Soviets announce Andropov's death

MOSCOW (AP) — President Yuri V. Andropov died Thursday at age 69, the Soviet Union announced today. He led the Communist Party for 15 months, ailing and out of public view the final six months of his leadership.

The announcement of his death ended months of reports that he was seriously ill with kidney and heart problems and suffering from diabetes. He had not been seen in public since Aug. 18, when he met with nine U.S. Democratic senators.

The Kremlin withheld announcement of his death for nearly 24 hours, and there was no word on a possible successor.

But if the Kremlin rulers decide to turn over the reins of power to a younger generation, the names most frequently mentioned are Grigory V. Romanov, 61, and Mikhail S. Gorbachev, 52.

Andropov's death was announced at 2:20 p.m. (6:20 a.m. EST) by the official Soviet news agency Tass, on its English-language wire. Tass said he died Thursday, but did not give a cause of death.

The only official comment on Andropov's health came when he missed the early November parade through Red Square. Officials said then he was suffering from a cold.

Andropov's brief tenure was marked by a deterioration of relations with the United States and the rupture of talks between the superpowers on limiting both strategic and medium range nuclear weapons. Relations were subject to added strain on Sept. 1, 1982 when the Soviet Union shot down a South Korean jetliner with the loss of 269 lives.

Andropov, former head of the KGB secret police for 15 years, took the leadership of the nation of 280 million people after the death of President Leonid I. Brezhnev on Nov. 9, 1982.

He started a campaign to crack down on corruption and enhance labor discipline and had placed his proteges in many key positions of the Soviet hierarchy.

Although Andropov was known to be ailing, the Kremlin issued a series of statements and speeches bearing his name and officials continued to insist until the end that he was functioning and making decisions.

The Soviet people heard the news when a black-suited announcer read the death announcement slowly on Soviet TV.

"The Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, the Presidium of the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers with deep sorrow inform the party and the entire Soviet people that Yuri Vladimirovich Andropov, general secretary of the CPSU Central Committee, president of the Presidium of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet, died after a long illness at 16 hours 50 minutes on Feb. 9, 1984."

3 candidates vie for college seat

The incumbent candidate for place 2 on the Western Texas College board of trustees has indicated he will now seek a new six-year term.

ROY BAZE

Roy Baze, a Snyder native and a former executive vice president for Exxon Corp., filed Friday as a candidate.

Two other individuals have announced for the post — creating the first contested race ever in the history of the WTC board.

Also announced are Lee Presswood, vice principal at Snyder High School, and Bob O'Day, a former athletic director at WTC and Snyder coach currently working as an oil field salesman representative.

Baze was appointed to the place 2 position last year to fill an unexpired term.

Reunion concert planned Saturday

The Snyder High School bands will present the fifth annual Band Reunion Concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Worsham Auditorium at SHS.

The event will feature recognition of returning band members to include the oldest exe, the one traveling the farthest and the class with the most exes in attendance.

Admission to the concert is $1 and a reception is planned following the performance in the student center.

Three SHS bands will perform Saturday.

The varsity band will be under the direction of Rodney Parker, assistant junior high band director, and the concert band under the direction of Clifford Franklin, assistant director at SHS.

The final portion of the program will feature the symphonic band. In addition, Dick Tolley, professor of trumpet at Texas Tech University, will perform.

The director of bands for the school system is Sam Robertson.

15-year term given

Ricky Dwayne Howell of Snyder, indicted by the January grand jury for burglary with intent to commit rape, was sentenced to 15-years in the Texas Department of Corrections Thursday.

He pleaded guilty to the charge which stemmed from an incident reported here December 20. Also, Howell was serving a five-year probated prison term for an earlier burglary offense and the court revoked this probation.

He will serve the five-year term concurrently with the 15-year sentence.

The court action was among eight felony guilty pleas offered by defendants in 132nd District Court Thursday.

Ricky Dean Phipps, indicted by the grand jury in February on two counts of indecent exposure to a child, entered a guilty plea Thursday also.

He pleaded guilty to both counts and was placed on probation for six years in each case. He will serve both terms concurrently.

Netting a five-year probated prison term after entering a guilty plea was Robert Tovar. He was indicted by the Feburary grand jury for possession of a controlled substance

4-H livestock show opens full week of events

Scurry County's young 4-H livestock producers will begin convening Saturday at the Scurry County Coliseum's ag annex as a week's worth of livestock shows begin here.

The 4-H event will be the first of four shows next week in the ag annex. These will conclude with the Scurry County Junior Livestock Show scheduled next Thursday through Saturday.

According to County Agent Marvin Ensor, this Saturday's show for 4-H club members will begin at 9 a.m. as stock is moved into the building. Judging will begin at 1 p.m.

Around 57 youth will be exhibiting 25 steers, 60 lambs and 35 hogs in the afternoon event.

Judge for the 4-H show will be Ricky Vestal of Lamesa, a former county extension agent and now a Dawson County meat packer.

Members of the Snyder High School FFA Chapter will take over the barn Sunday as they move animals in for the annual chapter show. It is scheduled Monday afternoon.

The FFA show features 159 animals including nine steers, 55 lambs and 95 hogs. It will begin with steer judging at 1 p.m.

Hermleigh youth and their entries will move into the show arena Tuesday. Their annual FFA Chapter show will begin at 3:30 p.m.

According to Richard Smith, Hermleigh vocational ag instructor, his group will exhibit two steers, 40 lambs and 80 hogs in the Tuesday evening event. Judging the Hermleigh contest will be Eddie Puckett, vocational ag teacher from Sweetwater.

Wednesday, contestants and officials for the 1984 edition of the Scurry County Junior Livestock Show will begin the weighing-in and classification for an expected 493 entries.

Animals will be shown by members of the Ira FFA, Snyder FFA, Hermleigh FFA and Scurry County 4-H Chapter.

This year's show — said to be the largest ever — will begin Thursday afternoon as the hog judging opens the three-day event.

Scotty Windam of Abernathy will judge an expected 261 hogs beginning at 4 p.m. Thursday. Lamb judging is set for 1:30 p.m. Friday, to be followed at 7 p.m. with the steer judging.

This years lamb entries will be judged by Kyle Smith of Seminole. Richard Spencer of Roby will judge the steers.

The annual premium sale of the winning show animals is scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday.

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

We suspect the fellers out at the gin office or at the Dunn domino hall would be appalled by such use of bones, but a feller in Nuremberg, West Germany has got his effort into the record books.

In West Texas dominos are restricted to the fast-pace of shuffling, surmising and winning. Walter Buckel, in the Lamesa Press-Reporter, tells about a different use in West Germany.

A photo technician there claims to have set a new world record for tipping over dominos, surpassing the previous best established in 1979 by America's Michael Cairney.

Karl Friedrich, 21, tipped over 281,581 dominos, besting the previous mark of 169,713 stones. It took the new record holder 30 days to put up about 300,000 dominos inside a hall provided by a West German toy manufacturer.

While doing so, he was plagued by mice and a sparrow which had lost its way into the building. Owners gave Friedrich glass barriers to keep mice from prematurely triggering his work.

After he tipped the first of the colorful dominos, it took 12 hours and 57 minutes for the last one to fall, and it set off a mouse trap he had placed at the end of the line.

Randy Perkins, manager of the Shack and president of the Scurry County Heart Association, has been looking for a record to break to benefit the heart association. If he could borrow enough dominos from the various gins, it might work.

Up in Slaton preparations are being made for the 14th annual German Sausage Festival scheduled for Feb. 19. Five tons of anything is a lot of food, but think of the work required to prepare 10,000 pounds of German sausage.

In addition to the sausage, the menu includes mashed potatoes, green beans, cranberry sauce, homemade bread and cake--all for five bucks.

Sounds like a real diet-buster.

Ask Us

Q. — Is the city doing the dirt work now being completed beside College Ave. between 30th and 37th St?

A. — No. That work is being done by a private developer. The city's dirt work in this area involves moving dirt to the edge of city-owned property located just west of the banks of Deep Creek. This work is part of an agreement in return for the Deep Creek property rights. As part of this agreement, this dirt work is to raise the area adjacent to the city's property line to 1 ft. above the flood plane. This is a distance possibly 10 ft. below the elevation of College Ave., city officials note.

In Brief

Americans to be evacuated

BEIRUT, Lebanon — The U.S. Embassy said today that Americans wishing to leave Beirut would be evacuated because of the "unsettled conditions" in the capital, divided between rebel militias and the government.

British citizens gathered today at their mission in preparation for departure. They were to be taken to the port of Jounieh this morning and flown by American helicopters to a chartered Cypriot ferry off shore for transportation to Cyprus.

Other foreigners, including Turks and Saudi Arabians, have already left following the takeover of mostly Moslem west Beirut by rebel militiamen in fierce fighting with the Lebanese army Monday and Tuesday.

Seek prison officials probe

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White has demanded that local prosecutors check the possibility of pressing criminal charges against state prison officials fired for abusing inmates.

White's comments came a week after six officials of the Texas Department of Corrections, including Darrington Unit warden Darrell Christian, were fired; 11 guards were demoted; and 26 other employees were reprimanded following an internal investigation.

The disciplinary action involved guards of eight different prison units in five Texas southeast Texas counties.

"I am ashamed of the conduct of some of those people over there," White said Thursday. "I'm just going to tell the district attorneys to go in there and investigate any criminal activity. If there has been (any), there are going to be prosecutions."

White said he hopes the disciplinary actions and any criminal investigations which follow will make prison officials realize a new era has begun in the Texas prison system.

Farm assistance 'disgrace'

SAN JUAN, Texas (AP) — The federal government has money for "fancy White House dinners" but can't find funds to help unemployed farmworkers struggling to survive, farmworker spokeswomen say.

At a news conference Thursday, the United Farmworkers of America thanked Gov. Mark White for trying to help farmworkers idled by the December freeze which destroyed citrus and winter vegetable crops.

But assistance at the federal level has been a "disgrace," they said.

Israeli planes bomb targets

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli air force planes bombed guerrilla bases on the Beirut-Damascus highway in central Lebanon today, a military spokesman said.

The strikes were against "terrorist" headquarters, the spokesman said. The spokesman, who asked not to be identified did not specify which forces were involved. The Syrian army, Palestinian guerrillas and anti-government Lebanese militias operate in the central mountains.

Poison victim treated

A 29-year-old Lubbock man was said in guarded condition Friday morning at Cogdell Memorial Hospital after he apparently swallowed a poison believed to be arsenic.

Units of Aid Amublance-Snyder were dispatched to a room at the Strayhorn Motel on 25th St. at 7:55 a.m. They transported a man identified as Alfred Patton to the local hospital.

According to amublance personnel, Patton's wife called for emergency help.

He was undergoing treatment at 11 a.m. Personnel with the Scurry County sheriff's office were used to obtain an antidote for treatment at the VA hospital in Big Spring.

Grocers remove products with EDB

By The Associated Press

Not all groceries are following the lead of Safeway and Kroger, two of Texas' largest supermarket chains, in removing products contaminated with the pesticide EDB.

Safeway, Kroger and several others began removing the products Wednesday, a day after state officials issued emergency guidelines limiting the presence of cancer-linked ethylene dibromide in grain products.

But Tom Hairston, chairman of Tom Thumb-Page Drug stores in Dallas, said Thursday his company plans to wait for more information.

"Until we receive a listing (of products and their lot numbers) it is difficult to know what is contaminated," Hairston said.

"We have not received anything specific and to identify a single item is overreacting because all the lot numbers of that product are not contaminated. Whenever that information comes out we'll remove it as quickly as we can."

Winn-Dixie Supermarkets also was awaiting notification before pulling any items, a spokesman said.

Liz Minyard, vice president of corporate relations for Minyard Food Stores in Dallas, said Minyard is checking its stores for the products.

"We are in the process of reviewing the code dates, and if we have the products, we will pull them," she said.

A spokeswoman for Randall's, which has 23 grocery stores in the Houston area, said stores started clearing their shelves Wednesday of some products containing EDBs.

Safeway has 344 stores in Texas and Kroger has 87.

Spokesmen for both chains said the items removed included Duncan Hines Spicy Apple Muffin Mix, Duncan Hines Blueberry Muffin Mix, Duncan Hines Bran Muffin Mix and Comet Long Grain Natural Brown Rice.

The bran muffin mix was removed from HEB stores' shelves on Tuesday.

Safeway also removed three products that Kroger does not carry — Texas Long Grain Dasmati Rice, Comet Texmati Rice and Marylee Corp.'s White Cake Mix.

Although the Texmati rice was not among those found to contain EDB concentrations above the state limits, Safeway spokesman Kent Milton said in Houston that it was removed because officials thought it might contain the same product as the Dasmati rice.

Randall's spokeswoman Shirley Wygant said Duncan Hines Bran Muffin mix was removed from the shelves Wednesday. Ms. Wygant said Duncan Hines Blueberry Muffin and Spicy Apple mixes, Comet Long Grain Brown Rice and Food Club White Cake Mix would be removed from store shelves Thursday.

Ms. Wygant said Randall's will await further instructions from health officials. However, she said the stores will post lists in their baked goods aisles indicating EDB levels of products and levels considered acceptable.

Withdrawal comes as surprise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine commandant Gen. P.X. Kelley was apparently surprised by President Reagan's announcement of a phased withdrawal of Marines from Beirut, according to congressional sources.

Other top military advisers are disputing the exact time the decision was made.

Kelley, in a secret briefing Tuesday afternoon to the Senate Armed Services Committee which ended less than an hour before Reagan's statement, gave the senators no indication a decision to move the Marines was imminent, the sources said Thursday, speaking only on condition they not be identified.

Later, after the White House statement, Kelley telephoned some senators who had been in the briefing to say he had not meant to mislead them, said the sources. The general said that "had he known the details of the information that came out, he would have given more of it," said one source.

Another source who attended the briefing said, "the announcement completely surprised him."

A third source said Kelley was apparently "not aware of the timing" of the decision.

Members of the Senate Armed Services panel appeared to accept Kelley's explanation that he was unaware of the pending decision when he spoke with them at the briefing, the sources said.

"I don't think Congress has been purposefully misinformed by the military leadership," said one senator, speaking on condition he not be named.

Kelley is a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the president's principal military advisers. Although he has no legal command authority over the Marines in Beirut, it would be highly unusual for him not to know of such a decision.

Kelley's apparent surprise about the decision added a new twist to the question of when Reagan made his decision to redeploy most of the 1,500 Marines in Beirut to ships offshore. That decision came after radical Moslem militias seized large sections of Beirut and brought the Lebanese government to the verge of collapse.

Berry's World

"No question about it — there IS hunger in America! Hey, I'M HUNGRY right now!"

Paul Harvey

Elections are our nation's safety valve. Social pressures which might become explosive are thus relieved. So I suppose we have never had an "unimportant" election.

This next one, however, is particularly significant.

President Reagan is getting deserved credit for knocking some cents back into the American dollar.

Last year's shrinkage of our currency, 3.8 percent, was the least in 11 years.

Interest rates are half what they were when he took office. Two million new jobs have been added to our economy.

But President Reagan has managed another accomplishment which a professional observer sees as even more miraculous: He has successfully walked the tight wire between left and right. While his performance to date reflects mostly conservative economic and political philosophy, he has created for himself a hybrid image as a pragmatic futurist.

His State of the Union message was an "onward and upward" speech, prescribing bold new strides into space, technology and diplomacy.

There is plenty of room for him to stub his toe between now and November.

Indeed, the Soviets will trip him if they can.

Howard Tyner, the Chicago Tribune's man in Moscow, says, "No other American president in recent years — perhaps none ever — has given Soviet leaders so many headaches."

Our next election has another, perhaps transcendent significance.

History, through a wide-angle lens, reveals that the men who will do most to shape our nation's future are not even on the ballot.

They are the men and/or women who will be appointed to the United States Supreme Court.

The average age of our Supreme Court justices is now 69. Five justices — a majority — are past 75.

On issues ranging from luggage and auto searches to the use of informants to the death penalty — the "Reagan Court" has come out on the side of the cops. But barely.

On Chaplains in legislatures and subsidies for church-run schools this court has come out on the side of religious liberty.

But barely.

The balance is sufficiently precarious so that even one more appointment can tip that crucial majority vote either way.

Whoever is president the next four years may make several.

Crew of boat is arraigned

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Federal officials unloaded 25 tons of marijuana from the Lady Mar and burned it in a Rio Grande Valley sugar mill on the same day the boat's crew was arraigned before a U.S. magistrate for smuggling the drug.

The 14 crewmen were arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Fidencio G. Garza about 4 p.m. and charged with possession with intent to distribute 25 tons of marijuana, according to a clerk in the magistrate's office.

Five of the 14 are being held in the Cameron County Jail on $1 million bonds and three others are in jail on $500,000 bonds, the clerk said.

Thursday morning, U.S. Customs Service officials supervised the transporting and burning of the marijuana found in the hold of the Lady Mar, an unregistered, converted fishing boat.

The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Durable chased the marijuana-laden Lady Mar for 22 hours last weekend before seizing her about 5:30 a.m. Sunday 35 miles off the Yucatan Peninsula.

About 800 bales were loaded on dump trucks and taken to a sugar mill near Santa Rosa where the drug was burned in furnaces. Officials said the mill was suggested by the Texas Air Quality Control Board which said the furnaces would allow little smoke to escape into the air.

All were Columbians except Walcott who is from Guiana.

Severe depression

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My doctors say I'm going through depression and stress. But this past year I've been really sick. I've stayed in bed for weeks, but I can't sleep. I don't have the desire to eat and I've started losing weight. I often have awful fears about death and dying.

I've had bad headaches every day and wonder if I have a tumor. I also cry all the time. I've had these feelings when I feel I don't have enough circulation and it feels like my head is empty.

I'm only 31, married, and have five children.

DEAR READER — You are describing some typical features of depression. Many people lose their appetites and lose weight. Others eat and gain weight. Sleeping problems and anxiety can occur. The episodes of crying are typical.

However, many depressed people don't have crying spells and their depression is far less obvious than yours.

Evidently you've been diagnosed as having depression, therefore you should be under professional supervision. Most depressions that cause the degree of disability you describe are severe enough that the person really can't cope with it on his own. Good friends are helpful, but they can't solve the basic problems involved in such depressions.

Such depressions can be related to chemical imbalances. There are a number of useful medicines that can help control depression.

I'd like you to understand depression, so I'm sending you the Health Letter 10-10, Depression: The Ups and Downs of Life. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Everyone has mood swings. Sometimes being mildly depressed or a little down is good because it alerts people of the need to make certain changes in their lives. There is much you can do with your lifestyle to prevent the downer of your mood swings.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I use rubbing alcohol on a cotton ball to clean my face twice a day. I've heard this can be harmful to the skin and causes your pores to enlarge with age. Is this so?

I've been using alcohol sponges for the past seven years because of its convenience. It seems to dry up the oil in my skin and helps to control acne. The alcohol is also very inexpensive and I can't afford expensive facial cleaners and treatments.

DEAR READER — For oily skin, sponging the face with alcohol is a good measure. Alcohol dissolves oils and grease and helps to clean the skin surface. Alcohol also penetrates the cells and helps to dry up oily skin.

I don't believe it will increase the size of your pores. The major concern is whether it could produce excessively dry skin. But if you have an oily problem rather than dry, this shouldn't be a problem.

I also think alcohol helps to eliminate some of the surface bacteria or bacteria living in the pores that contribute to acne.

North's two-heart response was a Jacoby transfer showing at least five spades and indeterminate strength.

South's jump to three spades said, "I have a maximum no-trump with very good spades and am willing to play three spades even if you have a bad hand."

North's four-heart call showed the ace of hearts and slam interest, and South jumped right to the spade slam.

West opened the 10 of hearts. South won in dummy, played two rounds of trumps and paused for study. Offhand it looked as if South should try either the diamond finesse or a club lead to his king. If he guessed the right play, he would be home, but South found a superior line of play that allowed him to have his cake and eat it too.

He played all the hearts to discard a club from dummy. Then he went to dummy to lead a club. East could do nothing better than to take his ace. South's king of clubs then allowed a diamond discard from dummy for the twelfth trick.

Suppose West had held the club ace. South would ruff his little club and be able to try the diamond finesse. Of course if West had held both the club ace and the diamond king, the hand would be doomed.

Your Birthday

Feb. 11, 1984

If you are an unattached Aquarian, this coming year could be an exciting one for you romantically. However, be careful not to have a number of involvements going at the same time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Take things in stride today and don't insist friends conform to a rigid program. Social plans may be subject to revisions. The Matchmaker wheel tells you your compatibility to all signs as well as shows you to which signs you are best suited romantically. To get yours, send $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. For your Astro-Graph year-ahead predictions, send an additional $1 and your zodiac sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If at all possible, try to keep relatives and outsiders out of your domestic affairs today. Their contribution is apt to be less than helpful.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be sure to plan your itinerary carefully today, or you've apt to waste a lot of time and motion. Map out a route rather than running around in circles.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try not to be apathetic in your commercial dealings today. If you play things too casually, it could lead to losses that could be avoided.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Once you make a commitment today, do your best to stick to it. Friends will be aggravated if you introduce last-minute changes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't dodge responsibilities today that you promised to attend to for another, even though you could probably come up with a fantastic excuse.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you are planning to go out on the town this evening, it's best to stick to familiar places rather than experimenting with new ones.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Important goals could be denied you today if you do things in fits and starts. To be successful, you must be consistent and tenacious.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is not the day to practice mental one-upsmanship. You could be embarrassed if you pretend to know a lot about something of which you know little.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though an investment proposal brought to you today could sound exceptional, you'd be wise to investigate it in detail before jumping in.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Outside influences might cut down your freedom of action today. If you can't change things, don't add to your frustrations by bucking the tide.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you have an unfamiliar task to perform today, you'd better organize every step in advance, or else you could foul up the job completely.

Pearlstein show

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Philip Pearlstein: A Retrospective" is being shown at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts through Feb. 19.

The exhibition contains 114 paintings, drawings and works on paper. The academy says the exhibition is the "first comprehensive survey since 1970 devoted to this leading 'new realist' artist, and the first to be seen in Philadelphia.

BOOK REVIEW

LATE NIGHT THOUGHTS ON LISTENING TO MAHLER'S NINTH SYMPHONY. By Lewis Thomas. Viking. 168 Pages. $12.95.

"Late Night Thoughts on Listening to Mahler's Ninth Symphony" is a collection of essays written by Dr. Lewis Thomas, chancellor of Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York, and the author of a memoir on his life as a doctor, "The Youngest Science," and two other books of essays, "The Medusa and the Snail," and "The Lives of a Cell."

The essays included here range in subject from nuclear war to computers, cardiac pacemakers and artificial hearts, the wonders of science and the need for scientific research.

One of the best essays, "Clever Animals," tells of a horse that is an astonishing observer and interpreter of human behavior. The essay also tells the story of two women who tried to stay clear of a furious swarm of honeybees, only to find the bees waiting for them when they returned to their car.

In another piece, Thomas provides his own list of the "Seven Wonders" of the modern world — and this list includes the termite, an infectious agent known as the scrapie virus, and the human child.

One of Thomas' deepest concerns, reflected in several of the essays, is the threat of nuclear war and the potential destruction of life on earth. He begins the book with an essay which describes the destructive force of the atomic bomb. Then in "Basic Science and the Pentagon," Thomas presents his own alternative plan to putting MX missiles on underground railways in Utah and Nevada.

In the final essay, from which the title of the book is drawn, Thomas describes the loss of the pleasure he once derived from listening to Mahler's Ninth Symphony. He writes: "I cannot listen to the last movement of the Mahler Ninth without the door-smashing intrusion of a huge new thought: death everywhere, the dying of everything, the end of humanity."

These well-written essays can be read and re-read. And the book should find a permanent place on the bookshelves of many of its readers.

Human rights abuses are detailed now

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department, in its annual report on human rights abuses, says the re-emergence of far-right death squads in El Salvador last year further terrorized a nation already wracked by left-wing guerrilla violence.

The report concludes that major human rights improvements were made in Latin America during 1983 as a number of military governments — notably Argentina — moved towards democracy.

But the report said that while killings, torture, disappearances, kidnappings and other abuses diminished in El Salvador last year, "the level of political violence remains high" and persists as "a central problem."

The department's report assesses the human rights performance of all 160 members of the United Nations during 1983 in a detailed, 1,484-page account that records both abuses and progress.

"One of the most hopeful developments in recent years — the march of democracy in Latin America — has gone largely unnoticed," the report said.

It cited the recent inauguration of President Raul Alfonsin who replaced a military regime in Argentina as "only the latest of a series of victories for democracy" in the region.

"Apart from Cuba, Suriname, Haiti, Guyana and Paraguay, the other 27 nations of Latin America and the Caribbean are either basically democratic, or at least nominally embarked on the transition to full democracy," the report said. It noted that since 1980 nine Latin American nations have either held free elections or announced they will do so soon.

But the report made clear that while there are hopeful signs and bright spots, Latin America also is blighted by persistent and flagrant human rights violations.

"Far-right death squads, some of which had links to security forces, assumed a higher profile (in El Salvador) during the last half of 1983 by targeting prominent individuals and forcing the news media to carry their communiques," the report said.

BLACK HISTORY SPEAKER--Albert Lewis, high school teacher and baseball coach, spoke to the second graders at Central Tuesday about the accomplishments of blacks in the history of America. February is Black History Month and students and teachers have emphasized the month with speeches, displays, films and books which tell about blacks in America. Shown with Lewis are Weldon Kiker, Minerva Ramirez, Eric Braziel, Tiffany Anderson, Robin Bailey and Marcelino Aquirre. (SDN Staff Photo)

MUSEUM GIFT — The Scurry County Museum recently received a $500 grant from the Chevron U.S.A. Employee Involvement Fund, a special fund set aside to aid those community organizations with which Chevron employees are involved. The gift will be used, along with another $500 from museum funds, to pay for the mounting and framing of a collection of fine art prints donated to the museum by the Ackerman Foundation. Shown presenting the gift to Museum Director Eunice Erwin is Karl Bode, a Chevron petroleum engineer currently assigned to the company's SACROC Unit office in Snyder. (SDN Staff Photo)

March of Dimes, Beach Boys are to aid airline

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — When Braniff International resumes flying operations in three weeks to 19 U.S. cities, it will offer discount fares through the use of a 5 percent rebate of the ticket price, company officials say.

Braniff will donate to the March of Dimes an amount equal to the discount, the airline's president said in a statement Thursday.

"We've been looking for a way, frankly, to attract passengers to our new airline," Braniff president William Slattery said. "We think we have found a unique combination to benefit both Braniff and the March of Dimes."

The promotion will extend through Braniff's first three months of operation and will guarantee the charity a donation of at least $250,000, Slattery said.

The rebate will be offered to travelers who obtain special coupons, Slattery said.

Braniff sought protection in bankruptcy court in May of 1982, but was rescued from financial straits by the Hyatt Corp. of Chicago. The airline plans to begin service again on March 1 with 30 Boeing 727-200s.

Cops begin ticket crackdown

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The police chief has issued an ultimatum to thousands of motorists with unpaid traffic tickets: either pay up during a two-week amnesty period or expect a uniformed officer at the door.

People who have failed to pay their tickets have until the end of February before Police Chief Charles Rodriguez begins sending out beefed-up teams armed with arrest warrants.

"We don't relish bringing people in on warrants. We're not interested in taking people to jail. We just want them to pay their fines," Rodriguez said.

More than 72,000 outstanding arrest warrants have piled up in the past three years against people who have ignored repeated notices to pay traffic fines, the chief said.

"The intent of this is to have people come in, pay their fines and clear those warrants out of the system," he said.

A grace period will be in effect from Monday until Feb. 29.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am 38 and my wife is 37. We've been married for 18 years and I love her with all my heart. So here's the problem; It bothers me that she goes to a male doctor. I have asked her to find a woman doctor, but she says she likes her doctor and doesn't want to change.

I can't stop thinking about the fact that another man sees my wife's body, and it's tearing me up inside. I know it sounds sick, but I can't help it. We have two children, and I don't know how I ever got through it. I try to hide my feelings, but I always end up hurting her.

I can't for the life of me understand why a woman would want to go to a man doctor. I would never have a woman for my doctor. Never!

Help me deal with this, Abby.

UPSET IN BALTIMORE

DEAR UPSET: Pity you would never have a woman doctor because one examination by a competent female physician would convince you that her interest in your body is strictly professional.

I assure you, your wife's physician gets about as "turned on" looking at your wife's body as an automobile mechanic looking for a leak in the radiator. If you can't overcome this hang-up without professional help, I advise you to get it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please don't throw this away thinking it's from some foolish little girl because I'm 22 and consider this a serious problem. My boyfriend is a Seventh-Day Adventist and he says his religion doesn't approve of jewelry of any kind, so I shouldn't expect a wedding ring!

Maybe I'm silly, but I can't imagine being married without one. Does it say somewhere in the Bible that wedding rings are a sin? I know I won't die without one, but all my married friends have wedding bands, and I won't feel really married without one.

WANTS A RING

DEAR WANTS: It's true, there is no "wedding ring" in the marriage ceremony of Seventh-Day Adventists.

The church frowns on jewelry, but some members do not consider the wedding band "jewelry," and after they are married they wear them on their own. It is not a sin.

You are apparently not a Seventh-Day Adventist, so I advise you to talk to a local pastor of the church and ask for some educational material about what is expected of members.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year-old single female and also an agent with a large insurance company. I am in a predicament facing many single women my age.

My boyfriend and I live together, and because of a previous bad marriage (mine), we have decided not to include marriage in our future. However, we would like to have children. I'm afraid that my company would frown upon motherhood without marriage, but I feel I am within my rights to have a child if it will be brought up in a stable, loving home. We've considered saying we are married to ensure company approval, but we prefer to be honest.

If we choose to have a family, can I be legally terminated for this reason? I can't afford to jeopardize my career. I am paid strictly on a commission basis and nowhere in my contract is anything concerning this matter mentioned.

NAMELESS, OF COURSE

DEAR NAMELESS: If you want to know your legal rights, consult an attorney, and/or the women's rights advocate in your area. But if you can't afford to jeopardize your career, I advise you to live according to society's prevailing rules and get married before having a family.

Issue divides country

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Mexico wants the United States to stop blaming the unrest in Central America on "communism" and start pushing for social and economic reform, an expert on diplomatic relations says.

Differing views on how to deal with the Central American region constitute the "single most important political issue" between the U.S. and Mexico, said Dr. Gabriel Szekely.

"All of the United States' efforts have been aimed at controlling communism rather than promoting social and economic change," Szekely said Thursday.

"We hope the Reagan administration at some point will be willing to listen to other alternatives for peace in the region," he said.

Szekely, a full-time professor and researcher at the Center of Industrial Studies in Mexico City, addressed members of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association during a special seminar on relations between Mexico and the U.S.

The group planned to meet in Mexico City today with President Miguel de la Madrid.

Szekely said that Reagan's highly publicized Bipartisan Commission on Central America came up with no new answers or innovative solutions.

"It wasn't anything that everybody hadn't heard before," he said.

Szekely also said the U.S. should stop cursing the steady stream of Mexican aliens crossing the border to find work.

Price of food surges upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices surged 0.6 percent in January — their biggest one-month rise in 14 months — as food prices skyrocketed 2.7 percent, the government said today.

Pacing the sharpest food price climb since August 1980 were a 9.2 percent gain for pork prices, a 7 percent increase for vegetable prices and a 3.2 percent hike for beef prices.

The overall gain surprised analysts, who had expected that the moderate increases of recent months would be recorded into 1984. Last year's 0.6 percent rise had been the best 12-month showing in two decades.

And, while analysts had expected food prices to rise last month as a result of the harsh winter weather that devastated crops, livestock and poultry in much of the South and Midwest, the size of the increase had not been forecast.

Meat prices had fallen in the autumn as producers sent their livestock to slaughter rather than pay feed prices sent sharply higher by the summer's drought. But, with supplies diminished, meat prices are resuming their climb. In December, beef prices were up 6.3 percent.

As for last month, food price gains were also posted for poultry, up 2.9 percent; fish, up 5.6 percent; coffee, 2.6 percent. Fresh fruit prices fell 3.5 percent.

Over the last year, food has become steadily more expensive. Vegetable prices have risen 50.5 percent; egg prices have gained 66.1 percent, and poultry costs have increased 24.5 percent.

Today's report from the Labor Department recorded a 1.2 percent decline in energy prices. The calculation, which reflected December price activity, reflected the largest single-month decline since April and the sixth decline in the last seven months.

Gasoline prices fell a sharp 1.6 percent, about the same as in the previous two months, while home heating oil prices plunged 3.4 percent, more than double the two previous months' declines. Natural gas prices rose 0.9 percent.

Over the last 12 months, energy prices have fallen 6.9 percent. Gasoline prices are off 9.3 percent and heating oil prices have dropped 10.8 percent.

Analysts expect those costs to begin climbing in the next few months, however, because of heating oil supplies diminished during the winter.

The energy price calculations reported today lag a month behind the rest of the Producer Price Index for finished goods because energy companies report their prices too late for inclusion in the most recent index.

Price changes that show up at the wholesale level are a good barometer of how food, energy and other commodity prices will move at the retail level. The Consumer Price Index, though, checks for a broader range of items, including housing and medical care, than does the wholesale inflation index.

In all, wholesale prices fell a seasonally adjusted 0.2 percent in November and rose by 0.2 percent in December.

Detailing last month's price activity, the Labor Department offered these details:

—New car prices rose 0.3 percent, the same as in December. Light truck prices were up 0.8 percent, a bit ahead of the December increase.

—Capital equipment costs rose 0.1 percent, half the 0.2 percent gain of the preceding month.

All the changes are adjusted for normal seasonal variations.

If last month's 0.6 percent increase held steady for 12 months, the yearly advance would be 7.8 percent. The annual rate reported by the department is based on a more precise calculation of monthly prices than the figure made public.

In all, the Producer Price Index for finished goods stood at 289.4 in January, meaning that goods costing $10 in 1967 would have cost $28.94 last month.

Prices had risen 7.1 percent in 1981 and 3.7 percent in 1982.

Most analysts are forecasting that wholesale-price inflation will be somewhat higher this year than last.

Ira Baptists celebration set Sunday

The First Baptist Church of Ira will have a "Celebration of Christ's Love" at 6 p.m. Sunday at the Ira Community Center.

There will be a meal and concert featuring Celebration '84, God's Musical Kids, Mike Holmes, Linnette White and Mike and Anne Brown.

This is an annual event which last year had over 100 in attendance.

Gressett on HS honor list

ABILENE--More than 200 Hardin-Simmons students received academic honors in the fall semester, requiring grade point averages of 3.6 or higher.

Tommy A. Gressett of Snyder, sophomore, was named to the President's List. To be included on this list a student must carry 12 or more semester hours with grades of A for all courses.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ortegon Jr. are parents of a baby boy born Jan. 25 at 5:51 p.m. in Hendrick Medical Center at Abilene. He weighed 11 pounds, four ounces and has been named Stephen Matthew. He is welcomed by a brother, John Gabriel.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Pete Argumaniz of Sweetwater and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ortegon Sr. of Snyder.

Third agency enters probe

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A third federal agency has entered the investigation into a private adoption network operating between Mexico and the United States.

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan has asked the Internal Revenue Service to join the FBI and the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service in determining if the adoption network has broken any laws, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram said today.

Regan's announcement came in a letter to Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kansas, who had asked Regan to include the IRS in a comprehensive, nationwide investigation.

Dole and five other senators, including Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, introduced legislation Thursday in the senate to outlaw fraudulent international and interstate adoptions.

Adoption intermediaries Debbie Tanner of Willcox, Ariz.; Bryan Hall of El Paso, Texas; and Becci Kelley of New Market, Iowa, are the focus of the investigations, federal officials said.

At least 80 American couples in 18 states said they paid between $3,000 and $7,000 each to adopt Mexican children. The couples said they never received a child or a refund of their money.

Bentsen, himself an adoptive parent, called for swift passage to reverse the "seamy scenario" of international adoption fraud.

Bentsen said the adoption ring may have been involved in as many as 400 fraud cases in 20 states. "Unfortunately," he said, the group's activities represents "the tip of the iceberg in the largely unregulated world of international and interstate adoption."

The senator's daughter, Tina, was adopted from Norway approximately 30 years ago after Bentsen, then a young congressman, sponsored a private immigration bill permitting her admission into the country. She was described as "the billion-dollar baby" because Bentsen's bill was enacted as an amendment to a $1 billion tax bill, the Star-Telegram said.

The adoption bill would make it a federal crime, punishable by up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine, to defraud adoptive couples. The bill would also prohibit unlicensed adoption intermediaries — with the exception of lawyers — from handling international or interstate adoptions.

The newspaper reported Thursday that an American woman said she helped obtain babies for the adoption network under investigation.

Fanny Hatch, 71, an American who has spent most of her life in Mexico, told the newspaper that between 1978 and 1980 she paid pregnant Mexican women in Hermosillo, Mexico, varying amounts of money in exchange for putting their children up for adoption.

Mrs. Hatch said that Ms. Tanner reimbursed her for the money she paid the Mexican women.

"I would tell her (Ms. Tanner) how much I spent and she would send it to me," said Mrs. Hatch, a long-time resident of Hermosillo, which is about 150 miles due south of Tucson, Ariz.

"I think I told her exactly how it was spent. There was never any disagreement on that."

Ms. Tanner, Hall and Ms. Kelley have maintained that their adoption network, which uses lawyers in Mexico and private adoption agencies in the United States to link adoptive couples with children, has broken no laws. Mrs. Tanner and Hall claim to have placed as many as 400 Mexican children with parents in the United States.

Ms. Kelley denied any knowledge that Mexican mothers were paid in exchange for giving up their children for adoption and said that "if I had any indication that any of my children that I helped to place were literally bought, that child would not have have been placed by me."

Mexican law prohibits the buying and selling of babies but does not specifically define the offense. It is not illegal, for instance, for a mother's medical costs to be paid by adopting parents, but it is unclear whether additional money paid to a mother constitutes the sale of a child.

Janene Jones wants to testify

GEORGETOWN, Texas (AP) — Genene Jones, who sat silently as 44 witnesses told a story that points to her as a baby-killer, wants to testify on her own behalf, but her lawyers are not convinced it's a good idea.

A source close to the defense says Ms. Jones has made it clear she wants to take the stand, but that no decision has been made on whether she will testify.

Defense lawyers, who opened their case Thursday, are wary of a courtroom confrontation between Ms. Jones and Kerr County District Attorney Ron Sutton.

The decision on whether she will testify could be a tough one for defense lawyers. Attorneys can face legal malpractice suits from defendants they tell not to testify.

Ms. Jones, a 33-year-old mother of two, is accused of using a muscle relaxant to kill 15-month-old Chelsea McClellan on Sept. 17, 1982. Chelsea was one of six children who suffered mysterious seizures after getting injections from Ms. Jones, who worked for a Kerrville pediatrician.

The state's case, a circumstantial one, portrayed Ms. Jones as an aggressive nurse who made children sick in order to convince Kerrville hospital officials that they needed a pediatric intensive care unit.

Defense lawyer Jim Brookshire on Thursday opened his case with three witnesses who contradicted portions of the state's case. Before starting his case, he told reporters he would try to show that Chelsea was not a murder victim, just a sick child who died.

One of Brookshire's witnesses opened that possibility Thursday by recalling what a weeping Petti McClellan, Chelsea's mother, said when nurse Jones handed her the baby's body moments after her death.

"She'll wake up in a few minutes. She's done this before. She'll wake up," emergency medical technician Tommy James of Kerrville recalled the mother saying.

The first major defense witness was Debbie Sultenfuss, a close friend of Ms. Jones. The two lived together while the defendant worked in Kerrville for Dr. Kathleen Holland. Ms. Sultenfuss worked in the intensive care unit at Kerrville's Sid Peterson Hospital.

She was in Ms. Holland's office on Sept. 3, 1982, when 21-month-old Misty Reichenau suffered a mysterious seizure. The girl later recovered. Ms. Jones is charged with injury to a child in the Reichenau incident.

Kay Reichenau, Misty's mother, has testified that the girl "just quit breathing" right after Ms. Jones inserted an intravenous needle.

But Ms. Sultenfuss said the attack began before the intravenous was connected. The witness said she was at the office to bring lunches, but went into the emergency room when she realized there was an emergency.

"She was very stiff," said Ms. Sultenfuss, countering state witnesses who said the children went "limp" after injections from Ms. Jones.

Dr. Holland and nurse Jones could not get a breathing tube into the girl, according to Ms. Sultenfuss.

"At that time, Dr. Holland did ask for succinylcholine," she testified.

Succinylcholine, commonly used to help get breathing tubes into uncooperative patients, is the drug Ms. Jones is accused of using to kill Chelsea and injure the other children.

But Ms. Sultenfuss said the drug was never given to Misty because Ms. Holland and Ms. Jones disagreed on the dosage.

Sutton wanted to know if it was possible that Ms. Jones suggested a smaller dose because she had already given the girl one shot of succinylcholine.

"I doubt that because the succinylcholine bottle had a cap on it when I got it from the refrigerator," and pleaded guilty to that charge.

Abraham Yeh, indicted for three counts of injury to a child in connection with a January incident involving several junior high age youth, was granted a deffered adjudication on one of the charges Thursday.

The other two indictments against Yeh were dismissed.

Four local men were sentenced also for felony DWI cases.

James Eugene Frazier Jr. now faces a five-year prison term after having his probation revoked. Frazier was placed on felony probation in Scurry County in 1982 and the probation was revoked due to a subsequent conviction for the same offense in Walker County.

Drawing a county jail term after pleading guilty to a DWI charge was Lorenzo Ovalie Martinez. He was sentenced to six months in the Scurry County Jail.

In addition, both John Matthew Dempsey and Ralph Alan McArthur were placed on felony probation for two-year terms after both pleaded guilty to DWI charges.

Hit-and-run is reported

A single minor hit-and-run traffic mishap was reported in the city Thursday morning.

Ray Giddens of Snyder called police at 8:56 a.m. Thursday and told officers that his 1974 Chevrolet had apparently been struck by a hit-and-run driver.

The Giddens' vehicle was thought to have been struck while parked at either the Spanish Inn on north College Ave. or at the Texaco Truck Stop at U.S. Highway 84 and Huffman Ave. between 7 and 8:45 a.m. Thursday. Damage was rated minor.

Free flights pave way for repair work

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Challenger's two spacewalkers, who call themselves "Flash Gordon and Buck Rogers," said today their free flights outside the shuttle paved the way for repairing a crippled satellite on the next mission and for building space stations piece-by-piece in orbit.

Calling his jet-pack "a beautiful flying machine," Robert Stewart said, "Absolutely, it's ready for the the Solar Max flight."

The jet-powered back packs, which Stewart and Bruce McCandless flew flawlessly during two untethered space walks, are to be used by another shuttle crew in April to retrieve the Solar Max satellite for replacement of a defective electronics box. The satellite has been ailing in orbit since it was launched four years ago.

Challenger's five crewmen discussed their mission in a long-distance news conference as they neared the end of their journey, heading for the first shuttle landing in Florida on Saturday, with their flight log reflecting both major disappointments and the exhilarating successes of man's first unanchored space walks. Reporters at the Johnson Space Center in Houston asked the questions.

Beyond Solar Max and the servicing of satellites, McCandless said their successful checkouts of the jet-pack opens the way for astronauts "to do construction work on space stations," linking together sections brought up by the space shuttle. With President Reagan's recent endorsement of a permanent orbiting station, that work is expected to start early in the 1990s.

Asked to assess the mission, commander Vance Brand said the failure of two communications satellites to fire into the proper orbits was "an extreme disappointment," even though they were deployed properly by Stewart and Ronald McNair.

Pilot Robert Gibson said the walks "put us on top of the world."

Brand disclosed that the spacewalkers referred to themselves as "Flash Gordon and Buck Rogers" and he said the crew got an unexpected bonus when a foot restraint floated away from the shuttle during the second space walk, and he guided Challenger close so McCandless could reach out and grab it.

After the session, commander Brand and his crew shut down experiments and stowed gear as they prepared to return to Earth on Saturday. They checked their flight control systems and pronounced them in perfect working order.

The landing target Saturday is a 15,000-foot runway just four miles from the launch pad from where Challenger started its journey last Friday. Touchdown time is 7:19 a.m. EST.

Tax savings possible

By Robert Metz
(12th of 14 articles)

What do these taxpayers have in common? One left the armed forces to take a high-paying job. The second had a spouse who returned to the job market after several years of staying home to raise children.

Each is a candidate for income averaging under a rule that lets some save hundreds, or even thousands, of dollars in taxes.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES AND SAVE

TAX TIP: If you've had a major increase in earnings, be sure to make an income-averaging computation before you complete your return. You'll need income information for five years. You can obtain earlier data from the tax returns you filed in the four prior years.

Income averaging lets you treat your income during the five-year period as though it was earned in essentially equal chunks. As a result, assuming you did unusually well in 1983, part of that income can be taxed at a lower rate and this will reduce your tax bill.

This test will help you decide whether to income average.

1. Add taxable income for years 1982, 1981, 1980 and 1979.

2. Multiply this total by 30 percent.

3. Now subtract $3,000 from your 1983 taxable income.

If your entry on line 3 is greater than that on line 2, income averaging could save you tax — assuming you pass three further tests.

First, you must have been a citizen or resident of the United States during 1983 and for the four years immediately preceding.

Second, you must have provided at least half of your own support for the years 1979 through 1982. There are some exceptions to this rule. (You'll find an explanation on the back of schedule G.)

Third, you must give up any right to exclude income earned outside the United States even though you excluded such income in the past.

Once you've decided you may be eligible, you must calculate whether you have "averageable income" of more than $3,000. In general, averageable income is the amount by which your 1983 adjusted taxable income exceeds 30 percent of total income during the prior four years.

That may seem a bit confusing. The point is, averageable income is a measure of how much your income increased during 1983.

The four-year period immediately preceding your "computation year" is called your base period, and each one of these years is called a base period year. If you do not have copies of your base year income tax returns on hand, copies of them can be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service for a fee. Do not wait until the last minute to request your prior tax returns. It will take the IRS up to six weeks to send them.

Let's look at an example:

Gene and Shirley Johnson had taxable income of $56,200 for 1983. That was high compared to their four preceding years. That is, taxable income during the four prior years was: 1982, $37,200; 1981, $28,800; 1980, $21,600; 1979, $25,200 for a total of $112,800. Note that in figuring taxable income for 1979 and 1980, you must make a subtraction for exemptions on the space provided in Schedule G.

It is helpful to obtain a copy of Schedule G and do the arithmetic on this combination work sheet and tax form. The Johnsons enter these amounts on schedule G, step 1, lines 1 through 10. In step 2, they calculate 30 percent of that total or $33,840. In the rest of step 2, they check to see if they had to reduce 1983 taxable income for early pay-out on a Keogh plan (they did not) and if they should adjust 1983 income under a state community-property rule (no).

When they subtracted $33,840 from their 1983 taxable income on line 12, they found an averageable income of $22,360. Because this was far more than $3,000, it was clear that they would save by averaging.

Step 3 does the important arithmetic. It's a little hard to follow the IRS's reasoning, but it's easy to follow the computations.

Income averaging results in a lower tax because averageable income is cut into five equal parts. The result is that the taxpayer is dropped into and taxed at a lower tax bracket than he would have been.

This tax is multiplied by five and added to the tax on 30 percent of base period income. This results in your tax for 1983.

Remember this housekeeping detail: If you income average, you won't use the tax tables. Instead you will have to use one of the tax rate schedules — X, Y or Z. Which one will depend on your filing status.

When you've finished, transfer your answer from line 32 of Schedule G to your income tax form 1040, line 39. Check the box marked "Schedule G" on form 1040 so the IRS will know what you're doing.

2-4A action offers key shootouts this evening

The three-team girls race in District 2-4A reaches the breaking point tonight when loop leader San Angelo Lake View travels to Andrews.

Major games also take place in the boys race, where no less than five teams are still fighting for a playoff spot.

District contests are preceded by junior varsity games at 4:30. Varsity girls play at 6:15 while varsity boys vie at 7:45.

Lake View's Maidens, 12-1 in district play, need a win tonight to keep from falling into a three-way tie and a possible coin flip situation. Andrews, 11-2, will try to force the tie, while Sweetwater, also 11-2, would benefit from victories by itself and the Maidens.

Sweetwater entertains the 4-9 Monahans Loboettes this evening.

Victories by Andrews and Sweetwater would put the three top teams at 12-2. Lake View can wrap up the crown with a win over Andrews, however. That would leave Andrews at 11-3 and out of the picture if Sweetwater beats Monahans.

In games involving teams which are out of the race, Snyder (3-10, 10-14) travels to Fort Stockton (3-10, 11-13) and Lamesa (3-10, 5-20) is at Pecos (6-7, 8-11).

Meanwhile, Lamesa can clinch a boys championship tonight if the Golden Tornadoes can defeat Pecos. At 11-0, Lamesa holds a three-game lead over the pack with only three games left.

Pecos, 7-4 and one of three teams tied for third place, will try to upset the Tornadoes and thus remain in contention for a playoff berth. Tied with the Eagles are Snyder, which travels to 1-10 Fort Stockton, and Sweetwater, which entertains 2-9 Monahans.

Andrews, 8-3 and in second place, entertains 1-10 Lake View.

Netters back in action; heading for Lamesa

With two good wins providing some momentum, Snyder's Tigers go into District 2-4A tennis play again this weekend.

The Tigers trek to Lamesa on Saturday, playing Lamesa at 8:30 a.m. and Pecos at 11:45. Snyder also entertains San Angelo Lake View next Tuesday, at 3 p.m.

Snyder is coming off of two wins this week, 17-1 over Colorado City and 15-5 over Big Spring.

"We had good workouts and we were able to play two practice matches which seems to have helped our overall team play," said Coach Charlie Chrane. "Some of our players that are working harder are coming along and beginning to play well. We'll need to be able to play real good tennis to continue to do well in our district."

The coach said the team was beginning to get over a bout with the flu, but would still have two or three members out this weekend.

Snyder is 1-0 in district team tennis play. The Tigers defeated Monahans 13-5 last weekend.

Cougars crush TCU

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Akeem "The Dream" Olajuwon has developed a shooting touch he didn't have last year and the nation's leading rebounder is fast becoming a scoring machine.

Seven-foot Olajuwon hit 11 of 14 shots from the field and scored 25 points Thursday night as No. 5 ranked Houston rolled to a 76-60 Southwest Conference victory over Texas Christian.

Dick Motta, coach of the Dallas Mavericks of the National Basketball Association, just shook his head at Olajuwon's performance.

"His progress in one year is just incredible," said Motta of the junior from Lagos, Nigeria. "He has that soft, fadeaway jump shot now."

Olajuwon had 11 rebounds and intimidated the smaller Horned Frogs inside.

Houston, earning its 34th consecutive SWC victory, is now 20-3. The Cougars are 10-0 in league play.

TCU dropped to 9-12 overall and 2-9 in conference games.

Young scored 24 points for the Cougars and TCU was led by Dennis Nutt, who scored 20 points, mostly on long-range bombs over the Cougar defense.

In SWC games Saturday, Arkansas is at SMU in a 2:40 p.m. television game, Houston is at Texas in a 7:10 p.m. TV game, Texas A&M is at Baylor and TCU is at Rice.

Broncos blitzed, 93-58

Western routs NMMI

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

Western Texas could have called it a clinic and charged admission - not to the fans, but to New Mexico Military Institute.

The Westerners did it all - shot well, stormed the boards and played excellent defense - to race past the outmanned Broncos here Thursday, 93-58.

The victory put the Westerners at 15-8 on the season and 7-5 in Western Junior College Athletic Conference competition. Next up for Coach Barry Davis' crew is 20th ranked Howard College, 8 p.m. Monday in Big Spring.

In fairness to the Broncos, they were without standout performer Billy Rodriquez. The 6-2 sophomore, who averages 20.9 points a game, was discovered to have a leg fracture Wednesday.

Rodriquez might have been able to help his team Thursday night were he able to play, but it is doubtful he could have made a difference in the outcome. Western hit its first five buckets without a miss, and didn't allow NMMI a point until 3:35 into the game. By the time Alan Tolbert put up the first Bronco points, Western already had 10. Minutes later, Larry Banks led the hosts on a 14-point spree which saw WTC go up 28-8 with just over eight and a half minutes to play in the half. Banks, who had all of his 16 points in the first half, scored eight in a four-minute span.

The key to the offensive output was a fullcourt press put on by the team. In fact, Western went in and out of the press all game long, even in the final minutes.

"We want to play the same all the time, regardless of the score of the game. That has nothing to do with it," explained Davis afterward. "We're trying to develop our intensity. We're also trying to get better defensively. Our goal is to play good, winning basketball."

That's exactly what Western did. With Fred Johnson hitting from the wing and Banks and Eugene Smith filling up the bucket from closer in, WTC rolled to a 46-21 halftime advantage.

Johnson, playing perhaps his best game in a while, scored 10 points in the first six minutes of the second half to aid Western to its biggest lead of the night, 64-30. He was assisted by freshman guard Billy Chambers, who hit the medium jumper, drove inside, and scored from the line in what was also one of his best efforts of the season.

"It's obvious what Chambers does out there for us. He sets up the offense, gets the ball to the open man, he runs the fast break, he can go to the basket. We know what he can do. He's been doing it all season," said Davis, who gave Chambers a starting role in the game.

Western also got its usual solid performance from 6-3 sophomore Richie Fells, and from freshmen Anthony Smith and Jeff Gibson off the bench.

The Westerners were 21 of 36 from the field in the first half. They ended the game with a 40-of-79 effort, and shot 13 of 16 from the line.

"I was real happy with our shot selection," stressed the coach. "Whenever you have good selection, you've got a good chance of making the basket. We shot well from the line too and that was a big plus for us. If we can continue to improve on our freethrows it will mean a big help to our scoring that we haven't always gotten."

Johnson led the Westerners with 21 points and nine rebounds. Banks had 16 points and eight boards and Lewis scored 14 points and pulled down seven rebounds. Fells chipped in 10 points and Gibson 9, while Lorand White came off the bench for seven rebounds.

Chambers and Smith tallied a half dozen points apiece while chalking 11 and 10 assists respectively.

For NMMI, 6-2 guard Ralph Raby garnered 23 points - almost half of the Broncos' total. Chartard Dease scored 16 and Cedric Bullard had 11.

Olympic update

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) - Steffi Martin led a sweep by East Germany in the first of four runs in the women's luge. She clocked 41.63, while Bettina Schmidt followed with 41.66 and Ute Weiss was timed at 41.90.

In the 1,500-meter women's speed skating competition, Karin Enke of East Germany set a new world and Olympic record, clocking 2 minutes, 3.42 seconds.

The United States virtually dropped from medal contention when they lost to Czechoslovakia 4-1.

In other action, Finland got three goals each from Petri Skriko and Arto Sirvio and crushed Norway 16-2. Kirk Muller scored twice to lead Canada to an 8-1 rout of Austria. West Germany defeated Poland 8-5, the USSR dropped Italy 5-1 and Finland blanked Yugoslavia 11-0.
