religious, racial distinctions, automobiles, horses, wives and so on down to pigs and whatnot. Boastful beings brag up their country, town, church, automobiles, and pigs and accuse the other fellow of prejudice and partisanship when he ventures to narrate the fine points of his country, political party and wife. "The faults which men condemn are their own."

There is an ancient fable which contemplates boasting in this manner:

A man walking with the noble animal, the lion, showed the lion in the ostentation of human superiority a sign of a man slaying a lion. Upon which the lion said very justly, we lions are none of us painters, else we could show a hundred men killed by lions for one lion killed by a man.

BACK-SEAT DRIVING

The "back-seat driver" has been the subject of many jokes, but S. Edward Gable president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, insists that this type is not a laughing matter. In his opinion, the adage that "two heads are better than one," is undependable in this motor age, when one clear head behind the wheel is far better than two or more trying to control the car from points of disadvantage in the rear or other seats.

Most automobile operators who have experienced this sort of thing will agree that the back-seat driver "comes in for censure and a word of admonition." The admonition Mr. Gable bestows is:

"If passengers do not feel at ease riding in a car without giving instruction and making suggestions regarding its operation, they should stay at home or use some other means of conveyance in which their suggestions and instructions, if uttered at all, can do no harm."

Yet back-seat driving was upheld last October by the West Virginia supreme court in awarding damages to a passenger for injuries suffered in an automobile accident. The court held that, although the driver of an automobile owes to his guest "reasonable care for his safety," the guest "must exercise reasonable care for his own safety, and when he knows that the driver is not taking proper precautions it becomes the duty of the guest to remonstrate."

Maybe so. But when such a necessity arises, it would be better for all concerned if the "guest" would get out and walk.

Poll Interests Capital

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Central Press Association's poll for presidential nominees, through its hundreds of client newspapers, covering the entire country, is attracting the attention of politicians in Washington as I never have known it to be attracted by a straw ballot before.

CHAS. P. STEWART

Such tests, even on a national scale, are not generally regarded in sophisticated political circles as particularly significant.

The reason is that they usually hinge, in each case, upon some single clearly defined issue; whereas, in a genuine election, votes are cast upon a plexus of issues.

FOR EXAMPLE, an individual who invariably will vote with the wets on an unqualified wet-and-dry test, may nevertheless vote for a dry candidate in an actual election, because he prefers the dry's economic views to his wet rival's and deems economics more important than the prohibition question.

Drys, to be sure, have a reputation for voting more solidly.

At any rate, it frequently has been remarked how often unofficial tryouts, seemingly indicating a predominance of wet sentiment in certain areas, have been followed by the triumph of dry candidates in the same areas.

NOT TO TAKE either side of the argument—

It is obvious that a straw test, to have much real meaning to practical politicians, must jumble up the issues in a fashion to enable all elements to cast their medley of ballots, not in two arbitrarily-divided heaps, but as a general average—from which, upon careful analysis, the expert can draw an intelligent conclusion.

This is exactly what the Central Press Association's poll promises to accomplish, by expression among presidential candidates.

JUST WHAT each presidential personality represents, as to ideas on vital public questions, of course is accurately known to all political students.

By a comparison and balancing up of their various totals, the experienced strategist can arrive at a mighty close estimate of broad trends, nationally and sectionally.

Candidatorial straw ballots have been taken, indeed, in individual localities already, but their scope has been too limited to justify predictions of any value beyond the borders of, here and there, a congressional district. National ballots have been taken again and again on the wet-and-dry question, but, as suggested above, they have given little notion of the voters' frame of mind as they are likely to record it next November, with many other questions at stake simultaneously.

IN THE CANDIDATES themselves politicians are perhaps less interested than are the masses of the voters, but they are intensely interested in the comparative strength of their respective philosophies.

Both by reason of its extent and character, the Central Press poll bids fair to supply them with a wealth of information on this subject.

The election itself will supply it, to be sure, eight months hence, but it will then be too late for party managers to profit by it insofar as the 1932 campaign is concerned.

To the country at large maybe the poll is no more than an entertaining experiment; to Capitol Hill and national headquarters in Washington it is an opportunity for a checking and correction of reckonings, possibly modification of policies and revision of plans in general.

Perhaps stunt flying helps aviation. It eliminates those who make it seem dangerous.

Always a safe assumption is that it's guilty until it can prove it's a mushroom.

Practical Health Problems

SOME AILMENTS SHARPEN MINDS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

THERE is a general impression that the child with some chronic disease is likely to be less intelligent than the one who seems wholly normal from a physical point of view. Actually this direct correlation between physical health and mental ability cannot be sustained.

Intelligence tests currently used are planned to show not only the ability to learn, but also the ability to reason. A special investigator for the Medical Research Council of Great Britain determined to make a study of the relationship of disease to intelligence by examining children before they were ill, during their illness, during their convalescence and after recovery, and comparing these results with examinations of their healthy brothers and sisters.

The investigation revealed the fact that some diseases seem to bring about a lowering of intelligence and a tendency to misbehavior, whereas others seem even to sharpen the intelligence.

Investigations were also made of the relationship of physique and stature to intelligence. Altogether, 1077 children in a hospital in Glasgow were examined and their records compared with those of their brothers and sisters.

Children who were suffering from rheumatism, pneumonia, or kidney disorders, which do not seem to have any relationship to the brain, were found to be just as intelligent as their brothers and sisters, who were healthful.

Only in cases where the disease affected the glands of internal secretion or the brain was there any appreciable departure from normal intelligence.

The interesting fact was observed that the intelligence seemed to be improved during the acute stage of any illness, probably due to the stimulation associated with fever and increased chemical activity in the body.

Children of higher intelligence had in general begun to walk and to talk earlier than those of lesser intelligence.

ANOTHER interesting observation was the correlation between height and intelligence, in that children of higher intelligence seemed to be slightly taller than the others. It must be remembered, however, that this study was made in Great Britain, and that a similar study made among races which are inclined to shortness of stature might yield a different result. One questions whether it would be found that the taller Japanese are any smarter than the short ones.

By JOAN CLAYTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beautiful ELLEN ROSSITER, a salesgirl in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her extragavent mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, her elder sister, MYRA, and her young brother, MIKE. The two girls support the family. Molly foolishly spends money saved to pay the rent. Ellen decides to work nights at Dreamland as a dance hall hostess until the sum is made up. The hostesses must wear evening dresses and Ellen has none.

STEVEN BARCLAY, 57 and Ellen's employer, sees the girl crying and discovers the situation. He lends Ellen a lovely frock when she refuses to accept it as a gift. Ellen forgets her wealthy employer's kindness when at Dreamland she meets handsome LARRY HARROWGATE, an artist. Ellen discovers Larry is engaged to ELIZABETH BOWES, a debutante. She is hurt that he has failed to tell her this, but though she believes him to be a philanderer, she continues to see him.

Ellen quarrels with her mother, refusing to break an engagement with Larry to accept one from Barclay. She goes to Coney Island with Larry and finds herself more and more in love with him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

Coney Island was having a record Sunday. Under a cloudless sky of electric blue lay an ocean the same shade filled with people who had fled the heat of the city for the heat of the amusement resort. The golden sand of the beach was completely hidden by the sweltering multitude. People sprawled under umbrellas, in steamer chairs, or lay face down on the beach, sun-tanning.

Policemen herded lost children while frantic mothers searched for little Jimmy or Ike or Jane. Picnic parties gorged on popcorn and hot dogs. Young husbands proudly paraded with their young wives. Pretty, pale-faced girls strolled in pairs, bright eyes alert for the chance of an escort. Lovers taught their sweethearts to swim. Lifeguards bobbed up and down in boats, listening for cries of help. It was a record Sunday.

"Honestly," said Ellen in an awed voice, "I've never seen so many people before. Never!"

"You mean so many that you wouldn't like to know," Larry amplified thoughtfully.

"Snob," she accused him.

"Certainly," he agreed. "So are you. Confess it—don't you think we're the nicest people at Coney Island, this afternoon?"

"Certainly we are," she agreed demurely, delightfully conscious of his hand on her bare arm, delightfully conscious of his nearness when the crowd pressed them together.

"Still want to swim with all of New York for company?"

"I still do."

They reached the bath house, Larry moaned when he perceived the long queue of sweltering men and women lined up for suits.

"My God," he said plaintively. Then he demanded, "Can't we do something about this? Buy somebody's place or something? There's a man, near front too, looks as if he'd be glad enough to sell."

"I suppose you've already got your tan at Palm Beach and don't care how the rest of us manage," Ellen said with mild sarcasm.

The annoyance faded from his face.

"Don't tease me, my child," he complained. "I was thinking of you, heaven knows I was. My heart falls at the thought of you in one of those suits. The trick seems to be getting every customer into a suit that doesn't fit."

He pointed to an extremely fat woman stuffed perilously into a black suit two sizes too small. She was emerging from one of the bath houses with a youngster of 10, a slender, wispish little girl almost falling out of a suit two or three sizes too large. Ellen giggled.

After all she and Larry didn't go into the ocean. They rode on the whip and in a gondola through a Venice that was moonlight blue and slightly too damp for comfort. They rode on the roller coaster. Ellen, like 100,000 other girls, shrieked as little red cars shot down shining tracks and dropped into what seemed miles of lighted emptiness.

"Hey, this idea was 100 per cent to the good!" caroled Larry as he steadied her in his arms. "I must have been missing things all my life."

They ate hot dogs from the hot dog wagon and cotton candy which melted under the tongue like sweetened air. They breathed mingled odors of sawdust and canvas and popcorn. They went to the sideshows and peered with fascinated horror into narrow booths. There the fat lady quivered like mountainous jelly. The cigaret fiend, thin as a snake, smoked endlessly. The sword swallower challenged his digestion with knives and nails.

"That reminds me," remarked Larry with the utmost seriouness, "I'm hungry."

"After all those hot dogs?" marveled Ellen, giggling at his foolishness.

"Only three of maybe four. You're hungry, too. You can't deny it. Your tongue's hanging out at the thought of food."

They lunched on the roof of the Midnight Moon Hotel, despite Ellen's feeble protests at such extravagance. They ate lobster Newburg and strawberry ice, with reckless disregard of their health, while from far below they heard steamboat whistles and saw the tiny golden circle of the ferris wheel turning over and over.

Then the stars came out.

"Listen, what time it is?" asked Ellen suddenly. "I've got to get to Dreamland and you promised to return the car to your friend."

"That doesn't matter," Larry replied carelessly as he leaned across

Letters To The Editor

Political Philosophy Is Applied To Fergusonism Here

Editor, The Avalanche: To understand the active, acrid and malignant opposition to James E. Ferguson—to appreciate the people's affection for him and the love and loyalty of his friends—it is necessary to know something of the history of men and nations as well as something of the man himself and of recent and current events in Texas.

History, like everything else, has its own philosophy, and to read it without availing oneself of that philosophy may make a full man but never a wise man. But if one reads history with the aid of that philosophy one cannot only have his own experience but the experience of mankind as "A light to guide his feet."

This reflection suggests the thought of Mirabeau, that; Everywhere, in all times, the aristocrats have implacably pursued the friends of the people and with ten fold implacability have they pursued that friend of the people when he chanced to have come from the aristocracy." The great Carlisle quoted this statement with approval and said that Mirabeau was not only an intellectual and patriotic giant but he was a "friend of man." This statement of Mirabeau was prompted by a consciousness of an oppression around him without parallel in the history of the world and on account of which came a revolution which changed the destiny of the human race. The statement was sustained by the history of all people. It found example in the fining and punishment of Pericles in the Athenian struggle between the aristocrats and the common people. Pericles was an aristocrat by birth, wealth and education. Early in life he took up the cause of the common people. As their leader he made Athens the wonder and admiration of his own and succeeding ages. Yet, at an opportune time the aristocrats expelled him from power, imposed a fine upon him, slandered and abused and sought to disgrace him.

The statement was further witnessed in the destruction of the younger Gracchus—the champion of the plebeian or common people of Rome and who was harrassed, pursued and destroyed by the patricians. The Bible records the fact of the Savior of man, that; "The common people heard him gladly," and the oppressors of that place and age crucified him. And so on through the ages of the world, from then until now, the struggle has gone on, the aristocrats—those who exploit the people—those who oppress the people—have "implacably pursued the friends of the people," the friends of the oppressed—the friends of those exploited, and with ten fold implacability have they pursued that friend of the people when he chanced to have sprung from their own ranks, "himself prosperous and fitted by chance and circumstances to have oppressed and exploited his fellow man. This is the history of those who exploit and oppress—of those who are exploited and oppressed.

Government has been the agency by and through which this exploiting—this oppressing has been done. So radical—so marked is the difference between the exploiter and the exploited—between the oppressor and the oppressed—so constant and insidious are the inroads and encroachments of the one upon the other that the philosophy of history persuades us that the difference between the two is inherent—is fundamental.

Whether it was the friction between the aristocrats and the polloi or plain people of Athens: the conflict between the plebians and patricians of Rome; the difference between the pharasee and the "common people" of Judea: the smouldering conflagration between the royalist and patriots of the France of Mirabeau, or the clash between the whig and tory, puritan and cavalier of England; or the purpose of those in this country who with constant persistence have sought to shape the course of othermen's lives by governmental interferences in all of those individual and domestic rights which make life worth living, while they would use the government to oppress and exploit the people, the struggle has gone on and will continue to go on so long as the strong oppress the weak or men seek to use the government for profit and to exploit the people.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 14. (AP)—Cotton prices slumped sharply during the final hour of trading today after a rather quiet mid-session when prices changed very little. A late slump in leading securities brought in general selling and liquidation, carrying active positions down to 75 cents a bale from early morning highs and down over a half dollar a bale net on the day. Final figures were the lowest of the day, May 6.85 to 6.88; July 7.02 to 7.04 and Oct. 7.21 to 7.32, losses of 13 to 15 points on the day and 14 to 15 points under the day's highs.

Unsettlement of foreign markets due to the Swedish financial entanglement resulted in small opening losses, active months losing 1 to 3 points on selling principally for foreign accounts.

The census bureau placed Feb. domestic consumption of cotton, not including linters, at 450,018 bales against 438,337 in Jan. This year and 433,376 in Feb. last year. Mill stocks end of Feb. were 1,-633,380 bales against 1,637,138 the end of Jan. and 1,380,381 end of Feb. last year. The association of cotton textile merchants report on cotton goods sales were considered bearish.

Port receipts 14,131; for week 29,460; for season 8,753,723; last year 8,335,665. Exports 73,931; for week 93,314; for season 6,346,339; last year 5,173,353. Port stocks 4,633,880; last year 4,001,381. Shipboard stocks at New Orleans, Houston and Galveston, 218,883; same day last year 96,276.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 14. (AP)—A slight opening decline in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables, was followed by recoveries on covering and trade buying in cotton during today's early trading but prices broke quite sharply later under southern selling and liquidation promoted by the weakness in the grain and stock markets. May contracts sold off from 6.99 to 6.86 in the late trading and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 10 to 12 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points under some overnight selling orders from the south and liquidation or scattered selling influenced by the rather easier tone of Liverpool.

After some little irregularity, prices worked up to about or a shade above yesterday's closing quotations with May advancing from 6.94 to 6.99 and October from 7.32 to 7.38.

Late prices broke into new low ground for the month with October selling off to 7.25 and closing quotations were at the lowest point of the day with active months showing declines of some 30 to 33 points from recent high prices.

Two Startling Suicides Cause Drops In Stocks; Sales Exceed 2,000,000

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 14. (AP)—Dull statistical studies of the nation's progress toward business improvement were swept aside in the principal security markets today as they turned their attention almost solely to the drama of two startling suicides.

The stock market spent most of the day trying to gauge the effects Ivar Kreuger's unexpected death might have on listed values and business conditions. Late in the trading day it was again caught unawares by another startling suicide announcement. The death of George Eastman probably caused no great amount of liquidation, for at no time was there any concern as to his own finances, but the sentimental effect was depressing. The founder of the kodak business that bears his name was highly esteemed in Wall street.

Sales on the stock exchange totaled 2,-034,045 shares, a fairly large proportion of which was believed to be for European account. It marked the first time in nearly a month that sales for any one day had passed the 2,000,000-share mark. Stocks declined 1 to 3 points in a majority of instances, but there were numerous specialties, and especially those stocks of companies in which Kreuger and Eastman interests were large, that declined more than 3 points. The average price of 90 stocks used in the Associated Press-standard statistics compilation was down 2.3 points.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN REPORT

KANSAS CITY, March 14. (AP)—Fed steers and yearlings were taken at weak to mostly 25 lower rates as compared with the close of last week while heifers and mixed yearlings brought steady to 25 lower figures. Majority of steers and yearlings were of quality to sell at 5.00-6.50 with a sizable supply of better grades at 7.00-8.50. Mixed yearlings and fed heifers cleared largely at 4.25-6.10 with a few up to 6.85. Stockers and feeders turned at steady to weak levels with the majority at 4.60-5.75. Kansas City reported a shipment of 846 lb stockers up to 6.25 while Omaha had a three load consignment of 889 lb. fleshy feeders at 6.90. Receipts of 52,900 at eleven markets exceeded by about 11,000 the arrivals of last Monday.

Lower levels prevailed on hogs around the circuit with values quoted at 10-25 under Friday's average trade. Chicago scored up to 5.00 for the day's top on best light weight butchers.

Lambs continued the generally higher trend effected last week and selling prices were listed as strong to 25 higher. The bulk of desirable wooled lambs made 6.50-7.50 with a few sorted loads of outsiders at 7.65-75. A few shipments of good to choice clipped kinds cleared at 6.50-7.00.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 14. (AP)—Wheat suffered a sudden maximum fall of 3 1-2 cents a bushel today, most of the loss after congress had defeated efforts toward repeal of prohibition.

A wave of stop loss selling started when the outcome of the prohibition repeal vote became known, and grain values gave way fast as the movement to relinquish ownership gathered impetus. Weakness of securities, especially during the late dealings, contributed to the unsettlement of cereals.

Wheat closed wavering at almost the day's bottom figures, 2 5-8, 3 3-8 under Saturday's finish, corn 1 1-8, 1 1-2 down, oats 3-4, 7-8 off and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12 cents.

Corn, oats and rye followed the lead of wheat. Country offerings of corn were of only moderate volume, but were well in excess of the shipping demand. An increase of 983,000 bushels in the corn visible supply, acted as a further weight on the market.

Provisions slanted downward in line with the course of hog values.

Closing indemnities —wheat— May 56 3-8, 1-2, 58 7-8, 59; July 58 1-8, 1-4, 60 7-8; Sep. 60 1-4, 62 3-4. Corn—May 37 5-8, 3-4, 38 7-8, 39; July 40 1-4, 3-8, 41 3-8; Sep. 41 1-2, bids.

And, frontiersmen that they were, even though they represent the greatest influence in this and nearby cities, hardly one of the hardy "punchers" boasted a shave.

Nestling farther back against the wall of the large building, the old Buckhorn Saloon did a thriving business last night. Decorated with its well remembered deer heads and glittering glassware, the "bar" had customers at almost every hour.

A sign in the center of the back bar warned "Kredit Is Dead." Another proclaimed that you could get "Hennessey, Two Bits." Still another carried a photo of a fearful looking "bandit." Its words — "$1,000 Reward for capture o fTexas Pete alias The Plainsman."

Opening with a grand march, led by Durwood Bradley and Mrs. W. O. Stevens, the dance swung into the steps of the early day. Waltz followed square dance and Paul Jones the schottische. Interspersed between dances a brief program had been arranged including the following numbers: Reading, Mrs. R. A. Mills; vocal solo, Mrs. J. H. Eubanks; tap dance, Mary Ross Edwards; reading Donald Bledsoe; vocal solo, Mrs. Joe Hilton, and a waltz clog, Ross Edwards and Mary Ross Edwards.

W. O. Stevens was floor manager and master of ceremonies for the evening, calling the dances as the orchestra swung into "She'll Be Coming Round The Moutain," or "When The Moon Comes Over The Mountain," to be followed by a snappy schottische.

Members of the orchestra, hosts for the affair, were Ross Edwards, director; Mrs. J. H. Eubanks, Miss Ruth Ford, Carl Beall and F. M. McDaniel.

Highway Work

ident engineer at Crosbyton has advised division offices here.

Last week the work was begun on the second course. Just as soon as the two courses are finished the contractor is to move to the west side of the road district and start spreading caliche through the county seat to a point east of town and near the caprock.

Weather Holds Up Starting Work In Crosby County

When weather conditions permit surveying of the proposed new route in Crosby county from the west side of road district No. 1 to the Lubbock county line west of Lorenzo will be started by Lon Ingram, resident engineer at Crosbyton. Authorities for the work has been given the Lubbock division office by the highway department.

The route is to be shortened between Crosbyton and Ralls and between Ralls and Lorenzo. One or two local right of way troubles, caused by narrow space for a 100 foot right of way, remain to be ironed out.

Murder And Suicide Claim Lives Of Beaumont Couple

BEAUMONT, March 14. (AP)—A coroner's verdict of murder and suicide was returned in connection with the death today of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cotton. Both died of gunshot wounds. Officers believed Mrs. Cotton shot her husband while he slept and then went to the kitchen where she took her own life.

Cotton's body was found in bed. His wife's body was lying on the kitchen floor. A shotgun was found in the kitchen.

The tragedy was discovered when the Cotton children, Everett, 18, and and Eldre, 14, arose this morning.

Governor Sterling's Party Feted By Alpine C. Of C.

ALPINE, March 14. (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling and members of his party en route to El Paso to attend the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association convention were guests of the Alpine Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon here today.

Members of the party with the governor were Adjutant General W. W. Sterling, Claud Teer, chairman of the board of control, State Highway Engineer Gib Gilchrist, Major Paul Wakefield, secretary to the governor, and J. E. Hall, member of the board of control.

Dr. Marvin C. Overton, jr., Slaton, visited here last evening as the guest of his father, Dr. M. C. Overton.

W. S. Moss Gets Poorhouse Work

Low bid of W. S. Moss for construction of a Lubbock county poorhouse, to be erected between Avenues C and D, was accepted by the commissioners court Monday. Moss' bid was $5,300.

Eight contracting firms sought the project. Besides the low proposal, others were made by: F. O. Kelly, $5,498.70; S. E. Holt for Cicero Smith Lumber company, $5,812.50; H. H. Shell and Sons, $6,000; C. R. Forson, $6,320; George Duval, $6,358.82; J. B. Maxey, $6,405.30, and J. J. Rozzell, $6,794.

The building will be a one-story structure, 103 feet long and 33 feet wide. There will be a large living room, dining room and kitchen with service rooms. Twelve other rooms will be used by inmates, while a two-room apartment is included for the caretaker.

the result of mature years and ill health, and nothing more.

It was he who made the camera an effective instrument for the amateur, "as convenient as the pencil," and upon that achievement he built his $200,000,000 industry.

Aided Edison

It was his transparent film that enabled Edison to perfect the kinetoscope—forerunner of the present motion picture.

He developed the dry plate, which simplified the mechanics of photography; the bromide paper, now a standard of the industry; the roll film and the roll film holder to make photography an everyday delight of life.

Texas Democrats

opposition to Al Smith.

The new pledge, adopted at the meeting last week in Fort Worth, specifically would bind precinct voters in the democratic primaries to support "the Democratic nominees for president and vice-president and the Democratic electors of Texas."

Biggers Declares He Won't File For Place

LAMPASAS, March 14. (AP)—Don H. Biggers of Lampasas, candidate for congressman-at-large, issued a statement today attacking action of the Democratic state executive committee in requiring candidates to file for specified places one, two or three on the ballot, rather than engaging in an open race. He declared he would not file for place.

Biggers declared that "regardless of what others do, my plans are arranged. There probably is no legal ground or sufficient cause to oppose the double primary, although it imposes needless expense and campaigning for a temporary office."

The committee's designation of places in the race for the three additional seats in congress allowed Texas under the 1930 census apportionment he said "is without the semblance of law, precedent or justice and fairness.

"It would be productive of confusion and the loss of thousands of honestly cast votes, particularly in the rural communities."

Kidnaping

are still out in continuation of their respective investigations. No orders have been issued for any recheck of incinerators in this vicinity. (A story to this effect was published in New York.)

"The details reporting back have not discovered anything of importance, but have exhausted certain clues and information which they were sent to investigate."

Silence and secrecy cloaked movements of Morris Rosner, undercover man in the private hunt Col. Lindbergh is making for his son.

From the attorney of Salvy Spitale and Irving Bitz, underworld figures first designated as the Lindberghs' "go-betweens," came a statement the pair had been in "indirect contact" with the kidnapers and soon would make a trip to Detroit in connection with their negotiations.

Bitz was quoted as saying the 20-month old infant, missing for 13 days, was alive and safe.

Fresh clues from such far flung cities at Jackson, Ky., and Hamburg, Germany, engaged police attention during the day, but near nightfall "there are no new developments" was reiterated.

NEWS BRIEFS

No definite change in the condition of Billy Marvin Houston, 2-year old Ralls boy critically burned at his home Saturday, was seen by attendants last night at Lubbock sanitarium. The child was "extremely restless."

The child, a son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Houston, suffered severe burns on the left arm, the left side of the head, face, body and left leg. Physicians conceded the child little chance for recovery.

Dick Duke, charged with theft of a watch from the home of Frank Bowles in southwest Lubbock, had not made $500 bond late Monday. Justice H. K. Porter fixed bond.

The complaint was signed by Bowles, who said the missing watch was valued at $40. Duke was arrested Saturday. The charge against him was both for theft and burglary.

Six men and nine women were arrested by city police on vagrancy complaints Saturday and Sunday. Four men posted $200 bonds each, a woman pleaded guilty of vagrancy and paid a $25 fine, and three women paid $15 each after entering guilty pleas. Most of the arrests were made in hotels.

Johnny Adams, youth wanted at Abilene on a theft by bailee charge, was held here a short time Monday before Taylor county officers arrived for him. Adams, arrested early yesterday by state highway patrolman at Amarillo, was brought here by Sergt. R. H. Routh and L. T. Keffer.

Deputies E. D. Davis and N. G. Cochran of Abilene, who came here for Adams, said he was wanted there in connection with theft by bailee of three radios, which purportedly were sent to a house occupied by Adams for demonstrations.

Charity work in the city and county was discussed by a committee from the City-County Welfare association meeting Monday afternoon at the city hall. Attending were: B. Sherrod, chairman, Judge E. L. Pitts, Mayor J. J. Clements, Mrs. Tom Foster, J. O. Jones, the Rev. R. M. Hocker, Jim Hodges.

D. L. Lancaster, 14-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lancaster of Clovis, N. M., was admitted for treatment of a stomach disorder at Lubbock sanitarium Monday.

Don Bigbee made a round trip flight in a Nicholas-Beazley from Lubbock airport to Tahoka Monday.

Slight damage resulted to a yard fence at 1509 Main street Monday afternoon when the fence caught fire from burning trash. The flames were nearly extinguished when fire department equipment answered an alarm from the address.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, Texas Technological college president who is suffering of a kidney ailment believed precipitated by a chill received last week, was reported to be resting well at Lubbock sanitarium Monday night.

GUARD MAY BE BLIND

RALEIGH, N. C., March 14.—(AP)—Eleven negro prisoners escaped from the state's prison camp at Stokesdale late yesterday after one of the convicts had thrown lye into the eyes of a guard, it was announced at central prison here today. Officials said the guard probably would be permanently blinded.

Bond Of Melton Ordered Forfeited

Bond of $1,000, posted to pledge appearance in 99th district court of S. E. ("Slick") Melton, charged with liquor transportation, was ordered forfeited Monday afternoon after Melton had failed to appear for trial at 1:30 o'clock, and Sheriff Wade Hardy and Dr. W. L. Baugh, county health officer, had gone to Melton's home and reported he was not there.

An order for Melton's rearrest was issued. His bondsmen were A. T. Tarter, F. K. Mitchell, and C. F. Williams, District Attorney Durwood H. Bradley said. The county physician accompanied the sheriff to the Melton residence, as Melton had obtained postponement of his trial from mid-February after physicians' statements that he was sick were presented.

Bertie Brooks of Lubbock was found sane by a jury in 99th court Monday afternoon. She had been confined to an asylum after being sentenced to a year in the penitentiary in district court here, for liquor possession. Released from the asylum in early December, she subsequently was rearrested here.

R. L. Tate Buried In Slaton Monday

SLATON, March 14. (Special)—Funeral services for R. L. Tate, 50, a resident of Slaton seven years, were held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence by the Rev. W. F. Ferguson, First Baptist church pastor. Tate, who operated a commercial printing establishment here and formerly was associated with the Slaton Slatonite, died unexpectedly of a heart attack Sunday afternoon.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Truman Campbell of Lamesa, and a son, Mitce, resident of this city. Several members of the Lubbock Typographical union attended the services. Among the group were Joe Bailey, H. R. Miller, A. L. Borho, W. C. Edwards, Tom H. Carter and R. J. Hill.

Pall bearers were Joe Teague, sr., Joe Teague, jr., John T. Lokey, J. A. Elliott, Fred Tudor and F. V. McWilliams. Former residents of Sulphur Springs, where Mr. Tate was a newspaperman, attending the services included: Judge and Mrs. Homer L. Pharr of Lubbock; Mrs. Dee Burns, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Baird, Littlefield; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Burns, Willie B. Barrett, Mrs. Maggie King Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Poff, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lokey, Mr. and Mrs. E. Brackeen, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Evans, Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Rod Weaver, Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harp, Mt. Pleasant and Lamesa.

Attending from Lamesa were: Judge and Mrs. Louis Reed, Misses Marjorie Ferguson, Jewel Townes and Mmes. J. L. Sypert, Lou Randall, Philip Younge, Earle Hillman, Lou Burleson, Madge Warnick, Gordon McGuire and A. G. Barnard.

Mr. Tate was a member of the Baptist church and of the I. O. O. F. and Elk lodges.

Warm Temperatures Return Here After Coldest Week In March On Record At Station

Spring-like weather returned to Lubbock Sunday after the coldest six-day March period in the history of the state experiment sub-station here, Don L. Jones, superintendent, said. The mercury climbed to 65 degrees Sunday afternoon and to 73 Monday afternoon.

The next coldest consecutive six days of March weather here occurred in 1917 and 1920. The thermometer registered a one-degree below zero here March 4, 1917. The mercury dropped to 13 above Sunday morning.

Maximum and minimum temperatures for this year's sustained period of March cold, as recorded at the experiment station, follow: March 7—67 and 19; 8—37 and 15; 9—35 and 13; 10—32 and 19; 11—28 and 17;—12—31 and 18.

In 1917: March 1—34 and 25; 2—48 and 25; 3—29 and 21; 4—41 and minus 1; 5—64 and 21; 6—62 and 30.

In 1920: March 3—70 and 37; 4—44 and 24; 5—39 and 18; 6—28 and 10; 7—32 and 12; 8—50 and 13.

Miss A. Ramsey Is Buried Sunday

Miss Alice Ramsey, 67, Lubbock resident ten years, who died early Sunday at the home of her brother-in-law here, was buried in Lubbock cemetery Sunday afternoon following services by Elder John T. Smith of the Broadway Church of Christ. The rites were said at the home of N. M. Vaughn, 2202 Avenue O, where she lived.

Miss Ramsey and her sister, Mrs. N. M. Vaughn, 75, became ill about three weeks ago. Mrs. Vaughn died March 4, and Mr. Vaughn is ill of influenza now. Miss Ramsey suffered lung complications after becoming ill of influenza. She is survived by five nephews and three nieces. Two nephews, T. M. and Roy Vaughn, live here. Sanders funeral home directed arrangements.

Funeral Is Held For Aged Resident

Funeral services for Miss Euphemia Beveridge, 68, native of Scotland who died here Sunday afternoon at the home of a nephew, Dr. J. W. Rollo, were held at the Rollo residence, 1802 Avenue S, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated, and burial was directed by Sanders funeral home in Lubbock cemetery.

Miss Beveridge came to the United States from Scotland 30 years ago, and had lived with the Rollos since. A sister, Mrs. James Rollo, mother of the city health officer, resides here. Another sister, Mrs. Helen Stewart, resides in Montreal, Canada, and a brother, Wilson Beveridge, at Edinburgh, Scotland. Although she had not attended church in her later years, Miss Beveridge was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Wilson Funeral Details Not Made

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. R. H. Wilson, 70, who died of a heart ailment and asthma Monday morning at her home at 1402 Avenue K, had not been completed late yesterday. Mrs. Wilson had lived in Lubbock 31 years.

Arrangements are pending arrival of a daughter, Mrs. Charles Gideon of Tulsa. A son, Newt Wilson of Kansas City, Mo., was here when his mother died. Two other sons, Lambert and Leeman Wilson, believed to be in New Mexico, also survive. Mrs. Wilson had been ill several weeks. The body was at Sanders funeral home.

Payment Of $3.50 On School Apportionment Is Scheduled

AUSTIN, March 14. —(AP)—Payment of $3.50 on the per capita school apportionment will be made March 15, S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of education, announced today. The total amount to be distributed is $5,500,000.

The payment will leave a balance of $9 due the schools for each student. Marrs said the amount to be paid.

Tuesday was slightly under the estimate made last month because of slow payment of taxes under the split tax law.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

"B. C." Relieves Your Headache In 3 Minutes

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B. C.," 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B. C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quitting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. CONSTABLE'S SALE

State of Texas, County of Lubbock.

Whereas, by virtue of an order of sale issued out of the 41st District Court of El Paso County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in said court on the 4th day of January, 1932, in favor of The Peoples Building and Loan Association of El Paso, Texas, and against H. M. Jones and Audie Jones for the sum of $4,928.10, with interest from the 4th day of January, 1932, at the rate of 10 per cent per annum and costs of court, and for foreclosure of a deed of trust and mechanic's lien on the following described property as against these Defendants in Cause No. 37765 on the Dockets of said Court and to me as Constable directed and delivered, I did on the 7th day of March, 1932 at 10 a. m. levy on said property which is situated in Lubbock County, Texas, belonging to said Defendants, H. M. Jones and Audie Jones, to-wit: all of Lot Twenty-two (22) in Block Fifty, (50) of the Overton Addition to the city of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas; on the 5th day of April, 1932 being the first Tuesday in said month, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., on said day at the court house door of Lubbock County, Texas, I will offer for sale at public auction for cash to the highest bidder, all the right, title and interest of said H. M. Jones and Audie Jones in and to said property to realize the amount due on the above mentioned judgment, plus all court costs in the amount of $1.50, less any credit on said judgment that might be realized from the sale of Lot Five (5) Block Two (2) Delmar Annex Addition to the city of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas which is to be sold on this same date by me under another order of sale issued on the same judgment.

Witness my hand this 7th day of March, 1932.

ticular, stared curiously and turned to Tony to make what Ellen was sure was a spiteful remark.

She forgot all that as she and Larry danced the night away on the roof of a small, smart hotel. She forgot everything except that she was dancing with Larry and that Larry—liked her. In a thousand ways girls understand so well he had told her so.

They drove home through the night when the stars had begun to fade and the east was beginning to lighten and that still, cool hush just before dawn enveloped the city. When they arrived in Brooklyn the sun was breaking over the house tops. They paused to look at the brightening east and to breathe the delicious coolness before they crept into the quiet house and slowly up the stairs.

Larry hesitated at the door a long time, as unwilling to go as Ellen was to have him. It had been such a perfect evening they told each other again and again. In hushed, surreptitious voices they whispered of what they had seen and done; whispered of future meetings. What fun they would have!

Gradually there crept into the air a tenseness that made their very gayety inappropriate.

Larry's sentence trailed into brooding silence. He was holding Ellen's hands in his own. One of them loosened and then the other. With a feeling of pure ecstasy and a painfully beating heart she felt his hands at her shoulders. She was trembling and her eager lips were parted.

She was almost in his arms when he muttered huskily that it was time for little girls to be in bed and, without a backward look, ran down the stairway.

Acuff Four-H Team Will Represent County In Calf-Pig-Meat Contests

A team from the Acuff Four-H club was chosen Saturday to represent Lubbock county in competitive meat canning and allied demonstrations by club girls at a second annual Panhandle-South Plains Fat Calf-Pig-Meat show here March 24 and 25.

Ruby Gregory and Elsora Ralls-back composed the team which outscored four other Lubbock county club pairs in tryouts Saturday morning in the junior high school home economics foods laboratory here. Miss Isla Mae Chitwood, county home demonstration agent, reported. Liberty was second and Shallowater third. Hardy and Center also were represented. Members of the New Hope team did not arrive for the intra-county contest. Hardy's team participated without its sponsor being present.

Judges were Miss Ella Mae Lyle, instructor in home economics at Lubbock Junior High school, and Misses Gertrude Daniel and Gertrude Watson, instructors in home economics at the senior high school here.

Members of the other competing teams were:

Liberty—Marjorie Fleming and Eugenia Emery; Shallowater —Corene Corley and Athelene Arant; Hardy—Dorothy Juan Gillett and Edith Merrell; Center — Naomi Bearden and Leta Nesbitt.

Sponsors here for Saturday's event were:

Miss Minabel Johnson, for New Hope; Mrs. Douglas Pounds, Acuff; Miss Frieda Fisher, Shallowater; Miss Louise Rankin, Center, and Miss Hazel Fisher, Liberty.

Librarian Here Has Busy Times

Just what does the Lubbock county librarian do? The query is a common one, Miss Rutillia Eubank, county librarian headquartered in the courthouse here, has observed.

"The circulation work, all the average borrower sees of library practice, is in most respects the simplest part of the work," Miss Eubank reflected. Qualifications of persons working in that division meet high individual standards, however, she added.

The chief librarian must keep records pertaining to book-stock and expenditures, make talks, interview salesmen, inspect branches and stations and perform technical tasks at each, borrow from the state library, prepare shipments of books from the main library to other agencies in the county, shift the book-stock to provide fresh reading, check incoming shipments, prepare and check shipments to the bindery, and discuss reading problems with rural teachers and with club women.

Each of those tasks has several sides and there are other duties. The librarian attends to correspondence, reads professional literature, attends regional and national library meetings, and plans a budget to make library expenditures more effective.

Lee Satterwhite, Of Odessa, Has Announced As Candidate

ODESSA, Mar. 14. (AP)—Lee Satterwhite of Odessa, former speaker of the Texas house of representatives and representative from this district, has announced for reelection. Satterwhite is endeavoring to secure for the counties in his section a refund from the state on amounts expended for the building of state highways.

Seven Directors Are Named For Snyder Chamber Group

SNYDER, March 14.—(Special)—Seven directors for the Snyder Chamber of Commerce were chosen at the annual meeting of the organization. They are J. C. Stinson, Joe Caton, A. C. Alexander, Harrie Winston, John E. Sentell, H. L. Wren and J. C. Smyth. The terms are from March 1, this year, to March 1, 1933.

Officers are to be chosen within a short time. Harrie Winston has been president the past year.

An old fashioned son-of-a-gun is planned for late in March to start off the program for 1932. Date is expected to be the last week in March.

the table toward her. "The only thing that matters is that you and I are here on this roof and that you have the loveliest eyes. Did you ever take a good look at your eyes—Ellen?"

But Ellen was not to be diverted. "No wonder you're always late", she rebuked. "Don't you ever look at your watch?"

"As a matter of fact," he laughed, "I haven't a watch. I'm afraid if I carried one I'd have to look at it."

Ellen was taken back by the novelty of this viewpoint. What an idiot he was! But she was a little troubled also. Larry had distinctly told her his friend intended to use the car that evening. She had her job to remember. She could not be easy until she knew the time. She told him that.

Somewhat aggrieved he set off in reach of a waiter. When he returned he was smiling broadly, good natured and cheerful again.

"Everything's fine now," he teased her. "It's too late for me to take the car back and it's too late for you to go to Dreamland. It's 15 minutes of 9."

Ellen uttered a cry of horror. She stood up.

"We'll have to leave this minute!" she cried.

"But no—you don't understand! It's too late to leave. We'll stay here and dance. What a lucky break my not having a watch!"

"It may not make any difference to you," Ellen said, determined to sober him. "But my job is important to me. I simple must get back."

"But you can't", he exclaimed. "That's what I'm trying to tell you. We couldn't reach town before 10 any way—maybe later."

Ellen was annoyed and hurt. When he saw suddenly that she was not amused and that a genuine mood of anger and disappointment was keeping her silent, he changed his tone. She thought he seemed disinterested as he asked what she would do.

"I'll telephone that I'll be late. I suppose that's the only thing I can do."

"I've got it!" Larry exclaimed. "We'll stop at Dreamland and I'll buy all your dances for the evening. That'll fix Salomon. You'll see."

Ellen, reluctantly, unwillingly, found herself laughing with him. It was too difficult for her not to respond to his easy, agreeable charm. After all, she thought, even if he couldn't seem to understand the seriousness of her job he was quick enough to mend the situation he had created.

"We'll go dancing in town," he went on. "That'll be more fun any way. This place was beginning to get tiresome."

Ellen could not understand him at all. Just a moment before he had been eager to stay.

As Larry had predicted, Salomon was willing enough to accept Ellen's confused excuses, willing enough to permit her an evening away from the dance hall when he was able to profit as much by her absence as by her presence. But Ellen found herself uncomfortable over the arrangement. She knew the other girls thought it odd. Anise, in par-

● There's only one thing that will chase a morning grouch quicker than a warm shower. And that's a cold one. With a Chesterfield to follow. And even if you're rushed... there's time to appreciate Chesterfield's better taste.

● One man likes his coffee weak. Another likes it strong. But it's dollars to doughnuts both want mild cigarettes. And that means Chesterfields. They get you started on the right foot. They're good anywhere. Anytime.

● And later... in the office when the phones begin to buzz and the big boss begins to shout... put Chesterfield on the job. It starts out cool... stays cool... and keeps you cool in a hot spot till the final whistle blows.

● It's going to be a big evening. So change your clothes and step out. And don't forget your Chesterfields. You'll need them. And if it's mixed company you'll want to take an extra pack. Their purity is their password ... wherever people are particular.

● Chesterfield has never failed to make its contract. It bids a grand slam for mildness and better taste ... and comes through with all the honors every time ... Because every shred of Chesterfield leaf is carefully selected ... and by men who "know."

● One more Chesterfield and you can call it a day. And notice... the last one tastes just as good as the first. That's no accident. That's the sum and substance of Chesterfield's popularity... told in two words..."They Satisfy."

THEY'RE MILDER • • THEY'RE PURE • • THEY TASTE BETTER • • They Satisfy
