'DENVER' TRAIN WRECK LEAVES 2 DEAD, 23 HURT

Wichita Falls Records First Heat Casualty As Mercury Hits 107 Again

When Crack "Plains Flier" Took Plunge Near Oklaunion

—Photos by S. & S. Commercial Studio.

AGED OFFICER COLLAPSES ON CITY STREET

F. W. Walker in Critical Condition at Hospital After Stroke

THIRD TORRID DAY

Tortuous Sun Sends Temperature to 107 For Maximum

The third consecutive day of record-breaking heat, climaxing a prolonged stretch of hot, dry weather, brought its first prostration to Wichita Falls Sunday, striking F. W. Walker, 74, veteran peace officer, as he started his rounds at Ninth and Indiana about 7 o'clock in the evening.

The aged man was seen to throw up his arms and collapse on the sidewalk. He was rushed to the Wichita General hospital where his condition was pronounced serious. He had not regained consciousness at a late hour Sunday night. Mr. Walker was employed as night-watchman on the police force, where he has served for many years.

Mercury Hits 107

The collapse of the aged man came at the close of another day of terrific heat, in which the mercury for the third day reached a peak of 107 degrees in Wichita Falls and throughout the surrounding territory. Suffering from the broiling sun was increased by the absence of a breeze, the wind velocity averaging only two miles an hour throughout the 24-hour period. The temperature stayed high through the night Saturday and Sunday morning, registering 84 degrees at its lowest.

Widespread damage to corn and cotton crops was reported throughout the section as the drouth stretched into a new week Sunday. Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma being held in the grip of the dry weather which oppressed all of the Middle West.

A few clouds and a low barometer reading Sunday offered only an illusory hope for relief and no promise of a break was contained in the official weather forecast. Sunday was the 18th day out of the last 19 in which the mercury here has climbed beyond the century mark.

HEAT TORTURES ALL OF SOUTHWEST

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3. (AP)—A torturous sun prevailed over the Southwest today and sent the mercury beyond the century mark centrally and in many points to new seasonal high records.

In Kansas City hot winds combined with the sun to put relief beyond the reach of those who sought parks and other favorite spots.

The unofficial reading at 4 o'clock was 104.

The mercury soared to 110 at Topeka this afternoon, exceeding an

End of Endurance Flight Is Mystery

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Aug. 3.. (UP)—The sudden failure of a Stinson monoplane to remain aloft toward the end of the 13th day of an endurance flight remained a mystery today after experts had given its motors a thorough inspection.

Robert Black and Louis Reichers, the pilots, said upon landing last night they were unable to keep altitude and were gradually forced down. Both fliers were in excellent health, said they were not tired and expressed willingness to go up again at once in the same or a sister ship.

Chimney Sitter At Quanah Forced Down

QUANAH, Texas, Aug. 3. (UP)—Despite his vehement protests, Harold Wey, 11, was forced down from the chimney of his home today by his parents, after he had been up 481 hours and 35 minutes.

The parents grounded the boy at the advice of a physician who said Harold was suffering from an abscessed ear.

Harold gained two and one-half pounds during his endurance test, and except for his ear trouble, appeared to be in good physical condition.

TILLMAN PAIR MAKE BOND IN LIQUOR CASE

Officials Return Home After Appearance In Capital

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 3.—County Attorney P. V. Ruch and C. A. Wages, sheriff, were on their way back to Frederick Sunday night after making bond in Oklahoma City on federal charges of conspiring to violate the national prohibition laws.

The two were arrested here Sunday morning by federal agents on warrants filed in Oklahoma City Saturday night. They were released on bond Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Ruch left Frederick Sunday afternoon in her car to bring the county attorney back to Tillman county, where he is expected to be in his office Monday. Wages was expected here late Sunday night.

The charges were filed after Bud Walls, former peace officer now under three whisky counts, brought charges of a widespread "liquor ring" involving Tillman county officials.

A special grand jury called for Aug. 15 will be conducted by Attorney General J. Berry King upon the order of Governor Holloway. Roy St. Lewis, federal district attorney who issued the warrants against the Tillman county officers, has declared that a thorough investigation of conditions through the county will be made. The probe has already involved Robert Rodgers, Frederick constable, arrested last week.

The three accused officials were candidates for re-election in the primary here last Tuesday. A. C. Chancy defeated Ruch; Rodgers was beaten, and Wages went into the run-off with William McAfee.

Posthumous War Honors for Texan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (AP)—The war department announced today a posthumous award of the distinguished service cross to George T. Dugat, corporal, company D, 362nd infantry, of the 91st division of the American expeditionary forces, for extraordinary heroism in action near Epinonville, France, Sept. 26, 1918.

The citation read:

"Corporal Dugat, in company with two other soldiers, while advancing well to the front of the company as scouts, encountered eight enemy machine guns and four snipers, which by brave action and good judgment were put out of action and the enemy captured or killed. On Oct. 1, 1918, while on duty with his company Corporal Dugat made the supreme sacrifice."

He was born at Cove, Texas. His next of kin, a brother, Cornelius E. Dugat, lives at Oklahoma City, Okla.

Boulder Dam Railway Extension Starts Aug. 15

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 3. (US)—Construction work on the branch line of the Union Pacific railroad from this town to the Boulder canyon dam site is expected to begin in about two weeks, it was announced today.

Red Army Drives Fettered Peasants Before It to Serve as Human Screen

HANKOW, Aug. 3. (AP)—A wounded colonel of Hunan provincial troops, who arrived at a hospital here today said hordes of Red soldiers advanced into battle at Changsha, driving many fettered peasants before them. The officer said the farmers' arms were bound behind their backs.

The troops ceased their fire when they realized they were slaughtering helpless farmers in large numbers, the colonel added, and were dispersed by the Communists who advanced into Changsha inflicting heavy losses on the provincial soldiery.

The situation at Changsha tonight was obscure. Indications were that the Communists, having looted and burned the silk manufacturing city, were beginning to withdraw to a point 10 miles northeast, where the major body of Reds was entrenching and mounting machine guns, apparently anticipating a government attack.

SIX DROWN IN BOAT DISASTER

Five Children and Pilot Lost At Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 3. (AP)—Six persons, five of them children, were drowned in the Ohio river near here today when a boat containing 12 people capsized about 150 yards from the shore. The craft, a flat bottomed boat equipped with an outboard motor, overturned when its pilot attempted to cut across a strong current.

Those drowned were Joseph Guenthner, 45, his daughter Matilda, 12, a cousin, Mary Louise Heichelbach, 10, two of Guenthner's nieces, Mildred, 12, and Mary Lee Guenthner, 10, and a nephew, William Guenthner Jr.

Leo Guenthner, 21, another son of the drowned man, was piloting the boat. When the boat overturned he succeeded in saving three children by pulling them to the overturned boat and placing them on it. He clung to the side and prevented them from falling off until aid arrived.

Lawrence Shackiette, another youth in the boat when it capsized, swam ashore with a fourth child. Meanwhile the elder Guenthner and the other four children had sunk below the surface.

Man and Wife Found Shot to Death on Tracks

LINDEN, N. J., Aug. 3. (UP)—In what appeared to police to be either a double suicide or a murder and suicide, the bodies of Henry Marteis, 76, and his wife, Katherine, 65, of Jersey Shore, Pa., today were found on Pennsylvania railroad tracks near the station here.

Both had been shot in the head with bullets from a .38 caliber revolver. Neither had been touched by a passing train.

Byrd's Ship to Be Exhibited for Public

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (US)—The bark, City of New York, used by Rear Admiral Byrd on his recent antarctic expedition, has been refitted as an exhibition ship and will be opened to the public next Saturday. It will be moored at the foot of Ninety-sixth street in the Hudson river. On board is an extensive collection of antarctica collected on the recent expedition.

Vice Lord PutOnSpot By Woman

Jack Zuta's Death Laid To Work of Female Gangster

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (AP)—Officials investigating the assassination of Jack Zuta, who trafficked in women, today were agreed the wily head of the Moran-Aiello vice syndicate had come to his death through the same medium.

With revenge for the slaying of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Tribune crime reporter, generally accepted as the motive, authorities have uncovered evidence indicating it was a woman who put Zuta "on the spot."

Zuta telephoned an unnamed woman in Chicago frequently, they have established, and made the last call shortly before his scheduled departure from a summer hotel near Delafield, Wis., was blocked by the bullets of an execution squad.

Two groups of gangsters were in the general vicinity of Zuta's hideout, detectives ascertained, and presumably they moved in to slay Zuta when the mystery woman informed them of his intended retreat.

One of Zuta's calls to Chicago was traced to a Mrs. Laura Nelson at a north side address. She was questioned yesterday and released. When police sought to take her into custody again on later information she had fled.

Meanwhile, Pat Roche, member of the commission investigating the Lingle murder, announced he believed the blond gunman who shot Lingle to death June 9 in a crowded railroad runway, was in the group that ended Zuta's long criminal career. Descriptions given by witnesses to both assassinations tallied in detail.

Texas Athlete Hurt In Auto Accident

SAN MARCOS, Texas, Aug. 3. (UP)—Carrol E. Horton, captain of the San Marcos Teachers college football team, was paralyzed from his waist down, today, as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident near here Saturday night.

Robert Obets, another athlete, was injured seriously in the wreck when the car, driven by Obets, struck loose gravel on the San Marcos-Seguin highway, hurtling the car into a deep ditch. It was feared Horton's back was broken.

SURVIVORS OF CRASH TELL OF TRAGEDY HERE

Women 'Can't Remember' Much About Train Disaster

Women passengers who figured in the wreck of Fort Worth and Denver train No. 6 at Oklaunion Sunday morning were, almost without exception, so panic stricken they hardly realized what had happened until they were well away from the scene of the accident.

Most of the approximately 75 passengers brought here to board a special train for points south were women. Bandages over minor bruises and contusions, splotches of mercurochrome and mud-splattered clothing identified the survivors of the wreck as they waited in the station for their train.

One of the busiest of the temporarily stranded travelers was Mrs. Jeff Arnold of Ardmore, Okla., who was on her way home with her two small children, one a baby a few months old and the other less than three years old. Mrs. Arnold was in the second Pullman car to leave the rails. The car was turned almost perpendicular to the track, one end resting in the bar pit at the side of the embankment. The mother and two babies escaped injury but she was unable to say what saved them. She did not remember whether her baby was in her arms when she was removed from the car but was certain a man had assisted her from the wreckage.

Others in the derailed Pullman included Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Roberts of Amarillo and Mrs. T. B. Tanner of Harlingen, Texas.

"I have seen several train wrecks but that was the worst," Mrs. Tanner said. "The confusion was so great it is hard to say just what

Crack-Up Halts Mears and Brown In Start of Projected Round-World Hop

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., Aug. 3. (AP)—The attempt of John Henry Mears and Henry J. Brown to break the Graf Zeppelin's round-the-world record ended in a crack-up here today when their airplane jumped the runway, ran into the brush, and was wrecked as they tried to take off across the Atlantic.

Both Mears and Brown escaped injury, and even their small dog mascot, "Tailwind 11," was believed to have come out of the wreck unscathed, searchers believed the mascot, freightened by the accident had taken to the woods.

Members of the Harbor Grace committee blamed the accident on the fliers' decision to take off before daylight, using flares to light the runway. They taxied across the field diagonally to take advantage of the wind, and the plane went off the southern edge of the runway.

THREE SHOT IN BOY GANG WAR

Juvenile Gunmen Avenge Fistic Beating

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (AP)—Three child bystanders were shot and wounded today when a juvenile "gang war" broke out in the heart of Chicago's west side melting pot.

The story, as witnesses related it to police, was that Louis Hoda, 11, and Albert Biachi, 7—small but mighty—used their fists upon the Obazza brothers—John and Teddy, 12 and 14—with results very distressing to the Obazzas, who finally took to flight.

Louis and Albert were gloating pridefully for the benefit of Sam Sharisena, 6; Billy Korkoras, 8; and Florence Mollerke, 15, when John, carrying a handful of bullets, and Teddy, bearing a rifle, returned to erase the stain from the Obazza escutcheon.

When the smoke had cleared, Sam was lying on the sidewalk with a bullet in the right leg; Billie with one in the right thigh; and Florence with a wound in the right foot. Albert and Louis were unscathed, and the Obazzas had fled, failing to carry out a gangland practice in one respect: they had no "high-powered car."

Claims Swamp Offices Of Veterans Bureau

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (US)—With the reopening of more than 600,000 claims by world war veterans and the filing of 125,000 new claims by Spanish war veterans, the new veterans administration is literally swamped, it was learned today.

In addition, countless thousands of new claims by world war veterans being filed at regional offices throughout the country will shortly be added to the avalanche, thus adding to the task of the administration.

Texas Girl Killed In Motorcycle Collision

CORSICANA, Texas, Aug. 3. (AP)—Lena Mae Bridges, 15, was fatally injured last night and Cecil Lynch and Jack Alsup suffered minor injuries when a motorcycle on which they were riding was in collision with a truck on the highway near here. Miss Bridges died soon after being brought here to a hospital. Her head was crushed, her legs broken and she suffered internal injuries. Funeral rites were held today.

Blonds In Majority At Review

Brunets Scarce in 39 Beauties Contesting At Galveston

GALVESTON, Texas, Aug. 3. (AP)—The American and foreign newspaper reading and theater public, according to the evidence at hand in the International Pageant of Pulchritude, leans toward the blond. About 60 per cent of the 39 girls selected through those mediums and here to contest for the title "Beauty Queen of the Universe," are blond, slim and of medium height, a check today just before the start of one of the pageant features, the float parade of girls in bathing costume, revealed.

Where a brunet was chosen, she usually was a trifle more boyish in figure than her blond companions and, generally speaking just a bit taller. The "stately" type was in the decided minority, there being no more than three or four who would qualify for that description. Not more than three were plump and the average was about 19.

The percentages ran more or less true even in the seven foreign entries, five of whom are from the European section where it is popularly believed the girls are dark eyed and raven haired. Four of the seven are blonds and Miss Turkey has long light curls rather after the Mary Pickford fashion. Miss France is the most unquestioned brunet of all.

The list was brought down to 39, incidentally, by the announcement today that Miss Nacogdoches, Texas, Miss Lois Adams, was ill at home and would not come.

Today's program included only the float parade and a pageant "Jealousy of Mars," tonight at a beach side park. Most of the beauties went to church this morning, some, it was reported to the First Baptist, which in newspaper advertisements had called on its friends and members to "overflow" the pews in protest against staging events of this pageant on Sunday.

Work on New Liberty Church Begins Today

LIBERTY, Texas, Aug. 3. (AP)—Ground will be broken tomorrow for the $30,000 Liberty Methodist church, with Rev. D. S. Hotchkiss, pastor, conducting the services. R. E. Meekins and son, contractors, will begin work on the building immediately.

HOSPITALS IN THREE CITIES TREAT VICTIMS

Two Veteran Enginemen Die When Sprung Rails Trip Locomotive

WICHITANS INJURED

Mrs. L. C. Tyson and Daughter Listed Among Score Of Casualties

While two emergency wrecking crews cleared the road for service and repaired the displaced rail which Sunday morning sent a Fort Worth and Denver passenger train hurtling down an embankment at Oklaunion, a check of the disaster's toll Sunday night showed two dead and 23 injured, 13 seriously.

F. P. Robinson, 2006 Fillmore, Wichita Falls, 67-year-old engineer who has held the throttle for the road for almost a half century was instantly killed when the locomotive somersaulted from the track. A. B. Vance of Amarillo, fireman, hurled free of the locomotive, died a few hours later from scalds and other injuries in a Vernon hospital.

Three Wichitans Hurt

The seriously injured were in hospitals at Vernon, Electra and Wichita Falls Sunday night. Three of the number, Mrs. L. C. Tyson and Miss Francis Tyson, 1512 Tenth street, and Mrs. Oda Toland, Route 3, were Wichitans. Mrs. Tyson and her daughter are in the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital. Mrs. Toland was able to go to her home.

The Wichita Fall Clinic hospital also received Mrs. L. D. Trice of Oklahoma City, suffering from serious internal injuries.

In the hospital at Vernon are:

Miss Hazel Fry, Leonard, cut and bruised.

Miss Virginia Clark, White Deer, back injuries.

Miss Clara Shelby, Pampa, back injuries and bruises.

Carl Echols, McPherson, Kan., critically injured internally.

I. D. Bowen, Dalhart, head and shoulder bruises.

Jessie Cromer, negro, Goss.

Electra hospitals received:

C. S. Clopton, Amarillo, right hand cut and bruised.

W. L. Corn, Morse, leg and back injuries.

Willie B. Jones, negress, Dallas, leg and back injuries.

Minor Injuries

The official list of the passengers who suffered minor cuts and bruises and were given first aid treatment in Wichita Falls included: W. C. Bradford, Amarillo child; J. B. Walker, Fort Worth, news buteh on the train; B. C. Franklin, Plainview; J. A. Hughes.

TRAIN WRECK FATAL TO TWO

Veteran Enginemen Killed At Oklaunion

Amarillo; Mrs. Bob Smith, Burleson; Mrs. E. D. Hill, Amarillo; Mary Sue Hill, 3, Amarillo; Mrs. Hazel Ogletree, Bowie; Neil Clark, San Antonio; Mrs. E. F. Harum, Fort Worth.

The locomotive and six cars of passenger train No. 6, southbound from Amarillo, bearing 90 passengers, plunged down the embankment just east of the underpass at Oklaunion at 2:38 Sunday morning after a 12,000-pound boiler aboard a truck on the road below had crashed into the bridge and thrown the rails out of line. The truck was driven by Horace H. Cummings for the McFarland Trucking company of Duncan, Okla. The projecting boiler failed to clear the bridge and the force of the impact sent the heavy tank hurtling from the truck.

An instant later and before the driver could succeed in his frantic efforts to flag the oncoming passenger train, the locomotive was upon the bridge, was caught by the displaced rails and sent rolling over and over down the embankment.

Panic Spreads

Two baggage cars, two chair cars and two Pullmans piled up at the foot of the hill, two of the eight coaches holding to the track.

Panic spread as the cars were thrown into pitch darkness and the passengers, many half-sleeping in the chair cars were pitched headlong through broken windows, hurled against the car walls, or tossed against each other as the coaches somersaulted through the air. The screams of women and the terrified cries of children added to the confusion, accentuated by the darkness of the night and the widely scattered wreckage. One passenger received in his arms a baby pitched from across the aisle and watched a second infant hurled through the window to fall, unhurt, outside.

The driver of the truck and several passengers unhurt in the wreck rushed to a neighboring house to spread the alarm, calling for doctors and nurses in Vernon, Oklaunion and Electra. From house to house in Oklaunion a volunteer worker ran, knocking on every door to call out the alarm and ask for help.

Confusion Cleared

Within a short time the injured were on their way to hospitals here, in Vernon and Electra, wreckers were racing from Wichita Falls and Childress, and buses were receiving the uninjured passengers to be brought into Wichita Falls.

Three bus loads were brought into the station here where physicians were waiting to give attention to minor hurts. A special train was made up and the unhurt taken on Sunday afternoon to their destinations.

The road was cleared again by noon Sunday. The southbound No. 2 due in Wichita Falls at noon, was delayed by one hour and 45 minutes, and the northbound No. 1, out of Wichita Falls at 5 a. m. was not sent out until six hours later.

Investigations of the disaster were under way at Vernon Sunday. District Attorney John Myers, County Attorney R. R. Donaghey and J. V. Leak, attorney for the Fort Worth and Denver, conducted the inquiry. No charges were filed Sunday.

Tracks Spread

The truck hit the bridge from the north side, denting a girder. The southeast end of the track was knocked 10 inches out of line and the northwest end approximately 16 inches off. Two chains holding the heavy boiler were snapped by the impact.

Mr. Cummings, who was driving with his father, C. C. Cummings, said he was going about 12 miles an hour. He sighted the bridge too late to come to a stop, he declared. The truck proceeded under the bridge after the boiler had crashed to the road. Neither passenger was hurt.

Funeral Tuesday

The body of Mr. Robinson was brought to Wichita Falls from Vernon late Sunday afternoon. A Masonic funeral will be held at 3:30 Tuesday.

Mr. Robinson was one of the oldest men in point of service on the road, having worked in and out of Wichita Falls, Amarillo and Fort Worth for the past 46 years. He was the father of Ted Robinson, president of the Fort Worth baseball club.

He is survived by his widow and son, a stepdaughter, Mrs. W. R. Redin of Pampa, two brothers, Ed and Watt Robinson, and a sister, Mrs. Byrd Andrews, all of Fort Worth.

VANCE VETERAN DENVER FIREMAN

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 3.—A. B. Vance, 40, scalded to death in a wreck at Oklaunion Sunday morning, was a veteran fireman on the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad.

He had been with the Denver since Nov. 4, 1918, and was promoted to the rank of engineer on Oct. 30, 1927. He served on the engineers' extra board for some time and was voluntarily reduced to a fireman.

Vance was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen and members of that order will act as pallbearers at the funeral here Tuesday.

Surviving are his widow, three daughters and one son.

Houston Company Buys Liberty Oil Holdings

LIBERTY, Texas, Aug. 3. (AP)—The Houtex Production company has announced the sale of all its producing properties in north Dayton, in the Liberty county oil field, to the Saxet Oil company of Houston.

Harvey S. Smith of Houston is president and sole owner of the Houtex company, which plans to develop other holdings in north Dayton, according to the announcement.

This is the second large sale made by Smith within a year, a block of 34.8 acres in the west Dayton or Eperson field having been sold to the Yount Lee Oil company for approximately $500,000.

UNION CHURCH SERVICES OPEN

Outdoor Program Draws Crowd of 2,000

Outdoor union services for numerous Protestant congregations of this city for the month of August were opened Sunday night on the lawn of the Memorial auditorium when Dr. H. T. Wood, pastor of the First Christian church, set a definitely evangelistic standard in his sermon on "He Lingered" before a crowd estimated to have numbered almost 2,000 persons.

Speaking on the hesitation of Lott nephew of Abraham, in complying with the command to leave Sodom, Dr. Wood deplored the postponement of alliance with the church of Jesus Christ. Procrastination in the acceptance of Jesus as he was accepted by Peter with the words "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God" is the most effective weapon Satan possesses, according to the speaker.

Dr. Wood was assisted Sunday night by Rev. Patrick Henry, pastor of the Highland Heights Christian church, who presided; Dr. Gaines B. Hall, pastor of the First Southern Presbyterian church; and Dr. C. T. Simpson, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church.

Musical services for the outdoor meetings are in charge of Erwin F. Bohmfalk. Sunday night's meeting was preceded by a band concert of sacred melodies by the Lions Club Boys' band, and by a group of 15 boys and girls selected from the Faith City band, both directed by Leo M. Underwood. During the instrumental program, Milton Fisher played a bass horn solo.

Congregational singing was led by Mr. Bohmfalk, and a male quartet composed of E. Vandeventer, Tom McCarty, A. M. Fosdick, and J. E. Park, accompanied by Miss Martha Johnson, sang one number. R. E. Shepherd, tenor, sang "When They Ring the Golden Bells," accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd, who also played for the congregational singing.

Successful projection of sound from the platform beside the auditorium was provided by the use of loud speakers, microphone and amplifiers arranged by Charles Bunnenberg, city park superintendent.

Mother Leaps to Death From Eighteenth Floor

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (US)—Mrs. Marjorie Gilbert, mother of three, leaped or (it is remotely possible) fell to her death today from the 18th floor of the Gold Coast apartment building in which lives her half-sister, Mrs. Bess Beach.

She escaped from the private sanitarium where she had been treated for a nervous breakdown, about 7:30 in the morning, rode in a cab to the apartment, and instead of entering the building, ascended by the fire-escape. The fact that she did this is believed from statements of attendants, who say that she did not enter the building, and did not ride in the elevator.

Mexico City Welcomes Creager on Air Tour

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 3. (AP)—R. B. John D. Barron Pleads for Racial Tolerance in Sunday School Talk

"An attitude of mutual love and respect was recognized as the only solution of the always-vexing racial problem by Jesus of Nazareth, by the author of the book of Ruth, and by Mo Ti, a Chinese of the fourth century B. C." declared Rev. John D. Barron, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, before members of the Kay Bible class Sunday morning.

The speaker described the book of Ruth, one of the literary classics of the Bible, as having been written primarily to set forth a proper attitude toward persons regarded by any people as "foreigners."

"This is the message of the book," he said, "treat the foreigner as though he were a native. Do not discriminate against him on racial grounds. Personal worth is the only standard by which to classify a man. This was a great moral step forward for that time."

Assumption of superiority by the Caucasian race, with its resultant contempt for other types, was condemned by the speaker as being unjustified by history and ethnology, and un-christian.

"The white race as a whole," he continued, "has assumed the idea that God has selected it to march at the head of the human parade; to be the lord of the Lord's creation. We are arrogant—and blind."

Sartin Challenges Williams to Debate

B. D. Sartin, ranged against Guinn Williams in the run-off campaign for election to congress from the 23rd district, Sunday issued a challenge to his opponent to a joint discussion of the issues in the race.

Mr. Sartin declared in his challenge that he was preparing to attack the record of Mr. Williams during his six terms as representative of the district, and offered an opportunity for a reply. The challenger disclaimed any intention of resorting to personalities. No date for the proposed debate was suggested.

Child Killed in Fall From Moving Truck

GALVESTON, Texas, Aug. 3. (AP)—Morris Laviage, 8, of Galveston, died on the way to a hospital this afternoon after falling from a delivery truck driven by a negro employe of his father. DROUTH BRINGS DEATH TO FISH

Finny Tribes Dwindle Under Record Heat

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (AP)—Record heat this summer over the continent has caused the most distress ever experienced by the fish population of the United States and its adjacent waters, the U. S. bureau of fisheries said today in describing complaints it has received.

Streams low or entirely dried up, lakes the same, cold spring-fed brooks heating up as their sources fail and their contents shrink, and sea-water encroaching up the tidal estuaries at the river mouths are told in the tidings of disaster that have crowded in for weeks to the bureau.

The finny tribes have already been decimated and destroyed to a degree that is incalculable, the announcement said, and the seekers of fish for sport and food will be ruefully aware of the losses for many seasons to come.

"This maintenance of heat and drought over almost the entire continental area is beyond our experience," said Lewis Radcliffe, deputy commissioner of the bureau, in recounting some of the troubles that are being faced.

"It has unremittingly struck at fish life everywhere, and has drawn forth all the efforts of the state and national protective organizations in an effort only partial successful in saving the stocks.

"All the cold water game fish, such as trout, began to show signs of the stress weeks ago; as the temperatures of their brooks and streams ran up, there were wholesale endeavors to seine them out and transfer them to greater streams where they might live. This has been done in several states; but naturally only a part of the stocked waters could be so treated by hasty emergency organizations, and many of the less known streamlets will be found barren in coming years.

Senator's Wife Dies In Home at DeKalb

DE KALB, Texas, Aug. 3. (AP)—Mrs. J. W. E. H. Beck, 48, wife of State Senator Beck of De Kalb, died today at her home here after a long illness. Survivors are her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hall Free, New Orleans, La., one sister, Mrs. A. A. Whatley, De Kalb, and one grandson. Funeral services were set for tomorrow.

A PICTURE NO ROBOT CAN PAINT!

ONE cannot produce art without feeling. Hence the inadequacy of mechanical rendition of music as a substitute for Living Music.

Life — glamour — excitement are fundamental requirements of the theatre. There is drama in the artist's struggle to please and in the emotional response of the audience.

Music supplied this life, this human contact for the motion picture theatre, until the coming of Canned Music.

The purely mechanical theatre represents the climax of a new spirit in the theatrical business, one that takes the docility of the patron too much for granted.

Millions of theatre patrons object to this and are voicing a demand for Living Music in the theatre by joining the Music Defense League. It is your right, also, to vote on this cultural issue. Sign and mail coupon.

SURVIVORS OF WRECK TALK

Women Tell of Panic In Oklaunion Crash

happened in our car but men passengers quickly determined none was hurt. Some of the women seemed almost hysterical and as everybody had been asleep just before the wreck we were slow to come to our senses. The coach was quickly emptied when a way out once was found."

"I was fully awake when the crash came but all I can remember of the actual wreck was the feeling I was falling hundreds of feet," said Mrs. H. T. Griffin who was en route to her home in Fort Worth from Amarillo.

"Although my side and leg were painfully bruised I was not conscious of the injury until some time later. I was riding in the day car nearest the engine. Suddenly there was a jerk and a great crashing, rumbling noise. Then the coach tilted and began to fall broadside down the embankment.

"I thought we turned over two or three times but I was told later the car rolled over once. I think I began screaming. I know I wanted out of there. I wasn't sure which side of the car was up when I began to grope about in the darkened interior. I don't know how long it was before I was taken out but when two men pulled me through a window I was crying for my suitcase. I don't think I was scared—I was just excited."

E. J. Daneil of Grapevine, Texas, was riding in the fourth car from the engine, which rolled down the embankment.

"I awoke when the coach began to fall," Mr. Daniel said. "It seemed to me were were falling at least a hundred feet and the car did turn over twice. Passengers were tumbled about like peas in a cup and it was in falling against the chairs and walls that the injuries were inflicted.

"As the coach lurched down the incline a small boy and a girl were hurled through windows on the under side but neither was badly hurt. Several passengers in our coach were seriously injured and they were removed first. As it happened the car ahead of us became uncoupled, making it easy to go out the door.

"When I got clear of the car I rushed to the coach ahead of us and helped remove two women who were seriously injured. They were put in ambulances and rushed to Vernon. I'm a railroad man myself and although my foot had been wrenched I stayed around and did what I could until the buses came to bring us here."

Mrs. Hazel Ogletree of Bowie could remember very little about the accident. She suffered a slight cut over an eye which had dazed her but she was one of the first to help Mrs. Arnold care for her two children.

Georgia Tech's first string football squad this fall will be the smallest in years, says Coach Bill Alexander. Only 26 men will be in uniform.

Bandits Loot Store At Burkburnett

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Aug. 3.—Thieves broke into the Thaxon Brothers hardware store and escaped with $150 worth of goods early Sunday morning. Entrance was gained through the skylight, the invaders climbing down a ladder apparently of their own construction. Shotguns, cartridges, knives, and three watches were taken before the bandits pried off the hinges of the back door and escaped.

Sleeping Pair Menaced As Fire Burns Home

H. V. Clark and his small son narrowly escaped death early Sunday morning when their home at 3100 Avenue S was destroyed by fire. The sleepers were awakened as the flames encroached upon their bedrooms and rushed from the blazing building just in time to escape suffocation from the smoke.

The house, valued at around $2,500 was completely destroyed. The fire department was called back a second time to subdue flames that broke out again after the blaze was believed extinguished.

Glider Pilot Killed In California Crash

SAN JOSE, Calif., Aug. 3. (AP)—Sawyer B. Gillstrom, 20, Oakland glider pilot, was fatally injured today when his ship fell 50 feet while being towed behind an automobile on the Curtner ranch near Milpitas.

Herbert La Perte, Oakland, who was driving the automobile said the glider had risen about 50 feet, when he noticed Gillstrom was having difficulty controlling the craft.

La Perte cut loose the tow rope immediately, he said, and the glider crashed straight to the ground.

Heat Takes Hand In Fashioning Clothing

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (US)—The heat has taken a hand in the fashions for women, and for men, too.

Sensible summer clothing, according to the health department, should comprise light shades, not merely for their psychological effect, but because they are actually cooler than dark materials, not absorbing the sun's rays so readily.

Silks and cottons are the best materials for summer wear.

Six Convicts Escape From Delaware Prison

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 3. (UP)—New Castle county workhouse, Deleware's state penitentiary noted for its successful employment of the honor system among prisoners, lost six of its inmates early today.

Searching parties were out all day looking for the six convicts who escaped, but by late afternoon no trace of them had been discovered.

St. Louis reported an official reading of 103 while Oklahoma City reported a season record of 106, Dallas, Texas, had 100 at 3 p. m.

At Emporia, Kan., the mercury climbed to 113 degrees to break the record of 112 established July 12.

STORMS STRIKE IN MIDDLE WEST

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (UP)—A humid and sticky blanket of heat spread over the Midwest tonight while raging forest fires, unprecedented drouths and violent electrical storms vented their fury on widely separated areas.

The worst fires licked dry timber in the great forests 40 miles north of Bay City, Mich. Winds were strong, the flames were leaping so rapidly from tree to tree that fire fighters near Alger could not determine the exact situation. Other fires sent up clouds of smoke in Montana and Idaho, where the prolonged drouth has made the forests highly inflammable.

The storms hit the Chicago area early this morning, brought temperatures down a few degrees momentarily, ripped a 200-foot chimney of a pickle factory and darkened many homes when power wires were blown down and sent writhing in the streets.

A heavy rain fell for a few minutes, then the thermometers started climbing back to their position in the 90s. Humidity was high, so that, although light clouds eased somewhat the fury of the sun, suffering remained intense.

The city's beaches were crowded with an estimated 500,000 seekers after coolness, while the roads leading in all directions were packed fender to fender with motorists creeping from one hot spot to another.

The drouth accompanying the heat wave has been of such long duration in most of the corn and wheat growing states the loss could not be estimated. More than 25,000,000 bushels of wheat was ruined in South Dakota, North Dakota and Montana when days on end of the searing sun wilted growing plants, turned them yellow and finally sucked all moisture from them.

Wichitan Injured In Automobile Collision

'Chute Saves Pilot As Wing Collapses

WARWICK, R. I., Aug. 3. (AP)—Charles H. S. Weaver, 24, president of a flying field here, joined the caterpillar club today when he took to his parachute after a wing of his plane was torn away.

The plane crashed into the yard of Lemy Palin, only 10 feet from where Palin's two-year-old twins were playing.

Weaver took up the craft for a test flight and had put it through various evolutions for nearly three hours before the accident. When he sent it into a power dive, one wing buckled and was sheared from the plane.

For nearly 4,000 feet Weaver worked to free himself from the cockpit, finally clearing the plane at a scant 1,000 feet from the ground. He escaped with minor bruises. The craft was demolished and its heavy engine driven deep into the ground.

Mexico Rejects Plan To Buy Boulder Water

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (US)—Ambassador Dwight Morrow's proposal to sell Boulder Dam water to Mexico as a means of liquidating American claims against that government has been rejected by Mexico City, it was learned today.

Under Morrow's plan, half of the water derived by the Colorado river project would be sold to Mexico and then re-sold to the United States, the proceeds being applied against the claims.

Although no reason was ascribed for the rejection, it is understood that Mexico took the stand that the proposition was in some nature an infringement upon her national sovereignty.

Vast Throng Honors Triumphant Dirigible

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Quebec, Aug. 3. (AP)—A crowd estimated at from 150,000 to 200,000 arriving by every form of conveyance, today paid worshipful homage to the British dirigible R-100 as she swung at her mooring mast in a sun-swept field.

The greatest influx of visitors in the history of the airport clogged nearby thoroughfares and thronged the field throughout the day. Special trains brought hundreds of persons from distant points.

Dix Tells Why Boys and Girls Leave Homes

Why Girls and Boy Leave Home—Surest Way for a Boy to Learn to Talk to Girls—Is It Worth While to Struggle for Success if Success Never Comes?

Dear Miss Dix—Why do boys and girls, blessed with kind parents who provide well for them, leave home?

I know a girl whose father and mother lavished every luxury upon her, but who left them heartbroken to go out into the world, where she met with grievous disappointments, but was finally prevailed upon to return home. Is this sorry state of affairs caused by our carefree, jazz-mad, modern age?

—E. B. T.

Answer—Boys and girls leave home for the same reasons that young birds leave the nest. They have an instinctive desire to try their wings.

Probably no more boys leave home now than have always left. Boys have always left home to seek their fortunes or in pursuit of adventure, and if more girls leave home than used to, it is merely because the outside world holds opportunities for them now that it did not have in their grandmother's day.

In olden times a girl had to stay at home because there was nowhere for her to go. Home may have been as dull as dish water. In it she may have been doomed to a life of domestic slavery, without even a chance of transferring her serfdom from her parents to her husband. But she had to stay put, for the very good reason that she would starve if she got away from the paternal table.

But now, when a girl with a good trade can make her living anywhere in the world, fortune beckons and adventure lures the girl away from home, just as it does the boy. And so Peggy grabs her suitcase, jams on her sports hat, cuts mother's apron string, hangs at the door behind her and is off on her own.

Of course, these young birds who hop so blithely out of the home nest and who are so confident of their ability to fly, find that they don't know so much about aeronautics as they thought they did, and that it isn't as easy as they expected it to be to make tail dives and loop-the-loops. They all get some nasty falls. A few break their necks, and many of them smash their wings and come limping back home sadder and wiser birds. But they had to try out their own wings. It was a cosmic urge that they could not resist.

And, generally speaking, it is a good thing for them. If they succeed and develop the strength to stand on their own feet, well and good. They make better men and women for it. If they fail, they have at least had a valuable experience, which has taught them much and makes them appreciate home more.

There is no other cure so efficacious for the temperamental, discontented boys and girls who think they are Heaven-ordained writers and actors and movie stars as letting them go and try it out. Most of them are glad enough to have a return ticket back home sent them and to connect again with a steady job and three square meals a day.

Another reason boys and girls leave home is that so many parents never realize that their children grow up and never accord them any liberty. Father and mother think that Mamie at 18 should go to bed at the same hour she did when she was 8. And if John works for father, father feels that he should not expect the wages that he would pay another young chap, but that he should be content with a dollar or two of spending money.

And to save her life, mother cannot keep from nagging her children about putting on their rubbers and wrapping up warm, and putting them through a questionnaire about every single blessed thing they do and think, until she drives them away from home in order to get a little freedom.

On the whole, this going away from home is a good thing, for there is no truer saying than the old proverb: "Home-keeping youths have ever homely wit." There is no education equal to travel and seeing the world at first hand.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a boy and have come to the age where I want to take girls out, as all boys do. I go to dances and stag them simply because I don't know what to say, and that is embarrassing. Please advise me how to talk to girls in a sensible manner.

—JOHN F.

Answer—A very long time ago, John, a wise man said, "Reading makes a full man." I don't think that anybody can give you a better tip on how to acquire a good line than that.

The reason that you find it difficult to talk to girls is because your mind is empty. Fill it up with good books, with magazines and the daily papers, and you will have an inexhaustible supply to draw upon. You will have plenty to talk about, because your memory will just be running over with romantic stories, with amusing anecdotes, with good jokes, with all the wonderful things that are happening every day.

You won't be tongue-tied in any company if you are up on politics and know what stocks are doing and can discuss European affairs and the last scandal and the latest murder. And if a girl is such a Dumb Dora that she isn't interested in any of these things you will find that you have unconsciously acquired, while learning other things, a lot of small talk on which you can feed human canary birds.

Not long ago a middle-aged woman, who is so fascinating that she always has a gallery following her wherever she goes, told me that when she was a young girl she was not pretty, and therefore she determined to make herself so interesting that nobody would notice her looks. So she made it a practice to read four hours every day, picking out as widely diversified subjects as she could, so that, no matter whom she was thrown with, she could talk entertainingly on his own particular interest or topic.

I recommend that plan to you, John. If you will put four hours a day reading for even a single year, you won't have to stag it because you can't talk. You will have girls running after you because you are so interesting. Try it.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—Do you believe that if a person has always led a good, clean, straight life she will prosper in time? I have tried very hard to make a success in life, have worked very hard and made every effort, but to no avail. Must I keep on trying and believing that success will come in time, or give up entirely? It seems foolish for a person to waste her life trying when it isn't her fault that she doesn't succeed.

—JANE.

Answer—But perhaps it is her fault, Jane. Perhaps she is trying to do the thing that she can never do, and so all her striving is simply lost motion.

I have known women who wasted their entire lives trying to write, when they had not the faintest talent for writing. I have known other women who wasted their lives trying to sing when God had not given them a voice.

Work, of itself, is not enough. You must work intelligently, and if you do work intelligently you will succeed in the end. So my advice to you is to sit down and vivisect yourself. Be honest with yourself, no matter how much it hurts, and find out what it is in you that has made you fail.

Perhaps you are trying to do something for which you are not adapted. Perhaps you are foolishly sacrificing yourself for others. Perhaps you are a bungling amateur who has never really learned to do any one thing well. Perhaps you lack the courage to leave home and go where fortune calls you or to strike out in a new direction. Think it over.

But it is always worth while to struggle, even if we do fail, because if we have done our best, we at least have our self-respect.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Felt Weak and Faint

"I was feeling very weak and very nervous and I took fainting spells. My side also gave me a lot of trouble. Someone recommended your medicine and I got me a bottle of Lydia E. Frocks Suitable for Immediate and Fall Wear

By ANNE ADAMS

Frocks suitable for immediate wear which, at the same time, are practical and smart for early fall, are now the preoccupation of women who make their own clothes. The most outstanding impression created by the fall fashion showings is the importance of lingerie touches. Inasmuch as this flattering vogue does so much to lighten a dark dress, it is, of course, ideal for frocks intended for immediate as well as later use. Many of the new frocks recall the adjective "tailored," which is good news for fashionables who know this is usually synonymous with "chic." Canton crepe, in the dark, warm autumn shades, leads the fall fabrics in popularity, and then dull satin and chiffon velvet follow closely.

Pattern 1815

This exquisite frock is characterized by a semi-fitted bodice, a raised belt and a beautifully flared full skirt. It provides a perfect setting for soft lace collar and cuffs which may alternate with crisp organdy or pique. The opportunity to change the trimmings at will, makes this the kind of serviceable dress that is a joy to have. Pattern 1815 is designed only for sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires three and one-fourth yards of 40-inch material.

Pattern 1942

With its pointed collar, yoke and front skirt and its new skirt pleats, this frock exemplifies all that is smartest in the tailored vogue. The belt, ornamented in front with a jaunty bow, adds a delightful finishing touch to this trim, slenderizing model. For immediate wear, the sleeves may be omitted. Pattern 1942 is designed only for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 requires three and one-eighth yards of 39-inch fabric.

Pattern 1869

This tiny miss approves wholeheartedly of the trend toward smart simplicity, although she succumbs to sheer feminity just enough to be very proud of a touch of embroidery on her adorable frock. The square neck, front and back, is emphasized by heavy stitching, as are the cuffs, the front yoke and the side pleats. The pleats, of course, make a charmingly full frock. Bloomers are included with the pattern. Pattern 1869 may be obtained only in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8. Size 4 requires two and one-half yards of 36-inch material. Embroidery pattern 585 is 15 cents additional.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. You will be delighted with the fit of the patterns.

Patterns will be sent to you upon receipt of 15 cents in U. S. coins or stamps; coins preferred. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Our style book shows delightful models, for adults and children, the patterns of which are 15 cents each, and many beautiful transfer and embroidery patterns. The book is 15 cents when ordered alone, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern.

BIBLE CLASS TOTALS SLUMP

Only 5,829 Attend Sunday School Here

Sunday school attendance reached a new low ebb for the year Sunday when the total present at 31 local church schools amounted to only 5829.

With few exceptions, the decline in attendance was general throughout the city. Leading Sunday's reports in point of numbers, the First Baptist church school with 813 present showed a drop of 113 from the last Sunday in July. Continued oppressive heat was named by Sunday school leaders as the most potent factor in occassioning reduced attendance.

Hall County Pushes Plans for Fair

Special to The Record News

MEMPHIS, Texas, Aug. 3.—Progress in every department of the Hall county district fair was reported this week by officials of the organization. In fact, it was stated that work on the fair is much more advanced at this time of the year than was the case last summer. Final copy is being turned in on the catalogs and these are expected to be distributed within the near future.

With but few exceptions, all department heads have been appointed and work in the various departments has begun. As soon as a complete roster of the officials is compiled, it will be made public. Special attention is being called to the fact that the premium list this year is the equal of that of any previous year and exhibitors will have the same opportunity to win prizes for their agricultural products and livestock as has always been the case.

The officials of the fair are looking forward to having more community exhibits this season than ever before. The exhibit building is being put into a good state of repair. There will be ample room to house the exhibits and for them to be arranged properly.

McDonald Speaks At Boys' Club

C. C. McDonald, local attorney, delivered an exposition of the economy of prevention in terms of boys' work Sunday morning before members of the Wichita Falls Boys' club in the clubrooms on Ohio avenue.

"You boys probably know that in other cities, too, as well as in Wichita Falls, more and more money is being spent to establish and maintain boys' clubs than ever before. You also know that the men who fill our jails and penitentiaries once were boys like yourselves. Now you put those two things together, and you will see why people are glad to spend time and money for clubs like yours. It is much better to give you something worthwhile to do than to spend a lot of money later on to keep men in prison."

Members of the club present at Sunday school Sunday morning, and those showing acceptable excuses for having been absent, it was said, will meet at the Boys' club at 12:30 p. m., next Friday to attend the show at the Majestic theater at 1 o'clock.

NATION VIEWS 15 PRIMARIES

Five State Elections Due This Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (US)—With 15 states holding primaries in August—five of them scheduled for this week—the issues that will dominate the fall campaigns will have taken fairly definite shape by September, it became apparent today.

The primaries to be held this week are in Kansas, Missouri, West Virginia and Virginia on Tuesday, and in Tennessee on Thursday.

Of these, Kansas and Tennessee are commanding the greatest interest in Washington, because of the broader scope of the issues involved.

In Tennessee the fight for the Democratic senatorial nomination between Andrew L. Todd, farmer, lawyer and business man of Murfreesboro, and Cordell Hull, a former representative and one time chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Reflecting a growing tendency in the South to break away from the international policies of Woodrow Wilson, Todd has come out flatly against American membership in the League of Nations court. Hull, on the other hand, is a pro-courter.

Todd's vigorous campaign on this as one of his dominant issues has admittedly gained him considerable strength, and the result of the primary is awaited with more than passing interest here.

The wheat issue is a minor one in the campaign in Kansas between Senator Henry J. Allen and Ralph Snyder, who is opposing him for the nomination. The battle is regarded more as a test of administration strength, since Allen is admittedly a favorite of President Hoover's.

In Virginia, the greatest interest will attach to the November elections when the Democrats attempt to win back three house seats lost in the Hoover landslide of 1928. Senator Carter Glass is unopposed for renomination.

In West Virginia, prohibition has entered as a dominant issue, former Representative Benjamin Rosenbloom seeking the Republican senatorial nomination with opposition to the 18th amendment as his bulwark. He is opposed by three other aspirants, all dry. Former Senator W. M. Neely is unopposed for the Democratic nomination to succeed Senator Goff.

UTILITIES MERGER

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (AP)—Lon J. Jester, vice president of Middle West States Utilities company, announced that fulfillment is expected within the next 30 days of a purchase agreement whereby Middle West will acquire additional telephone properties with net depreciated value of $2,700,000. The properties, which are in the Middle West, will bring the telephone system of the company to approximately 30,000 stations in Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Arkansas and Texas.

Funeral by Motorboat

For the first time in many years a funeral was held recently on Inch-cailloch, in Loch Lomond, Scotland, better known as the "burying island." It was that of James McFarlane, of Loch Sloy, who was employed all his life on the Montrose estate at Drymen. The coffin was taken from the mainland by motorboat, and the 100 mourners were conveyed in motorboats and small boats.

Wheeler's Grave Drys Have Forgotten It A Wise Colonel Laughs at Pamphlets Stealing a Reynolds

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Prohibitionists, who were going to close up all the jails, dry up the country and make everybody prosperous, may be interested in the news that the grave of Wayne B. Wheeler, the great apostle of prohibition, is neglected and barren. The sod is burned to a crisp. The headstone has slipped over to one side. There are no flowers. The caretaker of the cemetery at Columbus, Ohio, says it is seldom anyone stops beside the grave. The organization that Wheeler led has promptly forgotten him. How much faith can be placed in the fanatics who are so insincere as to forget the grave of the only fighting leader they ever had?

Young men being trained at the Citizens' Military Training camp at Camp Dix, N. J., receive hundreds of pamphlets from Communistic visitors and read them with amused tolerance. Colonel Graham, not worried, says:

"We are training these boys in citizenship. If their loyalty can't stand exposure to the ravings of a few half-baked failures in life it will be a pretty sad reflection on the training."

That sort of attitude will do more to kill Communism in this country than the hue and cry raised over a false menace.

Some will wonder how thieves in London who steal Reynolds painting can possibly dispose of it without attracting world-wide attention. The actual thieves are pawns in the pay of an international art agency which will hoard the masterpiece for possibly a quarter of a century, rename it, and then have it "discovered" as an unknown Reynolds. Thieves who deal in priceless art know well how to wait a long time for their returns. That racket requires patience.

In all the royalist camps there is an awakening of hope. Kings still seem to have a chance at a comeback. Carol has succeeded for a time. The former ruler of Egypt is being groomed for his khedive's outfit. William Hohenzollern is waxing his iron gray mustachios, while he ruminates on Napoleon's return from Elba. Monsrchist councils are in a dozen quarters. Is Democracy tired of its presidents? Or tired of its rackets and grafts?

The truth about "forced," or "prison" labor, used supposedly in the production of Soviet commodities, has a better chance at being ascertained during the Politics institute session at Williamstown, Mass., than from the investigation of a hundred senators predetermined on conviction.

The convocation at Williamstown, under the chairmanship of Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams college, will insure at least sanity and fairness in discussion. America stands in need of sanity these days, when it is being assailed on all sides by agitations sponsored chiefly by business interests that are no more concerned with the truth than a Bedouin Arab is.

As Moscow says: the question is, do we want to trade with Russia, or do we not? If we do not, then let's discontinue sending our men and manufactures there. Half the United States is intent on exploiting Russia; the other half on condemning her.

An apprisal of Chauncey M. Depew's estate shows he left assets of $17,210,599, of which $16,835,985 is in stocks and bonds. He had faith in stocks but they were not the kind that could cause him any worry. He knew they were good and he held on to them.

"It would do no harm," said Ruth Bryan Owen, "if Uncle Sam had a wife." Chances are, however, that Secretary Mellon would prefer a surplus in the treasury.

Women are to wear skirts longer. And if the business depression continues, they'll be wearing 'em longer than they expect.

A prize of $25,000 is being offered for the inventor of a new use of mercury. It must have lost a lot of prestige in the recent heat spell.

A cabbage over four feet high and weighing 30 pounds has been grown in Ireland. There's a swell head for you.

Texas Building in June

REGARDLESS of the politicians and the political ballyhooing, in a building sense Texas is marching on. June building figures are a source of economic comfort, for not only were they ahead of the total for May but nearly twice that of June, 1929. According to figures from the F. W. Dodd corporation contracts for new construction let in June of this year totaled $28,692,200 as compared with $14,368,300 for May and $13,822,000 for June of the year 1929. That the improvement has been steady is seen in the further facts that contracts let in Texas for the first six months of 1930 aggregated $124,903,000 as compared with $112,835,800 for the first six months of 1929.

William C. Edwards of the Texas public service information bureau reports Texas utilities companies are coming fully up to their $70,000,000 program for Texas improvements for this year, "and the bulk of these improvements are not included in the building figures." As for the railway builders writer Edwards lets it be known that they are in the picture. The Santa Fe will spend $15,000,000 on its Amarillo-Las Animas line. Work is about to start on the Abilene and Eastern. Construction of the Frisco extension from Vernon to Seymour is to be started soon while the Rock Island's Dalhart-Morse line opening virgin territory to the railroad is about completed. Senora is now on the railroad map, terminus of the Santa Fe's southward extension from San Angelo to San Antonio and on to the gulf coast.

Speaking of deep water projects work on the Freeport channel is ready to start and port activities along the Texas gulf coast are reported, "constantly increasing with better appreciation of what access to deep water means." Brownsville and many lower Magic valley communities are behind the Brownsville-Point Isabel deep water project, which includes a 25-foot channel almost to Brownsville and excavation of a turning basin at its terminus. Business is business and the builders and the developers of raw places and raw wealth are the makers of prosperity and keep the home fires burning for the hand workers of the world.

Beside the Point

THE congressmen who are investigating the dread "Red peril" in America bumped into a witness in Chicago the other day who assured them that Russia under the Soviets is a land of terror, ruled by a militant autocracy and afflicted with graft and incompetence in high places.

This witness, who used to be an official under the Red government, insisted that conditions in Russia are terrible, with neither free speech nor a free press getting so much as lip service. All in all, he said, the great experiment in Communism is a dreadful mess.

All of this, for all we know, may be the exact truth, but what business is it of the congressional committee? That committee is supposed to find out how Russians in America are menacing our government. The state of affairs in Russia is beside the point. Dragging this irrelevant testimony in looks like a bit of artful propaganda work.

Colorado Democrats

COLORADO Democrats in state convention assembled nominated Gov. Billy Adams for a third term and defended a resolution calling for the repeal of the 18th amendment. All this is a reminder that the wettest cities in Texas rolled up huge majorities for Senator Morris Sheppard and when the state count has been completed his lead over Robert L. Henry will form a column that will be as high as the skyscraper that former Gov. Alfred E. Smith is building on Manhattan island. Morris was a regular in 1928. A count of noses in the so-called wet cities of Texas disclosed the interesting story that the regulars returned the compliment.

The Liberals Overthrown

CANADIAN liberals were overthrown in the elections of the week. Canadian conservatives made sweeping gains and overturned the government of Prime Minister MacKenzie King. Canadian voters are hostile to the Hawley-Smoot tariff act enacted by the American congress and signed by President Hoover. They favor retaliatory legislation. Now they have ousted from power the liberal party and returned the conservatives as the administrators and law makers of Canada. Quebec, ever a liberal stronghold, sent nine conservatives to the Canadian house of congress. It wasn't an upheaval in Canada, it was a political revolution.

"STEP-CHILD"

BY ROB EDEN

Unable to recall anything of her past life, Kay Smith seeks to establish her identity. She loves Dane Talbot, in whose office she works, but he is engaged to Julie Drew. Kay receives a letter from Mrs. Laura Ford in San Francisco, whose description of her lost daughter fits Kay perfectly. Mrs. Ford encloses carfare and begs that "Katharine" come to her immediately, so Kay leaves at once.

CHAPTER XXII

In Chicago, Kay wired the woman who was her mother that she was on her way, with the time of her arrival in San Francisco. Edith had persuaded her that the surprise might be too much for an invalid.

Kay was terribly excited as the train rolled on. Excited by the trip, by the train, by thought of what the end of the journey would bring.

She and Edith discussed her mother quite impersonally. Kay had gotten into the habit of calling her "mother." The word was getting to be more familiar as the days went on.

"She might be down to meet me," she said time and time again.

"If she's ill, Kay, she won't come. Perhaps she'll send someone else."

Kay always nodded. "I wish she'd be at the station. It would mean so much to me, to see her, to recognize her." The bitterness she had experienced in Langley was almost forgotten. Her fright when she found the home that had been Kitty Banning's.

"She must be quite a nice person, don't you think, Edith? A lovely person, to write as she did. Intelligent, cultured. It's quite funny what I want her to be," and Kay's eyes half closed, and her lips curved up in a soft smile. "Queer when you can't remember, and want to remember so much. I want her—let's see, I want her to be rather old, I think, with grayish hair, and brown eyes. Her eyes'd be like mine, wouldn't they? Gray hair and brown eyes, and tall, and willowy."

Don't Dream

Edith laughed. "You mustn't dream too much, child. She's probably not like that all. She's probably very young. You remember she said in her letter that you and she had been like sisters? Besides you're not old enough to have an old mother. She's very young for a mother, most possibly. Not over 46, if you're her only child—"

"But she's been ill about me, and young people don't get ill—"

"She's had a shock, too, Kay. Almost as bad a one as you've had. You know that."

"I know I was a beast to leave her. A beast. And I don't understand, Edith, there are so many things I don't understand. Why, when she knows me so well, I don't know her. Can't place her at all. I've thought and thought until I'm almost crazy but I can't remember—anything. San Francisco, I haven't the slightest idea what it's like."

"You may remember when you get off the train."

"I wonder if I've a father. I'd like to have a father, Edith, I would. Mother didn't mention him in her letters. Perhaps I haven't one—"

"I doubt it. I think she would have said something about him especially in the personal note."

"She was so far away. That's why she didn't hear about me before."

Thoughts of Dane, too, on the trip. Too many. Worry for fear she would never see him again. Then the knowledge that it was best. To leave like this, realizing she couldn't have him—ever.

Julie was with him. Julie's picture on his desk, during the day. Julie herself every evening.

Julie so sure of herself at the tea shop, talking over Gordon's life. The thought had been constantly with Kay ever since that although Gordon entered into the matter, it was Dane Julie was really talking about. Dane. She had wired him, as she had said, she wouldn't be at work at his office any more, that she was going home. Nothing more, except the thanks she had given him.

When she reached San Francisco, home, she meant, she was always correcting herself, when she reached home, she would write him a note and sign her own name, with "Kay Smith" underneath.

Name Is Dear

She hated to give up "Kay." The name was so dear to her. Katharine. Would she ever get used to it? Evidently that was what her mother called her. For she had started her personal note with "Katharine."

On the train she was using the name, Katharine Ford. The people she and Edith met, met her by that name.

"You'll have to get used to it sooner or later, Kay. You might as well start it here," Edith explained when they had boarded the train in New York.

"It seems so strange to me," Kay had demurred.

This home of hers. What was it like? The number meant nothing to her, and Edith could tell her nothing. The nurse had never been in San Francisco and was looking forward to her visit there.

Finally the third day, Kay screwed up enough courage to ask the woman across the aisle who had lived in San Francisco all her life where that address was.

"Apartment house district, near the beach," the woman explained kindly.

"All apartments?" Kay had asked.

"Mostly. Why?"

"Nothing. I just wondered." She was a little disappointed. And not entirely convinced. She was sick of apartments, and wanted a house, with a garden. Not a small garden like Mrs. Talbot's, a patch of ground. But a big garden, with drooping, large trees, and a pond. Silly of her. But that was what she wanted. Rustic benches where she could sit and dream.

"Might not there be some small houses with gardens in that district?" she begged again anxiously.

The woman smiled. The girl was so eager, so pretty. All during the trip she had fascinated her.

"No, I doubt it. It's very new."

Present for Her Mother

"Would you know anyone by the name of Mrs. Laura Ford?"

The woman thought a minute. "No, I don't. San Francisco is a very large city. I've lived there all my life, but I don't know a Mrs. Laura Ford. A relative of yours?"

Kay mumbled an affirmative answer. She didn't want to go into any explanations. Edith and she had talked it over at the start of the trip. They would say nothing that might be embarrassing for Kay.

In Chicago Kay had insisted on buying a present for her mother. They had a few hours between trains, so a small handbag lay on the top of the clothes in her suitcase.

"She'll know I wanted to give her a lot more, but I couldn't," Kay had said. She still had money left from the bills her mother had sent but preferred to return it.

Edith had bought a round-trip ticket, but Kay only had a one-way passage.

As the journey neared the end, the girl was plainly nervous. Her face was paler than usual, and she was silent. Indeed, Edith could hardly make her talk. So, seeing she preferred quiet, she left her to herself as much as possible.

Kay was trying to remember. She knew that. Pitiful that she couldn't. The nurse was more thankful all the time that she had made the trip. She was enjoying Kay's happiness thoroughly. And there would be the meeting with Kay's mother. She hoped, she longed that she would be what Kay wanted.

The bustle when they were nearing Oakland. The porter getting their bags on the platform, brushing off their coats. The passengers, whom they knew so well now, surging into the aisles.

Edith saw Kay's eyes close, her lips move, although no sound came from them. Then the girl arose, and followed her.

"Edith, I want her to be here so much!" She, breathed.

"I know, child, but if she isn't, she's probably sent some one. You musn't be disappointed."

"She's had my wire, though."

Kay's eager scanning of the faces on the platform as the porter dragged the bags down. Then her excited voice as she pointed to a woman standing back from the others, a tall rather elderly woman, dressed in gray. A bunch of fresh violets pinned to her coat.

"Do you suppose?" her question was unfinished, for Edith had stepped off the train.

The woman in gray made no move to advance toward Kay as she got off. Instead her eyes seemed glued still on the outcoming passengers.

Edith and Kay stood there for some time, waiting. Kay anxiously. "Edith, that might be my mother, shall I go over and speak to her? Perhaps she didn't see me get off."

"If you like."

Kay edged up to the woman in gray. "Are you Mrs. Ford?" she asked tremulously. The woman was so beautiful, so graceful . . .

"No, I'm not," she answered, and Kay, disappointed, discouraged, walked back to Edith.

More minutes passed. Still no one came up to them. Finally, Edith suggested they get on to the city. She had found out they must cross on the ferry. Kay reluctantly followed. No, no one had come up to her. Her mother must have been too ill to come to the train. And perhaps there was no one else to send . . .

They crossed on the ferry in silence, and when they were at the ferry building Kay spied a flower stand, and rushing up to it, came back with her arms loaded with roses.

"For mother," she explained quietly. Edith nodded, and called a taxi.

When they got in, and were speeding through the city, she tried to talk about the buildings, the people, the fog that was settling over everything. She must keep Kay's thoughts from her mother . . .

Kay didn't hear her companion talking. She was thinking of her mother, wondering why she had not met her, and why this city was so strange. It was like coming into a new world . . .

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Few Americans realize how much their government does for them. Readers of the Record News can draw on all government activities through our free information service. The world's greatest libraries, laboratories, and experimental stations are at their command. Ask any question of fact and it will be answered, free, by mail direct to you. Enclose two-cent stamp for reply postage and address the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Why is the Withers so named?—C. F.

A.—The Jockey club says that this race is named after one of America's great sportsmen, D. D. Withers, as The Belmont, for instance, is named after a famous racing family, and as is The Derby, of England.

Q.—How often have women been presented at Court in England this summer?—L. F. I.

A.—An extra mid-summer Court at Buckingham palace is to be held to supplement the four earlier courts.

Q.—How was the money secured for the construction of Grant's Tomb in New York City?—F. M. B.

A.—Funds totaling $600,000 were obtained by popular subscription.

Q.—What is the purpose of the Order of the Liberty Bell?—H. Y.

A.—The purposes of the Order of the Liberty Bell as set forth in its Chapter are to perpetuate the history of the events connected with the sacred Liberty Bell, the symbol of American Liberty; to further the spirit of patriotism by proper celebrations of those events; to promote a spirit of devotion to the memory of those men and women whose distinguished services aided in our liberties; to procure the marking of important historical places and landmarks with proper memorial tablets, and to confer the Order of the Liberty Bell on distinguished men and women, who by their services have advanced the high ideals of Liberty and the welfare of mankind. The Order has inaugurated a campaign to combat the steady increase in crime and the Communist campaign in America of the Russian Soviet.

Q.—How many airplanes were brought down during the world war by American pilots?—K. K.

A.—American pilots brought down 781 enemy airplanes and 73 balloons. These were confirmed victories and there were undoubtedly a number of others which occurred too far away to be officially confirmed. America lost 289 airplanes and 48 balloons.

Q.—Where was the country of the Amazons?—P. D.

A.—There seem to have been three nations of Amazons. One in Africa, under the queen, Myrina; one, the Asiatic, with an empire along the Black sea; and the Scythian Amazons, probbaly a branch of the Asiatic tribe.

Q.—When was the Salvation Army founded?—W. H. T.

A.—This organization, which was first known as the East London Mission, and later as the Christian Mission, was founded in 1865. In 1878 the name the Salvation Army was adopted.

Q.—How did it happen that Arlington became a national cemetery?—H. A. P.

A.—Hardly had the Lee family left Arlington when the Federal troops took possession of the estate. A hospital was established, and when other available cemetery grounds no longer sufficed for the burial of the dead, the spacious grounds of Arlington were, by Quartermaster General Meigs, devoted to the purpose of a military cemetery. The first grave prepared was for a Confederate prisoner who had died in the hospital.

Q.—When was the capital of South Carolina changed from Charleston to Columbia?—L. T.

A.—Charleston, formerly Charlestown, was founded as an English city in 1670 and by 1775 was the third city of importance in America. It was incorporated as a city in 1783 under the constitution and until 1790 was the capital of the state. In 1786 the South Carolina legislature ordered Columbia to be laid out as a capital city on account of its more central position and in January 1790, the state legislature met in Columbia for the first time.

Q.—What is a monomark?—B. D.

A.—It is a common trade mark used by British manufacturers or contemplated for use by them. The letters B C M are understood to represent the name British Commercial Monomark.

Q.—Please give a history of the pansy—R. R.

A.—The commercial pansy of today is a development of a small flower native to Europe, variously named. It is a direct descendant of the heartsease of the English gardens and the Johnny jump-up, and was probably brought to the United States by the earlier settlers.

Q.—Is there an international organization of magicians?—J. C.

A.—There is the International Brotherhood of Magicians, of which W. W. Durbin of Kenton, Ohio, is president. The great Thurston and Blackstone are vice presidents. This organization has 4,000 members.

MENTAL BARNACLES

The road to progress is uphill and unpaved. It is much easier for one to stroll along the well-trodden trails of the past than to forge a way into the unknown.

We always try to avoid new problems of thinking. Every new thing has been condemned in its day and generation by those who did not wish to make the effort to understand its meaning.

When railroads were first introduced, many objected because they said that human beings would be killed if they traveled over 20 miles an hour. Today we have aeroplanes traveling at almost 200 miles per hour. When automobiles were first introduced, the pessimists cried, "Alas, the farmers will be ruined, for there will no longer be a demand for horses."

Fifty years ago, because it was so difficult to obtain a bath in the city, many lazy authorities claimed it was unhealthful—that one would catch a cold through too much bathing. The daily bath is now recognized as one of our best health habits.

When the first cold storage meat was shipped from Brazil to France 75 years ago, the French would not let it land, claiming that the meat would be dangerous to health. It was finally landed in England, and no doubt this very broad-minded attitude of the English has contributed much to the eminence of their nation. It is well known that the English are extremely fond of their roast beef.

The arguments that you hear today against meat eating are remnants of the same reasoning used at that time—that flesh would spoil soon after it was killed, and become poisonous if kept too long. Those who have cared to investigate have found that properly killed meat is usually more wholesome after being refrigerated for several months.

Many people still believe that acids and milk made a bad combination. I recently read an article by one health expert who said he had proved there was nothing to good or bad combinations because he had found that patients could eat fruit and drink milk at the same time without any bad consequences. He did not know it, but he was simply stating a discovery made by practical dietitions many years ago that milk combined perfectly with acids, being more easily digested in this combination than if used alone. He apparently did not know that if bread were added to this otherwise good mixture, excessive fermentation is set up, often producing very serious consequences.

Even today many physicians teach that athletes die young because of taking too much violent exercise. The truth is that their deaths are not caused by continuing to exercise as often as discontinuing to exercise, or by exercising too violently after they had been overeating.

Some doctors are still advising weak patients to stay in bed and eat plenty of rich, nourishing food. The advanced idea is to encourage the weak patient to exercise to gain strength, and at the same time, to select food of a better quality, and reduce the quantity.

Only a short time ago it was considered very dangerous to breathe night air. Now we know that this is the purest air, and every one is advised to sleep out of doors, winter and summer.

There is a science of life for you to study just as surely as there are rules of chemistry or mathematics, and food science cannot be learned by intuition or inspiration. There is no magic with which you can change the rules of chemistry that govern your body. Foods are good for you or they are not good for you, and food combines harmoniously or it does not. All of these facts you can learn by study and experimentation, and your experiences with pain should be lessons to assist you in understanding the problems of life.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Reducing

Question—M. K. writes: "Sometime ago I answered an advertisement about a method to reduce. I sent for the treatments. They are pills to be taken after each meal. I have lost 25 pounds, but when I tried to leave off the treatment I began to gain even more rapidly than before. My stomach is now in such a bad condition I can eat very few things without vomiting immediately. But as I am only 20 years old I am afraid if I don't continue these treatments I would soon weigh 200 pounds. What can I do?

Answer—The reason you have had so much difficulty in reducing is probably due to some glandular deficiency. The tablets which caused you to reduce very likely contained thyroid extracts and this treatment is never advisable unless you are under the strict care of a physician. I am sure that you will be able to reduce your weight if you will exercise your will-power enough to keep away from food for a sufficient time. I would advise a straight water fast, using a glassful every half hour during the day for three or four days, followed by the orange fast. If the fast is long enough it will usually result in the correction of the glandular condition so that a gain of weight will not result after you begin eating. It would be a good plan for you to avoid starches and fats in your diet for quite some time.

Metallic Taste

Question—Mrs. H. asks: "Will you please tell me the cause of a metallic taste in one's mouth, especially after eating fruits?"

Answer—Sometimes the metallic taste is caused from the effect of the acids of fruit upon fillings in the teeth. This is especially true with those who have amalgam or silver fillings. Changing to gold inlays or pivot teeth will correct this.

Fifth Avenue Checks Invasion of 'Tom Thumbs'

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (US)—A threatened invasion of New York's Fifth avenue by a miniature golf course has been thwarted, probably by opposition of the Rockefeller interests and the Fifth Avenue association, it was learned today.

The unique idea of establishing a Tom Thumb golf course in the heart of that dignified thoroughfare was attributed to F. S. Mygatt, advertising director for Butterick publications, with offices in the Graybar building.

Facing stubborn opposition of the Fifth Avenue association, Mygatt gave up the idea of using any plot directly on the avenue.

In a six furlong race at Arlington the first four horses finished less than two heads apart. My Dandy won.

LONGHORNS WIN TWO CONTESTS

Archer City and Stars Both Defeated

The Panhandle Refining company baseball team, leaders of both the Wichita Valley league and the Twilight City league, proved their willingness to continue the Valley league race and meet their Twilight league foes at the same time by taking on two foes Sunday, one from each loop, and whipping both.

Last week there was a move afoot to disband the Wichita Valley league, but last-minute decisions kept the loop intact. The Longhorns, by winning the Valley league race, had little to gain but the honor, whereas should they win the Twilight City league race they will be eligible to fight it out in the state tournament.

The Longhorns denied they were trying to throw wrenches in the machinery of the Valley loop and announced their willingness to play in both leagues.

Archer City Loses

Sunday they did, defeating the Archer City Valley league nine, 4 to 2, and winning their fifth straight in the Twilight loop by trouncing the Star Transfer company, 8 to 0.

The games were played at Katy park. In the Archer City game, Smoky Lupher bested Bill Robertson in a pitcher's duel while the Longhorns outhit the visitors, 9 to 4. Score:

Kid Chocolate Meets Jack Berg Thursday

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (UP)—The largest crowd of the outdoor boxing season is expected to see the 10-round bout between Jack (Kid) Berg of London, lightweight contender, and Kid Chocolate of Cuba, undefeated featherweight, at the polo grounds Thursday night.

Arrangements have been made to handle a crowd of 70,000 and indications are that more than 50,000 persons will pay more than $200,000 to see the match.

New Robot Pilot

WICHITA, Kan. — Richard D. Clark, of Ponca City, Okla., has recently tested out a new robot pilot here. It is to function automatically and to govern ship's elevators and ailerons, by the use of a non-powered mechanism. The device is said, to assure level flight for ships when such is desired and to kep the plane on an even keel, once it has been set for that position.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 3. (AP)—Old man par had the best of golfers shooting practice rounds today for the national public links tournament, which starts here Tuesday.

Beaumont Girl Steals Spotlight From Texas Athletic Luminaries

Texas' 'Babe'

BABE DIDRICKSON

DALLAS, Aug. 3. (AP)—Speaking of Texas athletic luminaries, one must mention Claude Bracey, Cy Leland, Wilmer Allison, Berkeley Bell, Nona Rees—and Mildred "Babe" Didrickson.

For the moment at least, the latter named, Miss Didrickson, who is only 17 and wants to be called "Babe," has taken the spotlight from the rest.

Although she starred last year in basket ball, the "Babe's" blooming into real prominence came at the National A. A. U. meet here. The extent of a spring track stardom was not realized until she competed against such national stars as Stella Walsh, Betty Robinson and Helen Filkey at the A. A. U. meet.

Miss Didrickson won firsts in the javelin and baseball throw, with heaves of 133 feet, 5 inches, and 268 feet, 10½ inches respectively, both new world records, but was second to Miss Walsh in total points when her 18 feet 8½ broad jump wasn't good enough.

If Miss Didrickson had been allowed to enter more than three events she probably would have been high point winner, for she can high jump and hurl the discus with the best of them.

Miss Didrickson, who hails from Beaumont, stepped into the sports limelight last winter when she played with the Golden Cyclones basket ball team of Dallas at the national tournament at Wichita, Kan.

She was placed on the "All-American" team at forward.

During the tourney she put on the gloves with Willie "Young" Stribling, and entertained the crowd with a boxing exhibition.

Besides that she pitches for the Cyclones baseball team in the Girls' Twilight league here, and is a star in every game. She also is an expert swimmer and a better-than-average tennis player.

There is nothing about Miss Didrickson to distinguish her as a star athlete. She is five feet six inches tall, carries no excess weight, but has powerful shoulders and arms.

20 ENTERED IN TENNIS MEET

Play to Begin Here Next Friday

Approximately 20 local tennis players have entered the city tennis tournament to be held here beginning next Friday under the auspices of the recreation division of the city park department, it was announced Sunday by Tom McCarty, who will be in charge of the competition.

Early last week it was erroneously reported by the park department that the tournament would begin today.

Drawings for the tournament will be made Thursday evening, and all entries must be in by 7 p. m. Thursday, McCarty said.

Winners in the tournament will represent Wichita Falls at the state tournament to be held at Dallas Aug 22-23. The tournament will include singles and doubles in the men's, junior, boys', women's and girls' division, and also mixed doubles. Entry fees will be 50c for singles and 75c per team for doubles.

Owls Postpone Schedule; To Play Texas Leaguers

Special to The Record News

MEMPHIS, Texas, Aug. 3.—Because of present slow business conditions and the unfavorable crop outlook at this time, the Memphis Owls will suspend their baseball activities locally until Sept. 1, according to a decision reached by the baseball club's board of directors Monday morning. A drop on the gate receipts at Owl park necessitated this action, Edwin Thompson, president of the club, declared.

If present plans are carried out the club will resume its schedule about Sept. 1, and games with the Shreveport Sports and Fort Worth Panthers, Texas league clubs, are being arranged for early fall.

American Rifle Team Scores Another Victory

ANTWERP, Belgium, Aug. 3. (AP)—The American rifle team which yesterday won at the standing position in the miniature rifle championships, today repeated its success in the kneeling position.

The Americans scored 1,877 points, followed by Denmark with 1,843, France 1,824, Belgium 1,791, Holland 1,723, while Italy gave up.

Dr. Emmett Swanson of Minneapolis was today's champion in the kneeling category with a score of 382 out of a possible 400. The weapon used is a .22 caliber long "miniature rifle" at 50 meters range.

Chicago U. Nine Prepares To Sail for Orient

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (UP)—Coach Nels Norgren and his Chicago university baseball team, preparing to depart for Japan Monday, finished a crowded week of preparation tonight. They leave for the Orient at 11:30 a. m., tomorrow and will not return until Nov. 1, coming back just in time to witness renewal of Chicago-Princeton football rivalry on the midway.

The team will play 11 barnstorming games between Chicago and Seattle, where the squad will sail Aug. 20.

DOX MOTORS GIVEN TESTS

Huge Plane's Engines Show Up Satisfactorily

ALTENRHEIN, Switzerland, Aug. 3. (US)—With a roar like a full-grown West Indies hurricane and a rush of air that threatened to blow the roof off the Dornier works, the 12 American Curtiss Conqueror motors on the giant flying ship, DOX, were given their first tests today in the hangar.

The motor themselves stood this initial test of trials preparatory to the coming transatlantic flight to New York to the satisfaction of Technical Director Berner and the Dornier engineers, Lieut. C. H. Schildhauer, of the American Dornier company, and Captain Christiansen, who will command the American flight, were present.

Aside from a leaky radiator, which was quickly repaired, and the replacement of several instruments which failed to register properly, the DOX was ready to emerge from the hangar at 6 a. m. tomorrow for the first air trial with the new motors. Only bad weather can prevent the flight.

The speed and range of the DOX will be determined by trial flights during the week.

Actress' Hubby Answers Charges

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3. (US)—Jean Harlow, blonde film actress, entered motion pictures and took a leading part in "Hell's Angels" much against her husband's will—

And, too, she posed for what he terms "indecent pictures" despite his protests.

These charges are contained in an answer by the husband, Charles F. McGraw Jr., scion of a wealthy Chicago family, to a civil suit for $4,500 filed against him by the actress. The document was on file today in superior court.

The civil action is based upon an agreement made by McGrew and his actress wife in June of last year. Although admitting signing the contract, which provides that he will pay her $375 a month, McGrew charged that he was induced by fraud and trickery to sign.

The document was signed, it is alleged, a few days after McGrew and Miss Harlow were estranged because of domestic difficulties.

The so-called "indecent pictures" copies of which McGrew claims to have, were made by a local photographer, McGrew declared, while Miss Harlow was striving for motion picture fame. The suit is filed under her real name of Harlean Carpenter McGrew.

What's On The Air Today?

Mrs. Oesterreich's Trial Opens Today

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3. (US)—Trial of Mrs. Fred Oesterreich on a charge of murdering her husband is scheduled to start tomorrow in superior court.

Otto Sanhuber confessed to the actual shooting to death of the wealthy former Milwaukee garment manufacturer. The timid little "bat man of the attics" was tried for murder and found guilty of manslaughter. Then, because the statute of limitations outlawed the jury's verdict, he was promptly freed.

He may take the stand against the woman who secretly harbored him for 10 years in five of her homes. Sanhuber has been subpoenaed by the prosecution to relate events of the August night when Oesterreich was slain.

Regardless of the "bat man's" virtual acquittal, the prosecution holds hopes to convict Mrs. Oesterreich of first degree murder. Her real part in the crime was to keep the identity of the murderer from authorities.

Concurrent with the opening of Mrs. Oesterreich's trial, a civil suit against her is scheduled to begin in another court Tuesday.

Railroad's Offer For Dredging Accepted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (US)—The acting secretary of war Payne today accepted the offer of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad to advance $40,000 for dredging and other work to be done on the harbor at Ashland, Mich. The loan was accepted as an emergency project.

MARTIN TALKS ON ADVERSITY

Use of Hardships Shown In Address

"While the United States is suffering both from over production and under-consumption, everybody complaining of being broke, we go on spending our diminishing substance for things that never have and never will satisfy the heart of man, nor advance the kingdom of God in the world," declared Judge P. A. Martin before the men's Bible class of the Floral Heights Methodist church Sunday morning.

"There is no excuse for people to be hungry in America," the speaker declared, in a brief discussion of "one of our greatest national weaknesses: the greatest wealth, but as poorly distributed as one could imagine."

Using the story of Ruth, great-grandmother of David, as an illustration of the good which often is wrought by adversity, Judge Martin spoke as follows:

"The little book of Ruth, comprising only four short chapters has been canonized and become a part of the Bible because it contains the love story of one of the ancestors of the Christ, the beautiful Moabitess Ruth, daughter-in-law of Naomi and the great-grandmother of David the shepherd king of Israel. The whole story may be read in about 15 minutes and it is full of human interest. The words of Ruth to Naomi when she made up her mind to leave Moab forever and return to Israel with her mother-in-law have become classic:

"'Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God:

"'Where thou diest, will I die and there will I be buried: The Lord do so to me and more also, if ought but death part thee and me.'

Use of Adversity

"But aside from the beauty of the love story and the classic declaration of loyalty quoted, the lesson shows how divine providence used adversity to further the attainment of the divine plan.

"Naomi and her husband, in the time when 'Israel was ruled by the judges' some time before they had demanded and selected a king—were driven out of their home and their native land by the gaunt specter of starvation. Perhaps a drouth, perhaps marauding enemies, something had happened which caused a famine in that country and the people had to go somewhere else to get food. It had happened before as you remember. Famine drove the sons of Jacob down into Egypt to get corn and reunited Joseph with his brethren and in this also God used adversity to the advantage of his chosen people.

"Elimelech and Naomi with their two sons, Mahlon and Chileon took refuge among the Moabites beyond Jordan and there after the death of the father the woman and her sons lived. The two sons married daughters of the land, Orpah and Ruth. The two young men in turn died also and hearing that her native country was in a more prosperous condition Naomi started the long journey back to Bethlehem. Orpah turned back, but Ruth went on with her, contracted a fortunate second marriage with Boaz of Bethlehem and all things went well with the family thereafter.

"'A poet has written 'God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform.'

Period of Starvation

"Adversity has been one of His ways it seems to bring out the best qualities of both men and women. It was the period of starvation in Israel that began the whole story and was the prime cause of the mixing of the blood of Bethlehem and Moab and produced a David, king of Israel; it was the urge of hunger that drove this young widow of an Israelite to the fields to glean after the reapers; it was a love for the people of God that brought her to become a mother in Israel and it was hardship that made her the great woman and the great mother she was.

"But perhaps none of the parties concerned thought at the time that famine was a blessing in disguise or that poverty would ever lead to such results. We are all prone to think of hard times as a curse and of hardship as a misfortune; and yet it may be that providence is only using this method to further the divine plan which is always for the best interests of the people. It may be that America is now in the throes of hard times in order to teach us how to save some of the millions and millions we are spending each year on amusements and luxuries. We are not exactly facing famine in this country, but we are really facing the necessity of reducing the cost of high living and the quicker we realize it the better it will be for the people of America.

Great Equalizer

"Misfortune is a great equalizer. It brought the Moabite and the Israelite together; it brought the Egyptian and the sons of Jacob together; it brought the civilization of the Hebrews and that of the Babylonians together; it brought hundreds of thousands of the best people in the world to America and peopled it with a cosmopolitan race, made of it the so-called 'melting pot of the nations.' Poverty, oppression, misfortune of various kinds brought most of our forefathers to these shores, wherever they hailed from, and the result is seen today in the most prosperous people in the world and yet, perhaps the most unthankful and the most dissatisfied people in the world. I said we are the most prosperous people in the world—that statement is subject to qualification—we possess, as a nation, the greatest wealth, but it is almost as poorly distributed as one could imagine therein furnishing one of our greatest national weaknesses—the extremes of wealth and poverty.

There is no excuse for people to be hungry in America and yet there are thousands who are hungry; there is no good reason why men should be jobless in our great undeveloped country and yet there are several millions of jobless people here. We seem to be suffering at both ends of the line, overproduction and underconsumption; everybody complaining of being broke and yet we go on spending our diminishing substance for things that never have and never will satisfy the heart of man. Nor advance the kingdom of God in the world.

"Real want, real famine might come as it came to Israel in the days of the judges and even rich America might need the help of a friendly Moab on the other side of Jordan or an Egypt beyond the Red sea."

Hoover Indulges In Day of Rest

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S CAMP Va., Aug. 3. (US)—President Hoover laid aside his tariff commission problems today and spent Sunday in complete rest and recreation.

With the commission to be reorganized through recess appointments before September 15, the executive spent all day yesterday grappling with the situation. It was made known that he had decided to reappoint Commissioner Edgar B. Brussard of Utah and Alfred P. Dennis of Maryland, but what further progress he may have made was not divulged. His chief concern is to obtain a chairman—a post already declined by three to whom he has proferred it.

Returning to Washington tomorrow, the president also will take up Attorney General Mitchell's opinion as to his authority to name the new full time federal power commission through recess appointments.

Tour of Northwest Texas Reveals Extensive Plans for Civic Expansion

Special to The Record News

STAMFORD, Texas, Aug 3.—Definite, specific plans for community betterment, advancement and improvement are being followed in practically all the towns and cities of Northwest Texas, according to J. E. T. Peters, service manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce who has recently completed a tour of 1,255 miles through that section, having visited 36 towns where he held conferences with officials of the chambers of commerce or other similar organizations.

In each of the 36 communities where Peters made contacts for the W. T. C. C during his "swing around the circle," he found that the people, through their community service bodies, were engaged on one or more well-defined, crystalized, constructive undertakings that are of particular interest and import to each respective town or city.

"In every part of the territory visited, I found, the people carrying on with plenty of spirit and enthusiasm for the future," Peters said. "They are not looking backward, nor are they manifesting any show of uncertainty, but are going ahead with arrangements for better things and bigger programs. Instead of the chambers of commerce extending their energies on superficial endeavors which probably never would materialize, I found that the service organizations in every community have some definite project or projects underway and are pushing them energetically."

Primarily, the object of Peters trips was to acquaint the people in the various communities with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce poster advertising campaign. He explained the program, originated and now being sponsored by the W. T. C. C. to give this section nation-wide publicity in a cooperative movement with the various towns joining hands with the regional organization in putting the plan into execution; deep interest was manifested and in a majority of the communities definite pledges of support were given to the undertaking.

"At Haskell," Peters reports, "the Lions club is doing the community service work. That organization was instrumetnal in putting over a million dollar highway improvement program for Haskell county recently. Actual work on the project is to start within the next 30 days. Haskell is in a productive agricultural country and the town has eight gin plants. Haskell's population, the U. S. census report shows to be 2,629.

"Rule, with a population of 1,079 has, through the Business Men's Luncheon club recently established a $20,000 creamery to supply a staple market for dairy production.

"A 15 per cent reduction in cotton acreage in the territory around Knox City and cold storage for handling poultry are two of the recent public movements put over in that community. That town has 904 people.

"At Munday, the chamber of commerce has helped to secure a vocational agriculture teacher for the public school, who will devote half his time to serving as secretary of the commercial organization. The population of Munday is 1,336. Local capital in Munday is available to assist in the establishment of a bottling works and a laundry.

"Seymour, with 2,626 people is working with the officials of the Frisco and Rock Island railroads in preliminary work on the new lines to be built through there. The chamber of commerce is also working on a dairy census and is planning a milk cooling station.

"Service to the smaller towns and cities in its territory is one of the big items being given attention in Wichita Falls through that city's chamber of commerce. Improving the highway, railway and airway services in and out of that community of 43,712 people is one of the main efforts now receiving notice.

"High quality potato, lima bean and alfalfa seed have been suplied to farmers in the Burkburnett country by that town's chamber of commerce so that experiments on the best production plans for those crops could be made. The town has 3,182 people.

"Electra is proud of the new free bridge across the Red river, which joins that town with a rich agricultural area nearby in Oklahoma. Most of the 6,703 people in this town give their local chamber of commerce considerable credit for that accomplishment.

"Vernon, with 10,073 people is interested in soil conservation, through terracing and crop rotation, better dairy products markets, railroad extensions and highway improvements. The chamber of commerce is popular, because it is active.

"Quanah with 4,646 people is also working, through the chamber of commerce, on a free bridge over Red river. Railroad matters are commanding attention and thought.

"Chillicothe is devoting time and effort to agricultural improvement items. The town has a population of 1,351.

"A municipal auditorium, additional street lighting service and a 'live-at-home' farm program are among the major efforts now before the chamber of commerce in Memphis, a town of 4,252 people.

"Childress is interested in the application of the Fort Worth & Denver City railway for permission to build a new line from Shamrock south through that city. The chamber of commerce there is actively supporting the application and in addition has assisted in enlarging the city's water supply with the view of assuring plenty for the 7,168 people there. Soil conservation and highway improvements are also active items on the program of the chamber of commerce.

"Clarendon has recently established a public junior college and has annexed eight rural districts to the Clarendon district in order to give the people in those regions access to the increased educational service. The chamber of commerce staged a record-breaking Fourth of July celebration. Clarendon's population is 2,852.

"The Canyon Chamber of Commerce is taking the lead in developing Palo Duro canyon into a playground for all Northwest Texas. Farmers are paying members of that chamber of commerce. The town has 2,821 people.

"At Happy where 1,001 people live a modern sewer system is needed and the chamber of commerce is trying to secure it. A newspaper is also needed there, local people say.

"Amarillo's 43,107 people are spending through the chamber of commerce, more than $12,000 a year for national advertising on the Panhandle-Plains region. The city recently raised over $40,000 to be used in purchasing right-of-way for the new Santa Fe railroad line from Amarillo to Los Animas, Colo.

"Borger is a substantial industrial city with a payroll of approximately $1,000,000 per month. The chamber of commerce is working on highway paving projects and other matters. The population inside the city limits is 6,530 and the metropolitan Borger area has 12,567 people.

"Although Pampa is an active oil center, its 10,453 people are also interested in agricultural improvement ideas. Railroad extension projects are receiving attention from the chamber of commerce too.

"McLean is interested in more paving in the residential areas and in getting more of the rich land in the territory put in cultivation. The town has 1,518 people and the chamber of commerce is active. A new gin, the fourth for the town is under construction.

"Making Shamrock a more attractive place in which to live for the 3,777 people already there and the new ones that are bound to come, is one of the big projects of that town's chamber of commerce. Highway and railroad improvements and extensions are other interesting matters to Shamrock citizens.

"Wellington's 3,570 citizens are proud of the brick-paved alleys and its chamber of commerce is looking after railroad extension that may benefit the community and plans for developing the agricultural resources.

"Construction of hard-surfaced highways, bonds for which have already been voted, and the development of the dairy and poultry industry, are matters being pushed by the chamber of commerce at Turkey, where 1,040 people live.

"Development of the agricultural possibilities in the territory around Quitaque, a substantially built town of 945 people, is the major work being done by the chamber of commerce there.

"Tulia's 2,202 people have subscribed $15,000 for the erection of a group of community buildings which will include a stock show barn, an auditorium and other accommodations. The chamber of commerce is responsible for the success of the undertaking.

"Dimmitt, a town of 820 people has just completed a $100,000 school building. Four new grain elevators have been built there this season—this gives the town six elevators. The chamber of commerce has secured the employment of a county agent, who will act as secretary of the commercial organization as well. The county also has a home demonstration agent. A free building site is being offered for a hotel. Several civic service improvements have just been completed.

"The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce is interested in securing a modern creamery and a 70-room hotel for that community of 3,218 people. Lamb county was the banner cotton producing county in the Panhandle in 1929.

"At Slaton the chamber of commerce has sponsored the organization of the Panhandle-Plains Poultry association. An annual show will be staged. Permanent buildings will be provided. The 3,859 people in that town are interested in pretty parks and lawns.

"Lubbock is devolping a new airport. The work is being financed out of a $75,000 bond issue. The chamber of commerce has been directly responsible for a big part of the 400 per cent population increase shown in the city during the past 10 years. There are 20,612 people there now. South Plains, Inc., an off-spring of the chamber of commerce is spending around $20,000 a year giving national publicity to the 16 counties in the Lubbock territory. Lubbock is behind the Texas Cotton Cooperative association program and is helping put it over in the 48 counties in district No. 3. Lubbock is the headquarters for the district.

"A new sewer system and a white way will soon be installed for the convenience of the 1,006 people in Hale Center. The chamber of commerce is sponsoring a general program for the breeding of good dairy cattle and the development of the poultry production.

"Plainview can take credit for rendering a worthwhile service to all West Texas in having established the Panhandle-Plains Dairy show. The chamber of commerce has recently helped put over a road project which cuts the distance from Plainview to Dimmitt from 60 miles to 42 miles and the road is now being improved. This town has 2,824 people.

"Lockney, in the heart of the shallow water district, with 1,469 people is interested in better rural electric service so that more of the prolific shallow wells can be put on pumps so as to irrigate more land. The chamber of commerce is behind this project.

"At Floydada much attention is being given to the feeder-breeder movement with the view of realizing more for the large amounts of feed produced in that region. The chamber of commerce is also interested in a wheat acreage reduction program and more hogs and poultry. Floydada has 2,637 people.

"The Crosbyton chamber of commerce was instrumental in having nearly 20,000 acres of land terraced the past year in that district. Other agricultural projects are up for attention. The town has a population of 1,251 people.

"Ralls is back of the dairy movement. Organization of bull circles, importation of pure-bred dairy cattle and the establishment of a creamery with local capital are among the things in which the chamber of commerce has been interested. All of them have materialized. Other agricultural betterment undertakings are being worked on. Population of Ralls is 1,365.

"Post is taking the lead in a movement to popularize Texas made goods. The chamber of commerce is financing the establishment of an airport. Post has 1,652 people.

HIGH TARIFF HURTS TRADE

Swanson Calls Attention To Retaliation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (US)—Foreign markets in all parts of the globe are being closed to American trade in retaliation against the high rates of the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill, Senator Swanson, Democrat of Virginia, said today.

In a statement issued through the Democratic national committee Swanson asserted that American agriculture will be further depressed unless the new tariff is revised.

Germany, Great Britain, France, Italy, and Argentine were named by Swanson as some of the countries resenting the tariff barriers imposed by this country against their products.

The retaliation movement started before the Smoot-Hawley was enacted and is steadily growing, he said, adding:

"All this retaliatory legislation has occurred within this year and is but a beginning of greater and more hostile acts in the future.

"The best interests of the United States demand a revision of this vicious bill which is beneficial to a very few special interests. American agriculture will be further depressed if this tariff continues and the markets of the world are closed to the United States."

Numerous instances of tariff increases in foreign lands were cited by Swanson as illustrative of the resentment stirred up abroad by the existing tariff rates.

'Love' Is Subject Of Science Sermon

The subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday was "Love."

The Golden Text was from I John 4:12. "No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us."

Included in the citations comprising the service was the following passage from the Bible: "The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving kindness have I drawn thee" (Jeremiah 31:3).

The lesson-sermon also included the following citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy; "Love is impartial and universal in its adaptation and bestowals. It is the open fount which cries, 'Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters'" (p. 13). "Divine love is infinite. Therefore all that really exists is in and of God, and manifests His love," (p. 340).

"My customers Never Heard of YOUR Soap"

"Interest My Customers and You Interest Me"
Wichita Falls Merchant

Wichita Falls merchants have known for years that more sales result with advertised goods. They have known something else, too, that the Times and Record News are the one and only means of reaching the ENTIRE Wichita Falls market. Consequently, they welcome the opportunity to LOCALLY advertise merchandise already made familiar to the Wichita Falls market through advertisements in the Wichita Daily Times and Record News.

"I'd be glad to carry your soap line, Mr. Salesman . . . but I'm afraid it would be lying around on the shelves forever!"

"Why so?"

"My customers never even heard of it! I know their buying habits, you see, and I've found long ago that my turn-over is quickest on ADVERTISED brands."

"Why we DO advertise our product!"

"Not to MY market. MY customers are reached only through local newspaper advertising. If you fellows used newspaper space, it would pay me to carry your line . . . my customers would ask for your soap. What's more, I'd find it good business to tie up my own advertising with your ads. These housewives would be familiar with your product's name, you see, and would patronize any dealer who sold it."
