19 Nazis Downed As French Coast Lashed

Raid Follows Record RAF Assault On German Capital

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 22.—Strong formations of Allied planes hammered mystery targets on the French invasion coast yesterday, shooting down 19 German planes at a cost of 11 in an operation that followed the largest aerial attack ever made on Berlin. It was estimated that 1,000 Allied planes participated in the attack on the French coast.

Six of the 11 missing planes were U. S. heavy bombers.

German long wave radio transmitters left the air last night, possibly indicating that the RAF again was attacking the German capital for the second successive night.

Hundreds of American heavy and medium bombers and nearly all types of RAF planes participated in the daylight assault on the Pas-De-Calais, the portion of France closest to England.

Fighter Opposition Weak

Describing the enemy fighter opposition as generally weak over France, a joint communique issued by the British Air ministry and the U. S. Army credited U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators with destroying seven Nazi planes while escorting American fighters got an equal number. RAF, Dominion and Allied fighters accounted for an additional five enemy planes.

The Allied attacking force lost two light bombers and three fighters in addition to the six U. S. heavy bombers.

Nazi planes struck back at London last night in the heaviest raid since October, setting off the thunder of Britain's powerful ring of anti-aircraft guns. At least eight German night raiders, including some attacking London, were shot down over England, it was learned authoritatively. Some Londoners were trapped amid ruins and the extent of the damage of the German raid was not immediately determined.

2,300 Tons On Berlin

The Allied attack force dropped perhaps 2,000 tons of bombs as it raked mysterious Nazi forward defenses on the French coast. RAF bombers hit Berlin Thursday night with more than 2,300 long tons (2,576 U. S. tons). The two operations carried forward the new attack cycle with reinforced strength.

While the Nazis generally did not offer stiff fighter opposition along the French coast, the bombers were forced to fly through thick flak. Generally accurate bombing results were reported with terrific explosions following some hits and smoke spiraling several thousand feet into the sky.

7,500 Sorties In Month

It is conservatively estimated that 7,500 sorties (individual plane flights) have been made

U. S. Marines Make Sport Of Hardship

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
War Correspondent

WITH THE MARINES AT CAPE GLOUCESTER, New Britain, Jan. 21. (By Wireless) — We drove in a jeep through deep mud that was like axle grease, over a so-called road through a swamp, for three miles until we reached the end of the track leading up to Hill 660, just east of Cape Gloucester.

The morning I arrived the Marines drove the Japs over the top of the hill. I met some of the Marines coming down — regimental scouts who had been out ahead of the front line.

CLAPPER

There was frequent firing. Just an hour before we got there, the command post had been shelled. A couple of hundred yards forward the road petered out into a foot trail. A dozen of the regimental scouts were resting in their dirty, watersoaked uniforms. They have not been out of them since they landed here Dec. 26. Their faces were drawn and weary, and yellow from taking atabrine tablets. They were soon to be relieved for a rest.

Had Little Sleep

First Lt. H. R. Taylor, Cleveland, O., who was wearing a three-day beard, said all of them had been in the line since the start of this action, and much of the time out ahead of the line patroling. They have had little sleep, because the Japs usually attacked at night.

After we had talked about the fighting I said to the men that I wanted to ask them a question that probably would sound ridiculous to them: "What's the talk in your outfit about the presidential election?"

"You mean the election back home?" one Marine asked.

"Let Roosevelt run the war," said Allen Armstrong, Beloit, Wis.

"He's not old enough to vote," another Marine said.

Armstrong then confessed to

Another 'Hitler Line' Is Rushed

Forced Labor Used On Rome Defenses

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 21 — Battalions of forced Italian labor are rushing to completion a powerful new "Adolf Hitler" defense line 65 miles below Rome, Nazi prisoners reported today, indicating that the enemy has scant hope of holding his present "Gustav" line much longer against the onslaught of American, British and French troops.

The British firmly held the town of Minturno, two miles northwest of the Garigliano river, after Allied planes and artillery smashed an incipient German counterattack and French forces north of Cassino captured the foot of Mt. Il Lago, a Nazi strongpoint across the Rapido river from the village of Sant' Elia. The Gustav fortifications thus were being shredded fast.

Succession Of Systems

Ever since their landing on the Salerno beaches in September, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army troops have been forced to batter their way through a succession of Nazi defense systems that extracted the last possible advantage from the rough Italian terrain. The name the enemy has bestowed upon his latest fortifications would indicate that he considered it the strongest of the lot.

According to German prisoners the "Adolf Hitler" line extends from 1,700-foot Mt. Cairo, six miles northwest of Cassino, down across the Liri valley in the area of Pontecorvo to the Aurunci mountains near the coast. On an average, the line is about six miles nearer Rome than the enemy's present defenses.

British Press On

After consolidating their hold on Minturno, the British pressed on against German positions north of the town. Another British force was reported assaulting the twin Nazi fortress villages of Castelforte and Ventosa, situated on steep slopes a mile from the

New Light Shed On Berry Death

Possibility that the person responsible for the supposedly hit and run death Thursday morning of Marvin C. Berry was unaware of any mishap, developed Friday night in an investigation by municipal and state police.

Officials said they were working on a theory that Berry may have been bit by a long truck and trailer as it turned north on Avenue R from Tenth street. They conjectured that a person might be struck by the rear end of such a vehicle without a jar or bump being perceptible to an occupant of the cab.

Misjudged Proximity

Berry, who presumably was waiting for a bus, may have misjudged the proximity of the truck because of the vehicle's length and because the trailer would "cut" the corner sharper than the truck proper, according to officials' reasoning.

Berry's body, it was explained, was crushed approximately the width of big dual wheels.

Officials said they had questioned several persons whom they commended for their cooperation and willingness to help explain the tragedy.

They reminded that nothing tangible has come of their investigation and that they and their witnesses could only offer theories.

Funeral rites for Berry, 45, an employe of a local cleaning firm, were conducted yesterday afternoon in Asbury Methodist church with Rev. C. A. Bickley and Rev. O. A. Graydon officiating. Burial was in Lubbock cemetery.

Temple Man Killed In Kerosene Blast

TEMPLE, Jan. 21. (AP) — M. P. Dikeman, independent oil distributor here, was burned to death today following an explosion at a storage room at the rear of a north side residence, where he was delivering kerosene.

The explosion apparently jammed the door, sealing him in the room, firemen said. A pilot flame from a water heater ignited the kerosene and enveloped Dikeman in flames. He lived only a few minutes.

Doenitz Admits His U-Boats Have Failed

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 21 (ULP) — Grand Armiral Karl Doenitz, commander-in-chief of the German Navy, admitted at a naval conference in Stettin that Great Britain and the United States had obtained at least temporary mastery over the U-boat "by physical science," the Scandinavian Telegraph bureau said in a dispatch from Berlin today.

Doenitz, the dispatch said, met with his naval chiefs at the Baltic port for several days and outlined his campaign for 1944.

While conceding Allied technical superiority over the submarine, he was said to have promised a vigorous program to overcome this handicap during 1944.

Foundry Men Vote To Return To Jobs

SEATTLE, Jan. 21 (AP)—Striking foundry workers of Washington and Oregon voted three to one today to return to their jobs in approximately 80 plants, Neil V. Pardo, secretary of the AFL Molders and Foundry Workers' union, announced tonight.

The action will reopen the war plants which have been closed since Tuesday morning and end the threatened shortage of castings for ship construction and repair work. The strike involved 6,000 foundry workers and an estimated 4,000 others workers remained out of affiliated shops because of picket lines in the wage dispute.

Reds Continue To Roll Germans Back

Soviets, In Full Offensive Tide, Kill Thousands Of Nazis, Capture Many Towns

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 22 (AP) — The Russians are rolling back the German line from Leningrad through one fortified place after another, Moscow announced early today, after the Red Army yesterday captured the rail junction of Mga, 30 miles southeast of the great northern city, and thus freed a roundabout rail line to Moscow.

The Red Army was in full offensive tide south, southwest and southeast of Leningrad, killing thousands of Germans as it battered through defensive areas the Nazis had carefully fortified for two years.

"Under continuous blows of Soviet troops the enemy is rolling back in a southerly direction and abandoning one fortified place after another," said the midnight Moscow communique recorded by the Soviet Monitor.

Rail Line Opened

A late dispatch from Moscow by Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press correspondent, said that the capture of Mga, announced last night in a special order of the day by Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin, had given Leningrad its first rail communication with Moscow and the rest of the Soviet Union in two years.

The capture was part of a new breakthrough on a 30-mile front from the Narva river southeast to the town of Vinyagolovo. By freeing this area the Russians obtained a roundabout railroad from Leningrad to Moscow via Volkhov, Volokda and Yaroslavl.

Still occupied by the Germans, but under heavy pressure from advancing Russians, was a portion of the main Leningrad-Moscow railroad through Kolpino and Tosno south to Kalinin and the capital.

At Top Of Nazi Salient

Mga, 10 miles southeast of the Neva river and 17 miles south of Schluesselburg, is 15 miles east of the great Leningrad-Moscow trunk railway, long lost to the Russians but now once again within their grasp. Mga was at the top of a German salient reaching southeast of Leningrad to a few miles south of Kurishi.

From Mga three railways branch out, one going east to Volkhov and then north of Murmansk, one south to Kurishi, and another short line going southwest to join the Moscow-Leningrad trunk line south of Kolpino.

Stalin addressed his order of the day to both Gen. Leonid A. Govorov of the Leningrad front and Gen. Kyril A. Meretskov of the Volkhov front and said troops from both commands cooperated in the capture. He called Mga an important railway junction and "powerful strongpoint of German defenses."

A salute of 12 salvos from 124 Moscow guns was ordered to celebrate the victory.

The Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, added that 14 more towns were taken in the Mga area, including the railroad station of Apraksin, about 10 miles to the east on the railroad to Volkhov.

This gave the Russians a roundabout rail line to Moscow via Volkhov, Vologda and Yaroslavl. The Germans apparently still hold a small portion of the line from

Castino's Wife Escapes Death

Mrs. Vince Castino, 20, wife of the catcher for the Chicago White Sox and former player-manager of the defunct Lubbock Hubbers, was discovered near death, a victim of asphyxiation, around 5 o'clock Friday afternoon in a room of a garage apartment in 2400-block on Broadway.

The rubber tube from an open gas jet was found disconnected from the stove, witnesses said.

Reported Resting Well

Firemen administered oxygen and rendered other resuscitiative aid. Mrs. Castino was reported "resting" late last night in St. Mary's hospital but medical attendants said it was too early to ascertain the severity of her condition. They indicated that she would be subject to complications for several hours.

Mrs. Castino, the former Miss Wanda Brazil of Lubbock, was here with her husband to visit relatives and friends. Castino recently signed a contract for another year with the Chicago major league team.

Firemen, who arrived at the apartment after a report of a fire at the address that police gave as 2421½ Broadway, found Mrs. Castino, attired in a night gown, in bed. She and the gas filled room had been discovered by her husband, police said.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Hard-punching American submarines engaged on a continuing battle to ruin Japan's shipping, have sent 12 more of the enemy's cargo vessels plunging to the bottom of the Pacific.

The blow was announced today by the Navy in a communique which told of the types of ships sunk. The 12 ran the total sunk by America's Pacific submarines to 408.

The communique did not indicate where the Japanese ships were attacked and sunk.

Two ships of the transport classification, a large tanker, seven medium-sized freighters and two small freighters were listed in the communique.

PT Boats Swarm On Barges Along Coast Near Madang

By OLEN CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Saturday, Jan. 22.—One hundred sixty Japanese troops, apparently bent on reinforcing the besieged defenders of Madang, New Guinea, were killed when speedy PT boats caught them in their barges sneaking down the coast Tuesday night, Allied headquarters announced today.

The American craft surprised the troop-laden enemy barges off Cape Croisilles, less than 25 miles north of Madang, and sprayed them with rapid-fire guns. All of the barges were sunk and all the Japanese killed or drowned.

Wore New Uniforms

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's spokesman said the enemy troops were well equipped and wore new uniforms, indicating they were normal replacements for Japanese in the Madang area.

On Thursday, 70 tons of explosives were dropped by fighter-escorted Mitchell-medium bombers on the Ramu valley where Japanese are being driven northward by the Australians. The Aussies were last reported less than 25 miles from Bogadjim, one of the keys to Madang's outer defense ring.

On the same day, other Mitchells struck Japanese positions north of Madang, dropping bombs on supply and gun locations, and strafing small craft at Hansa Bay. Twenty barges were sunk.

Seaplane Base Pounded

Liberator heavy bombers twice ranged 600 miles north of Australia Wednesday to raid the Japanese seaplane base on Amboina island in the Dutch East Indies. Five intercepting fighters were shot down and one more probably destroyed. Two of our planes were lost.

A force of destroyers steamed to the northern tip of Bougainville island in the Solomons, shelling Japanese shore installations along the Buka passage.

Tojo Says Japs Want Long War

Tells Diet Allies Are Growing Weary

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Japan prefers a long war, Premier Hideki Tojo told the Japanese Diet today in his annual speech on general policy, and he called upon the legislature to expand the national labor service and impose higher taxes.

Tojo's address, corresponding to the annual message on the state of the union" by American presidents, reopened the Diet after its long New Year's recess and was reported in detail by Tokyo broadcasts recorded by U. S. government monitors.

Exhaustion Of Allies

According to the radio version, Tojo declared that "unrest" in the United States and "increasing exhaustion" in Great Britain had given both countries "a craving for a short war."

"The enemy is in a fit of impatience," he asserted, adding that the present Allied offensive in the Pacific was a "desperate" result of this desire for a short war."

"There is only a hair's breadth between final victory and defeat," he observed, and added, "in the present war we must be prepared for the most difficult blows that will become more and more severe. It is but natural that the agony and distress of the enemy caused by our smashing blows should result in his increasing the intensity of his own."

Foodstuffs Assured

"The assurance of a supply of foodstuffs is an essential condition for victory," he stated. "Due to the extraordinary cooperation of Manchukuo our food situation no longer is a cause for any anxiety."

Referring to new taxation measures designed to increase revenues 2,500,000,000 yen (about $575,000,000 by pre-war exchange), Tojo said, "it becomes ever more necessary not only to increase taxes and the people's savings, but to effect a more efficient employment of industrial capital."

Cannon To Command Twelfth Air Force

General Cannon also will serve as commander of the Tactical Air force which is composed of American and British units operating in close support of the Fifth and Eighth armies. This command recently was left vacant by the departure from this war theater of Air Marshal Sir Arthur Coningham.

General Cannon has been in North Africa since November, 1942, when he was in charge of the western task force air force in Morocco. He later became commanding general of the 12th Bomber command under Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, then commanding general of the training command and finally deputy commander of the Tactical Air force under Coningham.

General Cannon's home is in Salt Lake City, where his wife and three daughters live.

Tax Plan Given Senate Approval

Measure Heads For House Conference

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—A $2,275,600,000 tax increase bill, criticized by President Roosevelt as unrealistic and yielding hardly a fifth of the treasury's goal, passed the Senate unanimously tonight and headed toward a conference with the House.

The Senate completed its work by adopting a series of amendments which liberalize somewhat, from the standpoint of industry, the operations of the war contracts renegotiation law, although not so much as the finance committee once tentatively decided upon.

In Line With FDR Plea

In modifying these previous proposals, the lawmakers drew the bill more in line with the recommendations of Mr. Roosevelt, who said in his recent budget message that ne was disturbed by suggested changes which in his opinion would restrict if not destroy the effectiveness of the law under which the government recaptured war profits deemed excessive.

The Senate, however, flatly declined to heed the president's admonition to send him a tax bill yielding the full $10,500,000,000 demanded by the Treasury.

The finance committee estimated that its amendments added about $130,000,000 to the bill approved by the House, bringing total federal income to more than $43,500,000,000 a year.

Higher Excise Levies

Nearly half the extra revenue —$1,011,100,000 — would be obtained from new and higher excise taxes on a long list of items, including liquor, cosmetics, furs, jewelry, bowling alleys, admission charges and transportation tickets. Illustrative of the sharp boosts was the rise in the liquor tax rate from $8 to $9 per 100-proof gallon.

The bill proposes to pick up $664,900,000 more from individual income tax payers, chiefly through repeal of the earned income credit and disallowance of deductions for federal excise taxes paid.

Corporation would be hit for another $502,700,000 in excess profits tax while postal increases, including a boost in the air mail rate from 6 to 8 cents, would ac-

L. W. Hodges, owner of the station, also injured in the fire was in a "very serious" condition late Friday night in an Anton hospital.

Engulfed By Flames

Deputy sheriff Jack Anders of Anton who was passing by the station at the time of the fire, said he believed that the fire was started when a truck filled with high octane gasoline became ignited from a small flame in an adjoining cream station. Anders and two negroes subdued the flames which engulfed Hodges and Mrs. Jackson.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jackson are pending word from relatives, with Plains Funeral home of Lubbock directing.

Record Crowd Expected For Colorful Military Parade Today To Boost Bond Drive

One of the biggest crowds ever to assemble in the Lubbock business district is in prospect for this afternoon.

The attraction will be the biggest and most colorful military parade ever seen in this part of Texas, if not in the whole of West Texas.

The purpose will be to boost the Fourth War Loan drive, in which Lubbock county has been assigned a quota of $3,597,000. It is the sincere hope and determination of everyone connected with the drive that the county will maintain its record of never falling short in a campaign for the money which must be provided to insure victory.

The parade is scheduled to start moving from in front of the city hall promptly at 3 o'clock. If you want to see it, this is a suggestion that you be on time. Military parades usually start exactly as scheduled.

The route will be the one usually followed by parades in Lubbock. From the city hall, the line of march will be south on Texas avenue to Main street; then east on Main to Avenue G, south on G to Broadway and then west to Avenue Q to disband. The reviewing stand will be at Broadway and Avenue K.

Indications were last night that the near-perfect weather of the past few days will continue through today. In such case, expectations are that the spectators will include thousands of people from rural areas and nearby towns. However, if the weather should be too bad, the parade will be postponed—probably until next Saturday afternoon.

An accurate listing of all that will be seen in the parade would be virtually impossible.

In the procession will be several thousand marching men, scores of pieces of equipment, and the bands of Lubbock and South Plains Army Air fields and the band of the 309th College Training detachment (aircrew) stationed at Texas Technological college.

Order Of March

In the order of march in the parade, the military facilities located in and near Lubbock will appear as follows:

Lubbock Army Air field, including Color guard, band and units of various kinds; representation of West Texas Recuriting and Induction station; units of the Army Special Training program and the Reserve Training program stationed at Texas Tech; the 309th battalion and band, also at Tech;

Wealthy Widow, Clad In Rags, Weak From Hunger, Found In Her Mansion

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21 (AP)—An amazing story of a 65-year-old widow, worth almost $1,000,000 but clad in rags and so weak from hunger she was crawling in her mansion, was disclosed today in the Allegheny county court.

The woman, Mrs. Dora Grace Peregrine, widow of a former official of the Armstrong Cork Co., had traveled to Europe at least 30 times in her younger days. She retired to her two-story home here after her husband's death in 1929.

A nephew, Frank E. Grace, of New Castle, in instituting court action, told of a visit several weeks ago to his aunt's home and finding her "like a person starved."

In this house Grace said he found $200,000 in uncashed dividend checks which had accumulated over the years from stocks and other securities.

A petition filed by Grace asked that his aunt be made a ward of the court because of her inability to manage her own affairs and asked that an administrator be named.

The court was told Mrs. Peregrine's estate now is worth $700,000 or more, and that in addition she is receiving a life income from a $500,000 estate. Approximately $65,000 was found in a savings account.

Mrs. Peregrine had failed to make an income tax return and a $20,745 lien has been lodged against her property by the internal revenue bureau, the court was told.

Judge Henry Ellenbogen named the Potter Title & Trust Co. to administer her estate.

DEAR: Jan. 22, 1944

This has been an eventful week in Lubbock but much of the news had a heartache. One of the biggest thrills surely, will be the military parade to be staged in downtown Lubbock this afternoon in behalf of the Fourth War Loan drive. Military equipment, bands and thousands of marching men from the two nearby air bases, Tech College Army Training detachment and the Texas State Guard will be on display.

The Fourth Loan drive opened officially here last Tuesday. Neil H. Wright is general chairman and Roy Boyd is county chairman of the drive and the quota is $3,597,000.

There is to be a pre-hearing conference on an application to place Lubbock on the Denver-Dallas line of Braniff airways Feb. 8 by the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington.

This strengthens hopes in Lubbock that the actual provision of airline service by a major operator may not be far away.

League President Entertains Doctors

Miss Etoile McLeod, president of the Junior Welfare league, entertained at dinner Thursday evening at her home, 1901 Thirty-third street, two Lubbock pediatricians who have donated their services to the Lubbock Well Baby clinic since its founding five years ago.

Mrs. Marion Sanford, president of the League when the clinic was founded, presented Dr. Pauline Miller and Dr. Arthur Jenkins with appreciation gifts from league members. Lt. Cmdr. M. H. Benson, who was also instrumental in launching this civic project, and is now serving in the United States Navy, was commended.

Growth Is Cited

Growth of the work from five or six babies in a borrowed room to the present roster of 175 active cases with a full time registered nurse employed by the League, and a fully equipped examining room at Community Center was pointed out. On the alternating Thursday mornings when clinic is held at the Catholic school room in Mexican town and the New Hope Baptist church in the colored section, Mrs. Faye Bumpass, the nurse, moves the equipment necessary and members of the league assist in taking care of the patients.

Children from birth to two years of age whose parents are unable to afford medical checkups are seen at the Clinic.

Other guests at the dinner included Major James French of the Lubbock Army Air field and Major L. J. Ervin of the South Plains Army Air field, who have cooperated by sending members of their medical staff to assist at the clinic; Mrs. French, Mrs. Ervin, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. C. C. Mansell, Mrs. J. D. Hassell, jr., Mrs. C. E. Davis, Mrs. Gordon Dickinson and Mr. Sanford.

Woman Draft Is Debate Subject

At a meeting of Alpha Delta chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Thursday night at the Hilton hotel, a debate on "Resolved: "In This Crisis Women Should Be Drafted for Service" was presented.

Affirmative was taken by Mrs. Julia Howard and Miss Imogene Boyd and negative by Miss Joyce Halsey and Mrs. Oretha Vannoy.

Mrs. Max Power presided.

The chapter's next meeting will be Feb. 3 with Mrs. Teressa Gegg as guest speaker.

Those present were Mesdames Power, Vannoy, H. T. Johnson, John H. Wilson, Earl Miller, Tommie McWilliams, W. H. Galloway, W. B. Rushing, Howard, J. W. Howze, Misses Halsey, Boyd and Hazel Burton.

Saving Vitamins, Fats Discussed

At meetings of the Posey and Slaton Home Demonstration club meetings Tuesday and Wednesday, Miss Clara Pratt, agent, told members to save vitamin and mineral content of vegetables and to save fat for war industries.

Mrs. O. R. Patterson was hostess to the Posey club. Miss Pratt gave these facts to the members, "If every housewife in the United States saved a tablespoonful of fat every day for a week, enough would be saved to make 22,750,000 pounds of gun powder. It takes 350 pounds of fat to make enough glycerine to fire a shell from a 12-inch naval gun."

Members present were Mesdames Wesley Gentry, J. I. Cranfill, L. H. Hart, Benton Patterson, Red Slone, J. M. Shafer, O. E. Patterson, F. T. Sager, Monroe Briger and L. A. Johnston. Mesdames W. R. Willkie, Bill Walters, Benney Gebert, A. B. Cloninger, Lewis Melcher and Miss Jaunell Hart were visitors. Mrs. R. L. Foerster joined the club Tuesday.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Gentry, Feb. 1.

Miss Pratt told the Slaton club which met at the Slaton Club house with Mrs. W. H. Long as hostess, "It is easy to destroy one-half of the vitamin and mineral content of vegetables by poor methods of cooking. Cutting vegetables in small pieces, holding in water and cooking in a large quantity of water all aid in losing vegetable food value."

Mesdames E. E. Wilson, Annie Reed, I. C. Hucker, C. E. Lilley, Cleta Young, R. C. Hall, Roy Collins, Douglas Wilson, C. Collier, E. E. Williams and Lucille McEver were present.

The club will meet again Feb. 2 at the club house.

P.-T. A. Speakers Present Panel

A panel on "Juvenile Delinquency" was presented by Judge G. V. Pardue, leader, John W. Wilson and Mesdames Nancy Green and L. C. Ellis Thursday night at the George R. Bean Parent-Teacher association meeting.

They cited the greatest causes for juvenile delinquency as being broken homes and lack of recreational facilities. They said other contributing factors of juvenile delinquency in Lubbock are: 1) employed parents; 2) lack of supervision; 3) boys and girls with too much spending money; 4) girls' wrong attitude of their patriotic duty; 5) lack of religious training.

Mr. Wilson said the greatest need in Lubbock is wholesome recreation. "Places should be provided for girls and boys after school hours," he declared.

Mrs. W. O. McLeod's room won an attendance prize.

It was announced the unit is invited to a lecture to be given by Capt. W. B. Irvin, superintendent of Lubbock Public schools on Army leave for the duration, Sunday, Feb. 6 at 3 p.m. at the Senior High school auditorium on the subject, "Chances and Development in Education."

The monthly meeting of the Llano Estacado Camp and Hospital Council, supervised by the National American Red Cross, was held Thursday afternoon at the LAAF Station hospital.

The Council is composed of representatives from 14 surrounding counties around Lubbock who, upon request of military authorities, furnish articles needed in hospitals, day rooms, sun rooms or any other services which can't be purchased from the post fund. It serves both LAAF and SPAAF.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. H. G. Stinnett, jr., chairman of the council and Hale county representative from Plainview. C. D. Doggert, treasurer, reported that the Council's treasure shows a balance of $339.55. Mrs. Ralph E. Holmes, wife of the commanding officer of LAAF, and coordinator for LAAF, reported on present LAAF needs, which are 100 books for the library and station hospital and $25 to buy identification tags for babies in the maternity ward. Mrs. Paul S. Keenan, coordinator for SPAAF stated the needs there, which include furniture, books, victrola records, and equipment for rest rooms for the glider pilots.

The Council voted to change the date of the meetings to the second Thursday in each month instead of the third. Among the guests at Thursday's meeting were Maj. L. J. Ervin, Commanding officer of the South Plains Station Hospital and Mrs. N. B. Olsen, wife of the commanding officer of SPAAF.

Boogy-Woogy Blamed As Delinquency Aid

CAMP KILMER, N. J., Jan. 21 (AP)—Arthur Rodzinsky, conductor of the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra, says that "boogy-woogy music which appeals to the hepcats is one of the greatest causes of delinquency among American youth today."

"With so many homes broken as a result of the family head serving in the armed forces, parental supervision is lacking," and the jive type of music leads to a "war degeneracy," the maestro said in an interview for the Kilmer Eagle, camp publication.

Rodzinski described devotees of Frank Sinatra, radio's swoon-crooner, as "pitiful cases." A hopeful note, he added, was that these girls usually "come to their senses when they reach 18."

Davis Says Enemies Watching Bond Drive

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Terming war bond buying a form of psychological warfare, War Information Director Elmer Davis said tonight the enemy is watching to see how successfully the $14,000,000,000 4th war loan is met.

"And we at OWI will see to it that the people of occupied countries and the people of the enemy countries know about it too," he declared in a message prepared for the National Broadcasting company. He added that Nazi leaders apparently are unwilling to face the test of going to the German public for their war loans.

OWI Warns On Milk Drinking

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (U.P.) — The civilian population was warned by the Office of War Information today to take it easy on milk drinking if it wants to have butter and if it wants the Army and the Allies to have enough milk products.

Use of milk and cream, an OWI report on the milk supply said, must not be allowed to increase if adequate supplies of manufactured milk products (butter, cheese, powdered and evaporated milk) for the military, civilians and lend-lease are to be insured.

Present Trend Downward

The OWI report, based on information from the agriculture department, the War Food administration and the Office of Price administration, disclosed that milk production in 1944 will reach an all-time high of 122,000,000,000 pounds, if present WFA plans for production are met.

But if the present trend continues, production this year will approximate only 116,000,000,000 pounds, or 1,800,000,000 pounds under 1943.

According to the WFA, the civilian butter shortage in the United States is partly to be blamed on the pressure of direct consumption of fluid milk and cream, since the increased consumption of these products means less butterfat.

The WFA concluded that "it has been necessary to stop the steady rise in the otherwise highly desirable use of fluid milk to reduce the consumption of cream and milk by-products" to meet wartime needs.

TWO SHIPS SUNK

CHUNGKING, Jan. 21. (AP) — American Liberator bombers yesterday sank a 1,700-ton enemy passenger-freighter and a 1,500-ton tanker during a sweep over the China Sea, Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell announced today. All American aircraft returned.

National Post-War Policy Is Urged

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP) — The United States conference of mayors today asked Congress to "formulate and announce at the earliest possible time a policy for a national post-war planning program."

A resolution adopted unanimously said such congressional action would be "to the end that cities may go forward at once with the completion of plans for city post-war projects with full knowledge of the part the national government can be expected to take in this field."

The mayors were cautioned by Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production board that relaxation now of restrictions on civilian construction "would imperil our whole strategy," and by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson that "the end of the war is not in sight."

Esquire Files Suit To Retain Permit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP) — Esquire magazine, whose Varga girl drawings and other features got it in bad with Postmaster General Walker, filed suit in federal district court today to preserve its second-class mailing privileges.

The suit, asserting Walker issued his order banning Esquire from using second-class privileges, after a special hearing board had voted two to one to clear the magazine of obscenity charges, described the ban as contrary to law and "to the established practice of the postoffice department and the postmaster general."

The Walker order was issued to become effective Feb. 28.

Middlewest Displeased But Will Sponsor Fourth Term

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—A group of mid-western Democratic leaders, although reported dissatisfied with patronage and administration of the farm program, wound up a closed "complaints" session today with a formal call for a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

The action removed virtually possibility of disharmony at tomorrow's meeting of the Democratic national committee to plan the initial stages for the 1944 campaign.

Unanimous On Fourth Term

National committeemen and state chairmen from 13 states attend the two-hour meeting of the midwestern democratic conference. Chairman James C. Quigley said the fourth term resolution was approved unanimously, and announced he will present it to the national committee tomorrow. It says:

"It is the consensus of opinion of this group that President Roosevelt be selected by our national convention as a candidate for reelection and that it is the concensus of opinion of this group that Robert Hannegan of Missouri be selected as chairman of the national committee."

Frank C. Walker, chairman of the national committee, is expected to resign tomorrow and Hannegan, 40-year-old St. Louis man who only recently was appointed U. S. commissioner of internal revenue, is slated to succeed him.

Most of the committeemen have sized up the campaign as certain to be a fourth-term effort.

Running Mate Is Problem

The vice-presidential nomination appears to be the chief unanswered question in the minds of the committeemen — whether it will be Henry Wallace again or Sam Rayburn, or someone else. All agreed that the president, if he decides to be a candidate, will pick his running mate.

The committee is expected to pick Chicago for the national convention, to be held around July 24.

Jackson Day Dinner

Committeemen will attend a Jackson day dinner tomorrow night to hear Speaker Rayburn and the vice president call for party unity on a win-the-war program. President Roosevelt will not address the dinner by radio as he did last year, nor will he send a message, the White House announced.

Mayor Frank Hague, national committeemen from New Jersey, meanwhile announced in Jersey City that his state's delegation of 34 to the convention would be instructed to vote for Mr. Roosevelt, or for any candidate the president picked if he decided not to run himself.

Wallpaper Geishas Put Him In Action

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 21 (AP) Just as a red cloth infuriates a bull, so do pictures of grinning Jap geisha girls on wallpaper enrage an elderly Cambridge man who has two sons in the armed services.

When a complaint was received by police that someone was wielding an axe in the man's apartment officers hurried to the address and, they reported, the occupant readily admitted he had been at work on the walls. They quoted him as saying:

"I've been here about two weeks but just noticed that Japanese geisha girls were smiling down at me from the wallpaper. That was too much—I have two sons fighting in the Solomons. So I set out to imitate them by eliminating all the Japanese around me."

Police took no action.

CHAOS IN POLAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—The Polish telegraph agency said today that underground sources had reported chaos spreading through the eastern part of old Poland as the result of the Germans' retreat.

Policy On War News Revamped

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (U.P.)—A new and more closely coordinated information policy was adopted by the government today to increase war news to the public and to stop high military and civilian leaders from expressing conflicting opinions on such important matters as the probable date on which the war will end.

The new policy was announced by War Information Director Elmer Davis after it had been endorsed by high officials representing the White House, Army, Navy, War Production board, selective service and other leading government departments and agencies.

Principal Essentials

Davis said its aim was to increase the flow of accurate and consistent war news and to aid public understanding of production, reconversion and employment problems. He listed these principal essentials of the new policy:

1. Avoidance of speculation by both military and civilian officials regarding the probable termination date of the war.

2. Exercise of great care in discussion of the economic developments to be expected before and after the end of the war.

3. Avoidance by officials of any discussion of activities for which they are not responsible.

4. Full and accurate explanation of policies in all public expressions regarding war production shifts.

Announcement of the new policy climaxed long criticism of the government for permitting high military or civilian officials to make one statement on one day, only to have others in equally high place make a completely contradictory utterance on the next.

Davis told the officials with whom he discussed the new policy that the theory on which any democracy must fight a war is that "when the people know what is expected of them and why, and are convinced that it makes sense, they will do whatever is necessary."

He said OWI was cooperating with the armed services to make sure that news of military operations reached the public as quickly and completely as genuine considerations of military security allow.

Certificate Of Merit Goes To 'Scrap' Man

AUSTIN, Jan. 21. (AP)—A War Production board certificate of merit has been awarded 61-year-old Adolph Muenker of Anderson, Grimes county, who almost singlehanded bought, hauled, processed and shipped more than 1,532 tons of scrap iron and steel.

The office of Gov. Coke R. Stevenson said Muenker, native of Germany, and Texas resident since he was 19, turned his farm over to his wife and gave all of his time to a one-man salvage operation.

He has collected and sent to industrial centers tons of other metals and several carloads of rubber tires during World War II.

The volume of his business is reflected in $4,500 worth of war bonds purchased from the proceeds.

Young 'Strong Man' Held In Burglaries

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 21 (AP)—A youth, whose wrists were too large to accommodate handcuffs, was accused today by police of using his extreme strength to force store doors and carry off safes.

He was identified as Emilio Guarino, 17, who was arrested with two other youths on burglary charges.

Police said Guarino pushed or kicked in the doors and made off with safes weighing as much as 600 pounds with the aid of his companions. They were arrested, said police, after a woman reported a parked roadster with two spare tires, one more than the legal limit.

Warning Issued On Nazis In Argentine

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (U.P.)— The New York World-Telegram said today in the last of three dispatches on Argentina that an unofficial but reputable report now at the State department recommended that only through complete boycott and financial freezing of that country can "ultimate bloody military intervention be avoided."

The report, the World-Telegram said, appeals for "immediate action" by the United States and the other United Nations to counteract the large strides already made by the Nazis towards destruction of plans for hemispheric solidarity.

It was pointed out that only a small minority of the 13,000,000 inhabitants of Argentina are pro-Nazi. But, the report warned, if the Fascist Ramirez regime "continues to act along its present lines, it will not be long—perhaps six months to a year—before 80 to 90 per cent of the Argentine people will be thoroughly converted to nationalism and anti-Americanism."

Poison Spread For Cathedral Pigeons

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — Strychnine was reported today the cause of death yesterday of a flock of St. Patrick's cathedral pigeons as more dead birds were found in the city.

Traces of the poison were found in four of the 21 pigeons which fell dead on Fifth avenue yesterday to the consternation of strollers.

Miss Ann L. Carmody, chief clerk of the humane work department of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said the strychnine discovered in the pigeons was similar to a type used by rat and mice exterminators.

"Somebody is obtaining this material and placing it around," she asserted.

Doll Dealer Held For Using Code Messages

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)— A woman dealer in antique dolls who the Federal Bureau of Investigation said formerly had numerous Japanese connections was arrested by FBI agents today and charged with sending coded messages to South America.

The FBI identified her as Velvalee Dickinson, 50, who operates an exclusive doll shop patronized by a wealthy clientele, including many members of the Hollywood movie colony.

Her arrest was announced by Special Agent E. E. Conroy, who said Mrs. Dickinson sent many coded messages to South America concealed in apparently innocent letters discussing sales of dolls. She signed the letters with forged names of her customers, Conroy said.

He refused to reveal the contents of the coded messages.

Explaining the charge was made under censorship laws, Conroy said it was unlawful for a person to wilfully evade submission of any communication to censorship or to employ a code to conceal a message from censorship.

Westerners Beat Plainview In Playoff Thriller, 40-34

Lubbock B Wins In Overtime, 24-22

Marion Manderson came off the sickbed Friday night at the Lubbock High school gym to lead the Westerners to a 40 to 34 win over Plainview, and give the Westerners a two game advantage over the Bulldogs in the playoff for the south half of District 1-AA.

Plainview appeared more like a pack of wildcats as they swarmed over the Westerners in the ball game, and clawed bravely until the final gun, and twice came from behind to tie the score before Manderson came into the game to ease the pressure.

The Westerners built up a 13 to 1 advantage early in the ball game, and appeared to be headed for an easy win—and seemed to believe it themselves. From this point, the Bulldogs started their first rally, and just before the half they had pulled up within three points of the Lubbock five, and the halftime score was 17 to 14.

The Bulldogs came out strong in the second half, and Malone pulled them to one point behind with a basket, Lawson dropped in a free throw to boost it again to two, then Horne lofted one from the corner to knot the score at 18 to 18.

Tied Again

Lawson broke the tie with another free pitch and Moore looped one from the floor to send the Westerners out in front 21 to 18. Moore and Adams each exchanged free pitches to make it 22-19, then free pitches in order by Adams, Gipson and Adams pulled the Bulldogs back into another tie at 22-22. The third quarter ended with the score 28 to 24 in Lubbock's favor as Lawson, Cope and Crawford found the mark for two pointers.

Going into the last period, the Bulldogs moved up within three points at 31-28 and Moore fouled out of the ball game and Manderson came in. His play was slowed by the illness that has kept him hobbled all week, but with Manderson feeding the ball to Cope for a goal, then looping one for himself, then after Horne had connected, Manderson rang up two more, and the Bulldogs had been stopped.

Bill Cope was high point man for the game, getting five field goals and one donation toss for 11 points, while Manderson and R. W. Moyer tied for runnerup honors with the Westerners with six points.

Scoring honors for Plainview was a three way scrap with Malone nosing out with nine points, Adams a close second with eight and Horne pressing them with seven. Of the 15 men used in the game by the two coaches, 14 of them figured in the scoring.

The series will be resumed next week with Lubbock to go to Plainview Tuesday night needing one more win to clinch the title, and the fourth game will be played in Lubbock next Friday.

B Team Wins

The Lubbock B team, growing famous for their one-point thrillers, outdid themselves in the curtain raiser, and won by two points, but only after a wild three minute overtime session when the regulation game ended in a 17-17 tie. Lubbock won in the overtime, 24 to 22.

The game was wild and fast with very little scoring done in the regular game, but the overtime found both sides turning on the scoring pressure, and the game see-sawed fast with Roy Grimes shooting the winning goal with 20 seconds left to play.

The Plainview lads held an advantage at the halftime of 9 to 7. The scoring tempo failed to pick up in the last half, but the boys battled for every advantage, then turned loose with the best they had in the extra session.

Lindsey of Lubbock was the high point man for the game, getting 10 points to nose out Thompson of Plainview by one point.

Semi-finalists in the boys division for Saturday will be Tahoka, Slaton, Whiteface and Ropes with the Ropes boys, the pre-tournament favorite, still a strong contender for the honors.

Tahoka won over New Home, 34 to 14, with Caraway accounting for 16 of the winners points for high point honors of the game. The Slaton five reached the semi-finals after a close, 26 to 22 win over Meadow, but Barnes of Meadow copped scoring honors with 12 to nose out Hanna of the winners who had ten.

With Jim Gill hitting the basket for 16 points, Whiteface had no trouble in winning over Union by a comfortable 42 to 12 margin. Ropes also had little trouble in surviving the first round, winning 39 to 18 over Southland, but West or Southland captured the scoring honors with 12 points while Godwin was tops for Ropes with ten.

Slaton and Whiteface will meet in the first semi-final game Saturday at 1:30 with Tahoka and Ropes meeting in the other at 3:30. The two winners will clash for the title at 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Glove Tourney Entries Soar

The District Golden Glove boxing tournament, scheduled for the Texas Tech gym for Feb. 3, 4 and 5, took another great upward leap in entries here Friday with the arrival of entries of sixteen boys from Tahoka. The entries were sent n by Leo Jackson, principal of the Tahoka High school.

In a letter that came along with the entries from Tahoka, Jackson said he might add two more boys to the list later to give Tahoka a list of 18 boys in the local tournament. Half of the boys in the list were champions in the recent tournament sponsored by the school at Tahoka.

The tournament has been assured of a great list of fighters, and many of them will carry the titles of champon with them into the ring. Besides the eight champions from Tahoka, there has been listed a state champion from Arizona, an Inter-Mountain AAU champion from Salt Lake City, one district champon from Amarillo and two defending champions from last year's District Golden Glove tournament here.

In addition to the long list of champions, there are a number of lads with lots of experience, and colorful records in amateur fighting over the country.

The entry list from Tahoka Friday included the names of H. L. McMillian, 112 pounds; Hillary Mathers, 158 pounds; Bob Scott, 110 pounds; Dwain Vaughan, 118 pounds; James Tippitt, 120 pounds; Wayne Miller, 126 pounds; Billy Barrington, 113 pounds; A. L. Hodge, 190 pounds; Bill Grider, 132 pounds; Buddy Bragg, 112 pounds; Alfred Ratlitt, 175 pounds; Albin Ratlitt, 175 pounds; D. McClinstock, 126 pounds; J. A. Dodson, 109 pounds; and Jack Driver, 105 pounds.

Entries are pouring in every day at the Golden Glove headquarters at Texas Tech, and Friday Tournament Director Morley Jennings urged that the boys get their names in early.

Jennings also announced that plans were being worked out for many additional prizes in war bonds and stamps during the three days of the tournament. Jennings said that each winner would receive a $25 war bond, and runnerups would receive $10 in war stamps.

Other prizes might be planned for awards on each night of the tournament in additon to the awards to winners. These plans will be announced as soon as they have been worked out.

Texas Tech To Clash With New Mexico Lobos Tonight

The Texas Tech Red Raiders return to the basketball court tonight after a long holiday over mid-term exams and tangle with the New Mexico University Lobos at 8 o'clock at the Tech gym. The game will likely be the only games of the year between Border Conference teams in Lubbock, but the Red Raiders will return the games at Albuquerque on Feb. 4-5.

The Lobos are due to arrive sometime today in Lubbock only a short time before game time, leaving their home town this morning. Coach Blanco White announced that he would bring a 12-man squad to Lubbock for the game with Coach Polk Robison's kids.

The Lobos will be ready to shoot the works in the ball game for a chance to even things up from losses his teams suffered last season at the hands of the Red Raiders, and will have a strong club on the floor to get the job done.

In seven games played to date, the Lobos have been beaten only twice, both of these by one point. On the other side of the picture, the Red Raiders have played nine games and won only two.

Coach White indicated that his starters would be Marcos Salas and Kay Hafen at forwards, Virgil Boteler at center with Clarence Robinson and Charles Underwood manning the guard posts.

Coach Robison said Friday night that he planned to start Hubert Bechtol and Delbert Cooper at forwards, Don Grove at center, with Tex Wallis and Phil Ragland at guards. The Red Raider starting five will carry three New Mexico boys and two Lubbock boys from this side of the state line. The Lobos have one Texan, Boteler, star center who hails from Floydada.

College experienced stars of the Navy tar-studded Lobos will include Hafen from Dixie Junior college in Utah and Robinson from Brigham Young.

A new face in the Red Raider lineup that will very likely see service in the ball game will be Jay Kerr, a lad from Odessa who has been showing up well in the workouts since starting school at midterm.

A preliminary game, scheduled to start at 6:45 o'clock will send the Texas Drug, a team composed of former Texas Tech and Lubbock high stars, against the high-scoring South Plains Army Air Field five.

Babe Didrikson Once More In Old Stride

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Jan. 21 (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the fabulous dynamo of sports, has taken up tennis and announced a new goal: the national court and links championships.

The Babe disclosed today she has been taking tennis lessons for three months from Eleanor Tennant, who coached Alice Marble to the world's championship.

"I'm crazy about the game," she said. "I like it fully as well as I do golf. Of course, I'm far from a finished player yet, but if practice makes perfect, brother, some day I'll be there."

The wife of wrestler George Zaharias, she holds numerous track titles and excels in basketball, golf and bowling.

Recently granted full amateur golfing status, she has made her best score—a 64—on Santa Monica's Clover Field course, where men's par is 71, and has toured the Brentwood 72-par course in 65.

Her Olympic records of 1932, the 80-meter hurdles in 11.7 seconds and a javelin throw of 143 feet, 4 inches, still stand. She holds the national broadjump record at 17 feet, 7 1-4 inches. She played in the National Basketball League for three years and was All-American each year. She took up bowling two years ago and boasts a top score of 268.

Medical Detachment Cagers Win Another

The undefeated Medical Detachment cage five in the South Plains Army Air field Squadron basketball league had little trouble in hanging up another win Friday night and romped over the Band team, 35 to 6. In the nightcap of the program, the Flight Officers won a 21 to 20 thriller from Squadron Two.

In the opener, Boyd led the Medics with 19 points, and after building up an early lead, the winners were never pressed for the rest of the ball game.

The second contest was a thriller all the way, with the score changing hands many times to leave the game in doubt until the final whistle.

Idalou Cops Two Cage Wins Over Frenship

IDALOU, Jan. 21.—The Idalou high school basketball teams romped to a twin victory over Frenship here tonight with the girls winning the curtain raiser in a 22 to 18 thriller while the boys annexed a 27 to 16 win in the finale.

In the opening game, Madge Countess was the star of the night, getting 15 of her team's 22 tots, to capture the scoring honors. McNeely paced Frenship with seven points.

The Idalou boys looked to be in their old championship form of last season, and turned in an impressive victory. Scoring honors for the game was a three-way tie between Mead and Kelly of the winners and Arthur of the losers, all getting eight points.

A good offense is the best defense. Oregon beat Washington State the other night, 87 to 86.

Porkers Defeat Mustangs, 68-58

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 21. (AP) — Arkansas' Razorbacks built up a commanding first half lead tonight and beat off a closing rally by Southern Methodist to defeat the Mustangs, 68 to 58 in the opener of their two-game series.

The win sent the Porkers into undisputed possession of second place in the Southwest conference basketball standings with four wins and a single loss.

Trailing 25-45 at the halfway mark, the Methodists came to life after the rest period and with Capt. C. E. (Acie) Cannady and Haden leading the way gradually cut down the Arkansas margin.

Failure to make good from the free throw line cost the Mustangs heavily. Six of Haden's tosses bounced off the hoops.

Deno Nichols, hero of Arkansas' win over Rice last week, paced the Razorbacks with 20 points but he and other Porker basketeers were badly off form in the second half. Haden was top man for the Southern Methodists with 23.

It was Arkansas' 33rd victory in 41 engagements with the Methodists.

Don Budge Heads For Eastern Tennis Show

Lt. Don Budge, the carrot topped tennis champion stationed with the U. S. Army at Texas Tech, left Friday by air for New York City where he will take a prominent part in the huge bond selling tennis show to be staged Jan. 28 in the Seventh Regimental Armory. The show is expected to gross $2,500,000 in war bonds, the price of admission.

Budge will meet Reserve Cadet John A. Kramer, who was runnerup to Lt. Joe Hunt in the 1943 National Tennis Championship tournament. Later Budge will team with Mrs. Dorothy Round Little of Great Britain in a mixed doubles match with Kramer and Alice Marble.

Budge said before leaving for New York that he would arrive in that city Sunday afternoon and would spend much of his time between then and the date of the big show in getting into shape for the match. He admits he is not at top form because of his absence from the game, but is confident that "only a bit of practice" would get him into condition.

The permission was granted by the War department for Budge to take part in the big New York tennis show.

Pay Raises And Politics

MOST Americans doubtless will approve the announcement made through the Wage and Hour division of the Department of Labor the other day that a minimum wage of 40 cents per hour has been ordered for approximately 175,000 workers in four major industries.

The fact that official action had to be taken to fix a 40-cent minimum apparently means that the affected workers have been receiving less than that amount. Most people will admit readily that the worker receiving less than 40 cents per hours is sitting in something less than the lap of luxury.

The proposed increase, according to the reports, has been kicking around for a long time in various of the governmental departments. Under the existing wartime regulations, it could not be granted without official sanction. Most people will be glad that the officials finally got around to the point of doing something about it. Few people will begrudge an increase like that. They may wonder why something wasn't done about it sooner.

If they are puzzled, the reasons are apparent. The officials were too busy with other tasks. For example, there has been the dispute over the increase for railroad workers—for the sake of which the railroad unions were willing to endanger victory. That was a matter that demanded prompt attention in the political bureaus. The railroad unions are real powers in politics. They had to be taken care of.

So, the very same day that a MIMIMUM of 40 cents per hour was ordered for one group of workers, the government happily announced that INCREASES of nine to 11 cents per hour had been decreed for members of the railroad brotherhoods. If anyone has reported wages that railroad workers already were receiving, it has escaped this attention. But certainly they were a good deal more than 40 cents per hour—probably several times more in most cases. Railroad workers are among the best paid in the country. But their fat pay envelopes were fattened further—and promptly.

Also announced on the same day as the 40-cent order was the failure of U. S. Steel corporation to agree with their CIO steel workers in a demand for an INCREASE of 17 cents per hour. But the workers there are getting swift action. The War Labor board is going to give this matter attention, at once. It affects a labor union with political powers. These workers who, according to very recent reports, already are averaging close to $80 per week, are going to be waited upon immediately.

Still, it is nice that the Department of Labor did get around to the provision of the 40 cents minimum for people who unquestionably need it. But it must be with a sense of shame and disgust that many Americans contemplate the proofs that our government administration follows the policy of ordering increases, not according to need and justice, but according to the political power the applicant exercises.

The British National Debt

OFFICIAL announcement in London this week that Great Britain's national debt now totals about 77 billion dollars emphasized the enormity of the contribution the United States is making toward financing the war.

As compared with the 77 billions the British owe after four years of war, the United States has a national debt of more than 150 billion dollars—twice that of Britain—after two years. Furthermore, the presidential budget proposes a further increase of the debt to a total of around 250 billions in 1945. The British debt will increase, also, of course. But there will be no such increase as that proposed for Uncle Sam.

Just why there should be such disparity in the two national debts is not clear. The British Empire is more than three times as populous as the United States. It owns or controls approximately one-fourth of the land area of the world. Compared with the real wealth of the British Empire, Uncle Sam is almost a pauper.

None of this may mean that Great Britain is shirking its proper part in the financing of the war. But certainly the national debts indicate that, regardless what others may be doing, the United States is carrying a full share of the financial burden.

The One Minute Sermon

For if ye shall diligently keep all these commandments which I command you, to do them, to love the Lord your God, to walk in all his ways, and to cleave unto him:

Then will the Lord drive out all these nations from before you, and ye shall possess greater nations and mightier than yourselves.

Every place whereon the soles of your feet shall tread shall be yours: from the wilderness and Lebanon from the river, the river Euphrates, even unto the uttermost sea shall your coast be.

There shall no man be able to stand before you: for the Lord your God shall lay the fear of you and the dread of you upon all the land that ye shall tread upon, as he hath said unto you.—Deuteronomy 11; 22 through 25.

Believe It Or Not --- By Robert Ripley

Gideon Planish

By SINCLAIR LEWIS
Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.
Copyright, 1943, Sinclair Lewis

THE STORY: As Dean of Kinnikinick College in 1926, Gideon Planish is well-esteemed, in demand as a public speaker, and referred to as a "leader of humanitarianism." His wife, Peony, is attractive, extravagant and ambitious.

It was the Dean's happy belief that, despite his own eloquence, force and tact, it was really Peony who had made him dean, with a salary of two hundred dollars a year more than a full professor's, with more control over the students, and with less necessity of pretending that he had read the latest works of Mrs. Wharton and Miss Cather and this new fellow, Hemingway.

Following their marriage, Peony had called on Teckla Schaum and after being snubbed more than usual, had become Teckla's closest friend, and been asked to dine with Teckla's father. She had also, entirely against the college etiquette of waiting for the president's wife to call first, popped in on Mrs. Bull and, after being kissed and petted more than usual, had become Mrs. Bull's closest friend.

Peony had urged her husband to offer himself to President Bull for every style of committee work, and within a year it was expected that whenever a Visiting Celebrity was to be introduced in Assembly, or a program made for combining the organic chemistry and salad-making courses, it would be Professor Planish who would take on the ordeal. When the old dean died, in harness though also in liquor, the choice of Planish for the deanship was inescapable, and his child-like wife considered not unworthy of the purple.

She was an earnest young matron as they drove into the county seat, Mabel Grove (pop., 11,569). One who knew her high position would have supposed that she was thinking of racial problems or social hygiene, but she was saying to the Dean:

"I think we can sneak in a glass of beer at the Appleton House without getting caught. But first I got something to show you: the most fool extravagance you ever heard of, and how I want it! Do I get it, Gideon?"

"What are you asking for?" he said fondly.

She bade him stop at an old brown house with the modest sign, "T Shop and Antiques." She looked nervous as they went up the walk; she yanked the door open as if to get it over; she pointed at an object, and tightly held his arm. The object was a huge Chinese rug, blue as a June lake, with a border of dragons and fuzzy-headed lions, saffron and sage-green and yellow.

"Isn't it the most beautiful thing you ever saw?" gurgled Peony.

"Mm."

"That'll be something for us to have when you're Senator from Iowa."

"Sweetie, I guess maybe we better wait till I am Senator."

"It's a thousand years old—well, a hundred years old, I guess—and it used to cost fifteen hundred dollars, but we can get it for three hundred."

"Sweetie, we haven't got three hundred dollars in the world, and we must be over two hundred in debt—I don't really know—I kind of hate to add up the bills."

They drove up to the Appleton House for dinner with the Chinese rug in the back of the car.

In celebration they drank not beer but old-fashioned cocktails, and at dinner, looking in a pleased way at all the luxuries, pickled melon rind and ripe olives and nut bread, everything that spelled richness and worldliness and delicacy of taste, Peony said, "Don't forget Dad is a crank about debts. We can count on him to pay up to a thousand, if we get sunk badly enough, and by the time that's all dished out, maybe you'll be earning more dough. Oh, and I got another surprise, just as big as the Chinese rug, bless its blue soul!"

The Dean squeaked, in terror, "I hope it won't cost another three hundred!"

"It won't set you back a cent, my boy."

They both looked relieved.

"Here's the new stunt, Gideon. We've been talking so much about your getting on and taking your proper place in the world, and now it's time to really start doing something. The chairman of the County Censorship Board has just resigned, and they're looking for a new one. And has that board got power! I don't suppose it has any legal position at all, but every movie house and library board in the county listens to it. So tonight we're going to call on Mrs. William Basswood, and then watch my little man become chairman of the board!"

By nature Mrs. Basswood should have lived in a lilac-shaded cottage, but she was found in a compressed flat with an electric log, and portraits of Mary Baker Eddy, Tennessee Claflin and Mrs. Hetty Green. She had a radio, which was pretty modern in 1926, but her torso, covered with jet to take away the curse of sex, still creaked in the old-fashioned way.

"Oh, I think it's wonderful that you're interested in our little fight for godliness, Dr. Planish, and your dear wife, and you must meet Mr. Pederson, the Reverend Chauncey Pederson of the Lutheran Church, but it's affiliated with the English Lutherans now, I mean it doesn't call itself a Norwegian Church any more — I mean, of course, the Norwegians are a fine, upstanding, God-fearing people but—and—oh yes, I'll telephone Mr. Pederson right now."

This was Mrs. Basswood speaking. She continued speaking as they awaited the Reverend. She always continued speaking.

Mr. Pewerson was a wide, middle-size man, weighing about 190 in his stocking feet, and he seemed to be entirely free of vice and practically free of everything else. He welcomed the Dean to their censorship board; he explained that the Dean's name was supposed to be voted upon by the other members of the board, but as those two dogs weren't even very good Protestants, the Dean could consider himself elected right now; in fact—and here Mrs. Basswood and he exchanged some small language of nods and winks and pious smiling—he might almost say that Dean Planish was already chairman of the board!

"Now, Dean, I want to ask you a question. Don't you feel, as Mrs. Basswood and I do, that there is no force or factor which is a stronger factor in producing the dreadful vice that we see rampant about us at this moment, a condition that would bring a blush of shame to the cheek of Nero or any of those notorious high-rollers of history, with King Alcohol ruling his rowdy crew on all sides of us now, and women, even young women, pursuing the males" (here Peony looked pious) "and doing things and acts that I could not describe in the presence of ladies, and don't you think that there is no factor that more grievously tends to produce these awful conditions than the so-called popular and best-selling novels, with their shameless word-painting of naked women" (he smacked his lips, Mrs. Basswood looked hungry, and the Dean blushed, while only Peony remained innocent) "and the at once bold justification, in these novels, of the lowest vice and malicious sneering at the dauntless defenders of purity in the church and home? Scandalous!"

The Dean said he thought there was a lot to that.

Here's Place To Send Those Salvage Tubes

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP)— Empty shaving cream and similar tubes accumulated in stores, wholesale houses and homes for exchange purposes should be sent immediately to the Tin Salvage institute, 411 Wilson avenue, Newark, N. J., the Texas Salvage committee advised today.

After March 1 it will not be necessary to exchange an empty tube when a new one is purchased for the reason that virtually all tubes then placed in commercial channels will be of a different type of metal.

Accumulations of tin-containing tubes now on hand may be shipped express collect to the Tin Salvage institute.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

THERE are two remarks I hear quite often nowadays.

One is, "There are no more opportunities in this country," the other, "The day of the rich is gone."

Then along comes a story like the one about Isadore Kowal of Detroit, who came to America in 1913 as a dollar-a-day sausage worker, and just bought the Manhattan Towers hotel in New York for well over a million dollars.

Isadore doesn't subscribe to those two remarks. He thinks this country is all right.

He made his money in the shoe-repair business. He started with one shop and has 32 now.

As long as people have their shoes fixed, there are opportunities, thinks Isadore; not only for him, but for everybody else.

In addition to putting heels on shoes and patching them up, he owns several hotels.

He also collects relatives. In 1920, he brought his immediate family to this country from Pinsk in Russia.

His parents, six sisters, one brother, six brothers-in-law and a bunch of nephews and nieces, 35 in all, are all here now, in addition to his wife and kids.

Someone asked Isadore Kowal whether he was a millionaire.

He didn't really know, honestly, he didn't. It didn't make much difference, anyway, he thought.

But he knows he has enough to help some people a little—as for instance when he gave 200 soldiers and their wives free room and meals over the Christmas weekend in one of his Detroit hotels.

SO YOU SEE there still is plenty of wealth.

The only difference is in what you call opportunity and wealth.

There used to be a time when opportunity meant what you could do for yourself, and wealth, how much money you had in the bank.

Today opportunity means more what you can do for others and wealth is your ability to help your fellowmen and your community.

I do plenty of kicking myself, but I think that even a poor man in America is richer than a millionaire in Germany or Japan.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE explanation of the basic labor troubles which beset the United States and handicap our fighting forces overseas, if Gen. George C. Marshall's version is to be accepted, lies in the bitterness between Franklin D. Roosevelt and John L. Lewis.

It is a personal rather than an economic matter. Could these two tough-minded and proud individuals forget their feud, there would be no strike, wage inflation or cost of living problems in this country. Here is the forgotten story brought up to date:

In the 1936 campaign, Lewis, as head of the United Mine Workers, advanced $500,000 to FDR's re-election chest. This loan was a thank-offering for past favors conferred by various federal officials and agencies and, especially, for the National Labor Relations board's decisions which enabled the Lewis adherents to unionize numerous plants. It was also partial payment for future benefits. The gift was gratefully accepted.

Then came the CIO's attempt to organize Little Steel, with Philip Murray and Lewis working hand and glove. During the protracted negotiations the President was asked for comment at a press conference. He snapped back with a line from Romeo and Juliet: "A plague on both their houses!"

HOSTAGES: None realized it at the time, but that single, dramatic remark set the stage for a series of industrial disputes which gravely threaten the nation's welfare.

"From that moment on," John L. has told friends, "I never trusted Mr. Roosevelt."

He expressed his misgivings openly when he declared, "It will becomes one who has supped at labor's board" to turn against his old supporters.

But the miner chieftain did not rest content with words in his opening duel with the President. He tried to persuade Murray and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, that they could not rely on the man in the White House.

He begged them to return to the Gompers theory of gaining their ends through economic pressure — that is, strikes — rather than through an alliance with any political party.

"When you accept favors," he warned, "you are giving hostages."

WAGES: John L.'s two rivals refused to listen to his jeremiads. Against his advice they cooperated with FDR in the establishment of the National War Labor board and in arranging the Little Steel formula placing a lid on salaries. In disguest the UMW boss withdrew from the CIO, and Murray became its president.

In his conferences with FDR's labor friends Lewis pointed out that, although the Little Steel scheme was designed to prevent his men from getting a raise, it would eventually be used against their followers. They laughed at him, confident that Mr. Roosevelt would do right by them in return for their backing of his political and stabilization programs.

Then, with the connvance of Secretary Harold L. Ickes, the Welshman obtained increases that disrupted the Little Steel agreement. Naturally, the White House enemy's success precipitated a revolt in the Green-Murray ranks. Their members asked querulously why an administration hater could win benefits for his men, while those who were upholding the administration secured no pay envelope gains.

Still the two anti-Lewis leaders looked toward the White House for a move that would ease their plight. The President, all through negotiations, had intimated that he would see they came out on top in their struggle with John L.

Then, without advance notice, General Marshall assailed striking workingmen, maintaining they were prolonging the war, and FDR, 25 months after Pearl Harbor, demanded the passing of a National Service act freezing wages and threatening to disrupt the unions.

William and Philip won't admit it publicly, but now they wish that they had pursued John L.'s independent course instead of stringing along with the politicians.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

A RECORD number of professional buyers, representing shops all over America, have been pouring into New York, frantically trying to obtain children's underwear and other apparel for their concerns.

They are anxious to replenish their nearly exhausted inventories in time for an early Easter, April 9. But they discover—as was predicted in this column—that it is almost impossible to acquire undies in any size.

This tight situation will probably continue for at least six months. Although the WPB has finally certified mill workers as essential, easing will not be effected in retail circles before Summer.

Insiders anticipate even a worse bottleneck in the first half of the year and admit privately that they will be lucky if 1944 proves to be no more restricted than 1943.

Mothers are advised to keep their eyes open for between war contracts—diverts for a brief period odd lots. Occasionally a plant — in the interim to civilian materials and fills a few orders from old customers. But such bounties are the exception, not the rule.

BABY: Leading figures in the trade base their gloomy prospects on the following facts of which the crux is a scarcity of yarns.

Service in the damp tropics and in mud-buried Italy is so hard on uniforms that soldiers require 12 sets of underclothing annually. Very few can be launcdered or salvaged after a campaign. In addition, the Army and Navy need other articles which absorb textiles: Facelets, mosquito barz, bandoliers, head nets, parachutes, meat bags and jungle helmets.

The population hoarded, foreseeing runs on stores. Also, vital statistics show that there has been a tremendous increase in the baby crop.

The emphasis placed upon shipbuilding and woodcutting — outdoor occupations — has depleted still further the stock piles of heavy union suits. Many sections of the nation suffer from the deprivation of fuel, with the result that more people are purchasing warm undergarments when and where procurable. The whole distribution system is so jammed that any extra burden slows deliveries.

BLANKETS: Manufacturers have been handicapped by the widely accepted belief of the employes that the war will soon be over. Willingness to operate at top speed has dwindled. Absenteeism is increasing. As old hands are drafted or leave for better paid jobs in victory plants, less efficient newcomers fail to maintain production schedules.

Incidentally, this depreciation in personnel occurs all the way from the loom to the retail counter. The problem causes headaches for store managers but they hope to improve sales forces with the introduction of pension plans and training courses.

Although woolens are in a more favorable position than linens, cottons and rayons, the conditions in the entire category will probably last until April. It will be summer before merchants will have enough fabrics. But there is a single ray of brightness in the otherwise somber picture: Accute shortages in one item—all-wool blankets for infants—should disappear nationally by March.

(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

"What will Mrs. Roosevelt do when her husband ceases to be President?" asks a columnist. Oh, she could probably get a job traveling.

In repeating itself, history gets louder and unfunnier all the time. History, in fact, is getting to be extremely boresome.

Few parents are now bothered by a wolf at the door, but those with teen-age girls are worrying themselves sick about the wolf on the street corner.

We're beginning doubt if we'll live long enough to become thoroughly world-conditioned.

The greatest favor one can do for many a person is to give him reason or excuse to get mad.

On Being A REAL PERSON

BY DR. HARRY EMERSON FOSDICK

Constant Use Of Alibis Has Root In Self-Pity And Fear Of Blame

ONE of the most familiar forms of the alibi-habit is out-and-out self-pity. Handling difficulty, making the best of bad messes, and surmounting even tragic situations is one of life's major businesses, and in a large proportion of cases the real reason why this victory is not won lies inside the individual, in habits of thought and in emotional attitudes for which the individual must take responsibility if there is to be any help.

The recognition of this, however, by the individual concerned is difficult. At times we all resemble the Maine farmer laboriously driving his horses on a dusty road. "How much longer does this hill last?" he asked a man by the roadside. "Hill!" was the answer, "Hill nothing! Your own hind wheels are off."

One reason for our insistence on seeking the cause of failure outside ourselves rather than inside is a natural reluctance to examine ourselves. Introspection is difficult. Few people effectively practice it. They are too busy, too obsessed by external affairs, too biased to see themselves fairly, and prying into their own motives, emotions, rationalizations, and escape-mechanisms, bewilders and distresses them.

THE deeper reason, however, for self-pity is our dread of self-blame. Having to choose between the two we almost inevitably incline to the first, often with justification. We are not personally to blame for everything that goes wrong with us. Yet, after all, we know the difference between a man who always has an alibi and the man who in just as distressing a situation habitually looks inward to his own attitudes and resources—no excuses, no evasions, no passing of the buck. In any matrix of external circumstances he regards himself as his major problem, certain that if he handles himself well, that is bound to make some difference.

One of the basic pre-requisites of great personality is the courage to deny oneself the luxury of alibis. If a boy, losing a race, begins at once to excuse himself—I'd have won it if I had not slipped, if I had not got a pebble in my shoe, if . . .if—we may well be concerned about him. But when he says, I was up against a faster man; there is something the matter with my form; I am going to see what I can do about it—we naturally feel proud of the boy. Anyone can recognize the forthright, objective healthymindedness of the youth who wrote home to his father after an unsuccessful football game against a rival school, "Our opponents found a big hole in our line, and that hole was me."

IT IS A difficult problem the counselor faces to persuade a person to give up his favorite alibis and tackle himself. This involves the ability to blame oneself without being discouraged by it, to accept conscience as a judge, a corrective, a guide, a compass to be both checked and sailed by, a friend that alike admonishes and enheartens with constructive leadership. Roads to this end are not always easy to find, but even the start is impossible without a man's frank confrontation of himself as conscience presents him to himself.

Jap Cruiser Sunk By British Submarine

LONDON, Jan. 21. (AP) — The sinking of a Japanese cruiser by a British submarine in a daring attack off Malaya was announced today by the admiralty, indicating that certain royal naval units transferred from the Mediterranean after the surrender of the Italian fleet may now be in action in the Far East.

The admiralty announcement did not identify the submarine, but noted that it was commanded by Lt. Com. L. W. A. Bennington, whose exploits as skipper of the submarine Porpoise in the Mediterranean contributed a stirring chapter to British naval history.

The cruiser was a 5,100-ton vessel of the Kuma class.

The locale of the attack suggested that Britain may be acting to block the flow of Japanese reinforcements and supplies to the rekindled Burma front. Also it might have been a preliminary blow in a new campaign to blockade Sumatra and Malaya, both potential targets for Allied assault.

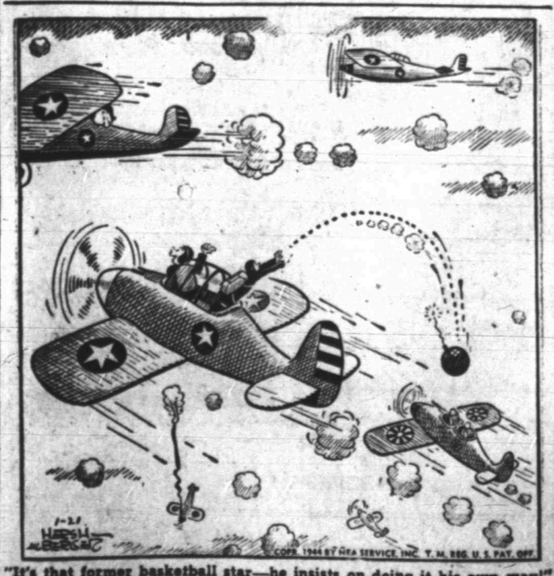

TO REBUILD SAN JUAN

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 21 (AP) — President Pedro Ramirez announced today that the Argentine nation would rebuild the city of San Juan on the site where rescue workers still are searching through ruins for victims of last week's disastrous earthquake. Ramirez said the new city would be built along modern lines to withstand tremors such as the one which has just taken a toll of more than 3,500 lives.

PROMOTIONS FOR GENERALS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, chief of staff to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Maj. Gen. George Grunert, commanding the Eastern Defense command, were nominated by President Roosevelt today for promotion to the temporary rank of lieutenant general.

Out of the Sea comes
• STRENGTH
• STAMINA
• POWER
The sea is our richest source of animal proteins, vitamins and minerals which livestock must have to be healthy, productive and fast-growing.
STANTON'S 19% LAYING MASH
brings these vital elements straight from the sea and puts them to work in your poultry yard. This fine feed, milled right here in Lubbock, contains ManAmar and B-G Plus, blended with our local-grown grains into a feed especially adapted to the needs of West Texas feeders.
B-G PLUS
is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra trace minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash.
MANAMAR
in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials — fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "Complex."
* * *
ManAmar and B-G Plus have been developed and are produced in the laboratories of Philip R. Park, famed livestock nutrition authority. These laboratories have approved the formula for Stanton's 18% Laying Mash. Let the records of users tell the rest of the story. Get all the facts today.

Wichita Pair Facing Drunk Driving Count

Two Wichita Falls men, 41 and 43, were in county jail Friday night facing charges of drunken driving after they allegedly crowded a Lubbock-bound bus and other vehicles from the pavement near Lorenzo.

The men were arrested by highway patrolmen between Lubbock and Idalou.

Police said they had found no trace in local markets of between 12,000 and 16,000 pounds of threshed maize reported by the Hockley county sheriff's department as stolen at Levelland.

Two of three Spearman men paid fines after they had been charged by police with gambling with dice in a local hotel.

Sport Wooldridge, 3107 Twenty-second street, told officers of an unpleasant aftermath of a chat on dogs he had with a stranger. Wooldridge said he was cleaning out his dog pens in the back yard of his place when a man appeared and engaged him in a conversation on their mutual penchant for bird dogs. After the man had gone Wooldridge noticed that "Sissy," one of his prize canines was missing.

The dog, he said, has a white "V" between the ears.

Bomber Forays

against the Pas-De-Calais area in the last month. The specific nature of the targets along this important stretch of the French coast never has been made known although the area has been given the popular name of the "rocket gun coast."

The aerial bombardment of the Pas-De Calais area began in earnest Dec. 24 when about 1,300 sorties were flown against it. An attack of approximately the same size was made against it on Jan. 4. Approximately 750 planes bombed the area on Jan. 7 and it was officially announced that 1,100 planes battered the same region on Jan. 14.

All Form One Group

All of the six U. S. heavy bombers lost in the French coast attack were from one group which at first was unable to find its target below the clouds but persisted and made five bombing runs before releasing its bombs. This group, commanded by Col. F. R. Dent, jr., of Kerrville, Texas, encountered furious opposition from a pack of Focke-Wulf 190's.

A responsible informant in Stockholm said that 11 war factories in the German capital's east end were struck and the borough of Neukoelln to the southeast was badly damaged. Many Berliners with whom travelers talked said the raid was the worst yet on the Reich's heart. They reported there were at least 30 huge fires at one time, 11 of which still were blazing furiously today.

being only 20.

"Do the rest of the gang agree with you" I asked.

"Hell yes," shouted a couple of Marines in the rear.

"He's been doing all right so far," said one.

"But Roosevelt better get us some beer," said Frank Knoll, Chicago, of a bomb-disposal squad.

There has been fairly heavy fighting, and shooting is still going on around here, but the old American wisecracking is irrepressible even within the Japs' range. The boy who had been shot through the back-side said as they brought him into a dressing station:

"I guess I get a trip to Melborne out of this."

Fired First Shot

COMING down the road alone was a thin young fellow, wet and muddy, Wilford Sanderson, of Ridgefield, Wash. I asked him if he had been here long. He said he fired the first shot on the beach when we landed Dec. 26 and has been in the line ever since. He was coming back to get a surgeon. Sanderson is only 18.

A few days ago these boys had foxholes within 12 feet of Jap foxholes on a small hill which the Japs had been ordered to hold at all costs. The Japs had 50 pilloboxes pointing outward all around the small hilltop. The Marines took it about 4 p. m. Then at dark the Japs charged in a mass counter-attack, chanting in English: "Marines, prepare to die! Marines, prepare to die!"

But it was the Japs who died. We lost 15 killed and 50 wounded, the Japs 280.

Tortured Desolation

I drove about 25 miles over the roads which our bulldozers have been building through the deep swamps. The scene is one of tortured desolation, as my traveling companion, Frank Mason, special assistant to Secretary Knox, put it.

These are the same Marines who fought on Guadalcanal. For instance, Corp. Harvey Payne, whose wife works on the Philadelphia Inquirer, and who will celebrate his third wedding anniversary Jan. 24. We gave him a bottle of gin for the occasion. This is his second anniversary away from home. He went in with the first of the Marines at Guadalcanal.

"Guadalcanal was a rest camp compared to this," Payne said.

Life Different Out There

I TRAMPED up the trail toward Hill 660. A little way along I met one of the Marine combat correspondents, Sam Stavisky, who was the first to step ashore here on Dec. 26. He has been out in the Pacific with the Marines for 14 months, and is living a life far different from when he was assistant city editor of the Washington Post before enlisting. Like all the others in this fighting Marine outfits, Sam is thin and has a yellow tan, from a mixture of sun and atabrine. He was muddy and wet from a dozen rains since morning. He has written 5 news stories since landing.

"The worst of it is," he said, "I go up to the front and write about some youngster and then the next day he is brought in dead. I have to try to call the story back to change it."

Stavinsky knows a story when he sees it, for he also worked on the Washington Times-Herald, the Rochester Journal and the Boston American. He said the most inspiring story he had covered was that of a hospital unit set up in a bomb crater on Hill 150, which is a small knoll between Target Hill and Hill 660. Surgeons worked on the wounded, with machine-gun bullets singing around their heads.

Shells Shatter Vegetation

Some of the most heavily concentrated shelling and bombing of the war occurred on Target Hill. Trees were stripped away and large sections of the steep mountainside knocked loose, so that instead of the distant view being green, like the other jungle hills nearby, it is brown and bare. The whole swamp growth for about eight or ten miles was chewed up by the merciless shelling and bombing before the landing, which was completed without one shot being fired at our Marines.

But they are slogging on in a wet hell now, and my last sight of the men who fought the battle of Hill 660 was of Lt. Col. E. J. Buckley, Bethlehem, Pa., calling out "good luck!" as we left, and of men waving. It makes you want to weep.

TRIAL DATE ADVANCED

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—The trial of Wayne Lonergan, charged with first degree murder in the slaying of his wife, Patricia Burton Lonergan, was advanced one week today to Jan. 24, assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet announced.

At the beginning of 1943, the air transport command of the U. S. Army Air Forces operated over 90,000 miles of air routes.

News Briefs

Two grass fires, at Carlisle park and 1310 Tenth street, were reported last night by the fire department. The fires occurred late yesterday afternoon.

Rabbi Isadore Garsek reviewed "The Forgotten Ally" by Pierre Van Passen at regular services last night at the Congregation Shaareth Israel. Services were conducted in Hebrew and English.

Gipsy Smith Speaks On Sampson's Life

Gipsy Smith, jr., evangelist, spoke on the "Life of Sampson" last night before a capacity audience in the First Baptist church auditorium where he is conducting a revival sponsored by leading churches of Lubbock. In his sermon Mr. Smith illustrated the life of Sampson in showing "how each man has one sin that will bring him down."

The evangelist will not conduct services today, and regular pastors will fill their pulpits in Lubbock Sunday morning. Mr. Smith will conduct services Sunday morning in the First Baptist church at Slaton. Sunday night he will preach in the united revival in the First Baptist church here. The educational building will be wired for sound for the Sunday evening services to accommodate an expected capacity audience.

Monroe of the 309th detachment; Maj. Frank E. Hangs of the ASTP and ASTRP; Maj. Emmett Lee of the recruiting and induction station, and Maj. B. C. McCasland of TSG.

Others to be in the stand will include Neil H. Wright, general chairman, and other officials of the Fourth War Loan drive; Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president of Tech; the mayors and city commissioners of Lubbock and Slaton; and County Judge G. V. Pardue and members of the county commission.

General Chairman Wright will be grand marshal of the parade. The commander of troops, who will lead the procession, will be Capt. Louis C. Grinnell, commander of aviation students of the 309th detachment. His staff will consist of 1st Lt. Harold L. Hosford and 2nd Lts. Peter F. O'Brien and Russell L. Gorman, also stationed at Tech.

Date for the official start of the Fourth War Loan drive in the city of Lubbock has not been set. The campaign in rural areas of the county is now officially underway, following a meeting of area chairmen and committees in the city hall here Thursday afternoon.

Argentine Consul Held In Spy Case

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Argentine foreign office announced tonight that British officials at Trinidad had removed and detained Osmar Alberto Hellmuth, an Argentine consul, from a vessel en route to Europe and "the British foreign office informed this chancellery (foreign office) that detention was the result of information that proved Hellmuth was an 'enemy agent'."

The foreign office communique said that Hellmuth "has been relieved of his functions because his conduct appears to have been compromising." The foreign office did not specify where Hellmuth served as consul.

War Also Proves Up As Screwball Game

GUADALCANAL, Solomons, Saturday, Jan. 22. (AP) — This screwball war—

There were some drums of oil on the beach at Empress Augusta bay. A storm washed some out to sea.

To prevent them from falling into Japanese hands, a United States dive bomber was sent out to destroy them.

Before the bomber could fulfill its mission, Japanese on the edge of the American beachhead spotted the oil drums.

Arkansas Develops New Cotton Variety

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 21 (AP)—The University of Arkansas' school of agriculture has reported the development of a new high yielding variety of cotton that will facilitate mechanical picking.

The Arkansas Rowden 60A variety, as it is called, has an upright stalk and medium-to-large bolls that open wide and sit close to the main stem, the university announced today. In four tests, conducted in 1942, it yielded an average of 484 pounds of lint per acre, had an average staple length of 1 1-32 inches, and had a gin turnout of 37.4 per cent, the announcement said.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Niccum, 1806 Avenue G, on birth of an eight-pound, one-ounce daughter at 7:20 p. m. Thursday in St. Mary's hospital. The father is a floor sander.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Alexander, Morton, route one, on birth of a son weighing eight pounds six ounces at 5:43 p. m. Thursday in St. Mary's hospital. Alexander is a farmer.

Pfc. and Mrs. Derrill Linn, 1622 Tenth street, on birth of a two pound two ounce daughter at 8:40 o'clock this morning in St. Mary's hospital. The father is stationed at South Plains Army Air field.

Russians Roll On

Mga into Leningrad.

Southwest on Leningrad where other troops had snapped off a German corridor to the sea Thursday, the communique announced that "our troops have completely liquidated and dispersed groups of routed German troops who had been encircled in previous engagements."

In this area, southwest and south of Krasnoye Selo, another 14 towns and hamlets were taken by the Russians.

Lower White Russia

Far to the south, in lower white Russia, Gen Constantine Rokossovsky's armies struck out in the Kalinkovichi-Mozyr area and captured Ozarichi, a district center 25 miles northwest of Kalin-Kovichi and eight other communities.

In the north the magnitude of the German defeat was mounting by the hour as the Russians closed in upon the communication keys to the entire Baltic front. The Germans were said to be retreating steadily, burning and pillaging as they withdrew.

The Russians pounding toward the Estonian border were aiming toward the Luga river from Novgorod. The German satellite radio in Paris suggested the river was only a minor barrier. This broadcast hinted the Germans might be unable to reform a line short of Lake Peipus on the Estonian border and the river Narva.

In the northern drives the Russians already have counted 40,000 Nazi troops slain and 4,000 captured.

No. 30 Is Sugar Stamp Now Valid

The gremlins are at work on our newspaper again!

You remember those funny little guys who used to give the boys in the RAF a lot of trouble. They've been missing from news of late.

Well, one paid a visit to the Avalanche-Journal office last night and inserted a typographical error in the Rationing Roundup on page 4 and caused the grocers and staff members of this newspaper a lot of trouble today.

This particular gremlin, it seems, deals in making errors in rationing notices. He inserted No. 29 stamp in the sugar department of the roundup in place of stamp No. 30, which is good through March 31.

Stamp No. 29 expired yesterday.

We'd like to catch that little guy and give him a good choking. It isn't the first time he's caused us trouble.

river banks.

French forces that crossed the Rapido river four miles above Cassino threatened to flank German troops defending that gunringed fortress.

The combined Allied Mediterranean air forces plastered the Ciampino and Centocelle air fields on Rome's southeastern outskirts and sprayed fragmentation bombs on the Guidonia field 14 miles northeast of the capital.

Five Germans Downed

Five German craft were shot down during the day for a loss of two Allied ships.

Hundreds of Allied fighter bombers and light bombers escorted by fighters supported the Fifth Army attack while British cruisers and destroyers poured hundreds of rounds into the enemy along the Tyrrhenian coast. The heaviest shelling, spread over Tuesday and Wednesday, was concentrated on the Appian Way where that historic road runs close to the sea near the village of Terracina at the foot of the Pontine marshes.

Senate Tax Plan

count for the remaining $96,900,000.

The Victory tax on individuals made was a straight 3 per cent levy income over $624 a year, regardless of family status. The present rate is 5 per cent gross, with a system of credits which reduces the effective rate to 3.75 per cent for single persons 3 per cent for married persons, further reduced by 1-10 of one per cent for each dependent.

Effective Date

The excise increases become effective on the first day of the first month beginning at least 10 days after enactment—which in all likelihood means March 1. The income tax changes will not affect returns for 1943.

Over the strenuous opposition of both the president and treasury, the Senate voted to freeze the social security payroll tax for 1944 at the present level of 1 per cent each on employers and employes, instead of permitting an automatic advance to 2 per cent, as provided in the social security act.

ECLIPSE OF SUN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (U.P.)—The only 1944 total eclipse of the sun will be seen in partial phase on Jan. 25 in states bordering the Gulf of Mexico, the U. S. naval observatory announced today.

Allied Triple Squeeze May Clear Up Whole Liri Valley

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

British elements of the Fifth Army in Italy, pushing down the north slope of low Minturno ridge on the left flank, have set foot on something more immediately important to the Allied march on Rome than the classical Appian Way route between Rome and Naples.

With capture of Minturno, they are moving on an indicated seven-mile front to clear the coastal sector of the Minturno-Cassino-Alina lateral highway. French units of General Mark Clark's Army are astride that road at the enshore end, and American forces in the center, are converging on Cassino.

SIMPSON

Thus it seems clear that an Allied triple squeeze is in progress aimed at clearing the whole width of the Liri valley.

Further proof that the Nazis are prepared to give up another short but highly important step of the main military road to Rome comes from German prisoners. They report a secondary defense line six miles north of Cassino is in readiness.

Main Allied Objective

British elements holding the sea flank of the Fifth army front west of Minturno are astride the Appian Way. It is obvious on any detailed map of Italy, however, that not the Appian Way, but the Minturno-Cassino cross road is the Allied objective in jumping the Garigliano river. The natural defenses available to bar a direct push up the Appian Way are far too formidable to expect such an Allied attempt.

The Appian Way comes down to the shore near Gaeta because of the solid hill mass still in Nazi hands north of the Garigliano and confronting British forces. It skirts those hills on a narrow coastal shelf to reach the southern end of the pointing marshes at Terracina, then runs due northeast to Rome in a virtual straight line across the marshes.

System Wrecked By Nazis

Those once deady bogs were drained some years ago, but Allied observation has shown that the Germans have wrecked the drainage system to reconvert them into what would probably prove an impassable military barrier to any Allied thrust along that route.

And there is still nowhere in evidence any great promise of decisive action or a faster-paced Allied advance on Rome. The Italian campaign still seems primarily an Allied diversion play to aid the tremendous Russian offensive in the east and help out an Allied west front amphibious attack when the appointed hour for that strikes.

Boundary Question Still In Deadlock

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Efforts to settle the Russian-Polish border dispute apparently were deadlocked tonight at least until Moscow answers overtures made by Washington.

The Poles, insisting the dispute was a matter for the whole United Nations, were waiting anxiously to see whether the Soviet government replies to the offer of mediation made by U. S. Secretary of State Hull.

The Soviet government has declined to deal directly with the London Polish government, with which it has severed relations.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Identity of four officers and nine enlisted men killed yesterday when a Navy B-24 Liberator crashed in flames while taking off from Camp Kearney naval auxiliary air station was announced today by 11th naval district headquarters.

The dead included Ens. Richard Conrad Fete, of Gainesville, Tex.

TEN SAID EXECUTED

Formal Opening Set For Club At SPAAF

Enlisted men, officers and civilian workers at South Plains Army Air field will be guests tonight at the opening of the new Enlisted Men's Service club at the field.

A formal presentation of the club has been planned at 7:30 o'clock with Col. Norman B. Olsen, commanding officer, making the presentation speech to the Service Club council and later presenting the enlisted men with the key to the building.

A dance for enlisted men has been planned for 8:30 o'clock until 12 o'clock tonight with the SPAAF orchestra playing.

The new club is located at the field and is one of the finest entertainment centers in this part of the state. The club features a fine dance floor, beautiful lounge chairs, soft drink bar, writing tables, juke box, magazines and other things for the comfort of the soldiers.

Rayburn's Bid As Running Mate Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—A Washington political observer, Robert C. Albright, says Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) will make another bid for the vice presidential nomination when he delivers the main Democratic Jackson day dinner speech in Washington tomorrow night.

Albright, writer for the Washington Post, declared that the talk will be made with the knowledge—and perhaps at the request of—President Roosevelt.

The president in the past has made the chief talk personally at the top Democratic fund-raising Dinner in the nation's capital.

DRYS SET MEETING

News Briefs

A total of $5,535.45 in war bonds and stamps was purchased by students of the George M. Hunt school this week in connection with the Fourth War Loan Drive, according to Lenon Hill, principal. This week's sale made the school's total for the year $9,000. Bonds and stamps sales are under the direction of Miss Mildred Boone, teacher in the school. Largest sales for the week by Miss Aileene Turley, teacher of third year primary, who sold $1,900 worth.

Two Ohio women arrived here yesterday to swell the ranks of the WACs on active duty at the Lubbock Army Air field. Both were assigned to the photographic department, although like most of their 'brothers in uniform,' neither one was a photographer in civilian life, but accepted Army training for the job they wanted most to do. Corporal Elsie P. Belgan, of East Cleveland, was a seamstress, and Private Helen F. Berry, of Bucyrus, was adrug clerk.

A permanent injunction issued Friday to R. B. Grindstaff, enjoining him from entering upon a 67-acre tract belonging to Mrs. Emalee Smith, applicant for relief. The action was in 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair in Cochran county. Judge Blair recessed a Cochran county grand jury that had been recessed until Jan. 24, until further orders—since there were no complaints on file for its consideration. It had been assembled for the October, 1943 term. Thursday, in Crosby county, Judge Blair appointed three commissioners to divide in kind 300 acres of land in the partition suit of Edward F. Peck against Joseph H. Peck and others.

Slavs Storm Back To Mountain Stronghold

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Yugoslav Partisan troops have stormed back into the mountain stronghold of Jajce in western Bosnia, former headquarters for Marshal Josip Broz (Tito), the Partisans announced in their communique today.

In addition to the reoccupation of Jajce, which has changed hands half a dozen times in bitter struggles and last fell to the Germans on Jan. 12, the bulletin told of hard street fighting in the eastern Bosnia town of Tuzla.

In sorties against rail lines within the shadow of Belgrade and along the Dalmatian coast near Gospic, trains were derailed and German feeder lines to active battlegrounds were seriously impaired, the Partisans said.

FDA TO BUY COTTON

DALLAS, Jan. 21. (AP) — The Food Distribution administration has announced plans to purchase approximately 332,000 bales of raw cotton on the open market for shipment to Allied nations, L. J. Cappleman, regional food distribution director, said here today.

SON AND MOTHER DIE

TULSA, Jan. 21. (AP)—William Bissett, 47-year-old truck line superintendent, died last night after a two-day illness and two hours later his blind mother, Mrs. Belle Bissett, 85, was injured fatally in a fall down her cellar stairs.

World Freedom On News Urged

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (U.P.)—The newspapers should ask Congress for a joint resolution committing the government to a policy of world-wide freedom of information "and abundant and uncensored facilities of information in peacetime," Nelson P. Poynter, editor of the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times, said today in an article prepared for publication in Editor and Publisher.

"Each newspaper can importune its state delegation to support such a non-partisan resolution, and can urge both political parties and all the leading candidates to make similar commitments," Poynter said in outlining what he called a "shirt-sleeve plan" for world-wide freedom of the press.

Bilateral Treaties

"Instead of waiting for a full-dress peace conference, let us agitate now for a series of bilateral treaties to solemnize and codify unwritten understandings on information policies. Perhaps Canada, the Scandinavian states, Switzerland, the Philippines and the more democratic Latin-American countries may offer immediate possibilities for such agreements. The negotiations of these treaties can provide a dress rehearsal for still broader instruments to extend freedom of expression after the war.

"We can shoot for at least one model treaty as a standard for the rest of the world. We should try for goals beyond the objectives which look to laymen like only newspaper industrial problems. Among other points such a reciprocal treaty would include:

"1. Equal access to news.

"2. Equal transmission rates.

"3. Guarantees against expulsion of writers, broadcasters and film makers.

"4. Guarantees against barriers to importation of news, features, books, magazines, newspapers and films.

"5. Guarantees against restrictions on power, of radio receivers, or the right to listen.

"6. Agreement to bend every effort to reduce costs of information between countries.

"7. Agreement that any printing, broadcasting or films paid for directly or indirectly, or subsidized in any way by a government, should be labeled by that government."

SALES SHOW INCREASE

DALLAS, Jan. 21. (AP)—Department store sales for the week ended Jan. 15, 1944, compared with the week ended Jan. 16, 1943, showed increases of 20 percent at Dallas, 12 at Fort Worth, 8 at Housotn, and 2 at San Antonio, the Dallas Federal Reserve bank reported.

LIQUIDATION URGED

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21. (AP) — The government should promptly liquidate its industrial plants at the end of the war and not compete with private industry, Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the U. S. Steel corporation, said last night.

Anonymous Donor Sends $18,909 As Gift To Treasury

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—An anonymous donor enriched the treasury by $18,909.38 today—not a payment for taxes but "an elementary way of expressing belief in a democracy."

The check, received by Internal Revenue Commissioner Robert E. Hannegan, was accompanied by a letter which said:

"Please keep my name out of any discussion of this. I have recently been given some money which is more than I need or want. This money was tax exempt and in distributing it I want to give some to the government where I believe it can do the greatest amount of good."

The donor did not explain how he arrived at the amount.

McNutt Flays Greed As Big Enemy Aid

DETROIT, Jan. 21. (AP) — Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt denounced tonight as allies of the enemy the worker who wants to leave the war production line in order to "land feet first" in peace, and the "hard-boiled" employer "who wants to beat his competitor to the post-war market."

He denied "rumors of tremendous cutbacks" in war production and asked Detroit and the nation to "reject the peace scare that would collapse the manpower front."

In a speech for the Detroit Victory council, McNutt said the term "cutback" is "a rumor word—a propaganda word."

He said it may be "very dangerous" in this era "when the peace scare is a major instrument in the war of nerves."

Concerning President Roosevelt's request for a worker draft act, McNutt said that under a "sound" law, Detroit's need for a strong local manpower program would not be reduced at all.

Stop And Start Are Entirely Different

CLAYTON, Ga., Jan. 21 (AP) — Unable to get a woman witness to talk, Attorney Clyde Holden plied a stream of questions.

Finally he broke through her reticence and the witness launched on a long explanatory harangue, refusing to be interrupted.

"Your honor, will you please stop this witness?" Holden appealed to Superior Court Judge T. S. Chandler. "She won't answer my questions."

"Stop her yourself, Mr. Holden," ruled the judge. "You started her."

PAPER QUOTA FREE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Newspaper publishers who wish to distribute the American Red Cross war fund drive supplement as a section of their papers need not include the paper used as part of their quota of newsprint, the War Production board ruled today.

Nazis Exhorted To Break Pan-America

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 21 (AP) — A purported photograph of a letter signed by Ruppert Weilhermer, secretary of the political bureau of the German embassy at Buenos Aires, instructing all Nazi agents in South America to do their utmost this year to break up the Pan-American bloc, was published today by the newspaper La Razon.

The letter, quoting instructions from Erich Otto Meynan, German chairge d'affaires in Argentina, said its inspiration came from Adolf Hitler, and iron crosses were promised faithful workers in the German political cause in South America.

La Razor declared the letter definitely proved a connection between German agents and the Argentine revolution of last June as well as a link with the Bolivian coup of last month.

The newspaper said the letter was addressed to Robert Kellman, foremost Nazi agent in Brazil, and was dated Dec. 28, 1943. The letter stated that Meynen had received a personal message from Hitler "expressing his gratefulness and recognition to me and all my collaborates on account of services rendered this year in the American continent."

Jap-Americans Will Be Reclassified

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP) — American citizens of Japanese descent again will be brought under the selective service program.

The War department said today that Japanese-Americans considered acceptable for military service will be reclassified by their draft boards on the same basis as other citizens. None has been drafted since February, 1942.

The announcement said that "the excellent showing" which the 442nd combat team has made in training and the "outstanding record" achieved by the 100th battalion now fighting in Italy, both composed of Japanese-American volunteers, were major factors in the decision to reinstate selective service for citizens of Japanese descent.

MOLASSES FORBIDDEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—In an effort to conserve beet molasses, the current crop of which is estimated to be 35 per cent short, the War Production board today prohibited its use in mixed feed for livestock.

Publisher Resorts To 'Haint' Trick But Gets His Rest

DALLAS, Jan. 21 (AP)—B. R. P. Matthews of Tulsa had a good night's sleep in crowded Dallas, but it came only after he had produced and starred in a ghostly drama.

In Dallas for a conference with the OPA, the Tulsa columnist and publisher searched two days for a room, unsuccessfully. Then, somebody remembered an OPA hospital room in the building.

All went well until a fearful clatter in the hall disturbed the sleeping Matthews. The maids had come for the nightly round of cleaning.

Matthews acted quickly. He uttered a ghostly sound, and his spectre-like appearance through the opaque glass in the door completed the effect.

Matthews heard the cry of "it's a haint!" and departing footsteps. He went back to bed and to sleep—and the fourth floor of the building went without its nightly cleaning.

Negro Workmen Ask Removal Of Foreman

GALVESTON, Jan. 21. (U.P.) — Several hundred negro workmen at the Todd-Galveston Drydocks, Inc., today demanded removal of their white foreman because he used "abusive language" in giving them orders.

Work crews composed of approximately 500 men left their jobs yesterday noon. There was no indication when they would return.

A brief statement issued by the negro laborers' local 1166 said no strike was involved and the only complaint was the language of the foreman.

R. J. Vanderwende, president and general manager of the drydock corporation, declined to comment.
