Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

It's encouraging news that comes from New York about the money market. Call money has dropped to 2 and 2½ per cent and credit is reported to be the easiest in the last five years. The stock market improves and Wall street hears that the price of Mid-Continent crude is soon to be advanced.

The important news is the low rate of interest and easy credit. That means that industries will be able to borrow cheap money for operations and that many which have been operating with reduced forces or closed altogether will start up again.

The low interest rates in the East means that some of the money that accumulates there will seek the higher interest rates paid in the West. Some of this money has already come to Wichita Falls. More of it is certain to come. The building and loan associations are getting some of it. They can promise profitable investment for all the money they can obtain.

The stock market speculation and the stock market crash caused heavy withdrawals from the building and loan companies everywhere. In Wichita Falls these companies met every demand made upon them. But while these withdrawals continued they were unable to make loans. The tide is now turned. Withdrawals have about stopped and new money is coming in. In a short time the building and loan associations of Wichita Falls expect to be making new loans for building and for improvements.

With the prospect that money can be found to finance it this home modernization campaign that is to be started soon in Wichita Falls looks like a mighty fine movement. It will give the people better and more comfortable homes and will provide work for the unemployed.

According to a government survey, twelve million people living in American cities of 10,000 or more have no bathrooms. More than a million homes within central station areas are not wired for electricity. Of the 20,000,000 one and two-family houses in the United States, 12,000,000 are said to need modernizing.

All told, says the American Building Association News, there is potentially $24,000,000,000 worth of modernizing work to be done and the home modernizing bureau estimates that $2,000,000,000, or one-twelfth of the total, will be done during 1930.

"To a considerable extent," says that publication, "the American people have been doing with their homes what they have been doing with their automobiles, radios and other articles—exchanging the old for the new in order to avoid the trouble of repairing and remodeling. Temporarily at least that tendency is in abeyance. Building and loan and allied interests must concentrate, therefore, on the market that does exist, on the 12,000,000 homes which are estimated to need remodeling. Kitchens, staircases, cellars, roofs, plastering need repairs. Added rooms in cellar or attic, added porches and solariums can be used to advantage in many homes. Any house more than 10 years old, unless it has already been rehabilitated, needs new bathroom fixtures. Of the millions of houses that are wired, it is estimated that three out of four are already obsolete, judged from present day standards of design and construction."

The key to the modernization campaign is credit. If money rates continue low and credit easy the building and loan and other associations and companies handling home loans will have money to loan for such purposes. That's one reason why the news of low interest rates and easy credit sounds good to a lot of us here in Wichita Falls—it's good news to the man who wants to buy, build or improve a home, it's good news to those who handle building supplies and it's good news to the man who needs a job.

In 1910 six factories manufacturing horse whips produced 20,000,000 of them. The production this year, we read, will probably be not more than 10,000. In 1900 there were 62,540 workers employed in 7,632 carriage and wagon factories. In 1925 only 4,833 persons were employed in 152 such establishments. Changing social customs, public taste and new inventions have almost wiped out many industries. There is no use in making buggy whips or buggies when everybody rides in an automobile. The business man, the artisan and the manufacturer must keep an eye open to custom and public taste and to invention and progress. The man who fails to do it will sooner or later find himself with an idle factory, a bankrupt business or out of a job.

Nearly 3,000 more poll taxes were paid, fully 1,000 more motor vehicle licenses were issued than a year ago and between 85 and 90 per cent of the state and county taxes were paid in Wichita county before Feb. 1, according to estimates of the county tax collector's office. The record is one that indicates Wichita county is in far better shape than might have been expected. The trouble is that too many of us look only at decreased business and unemployment without considering the extent of our resources and our reserves of money and credit.

And a Washington dispatch tells us that March 15 income tax collections this year exceeded those of last year by more than $40,000,000 being $314,200,558 this March 15. This is in the face of lower rates and the stock market crash of last October that wiped out profits and even original capital for a lot of folks. Another indication of basic soundness for the country as a whole.

THOMPSON ACQUITTED

APPROPRIATION AND TAX BILLS ALL BUT LOST

Befuddled Solons Can't Agree on Big Issues Before Them

NEW CALL PROBABLE

Sixth Special Session to Solve State Problems Expected

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—Getting together just before the session died, the state legislature tonight approved a tax of 55 cents per ton on sulphur, and passed the $1,234,174 appropriation bill for schools and state institutions.

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—The fifth called session of the 42nd legislature approached the constitutional sine die adjournment hour tonight with sulphur tax and emergency appropriation bills on precarious ground. The situation between the two houses, in disagreement on what the sulphur tax levy should be, was almost hopelessly befuddled although hope of some kind of an agreement had not been entirely abandoned.

It was evident the legislators would be at the task of trying to bring order out of chaos until midnight when the constitution automatically terminates the session.

Moody Irked

While dissatisfaction on the part of Governor Moody was apparent, as stated by him in another message cautioning the legislature about passing appropriations in excess of revenues, it was taken for granted he would not call a sixth extraordinary session and do his best to make ends meet with the aid of his veto pencil.

This legislature had completed 204 days in intermittent session, setting a record for succeeding Texas legislative bodies to shoot at. The 150 representatives and 15 of the 31 senators will have to stand for re-election in November, with the governor's defeated plan to reform and centralize the penitentiary system near Austin as a definite issue.

Sulphur Bill Rejected

The senate sulphur conferees had rejected the house's compromise offer of 75 cents per ton tax, and the house had refused any further concessions. The house had voted a $1 tax and the senate 50 cents.

The house appropriation bill conferees had refused to sign a committee agreed bill providing for the expenditure of $1,881,495 to meet emergency requests of summer schools, eleemosynary institutions, departments and the penitentiary system for the current biennium, pending some disposition of the sulphur controversy.

Governor Moody put the legislators on notice he would not stand for a deficit and suggested they whittle down their appropriations to meet available revenues.

Council Of Governors And Prominent Citizens Held Out As Prohibition 'Cure'

WASHINGTON, March 20. (AP)—The calling by President Hoover of a council of governors and prominent citizens to work out a plan to educate the American people to observance of the dry laws was advocated today in the house judiciary committee prohibition hearings.

The first of five witnesses, Daniel C. Roper, former internal revenue commissioner, said he was convinced the law could be enforced and suggested the chief executive call federal and state officials into conference with wets and drys to determine a solution of prohibition questions.

Wealthy Class Blamed

The American-born wealthy class was charged by Mrs. Martha Bensley Bruere of New York, author and a social worker, with creating a market for illicit liquor. She said low wage earners created no demand for liquor.

The National Woman's Christian Temperance union was placed on record as opposing all of the measures before the committee to repeal the 18th amendment by Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn, N. Y., its president. She asserted that as long as woman retained their right of suffrage the 18th amendment would remain in the constitution and that, regardless of party affiliations, they would continue to be "implacable foes of the liquor traffic."

Other witnesses were James L. Kennedy of Greensburg, Pa., and Oliver W. Stewart of Chicago, president of the Flying Squadron foundation.

Kennedy advocated observance of the prohibition law on the ground it deserved protection by the citizens as long as it was a law.

Stewart said more than half the population of the United States would oppose any measure to repeal or modify the dry laws sent to the house by the judiciary committee.

Statement Read

The committee received a statement from Mrs. Nellie Burger of Springfield, Mo., president of the Missouri Woman's Christian Temperance union, in which she stated prohibition had brought "relief to hundreds of families who never before knew anything but grinding poverty." She added prohibition had not been the cause of crime increase, but attributed it to automobiles and firearms. When wet advocates offer a better solution for handling liquor trafficking than prohibition, she said, she would consider it.

Mrs. Lenna Lowe Yost, a member of the legislative committee of the national association of organizations supporting the 18th amendment, read a telegram from her brother-in-law, Fielding H. (Hurry Up) Yost, coach at the University of Michigan, in which he expressed the opinion the college youth of America was not drinking as much as in pre-prohibition days.

CREDIT MEET CALLED HERE

Texas-Okla. Merchants and Executives Invited

Credit men and women, secretaries of associations, and credit merchants of Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma have been called to meet in Wichita Falls Monday, April 7, as guests of the Wichita Falls Retail Credit Grantors association, it was announced Thursday by E. L. Buelow, president of the Wichita association.

A one-day program, which will include speeches by several men noted in the nation's credit work, is being drafted for the meeting, with the hope that merchants and credit men from the entire section will attend, it was said. The program will deal with credits, collections, merchandising, and a round-table discussion of wholesale and retail problems peculiar to this section of the country. A display of credit and collection forms, gathered from the largest firms of every state in the union and seven foreign countries, has also been arranged, Mr. Buelow said.

The meeting here will be the first of its kind ever held for merchants and credit men of this section of Texas and Oklahoma. There will be no registration fee, and visitors will be guests of the local association, which is the largest in the Southwest and which compares favorably in its membership to the St. Louis association, Mr. Buelow said.

Peace Reigns During Cuban 24-Hour Strike

HAVANA, March 20. (AP)—Cuba's 24-hour strike, which began at midnight last night, progressed peacefully, but gained some recruits during the day.

The strike was called partly in protest of unemployment and partly because of the arrest of five radical labor leaders, who are still held, last week. The Cuban police say it was ordered by the Third International at Moscow.

The newspaper El Pais-Excelsior suspended publication in the afternoon because of the strike, and the Spanish language morning papers were unable to publish.

GIRL ESCAPES FLAMING ROOM AT FAIRFIELD

Defendant in Forgery Case Bound and Gagged by Assailant

REWARD OFFERED

Moody Responds to Request Of Freestone Officials For Assistance

FAIRFIELD, Texas, March 20. (UP)—Texas rangers tonight were dispatched to Fairfield to aid local officers in apprehension and conviction of the person who attempted to murder Miss Wilma Jones, 23, by setting fire to the bed after she had been bound and gagged.

Although Miss Jones told investigators that she was unable to describe her assailant, police arrested D. S. Moore, prominent business man, and charged him with murderous assault and arson. Officers investigated his business and social relations in the past. Moore is married and has one child. He is 35.

Released on Bond

Moore was released on $1,000 bond tonight, pending a preliminary hearing which has not been set.

Besides ordering Ranger Sergeant Wheatley and Ranger Gault to Fairchild, Governor Moody offered a $250 reward for apprehension of Miss Jones' assailant.

The girl, a small brunette, was brought here to face trial for forging Moore's name to a $250 check. She was taken to the Cook hotel late Wednesday after she had collapsed on the witness stand.

Miss Jones, able to sit up and talk late today, told officers she lived at Buffalo, Texas, where she kept house for her father and brother. She was burned about her body but will recover, physicians said.

Attack Mystery

She said she could think of no reason why any one should wish to kill her.

Struggling to free herself from the bonds and gag which would have forced her to be burned to death, Miss Jones was found by Mrs. Joe Green, hotel proprietor, and guests early today when they smelled smoke coming from her room.

Describes Affair

"I was awakened in the middle of the night by some one stuffing a stocking in my mouth," Miss Jones said. "I tried to scream but couldn't. Then the man wrapped a towel around my face and tied by hands and legs so I couldn't move.

"Then he set fire to the mattress and waited a minute to see that

On Trial in New York

Mae West is on trial in New York charged together with 57 other persons including a producer, stage manager and actors, with having committed a misdemeanor in placing on Broadway in October, 1928, "Pleasure Man," which was raided as an indecent play and closed.

COP REENACTS NAUGHTY PLAY

Captain Coy Takes Bows in Mae West's Trial

NEW YORK, March 20. (US)—Capt. James J. Coy, of the New York police force, took all the bows in today's session of the Mae West "Pleasure Man" trial, with his impersonations of female impersonators.

The allegedly risque play, now doing a second run in Judge Amadeo Bertini's courtroom with parts of the original Broadway cast, launched into action when Captain Coy took the witness stand. He explained to the jury just what was going on on the stage of the Biltmore theater on that October night in 1928 when the progress of "Pleasure Man" was so rudely interrupted by the police.

After Judge Bertini had denied Mr. Burkan's motion for a dismissal of the indictment and a striking out of parts of the bill of particulars, and the attorneys' statements to the jury were complete, Captain Coy, betraying no stage fright, took the stand.

"There were what I would call several scrubwomen or cleaners on the stage when the curtain went up," he said. "One of them said—'I've got it.' Another rejoined 'yes, several times!'"

Reciting his lines without the aid of notes, Captain Coy proceeded to review the action of the play upon which hangs the destiny of the blondely beguiling star of "Diamond Lil" and her 58 co-defendants.

Gravely and earnestly the doughty captain demonstrated just how Leo Howe, who played the part of "Bird of Paradise," shrugged his shoulders with sinister intent, how Stan Stanly fluttered his hand.

First Day Of Spring Jolts Dope

Blizzard Forecast for Friday Apparently Losing Race

Despite government warnings of a blizzard scheduled to send the thermometer below the freezing point in Oklahoma and Northwest Texas, the weather early Thursday evening promised to remain appropriate for the official arrival of spring Friday morning. Thursday night's forecast was "somewhat colder."

While official weather prognosticators warned that the cold wave from the North would strike the South and West within 24 hours, and the forewarned sections prepared to take emergency protective measures, the mercury climbed to 80 degrees in Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon and no unusual drop was noted during the evening. There was every indication Thursday night that the spring would win its race with a return of winter by at least a 12-hour start.

The blizzard warning Thursday predicted temperatures between 28 and 28 degrees for southern Oklahoma and a drop to 20 degrees in the Texas Panhandle. Livestock owners and fruit growers were warned to take steps to protect their stock and trees.

G. C. McGown, Wichita county farm agent, advised orchard owners in this section to prepare to smudge at the first sign of the predicted cold. He suggested fires from crude oil, hay or other fuels that produce a heavy smoke. With the season already so far advanced, a hard freeze would be disastrous, the agent declared.

'Tiger Woman' Battles Alone in Murder Trial

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 20. (US)—The defense rested in the murder trial of Irene Schroeder this afternoon, after the gungirl, on the witness stand, had declared herself as possessed with a mania for theft and suicide since childhood. She had made three efforts to end her life, she testified, the first at the age of 9 years.

Battling lone-handed, as defense attempts to call other witnesses were blocked, Irene made a last desperate effort to escape the electric chair for the alleged slaying of Corporal Brady Paul by testifying in spite of her plea of insanity based on an "irresistible impulse to rob and flee."

PUPILS PERISH AS FIRE RAZES RURAL BUILDING

Kerosene Explosion Causes Flames to Envelop Whole House

TUTORS AVERT PANIC

Women Teachers Direct Four Score Children Through Doors

TRYON, Okla., March 20. (AP)—Three children perished in a fire which destroyed the Pleasant Valley district school near here today. Eighty other children escaped through doors and windows.

The dead, all children of Lincoln county farmers, were:

Lawanda Doddrill, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Doddrill.

Freddy Eaton, 8 son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Eaton.

Granville Murray, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Connie Murray.

The flames, which swept quickly through the school building, resulted from an explosion of kerosene which was being poured into a stove in which the fire was believed to have died out.

The Eaton boy, who was handling the can of kerosene, was covered by the flaming fuel. The other victims, seated near the stove, were caught in the first flash of flames.

A panicky rush for exists was made by the children before the teachers, Mrs. Green Carpenter and Miss Vinita Smith, could attempt to supervise them. The teachers, however, saw that the pupils utilized the building's two doors and what windows were available, and they remained in the burning structure until it was cleared of children.

The fire spread rapidly and the school was in smouldering ruins in less than a half hour.

Frank J. Hogan, chief defense counsel, pleaded with the jury for three hours this afternoon in his final summation, declaring that the $100,000 was not a bribe, as charged, but was a personal loan between two life-long friends. He will conclude his defense tomorrow morning.

Thereafter Owen J. Roberts, chief special prosecutor, will make the final summation for the government, Justice Hitz will make his charge, and the case will be in the hands of the jury of nine men and three women.

CRASH VICTIM ASKS $65,000

Transportation Company Is Named in Suit

Alleging his spine and brain were injured so that he was unable to realize he was signing a release from liability instead of a receipt for partial damages, J. M. Casey Thursday filed a suit for damages amounting to $65,000 against the Oklahoma Transportation company as a result of an accident in which his car was struck by a bus of the transportation company last December.

Casey claims he was waiting for a red light to change on a downtown street here when a bus of the transportation company ran into the back of his car, throwing him against the front of the car and injuring his spine and brain so that he has been unable to know the effect or results of his actions. He alleges he signed a paper brought by a claim agent who gave him $40 thinking it was merely a receipt but found later it was a release from further liability.

Major Van Zandt Honored in Service

FORT WORTH, March 20. (AP)—Maj. K. M. Van Zandt, 93, under whose watchful eye and helpful hand the frontier village of Fort Worth was transformed into a growing city, was laid to rest in East Oakwood cemetery today after simple services at the First Christian church.

The church, in the organization of which many years ago he took prominent part, was thronged to the doors by the crowd that came to pay him their last respects. It was their gesture honoring the man who assisted in solving Texas' difficult problems of early state-hood, assured the mans of instilling vigorous life into the village he chose as his home in 1885, and who gave his time and effort to the welfare of that city until his death.

Oklahoma Youths Held After Bank Robbery

WHEATLAND, Okla., March 20. (UP)—Two farmer boys whose ideas regarding holdups and robberies were far fetched and largely fictional were housed in the county jail here tonight, repentant and brokenhearted after being captured by a posse late today.

The youths were surrounded by the posse which followed them from here after they robbed the Bank of Wheatland of $2,500 to a pasture where they engaged in a gun duel. Earl Boles, 20, Hugo, Okla., surrendered after he had been shot in the shoulder. His companion, Clifford Garner, 26, of McAlester was overtaken when he attempted to flee.

Arms Smuggling Ring Broken By Arrests of Americans and Mexicans

TUCSON, Ariz., March 20. (AP)—Round up of an alleged ring of munition smugglers who organized a conspiracy during the rebellion which swept Mexico a year ago was disclosed here today by John Gung'l United States attorney.

The leader of the illicit operations was alleged by the government to have been Gen. Jose Gonzales Escobar, commander in chief of the Mexican revolutionary forces during the two-month campaign. Of the alleged assistants, Gung'l said, 12 have been arrested and six, including Escobar, were sought.

Two members were indicted here recently by a federal grand jury for conspiring to smuggle muitions of war into Mexico from the United States for use by revolutionary forces, constituting violation of the neutrality agreement between Mexico and this country.

The accused include Americans and Mexicans, and arrests thus far occurred in the United States and Europe. Those arrested are free on bond.

It is likely, Gung'l said, they would be tried here jointly this fall.

They are: Ignacio Moran, former Mexican ambassador to Germany, arrested in New York; Salvador Ateca, arrested in Spain; Glenn M. Carr, arrested in Albuquerque, N. M.; Capt. R. H. Polk, American aviator arrested in Nashville, Tenn; Phillip "Red" Mohun, American aviator, arrested here; Augustine Gallo, arrested at Las Cruces, N. M.; Adrian Enriquez, arrested in Chicago and Antonio G. Maquero, Vincente De Adreas, Gen. Augustine de la Vega, Albino Frias, Salvador, Franco Urias, all arrested at El Paso, Texas.

With the exception of Escobar, names of the alleged conspirators still at large were kept secret. Escobar fled to the United States after the collapse of the rebellion and unverified rumors are that he is in China.

Kay Bible Class to Honor War Vets and Spudders in Services

Two Special Rally Days Named by Class for Programs on March 30 and April 6

Plans for two special rally days to be held on March 30 and April 6, with all members of the Spudder baseball team as guests on the first date and all participants in United States' wars to be honored on the latter Sunday, have been completed by the Kay Bible class, sponsored by the First Methodist church.

Reserved Section

Information given The Record News Thursday states that preparations are being made to entertain all persons connected in any way with Wichita Falls' effort in the coming Texas league baseball race at the service to be held at 9:30 a. m. on March 30 at the old First Methodist church building on the corner of Tenth street and Lamar avenue. Carl Williams' entire crew, including the batboy, and the official personnel of the local club, will have a special section of seats reserved for their use, it was said.

On the following Sunday, April 6, which is the 13th anniversary of United States' entry into the world war, "Soldiers' Day" will be observed. Special efforts will be made to have all survivors of the civil war, the Spanish American war, and the world war who reside in this community present for the service. Invitations also will be extended to all who have ever been in military service in this or any other country to participate, it was announced.

Organized 12 Years Ago

The Kay Bible class for men was organized about 12 years ago for the particular purpose of accommodating the thousands of men who were moving rapidly in and out of the city in connection with the oil development in this area. It met for years in a downtown theater building, its attendance of from 500 to 800 precluding the possibility of holding its sessions in the church buildings at that time.

With the completion of the new First Methodist church more than a year ago, the auditorium of the old building, with its pipe organ, piano, and other facilities became available for the Kay Bible class. That space was chosen as a meeting place several months ago, with the thought that it offers an atmosphere which can not be obtained in buildings of other types.

The class was named for John C. Kay, who for many years was its teacher. Since Judge Kay's resignation more than two years ago, Roy Daniels and C. A. Rogers have served at different times in the position of class teacher. That position is now filled by Rev. John D. Barron, associate pastor of the First Methodist church. Oral Jones, vice president and cashier of the City National bank, has been president of the class for about eight years.

RANGERS SENT TO FAIRFIELD

Assailant Attempts to Burn Girl

it was going to burn. Then he went out and shut the door without saying a word."

County Attorney Gebbart said that he and Sheriff J. H. Eubank had asked that Governor Moody send the rangers.

Miss Jones was kept under guard in Fairfield courthouse tonight.

Talks Freely

Declaring she did not know who attacked her, but had an "idea that I know someone who knows something about it," Miss Jones talked freely regarding the attack and the forgery charge against her.

She said she had been out of the hospital only a few weeks, and that she signed Moore's name to a check for $250 which she deposited to her credit in a Teague, Texas, bank. She said she had signed his name to other checks. Her forgery hearing has been postponed to Monday.

Moore refused to talk about the charges against Miss Jones or himself.

Miss Jones was described as the housekeeper for her father and one brother at their Buffalo home. Buffalo and Oakwood are stations on the International and Great Northern railway 10 miles apart.

Mrs. Joe Green, proprietress of the Cook hotel, said that Miss Jones registered early yesterday, went to the courthouse and was brought back after she had collapsed and was put to bed. Guests were aroused by smoke issuing from Miss Jones' room and rushed there to find the bed aflame. Miss Jones had rolled off it in time to escape being burned.

Details Lacking

Governor Moody was without details of the attack other than carried in news reports, he said at Austin, but acted on the request of County Attorney Gebbart.

Man Fires Shot At Arkansas Minister

LONOKE, Ark., March 20. (INS)—Police today were without clues to the identity of the person who shot at Rev. W. H. Gregory here last night. No motive for the attempted assassination has been disclosed.

Gregory, pastor of the Baptist church here, could furnish only a meager description of his assailant. He said when he answered a knock at the door of his home, a man standing on the porch fired a pistol. The shot missed the pastor and struck a stairway in the house.

Jim Young Opens Drive for Office In Plea for Equitable Taxation

DALLAS, March 20. (AP)—A more equitable distribution of the tax burden was cited as the state's chief need by Jim Young of Kaufman in the opening speech of the gubernatorial campaign here tonight.

The former congressman spoke over radio station KRLD. He expressed opposition to the proposed bonding plan for financing highway construction and urged alleviation of crowded conditions in the state eleemosynary institutions.

The Democratic candidate for governor said that the taxes on the farm and ranch ought to be reduced and that the revenues lost thereby should be supplanted by additional levies on sulphur, oil, gas and other minerals.

Cut expenses

"Expenses of government must be curtailed," Mr. Young advised. "The places of waste must be found and abolished once and for all."

Mr. Young said that the present tax system laid too heavy a hand on the farm, the small land owner and the ranches.

"These taxes must be redistributed on the constutional principle of uniformity and equality," he asserted.

"The farm lands have decreased in value from year to year through erosion and much cultivation, the soils have been swept to the sea and the land has not the productive capacity of former years. Yet under our antiquated tax system, the farmer, stockman and small landowner find themselves in the most embarrassing situation that could confront a citizen anytime, anywhere."

Justice in Taxation

Mr. Young emphasized that tribute should not be exacted of the corporations simply because they were such but said that they should be made to pay their part of the necessary taxes. "The farmer also should pay a just tax," he said.

The state was asked to follow a "make haste slowly" policy in highway building.

"I submit to the people of Texas that the tremendous sum available for roads is all and probably more than can be judiciously expended by our highway commission. I heartily approve the four-cent gasoline tax now provided by law for highway construction and maintenance.

Opposes State Bonds

"I am unalterably opposed to any state bond issue for the purpose of road building, or any state bond issue for any other purpose. Our peoples' are bonded through precinct, county, school, city and other bonds beyond their ability to bear. Generations yet unborn will have to bear bond burdens already placed upon them."

Mr. Young said that the prohibition question was no longer a topic for debate, that the only problem now was its proper enforcement.

Reorganized Body Holds Meetings

Special to The Record News.

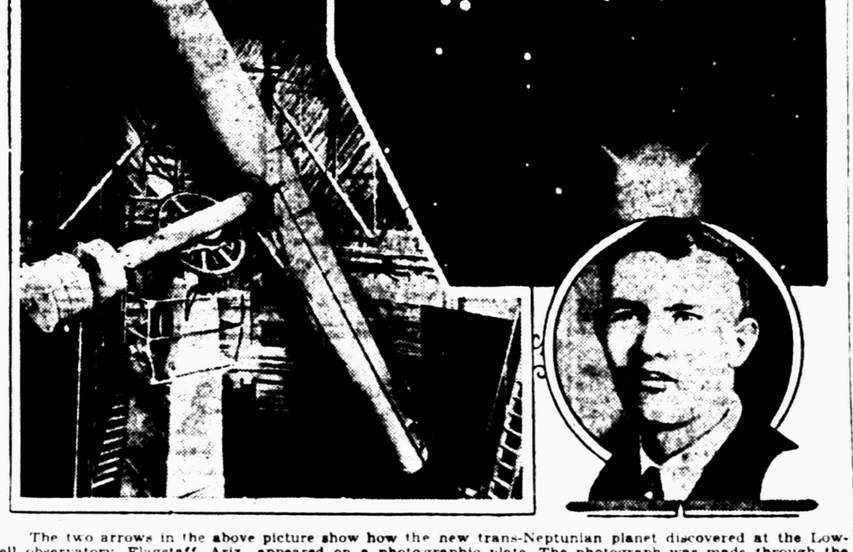

ELECTRA, Texas, March 20.—Revival of the Pease River Irrigation association, sponsor of a reclamation project to dam the river 10 miles north of Crowell as the center of a vast irrigation system, was announced Thursday when the election of C. E. McDannald as president of the reorganized body was made public. The announcement came through Robert P. Hall, secretary of the association. Other officers are Edward Schlaffke, C. A. Hodges, R. E. Scheurer, and A. L. Robb, representing the Electra Chamber of Commerce.

The movement has been given new impetus by the loan of three army corps engineers, sent by the federal government to complete preliminary surveys and compile data covering both reclamation and flood relief projects. Water rights have been renewed and a series of meetings throughout the section involved has re-awakened public interest, according to reports from Mr. Hall, who is secretary of the Electra Chamber of Commerce as well as of the association.

A study of the irrigation systems in operation at Lake Kemp and the diversion dam as a possible basis for the proposed new project is under way, the secretary announced. Two preliminary programs, one building up public enthusiasm to support the movement, and the second making a study of every aspect of the problem and every possibility of the project are being directed by the leaders, Mr. Hall said.

Mangum Merchant Makes $3,000 Bond

MANGUM, Okla., March 20. (UP)—Richard Swyden, Brinkman storekeeper, was bound over to trial in district court on a charge of arson today. He was charged in the recent $25,000 fire at Brinkman which destroyed several buildings, including his store. He was released on $3,000 bond.

During the preliminary hearing the courtroom was packed with spectators, many of them aroused by the alleged incendiary act which destroyed several buildings in the town.

County Attorney Hollis Arnett used most of the two dozen witnesses that had been called. The first witnesses testified they saw Swyden enter his store and come out within five minutes before the fire broke out. Others testified the fire started in his store and testified they saw what appeared to be piles of boxes in the rear.

Witnesses testified the stock in the store was practically depleted and that although Swyden told several he had no insurance, a check-up revealed he held $3,000 insurance on the building.

SIX GUILTY IN LIQUOR PLOT

Convictions End Federal Trial at Waco

WACO, Texas, March 20. (UP)—Verdict of guilty on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act was returned by a federal court jury today against six defendants in what was known as the Freestone county liquor conspiracy case.

Charges against 12 of the men were dropped, while trial of two was deferred because of illness. Judge Charles A. Boynton was expected to pass sentence today or Friday.

The six convicted were Roger Young, owner and operator of Young's cash store in Freestone county; Silvan McDaniel, manager of the Fortson Grocery company, Corsicana; Marion Coats, partner of Young, and three negroes, Jimmie Lee, Jim Campbell and Crate Franklin.

McDaniel was also found guilty on another count charging sale of liquor merchandise.

School Musicians To Entertain at Electra

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 20.—The Burkburnett band, under the direction of Mr. Nichols, and the Electra high school glee club under the direction of Miss Claire McNay, will put on a program at the high school auditorium Friday night at 7:45. A good program has been arranged and everyone is invited to attend.

Estimators say that people of Hungary wore out 7,000,000 pairs of boots and shoes last year.

Do you see what's left out of this Rice Pudding Recipe?

Beat 2 eggs and add 1½ cups hot milk, ¼ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Pour mixture over 2 cups of steamed rice. Bake in buttered dish set in a pan of water, for about 45 minutes at 325°, or until custard is set.

Of course you know what's left out! Sugar! And if you add one-half of a cup you will have perfect results and a most nourishing dessert in the bargain. Try this recipe soon.

As the palatability of a pudding depends upon sugar, so does the taste appeal of certain familiar foods depend upon a dash of sugar. For example, canned or fresh vegetables, also stewed fruits, are much more appetising when flavored thus.

Try a dash of sugar in stewed corn, peas or carrots. And don't forget that cereal sprinkled with sugar tastes better.

The more you enjoy healthful fruits and vegetables the more you will eat of them. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing when flavored with sugar. And no doctor will restrain you from using a dash of sugar any more than he will restrain you from using a pinch of salt. The Sugar Institute.

Hardeman County Schools Sponsor Entrants in Annual Meet Friday

Special to The Record News.

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, March 20.—Every school in Hardeman county will be represented when the interscholastic meet starts here Friday. Superintendent W. E. Hancock of the Chillicothe school has been successful this year in securing the meet for this city, and as director general of the Hardeman County Interscholastic league he has mailed out to every member of the league last minute rules and regulations pertaining to the meeting.

Mr. Hancock stated that since the county institute did not elect a director for arithmetic, music memory and picture memory, the committee has deemed it necessary to appoint as directors of these events Miss Alamyn Gorman, Quanah, music memory; Miss Alice Magee, Quanah, picture memory; Miss Elizabeth Morris, Chillicothe, arithmetic. Miss Myrtle Porterfield, county superintendent, is director of school exhibits, and circular letters have been mailed from her to the schools explaining the nature of the event.

The director of athletics and the executive committee have decided that six players would constitute a volley ball team and nine players would constitute a playground ball team. The regulation 14-inch ball will be used in the playground events.

Appropriate prizes for winners of each event, compliments of the Chillicothe Lions club and business men of this city will be awarded.

The program arranged for the two days follows: Friday morning, general assembly; welcome address from Mayor Thurman; debate finals, declamations, junior boys and girls; Friday afternoon, tennis, city courts, singles and doubles; declamation, senior girls and boys; extemporaneous speech; Friday evening, finals in declaration, rural and high school. Suicide Convict Leaves Insurance

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 20. (UP)—Charles Fray, who hanged himself at the state penitentiary while awaiting the day of his execution, died contentedly—leaving $2,500 insurance to his two loved ones.

This was the belief today of E. P. Hill, state pardon and parole officer.

The doomed convict was afraid his aged mother, Mrs. Anna Fray of Jenks, would not be able to collect the insurance if executed, Hill had been informed.

Mrs. Fray has received the $2,500.

"Do what I have asked you to do and take care of my baby. She is what I died for," a note the convict left his mother read.

"I'll never let anyone take Louise (Fray's daughter) away from me," the grandmother said today. "I'm going to use Charlie's money to educate her."

Electra Society

LUMBER RATE BATTLE LOOMS

Denver and Wichita Valley Cases to Be Discussed

DALLAS, March 20. (AP)—The Lumbermen's Association of Texas will consider recent railroad rate reductions over which a rate war looms for the next year when their annual meeting is held here April 8-10, according to their secretary and traffic manager, R. G. Hyett of Houston, who has completed program arrangements in Dallas with the local committee.

The rate war, which will be fought out before the Interstate Commerce commission, resulted from a recent reduction on lumber from the West coast to points on the Fort Worth and Denver City and Wichita Valley railways. Dealers not on these lines asked that the other roads join in giving them corresponding reductions. The Southern Pine association, which meets in New Orleans Monday and Tuesday, is expected also to make some expression on this.

The program announced for the convention by Mr. Hyett has diversification of farm products, modernization of farms, and creation of home-owning desire as its main themes.

Two representatives of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college will be on the program, Dr. T. O. Walton, president; and E. M. Holmgreen of the extension service.

Others on the program will be Lewis Rogers, general attorney for the Federal Land bank, Houston; Charles R. Black, Corning, Ark.; W. A. Wadley, San Antonio; R. E. Wooldridge, Gainesville; John E. Hill, Amarillo; P. A. Bloomer, Fisher, La.; J. Lee Johnson Jr., Fort Worth; Jack C. Dionne, Houston; H. W. Galbraith, Amarillo; B. L. Johnson, editor, American Builder, Chicago; G. H. Zimmerman, Waco; I. B. McFarland, Houston; Clay A. Thompson, Oklahoma City; R. J. Tolson, Waco; and Mrs. H. W. Mitchell, ladies' auxiliary president, Fort Worth.

The welcoming address response will be made by J. M. Rockwell, on lumbermen's underwriting. J. A. Kirkpatrick, Waco, president, will be in charge of the sessions.

Entertainment is being planned by a Dallas committee, of which W. M. Lingo is chairman. There will be exhibits of southern pine and west coast woods, shingles, and other building materials.

The Texas Retail Line Yard association will meet the day preceding the larger convention, April 7.

Cherry Blossoms Soon to Burst Out

WASHINGTON, March 20. (AP)—The Japanese cherry blossoms, which yearly lure thousands of visitors to Washington, soon will be flaunting their banners of spring time.

By April 1 more than 800 single flowering trees on West Potomac park, probably will be in full blooms, Charles Henlock, chief of the horticultural division of public buildings and grounds, said today. Barring too much wind, they should last two weeks.

In November, 1909, during the administration of William Howard Taft, the municipality of Tokyo, Japan, presented to the city of Washington 2,000 cherry trees as a token of the high esteem held by the people of Tokyo for the people of the United States. Upon condemnation of these soon after arrival because of their being infected, another group was sent in 1911 to replace them. They prospered on alien soil.

Bankrupt Banker Gives Up Property

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., March 20. (INS)—George T. Guernsey Sr., president of the defunct Commercial National bank of this city, has deeded property valued at $175,000 to M. E. Murray, receiver for the bank, it was announced today.

The property turned over by the 70-year-old banker represents virtually all of his real estate holdings.

The outstanding items in the exchange was the Guernsey "shack," an elaborate country retreat, and 600 acres of farm land north of Independence.

The palatial Guernsey home in Independence, which is in Mrs. Guernsey's name, was not transferred.

The value of the property transferred to the bank covers practically all of the bank's loss which was not covered by the capital and surplus.

Most of the 50,000 additional acres in Sumatra planted to rubber in the last year are owned by Americans.

Old Man Had Suffered for Four Years

"I Have at Last Found Something That Has Put an End to My Troubles," Says Mr. Trippit.

"For four years I suffered with stomach trouble, bloating and the usual attendant pains, and after trying medicine after medicine without getting any relief I have at last found something that has put an end to my troubles and I feel that I ought to tell what it is," said A. N. Trippit, well known oil field worker, who lives in Seminole, Okla.

"I had no appetite and what little food I did force down formed gas that swelled me up and I was miserable. I was always worn out and part of the time I was unable to work. I was constipated and had severe pains in my sides and back.

"I heard so much about Argotane that I decided to give it a trial. After I had taken a bottle it was almost unbelievable how much better I felt. My appetite had returned and I am able to eat anything and as much of it as I want without any trouble. My digestion is all right, my nerves are quiet and I sleep and rest at night. I have regained my strength so that I can work as well as I ever could, and I feel better in every way than I have in years. Argotane certainly fixed me up in fine shape and you can bet I am glad to recommend it."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Wichita Falls at Allison Drug store, 718 Indiana avenue.—Adv.

Horse Doctor Dies In Feud Battle

BETHANY, Mo., March 20. (INS)—Dr. John Lindsey, 70, veterinary surgeon of Gilman City, 16 miles southeast of Bethany, is dead today as the climax to a five-year-old feud between two Harrison county families.

Lindsay was shot and killed on the streets of Gilman City late Wednesday by George Cramer, 72-year-old farmer. Cramer surrendered to authorities immediately after the shooting and was in jail here today pending the filing of a murder charge.

The two aged men met in front of the postoffice for the first time since Cramer's home was destroyed by fire March 12. Cramer drew a revolver and opened fire as Dr. Lindsey statred to run. Firing as he ran, Cramer chased his aged enemy into a drug store where he fired a shot into the veterinary's head, causing death.

He is making a tour of the north plains section and says that the outlook for a big wheat crop is bright in the territory from Wichita Falls west. Art Demonstrated In Department Luncheon

In the spring milady wishes for color. And in the dining room at the Woman's Forum Thursday, a rainbow of color greeted the forum members who attended the luncheon of the art department in which Mrs. Martha Sherman used her decorative talent to set a number of the most beautiful tables that have ever been seen in the Forum clubhouse.

Three large tables particularly caught the eye, one set in Spode earthenware, an exquisite pattern of tiny buds encircling its deep blue English crystal being used with it and a center of rose snapdragons in a deep blue bowl. Another, laid for Mrs. C. W. Snider and her party of eight, was set in Black Knight china in buttercup yellow with real Venetian glass on the table creamy candles and yellow snapdragon. And then a table laid in Black Knight with a lovely pastel blue, rose and mauve pattern, English blue crystal salt swans, real rock crystal goblets pat pink snapdragons, was outstanding. Rose Spode on one table with a center of assorted poppies and another table where the same rose shade had a center of enormous white daisies—all enhanced the charm of the beautiful setting.

Of particular interest was a small table on which no article was less than 100 years old, all of them owned by Mrs. John F. Merrick. Genuine Lowestoft china, over 100 years old, bride's silver made in 1810, old willow china, ruby decanters, a gravy boat and saucer dating back to 1810 and a little linen cloth woven by one of Mrs. Merrick's ancestors in 1812, were only a few of the lovely things that had been handed down through generations.

Mrs. W. W. Silk, chairman of the department, presided and introduced Mrs. Martha Sherman who was greeted with applause, and also introduced the two charming dining room hostesses of the day, Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin and Mrs. Bernard Martin, who with Mrs. Kirksey the hostess and one capable waiter, served more than 50 guests.

In a short business session at the close of the delicious luncheon, Mrs. Silk spoke of the local art exhibit which will take place in April and announced again that the New Century club will be assistant sponsor with the art department in this interesting annual spring feature.

It was voted that the department purchase "Who's Who in Art," for the new year and also select a suitable frame for the beautiful Maurice Brauns painting owned by the forum and have it framed as promptly as possible.

Mrs. Silk then introduced Miss Gladys Milligan, the winsome young local artist who had offered to select and start at this monthly luncheon, a portrait of one of the guests. Miss Milligan made a short talk on styles of painting and stated that personally she chose to portray character and color. The impressionistic painting of the old Italian primitive school was spoken of; the chiaroscuro school used in the Rembrandt paintings; the Dutch school brought to its peak in Velasquez. The modern school cannot combine these, Miss Milligan stated and when she chose a model, she chose the method best suited to the model. Mrs. A. G. Holmes was named as the subject and the work was begun while many members of the forum watched.

Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis To Open Studio

Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis, well-known throughout Texas for her instruction in voice and for her interpretation of operatic roles, has established her home in Wichita Falls after a long residence in Fort Worth. She is living at the Kemp Kort apartments, having moved here to join her husband, T. L. Davis, who was recently transferred here as general agent for the American Railway Express company.

Mrs. Davis has been selected as choir director for the First Methodist church here and has already begun work in that connection. She will be remembered as the soloist who sang "Texas, Our Texas" before the state legislature early this month. The song, selected recently in a contest for a state song, was received so favorably by the legislature that the lawmakers themselves joined in singing it and refused to proceed with their legal processes until Mrs. Davis had sung other songs and led them in singing old southern melodies.

Mrs. Davis will open a studio in voice after April 1 but will be in Wichita Falls only during the week, continuing her activities as soloist for Temple Beth-El in Fort Worth each Friday and Saturday, she said.

MAKE THIS FROCK YOURSELF
Pattern 1857
By ANNE ADAMS

One of the most charming models presented this season, is here shown made of cotton fabric. The bolero effect created by the lapped bodice closing is smart indeed. The jacket effect is further carried out in the pointed joining of skirt flare and hip section. Short set-in sleeves are the vogue.

Pattern 1857 is stunning fashioned of pique or linen in the new rose or gold shades. White, of course, for later in the season is always effective. For wear under a topcoat, crepe de chine might be used in plain color or a print.

Designed only for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 requires three and one-fourth yards of 36-inch material.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

"How simple, yet how mysterious, is the concoction of an omelet," says a writer of recipes. When we sat across from a group of men who wished to dine on tomatoes and lettuce with Rocquefort cheese dressing Wednesday evening we thought something of the simple mystery of that mixture.

◇ ◇ ◇

How interested they were in their subject. One or two had been ordering Rocquefort cheese dressing and knew its flavor; one, and he had, it seemed looked upon the wine when it was red, distrusted the combination and didn't wish to use any more than was, he said, "a necessity."

◇ ◇ ◇

"Do you know how to make it?" one asked the waiter. The waiter said "yes" and immediately was called on for directions. "Oh a little oil and paprika and vinegar," he said, "and Rocquefort cheese."

◇ ◇ ◇

We would have whispered across the table (only we were a lady) and told them the magic proportions of French dressing which is the basis of "Rocquefort cheese dressing." A French chef whispered it to us years ago and we have found that it works like a charm.

◇ ◇ ◇

Any dressing evolved from French is most delicious if three tablespoons of oil are used to one of vinegar. And we salt to taste and put in enough sugar to cut the sharpness of vinegar and add a mite of Worcester and a sprinkling of paprika and shake it in a small jar until it is thick. Then add cheese or anything else with which you wish to make a dressing and you have built for the taste of a connoisseur.

◇ ◇ ◇

One of the most fascinating subjects among a group of women, by the way, is favorite recipes. Just start it sometimes and see. Women are not always gossiping when you see them with their heads together.

◇ ◇ ◇

Clothes and cookery. We are not so well informed on the first as on the second.

◇ ◇ ◇

But speaking of clothes, we feel that a definition of the length we recently read in the Golden Book, is the perfect one: "A woman's skirts should be like an after dinner speech—long enough to cover the subject but short enough to be interesting."

◇ ◇ ◇

Skirts are not all there is to woman's dress. Few women live who are not interested in the subject. Our thankfulness lies in the fact that it is not a vital interest.

◇ ◇ ◇

But if husbands just realized how bright and sparkling it makes a wife to be completely clothed in the best styles, more of them would see that a complete change took place once in a while.

WATER RECEIPTS

City Collections to Show $18,000 Increase in Year

Approximately $18,000 more will be collected by the city water department for deliveries in 1929-30 than in 1928-29, representing a net gain for the city of about $12,000, according to estimates advanced Thursday by George D. Fairtrace, city manager, and Dr. A. H. Douglass, superintendent of the water department.

The increased collections, it was said, will be due almost entirely to the closer adjustment of several hundred meters which had been registering slowly for various periods of time. It was estimated that $6,000 will have been spent during the fiscal year now drawing to a close on meter and line repairs. More regular inspection of all installed meters, and weekly inspection of the large ones, is being made, according to Doctor Douglass.

Do Women Suffer More Than Men?

Physicians tell us that the nervous system of woman is more highly organized, more delicately poised, and therefore, more sensitive to disturbances and susceptible to pain than that of men.

Women especially appreciate and profit by the use of Capudine, because it quickly relieves high nerve tension and pain by soothing the nerves—not by deadening them. For nervous headache, periodic pains, pains in the back and sides, neuralgia and rheumatic pains, nothing is so quickly effective and satisfactory as Capudine. Being liquid it acts much quicker than tablets and powders. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach, therefore, is the ideal remedy.

Every home should be supplied with Capudine. It brings grateful relief from nerve strain and pain, and affords peaceful relaxation in just a few minutes. At drug stores in 30c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

SHEPPARD RECOMMENDS TEXAS JURIST FOR SUPREME COURT

HOOVER ASKED TO NAME ESTES

Fifty Men Urged for Post Left by Sanford

WASHINGTON, March 20. (AP)—The name of W. Lee Estes, federal judge for the eastern district of Texas, was recommended to President Hoover today by Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, for the vacancy on the supreme court.

50 NAMES SENT TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, March 20. (INS)—More than 50 names have been proposed to President Hoover for appointment to the United States supreme court in the vacancy created by Justice Sanford's death. Every section and nearly every state has a candidate, some of them several.

The president is moving with great deliberation in the selection of the new justice, and it probably will be 10 days yet before an appointment is made. The haste of the Hughes appointment is entirely lacking.

Particularly hard drives are being made in behalf of three candidates—Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina, Senator Walter F George of Georgia, and Judge William S Kenyon of Iowa. The Democrats appear to be centering on George. He has a distinguished record on the bench of his own state before he came to the senate, and there would be no question of his confirmation, a consideration that Mr. Hoover is taking into account since the spectacular fight on Hughes.

The backers of Senator George have the additional ground that the appointment should go to the South, there being but one southerner now left on the bench, Justice McReynolds of Tennessee. And there are but two Democrats, McReynolds and Brandeis, which the Democrats contend is not adequate representation, even though the bench is supposed to be above party labels.

The principal argument advanced against the Georgian, however, is that he voted against Justice Hughes' confirmation. Moreover, he spoke against it, and it has been widely reported that President Hoover has determined to appoint no man to sit alongside the chief justice who voted against him.

Judge Kenyon, now a member of the Wickersham law enforcement commission, is receiving the solid backing of the mid-Western Progressives, of whom he was one in the senate. As in George's case, there would be no question of his confirmation.

There is also strong Democratic support for ex-Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, and John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential nominee in '24.

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.—Adv.

Mrs. Arthur Brown

Dallas Lady Knows How To Relieve Indigestion

"Ten years ago I started giving mother Nature's Remedy and she has kept away her spells of constipation, indigestion, sick headaches and pains in the back ever since," says Mrs. Arthur Brown of 2903 Reiger St., in Dallas.

That's because those little Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) soothe sweeten and stimulate the stomach and bowels. Then the starch and sugar wastes can't remain in your system to form those acids which bind the bowels, sour the stomach and rob the blood of the red corpuscles it must have plenty of to keep you from suffering pain billousness, headaches, indigestion and rheumatism. You can get NR tablets in the 25c box at any drug store. More than three million are used in a day.—Adv.

SOONERS MOURN DR. BUCHANAN

Veteran Oklahoma Educator Dies at Norman

NORMAN, Okla., March 20. (UP)—An entire state tonight mourned the death of one of its ablest citizens, Dr. James Shannon Buchanan, vice president of the University of Oklahoma.

The veteran Oklahoma educator died early today from heart disease. He had been confined to his bed for two weeks.

Buchanan, affectionately known to thousands as "Uncle Buck," was the oldest active member in point of service on the faculty, which he joined in 1895.

Funeral services tentatively were arranged for 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the university auditorium. All university classrooms will be closed Friday.

Buchanan is survived by the widow, two sons, William Buchanan, student at the university, and Hames Buchanan, Barnsdall, Okla., and one daughter, Mrs. Frances Toombs, Chicago. He is also survived by a brother, J. P. Buchanan, former governor of Tennessee. He now lives at Murfreesboro, Tenn.

With his death a story of pioneering in the state educational system was ended.

His connection with the university is the story of the rise of that institution from a lone building on a sun-baked prairie of a new territory to the present institution, housed in 29 modern buildings on a beautiful shaded campus.

Buchanan was here when the first administration building was razed by fire in 1900. He was a member of the faculty that moved classes to an old stone building in the downtown district of Norman and carried on the process of education despite numerous setbacks.

He saw the second administration building burn in 1907. Again he joined in holding the band of students together until the new state legislature could appropriate money for a new building.

The institution then prospered until 1923 when the school faced another grave problem with the resignation of Dr. Stratton D. Brooks as its president.

Buchanan was immediately called upon to fill the vacated office and guide the university through the perilous time.

When Dr. W. B. Bizzell was brought here as president in 1925, Buchanan was made vice president. He had served in that capacity since.

In the fall of 1928 he was forced to abandon active teaching because of a heart attack. Last fall he resumed his teaching duties, but during the Christmas holidays he was again forced to a sick bed and only one day since that time had he been able to meet his classes.

'Paralysis Cocktail' New Pro Wrinkle

Isopropyl Alcohol Deals Blow Like Club

WASHINGTON, March 20. (UP)—The "paralyzing cocktail," rivaling wood alcohol in injury to the human system, is the newest bootleg concoction, created from isopropyl alcohol, Prohibition Commissioner J. M. Doran warned today.

Isopropyl alcohol is first cousin to wood alcohol and second cousin to ethyl or grain alcohol, Doran said. It is a synthetic preparation that should not be used as a beverage mixture.

"Although it contains no poisonous ingredients," he said, "it fogs the drinker's brain, causing a gloomy feeling, then it paralyzes the legs and finally it knocks him as unconscious as if he had been hit on the head with a heavy club."

"The interdepartmental conference, several years ago, decided isopropyl alcohol was non-intoxicating in fact because of its reaction to the human system," Doran added. "Therefore this alcohol is not under the supervision of the treasury."

Attention was drawn to isopropyl alcohol because of the mysterious paralysis cases in Missouri, Rhode Island, Texas, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and Oklahoma. Doran said the queer paralysis cases, baffling medical men, had the symptoms of isopropyl poisoning.

As most of the paralysis victims had been drinkers of jamaica ginger, Doran believes that isopropyl instead of grain alcohol may have been used in the mixture.

A preliminary report to Doran from health officers in Oklahoma on jamaica ginger samples, analyzed said that the product contained only alcohol and ginger. Doran said, however, that unless chemically analyzed isopropyl alcohol could not be detected from grain alcohol and both boil at the same point of gravity.

GARNER AGAIN RAPS REFUNDS

Demo Leader Replies To Chairman Hawley

WASHINGTON, March 20. (AP)—The cross fire in the house over the recent $33,000,000 tax refund to the United States Steel corporation again broke out today with Representative Garner of Texas, Democratic leader, attacking the settlement after it had been defended by Chairman Hawley of the joint committee on internal revenue legislation.

Garner replied to Hawley's defense of the treasury and its methods of handling tax refunds by asserting the treasury estimates are wholly unreliable. He added that Under-Secretary Mills of the treasury had admitted in his last appearance before the house ways and means committee "that they were incorrect."

"I say they are intentionally incorrect," he shouted. "Mills and Secreaary Mellon make settlements according to what they want the treasury balance to be, and it has made me lose confidence in the treasury department."

The Democratic leader again asked for a house committee to investigate the treasury's tax refund policies.

Before Garner arose Hawley had assailed the Texan's statements that the tax refunds were not given proper study by the joint committee on internal revenue legislation, and that the treasury was handling tax refund cases that should be passed upon by the courts.

Lee Cruce Soon To Open His Campaign

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 20. (UP)—Former Gov. Lee Cruce, Ardmore, will open his campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination within the next few weeks, he told the United Press today.

Cruce conferred with friends here today relative to certain planks of his platform which will be announced soon. He gave no indication what his platform would contain.

Indigestion Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

VICTOR RADIO IS FAR AHEAD!

No radio yet produced—up to this very moment—has approached Victor's advanced radio engineering. No other radio is microsynchronous; no other has so simplified the tuning operation; none other has made tuning so exact, so constant, so dependable, and so easy. None other has so developed and so refined the basic radio circuit employed in the Victor instrument. And Victor does not experiment on the public; Victor Radio will be the most modern radio for many a day.

Victor Radio is the magnificent result of Victor's determination to apply its world-famous trade-mark only to an instrument worthy of it; an instrument emphatically in advance of common experience.

AND NOW YOU CAN HAVE IT!

The tone reproduced by a radio instrument could not be perfect, unless all the essential units of the instrument, which produce the tone, were also perfect. VICTOR RADIO TONE is the nearest approach to perfection Science has yet achieved in a commercial radio instrument. This statement has been tested and proven by infallible, impartial measuring instruments.

What is more important to you, you can prove Victor tone yourself, with your own ears . . . and what you hear will be a glorious revelation of what radio really can be. Nothing you have known in radio approaches the thrilling, brilliant beauty and realism of VICTOR RADIO TONE.

Herbert Kaufman's
THEIR DAY IN COURT
Daily Editorial

MR. WICKERSHAM thinks that Senator Norris shouldn't press his resolution for a senatorial investigation of prohibition enforcement. He maintains, in effect, that the laboratory method of his own committee is a more efficient and scientific process of fact-determination than a disputative, legislative survey.

Mr. Wickersham feels assured that the worst gaps of enforcement are on the mend. He notes a decided improvement in the morale of federal agencies and, altogether, appears very chipper about the entire situation.

He urges congress to quit hemming and hawing over the transfer of enforcement authority to the attorney general, from whose direction we are led to expect both a more vigorous and a more constitutional prosecution of rum-running and bootlegging.

The public, however, might share his optimism to a greater extent if it were aware of the particular data on which it is based.

The law observance commission has thus far robed its deliberations and hearings in an invisible cloak. Several million citizens, weighing the indecisive pros and cons with which the wets and drys have respectively confused their judgment, would be better qualified to evaluate the actual merits of the 18th amendment if they were possessed of the facts gathered by this dispassionate tribunal.

The layman's mind is not a sufficiently competent thrashing machine to separate grain and chaff from the contending claims which the white ribbon and nullification camps have just laid before the house judiciary committee. Although the Wickersham group studiously evaded entrance into that debate, the opinions of its participants must to a marked degree, sway their ultimate conclusions.

PRIOR to these hearings, no representative concert of voices was lifted against the 18th amendment.

For 10 years, church organizations and the Anti-Saloon league have practically tried John Barleycorn by inquest. Their influence has notoriously dominated congressional decision, without granting dissent its full day in court.

The suddenly emphasized opposition to Volsteadism is the fruit of its own intemperance and intolerance.

The cry for nullification did not ring from coast to coast until confiscatory immoderation sought to cancel the franchises sprung from magna charta, the bill of rights, and originally vested in the constitution itself. As soon as enforcement plotted to invalidate the law of search and seizure, and government officials were encouraged to make arrests without warrant; when highways, harbors and private domiciles were terrorized with federal gunmen; when innocent men and women were assassinated by border guards on unsupported suspicion of possessing contraband; when fanaticism dared to reach for their hip flask with five and 10 year penitentiary sentences; and commonwealths, corrupted by the obscene lusts of modern witch-smellers, established beer-peddling as a capital crime; when prohibition's ferocious hunger finally turned upon the jury system and proposed its restriction, dormant and unbanded sentiment overnight gathered force and coherence and demanded the same administration of prohibition, or its repeal.

The Literary Digest's pool of the states serves notice upon congress to revoke the Jones act, break with the blue-noses, vote down the United States commissionership plan and remove casual prohibition offenses from the category of felonies, or face a drubbing in the next elections.

If Mr. Wickersham's ear is as close to the ground as it should be, he is aware, by now, that the recent rebellion on Boston common is daily gathering thousands of new recruits to its standard. If not, he's too busy reading academic reports to note some fast-changing signs of the times.

The slogan in Hollywood seems to be, "'Tis better to have loved and lost than never to have been on page one at all."

It is revealed that a camera has found a new planet after 300 years' search. There's a time exposure for you!

One of the Biblical monarchs is said to have eaten grass. Wonder what breakfast food he was about to write a testimonial for.

Long skirts ought to work a great improvement on some of the peculiar knees we have seen.

A New Zealander who played the piano for 112 hours without stopping is going to England. God save the king!

A Discovery—at Home

SOMEHOW it is more interesting to read about the return of the Byrd expedition than it was to read about its spectacular explorations.

The party's first reappearance in civilization seems to have been quite an event. The men rediscovered the world of ordinary comforts and conveniences, and made the most of it. They found out, once more, that the mere business of sitting down to a hot meal, of sleeping in a comfortable bed, of walking along a dirt path beneath green trees, of mingling with crowds and hearing the noises of community life, can be highly exciting, almost ecstatic.

They had none of those things in the antarctic. Now that they are returning to them, they are reveling in them. They are discovering that the ordinary, taken-for-granted events of daily living are genuinely thrilling. And it is quite possible that that is the most important discovery of the whole trip.

For a polar continent, after all, is not a very useful thing. It is surrounded by mystery, pervaded with the menace of sudden death, hemmed in by eternal loneliness, and all of that; but a few intrepid wanderers go down to it, crawl across it and fly over it, take photographs and jot down notes, and that is all there is to it. It doesn't butter any parsnips. It is only a by-road.

This other discovery, however—well, it would almost be worth traveling to the bottom of the globe just to make it. For most of us never quite get in on it. We plug along from day to day, doing the same old job and going through the same old routine, wondering, now and then, what it may all be about; and we never realize—until it is too late—that we are living in the midst of marvels and wonders, partaking of daily miracles, treading on infinite mysteries.

Familiarity breeds, if not contempt, at least boredom. We don't see the glory of every-day life—because we see it too often! It is an old story. We take it too much for granted.

In that way we cheat ourselves. We tell ourselves that life would be rich and deep if only we could share in great events, perform great deeds, rise to high places; and so we doom ourselves to disappointments. For great deeds, great events and high places are not for most of us. The daily round is all there is; all there ever will be, to the end of life. If we bank on the spectacular we shall inevitably be stung.

Once in a while, though, we make the great discovery. We find that this daily round, so hackneyed and familiar, is—incredibly—enough. It contains richness and depth beyond our dreams. It can satisfy us, if we only open our eyes to it.

Public School Whippings

AN Elyria, Ohio, school teacher faces a court charge of assault and battery because she whipped a school girl in her class; and the girl's parents are refusing to send their children to school until the case is disposed of.

This sort of thing pops up every so often, at one place or another. It very likely would have astounded our grandparents, who could not conceive of a school functioning without a good supply of birch rods; and yet, despite the old adage about the rod and the child, public sentiment no longer supports corporal punishment as strongly as it once did.

When a parent has to resort to whipping a child to get obedience it generally means that there is something wrong with the parents. The same is not quite true of school teachers, since they fall heir to problems that arise out of the pupils' faulty home training. Nevertheless, we are slowly working away from the idea of school-room whippings, and it is just as well.

A Law We Don't Need

THE old question of compulsory registration of all aliens in the United States seems to be reviving again. Two bills on the subject are now pending in congress, and in the house, at least, there is said to be a good deal of sentiment for their passage.

Their provisions are familiar. Every alien would have to register once each year. He would get a certificate bearing his photo, his signature and other identifying data—including a record of any arrests he might have—and any police or federal officer could compel him to show it at any time.

It is a little bit hard to see just why such a law is needed; but it is not at all hard to see how easily such a law could be abused. Just at present, for instance, we are having trouble with unemployment, and a number of Communist demonstrations have taken place. Can't you imagine what a beautiful weapon this registration law would make for any city or state government that lost its head and decided to put on a big "red hunt?"

The Mail Pilot's Skill

THE skill and hardihood of the pilots who fly the air mail are almost beyond belief, sometimes.

Not long ago Pilot Robert P. Hopkins, flying a National Air Transport plane from Chicago to Cleveland with a heavy cargo, met a heavy fog bank when he arrived over Cleveland. The fog was so dense that he could not find the airport, and he circled helplessly for an hour and a half.

At last he made out a bit of the lakefront. Circling low, he spied a city park, with a little open space in the center. Down he came—to make a safe landing on a patch of lawn so small that in the morning it was necessary to take the wings of the plane off to get it out through the trees.

Skill like that hardly needs any comment. No wonder the air mail fliers are considered the aristocrats of the air!

On Broadway

Man About Town

When the pseudo fun places and the other Broadwayward dives begin to grate on the nerves there is always that urge to "discover" something you've never seen before, although it practically has been right under your nose all the while . . . Take for instance, the oldest saloon in New York . . . Probably the only old fashioned saloon in the town, where you do not have to knock, or ring a bell, and ask for Eddie . . . You walk right in and gargle delicious Golden Wedding rye highs for two-bits a shot up against the bar, which is this long! . . . It is five miles south of Forty-second street and a block this way from Broadway. . . And the walls are choked with your favorite actress' photo in the lewd, and after-theater-time, the Main Stem terpsichorines hasten to do a Helen Morgan on the bar, and otherwise make a boop-oop-a-doopee . . . It is, to spare words, the saloonniest place in town!

Just as enchanting a spot is the new Cocoanut Grove on 125th street, this side of Eighth avenue, where the floor revue isn't fancy, but where the cast use the same undressing room . . . You remember that gag about the one-night-stand troupe which was touring the provinces . . . Well, the startled men and women in the show demanded to know from the veteran opry house manager if he thought they were going to dress in the only room set aside from them . . . "These are all ladies and gentlemen!" thundered the leading man, "and they must have separate rooms!" . . . "What's the matter," indifferently answered the small-towner, "are they mad at each other?" . . . At any rate, Louis Armstrong, the most torrid of the horn-tooters and blues-shooers is at the Cocoanut Grove and his delightful specialties serve to entice the bored-with-Broadway diversion seekers, on Sunday eves particularly, when Armstrong offers an endless routine of terrifically-tempoed tunes.

And if the attractions at the Cotton Club, Connie's Inn and The Nest have been breathlessly enjoyed, there is Dickie Wells' newly-opened hot-spot in the latter 130s which he calls "The Drool Inn" . . . "Loorlin" incidentally doesn't mean what you imagine . . . "Droolin'" is Harlemesa, it appears, for "galavatin'" or "steppin' out" . . . And it is where if They Talk Out of Turn, the dapper bouncer wastes no queries or explanations, and you fly out as though you were on wings . . . But what makes it a most distinctive hide-away is that the cuisine is excellent and you may devour a ham steak so delicious that it melts in your mouth, candied yams (yum-yum), hot muffins, sliced tomato and pickle and java all for, s'helpme—40 cents' . . . Fifty cents if you ask for hen-fruit . . . But then there is the ace of the oriental places . . . The Pageant on Delancey St. . . . Where before you order the grandest chow-mein, suey or soandso, you whet your appetite with the tastiest pork dipped in bird-seed . . . And the almond-eyed host, last-named Lee, entertains you in Jewish . . . Lee can speak Jewish better than you . . . Vell, den you!

Kelly's on Houston near Bleecker, where the proprietor, a former fighter, still draws the tall millinery crowd . . . And where Elinor Terry, whose torso reminds you of Mae West's, warbles saucy ditties, one of which packs a Carnera punch . . . Kelly, by the way, is an Italian . . . And among the memorable things in his exciting career is that Tommy Lyman was his pet star . . . Lyman drew the swells all the way down there by making "Come to Me, My Melancholy Baby," famous all over again eleven years after it was published . . . And it was Kelly who one yawning there, introduced Irving Berlin to Ellin Mackay, which gives you an idea how romantic a spot it is.

That's the fascinating part of this racket . . . You never know from where your next paragraph is coming . . . Take last night frinstance . . . As we ankled out of the office into Forty-fifth street and turned west to Third avenue seeking a cab, a policeman chirped: "Howya?" . . . We returned the salutation . . . "You don't remember common people like cops since you got a break, do you?" he added . . . "So sorreh," was our retort, "can't place your body" . . . "You don't mean to tell me," continued the bluecoat, "that you don't remember Whitey? Why, I pounded the Broadway beat for 10 years and knew you when—yeah away back when you were among the lay-offs in front of the Palace!"

"Oh, sure!" we jockeyed. "I remember. I didn't make you at first. Hows things and how come they got you over here five blocks east of Broadway, where nothing ever happens?"

"I don't like to brag," he said dejectedly, "but 10 years over there on Broadway and you get to know everybody and like 'em, an' I suppose they liked me. So I was shifted because I couldn't arrest nobody."

"No kiddin'?" we said. "That's certainly interesting. But tell me, Whitey, how does it feel being away over here on Third avenue where there's seldom any excitement? Where you've got to walk two blocks to reach a speakeasy? And where there are no subway gratings to blow up the gal's skirts? Don't you miss all that? . . . Still," we said as an after-thought, "it must have been a relief, eh? After 10 years of the Broadway lights?"

"That's just where you're wrong," grumly replied Whitey. "After 10 years on Broadway, kid, where the lights at least break the monotony, you sorta go a little crazy over here on Third avenue—waitin' for the traffic lights on the 'L' pillars to switch from red to green, an' green to red."

Poor Whitey.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He who reasons sanely is often at variance with public opinion."

Public opinion is a very fickle, insane and jealous thing. It legalizes murder, promotes war and is ever ready to destroy those who dare to call attention to its faults and seek to restore it to reason. Its most insane act was to crucify Christ Jesus because of His perfect saneness.

With the exception of Miss Denmark, the 20 girls chosen as Europe's most beautiful for 1930, are brunettes.

The Girl With The Red Hair by Rob Eden

Beauty—young, fresh beauty. No one could help but admire Gay.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Pretty Gay Terris agrees to marry her employer, Frank Patterson, whom she does not love, in return for a loan of $5,000 to enable her to send her sick mother to Arizona. One evening at Coney Island she meets an interesting stranger but does not learn his name. She receives a card from a Paul Ladishaw, requesting to see her at once. Believing him to be the "stranger" she goes to the appointed address. She is frightened when she learns her mistake but Ladishaw insists she meet Fania Crandall, prominent society woman who resembles Gay. Mrs. Crandall asks Gay to represent her at the Van Schyler mask ball in return for $200. Gay accepts so she may send her mother the money, but resents Mrs. Crandall's secretive manner. At the ball she again meets the "stranger" but is unable to make herself known because of her promise to keep silent. She is aroused when she returns to Mrs. Crandall's and discovers a complete masquerade costume in her bedroom, which she is certain she saw at the ball.

CHAPTER XIV

Patterson had risen when Gay entered, and patted her hand affectionately, drawing her to a seat beside him. He seemed pudgier, more middle-aged than ever to the girl. The feel of his hand, so soft, so flabby. Patterson wouldn't have liked that if he had known what she was thinking. He tried his best to keep in condition. Every noon he went to a "gym" where he exercised as strenuously as he could, sweating at his dumb bells, groaning on the electric horse he rode. A man should keep in good trim, he thought. And he had been trying to for years. Half an hour at noon did wonders for a man, he was fond of saying to his friends. Wonders. Look at him.

Gay was looking at him now, thinking that he was to be her husband . . . this graying man, with those soft, flabby fingers . . .

"What is it, Gay?" he asked, smiling at her. Her beauty—her young, fresh beauty. That childish face gazing at him, violet-eyed, lovely. Frank Patterson adored beauty. Gay Terris would make him a fine wife. She would soon learn to move in the society he moved in. Soon learn to be the hostess he wanted her to be. It would take time, of course, but he wouldn't be impatient. He had always admired her in the office. No one could help but admire her. His mother, he knew after the first shock of the news would learn to like her. He was starting to break it gently to her already. Told her only yesterday of the attractive girl at the office . . .

His friends would think it strange that he chose a stenographer for a wife, but when they saw her they would understand. Men did unconventional things these days. It was true he never had, but that did not matter. He loved Gay Terris, loved her more than he had ever loved a woman before, except his mother. He wanted her, and he would have her. He had her now. She was going to marry him.

"I've been thinking," Gay began slowly. She had to choose her words carefully lest Mr. Patterson misunderstand.

If only he wouldn't smile at her like that. She hated his smile. It was so condescending—hard making up her mind, too, to come in and see him about this. She had fought with herself all morning.

"I've been thinking," she repeated.

"Yes?" His hands were folded on his desk.

"Maybe you don't want to marry me after all"—there it was out!

"Maybe I don't want to marry you?" Frank Patterson was alarmed. He did want to marry her!

"Yes, that's what I mean. Perhaps I forced you into it—perhaps you felt you had to make this offer—" she knew in her heart that she hadn't, he had read the ad—he had made the first advances. There had been no choice for her. "I've some money here—two hundred dollars, and I can begin to pay back my loan. I felt it wouldn't be fair—" she had to be diplomatic now—"to make you marry me when you really don't want to. You see how it is, don't you? This two hundred dollars will be the first installment on my loan." She put the two bills on the desk. "Later I can pay you more, a little at a time."

Patterson took the bills, then her purse. Opening it, he put the bills in, snapping it shut quickly. "Now, Gay, we aren't going to have any more of that. You know I want to marry you. I love you. It isn't a question of any favor, although I'm glad you feel this way. Glad you are thoughtful enough to see what I have done. Many modern girls would not be that tolerant. No, Gay, I never want this loan repaid. Never. I didn't accept your proposition in that way. I love you, and I want you to realize that, before everything. I never will want to get out of my part of the bargain. Will you?"

"No—" she lied. It had failed then. The plan she had thought of coming down on the subway. It had seemed so clever then. Two hundred dollars to give Mr. Patterson. He would let her free, if she went about it in the right way. Persuaded him that he really didn't want to marry her. That he had promised only as a favor. . . .

The $200 would be a good start on the loan. She could make more extra money if she tried. It would not be hard. But he wouldn't let her off. He loved her, he said. Loved her.

"I have your promise, dear." It was the first time he had called her dear. She didn't like it. "In three months, we'll be married."

She left soon after, disappointed, and went back to her desk. If she had $5,000, he might . . . but no, he wouldn't. She knew he wouldn't now. He didn't want his money back, he wanted her. She would have to go through with it.

Mark Loring—a nice name. A pity she couldn't see him again.

She would have been surprised if she had known what Mark Loring was doing that very minute. Surprised and delighted, too. For he was sitting in Fania Crandall's upstairs sitting room, on a green velvet chair, looking rather blankly at Fania who had just come in the room. Mrs. Crandall was smiling through half closed eyes, as she watched the youth's discomfiture.

"It's my friend—Mr. Loring," she murmured softly.

"I'm sorry—Mrs. Crandall, but I had to see you. You left last night before the unmasking," he explained hastily. "So I dashed up here today in hopes you'd see me. I had you confused last evening—the masks and all—and I thought you were someone else. Someone I wanted especially to see. A girl who has hair just the color of yours. I didn't believe you when you said you didn't know me. That's why I came today—"

"And what do you think now, Mr. Loring?" Fania purred. She had purposely had the curtains lowered in the room, for she did not want Mr. Loring to examine her too closely. There might be a chance that he had seen the girl's face last night—only a chance. She knew now that he hadn't. It was dim in the room, and cool.

"I know you aren't the girl, Mrs. Crandall, I'm positive. And of course I apologize profusely. I'm sorry I annoyed you this way. I especially wanted to see this girl—"

"I've no idea who you could possibly mean." She needn't have been afraid. "I cant see how you mistook me—"

"Your hair, I guess. I'm sorry." Mark hurried away after that, despite Mrs. Crandall's invitation that he should stay for a cocktail. He cursed himself for being such a fool, as he went along the avenue, swiftly. A silly mistake, and yet, last night, he was sure—Today, just now, he had found out his error, and was glad that he was satisfied. The idea of mistaking Mrs. Crandall, a sophisticated woman of the world, 35 if she was a day old, for this other girl. This child. That hair had fooled him, and the mask. He had to see the face under the mask. Well, he had seen it and it wasn't the one he wanted to see.

He had been crazy to let the girl run away from him Saturday night, but she had gone so quickly—and before he could recover from his surprise she was out of sight. But Mrs. Crandall. Suddenly he laughed aloud. He would be more careful next time—certainly he wouldn't accost every Titian haired girl he saw, and insist he must know her. He had learned a lesson, anyway.

He heard a newsboy screaming an extra, so stopping he bought one, and stared fixedly at the headlines, while crowds of people jostled him from all sides. What was this? In vivid red type across the top of the page he read:

"DIAMOND NECKLACE
STOLEN AT MASK BALL

"While New York's four hundred were dancing at Mrs. Peter Van Schyler's masquerade last evening at her Long Island estate, Lady Agatha Manner's diamond necklace, worth nearly half a million dollars, was stolen from her neck, and cheap paste jewels substituted.

"Among the guests, masked, was a thief who cleverly made the exchange.

"Lady Agatha, wife of Sir Ralph Manners, feted visitors in New York society this summer, did not notice the theft until she examined her jewels late this morning, when she immediately notified the police.

"The duplicate necklace, a perfect copy, was in her jewel vault in her suite at the Commodore hotel, instead of her own historic gems. She says she took off the necklace with her own hands, and put it in her safe.

"Mrs. Van Schyler insisted to reporters that there were no uninvited guests at her ball. Each guest, she said, had to show his invitation at the door. This was done, she explained, to safeguard the fortune in jewels which her guests were wearing. To facilitate hunting for the thief, she gave her entire guest list to the police, who will start questioning members of the four hundred this afternoon."

There was more to the story, a column or so inside, but Loring did not stop to read it. He tossed the paper into the street, and walked on. Too bad this had happened. Women shouldn't be such fools. Wearing a necklace worth half a million to a party!

Well, his name wouldn't be found on the guest list, so he'd be spared the agony of all the questioning!

Tomorrow—Andy Grant interviews Mrs. Crandall.

The Once Over
By H. I. PHILLIPS

(Copyright, 1930, by The Associated Newspapers)

The bathing and the posing die,
The tuna fishermen depart,
The social leaders northward fly,
And diving beauties homeward start.

The girls who were quite naked now
Get in the papers wearing clothes;
The magnates who just loafed-and then each
Return to all their business woes.

The tourists into "Lizzie" shove
Their satchels, bags and trunks; then each
Takes final Kodak pictures of
The others sitting on the beach.

The brokers pack their flannel pants
And bring their heavy woolens forth;
The chorines cut Palm Beach romance
And chase the real hot prospects north.

The mayors and the Whalens flee
And Mrs. P. Hostetters Dow
Gets two compartments "One for me—
And one for Toots, my little chow."

The silk "pajamas" for street wear are
Now buried in the leather bags;
One bath per day now equals par—
And whippet racing slowly sags.

The plus-fours disappear from sight,
The mashie-niblick's packed away;
The man who looked so young in white
Now looks his age in blue or gray.

The race track is quite bleak and bare,
The touts about it no more roam;
The losers try to borrow fare
To get, by easy stages, home.

The mogul boards his nifty yacht,
His hundred-thousand-dollar ship,
And asks "Is there aboard or not
Sufficient gin to make the trip?

The shieks who so impressed the mobs
As having money, ah no end!
Hie back to grab their store clerk jobs
At Cos Cob, Dayton and South Bend.

The word goes northward. "Stop my mail—
I'm giving Florida the shake";
Which means the tuna and the sail—
Fish get, at least, an even break.

G. O. P. RETAINS HUSTON DESPITE LOBBY DISCLOSURES

STOCK DEALS FROWNED UPON

White House Sanctions Temporary Retention

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON, March 20. (UP) —Despite disclosure by the senate lobby committee regarding use of funds in his stock margin account, Claudius Huston intends to remain for the present, at least, as chairman of the Republican National committee.

Late today he authorized, through the offices of the Republican National committe, an oral denial of reports he is about to resign.

Hoover and Work Confer

It is understood the White House has raised no objection to Huston's continuing for the present, although no direct statement could be obtained. Mr. Hoover held a long conference today with his old friend and political advisor, Dr. Hubert Work, whom Huston succeeded as chairman of the Republican National committee. Work refused to answer questions concerning the situation created by the lobby committee's disclosures concerning Huston.

Until all evidence is in there is a disposition among Republicans to withhold judgment. However, many politicians believe Huston will be forced to quit under pressure unless he resigns soon after the senate committee makes its report on him. Numerous Republican candidates for re-election this year do not wish to be embarrassed by having to defend the activities of the Republican National chairman and their voice is expected to be potent in the situation.

Washington, always an avid whispering gallery, is again brimming with gossip, much of it exciting but obviously exaggerated. The mystery suit against Huston for collection of an alleged $80,000 debt which was settled out of court has been a subject of much speculation.

Huston's handling of funds received as an official of the Tennessee River Improvement association has been a subject of criticism by members of the senate lobby committee.

Huston told the lobby committee today the funds of the Union Carbide company were given him in payment for property of the association. This property consisted of maps and surveys and the understanding was that all of it was to be turned over to the Carbide company.

Chairman Caraway demanded to know if the Carbide company made the contribution because "it would get 50,000 horsepower from Muscle Shoals if the American Cyanamid company's bid for the power plant was accepted by the government." The river association supported the Cyanamid bid.

The committee excused Huston, who has testified several days, and called W. E. Moore, in whose name Huston's New York brokerage account was kept, and President Hagerson of the Carbide company. Huston may be recalled later.

Chicken Feathers on Sack Lead to Man's Arrest

The presence of tell-tale chicken feathers in his automobile Thursday afternoon caused the arest of a man in Iowa Park and his subsequent transfer to the county jail here on charges of petty theft in connection with recent extensive chicken thievery in Iowa Park, according to Sheriff W. G. Bralley, who made the arrest.

Several sacks in which the sheriff found feathers corresponding with those from an unusual type of chicken, a number of which were stolen recently, caused the arrest. Tools and gasoline alleged to have been stolen from another automobile were also found in the accused man's car, Sheriff Bralley said.

OFFICERS MEET HERE IN APRIL

Texas-Okla. Leaders Draw Convention Plans

An outline of the program and a definite date for the annual convention of the Peace Officers' association of Northern Texas and Southern Oklahoma had not been completed Thursday night when E. T. Smith, sheriff of Harmon county, Oklahoma, and Police Chief John Ford of Altus, Okla., left Wichita Falls to return to their homes after a conference with Police Chief Frank Burns and Sheriff W. G. Bralley here.

Sheriff Smith is president of the association and Chief Burns here is vice president. Chief Ford of Altus is second vice president. Hugh Ellis, special agent for the Katy railway here, is secretary of the association.

Tentative plans call for the convention here during the latter part of April, but Chief Burns stated Thursday night a definite date would not be announced for several days. The plans already made call for preparation for between 200 and 300 peace officers from the two states.

Chief Burns pointed out Thursday night that one of the chief objects of the convention would be to present the program in such a way that it would reach the public as a whole. Public sessions and radio broadcasts, in which outstanding speakers from the two states would address the citizenship as well as the officers in attendance, are among the proposed plans for the meeting. Another object would be to form a closer connection among peace officers over this entire section.

The outstanding entertainment feature of the convention will be a pistol marksmanship contest, it was said. Warren Belcher, deputy sheriff, who managed the contest at the convention here two years ago, said Thursday all contestants could be assured of a valuable prize list.

Judge Rules in Case After Plaintiff Closes

Special to The Record News

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—Contestants of the will of Albert Zundelowitz, who left a million dollar estate to various relatives here and in Wichita Falls, Texas, lost their suit to break his will in Superior Judge Fleming's court here today when the court granted a nonsuit of the action after the plaintiffs had rested their case. Judge Fleming held there was not sufficient cause to believe that the decedant was unduly influenced.

WICHITANS ATTEND CONTEST OF WILL

Three Wichita Falls residents, Lester Jones, J. L. Jackson Jr. and H. J. Bruce are in Los Angeles attending the trial of the contest of the will of Albert Zundelowitz, pioneer Wichita Falls resident who died in California last June.

Mr. Jones is one of the executors of the estate. Mr. Jackson is manager of the real estate properties here, and Mr Bruce, local attorney, is associated with the firm of Verge & Collins of Los Angeles in the defense. In his will Mr. Zundelowitz made a number of bequests to charitable organizations, including several in Wichita Falls and Texas.

Tax Payments, Auto Registrations Here Indicate Sound Conditions

Number of Motor Vehicles Shows Gain of 1,000 Over Last Year; Tax Collections Near Record

Payments of poll taxes, property taxes and the registration of automobiles in Wichita county this year indicate business conditions here which are entirely normal and sound, according to an opinion expressed Thursday by Guy C. Raley, county tax collector, in connection with his January report.

"From the amount of taxes paid and the number of automobiles registered, I cannot but believe that any talk of hard times here is largely a condition of mind rather than of fact," Mr. Raley said. The second largest poll tax collection in the history of the county was announced Thursday by Mr. Raley, and almost record collections of property taxes and automobile fees.

15,234 Qualified Voters

Poll tax and exemption certificates totaled 15,234, an amount described by Roy A. Jones, chief deputy, as "fully as remarkable as the record year of 1928, when 18,648 were issued." The number exceeds the 1929 total of 12,393 by 2,841.

The total tax collections of $894,739.98 during the first month of the year indicate payment of between 85 and 90 per cent of the taxes due this year, Mr. Raley said. While the amount is not a record, due to the virtual stand-still in the collector's office created by the extreme cold during January, the payments during the 10 days following the blizzard were by far greater than in any 10-day period during his six years as tax collector, he declared.

Approximately 1,000 more motor vehicles were registered up to Feb. 1 this year than up to the same time last year, the report indicated. More than 17,000 passenger cars, 2,500 trucks, 500 trailers and 100 motorcycles were registered in January. Collection of $159,926.25 in the motor vehicle department assures enrichment of the precinct road and bridge funds by considerably more than the original estimate of $130,000, Mr. Jones said. Mr. Raley estimated that almost 10,000 more vehicles will be registered during the year.

Report Completed

Details of tax collections as shown in the monthly report are as follows:

Regular 1929 tax roll: $643,635.96; supplemental roll, $3,802.28; insolvents (delinquent taxes on personal property), $337.53; occupation taxes, $360; redemptions, $8,844.02; poll taxes, $24,344.25; with a total of $681,324.04.

Independent school district collections: Valley View, $17,384.25; Fairview, $17,574.96; Clara, $8,352.71; Weeth, $3,768.03; Iowa Park, $17,409.74; with a total of $62,489.69.

Motor vehicle department collections, $159,926.25.

Grand total of collections, $894,739.98.

'Choice of Moses' Pastor's Theme At Methodist Revival

"Choice is destiny's vision of soul and by it we rise to the realms of light and glory, or sink to the realms of darkness," Dr. Robert E. Goodrich, pastor of the Shreveport, La., First Methodist church, told a large congregation at the First Methodist church here Thursday night in a sermon on "The Choice of Moses," one of a series he is giving in connection with a two-weeks revival which began last Sunday.

The text of the sermon was taken from Hebrews 11:24-25, which reads "By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter:

"Choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season."

"This was the supreme choice of a supremely great man," Dr. Goodrich said. "Choice is the point of humanity's greatest dignity and also the point of its greatest peril. Without the privilege of choice we could neither rise above the dignity of the past nor fall below the level thereof."

The next meeting of the revival will be held at the church at 10 o'clock Friday morning and Dr. Goodrich will speak at the meeting Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. The revival will end Sunday, March 30.

All Things Are God's Gifts to Be Passed on, Bishop Says in Sermon

"No matter what your ambition might be, if you have left God out of it, tear it down and build another," the Rt. Rev. Theodore D. Bratton, bishop of Mississippi, told a large assembly at the Church of the Good Shepherd Thursday night in connection with the mission which he is now conducting at that church.

"It is only in the power of friends to wound the Lord and not of any Tom, Dick or Harry. When a mother rebukes her child and probably does not know the reason herself and then goes to the door and meets a complete stranger with a smile, leaving the child hurt, it is then that the Lord is wounded. Then when the sons and daughters walk in the footsteps of their fathers and mothers thinking that whatever they do is all right and then find that it is not, that is when the Lord is wounded.

"God's gift to us is but a trust to be given to others. Our religion, our money, and our knowledge is but ours to be passed on. It is impossible to make others see Jesus as a saviour unless we ourselves see Him in hat light."

Friday night Bishop Bratton will give a talk especially for men. The mission is to continue through Sunday with confirmation at the services Sunday morning.

Miniature Golf Course To Open Here Friday

Entertainment facilities in Wichita Falls have been increased by the construction of an 18-hole miniature golf course on the Seymour road at Hays street. If the weather is fair, opening day will be held Friday, according to Hubert Stringer and Jimmie Evans, managers.

Imports of American farm machinery into Russia last year showed an increase of 141 per cent over 1928.

A GREAT DISCOVERY

MORE than half a century ago, the discovery was made that emulsification helped make cod-liver oil easy to take and digest. It is the adaptation of this principle in

POLICE RAID CAPONE'S HOME

Florida Estate of Gang Leader Searched

MIAMI, Fla., March 20. (UP)—Two brothers of Al (Scarface) Capone were arrested late today when 30 deputies and patrolmen swooped down on the Capone residence on Starr island in an attempt to determine whether the Chicago gang leader had succeeded in reaching his home.

John and Albert Capone, James Vincent, L. J. Brennan and Louis Cowen were arrested on charges of vagrancy and held for investigation.

The raid upon the white-walled estate revealed eight sacks of liquor, three of which had been broken. After arresting all persons found within or entering the residence, city and county officials posted guards within and entirely around the house and grounds.

An official statement declared Al Capone was not within the neighborhood so far as the officers could ascertain.

LIQUOR SEIZED

Two and a half gallons of whisky and a Model A Ford coach were seized by city police Thursday evening when two men were arrested for transportation of liquor. Charges will be filed Friday, police said.

SENATE VOTES AGAIN TODAY ON OIL TARIFF

LEATHER DUTY VOTED DOWN

Leaders in Upper House Plan Recess

WASHINGTON, March 20. (AP)—The senate decided tonight to vote again tomorrow on a proposal by Senator Pine of Oklahoma for a tariff on crude oil.

Senator Pine, Republican, reoffered his amendment, rejected yesterday by 32 to 28, for a duty on oil and gasoline and it was turned down without a roll call.

Coming to Pine's assistance, Senator Thomas, Democrat, of the same state, requested another record vote at noon tomorrow without further debate and this was ordered.

Riled by the frequent reconsiderations of votes taken in some instances, three or four times before, Senator Swanson, Democrat, Virginia, objected to the Thomas motion declaring "there must be sometime when the will of the senate must be accepted as final."

The Virginian's objection was overruled.

Hides, leather and shoes, twice denied tariff protection by the senate recently, were again denied protection tonight.

After voting 34 to 33 to reconsider its action, the senate defeated the Oddie amendment, 35 to 36.

The rates proposed were:

Four cents a pound on green hides; 8 cents on dried hides; 6 cents a pound and 6 per cent ad valorem on leather, and 14 cents a pair on shoes, except for McKay type women's shoes, which would carry 8 cents a pair and 20 per cent ad valorem.

SENATE PLANS WEEK'S RECESS

WASHINGTON, March 20. (AP)—Wearied by the 11-hour daily sessions on the tariff bill, senate leaders intend to take a week's recess as soon as the measure is passed. They are driving for passage before the end of the week.

Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, passed the word among his colleagues today that he favored the week's recess to give the worn-out membership an opportunity to catch up on its office work and get in some recreation.

FOUR PERSONS BURN TO DEATH

Knoxville, Tenn., Fire Costs Human Lives

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 20. (INS)—Four persons were burned to death today and six others were injured when fire, originating in a small downtown building, spread rapidly to five nearby structures before it was brought under control.

Carl Merchel, 50, who was caught by the flames when he ran into one of the buildings to sound an alarm to the occupants, was burned almost beyond recognition. Later three other bodies, all seared beyond recognition, were dragged from the debris.

Authorities announced that all the persons, at first reported missing, had been accounted for. Damage was conservatively placed in excess of $250,000. The six injured persons, it was believed, will recover.

Today

At the Theaters

By W. L. UNDERWOOD

LITTLE THEATER, Avenue H and Polk street: "Men Are Like That," comedy farce, 8:15 p. m. Last night.

MAJESTIC: Richard Dix in "Seven Keys to Baldpate," last day. Mystery comedy. Charles Ruggles, talking comedy. Sound news.

STRAND: "No, No, Nanette," with Alexander Gray, Bernice Claire and Louise Fazenda. Columbia unit, "Spring Time," and Paramount sound news.

STATE: Edward Everett Horton in "The Hottentot," with Patsy Ruth Miller. Better than you would expect, if possible. "King of the Kongo," continued jungle story. Talking news.

GEM: Hoot Gibson in "The Winged Horseman." Fable comedy. Chapter 1 of "The Final Reckoning."

Speculating in immediate futures: the local screen entertainment market for the week-end has a decidedly bullish tone with only one musical comedy among the four major attractions. A considerable bit of bullish ballyhoo is necessary, of course, to get any one really excited about Alexander Gray, but with Louise Fazenda and Bernice Claire in the cast of "No, No, Nanette," to prod the boy on, the long popular musical piece may retain a fair measure of its appeal. In his late thirties Mr. Gray may have been a whiz as an agitator of Broadway's leading lady songbirds, but we should whisper in his ear this day, "Mr. Gray, do be your age!"

◇ ◇ ◇

The other three-fourths of the talking-film menu with which the local gentry will be ushered up to the dawn of another week consists of highly dramatized mystery, both comic and tragic, and rollicking comedy as delivered by the inimitable Edward Everett Horton. Richard Dix' imposing profile—firmly drawn lip, noble brow, and unrumpled hair in mass formation—darts here and there among portending shadows in "Seven Keys to Baldpate," at the Majestic. All about a house just full of mysteries, and broken out with pass keys. All of which will be turned in Friday night, and on Saturday William Powell will following his drooping eyelids into the same house to show us just what was behind the unsolved shooting of Arnold Rothstein something more than a year ago up in New York. For "Street of Chance" avowedly was constructed upon the drama said to have been in play behind the scenes in the life of the famous Broadway gambler. Powell will be given an unquestionably stellar role in this picture, as "Natural" Davis, lord of the well-groomed card technicians, Kay Francis, as a neglected wife, Regis Toomey as the young brother, and Jean Arthur afford Powell a capable supporting cast. It will be well acted. It will be a welcome relief from the song-and-dance folks back-stage.

"Street of Chance," which opens at the Majestic Saturday, will present William Powell in the first picture built for his peculiar talent, and Kay Francis as a faithful wife rather than a soubrette.

◇ ◇ ◇

And the fourth part—including the home stretch, is over at the State in Edward Everett Horton's "Hottentot." Breathes there a soul who sighs for entertainment, yet avails himself not of "The Hottentot," he should be bitten severely by the next horse he meets.

Electric Refrigerators

Proper refrigeration is essential in preserving food, and for this reason I have always strongly advocated the use of both ice and electric refrigerators. Recently, however, I have received many letters inquiring about the possibility of poisoning from escape of gas used in the electric refrigerators. There has been the rumor of danger from the gas used as a refrigerant in these electrical machines.

After inquiry from the various manufactures of electrical refrigerators, I find that there are three different gases used. The first is methyl chlorid, the second is sulphur dioxid, and the third is ammonia. Both sulphur dioxid and ammonia have very strong odors, and the least leak would be readily detected so that there is scarcely any danger of poisoning from these sources. Even if one were asleep the gases are so irritating that one would immediately wake up. Methyl chlorid, however, is a gas that is not so readily detected by the breather, as the odor is faint and sweetish and does not cause coughing or burn the eyes. For this reason, a person who is awake may not notice it, and one asleep would not know of its escape. With ammonia and sulphur dioxid on the other hand, the inhaling causes violent coughing. The victim is warned, and leaves the vicinity quickly.

The companies now using methyl chlorid usually mix some sulphur dioxid with the other gases that a leak may be readily discerned.

I have become convinced that the dangers have been greatly exaggerated. Even methyl chlorid is not dangerous except when greatly concentrated. The hazards of using electric refrigerators are very slight, certainly not as great as using bathtubs or automobiles. On the other hand, electric refrigeration is doing an enormous service from the standpoint of health and civilization. The housewife with a good refrigerator in her kitchen has many advantages, as she can prepare her food early in the day before the market is picked over, and keep it fresh. She can make desserts and salads to dress up the menu and keep them in good condition for several days.

The electric refrigerator has the advantage of maintaining a uniform temperature. No food is safe in any cooling device unless the temperature is at all times below 50 degrees F. In fact, 42 degrees is a much better temperature if the safety of the family stomachs is to be considered. All of the bacteria which are harmful to the digestive tract may be kept inactive at a temperature below 50 degrees. If the temperature arises even for a short time to more than 50 degrees the danger point is reached, and the bacteria immediately begin to multiply, and food begins to spoil. Below 50 degrees might be called a health temperature for foods. To hold the health temperature of 50 degrees is easily possibly with the ice box if the ice chamber is kept at least half full. Most ice boxes are well constructed and firmly sealed, and they will hold the right temperature if you use enough ice in them. The electric refrigerator has the advantage of automatically controlling the temperature without bother or attention.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Erysipelas

Question—L. F. G. asks: "Is erysipelas a blood or a skin disease? What is the cause and cure?"

Answer—There is a definite bacteria associated with all cases of erysipelas so that it is usually called a skin disease. The activity of this bacteria, however, depends solely upon a condition of poor blood and poor blood circulation. I have never observed a case of erysipelas that could not be entirely cured through a dietetic treatment without local applications being necessary to kill the bacteria, although such local treatment cannot be considered harmful and perhaps hastens recovery.

Eczema

Question—W. R. Y. asks: "Would eating too much albuminous food such as eggs cause one to have eczema? What foods are to be avoided by one suffering from this trouble?"

Answer—Eating too much of any kind of food having a high calorie value may cause eczema with one who is sensitive to this disorder, but the primary cause of eczema is from an over-acid stomach which is caused mostly from the use of improper combinations. All forms of eczema can be cured through a careful dietary regime.

Belching

Question—M. N. asks: "What causes belching, and what is the best treatment? Does this affect the heart?"

Answer—Belching is caused by an excess of stomach gas which is in turn produced mostly from using improper food combinations. The pressure of this gas against the diaphragm affects the heart and is one of the principal causes of various heart derangements.

BRISK GAME PREPARES SPUDDERS FOR DALLAS CONTESTS

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Well, See the Doctor!

She winked from her car,
I came from afar
And teased her along with ardor.
But she scowled, and her wink
Proved an eye off the blink.
No runs, no hits, my error.

The Great Divide

There never was a guy we liked better than Gayle Talbot Jr., who is enthroned at Dallas as state sports editor of the Associated Press. We have dined together; he has taken me in out of many blinding snowstorms and given me hot broth and a good bed; he has furnished me cigarets, and even matches; he has loaned me money, and though I still owe him same he never hounds me about it; in fact, we're real buddies. If the civil war were to be reenacted tomorrow, and I, a southerner, should find Gayle in the union ranks, the Confederacy could go hang; I'd join his regiment to be with him. If stranded on a desert isle with one peanut bar between us, he'd get it all, and I would cheerfully pine away.

But now, alas, the bonds of friendship are starined. I cannot fathom such a friend of mine saying what he has said. But the truth remains that in one of his sports pronunciamientos he says that the Wichita Falls Spudders are among the weakest clubs in the Texas league.

How could he say such things when he knew we were up here slaving night and day to boost our Spudders? Being friends, he should have given me succor; but he has in public refuted one of our pet contentions, i. e., that the Spudders are exalted. That you may read for yourself what Gayle has to say about our sweating ball club, we print his bulletin below:

A Sad, Sad Yarn

"The Texas league as a whole does not promise to be as stout this year as it was last, notwithstanding reports from eight cities to the contrary. It does promise, however, to be more evenly balanced, which is something. Offhand, four clubs have definite symptoms of turning up weaker than in 1929. They are Dallas, Wichita Falls, Shreveport and Waco. Particularly the Steers and the Spudders. Three promise to be stronger, Fort Worth, Beaumont and San Antonio. The Cats, with almost a major league infield, are certain to be better. Right now they are the most feared outfit in the lot. Houston is the league question mark. The consensus is that the Cardinals will ship down enough high class talent at the last minute to put the Buffs in the race. The fact remains, however, that they haven't done it yet. Carey Selph of that great 1928 team is back to play second, but Jim Lindsey, last year's pitching "staff," has not been replaced.

"There isn't a chance of the Dallas Steers repeating, even with the astute Jakie Atz at the wheel. Nothing is left of the championship club except fond memories and a few reserve pitchers. Jimmy Moore, Randy Moore, Jeffries, Flaskamper, Davis, Mealey, Frasier, Glazner, Martina and perhaps Rosenthal have departed. There will be some help from the White Sox but not the important kind. Maybe the Herd will finish in the first division.

"The same with the runner-up Wichita Falls Spuds. Little was left from the house cleaning that wiped out the Oilers' crack infield, erased the catching staff, took the backbone of the pitching corps and all but cleared the outfield. The infield that came from Tulsa in an even swap might do acceptably, but getting another catcher like Pete Lapan, more pitchers like Payne and Messenger, and gardeners of the caliber of Bennett and Gullic is something else again.

ROOKIES MAKE VETS HUSTLE

Regulars Win, 7 to 5; Team Off for Dallas Today

Tony Defate's yannigans came nearer winning a ball game than they have this season Thursday afternoon when they scored five runs against the regulars' seven, in the afternoon practice game.

Tony set dynamite underneath the comfortable cushions on which the rookies have been reclining the past two weeks, and as the result of his continual prodding the youngsters pounded Chick Galeria for four runs in the fourth, and Larry Bettencourt, playing with the yannigans, clouted a homer in the sixth and last inning to score the fifth tally.

Ready for Steers

Thursday's game was the final preparation for two scheduled exhibition games with the champion Dallas Steers at Dallas Saturday and Sunday. The squad was out on the field Thursday morning for a stiff infield workout, and an equally effective batting workout was held just before the opening of the game in the afternoon.

Skipper Williams announced he had chosen Hal Wiltse to open Saturday's contest against the Steers. Other pitchers who will be taken along for relief duty include Lester White, Milt Steengrafe, Cy Smith and Chick Galeria. Levey will officiate at shortstop, Euller at third, Storti at second, Burns at first, and Bettencourt will catch, according to the announced lineup. Fitzgerald, Kloza and Orr will make up the outfield.

Officials to Attend

President William E. Huff, Secretary Guy Airey, his assistant, Arthur B. Huff, brother of the president and President J. Alvin Gardner of the Texas league will be among the officials of the great pastime to witness the first major exhibition series of the season for the Spudders. The previous exhibition tilts, with Nocona and Ryan, were pushovers, as the boxers say.

The yannigans Thursday afternoon started bleeding the regulars in the fourth, after Cy Smith had finished his allotted three innings on the mound for the regulars. They couldn't do much against Cyrus, who held his foes to two hits while toeing the rubber.

The towering Flinn, who brought his six feet and three inches down South from Maine, did right well in holding the regulars to six hits and seven runs in his three innings, considering that his luck was much worse in past practice games. Florid, who relieved him, was a true star, however. He held the regulars scoreless in his three innings, and won the cheers of the fans on several occasions.

Euller Hits Homer

The regulars bunched their hits, including a homer by Walter Euller, in the second to score five runs. The remaining two came in the third and the sixth.

The time apparently has arrived when the Spudders need someone to look more carefully at the pitchers' offerings, for Prexy Huff Thursday wired for an umpire. The man whom the players will have to argue with henceforth is Harry Kane, dean of the Texas league umps, of El Paso. He is expected in camp either Friday or Saturday, it was said.

Rookie Released

Skipper Carl Williams resumed the weeding out process Thursday when he gave George Horton, right-handed pitcher from Port Arthur, his unconditional release. Pink slips are likely to be showered around in every corner of the lot from now on, as the date for the official opening of the season nears.

The box score for Thursday's game follows:

Cheerful Cyrus Toes the Mound

Throughout the clubhouse you can hear a brand of laughter that could come only from Cy Smith. And on the lot, too—provided Cy is not on the mound. When he's there, that's a different matter. He's serious, then, as many batters can testify. Cy, from the sunny Carolinas, is among the more promising hurlers down at the Spudder camp. He was here last season, but was forced out by an operation. This season, however, he's ready for business.

ZAVITA FALLS BEFORE PRIMO

Victim Knocked Out in First Round

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 20. (UP)—Mountainous Primo Carnera of Italy, scored the 11th knockout of his American appearances against Frank Zavita, Newark, N. J., in one minute and 51 seconds of the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout here tonight.

Zavita spotted his bulky opponent 40 pounds in the early weighing in. Primo tipped the scales at 275; Zavita 235.

A crowd of approximately 4,500 persons saw the scrap in which Zavita seemed never to land a blow and used the less than two minutes of his fighting time running away from the Italian giant.

The New Jersey fighter, whose entire pugilistic record embraces few scraps in his home town that apparently taught him little but ring courage, was one of the most patent setups of Primo's American exhibitions.

The little man met Carnera just leaving his corner but that initial rush was the only show of aggressiveness he produced. The giant's long arms encircled him at first, but then the foreigner found his mark and Zavita played the humble part of a mere punching bag from that point to the end.

The rose is the emblem of immortality to the Syrians.

McCullough and Tucker were awarded to the San Antonio club by Manager John J. McGraw on option through the Bridgeport, Eastern league club, New York farm, according to announcement by President Homer Hammond, and Richardson on option from the Giants.

McCullough, whose home is in New Castle, Pa., and Richardson, who is here from Vancouver, B. C., will have their first workout with the Indians Friday while Tucker will go to his home in Louisville, Miss., to bring his family here.

With the addition of these players the Indian list now numbers a total of 31.

Cats to Play Frogs

FORT WORTH, March 20. (AP)—Much hustle will be manifested at La Grave field Friday when the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university meet the Cats of Frank Snyder.

The Frogs will be hustling to make as good a showing as possible against their professional brethren. The latter will be hurrying along at their best gait because perched in the stand will be P. M. Atkins. Atkins is president of the Monroe club of the Cotton States league and is here seeking talent for his outfit.

Exporter Arrival

ORANGE, Texas, March 20. (AP)—Denny Burns, holdout pitcher, reported at Exporter camp today and went into a huddle with Owner Rube Stuart. The Exporter proprietor also announced that Gomer Wilson, southpaw who has been missing, has definitely decided to retire from baseball. Only Chick Shiver, outfielder, is now absent. He is expected by Saturday.

The regulars gave the yannigans a 9 to 5 trimming today, Wade, Holley and Hughes getting home runs. Easterling was out of the lineup with fever. Hitting is improving throughout the squad and it is believed that New York Giants, second team, will run into a formidable offense here Saturday and Sunday.

Steers Beat S. M. U.

DALLAS, March 20. (AP)—Manager Jake Atz's Dallas Steers humbled the Mustangs of Southern Methodist university 8 to 3 today in the second of a three-game series.

Cubs Beat Orioles

U. T. ROW MAY BE SETTLED

Regents and Council to Meet Monday Night

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—Definite action toward settling the controversy in the coaching ranks of the University of Texas is expected Monday night when the athletic council and the investigating committee of the board of regents hold a joint meeting. The regents' investigating committee was appointed recently to inquire into the athletic tangle that involves the retention of Coach Fred Walker as basket ball mentor.

A member of the athletic council stated to the Associated Press that enough votes had been mustered by Walker's supporters to insure his being offered another contract and that an attempt would be made to call the bluff of Coach Billy Disch, head of the baseball department, who has threatened to resign if Walker remains at the university.

Shortly after the close of the court season, an effort of the athletic council to fire Walker was defeated when five members of the council voted against the action and five voted for it. Since that time, a member of the council stated, there has been a change in sentiment with the result that some definite step was predicted for next Monday night.

GOLF MATCH

FORT WORTH, March 20. (AP)—The Fort Worth women's golf team will meet the Dallas women's golf team here Friday. This is the final match of the inter-city series.

POLO PLAYER INJURED HERE

John Fastnow Hit by Ball In Practice Game

John Fastnow, member of the Wichita Falls polo team, was painfully injured Thursday afternoon in a practice game played on Clinerowe field. In the first chukker Fastnow, riding as fast as his pony could carry him, turned his head abruptly to locate the ball, and the missle, which had been knocked in his direction, struck him on the head near the left eye. The rider stuck to his horse, however, and finished the game.

The game, played between the Whites and the Blues, ended in a 3 to 3 tie.

Ernest Fain was a newcomer on the field. Fain played his first game with the Whites, and did well for a beginner, his mates said.

C. H. Featherston captained the Whites. With him were Hubert Stringer in front, and Fain and Fastnow in the center. Featherston played back. The Blues, in addition to Capt. Horrace Robbins, who played back, included Dr. J. H. Fletcher, No. 1, J. E. Goss, No. 2, and Lieutenant Barton, No. 3.

Practice games will be played often henceforth in preparation for a series of games here with out-of-town teams, the first being the San Antonio four which is scheduled to come here in the near future.

REDS TO PLAY A'S

ORLANDO, Fla., March 20. (AP)—An abbreviated but diversified workout was taken today by the Cincinnati Reds who left here at noon on a motor bus trip to Fort Myers, where an exhibition game will be played tomorrow with the Athletics.

SMALL FARMS ADD BUILDINGS

Much Activity Shown in Weeks Community

Continued erection of residence cottages, modern chicken houses, permanent fences and terraces in the Weeks' small farm community near Westmoreland park has given that area a distinct appearance of an established industrial center.

Opened to development about 13 months ago, the Weeks' tract now has about 70 acres under improvement, with apparently some 25 or 30 families resident on their small farms. A conspicuous feature of the district is the uniformity of poultry-house construction, each of the buildings conforming closely to others in size, and each with its higher side open to the south.

In addition to the poultry houses of modern design, many lots are now being fenced carefully for increasing flocks of White Leghorns, most of which have developed from stock supplied by the nearby M. Johnson Poultry ranch. At various points in the district fruit trees and vines already have made noticeable progress since trained upon the steel fences. Garden vegetables are just beginning to line the brown soil with rows of green. According to present development, the entire district between Fair park and Westmoreland bathing pool should be well established as a residential-farming district by the end of 1930.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, March 20. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Better grades of fed steers in Chicago advanced 25 cents under the influence of a wider shipper demand today but otherwise cattle trade around the 11-market circuit continued slow with additional declines at some centers on both killing classes and replacement stock. Chicago received $14.25 for a load of choice heavy steers and $13.60 for best yearlings. Common Texas fed Mexican steers on the Kansas City market cashed at $9.40. Receipts 20,200, a decrease of 2,500 from a week ago and 5,000 short of the corresponding day last year.

Hogs slow, unevenly steady to 25c lower. Some strength was shown at St. Louis early on the lighter weights. The top of $10.80 was paid early at St. Louis for one load. Offerings 67,200 against 88,843 last Thursday and 82,304 a year ago.

The sheep supply approximated 50,700, a decrease of 10,500 from a week ago but 6,000 heavier than a year ago. Fat lamb trade uneven. Aged stock firm. Choice light weight fed wooled lambs in Chicago cleared up to $10.50.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 20. (AP)—Declines from an early advance in cotton today were followed by reactions under renewed realizing or liquidation but after selling off from 15.59 to 15.25 for May, the market firmed on covering and trade buying with the late months relatively firm. May closed at 15.57 with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 9 to 28 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 3 points to a decline of 2 points.

The census report placing the amount of cotton ginned for the season at 14,544,584 running bales was a shade under expectations, and may have contributed to the advance which carried the active months about 8 to 15 points net higher. Offerings then tapered. The new October contract after selling up to 15.26 early reacted to 15.05, later advancing to 15.39 and closing at 15.37.

The average weight of bales for the season as reported by the census bureau was unusually heavy being 509.5 pounds, and the ginnings in equivalent 500-pound bales amounted to 14,821,499 or within 98,000 of the government's December estimate. Port receipts today 8,177. U. S. port stocks 1,951,921.

Exports, 11,124, making 5,731,788 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 20. (AP)—Following a decline from an early advance, cotton rallied sharply in late trading today on covering by shorts who found contracts scarce. The recovery carried May from 14.97 to 15.29 and the option closed at 15.25, or 16 points net higher. The general market closed steady at net gains of 16 points on all active months.

The market opened steady in response to favorable Liverpool cables. First trades showed gains of 6 to 11 points and prices advanced after the start on a bullish interpretation of the census bureau's ginnings total of 14,544,584 running bales, equivalent to 14,821,499 500-pound bales. May sold up to 15.24, July 15.33 and October 15.26, or 10 to 15 points above the previous close. The market then sagged. In late trading active covering by ring traders developed a scarcity of contracts. As a result prices rebounded to levels over $1.50 a bale above the lows. July traded to 15.38 and October 15.35, or 32 points up. The close was 3 to 4 points under the best.

Stocks React After New Buying Influences Rally in Early Hours

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 20. (US)—Stocks turned irregular toward the close of a less active market today. New buying flowed in while more aggressive pool activity was encouraged in the morning on announcement of the reduction in the Bank of England rate. Further stimulus was given by renewal of call money at 2 per cent, the lowest since November, 1924. The call rate stiffened in the afternoon, however, jumping to 2½ per cent and some profit-taking and added bearish pressure was influenced. Steel finished fractionally lower, while Gillette dropped 3⅞, American and Foreign Power 2⅛, Johns Manville 1¾, American Can 1⅛, National Cash Register 4, and Warner Brothers dropped 1 point. General Motors closed 2¼ higher for the day while Hudson gained 2. Vanadium added 5 points to its advance. Turnover dropped to near the 4,000,000-share level.

Recent buying of the local Traction stocks evidences belief that the unification plan will go through. There has been steady absorption since the report that progress was being made over a month ago as told of here at that time. It is believed that the grouping of the subways under such plan will be the first step taken. The Brooklyn-Manhattan controlling interests are said to have working control of Interborough and therefore are in a position to sit down with the municipal authorities and reach definite agreement. After the subway grouping is consummated, it is believed, the street car lines and bus services will be included. There was report that taxis would be taken in also but this is denied by those in the best position to know existing plans.

The good buying of American Tobacco on the decline of Wednesday was reflected in the sharp recovery. Coincident with the advance there was further report that another advance in cigaret prices would be announced before long. Earnings are runnnig ahead of those of last year and further increase is expected. The American Tobacco interests, it is said, are not worried about the squabble raised as a result of the competition that has developed in the retail cigaret business. Quiet absorption of Loose Wiles is reported again for the account of those who expect it will eventually be taken over by National Biscuit.

Oil interests heard that the price of Mid-Continent crude might be advanced next week. Quarterly report of General Motors, it is estimated, will show earnings of under a dollar a share. Those of other automobile companies will be less satisfactory. The same interests that brought about the rise in Bush Terminal last year are said to be preparing for aonther group operation. Union Oil has been added to that growing list of petroleum shares in which insiders are believed to be planning more aggressive market activity because of the growing belief that the industry really has turned the corner.

No change in the rediscount rate here and increase in loans of $121,000,000 were about as expected. It would be no surprise if the local rate were held on the same level as that of the Bank of England for the next several weeks. The slight tightening in the call money market also was expected inasmuch as it results from the March 15 disbursements. Higher call rate is likely over the week-end but further ease is looked for early next week as funds flow back to the banks. The further increase in ratio of reserves of both the local bank and the reserve system, and purchases of government securities by the reserve system, and purchases of government securities by the reserve warranted the belief that easy money will be experienced for an exteneded period with but momentary interruptions such as now being experienced.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, March 20. (AP)—Cash wheat was further upset today by announcement that the farm board buying agent here had been ordered to stop buying grain for that account from any source whatever. Mills were slow buyers on wheat, bidding around $1.00@1.10 for No. 1 ordinary hard delivered Texas common points.

Bids and offers on coarse grains basis delivered carloads Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed corn 94@95c; No. 2 white or yellow 96@99c.

Oats—No. 2 red oats 55½@56½c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points 55½@56c.

Barley—No. 2 nominal, 63@65c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per hundred pounds $1.64@1.66; No. 2 kaffir $1.43@1.45.

Cane Seed—Bulk country run red top Texas origin per hundred pounds $4.00@4.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 20. (AP)—Lively upturns in wheat today resulted from aggressive buying, especially in the final transactions, the market closing firm at the day's total level. European countries were reported as having purchased at least some North American wheat today for transatlantic shipment.

Unusual absence of selling pressure here was noted, and traders gave sharp attention to chances that the bulk of the new crop of domestic winter wheat will be swept by a cold wave and be caught devoid of any snow cover.

Closing quotations on all grain were strong, with wheat 1⅝@2⅛c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¾@1⅝c up, oats ⅛@⅜c advanced, and provisions varying from 7c decline to a rise of 2c.

Corn and oats obtained their strength mostly from the action of wheat. Furthermore, unsettled weather which is forecast will tend to restrict still sharper the movement of corn to terminal markets.

Provisions averaged lower, responsive to downturns in hog values.

Soviet Denies Stalin Has Resigned Office

BERLIN, March 20. (US)—The Soviet embassy here tonight strongly denied that Joseph Stalin, Russia's "man of steel," had resigned as secretary-general of the executive committee of the Communist party, which position makes him virtual dictator of the Soviet.

The Soviet embassy's denial was brought about by unconfirmed dispatches from Riga, Lativa, published in the Berlin newspaper Tempo, that Stalin had resigned because of the opposition shown by the young Communists organization to his Agrarian policy of collective farms.

DALLAS GROUP TO VISIT HERE

30 Executives to Travel on Special Train

Thirty of the leading business executives of Dallas will spend three hours in Wichita Falls on the afternoon of Saturday, April 5, on a one-week "business-contact" tour of West Texas, according to information received at local chamber of commerce offices Thursday.

Every member of the Dallas party is either the president or general manager of a well-known business institution of Dallas, according to the personnel announced Thursday. They will make the seven days' swing through the western part of the state in a special train carrying a club car with barber shop, bath rooms, etc.; diner, confection division; drawing-room sleeper, and an observation sleeper, it was announced.

According to the leaders of the Dallas party, its members "will have nothing to sell, no advertising matter to distribute, nothing to ask for but closer acquaintance with local business men." About 50 members of the chamber of commerce here will be asked to be guests of the visiting delegation at luncheon during its stay in this city, for the purpose of discussing together general business conditions, and inter-city relations.

Practically all of the men who will comprise the party are well known throughout this section of the country. Prominent from the standpoint of acquintance here are Sam P. Cochran, active in Masonic work all over Texas; P. E. Jackson, president of the State fair; E. R. Brown, president of the Magnolia Petroleum company; J. Perry Burrus, president of the Burrus Mill and Elevator Co.; J. Ben Critze, Ed T. Moore, president Simms Oil company; John W. Carpenter, president Texas Electric Service company, and Gen. John A. Tulen of the F. W. & D. C. railway.

Rotarians Hear Radio Address by 'Rabbi'

Rotarians and their individual peculiarities as viewed by "Rabbi Able Goldstein of Russia" were discussed by radio to members of the Rotary club at the Kemp hotel Thursday noon, the KGKO broadcast which brought the dispensation of knowledge revealing a voice very similar to that of C. A. Rogers, according to those present.

Three selections by the Bluebird orchestra preceded the rabbi's address, R. E. Shepherd acting as announcer.

James Biggs, J. W. Chatham, John Boswell and W. M. Eliot, were presented with buttons, pins and Rotary codes emblematic of their membership in the club. The new members were welcomed by John Kilgore.

According to Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, president, a delegation of members of the local Rotary club will leave the Kemp hotel, Eighth street entrance, Friday morning at 11 o'clock for Electra, where they will participate in an inter-city meeting with the club there.

WICHITANS TO SELL REFINERY

Allen and McClory Dispose Of Pampa Plant

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, Texas, March 20.—Sale of the Pampa Refining company plant at Pampa, Gray county, to the H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas company of Tulsa, Okla., has not been consumated, Mrs. Reece S. Allen, one of the stockholders, said today.

Mrs. Allen added, however, that she expected the deal to go through probably late this week.

Dr. Anthony McClory, who with Reece S. Allen of Wichita Falls started the plant several years ago, is reported to have virtually closed the deal for the transfer of his 40 per cent of the stock to the Wilcox interests. The doctor and Mr. Allen each hold 40 per cent of the capital stock in the company. G. L. Rowse, superintendent, is also a stockholder as are several others.

Last week, Mr. Allen disposed of 30 per cent of the stock, or three-fourths of his holdings, to an unnamed group. Whether this is the Wilcox group or not could not be learned.

"Mr. Allen sold 30 per cent of the stock," Mrs. Allen said. "We retained 10 per cent. Doctor McClory is on a deal to sell his 40 per cent of the stock. I have not been advised of the completion of the deal but expect it will be some time late this week."

The plant has a 3,500 barrel capacity and has been in operation for about two years.

The two men, it is believed, have disposed of their interests in the plant and will engage in another field of oil operations.

Doctor McClory is from Wichita Falls. He has been making Pampa his headquarters for several weeks, however, handling details of the transaction.

PRIVATE POOLS CLOSED TO BASS-CRAPPIE FISHING, STATE RULES

GAME WARDEN QUOTES LAW

Mere Possession of Fish Held Violation

A warning that taking of bass and crappie is prohibited in private as well as public waters during the months of March and April was issued Thursday by the state game commission through E. A. Preskitt, deputy game warden stationed at Lake Wichita.

The warning was issued, Mr. Preskitt said, as the result of many inquiries, particularly from the Wichita Falls area, as to whether or not bass and crappie could be caught from privately owned tanks and ponds during the closed season. The ruling sent Mr. Preskitt quotes Article 933, Penal code of 1925, as follows:

Law Quoted

"That it shall be unlawful to take or catch or have in possession any bass or crappie from the fresh waters of this state during the months of March or April of any year;" or to "take, catch or have in possession any bass of less length than seven inches."

Under this provision, the state game department has issued the following statement to its wardens, Mr. Preskitt said:

"In our opinion, it would be no defense for a person within this state in possession of bass or crappie during the months of March or April to say that the fish were taken from private fresh waters of this state and not from public fresh waters of this state. It would be only necessary for the prosecution to prove that the fish came from the fresh waters of this state, and it is our opinion that if the defendant failed to show that bass or crappie which were in his possession in this state actually came from waters without this state that he should stand convicted."

Ruling Explained

Mr. Preskitt said there had been many inquiries on the subject, and there probably had been considerable fishing for bass and crappie in private ponds under the impression that such is not a violation of the law. Mr. Preskitt said that he hoped for a close observance of the law here, since game wardens under the state law must arrest and prosecute all those who have possession of crappie or bass during April and March, regardless of whether the fish were taken from private or public waters.

"While the law may appear strict on first thought, it is little different from the state statute which prohibits shooting of quail out of season. The fact that the quail may be on privately owned property does not alter the working of the law," Mr. Preskitt declared.

Little Theater Extends Run Of Comedy to Include Show Tonight

Due to constantly increasing attendance at its first four performances, and many requests for an additional showing, "Men Are Like That" will be given again on Friday night, it was announced Thursday by F. C. McClung, director of the Little Theater.

The comedy-farce which opened Monday night attracted capacity crowds on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Originally billed for a four-day season, the play was extended to Friday night by decision of the directors Thursday in order to accommodate the many patrons who had not yet seen the performance. More than a dozen members of the Olney Little Theater were among those present at the Little Theater Thursday night.

Members of the "Men Are Like That" cast were entertained Thursday night after the play by members of the Bohemian club, made up of amateur Thespians numbering 24 persons. Coffee, sandwiches and other refreshments were served immediately after the closing curtain, followed by dancing and games.

Friday night's closing performance of "Men Are Like That" will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

WHALE ESSAY PRIZES LISTED

Winners Announced Thursday in Contest

Prizes in the essay contest for school children here in conection with the display of a giant whale by the Pacific Whaling company were announced Thursday. The contest was for the best essay on whales, and closed Wednesday with scores of letters received from Wichita Falls school children.

Prize Winners

First prize of $5 in the contest was awarded to Beth Perkins, 2414 Eighth street, C. Clayton Stevenson, emblamer of the whale, declaring that the letter was exceptionally well done and expressing the hope to Miss Perkins that "you are as neat and correct in all your work as in this letter." Other letters were also praised by Mr. Stevenson, who said school children here showed an astounding knowledge of whales and an unusual aptitude in expressing their thoughts.

Prizes of $1 each were awarded to Jewel Lewis, high fourth grade of Austin school; R. B. Carter, high fourth grade of Austin school; Marjorie C. Fox, 1605 Thirteenth street; Marguerite Birkman, 1312 Fillmore street; and Leta May Trevathan, 1409 Twelfth street, a Reagan Junior high school student.

Checks will be mailed by The Record News at once to the prize winners in the contest.

Exhibit Draws Crowd

The whale exhibit Thursday continued to draw record crowds to the display car on the Denver tracks at Sixth and Ohio avenue. The exhibit, which also contains specimens of numerous other sea denizens, is open each day from 9 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night.

The 60-ton whale must undergo an emblaming process every night for eight months before it is totally preserved so as to last indefinitely in its present condition, members of the company said Thursday.

From 25 to 50 gallons of embalming fluid are injected in the huge mammal at each operation. The total embalming will cost about $8,000, according to Mr. Stevenson. After the whale was killed and drydocked, it was turned on its back and an incision made large enough for a man to crawl inside and sever the main blood artery to pump out the circulation system which was refilled with 5,300 gallons of embalming fluid.

The embalming fluid used is the same that is used in the preservation of human bodies, but 50 per cent stronger, Mr. Stevenson said.
