

Rockets Ready To Pit Strength Against Mustangs

Eager to test their skill and power in the first conference game of the season, as well as their first home game, the Wellington Rockets will play hosts to the Wheeler Mustangs Friday night, September 27, at Powell Field.

Fans from every section of Collingsworth County will turn out to see this battle, expected to be one of the stiffest the Rockets will face this year. In addition, a large aggregation of Wheeler people are expected down to support their players.

Although they have played two games this year and lost both, neither of these were conference games, and the Rockets go into Friday's game with a clean slate in that respect.

This year's Mustang team is considered strong, and should rate well toward the top of the conference list. They have played only one game this season, in which they defeated Lakeview 19 to 0 on the Lakeview field.

No one here saw this game, and no information has been available as to the actual strength of the team. Seven of last year's men, however, are listed on the starting lineup.

Two teams have toughened the inexperienced Rockets considerable, and they are expected to give the Mustangs stiff competition. In line work, as well as in passing and running, the Rockets have shown improvement, fans who are watching their progress report.

The probable starting lineup of the teams includes:

Poultry Show Meeting Saturday

Poultry raisers, hatcherymen, and feed dealers of the county were reminded this week of the meeting Saturday, September 28, to lay plans for the annual county Poultry Show, to be held during the first week in December.

The meeting will be held in the District Court Room at 3 o'clock, with V. H. Lindsey, show superintendent, in charge.

A cordial invitation has been extended to all persons interested in the show to be present for the meeting.

Post Office Mural Will Be Installed By Artist Sunday

The mural painting for the Wellington Post Office building will be installed Sunday, R. F. Curry, postmaster, said Wednesday morning.

Bernard Arnest of Denver, Colorado, who painted the picture, will arrive here Saturday and will be in charge of the installation. The mural has been approved by the Post Office department, Mr. Arnest said.

The artist did not reveal the subject of the painting.

Band Mothers To Sponsor Rummage Sale Saturday

A rummage sale, sponsored by the Band Mothers Club, will be held Saturday, September 28, Mrs. Earl Hunter, who is assisting with the plans, has announced.

The sale will be held in the vacant building just north of the Wellington State Bank.

Proceeds from the sale will be used in behalf of the Skyrocket band.

Knox Praises United States Fleet

"In striking power of ships, in the caliber of our personnel, and in the ability of the command, the United States fleet is, without a question, the best in the world." That was the opinion expressed by Col. Frank Knox, center, as he returned from an inspection of Pacific fleet. He's pictured above with U. S. Navy Commander Mathews and Admiral Blakely.

New Teachers Named In County

Selection of two teachers and two substitute teachers for consolidated schools in the county was announced this week.

Mrs. Audie Price Wallace has been selected to teach in the Samnorwood grade school, taking the place of Miss Elizabeth Ireland, who resigned recently to accept a teaching position on the plains.

Mrs. Wallace received her bachelor of science degree from North Texas State Teachers College in 1938 and her Master of Science degree from the same institution this year. Her major study was elementary education, with minors in art and philosophy. In addition to this college, she has attended John Tarleton, Thorpe Springs College, West Texas State College and Abilene Christian College.

Six-Year-Old Is Shot In Eye With B-B Gun Monday

While playing with a group of young boys Monday evening, Jack Lindsey, six-year-old son of Mrs. Aileen Lindsey, was accidentally shot in the right eye by a b-b gun in the hands of one of his companions. The accident occurred while the group was playing on the lawn of the Methodist Church.

The child, with his mother, was rushed to Amarillo by Rev. and Mrs. J. Edmund Kirby, where he was given treatment by a specialist.

The boy remained in St. Anthony's Hospital, and Rev. Kirby stayed after returning Tuesday evening that the doctors were still unable to determine whether or not he would lose the sight of his eye.

Church Homecoming Plans Are Completed

Present members and former members will gather for the all-day Home Coming Service of the First Christian Church in Wellington Sunday, September 29—one of the special services with which ministers of the city churches are renewing their efforts with the coming of the autumn months.

Rev. Joe Findley, pastor of the First Christian Church in Memphis, has been invited to address the congregation at the morning service. He has not definitely accepted, however, Rev. H. H. Neely, pastor, said Tuesday night.

Featured at the morning service will be singing of old-time hymns of the church. Immediately after Collingsworth County took honors in two divisions of the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo which was in session from September 16 to 22. These included the poultry and agricultural divisions.

This was in addition to the first place won by the Future Farmers of Wellington on their exhibit.

Among the counties, Collingsworth placed third in the county poultry exhibits. This exhibit was prepared and set up by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Clay of Wellington.

Individual winners in this division included the following: Dark Cornish class: Mrs. Guy Clay fourth on cock, third on cockerel, third on hen, and first and second on the old pen. In the black Cochon Bantam class, V. H. Lindsey won first, second, third, and fourth places on pullets; first, second, and third on young pen; and first, second, and third on the young pen. Floyd Nipper, showing white leghorns, took first on cock; third on cockerel, third on hen, second on a pullet, and second and third on the young pen.

The agricultural division proved to be practically a field day for the Mitchell family of Quail. The three of them, Montey Mitchell, H. G. Mitchell, and Edward Mitchell, among them, came home with 29 prizes, including six first place awards. The events in which they won include:

Head and ear grain, red milo: first Monte Mitchell, second H. G. Mitchell, fourth Edward Mitchell; white milo: first H. G. Mitchell; blackhull kaffir: second, H. G. Mitchell; feterita: fourth, H. G. Mitchell.

Plans Complete For Barbecue By NFLA Sat.

Final plans were under way early this week as approximately 500 members of the Wellington National Farm Loan Association and their wives prepared to hear A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston at the second annual barbecue and election of directors of the N. F. L. A. Saturday, September 28.

This is the first time that Mr. Williams has visited Wellington. Accompanying him here will be Dean E. J. Kyle, member of the Farm Credit Board, and head of the department of agriculture at Texas A. and M. College.

The event will be held at Powell Field, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. Serving of the barbecue will start immediately after the group has gathered. This will be followed by the election of directors to fill the places of Tom Campbell and N. C. Tennison, whose terms expire.

One of the highlights of the evening will be motion pictures of agricultural methods in Europe shown by Mr. Williams. These pictures were taken by him during a tour of Europe in the summer of 1939, just before the outbreak of the war. A detailed explanation of the pictures will be given by Mr. Williams as they are shown.

Should the weather be bad, Mr. O'Neil stated that the barbecue will be held at the football field, but the remainder of the program will be at the high school auditorium.

Templeton To Join Royal Air Force

John Templeton of Wellington told friends here early this week that he is leaving October 10 for Windsor, Ontario, Canada, where he expects to join the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Mr. Templeton stated that he has been accepted for medical examination. He did not indicate the length of time he would be in training before being sent to England for active service in the war. He is the son of Mrs. R. H. Templeton, and a native of Wellington. (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

Rev. Henson To Speak At Church Of Nazarene Sun.

Rev. J. C. Henson of Bethany, Oklahoma, will speak at the Church of the Nazarene in Wellington Sunday morning, September 29, at the 11 o'clock hour.

"Rev. Henson is a man of wide experience as a pastor, evangelist, district superintendent and business manager of several colleges of the Church of the Nazarene," Rev. Eugene Wood, pastor of the local church, says. "His message will be one of vital importance to every Christian, and every person in this and all adjoining communities is given a most cordial invitation to hear him."

Fair Association Thanks Workers

The Collingsworth County Fair Association this week expressed their thanks to individuals and groups who worked so faithfully that the Fair might be a success.

"Everyone in the county is convinced that this was one of the outstanding events here in recent years, and right now we want to publicly thank the people who made it possible," they said.

This group included Logan Cummings, who was in charge of the rodeo; Kid Monroe, who worked up the ball game; Lawrence Gillespie, announcer at the rodeo; Cicero Smith Lumber Co. and Shamburger Lumber Co. for lumber furnished; Olin Norwood, who was in charge of the bingo stand; Jack Hurst for painting; Bura Handley for preparing the ball ground and rodeo ground; Wood Coleman, general superintendent, and all others who contributed any work toward making this fair a success.

Commissioners To Ask Paving Of Highway 52

In an effort to secure the hard surfacing of Highway 52, running east of Wellington, members of the Commissioner's Court will appear before the State Highway Department at Austin in a hearing Monday, September 30.

This information was revealed by Judge C. C. Bishop, county judge, Tuesday morning.

The highway runs from the northeast corner of the town section to the Oklahoma state line.

"The hard surfacing of this road would give the people of Collingsworth County a direct outlet to Oklahoma City, as well as to the entire western section of that state," Judge Bishop pointed out. "A contract has already been let in Oklahoma for the surfacing of the highway in that state, and the district engineer of this district has included that project on his program for the coming year," he added.

During the last year this road has undergone considerable improvement. In addition to improving the road bed, it was re-routed for several miles to give a better and more convenient layout. The work was completed earlier in the year.

Midway PTA To Sponsor Get Together Thurs.

The evening of entertainment, including games and singing, will be sponsored Thursday night, September 26, by the Midway Parent Teachers Association at the Midway School. This is a community wide event, and every person of that area interested in the P. T. A. or in the school is cordially invited to attend. The event will begin at 8 o'clock.

To assist in the singing, two quartets have been secured, according to M. A. Huffhines, president. They are the Brewer Quartet and the Hively Quartet.

"We're going to round out a full evening's entertainment," Mr. Huffhines, said, "and we can already assure you that everyone attending will have lots of fun."

Moisture Due To Put Wheat Ground In Good Condition

Collingsworth County received its share of the equinox rains Sunday, September 22, when moisture, ranging from only a good shower to an estimated three and four inches, was received. Some portions of the county which were missed by most of the summer moisture, reported that this was the best rain received during the entire growing season of the crops.

The rain appeared heaviest in the eastern and southern portions of the county, and several communities on the west side of the county reported that the fall was light.

Although this moisture comes too late to benefit any crops except a small amount of late feed, farmers throughout the county believe this will put wheat land in good condition for planting.

The rainfall in Wellington measured 3/4 inch. To the south and east, around Dodson and Arlie, the fall was estimated at from two to three inches in that section. Farther north, the rain grew lighter, and at the Crews Ranch headquarters east of town the rain was termed rather light. On the north end of the ranch, and in the Roundup and Needwood communities, the rain was reported much heavier. Estimates of from one and one-half to two inches were made in this section.

The Aberdeen and Lutie communities reported good rains. Jim Light of the former community estimated the fall at his farm at three inches, while Floyd Thompson of Lutie state that he believed this rain was the best that had fallen at his place this year.

Around two to three inches was the estimated fall at Samnorwood, (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

Contract Let On Bank Building

Contract for the reconditioning of the building to be occupied by the City State Bank of Wellington was let last week to Jones-Wilkinson Construction Company of Duncan, Oklahoma. Other contracts in connection with the work went to the W. D. Collins Safe Co. of Denison.

This building is better known as the Raburn building, and was occupied by the Raburn Grocery for a number of years.

Efforts will be made to have the building ready to be occupied by December 15, H. D. Creath, vice president of the bank, said Thursday.

The building will be air conditioned, with automatic ventilation and a modern heating system.

"In every way it will be arranged for the convenience of both the patrons and the officers of the bank," Mr. Creath said.

One of the outstanding features will be the installation of a vault for use by the public, the only one of its type in Wellington. When all work is completed, this will be considered one of the most modern banking homes in the entire Panhandle.

Only One Alien Is Registered

Only one alien has been registered in Collingsworth County to date, it was learned at the Wellington Post Office this week.

This registration was of a Mexican man, who works as a farm hand near Dodson.

He has lived in the Dodson area for the last nine years, he told postal employees here when he registered.

Deadline on the registration of aliens is December 26.

Eugene McGuire Is 4-H Head

Eugene McGuire was chosen president of the Buck Creek 4-H Club in an election meeting held Monday evening, September 23. McGuire, who graduated from Wellington High School this year, has been active in 4-H work for several years.

Other officers are Barney Stafford, vice president; Bob Sessions, secretary-treasurer; Edwin Aduddell, reporter, and J. L. Souder, watchdog.

Members for 1940-41 include Eugene McGuire, Barney Stafford, Jack Stafford, Jimmie Aduddell, Edwin Aduddell, J. C. Lancaster, Thomas Blades, J. L. Souder, James Sessions and Bob Sessions. Harvey Hutchinson is sponsor and Clyde Lancaster is assistant sponsor. Meetings will be held on Monday night each two weeks.

Mr. And Mrs. Casey Jones To Live At Foreman, Arkansas

Mr. and Mrs. Casey Jones left Thursday night for Foreman, Ark., where they will make their future home. They recently bought a tract of land including an orchard a mile from that town.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones had lived in Wellington for approximately 25 years, coming here from Hollis, Oklahoma. Mr. Jones engaged in the grocery business and automobile business here for many years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jones have many friends throughout Collingsworth County.

County Resident Urges Move To Pave Highway

Initiating a one-man drive for the improvement of Highway 203 between Wellington and Quail, Otis M. Melton of Quail this week urged residents of the county to work locally and to write highway department officials in an effort to secure a hard surface for the road.

An open letter from Mr. Melton to the people of the county follows: "After driving over Highway 203 from Wellington to Quail last Sunday would most certainly convince any State official of the Highway Department, that some type of hard-surface road would be in order on the above mentioned highway. As a suggestion, let's talk with our local officials, and write to the State Highway Department at Austin telling them in our own words just how badly this piece of road needs attention immediately. It is firmly believed that if enough interest is shown favorable results will be accomplished."

4 High School Classes Name Officers Wed.

Election of class officers of the Wellington High School was completed Wednesday morning, Sept. 18. Class sponsors and class mothers were chosen, and candidates for the school officers were nominated. The school officers will be elected by the entire student body.

Conrad Melton was chosen president of the senior class. Chosen to serve with him were Denzil Ingram, vice president; Juanita Crane, secretary-treasurer; and Billie Hicks, reporter. Mr. and Mrs. Hoyet Williams are class sponsors while Mrs. O. D. Holton, Mrs. Chester Cloyd, Mrs. W. W. McClaskey and Mrs. Fred Cox, Sr., are class mothers.

Junior class officers are Leo Thompson, president; Billie Jo Stall, vice president; L. E. Gribble, secretary; Faye Moore, reporter; and Dick Wiles, sergeant-at-arms. Class mothers are Mrs. Pink Sullivan, Mrs. Dewey Ellis, Mrs. Fox, and Mrs. Holton. Class sponsors are John Hooper and Mrs. John Williams.

Sophomore officers are Junior Melton, president; Allene Raburn, vice president; Marion Baumgardner, secretary; Herschel Lewis, treasurer; Buddy Forbis, reporter; and Olen Goodner, sergeant-at-arms. Class sponsors are Miss Minnie Atchley and Ronald Davis. Class mothers are Mrs. O. B. Raburn, Mrs. Howard Riggs and Mrs. L. A. Manzer.

Billie Earl Wallace was chosen president of the freshman class with Rudolph Miller as vice president; Dorothy Norman, secretary; Nova Loving, treasurer. Class mothers are Mrs. McClaskey and Mrs. A. C. Boverie.

LILLIE

By MRS. G. D. THOMAS

Lillie community was blessed again Saturday night and Sunday with a good rain. Several farmers in the community are trying to get cotton pickers to begin when the weather favors off. Lillie Gin fired up Monday morning for their first bale of cotton. S. Needham was to bring it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Gladney of Borger visited relatives in our community Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. D. Burkhalter was taken to the hospital Thursday and had her tonsils removed. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nipper of Dodson and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Allford of Wellington visited in the William Squires home Sunday.

Rev. J. R. Gambrell, pastor of Lillie Church, has been preaching every night this week at Lillie. There was a baptismal service at Mrs. Johnson's place Saturday morning. There were large crowds attending every service of the church.

Wick Haralson and Jet Haralson of Nocona, Texas, and E. B. Haralson of Wellington visited their sister, Mrs. T. C. Cass, Sunday.

Fred Bell, manager of Lillie Store, is putting in another store at Lillie Gin.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clifton of Lubbock visited Mr. and Mrs. Rob Isbell Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Langford visited Mrs. Guy Cox in Childress Saturday evening.

Misses Lola Mae and Jane McMinn visited their sister, Helen McMinn at Childress Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carreker and Mrs. Ernest Maxwell visited in the Denzil Carreker and Vick Brown homes in Oklahoma City last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Pick Bartlett of Fresno visited in the Zook Thomas home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Brewer of Canon City, Colorado, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brewer, and Mr. and Mrs. O. Hall this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Horton and Grandma Horton visited in the Will Horton home at Coleman, Texas, last week end. Grandma remained there for an extended visit.

Mrs. G. D. Thomas returned home Thursday from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ashton, at Abernathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Pierce of Frederick, Oklahoma, visited in the Jack Black home Saturday night.

Someone has been keeping New York newspapermen very busy investigating reports that Babe Ruth dropped dead while playing golf. The same rumor has been circulated several times lately.

THE NEW STATE REPRESENTATIVE VISITS WITH THE GOVERNOR

QUAIL

The Quail Chapter won a great number of premiums at the County Fair and had more entries than any other group. We put up eight booths, won three grand championship places, 17 firsts, 18 seconds, and 16 third places. In addition, we secured a lot of experience and education. We enjoyed the Fair and will be present next year with bells on.

We were glad to hear that the Wellington Chapter won the Educational Booth Contest at the Tri-State Fair. We like to see our friends and neighbors step on the gas. If we are not ahead of you we will be as close behind as we can.

Quail F.F.A. met on September 19 to elect officers for the year. Joe Stratton was named president, Harold Hammit vice president, Cleo Robinson treasurer, Johnnie Crawford secretary, Orville Atkinson reporter, J. L. Bartlett historian, Palo Cummings, Jr., watchdog, Ray Cass parliamentarian, and Eugene McBride song leader. We also have two officers of the Wellington district. Joe Stratton has been named treasurer and Orville Atkinson reporter. They, together with Harold Hammit, represented the Quail chapter at the first district meeting at Wellington High School Thursday evening, September 24.

This chapter will visit other chapters in this county and in nearby counties. We have new project markers and each freshman will put one up as soon as the project is under way. If the project becomes unsatisfactory, the project committee will take up the boys marker until the project is improved.

The Quail F.F.A. intends to make this one of their outstanding years and to retain its charter as a Lone Star Chapter. Only about 15 per cent of the chapters in Texas are Lone Star Chapters.

A uniform notebook has been adopted, and the Quail Mercantile furnished these covers without cost to us.

The Chapter will put up a county booth at Lubbock on September 30. A part of the things used at the County Fair will be used. Any premium money won at the regional and state Fairs will be put into a county fund for use by all F.F.A. and 4-H Club boys. Orville Atkinson, reporter.

DOZIER

By MRS. ROY BILLINGSLEY

The rain which fell Sunday will be a great help to wheat.

The Dozier Gin ginned several bales of cotton last week.

Miss Willie Massey spent the week end with Miss Mildred Collins and attended the singing convention near Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Worth Shields, Albert Montgomery and children visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Caperton.

Olin Norwood was a Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Billingsley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Willoughby visited in Shamrock and Twitty Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Massey and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Massey and son, James Dowell, attended the convention near Vernon Sunday.

Miss Effie Rankin's school was dismissed Friday for cotton picking.

Mrs. Roy Billingsley and small son visited Friday near Lutie with her brother, Odus Offutt, and family.

Church Notes

MINISTERIAL ALLIANCE

The rain, for which we thank God, cut the attendance in Sunday School Sunday, September 22. Let everyone look at the attendance of his respective church and see what a difference it makes when he stays home or comes too late to be counted. Then make a special effort to be present next Sunday and on time.

Religious services are held each Saturday at 3:00 p. m. in the Texan Theatre on the south side of the square. One minister of the city brings a gospel message. All who can are urged to attend these services, and especially those who are not accustomed to going to church. This is an effort to bring the gospel downtown where everyone who will can hear.

Women get "Build-up"

A good way to relieve periodic discomfort from functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, such as headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain, many women find is by using CARDUI. It usually sharpens appetite, increases flow of gastric juices, and so aids digestion, helps build resistance to periodic distress. Another way CARDUI may help you: Take it a few days before and during "the time." CARDUI has been popular for 50 years.

Samnorwood Club Exhibit Shown

The Samnorwood Home Demonstration Club educational booth, which placed first in its division at the Collingsworth County Fair, was shown at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo from September 16 to 22. Although the booth did not win a prize at Amarillo, it received high praise from demonstration agents of different counties.

Members of the club pointed out that although they had only a few weeks in which to work up the exhibit, fourteen members of the club completed 49 types of articles, with a total of 114 pieces on display.

The articles were made from sacks, including feed, meal, salt, flour, sugar, and tobacco sacks. Some of these were bleached, some were dried, while others were merely washed.

The exhibit included a housecoat and slippers, aprons, dresses, blouses, sun suits, slips, cup towels, guest towels, luncheon sets, handkerchiefs, pillow cases, sheets, pajamas, spreads, curtains, pot holders, chair cushion covers, bath mat and commode cover, scarves, men's shorts, boy's shorts, window shades, comfort protector, bonnets, quilt, centerpiece, table cover, shoe bag, toys, laundry bag, collar and cuff set, bridge table covers, gown, and a boy's suit. A dish rag and hot dish mats were crocheted from the twine raveled from the sacks.

Members of the club plan to utilize sacks in their homes more extensively in the future.

LUNCH AT SCHOOL

This year about one-fourth of the school children in America will have the opportunity of getting a hot lunch at school. For a good share of these children this may mean better health records and better scholastic records, because their lunch will include foods needed in a well-balanced diet.

The idea of serving hot lunches to school children was started many years ago by teachers, parents, nutritionists, and civic groups, in cooperation with State and Federal agencies. This year the school lunch program is expected to reach six million school children, who cannot go home for a noon meal.

Many of the local groups working on school lunch projects need help in planning the menus to make sure that they are well-balanced in food values. The meals must provide the building materials for the soft tissues of the body, for sound teeth and bones, and for good red blood. At the same time, the foods must supply a source of energy for growing, active children.

According to the Federal Bureau of Home Economics, the ideal school lunch consists of one nourishing main dish, a glass or two of milk, fruit or vegetable in some form, bread and butter or a sandwich, and a simple dessert. The pattern of the meal varies according to the food value of the main dish. If the main dish is a cooked vegetable or a salad, the lunch should include a hearty sandwich.

If a good deal of cereal is used the main dish, the dessert will fruit rather than cake or cereal pudding.

In communities where the school lunch program has not yet reached, there can be an improvement in the lunches brought from home. The lunch boxes should include more milk, fruits, vegetables, and whole-grain bread. The packed lunch should follow as nearly as possible the pattern of the ideal school lunch, as given by the Federal Bureau of Home Economics.

More children should bring their lunch in metal boxes, instead of in paper bags. The foods should be wrapped separately in paraffin paper to keep them from drying out, and to retain the different flavors. At noon children may spread their lunch out on a table, and make that period one for promoting good manners as well as good nutrition.

Commissioners Court Equalizes Taxes In Regular Meeting

The Commissioners Court Monday completed the equalization of taxes on county property. At this time, a number of persons appeared before the court in answer to notifications that their property tax had been raised.

"Everyone was most agreeable over this matter," Judge C. C. Bishop said. He pointed out that the tax rate of this county is only 81 cents, while that of three of the adjoining counties is $1.00 or more.

Party Coiffure

Campaign coiffures, for ladies whose political enthusiasms have gone to their heads, are the latest fashion fad. Republican coiffure, top, features "ears" of hair at sides and trunk pompadour in form of French roll from crown to forehead. In Democratic coiffure, bottom, hair is combed high on sides and curled into upstanding "ears," while center is brushed down into turned-under bang on forehead.

Pioneer Resident Dies In California

Mrs. T. S. Atkinson, one of the pioneer settlers of Collingsworth County, died at her home in Burbank, Calif. Saturday, September 21. Mrs. Atkinson was a sister of Julius Stall of Wellington, and of the late Tom Stall and L. A. Stall. She had been an invalid for the last four years.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at Burbank.

Surviving Mrs. Atkinson are her husband, T. S. Atkinson of Burbank; five children, Ray Atkinson, Fred Atkinson, and Walter Atkinson, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Alma Werner of Winslow, Arizona, and Mrs. Margie Miles of Presidio; a step-daughter, Mrs. Lillie Ford, of Phoenix, and her brother, Mr. Stall.

Mrs. Atkinson, nee Emma Stall, was born in Sparta, La., January 3, 1869, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Stall. She was educated and grew to womanhood in Sparta. In 1892, she came to Collingsworth County with her brother, Tom Stall. She later returned to Sparta and there she was married to Mr. Atkinson, whom she had met here, more than 45 years ago.

Mrs. Atkinson was a member of the Methodist Church, and throughout her life she was active in the work of the church and of the community. She continued this work even after her health failed.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson left Wellington about 25 years ago, moving to Fort Davis. They went to Burbank 20 years ago, and had made their home there since.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson had many friends among the longtime residents of this county. Mrs. Atkinson last visited here five years ago, when she spent about three months with relatives and friends in this county.

Deck's DIDACTICS

By H. D. W.

I was sad when I read the story in this issue of The Leader concerning the fact that Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hunter lost their home by fire. I have had the pleasure of visiting in their splendid home, and it seems too bad to think of such a nice farm home being reduced to ashes. Being provident people, the Hunters carried insurance, but this never comes near to replacing all of those precious things that are lost when a home burns.

And yet it is our sympathy for individual cases such as this that should cause us to remember how fortunate we are in this great land. We can sigh with happiness when one kidnapped child is returned, but in other lands they do not have time to pause when a boat is sunk and all the children are drowned. We have time to sympathize with a friend and neighbor when one house burns, but in many lands they do not have time to stop when the homes of 10,000 are burned.

Carter Holcomb and Bobo Castleberry have a namesake. He is a colored boy and his name is Carter Bobo Hunnicut. It is a fine sounding name, and I wish the youngster well.

Friday the Rockets play their first home game of the season. Let's turn out in force and give them a rousing send-off. They are young boys, but they are fine boys and they deserve the best we can give them.

Have any of you thought of Will Rogers in recent months? Frequently I have thought: "What a blessing it would be for this nation to have, once again, his wisdom to deflate our hysteria and his humor to revive our common sense and our courage." To me his absence now seems as great a tragedy as the death of Lincoln just before reconstruction days.

My daughter is a very rabid Roosevelt supporter. She is suspicious of Louie Beam as to who he will support, but she thinks she has the rest of her class lined up in the great Southern tradition. What interested me is the reason for such a crusading spirit. My wife and I have not mentioned the national election in our home.

Here is a story that I am delighted to publish. B. W. Winton has been working on government projects using native rock in his work. He conceived the idea of making tombstones of this same rock. He discovered that it would take a high polish, and has a number of these at his home on Childress street. He is adept at chiseling out the wording for the stones. He has provided a means for people marking the graves of their loved ones at a cost that he estimates will be moderate. The significant thing is that in the midst of adversity he may have started a new business in the community.

Here is an example of the publicity that Wellington has been receiving in recent weeks. The following is from The Pampa News:

"I HEARD. . . . A whole flock of Pampa men raising a howl over being arrested for 'speeding' near Wellington yesterday. Each paid fines of $13.75. According to the story of one victim, an armed officer driving a car overtook him on the highway at Wellington (which goes around north thru the town), hailed him into court where he was fined. He set out again and was overtaken by a man who said he was a Wellington citizen. This man apologized for the arrest, saying that the people of Wellington did not approve of the arrests and that they regretted arrests were being made. Another victim said that a filling station operator told him that the officer told him that 15 were arrested yesterday. This Pampa man urged all motorists to drive at a 'ridiculously' low rate of speed around the town if they didn't want to get arrested."

The Chamber of Commerce has passed a resolution deploring this practice, and is advising all out of town people to get in touch with some of the Wellington business men or friends before settling the cases. They also intend to request the Highway Department to post

"Officer on duty" signs along the highway as a warning. The situation will be over on January 1, but before that date Wellington may receive a reputation—a black eye—that will last for years.

Pleasant thoughts that come from being a country editor in a country town: The Brock children waving a cheery greeting with a "Hello Deck" and an invitation from Lee O'Neil to attend a barbecue Saturday night—Lawdy, ain't I been to enough rodeos and barbecues this summer . . . very complimentary letters from G. S. Dowell, Nuñez Wischkaemper, L. F. Sheffy, and others who never set foot on the good soil of Collingsworth . . . the genuine kindness in both the looks and bearing of Edmund Kirby as he absent-mindedly jaywalked across the street . . . college boys and girls coming around to say goodbye . . . barber shop gossip displaying the wisdom of Cicero Gulley, Red Mayes and Bill Sims . . . a pleasant ride up to Amarillo last week with Fred Lederer and Bura Handley—a pleasant ride back with C. C. Bishop, Bess Owens and Bob Glenn salted by the suspicion that Bob Glenn did not vote for me . . . at the Amarillo meeting, as the preachers say, heard a "great message" from modest John McCarty . . . just looking across the street and seeing Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Duke—when I see them I think of such folks as the B. W. Boarmans and the J. O. Wells . . . working late at night and having all of Herschel Combs' brood troop in and salute me as Deck—children used to call my father Henry, perhaps I have inherited my father's estate and I don't mean that pain in the neck Wellington Hotel building . . . it is a good life if you will look for the good, but if you can't look at the good—look at Germany.

G. W. Hunter Home At Loco Destroyed By Fire Thursday

Fire believed to have originated from a kitchen stove destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hunter of Loco Thursday, Sept. 19.

This was one of the nicer farm homes of that section. The house was covered by insurance.

Erosion Program Is Working In Northwest Texas

COLLEGE STATION.—Wind erosion control and moisture conservation are tough problems in the far northwest corner of Texas, but the farmers in seven Texas counties for the past year have been working in an organized way to solve them.

For in those seven counties—Dallam, Deaf Smith, Hansford, Hartley, Moore, Oldham and Sherman—the farmers have adopted a special AAA program requiring cooperators to earn all payments by carrying out soil-building practices. The special program was devised by the farmers themselves with the cooperation of the Extension Service and the AAA to combat wind erosion and lack of moisture in their areas.

A summary of reports from six of the seven counties shows that 588,000 acres are being protected from blowing by leaving a cover of stubble at least six inches high on the land until next spring, while 575,000 acres are being protected by contour listing or pit cultivation of cropland.

Other practices adopted in these counties are contour farming of intertilled crops, 51,769 acres; leaving a natural vegetative cover or small grain stubble of crops on the land, 184,653 acres; contour seeding of small grains, 112,296 acres; border planting of Sudan grass, sorghums or millet, 27,940 acres; stripcropping, 42,186 acres; deferred grazing, 77,000 acres.

In addition, 161,847 acres of cropland has been registered to grass, AAA records show, although part of this acreage was put back in grass under the regular program prior to the adoption of the special program.

This is the second year of operation of the special program in Sherman county, while the other six counties are using it for the first time this year. Farmers in six other Texas counties will be given the opportunity to consider adoption of the special program this year.

They're Freshmen But They'll Learn

LUBBOCK.—The long and short of Texas Tech's 1944 class bumbled through the maze of their first college registration last week. Some quiet, some cocky, some fat, some lean, they earnestly followed arrows from this building to that, stood patiently in lines, pretended to understand what was what.

In contrast with knowing sophomores who "get by" profs without taking required courses if and when they can, neophytes rarely learn at the formidable list of "freshman" musts.

"Want my finger prints, too?" asked an obliging youth of the photographer making identification pictures.

Many vaccinations given during pre-registration week were beginning to "take," and scars exposed by shirt sleeves rolled high warned jostlers to push the other way.

Chief concern of many was to avoid "hard" profs.

"Ps-s-st, Bill! Have you ever had Smith?" a worried lad called in anxious stage whisper across the heads of amused faculty members.

"Who?" the upperclassman called back.

"Smith! In English."

"Yes, he's hard. Don't get him."

"I've got him!" wailed the wide-eyed fish.

But not all were trying to escape work. "Practice hours, 5 to 6," reads a sign on the door of the music practice shack, near the women's dorm. Coeds were awakened at 5 a. m. the second day by a trumpet lustily blown, a vigorous running of scales which continued until 6 a. m. The music staff had failed to specify 5 to 6 in the afternoon.

Humor had its inning, too. Junior Council girls wore "Ask Me" signs and circulated among milling students in the registration rooms.

"Can I ask you anything I want to know?" one of the fresher freshmen inquired of an unusually pretty coed.

"If it will help you, yes."

"Oh, it will. They say if you're married you won't be conscripted. Will you marry me?"

40,000 Trench Silos For 1940?

COLLEGE STATION.—It seems like he might be stretching it a little, but E. R. Eudaly, dairyman with the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, looks for 40,000 trench silos in Texas by the end of 1940.

At that he has a pretty good basis for his estimate. In 1931, there were 18 trench silos in the state. By 1933 there were 435; by 1935, 1,187. From then on, by years the story is 1936: 5,841; 1937, 9,483; 1938, 17,048; and 1939, 28,831.

To reach the 40,000 estimate, Texas farmers and ranchmen would have to build and fill 11,169 trenches over and above what they did in 1939.

Eudaly admits that the weather from now on will have a lot to do with it. For instance, an early freeze might kill several hundred thousand acres of late sorghum, and make it almost worthless for grain or bundle feed. On the other hand, experience has shown that frostbitten feed makes good silage.

Council, Legion Meet To Discuss Community House

Members of the City Council and the board of directors of the American Legion, and any other interested members who care to do so, will meet Thursday evening, Sept. 26, at 8 o'clock to discuss the proposed community house for Wellington.

The meeting will be held at the American Legion Hall, and those due to attend are urged to be present.

County To Have Booth At Fair

Collingsworth County will again be represented at the Dallas Fair with an agricultural booth, W. K. Cottingham, county agent, said Wednesday.

Mr. Cottingham will leave Sunday with the materials to set up the exhibit.

Farm Program Closes 1940 Books Nov. 30

COLLEGE STATION.—In all Texas counties except a few in the extreme southern portion of the state, the 1940 AAA program closes November 30.

For twelve counties—Brooks, Cameron, Duval, Hidalgo, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kleberg, McMullen, Starr, Willacy and Zapata—the closing date has been set for October 31.

Farmers and ranchmen participating in the AAA program must complete soil-building and range building practices by these dates if they expect to receive credit on this year's program, George Slaughter, chairman of the state AAA committee, explained.

The chairman urged that all farmers and ranchmen cooperating with the program try to complete as much conservation work as possible before the deadline in order to earn the bulk of the maximum amount available for that purpose under the program. The maximum amount for each farm is determined on a basis of the acreage of non-depleting cropland, non-crop open pastureland, vegetable allotment, and commercial orchards on the farm. To receive these payments, the producer is required to carry out approved soil-building practices. For ranches a similar allowance is set up, based on the number of animal units in the grazing capacity and the acreage of rangeland.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—White haired, 72-year-old John W. Westervelt, a private at Camp Custer, believes he is the U. S. Army's oldest soldier still in active service. Westervelt, who is in charge of the supply warehouse, has been in the army 24 years. Before that, he had been a national guardsman for 18 years.

More Parity Checks Arrive During Week

An additional 232 cotton parity checks were received in the AAA office during the last week. These checks, received Thursday and Saturday, amounted to $16,574.34. This brings the total number of checks received this fall from the cotton parity to 2128, and the total amount to $124,866.75.

Even Bluebonnets Learn New Tricks

CANYON.—Even Texas bluebonnets have learned how to do the unexpected.

A sturdy cluster on the West Texas State College has bloomed all summer. Seeds will be preserved in the hope of deriving a type which will thrive on the high plains. Ordinarily bluebonnets do not do well in this area.

The "buffalo clover" came up from seed dropped by plants grown a year ago.

West Texas State Enrollment Is Up

CANYON.—All time records for enrollment are being set at West Texas State College this term.

The registrar's office has issued cards to 1,060 students, an increase of about 150 over this same stage last year. Indications are that total registration for the long term will reach 1,200. These figures do not include the enrollment in the demonstration school, extension classes and correspondence courses.

Enrollment for such subjects as chemistry, business administration, English, and mathematics is especially heavy. Scores of students are transfers from junior colleges and other institutions.

About a quarter of the land area in the United States is still in forests.

New Cotton Tire Cord Announced

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—The national cotton council has announced successful development of a new cotton tire cord which it said has "three hundred per cent longer flexing life than the best conventional cord of the same gauge size."

Laboratory findings, it announced, have been confirmed by indoor and road tests conducted in collaboration with a nationally known tire and rubber company.

In addition to greater flexing properties, the council reported, the new cord has higher breaking strength and low sensitivity to heat and moisture.

The cord is the result of three years of research conducted by Dr. R. F. Nickerson at the Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh, under auspices of the cotton council and its search affiliate, council officers said.

Average Wages Up 4.3 Per Cent During August

AUSTIN.—Average wages for Texas workers rose slightly during August, as payrolls gained 4.3 per cent over August, 1939, compared with a 2.2 per cent gain in the number employed, University of Texas Bureau of Business Research officials report.

Both employment and payrolls remained about the same as in July.

Wages in manufacturing industries, however, failed to keep pace with the gain in workers over August a year ago. The Bureau estimated 134,339 workers were employed, 4.9 per cent more than a year earlier, while wages rose only 4.4 per cent.

Employment in non-agricultural business and government establishments is considerably higher than at the beginning of 1940, the Bureau estimates. Although the estimate for August is not yet available, this figure for July was 960,000, compared with 941,000 for January. The peak thus far occurred in May, when 967,000 workers were employed.

State-Wide Week of Prayer To Be Given By W.M.U.

The W.M.U. Circle and Missions Committee of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. C. Whisenant Tuesday evening, Oct. 17. Definite plans were made for the annual state-wide week of prayer programs which will be given in October. These programs will be observed each day throughout the week of Sept. 30 to Oct. 5.

September 30 at 3 p. m. Circle I will be in charge of the program. Mrs. W. McCracken is Circle I leader of this group. At 3:00 p. m. on October 1, Circle II will be in charge of the program. Mrs. J. A. Whisenant is chairman. On Oct. 2, Circle III will be in charge at 3 p. m., and Mrs. Harley Kern is Circle III leader. The Y.W.A. Circle will give a program at the regular mid-week prayer service, Oct. 3 at 3:00 p. m. The Men's Brotherhood has charge of the last day, which will be given on Friday evening, October 4.

Each member of the church is urged to attend every service possible.

Barbecue Easily Prepared Inside As Well As Out

Almost any woman is made of enough stuff for an open-barbecue once during the outdoor-season, even to cooking meat herself over a smoking fire. Yet, the pleasure of eating barbecue frequently, minus the discomfort of heat and fighting guests and mosquitoes, may be enjoyed at home at any time by using the gas range, provided it is the modern type with controllable high-to-low temperatures.

Barbecue may be prepared by either of two ways—roasting in an oven if it is capable of maintaining a low temperature; or by broiling, if the range is the special design with a deep, smokeless burner and a burner having a rack, which has become so popular.

The broiler barbecue requires a slightly longer cooking time than broiling in the oven by low temperature; but it is just as easy and meat is tender and delicious flavor.

For a small barbecue, use a broiled roast of lamb about two three-fourths pounds in weight. Do not season the meat, the sauce supplies the seasoning. The broiler should be preheated five minutes and the roast placed on the rack in the lowest position in the compartment— which is almost ten inches from the flame; the burner is turned to the lowest possible point to maintain a flame. This low temperature, plus the burner radiance, cooks the meat through in one three-quarter hours, with but one or two turnings required.

Slices in all barbecues, emphasis placed upon the sauce served with the hot, thin slices of meat. Following is a recipe treasured in the Georgia family:

BARBECUE SAUCE
2-3 cup catsup
1-3 cup vinegar
1-3 cup Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Few grains Cayenne
Juice and grated rind of 1 lemon
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons meat drippings
1 medium onion, grated
Combine all ingredients in a deep pan and boil over the simmer of a top gas burner for five minutes. Serve warm with slices of meat.

For an oven-roasted barbecue, one of these three types of meat may be used: eye of the round of beef, leg of pork, boned and rolled, or leg of lamb, boned and rolled.

Place a three-pound roast, unseasoned, on a trivet in an uncovered shallow roasting pan. Roast at low oven temperature of 300 degrees Fahrenheit for one and one-quarter to two hours. If using the cold start method, five to eight minutes should be added to the roasting period.

Mrs. W. M. Alexander of Hollis attended to her home Tuesday evening, visiting since Friday with daughter, Mrs. L. A. Hunt, and Mr. Hunt.

Grace Clark Weds Arthur Ellis Of Wichita Falls

Miss Grace Clark of Wichita Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Clark of Wellington, was married Monday, September 16, to Arthur Ellis, of Wichita Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ellis, also of Wichita Falls. Rev. Noel Snow, the groom's brother-in-law, performed the ceremony at 9:00 o'clock p. m. at the West Side Baptist Church.

The bride has lived in Wellington most of her life, and has attended the local schools. She graduated in 1939 from Wellington High School. Since June of 1939, she has been attending Wichita Falls General Hospital School of Nursing.

The groom attended the Wichita Falls schools, and was graduated there from high school in 1937. He was vice-president of his class and played halfback on the high school football team. He is employed at present as ambulance driver for an undertaking company in Wichita Falls.

Three sisters of the groom's were witnesses at the marriage rites, after which Mr. and Mrs. Ellis took a wedding trip to Fort Worth and Dallas.

For the present, the couple will make their home in Wichita Falls.

High Points Of Army Draft Act Are Reviewed

Vitally affecting every American, and holding prime place in the national mind is the United States' Conscription Law, signed last week by President Roosevelt. Under this law 16,500,000 men between the ages of 21 and 35 are eligible for compulsory military training for a period of one year.

Given below is a gist of the conscription law:

WHO MUST REGISTER

All male citizens, and all male aliens who have declared their intention of becoming citizens, between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive must register at a time set by the President. They are liable for service in the land or naval forces of the United States.

THESE NEED NOT REGISTER

Certain groups of men need not register, including officers and men of the regular Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Federally recognized National Guard, Officers Reserve Corps, Naval Reserve, and Marine Corps Reserve; students at West Point, Annapolis, and the Coast Guard Academy; men serving with the Coast and Geodetic Survey and Public Health Service, and members of the diplomatic corps. Still other groups excepted from registration during peace time, but not in time of war, are veterans of three years service in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, National Guardsmen who have completed one year of Federal service and two more years active service in the Guard or Regular Army, active National Guardsmen who have completed six years' service, and men of the Officers Reserve Corps eligible list for six years.

DEFERMENTS

Should the President so desire, he may defer the training of men whose employment in industry, agriculture, or any other field, is found necessary to the maintenance of national health, safety, or interest. Others who may be deferred are the physically unfit, those who have dependents, public officials, such as state governors, national and state legislators. Deferment until July 1, 1941 may be granted college students in order to permit the completion of the school year. Should an individual's status change, making him liable to immediate service, the deferment will not continue, although it had previously been granted. No person can escape the draft by furnishing a substitute.

EXEMPTION

Exemptions from training, but not from registration are granted ministers of the Gospel and theological students, and conscientious objectors may be assigned to non-combatant service or to work of national importance under civilian direction. Claims as to conscientious objections will be determined by the local selective board, but should the decision be that they are not valid, the claimant may appeal to a regional appeal board, which in turn refers the matter to the Department of Justice for investigation and hearing. The appeal board, however, is not required to follow the Department's recommendations. If the claims to such exemptions are sustained, the name of the objector will be placed on a local register and he will be excused from combatant service.

ENLISTMENT

Those liable to military service may enlist in the armed services of the country before they are drafted.

SELECTION

All selections will be made in an impartial manner, without regard for race or color, under rules prescribed by the President. Quotas for a state or district will be determined on the basis of the number available for immediate service. Not more than 900,000 men may be trained in any one year, and Congress further held a check on the President's actions by providing that the number of men inducted into service shall not exceed the number for whom funds are specifically appropriated. Neither may the men be drafted until adequate provision is made for shelter, sanitary facilities, water supplies, heat, and medical care. Their services are restricted to the Western Hemisphere, or to United States territories elsewhere.

STATUS

Men in service will have the same status as regular Army men. They will receive the same allowances, pensions, disability and death compensation and have the same opportunity to qualify for promotion as if they had enlisted voluntarily. They will be permitted to vote by absentee ballot or in person if it takes no more than one day's leave.

PAY

Drafted men will receive regular Army pay, starting at $21 a month and rising automatically after four months to $30, with the scale rising in case of promotion. In addition to the pay they receive in the Army, they may accept any money their former employers wish to contribute.

DEBTS OF DRAFTEES

Draftees who still owe on installment purchases may cancel their contracts by mutual agreement with the seller, but the seller may not repossess goods for non-payment of installments during the time the conscript is in the military service.

FUTURE STATUS

When conscripts leave the army after their year's service, each man will be given a medical examination and a certificate showing what service has been performed and a record of his work. For the next ten years, he will be considered a member of the Reserve, subject to call as deemed necessary, unless he later serves two or more years in the Army or National Guard in peacetime.

EMPLOYMENT

After completing his year in the army, the draftee who left a permanent job has 40 days to apply for his former position. Unless the employer's circumstances have so changed that it is unreasonable or impossible for him to restore the man to his job, he is to do so to a position of like status, seniority, and pay, and shall not discharge him without cause for one year. Employees who are drafted are to be considered on leave of absence for purposes of company insurance and the like. Employers are specifically forbidden to replace any drafted employees with members of the Communist Party or of the German-American Bund.

PENALTIES

Penalty for evading the draft, aiding another to evade it, making a false registration, classification, physical or mental examination, deferment, induction or enrollment, or who conspires to interfere by force and violence with the administration of the act, is set at $10,000 and imprisonment up to five years. The civil courts will have jurisdiction until a man is actually inducted in the army and becomes subject to trial by court-martial. Sections of the law covering rehiring will be enforced through Federal District Court orders.

SET-UP

A director of selective service will be appointed by the President, and a national draft headquarters set up. Local boards of three or more civilians to administer the draft in local areas will be named by the President upon recommendation of the state governor. Appeals boards will be appointed in the same manner. Appointment to one of these boards does not lessen eligibility of members for service.

INDUSTRIAL CONSCRIPTION
The section covering the conscription of industry points out that a manufacturer is obliged to accept and execute on fair and just terms orders for materials needed by the Navy and War departments when called upon to do so by the President. Such orders must be given precedence over other business. If a manufacturer refuses to comply he may be fined $50,000 and subject to three years imprisonment. In addition, the government is empowered to take over his plant and operate it, paying whatever rental it considers fair and just.

DURATION

The Draft Act will remain in force until May 15, 1945 unless amended or repealed by future sessions of Congress.

It's Time To Hibernate—For Summer Clothes

COLLEGE STATION.—In no time at all Texas housewives will be gathering up the family's summer clothes to store them away in a closet, attic, or trunk, until warm weather next spring. As a corollary to that, Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, specialist in clothing and Louise Bryant, specialist in home management for the A. and M. College Extension Service, give this first commandment on clothing storage:

"The first requisites of storing away clothing are thorough brushing, airing, and sunning and thorough cleaning to free it of any substance upon which insects feed."

In addition, Miss Bryant has collected a number of "time savers" on storage of clothing. Here are a few of them:

White shoes will stay white longer if put away in socks or bags.

If clothes are packed away in a trunk or large wooden box, a list of the contents should be pasted on the outside of the lid. This may save hours looking for a needed article.

All boxes or paper dress bags should be labeled giving description of contents such as: "Mary's pink party dress"—"Tom's gray spring suit." Labels should be pasted on the side of hat boxes giving description of the contents.

Soft silk fabrics and heavily trimmed or knitted garments should be folded carefully with paper in between the folds and stored in sealed, labeled suit boxes or in chests or trunks.

Wash garments, such as cotton or linen, may be left unironed after washing and folded and placed in a clean dresser drawer or in a labeled suit box and stored in a dry place to prevent mildew.

Partitions in drawers where clothes are packed are a convenience in seeing contents of a drawer at a glance.

The North Pole is at sea level but the South Pole is on a plateau 10,000 feet high.

Taking Wraps Off Defense Guns

As they prepare to start on year's active training, members of Battery D, 1st Battalion, 202nd Coast Artillery, Illinois national guard, service 3-inch anti-aircraft gun weighing eight tons. Guardsmen will train at Fort Bliss, near El Paso, Texas.

Toxie McClure To Undergo Treatment For Old Injury

Toxie McClure of Wellington will leave next week for Dallas where he will undergo treatment for a bone infection. Mr. McClure received a broken vertebra and broken ribs in the fall of 1936, but at the time it was not realized that the injury to his spine had been received.

In the course of the treatment it will be necessary for a small piece of bone from his leg to be grafted onto his vertebra in order that it may heal properly. Mr. McClure will be in Dallas under the care of a doctor for approximately two months.

The junior baseball team of Alameda, N. C., won the American Legion "little world series" in the final game of the season, defeating the team from San Diego, Calif., by the score of 9 to 8.

The Husbands Had A Way To Handle Them In 1830

AUSTIN.—For husbands who want to disclaim any debts contracted by their estranged wives, University of Texas librarians think they have as good a model as can be found.

Printed in a newspaper of 1830, it says:

"... she has, without cause, left my habitation and is floating on the ocean of tyrannical extravagance, prone to prodigality, taking a wild-goose chase and kindling her pipe with the coal of curiosity."

"To abscond and abolish such insidious, clandestine, noxious, pernicious, diabolical and notorious deportment, I therefore caution all persons from harboring or trusting her on my account, as I will pay no debts of her contracting from this date, unless compelled by law."

Social Security Payments Reach $2,851 Monthly

Jewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo, Texas, Social Security field office, in a statement recently, said that monthly payments under the old-age and survivors insurance system have reached a total of $2,851.64 in the area served by the Amarillo office. These payments, Reed said, are distributed to 80 wage earners over 65 years old; 33 wives and widows; and 58 children of wage earners. In addition to the continuing monthly payments, $5,503.08 has been paid out in lump-sum benefits since January 1, 1940. Reed stated that his office renders possible assistance to individuals desiring to file a claim for old-age and survivors insurance. Individuals having a claim for old-age and survivors insurance, or requiring any information concerning the Federal insurance program, should call at or write to the Social Security Board field office at 324 New Post Office Building, Amarillo, Texas.

Monthly benefits are paid through the old-age and survivors insurance provisions of the Social Security Act to:

- fully insured workers when they reach the age of 65 and retire;
- the wives of such retired workers when they attain the age of 65;
- their children under 16, or under 18, if in school;
- the 65 year old widow of workers who were fully insured under the act at the time of their death;
- the widows of fully insured workers who have minor children in their care, such benefits continuing until the youngest child reaches the age of 16, or 18, if in school;
- children of insured deceased wage earners under age 16, or 18, if in school;
- wholly dependent parents, age 65 or over, if the deceased wage earners left no surviving widow or child.

Lump-sum benefits are paid, in the case of workers who die leaving no dependents qualified for monthly benefits, to the person or persons who pay funeral expenses. Proof of age, required to prove eligibility for monthly benefits, is established, Reed said, by a birth certificate. Where that is not available, a church record of infant baptism, an entry in a family Bible, insurance records, naturalization records, army service records, or other sources of information will be considered.

According to Reed, the Amarillo field office maintains regular itinerant service to the principal towns in this area to assist claimants in the complete preparation of their claims, and arrangements can be made by mail for an appointment at one of these towns, if it is inconvenient to visit the field office.

U. S. Population Shifts Westward

WASHINGTON.—Evidence of a major shift in American population during the drought and depression years of the '30s came today in a census report that California's residents increased 1,196,37 in the decade.

The report showed California's population increased from 5,677,511 in 1930 to 6,873,688 this year.

Where many of these people came from was indicated by census figures that five midwest states—South Dakota, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska—had 300,830 fewer residents than 10 years ago.

Although figures are not available yet for some states, California's gain seemed to be only the most spectacular of large gains stretching all across the southern half of the United States. Florida, for instance, gained 27.9 per cent, Texas, 10.2 per cent, Louisiana 12.1 per cent, New Mexico 24.9 per cent, Nevada 20.8 per cent, North Carolina 12.4 per cent, Virginia 10 per cent, and Tennessee 1.3 per cent.

Also forecasting important changes in the apportionment of seats in the house of representatives, several changes were indicated in the rankings of the states. California passed Texas for fifth place, Tennessee passed Alabama or the 15th, Virginia passed Iowa or 19th, Louisiana passed Oklahoma for 21st, Arkansas passed Kansas for 24th, and Rhode Island passed South Dakota for 36th. More changes may occur when all the states have reported.

Texas Capitol Has Hectic Story

Any school boy can tell you Austin is the capital of Texas, but it was a different story 100 years ago, University of Texas records show.

In fact, the capital of the Republic of Texas was moved so frequently there were probably times when even some of the nation's officials couldn't lay their finger on it. In the ten years before it joined the U. S., Texas had eight capitals, and juggled the honor between them eleven times.

The eight capitals, according to University of Texas records, were San Felipe, Washington, Harrisburg, Galveston, Velasco, Columbia, Houston and Austin, in that order. After Austin's "first term" as capital from 1839 to 1842, Houston and Washington each had the honor a second time, but in 1845, when annexation took place, the capital of the new state was established at Austin, and a general election in 1872 made that site permanent.

It was at San Felipe that the settlers of Texas, under the leadership of Stephen F. Austin, set up their first independent government; and it was there that Sam Houston was made commander-in-chief of the regular army.

At Washington, on the Brazos River, the general convention, March 2, 1836, declared Texas "a free, sovereign and independent Republic." The Alamo fell four days later.

Harrisburg had probably the shortest reign of all, as well as the most hectic. During the month of March it was established as the capital, evacuated and burned by Mexicans who were so close on the heels of the flying government that they dropped cannon balls all around the boat which was carrying David G. Burnet, president of the provisional government, to Galveston.

In May, the government moved from Galveston to Velasco, where the treaties with Santa Anna were signed, and Texas was first recognized formally as an independent nation.

By October, the capital was Columbia, in Brazoria County, and by May of 1837, Houston, which had just been laid out. There it remained until October 1839, when it was moved to Austin.

When Mexico again invaded Texas, in March, 1842, President Houston moved the capital once again to Houston, and from there again to Washington in November, University library records show. But in 1845 it was returned to Austin permanently.

Inspection Of Schools For Fire Hazards Urged

AUSTIN.—A large number of fires occurring each year in school buildings throughout the state are extinguished without loss of life and with small property damage, but there is the ever present possibility that a fire, no matter how small, may result in a disaster, Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, reminded school officials today.

Hall recommended that inspection be made each month by a representative of the local fire department accompanied by the school custodian and a member of the teaching staff.

"There will be no expense to this type of survey," the Commissioner said, "and it will serve to remind school officials of the necessity of keeping their buildings free of dangerous hazards. Good housekeeping is of prime importance in the prevention of school fires, but all too often the teachers themselves are not qualified to inspect a building for fire hazards. Local firemen, trained in this type of work, will conduct inspections upon request."

Heating equipment, being the cause of a large portion of school fires, should be given careful attention. The clearances between combustible material and furnaces, smokepipes, steam pipes and all other hot surfaces should be examined to see that they are adequate. Electric wiring should be watched for improperly made extensions, hazardous use of flexible cord and broken fixtures; and fuses checked to see that they are not oversize.

Dodson Mustangs Bow To Groom In Six-Man Game

After holding the strong Groom Tigers to a 6-6 score throughout the first half, the Dodson Mustangs were defeated by a score of 34 to 6 in a game played Friday, September 20, at Groom.

Both teams are considered especially strong six-man teams of this section. Only the week before the Mustangs had taken a game from the Williams High players, winners of District 5 last year. Groom was winner of the Panhandle six-man league last season.

The Dodson score came during the first half, when Phillip Wynn, Mustang center, recovered a fumble.

During the latter part of the game, the Dodson boys were unable to cope with Coach Buck Clark's Tigers, made up of letter-men from last year.

Despite this defeat, Coach Blake Lyde has built an outstanding team this year which is due to give other teams in this section some uneasy moments.

The Tigers and Mustangs will tangle for a second time this year at Dodson on October 11.

Starting lineups for the teams in Friday's game included:

der, H. M. Scott and Bynum High-tower.

Groom—Troy Whatley and Austin Crowell, ends; J. L. Angel, center; John Townsend, quarterback; Kenneth Black and Jack Kuehler, half backs.

Oats To Be Soil Depleting Crop Under 1941 AAA

Farmers who are contemplating planting oats in 1941 as a non-soil depleting crop and harvesting them were warned this week of a change in the AAA ruling on this crop.

C. V. Griffin, administrative officer of the AAA here pointed out that a ruling issued earlier in the year provided for the planting of oats and harvesting of them as a non-depleting crop.

"We have just received information that this is being changed, and any oats harvested in 1941 will be counted as a soil depleting crop," he said.

Five Foot Rattle Snake Caught By Esdle Bartlett

One of the largest rattlesnakes seen in Wellington this year was brought to town by Esdle Bartlett on Friday afternoon. The snake was caught by him in his pasture located near Swearingen.

The snake measured five feet, four inches in length, and although the circumference of its body was not measured, the breadth of its back was found to be four inches.

Mr. Bartlett brought the snake to town to show his small son, but on stopping his pickup on the square, drew a large crowd of local people to speculate on it.

U. S. Family Pays More For Food

CHICAGO.—Feeding the American family takes a bit more cash now than it did just before the European war began a year ago, commodity market statistics indicate, but there has been no hint of wartime skyrocketing of food prices.

Food costs prior to last September's sharp upturn, resulting from a speculative and hoarding rush to buy commodities, were the lowest in five years. Now the average is approximately 3 per cent higher but still 2 per cent below the peak reached two weeks after the war began.

Statisticians based their figures on wholesale rather than retail markets, regarding the former as better barometers of food costs in general because retail prices usually reflect varying conditions in different localities. They attributed much of the price bulge since the first of the year to domestic conditions such as the expanding defense program and increased industrial activity, which is putting more funds into consumers' pockets.

Among items whose current wholesale price is below that of Aug. 31, 1939 are rye, potatoes, lamb, pork loins, lard, sugar, and coffee. Items now priced higher include wheat, corn, oats, eggs, butter, cattle, hogs, beef, and flour.

Improved consumer demand has been felt particularly in the meat trade, although a decline in hog slaughtering last month also helped stiffening of prices. Part of the August increase in meat has been eliminated the past week and experts forecast a decline after mid-September.

Kitchen Quarterback

The air will soon be filled with cheers, pennants, and prophecies about the football season.

This paper will feature news about quarterbacks, full-backs and wingbacks. But there's one person who has a greater responsibility than any of these! And that's the lady who does the family buying and capably directs the affairs of the home—the kitchen quarterback.

If she's a wise lady, she studies the advertising pages of this newspaper carefully. A little scouting through the advertisements makes her job much easier. For here is accurate information on how to run a home efficiently and economically . . . Weekly "skull practice" with the advertising pages makes All-American kitchen quarterbacks!

Miss Slough has lived in Wellington practically all her life. She is a graduate of the local high school and attended Mary Hardin Baylor College at Belton and last year she was enrolled in North Texas State Teachers College at Denton.

She worked two years in the County Agent's office and this summer has been employed in the Soil Conservation office here.

Fire Death Record Worst In Years

AUSTIN. — The Texas Fire death record for the first eight months of 1940 has been the worst in many years, Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, reported today.

Hall said he had records of 400 deaths for the eight months as against 383 for the entire previous year. He stated that during the past five years when the annual property loss by fire in Texas has been the lowest in the history of the state, the annual death loss by fire has been the highest, which is definite proof that Texans are not applying the principles of fire prevention to their daily routine.

Sixty-seven persons lost their lives by getting trapped in burning dwellings. Fifty-seven deaths were caused by standing too close to open fires. Automobile wrecks caused 38 fire deaths to rank as third leading cause.

Records on other fatalities were: Burns, various causes, three; burns from electricity, three; acetylene torch burns, four; butane gas explosions, one; explosions, various causes, four; gas explosions from improper installations, nine; asphyxiated by gas, seven; cleaning clothes and floors with gasoline, five; improper use and care of gasoline, twenty-seven; explosion of gasoline washing machine, one; starting fires with kerosene, fourteen; children playing with matches, three; murder (arson), three; falling into open fires, five; oil well fire explosions, four; scalds from escaping steam, one; coffee, tea and grease scalds, two; scalds from falling into hot water, fifteen; smoking in bed, four; gasoline and kerosene stove explosions, eight; suicides, three; undetermined, two.

Junior High Officers Named

Officers of two classes of Junior High School were announced this week.

Officers of the seventh grade include James Alvin Winter, president; Marian Taylor, vice president; and Howard Moore, secretary.

Sixth grade officers are Tim Hatch, president; Barbara Baumgardner, vice president; and Ardis Kern, secretary.

One other new feature of the Junior High this year is the publishing of a school paper, "The Little Rocket." Miss Delia Cowan is sponsor of the paper.

Bill Goforth Is Recovering From Sudden Illness

Bill Goforth, district clerk, is recovering at his home from a hemorrhage of the stomach, which he suffered Saturday night, Sept. 21.

Marie Seaberry Is Skiff Reporter

FORT WORTH. — Miss Marie Seaberry of Wellington has been named as a member of the staff of The Skiff, Texas Christian University student newspaper, for the current school year. Miss Seaberry was a reporter on the Wellington Leader during the summer.

The Skiff is edited this year by V. G. Smylie, Jr., La Porte, with Cleland Early, Stinnett, as business manager. The work of editorial writing, reporting and copy reading is performed by a staff of 31 boys and girls, most of them majoring in the department of journalism.

Faculty sponsor of the publication is Prof. J. Willard Ridings, journalism department head. The Skiff is beginning its 38th year, having been founded in 1902 when T. C. U. was located in Waco.

Miss Seaberry, a junior, is working as one of the staff reporters for the paper.

Fred Buerger Has Paralytic Stroke In Oklahoma City

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Buerger of near Wellington were called to Oklahoma City last week to be with Fred Buerger, who had suffered a paralytic stroke. This was the second one during the last three weeks. At last report, however, his condition was as good as could be expected.

Mr. Buerger formerly lived here and has many friends in this county.

Opening Of Work On WPA Bridge Job Postponed A Month

A decision to postpone the WPA bridge and culvert job which has been approved for this county one more month was made by the Commissioners' Court in its regular session Monday, September 23.

This step was taken in order that those listed on the WPA rolls may have the opportunity to work in the cotton fields during this time, and to give the farmers a chance to get their crops out.

FASHION PREVIEW

Latest fashion news stresses the importance of brown woolen suits like the window-pane plaid pictured above. Its color was borrowed from the bark of the black birch, from the rough texture of an elm and the rich green brown of the walnut tree. It has a new, long-jacket, warmly interlined, and a beautifully tailored slimming skirt.

Rockets Lose To Panthers 33 To 0

Overpowered by a more experienced team, and outweighed both in the line and backfield, the valiant Wellington Skyrockets took defeat Friday night at the hands of the Panhandle Panthers—one of the outstanding teams of this section whom they met for the fifth time in the last three years.

Although the Rockets drove into Panther territory on a number of occasions, not once were they able to penetrate deep enough to cause the Panthers or their supporters any great concern. For the most part, the playing was in Rocket territory.

Highlight of the entire game came late in the third quarter, when Pruitt, Panther halfback, took the ball on his own 44-yard line, scooted around left end, and raced 56 yards for the third touchdown of the game. Robertson's kick added the extra point that brought the score to 20 to 0.

Preceding this spectacular run the Panthers had scored in the first quarter when Robertson carried the ball through center from the one-yard line, and again in the second when Doby, substitute fullback, passed to Held, right end, for a score.

Twice during the fourth quarter the Panthers crossed the goal line, once on a one-yard plunge through center by Doby, and again on a 17-yard right end run by Robertson.

FIRST QUARTER

Panhandle received the kickoff at the opening of the game. Robertson fumbled the ball but Little recovered. Runs by Pruitt and Hayton failed to gain the desired yardage, and Robertson punted to the Rockets on the Panhandle 49-yard line.

Neither were the Rockets able to make progress, and on a punt, they sent the ball back to the Panther 18-yard line.

A 25-yard run by Hayton started the Panther drive that ended in their first touchdown. A short run by Pruitt and Little's 24-yard sprint carried the ball to the Rocket 26-yard line. Pruitt, Hayton, and Little alternated at carrying ter ended.

SECOND QUARTER

Doby, substitute fullback, took three yards around right end as the quarter opened, then Robertson punted to Cox, who returned four yards. Cox gained another four yards through center, then punted to Doby who made a short return, but the play was called back and the Panhandle team penalized five yards for offside, giving the Rockets a first down. On the next play the Panthers were penalized again, 15 yards for unnecessary roughness. Nine yards of this gain was lost to the Rockets, however, on a play a few minutes later, and no other gain was made before the Rockets lost possession of the ball.

A drive by the Panthers took the ball down to the seven-yard line, where an attempted field goal failed and the Rockets took possession of the ball. A 5-yard penalty for offside, an incomplete pass, and a 9-yard gain by M. Wallace and Cox accounted for the Rocket action during this series of downs.

A pass from Doby to Held was incomplete, but a second to Hayton was good for six yards. In two tries, Robertson gained nineteen yards, and Doby took four through center. A five-yard penalty assessed against the Rockets was nullified a few minutes later by a five-yard penalty against the Panthers. A pass from Doby to Held, however, was good for the Panthers' second touchdown. Robertson's attempt to kick the extra point was no good.

THIRD QUARTER

Gribble, receiving the kickoff, returned the ball to his 25-yard line, opening the hard drive which took the Rockets well into the middle of the field, but which failed to net a score. Three offside penalties were assessed in five plays, two against Panhandle and one against Wellington. This Rocket drive ended as they failed to complete two passes and Cox punted out of bounds on the 19-yard line.

Both teams stalled at this point, and it was not until late in the quarter that Hayton broke away for a 19-yard run around right end, followed on the next play by Pruitt's spectacular 56-yard run for the Panther touchdown. The quarter ended with the ball in midfield in Panhandle's possession.

Go Down Easier

"Diddle," 3-month-old Duck belonging to Walter L. Kniseley of Pueblo, Colo., turns down corn, grass and bread, eats only bananas. Kniseley has been feeding Diddle bananas to determine their food value.

FOURTH QUARTER

Stiff resistance offered by the Rocket line forced the Panthers to punt, with the ball going out of bounds on the Rocket 44-yard line. Young went through center for a first down, then Cox and Wallace picked up five yards, but the ball was lost after the failure to complete two passes.

A straightforward drive down the field took the Panthers directly to the one-yard line, and from that point Doby plunged through center for the touchdown. Robertson's kick failed to add the extra point, leaving the score 26 to 0.

A second drive toward the goal regions opened the next time the all went into Panther hands, with Robertson passing to Pruitt for 12 yards and a first down; Pruitt gaining four yards around left end, and Robertson slipping around right end for 17 yards and the touchdown. Again the Panthers failed to kick the extra point, giving the Panhandle boys a score of 33 to 0.

Wallace received the ball and returned it four yards to his 35-yard line. Two passes fell incomplete, but a third, from Cox to Driskill was good for 23 yards and a first down as the game ended.

Starting lineup for the two teams included:

Wellington	P s.	Panhandle
Bearden	LE	Williamson
Cudd	LT	Carney
E. Wallace	LG	Woods
Aldridge	C	Lewis
Baumgardner	RT	Tove
Thompson	RT	Cox
Goodner	RE	Held
M. Wallace	LH	Pruitt
Young	RT	Hayton
Cox	QB	Robertson
Gribble	FB	D. Little

Substitutions for the Rockets included Sisk, Goforth, Jones, Melton, Driskill. Substitutions for the Panthers were Doby, Dennis, and Cox.

Officials of the game were K. Kendrick of West Texas State, referee; Turpin of North Texas State Teachers, umpire; Livingston of West Texas State, head linesman.

Announcing the big NEW FORD 1941 FORD

In some years, some cars take a big jump ahead. The Ford does that for 1941.

It has jumped ahead in size. It's the biggest Ford we've ever built, inside and out. It's wider. It has a longer wheelbase. Its seating room is wider by as much as 7 inches. It has new wide doors and semi-concealed running boards.

You'll notice also a new beauty, achieved by a skilful blending of mass with longer flowing lines. Larger windshield and windows give better vision all around.

One of its biggest advantages is the new soft ride.

New, slower-action springs give a slow, gentle, gliding movement. A newly designed stabilizer helps absorb road shocks, and maintains balance on sharp curves and in cross winds.

More rapid acceleration to match its familiar speed and power makes this new Ford an even livelier car to drive.

These are only a few of this new car's outstanding features. It represents all the rich experience gained in building more than 28 million motor cars.

Any Ford dealer can give you many good reasons for making this your 1941 car.

Kendrick Shows 41 Oldsmobiles Here This Week

Collingsworth County gets a new this week of one of the first 41 automobiles to be shown here the new Oldsmobile, now on play at Mickey's Auto Service. "Oldsmobile's exclusive Hydramatic Drive, that eliminates clutch, clutch pedal and shift gears automatically, is again optional, at extra cost, on all models, and due to enlarged production facilities, promises to be a decisively greater factor in 1941," Mickey Kendrick, owner of the Auto Service, said Monday. "Increased room comfort, greater engine power, striking new body designs, and a host of detailed improvements all are witness to the genius for progress that carried Oldsmobile in 1940 to the highest sales marks company has ever reached." Reviewing the features of the new series—three sixes and eights—Mr. Kendrick pointed out these features: The Special replaces the "60" models of former years, with a longer wheelbase and greater horsepower; The Special is also offered in an 8-cylinder, 110 horsepower model. In the popular price field, the "new" series of last year is succeeded by the Dynamic Cruiser series. Bodies of this line are new and a radical departure from any previous Oldsmobile design. This car is available with either 6 or 8 cylinder engines, on generous wheelbase of 125 inches. Last year's Custom Light Cruiser with the front seat full five wide, proved far and away the most popular eight Oldsmobile built in its entire history. This year the Custom Cruisers appear with refinements of detail finish and with the option of either an 8 or 6 cylinder engine. Turning to body details, Mr. Kendrick said: Common to all the 1941 Oldsmobiles is a front end design that has a general resemblance to that of 1940, but which is rendered decidedly more effective by heavier chrome bars and grille work. Chrome speed lines carry back along the fenders and follow the body moulding at the line of the door handles. Chrome sparkles around the window reveals, and chrome serves to outline another feature—the concealed running boards. This feature is entirely new, with the bottom of the doors curved out and down to hide a running board which is less in width than the old type used to be, yet which is ample to make it easy to enter the car. "The fenders have lost all semblance of separate units—they blend into the body itself in the new 'wing-type.' And bumpers have been treated as an integral part of the car design, streamlined into the curves of body and fenders."

Attracting especial interest is a new heating and ventilating system developed by Oldsmobile and known as "Condition-air." Air taken in through the cowl ventilator passes through special filters that remove dust and prevent moisture from entering. In winter, the incoming filtered fresh air is warmed to any desired degree by passing the volume of hot water in coils through which it passes. A fan forces the warm air through every part of the car and to special defroster vents. Striking proof of this is afforded by the fact that the Condition-air keeps the car windows from fogging or frosting in the severest weather. "We could go on and on talking about this new Oldsmobile," Mr. Kendrick said, "but what we really want is for everyone of you to come by and see this new model, whether you intend to buy a new car this year, or not. You'll get a real kick out of seeing what Oldsmobile offers for 1941."

American Boy Is Companion To Thousands

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys' clubs also recommended THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 25c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign and Canadian rates 50c a year extra. Answering Questionnaire First Task Of Draftees

WASHINGTON.—The prospective draftee's first weapon will be a well-sharpened pencil or a well-filled pen.

And his first order under the compulsory military service program will be to attack a questionnaire more lengthy than an income tax blank and as searching as a census-taker's list of inquiries.

By this means the government expects hundreds of local draft boards to find out how many of the 16,500,000 male citizens in the 21-35 age group will be eligible and qualified for military service.

The questions number more than 100. They ask everything from the state of health of a man's wife to whether he himself is in jail. Not all of them will have to be answered by any one registrant, but only those which apply in his case.

The questionnaire will be distributed soon after registration and will have to be returned in five days. On the basis of the replies the local selective service boards will arrange the classifications of potential conscripts. For example, if a man's wife was an invalid and he was her sole support, he obviously would be qualified for deferment.

The eight pages of questions are divided into 13 series covering these general subjects:

- 1—Physical condition (men with certain physical handicaps will be deferred).
- 2—Dependency (those with dependents who rely solely on them for support will be deferred).
- 3—Information for military and naval authorities (to become a part of each drafted soldier's army record).
- 4—Religious conviction against war, if any (those with a well-founded record as conscientious objectors will be exempted from combatant service).
- 5—Legislative, executive and judicial officials (various high government officials will be automatically deferred).
- 6—Federal, state, territorial, county, and municipal employees (those with important jobs vital to defense will be excluded).
- 7—Marine pilots (persons so employed will be deferred).
- 8—Ministers of religion (may be deferred).
- 9—Agricultural occupation (farmers may be deferred as important to national defense).
- 10—Other occupation (those with important defense jobs will be deferred).
- 11—Citizenship (aliens will not be taken except when they are in process of becoming citizens).
- 12—Court record (convicts will be excluded from service).
- 13—Claim or waiver of claim for deferred classification (each man will be entitled to state his claim for deferment, if any, to be passed on by the local board. He can appeal the local board's decision to an appeal board and from there to the President).

No man's answers will be taken for granted. Supporting affidavits will be required of those claims as dependents and of the man's employer or business associates.

The questions were prepared by the joint army and navy selective service committee.

The registrant's vital statistics—birth date, race and the like—and his description will be entered upon a card when he registers, and he will be given a smaller, similar registration certificate which says, "Carry this card with you at all times."

The questionnaire will come next; then, classification; and, finally, the draft itself.

Personal information and that on dependents, court records, and such will be kept confidential.

Among the questions are these: Have you any physical defects? What is your usual occupation? Weekly wage or income? State your relation to agriculture...

How many persons are doing the same kind of work that you are, in the plant where you work? To what country do you owe allegiance?

Rebuilding Of Cottonwood School Begins October 1

Work will begin on the construction of the new Cottonwood school October 1, Logan Cummings, county superintendent, announced Monday. The work order on this has already been received from the WPA offices, he added.

Hauling of material and laying of the foundation will be the first work on the project.

The building will be of native rock, with the old building utilized in the new structure. It will be completed by the time school opens after cotton picking.

School Aid Money For 1939-40 Here

Remainder of the transportation aid money due this county from the State Department of Education for the school year 1939-40 was received Monday morning, Logan Cummings, county superintendent, stated.

The amount totaled $2,759. This represents 16.25 percent of the total payment which this county received for last year, Mr. Cummings said. Of the entire amount of transportation money expended, the state furnishes 91.25 per cent.

Myers, Pioneer, Dies in New Mexico

Myers O. Myers, one of the first white children born in this county, died at his home in Melrose, New Mexico, Tuesday night, September 17. He had been ill health for several years. He had been critically ill for a short time before his death.

Mr. Myers was the son of the Judge and Mrs. P. W. Myers, who contributed much toward the development of this county during early days, and a brother of Hugh Longino and Mrs. How-Riggs of Wellington.

Mr. Myers left here about 1917, at the time of his death he was associated with his brother, the Myers, in the ownership of Melrose Power and Light company.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Myers of Melrose; three children, Mrs. Carey Wall of El-N-M, Wesley Myers and Clay-Meyers of Melrose; four step-daughters and a step son; and five brothers and sisters: Mrs. Marino and Mrs. Riggs of Wellington, Clyde Myers of Melrose, Myers of Richmond, Calif., Myers of Litchfield Park, Ariz., Ida Karnes of Albuquerque, N.M., and Mrs. Eula Longino of El-N-M.

Myers Oliver Myers was born October 29, 1888 in the Fresno community, which his father had founded. His birth was two years after the organization of this county, and only about four years after his parents arrived here. He grew to manhood here, was known and admired over the entire county, first by those who were pioneers who knew him as a child, and later by the hundreds of settlers who came here to develop the country.

He was educated at Fresno and Wellington, and later attended a business college in Dallas. After leaving here, Mr. Myers had a claim at Elida, New Mexico. Later he lived in Arizona, California, then returned to Mexico, living at Lovington, La., and Estancia before moving to Melrose seven years ago.

He had been a member of the Methodist Church since he was 18 years of age.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday from the First Baptist church in Melrose. The pastor was in charge had served as Myers' pastor at Lovington, La., Estancia and Melrose. Burial was in the Melrose cemetery.

W. White's Father Oldest Insurance Policy Holder

W. White of the Quail community last week learned that his father, James F. White, 92-year-old pioneer resident of Wilbarger county, is the oldest living policy holder of the Southwestern Life Insurance Co., in Texas. More than 350,000 Texans hold policies with this company.

The elder Mr. White formerly owned land in this county, and has lived here many times. He has been here, however, for several years. His home is now in Vernon. He was born in Bowden, Ga., was married in Tennessee, and came to Texas in 1867, settling in Ellis county. He later moved to Dallas county, Montague county, and to Wilbarger County in 1890. Mr. White is a farmer.

He bought the present life insurance policy when he was 60 years old—in 1908.

On the occasion of his birthday, he received a letter of congratulation from C. T. O'Donnell, president of the Southwestern Life Insurance Co.

In addition to his son at Quail, Mr. White has four sons and five daughters, all of whom reside at home.

THE STATE OF TEXAS TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY, GREETING: You are hereby commanded to summon F. M. White by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the regular term of the Justice Court of Precinct No. One of Collingsworth County, Texas, to be held at my office at the Court House in Wellington on the fourth Monday in October, 1940, the same being the 28th day of October, 1940, then and there to answer the suit filed in said court on the 5th day of April, 1940, No. 2878, wherein City State Bank in Wellington, Texas, is plaintiff and Ray Burdine, Kelly Pigg and F. M. White are defendants, said suit being on a balance of $85.36 principal due on a note signed by F. M. White to Collingsworth Motor Company, dated June 10th, 1939 for $300.00 and due Dec. 1st, 1939, and for interest, costs of suit and foreclosure of a chattel mortgage lien on one brown horse, weight about 1200 lbs; and one sorrel mare, weight about 1100 lbs. and other property securing said indebtedness.

Herein fail not but have you before said Court on the first day of said October term, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my official hand this the 6th day of September, A. D. 1940.

Safety Award Goes To Employees Of Pipe Line Company

QUANAH.—Presentation of a Safety Award plaque was made to employees of the Wichita Falls district of United Gas Pipe Line company by N. C. McGowen, president, at a Victory barbecue Saturday at Lake Pauline. More than 500 persons were present.

Counties included in the Wichita Falls district are Archer, Childress, Collingsworth, Donley, Hall, Hardeman, Wilbarger, Wheeler, Wichita and Young.

The award represented first place in Group No. 2 of the company's annual "No Accident" contest and was won by the district for its record of 365 accident free days and 165,058 man hours worked without a disabling injury. Since winning the award the district went on to establish a new record of 619 days without a lost time accident.

In his talk to the group Mr. McGowen complimented them on their record, pointing out that although money could "cure" many things, it could never replace a limb or a life or compensate for pain and suffering. He thanked the wives of the employees for their interest in the safety program, saying that a happy home life was in a great measure responsible for the safety record of the district.

Robert Wetzel, district manager of United, accepted the trophy for his district and the response to Mr. McGowen's speech was made by Ward Clopton, pipe line superintendent. Cecil L. Hightower, safety director, was chairman of the meeting which preceded the barbecue.

SECURITY
DEPENDABILITY
FRIENDLINESS

SERVICE in that we have endeavored to make the First National a Bank of outstanding service, and in so doing have always felt the best service possible is none too good for our customers.

SECURITY because the accounts of DEPOSITORS in this bank are insured up to $5,000.00 each by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation of Washington, D. C., a Government supervised Agency, and of which we are a member bank.

DEPENDABILITY, because the general banking policies of this bank have remained substantially the same year after year, and have not been subjected to any over-night changes which has or might have worked any hardships on its customers.

FRIENDLINESS because we just believe in it. We want our depositors to feel that bringing their business to a bank they are helping build it up, which in reality they are doing, in other words giving something for what they receive, and we want you to feel that way towards us too.

LET'S TEACH DEMOCRACY

Since public schools closed down late last spring, important changes have taken place in the world. Adolph Hitler's legions have blitzkreiged their ruthless way through the Low Countries and France, and the Nazi philosophy now dominates most of continental Europe. A new preparedness program has been launched in the United States.

To American children returning to their books, these changes in Europe and at home may seem remote. True, their parents may feel the weight of increased defense taxes and their older brothers may be affected by conscription, but to the children revolutionary world changes may make little difference.

Here, then, is a vital new problem for our schools. Officials in general have been militantly alert for trends toward radicalism in our instruction; now they must be just as militant in their efforts to teach their charges that democracy remains the only right way of life.

It is improbable that there will be curriculum changes, at least for the present. Secretary of State Cordell Hull has urged that more schools offer instruction in Spanish as a means of tightening bonds with Latin America, but in general courses of study will remain about the same as they have been in past years.

But those courses must be given new meaning. Studies such as civics and problems of democracy are ideally suited for highlighting the contrast between totalitarianism and the American way. Current events, too often a stepchild in our educational systems, should be given new stress.

In success or failure of our schools' efforts to instill the democratic credo in the minds and hearts of American children lies the outcome of the fight for freedom.

Americanism: Thinking it is all right to sell war material to Japan, but an act of war to help Britain.

A psychologist declares that women are as intelligent as men. Which is rather faint praise for the ladies.

A college president pleads for more adult education. Well, the youngsters are doing their bit along that line.

A NEW CROP RECORD

For the first time in the history of the crop, soybean acreage in the United States this year exceeds 10 million acres, which is an increase of about 14 per cent over that of 1939. The steady and rapid increase in the production of this crop from year to year has been phenomenal, and one of the most notable developments ever to occur in American agriculture.

Although considerably less than one-half of the soybean acreage is ordinarily harvested for processing purposes, it was recently estimated by private crop experts that production this year will exceed 90 million bushels. Cash returns to farmers promise to continue on a gratifying basis.

Nearly 90 per cent of the soybeans crushed now go into stock feeds in the form of soybean oil meal, the demand for which has kept pace with increased production. This demand is due to its superior qualities as a protein ingredient of feeds for all livestock, including poultry, as has been proved over a long period of experiment station tests. One leading expert recently said:

"Soybean oil meal is the most highly digestible protein supplement obtainable; it is more palatable and produces faster gains than others, and is generally more economical."

CHASING AN ECLIPSE

An expedition of astronomers and physicists from Washington are on a long chase for views of a total eclipse of the sun, which will occur on October 1, but will not be visible in the United States. To obtain photographs of the phenomenon the party will have a temporary observatory at the little village of Patos, Brazil, 200 miles inland from the Pernambuco coast.

The purpose of the expedition is to further study the corona or halo of light which is seen around the edge of the sun only when its surface is covered by the moon passing between it and the earth. Studies of photographs made during a total eclipse give direct evidence of the nature of matter on the sun and the behavior of its atoms, besides other scientific data.

Such studies have been made for nearly a century, but improved cameras continue to reveal new facts from time to time. This year, for the first time in the history, the eclipse observations will be completely automatic. The instruments will be powered by clockwork electric motors, and will be set so as to follow the path of the eclipse during its continuance.

Expeditions for the observation of eclipses have been organized, often going to remote parts of the earth, since 1842. Photography was first used in observing an eclipse of the sun in 1851. The present expedition from the United States is sponsored by the National Geographic Society and the Bureau of Standards.

There is nothing indefinite about the Bridgeport Telegram's news item to the effect that "202 persons, half of them women, were married in this city last month."

A thief in Troy, N. Y., who stole 45 dozen socks from a salesman's automobile must have been disappointed. Among the entire lot there was not a single matched pair.

Songs, Dances And Movies In Tune With U. S. Defense

Catchy tunes and tricky jance steps speed up the nation's pulse as the defense program swings into high gear.

Just as in 1917 Tin Pan Alley came through with songs like "Over There" and "K-K-K-Katy," so the modern entertainment field turns out tunes and dances and movies in step with the sentiment of a country determined to preserve its liberties.

So far it has been an entirely spontaneous effort, not at all like the regimented propagandizing of Herr Joseph Goebbels' stooges in Nazi Germany.

First popular effort was Irving Berlin's "God Bless America" tune, which became the theme song of both major political party conventions after it was popularized by singer Kate Smith.

"God Bless America" dates back to World War days. Berlin composed the 32 bars which have swept the nation for an American army musical show in 1918. But it didn't quite jell then, and was salted away in the back of his mind.

After the Munich crisis, he dug the fragment out, worked over it awhile, and came forth with the song which has become an unofficial national anthem.

Another song whose popularity is even more surprising because it is long and difficult to sing is the "Ballad for Americans," written by the youthful John Latouche and Earl Robinson. It was introduced by Paul Robeson last November. Recordings by Robeson, Lawrence Tibbett and Bing Crosby have sold thousands.

Hollywood, too, is keeping in step with the national mind.

Already one film, "The Ramparts We Watch," has been released by a firm specializing in short subjects dealing with news subjects. Filmed with an entirely non-professional cast, it deals with the events which led to U. S. entry into the World War, and pleads for sanity in the present crisis.

As the nation prepares to adopt its first peacetime conscription law, the film capital has on the griddle no less than seven major movies which will deal with military subjects.

The titles alone show the way Hollywood is pointing: "Yankee Doodle Goes to Plattsburg," "As We Go Marching," "You're in the Army Now," "Flight Command," "I Wanted Wings," "50,000 Flyers," and "School for Soldiers."

Dancing, too, has gone patriotic. The Dancing Masters of America at their recent convention placed their stamp of approval on two distinctly American routines, "Liberty Parade" and "Plymouth Rock."

Authors have turned to war and defense as well. Literally scores of books published in the past year deal with the threat to America and the best ways of avoiding it.

The Use And Abuse Of Wealth

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 29.

Text: Proverbs 11:24-31; Luke 16:11-13.

In this lesson on the use and abuse of wealth, we have wise words from Proverbs, reinforced with the teachings of Jesus.

The writer of Proverbs delineates what we all ought to know, yet what comparatively few of us really believe and act upon. He says that there is such a thing as giving and scattering and yet increasing.

The farmer sowing seed knows this. If he sows sparingly, he will reap sparingly.

As a matter of fact, he has to scatter his seed with great profusion, with the knowledge that not all of it may germinate and with the realization that possibly much of it that does germinate will be cut off by frost, by blight, or by some other cause.

If he calculated what he would get from each individual seed, he would be in danger of getting no crop at all. He must scatter liberally and freely over the ground, if he is going to have a harvest under the most favorable conditions.

As this is true in the physical world, it is also true in the spiritual world. We cannot reap a harvest of kindness unless we sow very liberally the seeds of kindness. We cannot have a life of richness and fullness ourselves, if we are self-centered and selfish.

The man who withholds his grain from people who are starving has upon him, as the writer of Proverbs says, the people's curse, while blessings are upon the head of the man who does not hoard but who makes his grain available.

However, the matter is not one merely of the cursing of the one man or the blessing of the other. They are cursed or they are blessed inherently in their deeds. The wise man said long ago that the man who trusts in his riches has put his confidence in something that may fail him. We have had plenty of evidence of that during recent years.

There is nothing fine or blessed about poverty. As a matter of fact, it is tragic not to have sufficient for one's needs. But what does man gain when he has a great deal more than he needs for normal living? There comes a time—although it may only be in the hour of death—when his riches fail him, and are almost entirely worthless.

There comes to mind a magazine article of some years ago, dealing with the wreck of a ship going home from Australia with a number of miners who had struck it rich. Illustrating the story was a striking picture.

The picture represented these miners as frantically removing their gold belts and throwing the gold away, and underneath the picture was the legend, "Take it who will . . . we are all going down."

Gold was worth nothing whatever in that crisis. And it is worth nothing more than that under any circumstances unless it is used in accordance with the wisdom that God gives.

I SAW

By V. A. R.

Things seem sort of quiet with all the college crowd gone, but that will all be over Friday night when we get excited over the football game. With this holding top place in the minds of all sports fans, I SAW

R. A. Talley, who lives near Wellington, showing a big fine egg plant to a group of admiring friends. Knowing Mr. Talley's ability to grow things, it's a safe bet that he grew it himself.

Mrs. Cad Duke, cashier in the Wellington State Bank, carefully mending with cellophane tape torn bills that are to be sent off and exchanged for new ones. Some of them were in pretty disreputable condition, but Mrs. Mae says if as much as four-fifths of a bill is still there, you can bring it to a bank and get it exchanged for a good one.

Mrs. Sandy Parsons, Jr., sitting out in the yard swing listening to Sandy III study his lessons. From the scowl on his face, it must have been arithmetic.

Virginia Patrick spying a saddle sitting up on some sacks of feed in a local produce house, hopping up on it, and plainly showing she wished it were on a real horse and she were riding.

Andy Poteet and Durwood Jolly trying to teach the horse Durwood was riding how a cowboy ought to act, and the horse in turn didn't want to get two inches away from the lot unless it could follow the horse Andy was riding.

The three Wallace brothers—Henry, Merle and Evelyn, taking a short cut down a back alley on their way to town.

Mrs. James Darnell window shopping before a window of pretty fall dresses.

I. T. Goodnight saying he was having lots good to eat. "Palo (Palo Cummings, his son-in-law) came in and brought lots of roasting ears and black-eyed peas—now what's to hinder us from doing well?" he said.

Jenny Lind Massad, who was visiting here with her mother recently, experimentally honking the horn on her grandfather's Mack Saied, car.

Aldah Young who teaches in East Ward, going home from school swinging her lunch basket—and stepping as jauntily as any of her young students.

Barbara and Jocelyn Wells riding in Tarzan Nix's cart which was still gaily decorated from the Fair. Tarzan was doing all the talking while Barbara and Jocelyn were enjoying themselves immensely.

ODD BITS OF NEWS

Mrs. Catherine Fritzinger of Parryville, Pa., escorted her six sons, ranging from 5 to 13, to a nearby hospital for tonsil operations.

Ernest Roberts, city dog catcher of Tulsa, Okla., was suspended for arresting four men and a woman for drunkenness and taking them to jail in his dog wagon.

1917

(Nov. 16) W. W. White of Quail was a business visitor in town yesterday.

C. E. Graham and family of Jester, Okla., moved last week to this county and located on a place about six miles east of town.

J. C. Doneghy, president of the City State Bank, came in from St. Louis Tuesday. He is well pleased with the fine business that Wellington seems to be enjoying.

N. A. Arnold and family of Cooke county were here last week prospecting for a place. They like this country so well that they have made three trips trying to get located here. Mr. Arnold reports that Cooke County has raised the best crops they have had in a long time. Good wheat, oats, corn and cotton.

John W. Harper came in last week for a short visit with home folks. He is a musician in a marine band and is stationed at present in Florida. He likes the navy fine.

J. B. Curtner and F. M. Phillips went to Goodnight last week. These two men traded residence property. The first named traded his Wellington property to the latter for Goodnight residence property.

(August 14) Mrs. T. A. Jones and children and Mrs. Coleman Berry of Dodsonville visited relatives and friends and transacted business in Wellington Tuesday.

o You May

Know The Rockets

When Wellington football fans go out to watch the Skyrockets any night when they play, a team of almost comely new faces will be before them. Only two of the boys, Fred Cox, Jr., and W. D. Aldridge, have played in a game before this season. Cox was a member of the regular squad last year. Aldridge substituted a short time in one scheduled game.

So that you may know your Skyrockets the following sketch of each of the 34 boys out for football this year is given:

FRED COX, JR.—This is his fourth year out. For three years he has played at guard—this year he was shifted to quarterback position. He's the only letterman on the squad... one of the best ball carriers on the club... and the only triple threat man the Rockets have. Cox weighs up to 164 this year. Fans and Coach Williams are confident if he'd been in shape for the opening game, he would have returned the kickoff ball for a touchdown. Cox graduates this year. The number on his jersey is 26.

HEROY JONES—One year of experience is behind this 130-pound left guard... and he has more year to go. He's a little more not scared of anybody's opposition can put up... and works hard. His number is 43.

OLEN GOODNER—Weighing 83 pounds, he plays at left end. He's a fast player, and gets down in the field to the scene of action. He's a pretty good passer, too. Goodner's a sophomore this year.

... Came out for football last year but didn't get in on any scheduled games... still has two more years to go. Fans identify Goodner as No. 46.

LEO THOMPSON—No experience before this year, but he has made the first team... plays at tackle... weighs 165 pounds... Thompson has been handicapped by an injury and didn't play in the opening game. He is expected to develop into an outstanding tackle. A junior, he has one more year to play.

FREEMAN WINDERS—Pretty good, considering that he has had only one year's experience—that is the opinion of local and opposition fans who have seen him play. He is the weight for the tackle position he holds down. Weighs 167 pounds. He played all but three minutes of the opening game... No. 47 this year... classifies as a junior.

HERBERT BEARDEN—Probably the best pass receiver on the team... and he has two more years to go for the Rockets... plays end. His weight is 150 pounds, his jersey No. 44, his classification sophomore. He should develop into an exceptionally good defense man.

W. D. ALDRIDGE, JR.—A husky 170 pounder who came out for football last year, changed from tackle to center this year. Only one of non-lettermen who saw action in a game last year... should be a capable center by end of this season. He's a junior with one more year of eligibility. His number is 41.

L. E. GRIBBLE—A 145 pound fullback. His number is 20. A starter in the games so far this year, he does part of the passing and punting... is fairly fast and knows how to side-step the opposition tacklers. This is his first year out... and he, too, has another year of eligibility.

ROBERT BAUMGARDNER—Possibly the strongest boy on the team... is fair on defense, and with a little experience will hold down his guard position with the best of them in District 3-A. Baumgardner, although playing his first year, is a senior. He tips the scales at 165 pounds. He's wearing jersey No. 34 this year.

WENDELL BREWER—137 pound backfield player out for his first year. His number is 43. Brewer is good on pass defense and is slated to see lots of action... only a sophomore, so he'll be with the Rockets two more years.

JUNIOR MELTON—One of the lightest men on the squad—only 129 pounds—but with a little more size he'll develop into a triple threat man... passes well and is already fair at kicking. He's holding down the quarterback position. Melton likewise has two more years of eligibility with the Rockets. Fans can identify him as No. 45.

RAY SISK—A 155-pound senior playing at tackle position... but he can substitute at guard just as well. Two years of experience are behind him and if he keeps up the hard work he's doing he'll give some of the starters a run for their money. He's No. 40.

EVENLY WALLACE—One of the twins... No. 32 and plays at guard. Wallace now weighs 143. He blocks hard on offense... is a good defense man... and keeps the team hustling. Unfortunately for the Rockets, he is a senior.

MERLE WALLACE—The other twin... you'll find him wearing No. 33 and playing in the halfback position. He's probably the hardest runner on the team... does a good job backing up the line... and he's a good open field blocker. He outweighs his brother by two pounds, and he, likewise, is a senior.

NOEL CUDD, JR.—This 203 pound tackle is the heaviest man on the team. It's his first year out and he's improving fast. He's a junior with one more year to go. Is No. 36. Should develop into a powerful defense player. Played all but five seconds of the Chilli-cothe game.

JUNIOR YOUNG—Most vicious tackler on the team, although he plays the halfback position. Young is a senior and weighs 145 pounds. His number is 23. This is his second year out, and in addition to his backing prowess, he has developed into a good blocker.

WALLACE GOFORTH—Another senior on the Skyrocket team. He wears the jersey number of the Austin brothers, Don and Tommy, No. 22... like them is a backfield player, holding down the halfback position. One of the most elusive runners on the team, he is accurate with his passes, and a good defensive player.

JUNIOR COOPER—He's out for his first year and has two more years of eligibility. "A promising player," says Coach Williams. His weight is 140 pounds, his number is 24. Cooper plays at guard position.

GRADY BELEW—A senior who is out for his first year's football. Plays at tackle. His weight is 145, his number 39. Belew offers good support to the team.

Z. D. TENNISON—Understudy for the center position. Classified as a sophomore... weighs 135 pounds... is No. 21. A bruised hand has kept him out of the playing so far this season.

FRED DECKER, JR.—No experience in football, but two more years of eligibility should develop him into a good end. A sophomore, he weighs 139 pounds. His number is 30.

JAMES WILLIAMS—No. 42... plays at end... weighs 138 pounds. Like some of the other sophomore members, he has had no experience so far, but two more years are likely to make him one of the mainstays of the team.

ARCHIE ROBERTS—A good blocker who backs up the line well. He plays in the fullback position as No. 30. His weight is 134... since he's a junior he'll have one more year to play.

HAM HOLTON—No. 38... 136 pound guard... classified as a junior. Holton is considered a good defensive guard and as soon as he learns to block he is likely to see a lot of playing.

MAX SACHSE—He's playing his first year of football and has two more years to go. His position is at guard, and his number is 28. He's improving fast, both on offense and defense. Sachse weighs 135 pounds.

BUDDY FORBIS—He centers the ball as well as either of the other centers, and with a little more weight, his coaches believe he will develop into a good center player. Forbis is a sophomore with two more years of eligibility in football. His weight is up to 140 pounds. His number is 35.

DICK WILES—One of the heaviest men on the team, he tips the scales at 175 pounds. He plays in the tackle position. Wiles didn't come out for spring training, but he has another year of eligibility, and should develop into one of the team's standbys.

JAMES DRISKILL—Very fast and an unusually good pass receiver. This is his first year out, and with added weight, he will be one of the team's best line players. He's at end position now. A sophomore, Driskill weighs 130 pounds and is No. 31.

ELMER THOMPSON—The only freshman on this year's squad. He came in this year from Rolla School. Already he weighs 140 pounds, and is out for end position. Three more years should shape him into an outstanding player.

J. PORTER NEAL—A late entry in school has limited his football experience to two weeks. A husky 170-pound tackle, Neal should be valuable material on the Rocket team. He has one more year of eligibility.

CHARLES CAISON—A guard with no past football experience, he's out there working like the rest of 'em... developing a good knowledge of the game. A senior, he weighs 145 pounds.

JOHN BOVERIE—A 130-pounder playing at guard position. He's had no previous football experience, but he has another year of eligibility. He's right there and full of pep.

DANE SISK—Lightest man on the squad, he weighs but 120 pounds... but he's a tough player and in the middle of where the action is. Sisk is a sophomore with two more years of eligibility.

DENZIL INGRAM—One of the team's two managers. He's a former Rocket player himself and he knows what it's all about. There's every indication he'll be just as good at managing as he was at playing.

DAN BEVERS—Second manager of the Rockets... inherited the position from his brother, Denzil. Unofficial mascot of the town practically all his life, Dan can do a swell job of creating good will for the team.
